Apollo 17 Rehearsing Blast-Off

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) - With the last major preflight test completed, the Apollo 17 astronauts today rehearse blasting off from the moon and docking their two spaceships, America and Challenger.

Eugene A. Cernan and geologist Harrison H. Schmitt plan to spend much of the day in the lunar module simulator while Ronald E. Evans operates the command ship trainer, running through the complex lunar liftoff procedures they have practiced scores of times.

Involved is the precisely timed takeoff from the moon and two hours of maneuvers by Cernan and Schmitt to catch and link up with Evans in the command vehicle

All three astronauts boarded the command ship America atop a Saturn 5 rocket Tuesday night for the final 21/2 hours of a trial countdown which ended successfully with simulated launching of the rocket at 9:53 p.m. EST

That's the same time scheduled for the liftoff of the big booster Dec. 6 on the final Apollo moon-landing journey. It will be the first after-dark launching of a U.S. manned space flight and is expected to attract nearly one million spectators to the area.

Launch Director Walter Kaprvan termed Tuesday night's test "perfectly normal. We have no problems whatsoever to report.

Crews now will concentrate on preparing the rocket and two spaceships for the actual countdown, a six-day exercise slated to start Nov. 30.

The space agency said on Thanksgiving the three astronauts will have turkey and all the trimmings, prepared by their crew quarters cook. They are in preflight medical isolation, which restricts their contacts and limits them to certain areas at the space center.

Fine Old Bird Rated As One Of Best Buys

WASHINGTON (AP) -That fine old bird, the turkey, is rated as one of the best buys in the supermarket, but some of the trimmings are going to add to family food bills this Thanksgiving

A 21-pound turkey in the Washington, D.C., area is selling this week for an average of 39 cents per pound, which is unchanged from the past three Thanksgivings, the Agriculture Department reports.

At $7.80 for a typical bird, the turkey is usually the single most expensive item on the dinner table, depending on how fancy the other fare is

The department limited its retail price survey to the Washington area and said there was no national estimate. However, retail food prices generally are running about 4 per cent higher than last year.

Some items cost more this Thanksgiving Ready-mixed stuffing is 35 cents per pound. compared with 33 cents a year

Fresh cranberries, averaging 29 cents a pound, are unchanged. Sweet potatoes are up one penny from 14 cents per pound a year ago.

Turkeys have become a yeararound feature at supermarkets, not just a holiday treat as they once were. One big reason is that farmers have learned to produce them more efficiently and on a fulltime basis.

McCrary Family Member Back In Dallas County Jail

DALLAS (AP) - Danny McCrary, whose family is being questioned about murders from California to Florida, was back in the Dallas County Jail today after being charged in neighboring Hunt County with two counts of murder.

He was scheduled to appear here today for a probation hearing

McCrary, 19, saw his bond set at $50.000 for each count Tuesday by Justice of the Peace Merrick Money in Greenville, about 50 miles northeast of Dallas

The charges stem from the slaying of Forrest and Jena Covey, whose bodies were found Oct. 24, 1971, in a barn near Quinlan in Hunt County. They were from Mesquite, a Dallas suburb

McCrary was extradited to Texas from Santa Barbara, Ca lif., where four other members of his family were arrested and charged with various crimes in that state.

McCrary was booked into the Hunt County jail as a formality but was returned to Dallas a few hours later to attend the hearing on revocation of his probation before District Court Judge Charles Davis

He received a two-year probated sentence here June 4. 1971, on charges of breaking and entering a motor vehicle Courthouse officials said he had not reported to his probation officer since Jan. 31.

Dist. Atty: Larry Miller in Greenville said McCrary was denied bond until after his probation hearing, although he would be eligible for reasonable bond after the hearing if he decides to appeal the case.

"So as to assure his continued presence, we filed charges in Hunt County," Miller said. "I had not anticipated the revoation hearing being held so soon and the fact that it will be necessitated our filing

A happy marriage but no children

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been happily married for 25 years, and he is the dearest thing on this earth to me. I have tried in every way to be a good wife, but I have failed him in the most important way of all. For some mysterious reason I have not been able to give him children

I was never able to get him to consider adoption. He hasn't complained, but I can see the hurt in his eyes when he sees his friends with their children and grandchildren, and my heart aches so.

What can I do to make it up to him? HURTING

DEAR HURTING: If you've had a good marriage [and you obviously have], what is there to "make up?" Don't assume that YOU weren't able to give HIM children. [Perhaps HE wasn't able to give YOU children.] It's history now, so stop grieving for something you never had. God in his infinite wisdom gives and withholds both happiness and tragedy. Accept His decision, and don't question it.

DEAR ABBY: You are the only person I feel I can ask this question. I have reasons to believe our 9-year-old son may be ahead of himself in his sexual development.

Please don't think I have a dirty attitude about sex, because I haven't. My question: Can lightly tickling a boy's neck, arms, and legs arouse him sexually? From what I have observed I think it can and it disturbs me. A relative [a maiden lady of 55] delights in tickling our boy whenever she is near him. He seems to enjoy it immensely as he sits close to her whenever she is here. probably anticipating it. She makes a kind of game or joke

I don't approve of exciting [consciously or otherwise] a young boy in this manner, and for reasons I won't mention here, I think that is what is happening.

Can this actually happen to a normal boy, age 9? If I am on the wrong track, please tell me. I don't want to make a fool of myself. Please tell me what you know about this sort of thing. Thank you. CONCERNED MOTHER DEAR MOTHER: Your concern is well-founded. Sexual responses are not uncommon in 9-year-old boys [and younger]. I advise you to tell your relative to keep her hands to herself. And if she doesn't understand why, be more

DEAR ABBY: I have been married for eight years to a man who is nearly perfect. He's a good provider, a wonderful father and an excellent lover, but he positively refuses to go out in public with me. He has no reason to be ashamed of me. After three children I still wear a size 10. I'm no raving beauty, but I keep myself looking nice and wear clothes well. I am at a loss to know why he has refused to take me to dinner or a show in the past three years. He used to take me out for dinner twice a year-on our anniversary and Christmas, but no more. The children and I always go alone, on vacations, to church, visiting, whatever. Abby, what could be wrong? The only time we ever spend together is in bed. But that's not enough. He's a fine looking man and I would be so proud to be seen with him, but no amount of teasing, begging or nagging will move

Any help you can give me on this problem will be appreciated. Or should I just give up and keep quiet? SOMETHING MISSING

DEAR SOMETHING: Something is missing all right. An explanation from your husband. It's almost as the he were "hiding" from someone. If I were you, I would not give up neither would I keep quiet.

TO "CONFIDENTIALLY": Your daughter is over 21 and shouldn't need parental consent to go on a skiing trip with a group of her friends. Don't assume that everyone who goes skiing is necessarily "he-ing" and "she-ing."

Problems? Trust Abby. For a personal reply, write to ABBY, BOX 69700, L. A., CALIF. 90069 and enclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

Lee Retains First In Final AP Poll

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS San Antonio Lee, defending state Class 4-A champion, and Uvalde in Class 3-A were the only top-ranked teams to weather the storm and retain their No. 1 positions from start to finish in The Associated Press schoolboy football poll.

Lee went 14-0-1 in winning the state championship last year and completed another unbeaten 10-0 season last week to march into the playoffs again, this time as the favorite.

Uvalde got beat in bidistrict play last year, but was ranked No. 1 from the pre-season in the AP poll

Other teams ranked No. 1 in the final AP tabulation were Childress in Class 2-A, Mason in Class 1-A and Big Sandy in Class B.

Odessa Permian remained second in the final 4-A poll, the same position it held since the third week of the season. Austin Reagan was fourth followed by Killeen and Port Arthur Lincoln. Alice won a playoff berth and replaced Port-Neches Groves as No. 10.

Ennis and Cuero lost out of the playoffs last week. Cuero lost its zone playoff to Uvalde and Ennis was upended by Wilmer · Hutchins Wilmer-Hutchins moved into AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) - Texas A&M Coach Emery Bellard plans to start eight freshmen against Texas Thanksgiving Night in their nationally tele-vised Southwest Conference football game.

"We'll be starting eight freshmen against them and there's a wealth of difference between freshmen and a bunch of three year starters," Bellard said Tuesday

NEW YORK (AP) - Jon Matlack, who mastered a major league curve ball just last winter and used it to win 15 games for the New York Mets in the 1972 baseball season, today was named the National League's Rookie of the Year.

The 22-year-old southpaw was a runaway winner of the coveted award, receiving 19 out of a possible 24 votes from the Baseball Writers Association of America committee.

His landslide vote total was the most since Kenny Hubbs of the Chicago Cubs polled 19 after the 1962 season.

Ali sat quietly, holding an ice pack to the swelling left side of his face as he listened to Foster's comments during a postfight conference. Then he repeated what he's been saving since losing a 15-round decision 20 months ago in the biggest money event in boxing history:

Hijack Move Good News, But-

Cuba's promise to keep the hijackers of that Southern Airways jet in 4x4x4 boxes for life is sweet to the ears. Boiling in oil would be better, but this will do.

Evidently Numero Uno is fed up with his island being used as a refuge by all kinds of misfits and has decided to make an example of these three, who had no claim to political asylum by any stretch of the imagination.

Upon more sober reflection, however, it has to be asked: By what right does Cuba throw the citizens of another country in jail? They have broken no Cuban laws, and even if they had, is there no such thing any more as a court trial, even a show trial, in Castro's Caribbean paradise?

By treating the hijackers in the same way the hijackers treated their hostages-as expendable objects-the Castro regime has merely given another demonstration of its disregard for human rights.

No doubt the rough treatment of these men will go a long way toward discouraging the hijacking traffic to Cuba. If so, that is something to be thankful

But it is precisely because such pipsqueak dictatorships like Castro's have consistently refused to extradite hijackers but have put their own political advantage ahead of international decency that the hijacking problem arose to plague the world in the first

Half Of Us Like Our Banks

At a time when business in general is taking lumps for its alleged lack of concern about community problems, bankers have heard some good news.

Pollster Louis Harris turned nis microscope on the banking industry recently and came up with the conclusion that the public sees banks as having greater concern about life within the community than any other group of businessmen.

Part of the reason is a public acknowledgement that banks, because they are sources of capital, are in a better position than other institutions to influence their communities. But it is also due to a growing social consciousness on the part of bankers and new policies that # thrust banks into community leadership roles.

Bankers should not become too satisfied, however.

If Anything,

WORLD ALMANAC We've Got Grit

There's one natural resource we don't have to worry about running out of. According to the U.S.

Geological Survey, about 400 billion tons of "commercially significant" sand are deposited in the upper 10 feet of the ocean floor off the northeastern coast of the United States.

The deposits of this unglamorous but necessary material are enough to supply the needs of the United States and the Maritime Provinces of Canada for several thousand vears

To reach the port of Heaven we must sail sometimes with the wind and sometimes against it. But we must sail and not drift or lie at anchor —Oliver Wendell Holmes. American poet and essavist.

According to Harris, while 48 per cent of the public rates banks highly (compared to 32 per cent for business as a whole), more than half the public feels that there is room for improvement For example, the poll revealed deep questions on bankers' records in the areas of helping minorities and fighting pollution

As Harris pointed out in his report to the Foundation for Full Service Banks, public confidence "is a perishable commodity." Americans are turning to bankers in the hope that their "solid accomplishment in the business world can be translated into hope and concern in the community

This, he says, is banking's challenge for the decade

In 1845, Congress set the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November as presidential election day. The World Almanac says This date was determined partially because harvesting was done and traveling conditions were good. Tuesday was chosen because it was unpopular to vote on Sunday and long journeys to the polls often required Sunday travel.

Doctors Tell Plight Of POW Wives

By BRUCE BIOSSAT WASHINGTON (NEA)-We as a people have not done nearly enough to ease the terrible plight of the wives of the military men and civilians who are prisoners or missing in North Vietnam and elsewhere in Southeast Asia.

We read almost daily of their earnest attempts to secure mail from their husbands, to receive some word of prison conditions or to learn whether in fact their mates are living or dead. But talk to medical men about the dreary, worried frustrating lives these women lead while they wait

Doctors who have studied the problem report that even the most stable and mature such wife experiences severe emotional problems:

She must make daily decisions on her own, but constantly has the feeling she will be held accountable to her husband, when he is released. for whatever happens to the children. Yet the absence of the man in the family almost inevitably has a deleterious effect on their youngsters. The doctors say both boys and girls require a father for satisfactory progress through stages of development.

She has a continuous struggle with her self-esteem. Yet there are few acceptable ways for her to build up her own confidence.

She suffers from boredom, with the same routine day in and day out and no end in sight. A woman alone is awkward socially at best, and almost any satisfactory social activity may burden her with a sense of guilt. (She is having a good time while her husband is going through hell in prison.)

If her husband is missing in action, she is in even a rougher prison of her own. She has all the problems of a POW wife intensified by uncertainty over her loved-one's fate. She keeps harassing herself with these questions: Is her husband alive or dead? Will he ever return? Even if she is certain he is dead. there is considerable public pressure against her remarrying. There is always the chance, too, that if she does remarry, her missing husband may eventually turn up alive. These two pressures can destroy the chances that her remarriage will be successful. Yet she knows she is aging and lonely and cannot wait in this limbo for too long. What is worst of all, perhaps, for the wife of a prisoner of war. is what is likely to happen emotionally when her husband does come home, the doctors say. Because of her worries and the impossible problems she now faces, she is likely to build up a sort of idealized dream about what life will be like when the family can all be together. She may tend to believe all her difficulties will be resolved and that "everything will be prefect." Doctors say the life after reunion won't be perfect of course, human beings being human, and they worry that the reality (as contrasted with her dreams) will likely result in a tremendous emotional letdown.

RAY CROMLEY Peace Trickery

By North Viets By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON (NEA) -This column will outline how Hanoi attempted to trick the United States into signing an agreement giving the North Vietnamese complete victory in the South on their terms while making Henry Kissinger believe he was arranging a pact accepting Hanoi's agreement to President Nixon's terms

From the start, the major obstacle had been North Vietnamese insistence that the United States, as part of a deal for the return of American prisoners of war, agree to set up in South Vietnam a coalition government as a thin disguise for a north Vietnamese takeover.

Mr. Nixon and Kissinger, however, insisted that any Washington-Hanoi accord must be limited to United States and North Vietnamese military matters, with a political settlement worked out between Hanoi and Saigon. The United States could not in good conscience submit to blackmail whereby it would agree to use its might to force the rule of

H.L. Hunt Writes

POLITICAL ANARCHY

It was nice years ago today that the sniper bullets of a man hidden in a virtually empty building in downtown Dallas ended the life of a relatively young man who had reached the summit of political power. A shocked, bereaved world heard the news on November 22, 1963. that President John F. Kennedy had been murdered. Friend and critic alike mourned his death.

The true story of his murder may or may not have been told. Many feel that a conspiracy was responsible. Whatever the truth of their allegations, it is a matter of record that the shame and disgrace of political violence did not end with the death of President Kennedy His brother, Senator Robert Kennedy, was later gunned down in Los Angeles and Governor George Wallace recently was shot and critically wounded. All of these odious incidents are a sad commentary on our society. Political assassinations and assaults are not really new in the history of mankind, but their occurrence in a modern, advanced society is perplexing. A wave of terror struck the leaders of the world around the turn of the century. The anarchists had their origins in the Balkans but their adherents spread to the far corners of the globe and all politicians and government leaders were under great strain. The murder of the Austrian archduke in Serbia triggered World War I.

The politicians of this country like to shake hands with the people and the voters should have a right to see the men and women who will lead them Only a moral and spiritual awakening will make our political system safe and comfortable again.

Hanoi on the people of South Vietnam, even to get American prisoners back. When at long last, after Haiphong was mined, the North bombed intensively and Hanoi's invading armies bogged down, the North Vietnamese said they were willing to agree with the United States on military matters alone. Kissinger was overjoyed, believing U.S. objectives had been achieved and that this country could withdraw from South Vietnam without having sold out the people of that nation. He was all the more certain of his victory when the North Vietnamese at Paris presented him with a clear, clean-cut English phraseology which eliminated their demand for a coalition government and Council of National Conciliation and Concord. This group was defined as a mere advisory body with limited, low-level administrative functions concerned only with setting up and supervising elections. But it had no power and required unanimous decisions so that Saigon could not be forced into anything it did not want. To Kissinger, this was a barely disguised acceptance of defeat by the North Vietnamese, covered only by a thin fig leaf. Since the key phrases outlined above were in English provided by the North Vietnamese, and since they were so clearly written, Kissinger did not question the intent. In fact, Kissinger could not have gone beyond the English text and studied the meaning in Vietnamese, for there was no Vietnamese version of these phrases. Kissinger in fact did not want to probe too far. Since he thought this was a North Vietnamese capitulation and because he believed the North Vietnamese desired to save face, he wanted to let well enough alone. He did not ask what words Hanoi intended to use in translating this English text into Vietnamese. Such questioning would, he thought, have been indelicate in the face of Hanoi's surrendering so completely to U.S. wishes. The North Veitnamese. however, later wrote up their own version of this particular part of the Kissinger-Le Duc Tho pact, defining the authority and function of the Council of National Reconciliation and Concord, using Vietnamese words with meanings entirely different from the English words in the version they had given Kissinger for his aggrement. They defined the council as a coalition government-using terms signifying supreme power.

Adoption of this definition would at one fell swoop have eliminated the current South Vietnamese government from power and would have substituted a half-North Vietnamese government.

To pity distress is but human; but to relieve it is Godlike.-Horace Mann, American educator.

Gluten-Free Diet Answer To Problem

Dear Dr. Lamb-My wife has a serious medical problem and the medical bill has already reached $15,000. She developed diarrhea which the doctors thought was bacterial colitis. She was havbowel movements 10 to 15 times a day. She was admitted to the hospital ICU with diarrhea and pneumonia. Finally, they said she should be on a strict glutenfree diet and the only medicine she would need would be prednisone. I took her home and then one morning she went to the toilet and dropped to the floor with a stroke. The doctors claimed she also had a small bleeding around the brain. They released her with the same instructions. Her weight dropped from 180 to 118 pounds. I have to help her in and out of bed and on and off the toilet. We have a serious problem which wish someone could possibly solve. Can you help in any way?

Dear Reader-The problem is Celiac disease, caused by a defect from birth preventing absorption of gluten, a product found in all cereals except corn and rice. It is present in wheat, rye, oats, and barley. It is a difficult problem to diagnose and treat.

Individuals with this problem must eliminate all foods that contain gluten. They cannot eat any cereals except corn and rice or use any foods that have used any other cereals. This eliminates foods made with wheat flour such as gravy, breads, cakes, or any pastries that use flour for thickening. Soy flour and rice flour can be used as substitutes. At first, most of these individuals should not use milk or any items made with any milk products. The damaged small bowel usually does not have the enzymes necessary to digest the milk sugar, lactose, and it too aggravates the problem.

Sometimes all sugar and foods with sugar, which include fruits, and ordinary table sugar must be eliminated. Ordinary sugar is a double sugar and the severely damaged digestive tract may not be able to absorb it either. As a precaution, honey should be the main source of sweetening. As you can see from this the diet has to be based mostly on vegetables, meat, fish and fowl, being careful to eliminate any flour products in their preparation.

By following this strict program, many individuals can be significantly benefited. Some also require cortisone (prednisone) or related medication. I hope things do improve in your

difficult problem. (NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

Ready Jane Fonda' Law for New Congress

By Robert S. Allen

WASHINGTON - It isn't being called the "Jane Fonda bill." but it is aimed squarely at the ultra-militant actress and other leftists who have junketed to North Vietnam to propagandize its cause. Declares Rep Richard Ichord, D.Mo chairman of the Internal Security Committee and author of the crackdown legislation:

'This measure came within a hair of being passed by the House in October shortly before adjournment. It actually got a decisive majority, but failed approvai because it was considered under suspension of the rules which requires a two-thirds vote. I will reintroduce this bill on the first day the new Congress convenes (Jan. 3), in complete confidence that this time it will be enacted. This is a problem that calls for urgent action. It is essential that the government have the power to deny passports where their possession would seriously impair the conduct of the foreign relations of the United States, or be inimical to the security of the United States. Every week that passes without such authority exposes the country to dire danger.

'Chairman Ichord's measure is designed to plug a gaping hole in the Internal Security Act of 1950 which enabled actress Fonda and other Vietcong sympathizers to thumb their nose at the U.S. government and make propaganda junkets to Hanoi

The bill adds a new section to the Act authorizing the "President to restrict travel by citizens and nationals of the United States to, in, or through any country whose military forces are engaged in armed conflict with the military forces of the United States." Violation would be punishable "by a maximum fine of $10,000 or imprisonment for 10 years, or both," and loss of eligibility to hold public office. Because of lack of such specific authority and penalties, the Supreme Court, Ichord points out, "limited the government's power to deny passports under existing law." Purpose of Ichord's measure is to plug this legal loophole. He and a bipartisan majority of the Internal Security Committee, most of them lawyers, are confident it will do that and be upheld by the Supreme Court. The "Nine Old Men" rendered the limiting edict before their make-up was significantly changed by the appointment of Justices Harry Blackmun and

William Rehnquist. Pertinent Poll

In preparation for renewing the drive to enact his legislation in the new Congress, Chairman Ichord is polling a number of prominent U.S. newsmen on whether they have been able to gain admittance to North Vietnam.

This survey was prompted by information that the Communists gave clearance only to media representatives deemed friendly and certain of filing favorable reports.

Two significant facts were noted by Ichord:

(1) The State Department has never refused a passport to an accredited newsman desiring to visit North Vietnam; such media representatives invariably have been given permission to go there. (2) On the other hand, the Communist rulers of Hanoi have been highly selective in granting entry visas.

'Hundreds of responsible U.S. newsmen seeking to arrive at the truth of what is happening in North Vietnam," said Ichord, have not had a reply from Hanoi to their request for entry. The problem is not of the U.S. imposing censorship on news coverage of North Vietnam but, rather, of the imposition of news censorship by North Vietnam in refusing visas.

"It is very evident that the general policy of the North Vietnamese government is to admit only those whom it believes will be sympathetic to their cause. There have been a few rare exceptions, but in the case of one of them, Peter Arnett of the Associated Press. he later complained of North Vietnamese selectivity in what could be seen, and of official coercion with regard to choice of language in his news dispatches. It is the contention of Chairman Ichord and the decisive bipartisan majority of the Internal Security Committee that the powerlessness of the U.S. government to prevent travel to enemy countries "has seriously and adversely affected the nation's security interests."

"The culminative effect of such activity cannot be ignored." these legislators maintained in a recent report. The travel of Jane Fonda to Hanoi, only one of a series of similar events, must be a matter for concern. Such activities--as her broadcasts from the enemy's territory to our forces in the field--have an obvious tendency to undermine the morale of our forces.

"Even to the superficial observer it must be evident that neither the patience nor the tolerance of the vast number of our citizens should be tested by further postponement of the enactment of necessary legislation designed to cope with activities which are of positive harm to our national interests.

The lawmakers flatly asserted Congress has the power to enact the proposed legislation, and cited a number of supporting judicial decrees. including three cases involving writs of certiorari which were denied by the Supreme Court.

Committeemen comprising the bipartisan majority include in addition to Chairman Ichord. Reps. Claude Pepper, D-Fla., Richardson Preyer, D.-N.C., Roger Zion, R.-Ind. Significantly opposing the legislation both in committee and on the floor of the House was Rep. Robert Drinan, D.-Mass., first Catholic priest elected to Congress and a militant dove, leftist and supporter of Sen. George McGovern. Drinan was narrowly elected for a second term in a three-way race.

SAVE WATER

CHICAGO (AP)-Conservationists now are recommending a cut in the amount of water that fills your toilet tank, in an effort to save

The Camp Director's Digest published by an insurance firm says each flush costs money and is a drain on your city's water purification system.

It suggests putting a brick in the toilet tank so that less water is consumed during the flushing process. It says a family of four can save 2,000 gallons of water in one year. Listed as a "no-cost" suggestion for saving our environment, the booklet also describes how water can be saved in brushing your teeth, shaving and keeping a container of ice water in the refrigerator during summer instead of running water until it's cold. Copies of the digest are available from the Communications Dept. CNA Financial Corp., 310 S. Michigan Ave., Chicago, Ill.

The 4.000-mile Amazon River is not quite as long as the Nile, but 60 times as much water pours out of the Amazon's mouth into the Atlantic - eight trillion gallons a day at maximum flood, National Geographic says.

QUALITY AND EFFICIENCY - Gibson's Discount Pharmacy has a supply of approximately 15,000 medicines to help their customers get the service they need when they need it. Three registered pharmacists are available to fill the prescriptions promptly and efficiently, yet maintaining low prices.

Gibson's Pharmacy

Cold weather is here, and with it are many illnesses that can cause discomfort and distress.

Realizing that illness hits most people at sometime in their lives, Gibson's Discount Pharmacy strives to maintain a high quality standard of service and yet provide the medicines inexpensively.

A full staff of registered pharmacists are always on hand to aid the customer in filling his prescription needs as

And this service is available even outside of normal store hours. At least one pharmacist is ready 24 hours a day, seven days a week, to help the customer obtain the medicines that may be needed quickly to combat sickness.

Several clerks are on hand to take orders and to help provide fast and efficient service for the customer. This eliminates some of the time a pharmacist would have to spend on paper work, freeing him to spend more time with fillilng the prescriptions and meeting the customer's needs promptly.

Dean Copeland, pharmacist in charge, says all the personnel in the pharmacy work together in an effort to insure the customer the fast and efficient service that has become a trademark of Gibson's. And yet the low prices are maintained.

Working with Copeland are David Burns and Dick Wilson, all ready to provide the high quality service to meet the prescription needs of the

Filling prescriptions promptly, all three work to keep the prices down without sacrificing any of the service. And only the finest of medicines are used

The medicines are obtained directly from reputable pharmacy companies at less cost and without the high overhead encountered by many smaller pharmacies.

Gibson's Discount Pharmacy carries approximately 15,000 medicines to more than meet the needs of most illnesses.

Another special feature of the pharmacy is its supply of vitamins. Many doctors believe many illnesses could be avoided or at least be less serious if vitamins were used to supplement the regular diet. Gibson's maintains a large supply of outstanding vitamins for both children and adults or for those requiring special diets.

With the season for colds and sniffles already here, vitamins should become a part of the regular diet.

Customers suffering from allergies can also find a complete line of medicines to help control difficulties. For people with sensitive skin, a full line of Allercream cosmetics are in stock.

With years of experience among them. Copeland. Burns and Wilson invite customers to check Gibson's Discount Pharmacy and compare for quality and service at low Executives Embarrassed By Increase in Profits in Phase III, if there is one.

NEW YORK (AP) - While the past year has been one of financial progress for both management and labor, the big increases in corporate profits that are now being reported are producing irritation and embarrassment for executives

They are embarrassed because the percentage increases are so great. It now appears likely that the increase for 1972 over 1971 will be about 15 per cent. And there is the likelihood of a repeat in 1973.

While corporate officials concede these figures are high. they are irritated by the failure of casual feaders to recall the reason why: 1971 profits were depressingly low.

They are indignant also that labor leaders are inclined to seize on those percentages without explaining that what appears to be a mountain of profits has its base in a very deep ravine - that is, in the recession of 1971.

Actually, they add, profits should be even higher if they are to return to more "normal" levels and if industry is to attract the investment capital needed for expansion.

Price Commission regulations, however, may prevent that occurence, although some changes might be forthcoming

Clements Provides 'Youthful' Styling

Clements Barber Shop, 310 S. Cuyler, may not be able to restore lost youth, but a styled haircut and a scalp massage can help one look and feel

Bob Clements, who has been a barber since 1946, has many years of experience behind him to aid him as he provides services to his customers.

With training at Amarillo, Tyler and Dallas, Clements keeps up with the latest styling looks and with new equipment for the shop

Clements has remodeled his shop to improve the services

Part of the remodeling includes a hair dryer installed in one of the two cubicles. Used in creative hair styling, the dryer can be pushed up out of the way when not in use.

More mirrors are present to enable the customer to better see the improvements that Clements has made for his hair.

-With new paneling, carpeting and lighting, it's even more of a pleasure to be waited upon at Clements Barber Shop.

Clements also has a Capilloscope which he uses to analyze ahir. It can't help to grow hair which has been lost, but it can help to keep the hair healthy and to give it luster. Clements has satisfied customers from Miami, Canadian, McLean, Wheeler, Pampa and other points around the Panhandle.

With a practicing knowledge of hair-less retardation. Clements massages the hair and scalp for 20 minutes to increase the circulation and to relax the scalp.

"If this procedure is not followed, the hair stands straight up, making a good styling or cutting job nearly impossible," Clements claimed

Clements doesn't claim to be able to restore lost hair, but he does feel he can help a person to retain the hair he has. To help him to maintain a of his customers, Clements handles a line of Roffler's products. Clements now offers the Ruff-L Look and the Avante, new styles perfected by Roffler

Profits Walking Away From Shoe Businesses

NEW YORK (AP) - You involved decisions are made: might think that the shoe industry would have fewer problems than others, since all but a few of us are shod from infancy to finality and even bevond

The $7 billion shoe industry has survived some serious assaults. And currently sales have never been higher. Twenty years ago a man probably bought one pair a year. Now the average is up to two for men, and close to five for women. Count all kinds of footwear, and sales total around 950 mil-

But there are problems, and there always have been. With profit margins running under 3 per cent on sales, some threat seems always to lurk round the corner. Some originate in social change, some from lack of fore-

The current situation, industry spokesmen say, results from factors that have no precedent. First, imports have taken about 38 per cent of the domestic market. Second, the price of hides has galloped 120 per cent in one year.

And so, the shoe people say, in another few months a man won't be able to buy a pair of leather shoes for under $20. He'll be able to buy a pair for less than that but they won't be leather. More likely they'll be vinyl
