A FIGHTING FOURTH
 It is pleasant to reminisce about the good old days when only the Fourth of July worried concerned the danger of fingers scorched by fire-crackers, ants eating the picnic potato salad, and the odds against getting something to eat by a holidaying autist.

It would be pleasant, that is, if we could appreciate the absence of popping fireworks at home without cringing when we think of the reason why we are being spared the nerve-racking sounds of previous Independence Days.

Gunpowder has gone to war, the lads who once were admonished by dozing parents not to touch the "cannon crackers" are now handling bombs and shells each containing enough explosive for a dozen old-time fireworks displays.

Hands that once trembled with anticipation as they lighted the fuse of sky-rockets in the family back yards are now at the controls of fighter planes and anti-aircraft guns which are blasted down the robot bombs which Hitler's engineers have utilized the age-old rocket principle.

Young minds which once thrilled to the crackling of firecrackers are now being shocked and dulled by the transmitting thunder of cannon, the screen of dropping bombs and the chatter of machine guns.

Mothers who only fears were for the tinny dangers which beset their youngsters are now bracing themselves for a new visit of a telegraph message, lest he bring news of death, disappearance or maiming of a soldier or sailor son.

We remember the days when the Fourth of July, symbolizing the nation-wide automobile, drowning and fireworks accidents. Now a single clasp from Norway, Sweden or the Pacific may tell of casualties far more terrible than any July 4 toll.

It used to be that July 5 was the day on which newspaper editorial writers deplored the toll of fireworks accidents and lamented that there would be no more roman candles to set fire to the neighbor's roof.

But wouldn't it be a wonderful thing if we could have an even trade—then for now?

 MAYBE IT'S HERE: Leaves From The Editor's Notebook

By R. C. HOLLES
 I speak the password proverbial, I give the sign of the sword. I do not write anything which all cannot have their counterpart of on the same term.

The Most Dangerous Person
 The person who himself talks to be or by trickery the fruits of another's labor is not the most dangerous. Through laws and social customs this process of exploiting others has become un-popular and is largely under control.

More than a week has passed since Adolf Hitler turned loose his boasted "secret weapon," the robot bomber. For days swarms of these plow-like explosive-laden planes have been directed against southern England.

What has been the result? Britain's home secretary, Herbert Morrison, gave the House of Commons the answer today. The flying bombs have caused little damage of national importance and public utilities have been affected only slightly, he said.

One of the needs of the time is a rule against making, or mailing, letter envelopes that cannot be opened readily. Every day there are dumped into the mails of this country, millions of letters that can't be opened without a surgical operation.

This trouble is caused by the envelope makers running the muclage clear out to the edge of the folding flap, so that the fellow opening the letter can't get a finger or a pen-knife into one end of the letter to rip it open, when there is no special deck tool around for that purpose.

Even the Germans make mistakes which they could easily have avoided. The latest was an envelope that apparently they took for granted that Cherbourg has a front as well as a back, they were not prepared for the letter to rip it open, that cut off their throats.

Cherbourg was Singapore over again. There, too, the defense expected a sea attack, whereas the capturing Japanese approached it through the jungles, the rear. The lesson of this conspicuous blunder was evidently overlooked by the Germans at Cherbourg.

Not only that, but in Russia, was the same mistake made of pushing armies into exposed longways that could be cut off. Thousands of Germans were captured in this way in the Crimean peninsula.

Hardly The Time For Quarreling

One hundred electoral votes, is not entirely safe. Before they assembled in Chicago they thought that no matter who was nominated this region would vote Republican.

There is no certainty now that Michigan, Ohio, Illinois and Indiana, as well as the mountain and Pacific states, will plump for the Dewey-Ericker ticket. Doubt about the great middle section of the country, the far west and the lovely Mississippi valley explains the Bricker nomination.

The untold plan is based on Governor Dewey's carrying the big eastern states while the Ohio Governor captures the middle and the western. It might not work out that way, but that is the G. O. P.'s 1944 strategy.

HOOPER—Serious opposition developed against the New York Governor as a candidate for the White House. His enemies tried to promote an anti-Dewey ticket for a day or so there was trouble.

The bloc seeking to stop Mr. Dewey consisted of king-makers from New England, New York and Pennsylvania and a "Bribe" pool from the Middle West. They made a formidable group that might have by-passed the man from Albany.

Someone, probably from New York, whose committee chairman is Edwin P. Joyce, president of the National City Bank, lives at the Waldorf Astoria in Manhattan. They told the former President who has been a Dewey backer of the beginning, about his projected Chicago duties.

Mr. Hoover made a secret trip to Chicago last Sunday, the day before the convention opened. He told his political henchmen here that Chicago Union League Club, especially Governor Dwight H. Green of Illinois, that the only chance for a Republican victory rested in the nomination of the Empire State chief executive.

Although this story may be denied Mr. Hoover convinced Governor Green that Dewey was the "white horse" of the G. O. P. They dined at his home on Sunday when the Illinois delegation met at evening vespers fifty of their fifty-nine delegates flopped to Dewey.

This move by the Illinois crowd, because of Mr. Hoover's meditation, smashed all chances of a successful blockade against Dewey. Pennsylvania, which has long been an Illinois, having no local candidate for the Presidency, and Governor Warren of California swung his powerful delegation to Governor Dewey.

By DEWITT MacKENZIE
 Associated Press War Analyst
 When you step back from close analysis of every move in our global war you view it broadly—has it been doing for the past fortnight—it can't fail to inspire profound confidence that Allied affairs prosper exceedingly.

One may in answer to the common query of whether the European conflict is nearing its end, say that Herr Hitler is indeed on his last mile, and his knees are knocking. However, we must follow this with the caution that the greatest tragedy which could come out of this war would be for the Allied home fronts to slacken in their efforts at this crucial moment on the theory that the battle is won.

It won't be won until the Fuehrer is out, cold, and the amount of striking power which we must expend to achieve that expeditionally will far exceed anything we've used thus far. The greater and the faster the action, the greater the consumption of material. And after Hitler comes to the point where we have him battling on three land fronts—east, south and west. He hasn't the reserves in manpower or the equipment with which to meet the onslaught but is depending, as he said at the week-end, on "national fanaticism" to pull him through. And no wonder, for history has recorded nothing to equal the magnitude of either the great Russian offensive or the Allied amphibious invasion of Normandy. Each of these operations is supreme in its class.

Three weeks ago Stalin in a tribute to the assault on Western Europe declared that the history of war does not know any such undertaking so broad in conception, so grandiose in scale and so masterly in execution. Since then he himself has inaugurated a land offensive of such power that much the same thing can be said of it. The operations are different, but each represents the peak of military strength.

 SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND.—A Many G.I.'s in France carry good luck shoes from Mary, an English girl who drinks beer and chews gum.

Half Exmoor and half Shetland, in all her nine years Mary never hung around bars or chewed anything stronger than oats until a bunch of Americans came to the neighborhood where she lives with Mrs. Catherine Bailey, aged widow, and Mrs. Bailey's dog.

Now she is full of bad habits and nips at every passing G.I. Joe until he comes across with chewing gum. When Mary wants gum or beer she first begs by lifting her knee. That fails, she promptly gets to work with her teeth.

Here is a message for men who expect to enter military service: Before you leave for the service, place your social security account card with your other valuables; and above all, leave in good hands. You will need it again when you return to the States. For information concerning account numbers of Old-Age and Survivor Insurance benefits, call or write the Amarillo, Texas field office of the Social Security Administration at 324 New Post Office Building.

 A Novel By KETTI FRINGS

To Those Who Came In Late:
 This is the story of what happened to Pinky Harrison after he was killed in a "catholic." The scene is Heavenly Bend Junction, half-way point between the Earth and Big Valley Travelers stay here until they stop looking back to Earth.

GOD gave the baby to Emily to take care of. She had been sitting there in the dark, holding hands with Rion, as the old man and Timothy came up the walk.

He had only spoken the one word "Emily," and she had rushed forward eagerly. She knew what had happened, because a moment before Pinky had come in, tearing up to his room, banging and locking the door.

She stood there with the baby in her arms, as Rion rose to leave. "Come back soon won't you, Rion?"

He looked at Emily's face and he looked at the baby. "Yes, Emily. I'll come tomorrow—for good, if I may." He turned eagerly to the old man.

"I wish you would, son." Rion's eyes flicked quickly. "Good night, Father." They shook hands and he went away.

Emily knew then why God had said he wasn't worried about the day-by-night people in the house of the Third Reich. He had known, as she knew now, that their time would pass away.

Holdings the baby closely and smiling, she went upstairs.

It was that night, more than anything, which helped him make up his mind. That and the debts and the discomfort and the annoyance that he found throughout Heavenly Bend Junction in the morning.

So They Say

The four pivotal freedoms of history are God's word, God's commonwealth, God's deed, and God's summons. You preserve them, not by fighting for them, but by using them.—Rev. Paul Sherer, New York pastor.

Someone had the girl by the hair. That I saw the flash of scissors and great chunks of black hair fell from her head. I asked a Frenchman the reason and he said she had been a friend of the Germans.—Lt. Francis Carpenter, in France.

I believe that at war's end America will be able to maintain and even raise the standard of living for all its people. If it works out, it will be a relationship between federal regulations and private initiative.—Dr. Leonard Carmichael, president Tufts college.

Civilians Must Help Mentally Ill Soldiers to Return to Usual Life

There is no need for despair and dread about a soldier who is discharged as "N. P." He is not crazy or a hopeless unemployable. He is a war casualty who did all he could, and he can recover if he has the understanding cooperation of family, friends and community.

"What is a psycho-neurotic anyway? This term, referred to as N. P. in the armed forces, does NOT mean crazy; it doesn't even mean queer or odd. It does not mean that the man is a coward or that he has not made an effort. Since it is not insanity, it is neither inherited nor passed along to children except by example and environment.

"It is nothing to be ashamed of—we are all human beings with our own mental and physical, our own un-surmountable obstacles. We see maladjusted people everywhere. The more than 25,000 men who are being discharged each month as psychiatric casualties, the largest number do not crack up as a result of combat. They meet their fate in the training, and often near the beginning.

"The immediate cause may be no letter from home, or a letter filled with worries; it may be a suspicion on the man's part that his wife is unfaithful to him; or that the money possibilities aren't forthcoming. It may even be a sergeant who yelled once in a while at his buddies who teased unmercifully.

"Home background plays a very large part in the development of psycho-neurotics. Situations in which the child has been unable to find security must bear their share of blame for these neuroses.

"For the past twenty-five years we have been educating and training our children for peace. We taught our boys to settle disputes with their tongues, not their fists. Now we find it hard to change peace-loving kids into killers.

"More than 50 per cent of our casualties at present haven't a scratch on them, and yet they are unfit for military service. Some of them were pretty badly mangled in civilian life. It's likely that they were never very dependable. But for the most part our psychiatric casualties are sensitive boys who found the abrupt change from home and loved ones to the rigors of military training, and the prospect of killing and being killed more than they could stand.

"A man pushed too far, too suddenly is not to blame for his failure any more than the man who stops a bullet. He is not a coward; he has made what for him, is a colossal effort to learn that adjust. Help him to realize that he has not lost his usefulness. After convalescence he will find a way to help win the war.

"Actually, the man who cracks up may be ever-conscious, but as things get beyond him he has a compulsion to escape. He is likely to go 'over the hill' and then receive punishment because he is AWOL. The punishment just increased his sense of failure and his resentment. He resists the help that is offered, and with ailments like headaches and gastric disturbances. Many boys first come to the attention of a psychiatrist through illness. Malingering, goldbricking, 'pre-vice' or out of arduous training—vice or out of arduous training—these can all be spotted. They are dealt with by disciplinary measures. But if a man has been diagnosed psycho-neurotic by the authorities, it means that he is really ill and needs consideration and help. There is no chance that he has been shamming.

"Some men crack up during combat. These symptoms are likely to be more violent and to occur more suddenly. They are the result of physical exhaustion, unbearable noise, the horror of seeing death, and fearing it. These men may develop these symptoms while in a sedative. When they are being treated in exhaustion centers just behind the front lines, they are cleaned up, fed, and put to bed with a sedative. When they are awakened a psychiatrist is there to help them overcome the terror that caused their collapse, and to prepare them to return to service. The man who is too ill to go back is returned to a base hospital; again examined to see if his disability can be treated there. If not, he is returned to his family or to a Veteran's Hospital.

SIDE GLANCES

"After work every night you fall into bed—I thought we were coming out to grandpa's to do a little fishing!"

or professional, dares do less than be reverent. I said once before that the Joseph saga appealed to me as a crashing bore, and I still think so. This has nothing to do with Mr. Mann's abilities; some of these are transcendent. He carries the tautonic ability to make much of little to a tremendous length, writing over and under and around a subject so skillfully that (as in the writings of a hundred Germans) it seems sacrilegious to doubt the use of it all. But for this last of the series, it is a sedative, a dialogue in which (for one example) two successive speeches in a first meeting between a prisoner and his jailer each run better than a page and a half is not a literary triumph but sheer nonsense. This in spite of the fact that both the speeches have amusing lines.

There is one other matter, which is the question of taste. The Lord only knows how many times writers have popped a tiny kernel of corn into a lovely, big, white, tasty mouthful. Mr. Mann is quite within his rights to repeat the process. But it is pretentious to gild a lily. The Joseph story in the Bible is nearly perfect, and everybody has a Bible in the house.

History Picked Out By Army Newspaper

By KENNETH L. DIXON. WITH THE AEP IN ITALY, June 18—(Delayed)—(P)—They're still kidding Sgt. Reamless Kyler, twin Staff Sgt. Reamless Kyler, twin Negro brothers of Williston, Fla., about getting their picture in Stars and Stripes the other day.

Since the 22-year-old soldiers were named for Romulus and Remus, the lads who according to legend were suckled by the she-wolf and subsequently founded Rome some 2,600 years ago, it was a cinch someone would hum them up in Rome.

Sgt. Cyril Epper, the army newspaper photographer, not only found them but also found a bronze statue depicting the she-wolf and the famous twins who came to dinner. So he posed the Florida twins in front of it and took their picture.

WORTH FIGHTING FOR. EAST HARTLAND, Conn.—What worried Gordon C. Wright most as he sped home on liberty after two years of naval service was that he would be too late for the strawberry season. Talking later about his first meal at home, he said: "Yes sir, I made it. And that strawberry shortcake was worth coming all the way from the South Pacific to get."

Texas Hurler Sets New High On Games Won

By JOE REICHLER Associated Press Sports Writer

Cecil (Tex) Huchson, towering Texas hurler of the Boston Red Sox, is traveling at a faster pace than he did in his record-breaking year of 1942 when he won 22 and lost six to lead American league pitchers.

The 30-02 right-handed ace won his 12th victory of the season yesterday, more than any American league hurler, blanking the league-leading St. Louis Browns with six hits to give the Red Sox a 3-0 triumph in the opener of a twin-bill. The Red Sox also won the nightcap, 3-2, in 11 innings to climb to within a game and a half of first place. The double defeat was the Browns' fourth loss in six games since they started their eastern swing last Thursday.

Huchson, beaten only three times has pitched 234 innings and has gone the route 12 times in 15 starts. His 22 strikeouts is a better average than his 113 whiffs which led the loop in '42. A sore arm hampered him last year when he won 12 and lost 15.

The St. Louis Cardinals' leaders in the national league, won two games from Brooklyn to extend the Dodgers' losing streak to six straight their longest of the season. The Cards won the first 2-1 and 14 innings on Johnny Hopp's single with the bases full. The Redbirds also took the second, 4-2.

The Chicago White Sox and the New York Yankees divide their twin-bill. The White Sox won the first 7-3, scoring four runs in the 10th, aided by Oscar Grimes' three errors. A wild throw by catcher Vince Castino in an attempt to double up Tuck Stainback for the third out allowed Bud Metheny to scamper home with the winning run in the ninth of the finale for a 7-6 Yankee victory.

Cleveland won two games from Washington, 4-3 in 10 innings, and 6-3. Ken Keltner got seven hits in eight at bats including a homer. His 10th inning single scored Lou Boudreau with the winning run in the opener. Steve Gronck won his first major league game in the nightcap. Johnny Allen pitched a three-hitter for the first Gimat shutout of the season 3-0, as New York and Cincinnati split even. Rookie Casimir Kostany won his third straight for the Reds in the opener, 4-1.

Detroit and Philadelphia swapped shutouts. The Tigers, behind Dizzy Trout's eight-hit pitching, took the first 8-0, and the Athletics the nightcap 2-0, behind Jesse Flores' fourth hitting.

The Chicago Cubs and Philadelphia Phillies got an even break in their two games, Chicago winning the first 8-0, and the Phillies taking the second, 4-2, behind Ken Rafenberger.

Nate Andrews pitched the Boston Braves to a 4-1 victory over Pittsburgh in the first game, but the second was halted by Pennsylvania's 6:50 curfew after eight innings, with the score tied at 5-5.

McSpaden, Hogan Finalists in Chi Victory Tourney

CHICAGO, July 3.—(AP)—Lieut. Ben Hogan, determined to make a successful comeback in tournament golf after a respite of almost two years, and Jug McSpaden, the leading money winner of the season, meet today in an 18-hole playoff for the Chicago Victory National championship.

In one of the most amazing finishes in golf history, McSpaden yesterday overcame a five-stroke deficit on the last nine holes by shooting five birdies to tie Hogan at the end of the regular 72-hole tournament with 278-11 strokes under par.

Today the winner will draw $3,000 in war bonds plus a certain percentage of the total gate in added cash. The loser will take a second prize of $1,750 in bonds plus some extra folding money.

Hogan, winner of the 1941 Chicago open and the 1942 Hale American championship.

For the first time in three rounds, Hogan failed to break 70 in yesterday's final 18 holes. He took an even par 36-36-71, but this score appeared safe, for McSpaden needed to shoot a 31, five strokes under par, on the difficult last nine to match it.

But Jug cut loose. He planted his tee shot four feet from the pin on No. 10 for a deuce. He reached the long 14th and 15th holes in two shots for easy birdie 4's. He stuck his tee shot three feet from the cup for another deuce on the 17th.

Then he needed a birdie 3 on the 35-yard 18th for a tie. But his second shot scuffed the green 40 feet short of the cup.

He tapped the ball, it caught the roll and trickled in as a crowd of 10,000 whooped. The putt gave him a 34-31-65 for the round.

In third place with 276 was Nelson, followed at 280 by Johnny Revolta and Sam Byrd. Chuck Koecis of Detroit had a six-stroke margin over his nearest rivals for amateur honors by posting a 282.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULFORD, JR. NEW YORK, July 3.—(AP)—Major CAC Hubbard, former Denver university coach who became a member of the football rules committee just before he entered to army, agrees with Col. Bill Bingham that the committee shouldn't meet again until after the war, but he has some very definite ideas as to what should be done then.

Besides favoring "restoring" the kickoff, Maj. Hubbard wants a lighter penalty on an inadvertent forward pass when a latrine is intended. He thinks five yards from where the pass is thrown would be enough.

Speaking from the Sioux Falls, S. D., army air field, CAC urges establishment of one set of rules for high school, college and pro football. "No one would ever think of having more than one set of rules in baseball," he maintains, "so why should kids have to learn two different rule books when they follow football from high school to professional gridirons?"

MONDAY MATINEE The Chattanooga Lookouts played doubleheaders at home before crowds of 423 and 650, but 14,000 turned out for a bond rally game against the Camp Campbell team.

Matchmaker Lew Raymond and tub thumper Broadway Johnny Cox, who used to operate in New Orleans, have a hot time-honored game going to and from the beach.

Frank Land is the promoter, and the first show will be July 10. Tony Palazzo, who handled fights for a long time in the Chicago beach wasn't even a sandpiper. It is coming back in a few weeks with Jimmy Doyle, Los Angeles lightweight.

Walt Kennedy, Notre Dame, to find out what's causing his migraine headaches. Hope its nothing that can't be cured by finding another Bertelli.

Lieut. Roger Terwilliger, 1942 national decathlon champion, recently made the highest score in physical fitness tests ever recorded at Pampa, army air field.

Marshall Goldberg weighed 100 pounds—his playing weight with the Chicago Cards, when he headed for Camp MacDonough, Plattsburgh, N. Y., for indoctrination as an ensign.

Frank Stille, the Arkansas golfer who Texas fans say is the longest hitter in golf, plans to hit the pro circuit as soon as the war is over. At present he's stationed at Camp Carson, Colo.

Common Housefly Carries Diseases

AUSTIN, July 3—Millions of flies help to cause the illness and death of thousands of children and adults each year in the United States. Hundreds of these casualties may be in the State of Texas this year if residents fail in their responsibility for developing the best possible sanitation measures in the area where they reside. Typhoid fever, summer complaint, and other intestinal diseases can be traced to the common housefly as the carrier of infection.

Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, speaking in this connection recently said: "Be sure that your windows and doors are tightly screened so that stray flies from a careless neighbor will not endanger your family. Be sure that flies are kept away from food, drink, and utensils used in the preparation of food. Make sure, if you live in rural districts, that out-side privy vaults are tightly covered so as not to permit the entrance of flies. Infections from this source can be picked up and spread to human beings through contact with food, drink, and utensils. Keep all garbage covered until collected or buried. Eliminate all breeding places for flies. The only way will be helping your community in its work of controlling communicable diseases and preventing unnecessary illness."

A Japanese force apparently swept around the city to Lelyang, 34 air-line miles southeast, while other forces farther south worked up from Canton in multiple drives. The objective was complete control of the railroad from Canton 1,000 miles north to Peiping. Firmly held, that line would seal off eastern China from Allied use.

An effort to solve the troublesome situation in Copenhagen without further bloodshed—was signed by the leaders of Denmark's five dominant political parties and the trades union chairman, said the broadcast.

The German also announced that gas, water and electric services cut off in Copenhagen since the start of the strike were expected to resume today, but announced no relaxation in the 10 p. m. to 5 a. m. curfew which has been a sore point in the Danes.

Earlier Copenhagen had been reported in a virtual state of siege, with the Nazis threatening the patriots with starvation unless they called off their strike.

Madrid advices, quoting travelers arriving there from Germany, estimated 30,000 of the 50,000 escaped war prisoners reported at large in the Reich were Russians—many of whom had been forced into German military units and who are well-armed.

The fugitives, moving in small groups and trying to work their way out of Germany, were said to be keeping German rural areas in constant uneasiness.
