Testimony On

Secretary of State Acheson ended his eight-day siege on the Senate griddle today after a new clash of views with General Douglas MacArthur and a parting barrage from Republican critics.

The secretary appeared unruffled and in good humor as he emerged from the closeddoor Senate inquiry into the firing of Gen. MacArthur and the administration's Far East policy.

"We've got the money, the climate, the scenery and everything that Hollywood has - except smog, labor troubles, state sules taxes, state income taxes and taxes on unreleased films," said Paul T. Vickers. You probably won't be surprised to lean that Vickers is manager of the McAllen Chamher of Commerce. Nor that "Viva Zapata" has a press agent. Anyhow, Vickers said, the gion is offering to lend 1,190 acres and 132 large buildings to anyone wanting to set up a flim shop here.

Vickers is going into a huddie with some South Texas millionaires tomorrow to see what can be done about luring picture companies to this "tropical sunshine center."

"As long as we're spending $26,000,000 for a new highway and $15,000,000 for an irrigation canal, we can ante a few million for films," Vickers said. "After all, it's only money and

The Doctor Says BY EDWIN J. JORDAN, MD.

"A person is near-sighted and wears glasses. Will eye exercises improve his vision of distant ob-come an emotion al matter with some people. Now it is almost certain that eye exercises will not change the size or shape of the eye permanently pected to do much for near-sighterness or astigmatism. For such purposes, properly fitted glasses are likely to do more.

The testimony of those who claim to have been helped by exercises in such conditions cannot be ignored, however, and this subject deserves and is receiving the erious attention of those who are qualified to judge. In disorders of the eye such as glaucoma and cataracts there is ittle reason to believe that eye exercises are helpful. In fact, exercises may be dangerous because they delay or prevent treatment with drugs or surgery which would prevent blindness.

It is not wise, therefore, for a person to start on eye exercises (J. W. in latter part of his letter asks for specific directions) unless he is so advised by a competent eye specialist who can observe the progress and is alert for any dements which make it hazardous to continue.

Better Jobs

(BY DAVID BAXTER) Here is a trite comment from the DEFENDER magazine which I'd like to pass on to readers: According to gandists, Herbert Hoover was a complete failure. According to present day poli-tical standards this is certainly true. He failed in many things. He failed to draw out his salary of $75,000 a year while he was president, turning it all back to the treasury. He never asked for, nor received a $50,000 tax-free expense account, He failed to have his sons or ganize insurance firms to write insurance on government enter-tical slavery to a left-wing labor organization for a $500,000 campaign fund, He gathered a marvelous collection of war stuff and built a museum for it, but failed to ask Congress to pay the bill. He paid for He did not dredge for votes in the political sewers of class and race hatred and he did not try to destroy the Constitution by packing the Supreme Court. He did not plow up every third row of cotton, and he did not promise the American people one thing, while at the same moment doing everything possible to accomplish the opposite result. He did not go on fishing trips on government warships accompanied defense Mr. Acree attempted to by a fleet of other warships. Neither did he kill off the farmers' pigs, or encourage the importation of Argentine beef. His wife was also a failure. She never made speeches on her every-day life for sale to newspapers, and she did not race hither and yon on unimportant matters. She never sold soap over the radio. She did not advise young girls to see how much liquor they drink with safety. She did not entertain Joe Lash. Her only public appearance was as an honorary member of the Girl Scout of Ammoral principles or they would' not have ended the Declaration erica. She never invited Communist youth to the White House as her guests.

MALIGNED

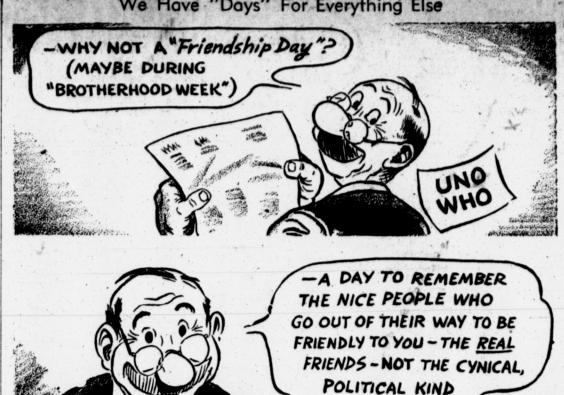

I might add that Hoover was far too good an administrator to run the country into debt by such astronomical figures that we may never get out from under. He has been much maligned because the nation hit a terrific depression shortly after he became President, which was certainly no fault of his. That was an economic catastrophe that would have happened by Mr. Acree and determine no matter who the president was. whether or not he is in fact using a double standard to defend As a matter of fact succeeding public schools. In fact, that is the pression. They have simply put only possible defense any one could blow-out patches on it by ladling out other people's money by the truckload, or by plunging us into foreign wars which create a false mandments and the Golden Rule sense of "prosperity"— a sort of fool's paradise. They have made the real cause of depressions even worse by attempting to socialize governed," and that means from the consent of the individual bedown the tariff walls between nations, by putting government into business against private enterprise, by creating labor monopolies and other monopolies many thousands so immoral that they believe there of times greater than those which had come into existence by the time Hoover entered the White House. What is even worse is the fact that neither Roosevelt nor Tru-man were solid business men and capable administrators who made a success of their own affairs before undertaking to handle the entire nation's, as Hoover did. This man, besides having risen from a poor Iowa farm lad to heights as an engineer and business man, took time off to set a remarkable record of manage ment and administration even under Wilson's Democratic administration, as head of the European relief commission of World War I and as Secretary of Commerce, As President he tried to handle our government affairs on the same basis that he would manage his own business, keeping the books balanced. When the crash after he had been in the White House but a short time, he was simply the victim of circumstances That panic had been in the making for at least 30 years. Hoover knew how to run a business. He had the misfortune to take over at the very time it was scheduled to fall apart. Now, in his old age, I think Herbert Hoover has shown greater statesmanship than ever before. And he is not even "in politics." When Truman at last came to see that the whole government needed reorganization a monumental task-there was only one man he could think of capable of under-taking the job-Hoover. In his recent recommendation on foreign policy and refusal to become further involved in an international sit uation that is ruining us, as well as sending of troops and wealth to Europe, Hoover was so far ahead of the Washington wolf pack that they couldn't even follow his

It is too bad he's too old to run for President again but the country seems at last to be awakening from its drunken stupor and real izing that the old gentleman was a great, but unrecognized, states-

THESE folks are enjoying something that's L being pioneered by Buick.

It's freedom from the blinding glare of bright summer sunlight.

It's freedom from hot laps—caused by the sun's rays beating down through the broad expanse of windshield.

These freedoms trace to a new feature you may have noticed in '51 Buicks-a new kind of glass with a cool, soft, blue-green tint, in every glass area of the car, front, side and back.

Buick engineers tell us that this "Buick first" reduces glare 18% over conventional glasscuts sun heat as much as 45% – and Buick engineers are very conservative fellows.

This glare-and-heat-reducing Easy-eye glass is factory-installed at moderate extra charge. It gives you a built-in transparent "sun visor" right in the windshield—and it also dulls the dazzle of oncoming headlights at night.

Navy Sounds Reserve Call

NEW ORLEANS series of calls to active duty is being made to naval reservists in Louisiana, Texas, Arkansas, Oklahoma and New Mexico, an announcement revealed Saturday.

*At least 3,000 Naval Reserve petty officers will be called from the nation in this continuing buildup of strength," stated Rear Admiral W. K. Phillips, district commandant. "A proportionate number of these will be from the five-state area of this com-

The quota covers the July-September quarter, and is in accordance with a schedule previously announced, which will bring at least 1,000 trained reservists to active duty each

The petty officers will be called from several categories of the Reserve. No breakdown was given on totals for the district call-up. The Navy's policy is to give 30 days minimum advance notice, and in some cases, the notification will be as much as 90 days ahead of the reporting date.
Ratings included in the quota

Chief, first class, second class and third class petty officers in the rates of fire control technician, fire controlman, personnel man, ship's serviceman, interior communications electrician and dental technician.

Chief, first class and second class petty officers in the rates of quartermaster, radarman, sonarman and electrician's mate. First class, second class and third class petty officers in the rate of boilerman.

The curious who jamined the highways showed no consideration of those neighbors of ours, but the many, many persons who called offering help were showing the right attitude — "I'm willing, call on me," they all said. When full knowledge of the storm reached us, we couldn't help but think, "What if that storm had ripped through our town?" And we've held the picture of an orderly Pampa just a little closer all week — a picture that could be destroyed as quickly as the White Deer scene was. Anyway, our little ones were remembered June 9, but they weren't nearly as enthusiastic as we had thought they'd be ... they're too busy thinking about what to give Mr. Peg when Father's Day rolls around real soon now.

WITH JUST ABOUT everyone sitting down at sewing machines and whipping up summer creations at home, Peg tried her hand at the art. Have learned that "I just ain't got the knack!" We do so envy those women who receive compliments with a casual, "Ohhh, I whipped this up the other afternoon!" We like the tricks they're doing with terry cloth, and denim is in everything ... pouch bags and hats to match skirts or other sportswear ... and lots of these are being made at home. Yep, "homemade clothes" are the vogue this season!

SOME WISE PERSON pointed out in a recent article that inflation is a woman's major home-front problem. "Prices respond to the article said, "and women should never be embarrassed say, 'It's too expensive for me!" Wonder how many times a week we'd go around saying that if we actually got down to the serious business of combating inflation?

would make us "politicos," and politics is just one place women are not allowed ... 'er so the men say. There has been MORE comment on the National Woman's Party (unfavorable comment, of course) and we wonder if men will ever take women in politics seriously! In many states (Texas, too, mind you!) women are practically declared mentally incompetent and classed along with lunatics and children! We can't even seek solace in the old saying "There's a woman behind every great man." because "all of us lunatics" are pushing the men of the world, they say that's why it's in such a mess! The Rev. Hal Upchurch, pastor of the Central Baptist Church, read the double-ring rites at 2:30 p. m. Sunday, June 3, in the home of the bride's parents, 1100 Crawford.

Attending the bride was her sister, Mrs. Earl Edwards, and Mr. Edwards served as best man.

Mary Janis Silcott, sister of the bride, was at the piano. She played "Because," "Always" the traditional wedding Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore white organdy over taffeta. The eyelet yoke was finished at the neck with a small upstanding collar, and the full skirt fell from a basque waist fashioned with short sleeves. The bride's only jewelry was a single strand of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom. She carried an orchid encircled with white carnations and tied with white satin streamers on a white Bible. She carried out the tradition of something old, new, borrowed and blue, and wore a sixpence in her shoe.

The matron of honor wore rose georgette crepe dress with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

Mrs. Silcott was dressed rose voile with white accessories and her corsage was also of white carnations. Mrs. Babb, mother of the bridegroom, wore a navy blue crepe dress with white accessories and a pink carnation corsage.

Talking Unlikely To Help The World

WASHINGTON - (AP) world is so leep in a mess that more conversations seems unlike ly to get very far toward ending

That's why any talks among the Big Four — U. S., Britain, France, Russia — while they may settle small problems, can hardly fix the big ones.

Last November the Russians proposed a meeting of the Big Four's foreign ministers to diswhat ailed the world and look for answers.

But the gulf between the al lies on one side and the Russians on the other was so wide that it took them from Novemwhen the suggestion for meeting was first made, until March before they could agree on how and when and where

Even then, instead of a meet ing of the foreign ministers, they agreed merely on a preliminary meeting of their deputy foreign ministers in Paris.

The deputies were supposed to agree on a list of things which the foreign ministers themselves could discuss when they met. This in itself was like shadowboxing, since the foreign minis-ters back home first had to ap-prove everything their deputies in Paris agreed to. Still this procedure of getting the program set up by the deputies had reasonableness: it would save the ministers time when they did meet — they wouldn't have to haggle over what they'd talk about.

This Paris meeting of the deputies, starting March 5, eventually became grotesque for now, three months later, they're still in session and still haven't reached full agreement. The big stumbling block is the Atlantic pact. The Russians want it on the "must" list of things for the foreign ministers to talk about. The allies are willing to let it come up in discussion but don't want it as a "must."

It's certain that Russia's Foreign Minister Vishinsky would discuss it anyway - denouncing it for propaganda purposes, if nothing else — but so long as it wasn't on the 'must' list of things to be talked about, the allies could brush off his long orations against it.

If, though, they ever let it get on the "must" program, they'd have to debate it, defend and perhaps even bargain bout it or be accused of making a farce of the discussion from the start. The Russians argue that the pact, which is a great military alliance, is a threat to Russia and world peace. The allies argue that Russia, with huge armed forces, is the real threat and the pact is only defensive; that if Russia doesn't make any aggressive move in Europe, she doesn't have to wor ry about the pact. This becomes strictly a standoff argument, a clear sign we are in one of those "who, me?" periods of diplomacy and world history when both sides say "you're to blame" and then both exclaim: ["who, me?"

Diplemats, o fcourse, didn't pu it so bluntly since they dance around the language as delicately as a couple doing the minuet the court of Louis XV. But by this time the non diplomatic people of the world may wonder: well, why go on with these Paris sessions any longer? Why not just break off and come home? For one thing, the allie won't want to be acccused — al though the Russians will acuse them anyway and broadcast itof not doing everything possible to have a foreign ministers' talk which might lead to better world

And the Russians - who keep appealing to the "peace-loving people of the world" until the people of the world" until to can use the Paris meeting propaganda: 'to protest to the jittery people of Europe it wants peace but the West won't play.

But even 'f the Atlantic Pact was on the "must" list of the foreign ministers when they met - such a meeting seems unlike ly now — it's fantastic to think the allies would agree to abandon the allies would agree to abandon or even ulter it.

A lot of work has gone into building it. The nations of western Europe, sick as they are of war, have come to look upon it as their main hope against being overrun if the Russians attack.

Sheinwold's Shift Cuts Foe Adrift

Written for NEA Service "A shift in time stops nine," said my friend, Alfred Sheinwold, the other day. He had just defeated a contract of three notrump, and I let him get away with his corny pun because his defense had been unusually fine. Sheinwold held the West cards and opened the five of spades. Dummy won the first trick with the king of spades, and East played the deuce. Declarer next led the queen of clubs, which held, and continued with another club, which West took with the

was now up to Sheinwold to make the shift in time. See if you can find the right shift with all the cards to help you. Be sure to pick the right card well as the right suit.

The killing shift is the eight hearts. East wins with the acc and returns the five of hearts to West's king Now West can East a finesse with the jackeven behind dumm; 's ten-six. It does no good, of course, to begin hearts by leading the king. That will force East to win the second heart trick, and dummy's ten will be a safe stopper. It does no good, likewise, lead the tour of hearts. That will find West leading the eight -1 heart; North-1 spade; eastof hearts on the third round of pass; South—?

You, South, hold: Spades K-7, and there are just three heart tricks. East cannot overtake, and there are just three heart tricks. East cannot overtake, and the spade in the spade, east cannot overtake, and the spade, east cannot overtake, and the spade, east cannot spade spade be well enough off. If he rebids, be unay make a triy for game.

TODAY'S QUESTION

The bidding has been: West.

The bidding has been: West.

The bidding has been: West.

The old gas field, discovered in 1888 east of Indianapolis, stimulated industrial growth in east.

West had led the eight. West had led the eight. CARD SENSE

Barbershoppers Get Chance To Show Off As Sessions Open

TOLEDO, O. — (P) — The guys who like to get together for a session of barbershop harmony had their chance to show off today. Forty chosen quartets were ready to give out with their best in the two-day annual championships of SPEBSQSA.

That stands for Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America, Inc. the group is holding its annual convention and more than 3,000 members from the United States and Canada were on hand.

Although singing of the barbershop variety is often regarded lightly, members of SPEBSQSA take a highly serious view. A good quartet, with each voice on pitch, should sound as one voice when a perfect chord is struck, they

As Edward Haverstock, president of the Toledo chapter, points cut, barbershoppers will sacrifice everything in music, rhythm, pronunciation and even breathingfor a good chord.

O. C. Cash, an Oklahoma attorney, founded the society in 1938. The purpose, as he put it, was to have a group in which a man could strip off the shackles of feminine domination and release his male spirit in song.
