Panhandle Stretcher Bearers Carry Wounded Back from 'No Man's Land' During Truce

By HAL BOYLE

WITH THE FIFTH ARMY IN ITALY, Jan. 27.—(Delayed)—(AP)—Two men—an American captain and a private—carrying a Red Cross banner tied to two sticks mired through battered no man's land to the brink of the bloody Rapido river today and crossed into German territory amid a deadly silence.

The two Americans who made the trip were Capt. David Kaplan, 30, a medical officer of Sioux City, Iowa, and Private Arnold Fleischman, 20, of Wood Haven, L. I., a German-born student who acted as interpreter.

This unusual incident happened two days ago after one bridgehead force was pushed back across the stream in the fighting that tied up German troops who otherwise would have been at the beaches south of Rome. Since then the Americans have forded the Rapido at other points and are now pressing the enemy strongly north of Cassino.

"We had a nervous feeling all the time we were over there during the lull because we were surrounded by snipers," said Kaplan. "But I'm glad I made the trip. It's the most exciting thing that happened to me in nine months of war."

"Our regimental surgeon, Capt. Emmett Allemen, Fort Arthur, Texas, asked if I wished to go over there and see what the situation was and I said yes I did," Kaplan continued. "The Germans had asked for a truce after the first day. Private Fleischman went along as interpreter and I can't say too much for that boy. He did a splendid job."

When the Nazi officers complimented him on his excellent German and answered coolly, "in school." He answered coolly, "in school." He didn't want to tell them he was born in Germany.

"That Red Cross flag gave us confidence as we walked down to the river about 1 p. m. There was supposed to be a boat there waiting for us, but there wasn't which is just standard operating procedure in the army. So we walked back 600 yards, found a leaky rubber boat and carried it back to the river. The stream was only about 15 yards wide, but it seemed twice that broad.

"When we got on the other side we saw a big plain littered with the scattered bodies of the dead," said Kaplan. "There wasn't a living soul in sight, but we had a feeling we were under observation every inch of the way."

"Ahead of us some 800 yards was a barbed wire barrier and we headed for it. We were more afraid of mines than Germans. The whole area was pitted with small shell craters and we kept as close to these as possible, hoping the concussion from the explosions had set off any mines in the vicinity."

"When we reached the barbed wire there still was not a German in sight. We waved the Red Cross flag in all directions and signalled the barbed wire and suddenly a German officer stepped into view. He was dressed in a neatly pressed uniform and his boots were freshly shined."

"We got down to business immediately. We agreed on a truce between 3:15 and 5 p. m. and he guaranteed the safety of myself and any medical supplies I brought back. The agreement covered a triangular sector from San Angelo on the north to the river Liri and the south, with the Rapido river as the eastern boundary. He agreed to see that all firing ceased. We recrossed the river and reported to Capt. Allemen. Then we divided up medical officers and litter-bearers and about 75 of us went back across the river in bigger boats."

"When we got there we found that German soldiers had collected on the Rapido river as the east bank to reach the spot. They wouldn't allow us to go beyond the barbed wire, because they didn't want to chance us on seeing their positions."

"While we were busy fixing up litters, one of our observation planes from another area happened to fly fairly close. This proved one high-ranking German officer, and he said: 'This is very unfair.'"

"I sent back a runner to have the plane ordered away but it flew away in a moment anyway and the German officer was satisfied there was no attempt to break the truce."

"About 4:30 p. m. he told us we better start back as it would take us some time to get across the river again. They kept their bargain and we got back without being fired upon."

"It did our hearts good to bring back those four wounded men. One had a bad head wound but the other three have excellent chances of pulling through."

David Schwartz, assistant battalion surgeon, of New York City, who was in the group that went across the river on the mercy errand said most of the dead had been killed by small arms fire.

"One German officer stood behind the barbed wire and took motion pictures of the scene as we collected the casualties," he said. "The only thing to mar the battle lull arranged informally by American and German medical officers in this restricted area was a sudden burst of gunfire over the heads of the medical workers."

"Both the Germans and Americans ducked," recalled Schwartz. "but it wasn't aimed at our area."

"However that put everybody a little on edge and grace or no truce we were darn glad to get off that field and so were the Jerries. It wasn't any place to linger."

World's Most Powerful Ship Is Launched

NEW YORK, Jan. 29. (AP)—The U. S. S. Missouri, world's most formidable warship, was launched today with ceremonies dedicating her not only to the forging of victory but the enforcement of peace.

"The christening and launching of the greatest warship of all time," Senator Truman (D-Mo.) said in a brief address, "illustrates the decisive answer which the democracies of the world are making to the challenge of the aggressor nations."

"The senator said the 45,000-ton vessel will be commissioned nine months ahead of schedule. The Missouri, named for Truman's home state, has sister ships, but her armament will make her the toughest fighter afloat."

"It is such records as this," he said, "which enabled the navy to commission 3,500 new vessels in 1943—a total greater than all the ships possessed by the navy at the beginning of that year. This not only replaces all our losses, but vastly increases the fighting strength of our navy and makes it beyond question master of the seas."

Miss Mary Margaret Truman, daughter of the senator, was chosen sponsor of the $100,000,000 dreadnaught, which is a sister ship of the USS New Jersey, and the Wisconsin, and has 418,000 square feet of deck space—equal to a 15-story office building 150 feet square.

Ten thousand workmen have put in 3,300,000 man-days of work on the giant "battle wagon" since her keel was laid Jan. 6, 1941, and before that engineers and draftsmen worked 530,000 man-days and used 175 tons of blueprint paper drawing up the plans.

When fully equipped and loaded, she will displace enough water to flood 40 acres of land. And tucked away in some corner of her complicated insides is an electrical plant powerful enough to supply the city of Santa Fe, N. M., (1940 Pop., 20,325).

of Bangs, Texas, who led a squad of litter-bearers, said they heard the sound of pistol firing as they approached the river but no bullets fell near them.

"The German soldiers were very coolly bunched," said Wilson. "They were dressed in new clothes and seemed well fed. They didn't look as if they had been in the line long. The battle itself was awful. There wasn't a tree left standing and you could hardly step in any direction without landing in a shell hole."

Other modes who made the trip across the Rapido and helped carry back casualties included Sgt. Frank Holland, of West, Texas; Sgt. Lester Boyd, of near Waco, Texas; Pvt. Sgt. Bill Hamlin, Arville, Texas; Corp. J. P. Woods, Hamlin, Texas; and Corp. Edgar Wright, Childress, Texas.

Eaker Commands Mediterranean Air

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Algiers, Jan. 29. (AP)—Creation of the "Mediterranean Allied air forces," under the command of Lt. Gen. Ira C. Eaker, has been announced by Gen. Sir Henry Maitland Wilson, Allied commander-in-chief in the Mediterranean.

The new organization, replacing the old Mediterranean air command headed by Air Marshal Sir Arthur Tedder and the Northwest African air forces commanded by Lt. Gen. Carl A. Spaatz, will be made up of the U. S. 12th and 15th air forces and RAF forces based at Malta and in the Middle East.

Deputy commander of the MAAF is Air Marshal Sir John Stessor, while Air Marshal Sir Keith Park is RAF commander in the Middle East under Eaker Maj. Gen. Nathan F. Twining heads the U. S. 15th air force and Maj. Gen. John K. Cannon the 12th.

CIO's Post-War Program
A news dispatch states that the CIO has issued an 81-page pamphlet defending its post-war program. They have what they call "essentials" (1) a job security wage or a farm, business or profession that pays; (2) a well-built convenient home, recently furnished; (3) good food, clothing and medical care; (4) good schooling for children, with an equal chance for healthy and happy growth; (5) an adequate income through social insurance in case of sickness, old age, early death of the wage earner, or unemployment.

C. I. O. Gloom-Gathering

The C. I. O. Political Action Committee held a rather gloomy meeting in New York the other day. What engendered the gloom was not the fact that the attorney general has announced an immediate investigation of the committee's purposes and funds. Rather, the long faces resulted from several speakers' apprehensive view of our post-war economy.

What alarmed them particularly was Alfred P. Sloan's estimate of a national post-war income of $100,000,000,000, which the head man of General Motors made at a recent National Association of Manufacturers convention.

Sidney Hillman, the committee chairman, pointed out that victory would find us with a national income of $150,000,000,000, and with 10 million servicemen needing jobs in private industry.

There are too many unpredictable factors, of course, for Mr. Hillman or Mr. Sloan or anyone else to draw an advance accurate picture of business immediately after victory.

Not that there isn't plenty to worry about. The problems of industrial reservation and manpower rehabilitation must be solved quickly and wisely as a basis for any income speculation. And their solution is a vast and complex task which demands the co-operation of Mr. Hillman, Mr. Sloan, and all the best minds in industry, labor and government.

A ROSE BY ANY OTHER NAME
(Reno Evening Gazette)
President Roosevelt believes that the term "New Deal" has become outmoded. So do a lot of other people. Not only is the term outmoded, but the New Deal itself was outmoded in the days of the Roman emperors when emperors held their power by dipping into the public treasury to entertain and feed the populace.

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE
(The Wall Street Journal)
Only ostensibly did President Roosevelt recommend a national service law in his message to the new session of Congress.

Attitudes like the above are just the thing that causes unemployment. They are the positive chance of full employment when the worker is thinking about what he is to be paid and not about what he is producing. No business man could stay in business very long if he thought of himself and his needs, wants and desires, and not of the needs and wants and desires of those who were buying his goods or services.

It is attitudes exactly like those of the CIO that Jesus referred to when He said not to worry about the future. He said to use money as the reason why he should forego the kingdom of God and His righteousness, and all these things will be added unto you.

There are too many unpredictable factors, of course, for Mr. Hillman or Mr. Sloan or anyone else to draw an advance accurate picture of business immediately after victory.

Not that there isn't plenty to worry about. The problems of industrial reservation and manpower rehabilitation must be solved quickly and wisely as a basis for any income speculation.

It is the opinion of this newspaper that a national service act is unnecessary and dangerous. There would be a tax on the production of it. One would be a manpower shortage so acute that it could not otherwise be dealt with. Another would be the need for a weapon against strikes.

News Clearing House

TO THE EDITOR:
Under our present system of election, we have an entirely new commission every four years for few business men care to give their time longer than that. This simply means that three new men step into this important job, knowing little or nothing about the workings of the city government. It means that each commission can plan more than four years ahead, which certainly is a very wise business.

The new commission must spend considerable time learning about the business, and not always knowing what was in the mind of the old commission, so that, at least, one man who has had experience be on the commission all the time? For example, elect one man one year, and the next, or elect one man each year, making the term three years instead of two.

This is in no sense a criticism on any commission present or past, as Pampa has been blessed with good commissions. But why not put this on a business basis?

News Behind The News

The National Whirligig

CONFIDENTIAL — President Roosevelt's friends expect he will pursue a re-election strategy different from and bolder than that adopted when he sought a third term in 1940. Then, he withheld news of his willingness to resign until the last minute and offered himself as a formal candidate only after the convention had assembled at Chicago.

They believe that because international conditions have undergone a change he can afford to use more frank and aggressive tactics. Four years ago he cited the fall of France and the Low Countries in May, 1940, as the reason why he should forego a personal desire to retire and remain in office. But the war will be a continuing affair by July instead of a sudden crisis, there will be no need for him to be so coy as he was last time.

The politics behave as if they anticipate such a daring stroke. At this time four years ago only a few brave spirits were demanding that Roosevelt violate the two-term tradition. But now he is urged to do it again by the Democratic National Committee, Vice President Henry A. Wallace, Speaker Hannu Rayburn and many other prominent party leaders.

SUBSIDIARY — It impresses Washington observers as ironic that F.D.R. who began by denouncing "economic royalists" and coddling the American Federation of Labor and the Chamber of Commerce of the United States closer together than they have been at any time in the history of strife.

CHANGES — The cutback outline is giving American business a foretaste of the difficulties that will follow the end of the German phase of the war.

Peter Edson's Column: STRIKES AGAINST UNITED STATES LAWS

BY PETER EDSON
The Pampa News Washington in good round numbers, there were an estimated 200,000 labor disputes in the United States last year which required the attention and services of government labor relations officials to bring about settlements without strikes. By comparison there were approximately 3,700 actual strikes.

PROMPTED STRIKES
No official government report will ever show or admit there were strikes against a government agency. If analyzed, the reports on the 700 strikes in which the conciliation service could not bring about settlements by direct negotiations and had to refer to NLRB or WLB would probably show that the causes of the strikes were the fundamental demands for wage increases, union recognition, maintenance of membership in working conditions, jurisdictional dispute and so on. But the underlying fact in many of these cases has been that the action of the government agency has not been satisfactory to the labor forces involved and that they have struck in protest against a delay in getting a decision or against the decision.

What explanation is there in this twentieth century for the horrible atrocities which have been perpetrated wholesale on helpless Americans, Filipino and British prisoners of war by the Japanese, as exposed by Washington and London?
The Japs are barbarians—literally barbarians. It's less than a century ago that our own Commodore Perry opened the Mikado's domains to the outside world and civilization. Since then the Japanese have made considerable progress, but their instincts remain the same as they were in the savage days of pre-historic times.

WHAT we need today is to perceive that raising money, raising lots of money, not for one single second stopping in raising all the money we possibly can and then going beyond that and doing the impossible in money-raising—this is not, as some old-fashioned sentimentalists like to think, just a minor detail and bother in organizational work, but our first big duty, our very biggest one, first, last and all the time.

Drafting Of Players Stuns Major Leagues

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Baseball's meeting in New York next week end was scheduled originally as a talk-fest on post-war problems but there's every indication that pre-war puzzles, especially man-power, also will be debated. The rapidity and regularity with which the diamond athletes have been dropped into I-A during the past week has made its impression on the magnates although Ford Frick, president of the National league, repeated today that "as long as we have nine men to a team, we will play."

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—(AP)—If the White Sox and Count Fleet of the racing world care to show their speed over one furlong instead of the customary mile or more, they can pick up a lot of loose change in Tucson, Ariz. ... Racing in Tucson is strictly for "quarter horses"—a higher development of ponies who can turn on a dime and hit top speed in nothing but a flash. ... Del Orr, owner of Red Bird, challenges any horse in the world to an eighth of a mile race for $5,000 a side. ... That's just a sample of the way the cattlemen lay it on the line for their favorites.

TODAY'S GUEST STAR
Carl E. Hagendorf, North English (La.) Record, "Down at Iowa City the fans have adopted a theme song for Dick Ives, 17-year-old freshman; it's 'Shoof, Shoof, Baby.' And the kid does—without his 37 points in one game for an Iowa fieldhouse record."

ONE-MINUTE SPORTS PAGE
Auburn, which needs a top-flight coach to resume Southeastern conference football next fall is making eyes at Pete Cawthon, but Pete is waiting to see how the pro situation in Brooklyn shapes up. ... A few years ago, Tony Annoreno, who'd get a trial with the White Sox this spring, fanned back Wilson three times in an exhibition game. But Tony's folks wouldn't let him turn pro then at the tender age of 15.

SEVERE DEPT.
Aviation Cadet James V. O'Connor, former Columbia U. sprinter, claims he can't get enough speed out of his BT-13 trainer plane at the Bainbridge, Ga., army air field. If he could improve his running time as much as his flying time will step up after he goes on from basic training, Jim could soon spot a Jesse Owens 10 yards in 100.

Beau Jack Gains Draw With Angott In 10-Round Bout

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Beau Jack and Sammy Angott, the two lightweight champions of the world in certain neighborhoods, still have their titles, a pocketful of single-jangle and happy prospects of future cash deposits after last night's 10-round draw before a $34,870 Madison Square Garden sellout.

With New York recognizing the Beau from Augusta, Ga., as king and the NYA tabbing Angott as their man, none of the 12,115 customers hoped for anything more than a hint of a decision of the muddled 130-pound situation. No titles were at stake and both boys got away without loss of prestige as Judge Marty Monroe voted Jack the winner six rounds to four, Judge Charles Draycott tabbed Angott seven to three and Referee Frank Fulam called it square at five and five.

The first definite move toward clearing up the problem child of boxing was the title meeting of Jack and Bob Montgomery in New York March 31, with Angott getting a crack at the winner with the crown on the line May 26. By that time, if all concerned are still around punching heads for a living, they hope to have an undisputed No. 1 man.

Angott, who came out of the fight with a leg injury, will risk his NBA crown against Juan Zurita in Los Angeles March 6. Angott got away in front with a fine exhibition of outboxing the Beau but was shaken up in the second by a hard left hook to the head. Sammy was clutching and hitting with his free paw in his familiar style throughout the middle rounds as the Beau first tried to outbox then to outslug his Washington, Pa., foe.

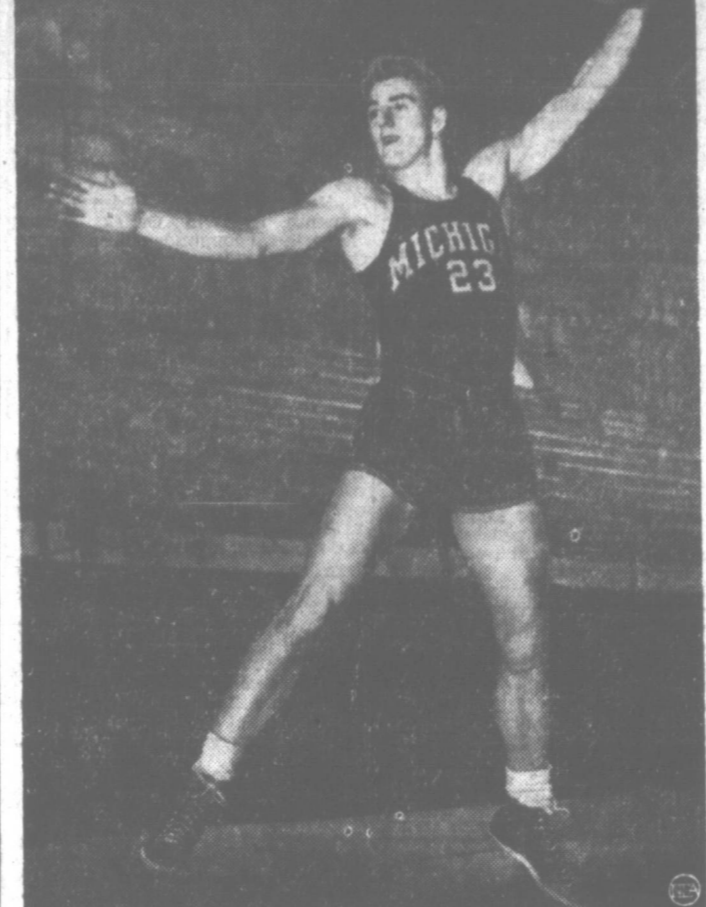

Jack scored repeatedly with a right hand to the head and body and both men slipped down for no counts in the seventh when Angott enjoyed his widest margin. The Beau had toned down his wild pitches of the Constantino exhibition and landed more often than he missed.

It was an interesting if unscientific fight and the fans appeared to like it, title or no title.

La Motta Wins Split Decision Over Os Harris

DETROIT, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Jolting Jake La Motta of New York gained a split decision last night for his seventh victory in eight Detroit fights, but the 2751 customers at Olympia stadium thought sticky Ossie (Bulldog) Harris of Pittsburgh was magnificent in defeat.

In fact, many in the crowd that paid $23,061 thought Harris was so magnificent he should have received the decision. An enormous howl went up after the tenth round when Referee Elmer Gilim McClelland raised La Motta's hand.

McClelland scored the fight for La Motta, six rounds to four, and was backed by one judge, Joe Lemm-Han. The other judge, Sam Hennessy, said he gave the fight to Harris because of sharper punching. There was no knockdown. La Motta weighed 184, Harris 158.

More Dogs Are Needed by Army

Uncle Sam's army needs more dogs, this time good sized, sound, Springer bitches, 1 to 5 years old, and not gun shy.

R. D. Holt of Wheeler, Panhandle chairman of Dogs for Defense, has asked that Panhandle dog owners heed this new call from Forest N. Hall, Dallas, state DFD chairman.

The army would like to have as many Springer bitches as possible, 100 at least.

Through their super power of scent," says Chairman Hall, "Springer bitches have been found to be very useful for a certain purpose and when the war is over and the owners learn of the important part they have played, they will be very proud of their dogs."

The army reserves the right to spay Springer bitches offered, if necessary. Gray county owners of Springer bitches, who wish to donate their dogs to Uncle Sam's service, can obtain full information by writing R. D. Holt, Panhandle Dogs for Defense chairman, Citizens State bank, Wheeler.

'Wintertime' Returns Sonja, Henie to Screen

By BROWNWOOD EMERSON
Set against the background of the snowcapped Canadian mountains, "Wintertime," Fox's new musical starring Sonja Henie opens a four day run today at the LaNora.

In addition to Sonja, the cast includes wisecracking Jack Oakie, dashing Cesar Romero, lovely Carole Landis, and Woody Herman and his famous orchestra.

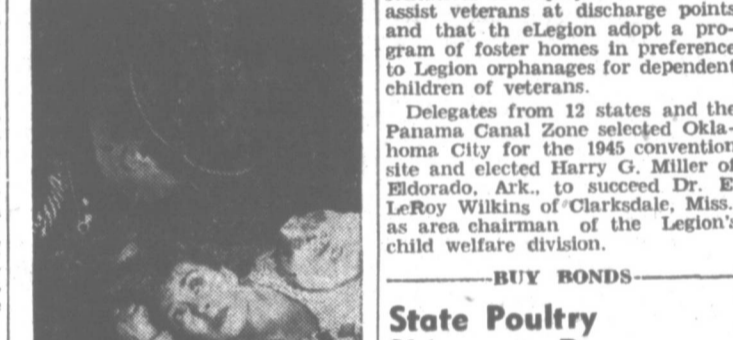

Story deals with a hotel owner who can't seem to make his business profitable. He tries, through the aid of over-optimistic Oakie, his partner, to bring a wealthy Norwegian and his attractive niece, Sonja, to enhance the reputation of his resort. A scene from the musical is shown below.

William Saroyan's "The Human Comedy," one of the 10 best pictures of 1943, is showing at the Crown Sunday and Monday.

It is a story of a typical American family, the Macaulays of Ithaca, Calif. Fay Bainter has the role of the mother; Van Johnson, that of Marcus, her oldest son, a soldier. Another son, Homer, played by Mickey Rooney, takes a job as a messenger boy after school to help out at home.

Frank Morgan, James Craig and Marsha Hunt are others in the cast of the Metro picture.

Charles Federer, member of the staff of the Harvard observatory, which acts as the clearing house for domestic astronomical studies and announced the Texas find, said the discovery is important to astronomers in establishing a border-line between a planet and a star.

Explaining that a planet shines by reflected light and a star creates its own light, Federer said that the Van Biesbroeck star was slightly under 20 light years away. "Astronomically," he said, "this is right in our own backyard."

One of the unusual features of the new star, he added, is its closeness, because "generally, bright stars are close and faint stars are far away."

Seventeen Wheeler Draftees Examined

Special To The NEWS
SHAMROCK, Jan. 29.—Names of county men who went to Lubbock to take their pre-induction examination have been released by the draft board:

Kell Wagner, Tipp Mooney, Jr., Linden Curtis Keys, George Champion Davis, Troy Adair Wilkinson, William Wallace Wiley, Darville Edward Atherton, Harold Hart Williams, Harold Edgar Lester, John Dols Jeter, Hoyt Nolan Dunn, and John Kendall Reed.

Transfers to this county were Willie Berry North, Millard Elmore Carver, and Willis Nichols Mullis. Isaac Marvin Hubbard and Leslie Horace were sent to Lubbock in December for similar pre-induction examination of the board.

North, Wilkinson, Keys and Dunn were accepted for army training and will leave for the Fort Sill induction center Feb. 8.

Only one man out of the group is reported to have been turned down. The remainder of the men were accepted for either Army or Marine service and no report has been received on their departure dates.

Fountain Pen Drive Will Be Continued

AUSTIN, Jan. 29.—(P)—Texans did not want to quit salvaging fountain pens for donation to soldiers, and as a result the campaign has been extended until Feb. 1.

A Patrick Flood, executive secretary of the Texas salvage committee, today announced extension of the date. He said many local committees had reported that they are not through with the job and that many salvagable pens are still available.

Although most of the salvaged pens are sent overseas, an exception was made for veterans at McCloskey hospital at Temple. Each soldier there who needs it will be tendered a pen contributed by some Texan, Flood said.

War in Italy Brings Cultural Tragedies, Too

By TOM WOLF
NEA Staff Correspondent
NAPLES, Jan. 28—This is a sad story. It is the record of the inevitable when war touches a city of major cultural importance. In this case the war more than touched the city.

Not only was there major fighting within Naples, but both sides bombed it hard and often.

The chief cultural damage has been to churches. Maj. Paul Gardner of Kansas City, AMG advisor on fine arts, reports that one of Naples' 200 churches escaped. All of them suffered at least broken windows and a few sections pitted by shell fragments. Of 23 which were badly damaged, 15 were historically famous.

Most important of these is Santa Chiara, the oldest church in Naples. Here were some of the finest sculptural monuments in all Southern Italy and the famous tombs of the Angevin kings, including that of Robert of Anjou.

The church was hit by bombs. Later it was swept by fire. The entire inside was gutted, and Major Gardner believes that only a few of the monuments possibly can be saved.

BARICADES FEEL

The Italian government had gone to great lengths to protect its works of art. So far, in fact, that it published a book showing the protective covering for important monuments. The section of Santa Chiara shows sandbags around the famous tomb of Robert of Anjou. But when the fire swept the church the sandbags fell down and the whole top of the tomb is destroyed.

AMG's policy in cases like this has been to advance money to keep damage to important monuments from growing worse. There is no thought of restoration by AMG, but as in the case of Santa Chiara, AMG is arranging to have a temporary roof built over one end of the church to prevent rain and wind from further damaging such works of art as one day may be restorable.

AMG's biggest protective project to date has been Pompeii, where almost 200 bombs fell directly on the excavations. Several of the most famous houses were missed.

Outside an eliminated Jap pillbox, a group of Marines pauses briefly to look at the first Japanese soldier killed by their outfit in the invasion of New Britain. Reports from Cape Gloucester area alone indicate six Nips were killed for every American lost.

but their delicate frescoes would be ruined unless temporarily protected.

On the museum side, Naples was luckier than with her churches. The National Museum, which next to the British Museum has the world's finest collection of classical and Roman sculpture, and the best pieces from Pompeii, was undamaged save for the loss of a little glass.

PAINTINGS REMOVED

Most of the fragile pieces had been stored in deep subcellars, and the curators have assured Major Gardner that they are all undamaged. As for paintings, most of them were removed before the war to places of safety in the country.

Which brings up one of the war's unique stories. Several of the National Museum's finest paintings were sent to the famous Benedictine Monastery of Monte Casino. Monte Casino, said to have been founded by Saint Benedict himself in the fifth century, contains a world-famous library of Benedictine manuscripts.

It seemed a safe place to store treasures. But Monte Casino is just outside Caserta, German stronghold athwart the road to Rome, and the war soon may reach Caserta in earnest. What then? The question is doubly interesting because of this hitherto unpublished fact.

Because of Monte Casino's magnificent library.

"A Word to the Wise..."

You know, if we housewives aren't mighty careful, many of us may have occasion to repeat to ourselves frequently those sad words, "It Might Have Been." Or possibly the more pithy version of Bret Harte, may prove applicable, "It IS, But It Hadn't Ought To Be." Yes, this sounds rather ominous and mysterious, so I guess I'd better explain right away. Now just suppose that a few months or a year from now the "catch" on the refrigerator door breaks off, or something happens to the electric iron (to mention only a couple of things) and we find that no new parts are available! Then — alas! — we'll exclaim feelingly, "Oh, dear, these appliances might have been still in good working order if only I had taken care of them in time and while I could get the repair parts."

And again suppose a fuse blows out while we're having a few friends in on a Valentine's or Washington's birthday, and there are no EXTRA FUSES in the house. Our conscience will proclaim "It hadn't ought to be!" We'll realize that we should have had an ample number of proper-sized fuses so we could immediately replace the blown one ourselves. It's so simple to replace a fuse—why, it's just as easy as changing a light bulb.

So let's not be "Might-have-beens" but keep the Appliance Division of the Home Front working for Victory, too!

Captain Wins Over 4-Man Jap Patrol

CAPE Gloucester, New Britain—(AP)—Delayed—A Marine patrol under Capt. John L. Gillispie, 24, of Spearman, Texas, tangled with a Jap four-man reconnaissance party deep in the enemy's territory here, and won.

The morning after the assault landing, Captain Gillispie took a combat squad into the Jap lines and discovered some 70 Japs setting up a gun emplacement only 100 yards from our own jungle line.

The captain, veteran leader of a Guadalcanal scouting outfit, penetrated the enemy area again that afternoon. Just across the American line the Marine patrol ran smack into a Jap patrol.

Our patrol acted first. Corporal Walter E. Krupinski, of Weldon, W. Va., drilled the leader, and Corporal Furman Middleton, of Greenville, S. C., disposed at least temporarily, of the other three with a hand grenade.

Episcopal Diocese Selects Officers

DALLAS, Jan. 29—(AP)—The 49th annual convention of the Episcopal diocese of Dallas closed a two-day meeting here Thursday after accepting an invitation from Wichita Falls to meet there next year and electing officers.

The Right Rev. Harry T. Moore, bishop of the diocese, presided over the meeting, attended by 250 men and women.

To the standing committee the convention elected Rev. Claude A. Beasley, D. D. and E. C. Jordan of Wichita Falls.

Named delegates to the provincial synod in Amarillo in October were Rev. Norman R. Alter, Paris; Rev. David E. Holt, Texarkana; J. H. Allison, Wichita Falls; H. G. Lucas, Brownwood; and Ernest M. Robertson, Wichita Falls.

The women's auxiliary of the diocese, holding its convention at the same time, named Mrs. J. J. Slaughter of Dallas president, Mrs. V. M. Langdon, Hutchins, Mrs. P. G. Booth, Wichita Falls, and Mrs. C. H. Highnote, Breckenridge, vice presidents; Dr. Evelyn Carrington, education secretary, Denton.

Farm, Ranch Hands May Get Security

Farm and ranch hands in Gray and other counties of Region 10 of the social security board will benefit if a change in the social security act is adopted. Region 10 is composed of Texas, Louisiana and New Mexico.

The board in its eighth annual report recommended that 20,000,000 workers now excluded from social security be given the same right to earn social insurance protection as industrial and commercial workers.

Since Southern states are predominantly agricultural, the board's proposal would bring proportionally large numbers of Southern workers under social security.

Simpler Tax May Produce Higher Rate

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29—(AP)—Tax simplification may be the peg upon which the treasury will hang another whopping demand for added revenue next spring.

Department officials pointed significantly today to President Roosevelt's recent budget message in which the chief executive urged upon congress the "need for additional revenue beyond that provided in the bill now pending."

Although capitol bill at first expected any new recommendations to be confined to administrative matters—primarily simplification—in all probability they will embrace a revenue demand only slightly less than that of last October's $10,500,000,000 which, under senate and house trimming, now has shrunk to $2,275,000,000. This bill now is in a senate-house conference committee and, according to Chairman George (D-Ga.) of the senate finance committee, may reach the White House next Monday or Tuesday.

day. One of the bases for the expected treasury requests is its dispute with both senate and house estimates of the potential yield of the pending bill. It takes the view that by halting the scheduled automatic doubling of the social security rates—a step that would have yielded $1,400,000,000 more cash—congress cut the bill's net yield to little more than $800,000,000.

The department probably will contend that high taxes need not be synonymous with complicated forms, offering specific suggestions for reducing the taxpayers' paper work and at the same time, suggestions for stepping up rates.

Material Conserved By Using Small Tags

"Why" of the new 1944 tobacco-tag size license plates for Texas motorists was explained Saturday by the Texas highway department.

Reason for the small size is the same as in 1943, the conservation of steel and paint. Materials for making the 1944 tags were obtained from stocks on hand before Pearl Harbor. You'll get two tabs this year, just as in the past. The tabs measure 2x2 inches, bear the designation of state year, and an identifying serial number, and must be used in connection with the 1942 plates which must be retained throughout the 1944 registration year, which begins April 1, 1944.

The same procedure applies to vehicles that are required to have but one license plate except that one tab is prescribed and one 1942 license plate must be retained.

On all motor vehicles for which two tabs are issued, one shall be attached to the front license plate and one to the rear license plate.

Draftee's Family To Receive $220

'Groundhog' Hole Support Asked

QUARRYVILLE, Pa., Jan. 29—(AP)—Slumbering Lodge of Groundhogs petitioned General Douglas MacArthur today to change the names of foxholes to groundhog holes.

The reason, a proclamation by the 40-year-old organization explained, is that the fox is "the laziest animal on earth," and, unlike the industrious groundhog, won't even dig its own hole.

The lodge will make its annual weather forecasting pilgrimage to a nearby woodchuck hole on Feb. 2.

Japs Claim Allies Sink Hospital Ship

NEW YORK, Jan. 29—(AP)—Japan "is ready to take adequate measures in retaliation" against the "Anglo-American sinking of Japanese hospital ships," the Berlin radio said, quoting Mamoru Shigemitsu, Japanese foreign minister.

The German radio, as heard by NBC, said Shigemitsu told the diet that "Japan has protested many times against the Anglo-American sinking of Japanese hospital ships and so far no satisfactory answer has been given. Therefore Japan is now ready to take adequate measures in retaliation."

Briggs Will Be Arraigned Monday

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29—(AP)—George N. Briggs, indicted Tuesday on charges of forgery, false pretense and use of the mails to defraud in connection with the "Hopkins letter" episode, will be arraigned at 10 a. m. Monday before Chief Justice Edward Ecker of federal district court, the justice department said today.

Briggs, former aide to Interior Secretary Ickes, now is at liberty on $3,000 bond.

War Veterans Seek Jobs Under New Procedure

(By The Associated Press)

War veterans, some of them wounded and leaning on canes, made their way into offices in seven cities across the nation Saturday to take advantage of the federal government's new expanded program to find them work.

Some were in uniform, others back in civilian garb. Many were accompanied by their wives or sweethearts.

The number of applicants ran into scores in some cities as the program got underway. A large number obtained jobs before the day ended.

The demonstration offices, as they were described by Federal Security Administrator Paul V. McNutt, are located in Denver, New Haven, St. Louis, Houston, Los Angeles, Minneapolis and Philadelphia.

Directors of the offices said the new program represented a considerable expansion over services hitherto provided.

The new set-up included larger placement staffs, greater coordination with employer representatives and increased emphasis on finding suitable jobs for disabled men.

Burr Pearson, manager of the U. S. employment service in Houston, said there was no backlog of unemployed veterans in that section because all discharged service men had been placed.

The Houston office reported that Texas employers were volunteering in large numbers to find work for returning service men. Plans were proceeding for perfecting new plans of reemployment and rehabilitation for the huge numbers expected to be cared for eventually.

Americans Behave In South Pacific

MELBOURNE, Jan. 29—(AP)—The behavior of American servicemen toward native women in the Pacific islands is indeed exemplary, remarked the Bishop of Melanesia, the Right Rev. Walter Hubert Baddelley, of the Church of England, in a speech.

The bishop has continued his work in the Southwest Pacific islands throughout the war, and said he had seen American servicemen with natives in their prayers and hymns. Americans have proved to the natives that they worship the same God, he added; and it has been a great contribution to good will.

Germany to Try Allied Prisoners

STOCKHOLM, Jan. 29—(AP)—The Berlin correspondent of the Stockholm newspaper Dagens Nyheter quoted informed German quarters today as saying that trials of American and British war prisoners—apparently in retaliation for the Kharkov trials of Germans accused of atrocities in Russia—now are in a "preparatory stage."

The correspondent said, however, there was nothing to indicate the trials would begin soon.

(This dispatch recalled that last Dec. 23 the German radio threatened that Allied airmen now prisoners in Germany would be tried as war criminals.)
