U.S.-Russ Arms Pacts Placed Into Force

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko today placed into force accords to check the superpower nuclear arms race. They joined in a call for continued efforts to remove the danger of war.

The ceremony in the White House East Room included the final steps on a treaty limiting defensive missiles and an executive agreement freezing for five years most of the two nations' long-range nuclear arsenals.

The accords were signed by Nixon and Soviet leaders in their Moscow summit talks last May.

In comments to an assemblage of 200 Cabinet officers, congressional and government leaders, both Nixon and Gromyko looked ahead to negotiations to broaden what Nixon called a first step in limiting the burden of nuclear arms and a first step in reducing the danger of war.

The President said the accords were "the beginning of a great historical process" in which the two nations found they can make progress in checking the arms race. He voiced hope that future talks will lead to a "world that is much safer" and a world that is "possibly free from the danger of nuclear disaster."

The goal, Nixon said is to "lift the burden of fear of war from all the people of the world."

The program called first for the two countries to exchange "instruments of ratification" signifying their agreement to limit each nation to two antiballistic-missile sites, one to protect the national capital and the other to defend an intercontinental-ballistic-missile site.

Then came the business of formally signing the text of the treaty, an assignment handed to Gromyko and Secretary of State William P. Rogers.

But that was not the end of the scenario. The two countries, opponents for more than two decades, also were to exchange notification of acceptance of a nonbinding five-year agreement to curtail their offensive-missile arsenals.

Nixon arranged to wind up the program by signing a formal proclamation declaring to the world that the United States and the Soviet Union have bound themselves by solemn treaty to sharply curb their activities in the antiballistic-missile field.

U.S. F111 Fighters Withdrawn From Combat After One Lost

SAIGON (AP) — The United States has pulled its F111 fighter-bombers from combat after delaying for five days the disclosure that one of the sophisticated planes had vanished mysteriously on its first mission.

While the swing-wing F111 jets were withdrawn, scores of F4 Phantoms from bases in Thailand launched heavy strikes west of Hanoi near the Laotian border where a new North Vietnamese buildup was reported under way for a dry-season offensive in Laos.

"We have no comment," said a Command spokesman, refusing to confirm or deny the reports.

The informants also said that although the Command withheld reporting the F111 loss because a search and rescue effort was under way, the Air Force actually did not know where the plane went down and never heard any emergency radio signals from the two crewmen which would have pinpointed their position.

The loss of the F111 was common knowledge among newsmen, and had been reported by some Western news agencies from Bangkok as well as by Radio Hanoi last week. But the U.S. Command kept an embargo on reporters in Saigon, who were under penalty of being discredited.

The U.S. Command issued only a brief statement on the loss of the F111, the fourth lost in the war zone since they first came to Vietnam in March 1968.

Spokesmen refused to say whether the remaining F111s ordered to Southeast Asia would continue to the war zone and if the F4 wing they are replacing would continue its rotation to the United States as had been originally planned.

The F111 has been surrounded by controversy over costs and mechanical flaws since the mid-1960s when plans for the swing-wings were first approved.

In raids Monday, which were not disclosed until today by the U.S. Command, the F4s from Ubon, Udorn and Korat Air Bases in Thailand attacked the Na San and Yen Bai air bases and a military barracks between Hanoi and the Laotian border and between Hanoi and the Chinese border.

In apparent retaliation Monday night, terrorists attacked the Udorn Air Base, 300 miles northeast of Bangkok, killing a Thai-sentry and wounding two Americans and two Thais. One terrorist was reported killed, and one captured in the raid, the second in 24 hours against U.S. bases in Thailand.

The U.S. Command refused to officially acknowledge the reports, which came from reliable sources, that the $9 million F111 planes had been withdrawn from combat after the loss of one with two crewmen aboard Thursday.

U.S. Sharing Funds Still Enigma To City, County

By TEX DEWEESE

Gray County and Pampa city officials today still were uncertain what the federal revenue sharing bill will mean to them in event it finally is approved by Congress.

That it will be approved seems to be a foregone conclusion.

However, how much each of the local government units will receive as their annual share still was in the realm of uncertainty.

County Judge Don Cain and City Manager Mack Wofford both say they know very little about definite amounts their governments would receive and little or nothing about the strings attached, as to requirements on what the money could be used for.

City Manager Wofford received word in the mail today from the Texas Municipal League described as reflecting so far "the most accurate information presently available as to the annual amounts Texas cities and counties are to receive under revenue sharing."

The "most accurate information so far," according to TML, would indicate Gray County government itself would fall heir to $224,854. The City of Pampa would receive $191,300 and a total of $17,601 would go to all towns in the county under 2,500 population.

TML says in many cases allocations made back in May of this year have been severely reduced; in other instances, some local governments are to receive no funds whatsoever.

The changes occurred, says TML, because of drastic revisions in the formula under which earlier calculations were made and because the total annual funds to be distributed to Texas cities and counties was reduced from $202 million to $163 million.

Texas Municipal League officials said a detailed analysis of general revenue sharing will be mailed to Pampa within the next few days.

Both County Judge Cain and City Manager Wofford said they were not yet in a position to state what would be done with the funds if and when received.

"If the figure is correct," Judge Cain said, "we would hopefully try for a reduction in next year's county tax rate. Certainly it will be a case of careful spending in any case."

Said City Manager Wofford: "We do not know yet how much we will get and have had no word on what strings are attached to use of the money. We'll just have to wait and see."

House Turns Down Hanoi Travel Ban

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chief sponsor of a bill to outlaw unauthorized trips by Americans to Hanoi says he'll win in the long run even though he lost his bid to take a legislative short cut.

"I'm running against time," said Rep. Richard H. Ichord, D-Mo., chairman of the Internal Security Committee, after he fell 18 votes short of the two-thirds majority needed under a procedural maneuver in the House Monday.

With the congressional session draining away, Ichord said he would ask the House Rules Committee to let him bring the bill back to the floor soon under rules allowing it to pass with a simple majority. The bill has the backing of Rules Committee Chairman William M. Colmer, D-Miss.

The leading opponent of the bill, Rep. Robert F. Drinan, D-Mass., a member of Ichord's committee, claimed the bill would let the president block trips by journalists and families of prisoners of war.

"This is the first victory for civil liberties within living memory on the floor of the House," Drinan said.

The bill attracted 229 supporters and 141 opponents, but failed to gain the two-thirds majority needed to pass under the terms by which the House suspends its rules.

"I'm very happy with the vote," Ichord said. "It shows the bill will pass overwhelmingly when it is considered by the House" under the usual method of obtaining a so-called "rule"—a special plan for floor action—from the Rules Committee.

The legislation would make it a felony, punishable by up to 10 years in prison and a $10,000 fine, for an American to visit a country in armed conflict with the United States unless the trip had presidential approval.

The bill was prompted by visits to North Vietnam by actress Jane Fonda, former Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark, and other war critics.

Sen. McGovern Trying To Make Corruption His Campaign Theme

NEW YORK (AP) — Sen. George McGovern is escalating allegations of White House corruption, saying government scandals of the past were "child's play compared to what's going on in this administration."

The Democratic presidential nominee evidently has decided to make that a major theme in what he said will be an all-out campaign against President Nixon during the five weeks until election day.

McGovern is campaigning today in New York and Boston after asserting that, while the President talks of law and order, "I submit (that) the permissiveness toward a breakdown of high moral standards in this country begins right with Richard Nixon and Spiro Agnew."

McGovern pressed that as his issue Monday in Washington, Lyndhurst, N.J., and at a $500-a-plate campaign fund-raising dinner at New York's Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

"The Nixon administration is the most morally bankrupt administration in the entire history of our country," he told the fund-raising dinner crowd estimated at more than 1,000 Monday night. He also said it is the worst administration.

"The influence of big money is corrupting the integrity of government on a scale never seen before," McGovern said.

The chief components of McGovern's corruption charges are those he has been raising for weeks—the Justice Department's settlement of the International Telephone & Telegraph antitrust case; "this smelly whet deal" with the Soviet Union, and campaign contributions to Nixon from anonymous donors, which the Democratic candidate said may total $20 million.

"Lesser scandals than ITT or the wheat deal shook previous administrations to their very roots," McGovern said.

He said the cases of Harry Vaughan, "hounded out of the White House because he accepted a $200 deepfreeze," and Sherman Adams, ousted "in disgrace because he accepted a vicuna coat," were as child's play by comparison.

He accused the administration of corrupting American principles "in an unjust war," and of corrupting the political process with "the politics of evasion."

He said Nixon has made the worst Supreme Court appointments in U.S. history, and he accused the administration of attempting "to bully the free press" into a cheering section.

McGovern had some complaints of his own about the press.

On election day, he said, the voters should not be influenced by the polls—which show him far behind—or "by what some smart syndicated columnist is writing who's been wrong consistently for a year and a half, who knows nothing really about what's going on at the grass roots of this country."

He said he is baffled at being held personally accountable for every flaw in his campaign while "Mr. Nixon is permitted to stand above the battle and somebody else is always blamed for the sins of the Nixon administration."

Panel To Cut Deductible On Home Insurance Plan

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — State Insurance Board member Durwood Manford said today the board is about to cut the mandatory deductible on homeowners insurance policies from 1 per cent to one-half of 1 per cent.

The deductible, quietly added by the board to all standard homeowners policy forms about two years ago in place of optional deductibles in specific dollar amounts—such as $150—has been widely criticized.

The board was expected to issue new homeowners rates last spring, but held off while it studied factors going into the rates.

"How many other states have the 1 per cent deductible?" Rep. Don Cavness of Austin asked Manford at a hearing on competitive rate legislation before the House Insurance Committee.

"I think you can assume that no other state has this. You also can assume that when the new rates come out, we will have a one-half per cent deductible to take care of the protests," Manford said.

He defended, however, the use of percentage deductibles instead of flat dollar amounts.

"The fair way is on a percentage basis," he said.

Earlier, Senators got their first look at a new proposal for competitive rates on auto and homeowner policies.

District Court Make Change In Jury Duty

A change in jury duty in 31st District Court has been made to facilitate some of the cases to come before the court in the upcoming session.

Jurors who had been ordered to report Oct. 3 at 9:30 a.m. will report Oct. 9 at that hour.

Jurors ordered to report Oct. 5 at 9:30 a.m. will report Oct. 16 at that hour.

The moves are made to get everything in order on the docket for the upcoming marathon session arranged by Judge Grainger McIlhenny to handle the heavy load imposed by the recent narcotics crackdown in Pampa as well as a number of cases that have been pending for some time due to a continuous heavy docket load.

County Commissioners Name 9 To Community Action Corp.

Gray County Commissioners in executive session yesterday, appointed a panel of nine to be the Community Action Corp. committee for Gray County.

The group will work with the staff and program of the parent organization in the Panhandle in the area of planned parenthood and day care for children.

The committee is comprised of Dale Greenhouse, Dr. Julian Key, Jerome Henry, James Morgan, Joe W. Garcia, Mack Wofford, Mary Dwyer, Joe K. Clarke and Ed Myatt, chairman.

Mrs. Dwyer is from McLean and Clarke is from Lefors. All others are from Pampa.

These will serve for a term ending Dec. 31, 1973, according to Gray County Judge Don Cain who announced the appointments this morning.

The group will meet at a later date for an orientation meeting with Argus Burnett, executive director of the Texas Panhandle Community Action Corp. which will foster the work in Gray County.

The non-profit organization is funded by federal allocations distributed through the office of the governor of Texas. Gray County will not be required to expend any money for the services rendered by the group. It did require approval of the commissioners court for the corporation to move into the county.

The vote was 20 to 15.

Chairman Wright Patman, D-Tex., of the House committee proposed the inquiry, saying "harassment, of opposition political parties through espionage and other means" has no place in American politics.

But the investigation proposal was denounced from both the Republican and Democratic sides of his committee. Critics said it would violate the rights of those already indicted in the break-in and bugging.

"Politics should stay out of justice," said Frank J. Brasco, D-N.Y., one of a number of Democrats who joined Republicans in opposing the Watergate probe.

City Manager Issues Statement On Water

City Manager Mack Wofford recently received several letters wanting to know why Pampans were not given a choice about the use of Lake Meredith water.

In fact, Wofford said, he has received three such letters.

To answer the question for the benefit of others who may have been wondering about the same thing, the city manager today issued a statement containing information that Pampa citizens voted twice on the matter.

His statement follows in this copy of letters mailed to the three city residents:

"This is in regard to your recent question concerning the use of Lake Meredith water by the City of Pampa.

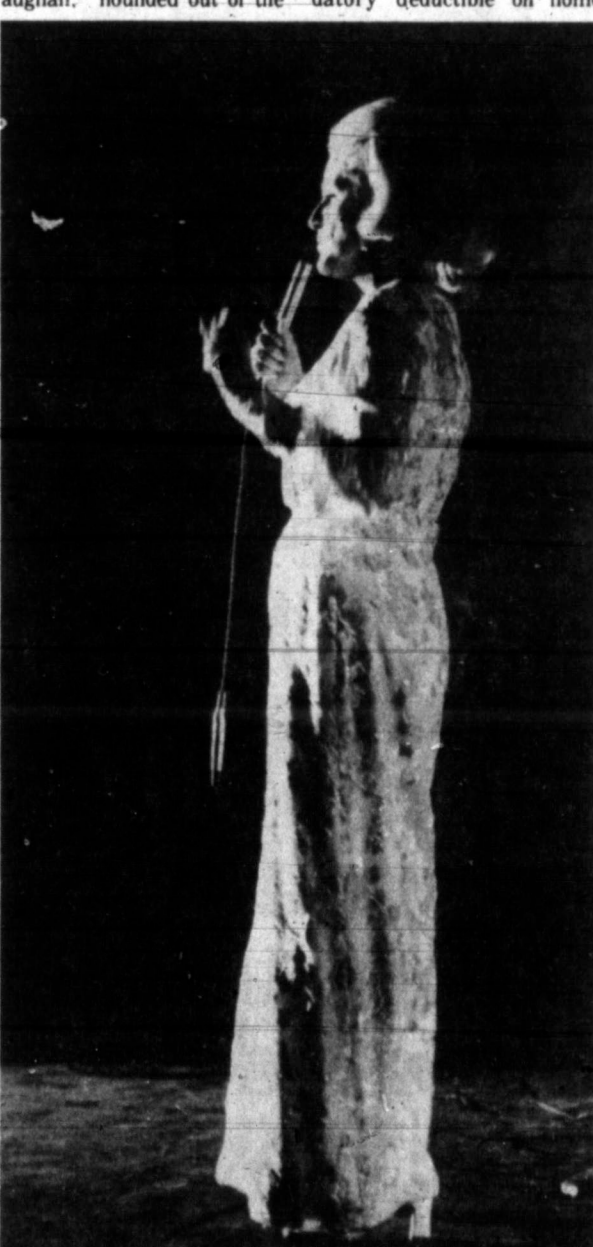

Two elections have been held in the City regarding the use of surface water. The first in November of 1960 which authorized the City to contract with the Canadian River Municipal Water Authority was approved by a vote of 2,406 to 90.

A second election was held in 1966 which approved the issuance of General Obligation bonds to construct Pampa's treatment facility by a vote of 1,491 to 1,098.

"Please be assured that the design and construction of Pampa's treatment plant have been approved by the Texas State Health Department and that all water introduced into the distribution system meets domestic water standards as established by the United States Public Health Service. Elected city officials and city employees share the common goal of providing the citizens of our community a high quality water supply.

"Should you have other questions regarding this matter, please do not hesitate to contact me."

SINGING STAR — Margaret Whiting, songstress with the Big Band Cavalcade which appeared in Pampa last night, was overwhelmed with the group's reception by last night's Community Concert Association audience in the M.K. Brown Auditorium. "Pampans are wonderful," said Miss Whiting. She is shown here as she sang a medley of tunes by song-writer Richard Whiting, her father. (See story on page 2)

'Big Band Cavalcade' Performances Captivate Capacity Audience Here

By BILL HALEY
As Archie and Edith Bunker never tire of singing ("Those were the days," "The Days" stretch roughly from the great depression to the years immediately following World War II. It was the golden age of radio, the movies, one-night stands and places like the Coconut Grove and Central Park Casino.
In popular music the style was labeled "swing" and its hallmark was, as expressed by Bob Crosby, the sound of the big band.

The era was studded with great names and household words. Not the least among them was the quartet of stars which appeared last night in the M.K. Brown Memorial Auditorium with the "Big Band Cavalcade."
Although their names have faded in the onslaught of time, Bob Crosby, Freddy Martin, Frankie Carle and Margaret Whiting nevertheless were the image of youthfulness and surprised everyone with their varied skills and their ability to captivate an audience.

Area Man's Wound Said Self-Inflicted
A 23-year old man, thought to be a resident of White Deer, was treated for a slashed wrist and loss of blood at Highland General Hospital last night.
The wound was believed self-inflicted and friends told investigating officers he had been talking about suicide for a week.
Police were summoned to a Pampa residence where the victim was lying in the driveway being aided by a friend while awaiting an ambulance.

Windows Shot In Shop Center
Someone with an air rifle ran amuck in Coronado Center last night leaving scarcely a business in the complex without broken windows.
Most of the firms suffered damage to one large plate glass pane each but two had two large windows vandalized with the B-B shot.
Unofficial estimate of the damage places loss near the $1,000 mark.
Police are investigating.

State Solons Continue Hearings On Superport

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — House and Senate committees continue joint hearings today into whether a state commission should be created to build and operate a deepwater port to handle jumbo tankers off the Texas coast.
The House Appropriations Committee and Senate Finance Committee were told Monday that nine oil companies already had formed SEADOCK, Inc. to build such a port.
But Sen. A.R. Schwartz of Galveston, Senator sponsor of the "superport" bill said there were uncertainties in a private port, such as whether oil companies who were not in SEADOCK could use it.
"We would urge that additional time be given for further study of this very important issue by the appropriate parties," said Robert Chitwood of Cities Service Oil Co., one of the firms participating in SEADOCK.
Rep. Ray Lemmon of Houston, domestic oil supplies were insufficient to feed the state's giant refining and petrochemical industries. And adequate supplies of imported oil could be shipped only in jumbo tankers limited to water depths of 60 to 110 feet, Lemmon said.
Dean Samuel Ellison of the University of Texas at Austin's College of Natural Sciences, said Texas should move to be the first state with a superport.
"If you allow the first U.S. deepwater port to be built in Louisiana or on the East Coast, it would cause considerable economic declines in Texas," Ellison said.

News Announces Contest Winners

Only four entries were able to weave their way through the weekend of football upsets in last week's contest sponsored by The News and 14 Pampa merchants.
Charlie Lang, 1157 Huff Road, and Melissa Holland, 1316 Duncan, each missed only three games. Both picked Texas Tech to defeat Texas and neither guessed the two upsets between the Oilers-Jets and Green Bay-Cowboy games.
Lang was awarded first place on the basis of his 7-17 prediction on the Pampa Harvester-Carlisbad Cavemen score. Mrs. Holland guessed 20-34 for the score of that game and as a result was awarded second place.
Third place was also decided on the basis of the tie-breaker score.
Gary Baker, 2704 Navajo, and La Donna Franks, 1168 Neel Road, both missed only four games. Baker was awarded third place with his 17-15 guess of the Harvester-Cavemen score. La Donna Franks took Pampa over Carlisbad by a score of 35-14.
A new contest appears elsewhere in today's issue. Circle all 14 games and pick the scores on the tie-breaker games. All entries must be received in The News office prior to 5 p.m. Friday, Oct. 6.

Perryton Man Held On Charge Of Holding 'Pot'

A Perryton man remained in the Ochiltree County jail this forenoon in lieu of bond set on a charge of possession of marijuana.
Joe Lee Smith, 21, was arrested Sunday morning by Ochiltree County Sheriff Ray Pagan. H.F. Hulsey, justice of the peace, set bond at $2,000.
Three other Perryton men and a juvenile girl were picked up shortly after midnight Friday for possession of marijuana.
The men were charged with possession of marijuana. The girl was released to the custody of her mother, sheriff's officials said.

Dear Abby

Lovebirds, keep Johnny out of the house tonight

By Abigail Van Buren
(© 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N. V. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: Ralph and I have been married for two years, and we are still very much in love, but here's our problem: Ralph is "scheduling" what used to be our most beautiful and romantic moments, and I don't like it. He says, "No romance until after Johnny Carson."

Abby, sometimes I don't want to stay up that late, because I have to be up at 6 a. m. sharp every day, but Ralph stays up to watch the whole show, no matter who's on.

I think he's being selfish, and he thinks I'm being stubborn. I'd like your opinion. And in case you think this is a gag, I'm signing my full name, but please don't use it. Sign me... SLEEPY TIME GAL IN MPLS.

DEAR GAL: If your husband isn't turned ON until Carson is turned off, you need more help than I can give you in a letter. I'm afraid the honeymoon is over when the boob beside you ignores you for the tube.

DEAR ABBY: As a supervisor in a typing pool, I have consistently informed my girls that there is no such word as "reoccur," and the word should be "recur." Now, to my horror, I find that you have used the word "reoccurring" in your column, and since you are an expert, I feel that there must be some basis for using the word, or you wouldn't have printed it in your column.

Please restore my faith in you, and inform your readers where we can find the word "reoccur." It does not appear in my copy of the American College Dictionary. Sincerely, MYRNA IN COLUMBUS

DEAR MYRNA: You will find the word "reoccur" on page 1923 of The Webster's Third International (unabridged) Dictionary. It's between "reoccupy" and "reoccure." I make my share of reoccurring errors, but this isn't one of them.

DEAR ABBY: I do not drive a car, so I do a lot of walking. My problem is that I have been threatened, frightened, and nearly bitten by dogs. How does one defend himself against dogs without appearing ridiculous?

I can't always carry a cane. Besides I've been told that when a dog sees a cane, he knows it's a weapon, and the carrier practically invites attack.

I know there are laws where I reside, stating that dogs must be on a leash, but nevertheless I see plenty of dogs loose, and worse yet, they see me.

Please help me. AFRAID OF DOGS

DEAR AFRAID: Will you take a tip from a veteran mail carrier who has picked many a bone with a dog? He says the government provides each mail carrier with a can of "spray," which is an animal repellent. Also, instead of a cane, carry a leather belt with a big knot in the buckle end, and if a dog attacks you, give it a good clout on the nose with the knot. Also, never turn your back on a dog or run, for he'll surely attack you. Finally, if you are in doubt as to the dog's friendliness, check his tail. If it's still-rear for the spray!

CONFIDENTIAL TO HARRY IN DUXBURY: While the hereditary factor in baldness is of prime importance, I agree, proper hair care will help a man keep his hair longer. But let's not split hairs, Harry.

Your Horoscope

By Joane Dixon

WEDNESDAY, OCT. 4
Your birthday today: Your deeds this year create a lasting pattern for the future, all the more effective for their fundamental simplicity. Today's natives are capable of that 90 per cent hard labor needed to back the 10 per cent of genius that is intellectual discernment.

Aries (March 21-April 19): You reach a subtle turning point in your attitudes toward yourself and others. Evening hours call for no 'business' and definite planning.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): Aside from suggested caution about money, this is a peaceful day to do the minimum, with as little hullabaloo as can be managed.

Gemini (May 21-June 20): You'll be glad you stuck to what you're supposed to do instead of letting restless moods pull you off schedule. Much can be done.

Cancer (June 21-July 22): Nothing happens unless you exert your best talents to make things go. Give yourself extra time for even familiar routines.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22): Your impulse to generosity can lead to complications. Actually, you barely have enough time to attend your own concerns.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Go directly to the fundamental issues, carrying others along with your enthusiasm and curiosity. Taper down gradually.

Libra (Sep. 23-Oct. 22): Press forward with the best elements of yesterday's campaign, allowing rest breaks for insight. Romantic interest flickers.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Pull back from close collaboration, do things that lend themselves to single-handed effort. Careful review may reveal flaws.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): It seems to you others are more involved in personal problems than business or career strivings. Let well enough alone.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Accept an unpressured day as a time for reflection, calm persuasive suggestions intended to bring results somewhat later on.

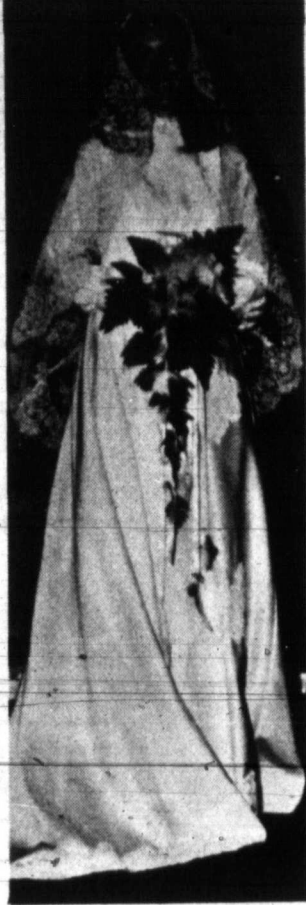

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): The slightest suggestion to anybody on what to do next, or how to do it, provokes an overreaction. Let others learn from experience.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20): The more insistent you are, the further away you are from getting what you think you want. New acceptances arise from cooperation.

Dunnam-Schoolfield Vows Are Exchanged In Alabama

The United Methodist Church of Goodwater, Ala., was the setting Saturday, Sept. 2 at 2:30 p.m. for the exchange of nuptial vows by Miss Brenda Dunnam and Navy Lt. Ernest Lynn Schoolfield of Newport, R.I., formerly of Pampa.

The double-ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Franklin Phillips of Gardendale, Ala. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Elmer Dunnam of Goodwater, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Schoolfield of Sylacauga, Ala., formerly of Pampa.

MRS. E.L. SCHOOLFIELD

THE CEREMONY
The background of palms, magnolia, smilax, huckleberry and caladiums, interspersed with brass candelabra holding white cathedral tapers, formed the setting for the wedding. On either side of the Chancel were topiary plants and spiral candelabra entwined with baby's breath fern. Family pews were marked with hurricane-lamps, white-ribbon bows and greenery.

A musical prelude was presented by Tom Saxon, pianist of the University of Alabama. He played "To A Wild Rose" by McDowell, for the processional, and for the recessional, he used "Trumpet Voluntary" by Purcell. He was accompanied by trumpeter Billy English of Sylacauga. Miss Beverly Dunnam, sister of the bride, sang "The Lord's Prayer" as the benedictory prayer.

THE BRIDE
Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a silk faille gown designed with an empire bodice overlaid with Alencon lace and reembodyered with pearls. The lace duchess neckline and traditional pointed sleeves were accented with lace motifs. The skirt featured a wide lace hemline and butterfly bustle, with a train extending to chapel length. Her imported mantilla of illusion was edged in Alencon lace, and she carried a cascade bouquet of pink and white rosebuds and stephanotis.

ATTENDANTS
Miss Beverly Dunnam was maid of honor, and bridesmaid was Miss Sharon Hawkins. They wore floor-length gowns of amethyst crepe, fashioned with empire waistslines deep-ruffled yokes, outlined with Venice lace, and Victorian necklines. Their wide-brimmed white braid hats were trimmed with ribbon and tulle, and they carried antique baskets filled with summer flowers.

Flower girl was Miss Buffy Bobbitt of Sylacauga, whose white dress was fashioned like that of the bridal attendants. She wore flowers in her hair and carried a basket of pink rose petals.

James Robert Schoolfield was his brother's best man and John Boyd Schoolfield, Jr., another brother, was groomsmen.

Ushers were Navy Lt. George Minglehoff III of Charleston, S.C., Navy Lt. Skip Esty of Pensacola, Fla., and Navy Lt. John Robert Charles of Kingsville, Tex. Clay Schoolfield, nephew of the bridegroom, was ringbearer and the acolytes were Stacy Lynn Schoolfield and John Boyd Schoolfield III of Hurst, Tex., niece and nephew of the bridegroom.

MOTHERS
For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Dunnam wore a street-length dress of azure blue peau de soie with matching accessories. Her headpiece was a matching Dior bow and her corsage was of pink rosebuds.

Mrs. Schoolfield wore a burnished tan raw silk suit with matching accessories and a corsage of white rosebuds edged in yellow.

As they left the church, the couple walked under an arch of sabers held by the ushers.

RECEPTION
Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church social room. The bride's table was covered with a floor-length, handmade white linen cloth, trimmed with lace and overlaid with net. The four-tiered cake, decorated with rosebuds, was supported by Grecian columns. On either side of the cake were silver epergnes holding snapdragons, pink carnations and fashion fern. Presiding at the punch bowl were Mrs. James R. Schoolfield and Mrs. John Boyd Schoolfield Jr., sisters-in-law of the bridegroom.

The bridegroom's table was covered with a forest-green linen cloth trimmed in gold cord. Small white boxes with the couples names printed in gold contained fruit cake slices. A large candle, surrounded by fruit, completed the decorations.

For the wedding trip to Chattanooga, Tenn., Williamsburg, Va., and Annapolis, Md., the bride wore a red knit halter dress accented with a pearl and gold leaf lapel pin, a gift of the bridegroom. They will make their home in Newport, R.I., where the bridegroom is stationed with the United States Navy.

AFFILIATIONS
The bride, a graduate of Goodwater High School, attended Auburn University and Julliard School of Music, New York. The bridegroom is a graduate of Pampa High School and the Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md.

What do you do now?
A—Just bid three no-trump. You have a 4-3-3 distribution and 19 points, as advertised.

TODAY'S QUESTION
Your partner continues to four no-trump. What do you do now?

Answer tomorrow

South can count 11 easy tricks at his slam contract. He also sees that if spades break or the jack drops he has his 12th trick right there.

If he is a really good player he will note that there is a possible club-spade squeeze but that he should give up a trick to establish the squeeze situation.

The only place to give up a trick is in clubs so South wins the heart lead in dummy and leads a club to his jack.

There is another extra chance here. East might hold both the king and queen of clubs and might not play one of them.

The last chance does not come off. West wins the club and leads a second heart.

Now it is up to South to cash all his top cards in hearts, diamonds and clubs. Maybe the squeeze will develop.

It doesn't, but something else does. South watches the fall of the cards. He sees East discard on the second club and fourth heart and West discard on the third diamond. This gives him a perfect count of the East hand. Three hearts, five diamonds, one club and four other cards which have to

TFWC District President Speaks To Varietas Club

Mrs. Cecil Dalton was hostess to a Varietas Study Club coffee, with Mrs. S.C. Evans, Mrs. Price Dosier, Sr., and Mrs. Clyde Ellis as co-hostesses. The serving table was covered with a white applique Valencia cloth by Jabara, centered with flowers, autumn leaves, and china figurines.

Mrs. N.B. Ellis, club president, presided. The invocation was given by Mrs. R.W. Lane. Mrs. Ellis presented Mrs. Kermit Lawson, state treasurer of the Texas Federated Women's Clubs, who introduced Mrs. Don Max Vars of Canyon, president of the Top of Texas District, TFWC, who gave the program.

Mrs. Vars spoke of the value of club membership for women, listing friendship, education, and community betterment as the prime purposes.

Discussing her plans for the district, she stated she will emphasize continuance and expansion of the Opportunity Plan for scholarship loan to college students, and increase of club memberships, either by club enlargement or by formation of new clubs. Two president's awards, for the periods of Sept. 1, 1972, to March 1, 1973, will be given for club improvement, through a point system and for the best average attendance.

Following Mrs. Vars' talk, Mrs. Lawson spoke on the needs of Texas Federation and announced various meetings to be held throughout the state in the near future.

Mrs. Dalton discussed the club yearbooks and announced the next meeting will be on Oct. 10, with Mrs. Aubrey Sprawls.

Four Persons Arrested For Possessing Heroin

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP)—Four men were charged here Monday following the largest seizure of heroin ever made in Nueces County in South Texas.

U.S. Customs agents said they found almost five pounds of heroin, estimated to have a retail value of $2,190,000, Saturday afternoon at a service station operated by one of the arrested men.

Although there have been larger seizures along the U.S.-Mexican border, the previous record for Nueces County was only seven ounces taken by Corpus Christi police in February of last year.

The four accused are Abel Ramos, 39, of Roma; Moses Cordova-Castendado, 25, said to be an illegal alien from Guadalupe, Mexico; Manuel Macias, 22, of nearby Robstown; and Adrian S. Rodriguez, 38, a resident alien living in Robstown.

Five Pampa Teachers Back From Trip To San Angelo

Five Pampa teachers returned Sunday from San Angelo where they attended an Angelo State University Teachers Theatre Production adapted from "Selling With A Song" by Elizabeth Hurley, Pampa High School journalism teacher.

The production, "Come Buy 'Come Buy'" was adapted and directed by Helen Schaefer, Assistant Professor of Speech at Angelo State University. Miss Schaefer formerly was speech and drama teacher at Pampa High School.

"Selling With A Song," a tribute to the peddlers of yesteryear—was written by Miss Hurley as her thesis for a Master of Arts degree from Texas Woman's University in 1962. An article from the thesis appeared in "Folk Travelers" published by the Texas Folklore Society in 1963.

In both the original thesis and "Come Buy 'Come Buy'" the cries of peddlers and street vendors of early day Texas are preserved and compared to today's singing radio and television commercials. Peddlers of the past from ancient times to early New England have played an unforgettable role. Their songs and cries have been used in literature, art, and music—in such famous works as Shakespeare's "A Winter's Tale," Hogarth's street scenes, and Gershwin's "Porgy and Bess."

Many of the Texas vendors' songs solicited customers to buy hot tamales, watermelons, vegetables, fruits and charcoal as recalled by early-day citizens over the state.

The Readers Theatre Production was presented in three performances, Thursday, Friday and Saturday and will be given Oct. 6 at the 1972 Texas Speech Communication Association in San Antonio.

Besides Miss Hurley, others attending from Pampa were Mr. and Mrs. Howard Graham, Mrs. Mabel Torvie, and Ronald Rice.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Today is Tuesday, Oct. 3, the 27th day of 1972. There are 89 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:
On this date in 1952, the British exploded their first atomic bomb. The blast was off the coast of Australia.

On this date:
In 1866, war between Austria and Italy was ended by the Treaty of Vienna.
In 1876, Johns Hopkins University opened in Baltimore.
In 1922, Iraq joined the League of Nations as a British mandate ended.
In 1944, during World War II, U.S. troops cracked the Siegfried Line north of Aachen, Germany.
In 1954, a nine-power conference in London agreed that West Germany should enter the North-Atlantic Treaty Organization.
In 1962, American ports were closed to all ships carrying cargoes to Cuba.
Also 10 years ago: It was reported that Yugoslavia had rejected a Soviet suggestion that the Belgrade government sign a separate peace treaty with East Germany.
Five years ago: North Vietnam rejected a U.S. offer of peace talks and vowed to continue the fight in Vietnam.
One year ago: An unmanned Soviet spacecraft, Luna 19, went into orbit around the moon.

Today's birthdays: Writer Gore Vidal is 47. Conductor Stanislaw Skrowaczewski is 79.

Thought for today: But words once spoke can never be recalled—Wentz, English poet, about 1633-1685.

Texans Urged To Register For Voting

AUSTIN (AP)—Only 4.5 million of the 7.5 million Texans 18 and over are registered to vote, and Secretary of State Bob Bullock said Monday "I think we can do better."

Bullock urged "every county tax assessor and collector in the state to do everything possible to aid in the last minute voter registration effort this week."

Texans must register by Saturday to be eligible to vote in next month's general election.

Bullock said registration does not end until midnight Saturday and added he hopes "every registrar in the state will make it possible for anyone who is not yet registered to have until the final minute of this registration period to get his or her application in."

Horse Auction Set Saturday In Abilene

Shetland ponies to registered quarter-horses will be trotted through the auction ring as the auctioneer's chant signals the start of the second phase of the 13th annual Cattlemen's Round-up for crippled children to benefit the West Texas Rehabilitation Center.

The horse sale is set for 1 p.m. Saturday at Abilene Livestock Auction Company. Almost 100 horses have already been pledged to the sale, with more needed.

Anyone wishing to donate horses to the sale should contact the West Texas Rehabilitation Center in Abilene at (915)-692-1633. The livestock will be picked up and transported free.

The sheep and goat sale is set for 1 p.m. Oct. 9 at the Coleman Livestock Auction. A farm equipment auction is scheduled for Nov. 11.

The Sept. 25 cattle sale raised $81,000 toward the overall goal of $120,000 for the round-up, according to Charlie Morris.

general round-up chairman. He stressed that $40,000 must be raised with the next three sales.

The Cattlemen's Round-up for crippled children has been a traditional source of income for the Center, which is a private, non-profit institution serving the handicapped of the Southwest.

The Center, with a current active patient list of 753, has an annual operating budget of almost $500,000, most of which is raised through contributions. It is now in its 20th year of operation.

Catron County Slates Annual Endurance Ride

ALBUQUERQUE — If you're up to it, how about a one-day 50-mile trail ride through high rolling country, dense mountain forests, past lakes and ancient Indian ruins?

The annual Catron County endurance ride will be held Oct. 22, beginning and ending at Quemado, N.M., on U.S. Highway 60 in the west-central part of the state.

Anyone over 18 may enter the open division. Younger riders must be sponsored by an adult contestant and must remain with the sponsor throughout the ride. Horses must be five years old or older.

All entries must be postmarked no later than Oct. 10 and received by Oct. 15. Entry fee is $25 for each rider. All horses must be presented for a veterinary examination at 4 p.m. Oct. 12 at the Quemado Rodeo Grounds.

A briefing will be held at the Quemado Community Center at 9 p.m. that same day, when the trail will be explained in detail, maps provided and rules and regulations discussed.

The ride begins at 6 a.m. Oct. 22. Horses will leave the starting line at one-minute intervals, in the order that entries are received.

After the ride, the Quemado Roping Club will host all riders to a Western dance and an awards banquet. Limited motel accommodations are available in Quemado, but contestants are urged to camp out if possible.

For entry blanks, general information and complete rules and regulations concerning the ride, write Edith Bowen, P.O. Box 343, Corrales, N.M. 87048.

Worry Clinic

By GEORGE W. CRANE Ph.D., M.D.

Mildred's complaint about TV programs is all too true. Tired viewers don't want to use their imaginations to evolve solutions. Like children, they also prefer "visible" humor instead of the "mental" wit shown by William F. Buckley's postscript below!

CASE V-508: Mildred G., aged 34, has a common complaint.

"Dr. Crane," she began, "by the time I get our two preschool toddlers in bed at night, I am tired."

"But I sit down beside my husband on the davenport to watch TV."

"And I like romantic movies that end happily with the heroine in the arms of the hero."

"Alas, the scenario writers often leave out that final embrace, so the finish is left to our imagination."

"The end is thus dangling, like a sentence without a period."

"Maybe the script writers are much smarter than the rest of us tired viewers and think we can easily evolve our own solution to the play."

"But I like to witness the completed romantic finish, else I feel cheated and irritable!"

"My imagination is so fatigued it doesn't work well at 10 P.M."

"Like grammar school kiddies, I want to see positively that the good guys won that the hero always gets the girl into his arms!"

Humor Tests Mildred's complaint is very common.

In fact, I join her in her criticism of the dangling conclusions of many TV plots.

For when we adults are tired and merely seeking simple diversion from the TV at night, we don't want to solve problems!

Instead, we wish to have the answers revealed without any mental effort on our part!

To this degree, our fatigue has made us revert to the children's level of thinking.

Dubart Clark, C.C. of 212, presided. James Daniels, M. at W., was in charge of the Ranks teams assisted by Texas grand Sec'y A.L. Weatherred, which initiated 12 new members into the Order.

The teams were composed of members from Tyler, Pampa, Fort Worth, Longview, Cleburne, Abilene, Waco and Mineral Wells.

Raymond Brown, Jr., Grand Chancellor of Texas, was present and addressed the members. Other Grand Lodge officers present were Dewey Wright, Fort Worth, G.V.C.; N.B. Greenwood, Longview, G.P.; A.L. Weatherred, Tyler, G. Sec'y.; Norman Jones, Mineral Wells, G.M. at A.; and V.H. McClintock, Waco, G.I.G. P.G.C.J. Ernest Milstead, Tyler, and Wes Hamilton, Supt. of the Texas Children Home at Weatherford, were introduced.

B.B. Altman, Jr., Pampa, State Chairman of the ritualistic committee, was present and presented "proficients cards" to 17 members of the Rank Teams.

J.E. Milstead, C.C. in all three ranks, John Hobaugh, King; N.B. Greenwood, M. at

A.; Judge McClintock, L. of F.; Raymond Brown, as Pythagoras; Doyle Platt, Prelate, all did outstanding jobs in the ranks teams.

Norman Jones, sec'y of No. 212, chairman of food committee, assisted by other members and members of Pythian Sister, served a fried chicken dinner and all the timings to 100 members, their wives and guests after the lodge meeting.

A representative of Childress Lodge was also present at the meeting.

Members of Pampa Lodge No. 480 present were Altman, James Weatherred, Eulless, and A.L. Weatherred, Tyler.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Los Angeles County employs a lot of different persons to do a lot of different jobs. Now the Board of Supervisors has approved a new title: coyote trapper.

The board voted unanimously Tuesday to join the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service in hiring two trappers for the remainder of the current fiscal year at a cost to the county not to exceed $13,000.

"Many sheep raisers in the Antelope Valley are losing 250 to 300 lambs each season," chairman Warren Dorn said.

Cattle and poultry producers also are suffering heavy losses and many pets are being destroyed in foothill areas."

Retirement Mexican Style

By CARLTON SMITH

Make your retirement home in Mexico? The idea obviously appeals to many, since an estimated 50,000 Americans have migrated south of the border, either as permanent residents or the so-called "snowbirds" who winter there.

Yet an unusually candid book, just published by a long-time American resident, while cataloguing the many advantages and delights of living in Mexico, warns that it may not be your dish of tea. It takes a certain type of person to enjoy living in a country that's "still a very foreign place," author Carl D. Ross observes, and his book should help in deciding whether you're such a person.

Mexico's principal attraction to the retiree, he says, is not the low cost of living but its climate—and the easier, more relaxed way of life. There's a climate to suit any taste: cool, warm or hot—mountains, lake or tropical seashore.

Another way to meet the requirement is to deposit enough to cover five years' residency ($14,400 for the single retiree) in a private or government Mexican bank. You receive your $240 a month and, currently, 7.9 per cent annual interest, net after tax, on the declining balance.

Better yet, for those with the capital, invest it in a "financiera," suggests Ross, who's headed an investment-counsel firm in Mexico for the past two decades. Banks that finance small business, the financieras currently pay 10.5 per cent net, on five-year deposits. With about $30,000 on deposit, you'd receive your $240 a month and still have your capital intact at the end of five years.

Living costs in Mexico City and northern border areas are little lower than in the United States. The average rent paid by retired couples in Mexico City, Ross reports, is about $200 a month. It averages $150 in Guadalajara, the second largest city, where there's a large American colony. But in small towns in the interior, a "quite livable house" can be rented for $40 a month, and $150 will put you in near luxury.

A five-in maid gets $30 to $60 a month. The services of a day-woman or houseboy cost $2 to $3 a day.

One indication of living costs is the amount of assured income required of permanent residents. At present it's $240 a month for a single person, $30 additional for each dependent. This requirement of $320 per couple can be satisfied with proof of Social Security or pension benefits, or income from investments.

Austin—The Texas Safety Association is conducting an Occupational Safety and Health seminar in Amarillo, Friday.

OSHA and state officials will participate and discuss the pictured violations and specific ways to avoid Federal citations.

liminary testing of life in Mexico, on this temporary basis, before making long-range commitments.

By satisfying the income requirement you become an immigrante rentista, with some of the rights of Mexican citizenship—and after five years of this status you can be promoted to inmigrado, a permanent resident with nearly all rights of citizenship, without loss of U.S. rights.

Anyone who thinks retirement in Mexico might be appealing should find many questions answered in this 150-page book, "Learn How You Can Invest or Retire in Mexico." But there's one question it doesn't answer; there's no price shown on it.

Presumably one has to inquire of the publisher: Inversiones Alba S.A., Reforma 336, Mexico 6 D.F. As it says in the book, you find they're more relaxed about things in Mexico.

WTSU Looks For Bandsmen For Festival

CANYON--Wanted: Musicians. Qualifications: Can play an instrument; previously attended West-Texas State University.

Dr. Gary Garner, WTSU band director, is looking for former Buffalo bandsmen who want to play in an alumni band as part of halftime ceremonies at the Homecoming football game Oct. 14.

Garner conceived the idea of an alumni band last year and 100 former students showed up to play.

"It was one of the most popular entertainment features of last year's Homecoming activities," Garner said. "It was successful beyond our wildest hopes. We want to make it an annual affair."

Former students interested in playing in this year's alumni band are requested to contact Garner as soon as possible so a program can be arranged.

Garner said a reception is planned for former band members after the game.

Price Criticizes Welfare Pamphlet

WASHINGTON—In a letter to John Twiname, administrator of Social and Rehabilitation Service of the department of Health, Education and Welfare, Congressman Bob Price strongly criticized a Department publication entitled "Welfare Myths vs. Fact."

A recent General Accounting Office investigation of the pamphlet ordered by Congressman Price turned up evidence of several misleading and inaccurate statements which distorted the seriousness of the welfare problem in America.

"Not only was $7,000 of taxpayers' money squandered on the printing of this inaccurate pamphlet, but over 100,000 copies have been distributed which misled the American public about this critical issue," Price said.

"It is the dissemination of inaccurate information such as this primarily for the purpose of promoting a bureaucratic program or philosophy which has contributed greatly to the crisis of confidence in Government in America today."

On The Sidelines

By CLAY LIVELY
Sports Editor

Just yesterday I received the Sept.-Oct. issue of the "Letterman," a magazine designed for high school athletes.

"Letterman" is a bi-monthly published in Wheaton, Ill. and printed by the Hart Press of Long Prairie, Minnesota.

The magazine publishes articles on every high school sport. It generally contains an article or articles written by famous sports figures and some tips on conditioning as well as feature stories on outstanding high school athletes from around the country.

This latest issue features Bart Starr on the NFL and Pele, the great soccer player, begins a series of articles on the sport in which he is the recognized master.

It was another article, however, that drew most of my attention. "Letterman" announced in the current edition its High School All-American Team, billed in the table of contents as "A look at the 20 best high school players in the country plus regional honorable mentions."

The 20 named players on the All-America team represent a wide geographical base, with no state having more than two players mentioned on the team. Texas, Pennsylvania and California are the states represented by two athletes.

Wilson Whitley of Brenham, offensive tackle, and Lee Canallito of Houston Sterling, defensive tackle, are the Texans on the squad.

When you get to the regional honorable mentions, however, the geographical balance concept falls by the wayside. I refer particularly to the Southwest, an area encompassing four states, Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico and Arizona.

By way of explanation, the athletes honored were picked by nominating committees from each of the various regions: Southwest, East, South, etc.

Snead Hands Ex-Mates Defeat

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — New York Giants Quarterback Norm Snead, with a big assist from running back Ron Johnson, made the Philadelphia Eagles and their owner, Leonard Tose, eat humble pie Monday night.

Snead rubbed it in by doing his thing on national television (ABC). His thing was 12 of 19 pass completions for 164 yards and three touchdowns. He led the Giants to a 27-12 victory over the winless Eagles.

Johnson, the 205-pound running back who sat out most of last season with an injured knee, caught all three of Snead's TD passes, and ran the ball 36 times for 128 yards and the fourth touchdown. It was the first victory for New York in three games.

Snead refused to gloat. The 12-year NFL veteran basked in the victory rather than in recriminations.

"I feel nothing against the Eagles," said Snead after the game. "Maybe last year, but not now. It has been two years since I left. I'll tell you, though, it feels real good to win."

In the Eagles' dressing room, the red-faced Tose ripped his players. "This team has no character," ranted the owner. "I'm very disappointed," he said. "I came in at halftime and told the team their performance was disappointing. I have no regrets about the guarantee. I do have regrets the way this team played."

The Giants took a 7-0 lead in the first period on a 16-yard pass from Snead to Johnson. The Eagles came back with a 27-yard Tom Dempsey field goal. Then Johnson ran 5 for another score to make it 14-3. Dempsey kicked a 15-yarder, and Johnson grabbed a 9-yard pass in the end zone for a 21-6 halftime lead.

Po James scored on a 5-yard pass for Philadelphia in the third quarter, and Johnson wrapped it up for New York with a 15-yard end zone reception in the fourth.

The number of people or groups on the nominating committees ranged from 12 in the Midwest to 4 in the Southwest. The West, South, and East were represented by 10 apiece.

Consider: of the eight athletes named on the regional honorable mention team from Texas, all but San Antonio Lee's all-state quarterback Tommy Kramer are from schools within a 75-mile radius of Houston. Add to that the first-team All-American duo of Whitley and Canallito and the Houston area, apparently has all of the first-rate players in Texas save one.

Consider further: 12, yes TWELVE players from Oklahoma receive mention. Of those, five are from Tulsa.

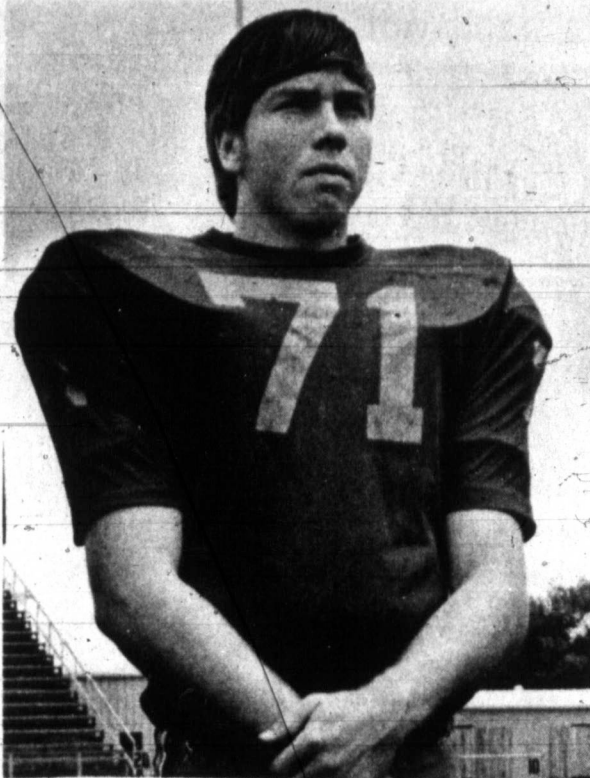

Arizona has 16 players of high school All-America caliber while neighboring New Mexico has but two. Both of those players are from Las Cruces.

Arizona is fortunate enough to have most of its talent split between three towns. Tucson has the most with seven players honored. Phoenix has four and Scottsdale, three.

Amazing that there are more quality football players in Las Cruces, N.M. than in Dallas, West Texas, East Texas and the Panhandle combined.

Now if you have not surmised the areas that the nominating committee members are from—here they are: Wayne Bishop, Tulsa Daily World, Bill McMurray, Houston Chronicle, Sam Payne, Phoenix Gazette and the staff of the "Arizona Prep Magazine."

Granted these people, particularly I should think, McMurray, are limited in how many players they can see first hand. But surely McMurray knows sportswriters and sportscasters in other areas about the state from whom he could elicit a bit of help if he is on the "Letterman" nominating committee next year.

HARVESTER OF THE WEEK — Pampa High's hard-hitting senior offensive guard and defense noseguard Ed Townsend was chosen by the Pampa coaches as Harvester of the Week for the second week in a row. In last Friday's loss to Carlsbad, Ed graded 67 per cent on execution and 100 per cent on assignment on offense. From his defensive post he made one tackle, was in on 17 more, caused a Carlsbad fumble and blocked an extra point attempt.

Texas, LSU Move Up

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Southern California, which scored 51 points Saturday, and Oklahoma, which scored 52, have solidified their positions as the top two college football teams in The Associated Press poll.

The Trojans, coached by John McKay, beat Michigan State 51-6 and received 36 first-place votes and 970 points from sportswriters and sportscasters in this week's poll.

Coach Chuck Fairbanks' Sooners crushed Clemson 52-3. They received 13 votes for first and a total of 907 points.

Ohio State and Alabama, fifth and sixth, respectively a week ago, moved into the third and fourth spots.

Ohio State beat North Carolina 29-14 and Alabama downed Vanderbilt 48-21. Colorado dropped from third to 12th after a 31-6 loss to Oklahoma State while Tennessee fell from fourth to 10th following its 10-6 defeat by Auburn.

Louisiana State climbed one spot to eighth after whipping Wisconsin 27-7. Texas made the Top Ten for the first time this season as No. 9 following its 25-

Luis Tiant Will Pitch "Most Important Game"

By Associated Press
Luis Tiant, Boston's goateed right-hander, carries the fate of the Red Sox in baseball's American League East showdown with him tonight when he pitches "the most important game of my life," against Detroit.

The Sox just hope he doesn't slip. It was a disastrous slip by usually sure-footed Luis Aparicio that short-circuited a Boston rally Monday night and when Detroit went on to whip the Sox 4-1, it left the Sox peering into oblivion. One more Detroit victory either tonight or Wednesday will spell title for the Tigers.

While Detroit was getting the jump on Boston in their head-to-head confrontation for the AL East flag, Montreal's Bill Stoneman stole some of the spotlight with the second no-hitter of his major league career, defeating the New York Mets 7-0 in the first game of a twilight doubleheader. The Mets won the second game, 2-1.

Elsewhere on an abbreviated schedule Monday, the Chicago Cubs defeated Philadelphia 4-3 in the National League. Milwaukee took the New York Yankees 6-1 and the Chicago White Sox tripped Minnesota 6-4 in the American League.

Mickey Lolich struck out 15 batters and limited Boston to six hits while Aurelio Rodriguez drove in three runs for the Tigers with a homer and two singles. Al Kaline also had a homer and two other hits.

Kaline had given Detroit the lead in the first inning with his 10th homer of the year and third in the last three games but the Sox seemed to be getting to Lolich in the third. Tommy Harper singled and raced to third on Aparicio's hit. Then Carl Yastrzemski boomed a 420-foot drive that scored Harper and sent Aparicio around third, headed for home.

"I had to wait around second base to make sure that the ball wouldn't be caught," said Aparicio. "and then I turned on the speed. I started to round third, but hit the bag on top—I stumbled and tried to keep going. Instead, I slipped on the grass and had to scramble back to the bag."

There he met Yastrzemski and the Tigers tagged Yaz for the second out of the inning. Then Lolich struck out Reggie Smith to end the threat.

After that, the ball game belonged to Lolich, Kaline and Rodriguez. In the fifth, Rodriguez homered. In the sixth, Kaline singled and came around to score on a hit by Rodriguez. In the eighth, Kaline singled again and again the Tigers scored on a two-out single by Rodriguez.

The Detroit-Boston showdown was supposed to be the only significant game Monday but Stoneman added some meaning to the Montreal-New York twilight doubleheader with his no-hitter.

The veteran right-hander struck out nine but had to fight off frequent sieges of wildness that led to seven bases on balls. A small but vocal Montreal crowd, sitting in 53-degree overcast weather, cheered Stoneman's every pitch as he closed in on his classic.

"It's nice to pitch one here," said Stoneman, who also hurled a no-hitter at Philadelphia April 17, 1969. "They're the best people in baseball and they were behind me all the way. A lot of professionals don't pay much attention to the crowds, but I heard those people today."

Booster Club Meets

The weekly meeting of the Pampa Booster Club will be conducted this evening in the Pampa High School cafeteria.

Harvester head coach Buddy Williams will show the film of last week's game against Carlsbad. The Shocker and junior high coaches will deliver reports on their respective games also.

There are some who would just as soon skip the upcoming bicentennial hoopla and keep America's 200th anniversary observance short and sweet.

House to Probe Cuba VB Packs By ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON — The "Venceremos Brigade," the grandiloquent designation under which packs of radical U.S. youths are sneaked over to Cuba ostensibly to cut sugar cane but actually to undergo revolutionary training, is due for public airing.

A House Internal Security Subcommittee, headed by Rep. Claude Pepper, D-Fla., will hold three days of hearings in Miami, Fla., starting Oct. 11. Spectacular disclosures are anticipated.

Witnesses include youths who were recruited into Venceremos contingents that were covertly shuttled to Cuba via Mexico. Under oath, they will relate details of these ultra-left operations.

These views were vigorously echoed by Rep. Richard Ichord, D-Mo., chairman of the full Internal Security Committee, who initiated this probe. Noting that the arrival of the fifth Venceremos contingent in Cuba was announced there last spring, Ichord characterized them as "graphic examples of mindless absurdities."

YSA members are thoroughly indoctrinated and dedicated Marxists. They function under rigid regimentation. Many have participated in Venceremos contingents. Announced purpose of these VB packs is to cut sugar cane. Actually they are sent to camps for training in guerrilla warfare, agitation and other revolutionary activities.

HAT OFFENDER

ISTANBUL (AP) — An unfortunate Turk is in prison in Bursa, near here, for wearing the wrong kind of hat.

Turkey's Hat Law, introduced by Western-minded reformer Kemal Ataturk 40 years ago, forbids Turks to wear the turban or the skullcap, all of which are thought of as symbols of Turkey's Ottoman past. Instead they must wear some headgear which includes a brim.

Brims, however, prevent pious Muslims from touching the floor with their heads in mosque services, at which men must have their heads covered. Many Turks compromise by wearing a peaked cap, which they swivel back to front at prayer-time.

Izzet Oruc, the Hat Law offender, claimed his was "just an ordinary cap."

Not so, said the police. Three experts in the field inspected the offending piece of millinery, then solemnly sent it off to Istanbul for higher opinions. The cap ended up in the capital city of Ankara, where the highest hat officials in the land ruled it was a skullcap, and forbidden by law.

Oruc was sentenced to two months in jail.

SHIP SALVAGED

WELLINGTON, New Zealand (AP) — Four years after the ferry Wahine sank in Wellington Harbor with 51 dead, divers are still clearing the submerged wreck from the shipping channel.

Carrying 730 passengers and crew, the near-new ship foundered in a violent storm April 10, 1968, only a few hundred yards from suburban harborside homes.

Plans to refloat the vessel with plastic foam and re-sink it at sea were abandoned when a second fierce storm broke the wreck in two.

Working in 60 feet of water, divers have salvaged 5,000 tons of steel as scrap metal. The remaining 1,500 tons, including heavy engine machinery, will not be cleared before early 1973.

THE PLOG REPORT

WHAT AMERICANS THINK

President Still Seems Cold, Aloof

By Stanley C. Plog, Ph.D.
President, Behavior Science Corp. (BASICO), Los Angeles
© 1972 by Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

President Nixon is still having image problems.

Despite his earnest efforts to dispel the public notion that he is a cold, distant person, most Americans continue to see him that way.

Dr. Plog

Recently completed BASICO research indicates that even Mr. Nixon's admirers most often describe him in such complimentary but aloof terms as "experienced," "ambitious" and "calm."

Mr. Nixon is seen by most voters as a good administrator of presidential functions and as having matured considerably while in the White House. He handles the duties of a president with energy, efficiency, and great skill. However, he has difficulty in projecting himself as a warm and responsive person, even to his supporters, and he continues to generate a deep seated distrust and hostility from those who are against him.

These and other conclusions grow out of research which is based on a combination of clinical psychological techniques and personal interviews with nearly 450 persons throughout the United States. The analysis of results includes statistical summaries of the data and an intensive psychological analysis of "projective" material by BASICO psychologists.

Voters participating in the study were handed a list of 40 carefully selected words which describe personality characteristics. The list contains positive and negative words, and the research participants could choose as few or as many words as they like to describe President Nixon.

The words chosen by more than 60 per cent of those who say they will vote for Mr. Nixon are:

- Experienced 89%
- Ambitious 77
- Calm 70
- Dedicated 66
- Level-headed 61
- Responsible 61
- Decisive 61

And, those positive words which are selected with considerably less frequency by Mr. Nixon's supporters include:

- Warm 28%
- Open minded 38
- Ethical 40

Combining the two lists, we get the picture of a president who is viewed as experienced and efficient in the performance of his duties, a person who is able to remain calm and level-headed in the face of his awesome responsibilities, and one who brings a tremendous amount of energy, ambition and dedication to his job.

In contrast, he is not seen as being a particularly warm or open-minded individual, even by his supporters, and it is surprising that he does not receive a majority of choices for "ethical."

Thus, the Nixon image, among his supporters, is that of a good administrator and manager of government who has gained tremendous expertise since becoming president but also a person who has trouble getting close to the people.

This view is supported by an analysis of the in-depth group discussion material and a projective question given to respondents, which read:

"If I were talking to an undecided voter, the things I would most like to tell them about President Nixon is . . ."

The analysis shows that the people mainly describe Mr. Nixon's abilities to handle the duties of president, and very little about his personal qualities.

Examples of these answers include:

- "He is a very professional politician with a large backlog of experience in domestic and world affairs."
- "He has the background for the office. He's level-headed."
- "He is a very effective person who takes action and backs up his actions. He is very respected by world leaders."

On the other side of the picture are the comments by those voters who are against Mr. Nixon. The words that are chosen more than half the time by his opponents are:

- Deceitful 75%
- Untruthful 61
- Dishonest 61
- Experienced 54
- Opportunist 54

The most frequently used words relate to questions about President Nixon's basic honesty and integrity. Whether these concerns relate to previous campaign charges against Mr. Nixon or to the credibility problem that all recent presidents seem to be facing can only be speculated.

But in any case, these voters will be very difficult to win over to the Nixon camp because of the intensity of the negative views they hold about the President, they also hold views similar to the Nixon supporters in believing he is not a warm person but that he does have a great deal of ambition and has gained a considerable degree of experience while in the White House.

Again, these comments are also backed up by an analysis of other psychological data from the anti-Nixon voters in the study. Answers to the "projective" item about what they "would most like to tell an undecided voter about Richard Nixon" reveal a deep distrust of him and a feeling that his ambition leads him to do many things for personal gain.

For example:

- "He's a deceiving person and very much out for personal gain."
- "He's too slick for words. He almost always takes a stand that is neither for or against something."
- "His policies are all self-serving and he has a 'blatant' disregard for little Americans."

Every president faces strong criticism from various segments of the voting public since he obviously cannot satisfy all of the people all of the time. The question for Nixon watchers is whether the number of people who deeply distrust him decreases or increases during the remainder of the election campaign.

And whether that number decreases or increases during the next four years if Mr. Nixon is re-elected in November.

The 'Ant Power' Everywhere In N. Viet

Editors Note: AP Special Correspondent Peter Arnett, the winner of a Pulitzer Prize in eight years of war reporting from South Vietnam, has just completed his first visit to North Vietnam. In the following story he describes the "ant power" of the North Vietnamese war effort and the wonder of a visitor, wonder not at the destruction of U.S. bombing but at the survival power of the North Vietnamese.

By PETER ARNETT
AP Special Correspondent
If you have wondered why the North Vietnamese can continue to fight on despite the biggest bombing campaign in the history of war, then ride with three U.S. pilots and me down the roads south of Hanoi and find out.

Our destination was Nam Dinh City and the Phat Diem Cathedral, both severely bombed, and showplaces of the destructive power of the American air campaign. Jane Fonda and Ramsey Clark had been there. Now it was the turn of the three pilots just released from a prisoner-of-war camp — Navy Lt. Mark Gartley and Norris Charles, and Air Force Major Edward Elias — and myself.

But long before we reached our destination we were shaking our heads in wonder, not at the destructive power of the bombs from the sky but at the survival power of the people on the ground.

The pilots' previous view of North Vietnam was from the skies above. For years I had watched from the vantage point of South Vietnam.

Now here on the ground as we rolled along the narrow highways in the dark hours before dawn, the cliches came true.

Here was the "ant power" that Pentagon experts theorized lay behind Hanoi's ability to keep supplies and men moving to the southern war fronts. Where bombs had scored direct hits on railway cars on the tracks paralleling the road, dark shapes hammered at twisted wreckage, while other figures carried material and dumped it into the craters. As dawn came and we passed through the railroad junction of severely bombed Phu Le, we saw that the dark shapes were women and they weren't even using buckets; they were carrying mud in their bare hands to fill the craters in, and they seemed to be enjoying it.

This "ant power" was everywhere. Whereas in South Vietnam the war has denuded the countryside of population and sent people scurrying into the cities, in the North it is the reverse, and they swarmed on the highway.

Walking or riding bicycles along lonely roads in South Vietnam at night can mean death or capture. But in the North, nighttime is the logical time to travel for the faint-hearted, or for the supply convoys, because it affords protection from the planes that fly above.

The key to the use of the night is simply that there are no guerrillas to harass the convoys or blow up the supplies. In North Vietnam the war is only from the air.

That is why I observed no barbed wire anywhere, no barricaded militia outposts or forified bunkers. Except for when the planes came over, the North Vietnamese countryside looked positively bucolic. But few things are ever what they seem, and Elias, who piloted a reconnaissance plane before he was shot down five months ago, enlightened me.

"See those grave mounds?" Elias asked as we waited under the trees for a ferry to cross a river where a bridge had been destroyed. About 100 yards away, buffalo grazed quietly around the heaps of earth.

"They're anti-aircraft pits with the muzzles down," Elias said. "Let a plane come over and they'll stick up their snouts and blast away. And those things are difficult to spot in pictures. It would take a very expert and very lucky PI (photo interpreter) to see them."

The discovery of the flak sites and the industrious people were possibly predictable enough. Enough American planes get shot down each week to adequately suggest the extent of the anti-aircraft fire. And "people power" has long been known as North Vietnam's most important commodity.

What was mindbending to the freed pilots was the extent of North Vietnam's visible supply chain. From the time we left the outskirts of Hanoi at 4 a.m. one morning to our return at 8 p.m. the next night we constantly encountered vehicle convoys, rows of stacked ammunition alongside the roadsides and gasoline drums. These were stretched out along the 180 miles we drove, and other foreign visitors in Hanoi at the time attested they saw similar scenes on different roads.

During daylight the vehicles were casually parked under the inevitable line of trees at roadside. On some long, straight stretches of highway we counted as many as 40 trucks.

They seemed extremely vulnerable, but Charles commented, "We could never see those things from the air. And the moment someone comes down to get a better look them — blam, man!"

This simple road-side covered ammunition caches up to 1,000 cases in size, according to my fast counts from the moving automobile. Particularly noticeable were concentrations of supplies at bombed-out railway crossings.

In the evenings as the trucks began to move south loaded with supplies, the whole operation reminded me of a huge glacier forcing itself slowly but surely down a mountain valley.

WTSU Hosting Luncheon During Homecoming

CANYON—The West Texas State University Chorale is hosting a luncheon during Homecoming week for members' parents and former members.

The luncheon is scheduled at noon Oct. 14 in the choir room of the Fine Arts Building. Highlighting the event will be a performance by the 53-member Chorale.

Any former Chorale member wishing to attend, the event should make advance reservations through Dr. Hugh Sanders, director of choral activities. Fee for the meal is $2.
