

Silver Star Is Late Arriving

SHREVEPORT, La., Nov. 27—(AP)—"Wrong James Keith," said Lieutenant James T. Keith, Red Cross, as he received the war department notification that he had been granted the Silver Star.

Or, "they must mean my son, James T. Keith, Jr., except he's still an aviation cadet at Nashville, Tenn."

Look again, James Keith. "Read it: 'For distinguished and exceptional gallantry at Blanc Mont on Oct. 3, 1918.' That's you, James Keith marine corporal of World War I, veteran of 156 days of front line action."

It may be a little delayed but they have the right man.

Lemon Juice Recipe Checks Rheumatic Pain Quickly

If you suffer from rheumatic arthritis or neuritis pain, try this simple inexpensive home recipe that thousands are using. Get a package of Ru-Ex Compound, a two-week supply, today. Mix it with a quart of water, add the juice of 4 lemons. It's easy to make and all you need is 10 minutes within 48 hours—sometimes overnight—splendid results are obtained. If the pain does not quickly leave and if you do not feel better, return the empty package and Ru-Ex will cost you nothing to try as it is sold by your druggist under an absolute money-back guarantee. Ru-Ex Compound is for sale and recommended by Creney Drug Store and drug stores everywhere.

T. B. Tests In Schools Begin Next Month

Annual tuberculosis tests of Gray county school pupils in the first, second, seventh, and eleventh grades, will start in December, the Gray County Tuberculosis association said Saturday.

The tests will be given by a nurse chosen by the association and 2,000 boys and girls will be examined. Consent of the parents is a prerequisite to the giving of the tests. In the past five years, 9,000 tuberculosis tests have been given in the county, which in many cases has led to the discovery and cure of tuberculosis, whereas without the tests the condition might not have been learned for years.

This week the association will begin mailing out the 1943 Christmas seals, annual money-raising project of the organization.

Harlan A. Yoder, principal of Woodrow Wilson school of Pampa, is president of the association; Wayland B. Weathered, Gray county schools superintendent, is vice-president; and B. B. Altman, Jr., utility company employe, is secretary-treasurer.

Lend-Lease Diaper Situation Probed

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27—(AP)—Senator Bridges (R-N. H.) has begun a one-man investigation into lend-lease shipment of diaper cloth to North Africa.

The senator, stirred by reports on Capitol Hill that 2 1/2 million diapers had been shipped abroad in the lend-lease program, made a preliminary check and disclosed these findings:

1. In reality, 450,000 yards of diaper cloth had been sent in one shipment to North Africa for the white population.

2. This would be enough material for 600,000 diapers, by popular measurements in this country—"if the cloth was not diverted to some other use."

Bridges said lend-lease administration would not say that all the cloth went for diapers—it makes an excellent wipe for a gun barrel, for example.

The senator is not finished with his inquiry yet, saying, if there's a shortage in this country, as reported, lend-lease shipments deserve a critical inspection.

Hospital Just Tree and Rock

SOMEWHERE IN THE SOUTH PACIFIC—(Delayed)—One of the world's unique hospitals and medical dispensaries has been established for United States Marines on this South Pacific island, recently occupied by Allied forces.

"It's nothing more than a tree and a rock—with a two-stretcher capacity—but it's the 'sick bay' to members of the Marine unit. The tree roots are entwined in a coral rock in such a way to provide to recesses for stretcher patients. Cots are not available.

Further protection from enemy air raids, of which there were many in the first 10 days of occupation, is given by the boxes and crates of medical supplies which have been piled around the tree-rock hospital. The whole is covered with tarpaulins to protect both patients and

Mistrial Ordered In Fitzgerald Case

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 27—(AP)—A mistrial order ended the parole conspiracy trial of Robert E. Fitzgerald, one-time chief clemency investigator for the state of Oklahoma, after the prosecutor whispered to the defendant, "You're in a hell of a shape."

Directing the "hospital" operations are Lieutenant - Commander Fulton E. Dye, (MC), U. S. N. R., of Bay City, Texas, and Lieutenant Ralph M. King, (MC), U. S. N. R., La Mesa, Calif. Assisting are a group of hospital corpsmen.

"This is certainly practicing medicine under difficulties," said Dr. Dye, surveying his domain. "If it can't be called practicing medicine," he pointed out that when the "hospital" is filled to capacity, the medical attendant has to stand outside while treating the patients.

Open Hearths Are Shut Down

NEW YORK, Nov. 27—(AP)—The closing of large munitions plants and the telescoping of other contracts began to be reflected in the steel industry last week when open hearths went down through lack of orders, according to Iron Age, a trade publication.

Commenting that although only nine hearths were down on Tuesday because of lack of orders while other were not producing at their peaks, the magazine said:

"The general feeling was that additional furnaces were likely to be closed. Operating under tight government control, steel producers are unable to pick up additional business freely or to take steps which they might normally adopt."

"While labor has lodged vigorous complaints, Washington is not fully prepared to open civilian goods production quickly on a large scale be-

Chihuahua Cattle Kept in Mexico

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 27—(AP)—The ban on exportation of cattle is being complied with so strictly in Chihuahua that cattle no longer are being sent to Texas for grazing, Governor Alfredo Chavez of that state said last night. Governor Chavez also told reporters that establishment of a large paper factory is planned in Chihuahua. He said he had an audience with President Avila Camacho.

December's Tire Quota Revealed

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27—(AP)—The December quota of new tires for passenger cars and motorcycles will be 27,685 units more than the number available for civilians in November, the Office of Price Administration announced today. The agency emphasized, however, that the shortage of new tires continues and that the December figure is substantially below that for October and earlier months. More extensive use must be made of recapping services, OPA said.

U. S. Plane Crashes in Mexico Reported

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 27—(AP)—A dispatch from Nueva Rosita, Coahuila, to Excelsior last night reports that hunters found the wreckage of a United States military plane and four bodies near there. Mexican authorities left for the place, described as 4,500 feet high and difficult of access, near the village of Muzquiz in northern Mexico, the dispatch added. The communications ministry reported that another U.S. military plane crashed Thursday near the highway between Tijuana and Ensenada, Baja California, and that the pilot, whose name was not given, was killed. BUY VICTORY STAMPS—Teachers in a grade school building at Van Nuys, Calif., are being confused by six sets of identical twins.

Mrs. Emily Bell Dies Friday Night

Funeral services for Mrs. Emily Lucille Bell, 30, who died in a local hospital at 11:15 p. m. Friday, will be conducted at Lockney tomorrow. The body was taken overland last night by the local funeral home.

Mrs. Bell was suddenly stricken while she was a passenger in a taxi-cab here and died soon after being taken to the hospital.

Survivors are her husband; two sisters, Nona Mae Billington, Austin, and Rachael (Peaches) Campbell, Pampa; brother Floyd Leroy Billington and mother Mrs. Myrtle Billington, both of Lockney.

Mrs. Bell was born in Olustee, Okla., September 25, 1914.

quitting sleepless, doomed Berlin, and wholesale evacuation of the city seemed ever more likely.

Stockholm newspapers said the new attack was concentrated in the west and central sectors, with huge fires in the Charlottenburg area, and that 500,000 Berliners were homeless. Unconfirmed Stockholm reports said that war workers had been forbidden to leave Berlin, but that about 100,000 "escapees" without registering their movements with the police.

The Germans' failure to break up the attack was a "signal victory" for the U. S. air force, which knocked down 56 Nazi fighters Friday over Bremen and did "much to take the edge off the enemy's counterattack" at Berlin, the air ministry declared.

The Americans' whittling of Nazi strength was especially appreciated because, due to clear weather, the RAF bombers were open to attack by German fighters all the way across Germany.

TURKISH

radio quoted Turkish newspapers Saturday as saying that Istanbul's municipal authorities were preparing "to black out the city." The broadcast, picked up by CBS, added that the measure did not imply Turkey's immediate entry into the war.

Yalchin made no attempt to predict when Turkey might be expected to drop her neutral status.

"The precise conditions under which Turkey would enter the war are not apparent at this time," he wrote. "When and where are still questions to be decided."

Yalchin went on to point out that, under the terms of the Turkish-British treaty of 1939 it was not necessary for Turkey to be attacked directly "to necessitate her entry into the war."

He summed up the present situation thus:

"The party has approved the government's action in accordance with the (Turkish-British) alliance. To say we shall act in accordance with the obligations of the alliance can have no other meaning than to enter the war."

DIPLOMATIC

common and the Swedish newspaper Aftonbladet took this as evidence the prime minister already was on his way to see President Roosevelt and Premier Stalin.

If the meeting in St. Paul, Roosevelt and Chiang Kai-Shek, if he attends, also are expected to be accompanied by assistants approaching Eden's rank.

McNUTT

division—not because we haven't asked for more, but because we just haven't the money."

His information director, Philip Broughton, agreed to meet a committee of correspondents Tuesday, to attempt to work out remedies.

McNutt said much information, including the size of draft calls, comes from the army marked secret, but said he saw "no reason why they shouldn't be available" if an arrangement could be made with the army.

Davis said his memorandum was based on "several interviews with newspapermen and as a result of checking OWI's own experiences" with WMC.

He suggested it was "much better to take the risk of misinterpretation by issuing a large amount of information rather than the larger risk of confusion through the absence of information."

Examples cited by OWI of "incidents which have led to public confusion, antagonism of reporters and the conviction that WMC is not giving out enough news" went back to last March. The chairman's office in that month "ordered killed a release which the head of the newsroom had prepared on the student deferment policy" based on a selective service bulletin already issued.

"The chairman's office feared the (news) papers would interpret the program as a 'rich man's program' and thought to conceal it," OWI said. And when a newspaper got the story from a local board and it was distributed by the Associated Press, other reporters "protested bitterly."

"In May, OWI suggested that WMC put out a frank story on the possibility of fathers being drafted, and thought to conceal it," OWI said. And when a newspaper got the story from a local board and it was distributed by the Associated Press, other reporters "protested bitterly."

McNutt in March told a press conference that fathers were being called in the draft. A reporter asked if the selective service's ban on the drafting of pre-Pearl Harbor fathers until further notice, had been withdrawn.

"The chairman said he knew of no such order," the memorandum went on. "The deputy chairman denied such an order existed. The chief of selective service news division was present and knew the order was still in effect, but he was not consulted, and hesitated to disagree."

"After the conference OWI determined the truth and suggested that a statement be issued correcting the misunderstanding before it reached the papers. No such statement was forthcoming that afternoon or the next day. By that time the conflicting stories were in the newspapers."

SHERIFF SAYS

moved the handcuffs from Norris when the two were in a Madisonville cafe and on another occasion handed Norris his loaded gun and said "that's the kind of gun I use. What do you think of it?"

The sheriff said Norris handed the gun, looked surprised and then returned the weapon, remarking "It's a good one."

"Weren't you afraid to hand your loaded gun to Norris like that?" asked Milton Brownlee, defense attorney.

"Whiv, no," Chambless said, "because it takes a lot of nerve just to cold-bloodedly shoot a man for no reason and I knew Norris wouldn't shoot."

"All this I was doing," Chambless said, "to build up Norris' confidence in me so he would tell me where the money and loot was. Sheriffs all over the state had been looking for his loot and I wanted to try my hand at it."

He said Norris told him he had money hidden away, but "naturally I didn't come out and ask him where it was," because "I figured others had done that ahead of me and got nowhere. It was my plan to let Gene Paul tell me himself."

Then the sheriff related how Norris finally gave him details for the location of money near Fort Worth. From these instructions, Chambless said he drew a map, which was produced in the courtroom and placed in the evidence.

Chambless related that he went to Kennedale near Fort Worth to look for the money, and that he and a resident of that town, following instructions, finally came to the spot where Norris said he had $5,600 buried.

"The ground under the tree had been thoroughly dug up," Chambless said, "but we dug some more, but found no money."

"I returned to Madisonville and went to see Norris and told him you told me the truth all right, but someone got there ahead of me and the money was gone."

Chambless said Norris asserted "I know you got it" and named a Fort Worth attorney, who he said, had found the location of the money from another source.

He testified that he told Sheriff H. R. Surrat at Conroe after his interview "I believe I have that kid's (Norris) confidence more than any other sheriff in Texas."

Questioned by Brownlee, Chambless denied that he had any conspiracy with Norris or Gilham, or that he ever received money from them, or that he had any agreement with Jailer Montgomery. He denied he had had any intention of turning over to Norris and Gilham's intention to escape.

BLOODY FIGHT

we were able to pound and neutralize Japan's nearest air bases in the Philippines only a few hours away. The result was that the enemy air raids were weak and ineffectual.

At Betio, for example, the greatest number of enemy aircraft to show up was six planes which in the darkness of three successive mornings made sneak raids in which they saw them bomb their own troop positions.

The vastness of the preparations for the fight for Betio was brought home by a dramatic talk with Admiral Hill and the Marine commander, Gen. Julian C. Smith, on the signal bridge of the flagship as we peered through binoculars at the island while planes and warships bombarded the Japanese positions.

Dogmatically and fearfully pointing the palm of his hand with his right fist, Admiral Hill declared "victory here won't be a matter of luck."

"The Japanese," he continued, "have made Betio the hardest nut any naval or military commander has ever been ordered to crack. We are going to win, because we have got the force. Back of that force we have brilliant men. I mean the American high command and the big three out here in the Gilberts now—Vice Admiral Raymond A. Spruance, who helped win Midway; Rear Admiral Richmond Kelly Turner, who directed most of the Solomon landings; and Maj. Gen. Holland Smith.

"The high command have given us all they have. Look at all of these battleships, cruisers, destroyers and transports lying dead in the water waiting for these magnificent Marines with rifle and bayonet to clean up that island so the transports can unload.

"Believe me, we couldn't have done it, or if we had tried it, we would have caught hell here if our navy had not been several hundred miles out there in front of us.

"Right now we are on this bridge are looking at the greatest and most terrible scrap America has ever been in, and yet the real fight isn't here at Tarawa. Right now it is spread over millions of square miles of the Pacific. It is a big picture, beautifully put together. Our success here isn't due to the navy, the army, the Marines or their air forces. It is due to the greatest thing America has ever achieved, unity of command."

Still other Russian forces moving north through the Pripet marshes captured Yelk, 15 miles south of Mozyr. This also was an extension of the Kiev salient to the south and gave the Russians a line west of Kiev from Chernyakhov 95 miles north to Yelk.

The new Berezina bulge was forming between Kalkinovi and Zhitobin, where the Russians had previously cut the railroad and pushed northwest toward Borusik. It was flanking the Orsha-Mogilev line on the Dnieper which guarded Minsk and the pre-war Polish frontier.

Other forces speeding from the industrial center and long-held German stronghold of Gomel, which fell yesterday, mopped up 80 towns and hamlets and advanced to Uvarovich, 17 miles northwest of Gomel along the German escape route to Zhitobin and Bobrusk.

Some 20 German divisions were facing rapid retreat or annihilation in the maelstrom of Russian charges from several directions northwest to the north. One Soviet spearhead was less than 15 miles south of Zhitobin, where the Russians were moving north between the Dnieper and the Sozh rivers. The German problem was either to hold their escape corridor, less than 50 miles wide at its narrowest point, or get back.

The Moscow daily communique also told of the capture of Yelk, in the Pripet marshes, which lengthened the Russian Kiev bulge farther to the north. The Russians now hold a line west of Kiev from Chernyakhov 95 miles north of Yelk.

Brother of Pampa Theater Owner Dies

All three Pampa motion picture theaters, the LaNora Rex and Crown will be closed Monday afternoon, tomorrow, until 6 p. m., in tribute to R. E. Griffith, Dallas, who died of a heart attack Wednesday in Los Angeles and whose funeral will be held tomorrow in Oklahoma City.

Mr. Griffith was the head of the theater company that built the Rex theater here back in late '38. He was a brother of L. C. Griffith, Oklahoma City, owner of the Pampa theaters, and was president of R. E. Griffith theaters, operating in Texas and New Mexico, and Westex theaters in Central and West Texas.

He left Oklahoma City several years ago and had maintained homes in both Dallas and Las Vegas, Nev. Mr. Griffith was the donor of a 500-acre wooded estate near Belton to the Variety club as a campus for underprivileged children.

Two waves of Liberators, with Australian fliers manning the escorting P-40s, delivered the fifth bombing attack within a week on Gasmala, New Britain. In the latest attack Friday, 26 tons of explosives were dropped on defenses at a coastal plantation. Gasmala is on Bougainville, about 130 miles away from ground forces of General MacArthur in New Guinea's Huon gulf coast.

In support of the Solomons operations, Liberators on Wednesday dropped 500 light bombs on the Chabai area on the northern tip of Bougainville and 200 on an air-drome across a narrow passage of water on Buka island.

In a limited operation notable for its pioneering nature, a reconnaissance party went 500 miles north from Gasmala, about halfway to Japan's naval stronghold of Truk, at Kapinganarangi island.

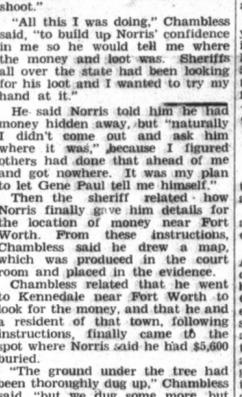

The Sattelberg victory was announced yesterday.

Harvesters Get Ready For Safari Against Vernon's Heavy Lions

Navy Torpedoes Army 13-0 For Fifth in Row

WEST POINT, N. Y., Nov. 27. (AP)—Navy's football machine, strymled completely by an alert, aggressive Army team for two periods, turned on its power today in the second half of a bruising, bitter contest to steamroller the Cadets, 13 to 0, in the semi-private Michie Stadium. The defeat marked the fifth consecutive year the Middies have turned the trick.

An estimated 15,000 spectators saw a football show which kept them in various stages of hysteria throughout most of the afternoon.

For two violent periods it was the kind of ball game that was a masterpiece of midfield offensives, featured by savage blocking, violent tackling and dogged all-around play which kept either team from presenting a robust threat.

A break came midway in the third period. Hal Hamberg sent a punt to Glenn Davis on the Army six, and Davis slipped outside as he caught it. Davis was caught back on the three a moment later, and Max Moxon's punt was run back by Hamberg 10 yards to the Army 43.

Navy power began to function, and with a Hankins-Hills-Hume lateral pass play good for 25 yards, the Middies advanced to the six. Three more plays found the ball still two yards away from the goal.

This was the payoff moment, the do or die play for both teams. The imported Navy cheer leaders tied themselves into knots trying to get their proxy cheering section to show enthusiasm, but the Cadets, distinguished by white caps, stared silently and glumly, and the silence was deafening when, a moment later, Bob Jenkins crashed over with Army defenders draped on him like confetti. Vic Fines place-kicked the point.

Late in the same period after Hamberg had run back a punt from his own 48 to Army's 44, the march again was on. This time it was the robust Hume, clawing and bulling and crushing his way through the wearying Army ranks. As the fourth period opened, he surged through for 15 yards to the Army 25. Jim Pettit gave him a lift with a 10-yard gallop, then Hume resumed his solitary offensive until he reached the one. From there on fourth down, Pettit high-dived into the end zone. Fenos' placekick was blocked.

Georgia Tech, Tulsa To Play In Sugar Bowl

ATLANTA, Nov. 27. (AP)—Georgia Tech, champion of the Southeastern Conference, wound up its regular season today with a triumph over Georgia and headed for a New Year's day engagement with unbeaten Tulsa University in New Orleans' Sugar Bowl.

While a sell-out crowd of 30,000 watched, Tech's navy-powered engineers thundered over civilian Georgia for four straight periods, inflicting the worst defeat of their tradition-steeped 50-year rivalry.

Eddie Prokop, one-man hurricane on the loose, scored three touchdowns—one of them a 66-yard return of a pass in interception. He booted six extra points.

Selection of Tech and Tulsa for the post-season game was announced by Sugar Bowl officials soon after the Yellow Jackets crushed Georgia, Coach Henry Frka of Tulsa scouted Tech with two assistants, Tech's Coach W. A. Alexander did not scout Tulsa, explaining that although he scouted the Sugar Bowl bid two weeks ago he had not known who his opponent would be in time to watch Tulsa slaughter Kansas Thanksgiving.

Tarheels Run Over Cavaliers, 54 to 7

NORFOLK, Nov. 27. (AP)—Scoring in every period, a fast, power-packed North Carolina football team humbled the University of Virginia today by a margin 54 to 7 before a crowd of 15,000.

Employing the single wing, the Tar Heels relied almost entirely on straight football to score two touchdowns in the first period, a touchdown and safety in the second, a touchdown in the third and a touchdown turned on the pressure to tally four touchdowns in the final quarter.

Through the Virginia passing attack failed to do off in touchdown dividends, the cavaliers had the satisfaction of marring the Tar Heels' fine pass defense record.

Virginia completed 15 passes out of 29 attempts for a total of 144 yards gained through the air. In eight previous games this year, North Carolina had permitted its opponents to complete only 29 passes for a total of 292 yards, an average of 36.5 yards per game.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
 NEW YORK, Nov. 27. (AP)—The statistics we'd really like to see on today's Army-Navy game concerns the amount of gas and rubber burned by folks living within the ten-mile limit who qualified for tickets. They can't ride the subway to Michie stadium—of course, that doesn't mean that people might not drive ten miles or more if the game were played in Philadelphia or New York—Cas Mysinski, army leader, has been captain three of the six years he has played football—two years at Steubenville, O. High school—the Navy squad is scheduled to see "Stars on Ice" tonight, which isn't an omen—either they'll see the stars or put the game on ice—story is that Navy figures to do better on a wet field than on a dry one. Then why wasn't Coach Billie Wheelchel Irish when he was coaching this week? He could have flooded the field without half trying.

FIGHT, TEAM, FIGHT
 When the Army-Navy series was interrupted in 1894 for a few years, the recommendation to the secretary of war was to stop the competition said: "The practice in peace of those operations which most resemble war must be condemned, notwithstanding the fact that they are manifestly beneficial as military training."

ONE-MINUTE SPORTS PAGE
 Lieut. Tony Hinkle, the Great Lakes coach, apparently is trying to out-leash pessimist Frank Leahy of Notre Dame. After his earlier scolding had seen the Irish, Hinkle said: "From their reports it appears no play or ball carrier we've got will rain an inch of ground against the Irish."

DURATION CROWN
 Just before Joe Jones entered the army, promoter Mike Jacobs wanted to give him a small present and bought him a $22.50 hat, but before he presented it, the champ started wearing a $100 gold piece of clothing for the civilian kind—recently Mike unearthed the lid and gave it to Tami Mauriello and, to everyone's surprise, Jack Chevrany probably finds him a refreshing change from some of the "fiddle footed" ends he has encountered in his career. The crown is a $100 gold piece of Keesler Field (Miss.-Arkansas Aggies football game, the Aggie team manager told reporters to add the name of Billy Houck, a marine half-brother of Jones, to the Arkansas roster. "We almost forgot we brought him along," the manager explained—the first touchdown was scored by Jones and the Vernon principal, Pat Gerald, the runner, of course, was the forgotten man, Billy Houck.

Texas Quail Season To Open Wednesday

By HOMER OLSEN
 AUSTIN, Nov. 27. (AP)—Quail shooting, favorite sport of thousands of Texans, opens Wednesday. Hunters who have been working their dogs for weeks will be happy to hear the state game commission reports the bird crop good—good as last year's, which was excellent.

In normal times 300,000 Texans shoot 3,000,000 bobwhite and blue quail in the 47-day season from Dec. 1 through Jan. 15.

Phil Gooden, director of wildlife restoration for the commission, today estimated the number of hunters would be reduced to 200,000 through wartime factors. Each hunter will average 10 birds during the season, Gooden figures.

Bobwhite quail are found everywhere in Texas except west of the Pecos river. There the blue quail rule but it represents only 15 percent of the season's total bag.

The best bobwhite country lies in three general areas centered by Smith county in Northeast Texas, Gonzales county in South Central Texas, and Jim Hogg and Kenedy counties in Southeast Texas. Few birds are to be had in the blackland soil of the Hill Country, or in the territory between Beaumont and Lufkin game commission biologists indicate.

Steers Start Grind For New Year Game

AUSTIN, Nov. 27. (AP)—Early next week the Texas Longhorns begin the uphill grind in preparation for the Cotton Bowl football game in Dallas Jan. 1.

Coach Dana X Bible is faced with the double-barreled problem of keeping his team from getting stale, and at the same time giving them enough work to do to keep the men in shape.

With practice expected to start about Wednesday, the Longhorns will work out regularly until Dec. 21. Then they will lay off for the Christmas holidays, returning to work again Dec. 28.

Bible was expected to replace Ralph Park, tailback, with Andy Robinson. El Paso lad who has shown up well in several games, Park is reporting for marine service.

It was still not known whether Marcel Gress, tackle who has been ill, will be in condition to rejoin the Longhorn lineup.

Pampa Team Trains Without Ease-Up For Bi-District Tilt

With confidence at a new high, the Pampa Harvesters worked out yesterday in preparation for the bi-district game against the Vernon Lions in Vernon. The game is to be played at 2:30 p. m. Friday, December 3, at Vernon.

Coach Otis Coffey is guarding against any let-up in Harvester morale or training. The Harvesters realize the game with Vernon isn't won yet and they will go into the bi-district battle Friday with confidence and strength but not with any ideas that they can loaf 45 minutes and still win the game.

Bertelli Wins Heisman Trophy

NEW YORK, Nov. 27. (AP)—Able Angelo Bertelli, the "Springfield Rifle" of Notre Dame's mighty gridiron power unit, Sam Frazier Island, S. C., won in a walk, polling 648 points—more than the combined total of the next five candidates in the balloting held annually by the Downtown A. C. here.

Nearest to him were Bob Odell, Pennsylvania's crack defensive back, with 177, and Otto Graham of Northwestern, with 146.

Finishing "in the money" for the third time—he was second in 1941 and fourth last year—Bertelli was elected top man in every section of the country—South, Southwest, Pacific Coast, Midwest and East. In this, he duplicated the award-winning vote piled up for Frankie Sinkwich, the Georgia Gopher, last year.

Hal Hamberg, Navy's half-pint passer, was second choice and Graham third in the Southwest.

As usual, the trophy will be forfeited to the winner at the annual dinner. This will be held Dec. 8 in the Downtown A. C. building.

Following is the final point standing of the nine leaders:

Player	Points
1—Angelo Bertelli, Notre Dame	648
2—Bob Odell, Pennsylvania	177
3—Otto Graham, Northwestern	146
4—Creighton Miller, Notre Dame	134
5—Eddie Prokop, Georgia Tech	85

Texas and Rice Cage Teams Enter All-College Tilt

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 27. (AP)—The all-college tournament sponsored last night that entries had been received from the basketball co-champions of the Southwest conference—Rice and Texas.

With the entrance of the two Texan quintets the list for the annual Christmas holiday tourney was half complete. Only eight teams will participate Dec. 27-29 this year. Oklahoma and Oklahoma Aggies were previously announced as participants.

Both Texas outfits were all-college contestants last season. The Longhorns taking third place and Rice winning the consolation bracket.

SLI Takes Dobb's Pass To Win, 6 to 0

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 27. (AP)—Southwestern Louisiana institute defeated Randolph Field, 6-0, here today, turning a Glenn Dobb's pass into a touchdown.

Set back on their own one-yard line by a terrific 50-yard kick by Alvin Dark, the Ramblers' former All-American at Tulsa university elected to pass rather than shove punt, and Fred Jacob, reserve SLI halfback, gathered the ball in on the 18 and went all the way for a score. The conversion attempt failed.

Great Lakes Blasts Notre Dame's Record

GREAT LAKES, Ill., Nov. 27. (AP)—The Great Lakes Bluejackets came in on an arm and a prayer to make a myth of Notre Dame's invincibility.

Big Steve Lach, the former Duke university and Chicago Cardinal star, looped a fantastic desperation 46 yards into the arms of Paul Anderson for a touchdown in the last 30 seconds of play which gave the sailors a 19-14 triumph before a screaming crowd of 23,000 trainees.

It was the first defeat this year for Notre Dame and ruined the Irish campaign for their first unbeaten season since 1930.

Anderson, ex-Western Reserve griddler, hugged the spiraling ball on the goal line and stepped into the end zone without an opponent within 15 yards of him, and a dramatic finish was of the variety which will be talked about as long as football is played. For the fighting Irish had just ended a 70-yard scoring march in a duel with the clock to go ahead 14 to 12 with a minute remaining in the game.

Notre Dame's kickoff went out on the Bluejacket 39. Lach then pitched 15 yards to Cecil Pirkey to reach the Irish 46. On the next play Lach faked back and with end Paul Lammont virtually hanging around his shoulders like a necklace, he shook free and catapulted the ball to Anderson, who was hovering around the goal line with his motor running.

Anderson's perfect catch and Steve Juzwik's subsequent placekick provided a bitter anti-climax for the most brilliant Notre Dame season in 13 years.

The sailors' sturdy line limited the Terrors of the T to 181 yards by rushing, their poorest showing of the season. Meantime, Great Lakes powered by Emil Sitko, Notre Dame freshman last year, and Dewey Proctor for Furman, drilled through the vaunted Irish forwards for 284 yards by rushing, the best showing of any of Notre Dame's nine previous opponents. Sitko gained 114 yards on 17 trips while Proctor punched 155 on the same number of carries.

Creighton Miller, the Irish's leading ball carrier, was stopped like a derailed express, picking up a mere 63 yards in 27 attempts for his poorest record of the year. Johnny Lujack, although hitting on seven of his 16 passes, was able to add only 64 aerial yards.

Notre Dame, however, ended its campaign with an average rushing gain of 313.9 yards per game to beat a national record which had stood since the University of Colorado posted an average of 310 before the running of Jimmie White in 1937.

Notre Dame scored the first time it got the ball in the opening quarter today on a 67 yard parade featuring Lujack's 17-yard pass to Miller. Lujack topped the thrust on a quarterback sneak from the one-foot line and sub Fred Earley booted the point.

Great Lakes drove 46 yards in the second period only to have Dewey Proctor bobble Sitko's lateral with Bob Kelly recovering for Notre Dame to end the second gesture on 31. The Irish left for their first win before 1,000 that gave the Oklahoma a clean slate of five victories and no defeats in Big Six conference play this season.

From the time in the first period that Gerald Lebow tossed two passes, the first to Bob Brumley for 16 yards and the second to Dud Wooden for -13 yards and a touchdown, the game was in the Sooner bag. Nebraska could do nothing with the surging Oklahoma line. The pass attack that had kept Nebraska threatening in other games failed most of the way.

Seahawks Scratch Minnesota, 32 to 0

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 27. (AP)—The Iowa Seahawks had far too much stuff on the ball for Minnesota, scoring as they pleased in the second half to trounce the Gophers, 32 to 0 today before 18,000 fans.

The game was the ninth victory in ten starts for the winners, and Minnesota's fourth loss in nine, and wound up the season for both teams.

The visitors marked up 21 first downs to six for Minnesota, and gained 468 yards from rushing, to 82.

Texas Schools Start District Football Tilt

(By The Associated Press)

Sixteen district champions of schoolboy football—six of them undefeated and untied—paired off today for the opening round in the battle for the state championship. McAllen defeated Edinburg 19-7 last night to complete the bracket for the bi-district play-offs. Here's how they will pair next week.

Pampa at Vernon, Friday; Yalata vs. San Angelo at El Paso, Saturday; Highland Park (Dallas) at Sherman, Friday; Sunset (Dallas) at North Side (Fort Worth) time to be set today; Breckenridge at Waco, Friday night; Marshall vs. Lufkin, Site and date to be determined Sunday; Goose Creek at Jeff Davis (Houston), Friday; Jefferson vs. McAllen, time and date to be set today.

Undefeated, Untied teams reaching the Bi-district play-offs are San Angelo, Yalata, Highland Park, Lufkin, Goose Creek and McAllen. But while the district champions awaited their first title games, the talk of Texas schoolboy football still was the 7-0 defeat Thursday of Amarillo at the hands of Pampa. This will rank with the greatest upsets of all time.

With traces of golden sand still in their eyes, sports experts down state are still calling the Pampa-Amarillo game an "upset." Amarillo's Golden Sandstorm was simply licked by a better team, the Pampa Harvesters, who outplayed the Sandies in the most thrilling high school football game in Texas this year. Amarillo got licked—that was no "upset."

Pampa was defeated by Lubbock which was crushed by Amarillo, yet Pampa beat the Sandies to tie for the district lead and take the title because they held a victory over Amarillo.

Top games of the coming week will be Yalata and San Angelo, because it matches teams with perfect records and the Breckenridge-Waco struggle, from which many expect a finalist to come despite the fact that Lufkin, long rated as the top, still may be in the field and the opponent of the Waco-Breckenridge winner in the quarter finals.

Braniff Seeks Mexican Route

DALLAS, Nov. 27—(AP)—Braniff Airways, Inc., filed with the civil aeronautics board an application for establishment of air service between Laredo and Mexico City. "The application follows Braniff applications previously filed for routes to Europe, the Caribbean Islands and South America," said T. E. Braniff, president. "It is another step in Braniff's long-range program to provide coordinated international air service for the central and southwestern areas of the United States."

The proposed service, originating at Laredo and Nuevo Laredo, Nuevo Leon, terminates at Mexico City, and provides for an intermediate stop at Monterrey, Nuevo Leon. The route would add 584 miles to Braniff's present 3,119-mile route.

In commenting on the application, Braniff pointed out that Laredo is already an established gateway for passengers and cargo to and from the area to be served. "It is the logical gathering point and terminus of such an operation as we propose," said Braniff, "easily accessible by air and rail from any portion of the United States."

The application states that the company proposes to operate the most modern multi-engine equipment available which its research indicates is the most feasible for such service.

World-Shaking Event Should Follow Pampa Victory—Look What Happened Twice Before!

Travis Lively, Pampa merchant, speaking at a Kiwanis luncheon Friday afternoon, told members of the club and their District Champion Pampa Harvester guests that something momentous is about to happen.

Lively knows that to be true, because— He saw the Harvesters beat the Sandies in 1931, 1941 and 1943, the only three times they ever turned that trick.

"Something big is just around the corner," Lively said, "Pampa whipped Amarillo in 1931 and soon we had the New Deal. They licked them again in 1941 and two weeks later war broke out with Japan and Germany. No wit has happened again—so, look out! Something momentous always happens right after Pampa beats Amarillo."

Lively was the club's principal speaker using Thanksgiving, 1943-style, as his topic. Mrs. Julia Pagan, USO hostess, also spoke briefly outlining the club's purpose and activities in Pampa.

Charlie Boyles, one of the co-captains of the Harvesters football team, was introduced by Jim Col-ins, club president. Boyles in turn introduced members of the Harvesters at the luncheon.

Introducing Gene Robbins, the back who caught the winning touchdown pass against the Sandies, Boyles said: "Here's the fellow who caught the pass that won the game."

Boyles praised all the other players, especially the line, for their slashing play, both on offensive and defensive.

'No Confidence' Vote Is Asked

LONDON, Nov. 27—(AP)—Accusing the British government of innumerable steps "in the direction of gentlemanly Fascism," Sir Richard Acland, head of the commonwealth party, said today he would offer in the house of commons a motion of no confidence in the government because of the recent release from prison of Sir Oswald Mosley, former chief of the British Fascist party.

TURKISH SHIP SUNK
ISTANBUL, Turkey, Nov. 27—(AP)—The newspaper Aksham reported from Izmir today that the 300-ton Turkish motorboat Isani Huda sank after an attack by an unidentified vessel. The captain and crew were saved.

THE Spirit of Christmas throughout America can not be squelched by war. It is as much a part of this nation as our homes themselves. Naturally, the fact that we are at war... that so many of our boys are in the front lines of action, has had a sobering influence. This manifests itself in the more practical character of the gifts that are being selected this year. Trivial little knick-knacks are not enjoying their usual popularity. But furnishings for the home are in great demand. We are proud of the part that our store will play in bringing beauty and cheer to the homes of this community, this Christmas.

Of Cabbages and Queens by Jane Bara.

Just about everyone we've seen for the past few days has had a smile on his face from here to there—and no wonder—now that we have had our share of Thanksgiving turkey and cranberries, now that General Snow has officially ushered in Old Man Winter and now that our Harvesters put the Sandies—well—we've reason to be beaming at each other!

Our sports writer has done a bang up job of letting us in on all the facts and figures of the Pampa-Amarillo game, so we'll not do that, (besides we couldn't anyway)—but we're still chewing on the furniture from excitement!

Saw lots of people about town attending the game, carrying their newspapers, blankets, umbrellas, raincoats and so forth. Big yellow mums were predominant and for the first time in months people shook the moth balls out and wore their fur coats.

Even though we did get our quota of rain and mud and have not one single fingernail left, we enjoyed the game no little end and are mighty proud of Coach Coffey's Harvesters boys!

Lots of Pampans shared their Thanksgiving dinner with one or more men in the PAAF—whether these be our own people realize it or not, they appreciated the invitation. Many persons invited soldiers to their homes, and to mention only a few—Mrs. I. B. Hughey, Mr. R. G. Harrell, Mr. E. S. Hammer, Mrs. George Williams, Mrs. Morris Levine, Mrs. Loren Jones, Mrs. G. E. Reading, Mrs. Roy Van Winkel, Mrs. R. C. Lockhart, Mrs. W. Purviance, Mrs. H. C. Wilson, Mrs. L. H. Sullins.

Mr. George H. Robbins of Canadian, Mr. E. D. Church of Spearman and Mrs. J. W. McDowell of White Deer have left standing invitations for soldiers to spend the week-end at their respective ranches.

Speaking of PAAF soldiers—they were entertained in the proper Thanksgiving fashion by the USO! Mrs. J. M. Stein, Florence Jackson, Roxey Spangler, Lottie Ochiltree, Maurine Jones, Mrs. J. Posey, Mrs. Herschel Murphy, Mrs. Tom Bliss, Mrs. Kate Vinson, Mrs. H. Casey, Mrs. Pearl Eizenman were volunteers that whipped up a dinner of turkey and all the trimmings. Mrs. Spangler pushed the pie cart around (with the able assistance of Rudy Hornachea and Salvatore Ferrara) serving pumpkin pie topped with whipped cream. She looked especially fetching in a white ruffled pinafore apron too.

Donald and Farris Smith opened a floor show by singing and tap dancing. Thelma and Velma Schlemeyer were cute in blue Puritan dresses and gave excellent accordion renditions.

Bob Murphy, the lad with ambition, who is forever calling his chums "simple souls," came across with his own composition of "Concerto in Boogie," which was a case of overly-developed sense of humor, but if the lad doesn't go places with his talents, it certainly will not be his fault!

To end the evening of festive activities, Molita Kennedy was named the winner of the beauty contest. Little Gabeon, acting as master of ceremonies, with the help of several judges proclaimed Molita as the fairest of them all. Vicki Dryer, a little dark haired five footer, ran her a close race, as the decision was put to the audience, with Molita taking out a few extra claps, stomps and yells in the way of applause.

Now that we've put Thanksgiving aside, and the first of December is rolling around swiftly it's high time that some thought was given to Christmas shopping—not that we like to rush season any better than you do, but to shop early these days is just plain smart! If you wait until Christmas Eve, you are apt to be disappointed, for with war-time shortages, the selection of available merchandise is limited.

What is always a pleasant surprise this year, practical gifts are not only acceptable, but are welcome.

Mrs. Doc Schwartz stays about two jumps ahead of even the most fashionable fashion experts. She always has on something very very pert and prett and looks as neat as neat.

Congratulations are in order (and how!) for John Knox, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Knox. John is a new member of the W. N. Masters Chemical Society on the North Texas State Teachers College campus.

The honor of the chemistry society is to rush season any better than you do, but to shop early these days is just plain smart! If you wait until Christmas Eve, you are apt to be disappointed, for with war-time shortages, the selection of available merchandise is limited.

Another Pampans who has been attending school at W.T.S.C. at Canyon is Miss Peggy Bishir, daughter of Mrs. M. S. Bishir. Peggy was in Pampa over the week-end and looked very stunning in a white wool dress.

Pampans—Clerk, I want some winter underwear.

Clerk—How long?

Pampans—How long? I don't want to rent 'em, I want to buy 'em.

Last week we received a letter—"Dear Cabbages and Queens: I have been thinking of advertising for a girl-friend in your column, but first I want to find out if advertising in the column will do any good. Are you certain that advertising will bring results?"—signed "Waiting."

Why sure advertising pays. The last time a man advertised for a lost dog in the column, the dog walked in while he was writing out the advertisement.

Lots Caslik has an especially beautiful white evening dress—Sgt. Hugh Best and George Wilson are interesting personalities—Louise Barrett has very beautiful braids—Joyce Taylor is a photographer's model in her pink and white evening dress—Louise Barrett is pun-lently easy on the eyes.

Have you topped to think how many of the old-fashioned virtues you have accepted since the war began?

You weren't especially known for your promptness were you? But now aren't you always ready and waiting with your hat on when time comes to go to the Red Cross room?

Saving a dime or two on each pay check probably was something you could never do until it became a matter of patriotism.

You even may have been one of those people who put off taking care of things around the house and those personal things of your own. But not now. You treat your prized possessions with the care that they have always deserved. Now a great many of them have to last for the duration.

And you never used to give a hang about how much food you wasted. If Johnny took a second pork chop and then took only a bite, that was all right, you merely flipped it to the garbage pail. And to top it all, your confidence didn't bother you when you left a serving of butter on your plate. But no more. Now you finish the food you take and you save the left over greases to send off for ammunitions.

And, as for neighbors with whom you had only a nodding acquaintance before the war, well, you're neighborly with them now, sharing rides, sharing pressure cookers, and so forth. Finally you got to know the people next door and when you did you found that they were good fellows—War isn't only made us learn to save but it has broadened us in that we no longer can afford to think only of ourselves. Now we find it necessary to learn to know others and to appreciate them for what they are or for what they are going to be.

Yes, you are probably practicing as many of the old-fashioned virtues as did your grandmother. Even the one about early to bed—if you've swapped a housekeeping job for a desk job or one in a war plant.

Reverend Carver was in the other day to tell us that he enjoyed the little series about the linotype man and the proof reader reads this column.

A great many people have trouble in knowing the code of wartime conversation. And far be it from ever stopping women from conversing! Perhaps the best rule to follow is: What is not safe to print, is not safe to say. The safety of our men is by far the most important thing to us, so never tell where the soldier is located unless he is at a training camp or on police duty in the United States. Never mention the name, designation, or number of me in any company, division, corps or regiment which you may have seen or heard about. To keep the enemy guessing as to the strength of the Army, or available forces at any point or the availability of its supplies is essential.

In a total war words are weapons. You, Mrs. Jones, may be entirely innocent when you tell your grocerman or butcher where Johnny is located overseas. You do not mean to give out information, but you may as well place a gun in the enemy's hand to use against our soldiers as to throw out words like these.

Used carefully, however, words may be weapons against the enemy. Words giving information which Americans have a right to know about the armed forces and equipment, the Government's program for the health and welfare of its soldiers, its provisions for their families. Such words build up confidence in our armed forces and so stimulate their morale. They throw fear into the enemy and so weaken them.

Miss Jeanne Chisholm

Miss Jeanne Chisholm Is Crowned Queen At Pampa-Amarillo Game

Pretty, dark-haired Jeanne Chisholm, senior, was crowned Pampa Harvesters Football Queen during the half of the Pampa-Amarillo football game Thursday afternoon. Attendants of the queen were Wanda Jay, junior, and Mildred Overstreet, sophomore.

Jeanne was introduced by a fanfare consisting of six cornets played by Willis Stark, Winifred Vaughn, Bobby Carmichael, James Harrah, Tommy Riggs, James Gray, and three drums played by Ronald Lester, Duane Vieux, and Erlene Shotwell.

Linda Steele and Martha Willis, both children of the faculty members, carried the crown and the flowers. They wore white skirts, white blouses, and green jackets adorned with small corsages of yellow mums.

Following the flower girls, attendants appeared on the field dressed in white and carrying bouquets of yellow chrysanthemums. The Harvesters Queen, wearing a white dress and a green and gold cape around her shoulders, was led on the field by co-captains, Charles Boyles and John Paul McKinley.

With all students and fans standing at attention, the Pampa High School band played "Dear Old Pampa High School." The queen and attendants retired to a booth on the sidelines after the crowning.

Jeanne, chosen by popular vote by members of the Harvesters team, is an outstanding student in high school. She is a member of the Quill and Scroll Society, the Little Harvesters staff, the annual staff, and is in the senior play, "The Turning of the Shire."

Mildred and Wanda, who are also school beauties, were elected by popular vote.

Twentieth Century Culture Club Meets

The Twentieth Century club met this week in the home of Mrs. Fred Radcliff with Mrs. J. M. Collins as co-hostess, for a 1 o'clock luncheon. The luncheon table was laid in white centered with roses and white sweet peas.

Mrs. H. H. Hahn conducted a business meeting. The program was given by Mrs. W. B. Weathered and Mrs. Ruth Jordan.

Attending were: Mrs. E. Douglas Carver, Mrs. J. M. Collins, Mrs. Henry Ellis, Mrs. H. H. Hahn, Mrs. V. L. Hobbs, Mrs. Rufe Jordan, Mrs. Garnet Reeves, Mrs. Fred Smith, Mrs. Fred Thompson and Mrs. W. B. Weathered.

Prop Wash

By MARY LIVERMORE

Did you miss "Prop Wash" last Sunday? We did too!

Really there is so much to report we hardly know where to begin. Mrs. Ruby Gibson, our star reporter, dashed home and in the rush the news was left parked on the ramp. But we are of again, soaring high with plenty of news.

The dance given by the Wilcox club, at the Air base was a big affair. Everyone who attended had a grand time and of course we went. The post orchestra furnished the music which was super-delux-ry-thm! Say—did you hear the "Kay-dets" have their jam-session during intermission—not bad—not bad at all.

Tuesday morning, November 16, the Cadet Wives held their meeting at the home of Mrs. Taor. Thirty girls were present. At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by Mrs. E. Gast and Mrs. Bernice Frohish. Coffee, gingerbread squares and muffins (they made them with their own little hands)—Oh yes, in addition to the delicious muffins there was a glass of jolly that had traveled all the way from St. Louis, too!

Our Cadet Wife's has increased in number to such an extent that we now have three new sponsors—Mrs. Jack Hanna, Mrs. C. H. Ashby and Mrs. Fatheree.

The regular meeting of November 23, 1943 was held in the U. S. O. We had a very nice attendance but were "U" there! At the close of the meeting Mrs. Detendorf and Mrs. DeJong served refreshments.

Mrs. Doc Schwartz is teaching quite a few of us to play bridge. We have been told bridge is a "must" for an officers wife. So come on gals—remember we want to prove we aren't "Excess Baggage."

Due to the Christmas holidays a number of girls, including Marion Johnson, Glenna Fogo, Donna Von Schritts and Mary Hartman have taken it upon their selves to help

USO Muses

For many reasons, Pampa's enlisted men realized when last Thursday passed that it wasn't just another Thursday. It was Thanksgiving. As usual the USO was right on the ball for the occasion and without its good offices many a soldier would have spent a dismal day. And while we're giving a big thanks to the USO in the same breath we'd like to say the same to the citizens of Pampa. It seemed as if everyone in town wanted a platoon or two (judging from the score they could have used without regiment or two). But we don't think there were any GI's rooting for anyone but Pampa. If he did it was at risk of life or limb (unless he sneaked over and sat with the Amarillo mob (the traitor). Amarillo was slated to run away with the game and if they did it would have been just another ball game. Just another game to make a guy wish he was back home watching his favorite college play their arch rival. But Pampa won and when the game was over there wasn't a soldier around who wasn't satisfied that he'd seen a real ball game.

Our hats are off of the Pampa football team and we're ready to yell ourselves hoarse cheering for them in any of their future football encounters.

After the game if you were still hungry all you had to do was amble over to the USO and get some of the food being dished out at its buffet supper. Either you were still hungry or the food was good enough to stuff down and worry about your stomach later, because the place was mobbed with GIs. It was good food too, supplied by the USO funds and cooked at the homes of some of the best cooks, by the best cooks in town. If you were lucky enough to be there direct your thanks to these ladies.

Thetford, Cree Vows Are Taken

Miss Frances Adair Thetford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Sharp Thetford, Dallas, became the bride of Lieutenant George Benson Cree, Jr., army of the United States, on Saturday evening, November 6, at the First Methodist church in Blythe, Cal. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Benson Cree of Pampa.

The Rev. Stanley Creighton read the ceremony before a background of white chrysanthemums. Appropriate nuptial selections were offered by the church organist.

The bride wore a chapel gown of ivory slipper satin designed with high neckline, short cape sleeves and self-covered buttons extending down the front of the bodice. The very full skirt swept into a slight train, and the short veil of imported bridal illusion fell in particular tiers from a cat of matching satin. She carried a prayer book topped with white orchids and tuberoses and showered with white satin ribbon.

Miss Betty Cree of Pampa, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor. She wore a dress of beauty rose fallie with a high neckline and short sleeves. She carried a colonial bouquet of American Beauty roses and wore a matching pompadour arrangement in her hair.

Leut. Walter D. Lucas was best man.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the Rev. and Mrs. Stanley Creighton. Mrs. Cree attended Hockaday Junior College, where she was a member of Tau Gamma Epsilon, honorary organization, and the University of Texas, where she was a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority.

Lieutenant Cree attended New Mexico Military Institute and the University of Texas. He belongs to Theta Xi fraternity.

AND CROSS VOLUNTEERS

By MRS. H. H. HAHN
According to Mrs. M. F. Roche, home service chairman, the War Department has stated that Christmas cards to soldiers overseas must be sent in sealed envelopes as first class mail and mailed at once. If they are mailed now, they will reach even the most remote APO by December 25, according to a statement from the Army Postal Service.

Packages—Christmas, for Men Overseas Receiving Mail through APO's.

The War Department has announced that Christmas parcels for Army personnel leaving home stations en route overseas shortly before Oct. 16, 1943, will be accepted up to and including Dec. 10, 1943, upon presentation by the sender of a change of address received after Sept. 30, notification from the addressee received. Only one such package will be accepted from any person to any one individual having an overseas APO address.

Parcels which have been returned to senders on account of improper or insufficient addresses still may be mailed. The original wrapper, bearing the endorsement "Return to Sender, Insufficient Address," must be submitted to prove that the package was originally mailed before the Oct. 15 deadline for overseas Christmas packages.

The Army Postal Service states that parcels received overseas for men to whom, for some reason, the packages cannot be delivered, will be returned to senders.

Packages—To Persons Receiving Their Mail at APO's.

Standard musical recordings by recognized manufacturers may be shipped overseas, provided requests from the persons to whom they are sent, showing the APO cancellations, are presented with the packages at the time of mailing. Ten-inch records are most easily packed. They should be sent in corrugated boxes and two or three pounds of wrapping paper should be used on each parcel, to increase the possibility of safe arrival. Personal recordings may not be sent.

Communications—Magazines and Newspapers.

Copies of magazines and newspapers which do not weigh more than 8 ounces may be sealed and sent by first class mail to servicemen receiving their mail at APO's overseas. No request from the post office when receiving magazines and newspapers which can be sent in this way. New subscriptions to small editions of regular periodicals can also be taken out for persons in the armed forces overseas, without specific requests from those to whom they are being sent, provided the publishers send them by first class mail and the individual issues do not weigh more than 8 ounces.

Mrs. W. R. Campbell, secretary of the local Camp and Hospital Committee, reports that the A. A. U. W. has given $25 for subscriptions for magazines to be sent to our men at the Prisoners of War Camp near McLean.

A First Aid class, taught by Mrs. J. M. Fitzgerald, and made up of High School girls, is in progress. The class is going into its third lesson.

Mrs. W. G. Kinzer, knitting chairman, emphasizes the importance of completing the knitted gloves now on hand. Winter is here, and it is not difficult to realize the discomfort one experiences when exposed to the cold for even a short time with unglued hands. Think of trying to handle the icy steel of guns in wintry weather without gloves. Our men who are serving in cold regions need these gloves now. If you can read knitting directions, says Mrs. Kinzer, you should not have difficulty in knitting the gloves. It is true that they look hard to make, what with the fingers and thumb, but women who have knitted one pair say that they are simpler to knit than it would seem.

Mrs. Earl O'Brien, sewing chairman, states that most of the convalescent robes have been cut out, and are ready to be made. In addition, some of the wrappers to be used for enclosing surgical instruments for sterilizing remain to be made. These are to be used at the hospital at P. A. A. F., and are needed now.

The Girl Scouts of Pampa have launched their fall and winter program and every girl from the tiniest Brownie to the most superior Wing Scout is enthusiastic.

All established troops have been re-arranged and new troops have been organized so that every Scout is in the troop in which she is most congenial. All leaders, whether they be experienced or inexperienced, have worked hard to arrange a program that best suits each troop.

The most important event of the past week was the "Fly Up" party at Woodrow Wilson school when Brownies in Mrs. D. P. Smith's troop "Fly Up" becoming full-fledged Girl Scouts with a Scout's responsibilities and privileges. Girl Scouts in troop four with their leader Mrs. Lawrence West welcomed the new girls.

since he was the only male civilian brave enough to pitch in with the USO Thanksgiving dance was off to a good start. But it got better as the evening progressed.

No one sat around twiddling their thumbs. Everybody danced and had fun. We even had a beauty contest. The Judges may not have been experts but the GIs who acted as such made up for it with their wit. Pretty (and shy) Melita Kennedy was the soldier's choice. Melita must be happy now and so are the judges. Be seen ya, Melita! A dance contest was also planned. Rebekah Lodge will meet.

Public Service

One of this country's thousands of small town newspapers has just won a libel suit which, in both its inspiration and its result, spotlights the type of service that the nation's press renders to the community.

The little city of Tonawanda, near Buffalo, N.Y., is a town of 100 people with a community that is to say, every factory in that industrial community is a war plant.

Yet up to the beginning of 1942 Tonawanda had a mayor who was much less than 100 per cent for those ideals that the United States is fighting to maintain.

In the 1941 election of the Tonawanda Evening News went to the warpath against Mayor Warren. Charles E. Hewitt, Jr., its publisher and editor, a former foreign correspondent and magazine writer, drafted a full-page advertisement which was sponsored by a "Committee of Patriotic Citizens."

This advertisement recalled, among other things, Mayor Warren's refusal to co-operate in housing of war workers and his statement to a representative of the government as he consumes, and we would all go back to making money."

As a result of the News' campaign, Mayor Warren and Publisher Hewitt agreed, the mayor resigning and defeated by a vote of 1979 to 2443 in a city which has three Republicans for every Democrat.

Hewitt and his newspaper won both suits—a six cent nominal verdict which left the mayor in the lurch assessed with all costs of the trial.

This is the sort of public service that a small town newspaper can render on occasion. Does it pay? Apparently it does. In an area with around 40,000 inhabitants, the News circulation has risen since the beginning of 1941 from 4296 to 7146.

We mention this episode not because it is unique but because, except for its ability to be wrapped into a one-editorial hour, it is typical of why a free press is the truest bulwark of functioning democracy.

Eddie Pohl, formerly an advertising solicitor for The Pampa News, is now advertising manager of The Tonawanda News in the New York state newspaper's contribution to public service.

Let George Do It Uncle Sam took over the coal mines and Harold Hicks, jack-of-all-trades, the custodian of months of bickering and interrupted output, Uncle Sam capitulated to the demands of John L. Lewis on behalf of the United Mine Workers.

The miners were "ordered" back into the pits—that wording, taken from the press association, doesn't sound very democratic, but seems rather accurate under an arrangement which provided, among other things, for a $40 lump sum payment to each man to cover partial-to-quit travel during an 80-day period.

Now Mr. Hicks, under whom the capitulation was conducted, announces that the $40 is no worry of Uncle Sam, or of Harold Hicks. Let the coal mines be run by the coal miners.

General De Gaulle represents the Blum faction in France and is supported openly by Russia. De Gaulle's coup was nothing less than a complete Communist victory in North Africa.

But a typical Communist smokescreen has been raised in the attempt to obscure that fact. The obscuring device is a familiar one.

When General Giraud and three of his associates were removed from the committee, their places were taken by seven new appointees—handpicked by De Gaulle.

It was then announced that while several of the new appointees had been offered to specified Communists, they had "declined" on the ground of displeasure with the procedure.

The shallowness of this pretense is apparent. The attempt to indicate Communist "disapproval" of the current procedure is pure subterfuge, designed to confuse public opinion in the United States and Great Britain.

The United States and Great Britain are confronted by the fact that General De Gaulle, with whom they have had continuing differences and difficulties is now the supreme political authority in French North Africa.

They are confronted by the further fact that General Giraud upon whom they had counted for effective military support, is not only in eclipse as a political authority but is almost equally undermined as a military authority.

He is only nominally in command of the French armed forces. He is subordinate to a De Gaulle, commissioner for national defense.

Obviously, the objective sought by the American and British governments is to have a man in command of the French armed forces who is subordinate to a De Gaulle, commissioner for national defense.

Common Ground

By R. C. HOLLER the sign of democracy, by God I will accept it. I speak the plain-word principle. I give earnest of on the same terms. —WALT WHITMAN.

Each Owes $1250

In round numbers, every man, woman and child in the United States now owes $1250 to the federal government, besides what he owes to the state and local subdivisions. This means, on an average, that each family owes $5000 to the federal government alone.

The seriousness of this is not realized by most people. Most people think that this will be largely paid by the rich and will not reduce the standard of living. It will, however, reduce it to a possible way of preventing this debt from being paid in proportion as each man consumes.

And a decrease in living standards will be a greater handicap to the man with a low income than it will be to the well-to-do. Oh yes, I hear the man exclaiming that inflation will take it out of the living standards of those who have credits. It will be hard on those who have credits if we have inflation, but it will be harder on those who have no credits if we have inflation.

It is obvious that this complex question cannot be tackled fundamentally during the conflict. But in view of the prospect of postbellum inflation, the next Administration may have to discover ways to reduce the intermediate tribute paid to brokers, shippers, processors, wholesalers and retailers.

OBSTRUCTIONISTS—Frank C. Walker's announcement that the Democrats will not start their 1944 campaign until the last week in January has stirred a rustling in the partisan dovecotes. Considering his intimacy with President Roosevelt, sideliners wonder whether the National Chairman possessed inside information of F. D. R.'s fourth term plans.

The politicians reason quite logically that were Mr. Roosevelt planning to step aside, his friends would wait so long to open the fight. A "late and short" warning would be no handicap if the Chief Executive should toss his hat into the ring again, he would need no publicity or buildup. But difficulties would arise in trying to make a national hero of a newcomer between Roosevelt and the June convention of the November election.

The delay also supplies a tip on the kind of strategy the majority will employ, no matter who runs. It is a tip that Mr. Walker proposed to Republican National Chairman Harrison E. Spangler that both Parties agree to a minimum of political activity during the campaign.

Thus it appears that the Democrats will represent themselves as the group which has successfully possessed the states and lambaste their rivals as obstructionists. —BUY VICTORY STAMPS.

COMPLEX—A Federal Trade Commission report that attracted hardly any notice reveals that the high cost of living is not entirely owing to the war's pressure on prices. Chief blame is placed on the "pyramiding of charges" which takes place from the time a product leaves the farm until it arrives on the shelf of a grocery store—a middleman problem which every Administration has attacked but none has yet solved.

Although the study was made in 1936, a depression year, the findings show a spread from producer to consumer of three hundred per cent and per cent. The system, together with "high pressure selling," results in a tremendous waste of food (two hundred fifty million pounds of bread in one year) at a time when that commodity cannot be spared.

The Boston customer, for instance, pays on dollar sixty-seven cents for a sack of onions for which the grower received fifteen cents. Head lettuce that netted only fifty-eight cents a crate to western farmers cost four dollars eight cents in Dallas. Tomatoes priced at two dollars a crate.

It is difficult to explain or understand why the American and British public also have permitted this situation to develop so steadily to their disadvantage. The probable explanation is that the American and British public has not been up to the standard of their military leadership.

All in all, the Allied MILITARY leadership has been adequate and has performed in a manner affording general satisfaction. But unfortunately General De Gaulle, who was objectionable and unacceptable to the Allies as a military leader, has succeeded in establishing himself as a powerful POLITICAL leader—although he was just as objectionable and unacceptable in one respect as the other.

The result of this will almost inevitably be that General De Gaulle will ultimately be the supreme ruler of France. And he will rule postwar France in a manner pleasing to Soviet Russia, which has supported him, and antagonistic to the American and British Allies with whom he has been in conflict.

The political success of General De Gaulle is beyond dispute. The practical victory of the Communists who support him is truly indicative of what is likely to happen to most of Europe in the postwar period.

GENTLEMAN FROM KENTUCKY (The New York Sun) Simeon Willis, Governor-elect of Kentucky, was in New York yesterday. A reporter for The Sun found him far removed from the "Dear Alben Barkley-Happy Chandler type that had galloped rough-shod over Kentucky politics for so many years. Judge Willis is rather refreshingly reminiscent of the Carlisle-Lindsay school of statesmen who in the 1890s represented the Blue Grass State with the dignity and ability it deserved.

PIE FOR SUPPER (St. Louis Post-Dispatch) It's pie-supper time in Missouri. The foddler's in the woodlot has given up its quota of oak and hickory for the killin's about over. And the people are gathering there coolish, misty evenings at the schoolhouses and the cross-roads church, bringing their box suppers along.

Yes, the war has brought gasolin' to the fore, but all that has done, says a news item from Linn county, is to show away some townspeople and county politicians. Now it's generally the barn and pasture folks, the quarter section people, the men and women and boys and girls from the scattered homesteads—up to the spring fed creek.

And so it goes, so much and golden sugar.

War Today

(This column, conducted regularly by EDWIN McKENNIE, is written in his absence today by J. M. Roberts, Jr.)

PEACE TALK IS GOING ON AT BRANCOVA, ROMANIA. The pope is reported acting as go-between for the Allies and Germany. Senator Downey of California says he has it from unusual well-informed sources that influential Germans are seeking a way out. A member of parliament suggests the German people be told just what can be expected from an armistice. Brendan Bracken, British minister of information, takes cognizance with a warning against misplaced optimism. Many reports so wild that they have not obtained publication have been current for some days.

The phenomenon is not a new one, and frequently runs concurrently with situations like the present. It is obvious that this complex question cannot be tackled fundamentally during the conflict. But in view of the prospect of postbellum inflation, the next Administration may have to discover ways to reduce the intermediate tribute paid to brokers, shippers, processors, wholesalers and retailers.

OBSTRUCTIONISTS—Frank C. Walker's announcement that the Democrats will not start their 1944 campaign until the last week in January has stirred a rustling in the partisan dovecotes. Considering his intimacy with President Roosevelt, sideliners wonder whether the National Chairman possessed inside information of F. D. R.'s fourth term plans.

The politicians reason quite logically that were Mr. Roosevelt planning to step aside, his friends would wait so long to open the fight. A "late and short" warning would be no handicap if the Chief Executive should toss his hat into the ring again, he would need no publicity or buildup. But difficulties would arise in trying to make a national hero of a newcomer between Roosevelt and the June convention of the November election.

Thus it appears that the Democrats will represent themselves as the group which has successfully possessed the states and lambaste their rivals as obstructionists. —BUY VICTORY STAMPS.

COMPLEX—A Federal Trade Commission report that attracted hardly any notice reveals that the high cost of living is not entirely owing to the war's pressure on prices. Chief blame is placed on the "pyramiding of charges" which takes place from the time a product leaves the farm until it arrives on the shelf of a grocery store—a middleman problem which every Administration has attacked but none has yet solved.

Although the study was made in 1936, a depression year, the findings show a spread from producer to consumer of three hundred per cent and per cent. The system, together with "high pressure selling," results in a tremendous waste of food (two hundred fifty million pounds of bread in one year) at a time when that commodity cannot be spared.

The Boston customer, for instance, pays on dollar sixty-seven cents for a sack of onions for which the grower received fifteen cents. Head lettuce that netted only fifty-eight cents a crate to western farmers cost four dollars eight cents in Dallas. Tomatoes priced at two dollars a crate.

It is difficult to explain or understand why the American and British public also have permitted this situation to develop so steadily to their disadvantage. The probable explanation is that the American and British public has not been up to the standard of their military leadership.

All in all, the Allied MILITARY leadership has been adequate and has performed in a manner affording general satisfaction. But unfortunately General De Gaulle, who was objectionable and unacceptable to the Allies as a military leader, has succeeded in establishing himself as a powerful POLITICAL leader—although he was just as objectionable and unacceptable in one respect as the other.

The result of this will almost inevitably be that General De Gaulle will ultimately be the supreme ruler of France. And he will rule postwar France in a manner pleasing to Soviet Russia, which has supported him, and antagonistic to the American and British Allies with whom he has been in conflict.

The political success of General De Gaulle is beyond dispute. The practical victory of the Communists who support him is truly indicative of what is likely to happen to most of Europe in the postwar period.

GENTLEMAN FROM KENTUCKY (The New York Sun) Simeon Willis, Governor-elect of Kentucky, was in New York yesterday. A reporter for The Sun found him far removed from the "Dear Alben Barkley-Happy Chandler type that had galloped rough-shod over Kentucky politics for so many years. Judge Willis is rather refreshingly reminiscent of the Carlisle-Lindsay school of statesmen who in the 1890s represented the Blue Grass State with the dignity and ability it deserved.

PIE FOR SUPPER (St. Louis Post-Dispatch) It's pie-supper time in Missouri. The foddler's in the woodlot has given up its quota of oak and hickory for the killin's about over. And the people are gathering there coolish, misty evenings at the schoolhouses and the cross-roads church, bringing their box suppers along.

Yes, the war has brought gasolin' to the fore, but all that has done, says a news item from Linn county, is to show away some townspeople and county politicians. Now it's generally the barn and pasture folks, the quarter section people, the men and women and boys and girls from the scattered homesteads—up to the spring fed creek.

And so it goes, so much and golden sugar.

DR. FOSDICK'S 'ON BEING A REAL PERSON'

A Dependable Man Is Human Nature's Noblest Exhibit. No virtue is more universally accepted as a test of good character than trustworthiness. Obviously, however, this virtue is more than "moral" in any ordinary sense of that term. Dependability is possible only if the whole personality achieves a stanch unity that can be counted on. "Good old Watson!" said Sherlock Holmes to his friend. "You are the one fixed point in a changing age."

A consistent character, so unified that the quality of his responses is predictable in common interpretation in moral terms, but the psychological processes involved are basic and profound. A man of integrity must first of all be well-integrated.

Unreliability is the first fruit of all forms of dissociated personality. When the dissociation is caused by alcohol or opiates, we have the erratic behavior of the drunkard or the drug addict. When it is caused by infantilism, we have the eccentric and caprices of childlike behavior. When it reaches the state of stark insanity, it ranges over a wide and terrible field of unpredictable reactions, truthfulness, and desire are nomads, incorrigibly uncivilized by our main standards of living. In so far as we are thus disintegrated, we are not dependable.

This is evident even with regard to a virtue like courtesy. Although politeness is supported by some of the strongest motives that play on human life, how common is the person who is courteous in the presence of polite today, morose and uncivil tomorrow; obliging and well-bred in business, crabbed, churlish, and sulky at home; affable with one so-called "equals," gruff and snobbish with one's servants; a good sportsman on the golf links, an ill-natured jester in the subway; kindly at church, snarling and peevish in the office; friendly with one's own kind, spiteful and even brutal toward Jews, Negroes, Roman Catholics, Protestants, religious liberals.

In one sense, human nature is happily unpredictable. No one can foresee what may be forthcoming from most unlikely people. When Thomas Edison was seven years old his school teacher gave him up as a hopeless case. He heard her tell the inspector that he was "addled," and that it was useless for him longer to attend school.

The innumerable possibilities of such a boy are among the chief assets of human nature. Even when character has been corrupted, transformations can occur, opening up futures that cannot be forecast. This unforeseeable element is one of the glories of personal life.

Moreover, even in those whom we count most dependable there is happily a wide range of unpredictability. We cannot tell what new and surprising qualities may yet appear in them. They may be full of unexpected quirks and humors, like a diamond with many facets that surprise and delight us. Indeed, paradoxical though it is, this unpredictability may be one aspect of trustworthiness.

James M. Barrie describes his official, conscious self as hardheaded, practical, and canny; but his other self, whom he calls "McConnachie," is an impulsive, fantastic, romantic character. He has heard her tell the charge of Barrie and controls his destiny. "McConnachie is the one who writes the plays." This is not dissimulation, but richness and variety of life. In this sense, our own character, "What a bore it is, waking up in the morning always the same person!"

Without contradicting such facts, however, it still is true that predictability is one of the highest ethical goods. One can tell in advance with what manner of

Around Hollywood

By ERSKINE JOHNSON Today we'd like you to meet Hollywood's precedent-shattering girl—Ella Raines of Universal studio.

She was started in four motion pictures before the public ever saw her on the screen. She was signed to a film contract sight unseen by Charles Boyer and Howard Hawks. She kept her marriage to a war hero a secret for nearly a year by making no attempt to keep it a secret. And she wasn't impressed by Louis B. Mayer. Yes, L. B. Mayer and the MGM studio boss who has the same effect on young ladies as Frank Sinatra.

"It was funny," Ella said. "I was introduced to Mr. Mayer and said I was happy to know him. Then he said, 'But aren't you impressed?' "I said, 'No—not particularly.' "Then he laughed and said, 'But I own this studio.' Ella said she still wasn't impressed.

"I guess it must have been quite a shock to him," Ella said. "Anyway, he shook hands with me and said, 'Young lady, I admire you. Congratulations. Then he sent me a box of candy.' "

"Cry Havoc," still unreleased, is one of the four pictures in which Ella Raines was starred before the public ever saw her on the screen. Her first, Universal's "Corvette K-225," has just been released. The other two, still in production, are Paramount's "Hail the Conquering Hero," and Universal's "Phantom Lady."

In reporting this unusual situation of a girl becoming a star without the public knowing anything about it, a Hollywood trade paper recently commented: "She'd better be good."

Ella was worried about that, she behavior a man with such character will act. He has developed a dependable style. Such men are the strength of the friends and the noblest exhibit that human nature gives of itself.

office while Miss Ansing, listening to her report, frowning a bit on a square pad. She said, "Do you know who owns the houses on Elderberry street?"

"No," said Emily astonished, "it isn't much of a street, really, mostly vacant lots, and four or five scattered shacks."

"The Edgars own all that property," Miss Ansing said. "You haven't had occasion to go there, naturally, you wouldn't inquire."

"I was walking through, taking a short cut," Emily said, "when Mr. Reman came out of her house. I don't think I've been on that particular street a dozen times. My district ends at Hammond, which cuts across it. I know of course, that the Edgars had bill property holdings out of the mill district."

"It's the location," said Miss Ansing, carefully, "which is being considered as a site for the new defense housing project. Naturally, Mr. Edgar's agent would not burden himself with improving conditions in the circumstances." She smiled faintly.

"I see," said Emily. "We all see," said Miss Ansing. She went on after a moment. "I wonder if you would speak at the board meeting next week? You've done so before, but not recently. I think my cut and dried reports are always enticed, made more interesting if they are supplemented by less statistical reports from my nurses. You can appeal to people more directly through the imagination than by figures. We have several problems to face this year. Larger quarters for instance. More and more patients are coming here by routing treatments, and our space is limited. Unless our board is fully aware of the work we can't expect them to be as enthusiastic in raising the money. I've asked Mollie to speak briefly on the industrial nursing end and if you would talk about your district, and give them actual cases..."

"I'll try," Emily said. "I'll try," Emily said. "I'll try," Emily said.

and "It's so true. I hope I can be good." But now that moviegoers have seen her in "Corvette K-225," Hollywood film producers who gamble in new faces are very happy, indeed.

CAMPUS ROMANCE How she kept her marriage to a war hero, Capt. Frank Sinatra, a secret for nearly a year by making no attempt to keep it a secret is one of the year's best stories. They fell in love while both were attending the University of Washington, where Ella won two dramatic scholarships. In 1940 he left college and joined the air force.

Ten days before he was shipped overseas on August 11, 1942, they were married at Palm Beach, Florida. The ceremony was formal and more than 150 announcements were sent out. But Hollywood didn't discover the "secret" until almost a year later. Captain Trout spent most of the year in India.

Papa Raines, a dynamic engineer of Snoqualmie Falls, Wash., had given Ella money for a six-month trip to New York in an attempt to crash the stage, so after a honeymoon she started making the rounds of Broadway booking offices. She was rehearsing for a small bit in "Oklahoma" when an agent sent her photograph to Boyington and Hawks who were about to produce "Corvette K-225."

They asked her to come to Hollywood for a screen test. She took the test, signed a contract and went to work in the picture the next day. SERIOUS STAR Ella Raines is very determined about becoming a great star. But she says she doesn't like the word "determined." "Just say I'm very serious about it," she said, "and that I'm working terribly hard."

Although Mr. G-M's war drama, "Cry Havoc," and Paramount's comedy, "Hail the Conquering Hero," give her a nice change of pace, Ella says her next film will be a broad comedy. And then she'd like to do a musical. She studied singing for five years. "But I guess," she says, "the way to succeed in Hollywood is not to give 'em anything at once. So the singing will have to wait."

Stars & Stripes Finds Covering Campaign Hard

By HELMAN MORIN
 NAPLES, Nov. 27.—The editors of the service newspaper "Stars and Stripes" were wrestling today with the toughest problem they have yet encountered in presenting the news to American soldiers and sailors overseas.

The problem—how to cover the 1944 presidential elections.

Troops overseas probably will have the opportunity to cast absentee ballots. They are already demanding information about candidates, party election programs and what's being said on controversial issues.

What's more they have already indicated in no uncertain terms that they want a complete and unbiased coverage. They don't want to hear only the administration point of view.

So that means giving equal space and prominence to the critics of the administration.

To publish all the millions of words of campaigning that will be written and spoken taxes the facilities of a full-sized metropolitan newspaper in America. "Stars and Stripes" in most theaters is a four-page daily with only five short columns per page. Obviously it can't print everything that is written and said.

That's the physical problem of space.

By way of meeting it Captain Robert Neville of New York, editor in the Mediterranean theater, plans to have two trained army correspondents in America to cover the campaign. Special cable and radio facilities will be provided them.

Then comes the difficulty of squeezing the available wordage into the small-sized paper—which, by the way, reaches even the man in the very front lines and is generally regarded as the soldier's gospel.

NOT THE PROPER WIFE

CHAPTER XXIV

THE board meeting took place at headquarters. Emily, waiting her turn to speak, looked at her audience in some trepidation. Elsie Edgar smiled at her encouragingly. But Elsie was thinking. It's too bad of Frank . . . Emily was by no means the sort of daughter-in-law Elsie wanted. She liked to be the social service worker in the family. Nancy amused and rested her. A second Mrs. Edgar who would undoubtedly have her finger in all sorts of civic pies was not to Mrs. Edgar's liking.

Mollie, one of the industrial nurses, was speaking earnestly. Her enthusiasm carried her away and several members looked at one another with veiled amusement when Mollie spoke in blunt terms of the difficulty of proper care of workers under adverse conditions, and placed the blame of the typhoid outbreak at the proper doors—which led to the workers' houses.

Mrs. Edgar stirred and reddened painfully.

Emily's little speech was a sympathetic selection of case histories. The story of a sick child, saved in time. The story of a child, too often home during school hours, as the visiting nurse could easily see. Yet it was not a matter for a truant officer. There was no one at home to care for the patient and the younger children, except this child. Matters were better arranged through the father of the family, through the V. N. A. itself, and the doctor at the dispensary. She told them about the Elsters, and eventually about Mrs. Reman. The Reman case interested them, they leaned forward and she knew she had their whole attention. She spoke briefly but graphically of the house in which she had found Timmy. . . .

FRANK was aghast. "But I thought . . ." he began and she interrupted forcefully. "You thought Millicent was my closest friend? She is. That has nothing to do with the matter. Has Emily ever spoken to you about the small section houses?" "Yes," he admitted uneasily, "but . . ."

"That's enough. She told the entire board tonight about the conditions in the Elderberry block. You know that we expect to dispose of that property as soon as the government makes up its mind where the new defense houses are to go. It would be sheer folly to spend money on half a dozen ramshackle buildings which are bringing next to no rent now. As for the mill houses, the city hasn't complained of them, and the inspectors are perfectly satisfied. Emily's a good girl, no doubt, but she's a meddler and I cannot tolerate meddlers."

Frank had lost his head. He had said that Emily didn't meddle, that he was seriously in love with her and that he was determined to marry her if she would have him.

"Of course she'll have you," said his mother scornfully, "why shouldn't she?"

She went on, "However, if she does accept you, Frank, you will be marrying her without my consent."

Absurd. He was free, white and well over 21. But if his mother, through Carter, wished to demote him at the mill, if she wished to throw him out altogether, without as much as an allowance, she could.

She was telling him now just what that might expect if he persisted in this silly infatuation.

"But I thought you liked Emily."

"I do like her. But she is not the proper wife for you. . . ." She added, "And if you have any influence with her, Frank, I'd advise her not to be too carried away by her—job. Otherwise she might not have it very long, in Cranberry."

German Prisoner Is Caught in Louisiana

SHREVEPORT, La., Nov. 27.—(P) A German prisoner of war, 24-year-old Hans Schulz, was captured while walking along the Shreveport-Morshouse, Texas, highway near Greenwood, state police reported.

Schulz escaped the Ruston prisoner of war camp Wednesday. He was seen on the highway yesterday by Motorcycle Patrolman James Freeman. The latter thought Schulz was a hitch-hiker and merely stopped out of curiosity. The prisoner was wearing a U. S. Army field jacket and overseas cap, taken from a soldier on duty at the camp.

When the hitch-hiker replied to him in German and held out his German army "dog tag," Freeman took him in custody.

Schulz was returned to the Ruston camp Thursday night.

MAJOR HOOP!

Hoover Wanted To Preacher

FRANK I. WELLES

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27 — (AP)—The man in America most feared by Nazi spies wanted to be a preacher.

Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, was a little shaver then. He wanted to be a preacher because the one he knew played baseball with the kids.

Now it seems the kids want to be G-men like J. Edgar. They have played junior G-men ever since FBI mopped up on kidnapers, racketeers, fifth columnists and the first wave of Axis spies and saboteurs.

Even Hitler is hep to this FBI business. His last words to his new crew of espionage-sabotage "supermen" poised for emergency missions to head off Allied victory were: "Do not arouse suspicion of the G-men."

Let's take a look at this guy who gets Hitler's goat.

He springs from a desk as big and clean as grandma's kitchen table, smiles up and down, and clear across, sticks out a list you are afraid to tackle and walks ankle deep into a gleaming office rug saying, "I'd like to see you."

From the moment you don't think about cops and robbers. You just wonder who made him do that.

"Did you hear about the time I was scared?"

No.

"I was a 7-foot salfish kid from Florida Keys, and I was asked to give up the law."

He still has a scar on his forehead that made him sore and Col. E. W. Starbuck of the White House, going around telling had seen that "stuffed" in a dozen different hock for 15 years.

He's a 10-foot moray of Coral Reefs, thinking it an looking perch, and howled for help when the ugly, pugnacious old Roman delicacy bit the bottom of his britches.

Then you hear about his pet pooch, "G-Boy," and pretty soon you are staring at a bust of Dante.

You learn that Hoover thought the bust was bronze. Actually, it is one of the finest wood carvings this reporter ever saw. All this, you think, and G-men, too? Right.

John Edgar goes into art shops here and there picking up things because "they're pretty."

J. Edgar was a high school captain of cadets. They elected him colonel of the regiment—but he turned it down to stay with the first-prize-winning company he had filled.

He wanted to be a detective, not a detective story, and couldn't read one if he never read again. He never heard of neighborhood kid rough-neck, but he took Alvin Karpis apart single handed when that public enemy was itching for a gun fight.

The head G-man is 48, stands what seems to be a mighty tall 5-foot-10 straight up and down, weighs 170 pounds, denies he can lick his weight in wildcats and swears any one of the 15,000 men he has trained can outshoot him and break his neck at judo.

He keeps fit watching boxing bouts, relaxes in night clubs, hangs around art museums and goes regularly to the Presbyterian church. He trains on stone crab when any seafood joint can get it, smokes a favorite brand after dinner cigar (one cost me $1), and is put to it will oblige with a sociable highball.

He shaves himself, but has his shoes made to order. He wears envious suits to offset his black hair and eyes.

On office walls they have framed Elbert Hubbard's "Loyalty."

"If you work for a man, in heaven's name work for him," speak well of him and stand by the institution he represents. An ounce of loyalty is worth three pounds of cleverness."

Hoover says he'd rather not hear any more about being an eligible Washington bachelor.

Hoover is a George Washington University LL. B. and LL. M., and has honorary law and science degrees from 14 colleges and universities plus a drawer full of medals presented by national legal and social science fraternities, associations and clubs. He has honors from so many outfits it takes three pages to list them in his biographical sketch.

And when he started out lawmen called him a "radical."

"This was because he banned wire-tapping and the oldtime "third degree."

He says the gestapo and other political and secret police get "lip service" whereas law enforcement in this country gets "heart service."

"You can see in Europe," he adds, "the intoxication of bureaucratic lawlessness and what befalls the people. You can't enforce any law unless it and the manner in which it is enforced has popular support. There is why the FBI is more successful than the gestapo."

Hoover says popular support of FBI has been a powerful influence in keeping down vigilantes and sporadic outbursts of barn-burnings, floggings and mayhem such as occurred during the last war.

His ideas have built FBI from a force of 600 special agents to 5,000 in the last four years.

Now FBI has the finest scientific crime laboratory and fingerprint system in the world, as attested by Scotland Yard and by the former French Surete. International law officers laud its police academy of scientific crime detection.

"Preacher stuff," tough old lawmen call it, when Hoover laid down the law against skull-busting and said FBI would rely on "thorough training, hard work, patience and honesty."

Well, the record shows that G-men have obtained 95.6 per cent convictions in all cases brought to trial and 89 per cent of the defendants admitted guilt.

And J. Edgar Hoover says, "the free press of America made the G-man."

Berlin Eats Zebra, Elephant Steaks

STOCKHOLM, Nov. 27 — (AP)—Zebra and elephant meat were restaurant delicacies served to bombed Berliners, Christer Jaederlund, Berlin correspondent for the Stockholm-Tidningen, reported today when he returned from the reich capital.

The meat was obtained when soldiers shot animals which escaped from the 200 during the cascade of bombs.

Confirming the scarcity of water in Berlin, Jaederlund said the people were going unshowered and unshaved.

He said traffic was resumed in the capital yesterday but on a curtailed basis.

The Dagens Nyheter correspondent in Berlin said among buildings wrecked badly were the Kroll opera house where Adolf Hitler used to address the reichstag.
