Advisory Board To Seek Methods Of Equalizing Taxes

An advisory board to formulate a more equitable property valuation structure for school and city taxable purposes was set up last night by the city commission and the Pampa Independent School District Board of Trustees.

The advisory group will be made up of the 1951 city and school boards of equalization and will go to work Jan. 1, 1952, with the city and school taxing departments in an attempt to iron out present inequities. The group was employed to asked technical help from engineers, building contractors, real estate men and others.

Labor Unions Hit Another Milestone

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Labor organizations reached another milestone today in their growing drive to have employers require workers to belong to unions.

A three-man emergency board named by President Truman prepared to open hearings (8 a. m., CST) on the demand of 17 railroad unions for a union shop arrangement covering 1,000,000 non-operating rail workers.

The same demand for a union shop is being made by the CIO's steelworkers in current negotiations with the steel industry. This would cover another 1,000,000 workers. Various other industries are presently facing union shop requests from unions.

The union shop differs from the closed shop. Under the latter, the employer may hire anyone, union or non-union, so long as the worker becomes a union member within the allotted time. Should the worker quit, he'd lose his job; the employer is compelled to fire him.

The closed shop, illegal under the Taft-Hartley law, requires that a prospective worker must already belong to the union before he can be hired.

This issue on compulsory union membership always has been a hot potato in labor relations. There are several reasons why the unions are making a drive for the union shop now. One is that wage controls limit them to some extent on pay boosts, so they try for other things, like the union shop and pensions.

Another reason is that Congress gave the unions a boost, somewhat, in negotiating for the union shop. Recently enacted legislation repealed a requirement of the original Taft-Hartley law that workers must give approval in a government-conducted election, before their union could negotiate with an employer for the union shop.

Recent state elections showed that workers almost universally approved the union shop. Of course, the elections were among heavily unionized workers. Until this year, also, the separate railway labor act barred the union shop in the railroad industry. Congress removed the ban and the rail unions immediately jumped in the gap. Already they've negotiated the union shop on four big railroads, the New York Central, Baltimore and Ohio, Great Northern and Lehigh Valley.

Henry A. Overall Is Taken By Death

Henry Addison Overall, born May 9, 1871 in Kentucky, died at 9:50 p. m. Monday in Highland General hospital. Mr. Overall had made his home in Beaumont since 1947 but had been here since Thanksgiving with a daughter, Mrs. Tom Duvall, 431 N. Hazel.

Mr. Overall moved from Ellis County, Texas, to a ranch near Sunshine Hill, Texas and moved from there to Wichita Falls. He moved to Pampa from Wichita Falls in 1933.

He was married to Viola Bradley Jan. 7, 1900, in Waxahachie. The couple celebrated its Golden Wedding anniversary in Beaumont Jan. 7, 1950. His wife died in Beaumont, July 31 of this year and was buried in Fairview cemetery by the side of her son Harry Dean Overall, who was killed in the service in 1942.

Mr. Overall was a member of Central Baptist church here. Funeral arrangements are pending under the direction of Dunkel Carmichael Funeral home.

Surviving are two daughters, Mildred of Beaumont and Mrs. Duvall of Pampa. He leaves also three sons, John of Tucson, Ariz., Maxwell of Salt Lake City, Utah, and Henry of Sloom Springs, Ark. and one sister, Mrs. Maggie Caldwell of Dallas.

Mr. Overall was a retired farmer and oilman.

Iran Scene Of Wild Fighting

TEHRAN, Iran — (AP) — Wild fighting between Nationalist supporters of Premier Mohammed Mossadegh and his political foes broke out inside the packed Parliament buildings (Majlis) today.

Outside the building a mob of more than 500 frenzied supporters of Mossadegh tried to storm the Majlis gates, yelling "death to the opposition deputies."

Inside the building, several persons were injured in the fist-fighting, kicking and beating, which prevented a Majlis session called to hear Mossadegh deliver an ultimatum to the western world to start buying Iranian oil within 10 days.

The Nationalist followers of Mossadegh predominated in the crowd in Majlis square. Some were armed with sticks. No Communists were in sight among those rushing the Parliament gates, nor in more hundreds loitering in the sunlit square.

Some 42 oppositionists — deputies, newspaper editors and actors — have been in refuge inside the building during the weekend, charging they were in danger from Nationalist mobs who sacked newspaper offices and a theater during Communist-Nationalist riots last Thursday.

The refuting deputies and newsmen charged Thursday's riot — in which eight persons were killed and more than 200 were injured — was fomented by government officials to crush opposition in advance of national elections expected to be held about Dec. 20.

The government has denied their charges.

Pampa Man Held In Wheeler Shooting

A man was still being held in county jail this morning awaiting charges in Wheeler for an alleged shooting last night.

Annanias Washington, 65, of Pampa, is accused of shooting Charlie Lane, 67, also of Pampa, after an argument between them over possession of a rifle.

Also being held in county jail as a material witness is Red Burnett.

Officers said the shooting took place on the Bud Harris farm in Wheeler county where the three involved were working as cotton pickers.

Lane was taken to Highland General hospital last night where authorities said this morning his condition was "satisfactory." In addition to a bullet wound in his left shoulder and neck, Lane received cuts around the arms and hands.

Wheeler county sheriff Bus Dorman, said this morning that Washington signed a statement and that charges probably will be filed today in Wheeler county.

Pampan's Relative Killed In Accident

Vernon Smith, 34, of Newton, Kan., nephew of Mrs. George Cartwright, 1900 Alcock, was killed yesterday in a train-auto crash near Newton.

Cartwright told The Pampa Daily News this morning that two other people in the car were not expected to live. Cartwright said his wife is enroute from Meadville, Pa., where she attended the funeral of her sister, Mrs. Bert Weir, former Pampa resident.

Mr. Smith is survived by a wife and two children.

Six Students Burned In School Lab

Condition of three students burned in a chemistry laboratory accident in White Deer Monday was described as improved today by local physicians.

Six chemistry students were burned, three seriously, in the school Monday when one of the boys reportedly dropped a one-gallon bottle of nitric acid.

According to students in the class, the boy was carrying the bottle by the lid from storage cabinet to a table when the lid came off. The bottle sprayed acid over six students close by.

Burned more seriously were Jack Hood, Betty Lou Cofer and David Radford. The three were in Worley hospital today. Miss Hood's bandages were removed today and Lawson Snow, school principal, said he was pleased at her improvement. David Radford may be released from the hospital today or tomorrow.

Most seriously burned was Jack Hood who was scalded by the acid on his face, arms and legs.

Other students receiving treatment for minor burns were Annie Lou Higgins, Barbara Bentley and Norma Lou Gibson.

About 10 students were in the class at the time of the accident. E. Y. Corder is science teacher. He was in Pampa today with Shaw visiting the three students.

Full Public Airing Of Profits Would Aid Party — Fulbright

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Senator Fulbright (D-Ark.) said today that "for the good of the party" there ought to be a full public airing of the swift $68,000 profit turned by Democratic National Chairman Frank E. McKinney on a $1,000 investment.

"This thing ought to be looked into, and clearly explained," Fulbright told a reporter. The Arkansas senator, who has often had differences with the Truman administration, commented that when McKinney was tapped for the party chairmanship, "none of us from the South was consulted."

McKinney vigorously denied at a news conference yesterday that he had been in any "shady venture." He said the stock deal questioned as a 68-to-1 profit actually yielded a 4-to-1 profit, because he put into it, altogether, $28,000.

McKinney conceded that he got back $68,000 after ten months on a $1,000 investment in common stock. But, he said, he had to buy $25,000 of preferred stock along with the common, and sold that back at no profit.

He said Cohen's offer to buy at that price was prompted by a desire to get control of the firm's common stock so he could sell the company.

The party chairman himself called for President Truman to take "dramatic and drastic steps to clean up conditions, exposed by a House investigation of tax collection scandals. He said he may see Mr. Truman soon.

NAMED IN OCTOBER — McKinney was commissioned by the President in October to see to it as chairman that the Democratic party is "in position to show on the record that there is no basis in fact for the Republican smear campaign."

Some Democrats as well as Republicans say they believe that charges of corruption in high office may become a major issue in next year's campaign.

The White House said yesterday Mr. Truman probably would meet "soon" with Attorney General McGrath. The Justice Dept. has been under fire along with the Internal Revenue Bureau, in the tax inquiry.

Big Four To Set Up New Disarmament Group

DISCUSS TEACHERS' BANQUET — Initial plans were discussed yesterday by Paul Kennedy of McLean and Bert Nuckols of Pampa for the annual banquet for Gray and Roberts county teachers scheduled Feb. 14. The banquet, held in Pampa High school cafeteria, will be sponsored by the Pampa Chamber of Commerce to honor members of the Gray-Roberts unit of the Texas State Teachers Assn. Kennedy is principal of McLean High school and president of the teacher unit. Nuckols is Gray County superintendent of schools. (News Photo)

Phone Company Plans Improvement

Almost a quarter-million dollars will be invested to improve long distance telephone calls between Pampa and Amarillo by Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. within the next six months, it was learned here today.

The improvement will be the installation of a new cable between Pampa and Jericho that will tie on to the coaxial cable now being run across the Panhandle.

The new cable will not have any connection with television reception in Pampa. George Newberry, manager of the local SWBT office here, said the new cable will increase to 22 the long distance circuits between Pampa and Amarillo from the present 16. The 26-mile cable will cost the telephone company $206,000. It will replace the 570 miles of bare copper wire now being used between Pampa and Jericho.

Newberry described the line as a 24-gauge, 19 gauge cable that will not be affected by severe ice storms which frequently hit the Panhandle. The ice storms, he said, are the principal reason for erecting the new line. The present line is operated on what the telephone company calls a "carrier" which fails when coated with ice.

The coaxial cable that is expected to bring better television reception to Pampa—which was also reported by the Pampa Daily News last August—is now being laid across the Panhandle. It will carry television programs as well as long distance telephone calls. Telephone crewmen, laying the underground coaxial cable, are now working between Alameda and McLean. That job is not scheduled for completion before the late spring months of 1952, Newberry said.

The local board is among 58 of the 137 boards over the state who will issue the call. Other boards will have no quota for examinations, having a sufficient number of examined and acceptable men on hand, said Brig. Gen. Wakefield today.

January pre-induction physical examinations number less than this month, when 1958 men were furnished, but more than November, when local boards furnished 7190 men.

The apportionment among local boards is:

- Odessa 35; Abilene, 35; San Angelo, 35; McCombs, 25; Midland, 25; Molesworth, 25; Hereford, 25; Childress, 20; Dalhart, 20; Plainview, 20; Borger, 25; Lubbock, 30; Amarillo, 25; Vernon, 30; Alpine, 20; El Paso, 140; Pecos 30.
- Eastland, 35; San Benito, 30; San Diego, 30; Edinburg, 70; Kingville, 25; Corpus Christi, 20; Robstown, 20; Sinton, 25; Dallas, 210; Stephenville, 30; Marlin, 25; Fort Worth, 140; Wichita Falls, 30; Richmond, 30; Galveston, 30; Houston, 245; (See TWENTY MEN PAGE 3)

Local Teachers Silent On Loyalty Oath Plan

Pampa teachers withheld comment this morning concerning a non-subversive path each must sign, probably before Dec. 21.

Of three instructors interviewed, all said they had no comment "until a later date."

The action to request signing of the oath by all teachers was made last night at a meeting of the Pampa Board of Education and was in compliance with a request made by the state to all schools.

In effect, school personnel will be required to disavow any connection with the Communist party or any other organization that is considered subversive by the United States attorney general.

Howard Vineyard last night asked to rent the Junior High or High school gymnasium to stage professional wrestling matches. Wrestlers, he said, will come from the "Amarillo stable," which consists of 15 to 20 men.

Vineyard stressed that the profession in this section is not controlled by gamblers. He stated that if allowed to rent the facilities he would protect school property by three main methods:

1. Hire one or two off-duty policemen to keep order.
2. Place temporary ring and seats on a plywood-covered floor to prevent heel prints of chairs from marring the floor.

An instrument to convey use of the old Carver school building to community use and bills to Dec. 10 were approved.

LEFORS MINSTREL — The dance team above, Bobbie Kochesch and Billie Gorton, were among 14 members presented at Lefors Lions Club Home Town minstrel which had its first showing last night. The team, cast as Mary and Sary, The Dancing Twins, will appear again at the final showing of the minstrel which will get underway at 8 p. m. in Lefors High school auditorium. Lefors residents packed the auditorium for the opening performance last night. (News Photo)

Only Hitch Is Sort Of Treaty To Work Out

PARIS — (AP) — The Big Four announced agreement today to set up a new disarmament commission but still were as far apart as ever on what sort of arms treaty the proposed group should work out.

"Fundamental differences still remain," said the United States, Britain and France in summarizing their ten day of secret talks with the Soviet Union on how to end the world arms race.

Their agreement to set up the new commission — which will replace two already deadlocked United Nations committees — was announced in a report of the talks by UN Assembly President Luis Padilla Nervo, Madrid.

The chairman's report, which the Big Four unanimously approved, outlined a fundamental disagreement between the East and West on just what the new commission should be told to do. It was the same basic difference which exists between the western and the Russian disarmament plans.

'I've Played My Last Game,' Says Joe DiMaggio

NEW YORK — (AP) — Joe DiMaggio, veteran New York Yankee outfielder, said today he would not play baseball again.

He gave no immediate indication as to his plans for the future. It had been expected that the outfielder, who collected $704,323 during 13 years playing with the club, would take the post of TV commentator of the Yankees' home baseball games.

That post is vacant and reportedly will bring $50,000 a season. DiMaggio handed the following mimeographed statement to the newspapermen:

"I told you fellows last spring I thought this would be my last year. I only wish I could have had a better year, but even if I had hit .350 this would have been the last year for me."

"You all know I have had more than my share of physical injuries and setbacks during my career. In recent years these have been much too frequent to laugh off. When baseball no longer is fun, it is no longer a game."

"And so, I've played my last game of ball."

Jurors Dismissed After Cases Heard

Jurors were dismissed until further notice by Judge Bruce Parker in county court this morning without taking action after all cases had been settled or postponed.

In the case of State vs Ray Burchan, only one to be heard, Burchan changed a previous plea of not guilty to guilty on a charge of transporting liquor through a dry area without a permit and was fined $200 and costs. It was his second offense, county officials said.

Council for the defense in the case of State vs William Paul Hugg demanded a court reporter during the trial. Bob Baker, regular court reporter, is in court at Wheeler. The county jury was put on call by Parker until a reporter is obtained.

Curtis Douglass, council for the defense for several cases, could not appear in court this morning because of illness. Cases he was to defend will be settled later, county officials said.

School Choral Department To Present Concert

Annual Christmas concert will be presented by the high school choral department, Dec. 16, at 8 p. m. in Senior High school auditorium.

The concert will be free and the public has been invited to attend by Kenneth Baumgardner, director of the high school choral department.

First National Bank of Dallas Is Low Bidder On Local Bonds

It will cost the city of Pampa $163,861.90 to borrow $575,000 over a period of 20 years.

That was the lowest net interest payment for the civic improvement bonds offered by the six banks and finance companies bidding today on the bonds before the city commission.

The successful bidder, First National Bank of Dallas, entered bids of 2 percent on all three issues (the water and sewer bonds were sold together) coming due between 1953 and 1962; and 2 3/8 percent on bonds maturing between 1963 and 1972.

These rates plus the premium paid to the city brought the average interest rate out to 2.35 percent.

Other companies entering bids and their net total interest costs were:

Columbian Securities Corp. of San Antonio, $178,633.20; R. A. Underwood and Co., Dallas, $182,628.25; Equitable Securities Corp. of Dallas, $180,455; First Southwest Co. of Dallas, $178,833.90; Rasher and Pearce, and Merrill, Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Bean, $178,659.

Although specification in the bidding called for bids on three separate items, water and sewer, streets and parks, none of the prospective bond buyers were willing to take the $21,000 park issue or the $78,000 street issue unless they were awarded the $476,000 water and sewer issue. By "gentlemen's agreement" bidders agreed they would submit their bids on the "all or nothing" basis. The commission agreed.

Highest interest rate asked by any bidder was 2.75 on bonds maturing between 1963 and 1972. This rate was asked by all bidders except the First National Bank of Dallas.

During the session the commission took under consideration a plan to extend parking meters to include the east side of N. Somerville, facing the Thompson Hardware Co., and on the south side of E. Francis, facing Rinehart-Dosier. Both extensions were on request of the merchants operating the stores where the proposed meters would be installed.

The commission also approved $16,221.61 in monthly bills of which only $10,377.61 was counted against normal operating expense. The remainder was for an insurance premium, police radio equipment and a pickup truck. The latter two were accepted in bids in October but delivered only in November.

CAPTAIN KILLED

Appliances As Gifts Will Make 'Electrifying' Yule

Yes, it's perfectly possible to make this a truly electrifying Christmas for every one on your list this year, as any careful study of the many work-saving, money-saving, handsomely designed modern electrical appliances would indicate.

Plug into the line for a moment and see for yourself how broad is the scope of gift opportunities.

They range from major appliances which have transformed mother's work from drudgery to pleasure and her kitchen from a hot stuffy place to one of the nicest rooms in the house, all the way to a bottle warmer for baby.

They range from the most of all new electrical appliances, the television set with which you tune in on the world to see as well as hear; all the way to, let us say, an electric shaver for the lad just reaching the proper age.

Want to make this an especially wonderful Christmas for mother? Then take a look at her kitchen. She may need and want, without saying so, a replacement of that refrigerator that has served so long and so well. The new ones are more efficient, handsomer and with many improvements.

She would certainly appreciate one of the new automatically controlled electric ranges in place of the old hot stove she's used for so long.

Even modern electrical laundry equipment now falls into the Christmas Gift giving category or the marvelous effortless control it gives mother over family cleanliness.

For an outstanding surprise, why not give her a home freezer — and do it up in brown. When you have it wheeled into place for Christmas, why not have it filled up with provisions that will instantly reveal its purpose which is to help save her trips to the grocery and incidentally help save the family budget a lot of money.

If major equipment is still serviceable and it's more than one gift you want to give, then check through the wonderful list of electrical housewares — the wonder-working smaller electrical appliances offering something to fit into almost every room in the house.

Checking these, you'll discover, will help solve a lot of other gift problems for other folks on your list.

The coffee makers, toasters, waffle irons, corn poppers, sandwich grills, even ice cream freezers, are just some of the electrical housewares that are perfect gifts for the "hostess" type, and they are so brilliantly designed and finished they take their place right alongside fine silverware.

These things turn thinking into

Stores Brim Full Of Gifts For Children

Christmas shopping takes on an added thrill when you're hunting a gift for the youngsters!

You'll find the stores brim-full of gift ideas for all kids from kindergarten age to vivacious teenagers.

For the small boy, there are T-shirts emblazoned with their favorite cowboy, radio or television hero. Team one of these with a pair of rugged jeans and you'll be giving him his favorite playtime outfit.

Little girls of the grammar school set are surprisingly fashionable sweaters, frilly cotton blouses, bonneted! They love cute little raincoat with matching cap or umbrella, or cleverly styled pajamas. Just browse around the girls' department and see all the adorable togs for little girls!

Your favorite book shop or department will yield a wealth of gift ideas. There's a wide choice of titles for the little tykes, from the classic children's books to modern stories that are well-illustrated and written especially for the particular age group.

For the older child, consider a handsome world globe or an atlas to further his interest in geography. You'll find many fine one-volume encyclopedias and reference books that children will be proud to own.

If the child has a particular talent or hobby, seek out gifts to further his interest. Your gift shopping may take you to a hobby shop or art store. But the unabashed joy when he opens your gift will be well worth the extra effort.

Boys in their teens are fond of dressing in a blaze of color these days! They'll love a gift in the new fluorescent fabric that comes in terrifically bright colors. You can give a windbreaker jacket, shirt, cap, socks or shoe laces in this fabric — and he'll be delighted.

Sport shirts, casual jackets, robes, pajamas that are styled like his Dad's are always popular with boys. Popular for school wear are the new jackets of weather-proof fabric that resist wind and rain.

If you're buying wearables for boys, choose something rugged and in a style that's popular with the gang.

For the high school crowd, you can't go wrong if you give them phonograph records featuring their favorites. The salesperson in the record department can readily tell you the best-loved musicians and help you make your choice. Hi — schoolers love having a record collection for their jam sessions.

Just browse around — stores have gift ideas galore for every

Locket Maintain Favor As Personal Gift Of Sentiment

The locket — often worn as charm bracelets — still maintains a place of its own as the age-old symbol of remembrance and a depth of sentiment.

Heart-shaped lockets are unmistakably the precise quality of sentiment involved, but these interesting and ornamental containers (and lockets are actually designed to act as little boxes!) come in all types and designs.

Widely popular is the locket with matching lid that snaps shut, making of sentiment a secret and personal thing.

But some lockets are open — in which case they are known as "photo-pendants" — and the wearer derives an additional satisfaction in sharing his memento.

JETS FOR AIR SERVICE

LONDON — (AP) — The De Havilland Aircraft Co. announced here that it expects to deliver late in 1952 two Comet jet airplanes ordered by Canadian Pacific Airlines.

The 400 m.p.h. planes will go into service on the Vancouver-Australia service, but will be restricted to the Sydney-Honolulu section of the route. The Comets will make two return trips weekly between Sydney and Honolulu.

New Secrets Of Rembrandt Are Revealed In Restoration Gifts Of Perfume Will Surely Charm

AP Newfeatures

THE HAGUE — The restoration of a second great work of art by Rembrandt van Ryn, the "Anatomy Lesson by Prof. Tulp," has been completed.

The first, the restoration of the famous "Nightwatch" now on view in the Amsterdam State Museum (Rijksmuseum) was completed in 1946.

At a press conference, the director of the Hague museum, Meuritzhuis, Prof. A. B. de Vries, and the artist J. C. Traas, showing the picture and photos of before and after the restoration, said that for Rembrandt connoisseurs the restoration of the youngster on your Christmas list this year!

"Anatomy Lesson" painted when the great artist was 26, would give plenty of material to study the early developments of the Dutch master.

The painting shows Prof. Tulp, with large hat, indicating to seven students the anatomy of the left arm of the body of a man lying on a slab in the center of the picture.

"Significant," said Prof. de Vries, "is that especially after the restoration the picture showed more coloring than earlier believed." He added that on this Rembrandt painting there were less strong "dark and light" effects than on most other of his works.

The "Anatomy Lesson," painted in Amsterdam in 1632 underwent its first restoration more than 100 years later, in 1735. Since then the painting has been restored another five times and put on new linen four times — a last time in 1918.

It is believed, on the basis of X-ray photos that an unknown Dutch painter made considerable changes from a sturdy 17th Century Dutchman, to a more elegant dashing and typical 18th Century type, by retouching the painting.

"The situation arose," van Trass said, "that during the restoration I had to choose either leaving the figure of Prof. Tulp as he was, updated by the unknown 18th Century artist, or risk finding nothing but a hole."

He said the left hand of the professor however had been completely restored to the original painting, which had been an important addition to the painting and the general expression. The clothes of Prof. Tulp had also been updated in the 18th Century, but this had made little change in the picture.

Prof. de Vries pointed out that the original signature of Rembrandt, invisible before the restoration, is now clearly to be seen, top center of the painting.

One gift sure to please almost every gal on your list — is the luxurious elegance of perfume and cologne.

From all the famous toiletries houses and perfumeries in the world, come a bright assortment of dainty and sultry fragrances to enchant and bewitch the feminine heart.

There are boxed varieties of more than one odour; packaged duos of perfumes and fragrance; matching colognes, soaps, deliciously-scented; perfumed face and after-bath powders; sachets and others.

They are all beautifully packaged, and sure to say "a very lovely Christmas" to the lucky gal who gets them.

Queen For A Day Program Staged By Women Of Moose

Mrs. A. C. Phelps, 220 E. Kingsmill, was chosen "Queen For A Day," at a charity benefit held last night in Junior High school auditorium under the sponsorship of local Women of the Moose.

Mrs. Phelps was awarded numerous prizes, all donated by Pampa merchants.

Other contestants in the event were Mmes. Conrad Kotara, Tommy Townsend, J. B. Kelly, all of Pampa, and Dorothy Steele of Borger.

Entertainment which preceded the queen contest included dancing, tumbling, singing and instrumental selections. Those participating were: Marvin and Jimmy Bond, Tommy Smith, Bobby Patterson, Tommy Babcock, Mary O'Gorman, Myrna Haiduk, Anita Stamps, Carolyn Walling, Arlene Willis, Janice Weinheimer, Agatha Walling, Joey Babcock, Mary Fields, Vivian Warmack, Almeda Babcock, Elaine Ledwig, Geraldine Wagner, Nace Baggerman, Ronald Stamps, Anita Guidry, Zippy Hall, Dixie Sue Rhoades, Jan Hall, John and Liwyn Young, Hilda Jo Larned, Frank P. O. R., Ann Kennedy, Jay Followell, Judy Neaf, Jackie Kidwell, Judy Baer, Harold Turner and Janice Foster.

Originator of the proposal to stage the Queen For A Day program was Ruby Wylie, secretary of the Moose Lodge. Elsie Hall was in charge of entertainment.

Little Harvester Wins State Honor

The Little Harvester, Pampa High school weekly publication, was awarded an All-Texas rating at the Texas High School Press Assn. meeting in Denton last week, according to word received here from judges.

The paper was in competition with all weekly Class A school publications in the state. First-place winner was the Lubbock Westerner World. The Little Harvester was among eight in the state to receive the All-Texas rating.

Walter Caldwell, Little Harvester sports editor, won fourth place in sports story competition while John Lee Welton, senior staff member, won third place in cartoons.

Attending from Pampa were Jan Dickey and Virginia Walls, co-editors of the paper and Jane Prichard, editor of the school's annual publication, The Harvester.

Miss Olive Carter is sponsor of both publications.

Pilfering Prof To Stew Awhile

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. — (AP) — The "Pilfering prof" of Santa Barbara college has 90 days to ponder the price of a double life.

Dr. Gwynne Nettler, 28-year-old sociology professor, was sentenced to 90 days in the county jail yesterday after pleading guilty to charges of burglarizing mansions by night.

He also was placed on probation for 10 years, during which he must give up teaching and stay away from the divorcee he blamed for his troubles.

A psychiatrist said Nettler might rehabilitate himself after he gets out of jail by finding a job which offers a better outlet for his creative abilities.

How Much Does It Cost To Make Money?

In any city, the Newspaper gets the biggest share of the advertising dollar. Why? Is it because merchants like to spend money? Is it because of habit? Far from it!

Businessmen buy advertising to get the most sales for the least expenditure like you also would do. Local businessmen buy more NEWSPAPER advertising than all other media combined because newspapers deliver the good for far less unit cost.

And the bigger, more successful their business, the greater relative share of their funds goes into low cost newspaper space. Nothing else comes within a Russian mile of newspaper space for low cost impact.

ADVISORY

square footage be valued differently on the basis of construction and the same with residences.

Tax Assessor-Collector Aubrey Jones asked the combined groups not to throw the survey out the window, but to get to work and iron out the inequities. He was backed unanimously by the school board and city commission, all of them agreeing there was sufficient local talent available to work on the problem.

Following the discussion the school board adjourned to the school business office to select its advisory board while city commissioners remained in the commission room to select its advisory board.

Both groups decided to recall the 1951 boards. For the city it meant recall of Steels, Gene Sidwell and C. P. Pursley. For the school it will be Tom Rose, Skeel Roberts, Arthur Rankin, A. E. Whitten, and Lawrence Kennedy.

The meeting had nothing to do with the tax rate. In fact, the tax rate was not mentioned. The rate is set by the city commission and the school board after each group approves its operating budget.

No one objects to how much you say if you say it in a few words.

Legalized Robbery And Worse. Mr. Truman tells us over and over that we have to pony up more and more of our earnings to supply money for the military.

Then we read an Associated Press dispatch which says: "So many congressmen are going abroad that the military transport service is said to be hard pressed to provide them suitable planes. In addition, the State department is reported running short of escort officers."

If American citizens can read of such goings-on without feeling the hair curl on the backs of their necks... Well, maybe the reigning dynasty of Washington highlanders is right, maybe we have become a nation of suckers.

If these congressmen want to make trips abroad between congressional sessions, that's their business. But by no stretch of the imagination is it their business when they make these jaunts at the taxpayers' expense.

What's more, when they utilize money taken from the taxpayers to build up military strength for the defense of our country, their actions constitute a form of legalized robbery, as well as plain legalized robbery.

The AP report says that "approximately 30 House members and 19 senators are now overseas or are planning official excursions. Others completed tours earlier this year."

"The Failure Of American Education"

In the last issue I was quoting from an article that appeared in the "Freeman" magazine under the heading of "The Failure of American Education" by Mortimer Smith, author of "And Madly Teach."

It was sent to me by an attorney whom we employ, who remarked in his letter that "education should not be a matter for the government at all."

As the article pointed out, the professional "educators" have tried to build up the belief that only they know how to educate and that no one who is not organized "education" work should attempt to criticize them or make any suggestions about education.

Listen to this: "Innumerable well-intentioned laymen, impressed by fervid pleas for citizens' participation in school matters, have got themselves elected to school boards and have imagined, innocently, that now they would have a chance to make some small contribution to the improvement of educational standards."

And naturally that is true, if public "education" is a function of the state. If the majority has a right to determine what education is then its representatives should have the right to determine it.

Then we read an Associated Press dispatch which says: "So many congressmen are going abroad that the military transport service is said to be hard pressed to provide them suitable planes. In addition, the State department is reported running short of escort officers."

LOOKING SIDWAYS

By WHITNEY BOLTON

I was walking up Fifth Avenue the other afternoon when a lady, who I never saw again, was still right here in the United States in charge of a big union. The Democratic administration made a big noise about Bridges—BUT NOTHING HAPPENED.

There has been a lot about Macao in the papers and magazines recently. The New Yorker has had a story on this sink of evil. Esquire has had a story on a Chinese pirate whose bride may or may not have been his heroine.

Yet she commands 40,000 men and a fleet of 1,000 junks. She can be seen tonight, smart and svelte, in a Paris gown idling and gambling in the most expensive game room in Macao's Central Hotel.

His permanent structure of national defense would be built upon the broad foundation which the Truman administration began to lay after the North Korean attack in June, 1950, and subsequent demonstrations that Moscow had inspired this and other warlike moves.

As a lawyer-businessman, Lovett is giving more consideration to the nation's normal economic needs than did some of his predecessors.

He recognizes that there is a limit to the financial strains and burdens which even such a rich and resourceful country as the United States can endure safely. He does not seek to transform the United States into an armed camp, or to subordinate everyday economy to preparedness for war.

Next to swearwords, violence was the thing that shocked Mrs. Smith most. When she encountered two small boys fighting on the street she did her best to break it up.

National Whirligig... Permanent Defense System Is The Aim Of Lovett's Program

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — Defense Secretary Robert Lovett is now engaged in preparing a long-range national security budget that is designed to be sound both militarily and economically.

His underlying purpose is to lay out a permanent defense system that will enable the United States to win a major war with or without foreign allies, or at least to insure our own survival. It is based on calculations and a forecast of possible eventualities that look far beyond today's international situation.

On the basis of changing world conditions, shifting international alignments and scientific developments present and prospective, it will incorporate all the lessons and advances of World War II and the postwar period.

PROGRAM — The Lovett program would not, of course, become effective until after the completion of the present rearmament effort, which is scheduled for early 1954.

As a lawyer-businessman, Lovett is giving more consideration to the nation's normal economic needs than did some of his predecessors.

He recognizes that there is a limit to the financial strains and burdens which even such a rich and resourceful country as the United States can endure safely.

Fair Enough... Laborites Claim Rearmament Demands Will Break Britain

By WESTBROOK PEGLER LONDON — It is all very well to make such demands, and the whole people of the United States had to pay them not to self-supporting production for the military and political war in Korea and the illegal ally against Soviet Russia.

The British government is now importing American coal and paying $12 a ton freight or about $24 a ton delivered because the British coal miners under unionism, by their voluntary absenteeism, are falling far behind their potential production.

The voluntary absenteeism accounts for the deficit. It is excused on the ground that the miners need sunshine and relaxation, but that does not excuse their fierce opposition to the importation of Italian miners of whom it was said in an article in the Sunday Observer that they have a sensational zeal for work.

There are 80 of them at the briquet works in Cardiff, the story said, "all of them from Naples. They are on piece-rates and, in the first weeks, almost smashed the place up in their attempts to get more output than the machines are capable of giving." Some of them try tricks so that they may work two shifts, and to anyone who understands their language they plead for at least two 16-hour days a week.

Under Socialism, unionized British labor has been told that restricted production and less work at higher wages are the formula for the more abundant life. Many of them obviously believe it. One laborer in London who refused to work overtime was laid off and a union controlling 4500 of them threatened to refuse overtime entirely.

Meantime, British politicians and the newspaper complain that these rivals would be important but for American dollars so Uncle Sam is at the bottom of the trouble as usual.

Harvester Gridders Schedule Six Home Games Next Season In AAU Play

No Champions Playing In Class AA, A Grid Playoffs

By the Associated Press

There won't be a former champion in the bunch this weekend when the Class AA and Class A divisions of Texas schoolboy football decide their finalists.

Of the eight teams left in the two divisions, only one ever claimed a title and it was entirely unofficial. Back in 1924 Anson won what was billed as the Class B championship in Texas. But there was no state race in Class B then and the game was arranged by the schools themselves.

Saturday Anson will be playing Arlington for a place in the Class AA finals. It takes an undefeated, untied record into this game, scheduled for Fort Worth. In the other semifinal of this class, LaVega, also undefeated in 12 games, Donna 424 in 13, and Giddings and Vanderbilt also have been pouring the touchdowns across the goal line. Giddings has rolled up 498 points and Industrial 365. Both have played 13 games.

Guerillas

The Pampa Harvester football team will open its 1952 campaign on the road and play but three non-conference games before swinging in district action, according to Tom Tipps, head football coach.

Tipps said yesterday that the return game with Sweetwater had been dropped because the addition of Midland gave the Green and Gold seven regularly scheduled games in the district and Sweetwater would have been the eleventh tilt.

The Harvesters will play six home games next year and four on the road. Four of these will be district affairs.

The Harvesters will open against Austin High of El Paso in the border town, their second trip to that distant point of Texas in the last three years.

The complete 1952 schedule is as follows:

Sept. 19 - El Paso (Austin), there.

Sept. 26 - Vernon, here.

Oct. 3 - Plainview, here.

Oct. 10 - Amarillo, there.

Oct. 17 - Abilene, here.

Oct. 24 - Midland, here.

Nov. 1 - Lubbock, here, day.

Nov. 7 - Open date.

Nov. 15 - Odessa, there, day.

Nov. 21 - San Angelo, here, day.

Nov. 27 - Borger, here, day.

The final seven games are all district affairs, and the last four of them are daylight tilts. The Lubbock and Odessa games are Saturday afternoon affairs and the Borger game is the traditional Thanksgiving battle, returned to its regular place once again.

The long trip to San Angelo for Thanksgiving didn't work out so well this year, forcing the players to be away from their families for the holiday. Therefore, the coaches picked the closest team and natural rival for Thanksgiving day games, allowing the boys to be home after the contest, as well as permitting the fans to follow their club on this day.

FIVE ON ONE - Buddy Cockrell, husky Harvester cager, finds himself surrounded by five Dumas Demons during Friday night's game at the Junior High gym, but Cockrell dumped in a two-pointer, the first of four for him. The Harvesters went on to take an easy 27-34 victory over the boys from District 1-AAA. (News Photo)

WARREN'S ARMUP

By Warren Hance-Knox Sports Editor

QUESTION: What National League player batted over .300 in the most consecutive years?

WONDERFUL! BEAUTIFUL! SUPER-DELUXE! and all the rest of the adjectives we could find couldn't describe the beautiful new fieldhouse which is nearing completion at the high school. It is going to be the sicest, most complete building for high school sports between the North pole and Odessa. We took a stroll through it yesterday with the man who has laid every brick, nailed every board and put in every pane of glass - all without pay - Coach Clifton McNeely.

McNeely has "sweat out" the fieldhouse in hopes of getting it to be the start of the basketball season. Now it looks like he will surely make it by the time the district season gets underway in the middle of January.

The scoreboard has been up for a month, and yesterday the baskets were hung. Workmen are busy finishing putting down the permanent bleachers, and the special floor layers were due to arrive yesterday to start work on putting down the maples.

That will be the hardest job remaining. They must be put down securely, then sanded, varnished and finally have the lines painted on. After that has been accomplished, the roll away bleachers can be put up. She should be ready to go in time to play the Borger Bulldogs on Jan. 19.

The heating system is in full operation and promises to make it a most comfortable structure from that standpoint. We sat in nearly every spot in the permanent type bleachers and there isn't a place where you can't get a perfect, unobstructed view of the game. You are sitting so high, and so far from the center of the court, that you have a bird's eye view, but ideal from the standpoint of easy observation.

Not only is the vision ideal, but the roominess of the seats is magnificent. You can sit with complete comfort, nobody's feet are in your way, and you can still get out of your seat without any trouble.

Biggest problem as far as the spectators are concerned - and I hope that it DOES turn into a problem - will be the parking area. But here again, the practice field west of the football stadium can be utilized for parking if kept the least bit clear of snow. A snow fence erected around it in case of a blizzard wouldn't hurt a thing, as a suggestion along that line.

The dressing rooms appear to be adequate to serve their needs. They are spacious and have the much needed showering space.

Coach Aubra Nooncaster is going to be restricted as to the area in which he can walk in the coaches office. It is hidden underneath the stairway and naturally runs into the slope of the stairs. Either Nooncaster is going to have to reduce his size, or walk in but part of the office.

Let's give the students a break once. I'm sure that the adults aren't going to complain.

The night meeting between the Pampa - Harvesters and the trophy case as yet. That would appear to be an ideal place for one, especially as long as the case in the senior high school is already crowded to overflowing with trophies. There is room for the case in the fieldhouse, but it would cut into the room that is so necessary in a lobby. Therefore, we'd like to suggest something we have seen at other schools.

This is a picture case that runs flush against the wall, or projects just deep enough to get glass doors on it. In it could be placed the photos of all the Harvesters athletic teams of the past right up to date. We feel certain that this form of tribute to the boys who have been Green and Gold would be appreciated, not only by the boys but by their families, relatives and friends. It would help renew old memories of the days when the Harvesters didn't have as fine a building for basketball or stadium for football. It might make everyone just a little more appreciative of what a nice athletic plant Pampa High school now possesses.

It looks like the fieldhouse should be ready for the first conference game at home against Borger on Jan. 19. What better date or foe for a dedication game? The Bulldogs, one of the most powerful basketball teams to come out of the area, had their finest year last season. It looks like if they are headed for another. They are but 30 miles distant, a natural foe.

A natural for dedication of the fieldhouse.

And we'd like to put in a special pitch right here for the student body. They have been shovled around right and left at the football games. If a large crowd isn't anticipated, they get good seats. If a full house is to be expected, they get moved into the end zone.

While every seat in the new fieldhouse is going to be good, with no obstructions to the view, might we, again, suggest that the students be given a good, permanent seating space right in the center of the court on the roll-away bleachers. It's primarily their gym, their team, and their right to have those better seats. From that point they can cheer their team on to victory and arouse some enthusiasm from all around them.

Let's give the students a break once. I'm sure that the adults aren't going to complain.

The night meeting between the Pampa - Harvesters and the

Bright Case Is Football's Ills

COLUMBIA, Mo. - (AP) - The Missouri Valley Conference's failure to take disciplinary action in the Johnny Bright case is cited by President Powell B. McHenry of the University of Missouri board of curators as "an example of what is principally wrong with football as it exists today."

Bright, star Negro back on the Drake University football team, suffered a broken jaw in a game against Oklahoma A&M this fall. Motion pictures showed he had been struck by a defensive Aggie tackle.

McHenry, whose school is a member of the Big Seven Conference, told a meeting Wednesday night that the Missouri Valley Conference, of which Drake and Oklahoma A&M are members, after investigating the case "announced in effect that it was powerless because it could take no action against a student of one of its member colleges."

Shamrock Basketball Meet Scheduled This Weekend

SHAMROCK - (Special) - Eight boys and six girls teams have entered the Shamrock Invitational tournament here Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Coach Scott McCall sponsor, reported Monday. McCall said he would have brackets drawn up by Wednesday morning.

He said it would be fairly simple to make out brackets for the eight boys crews, but harder for the six girls teams. The Wheeler, McLean, Allison, Briscoe, Kelton, Letors, Pampa B and Shamrock boys will collide in the boys section, while the girls that will tangle are McLean, Wheeler, Kelton, Shamrock Allison and Letors.

PAMPA DARKHORSE - Pampa B may be a dark horse in the contest. Last year they were barely edged, 38-32, by the Irish, who then won the crown, 47-33, over McLean. McLean is expected to be one of the tougher entries, while Briscoe can't be dismissed lightly. In fact, the boys tournament will likely furnish more competition than that the girls.

McLean girls will probably be favored to annex another title. Last year they racked up the Irish trophy crown with a crushing 48-24 victory over the Shamrock Lassies, then went on to win the district and regional crown and drop the state title in the finals by only 50-49.

Although without the services of potent Dorothy Gudge, the still have Bonita Bailey and Joyce Bruner, both named to the all-tourney team at the McLean tourney last week-end.

McLean boys bring Eddie Reeves, all-tourney winner, to the conflict. They will be without the services of L. M. Watson, scoring star, but the Irish, their toughest competition last year, are suffering from graduation, having lost the two most potent scorers of last season - Vernon Tarbet and Vaughn Terry.

Seek New Coach

STARVILLE, Miss. - (AP) - Mississippi State College is looking for a new football coach.

Arthur (Slick) Morton, whose teams in three seasons won eight games, lost 18 and tied one, resigned Friday.

Harvesters Hit Road To Stratford

The Pampa Harvester cagers go after their first straight win of the week-old season by being guests of the Stratford Elks in a return game tonight at Stratford. Tip-off for the main game is 8 o'clock, with the B squads meeting in a preliminary at 7.

The Harvester contest will be broadcast by KPDM, starting at 8 o'clock.

Coach Clifton McNeely sent his boys through a light workout yesterday in preparation for the sharp-shooting Elks, who have battered the tucket for a percentage of nearly 90 percent hits on all shots fired at the hoop. This remarkable percentage only brought them a 67-69 defeat last Tuesday night in Pampa, to go along with their record of four wins.

REGULAR STARTERS

McNeely is expected to start his regular starting quintet of Marvin and Jimmy Bond at the forwards, Duane Jeter at center, and Tommy Smith and Jimmy Dulaney at the guards.

Bond is the leading scorer on club far, averaging 13.5 points per contest.

Coach R. W. Stewart of the Elks will throw up a well-balanced club of Richard Williams and Lyle Wakefield, both 6-1, at the forwards; Billy Keener and Fred Green, both 5-11, at the guards.

Lovace paced the scoring for the visitors in the last meeting with 17 points, followed by Lyle Wakefield with 11.

The game will be played in the small Stratford gym, which means that the sharpshooting Elks will be at more of an advantage than when playing at Pampa, where they hit 10 of their first 12 field goals against the Harvesters in their first 24.

The Harvesters will return to the junior high gym for their next contest, meeting the Childress Bobcats here Friday night.

Coach Aubra Nooncaster will likely start a team composed of Gale Trolinger, Bobby Cooper at forwards, Doug Randolph at center, and Don Fagan and George Depee at the guards in the preliminary contest. The Guerillas were 43-37 losers to the Elk Bees in the first meeting, and 28-26 victors over the Dumas B squad last Friday night.

Bears Return To Grid Workouts

WACO - (AP) - Baylor's football squad returns to practice Thursday and the first thing the Bears will hear is that Georgia Tech, their opponent in the Orange Bowl, is "terrific."

Jim Crow, who scouted the Techs in their game with Georgia, has brought back word that the Yellow Jackets are very fast, have many scoring weapons and boast a great defense.

Thursday, Friday and Saturday will be devoted chiefly to imparting Crow's report to the squad and also watching films of three Georgia Tech games.

Tech Coach Bobby Dodd and Baylor Coach George Sauer swapped pictures, Tech getting the Rice, Southern Methodist and Texas games and Baylor the Kentucky, Auburn and Florida games.

"Man what speed!" said Sauer. "And all-around offense. We're in for plenty of trouble."

FULL STRENGTH - Next week the squad will get down to hard work. Although no practices have been held since Dec. 1, when Baylor played its last regularly scheduled game with Rice, most of the Baylor players have kept in trim playing basketball, handball, tennis and golf.

Sauer expects Dick Parma, his fullback, who missed the Rice game because of a broken collar bone, and end Stan Williams, who played only part of the time because of a bruised leg, to be ready for workouts next week.

With Parma back in harness, Jerry Coody will move back to his old spot, right halfback.

Baylor received 5,000 tickets Miami, Fla., Dec. 27,

Stanky Scheduled To Sign Two-Year Cardinal Contract

NEW YORK - (AP) - Eddie Stanky is due to sign a two-year contract as player-manager of the St. Louis Cardinals today and Joe DiMaggio will announce his future plans.

The Stanky and DiMaggio developments probably will overshadow the seven-player deal completed last night between the Cincinnati Reds and Philadelphia Phils.

In the only official word of the winter meetings, Cincinnati sent pitcher Howie Fox (9-14), second baseman Connie Ryan (234) and catcher Forrest Burgess (257) to Phils for pitcher Augie Semick (233), outfielder Dick Sisler (237), pitcher Niles Jordan (23) and infielder Eddie Pellagrini (234).

Stanky's switch to St. Louis for pitcher Max Lanier (11-9) and outfielder Chuck Diering (258) hinges on an agreement between the peppy little second baseman and Fred Saigh, Card owner. That is a foregone conclusion.

STANKY FLIES IN - Saigh and Stanky talked on telephone last night and will compromise on a two-year contract worth $37,500 when Eddie flies into St. Louis today to meet his new boss.

Although the Giants and Cards didn't announce the players involved in the Stanky deal it was learned Lanier and Diering are the men. There was a slight complication last night when Lanier said his St. Petersburg restaurant business might keep him out of baseball next year.

Lanier, 36-year-old veteran lefty, would bolster the Giant staff and Diering, a good-field, no-hit centerfielder, would provide center field insurance in case Willie Mays is drafted.

Stanky, who played 145 games last year and hit .247 for the pennant-winning Giants, expects to play second base for his new club.

Since DiMaggio's retirement might be shifted to first base, as Giant leadoff man, Eddie walked 127 times last season and hit 14 homers.

The DiMaggio announcement will settle the future of the 37-year-old star with the $100,000 salary. Joe told reporters after the world series that he had played his last game, but held off positive retirement at the request of the Yaghs owners.

Since DiMaggio "Deaf" left the world series, he has been mostly in television job, but there are strong reports DiMaggio will make the TV-mike at Yankee Stadium for the next three years at $50,000 per.

for the Orange Bowl game and business manager Pete Jones says they all will be sold - mostly to students and faculty members.

The Baylor squad will fly to

Irish Guardsmen Meet Irishmen

SHAMROCK - (Special) - Coach H. W. Callan brings his potent national guard quintet to the Irish gym Tuesday night for a cracker-jack basketball contest. Game time is 7:30.

Callan, line coach under Scott McCall in football, will conduct with his head coach's 1951-52 Irish basketballers. Callan, a lieutenant in the 47th field artillery unit here, is coaching basketball for the guards.

Callan said he would bring in some former high school stars, including ex-Irishmen, and hoped to give McCall some good training for the gruelling Irish schedule ahead.

Among the toughies he has to enter are C. T. Masterson, four-year star for Texola high school; Earl Tarbet, Irish ace of 1948-50, and brother of Vernon Tarbet, 1951 scoring star; Pendleton and Polett, Wheeler court aces.

Callan said he has sixteen out for the game, all with experience, and at least five ex-stars.

Coach McCall will probably start

In addition to the lineups, alongside each player's name are five lights to indicate how many fouls the player has charged against him. The scoreboard has been erected for a month, waiting completion of the rest of the building. (News Photo)

Next Monday night these hardwood powers collide at Lexington, Ky. in what may be the "game-of-the-year."

The rest of the top ten teams, in order: Illinois, St. Louis, Kansas State, Washington Seton Hall, Kansas, La Salle and North Carolina State.

The second ten includes: Indiana, 12, Duke, 13, Oklahoma A&M, 14, Notre Dame, 15, Villanova, 16, Stanford, 17, Louisville, 18, Vanderbilt, 19, Eastern Kentucky, 20, New York University.

Other teams receiving vote include Louisiana State and Texas Tech.

WESTERNERS TO PLAY IN BIG BOWL - DALLAS - (AP) - The Cotton Bowl will be the scene of the Lubbock-Baytown football game Saturday, that decides the Class AAAA schoolboy championship in Texas.

It was shifted from Dallas Stadium to the big saucer last night after members of the team expressed a wish to play in the Cotton Bowl. Dallas seats only 25,000, the Cotton Bowl 75,000.

The reason the game was first scheduled for Dallas is there are many bond-holders of the Cotton Bowl and there could be no reserved seats there because the bond-holders would have to be notified in order for them to exercise their privilege of buying tickets. This was a physical impossibility in the time available.

The schools decided they would have no reserved seats and therefore could play in the Cotton Bowl. Each seat will be $2.50.

Both of the teams will move into Dallas Friday in time for workouts. They will practice at Dal-Hi, one at noon and the other at 2:30 p.m.

F. C. Cobb, in charge of ticket sales for the game, said he expects at least 20,000 if the weather is good. Tickets go on sale tomorrow morning here.

Van Pennington, scoring star, but who his other choice will be he would not say Monday.

Probables are Mack Terry, Billy Harris, Bernie Parks, possibly Dwayne Hager. McCall said he would try out his crew until he found a good defensive and offensive organization.

With no title at stake, the Irish are expected to experiment freely. Meanwhile, no one will bet that the exes will slaughter the Irish. They will probably be conceded an edge.

Why do we give such good advice to others and never follow it ourselves?

PROOF OF THE athletic ability of Shamrock High school lies in this crowded trophy case which houses all of the awards won by the Irish organizations. Yet to be included in the case are the trophies signifying the 1-A, bidistrict, and Pampa News outstanding athletic awards going to the school this year. (New Photo)

HAZARDS OVERCOME

HAZARD, Ky. — (AP) — In spite of the surrounding Kentucky hills which hinder reception, local ingenuity has brought television to this little community (pop. 10,000). Located in a natural bowl, the Hazard residents nonetheless licked their problem by building a large tower atop a 1,000-ft. hill and stringing house-to-house coaxial lead-ins. They carved a road to within 200 feet of the peak. Materials were toiled the rest of the way by hand.

Shamrock Coach Still Hunts Games For Basketball Slate

SHAMROCK — (Special) — Coach Scott McCall has announced a basketball schedule for 1951-52, following week-end calls, conferences and letters. McCall said he still has several open dates and invites coaches of the area to contact him for these dates.

Shamrock led off with a game at Wheeler Dec. 4, dropping the tilt to the Mustangs, 24-15, after one day's practice. They go into their own invitational tournament here Thursday, Friday and Saturday, and have no scheduled games thereafter during December.

McCall said he hoped for contests Tuesday night, Dec. 18, and Friday night, Dec. 21. Other open dates are January 22, Feb. 1, 5, 8, 12.

SAME TEAMS Irish basketballers will meet about the same crews they met in 1950-51, with the addition of Perryton there Feb. 15 and here Jan. 15. These two nights will feature three games, with boys A and B girls contests. Usually there are only two conflicts.

Teams met again this year include Wheeler, Mobeetie, Kellon, McLean and Wellington. Irishmen will enter two tournaments — their own and the Canadian tussle — before the District 1-A-A tournament at Perryton Feb. 21-22-23. There they will meet the old nemesis — Phillips Blackhawks, plus Dumas Deons, Perryton rangers and Dalhart Wolves.

Shamrock doesn't expect to sweep the district this year, knowing how potent the Hawks are, but they do expect to make a dent and a creditable record.

Johnny raved on about how great Ray was and ended with the statement: "That kind of ball club, we think, is going to be tough, to beat, by anybody, any time."

Give Johnny credit: he's not like the average Monday morning quarterback who waits until a game is over then, if you miss it, tell you what a lunkhead you were.

But anyway, here was the score: Baytown 34, Ray 0. Seems the only folks who were "wild" were Johnny and the Baytown football team, Johnny with his typewriter, Baytown with its touchdowns.

MORE JINX And then there is Jinx Tucker, who, in his opinion, is the greatest expert in football. Jinx, writing in the Waco News-Tribune, says the Associated Press all-Southwest Conference team has selected in years. He was lred because Glenn Lippman of Texas A&M and Ken Casner of Baylor didn't make the team.

Trouble is, Jinx, you should direct your criticism at the Southwest Conference coaches, who selected the AP's team. Jinx says the team he picked outclasses the AP's by long strides.

Here is an observation: if Jinx knows so much more than the coaches about football, why should sports writing and take up coaching. It pays so much better.

CHANGED MINDS Four years ago the national football rules committee decided that all personal fouls should be called the same way so that no boy might be singled out as having done anything unethical. In other words, you wouldn't know what the offense was. It might just be holding or clipping instead of a personal foul.

Now the Southwest Conference coaches want the player who commits a personal foul designated so everybody may know. But it really isn't for the purpose of showing the boy up; it's for the benefit of the coach, who would want to know which of his boys did something that was losing his team yardage. Thus he could get that boy out of there.

There were 12 fouls, 37 on Oklahoma and 28 on Baylor. Baylor lost a rough and tumble exhibition 56-48 here last night to Oklahoma, giving the Sooners their first win in three starts this season.

The Bears haven't won a game. The Sooners led 25-19 at the half and never claimed a safe margin until the second string tallied 14 points in the final period to clinch the game.

Sports Shot

By HAROLD RATLIFF Associated Press Sports Editor DALLAS — (AP) — Texas never has amounted to much in college basketball, especially early in the season. Against teams from other areas, this state's colleges are less than mediocre. It seems, then, that the action of the Southwest Conference in cutting 25 days off the practice period is really kicking the fellow when he's down.

The conference teams have been opening practice Oct. 15. Now they must wait until Nov. 10.

They have been starting late, compared to other areas, in the first place; now they won't have time to learn each other's names before moving into the campaign.

There are several reasons why basketball teams from this area can't make a good showing until late December: 1-the football season runs too long; 2-the boys don't play basketball the year around as they do in other areas.

It would appear here that the Southwest Conference basketball teams should get out of the intersectional swim entirely under the set-up that will prevail next year.

Of course, there's one bright way to look at it: there won't be any gamblers trying to get the boys to shave the night. They won't be able to get close enough to do any juggling with the points.

FEW CHANGES Speaking of basketball, there are very few changes in the rules this year, only noticeable one is playing the games in quarters instead of halves. This has been done before but only through agreement of the coaches. Now it is a rule.

The coaches like it because it gives an extra time-out and an added chance to substitute.

The time between periods now is one minute. It was two. There still are 15 minutes between halves. If an extra period is needed to decide a game the rest period now takes a minute instead of two as formerly.

FIFTH OFFICIAL The fifth official in football being talked by the Southwest Conference would mean there would be five officials for the coaches to state instead of four.

This added official would be known as the "back judge."

But in order for the officials to catch everything that happens in a football game, 22 officials are needed — one to watch each player.

RAVINGS Our old pal, Johnny James of the San Antonio Light, devoted about a half-column last week to us. He talked about how "wild" we were in picking Baytown to beat Ray of Corpus Christi.

SPORTSMAN'S DIGEST TAKE TIME TO AIM

Don't think you won't have time to properly aim at the startline or noisy targets before they get out of range or sight. This thought is responsible for more misses than hits!

Some hunters count one, two, three, etc., to calm themselves into taking more time to aim. This also permits the shot pattern in spreading to cover a larger area making easier hits at longer distances. You won't blow game to pieces either!

Aussie Captain Scaaming Foul

MELBOURNE, Australia — (AP) — Harry Hopman, non-playing captain of the Australian Davis Cup tennis team, is making an effort to brand Vic Seixas of Philadelphia as a habitual foul-faulter in advance of the probable challenge round between America and Australia later this month.

As it now seems almost certain Seixas will occupy one American singles berth, Hopman apparently is trying to worry the Philadelphia and at the same time plant several seeds of doubt in the minds of potential football judges.

As a tennis writer for the Melbourne Herald, Hopman has been in a fine spot to conduct a war of nerves. He began accusing Seixas of swinging his right leg over the line during the New South Wales tournament at Sydney, and has plugged away at it steadily ever since.

For his part, Seixas said, "I've never been known as a foul-faulter. Sure, every player will foul-fault now and then, but I do it no more often than the others."

Frank Shields, U. S. non-playing captain, thinks it's a good sign, though.

"When Harry resorts to such tactics, I think it indicates only that we've got him worried," said Shields. "I think our chances for winning the cup have improved 100 percent since we arrived in Australia."

For his part, Seixas said, "I've never been known as a foul-faulter. Sure, every player will foul-fault now and then, but I do it no more often than the others."

Warriors Clip Higgins Coyotes

MIAMI — (Special) — The Miami Warriors defeated the Higgins Coyotes 34-30 Friday night. This was the fifth win in seven starts for the Warriors.

Miami's offense was hampered when its scoring ace Dewayne Wells received four fouls. He sat out the last half. Wells was held to 6 free shots.

Gene Hodges was high point for the Warriors with four field goals and three free shots for 11 points. Ramon Cowan was close behind with 10 points.

Crouch led the Higgins team with six field goals and one free throw for 13 points.

The Warriors' edge was held in the free throw department. They hit 14 out of 24 while Higgins made 4 out of 12. Higgins made 13 field goals to 10 for the Warriors.

In the preliminary game the Miami Squaws were defeated by the Higgins girls 38-15. Sharie Gill was high point for the Squaws with 11 points.

The Miami teams go to Mobeetie Tuesday night to tangle with the ever dangerous Mobeetie teams. The Warriors defeated Mobeetie 60-37 at the Booker tournament.

Texas Teams Bowl Winners

By the Associated Press Already victorious in two out of three games, Texas teams play two more bowl games this week.

Carroll Air Force Base of Fort Worth goes to Columbia, S. C., Saturday to meet Fort Jackson, S. C., in the Service Bowl, while Kilgore Junior College tussles with Northeastern Oklahoma A&M in the Texas Rose Bowl at Tyler.

Eight bowl games in which Texas teams participate will be left after this week.

Del Mar of Corpus Christi whammed Pearl River, Miss., 32-6 last Saturday in the Memorial Bowl at Jackson, Miss. Thornedale, Tex., licked Sequoyah Indian School of Oklahoma 33-0 in the Milk Bowl at Marlin. Tyler Junior College lost to Pasadena City College 28-26 in the Junior Rose Bowl at Pasadena, Calif.

After this week the next bowl game will be Dec. 29 when Brooke Medical Center of San Antonio plays Camp LeJeune, N. C., in the Cigar Bowl at Tampa, Fla.

Seven bowl games are scheduled Jan. 1. They are: Cotton Bowl at Dallas — Texas Christian University, Ft. Worth, Texas; Orange Bowl at Miami, Fla. — Baylor vs Georgia Tech. Sun Bowl at El Paso — Texas Tech vs College of the Pacific. Oleander Bowl at Galveston — San Angelo Junior College vs Hinds Junior College (Raymond, Miss.).

NBA Warns Three To Schedule Bouts

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Three world's champion boxers have been warned: the National Boxing Association wants only fighting champions, and if titles aren't defended, they'll be forfeited.

The warnings were made in letters sent out by the NBA yesterday.

The bluntest went to welterweight champion Kid Gavilan, of Cuba. He must sign a contract within 10 days to fight Charles Humes of France, the NBA said, or his title will be taken away from him.

Col. Harvey L. Miller, executive secretary for the NBA, said Gavilan had been given the title only on the condition that he would give Humes, the European champion, a crack at it.

Heavyweight champion Jersey Joe Walcott and light heavyweight champion Joey Maxim were reminded that they have only three more months in which to decide whom they will meet in title fights.

To help Walcott and Maxim with their homework, the NBA listed the fighters it thinks most entitled to a chance.

For Walcott: Rocky Marciano of Massachusetts, Clarence Henry of California and Ezzard Charles of Ohio are "logical contenders."

For Maxim: Archie Moore of Missouri and Harry Mathews of Washington are the local choices, the NBA said.

Wellington Put On Irish Card

SHAMROCK — (Special) — Coach Scott McCall has scheduled games with the tough Wellington Skyrockets quintet here Dec. 31. Irish courtmen will return the game Jan. 25.

Shamrock will play Kelton at Shamrock Jan. 4, after a Jan. 3 excursion to the Perryton gym. Wellington lost to the Irish here 41-26 last Dec. 19, but rallied to take an exciting 44-43 contest at Wellington in January.

DROUGHT HITS BIRDS

RIVERSIDE, Calif. — (AP) — Southern California deserts, in the throes of one of the longest dry spells on record, 7 years, are turning an uncolorful gray and even the most drought resistant shrubs are dying.

Even with the return of normal rainfall, it will take nature many years to replace these plants, said Edmund C. Jaeger, naturalist and authority on desert flora and fauna.

Jaeger said that desert birds have been especially hard hit during the current dry spell. When the plants die the insects disappear, and they are an absolute necessity in the diet of baby birds. "If the mature birds find a scarcity of insects they won't nest," he said. "This means that the birds, naturally short-lived, will die without reproducing."

Girl Scout Executive Officers Announced At Board Meet

MR. GENE FATHEREE

Mrs. Rufe Jordan is the new president of the executive board of the Girl Scout association, according to an announcement by James McCune, chairman of the nominating committee.

There is vice president, and Dr. Douglas Nelson, second vice-president.

Other officers include Mrs. Joe Key, secretary; Mrs. O. L. Statton, organization; Mrs. Harold Osborne, training; Mrs. Dudley Steele, program; Mrs. Bob Andis, public relations; Mrs. Gene Fatheree, Juliette Low; Ed Myatt, finance; Waldon Moore, camp; Mrs. John McNeill, day camp; and James Massa, nominating membership.

New officers were announced at a regular board meeting Friday. During the business session, a volunteer trainers course to be held in Fort Worth Jan. 14-19 was announced. Mrs. Virginia McDonald, Scout executive, announced a total of $6851.03 in the financial drive.

The board agreed to send letters of appreciation to persons who helped with the Christmas floats, and in particular, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Andis who had charge of the floats.

Other reports during the business session were given by Harvey Nentzel, Mrs. Osborne, Mrs. Wright, and Mrs. McDonald who reported on November activities.

MEMO TO WIVES: Don't make such an effort to be the perfect companion to your husband that you lose your own femininity.

You can, you know. Here are a few examples of the kind of mistakes not to make.

He scorns modern art and you like it. Don't figure you have to go along with his ideas in order to flatter and please him.

Go ahead and defend your own opinions. They're a real part of you.

He thinks it is silly of women to spend so much time getting ready to entertain at home. But you like to make a production out of a dinner invitation.

That's the femininity in you, so since you are the one who has to do the work go ahead with your productions.

His idea of a perfect evening is to come home and eat dinner and then sit and read or listen to the radio until bedtime. You like to spend several evenings a week either going out or having guests in. You've as much right to your ideas of the enjoyment of leisure as he has, so don't give yours up completely. Compromise.

He thinks some of your friends are silly. Well, that is all right. He has a right to his opinion, but you have a right to friends of your choice. So don't give them up if you enjoy their company.

You are convinced that he is too hard on the children. You

First Methodist Circles Plan Annual Christmas Socials In Various Homes

The Woman's Society of Christian Service of the First Methodist church met for devotionals Wednesday and to plan annual Christmas socials.

Circle Two met in the home of Mrs. J. O. Dumas with 14 members present. The meeting was opened with the singing of "Hark, the Herald Angels Sing."

The business session was led by Mrs. Irwin Cole, circle chairman. Mrs. A. B. Whitten read "The Litany for Christmas" from the Book of Worship for Church and Home. Mrs. Doris Cass told "A Christmas Dream and How it Came True" by Louisa May Alcott and an epic by Benjamin Franklin "For a Good Conscience is a Continual Christmas."

She closed her talk with an old English "Beggars' Rhyme." The next meeting December 19th, will be a luncheon in the home of Mrs. Lee Harrah with Mesdames A. B. Whitten, A. R. Killen, Frank Clegg, and Lawrence West as co-hostesses.

Circle Four met in the church parlor with Mrs. E. W. Clodfelter as hostess. The group sang "Silent Night" which was followed by a prayer by Mrs. C. W. Berry. The Christmas party will be with Mrs. W. Purviance December 19th at 2:30. Roll call was answered by 14 members.

Mrs. Berry gave the lesson from the annual report of the conference minutes. After singing "My Faith Look up to Thee," Mrs. W. R. Campbell brought the devotional using Psalm 25:4.

Circle 5 met with Mrs. H. W. Odum with Mrs. Gene Anderson as co-hostess. Mrs. Louis Emony led the devotional "Fruit of the Spirit." The scripture was from Psalms, and was followed by a prayer period. The group sang "For the Beauty of the Earth."

Mrs. Luther Pierson gave a reference. Mrs. Coy Palmer gave a monologue. The closing prayer was offered by Mrs. Doyle Osborne. There were nine members and two visitors present.

Eighteen members and two guests were present when Circle Seven met in the home of Mrs. Coyle Ford. Mrs. Roy Johnson was co-hostess. Mrs. J. L. Chase, chairman, conducted the meeting.

"The Litany for Christmas" was used as the devotional. Plans were made to prepare a Christmas basket for a needy family. The circle Christmas party will be Dec. 19th at 3:00 p. m. in the home of Mrs. Clint Caylor can get along with him by siding with him. Or you can — in private — stand up for your own ideas regarding the children. The latter is what you ought to do. Children need two parents — not one dominant parent and one who is just a silent partner to the other.

And so it goes. A sure way of getting along with a man is to echo all of his opinions and to pretend to enjoy everything that he enjoys and dislike everything he hates. But it is also a sure way of boring him — eventually.

Entre Nous Has Program On Hawaii

Mrs. C. W. Bowers of Miami was hostess to the Entre Nous club Friday for a program on Hawaii.

Mrs. W. D. Allen of Miami, was in charge of the program, and told of her recent trip to the Hawaiian Islands, the Island of Canton, the Island of Fiji and New Zealand. Mrs. Allen and the hostesses were dressed in the native costume of Hawaii.

During the business session, conducted by Mrs. C. A. Tignor, Mrs. Guy Farrington read a letter from Amelia Anthony of Gristown, and a Christmas party was planned.

Refreshments of pumpkin pie, whipped cream and coffee were served to Mesdames F. W. Osborne, Mrs. Allen, visitors; and Mesdames Tignor, Farrington, A. B. McAfee.

Royal Neighbors Lodge Elects New Leaders

Anna Barr was elected oracle of the Royal Neighbors Lodge at a recent meeting in the Carpenters Local Union hall. The state supervisors of Ahiene conducted the election with a Berger district deputy assisting.

Other leaders are Margaret Smith, vice oracle; Emma Car-gile, recorder; Bessie F aster, chancellor; Iva Ward, receiver; Wilma Phillips, marshal; Lorraine Thomas, inner sentinel; Betty Norris, outer sentinel; Elsie Walker, past oracle; and Avis Sanchez, musician.

Twelve members were present for the meeting. The group's annual Christmas party was planned, and regular meetings for 1952 scheduled the first and third Wednesday each month.

Boyd Brown, C. C. Stockstill, W. D. Stockstill, Mattie Shackleton, J. C. Farrington and Joe Lewis.

Volcano Hides Toll Of Dead In Smoking Blanket Of Ashes

MAHINOG, CAMIGUIN ISLAND, Philippines (AP)—Flaming Hibok Hibok Volcano hid its toll of dead under a smoking blanket of ash which rained for the third successive day on seven burned villages. So far 208 bodies have been recovered. Official estimates say 500 more probably are buried in a six square mile area covered by lava and volcanic ash. It may be a week before total casualties in Tuesday's eruption are known. Poisonous fumes rising from molten lava and red hot ash drove search crews from the stricken villages on the charred slopes of Hibok Hibok. Two new blasts shook the volcano Wednesday feeding the sulphurous pall of smoke hanging like an umbrella over the mountain. They were the third and fourth eruptions. Searchers who approached the buried villages said they saw scores of burned bodies in the hot blanket of ashes. The vic-times had been struck down by the volcano's deadly rain as they fled. Ten thousand people crowded into this little seaside town of 3,000 waiting for the governor to decide whether they could be evacuated to nearby Mindanao Island. Refugees crowded into Mahinog included almost the entire 7,000 population of Mambajao, largest town on little Camiguin Island. A Mambajao grade school teacher, Sarah Romaldo, described their flight. She said terror drove them into Mindanao sea, where they stood for hours waiting for rescue. Villagers had paid little attention to a landslide on the slopes of Hibok Hibok Monday. That was common. But Tuesday morning, while Miss Romaldo was teaching her third and fourth grades, "there was a loud noise like an explosion. "We could see a huge cloud of smoke shooting up from the crater with red flashes of flame streaking through it. "The wind was blowing from the south and the smoke and a dark cloud of ashes drifted our way. In only a minute or two a fine rain of ashes began to fall. "But we could tell that the worst part of the ashes were falling only as close as about two kilometers from Mambajao. "That was a little over a mile away. So the townsfolk went to work helping those in the stricken area while lava boiled over the crater rim, and flaming ash burned trees on the mountain slopes. At 7 o'clock that night the volcano erupted again, blasting open a new vent. The volcano, in the center of the 13-mile long island, blazed so brightly it lit up Mambajao on the north coast. Then came the terror. "We could see ashes, rocks and lava being shot out of the new hole amidst flames," Miss Romaldo said. "Hot ashes began to fall on Mambajao. "Almost everybody rushed into the water where we stood and gazed back at the awful sight. "Lava began to run down the slopes, glowing fiery red. Explosions threw up rocks from the surface. Flames flared high along the edge of the lava flow as trees were engulfed. "Then the smoke and clouds shut out the view. But we still could see a red glow. "A powdery rain of fine ash fell on the townsfolk as they stood in the water. Thousands waited there for hours, watching the volcano, until trucks and buses evacuated them to Mahinog, on the southeast coast. Soldiers moved into the deserted town. Seven small villages were pelted with a deadly hail of hot ashes—Panasan, Payahan, Anoling, Sadpan, Tibucas, Kabuhil and Maucan. A great yellow curtain of smoke and fumes poured out of the crater and hung over the northern end of the island. It was still there Thursday. Down the northern slopes of Hibok Hibok, a huge mass of lava flowed slowly toward the lowlands. It seared and covered everything in its path. Ashes sifted like rain from the yellow clouds. Charred trunks of coconut palms on the mountainside looked like burned match sticks. Volcanic rock glowed in the center of the stricken area. Late today search parties came back with bodies of 23 more victims. They were found on the fringe of the seared area, about three miles from Mambajao. The bodies were buried immediately. There are few volunteer workers. The searchers are mostly men seeking some trace of their own families, a detachment of soldiers and a few hundred Chinese who refused to leave their stores and goods in Mambajao. Mambajao itself was lightly covered with warm, evil-smelling sulphurous ash. Eighteen seriously burned villagers were brought here. They are being cared for in an emergency hospital set up by the Red Cross. Refugees overflooded the school and homes. Half of the houses are built on stilts over the water. Thousands of refugees camped.

Dolls That Can Do Things, Santa's Gift To Good Girls

The "Toyland Express" has arrived with its load of sparkling new dolls, talented as they are beautiful, to delight the hearts of moppets Christmas morning and the whole year through. Dolls that little girls can do things with, and dolls that do things almost by themselves, are crowding store windows and display shelves with winsome baby faces and almost-human bodies.

Dolls appear this season, in such a breathtaking variety of types and personalities, that the best way to choose the particular doll for your gift giving, is to let the child of your affections voice her choice by rolling a clever "toyland" where she'll "oooh and aah" over the doll she'd most like to "mother."

The amazing things that this new crop of life-like dolls are capable of doing, shows that America's doll manufacturers are clever and talented at knowing what things little girls wish most for in their dollies.

This season, for example, little girls will see the doll that performs by itself. This fabulous electronic doll, pet as can be in her bonnet, actually speaks, sings and prays in a realistic child's voice. All this from a tiny device within the doll's body that makes it sound like an adorable human baby.

Reservoirs Lose Water

AUSTIN — (AP) — The amount of water dropped in four of the state's nine major reservoirs during October, remained the same in three, and increased slightly in two.

The overall result was a 1 percent decrease in water storage from the previous month, the state board of water engineers has reported. The nine reservoirs were 43 percent full compared with 58 percent a year earlier.

This condition reflected the unbroken Texas drought. Rainfall and stream runoff were below normal for November. Groundwater levels remained at a record low for the month.

The reservoir picture at the end of November, giving capacity, percent full, and amount of increase or decrease from the previous month:

Lake Kemp (Wichita River) — 435,000 acre feet, 53 percent full, unchanged from October.

Bridgeport (West fork Trinity river) — 291,000 acre feet, 47, down 4 percent.

Eagle Mountain (West fork Trinity river) — 214,000 acre feet, 93, up 1 percent.

Lake Dallas (Fim fork Trinity river) — 194,000 acre feet, 48, down 4 percent.

Possum Kingdom (Brazos river) — 721,700 acre feet, 65, down 2 percent.

Buchanan Colorado river) — 995,000 acre feet, 41, down 1 percent.

Lake Travis (Colorado river) — 1,144,000 acre feet, 33, unchanged.

Medina lake (Medina river) — 249,000 acre feet, 2, unchanged.

Red Bluff (Pecos river) — 307,000 acre feet, 10, up 1 percent.

An acre-foot is the amount required to cover an acre to the depth of one foot.

Choose Stationery If You Want Them To Write Offener

A gift of stationery, especially when chosen for friends or relatives who are too far from home to be with you on Christmas Day, is a good way of letting them know you are always interested in hearing from them.

The variety of boxed gift stationery is so broad there's a gift to be found here for every one, children as well as adults.

Then, if they want to help their doll walk, they can lead the wonderful "walking" doll and help it toddle, its dimpled little muscle legs raising one in front of the other in a hesitating baby-like walk.

And a doll that's certain to thrill is the glossy-haired dolly with vegetable-color hair — tinting kit, and all the realistic trimmings for a child to color and set its pretty blond plastic hair.

New and charming, little "Bonnie Braids," the infant doll of the comic strip origin, sports two perky yellow bowed braids on her head. She sweetly displays one gleaming tooth and carries a small tooth brush for its care.

A baby doll that responds to a mother's love is the cuddly "Pat-O-Pat" doll. This clever baby claps her hands when her "mommy" hugs her. A spring control does the trick.

Now, a child can own a doll that is so lifelike, its facial expressions actually change in to three different moods when she flips a button. This versatile "baby" has a soft plastic head that feels like human skin and has three distinct faces.

When her laughing face is exposed, the other two, sleeping and crying are hidden under her plush bonnet. Her snugly body, arms and legs are covered by the same velvety plush.

They'll be no kicks coming from the "small fry" when they receive the baby doll that kicks its legs when its "mommy" touches it. It's snugly clothed in knitted booties and bow-tied wrapper.

And there's hardly been a little girl who didn't adore dressing and undressing her dolly, and fussing with her hair. So why not get yours, the smartly outfitted doll that comes with a complete change of clothes, matching pocketbook and everything to set and keep her hair lovely, including a tiny hairnet.

From this Christmas on — little girls will be having more fun than they've ever had before with this wonderful variety of "do-my-things" dolls that just cry for a tiny bit of attention.

There's a "right" doll for every child this season, and nothing more rewarding than the look of pure childish joy when she receives hers.

Silver Gifts Are In Season

Sometimes the personal quality combines uncommon practicality with great thoughtfulness, as when planning gifts for that son or daughter-in-law combination — the younger married set, for instance. Perhaps the couple have already got off to a fine start with their silverware pattern.

We all know a start isn't enough, and so there is nothing more appealing than another place setting or two of silver, to add to the basic collection.

This thought carried through to other members of the warm, intimate circle of near ones and close friends who are to be considered this Christmas.

Teen-age girls are always interested in beginning a sort of silver "hope chest," which can be given a fine start with a place setting in the pattern of the girl's own choice.

Larger pieces of fine holloware are especially valued by older members of the family, who may be following the trend of the times toward more entertainment in the home, or who have a crestly never quite satisfied all their desires for proper silver flat pieces, formal services, display candelabra, or other somewhat larger items, all of which have their place.

Coordinated Gift Giving A Good Plan

Juniors can provide a book or two. Sister can select a pretty ash tray. Mother can choose a decorative bowl. And Dad's offering can be a handsome bookcase that fits right in with the decor.

This is one way the entire family can club together, at Christmas time, to choose a coordinated gift for the home that will also be a joy to all.

And this is just one of many gifts for the home that offers limitless opportunities for combination with other related items.

Take a card table and chairs, for example. One or two members of the family can give the major items while others contribute an attractive table pad, decks of cards, scorepads and even a bridge lamp to stand close by the table and chairs.

With at-home parties becoming increasingly popular, a tea trolley can come in mighty handy. And here again is a chance for all the family to participate by giving extra accessories. These may include choice linen party napkins as well as a complete range of iced tea, cocktail and high ball glasses.

Another room in the house worthy of a coordinated gift is the bedroom. Here, the height of luxury and comfort could be a boudoir chair or chaise longue made more comfortable by the addition of tiny pillows, a chair side table, lamp and ash tray.

Or why not get together on a gift of many parts for the bathroom. Here, a hamper, shower and window curtains, bath mat and toilet set in complementary colors is sure to add cheer throughout the year.

FUN FOR NUNS—A miniature bowling game brings smiles to the faces of these nuns at a special conference on child play at the Catholic Charities Center in New York. More than 100 sisters from 30 Catholic child-caring homes and day nurseries attended the meeting to discuss play, its techniques, equipment and effect on children.

Check On This Unique Gift

Piggy banks are every popular as minor gifts for giving at Christmas time, especially to children.

Saving accounts in banks and savings and loan companies also are started by thoughtful parents as gifts for the teenagers to teach them thrift.

So why not carry the idea a step further this Christmas, especially insofar as the older children are concerned, or a bride or even mother, by being really clever and giving them one or another of them a checking account.

Best plan is to make a deposit of what you wish to give, be it $25 or $100, in the name of the one to whom you want to give this unique gift.

Arrange with the bank to give

Wrap them as a Christmas package with your greetings in the package and there you are, launching someone, most memorably, on the way to thrifty management of their own finances.

Hollywood Going To Produce Authentic Newspaper Story

By BOB THOMAS HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — Here is heartening news for newspaperman: Hollywood is making a picture about the newspaper business and it's guaranteed to be accurate.

At least that's what its makers claim. The movie is called "Deadline U.S.A." and its writer-director is Richard Brooks, who as the old saying goes, used to be a newspaperman himself. He worked on space rates in various cities and held down regular jobs on papers in Philadelphia and Atlantic City.

The studio has constructed a newspaper city room that looks more authentic than most of those whipped up for movies.

Patterned after the New York Daily News, it has the appearance and smell of a newspaper office. I noticed no bottles or blondes sitting on the desks.

"This is going to be the real McCoy," assured Humphrey Bogart, who plays the managing editor (with a crew-cut toupee). "No reporter is going to come running through the city room shouting 'scoop! Stop the presses! This is going to tear the town wide open.'"

The city room will neither be a hub-bub of noise and activity, nor will it have a funeral hush. Behind the dialogue will be heard the normal sounds of ringing telephones and clacking teletypes.

I asked Bogart if he was a member of the vast "I used to be a newspaperman" club. "I should say not," he said, somewhat offended, "and most of the guys who claim they were weren't either. That's just like all the he-man movie stars who claim they were once lumberjacks, sand hogs or steel workers. Most of them never did a hard day's labor in their lives'."

GIFTS FOR ALL It's no laughing matter. The printer said what he'd like more than anything else for Christmas is a new front tooth.

NPA To Lift Most Restrictions Soon

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The National Production Authority (NPA) says it will lift just about all restrictions on the use of rubber by the first of the effective Jan. 1. The announcement was made by NPA officials to a meeting of 24 rubber makers.

100,000 tons of natural rubber every three months, but restraints on the use of most other kinds of rubber will be removed, NPA said. The change will be made in an order to be issued about Dec. 15. NPA said, to become effective Jan. 1. The announcement was made by NPA officials to a meeting of 24 rubber makers.

The Song Of Christmas

Shakespeare wrote, in "The Merchant of Venice": "The man that hath no music in himself, nor is not moved with concord of sweet sounds, is fit for treasons, stratagems and spoils."

Song expresses the best in man's nature—his devotion, his gladness, his happiness, his love. Of all the carols of joy and gladness, none is better known than "God Rest You Merry, Gentlemen." No one knows who wrote it, or when. It goes back at least 300 years and is England's best loved carol.

Another of the merry songs of Christmas is "Deck the Hall With Boughs of Holly." This dates back to the pre-Christian era in England and the midwinter festival called "Yule."

The house shortage still is the cause of a decided change. The whole family goes home to mother.

Battle Is Forecast On Price Of Cotton

AUSTIN — (AP) — A probable battle by U.S. cotton mills to keep cotton prices from soaring to the ceiling of 45.39 cents is foreseen here by a cotton expert. Dr. A. B. Cox, internationally distinguished authority on cotton and University of Texas professor of cotton marketing, said the imminent December estimate (of cotton production by the Department of Agriculture) is the biggest single question in the cotton picture.

Doings Of Government Are Public's Business

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON — (AP) — We could all learn more about the doings in government if members of Congress when they're investigating, would show a little more zeal about quizzing members of Congress, too. A House subcommittee is now investigating the way taxes and tax frauds have been handled by the Internal Revenue bureau and the Department of Justice. Disclosures about the bureau show it to have been in scandalous shape. And the disclosures seem far from ended. Already some 50 bureau employes have been fired. Some have been indicted.

half of their constituents involved in tax frauds. Then Caudle hastily added that this "tremendous pressure" from members of Congress was quite all right. No one asked him to do anything wrong, he said. The committee apparently accepted Caudle's judgment on this point although it seems to think his judgment was questionable on other matters. It never asked him for a list of the Congressional pressurizers or for any explanation of what kind of pressure was applied or how. That seemed to end the matter right there. Later another Justice Dept. attorney, John H. Mitchell, who worked under Caudle, told the committee Caudle and Frank W. Boykin, a Democratic congressman from Alabama, had shown "unusual" interest in an Alabama tax fraud case.

New Method Of Artificial Respiration Enters U. S.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — A new method of artificial respiration is due to get widespread use soon in the United States. It is the "push-pull" system, already well known in Europe and said to get about twice as much air into and out of the lungs as does the Schafer "prone pressure" method now in standard use in the United States. The "push-pull" system is officially known as the Holger-Nelson method. It has been recommended by the National Research Council. The Defense department says it will soon be taught to the armed services. The U.S. Public Health Service, Bureau of Mines, Boy and Girl Scouts and YMCA's are among other agencies that will use it as soon as sufficient instructors are available.

King demanded a hearing by his own committee. He disqualified himself from taking part. After two days of hearings the committee exonerated King. But his hearings were behind closed doors.

Under the old system, the operator straddled the victim and faced forward, toward his head. The operator's position is reversed under the Nielsen system: he kneels facing the victim's shoulders, with the injured person's head between his knees. (In both systems the victim lies face down.)
