No UMT For U.S. This Year

WASHINGTON (AP)—It appears virtually certain the country's youth will not be enrolled this year in a full universal military training (UMT) program.

This was evident today after the nation's top military leaders, once emphatically in favor of it, suggested a compromise plan in testimony before the House Armed Services committee holding public hearings on the issue.

The military leaders asked essentially that 60,000 of the men subject to the growing draft this year be permitted to volunteer instead for a partial UMT. The purpose would be to get big machinery oiled for the time, in the future, when full-scale UMT might be adopted.

Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) of the House committee said yesterday it would be "relatively simple" to get UMT underway on a limited scale. If Congress adopts the military proposal, he said in a statement, the Defense Dept. could get the program running within six months.

Opponents of UMT began testifying tomorrow when the committee resumed hearings.

AIMS BLAST

The national council against conscription aimed a blast at the program yesterday. In a 40-page booklet circulated to all members of Congress, it said the basic aim of UMT is militaristic dominance over the minds of the nation's young men.

It denied every major argument in favor of UMT starting out by disagreeing that the United States is really "unprepared."

City Commission Faces Light Agenda For Tuesday Meet

The city commission faced a light agenda for its Tuesday meeting by 1:30 p. m. today, according to City Manager Dick Peppin.

The city manager said he knew only that the second reading of the annexation ordinance, making the Fraser Addition a part of the city, would be up for a vote.

On the list of "probable" discussion is the appointment or re-appointment of the library board, a discussion on the priority ratings for steel and copper for the water expansion program, and the widening of Alcock and S. Barnes.

Says Military Pressure Could Bring Peace

WASHINGTON (AP)—Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, chief U.S. peace negotiator in Korea, said today military pressure could bring a suitable armistice out of soiled truce talks at Panmunjom.

In a reported interview in "U.S. News & World Report," a weekly news magazine, Turner was asked what he thought would bring "action."

CHINA RELIEF SOUGHT

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—The Chinese Nationalist Mandatee Famine Relief Assn. yesterday asked the UN general assembly for relief for 320,000 destitute Chinese who have fled here from the Red-controlled China mainland.

Taft Will Support Ike If He Wins Nomination

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senator Taft's assertion that Eisenhower - for President supporters are "yearning to high heaven" against the methods of Taft's campaign manager brought a "rightfully so" retort from Senator Ives (R-NY) today.

Taft, an announced candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, said yesterday that those seeking the nomination for Gen. Eisenhower have been contending he (Taft) couldn't win the election next November.

The Ohio senator added he would like to understand the "high heaven" people's "yearning" to high heaven because Taft's manager, David S. Ingalls, had made the same argument against naming Eisenhower to head the GOP ticket.

Markers Held 'Danger' On Flooded Road

Road markers on State Hwy. 52 across flooded Lake McColl would be "inviting danger" to motorists, a Pampa engineer said today.

Flood waters have receded enough to allow cars and trucks to pass through the lake and a number of Pampans working in Borger have been using it, the engineer said.

Reading said he has received numerous complaints because the highway department has not erected wooden markers along the road edge.

"The markers could very easily be washed away by lake waves or broken away when ice covers the water. Being thrown out of line they could confuse drivers, making them swerve too far to the left or right and then go off into four or five feet of water in the ditch. The department now suggests using a hard road when it has a safe detour to use two or three miles farther."

The engineer added he believed drivers should continue to use the detour instead of taking a chance of going off the barely passable road into the ditch.

The Texas Co., Phillips Petroleum Co., Magnolia Petroleum Co., and J. W. Grayden Co. will attempt to drain Lake McColl into White Deer Creek, a promising suggestion can be obtained and the State Highway commission will take over maintenance of the opening.

Funds for draining the road have been allocated by the commission, but rights-of-way for draining and for the all have been priced at figures higher than the county commissioner's court is willing to pay.

Nun's Death Fans Flames In Egypt

ISMAILIA, Egypt (AP)—A garden to throw bombs at the British troops scoured the Arab quarter of this blood-stained Suez Canal Zone center today in the wake of the slaying of a New York-born nun, first American casualty in the Suez fighting.

A private requiem mass was held here for the nun, 52-year-old Roman Catholic Sister Anthony, born Brigitte Ann Timbers, daughter of Samuel Timbers of Peekskill, N. Y., she was killed by a bullet in the heart as she stepped from her convent door Saturday to greet a British tank detachment.

A British army announcement last night said "it has been established the nun was killed by one of a group of Egyptian 'thugs' who invaded the convent."

Other versions said no one saw who shot the nun. Egyptian authorities and Cairo newspapers claimed that a British bullet killed her. The papers accused the British of "attempting to rouse Americans against Egypt" by giving a "false account" of the shooting.

Dressed in her blue ankle-length habit and starched white-broad-brimmed hat, the dead nun lay in state in the convent of St. Vincent De Paul, located on a main Ismailia street near the center of Saturday's fighting.

A public Requiem Mass will be held tomorrow, followed by burial in the military cemetery of British headquarters at the nearby Mosaisk garrison.

The death of the nun brought immediate orders from her close personal friend here, Gen. Sir George Eskine, British commander in the Canal Zone, for a thorough cleanup of the Arab quarter of Ismailia.

Eskine said the zone three quarters of a mile long and three quarters of a mile wide, has been the operating center for Egyptian sniping at British troops here.

As big Centurion tanks blocked the entrances to the quarter, British Tommies early yesterday began a fine-comb search of the area. Forty-one suspected guerrillas were arrested. Hundreds of Egyptian families were driven out of the area and into another part of the city. The section was two-thirds cleared yesterday and the job was to be completed today.

Firing broke out last night between British and Egyptians on the edge of Ismailia headquarters for British troops in Egypt and the scene of frequent bloodshed in clashes between Britain's military forces and Egyptians trying to drive them out of the Canal Zone.

In Cairo, the American embassy said U.S. Ambassador Jefferson Caffery had expressed "grave concern" to Egypt over the slaying of Sister Anthony. The embassy said Egypt's acting foreign minister, Farag Pasha, had assured Caffery an immediate investigation would be made.

The British consulates closed their doors in obedience to an Iranian order which charged British officials had been interfering with Iranian affairs. The British denied the charge and cited an 1857 Anglo-Iranian treaty permitting them to maintain consulates in all places at which other countries were represented.

The Iranians rejected the British contention and said the United Nations charter had superseded the 1857 treaty.

The government made one overture to the west. A statement by Minister of Roads Javad Busheri, which Mossadegh approved, said Iran "extends the hand of friendship to those powers who respect our political and economic independence and territorial integrity, provided that, while shaking our hands, they do not punch the rug from our fingers."

Still unsettled is the question of renewing contracts for U.S. military training mission now in the country. The contract for a mission of nearly 100 American military advisers to the Iranian army expires March 20. The contract for a 16-man U.S. mission to the Iranian military police ends in October.

Truman's Vet Budget Trimmed By A Billion

Acheson Asks Senate To Ok Peace Treaty

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Acheson asked the Senate today to approve the Japanese Peace Treaty and three other security pacts. He described them as the basis for a new and "effective system of regional security in the Pacific."

The other pacts for which Acheson urged approval in testimony before the Senate Foreign Relations committee were the mutual defense treaty with Philippines, the security treaty with Australia and New Zealand, and the security treaty with Japan.

Acheson said that ratifying these treaties "will lay a strong foundation for our policy in the Pacific and profoundly strengthen the community of freedom-loving nations."

Recalling that this is the 100th anniversary of Commodore Perry's visit to Japan and the opening of Japan as a modern state, Acheson testified that nation in the past century made mistakes which "brought her to the brink of disaster," but added: "I believe that she has come to a clear realization of the fallacies of her past action and that she is now prepared to assume her full share of responsibility in the cause of international cooperation and peace."

Acheson was the first witness to testify before the committee. President Truman has urged prompt ratification of the pact with Japan as well as with the other far eastern nations.

Senate leaders were confident of ratification.

Dares Fly In March Of Dimes 'Battle' With Amarillo

More telegrams and more dares after you on this race Gray county total has jumped to $429 and we are just getting started.

The latest in fact the second from Clinton Evans, Gray county March of Dimes chairman to the Potter county chairman, Leon Krupp, has the enthusiasm shown by Pampans during the March of Dimes drive compared with the "unencouraging" reports from a larger city.

Today's message stated: "Just completed final count on street collections for Saturday in Pampa and McLean. Five civic clubs in Pampa took in $185.14. McLean counted $215.01 ($87.40 to date) for total Gray county street collection of $2140.15. Understand 32 stations in Amarillo brought in only $1300."

In Gray county, we find that it is in the heart rather than the bucket that leads the fight on polo. Amarillo may think we are kicking, but we are going *

Appreciation Is Expressed

Clinton Evans, Gray county chairman of the March of Dimes, and Ken Meaders, Pampa chairman, today expressed thanks to all civic clubs, cafes, drugstores and Pampans who gave "so generously" during Saturday's Mile-of-Dimes drive.

Both said that because of the high rate of polo during the last few years it is necessary more than ever to continue the March of Dimes, and that public support is one of the primary weapons against the disease.

Walter W. Dunlap, 27, was fatally injured Sunday when his car was struck from behind and overturned by another vehicle. The young attorney general, he has said only that he will make a major political speech.

But invitations already have gone out for a luncheon in Dallas tomorrow for "the first meeting of Price Daniel's campaign." United States senator. It's been a foregone conclusion among political observers for weeks Daniel would be a senatorial candidate.

Daniel was in Dallas over the week end working on the speech he will make over the Texas Quality and Texas state radio networks at 7:30 p. m. CST.

CONNALLY A CANDIDATE
Connally, 74, already has said he will be a candidate for re-nomination in the Democratic election in Texas.

The race is expected to be hot. Connally has been in the Senate since 1929 and has not had a tough campaign for re-election since 1934. He's a powerful figure in Washington—flew the general home from Tokyo last spring.

MAC'S AIDE RESIGNS

Tax Office Outlines Voting Requirements For New Citizens

Some new residents of Pampa were still confused today on the method used to obtain a poll tax.

The tax office gave this outline: First, go to the Gray county tax office, ask for a poll tax affidavit.

Second, take the affidavit and fill it out according to the address in the county you lived in last year. In the blank naming the agent you appoint to buy your poll tax, name the county tax collector of that county as the agent. Where the affidavit uses "Gray County," scratch out "Gray" and substitute the name of your old county.

Third, mail it to that county tax collector with a check or money order for $1.75 and request the receipt be mailed to your Pampa address.

Fourth, when your receipt is sent to you, you will be made out as though you still lived in the county — take it to the Gray county tax office and have it transferred to Gray county.

County tax officials said today those having to use the transfer procedure by mail should get their applications off within the next few days since only nine days remain for paying poll taxes.

Submarine Fleet Up In Russia
WASHINGTON (AP)—Russia's submarine fleet is a potent force, says Secretary of the Navy Kimball, and has grown from 90 to 300 or 400, compared with the U.S. Navy's gain from 70 to 100.

While the Soviets have "no substantial surface fleet," their expanded underwater service in a war "would constitute a very real threat," Kimball said yesterday on the CBS television program "See It Now."

Former Governor Pat Neff Dies Of Heart Attack At 80

WACO — (AP) — Former Gov. Pat Morris Neff, outstanding Texas political, educational, church and fraternal figure for 50 years, is dead.
The colorful, white-haired Neff died yesterday after suffering a heart attack. He was 80 years old.
"He is the last of a group of giants who blessed this state in so many ways," said Dr. W. R. White, who succeeded Neff as Baylor university president in 1938.
Mrs. Neff said the former governor complained of a pain in his shoulder Saturday night. Yesterday at 8:30 a.m. she found him in his room suffering a heart attack. When a doctor arrived 30 minutes later, the man who was governor from 1921 to 1925 was dead.
Funeral services were scheduled today at 2:30 p.m. in the First Baptist Church of Waco, presided over by Dr. White and the pastor, Dr. Forrest C. Fezzer. Burial was to be by the Masonic Grand Lodge of Texas in a Waco cemetery.
Neff's giant political stature was recognized throughout the Southwest. An ardent worker for anything he felt would benefit Texas, he was also a devout Baptist and a strong prohibitionist.
In Austin, Gov. Allan Shivers said:
"Texas has lost not only a revered elder statesman, but also a notable symbol of integrity in the conduct of public affairs."
He loved people, kids who helped around the state capitol, college students and his colleagues in politics and school board. His memory for faces and names was amazing.
One boy he knew as a doorkeeper in the state senate in 1920, he called "senator" when he found him working as a fill-station attendant years later.
Even after his retirement Neff refused to put aside public contacts. They were legion. Once he explained that his downtown office "is to keep them from arresting me for vagrancy."
Imposing in appearance, he "looked like a governor." His shock of iron gray hair, his white wing collars, wide black hat and black string bow ties added to his distinguished appearance.
As large in physical stature as in public esteem, Neff liked to boast that he had never touched alcohol, tobacco, coffee or tea.
Sen. Connally, an old friend and Baylor classmate of Neff, liked to say that "Pat never drank anything stronger than Brazos river water."
Born in the Central Texas blacklands near McGregor, Nov. 26, 1871, he was the son of Noah and Isabella Shepherd Neff.
He got his first glimpse of Baylor from a wagonload of cotton he drove 17 miles from McGregor to Waco. The income from that bale of cotton, which he raised, started him in school.
He graduated from Baylor with a BA degree in 1894 and received a law degree from the University of Texas in 1897. A year later he took a Masters Degree from Baylor.
Neff married Miss Myrtle Mainer, a college classmate at Lovelady, May 31, 1899. The couple had two children, Mrs. Frank Wilcox of Waco and Pat Neff, Jr., of Houston. A sister, Mrs. Sallie Calvert, Dallas, also survives.

"I've worked all day to balance our budget with your new raise!"

Daniel has many supporters and he's made his name known both state and nationally by his fight with the federal government to keep state ownership of Texas oil-rich Tidelands.
Daniel started his political career in 1939 as a state representative from Liberty county. He served three terms in the legislature and was chosen speaker of the house in 1943.

Snow Threatens Rescue Of Cattle

GUNNISON, Colo. — (AP) — Continued snow on Colorado's western slope today threatened to halt any attempt to reach 1,500 starving cattle marooned by giant snowdrifts in the mountain country near here.
The animals, valued in excess of half a million dollars, are believed trapped in a valley 20 miles long and two miles wide. Drifts were reported 18 feet deep. More snow was forecast.
Gov. Dan Thornton has termed the situation "critical."
Ranchers appealed to Thornton for aid. They said the valley is practically inaccessible. Haystacks are burned. It is feared the animals would not be able to struggle through the drifts to reach feed dropped from planes.

Negro Golfers Given Okay By PGA Balloting

SAN DIEGO — (AP) — The PGA tournament committee, in a move designed to aid Negro players to compete in its golf tournaments, voted overwhelmingly Saturday to amend its rules.
Horton Smith, PGA president and a member of the tournament committee, said that he resulted in six members approving the new plan. The seventh, Dave Douglas, of Wilmington, Del., was not available by telephone.
The change in the PGA setup will permit Negro amateurs and professionals to play in tournaments co-sponsored by the PGA provided the local sponsor and the local host club approve.
The move climaxed a series of controversies involving the racial issue, which came to a head here last week when Joe Louis, the ex-boxing champ who plays as an amateur, and Negro professional Bill Spiller, of Los Angeles, were first denied entry in the $10,000 San Diego open.
Louis was later accepted as an invited guest but Spiller was refused permission to play because he is not a member of the PGA nor a PGA-accredited player.

How to make a hit twice with the same husband!

Let's say your man is the kind who's impossible at breakfast. And let's say that after a lot of trial and error, you've finally hit on a brand of coffee, or a brand of bacon that makes the guy brighten up—and act almost human at the breakfast table. Well, if you've reached that happy stage in your domestic life, you know what the next step is. You just keep on buying the brand that made a hit. You know that if it was good the first time, it will be just as good the next time. That's the way it is with brand name products. The manufacturer can't afford to let his quality slip, if he does, he'll lose you. Brand names are as much a part of the American way of doing things as free elections. They make you the boss. You decide what you like, and buy it. You decide what you don't like, and avoid it. And that power of choice is what keeps all manufacturers trying to outdo each other for your favor, making their products better and better, offering you more and more for your money. Just think how different life would be if there were no brand names to help you identify the kind of car you want to buy, the kind of clothes you want to wear, the kind of food you want to feed to your children! Use your power of choice to get what you want. Know your brands—study the ads in these pages—and you will get what pleases you best—again and again and again.

Has Margaret Finally Decided To Marry? Earl In Favored Spot

By CHARLES WHITING
 LONDON (AP) — Has Princess Margaret finally decided to marry the young man she teased and tormented during their growing-up days?
 It looks that way. Events of the past few weeks give every indication that Britain's lively princess has said "yes" to the Earl of Dalkeith, rangy Scottish forester and dog-breeder.
 The earl is 28 and has just about everything in his favor for marrying into the royal family. He is heir to the Duke of Buccleuch, one of the richest peers of the kingdom.
 Walter John Francis Montagu-Douglas-Scott is the earl's full name. He has known Margaret since she first began to have birthday parties in the school-room she shared with Princess Elizabeth in Buckingham palace. She is his first cousin.
 Margaret is 21 — old enough and forthright enough to speak her own mind. Since her 17th birthday she has been dated and squires by countless young blokes. Some of them gave up the case and married other girls.
 But Johnny was always in the background — the faithful squire. It's almost a classic case of the shy, adoring boy next door being kept on the hook by the most popular girl in town.
 Except that Margaret and Johnny were usually separated by hundreds of miles.
 But there were always family parties to bring them together. At these, the merry-eyed young princess would stay up half the night dancing, distributing her favors impartially.
 But in the morning, her petite figure covered in a heavy coat and her dark hair mantled with a gay scarf, she could often be seen striding across the moors or fields of Scottish thistledown beside the lanky earl — hurrying her steps to keep pace with his long strides and chatting easily about everything in the world.
 Then she would be off, and the earl would hear about her visiting the theaters and cabarets of London's gay Mayfair, which she loves, or vacationing in Paris or Italy.
 The earl would go back to supervising his father's vast estates and working with his gun dogs until the next party and a chance to be with the pretty princess once again.
 gain of nine pounds since Christmas.

 "Feed the brute," the wise old wives used to say. And if good living thickened his waistline, at least that made him less attractive to other women.
 As for the man, any honest wife will tell you that he seldom takes a good look at her — and when he does, he sees her as the shy, slender girl he married, though she may by this time have all she can do to squeeze into a size 32 skirt.

Austria Takes Olympic Skiing Race From U. S.

BAD GASTEIN, Austria (AP) — U.S. men Olympic skiers could do no better than 17th place in an international Slalom race in which Austrians captured the first three places Saturday.
 In contrast to the U.S. women, who won first and third places Friday, the men were completely outdistanced yesterday and one of the aces of their team, Jack Reddish of Salt Lake City, was disqualified. Reddish fell and skidded off the course on his first run.
 Brooks Dodge of Gorham, N.H., 22-year old Dartmouth student, led the Americans across the finish. He was 11th in the 80-man field with a time of 1:35.4 for the two trips down the side of the mountain. Anton Speis, Austria's major hope for the Olympic title, was first with 1:27.7.

Writer Doubts Expert's Advice To Be Thin And Happily Wed

By ED CREAGH
 (For Hal Boyle)
 WASHINGTON (AP) — Mad at your wife — or husband? Thinking of going home to mother — or father? Convinced, after giving it a fair trial, that you plucked a persimmon in the garden of love?
 Wait, friend. There's hope for you yet. An easy-as-pie new formula, just published in "This Week" magazine, tells how you can put the magic back into your marriage — if you live.
 The secret: lose weight. Not just a few pounds from around the hips. Lots of weight. Pounds and pounds. Get to be scrawny, in fact. Thin down to the point where you'll have to walk past twice to cast a shadow.
 This is the conclusion to be drawn from a survey called "predicting success or failure in marriage," by E. W. Burgess and L. S. Cottrell, Jr. They make no bones about it: Skinny bony people have happier marriages than their better-padded neighbors.
 The happiest husbands and wives, say the authors, are likely to be 15 pounds or more underweight, which seems to show once and for all that malnutrition does more than psychiatry can to justify woman's ways to man.
 Well, maybe. But it doesn't work out that way among the people in our neighborhood.
 It may be just coincidence, but the only couple within three locks who regularly slug it out at the drop of an insult are thin, pale people.
 And the most contented couple, on the other hand, are a man with a Charles Laughton figure and a woman with the approximate girth of abeach cabana. They hold hands in public fater 15 years of marriage and they don't care who sees them.
 The wife in this case started worrying about her weight, a few years back, and went on a diet. She lost weight, all right. But she also lost her good disposition.
 One night, watching her husband tie into the potatoes and gravy, she threw a salt shaker at him. He was so outraged that, for the first time in his life, he went out and got loaded. When he came home, she wouldn't let him in.
 He went to a hotel, phoned a lawyer, and it looked like the end of their romance. But his wife ate a couple of cream puffs to soothe her nerves and felt so much better that she went downtown and apologized to her husband. They went on a second honeymoon and there hasn't been a cross word between them since. She weighs in at 187 today, a 15 different American stock automobiles—equipped as you buy them—were driven by Motor Trend Magazine as hard as steel and rubber can be driven. In these actual road tests of efficiency and performance, measured by the most accurate instruments obtainable, Chrysler proved itself superior to all others. In 13 tests Chrysler was first in 7—tied in 2, making a total of 9 out of 13... and first in total points!

Only by taking an engine to the limit of its potential, only by turning the corners at high speeds, applying brakes for emergency stops, torturing body, springs and shock absorbers, can you learn just what performance you can expect from the make of car you drive. The results of the Motor Trend tests were conclusive... as Chrysler, again, proved itself the one best car in America.

The Motor Trend Award, like numerous other honors today's Chrysler has won, is both a proof of and a tribute to Chrysler's magnificent Fire-Power engine and master engineering. Each demonstrates why, among men and women who know automobiles... Chrysler is always the first choice.

Taft Has Chance To Make Issues Clear

As the political battle lines within the Republican party begin to form, it becomes clearer that Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio has a golden opportunity to present a clear set of issues in the national convention—and in the election.

We can start in on this thesis on the theory that Harry Truman will be the Democratic candidate or that whoever uses him will have Harry's unequalled support. He will be a New Dealer, a dogooder, a one-worshiper, an advocate of big government and indifferent about taking over more and more liberties from the American people.

He will want, as he has recently asked, five billion dollars more spending money from a people already desperate from their tax burden. And so on. This, then will be the picture of the Democratic candidate. Against this type of candidate, the Republicans will have to do one of two things (1) start a "metoo" chorus that has already cost the Republicans their national leadership or (2) steadfastly and determinedly meet such a challenge.

We have heard repeatedly that "the working man and the farmer" will never vote for Taft because they never had it so good. But even the working man and the farmer who have been pined with federal money and patronage are beginning to discover that all is not gold that glitters. They, too, can see that they are making more dollars than ever before but that their dollars are buying less and less. They too are discovering that the 40-hour week is a wonderful way to spend time to do lots of loafing but for some reason there isn't enough money to go round on such a week.

They are beginning to find that they have to work more and more, longer and harder and still aren't getting any place. They are discovering that more and more of their friends and neighbors are losing sons in battle in Korea and that "the big shots" in government are getting fat through corruption and great in government while they are paying the bill.

Coming in upon such a scene, Taft has the opportunity to offer to the people a change in such a system of government. He can tell the people frankly and truthfully that he does not offer a head of steam but that they want to start a return to the old American way of life they will have to be willing to work for it.

Taft is in a position to draw a sharp battle line and to bring to a head the struggle that is going to take place when we finally reach the end of the road of spending. We cannot help but feel that "the working man" and "the farmer" and every segment of American life is longing for an opportunity to express his opposition to the type of government that we have had under Harry Truman. We feel that if the issues are made clean cut that the American people will vote for the American way of life and will be willing to turn their backs on socialism.

Jumping to conclusions doesn't always end in happy landings.

ODDS AND ENDS

My guess is that we'll be rid of Anna Rosenberg this year. The Hungarian-born diet dictator, who reminds me of the screaming Red Starbuckian shrew, Anna Pauler, seems to be opening her mouth too wide and too often these days and she's making enemies even of those who once loved her. We've managed to survive her threats of what she'd do if Congress wouldn't let her grab 18-year-olds and her big-brother profanity and even her writings on Red publications but I doubt if she herself will survive the growing storm that is ready to crack down around her warty dome. It's about time.

For one thing, she's a liability. I doubt whether Truman will want on his hands when with an election coming up and such characters as Caudle, McGrath, Hiss and others rising like ghosts to haunt him. Keeping anyone as openly hated by the Americans as Red Rosie before the public eye isn't likely to win votes.

Even Mrs. Annenberg's Philadelphia inquirer, who originally denounced her, who fought Rosie's confirmation to her job, has gotten a belly-ful of her. The paper said editorially: "The AP wirephoto below tells us all we need to know about Mrs. Anna Rosenberg and why she ought to be relieved as Assistant Secretary of Defense."

"Anna, as usual, is in the center of this picture sent from someone in the State Department, in the GI's of the 24th Division. Keeping their distance in the background, on Anna's orders, are the top-ranking officers who accompanied the boys at the draft and had explained to her what was going on."

"Perhaps some of the officers separated from their men were not wholly surprised by Anna's antics. The GI's drafted and landed in the Philippines she is referred to as 'Ma'am Bangles' by ranking military personnel because of the gold chain bracelet which jangles like a bell at each imperious wave of her hand."

"Some of the GI's may have been impressed, but not in the way Mrs. Rosenberg thought. It is a highly unusual procedure for a military man to be courted by the front lines with a war going on and do everything possible to torpedo the military chain of command."

"On the basis of her failure to understand about vital military considerations Mrs. Rosenberg has shown that she is unfit for her post and should get out. It is a certainty that a majority of trained military men would approve."

That doesn't sound to me as though Red Rosie was the Korea veterans' pin-up girl one of her publicity hounds gagged the newspapers with. No doubt some of the boys at the front would like to pin her up but not in any spirit of love and idolatry.

SMITH VS. BARUCH I've often severely criticized Gerald R. Smith but when he attacks collectivism (better known as Communism) and such characters as Bernard Baruch, he is rendering a public service and I'm thoroughly agreed with him on those points. In his monthly magazine, THE CROSS AND FLAG, published in St. Louis, Smith really sets off some fireworks. I think Smith's almost fanatical mixing of the Jewish and the Communist without clearly distinguishing between Communist Jews and patriotic ones—which weakens his effectiveness. However, I suppose he finds it quite profitable in the matter of raising funds, just as the Anti-Defamation League perhaps finds it profitable to use Smith as a bogey-man with which to frighten Jews and collect money from them. It could be a racket.

Smith really banged around over the noggin in his latest issue, referring to Baruch as "impudent." Smith comments that old B. B. "has made a brazen suggestion which almost hurls the imagination of Adlai to the moon, that all humans between 17 and 70, male and female, be drafted by the Government to do what they are told, he now suggests that the United States be given power to set the price of everything in every nation on earth."

Smith doesn't like that idea. He doesn't like old B. B.'s being called an "elder statesman" either. In fact, he doesn't like B. B. And neither does this column. I can't see a single shred of difference between what Baruch advocates and what has been advocated—and put in force—by every tyrant and enemy of human liberty from Ahab to Stalin. Smith has my sympathy in working over the Baruches and Ewings and Deweys and Trumans. I am glad to see anyone who has taken to praising Jews who are fighting Communism—men like Rabbi Schultz and some leaders of the Jewish War Veterans.

Better Jobs

By E. C. HOLLES

'The Freedom To Move'

Here is more of "The Freedom To Move" written by Oscar W. Cooley, radio director of the Indiana Farm Bureau Cooperative Association, and Paul Poirot, staff member of the Foundation for Economic Education.

Single copies of this article can be obtained without cost by writing to the Foundation for Economic Education, Irvington-on-Hudson, New York.

I continue to quote: "In the community of Hometown, U. S. A., suppose there are 10,000 people, and that 500 of them have jobs in the booming local automobile assembly plant. Now suppose wages and working conditions at the plant are so favorable that 500 'foreigners' are attracted to jobs there. They might even be willing to accept lower than the prevailing wages in order to get the jobs at the automobile factory. But this doesn't necessarily throw the 500 former employees out of work. Instead, a whole chain of events comes into play automatically, creating new jobs. Another manufacturer, or the same one, observing the abundant labor force, decides to build a new assembly plant in the area. New homes will be needed, and the building trade will take new employees. New stores, banking facilities, service industries and farm production will be needed, attracting investment capital to the community and creating new job opportunities. That is the way to progress under the expanding, competitive, free market system we have known in America. Capital and people keep the move toward the most attractive job opportunities. Individuals thus do what no government can do for them."

Hometown, Socialized "Suppose, then, that this same community had been socialized, and that 500 unsuspecting newcomers seek entry. In other words, suppose that the individual freedom of choice in the community had been delegated to a central planning authority—the socialist government. One manifestation of such governmental authority would be a closed union shop at the automobile assembly plant, that union working in close collaboration with similar unions in all other major industries in the community. No wage cutting by 'foreigners' under those conditions! Jobs only for those who were 'born here!' The 500 newcomers would live on public assistance idleness, and, according to the theory, the rest of the community would support them."

"Another manifestation of governmental authority in the socialized community is to be seen in the farm price support program and production quotas. No new quotas could be granted to newcomers under those conditions!"

"Meanwhile, of course, such industries as banking, mining, transportation, housing, electrical power, communications—eventually all industry—would be nationalized. Under socialism, there ceases to be any private property which government can confiscate for redistribution as subsidies, payments, or other bribes to voters."

"Outright confiscation or progressive taxation of all income and property, for distribution to those who produce nothing, bars all hope of progress within a community. In that event, further growth of the community by immigration becomes a thing to be feared and ruthlessly curbed, since its sole attraction for those who are allowed to share in the loot is that while there also must be a police force to prevent escape from the community of those persons with income or property that can be looted. Since the period of looting and failure—the danger of a seldom-foreseen—what can the socialized community do except close its doors to foreigners?"

ANGLO-FRENCH RELATIONS "Truth" London, England

The explanation given for Mr. Churchill's forthcoming visit to France is not convincing. According to the Paris correspondent of The Times newspaper, the Prime Minister desires "to acquaint the French Government with the ideas which he proposes to put forward in Washington when he meets President Truman. It would, indeed, be a sad lookout if Mr. Eden, or for that matter, the British Ambassador, were thought incompetent to convey that information on his behalf. This country has no great liking for the idea of a peripatetic Prime Minister. It is generally felt that such visits are not conducive to the national dignity. The thought of Mr. Churchill as the ambassador of the White House, for instance, gives no pleasure. Nor is it believed that the fuss of darting here and there provides the best atmosphere for a sober consideration of national affairs."

There is something to be said, nevertheless, for the gesture which Mr. Churchill is making to the French people. He has let it be known that Britain, very wisely, will have nothing to do with dangerous federal schemes, but that does not mean there is not a very real community of interest between the two countries. It is essential that Anglo-French relations, neglected by the Socialist Government, should be assiduously cultivated, and a policy of mutual support, especially on colonial questions, drawn up and loyally followed. The simple truth today is that in their respective spheres, both the United States of America and the Soviet Union exercise far too much power. A comprehensive Western European understanding, without antagonizing our American friends, could do much to redress the balance.

A California gold digger having become rich, desired a friend to procure for him a library of books. The friend obeyed, and received a letter of thanks thus worded: "I am obliged to you for the library of books. I particularly admire a grand religious poem about Paradise, by Mr. Milton, and a set of plays (quite delightful) by Mr. Shakespeare. These gentlemen should write and publish anything more, be sure and send me their new works."

Fair Enough... Dirty Political Fight Looms As Truman Threatens General

By WESTBROOK-PEGLER

PARIS — If you put your mind to it you can easily realize that President Truman's threat to show General Eisenhower with rotten eggs and mud if he accepts a presidential nomination from the Republican party has created a very uncomfortable situation at the Supreme Headquarters of the Allied Powers in Europe.

The general is now a declared political opponent of the President, but with that understood, you must realize that Truman is a spiritual effort to unite many young men of many nations in a crusade that may demand the sacrifice of their lives. It is also the enemy of the President.

Truman never tolerates political opponents. His opponents are Army men and his may mean that some of them will have to make a decision to retire and string along with him in the belief that as President Billy Evans, the umpire, a stylish boxer and a game young fellow, met Ty at his appointment under the Washington grandstand after a routine row-in-a-ban game and had barely got his hands up in a formal Jim Mace attitude before he found himself on the ground, Ty at his throat, choking him with his necktie and pounding his skull against the concrete base of a steel pillar. Ty fought for keep and so does Truman. So, with Truman in it, this must be a dirty fight.

With the exceptions of Huey Long and Andrew Jackson, Truman is the most ferocious rough-and-tumble brawler in our presidential history. He lacks Long's amazing intelligence and cleverness but he shares to the utmost, Dirty's abandon in huffing, lists, dirty insinuations and insults and these undoubtedly were what he had in mind when he spoke of rotten eggs and mud. Who else would hurl the rotten eggs and mud? How could he speak for any other Democratic candidate but Harry S. Truman? He has Jackson's strange cruelty but it is a snarling nastiness whereas Old Hickory was a frontiersman in an age of personal politics. And, of course, he is absolutely ignorant of Jackson's integrity, which instinctively prompted him to make a great financial sacrifice to redeem the debts of a foster son who was in one important respect, a model for Elliott Roosevelt. The bankruptcy of Truman's necktie store and the scandalous loan of the public school funds to his mother by the Federal board of county supervisors in Kansas City with dispose of any attempt to compare him with Jackson in that phase. And his merciless persecution of Maurice Milligan, the U. S. attorney who sent Pendergast to prison—is the classical example of his uncomprehending badness. He was devoted to that horrible old rogue with the passion of a punk to a big-shot in the underworld of Al Capone and he took swagging pride in the public wrecking of a painful revenge on a local public servant. Now Ike has a lot of other things to be proud of other than here you have careers at stake and you must realize that always, or almost always, such a commander is a hero to his subordinates and requires and gets their personal loyalty. These generals, starting with Alfred M.

Darling!

Looking Sideways

By WHITNEY BOLTON

The news from Mr. sen Washer, a lustrous source of what is called important information, is that Miss Teresa Wright will be seen this spring in a play on Broadway, and as a man who California-ranched within a stone's throw of her acreage I can only hope that Miss Wright has better spirit of it than her sisters and brothers of cinema. With few exceptions, the boys and girls of movieland have found Broadway thorny and painful this season.

What happened about a year ago was that Broadway and Hollywood decided to exchange jackets. There was a time when Hollywood borrowed or kidnaped the cream of Broadway in the hope of selling a ticket to the star-dazzled public. Now Broadway, finding itself deep in costs, has been luring screen stars to the stage in the hope of coming a little extra money into the box office. It seems the jacket doesn't fit. The pampered dears have been clouted over the head, hit with spitballs and jeered. It is ironic that the one girl snagged off Vine Street for Broadway during the last conflict doesn't plan to send these far-reaching agreements to the Senate for ratification. He regards them as executive contracts, not treaties.

Another lady of films who never disappoints in the theater is Miss Jessica Tandy. She is currently preoccupied with "The Forsytes," a two-character study of marriage in which her husband, Hume Cronyn, plays her husband. Naturally, whenever Rex Harrison and Lilli Palmer come long the volte gage goes on Broadway, but these are folk of theater as much as of cinema and it is hardly fair to lump them in with the flicker belles and beaux.

Miss Ann Southern came along to perform with Robert Cummings in a play of cold worms and was given a thorough drubbing by the Manhattan drama critics. At about the same time, Miss Ginger Rogers harassed herself into a play and while the play itself was no great shakes, Miss Rogers emerged from the scuffle better than most of her cinema friends. She not only managed to act this charade as though it made sense, but she equipped herself with a wardrobe that dazzled every female eye in sight and was even seen to soften up some resistant males.

Miss Gloria Swanson undertook a horror called "Nina," and but- tress the gamble by hiring David Niven as one of two men involved with her in the play. Miss Swanson didn't receive unanimous cheers, but was counted as being better than her play. Which, incidentally, was Mrs. Niven still in a state of head-burial suffering under a watchful critical typewriters' jetty at him.

Miss Margaret O'Brien, still in the adolescent class, went for a party by Clare Boothe Luce concerning a Brooklyn girl who was unaware of her divine gifts. This one perished on the road after a few desultory performances. Miss O'Brien has been described to me by members of the cast as a fine kid who tried hard, equalled a great odds. I'm willing to believe that.

Success Secrets

By ELMER WHEELER

True Futures, Inc. is incorporated in the state of Opportunity. A single offering late this summer to about 120 persons resulted in 50 sales, totaling some $670. And—more importantly—provided G. Herbert True and his wife Betty Ann with a knowledge of practical psychology!

Herbert True is a 27-year-old radio-TV producer-writer. "A young man in a hurry" with a flair for the dramatic, he wants to know all there is to know about TV and radio and at the same time manage to provide for a wife and two small sons.

In the summer of 1950 he enrolled in the NBC-TV summer institute and the Northwestern University graduate school, and as a result of the work he did there was offered a graduate scholarship at Northwestern. This fall, which would enable him to complete his master's work and do a good deal of special study into various phases of TV operation.

Despite the fact that the scholarship represented only $330 and half of the tuition for each of two quarters—scarcely enough to support a family of four—True recognized an opportunity.

He set about financing his education by organizing the organization of True Futures, Inc. Getting up a list of some 120 people, True sent them a two-page letter—a professionally printed stock certificate for five shares ($5) of True Futures stock, and a stamped mail deposit slip addressed to a St. Louis bank.

With $700 of his own money, the fact that Northwestern was able to get him satisfactory quarters, but housing for $60 a month, and some odd jobs he has picked up, the money from the sale of stock certificates will see True and his family through the two semesters at Northwestern.

National Whirligig... Foreign Policy Debate May Embarrass Ike And Backers

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — Two grave questions involving final control of American foreign policy, including the power to wage war or a "police action," will be debated out at the current session of Congress and in the 1952 Presidential campaign. The debate may embarrass General Eisenhower and his backers.

Although these problems have not yet attracted general attention in the press or in the House-Senate floor, both Democrats and Republicans have held numerous secret and informal conferences on the matter.

They were discussed at the recent San Francisco meeting of the Republican National committee. The attempt to solve them, or even to decide on an approach to them, has brought wrinkles to the foreheads of presidential candidates and their back-seat advisers.

AGREEMENTS — The problems have assumed dramatic pressure and prominence because of two agreements reached by President Truman and Secretary Acheson in their recent talks with Prime Minister Churchill and Foreign Minister Eden.

The first concerns the statesman's decision that the United States shall not employ a nuclear atomic weapons without Britain's prior approval. Churchill raised the question of joint possession of atomic bases in England.

The second involves the White House promise to support the French and British in Southeast Asia — Indochina, Thailand, Burma, the Federation of Malaya, possibly Dutch Indonesia, and the Chinese Communists invade that storehouse of valuable raw materials on a grand scale.

ACUTE — Even though the United States may not be able to supply troops, the understanding is that since the United States air and naval reinforcement. We are now giving the French force in Indochina hundreds of millions' worth of fighting equipment.

There is also the prospect that the United States may declare a naval blockade and economic boycott of China proper, besides utilizing Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist troops on Formosa.

The Truman-Churchill warning of our preparedness plans may be an all-out invasion. On the other hand, since Indonesia is a rice-rich region is far more important than Korea, it could set the stage and scenery for World War III. A "police action" here might not be restricted to a local area, as in Korea.

Thus the question of control over foreign policy decisions and overseas alliances in an atomic world becomes more acute than ever before. It is aggravated by the fact that President Truman, like Franklin D. Roosevelt before him, during the last conflict does not plan to send these far-reaching agreements to the Senate for ratification. He regards them as executive contracts, not treaties.

The question raised on Capitol Hill in various presidential candidates' camps is: Must our soldiers fight under this handicap, as General MacArthur maintains they are now doing in Korea, until we wait for British consent?

PRECEDENT — The difficulty becomes more serious because, with this pact as precedent, we shall probably make the same agreement with other countries where American forces are stationed in "the containment of Russia" strategy.

The Indochina pledge revives and sharpens the discussion which stirred Congress when Mr. Truman ordered our small and weak forces into Korea without first getting Capitol Hill approval.

General Eisenhower, naturally, has said nothing, although he will have to face the problem eventually. As a military and diplomatic expert, he knows from experience the danger of granting too much power over foreign affairs to a president.

Also as a military man, he has suffered because of the slow pace with which Congress, the British Government and the British Parliament act in time of national peril.

On this question, "Ike" must speak his mind. For it will be one of the major issues of the 1952 campaign.

Handicap — The British objection to our exclusive right to decide on the use of atomic bombs and artillery in a European war is understandable. Such action would make England the first target for retaliation in kind, assuming that the Russian can deliver.

On the other hand, the United States now has six divisions in Europe, and may ship more, if Congress agrees. We also have smaller military forces in England, Austria, Italy, Turkey and North Africa.

It will not serve us with a three-day warning of her intentions. It will be a blitzkrieg affair, with possible use of every variety of atomic weapon she possesses.

Isn't that a real "success" story, with possible use of every variety of atomic weapon she possesses.

Buffaloes Favored To Stun Arizona

By MURRAY SINCLAIR
Associated Press Sports Writer
West Texas State has become the logical favorite to end the University of Arizona's seven-year reign as basketball king-pin of the Border Conference.

It is tied with Arizona and Arizona State College at Tempe with three home-court victories and no defeats. West Texas has been far more impressive in conference play than the other two leaders.

Even with the liberal use of reserves West Texas has won three official starts by almost 31 points per game. Arizona has had a 15-point average over each of its three opponents. But in beating Texas Tech, Arizona had to use its five starters the entire game because of a weak reserve strength. Hadie Redd, Arizona's most improved forward, will not likely be able to play against Tech in Lubbock because he is a Negro.

Tempe had beaten the same opponents as Arizona. It won by an average of nine point per game.

TOPSY-TURVEY RACE
Tech's championship hopes were given a mauling last week when it lost road games to Arizona and Tempe. Even with a disappointing 3-3 record in league play, Tech must be counted as a dangerous contender. It has its biggest chance to start a comeback when it visits West Texas Thursday.

Hardin - Simmons weakened late in its road games with Arizona and Tempe last week and lost them both. It now has a 3-3 record. It plays host to West Texas tonight. Like Tech, it urgently needs to win.

New Mexico A&M, one of the pre-season favorites, was idle as far as official play was concerned last week. It has a 2-2 record and is still regarded as a contender for the title.

With more than one-third of the conference schedule already played, early predictions that it would be a topsy-turvy race from start to finish are coming true.

Chiefs To Play Philrich Tonight

Jim Arndt, manager of the Nobilit-Coffey Chiefs independent amateur basketball team, announced late this morning that the Chiefs would play the Philrich Independents from Buna-Vista tonight.

The game will be played in the Pampa Junior High school gymnasium, starting at 8 o'clock. It will be the second game of the season for the Chiefs, who walloped the Leffers Independents two weeks ago.

The Chiefs will have their all-star cast on hand for the game, including J. W. Malone, Cliff McNeely, Garland Head, Wayne Simpson, Bob Clark and the rest of the top cagers of the area.

Deny Offers For Walker

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
DALLAS — (AP) — Giles Miller, youthful textile tycoon had professional football in Texas today but he was busy trying to fob off offers he was reported to have made for Dock Walker and other stars.

The 31-year-old president and general manager of the Texas Textile Mills, which has international-trade, planned to go to New York to wind up the negotiations under which he acquired the New York Yanks franchise in the National Football League. But it was merely a formality. The deal has been made and pro football will come to Dallas' Cotton Bowl next fall.

BID FOR DOAK?

Miller heads a syndicate which includes his brother, Connell, and a group of unnamed, as yet, persons who paid $300,000 for the franchise. He said "this is like a jigsaw puzzle. We have all the pieces; now all we need to do is put them into place."

No sooner had the news of the sale come than rumors of an offer of $250,000 for Walker, the former Southern Methodist University all-American now with Detroit, and bids for other Southwestern griders, including Sam Baugh of Washington, started flying.

Miller, who said nothing had been done as yet toward club policy, method of operation, etc., declared with a chuckle, Walker might be worth $250,000 but I don't recall sending any telegrams or trying to buy anybody. There are no deals of any kind cooking."

The handsome, black-haired young man, who professes to be one of the most rabid football fans extant, did say he thought pro football would click in Dallas from the start — that there was a potential of more than 1,000,000 fans in this area and that he wanted the Southwesterners he could get on his club. "I don't see how it can miss," he declared. "It's a grand deal for the boys on the Yankee squad and for all others, too. I feel it is a service to football and the Southwest to bring this club to Texas."

Kangaroos Top Texas Conference

(By The Associated Press)
The Austin College Kangaroos dominated Texas Conference play last week by sweeping a close, rugged two-game series from the Texas A&I Javelinas, 46 to 43, and 34 to 56.

Austin and Abilene Christian are tied for first place. Austin has three victories to its credit. Abilene Christian, idle last week, has two wins, both at the expense of A&I. Austin's other triumph was a decision over McMurry.

Only four games were played last week, all by Austin and A&I. The Kangaroos, in addition to the A&I series, dropped an 81-to-54 contest to North Texas State, while Southwest Texas State trounced A&I 85 to 44. A fifth game, a conference contest between Abilene Christian and McMurry, was postponed until Feb. 29 or March 1 due to midsemester holidays for McMurry students.

Tonight Howard Payne opens a two-game series with the strong Brooke Army Medics in Brownwood. The teams meet again tomorrow night. Thursday night McMurry invades San Antonio for two games with Brooke. Texas A&I Friday night has a contest with Texas Lutheran at Seguin.

Saturday night Howard Payne meets Texas Wesleyan at Brownwood.

NFL Cleans Up Other Business

By JOE REICHLER
NEW YORK — (AP) — Giles Miller and a large roll of Texas textile money are scheduled to arrive in the East Thursday to complete the transfer of the New York Yanks' professional football franchise to Dallas.

The National Football League, meanwhile, cleaned up its other business — including a hold-the-line television policy — and left Commissioner Bert Bell to complete the $300,000 deal that takes radio producer Ted Collins out of the professional picture.

MATTER OF ROUTINE

Both Bell and Miller, the 32-year old textile tycoon who heads a syndicate financing the pro venture in Dallas, acknowledged that settlement now is just a matter of routine.

The original schedule called for the deal to be wrapped up in New York but the pro executives concluded their business last night and Bell returned to Philadelphia headquarters.

Frank Fitzgerald, who is expected to be named general manager of the Dallas team, said he had been advised by Miller that there are no plans for selling or trading players on the roster.

This includes the three Negro players — Buddy Young, George Talafero and Sherman Howard. Fitzgerald, son-in-law of Collins and general manager of the Yanks, said he and Miller will go to Philadelphia to finish details of the sale.

The league bought the Yanks from Collins for $100,000 and agreed to the New York baseball Yankee $200,000 for the remaining eight-year lease on use of Yankee Stadium.

The rival football Giants cancelled — they said "with pleasure" — the $175,000 due them from the Yankee's invasion of their territorial rights.

OTHER BUSINESS

Before adjourning, the NFL also transacted the following business:

- 1. Decided to maintain its 1951 restrictive television policy, a non-other year despite a pending anti-trust suit by the government.
- 2. Turned down the proposal, championed by the Chicago Bears' George Halas and Pittsburgh's Art Rooney, for a round robin schedule with every team playing every team in the circuit.
- 3. Rejected Commissioner Bell's proposals for elimination of the extra-point and for sudden-death playoff of all tie games.

Bell announced the league planned to fight the pending television suit to the end. The suit recently was ordered to trial by a Philadelphia federal judge.

League directors voted to remain in its entirety the provision which leaves television policies almost entirely to the individual clubs, with a few restrictions.

No team may televise in a league city where a game is being played without the consent of both clubs involved. A team cannot televise within 75 miles of a league city where a game is being played. All other territory is free territory.

Bell said the league would favor as much television as possible beyond these boundaries, with the title games and bowl games on a coast-to-coast network as last season.

Tennis World In Uproar As Frank, Dick Volley Words

By ED CORRIGAN
NEW YORK — (AP) — What's going to happen when the United States Davis Cup team is selected next year? If Frank Shields still is captain, will he go along with Dick Savitt?

Those and other questions were asked at a meeting of tennis fans today as delegates to the annual United States Lawn Tennis Association's annual meeting gathered.

Shields' unprecedented blast at Savitt, one of the country's top players, whom the captain accused of bringing "discredit to the entire game of tennis" at the Saturday meeting, brought a prompt reply from Dick who is defending his Australian championship in Adelaide.

"I thought Frank was a pretty good captain," said Savitt, obviously upset by Shields' remarks. "I was a bit disappointed at not being named to the team, but I did not think he thought all the things he said. I don't think I ever have been a detriment to tennis."

SHIELDS BLASTS
When Savitt's name came up for discussion as the No. 1 player in the country, Shields rose before the gathering and said:

"I would not like to see Savitt ranked No. 1. I have been with him the last three months, and never once did he look like America's top player. Furthermore, I think that his sounding off after the Davis Cup matches has brought discredit to the entire game of tennis."

Being played without the consent of both clubs involved. A team cannot televise within 75 miles of a league city where a game is being played. All other territory is free territory.

Bell said the league would favor as much television as possible beyond these boundaries, with the title games and bowl games on a coast-to-coast network as last season.

Southwest Conference basketball players cram for examinations instead of trying to cram the baskets this week and action is strictly limited. There are only three games, none counting in the title standings, and they're played at week's end.

Texas Christian, rolling along at the head of the parade with a minimum of effort, plays Oklahoma City University at Oklahoma City Saturday night in the feature game.

TCU not only leads the conference race with four victories against no defeats but the Frogs have by far the best season record. They have won 14 out of 15 games.

Baylor and Rice will fight to see which stays out of the cellar at Waco Friday night. Baylor holds that dubious honor right now but could get out of the wilderness by beating Rice.

Rice showed its best basketball of the season Saturday night in edging Arkansas on its own court, 48-46. It was the Owls' first conference victory.

Texas A&M, tied with Texas for second place, each with a 3-1 record, meets University of Houston of the Missouri Valley Conference at Houston Friday night.

Kroll Captures Top Money

SAN DIEGO, Calif. — (AP) — The golfing hand quit California this week, most of them with a sigh of relief.

For the winners of the state's three major tournaments of the 1952 PGA winter trail — Ted Kroll here, Jimmy Demaret at Pebble Beach, and Tommy Bolt in the Los Angeles Open — memories are doubtless pleasant.

The others can only hope for better luck in play, and no more rain.

Today a chosen few golfers head to neighboring Palm Springs for a two-day $5,000 pro-amateur event.

All will assemble in Arizona next weekend.

The newest celebrity in golf — and recipient of a belated invitation to the Thunderbird Club party — is Ted Kroll, a youngish looking man of 32, of Polish descent, from New Hartford, N.Y.

Kroll won the $10,000 San Diego Open yesterday. He led at the start, with a spectacular 65, and he led at the finish, with a stubborn, well deserved 70, with rounds of 69 and 72 in between.

The result gave the ex-caddie a 12 under par 276, $2000 in cash, and his first major triumph.

Demaret was pressing hard. The two started out four strokes apart. They were still that way at the 33rd hole, but by the 65th Jimmy had trimmed the margin down to two and was booming along in fine style.

Kroll refused to crack. When Jimmy finished with a 69, Kroll followed on in with his 70, under par 70 and the victory by three shots.

If You Can't Spot-Bowl, Keep Your Eyes On Pins, Says Bomar

SPOTTED—Buddy Bomar's first ball shows where it first strikes the alley, the second is passing over the seven-foot dots, the third (the darts). (NEA)

By BUDDY BOMAR

Former Match-Game Champion While many concentrate on the pins, a great number spot-bowl. They select a spot at which they drop the ball and another over which the ball should roll.

Spot-bowlers do not keep their eyes on the pins as they move through the approach but instead look at the spot they have selected on the alley.

Many alleys have installed Rangefinder dots and darts as aids to spot-bowlers.

These consist of two sets of dots at the beginning of the approach to help locate your proper starting position. Seven more spots are located at the four line as a guide for your sliding left foot. Another set of 10 dots are located seven feet beyond the four line to act as a directional guide for your ball, and the final seven darts are imbedded approximately 16 feet down the alley.

Practice on alleys equipped with Rangefinder aids enables you to determine just where you should stand at the approach, and where your ball should be released. These dots and darts help you to find exactly the same spot each time and to groove your delivery.

In the accompanying art, we have three balls located at different positions. The first is where the ball first strikes the alley, the second is where it passes over the seven-foot dots, and the third is passing over the darts.

Another method of checking what went wrong after an incorrect delivery is the study of the left foot at the four line. If it is not lined up with the Rangefinder dot, I intended. I know I drifted too far to one side in my approach.

I don't recommend spot-bowling or pin-bowling. Try both and see which is best suited to you. Many can't develop the knack of spot-bowling.

If you are one of them, stick to pin-bowling.

NEXT: Turn in your spot-

Home Should Be Arranged For Flexibility

Most young couples have a limited furniture budget and there is no better dollar stretcher than a sound working scheme which includes both today's necessities and expansion plans for tomorrow.

Make your plans carefully. First determine the overall character of your house. Will it be traditional, contemporary or a charming mixture of the best of both? Make your color scheme do its part in expressing this decorating plan.

Consider the basic functions of your household: eating, sleeping, storage, entertaining, and family recreation. Good furniture is easy to keep and ease of maintenance must be one of your first considerations.

If you have the usual problem of space limitation, keep the future in mind when you buy. A well designed, well constructed extension table which is just right for your one or two room apartment now, may later become a useful breakfast table in the bay window of your dream house. An attractive table of card table size with a top which unfolds to form a convenient table for six may later furnish a comfortable game corner in your living room.

Many good chests of drawers are made to suit bedroom, living room or dining room equally well. A matched pair will help solve your storage problem with maximum utility and flexibility. Together, they will form an important wall piece in a large living room, and later one may be used in a dining room and

Top O' Texas Insurance Agency Tops For Insurance Protection, Various Loan Plans

Consult Garvin Elkins of the Top O' Texas Insurance Agency in the Duncan building if you have inadequate fire insurance. Fire insurance is one of the specialties of the Top O' Texas Insurance Agency. Do you think you have enough fire insurance or do you know you have? A disastrous fire may mean your financial ruin if you are not adequately protected by insurance. Records show that many property owners who have suffered fire losses recently and have had to pay a greater part of the loss themselves because they failed to increase their insurance in line with today's higher replacement costs.

Few people realize how much their own values have risen due to inflation and new purchases of furniture and equipment. Insurance agents want their clients to be adequately insured, but they cannot always persuade them. Claim files show many sad cases of under-insurance.

Suppose you had to replace everything you own in either your own home or your business. Would your present insurance cover most of your loss? Consider the replacement cost when appraising your fire insurance coverage. Today's values are up from 50 percent to more than double pre-war costs. Now is the time to revise your fire insurance program to cover today's needs. Do it now; tomorrow may be too late.

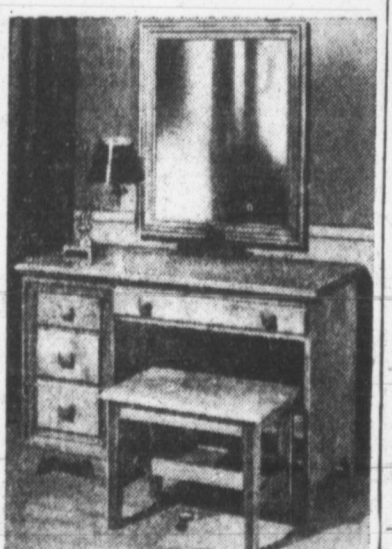

One second of carelessness can cause the loss of many lives and many millions of dollars in property values. One second's carelessness and your life and your property may be the penalty. Don't take chances. See Garvin Elkins of the Top O' Texas as Insurance Agency in Room

Dallas To Brag About Its Fashions

DALLAS — (P) — Dallas will do a little bragging about its multi-million dollar fashion industry Wednesday night when it awards the annual "Dallas Alice" statuette.

The trophies are given by the city to top Dallas designers in four fields of fashion: active sports, spectator sports, dresses and children's wear.

Mayor J. B. Adoue, Jr. will present the awards at a banquet and fashion show in the Baker hotel here.

Six judges will make their selections at a preview of the show Wednesday afternoon. The clothes will be chosen from summer collections of some 40 Dallas manufacturers.

The judges are: Miss Dorothy Shaver, New York, president of Lord and Taylor; F. B. Cresap, Miami Beach, Fla., Burdines; W. F. Simmons, Detroit, Mich., J. L. Hudson Co.; H. J. Nutting, Chicago, Marshall Field; L. G. Long, Atlanta, Ga., Rich's; Walter Brunmark, Los Angeles, Calif., The May Companies.

Churchill Appears Willing To Follow U. S. Leadership

WASHINGTON (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill, in reshaping British policy in critical areas of the world, appears to be fully prepared to follow United States leadership in the Far East while seeking American support for British leadership in the Middle East.

Two new policy developments stood out in the 77-year-old statesman's address to Congress and both bore on this interpretation of his aims.

With respect to the Far East, Churchill endorsed U. S. protection of the Chinese Nationalist island of Formosa in spite of the fact that the previous labor government in Britain recognized the Communist regime in China and Churchill has continued to do so.

His endorsement was in line with word from his talks with Mr. Truman to the effect that Churchill does not intend to permit his government's technical relationship with the Chinese Red administration to interfere with his support of the overall American line of action in the Far East.

While the split between London and Washington over Chinese recognition remains on considerably in importance.

For the Middle East, Churchill painted a gloomy picture of Britain's declining power and influence in an area where it once was supremely dominant and made it clear that he would like to be supported by the United States and other countries with Middle Eastern interests.

This wish was dramatized by his statement that he would welcome "token forces" to help guard the Suez Canal and keep it open for world traffic. His proposition apparently took American officials by surprise. What the response will be remains to be determined. The proposal will be studied in terms both of U. S. relations with Britain and hopes for promoting a friendly settlement of current differences between Britain and Egypt.

Generally, Churchill's speech was well received in diplomatic quarters here as an eloquent statement of his long-time appeal for the closest kind of British-American cooperation around the world.

Particular gratification was expressed by some authorities at the extent to which he spoke enthusiastically of the American policy of restoring Japan to an equal place in the family of nations. The feeling was that while the British certainly fear a revival of vigorous Japanese competition in world markets, the overall American-British agreement of Japan's political future will make it possible to work out specific problems as they arise.

The Order of the Purple Heart decoration for military merit was established by George Washington on Aug. 7, 1782, when it first was awarded. Only three men, all non-commissioned officers, received the tribute at that time.

'THIS IS MY BEST'

No. 10 in a series

MRS. W. L. HESKE

It's not unusual to visit in Mrs. W. L. Heske's delightful kitchen and find her baking from one to a dozen cakes at a time. In the picture above she is holding one of the numerous cakes she has decorated in recent months. Also in the picture are 10 other cakes she baked for the Paw-Taw square dance club party last week. She baked everything from devil's food to a plain white cake and a dozen persons. A layer cake will serve 16 people and a loaf cake will make 18 servings.

Baking sprees like this have earned Mrs. Heske a title as one of the "never-fail cake-bakers" in Pampa. Her cakes are not only delicious, but decorative as well. She likes nothing better than to bake a cake for a friend's birthday, and when there's any illness among friends in her church or various clubs, Mrs. Heske always gets busy and bakes them a cake.

Cooking is one of her many hobbies. Many of her recipes were given to her by her mother who came to this country from Yugoslavia. Her mother also taught her the need for flour which the Yugoslavians are famous. Mrs. Heske is also a ceramist, but her first love is cooking, and her friends have determined her lemon cake recipe is the very best she has.

LEMON CAKE

2 1/2 cups cake flour
1 1/2 cups sugar
1 tsp. baking powder
1 tsp. salt
1 1/2 cup soft shortening
3/4 cup milk
1 1/2 tsp. lemon extract
1 1/4 cup milk
2 eggs

Put first seven ingredients in bowl and beat two minutes with electric mixer. Beat 1/4 cup milk and eggs two minutes and add to other ingredients. Pour into well-greased and floured pans and bake 25 minutes in moderate oven.

LEMON FILLING

1 1/2 cups sugar
4 tbs. flour
pinch of salt
1 1/2 cups water
6 tbs. lemon juice
1 tbs. grated lemon rind
2 tbs. butter

Cook all ingredients together except rind and butter until thick, stirring constantly. Take from heat, add lemon rind and butter and let cool. Spread between layers and ice top and sides with filling and cover with coconut.

Cakes are not the only popular product of the Heske kitchen. Her traditional Potica, a Slovenian walnut bread, is always talked about when it's baked on Christmas and Easter. She doesn't know how long the recipe has been in her family, but she explains that there's a "knack" in making the bread and rolling it paper-thin. When complete and ready for slicing, the bread is quite thin, but the filling is thick and chewy — really delicious.

POTICA

two cakes yeast
1 1/4 cup lukewarm water
2 cups scalded milk
two tps. salt
1 1/4 cup sugar
1 1/4 cup butter
two well-beaten eggs
eight cups sifted flour
Soften yeast in water. Scald milk and combine it with sugar and salt and butter. Blend thoroughly. Cool to lukewarm, add eggs and yeast. Blend. Sift six cups flour into bowl. Gradually add milk mixture, beating vigorously. Gradually add two cups flour, or enough to make a medium dough. Place on well-floured board and knead 15 minutes. Place in large, greased bowl, cover with damp cloth and let rise in a warm place until twice the bulk — about two hours.

WALNUT FILLING

one cup milk
one cup ground walnuts
three unbeatn eggs
one cup honey
1 1/2 cup sugar

Scald milk in heavy skillet over low heat. Add nuts and let mixture come to a boil, stirring constantly. Add eggs one at a

IRAQ (called Mesopotamia before World War I) is a land of strange paradoxes. It is a land of incredible wealth (oil and agriculture), but also a land of abject poverty. Most of its 5,000,000 inhabitants are Moslems, many of them are roving herdsmen. Ancient Iraq is the cradle land of our Bible, between the Tigris and Euphrates Rivers, and land of the Garden of Eden, but in the family of nations it is a comparative youngster. Carved from the Turkish empire after World War I, it was mandated to Britain in 1920. The present kingdom was established in 1921. It remained under mandate until 1932, when it became independent under King Faisal II. The present king, Faisal II, born in 1935, has been ruler in name (under regency of an uncle) since he was four. During World War II, Nazi intrigue threatened to get control of the country and the British occupied it to forestall the Germans. Our GI's remember Iraq as incredibly hot and dry, a nation of strange customs and many diseases, with its mosques and its women "off limits." They went there to help defend the strategic "land bridge" between Europe and Asia and keep open the Persian Gulf "back door" to our then ally Russia. Now, Britain is responsible for keeping Iraq free of Soviet aggression, but in the wave of nationalism sweeping the Arab nations, Iraq, too, has recently given out rumblings that it wants to shake free of British influence. The world's eighth largest oil producer at its Mosul and Kirkuk fields, Iraq stands in greatest need of harnessing its rivers for power, irrigation and flood control.

Truman Supporter Declares Wrongdoers Must Be Ousted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator Lehman (D-N.Y.), an administration supporter, said the Democratic party "will not hold or deserve the confidence of the people" unless wrongdoers are routed out of federal jobs and punished.

The New Yorker said (1) "corruption in government is bad on its own account" and (2) it also provides "America's enemies abroad" with deadly ammunition for propaganda against us.

Lehman's blunt election year remarks were in a speech prepared for delivery at a meeting here of the Women's National Democratic club.

Although he called for a prompt and vigorous housecleaning by the Truman administration, Lehman said he would "give no comfort to politically inspired and politically-biased attacks upon the government service as such — attacks which seek political revenge rather than constructive reform."

He told a reporter before making the address he hopes Mr. Truman runs for another term. "I think he is by far the strongest candidate the Democrats could put up," he said.

The senator spoke against a background of mounting indications Republicans will make the recent disclosures of wrongdoing in government a major issue in this year's presidential and congressional election campaigns.

As for foreign propaganda on the corruption issue, Lehman termed it serious but actually "only a minor note in the symphony of hate being played from Moscow," he added.

"While we refer to the denial of personal liberty behind the iron curtain, radio Moscow points to McCarthyism in this country."

That was a reference to the Communists — in government charges made by Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) whose methods Lehman said without naming past.

In another part of his speech, Lehman said without naming McCarthy:

"We should be shocked at the pillaging of people's reputations as the stripping from them of their good names and characters, by political hucksters who, under the protection of legislative immunity, pillory people as Communists and subversives. This is indecent and immoral."

Told of Lehman's remarks, McCarthy said he had no comment.

Lehman said the whole nation needs "a strengthening of its moral fiber."

"The overall situation involves the dangerous decline of moral force, not only in government, but in business; not only in public life but in private life as well," he said, adding:

"I believe that violation of the public trust is reprehensible and inexcusable. The government in all its branches must be purged of those in position of trust who show themselves insensitive to the moral values of honesty, integrity and incorruption."

"If the government does not pursue prompt and vigorous action to dismiss and punish those who have betrayed their trust, the Democratic party will not hold or deserve the confidence of the people."

In his state of the union message last week, President Truman declared he would "see to it that federal employees who have been guilty of misconduct are punished for it." He said they would be weeded out of government jobs.

Mr. Truman at the same time voiced confidence in the majority of federal workers, Lehman agreed wholeheartedly.

Lehman added that "dishonesty in government" which has been disclosed has resulted in part from "persistent attacks on the right of government servants to think independently."

He said such attacks have "discouraged the qualities of initiative, enterprise and integrity in the government service generally," and that "the crusader, running the risk of being called a Communist, has either left the government service or has lapsed into lassitude."

More than half the world's mass is made up of neutrons, fundamental building blocks of matter, yet they are the most difficult of all nuclear particles to detect.

India's capital is New Delhi.

Meeting with the President. The general reported in his book that Truman "definitely and specifically" offered to help make him president in 1948. Was a second offer made last November?

OFFERED TRUMAN'S JOB TWICE?

DENIAL FOLLOWS DENIAL

He tells a Cincinnati reporter in 1949 he "isn't in politics, hasn't been, isn't going to be." Despite such repeated disavowals, top GOP leaders like Dewey, Lodge and Duff insisted he was their man.

Swing To Smoother Living: New Furniture Adds Comfort, less Wear

By EFFA BROWN

The trend toward smoother living—in full swing, judging from the attractive new furniture on display at the International Homefurnishings market. Designers and manufacturers are presenting sensibly styled, versatile furniture that reveals a flair of imagination that is immensely refreshing.

One manufacturer even ventures the prediction that we are witnessing the birth of a new furniture style which he characterizes as something less severe than the accepted modern and less formal than the traditional furniture of the 18th century. In other words, facile furniture that is geared to our current easy-going mode of life.

And since today's pattern of living requires furniture which can take daily use without too much care, native woods — maple, pine, oak, cherry and other fruitwoods — are in demand. All of these woods take light natural finishes which have pleasing warmth and are easy to care for.

Lacquers is the favorite finish for several reasons, not the least being its resistance to heat. In fact, new furniture lacquers are so universally heat resistant that it is no longer considered necessary for a salesman to mention the fact.

Many of the old favorites in wood are reappearing. Crotch cherry and birdseye maple are two of these woods which lend interest to furniture, however simple in line, because of their natural markings.

In one grouping that is attracting favorable attention are a variety of small modern tables with plank-type tops of birdseye maple veneer. These tops rest on hardwood bases which are finished in ebony for contrast. On these bases the lack of sharp edges and gently tapering lines rather give the impression of tubular metal.

Metal in many forms also is being used for the new type furniture, both by itself in black or colored finishes and in combination with wood, glass, marble and upholstery.

One conclusion is inevitable after viewing the 1952 Homefurnishings market. We are no longer a nation of followers insofar as home fashions are concerned. We are intent, rather, upon living the way that best suits us in homes that best answer our individual needs. Henceforth we will choose our furnishings to provide suitable backgrounds for our own favorite way of living.

Texan In Washington Steeped In Early American History

By TEX EASLEY

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Edith Carlile Winerich, born and reared in West Texas, has no college degree but she is steeped in American history.

Her knowledge has come straight from the original documents from which the massive National Archives building on Pennsylvania Avenue.

Mrs. Winerich, whose formal education ended with the public schools in her native Roscoe, is in charge of one section of the Archives building, where millions of original documents and letters are preserved for posterity.

In her section are all the files of the Treasury department — and these includes much, much more than just documents about financial affairs.

Mrs. Winerich went to San Angelo after graduation from Roscoe High school to take a job with the Retail Merchants Assn. She stayed with that organization for 15 years, then came to Washington. She worked for the Army in the Pentagon from 1943 to 1946, handling records, and since then has been with the Archives.

Lyle J. Holverstott, director of the division including Mrs. Winerich's section, says she spends much of her spare time in browsing through the old records.

"I'm an Ohioan," he said, "but she is sure making all of us Texas conscious around here."

Not long ago she uncovered an original ship manifest showing that Stephen F. Austin landed in the port of New Orleans Aug. 1, 1835. He was aboard the brig Wanderer, which had sailed from Vera Cruz. When he landed he listed his personal effects. These included one trunk, one carpet bag, arms, bedding and one bag of beans for seed. Austin was described as a planter. The 170-ton vessel was built in Maine and registered Sept. 23, 1833, in Baltimore.

The manifest, forwarded to the Treasury here by the Collectors of Customs at New Orleans, also showed that other passengers in the cabin with Austin included John Henchman, a botanist, and a "Mr. San Angelo, lady and a servant," who brought with them two trunks, three clothes bags, a guitar and case, and bedding.

She also found in Light House division records that the first such service maintained by the United States in Texas after she joined the Union was a light ship anchored inside Galveston bar in 1849. She had a light 48 feet above the water which could be seen for a distance of 12-12 nautical miles.

Moored in 28 feet of water, the vessel served to guide ships across the bar. The records contain this note:

"Strangers should not approach Galveston bar from the eastward without a pilot, in less than seven fathoms of water. They may anchor with safety in seven fathoms of water with the light ship bearing west by north."

The first light houses in Texas maintained by the government went into service in 1852. Three of them were listed in the records as being put into operation that year: one at Point Bolivar (Galveston); one in Matagorda Island at Pass Cavallo, and one at Point Isabel, Prazos Island, near Brownsville.

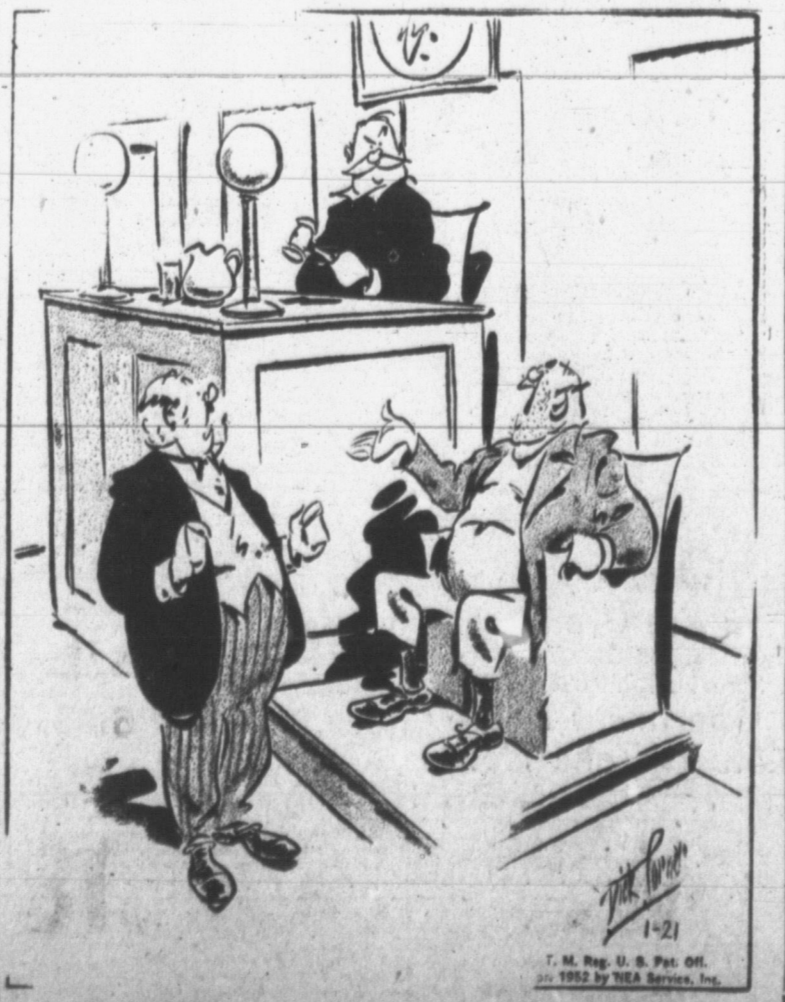

A fourth light house was established at Pass Aransas in 1855. It was 60 feet above sea level and cast a beam visible 13 nautical miles in the Gulf.

The Point Bolivar light house reflector was 117 feet above the water and visible 16 miles at sea. In the files was an original deed, signed by the then Texas governor, J. Hansbrough Bell, conveying title to the U. S. government of land on which it was built.

The Matagorda bay light was 91 feet above the water and visible for 15 miles.

Also in the records was a map filed with the U. S. government by Texas officials soon after the state joined the Union. Among other things, it identifies the present side of San Angelo as RIGHT FOR TYPEWRITERS.

The finish for typewriters has to be tough to protect the metal against the wear of constant use and against atmospheric conditions. The color chosen also must serve to minimize eye fatigue.

Writer Visits Campaign Offices; Everyone Confident

By ARTHUR EDSON
(For Hal Boyle)

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Here it is six months until the political conventions, and already at least four presidential campaigns are rolling along.

Literature has been made up and campaign buttons are being passed out just as if the game already had started, and indeed it has.

Let's drop around and have a look at what's stirring in campaign headquarters:

Sen. Taft (R-Ohio): most business-like office of all.

From the outside it looks like any other business office, except for one thing: a GOP elephant painted on the door capers for joy, apparently because he is wearing a red blanket labeled, "Taft."

An enormous U.S. map covered one wall. Underneath was the legend, "sales control map." Pins were stuck generously in every state, leaving the impression that headquarters are certain the product, Taft, is selling well from coast to coast.

I counted seven pictures of Taft, looking confident, on various walls. Helped myself to the Taft buttons. Nothing truly. Plain orange buttons with the single word, "Taft."

Gen. Eisenhower: most decorated office of all. Must have got their bunting wholesale. The office is dominated by a huge, indirectly lighted picture of the general, looking confident.

National headquarters are in Topeka, Kans. The office here is directed by Senator Carlson of Kansas. He's in California.

Took two red, white and blue campaign buttons. They say, "I Like Ike."

Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn): newest of the offices. It opened only a little over a week ago.

Has a large picture of Kefauver, looking confident. Also considerable bunting and the senator's trade mark, a coonskin cap.

Charley Neese is in charge of the campaign, but he was in New York.

Kefauver, who hasn't decided whether he will run, dropped by the office once, but left no clues. He stayed less than a minute.

Got my campaign buttons. They're red, white and blue and say, "Kefauver for President."

Gov. Stassen: quietest office of all. Only person around when I dropped in was Helen Gunderson. She said the working office really is in New York. Her boss, Daniel C. Gainey, is on the west coast, too.

There were three pictures of Stassen, looking confident. No bunting.

Asked for campaign buttons. Miss Gunderson said, sorry, no buttons. "We've got them ordered, though," she said.

Little Miss Pulitzer: 10-Year-Old Youngest Of State Writers

KERMIT — (AP) — Little Miss Pulitzer, they call her in this part of West Texas — ten-year-old Sandra Bradham, writes a weekly column for the Winkler County News.

She's a pretty little girl with auburn hair and brown eyes.

Her picture appears right beside the title of her column: "A Little Girl's World As I See It."

Sandra's world is a world about her mother and daddy and their new car; her friend who moved away to New Mexico; the family dog named Tuffy, who's just plain dog.

The weather — "Well, how did you like our old-fashioned rainfall?" she asked in one column.

"Of course, you know in West Texas an old-fashioned rainfall is a sandstorm. I think I know what most of you think of it."

"But anywhere you live there is a certain kind of weather. In the north it's cold. In the tropics there are many diseases. On the coast there is fog. And here, we have sand. Ever since I was born and raised in West Texas, I am used to the climate and like it very much here."

Neve H. Williams, publisher of the Winkler County News, said that one of the rules is that Sandra must write without adult aid in any form.

"She's doing a wonderful job and already has quite a following," Williams said.

The Winkler County News ran a contest this past fall — open to ten-year-old girls only — to select Little Miss Pulitzer.

You must be dependable, the newspaper warned the contestants. Newspaper writing is work — your column will be expected each week. You'll have to write it a certain length; you'll have to get it into the News office by our deadlines.

The contestant submitted three columns. Sandra was the one who won the $25 defense bond and the right to have her byline and her picture at the top of a weekly column. She gets paid for her column, too.

She's already a cover girl. Her picture appeared on the front of the "West Texas Publisher," official publication of the West Texas Press Assn., in November.

Sandra was born in Kermit and lived here all her life. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Bradham. She has a younger sister, Linda, 8, and a brother, Benny, 4. Her father is a welder for gasoline plant.

Sandra is in the fifth grade and is rated as a superior student. She has a bicycle she likes to ride and is a Girl Scout and a 4-H club member.

As far as anybody can determine she's the youngest professional writer in Texas.

Asked for campaign buttons. Miss Gunderson said, sorry, no buttons. "We've got them ordered, though," she said.

Builders Fear Housing Drop

A drop of 300,000 new homes this year from 1951 production has been predicted by the president of the National Assn. of Home Builders.

The reason: The bleakest outlook for VA and FHA home loans since V-J day, according to W. P. "Bill" Atkinson.

Atkinson said the housing industry was hopeful of reaching the government set goal of 850,000 new homes and apartments in 1952, but that there was little chance unless more mortgage funds become available for VA and FHA housing.

He attributed last year's starts of 1,090,000 homes to the huge carry-over of financing commitments from 1950, which accounted for more than 400,000 of all units built in 1951.

Lenders, he pointed out, are shying away from GI loans at four percent in favor of other types of investments yielding comparatively the same net profit but which have none of the paper work involved with government insured or guaranteed home loans.

He said the lack of mortgage financing was the major obstacle facing home builders in their campaign to provide attractive homes at low cost and reasonable down payments.

Long term government bonds are at their all-time postwar low, he said, and are being sold at low prices. This, he said, is proof that money isn't flowing freely.

Last summer, building leaders were hopeful that mortgage funds would be flowing freely into home mortgages by last November or December. Instead, said Atkinson, the market stiffened in October and has become worse.

Even if the market improves within six months it still will be too late to be a factor in 1952 home starts, Atkinson pointed out.

There is ample money available for 15-year loans at 5 percent, or for 4-1-4 and 4-1-2 percent loans on a much reduced loan-to-value basis, he continued.

But the project builder, who has provided hundreds of thousands of homes since V-J day at low down payments, is unable to finance new construction in large blocks at VA and FHA rates.

The result is two-fold, said Atkinson: A slow-down in construction volume and higher cash down payments by buyers. Neither is conducive to high building volume.

Also competing with private builders and buyers for mortgage funds is the government itself, in the guise of the public housing authorities; who are expected to ask bids next week on an estimated $150,000,000 tax free bonds to build tax-subsidized public housing projects over the nation. Atkinson predicted public housing will pay a higher interest rate than on previous offerings.

Even though home builders have over-subscribed by 100 percent, the government's vitally needed defense housing program, Atkinson was especially fearful that private lenders would not quickly absorb all FHA Title IX defense housing offerings.

Construction of needed military and defense housing has been the goal of the NAHB in 1952. He said if this is not done, it will provide another opportunity for the government to activate a direct lending program.

Spring Training For Bruins To Start Jan. 29

WACO — (AP) — Coach George Sauer announced that Baylor's spring football workouts will start Jan. 29 and end Feb. 22. During this 25-day period, the Bruins will have 18 supervised practice sessions, the new limit for Southwest Conference teams.

Sauer faces the greatest rebuilding job of any team in the conference what with the loss of all-america quarterback Larry Isbell, ends Stanley Williams, Harold Riley and Bob Trout; tackle Ken Casner; Steve Dowden and Luke Welch; linebacker Gale Galloway, safety man Bob Reid and several other seniors. ### CANT STIR IT

Many people are so conscious of paint that they use the term in describing the things they see. Joaquin Miller described the Grand Canyon as "a 15-by-218 mile paint pot."

FROSTY, THE COATING To get a frost effect on glass, brush or spray it with equal parts of paste wood filler and varnish. When the coating has set for a few minutes, stipple it with a wad of crumpled paper. Prepared paints for this effect also are available.

PROTECTS LINOLEUM Worn spots on the linoleum mar the effect of a pretty kitchen. Large patches in front of stove, table and sink will soon be worn colorless and patternless if no preventive measure is taken. A coat of varnish, shellac or lacquer, topped with wax, will prevent these unsightly scars and will give the linoleum a new lease on life.

India has 562 princely ruled states, some covering less territory than a middle-sized cattle ranch.

USE WOOD—A block of wood is a simple, but effective tool in holding the runner taut while you tack it.

Worn Stair Carpet Should Be Replaced Immediately

Worn stair coverings are dangerous particularly for women wearing high heels. Therefore, it behooves every home-owner to keep his stair carpet in good condition replacing badly worn carpet with new.

There is nothing mysterious or even complicated about laying stair carpet. The following suggestions will assure you of a professional-looking job.

In ordering the runner, figure a foot and a half for each tread and add six inches to the overall length for shrinkage when you have it cleaned later. Ready-made pads are available or you can make them yourself from 52-ounce carpet lining.

Be sure to clean and inspect the bare stairway. Loose steps should be nailed down with eight-penny finishing nails. Countersink all nails and remove snags and splinters that might cause wear.

Lay chalk guide lines on each step to keep the runner straight, then start the pads which should be about four inches narrower than the runner. Center the pads on the step and leave a space between pad and riser as indicated in sketch. After back edge is tacked down, draw pad edge leading edge or nosing of step and tack underneath. Never into the nosing.

Start laying the runner from the top. Tack it next to the hall carpet and let it run down the stair, fitting it loosely into each step. Now start from the top and tack at the first step. Pull the runner tight and put four tacks into each side as in the sketch two in the step and two in the riser on each side. Keep the runner tight and be

Color Blind Colonel Inspired To Paint

The challenge of his wife's claim 12 years ago that he was color blind inspired Col. John H. Schnell, Fort Meade Army officer, to take up painting seriously. Mrs. Schnell admits now that he has won the argument. Twenty-five of his water color are being exhibited at the Arts club of Washington.

Delivery Equipment

The careful selection of color as an advertising medium for delivery equipment is comparatively new. It used to be that paint was used on trucks to preserve them rather than to advertise. Today, color is all-important with fleet operators.

Smart merchandisers recognize the fact that their moving vehicles are traveling representatives for them and must be kept attractively painted if they are to bring the maximum benefit to their owners.

SHELLAC USED IN FURNITURE FINISHING Where a wash coat is used under the filler, many furniture finishers use shellac because of its excellent sealing properties.
