U. S. Heavies Attack More Nazi Aircraft Factories

Soviets Root Germans From North Russia

(By The Associated Press) American heavy bombers attacked the aircraft factories at Gotha in Central Germany and the ball bearing works of Schweinfurt in the southwest today in their fifth successive blow at the sources of Hitler's air power. Gotha lies 150 miles southwest of Berlin and Schweinfurt is 220 southwest of the shattered capital. German radios went silent after repelling extensive air battles above the featureless Reich. Simultaneously packs of American marauders and British Typhoons renewed the aerial offensive across the channel. With bayonet and tommygun, the Red army was rooting the last Germans from the streets of Dno today as it rapidly rolled up the enemy front in North Russia and pressed powerfully toward the rail hub of Pskov. Dno (pop. 9,000) is 64 miles east of Pskov and the last important rail and road crossing on the westward approaches to the larger city. Other Russians driving from the north were within 25 miles of Pskov. Advances up to 10 miles were recorded; 150 settlements were seized; 2,500 Germans were killed. Other advances were made in the Central Ukraine and northeast of the west of Kriyov. Here 6,000 Germans fell in futile defense. Vast piles of booty still were being counted. Berlin said German lines in White Russia northeast of Rostochy had given way before a new Red army onslaught. American heavy bombers striking the airplane and ball bearing works yesterday at Steyr, 30 miles west of Vienna, destroyed 33 German fighters. It was the fourth successive assault on the very source of German air power. U. S. air force headquarters said the blows at Hitler's plane factories had been severe and that "fighter production has been so reduced that each existing plane knocked down is a vital contribution." About 100 German bombers scattered incendiaries and explosives widely over London for the fourth straight night, killing dozens and causing widespread damage. Four were shot down. A reconnaissance plane was shot down the first daylight alert in London in many months. The flights to Steyr in Austria were among the 850 sorties flown by Allied planes in Italy in which 27 Nazis and seven Allied planes were destroyed. The nine severely wounded German divisions on the periphery of the Italian beachheads are being reorganized. Sharp encounters were reported at several points. Only patrols were active on the main Fifth and Eighth Army fronts around Cassino.

Output of Carbon Black, Vital to War Effort, Hindered by Lack of Manpower

By TEX DE WEESE Manufacturers of carbon black—and 75 per cent of the world's output comes from right here in the Pampa-Borger area—are facing the possibility of not being able to meet a swiftly rising demand. The manager of one carbon black plant in the Pampa area said today demand is growing so rapidly that applications already have been filed for doubling the plant's capacity. The carbon black industry, however, is confronted with two problems—the increased demand for the product and the need for additional manpower, and especially to keep what manpower it has. In some instances, this plant manager said, because of a lack of understanding by the public that carbon black is so essentially vital to the war effort—men are refusing to accept draft deferments and are going into the army rather than face any criticism. "In practically all cases," the spokesman said, "these men could be of more service in the carbon black industry than they could carrying a gun. When we lose an experienced worker, it means slowing up the production and delay in getting material to the fighting front while someone is trained to replace the essential man who has gone to the armed services." Carbon black is one of the most vital products behind the war machine of the Allied nations. Carbon black workers are fighting the battle against Hitler and Hirohito just as are the fighting men at the front. Without the production here at home the successes cannot come on the battlefields. In the period just before Pearl Harbor the carbon black industry was bothered with some over-production difficulties. But those days apparently are gone forever. In addition to the war production angle, many new uses have been found for carbon black. Most people, even those who live right here in its midst, have never come into direct contact with the soft powdery soot made by burning natural gas. Yet it plays an important part in their daily lives. Substantial amounts go into automobile tires where, in effect, it rivets the rubber molecules together, making the tires sturdier and more resistant to pull, friction and heat. And, carbon black has dozens of other uses. An extremely small amount in a radio tube absorbs

He Emerges As Potential Candidate

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24. (AP)—An unanimous Democratic vote returned Senator Barkley today to the senate leadership he resigned in a sensational rebuff to President Roosevelt's tax veto, and the veteran Kentuckian announced he would continue in the important party post. Stamping in effect, their approval on Barkley's bitter denunciation of Mr. Roosevelt's tax message, Democratic senators roared their acceptance of his resignation and just as enthusiastically re-elected him leader—a leader greatly enhanced in congressional, if not also party, prestige. The president, to whom Barkley directed his stinging rebuke in an extraordinary speech yesterday climaxed by his resignation, had joined in asking Barkley to continue in a telegram saying "your difference with me does not affect my confidence in your leadership nor in any degree lessen my respect and affection for you personally." After the dramatic party conference, from which Barkley walked sternly after handing in his resignation, the Kentuckian too, expressed to reporters his "deepest personal affection" for Mr. Roosevelt. The conference, by unanimous vote, immediately accepted the resignation, then re-elected him leader. Barkley's acceptance followed in his office, when six senators advised him formally of the overwhelming confidence they reported that Barkley was moving during his acceptance of the honor that his voice broke and tears came into his eyes. This was enacted the second chapter in a political drama which raised a serious Democratic challenge to President Roosevelt's leadership in the 1944 election year. Denying that there were any fourth-term implications in his historic break with President Roosevelt yesterday over the tax bill veto, Barkley asserted: "I've always had and still have the deepest personal affection for the president. He stands right along with me in the eyes of some of the world's dominant party leaders as a president for the last generation." Barkley emerged probably the most potent Democratic presidential possibility outside the White House as a fighting mad congress rallied behind him in his sensational break with President Roosevelt. With Allied capitals around the world looking on, a domestic drama of far-reaching implications rose to crescendo pitch as members of the nation's dominant party took sides in the most serious challenge thus far to Mr. Roosevelt's leadership. Mr. Roosevelt himself, moving swiftly to head off a revolt that he promised, in the eyes of some observers, to elevate Barkley to the foremost ranks of presidential possibilities this year, expressed a hope that the Kentuckian's resignation:

Stirred by Barkley Revolt, Angry Solons Override President

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24. (AP)—In strident rebellion against President Roosevelt's tax views, the house today voted 299 to 95 to pass the $2,300,000,000 new revenue bill over his veto. The senate is expected to duplicate the house action tomorrow, putting the tax bill on the statute books, "the president's objections notwithstanding." A rebellion in Democratic ranks that reeled political Washington back on its heels preceded the house action. Involved were Senate Democratic Leader Barkley of Kentucky, and Chairman Doughton (D-NC) of the ways and means committee, both of whom called for action overriding the president. The house galleries were filled an hour before the motion to override came to a roll call, and crowds gathered in the halls of the capitol to catch even a small glimpse of the proceedings. The 63-year-old Doughton declared he had "parted company" with the president on the veto issue, saying Mr. Roosevelt's message reflected "on the judgment and integrity of the congress of the United States," and that the executive "has told us in effect that if you'll accept my dictation and abdicate your responsibility, I'll approve what you want."

Alben W. Barkley

Mr. Roosevelt's Washington birthday veto message described the tax bill as a measure for the relief of "the greedy."

This was the second time within a week the president had been overridden in the house. The Smith-Cannally anti-strike bill became law last June over the president's veto, the house voting 244 to 108 to override.

Mr. Roosevelt has been successful during that time in having two vetoes sustained. Both of these vetoes prevented the outlawing of food subsidies as a part of the wartime stabilization program. Today's house action was one of the worst legislative setbacks the president has suffered since he took office 11 years ago.

Immediately after the overriding vote, Rep. Knutson (R-Minn) republican leader of the ways and means committee, announced a statement calling for "a complete shake-up of the policy-making personnel in the treasury department."

In a joint statement yesterday, Knutson and Doughton said they hoped the treasury "would cease trying to obstruct what it cannot dictate," indicating inability of the tax-writing lawmakers to get along further in the treasury policy-making personnel. Knutson said "congress has been unable to rely upon treasury tax recommendations, or the information regarding the budget and expenditures are based."

The Republican tax leader announced he was introducing today a bill established the bureau of independent agency, so that it may serve both the president and the congress unfettered by the theorists and star-gazers in the treasury.

Kentuckian Joins Notable Company Of 'FDR Outs'

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24. (AP)—If Senator Alben W. Barkley's biting blast at President Roosevelt means a clean break, it puts the Kentuckian in some distinguished company. Over a lifetime of precedent-smashing politics, Mr. Roosevelt has had some rough-and-tumble scraps with his own associates. The list is long of those who wouldn't make peace, or didn't get the chance—Al Smith, John L. Lewis, James A. Farley, John Nance Garner, Gen. Hugh Johnson—ad infinitum.

Up to this point, Mr. Roosevelt, politically speaking, has had the last word. It usually has meant relative obscurity for those who crossed swords with the squire of Hyde Park. First classic tiff to electrify the Roosevelt camp involved former Gov. Alfred E. Smith, Roosevelt's predecessor both in the New York capital and as Democratic president.

Myron Blalock Lauds Barkley's Outburst

DALLAS, Feb. 24. (AP)—Texas Democratic national committeeman, Myron G. Blalock of Marshall, says that what Sen. Alben Barkley said and did with reference to the president's veto message on the income tax bill was justified, and expressed the hope Barkley's colleagues would re-elect him majority leader. "I think more of Senator Barkley than ever before, because he's demonstrated his capacity for leadership," Blalock, here to help in a drive to obtain $105,000 in Texas for the national Democratic party, said last night. "I am glad to see congress asserting itself. However, I hope Barkley's colleagues will re-elect him majority leader and that he will get back in the harness. The president's phrase makers went entirely too far," he said.

Blalock said he considered the effect of the episode would be salutary on the Democratic party.

West New Guinea Is Won; Marianas Hit

(By The Associated Press) The sweeping offensive of American forces carrying their assault ever closer to Japan's home waters pointed up today the growing peril of the enemy's positions in the Pacific. A heavy U. S. carrier attack hit the Mariana Islands, 1,300 miles south of Tokyo, for the first time even as American fighting men won still another base in Eniwetok, western Marshalls, to extend operations against the core of Japanese island defenses. The western end of New Britain "is now completely in our hands," Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced, in a further development which contributed to the crumbling of Nipponese strength in the Southwest Pacific. A movement to "overthrow Premier Tojo is spreading through Japan," the Chinese Central news agency said today quoting reports attributed to Japanese in Shanghai. Several hundred planes attacked Saipan and Tinian Islands, at the southern tip of the 15-odd Marianas. Tuesday in a raid probably made by the same carrier task force which ploughed into Japan's naval stronghold of Truk Feb. 16 and 17. #### Maximum Oil Recovery to Be Tonight's Topic

Improved methods for making good well produce more oil by the use of treating equipment will be the subject of a talk here tonight by Clarence A. Glasgow, Tulsa, Okla., chief engineer of the National Tank Co., as the Pampa chapter of the American Petroleum Institute presents its first 1944 monthly program. The talk is timed to coincide with "What the Red Cross Means to You in 1944," delivered by the Rev. Robert Boshen, pastor of the Presbyterian church, and for the past five years a member of the board of the Pampa chapter of the American National Red Cross. The talk is timed to coincide with the advance gifts portion of the 1944 roll call proper, scheduled to begin March 2. Gray county's quota this year is $29,000. After the Reverend Boshen's speech, a 10-minute motion picture film depicting South Pacific scenes will be exhibited. Engineer Glasgow will then make his 45-minute talk, illustrated with three-foot sketches, and will answer questions after his speech. The program is in charge of Dallas Bowsler, program and entertainment committee chairman of the Pampa-AP chapter. R. B. Saxe, chapter chairman, will be master of ceremonies. #### Dewey Will Run If He's Drafted

NEW YORK, Feb. 24. (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York will accept a draft nomination for the presidency but he will not alter in any way his determination during the Republican convention in June to become an active candidate before that time. Dewey apparently sealed the door against any exit from the position he has taken that he is not seeking the nomination, but is not saying beforehand what he would do if it came to him. His friends made it plain, however, that the 42-year-old governor is willing—if the convention is willing—to take his chances on what he and most other Republicans believe will be a battle to defeat President Roosevelt for a fourth term. Dewey, who previously had contented himself with reiteration of the statement that he was not a candidate, went so far in his telegram to the Wisconsin group as to express the hope that they would withdraw the petitions which had been filed for them. At Madison, however, Fred R. Zimmerman, secretary of state and a candidate at large, pledged to Dewey, said he believed the governor's backers whose nomination papers have been filed would continue in the race.

Medal Can't Be Won in Airplane

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24. (AP)—The Bronze Star, newest American decoration for action against the enemy, was introduced to the public today, along with the specification that the only place it cannot be won is in an airplane. Obviously aimed at boosting the morale of the mud-sloggers who have been wondering where the airman got all their medals, the new decoration does the job properly—it takes precedence over the Air Medal, and also over the Purple Heart.

It can be awarded, Acting Secretary of War Patterson disclosed at a press conference, to anyone in the army, navy, Marine corps, or coast guard who distinguishes himself "by heroic or meritorious achievement or service, not involving participation in aerial flight." It can be won in combat, or with actions in direct support of combat operations, and—says the army—"it is expected that members of the army ground forces, particularly infantrymen, may lead the eligibility lists." Airmen may win the Bronze Star, too—but not in the air. The ribbon for the new Bronze Star—and the ribbon will have to serve the recipients until war demands for bronze are scarce—and the medals themselves can be struck from designs not yet completed—is red, with a vertical blue stripe in the center, both the blue stripe and the ribbon ends piped in white.

Press Acclaims Churchill Talk

LONDON, Feb. 24 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill's war review in the house of commons was acclaimed by the British press as an illuminating statement of British foreign policy and an encouraging re-assurance of harmony in the Allied camp.

Almost without exception London editorial writers seized upon the Prime Minister's assertion that Britain, the United States and Russia are "absolutely united in their action against the common foe" as an outstanding feature of his address.

"No part of the prime minister's speech was received by the house, or will be received by the country, with greater satisfaction than his firm declaration that in relations between the three major Allies none of the ground made good at Moscow and Teheran has been lost," said the Times of London.

The Times noted that Churchill "had little to say of the second front operation except to demonstrate most by his silence that it is close upon us," but declared that his statement that the air assault upon Germany now has first priority is "of high significance."

The Daily Mail declared that Churchill's speech was "full of information and therefore one of the most valuable he has delivered."

Ample Butylene Supply Assured By Oil Official

FORT NECHES, Tex., Feb. 24 (AP)—A great plant to produce from petroleum the principal ingredient of synthetic rubber—butadiene—was meshed formally into the nation's production for war in dedication ceremonies here Wednesday.

Present were Col. Bradley Dewey, national rubber administrator who made the principal address; Bruce K. Brown, assistant deputy administrator of the petroleum administration for war; Stanley T. Crossland, vice president of the Rubber Reserve Corp.; other government and state officials, and officials of the five oil companies which cooperated to form the Neches Butane Products Co., operator of the plant.

Erowa, one of the speakers, in his prepared address called it: "The largest single petroleum plant in the synthetic rubber program."

"Six thousand men have been sweating at Fort Neches in the face of all kinds of natural obstacles, more than the usual amount of red tape, and occasional political brickbats, to create and put on steam," the first half of the plant, he said.

Erowa recalled that the corporate name of the company, Neches Butane Products, was selected when it planned to make butadiene from butane instead of from butylene. Now the plan is changed to make butadiene from butylene.

"I am pleased with the change we made. In view of the highly successful record of performance of the butylene-to-butadiene process for several months at your sister refineries at Baton Rouge and Baytown, I am sure that you will have good success with your changed plan. I say this in spite of the alleged butylene shortage conjured up by professional worriers," he said.

Brown said that contract prices for the butylene which the five participating refineries in the area—Atlantic Refining, Gulf Oil, Pure Oil, the Texas Company, and Soco Vacuum—will furnish the plant are only a few pennies more per gallon than the current wholesale price of premier motor gasoline at refineries in the area.

Army Education Of 17-Year-Old Boys Suggested

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 (AP)—If the war department accepts a suggestion by hard-pressed education authorities, about 100,000 high school graduates 17 years old may be sent to college this summer at the army's expense.

The proposal was made by a committee of college presidents after a meeting at national headquarters of the American Council on Education. The educators said it would benefit the boys greatly by giving them intellectual and physical training. They declared it would help the army by providing a valuable reserve of potential leaders.

No mention was made of obvious benefits to colleges themselves.

Last week the army suddenly announced that it was forced to remove from the colleges 110,000 members of its specialized training program by April 1, leaving only 30,000 on the campuses.

The educators in their statement accepted this action by saying it couldn't be helped and they appreciate fully that it was dictated by "imperative military necessity."

Instead of protesting the order, they came through with what they termed a constructive suggestion: Included in the 30,000 army students who will be left in the colleges are between 2,500 and 5,000 volunteers 17 years of age. They aren't subject to active duty.

The educators proposed that the army immediately expand this group by putting on a campaign and urging 17-year-olds to volunteer for college training which would continue until the end of that school term in which they became 18.

Examinations for this pre-induction program are scheduled March 15.

During an earlier crisis in the condition of Mrs. Gandhi, who suffered from intermittent heart attacks, the government stated her release had been considered but decided against because she would be better off near her husband where every medical facility was available.

Raids were commanded by Rear Admiral Marc A. Mitscher, skipper of the carrier Hornet when B-25 army bombers took off for the 1942 raid on Tokyo.
Radio silence again delayed communication of details of the Marianne attack, but the naval units may have sailed there in search of the heavy Japanese warships which slipped out of Truk's lagoon some time before the American planes came on the scene. The Japanese lost 19 other ships at Truk, as well as 201 planes.
Army and navy fliers kept up the sustained offensive with strikes at enemy bases in the Central Pacific Monday and Tuesday while American soldiers and Marines completed the conquest of Eniwetok to gain the second foothold in the Marshalls. Kwajalein was occupied completely Feb. 6.
Parry island was the last to fall at Eniwetok, 280 miles west of Kwajalein. The Japanese had estimated 3,000 troops on the entire atoll, but Pacific fleet headquarters reported only 28 or more Nipponese were taken prisoner. American casualties are believed to have run low. American planes bombed Ponape and Kusaie in the Carolines and unidentified atolls in the Marshalls. Another attack was aimed at Nauru island, west of the U. S.-held Gilberts. Not a plane was lost in all the raids.
Marines from the north coast of New Britain effected a juncture with Sixth Army troops from Arawe on the south to gain full control of the western portion of the 800-mile long island with the battered enemy fortress of Rabaul at the northeastern tip.

General MacArthur estimated that approximately 7,000 Japanese troops had been killed in the fighting following the American invasion of Cape Gloucester Dec. 26 and Arawe Dec. 15.
Solomon-based planes plastered Rabaul's Lakunai and Rapopo air-dromes with 130 tons on Monday, and for the second successive day the Japanese failed to intercept the attack.
Two enemy freighter-transports and an escort vessel were sunk by aerial bombers off Cape Matanilem near Kavlieng, New Ireland. A 1,000-ton Japanese freighter was destroyed near Nubia on the northeastern New Guinea coast.

Smoke from fires set by German night raiders still rose over London today as Nazi reconnaissance planes flew boldly over the city and touched off the first bona fide day alert the capital had experienced in many months.
Appearance of the German scouts, apparently checking damage done in the fourth sharp raid on London in six nights, underscored an RAF commentator's warning that the Luftwaffe has shifted strong bomber formations to France and presumably is ready to continue the current series of streamlined attacks.

Anti-aircraft guns roared into action as two enemy planes were spotted streaking over the capital at high altitude shortly after the breakfast hour. It was the first real daylight alert since last July 3.
Thousands of incendiaries and many high explosive bombs were showered down on the capital last night, causing dozens of deaths and widespread damage. At least four of the raiders, most of which attacked from a great height, were reported downed.

to the public at no charge. Purpose of these regular monthly meetings is to acquaint the public with the oil industry and what it means to them.
Glasgow's speech will deal with a vital concern of the Panhandle—the matter of getting every ounce of oil possible out of wells.
Until two years ago, every oil storage tank in the Panhandle had steam coils. They were used for two purposes: first to warm the heavy paraffin base oil so that it would run free in the pipeline; second, to settle water to the bottom so that it could be drained away.

In this manner most operators handled their water problems and checked it off as a necessary evil of operating on the Plains, although this method was expensive. Since the wells are now making more water the problem becomes greater.
Many operators have installed an oil heater and a settling tank, that is, a gas-fired heater to pre-heat the oil, after which it returns to a settling tank where the heavier water drops to the bottom and is carried off.
Operators are now beginning the use of a treater, that is a complete treating plant all in one tank. It first separates the gas from the fluid, then the oil is heated in the treater's bottom. Oil is washed through the hot salt water and the latter

These figures, with the $4,000 balance from last year applied to the 1944 quota, make up the $29,000 total which is Gray county's contribution to the national quota of 200 million dollars.
The idea of everybody contributing their Leap Year Day salary on Feb. 29 to the Red Cross was again stressed at yesterday's meeting.
The Rev. Edgar Henshaw, public director of the current Red Cross drive, today urged readers of The Pampa News to study the local chapter's annual financial statement for 1943 which appears in an advertisement elsewhere in the paper.
The same rule as in the past governs all giving to the Red Cross. A portion of the money subscribed in every community goes to the national organization and the balance remains in the community for local work.
Pampa chapter last year gave direct help to 2,029 service men and their families to relieve distress or to meet emergencies in the family. In 464 of these cases additional help was supplied away from our own financial generosity of the people of Gray county last year every need was met. Seven local workers gave their time, without compensation during the year, to investigate each case an d to see that assistance was given as needed.

The advanced gift drive in the local campaign will continue until March 2 when the city-wide canvass of individuals for roll call memberships will begin. The drive will last through March.

rial nominee Smith figured he lost in 1928 on a fluke and wanted another crack in '32 but Roosevelt blocked it.
Two of Roosevelt's earliest associates in depression-sapping Washington soon broke with him over domestic policies. Raymond Moley, an original "brain-truster," is a columnist now, having followed the same course pursued by the late Gen. Hugh Johnson—the NRA administrator.
Two mighty figures in the Roosevelt political scheme of things departed chestily over the third-term issue. John L. Lewis, creator of the CIO, denounced FDR in the '30 campaign and backed Willkie. The other resignation was that of James A. Farley, about which books have been written.
Farley didn't want to have anything to do with a third term and made no bones about it; there are plenty of people who think that was because Farley himself wanted to run. In any case, he took a walk and just about that time Vice President Garner stroled along with him.
Garner and Farley never had disclosed that close comradeship which carried them into the camp opposite Roosevelt in 1940. They have conferred this year and frankly admitted it was over "politics."
Mr. Roosevelt has retained the friendship of those who served in his cabinet, with one exception: Harry Woodring who was dropped as secretary of war. Woodring today is leading a Democratic movement to balk a fourth term nomination.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN
Of Tired Kidneys
If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.
The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.
If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging headaches, rheumatism, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there's something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.
Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills

Mexican Movies Menace Mastery Of Latin America by Hollywood

Every studio in Hollywood wants to hire Jorge Negrete, but he's content to remain the cinema idol of Mexico.

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Staff Correspondent
MEXICO CITY, Feb. 24.—Mexican movies are usurping the Central and South American markets so rapidly that Hollywood producers are moving in to protect themselves.

The loss of the Latin American field would mean from $750,000 to $1,000,000 a year to each American company, say Hollywood officials and producers who are here now. That would total between $6,000,000 and $8,000,000 a year to the industry, and in normal times it could be the difference between profit and loss. For a long time, Hollywood's profits were about equal to its revenue from foreign markets. Home consumption merely paid the freight.

Peter Rathbone, president of RKO, is in Mexico City inspecting building sites. Joseph Schenck plans to make flickers here. So does Bryan Foy of 20th Century-Fox. Lou Anger, head of United Artists Theaters, and Charles Skouras, president of Fox West Coast Theaters, are looking into the situation.

Independents who saw the light early are Norman Foster, well-known Hollywood director, and Dudley Murphy. Lupe Velez speaks of directing Emil Zola's "Nana." Frank Borzage, the director, and Lloyd Nolan, the actor, have invested in a Mexico City production.

COMIC HAS OWN COMPANY
There are three major Mexican companies — Clase, Azteca and Mundiales Films. Mario Moreno Cantinflas is Mexico's No. 1 comedian and his own company.

Mexico City has modern studios and equipment which turned out 68 pictures in 1943, will make 100 this year. Pictures can be made in Mexico for one-quarter of their cost in Hollywood. This country has its own stars. There is no labor trouble, and wages are low.

Bryan Foy estimates that he could make six pictures a year here at a cost of $80,000 each, and that they would net $150,000 apiece. That's a greater margin of profit than most Hollywood productions show.

Jorge Negrete, six feet three, handsome and moustachioed, is Mexico's outstanding male performer. Hollywood would like to grab both him and the great Cantinflas, but no dice.

Negrete, who blocks traffic in Central and South America, speaks perfect English and has a splendid voice, but failed in Hollywood several years ago and refuses to return. He feels that he was not treated right in a thing Hal E. Roach called "Fiesta."

STARS MAKE BIG MONEY
Negrete, the Clark Gable of our neighboring republics, gets 80,000 pesos, or more than $16,000, plus a percentage privilege, for personal appearances.

Cantinflas is a rough comedian who appeals to the mob. Dialog puts him across, and he outgrosses all American comedians.

Maria Felix is Mexico's first lady of the screen. She and other outstanding feminine stars such as Gloria Marin, Mappy Cortez, Marie Elena Marques and Susana Guzman, also cause traffic jams.

Explodes del Rito, one of two Mexican products who made good in Hollywood, has staged a spectacular comeback in her native land. Lupe Velez, the other, can make more money here than she can in Hollywood.

Central and South America are movie mad. There are so many big movie houses in Mexico City, for example, that newspapers carry two full pages of advertisements.

With home-grown movies steadily improving in quality and number, Latin American is losing interest in English-speaking pictures and is turning to Spanish dialog. Hollywood is beginning to realize that it can share this rich market only by making real Latin American pictures with Latin American players and other creative talent.

Construction of a dipping vat at the Hoover stockyards, northeast of Pampa, is half completed. County Farm Agent Glenn Hackney said today.

The vat is one of four planned over the county as a preventive measure against cattle lice and grubs, more prevalent this year than ever before, due to the shortage of feed and excessively cold weather.

Remaining to be done at Hoover is the building of chutes. The vat itself is 2 feet wide at the bottom and 3 feet wide at the top, 7 feet deep, and 28 feet long. It will hold 2,800 gallons of water, cold powder, and sulphur mixture.

The Hoover vat is expected to be completed and in use by next week.

Hackney said other farmers interested could obtain help on building these vats by applying to his office.

Work started in December but was held up on account of cold weather.

To Strengthen Morale

(Daily Oklahoman)

Once the red tape has been cut and all men in uniform are permitted to vote, a most peculiar condition will become certain and inevitable, if Mr. Roosevelt and Governor Dewey become the presidential nominees of their respective parties. Then the world is going to see a condition unlike anything the world has seen since the earth rose out of chaos.

In any company street on earth and in every regiment ardent supporters of the president can climb upon boxes or tubs or what not and spend all of their otherwise idle time denouncing Dewey as a bozo, a bedlamite, a bashi-bazook, or anything else mentioned in the rooky's best latrine vocabulary. They can spend uncounted hours branding Dewey as a mis-fit, a nitwit, a disloyalist, or what you please. And no matter what they say of Dewey, they will be violating no law, no rule, no army regulation.

But if the supporters of Dewey attempt to reply or to retaliate, they will be getting into serious trouble. They cannot call Mr. Roosevelt a single name. They cannot even make faces when his name is mentioned. For the army regulations provide that any man in uniform who says anything disrespectful of his superior officer shall be subject to court martial. And as commander in chief, Mr. Roosevelt is the superior officer of every man in uniform.

Hence, it will be possible under the rules for the Rooseveltians to parade around the Dewey butts voicing their love for their favorite and their hatred for his opponent, but if the Deweyites dare to answer in kind, they will be subject to a court martial. And that is no way to make brethren dwell together in unity.

Supporters of the soldier bill say that its enactment will improve the morale of the army. It may do it. We shall know more about that after a battalion of Tamany Irish have been regimented for a month with a battalion of Vermont Republicans with half of the regiment denied the privilege of answering what the other half has said. To introduce Mississippi primary election tactics into a mixed regiment of partisans would be a peculiar way to build morale.

GALVESTON, Feb. 24.—Physiotherapy training at the University of Texas medical branch here has been accorded approval of the American Medical Association, Dr. Chauncey D. Leake, vice president and dean announced.

Urgent need by the army and navy for 2,000 physiotherapists has prompted the university to open a new class in physiotherapy starting March 27, Dean Leake said.

WAVES at WAR

Responsible work! This WAVES Telegrapher is receiving dispatches direct from the battle front. It's one of many important jobs in the WAVES open to patriotic young American women.

"Ready... Aim... Fire!" Yes, WAVES teach gunnery. Using movies of enemy planes, this girl is teaching a fier to "shoot 'em down" with a beam-of-light gun. Before there were WAVES, all such instruction was given by men. The WAVES need thousands of young women, between 20 and 35 years of age. A new booklet, "The Story of You in Navy Blue," is available at Navy Recruiting Stations, or Offices of Naval Officer Procurement.

A thrilling moment—being sworn into the WAVES at the Navy Recruiting Station! This young woman is beginning an exciting career, serving her country in wartime. She'll receive good pay, an initial clothing allowance of $200, free meals and quarters (or $3.05 per day for subsistence when not provided by the Navy), low-cost government insurance and other "extras." The Navy needs 91,000 girls in WAVE uniforms by the end of 1944.

This air-minded WAVE enjoys her work of checking the fliers in and out at an airfield. She's also gaining excellent experience for a good job in civilian life after the war.

Russian Bombs Fall on Sweden

STOCKHOLM, Feb. 24.—The Swedish telegraph agency says Russian lettering was found on bomb fragments at Straengnaes, 40 miles west of Stockholm, after a small number of foreign planes dropped explosives there and on the capital Tuesday night.

Signal lights, indicating they were trying to land, also were dropped by the planes, and it was believed possible they were damaged craft which jettisoned their explosives before attempting emergency landings.

Russian bombers raided Turku, on the west coast of Finland 150 miles from Stockholm, earlier Tuesday night.

Fresh reports on the night's strange activities said 20 foreign planes fully lighted, flew over Umea, 275 miles north of Stockholm on the Gulf of Bothnia.

There were strong indications several Finnish cities were raided during the night, which might account for the air activity over the land. It was announced only that Turku on the west coast was bombed and an alarm sounded in Helsinki.

After the Berlin correspondent said news of the bombing of Stockholm created something of a sensation in the German capital. The correspondent said private circles took the view that the Russians had attacked the city trying to provoke Sweden, which carries on an extensive iron ore traffic with Germany.

BUY BONDS BARKLEY

Chairman Doughton (D-NC) of the House Ways and Means committee, another erstwhile Roosevelt stalwart, declared the veto message marked the point "where I part company with the president of the United States."

The president had contended the tax bill was inadequate for wartime needs.

Barkley, declaring the president was guilty of misstatements and of making a "deliberate and calculated assault upon the honesty and integrity of congress," said:

"Other members may do as they please. I do not propose to take this unjustified assault lying down. I urge congress to override the veto."

In a telegram dispatched to Barkley's home a few hours later, President Roosevelt said: "I am glad that you thought I had in my message attacked the integrity of yourself and other members of the congress."

He urged congress to override the veto. Barkley's remark was not "my intention," he added.

Barkley's oration immediately focused attention on him as a possible rallying center for various dissident elements of the party, although some leaders took the opposing view that it would tend to solidify the party by "clearing the atmosphere."

For him, Barkley told reporters that he was "utterly indifferent as to what the political consequences may be to me."

In the historic address, which he said he made only after long deliberation the night before, Barkley shouted that "this is the first time I have been accused of cowardice."

Another noteworthy feature of the address was that it established the close relations that existed between them for years. Barkley followed White House policies unwaveringly and, as he observed yesterday, carried the administration flag "over rougher territory than was ever traversed by any previous majority leader."

The president's famed "Dear Alben" letter helped elevate Barkley to the leadership in 1937. Again, the Roosevelt magic aided him in his break with the "happy" Chandler in 1940. Barkley was keynoter at the 1932 and 1936 conventions which nominated President Roosevelt, and permanent chairman at the third convention in 1940.

Barkley's office was flooded with telegrams and phone calls congratulating him. Their tenor was the same—"courageous stand." "Time someone in congress stood up and talked." Some of the senders identified themselves as Republicans.

Their first trial in the case resulted in a hung jury.

BUY BONDS Sweden Accuses Reds of Bombing

STOCKHOLM, Feb. 24.—The Swedish foreign office announced that a protest would be made to Russia today in regard to bombs dropped on Stockholm Tuesday night, although Moscow already has declared officially they did not come from Soviet aircraft.

The foreign office followed an assertion by the official Swedish telegraph agency that Russian markings were found on the bomb fragments.

BUY BONDS German Hens Desert Fuehrer

LISBON, Portugal, Feb. 24.—The Nazi press has warned German poultry raisers that hens are not producing enough eggs and has announced that another pig and chicken census is scheduled to be held throughout Germany on March 3.

The pig census is primarily for the purpose of determining how many more safely can be slaughtered without endangering the country's future meat supply.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—Acting Secretary of State Stettinius says the United States maintains its hope of getting Finland out of the war.

His observation was in response to publisher reports that Juhu K. Paasilivi, former Finnish cabinet member, has returned to Helsinki from Stockholm without any indications that Finland can get out of the war soon.

CARBON BLACK

Carbon is mixed annually not only into writing ink and printing ink, but into carbon paper and typewriter ribbons.

The big user, though, is the tire manufacturer. In normal times he takes about 85 per cent of the entire output. Today he holds the key to the industry's economic turnabout, for the rapid expansion in production of synthetic rubber is putting a double load on the manufacturers of carbon black.

Tire manufacturers find that they need a lot more carbon black in the production of synthetic tires than in natural rubber casings. One large company, for instance, mixes five pounds of the black powder into a four-ply 6.00 by 16 casing, and that's almost a fourth the total weight of the tire. The same tire made of natural rubber would use only about 3 1/2 pounds of black.

Some tire companies mix even more carbon black in with synthetic rubber. Estimates of how much more is needed, compared with natural rubber, range everywhere from 30 per cent to 100 per cent.

The reason for this, tire-makers say, is that synthetic is more vulnerable to friction created when the tire is being used. Its tensile strength resistance against pull is lower, too.

So, the transition to synthetic rubber has posed a new production problem for the carbon black manufacturers. It seems that the chemical rubber needs a carbon black that is softer than that normally produced for natural rubber tires. As a result there has been a minor revolution in output methods.

From statistics on the industry it is learned that, because production has been running about 40 per cent behind consumption, the amount of carbon black on hand is now down to around 200,000,000 pounds. That is considered inadequate under wartime conditions. It is about three months' supply.

Bright spot in the picture is that production is improving and may possibly reach a record 850 million pounds this year. If it does, the carbon black companies believe they will be able to meet their customers' demands by a narrow margin, but still will face difficulties in 1945, unless important remedial measures are taken.

One of these remedies is being sought from the Texas Railroad Commission through permission to buy "sweet" natural gas having a low sulphur content suitable for domestic or other use where human beings are exposed to it. Texas now permits only the use of "sour" high-sulphur gas or residue gas (from which chemicals have been removed for other purposes) for making carbon black.

A hearing for the carbon black industry representatives is scheduled for Wednesday, March 8, at Austin, at which time there no doubt will be further discussion on the sweet gas proposal.

Incidentally, the carbon black industry comes fairly close to being an American monopoly, according to a recent article by Henry E. Rose, in The Wall Street Journal. Rumania and Japan had small productions before the war and Germany had been attempting to increase output from chemicals.

Texas accounts for 80 per cent of the nation's production of carbon black. Other producing states with smaller amounts are Louisiana, Oklahoma, Kansas and Wyoming.

A curve ball is rolled by a slow-ball bowler. It's effective on a highly polished alley but difficult to control on a slow or "running" alley. The wrist is slightly turned in, hand under the ball. Spin the ball from right to left on release, using twist of the wrist and fingers to impart turn to it.
Delivery is made from near the center of the alley out toward the gutter, the curve bringing the ball into the one-three pocket.
On the release the hand is palm downward instead of upward as in rolling a straight ball.
NEXT: The hook.

NEW YORK, Feb. 24—(AP)—All that Gil Dodds needs to do to break the indoor mile record Saturday is to run six inches nearer the inside rim of the track—and maintain his usual speed—expert observers, noting that Gil usually runs 18 inches from the border, figure that he travels 11 yards more than the mile, which is measured a foot from the rim.
Glenn Cunningham used to run inside that line. . . Puerto Rican boxers, who won two New York Golden Gloves titles last year, are coming up again with a team that includes five southpaws—and they expect to win four titles. . . ### Osage Wild Horse To Rejoin Cards

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 24—(AP)—John Lenard Martin, alias "Pepper"—the culprit of many a stolen base, is going back to that old gang of his, the St. Louis Cardinals.
Martin "the Wild Horse of the Osage," who held a lifetime batting average of .297 when he quit the big leagues in 1940, disclosed his plans to climb into a Cardinal uniform again after a series of conferences with President Sam Breadon.
He said that, although he'll be 40 next week, he figures there are still a few good games left in his creaking joints.
Beginning of spring training next month won't catch him behind with his work down on the farm in Oklahoma, either, Pepper said. He has everything in shape to leave and is raring to go.
Last year Pepper was manager of the Rochester, N. Y., club of the International league, a St. Louis farm, and hit .280 during 60 games. The Red Wings finished fifth.
Before that, in 1941 and 1942, he was boss of the Sacramento club in the Pacific Coast league. His crew won the championship the first year.
Pepper ended his big league career with the Cards in 1940 after his eleventh consecutive year. He was a veteran of three World Series engagements with the Redbirds, playing in 15 series games and coming out with an average at the plate of .418. He also took part in three all-star games with the National League team.
Martin gained the major share of his fame, however, as one of the all-time great purloiners of the sack. He led the National League in stolen bases in 1933, 1934 and 1936.

How to Bid for Old, Damaged Army Trucks

How to proceed in spot negotiation purchases of trucks which the army considers uneconomical to repair for its own use was explained today by the office of defense transportation.
Agreement on procedure has been reached with Lt. Col. Edward F. Wilson, deputy director of the salvage division of the eighth service command.
N. P. Nelson, Amerillo district manager of the division of motor transport of the ODT, pointed out that the first requirement is for an eligible purchaser to obtain from an ODT district office nearest the point of sale a letter indicating a certificate of necessity will be issued for the vehicle.
The prospective buyer may use the letter as a permit to view vehicles to be sold. If one is selected, the buyer will then furnish the ODT with a description of the vehicle on a blank provided and the OPA ceiling price will be determined. A second letter then will be issued and the sale will be consummated by presenting it to the army salvage officer.
Trucks will be sold under this procedure at Camp Howze, Gainesville; Camp Wallace, Hitchcock; Fort Sam Houston, San Antonio; Fort Bliss, El Paso; Camp Swift, Bastrop; Camp Hood-Killeen; Camp Craffee, Fort Smith, Ark.; Fort Sill, Lawton, Okla.; Camp Livingston,

Let's Be Careful: We call to your attention today an article on Page One dealing with the carbon black industry—how vital it is to the war effort, the increased uses of carbon black and how essential it is that the carbon black workers stick to their jobs to help win the war.

In this article, it is pointed out that a Pampa carbon black plant manager, some men are refusing to accept army deferment because they fear the "stigma" of being called draft evaders.

The War Production Board recently sent this announcement to all carbon black plants in the Pampa area: "The continued maximum production of channel and furnace type carbon black is of the utmost importance."

"We request this letter be posted in a conspicuous place in your plant in order that the importance of this production may be brought directly to the attention of your employees."

"Without the men in the carbon black plants, the oil and gas refineries and the other essential oilfield jobs—the men on the fighting fronts would be lost. They, working for each other, make an unbeatable team."

There must be no criticism of our trained men in these carbon black plants, in the oil refineries, the gas plants or in the production of all the oil and gas fronts. They are heroes, too. They do not get their names into print, but they are performing a service which is vital to our victory. The men on the fighting fronts know this. The men on the fighting fronts are praising the work of the production workers.

Let's be sure that the men who are working on the home front are not being neglected. We need more workers to meet this demand. Eighty per cent of the world's carbon black is produced right here in the Pampa-Texas area. There must be no letdown.

Men working in the carbon black plants and in the oil fields and in the gasoline refineries are skilled men. It would be a shame to take one badly needed man away from his war-vital job just to stop the talk of a thoughtless person. Every time one leaves his job, it must be replaced usually by a green hand who has to be trained all over again. That means halting of production and delay in getting needed material to the fighting front.

If you were to send all of the men now working in these vital spots, into the armed services our war machine would fold up in one week's time.

The plant manager who asks a draft deferment for a vital war worker who cannot easily be replaced is doing his job in a very patriotic service. He is helping the war effort by keeping that already-trained man in a job where he can do the most damage to the enemy.

Another thing is the consensus of selective service officials that essential war workers should be kept on their jobs working for victory. Let's be sure that our men who are doing a job that is so vital to our victory are being kept on their jobs.

The Nation's Press

CITIES ASKING FEDERAL DOLE (The Wall Street Journal) No more essential "post-war planning" is conceivable than that which has to do with getting the national finances on the way to peacetime order. Nothing else will help so powerfully to make ready jobs for demobilized service men and munitions makers.

Beginning to get federal finances into sound and orderly condition means excluding from the federal budget every expense category that does not bring there. In no other way can Congress keep faith with the millions of loyal buyers of war bonds—indeed, with the twelve million or more of soldiers, sailors and marines now risking life and limb to keep the country safe. This war involves more than the physical security of our frontiers, as we will see more clearly when that security has been assured.

Last week the House committee on post-war planning heard Mayor LaGuardia of New York, president of the United States Conference of Mayors, say: "Cut out the hearings and get busy getting some federal grants of money, say $80 million dollars of federal funds to assist in carrying out his city's projected post-war expenditure of a little more than one billion dollars on public works. Mayor LaGuardia said he has already put in his bids for U. S. Treasury grants."

But during the same hearing Mayor LaGuardia described the plan to spend more than one billion dollars on new plant facilities, three-fourths of it in the first post-war year. He indicated that additions to these private enterprise projects would be paid by the city. They involve much building, that is, a revival of the great construction industry which the war has reduced to comparative inactivity. On the mayor's own authority, private enterprise in New York City is ready and eager to throw its shoulders into the collar the moment manpower and materials are available. And New York City cannot be exceptional in this respect. Throughout the country industry is planning to employ men to the utmost at the war's end.

It is impossible to avoid suspecting that the mayors of many cities are determined to do again what they did in the good old WPA days—that is, unload on the United States Treasury as great a proportion of municipal responsibilities and of municipal running expenses as Congress can be persuaded to allow, all in the name of providing jobs for discharged service men, preventing bread lines and the like. They haven't anything against sound national finances; on the contrary, they don't believe that anything can ever shake the national credit. And, as a prominent Kansas remarked eight years ago, "Nobody wants to be without a bowl when it's raining soup."

Neither municipal running expenses nor so-called municipal capital expenditures belong in the federal budget. The more resolutely Congress excludes them and all other items of outlay which do not belong there, the greater will be the volume of employment in productive work private enterprise will be able to do and will create.

Common Ground

England's Interest in Our Election to Our Interest? The Associated Press carries a story from the Yorkshire Post, England, maintaining that the British press has a right to comment on the United States presidential election. The Yorkshire Post had formerly praised editorially President Roosevelt for "far-seeing statesmanship."

The Post contends that no member of the British government would dream of bringing a demand to bear on the American presidential contest or would ask a newspaper to do so.

Well, if it is not fair for the British government to try to influence an election, it seems equally unethical for the private citizens under the circumstances to be trying to influence our elections. This is especially true since many of our voters are in England. They will not read the English papers, any statements showing the efficiency, waste and mismanagement under the circumstances to be trying to influence our elections. This is especially true since many of our voters are in England.

The American citizens rather than the English. We fought a war 150 years ago to get out from under the control and influence of England. Now the English have the nerve to claim they have a right to try to influence the voting of our citizens who are over there at their request but our expense.

If the case were reversed and we had invited England to send soldiers and give us billions of dollars with which to elect a man in the United States, they would have said "No." The English are again to determine who shall run our government. American people deserve not to be free.

On Education In commenting upon the importance of freedom in education, Frederick Bastiat, in his book "Harmonies of Politics and Economy" inquires: "Is there a single man in France who has received the education which his parents would have given him had they been free?"

What we talk about here is not education and yet they are so mis-educated, because their parents have not been free, that they sanction a government that plows under their freedom. They are to fines men for producing wealth, or for associating with men who will make binding contracts in preference to those who will not, or for furnishing honest workers' employment for more than 40 hours a week.

One is constrained to ask, "Is there a single man in the United States who has received the education which his parents would have given him had they been free?"

Major LaGuardia described the plan to spend more than one billion dollars on new plant facilities, three-fourths of it in the first post-war year. He indicated that additions to these private enterprise projects would be paid by the city. They involve much building, that is, a revival of the great construction industry which the war has reduced to comparative inactivity. Neither municipal running expenses nor so-called municipal capital expenditures belong in the federal budget. The more resolutely Congress excludes them and all other items of outlay which do not belong there, the greater will be the volume of employment in productive work private enterprise will be able to do and will create.

There is a real danger in our present planning, the danger of too much of the wrong kind in the wrong places.

Dick Talmadge, ace Hollywood stunt man who has been doing things like this on film sets for 30 years, was impersonating a Mongolian soldier slain in a sword fight atop the stairs for a scene in "All Bala and the Forty Thieves."

Said he wasn't wearing any padding, either, except for a small cushion on each hip. "These 50-year-old hips of mine are getting a little brittle," Talmadge chuckled.

Stunt men are a matter-of-fact as that. They provide the thrills for the silver screen, do much of the hazardous work the stars are credited with, but remain anonymous. They are a respected—but not well-known—part of film stunts.

Dick Talmadge, whose name isn't Talmadge at all, is one of the four Maffei brothers, the most famous of film stunts.

Accidents killed 84,500 persons in the United States during 1943 and injured 9,700,000, the National Safety Council reports.

This represented a reduction in fatalities of 1 1/2 per cent from 1942 figures, the council said. Injuries, however, increased, affecting about one of every 14 persons in the country.

Man hours lost through accidents were equivalent to a year's work for 150,000 people, or to the time required to rebuild 17,500 heavy bombers. In money, the nation's war industries lost $5,000,000,000 through accidents.

Traffic fatalities totaled 23,300 last year and injured 806,000. Occupational accidents claimed 10,000 lives and caused 1,850,000 disabling injuries.

In the previous year 23,809 were killed in motor accidents and 12,700 in occupational accidents. Deaths from accidents in the home, however, increased from 31,500 in 1942 to 33,000 last year.

The decline in traffic deaths, the council said, was in direct proportion to the decrease in mileage under wartime restrictions. In 1942 motor vehicles traveled 13 per cent more miles than last year. The 1943 traffic toll was the lowest since 1925, when the total was 11,000.

War Today

By DEWITT MACKENZIE. Associated Press War Analyst. This column has found nothing good to say about General Hideki Tojo, Japan's militaristic premier, but it strikes me that we must give him grudging credit for the great horse-sense he has displayed in taking his people and his confederate at one, the matter of Nippon's disaster at Truk.

Indeed it must be admitted reluctantly that, just as the Allied nations probably could learn some useful tricks from the devil himself, so in this instance they could get a pointer from Tojo. The general over-optimistic for weeks or months before disclosing the seriousness of the defeat to his public.

Naturally Tojo didn't tell the exact truth, he knows that. However, he wasn't so far off the beam, and he served the people hot mustard.

He told them Japan had suffered "losses greater than the enemy's," in fact he bluntly stated that she had lost 18 ships (we claimed 15 as a certainty), the latter figures being in fact a truly grave, that events "by no means permit optimism," and that "the empire is literally standing on both sides of the Atlantic."

Of course, Japan's head gangster in wholly selfish in this exposing facts. He needs the support of all Japan, and he knows the public is his lack of them. Winning wars is a complete partnership.

Japan's Vice Admiral Ogasawara made the quip that "most probably if it had been America they would have kept it a secret for a year."

In short, there's a disposition in some official quarters—and this is true on both sides of the Atlantic—to view their public as lacking understanding. The man in the street hasn't the stability to withstand advance news, and he is likely to get to view their public as lacking understanding. The man in the street hasn't the stability to withstand advance news, and he is likely to get to view their public as lacking understanding.

Personally in traveling about our country I've found the general public mightily understanding and quite capable of thinking for itself. Any way, the rank and file feel that they want full participation in it. News is the prime essential.

In a general way the American public understands the position, but many people are telling me that they lack the "feel" of the thing, and most of them say they think they've been "shielded" too much from distressing news. They ask for that full partnership.

TODAY on the HOME FRONT

by James Marlow and George Ziella

WASHINGTON — (AP)—“Forgiveness” is a word with more than one meaning when applied to the federal income tax.

You pay more, not less, taxes this year—unless you entered the armed services in 1942 or 1943, in which case you may be entitled to a refund.

In the average civilian's case, in addition to settling up anything still due on your 1943 taxes, you must pay by March 15 one-half of the uncancelled portion of 1942 taxes.

Remember, to begin with, that the payments you made on your 1942 income last March and June were applied, instead, against your 1943 tax liability.

Congress enacted this “forgiveness” measure.

Either 75 per cent or 50, whichever amount is larger, of the lower year's taxes (1942 or 1943) is cancelled.

Let's assume for the moment that your 1943 taxes are larger than 1942.

If your 1942 tax was $50 or less, it's cancelled entirely.

If it was more than $50 but less than $66.67, exactly $50 of it is wiped.

But if it was more than $66.67, you still owe 25 per cent of it. For example, if your 1942 tax was $100, you still owe $25.

That means all your wages, salary, $12.50, must be paid this March, and the other half next year.

However, if you're in line for a refund of your 1943 tax—$100, for example, if your 1942 tax was $100, you still owe $25—instead of your uncancelled 1942 tax.

Those whose 1943 income was less than 1942 were required to file declarations of estimated tax last fall and pay at least the equivalent of their 1942 taxes. So these persons still owe 25 per cent of their 1943 taxes—instead of the full bill. That's for civilians.

The annual Adobe Walls council Boy Scout banquet was held Tuesday night at the First Methodist church, with the Rev. Robert Boshen, council president, presiding.

The banquet was one of the largest ever held in Pampa and was served by the Methodist ladies. L. G. Langston served as general chairman.

James A. McCune, scoutmaster of troop 14, received the scouters' award for the completion of the scouters five-year training program.

The Silver Beaver award which is presented to scouters for distinguished service in the movement was presented to H. H. Beavers, former of Borger, and now with Southwestern Public Service in Amarillo.

Doye Ray Bridges of Troop 21, Pampa, was presented the Eagle award by his mother, Mrs. Minnie V. Bridges, in a special ceremony conducted by Eagle Scout Langston.

The principal speaker was District Attorney John H. Honis of Dalhart, who presented an interesting talk on “America Today and the Future.” He encouraged the citizens of this commonwealth to get back to free enterprise, and for each to do his part in building for the betterment of the future.

He said there are millions of Americans today who would say: “Give me Liberty or give me death,” which is still true in their hearts.

Dallas Charges Hitler With Law Violations

DALLAS, Feb. 24.—(AP)—Adolf Hitler will run into corporation court trouble if he ever gets to Dallas.

A warrant for him, charging violation of "every law, written or unwritten, known or forgotten by civilized people" was issued by Assistant Chief of Police Doug Walsh—and Walsh already has a man in a favorable position to serve it.

Major P. J. Hale, now serving in the army in England and who was city warrant officer here, wrote Walsh a request for the warrant.

Major Hale said he wanted to get back to his old job and he thought that, being so near Berchtesgaden, it might accelerate his return if he dropped in and served the papers on Adolf.

Food Rationing After War Seen

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 24.—(AP)—Pondering a remark made in an address by a National Retail Grocers association official that food rationing after the war will be a necessity, delegates to the Texas Wholesale Grocers association convention completed sessions Wednesday.

P. M. Brinker of Dallas, president of the National association, told the convention Tuesday that discontinuance of food rationing after the war will be a necessity and something the country must expect.

A&M Will Add Horticulturist

TYLER, Feb. 24.—(P)—C. R. Heaton, Smith county agricultural agent for two years, has resigned, effective March 1, and announced he had accepted a position as state horticulturist for Texas A. and M. college.

J. F. Rosborough, veteran A. and M. horticulturist, will remain with the college in the same capacity. Heaton's position being an expansion of that department, Heaton, a Panola county native, is an A. and M. graduate.

10 Killed During Raid on England

LONDON, Feb. 24.—(P)—A substantial number of German raiders made a two-directional assault on London Tuesday night, showering high explosives and fire bombs over wide areas here and in other English sections, causing casualties including at least 10 killed and starting fires in several districts.

The raiders stirred up a barrage which many agreed was the heaviest of the war. Ten of the enemy planes were destroyed, one by a Canadian intruder over its base in France.
