THE SAAR, one of Europe's hotspots, became an issue again during the NATO conference as the French-German dispute over it became the worst barrier to European unification. This rich coal-mining area of 900 square miles lies across a natural pathway between France and Germany. Trade flows across the Saar in times of peace-just as armies march across it during times of war. Romans and Gauls fought Germanic tribes in the territory. French forces under Louis XIV and Napoleon battled the Germans during the Franco-Prussian wars. Allied forces marched into the area during both World Wars. Severed from Germany after World War I, the Saar was made a separate entity and governed until 1934 by the League of Nations. In 1935, with Hitler and German nationalism on the rise, a plebiscite was held and the Saar was returned to Germany. Under terms of the Versailles treaty Germany bought back the Saar mines and paid France for damage she did to coal mines in northern France. After World War II, the Saarlanders voted overwhelmingly for an economic union with France. During 1950, agreements were signed between France and the Saar giving the territory a larger measure of autonomy, while France got a 50-year lease on the coal mines pending a final German peace treaty. The West German government protested the lease, claiming their constitution provides that its government take over all the property of the Third Reich—and the Saar was part of that state. France wants the land because of economic necessity as well as fear of German aggression. The U.S., in its attempt to make NATO an effective weapon against Soviet imperialism, found itself caught between France's desire for the Saar, and Germany's threat to refuse NATO partnership if the Saar isn't returned to her.

SHE'S THE SAFEST LADY ON THE ROAD

With Chrysler POWER STEERING plus Chrysler POWER BRAKES

At the wheel of a new Chrysler, you have quicker, surer control of motion than you've ever had in a car. You can't imagine what it's like till you drive it! With this full-time power steering, hydraulic power does 4/5 the steering work at your gentle pull on the wheel! You also turn the wheel 1/3 less distance. And on rough roads, soft shoulders, snow or sand, "wheel fight" just doesn't happen. Your hand actually has five times the usual steering control, through every minute of every mile . . . with the same sure "wheel feel" at all times!

With this safer way to steer, power brakes make stops at all speeds safer and easier, too. Power from the engine "boosts" every touch of your toe. Actually you stop with up to 2/3 less foot pressure than non-power brakes. You can bring your Chrysler to a halt from full speeds in many feet less distance than other cars of comparable size can stop. See your Chrysler dealer soon. Feel for yourself why thousands of owners say Chrysler offers the two greatest advances in many years in driving safety and driving ease!

Most Pampans and Gray county residents are familiar with the moral guides we at The News use as a yardstick of ethics but we think they are worth repeating. Here they are:

1. The Ten Commandments.

2. The Sermon on the Mount, an exposition of the Decalogue

3. The Declaration of Independence which is a political expression of the Commandments.

We believe these guides indicate several facts, uncontested by any Christian or Jew of our acquaintance. They are:

That mankind is a brotherhood, sharing a common clay. 2. That every man is born with certain inclienable

3. That these rights are equally the birthright of all men, that they are the endowment of the Creator and not the gift of a transient state. These things we believe and attempt to keep our editorials consistently in harmony with them. We will stand or fall on these moral laws.

They are the backbone of our policy.

Occasionally a paper will attempt to win popular favor without adopting anything that smacks of a guiding standard, drifting aimlessly from one "cause" to the

Just What The Communists Want

"In less than four decades, the individual income tax rate has risen from one per cent with a maximum rate of seven per cent on net income of $500,000 and over-to a starting rate of 22.2 per cent, with a combined normal and surtax rate of 92 per cent on taxable income of $200,000 and over!" writes Gordon Grand Jr., in the Tax Review.

"In the space of less than 40 years, the corporate income tax rate has risen from one per cent to a combined normal surtax and excess profits marginal rate of 82 per cent . . . The number of individuals subject to income taxes has risen from less than 400,000 to

As if this wasn't bad enough, the new proposed administration budget, as offered to Congress, envisions a deficit of over $22,000,000,000 during the next two years. And apparently the only administration solution is more taxes—even though taxation takes, about onethird of the whole national income now. There is the usual easy talk about economy and efficiency—but no one high in administration circles ever comes up with a concrete suggestion for materially reducing spending of

The Communists, who would like nothing so much as an economic collapse in the United States, must find this encouraging to an extreme. A drunken-sailor type of government can destroy a country from within as effectively as an enemy can destroy it from without by military means. The one bright spot in the whole picture is the coldness with which Congress received the budget message. Members of both parties said that taxation must not be raised, and that costs must be cut-and cut deep, Congress could render no greater service to the nation than that.

Repeal Is The Only Remedy

In its January issue, Farm Journal comes out for outright abolishment of the Defense Production Act and the Office of Price Stabilization, the two instruments which have fastened price and other controls on the Farm Journal says, "The law should be repealed. It should not be amended, patched up, strengthened, weakened, or tinkered with in any way whatsoever. It should be killed . . .

The nation would heave a vast-collective sigh of relief, as in 1946 when we finally rid ourselves of OPA. And after a short period of confusion, the old reliable free price system—the only system that ever did or ever can regulate production justly and efficiently-would be back on the job.

"The Control Act does next to nothing to slow down inflation, and by gumming up and discouraging production makes future inflation greater than it otherwise would be. Meanwhile, it produces confusion, recrimination, and hostility among different classes of citizens. The only remedy is to repeal it, and do it quick."

The controls have disrupted the normal, efficient processes of production in industry and agriculture. They have saddled retailers—big and little, chain and independent—with an endless series of arbitrary rules and regulations which in many cases, have been confusing, conflicting and basically unworkable. Business of all kinds has had to devote more and more of its energies

Read The Civics Textbooks To Know What Will Happen In The Future

If an individual wonders why so many people believe in such econonfic miracles as price control by the government and credit control by the government, he should read such civics textbooks as Magruder's "American Government," which is used in 65% of the high laws that take away from a man a large part of his liberty and his right to pursue happiness.

of a defense boom. "This boom is a result of vast governmental defense spending. We must be prepared to defend ourselves against any possible military attack from abroad. But, at the same time, we must be prepared to defend ourselves against an economic attack at home." What do they mean by an economic attack at home? The only thing that can cause us trouble in peace time is ignorance of moral and economic laws. And this ignorance, as in Magruder's book, is the very thing that brings on long periods of unemployment fiat money, big debts and wars to get out of "economic trouble". The book goes on to say: "Radical movements thrive upon discontent and poverty; therefore, inflationary pressures must be held in check. If prices and profits outstrip wages, or if prices, profits, and wages rise unchecked, conomic chaos may follow." Then the book goes on to say: "Two dependable safeguards are available to check inflation; one is America's amazing ability to increase production; the second is the use of certain economic controls such as credit restrictions and price ceilings, excess profits taxes, and wage controls. Notice it says "two dependable safeguards." Evidentally the writers of this book believe that the public can be protected by the politicians and that the politicians will control credit not to the advantage of the politicians, but to the advantage of everyone.

Our long periods of unemployment come because the government attempts to control credit If the government did not meddle in attempting to control "credit and permitted bankers to go broke who overexpanded credit and those people who had bad judgment in selecting their bank to suffer the consequences, then we would be constantly checking undue credit expansion. Then we would have no worries about booms and busts. But when the government takes away the right of the bankers and the public to use their own judgment out of their hands, then the politicians will not contract credit, because it would require an adjustvoted out of office- and that is the factor that determines how they control credit, not whether in the long run it will be good for everyone. In fact, the politicians are not wise enough to know how credit should be controlled, even if they were completely honest. It takes the combined judgment of all the people to determine what amount of credit should be used and what interest rates should be paid.

To contend that we have dependable safeguards against inflation like those proposed and to teach this to our children is the farthest possible thing from education. It is only propaganda that leads to loss of liberty and freedom lower production, and eventually to a dictator.

No wonder so many people believe in credit controls when the youth of the land is taught to believe that he is getting an educa-

Are We Licked In Korea?

(New York Daily News)

A year ago this week (April 11, 1951). President Truman rudely, crudely and abruptly relieved General of the Army Douglas Mac-Arthur of all his Far East commands, not even giving him a chance to bid a formal farewell to his troops. How are we doing in this war, into which Truman and Secretary of State Dean Acreson dragged the nation without a by-your-leave to Congress, which constitutionally has the sole power to declare war? This first anniversary week of the MacArthur tragedy (a tragedy for the nation, we mean, not for MacArthur) seems a good time to know to be most reliable but are not at liberty to disclose. According to this authority, the Reds have forged a sort of Maginot Line, 30 miles deep, just north of the line along which the opposing forces have been skirmishing for nine months.
