Oliphant Says He Tipped Off Lamar Caudle

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Charles Oliphant, resigned chief counsel of the internal revenue bureau, admitted today he tipped off T. Lamar Caudle that his income tax returns were under investigation by Senator John Williams (R-Dela.).

In the witness chair of House investigators, Oliphant also acknowledged that he let a tax prosecution case drop because of the interest of a member of Congress, Rep. James Morrison (D-La.). He said he did it despite instructions from his own boss that the case should be pressed.

The "tip" Oliphant passed to Caudle was brought out under questioning from Rep. Byrnes (R-Wis.).

Byrnes said Caudle told the investigators in a secret session last Nov. 2 that Oliphant had given him that word and also had warned him that a House committee wanted his tax returns.

Oliphant denied that he had told Caudle the committee had requested his tax papers.

But in a low, expressionless voice, Oliphant said: "I told him Senator Williams had asked for his returns."

Williams for months had been conducting a personal and independent inquiry into tax irregularities.

'Sell Yourself,' Official Tells Kiwanis Club

"One needs to think about selling himself, not only now but in the future," Roy Bass, lieutenant governor of the Pampa Kiwanis district, said last night.

Bass spoke to 200 Kiwanians and guests in the high school cafeteria at the 21st installation banquet of the local Kiwanis club.

He complimented the club for doing "the best all round job of any division this year," but cautioned that if Pampa is sold on Kiwanis today, members must keep its quality high to be able to sell it in the future.

"To have a product worth selling, Kiwanians must think about sincerity," Bass stated. "We are living in a world of hypocrisy among mankind and are not responsible for anyone but ourselves. That is why we should be concerned about every remark we make. An individual is a part of an organization, and the quality of that organization is reflected by membership as a whole."

Earlier, Joe W. Gordon, Jr., complimented the old administration for its work and introduced new officers for 1952. Those installed were E. L. Henderson, president; Clinton Evans, first vice president; J. B. Maguire, Jr., second vice president; and Frank Fata, secretary-treasurer. Directors for 1952 are Howard Buckingham, Walter Dean, J. C. Cashion, Earl Haslam, Foster Whaley, Ralph McKinney and Raymond Laycock.

Commies Refuse To Lift Curtain

Don't Want To Use UN Plan For Exchange

MUNSAN, Korea — (AP) — The Reds flatly refused today to lift the curtain of secrecy surrounding their prison camps, but said they would okeh the rotation of 5000 troops a month if the Allies accept other Communist terms for enforcing a Korean truce.

The limited rotation plan was part of a new six-point Communist proposal which made little impression on Allied negotiators. An official UN communique made no mention of rotation and said the proposal showed "little significant departure from the unacceptable proposal of Dec. 3."

In Stockholm, the Swedish foreign office said the United States had asked if Sweden would join a neutral inspection commission to help police a Korean truce. It said Sweden has made no decision.

NOT AGREED
Negotiators have not agreed on how an armistice would be enforced. The Allies have indicated they might accept a Communist proposal to use representatives of neutral nations for behind-the-scenes inspections.

Red delegates said international R. C. Cross inspection of Communist prison camps was "out of the question."

They again refused to turn over lists of Allied prisoners unless the UN command first accepts the Communist idea of exchanging all prisoners. Rear Adm. R. E. Libby wanted to know why. He asked:

"Is it because your list contains just a handful of names and you are ashamed to give it to us?"

REMARK A SLIP
The Reds complained the great majority of prisoners held by UN would not be returned if an exchange were made on a man-for-man basis as the Allies want.

A UN spokesman called the Communist remark a slip. A UN command broadcast from Tokyo to Korea again charged that the Red strategy concerning prisoners was "blackmail" to win their armistice demands.

Pampa Lions Sack Candy For Party

Joan Bennett's Male Shoots Agent — 'He Broke Up Home'

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. — (AP) — Film star Joan Bennett's husband, Walter Wanger, who shot down a Hollywood agent "because he broke up my home," goes to court for arraignment today.

The victim, Jennings Lang, 39, was felled last night by two bullets in a parking lot across the street from the police station and is in serious condition.

Miss Bennett, who was discussing her plans for a television show with Lang when the shooting started, denied she was romantically interested in him.

Wanger, prominent $11 m producer, was booked on suspicion of assault with intent to commit murder. Police said a formal complaint will be issued later today charging either assault with intent to commit murder or assault with a deadly weapon.

Lang underwent surgery lasting an hour and a half last night. One .38 bullet penetrated his groin and came out through the rear of his left leg. Chief Anderson said, quoting the surgeon, Dr. Joe Pollack:

"The other slug tore through Lang's clothes and grazed his thigh but didn't break the skin. A bullet ripped through the left front fender of Miss Bennett's green Cadillac convertible. She was sitting in the car when the

Expected To Live:

Crash Victim's Condition Is Said Serious

The condition of Mrs. Juanita Walling, 707 E. Frederic, involved in an accident last night, is still serious, but hospital authorities said she is expected to live.

Charged this morning with aggravated assault with a vehicle and driving while intoxicated was Stephen Lewis Hourigan, 901 Barnard, an insurance salesman, also involved in the wreck.

Mrs. Walling was taken to Highland General hospital last night after an accident involving two vehicles at S. Cuyler and Brown Dr. Raymond W. Laycock said this morning her condition was serious "but unless the unforeseen happens, she will live."

SEVERE CUTS
Hospital authorities said she received severe cuts and bruises around the face and possibly may have a concussion and internal injuries.

Investigating officers said the 20-year-old Hourigan, going south on Cuyler, made a left turn onto Brown and became in collision with a vehicle driven by Mrs. Walling's 19-year-old daughter, Theda. The accident happened at 8:30 p. m., police said.

The daughter is in Highland General hospital where her condition is said to be not serious. After being given emergency treatment at Worley hospital, Hourigan was released to police who still were holding him this morning.

NG Home Still In 'If' Stage

Semi-permanent quarters for Headquarters Battery 474th Field Artillery Observation Battalion, yesterday stood in the "if" stage, Capt. Charles Robison, battery commander, said.

Capt. Robison, Warrant Officer William Leonard and Col. Harry Kelton, adjutant of the 36th Division, Texas National Guard, spent most of Thursday looking over three possible sites — the old Pampa News Building; the old Cabot offices on W. Brown and the old Texas Gas and Power offices on N. Russell.

CABOT OFFICES
The selection wore down to the former Cabot offices, Capt. Robison said. Final decision rests on two big "ifs" — if the company and the National Guard can reach an agreement on occupancy and if the Texas Army board approves the move at a meeting in Austin sometime next week.

any definite information until some time next week, and possibly the week after that. In the meantime the battery is holding its meetings in the American Legion hall while office work is being done in an office in the basement of the post office.

The guard unit lost its regular meeting place at Recreation park when the armory was destroyed in an early morning fire two weeks ago.

Cold Front Drops Local Temperatures

Local temperatures had skidded to 19 degrees by 11 a.m. today as a new cold front swept into the area from the Rocky mountains.

The fast moving front, pushed in by variable wind velocities averaging 32 miles per hour, brought light showers to parts of the Panhandle and snow to Pampa. Occasional gusts of wind reached 40 miles per hour.

Pampa's second recent snow began falling here about 8:30 a. m. today but by noon, was still light and drifting.

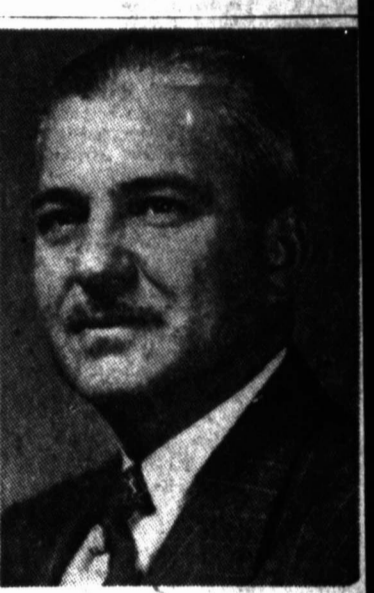

High temperature last night was 39 degrees. The mercury before falling about 7 a. m. Readings were 27 degrees at 7; 24 at 8; 19 degrees at 10 and still 19 at 11 a. m.

Local doctors noted a seasonal increase in respiratory diseases this morning. Both hospitals were filled — not entirely because of the respiratory ailments — but schools saw no particular increase in the number of absences for this time of the year.

One doctor here suggested Pampans keep away from crowds and get plenty of rest.

Elsewhere over the state the balmy weather Texas has encountered today.

JOHN R. KINARD ... Promoted

Kinard To Valley Paper Management

John R. Kinard, advertising director of The Pampa Daily News, has been promoted to business manager of the Brownsville (Texas) Herald. He will take over his duties shortly after Jan. 1.

Kinard will be replaced as advertising director of The News by Homer Deck, former advertising salesman for the Colorado Springs Gazette-Telegraph.

The Brownsville Herald is one of three Rio Grande valley papers purchased last Oct. 1 by the Hoiles family and partners. Kinard joined The News staff as advertising salesman in August, 1947. In 1948 he was named advertising director.

NATIVE TEXAN
A native Texan, Kinard has spent most of his adult life in the newspaper business. He has worked for the Houston Post, was local advertising manager for the Topeka (Kans.) Daily Capital, promotion manager of the Atlanta (Ga.) Georgian American, and part owner and advertising director of the paper at Henderson, Texas.

Kinard's move to Brownsville will be in the way of a homecoming for him and his family because from 1941 to 1947 he worked with the Department of Justice at Brownsville as internal security control officer.

At Brownsville, Kinard will work with Ralph Julliard, former News publisher, who left Pampa Nov. 4 to represent the new owners in management of the three Valley papers.

We believe that one truth is always consistent with another. We endeavor to be consistent with the truths expressed in such Great Moral guides as the Golden Rule, the Ten Commandments and the Declaration of Independence.

Should we, at any time, be inconsistent with these truths, we would appreciate anyone pointing out to us how we are inconsistent with these moral guides.

A Few Things The News Is 'For'

We have been asked to take on several occasions as being a newspaper that is always "agin" everything because we have from time to time given our opposition to many of the activities and opinions of government.

One phase of the editorial policy that has probably brought more widespread criticism than any other is the viewpoint expressed here concerning state supported and state controlled schools.

In building sound conclusions, as in building sound homes, it is necessary to destroy certain existing conditions before construction can be undertaken.

For example, the rubbish must be cleared from the ground before the concrete can be poured.

In trying to explain our position on many political and economic matters, we have mentioned the things that we believe are "clear and present dangers" in American life.

But ours is not a negative philosophy, unless the Judeo-Christian philosophies can be considered "negative" or "destructive".

We are for freedom, first and always. Without freedom life is a rather worthless commodity.

We are for self-reliance. We believe in the inherent dignity of man.

We are for free trade. We are for freedom to move. We are for everyone having the right to establish values.

"SPECIAL INTERESTS" AGAINST TAFT

The senate elections subcommittee investigating the 1950 senatorial election in Ohio was informed that Cyrus Eaton, Cleveland financier, together with his son and his investment house, put up $35,000 to be used by the political arm of John L. Lewis United Mine Workers' Central, Sen. Taft.

Eaton certainly corresponds to Truman's conception of a representative of the "special interests." He is primarily a financial man.

The campaign against Taft found the entire forces of the administration and of the big labor bosses aligned against Taft.

The pattern that is emerging comes pretty close to being a conspiracy against the Old World. Of course, every politician between Georgetown and the Capitol will deny this.

It will be strange, indeed, if the committee does not inquire into his motive. In 1950 Eaton's investment house, Ots & Co., was the subject of a prolonged investigation conducted by the federal securities and exchange commission.

Yule Spirit Is No Excuse For Rubber Checks - Waters

Christmas spirit or no Christmas spirit, hot check passers are going to jail and spend Christmas there, county court officials warned late yesterday afternoon.

Within the past two days two men have received jail terms that will keep them locked up over Christmas and New Year for passing checks on local merchants.

Roy Threadgill, Pampa, pulled down 90 days in the county jail after pleading guilty to worthless check charges and R. L. Spears, Shamrock, was given 60 days on pleading guilty to similar charges. Threadgill, County Atty. Bill Waters said, had passed four checks totaling $29 and Spears three checks totaling $45.

"Just now," Waters added, "four merchants are being flooded with worthless checks by people who know when they write them that they are no good and we intend to stop it."

Those being sentenced to jail won't get out for Christmas either, Waters said.

joyed for several days was shattered this morning when a cold wave moved into the Panhandle. It is expected to reach North Central Texas in the afternoon and move through all the state by Saturday.

The leading edge of the cold front struck Amarillo at 1:30 a. m. today and quickly dropped spring-like temperatures to 38 degrees.

At 2 a. m., Dalhart, a little farther north, reported 35 degrees. Light showers were reported at many points in Texas yesterday and early today.

NEW YORK - (AP) - Cotton futures turned irregular Thursday in quiet dealings. Old crop deliveries delayed initial firmness on a carry over of Wednesday's buying.

The market opened on scattered liquidation and hedging. Most traders were on the sidelines, with the situation in textiles and spot cotton quiet.

Late afternoon prices were 81.45 a bale lower, 80 cents higher than the previous close, Dec. 13, 1951, March 42.35 and May 42.32.

American Davis Cup Doubles Team Rallies To Top Swedes

By GAYLE TALBOT — (P) — MELBOURNE, Australia — (P) — Lennart Bergelin failed his Swedish teammates badly again today as Ted Schroeder and Tony Trabert won the doubles and clinched the Davis Cup tennis cup interzone final for America.

The player who was supposed to be his country's ace in the hole collapsed almost completely after a good start, enabling Ted and Tony to come from behind and triumph easily, 10-12, 6-0, 6-2.

Sven Davidson, Bergelin's youthful partner put up a spirited battle all the way and never ceased trying, but the load was too much for one man to carry.

Bergelin's foldup was a big disappointment to the crowd of 6,000 which had hoped at least to witness a good doubles match after yesterday's one-sided singles.

NO EXPLANATION

There was no valid explanation for Bergelin's abrupt failure to play his game. His teammates were extremely unhappy about it.

"If there had been two Davidsons out there today we might have had a Swedish victory," said Frank Shields, captain of the U. S. team.

The first set, which required 41 minutes, was marked only by failure of the American pair to play anything like their best tennis. The next three sets, which took only 47 minutes, were distinguished by Bergelin's failure to hold his service in five straight tries.

Despite the one-sided scores in the last three sets, Schroeder and Trabert showed little to worry the Australians in the challenge round at Sydney, Dec. 26-28. The Aussies' two jewels, Frank Sedgman and Ken McGregor, likely would lick them in straight sets on today's form.

Trabert played his usual steady doubles game and got progressively better after the first set, but the American team needs Schroeder at its brilliant best to be a threat to the Aussies.

Schroeder's fluctuating form promises to pose a real problem for Shields after the team flies back to Sydney Sunday and resumes practice for the challenge round.

With victory already decided, Schroeder's concluding singles will supply a dismal climax to the one-sided series here. Shields said he would stick with Schroeder and Trabert while Gunnar Galin, the Swedish captain, said he hadn't decided, but might change his lineup.

The American team will formally be announced Saturday or Sunday. It almost certainly will be Schroeder, Trabert, Vic Seixas and Dick Savitt.

Reapers Knocked Out Of Tournament

The Junior High school Reapers dropped out of the Horace Mann tournament last night when they were beaten by the Berger Poodles, 21-22. The Blue and White led going into the final period but couldn't hold on, scoring but two points while the Bergans tallied five.

Harold Lewis again topped the scoring for the locals with 10 points, followed by E. J. McIlvain with nine. The scoring was low, with the Reapers holding a 2-1 lead at the end of the first period, but trailing 12-14 at halftime.

In other games Thursday Phillips rolled over Canyon 43-14; Horace Mann tripped Price College, 33-24; and Sam Houston edged Elizabeth Nixon, 23-22.

Borger thus moved into the finals, scheduled for 5 p. m. today, against Sam Houston. Phillips meets Horace Mann for consolation crown in a 4 o'clock game.

The experts say... for supreme engine protection change every 1,000 miles, especially during the cold winter months.

And, for supreme engine protection... be certain you change your Skelly Supreme H-D type Motor Oil. It keeps your engine cleaner, fights acid and corrosion, and flows fast from the instant your engine starts to protect all moving parts from wear.

Guerillas Fall To Wheeler In Shamrock Tourney Opener

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF Associated Press Sports Editor

The next to last week of the Texas schoolboy football season will see the crowning of two champions. They will be in the major divisions under the reclassification program that created the super Class AAAA.

Lubbock's unbeaten, untied Westerners clash with Baytown's once-defeated but very powerful Baytown Ganders in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas tomorrow with the AAAA title on the line.

At the same time, Temple, often a bridesmaid but never a bride, will be after its first state championship in 32 years in the Texas schoolboy campaigning. The Wildcats tackle Breckenridge, which once tied for a state title, at Abilene with the Class AAAA crown in the balance.

DETERMINE FINALISTS

Classes AA and A will be determining their finalists. Play begins tonight in Class A with Fort Worth and LaVega and the undefeated untied Giddings meeting Industrial of Vanderbilt at Gonzales. Tomorrow afternoon Newcastle will be at Wink in the other semifinal.

Both Class AA games will be tomorrow afternoon with Anson and Arlington getting together at Fort Worth and LaVega and Donna colliding at San Antonio. Lubbock and Temple are favored to win the upper division titles tomorrow but the former is a narrow choice over a Baytown team noted for its defense.

The Ganders in 32 games have given up only 44 points and in smashing Ray of Corpus Christi 34-0 last week showed they could go offensively too.

No team has been able to score a touchdown on the ground against Baytown this season and among its victims was Temple, considered as good as any team in the state any class considered.

Lubbock presents a versatile attack, however, and its James Sides-Charley Brewer combination of running and passing has been instrumental in rolling up 32 points in 12 games. It could have been more if the most of its games by big scores and didn't play the regulars all the time.

Golden Gophers Upset Kentucky

MINNEAPOLIS — (P) — Minnesota's basketball fans had a new hero today — big Ed Kalafat.

The 19-year-old Anacosta, Mont., sophomore became Minnesota's favorite athlete son last night with one of the greatest point-setting, basketball-hawking exhibitions ever seen in Williams Arena as the Gophers upset the Wildcats of Kentucky, 61-57.

Kalafat's 30 points against the nation's number one basketball team, plus an almost single-handed control of both backboards, earned the 6 feet, 6-1/2-inch, 240-pound center a ovation at the end of the game.

After the final gun a mass of fans, students and teammates pushed onto the arena floor and carried big Ed high on their shoulders as they started a victory celebration.

But Ed wasn't alone on the court last night. Ambling Chuck Mencil kept bringing the ball down the floor and starting the Gopher plays. Bob Gello constantly bothered them vaunted Kentucky offense. And the other Gopher players helped raise Minnesota to one of its greatest athletic heights.

Kid Matthews In KO Over Henry

OMAHA — (P) — Light heavyweight Harry (Kid) Matthews scored a second round knockout over heavyweight Art Henri here last night and today his manager was New York bound to talk about "a big fight" for the Kid.

Hurley parried questions about whether he meant a talk with International Boxing Club representatives about a fight for Matthews with the lightweight-weight title holder, Joey Maxim.

"After all," Hurley said, "we're interested in the heavy-weight title, too."

Hurley announced Matthews' heavyweight campaign only last week. Matthews had been unsuccessful in getting a shot at Maxim's title.

Ollie Matson Tops Ground Gainers

SAN FRANCISCO — (AP) — "I never thought about records," the number one ground gainer of the 1951 college grid season said today.

"More than anything else, I wanted the University of San Francisco to have an unbeaten year," added big Ollie Matson. The USF Dons did — their first unbeaten and untied season.

"Now, my greatest hope is to make the Olympic team next year."

Ollie was named Associated Press all-America this year after scoring 21 touchdowns and cracking his opponents' lines for 1,566 yards in nine games.

The 6' 2", 203 pound Negro senior gives a large share of the credit to his teammates.

NCAA figures released yesterday show Matson the nation's No. 1 major college football ground gainer for 1951 with Frank (Danny) Goode of Hardin-Simmons as runner-up.

Goode had 1,399 yards in 12 games.

Both Matson and Goode cracked the record for 228 tries against opponents' lines set by Byron Townsend of Texas last season. Goode made 270 charges and Matson 245.

Shamrock Juniors Play On Monday

SHAMROCK — (Special) — Coach B. L. Hill's junior high cagers tie off against the Lela Juniors at the high school gym here Monday night. Both boys and girls will play, with the girls opening at 7:30.

Hill said he believed the Lela boys and girls to be strong, but also recalled that his junior Irish girls had racked up three victories in the past four games. His boys haven't won in two starts, but show great promise.

Hill counts heavily on the fancy scoring of Connie Lewis, junior forward, who hit for 19 points in the last game. He also has ace guards, Charlene Coe, Nancy Elter, Linda Skidmore and Joy Beth Parks.

Program Set For Guerilla Banquet

Final arrangements have been completed for the Guerilla football banquet to be held at 6:30 Friday night, Dec. 21, in the senior high school cafeteria.

The banquet, arranged by the Guerilla mothers, is open to the public. Tickets are on sale at Leders.

Guerillas Fall To Wheeler In Shamrock Tourney Opener

SHAMROCK — (Special) — The Pampa Guerillas were knocked out of the championship bracket of the Shamrock invitational basketball tournament here this morning when they fell before the Wheeler Mustangs, 35-20. It was the opening game of the two-day tournament which will wind up with the championships tomorrow night.

The Guerillas trailed all the way before the Mustangs of District 1-A. Wheeler held a two-point advantage at the end of the first period, and led by five points at halftime. At the start of the fourth quarter they had extended their lead to seven points.

The Mustangs now meet the winner of the McLean-Briscoe game at 10 Saturday morning and the Guerillas meet the loser of that contest at 9 tonight.

Doug Randolph led the scoring for the Guerillas with 10 points, followed by Gale Trolinger with six. David Johnson sparked the winners with a total of 14 points.

The tournament continues all day today and tonight and then resumes action again the first thing Saturday morning. It is both a boys and girls meet.

Boys Club Cards Top-Notch Bouts

The Pampa Boys Club, Inc., boxing team will open its 1951-52 ring season next Thursday night, Dec. 20, against the Lockney Golden Gloves team. The fights will be held in the junior high school gymnasium.

The Lockney team is currently making a tour of the West Texas area in an effort to stimulate interest in amateur boxing.

Some top fights are promised by the Lockney team which will be composed of ringmen from Plainview, Lockney and Hale Center. They will bring boys to fight Donnie Ray, Bobby Wilhelm, Jimmie Beatty, Dick Murray, Durwood Lynch and other great glovers from the Pampa squad.

Tickets for the affair will be placed on sale soon.

Kazmaier Not Seeking Money

NEW YORK — (P) — Princeton's Dick Kazmaier, the honored college football player of 1951, turned his back definitely on the professional game today because, he says, it can only offer him money.

"Money doesn't interest me at all right now," added the lean, 21-year-old all-America halfback, "the nation's total offense champion, the Associated Press' back of the year and winner of other major individual awards."

"I probably could sign a pro contract and make a lot of quick cash. That's not for me. I don't want to live a fast life. I want a quiet, normal life."

DiMagio TV Contract

NEW YORK — (P) — Joe DiMagio was enroute home today with a new type of New York Yankee contract in his pocket.

The Yankee Clipper, who announced his retirement as a player Tuesday, signed yesterday a contract to do the Yankees' pre-game ad past-game television program next year.

The contract is believed to call for more than $30,000 compared to $100,000 he received last season as a player.

Loyola Passer Tops Nation

NEW YORK — (P) — Don Klosterman, Loyola's one-man bombing squadron, topped the nation's major college passers during the past season and set eight records in the process.

The 21-year-old senior at the Los Angeles University threw 315 times and completed 159 in nine games, breaking records for both the number of tosses and for completions.

In Loyola's game with Florida on Oct. 9 Don pitched 63 times, completed 33 and gained 372 yards, breaking records for one game on all three counts. Loyola lost 40-7.

His other three records are for attempts in a college career, 729; completions in a college career, 368; and yards per game in a college career, 160.

Final figures released today by the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau also showed that Klosterman piled up the most yardage by passes, 1,843 yards. Losses on a few attempted runs gave him a total offense figure of 1,903 yards, second to Princeton's Dick Kazmaier. The Tiger at 11:30 America accumulated 1,827 yards on passes and runs.

Southwest Cagers Break Even Again

TEXAS CHRISTIAN — (P) — The Southwest Conference broke even in inter-sectional basketball last night, losing one and winning one.

Texas A&M, which hasn't won yet in four games, took on powerful Manhattan and fell, 44-42, in New York. Texas Christian, which shows growing power, romped over Howard Payne, 80-45, in Fort Worth.

A&M extended Manhattan. The New York club overcame a nine-point deficit with a last period rally, going ahead with only 10 seconds remaining on Junius Kellogg's layup.

The game was played in Madison Square Garden.

Texas Christian led in every quarter to beat Howard Payne and take a four victory, one loss record margin this season. George McLeod paced TCU with 25 points, which gave him a season total of 101 and the individual point making lead in the league.

The conference has a heavy schedule tonight.

Baylor takes on Colorado at Boulder. Rice plays Stephen F. Austin at Houston. Texas meets Sam Houston State at Austin. Texas Christian plays Hardin-Simmons at Fort Worth and Southern Methodist plays Kansas at Dallas.

Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR. NEW YORK — (AP) — No matter what punishment, if any, the Southern Conference decides to dish out this week-end, it looks as if Maryland and Clemson were smart to grab that bowl money while they could. . . . There's every indication that bowls will be out before another New Year's Day. . . . That presidents committee of the American Council on Education is against bowls. The Big Seven recently ruled them out, along with all other post-season athletic competition. The big powerful Eastern College Athletic Conference will consider a "no bowl" proposal today and there's a good chance it will pass. The Southern Conference presidents opposed bowls, which is the reason why Clemson and Maryland are in hot water. . . . It all adds up to a ban of some sort when the National Collegiate A. A. meets next month. . . . And who'll be happiest about it? The pros. . . . If the college teams drop out, it's a cinch professional teams will take advantage of the enthusiastic following these tourist-bait attractions have built up. . . . And then there's a chance for more all-star promotions like the Senior Bowl. . . . Maybe college teams won't play, but the players won't pass up such opportunities.

COUPLE OF CRACKS
Chuck Bednarik of the Philly Eagles center, and Frank Wydo, Pittsburgh Steelers tackle, are old buddies from away back. . . . So when the teams clashed, the most surprised guy on the field was Bednarik when Wydo hauled off and hung one on him in the heat of a scrimmage. . . . Chuck walked over before the next play to ask how come. . . . "Chuck," Wydo replied, "Five years ago in the Penn-Cornell game you clipped me. Now we're even."

SPORTSPOURRI
After a miserable 1950 season, Notre Dame's footballers played to 820,879 customers this year with no crowd under 40,000. What became of the "pressure to win"?

Togo Palazzi, Holy Cross sophomore basketball whiz, is the son of a former member of King Victorio's honor guard in Italy. His dad was six feet nine. . . . Popular Christmas gadget is a three-dimensional photo-viewer with instructional pictures on how to play. . . . Dave Stidolph, who switched from the post of baseball business manager at Spokane, Wash., to that of publicist for California Agricultural College at Davis figures he really was farmed out. . . . Guilstream Park race track once had a family of alligators inhabiting its infield lake. But they moved out, probably figuring the mutants took a bigger bite than they did. . . . Freshman quarterback Vincent Gugliemi, who directed the Notre Dame footballers against Southern California, aspires to be a dentist. . . . Well, he yanked the Irish through once.

Irish '52 District Grid Schedule Set

SHAMROCK — (Special) — Coach Scott McCall, head grid mentor, announced completion of the conference football schedule for 1952 Wednesday.

McCall's green-and-white Irish, who plowed to a bi-district championship last fall, will meet the Paducah Dragons at Shamrock Hallowe'en night, Oct. 31, to open the District 3-AA grid chase. Last meeting with the Dragons was in 1947, when the Irish took the bi-district grid crown in a 25-0 victory over Paducah.

Nov. 7 the Irish go to Memphis, whom they beat here 7-0 in the mud last fall, and Nov. 14 they show up at Wellington, aching for revenge for the 21-14 defeat plastered on their 1950 champs at Wellington and the 19-19 tie at Shamrock last Sept. 28.

Final conference game is with the tough Childress Bobcats at Shamrock Nov. 21. Shamrock will be out for revenge to take the edge off the 25-7 licking the Irish took in the regional grid battle here Nov. 30. Shamrock beat Childress, 6-0, at Childress in the 1951 opener.

Shamrock is leaving the 1-AA loop, which they represented in the 1951 playoffs after winning the loop crown. McCall said he expected to schedule games with all the old 1-AA foes — Dumas, Phillips, Perryton and Dalhart. . . . He said the Irish may play the Berger Bulldogs of 1-AAAA in a September clash. Non-conference scheduling is not yet completed.

Men Who Run Bowl Games In Protest Of Prexys' Proposals

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The men who run the bowl games and some of the men who direct college athletic programs let it be known today they don't think much of a football de-emphasis program laid down by ten college presidents.

The presidents, members of a special committee set up by the American Council on Education, to study what's wrong with college sports, recommended these strong measures:

1. Abolition of all bowl games.
 2. Barring of freshmen from varsity sports.
 3. Refusing alumni and other booster groups permission to give scholarships directly to athletes.
- Three hours after the president's program was announced yesterday, Southeastern Conference athletic directors, in session at New Orleans, voted "almost unanimously" to tell the college presidents to keep their hands off the bowl policies of that conference.
- Representatives of the Rose, Cotton and Orange Bowls questioned, in varying degrees, the wisdom or necessity for the presidents' anti-bowl proposal. A Shrine Bowl representative said he was sure they weren't after their charity game. No one commented for the Sugar Bowl.
- Professor H. P. Everett of the University of Washington, acting as official spokesman for the Pacific Coast Conference, said his group "is way ahead" of the college presidents who spoke up in Washington.

The method suggested for enforcing their proposals, which were set forth by Dr. John Hannah of Michigan State.

In the past a school which violated athletic restrictions usually has had to answer to some conference or the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA).

Under the presidents' proposal, Dr. Hannah said, "reasonable athletic behavior" would be considered a part of the school's academic setup. If a school got out of bounds, he said, it would jeopardize its academic standing.

The five accrediting associations in the country — the North Central, the Middle States, the New England, the Northwest and the Southern — already keep an eye on academic standards.

"This way we can take care of the policing," Hannah said, "without setting up a new agency."

As for the other codes tried in the past, Hannah said:

"The NCAA has had trouble making its pronouncements effective." And some schools pay so little heed to conference rulings, he added, that they threaten to resign from the conference rather than pay a penalty.

The council has no power to influence a decision, but Hannah said its prestige is so great that anything it decides has significance for educators.

Furthermore, almost all colleges and universities, and leading educational associations, belong to the council.

Hannah seemed to think the plan would be accepted.

The presidents' proposals were announced at a news conference. Hannah said they may not be in written form for a month, and that the presidents still haven't agreed on several important questions.

WON'T CURE EVILS
Lathrop A. Leishman, chairman of the Rose Bowl football committee, said the proposal "won't cure the evils in college athletics."

"Regardless of whether bowl games are played or not," he said, "there will always be the battle for conference titles and the cases of eager alumni who want to win the 'big game.'"

Leishman said he was "impressed" that the presidents "should dedicate themselves to killing a great American tradition."

Howard Grubb, secretary of the Cotton Bowl, agreed that steps should be taken to eliminate pres-

Fish Look Dumb Only In Aquarium

NEW YORK —(AP)— Fish look dumb only in aquariums. In their own neighborhood, they look pretty smart. Well, as smart as people. Errol Flynn and there are fish always looking for a fight and fish always looking to flirt. There are fish who take their marriage vows seriously and only death can part them. And there are shrewd, cunning, five-percent type of fish who trade on other people's connections.

These are species with which Hans Haas has had a nodding acquaintance in the Red sea, the Mediterranean, Caribbean and Pacific. He is 32, handsome, husky and a native of Vienna. By trade, he is a diver, aquatic explorer, hunter, writer, zoologist, a submarine Sam Goldwyn and underwater disc jockey. Haas made a full-length movie under the Red sea which won a prize at the Vienna film festival. Doubleday has brought out his book "Diving to Adventure." Haas has been bitten by a shark (once), has fought with a six-foot, eel-like moray (which he considers the most dangerous fish) and he has ridden, he says, on the back of 40-foot whale sharks ("which are friendly when you get to know them"). He has also studied the reaction of fish to music. He had men in a small boat play Viennese waltzes, American jazz and Italian opera while he relayed the sound 100 feet below with a loudspeaker. "The music came out very clear down there," Haas says. "The fish became very curious. Especially the jacks — they're 20-pounders. More than 100 of them formed a big circle around the loudspeaker, looking like a ballet. Caruso seemed to be the favorite." When he's down below studying fish faces and personalities, Haas wears swim trunks, goggles and foot fins and carries a small portable oxygen unit and harpoon. The unicorn, he says, is the philosopher of the fish. This fellow has a horned nose and "always seems deep in thought and detached. He likes to remain by himself. Any attempt to interfere with his isolation makes him whirl madly and bounce against the coral."

Railroad Business Is Newest Open To Women

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Woman's Editor
Newest field opening up to women is the railroad business, longtime all-male stronghold. Already exerting a strong influence on the nation's railroading is the National Association of Railroad Women, whose 52 members hold executive or supervisory positions with most of the country's main line rail companies.

These girls aren't female counterparts of Casey Jones. They do not run the locomotives or toot the whistles. They leave that part of railroading to men. They do, however, sit in important executive jobs where the woman's viewpoint is reflected in the policy-making level. The importance of this viewpoint is being realized today by most of the big U. S. railroad companies. F. H. Baird, assistant vice president of the New York Central railroad, expressed a widespread opinion in a recent speech at the NARW convention in Santa Fe, N. M., when he said: "I cannot understand how any carrier can do today's job without the experience and judgment and wisdom of trained women. On our railroad, half our patrons are women and children, and the balance frequently are influenced travelwise by women."

Perhaps you've noticed some new comforts and refinements recently when riding a crack train. Maybe the seats seemed more comfortable, the color more cheerful, the decorations more like those in a home. When you've found ample supplies of cleansing tissues in the dressing rooms or cheerful colored tablecloths in the diner, you can thank the railroad women. Recently I accompanied a group of these women executives on an inspection trip through the plant of the Budd Co., makers of railroad cars and equipment, near Philadelphia. Some 15 members of the association made the trip, coming from such widely separated spots as Minneapolis, Chicago, Baltimore, Washington, New York and Jacksonville, Fla. All exhibited a keen awareness of the stiff competition the railroads have to face today from air and automobile travel, and all agreed that train travel must be made more and more comfortable and attractive for passengers.

One Studio Does Something About New Personalities

HOLLYWOOD —(AP)— Everybody talks about the need for new faces in the movies, but few studios do much about it. A notable exception is Universal-International. In the past year or so, this studio has developed new personalities in a number disproportionate to the size of its operation. Among the promising newcomers: PEGGY Dow, Tony Curtis, Piper Laurie, Joyce Hudson, Rock Hudson. For information on the studio's star-making operation, I went to the talent coach, Sophie Rosenstein. A small, electric woman, she has spent most of her career in finding and developing other people's talents. How does the studio find promising young talent?

"Mostly through agents who bring the talent to the studio. Most of the boys and girls have been found in little theaters around Hollywood, which is our principal showcase of talent. Only a few are brought in from Broadway, and other parts of the country."

How are the youngsters chosen for contracts? "We try to pick ones who have the potentiality of being able to do leading roles, since we generally don't put character types under contract. The person should be pleasant looking and should be assured and self-confident. Previous training is not necessary, but it helps. If a person has taken part in school plays and so forth, that at least shows he has some of the drive and the desire to be an actor."

I asked what was the common quality that all movie stars possess. "That's hard to answer," she replied. "But I would say they are people — plus. Whatever other people have, movie stars have a little more of it."

The U-I contractees are carefully screened; gone is the day when studios signed up a flock of cuties on a wholesale basis. After the hopefuls are on the contract list, they begin extensive training.

MRS. E. J. ROBERTSON

When the Bob Cratchit family gathered around the Christmas table in Charles Dickens' immortal "A Christmas Carol," they savored the tender goose, the sage and onion stuffing and the sweet apple sauce, but it was the Christmas pudding — the climax of the meal — which left them breathless.

As Dickens described the serving of the pudding, "Hallo! A great deal of steam! The pudding was out of the copper. A smell like a washing-day! That was the cloth. A smell like an eating-house and a pastrycook's next door to each other, with a laundress's next door to that! That was the pudding! In half a minute Mrs. Cratchit entered — flushed, but smiling proudly with the pudding like a speckled cannon-ball so hard and firm, blazing and bedight with a Christmas holly stuck into the top. Oh, a wonderful pudding!"

There is no other one food so typically Christmas — and so typically English — as the pudding, according to one Pampan, Mrs. E. J. Robertson, 315 N. Hazel.

Mrs. Robertson, born and reared in England, misses many things about her home at Christmas time — the family gathered about an open fire and snow-covered countryside — but one thing she won't miss is the traditional Christmas pudding, the kind her mother always made.

Over here we say "English plum pudding" but in England, it's just "Christmas Pudding," filled with an enchanting assortment of silver charms.

The custom of charms in the pudding is quite old, and Mrs. Robertson explained there is always a great deal of fun in seeing who gets the three-penny piece (he'll be wealthy all year); who gets the tiny silver wishbone (he gets a wish come true); who gets the bachelor button and spinster's thimble (they'll not marry that year).

The pudding is brought to the table topped with a flaming sauce, and later served with a custard sauce.

In explaining the process of making a Christmas pudding, Mrs. Robertson pointed out it is over 10 hours in the making, but will keep many months. Some English women make enough pudding to last until Easter, and

First Baptist Class Entertained In Keller Home This Week

The Bible Learners class of the First Baptist church met this week for a party in the home of Mrs. E. M. Keller. Mrs. G. L. Craddock led the devotional, and Mrs. Dorthea Kurtz presented several accordion selections.

Attending were Mmes. A. C. Troop, Lettie Smith, Rupert Orr, Earl Eaton, Mabel Teague, Gertrude Williams, Cora B. Estes, A. L. Wright, C. H. Brazil, L. H. Anderson, W. R. Dunn, Ruth Moseley, M. K. Gurley, Hugh Ellis, and Mmes. Craddock and Keller.

They also make fruit cakes, but they serve a dual purpose in England — they are used as decorative centerpieces on the holiday tables. A one-inch layer of almond paste, "marzipan," is put on top of the fruit cakes then the entire cake is covered with a stiff white icing. Santa Claus, Christmas trees, bells, holly and other Yuletide themes are carried out in decorating the top of the cake. Then crepe paper is placed about the cake in an ornamental fashion.

Another Christmas dessert is mince pie, but it's always made in individual pies and served warm, sprinkled with sugar.

Turkey and a special sage and onion stuffing precede the Christmas pudding in English homes. It's the same stuffing which filled Tiny Tim and the other children in Dickens' "Christmas Carol" "Up to the Eyebrows." The stuffing calls for three large onions, six fresh sage leaves, one teaspoon salt, 1-2 teaspoon mustard, one cup breadcrumbs, good seasoning of pepper, and one small teaspoon sugar.

The onions are boiled until almost tender then drained. Chop them finely and also chop the sage. Mix all ingredients together and use. Do not stuff the bird too full as the breadcrumbs should have room to swell.

Mrs. Robertson has other favorite English recipes — load in the hole without eggs (similar to our "pigs in the blanket") steak hot pot, faggots (a very popular main dish) and kidney pudding. Generally, the English recipes take more time and since she married her husband and came here after the war, she has leaned toward the American cooking. However, when guests are coming, Mrs. Robertson always prepares an English dinner, but no other recipe can compare with the Christmas pudding because with the pudding ingredients, Mrs. Robertson blends a childhood love and devotion to the pudding England has made famous.

Novelist Janet Tullis Held For Shooting American in Mexico

Victim Only Scratched. Monterey, Dec. 12 - Janet Tullis, whose first novel, 'Dehydrated,' has been on the best seller list for two months, admitted that it was probably she who shot Simon Alred here early today.

Then Miss Tullis disclosed for the first time that she had been secretly married in London last year, and later separated.

Upon further questioning she gave his name as Captain Easy. The novelist brushed aside one discrepancy in her story that Mr. Alred was advancing as she fired. Hospital spokesmen had disclosed where he would have been most vulnerable in retreating.

THIS IS FANTASTIC! I DON'T KNOW HER FROM ADAM! THERE MUST BE ANOTHER CAPTAIN EASY!

I'M AFRAID NOT, SIR.

Mustard Seed... and FAITH

If a "mustard seed amount" of faith is placed in God, one can do great things. It is also of some value to have faith in one's self. With faith in ourselves, our fellows and God, we can span streams, move mountains, change the course of rivers and make ourselves masters of our universe. But no man can do it alone.

ONCE man learns the goodness of God and that it was He who created the marvels of the earth, then his accomplishments will be greater. At your church you will learn that "all things work together for good to them that love God." Here we see God and man working hand in hand against the flood. He gives us strength, He gives us courage, He gives us the know-how. Like the giant earth-moving machine God waits for men of faith. He waits for men to serve Him with the kind of faith that moves mountains. How much faith do you have?

'The Song Of Christmas'

It was far from a tranquil Christmas Eve that night in 1818. Outside a blizzard raged. Inside the Alpine home the young priest, Joseph Mohr, gave his blessing to a new-born babe.

On his way home from his mission the wind died down and the storm stopped. The moon came out and stars twinkled in the sky.

Inspired by this calm and beauty, as well as by his visit to the young mother and child, he hurried home and began writing. The first words were "Silent Night, Holy Night."

Here in Oaxaca (pronounced, I have come to learn, "Wah-hah-cah"), is an exquisite gem of a museum — a veritable jinn-dandy.

The museum, all on one floor, and a small floor at that, is built around the findings of Professor Alonso Caso in Tomb No. 7 at nearby Monte Alban.

The tomb was uncovered accidentally during the construction of a new highway in 1952, and it is said that when Professor Caso beheld the treasure unearthed by the road machinery he came close to throwing a triple Mexican conniption.

No wonder. It was jamful of what must have been the Tiffany and Cartier of the Zapotec and Mixtec Indian culture. There were enough gold necklaces, rings, idols and earrings in Tomb No. 7 to line the pockets of every RFC man who ever came a-diggin' down the Democratic pike.

Jade and pearls were scattered about the tomb as if Farouk and the Aga Khan had thrown a party there centuries ago.

I was fortunate in getting Senator Mejia for my guide. For more than 15 years he worked in the Monte Alban ruins, helping root up the Zapotec and Mixtec loot. He knows every single piece by its first name, and is filled with a pride that you would have to see to appreciate fully.

He realized that some pretty good trinkets were found in King Tut's tomb, but made it quite plain that "Egypt was welcome to Tut's treasures, and there was no jealousy in Oaxaca's heart.

Senator Mejia was cute. There is no other way to describe him. Small, bouncy, scratching his head when he couldn't think of the right English word, and talking a blue streak from entrance to exit. Not being tongue-tied myself, I tried to get in a word now and then, but I might just as well have tried to swim straight up the Niagara Falls, Canadian side.

The treasures of Tomb No. 7 are in handsome cases in a rather small room, with the cases no more than three feet apart. And many of them hold treasure pieces that are very much alike.

You wouldn't know this to hear Senator Mejia.

As I would finish looking at the contents of one case, after having had it explained in the minutest detail, he would turn to me, rise on his toes, and in an almost triumphant voice, announce:

"He sounded almost exactly like a reverent circus barker."

If he told me once, he told me one hundred times, that Tomb No. 7 yielded more than 45,000 precious jewels.

He reached this astounding number by counting each bead on every necklace, every dangler on every earring, every bit of tracery on every ring, every line on every carving.

When he asked me if I had visited Monte Alban I answered with a resounding yes, and told him how very much it had impressed me.

Truth is, I haven't been there yet, but if I had told Senator Mejia that, I am positive he would have picked up the heaviest scepter and bashed me on the noggin.

BED FOR BABY
A special thrill for the young one—boy or girl—this Christmas, can be a regulation size bed, if he or she is on the verge of outgrowing the baby bed that has been doing service for so long.

BREAKFAST IN BED
So she breakfasts in bed. Then here's the ultimate in comfort and luxury for those prized moments. It's a tray that fits securely onto the bed, is roomy enough to hold every breakfast course and the morning paper, too.

Let Wrapping Make Gift Gay

The gift carefully wrapped to show the same thoughtful attention has been paid to it as to the token inside is bound to multiply the joy of receiving (and giving, too).

And with the great array of papers, ribbons and little decorative effects now available, and the really novel ideas that can be put into effect for gifts that are tardy or too large for hand-to-hand presentation, it's easy and fun to give every gift an outlook that is gay and truly appropriate for the person for whom it is intended.

For instance, dainty tissues and broad satin ribbons, always so feminine, are even more lady-like when dressed up with miniature Christmas balls in pastel colors or, perhaps, tiny tinkling bells.

A handsome striped paper with gay little Yuletide stickers to hold the paper in place or tied with a narrow, simple, ribbon holds a promise of a glad masculine surprise within. And what color can help but be charmed with a gift package made more provocative by a printed wrapping featuring a multitude of Santas and prancing reindeer.

One of the exciting ways to present a large gift, such as an automobile, refrigerator or arm chair, is to visit a local toy center and select a miniature of the great gift.

The miniature, attractively wrapped and complete with a little explanatory rhyme or note, given on Christmas morning, will more than fill a temporary place in the heart of the recipient.

SHOPPING 1-24-2 BOLD NEW BIKE
As smartly styled and as up to date as dad's new automobile, the new bicycles ready for Christmas giving this year rate among the grandest of all gifts for any younger from age four up.

Bikes are something more than personalized transportation for boys and girls. They help teach muscular coordination, readiness to run errands, and appreciation of traffic safety rules.

And since the ingenious application of extra wheels for balance — wheels which may be removed as the youngest child becomes adept with the bike — models are now available for children as young as four.

Choose from 16 to 24 inch or brother may be preceded by a visit to the store — just a casual visit will do — where the youngster can be fitted with the bike of the right size. But if you want to make it a complete surprise, choose by size.

For instance, the 16 inch junior size — the inches referring to wheel diameter — is made for youngsters from four to six. Boys and girls from six to eight usually need a 20 inch wheel, and those from 8 to 10 a 24 inch size. From 10 up the adult size bike with its 28 inch wheel is proper.

Of course, all American make bikes have adjustable seats and handlebars to allow for growth and development within the respective age limits.

The new 1952 models will bring thrills to boys and girls of any age who are lucky enough to receive one this Christmas.

They include models with balloon tires, and many gadgets, most of them conceived for safety's sake and to make the bike more useful in running errands for the children themselves as well as parents, as dad can boast on his car.

Retail Food Prices Fairly Steady

(By the ASSOCIATED PRESS)
Retail food prices held fairly steady this week, with no notable changes up or down.

Pork loin roasts, chops and bacon were reduced one to four cents a pound in many places. Butter climbed one to two cents a pound, continuing the seasonal uptrend that began weeks ago.

Egg prices turned irregular after dropping about 14 cents a dozen in the two weeks following Thanksgiving day.

Prices of several fresh produce items eased slightly. Snap beans, brussels sprouts, cauliflower, cucumbers, eggplant, lettuce, peppers, spinach and most citrus fruits were lower. Lettuce and peppers were still unusually high because of light shipments.

Cranberries were relatively high.

Higher prices for fresh fruits and vegetables, dairy products, lamb and eggs, were blamed for pushing the government's retail food index to a new record high between November 15 and 26.

The index for the eight cities surveyed was up about 2.8 percent from the previous month and 15 percent above the average just before the Korean war began.

The Agriculture Dept. reported that meat produced under federal inspection last week reached a new peak for the year at 410 million pounds — 10 million over the previous weekly record set last January. Pork output was the largest since 1944 when the biggest pig crop in our history was being marketed.

Price stabilizers hope to have dollars-and-cents ceiling prices established on retail lamb and veal by Jan. 1, and on pork shortly afterward. Wholesale ceilings already are in effect on all these and beef, and retail ceilings on beef have been in effect for some time.

Oranges are featured by the Agriculture Dept. this week as the most plentiful food for thrifty buying.

The son's college education often cures the mother of bragging about him.

'Sweets For Sweet' During Christmas

Sure they can have their cake and eat it, too, at Christmas time.

In fact, the Yuletide wouldn't be the gay season it is without plenty of tidbits for the children. It's time for "sweets to the sweet."

And cookies, of course, come first to mind when thinking of the children: — Christmas cut out cookies, which mother might make herself, or for which she can shop at the baker's, and thus save herself more time to do her other Christmas chores.

As an extra special treat for the children, what better idea than to give them each a specially wrapped little boxful of Christmas cookies, for eating when they wish.

All orders for fancy baked goods to be used at home during the holiday season should be placed early with the baker to make sure he'll have them fresh and ready for delivery on the schedule you set for him.

Coffee rings brought to the table on a wreath decorated plate would give Christmas Day a wonderful start.

Plum puddings are traditional for Christmas dinner, but sometime during the holiday, treat the family to a handsome specially baked cake for serving with ice cream as the holiday desert.

When you want to get next to something there's real money in, go over and lean on the bank.

Draft Call Biggest Since February

AUSTIN — (AP) — The biggest monthly draft call since March was issued Thursday by state selective service.

Texas was asked to furnish 2,144 men in February. That is this state's share of the national call for 55,000 men.

The March call was for 4,145 men from Texas.

The February call will be for older men, Brig. Gen. Paul Wakefield, state selective service director, said. Texas will not be able to induct any registrants in February who were under 21 as of Dec. 31, except delinquents or volunteers, without prior authority from national headquarters.

From present indications, it appears that we may have to request national headquarters for this authority," Wakefield said. "Right now it looks as if we might be just short of the amount of older men."

Victor Moore Plans Future At Almost 75

HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — Victor Moore, nearing his 75th birthday, is full of plans for his career, which already has spanned 54 years of entertainment history. The veteran comedian is currently acting in his first picture in two years. He is the pivotal character in "We're Not Married," in which he plays a confused justice of the peace who has been marrying people without the proper authority.

Despite his screen inactivity, Moore has not been idle. He has appeared on many television programs and has done stage work, too. What's more, he has big plans for the future. They include a return to Broadway and his own TV show.

"I did 'On Borrowed Time' at the La Jolla Playhouse last summer," he remarked. "It's a wonderful play and I enjoyed doing it very much. Now I have plans to take it to Broadway, and I believe it would be my last play there."

Would he mind a long run? "Not over two years," he remarked with a wry smile. Moore's career is expected to end a long and distinguished career on the stage. For 18 years, he and William Gaxton starred on the big stem in such hits as "Of Thee I Sing," "Anything Goes," "Louisiana Purchase," "Leave It to Me."

"During our partnership, Billy and I had only two flops," he recalled, "Oddy enough, they were by the two men who provided our biggest hit — 'Of Thee I Sing.' The shows were 'Hollywood Finances' by George Kaufman and a comedy by Morrie Ryskind."

Moore said he had been approached to appear in the forthcoming revival of "Of Thee I Sing."

"But they apparently didn't want Billy for the show, so I didn't feel like doing it," he said. "Besides, the humor of my character (the bumbling vice president Throblington) was based on the fact that the vice president of the United States was virtually an unknown man with little to do. But now the vice president is as well known and as well liked as the President."

The comic is also cooking up a plan to star in his own television show and has been mulling a number of formats. The one he likes best at present is about a retired mailman who runs a hotel for dogs.
