Irwin added that Miss Berry "is not available for comment and is in no condition to comment in any case."

The white-haired film comic, under federal grand jury indictment for alleged Mann act violation involving Miss Berry, was cleared of the paternity charge when three doctors yesterday made blood tests of Chaplin, Miss Berry and the baby and unanimously agreed that the actor could not have been the father.

Chaplin, with six others, also is charged in grand jury indictments with having conspired to compel Miss Berry to leave California after a quarrel at the actor's Beverly Hills home.

defeated before our success is assured. This can only be done by the use of the Green Islands. It is useless and misleading to talk of short cuts... they do not exist...

Whether MacArthur had the vast Asiatic mainland as his objective or clear. But he did call attention to the Asiatic continent, Manchuria, Korea and northern China, and observed that "the cutting islands of the Pacific represent an outpost position important, it is true, but no longer decisive."

Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, commander-in-chief of the Pacific fleet, expressed belief recently that Japan would have to be defeated from land by the Chinese.

Still, there was no letup in the regular air pounding at key Japanese positions in the Southwest Pacific and if the Greenes who landed in the Green Islands follow the Pacific pattern, there soon may be a new Allied airfield within easy striking distance of those bases.

The deteriorating strategic stronghold of Rabaul was attacked again Monday, with 171 tons of bombs strewn on its three airfields. Eight planes were destroyed on the ground, and between seven and 12 or 40 interceptors shot down. We lost three fighters.

On nearby New Ireland, heavy bombers dropped 113 tons of bombs on Kavieng and Panapa airfields without interception, and Momote airfield in the Admiralty Islands was pounded with 40 tons for the second straight day.

The Tokyo radio reported without confirmation that American naval units bombarded Tarua island in the Marshall Islands Monday, declaring the Japanese garrison counterattacked the sea forces and "drove them off."

Maj. Gen. Charles H. Corlett, commander of the seventh army division which participated in the capture of Kwajalein atoll in the Marshalls earlier this month, disclosed that two Japanese admirals were among the 8,000 Japanese killed in the campaign.

D. L. Day Enters Commissioners Race
Dwight L. Day authorized the Pampa News today to announce his candidacy for County Commissioner, Precinct 1, LeFors, subject to the Democratic primary election, July 22, 1944.

Mr. Day has been a resident of Gray County for eighteen years and lived most of this period in Precinct 1. Mr. Day was bus foreman and mechanic for the LeFors Independent School District for ten years and is well acquainted with road work and road machinery which enters into a good deal of the county commissioner's work.

Mr. Day resigned from the LeFors School District and was called then to Lubbock to join the army but was rejected because of his eyes.

Mr. Day is entering the race for County Commissioner on his own free will and accord and has no silent backers. Mr. Day promises a conscientious execution of the office and feels he has all the qualifications necessary for the office of County Commissioner.

Mr. Day states that he is a just and upright citizen and has been a taxpayer of Gray County for the duration of his residence.

Your vote and influence will be appreciated.

Valentine Party Held By Salvation Army
"Prosperity" seemed to be present and not "just around the corner" and "inflation" was evident and unmistakable Monday night at the Salvation Army Valentine and "funny-money" social.

Pupils of the Sunday school had been saving their "funny-money" for the past six weeks, receiving from one to one hundred dollars each Sunday they attended. Small wonder there was a "spending spree," the like of which Pampa has never seen before. Soda pop sold for $10 a bottle and hot dogs for a like amount! There was even a "cover charge" at the door. Capt. Herschel Murphy was hired to render a "cow-bell" solo, which he proceeded to do with such gusto that the whole party was in a roar.

"The youngsters had the time of their lives," said Murphy. "They spent their money with reckless abandon, buying everything from packages of salt, can of baking powder, to salted peanuts and candy, pop and frankfurters. The mystical Red Sox were worn and found to be common brick! The auction sale was a thing inspired as various and sundry articles were put on the block the bidding seldom started under $25 or $30. Children gladly paid $5 to see the person giving them more trouble than anyone else in the world, and found themselves facing a common mirror with the inscription: 'Howdy! Remember me?'"

All were invited to weigh themselves upon a pair of "most accurate" scales in the market today, some weighed 15 and 20 pounds and others tipped the beam at 280 and 290 (more inflation).

James Murphy told fortunes in the booth. Hot dogs and pop, with cookies were served at the close of the party by Mrs. Murphy. Several of the youngsters were working on the free all-expense trip to the Dallas Young People's Councils, March 17, 18 and 19.

Luis Pezger also was reported to have taken similar action.

Foreign Minister Gilbert, who was reported to have been willing to declare war on Germany in proof of the government's sincerity in breaking with the Axis, found the army officers installed in the ministry when he arrived there yesterday morning. His resignation, along with those of presidential secretary Enrique Gonzalez, who controlled the press and radio, and of foreign Under-Secretary Cesar Izauri, was accepted by the president's office last night.

It was believed in Montevideo that the current shakeup might force President Ramirez himself to resign.

A report that the government was about to declare war on Germany has been delicately spread by nationalist groups among those sections of the public which abhor the idea of involvement in the war for any reason.

A government communique issued last night in Buenos Aires denied reports that an Argentine ship had been torpedoed and sunk or that Argentina had declared war on the Axis.

A small tank charge on the Eighth Army front near the Adriatic was broken up. One report said columns of German demolition squads were rising six miles northwest of Cisterna in anticipation of a new Eighth Army drive.

The Russians thundered down on Pskov in the north and whittled away at the 50,000 survivors of the German eighth army hopelessly trapped in the Korom coffin of the Dnieper bend. Himstead telegraphed Jan. 27 Judge John H. Bickett, Jr., of Dallas, chairman of the board of regents, the AAUP secretary said, asking when during March or April they could get together. He added that he had not yet received a reply from Bickett.

(In Dallas, Bickett said the board last October "extended an invitation to the AAUP representatives to attend any meeting of the board." Such meetings are held the fourth Saturday of each month, he said.)

The university professors association has informed Judge Bickett that on the basis of information it received regarding the termination by the regents service of Gordon, Peach and Foster, it has been led to believe "that this action by the board of regents constitutes a violation of the principles of academic freedom."

The three teachers had been involved in a mass meeting at

Wolf At The Bar

To anyone who doubts that both the term "wolf" and its connotation have become a part of our national life, we commend a reading of the New York Law Journal for Jan. 31. This publication is one of the most arid and austere of trade papers. It holds itself aloof from the broils of daily life, except as they might happen to come, by legal procedure, within the sphere of the New York Bar. Its lead story is likely to be a decision of the Court of Appeals, in all its fascinating involutions. Its pages contain column after column of cases pending, being tried, or recently decided.

In short, the New York Law Journal is the last place in the world in which you might expect to find a wolf in sheep's clothing. Yet, on Jan. 31, the Law Journal devoted two full columns to an editorial titled "Is the Term 'Wolf' Libelous?" The editorial writer, about his task with typical legal thoroughness. First he asked himself "What precisely is a wolf?" The 45 volumes of "Words and Phrases Judicially Defined" failed to yield up an answer in all their 45,000 pages.

The author of the book is Dr. V. O. Watts, economic counsel for the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce. He is the author of several books among which are "Why Are We So Prosperous?" To show the need of better understanding of free enterprise he quotes the following: "Said one newspaperman to another, 'I'd fall dead if I found a businessman who wasn't in favor of free enterprise.' Recalled the other, 'I'd fall dead if I found a businessman who really wanted it.'" Certainly there are very few people who really want free enterprise. Most of them want security. They want freedom for themselves but restrictions for others.

Here is another statement very much to the point showing the need of this kind of study: "Recent corruptions of economic liberty in the United States are not due to the efforts of a few communists or fascists. A instead they chiefly come from the fact that so many of us care only about our own liberties and are indifferent or even hostile to possession of similar liberties by others and our fellow citizens. In fact, for a momentary gain in higher prices, higher wage rates or government favors, many of us are willing even to sell our own freedom."

Explaining the above, he says, "There have been stories from time to time that Susan Hayward is temperamental and on the snooty side. She denies them. "Maybe I am difficult to understand at times," she said. "I'm shy. People mistake my shyness as being snooty. And if you call turning down roles and throwing things at wardrobe ladies as temperamental, I've only turned down five pictures in five years and I love the wardrobe ladies."

Around Hollywood

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
Susan Hayward of the wild red hair wishes the boys would make up their minds.

It's embarrassing, not knowing whether you are (1) a cold cookie or (2) too sexy.

Susie, it seems, is both. And it's very discouraging to be mixed up in a place like Hollywood.

Susie landed in the ice box baking class not so long ago when her name was suggested for a new picture. The producer winced and said, "Now—Susan Hayward, what play the part. She's a cold cookie."

Couple of weeks later, Susan was talking to Producer Hunt Stromberg and said she'd like to make a test for the feminine in the new film version of "Guest in the House."

Stromberg winced. "It's no use, Susie," he said. "You're too sexy. You're the most glamorous girl in Hollywood."

It was Susie's turn to wince. Also her agent's. "Can you understand it?" she said.

It was our turn to wince. We couldn't especially because we have always considered Susie of the wild justified and good for our souls, but the meekness it inspires, that is, the teachableness, can save us. For we can learn free competitive enterprise as we have learned our principles of freedom better than our opponents have learned the jargon of their systems, for the principles of freedom are superior!"

I know of nothing needed more than business men and those who pose as believing in free enterprise, study their beliefs and see whether they are harmonious with freedom.

"I don't care if it is only quarter to three" a woman was heard to say at a bus stop. "My kids get out of school at half past and I ain't got to have 'em hellin' around for an hour."

Here was a mother with the right idea. When her children got home from school they were going to have cookies and apples and maybe some milk, and play for an hour in sight of their own home, and then they were going to come in, and two would help her get supper while one did some cleaning or ironing and the fourth did music practice. That one would help with dishes afterward while the others practiced or did some work.

That parent's language may have been a little rough, but people who heard her felt sure those kids were going to be kept busy on Saturday, and go to a show only after the chores were done. If they went to a show on Sunday they'd have church and Sunday school first. They would grow up to be responsible citizens.

"Do We Want Free Enterprise?" The above is the title of a new book just issued by the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce. It is the second book issued under the name of The Economic Sentinel.

The purpose of The Economic Sentinel is that works of merit may have a larger audience. Early in 1943 the officers and members of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, perceiving the basic reasons for our troubles, scintillated faults and omissions instead of exclusively in others, began a program of self-education in free competitive enterprise. In the foreword of the book, Leonard E. Read, general manager of the Chamber of Commerce, makes the point that "We have come to the conclusion that the best contribution we can make to the thinking in our country is to improve our own thinking."

Leading up to this statement, he remarks, "Not only is confession of our faults and omissions in our own minds, but the meekness it inspires, that is, the teachableness, can save us. For we can learn free competitive enterprise as we have learned our principles of freedom better than our opponents have learned the jargon of their systems, for the principles of freedom are superior!"

War Today

By DeWITT MacKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst
Field Marshal Karl von Rundstedt, commander of German forces in Western Europe and one of the outstanding soldiers of our time, manages to convey the impression of a great faith in Germany's destiny in his quiet statement that he is prepared for the coming Allied invasion and awaits it calmly.

There was no general Hitlerian shouting as the marshal told simply how the Nazi anti-invasion defenses include large-scale ground mining, arrangements for flooding big areas, and "anti-tank obstacles and walls far more diversified than in the Maginot line." The German reserves, he said, are so grouped that they can launch quick counter-attacks.

Maybe Von Rundstedt is bluffing when he says there will be "no withdrawal in my field of operations." However, I see no reason to doubt his sincerity. The marshal means business. We would be asking for trouble if we didn't recognize this.

However, Von Rundstedt seems to have stretched a vital point when he said that Hitler's Atlantic wall can't be outflanked by invasion. It's quite true that some who believe the invasion has started. It's outflanked by the vast underground army of Frenchmen and other nationalities of the occupied zone who are organized and are kept in touch with the fighting French leaders in Algiers by liaison men.

Then there's another force in France composed of former officers and men of the disbanded French army.

These trained soldiers don't engage in the ordinary sabotage, but are being kept under cover for the invasion day. One of their big jobs will be to seize and hold strategic points for the invading forces—an invaluable service which may turn the scales.

No reproach attaches to the United States Fifth Army for the distressing necessity of bombing and shelling the Germans out of the 1 I was scandal who got up to help and behind his back Peg raised a questioning eyebrow at Mac.

"O. K.," said Mac. "Mag's had an eye on him all evening."

It was a cryptic colloquy to Kitty who was still ignorant of the problem presented by the question of whether or not to offer Randall a drink.

Peg rebuked Mac in a low but purposeful voice. "You know Mag's sensitive, Mac! It was bad enough for you to walk out on her but to drag Randall along was the finishing touch—Kitty, if I sound like a shrew it's because I know Mag will be hopping mad."

"I hardly blame her," said Kitty, mildly amused by Peg's intensity. "It seems to me I met her here one time, Peg. Wasn't she the one with all the heavy silver jewelry and the red hair and the dark look?"

Mac told her she'd hit the nail on the head, or rather Mac. Peg had seldom felt more uneasy than she did for the next ten minutes. The combination of visualizing Mag Seaton's probable state of mind and watching the evident and increasing pleasure both Randall Seaton and Mac were taking in Kitty's company started Peg's apprehension growing and blooming at the rate of gigantic tropical flora. She planned unspeakable retribution for Ben if he obviously suggested another drink and prolonged the unexpected visitation but Randall Seaton relieved her mind by rising regretfully and telling Mac he thought they'd better be moving.

"I hope," said Kitty when the door closed on the well-known committee, "that they aren't really going to do it for playing hooky."

Peg said with more confidence than she felt that probably they wouldn't. "Although," she added, "some day something is going to catch up with Mac!"

Kitty yawned. "He's amusing," she said. "Is he a heel?"

"No," said Ben. He thought it over a minute and added, "Not exactly." (To Be Continued)

MAYBE IT'S HERE: Leaves From The Editor's Notebook

A family received the following letter from their son somewhere in the South Pacific:

It is too bad, to have your choice such a long period of waiting, but it is unpleasant to learn of the many hardships brought about by your changed conditions of living—all of which I can readily understand because there has been considerable change in my living conditions, too.

It is too bad that you are limited in the use of the family car, and have to mess around with gas coupons and walk so much. I know what it is to have to walk instead of riding in the car for my walking has been through miles and miles of swamp and jungle. So I understand.

It is nice to hear from you after food so limited and to have to do with out good meals so much of the time. I have experienced this also, except that there is no choice here. I again I understand.

It is a shame that Willie has to work so many hours at the defense plant. But then I have to work night and day at this defense plant. So, I understand.

It is too bad that you have to wait out in the rain for your transportation. But then I have to get out in rain too—sometimes for a whole week at a time without any shelter. As for my transportation, it's just a little bit uncertain too. So I understand.

It is a shame that you are paid for the long hours and the hard work you put in. But then I only receive a fraction of the pay you folks back home get. So I understand.

It is too bad that you have to live under all the little rules and regulations that are so annoying. But then we have rules and regulations that are so annoying. But then we have rules and regulations that are so annoying.

Winning this war is hard on all of us. You work hard, put in long hours, have to limit your ordinary activities and forego much of the customary pleasures. And so do I. So I understand. But during all of these long hours, hard work and changed conditions, I get shot at! DO YOU UNDERSTAND???

Lovingly yours, —BILL.

"I don't care if it is only quarter to three" a woman was heard to say at a bus stop. "My kids get out of school at half past and I ain't got to have 'em hellin' around for an hour."

Here was a mother with the right idea. When her children got home from school they were going to have cookies and apples and maybe some milk, and play for an hour in sight of their own home, and then they were going to come in, and two would help her get supper while one did some cleaning or ironing and the fourth did music practice. That one would help with dishes afterward while the others practiced or did some work.

That parent's language may have been a little rough, but people who heard her felt sure those kids were going to be kept busy on Saturday, and go to a show only after the chores were done. If they went to a show on Sunday they'd have church and Sunday school first. They would grow up to be responsible citizens.

War reveals more "juvenile delinquency"—which is only a fancy word for weak and selfish parenthood. But there have always been unfit parents. The basic problem is with them.

The great advantage we have when this war ends, as compared with the end of the last war, is that demobilization this time will be gradual, more orderly, more economical and more beneficial to the nation's interest. War Mobilization Director James F. Byrnes.

THE STORY: Kitty Bishop comes to the subway home of her brother, Ben Graham, and his back with her. She finds her sudden divorce from Collins Bishop, a meteorically successful lawyer, in a bond connection on the bench and Ben says it sounds like Mac.

"WELL, well," said a deep bass voice with pleased commotation, "so this is Kitty! Welcome to the Beautiful. We're the welcoming committee—Mrs. Bishop, the name is MacGregor, and I have with me our Mr. Seaton."

"How do you do," said Kitty to both of them. The MacGregor person took up so much room with his large frame and his noise that for a minute the tall, quiet man behind him hadn't registered on her attention.

"I," went on MacGregor, "am the Grahams' dark horse. Some morning I expect to wake up with an eye on me out to clock my time around the course."

"Not me, you won't," said Peg. "Randall, won't you sit down? Didn't you and Mag go on with the party idea after all?"

"Yes," said Randall Seaton, "that is, it isn't a party but a few people came over for a while—"

"What about me?" interrupted Mac, "can't I sit down?"

Peg told him in a resigned tone that she knew it wasn't necessary to ask him to sit down, and turned back to Randall. Randall was looking at Kitty with the pleased, incredulous expression of a man who has found a spring in the desert.

"Oh dear," thought Peg. "Oh dear!"

Wife—No, it doesn't get anything out of my system, but it does get things out of my husband.

Good Looking Air Force Cadet—What is home without a mother? Sweet Young Thing—Well, I am tonight.

Wife—Does my own look as though it were falling off my shoulder? Husband—No, let's dance. I'll be arranged it. It's supposed to look that way.

A lady's husband had a fit, after which he became rigid and unconscious. The lady sent for the doctor. On looking over her husband's condition, the physician remarked: "Doctor—Madam, your husband is dead."

Husband (coming to at this moment)—No, I am not. Wife (weeping)—Shut up, don't the doctor know?

Post Office Clerk—Madam, you've put too much postage on this letter. Woman—Heaven, I hope it won't go too far.

ancient Benedictine monastery atop Mount Cassino. The Hitlerites were holding up the Allied offensive, and were taking American lives, by utilizing the building for military purposes. We held our fire as long as possible, and then had no alternative but to shoot.

That's an old Prussian trick. Europe is strewn with churches and cathedrals which through two wars the Germans either wistfully destroyed or brought to ruin by utilizing them as military posts. In view of this, one wonders what may happen to the priceless relics of Rome if we lay siege to the capital.

We, the Women

By RUTH MILLETT. The war is showing a lot of men who really swell girls they married. Take Johnny, for instance. He'll never worry for fear his wife won't tick by him and help him make a go of whatever he undertakes.

Johnny's wife is one of those girls who has followed her husband to an army camp so that they can be together as long as possible.

She works six days a week so that she can be with Johnny on the seventh, his day off.

Her job isn't as good as the job she had before she was married. Because they are transients, army wives don't often get the best of jobs available in a town. They have to take the kind of job that one girl can do one day and another the next.

But she is glad to have the job because it helps to pay for the temporary home she shares one day a week with her husband. And it keeps her busy while she waits for him to have time off.

HE NEEDN'T WORRY. So she doesn't complain about the job or about the lonely life that is hers in a town where she is a stranger without relatives or friends.

She is gay and light-hearted about the whole business. And so she makes it an adventure instead of a trying time to be endured.

When he is overseas, her husband isn't going to be worried about her loyalty. (She thought enough of him to stay with him as long as she could, didn't she?)

Acting President Frank C. Bolton, informed Penrose Metcalfe of San Antonio, chairman of a senate educational investigating committee.

The savings of state funds had resulted from reduction of regularly enrolled students who are taught by 105 equivalent full-time teachers as compared with the annual maximum of 283 in the college appropriation bill.

"We will probably not be able to maintain this rate of saving as many of the salaries are appropriated for line motion picture and the college is now operating under an accelerated program through 12 months in the year instead of nine."

The act, which is signed by the number of military trainees assigned to the college has increased as the number of regular students diminished, with the result that over 2000 men are being trained.

The government pays actual cost of its trainees, with profit estimated, and the college has followed a policy of transferring teachers from state appropriation and paying them from federal funds, Dr.
Bolton said.

More than 100 instructors are serving as commissioned officers in the army and their positions have been filled only as needed.

Similar financial investigations will be made by the Metcalfe committee on state colleges with a view to reducing state appropriations for the biennium beginning Sept. 1, 1945.

Beau Hits Berger With Everything Save Ration Book

By LARRY SMITH

CLEVELAND, Feb. 16.—(AP)—The batteries for last night's game—oh, we forgot, it was a boxing match—featured Beau Jack, the New York conception of the lightweight championship, in the pitcher's box, and welterweight Maxie Berger, who should have known better, on the receiving end.

Berger, 27-year-old New York and Montreal leather pusher, did receive a sizable check, but he'll go to club fighting, he said.

Leaping in to register with slashing left hooks and following up with staggering rights, the Beau took all except the sixth round of the Associated Press score sheet—he missed that one because Referee Joe Sedley penalized him for low punching.

Berger went down for a two-count in the seventh after absorbing a choice assortment of the Jack artillery but he managed to stick it out for the full 10 rounds.

Jack reached the peak of his performance in the seventh. A right hook staggered Berger and another right dumped him on the canvas.

He arose after a two-count and went through the motions of countering, but staggered into more of the Jack offerings.

The Beau came into the ring at 138 pounds for his over-the-weight match, five and three-quarter pounds less than his opponent. The gross gate of $30,040 represented contributions by 8,206 customers.

OPA Rules Halt
Cage Team's Tour

DALLAS, Feb. 16.—(AP)—Unless the San Antonio ration board allows gasoline coupons to the Polytechnic Politas girls basketball team from Mexico City, the club may start its homeward journey from Dallas tonight, instead of completing its third annual tour of this country.

Although Dallas Mexican consul Luis Perez-Abreu and other Mexican officials requested the additional gasoline from the San Antonio board, their pleas went for naught.

The Politas' private bus remained in San Antonio, gasless, but a Dallas bottling company paid the train fare for the 14-girl squad to Dallas, where the Antonio Lavin-coached club lost to the Dr. Pepper engers last night 31-19.

The Mexico City team, which had planned to visit 15 cities in a dozen states, meets the Dallas Hornets tonight, following which comes the decision whether to return home.

Bond Sports Poll

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—(AP)—The late Lou Gehrig, the immortal iron-horse of baseball, was an easy winner in the War Bond sports committee's popularity poll that ended at midnight.

The final tabulation, subject to revision by last minute votes, gives Gehrig 14,225. Mel Ott, manager of the Giants, was second, with Ward Cuff, of the football manager third, Babe Ruth fourth and Christy Mathewson fifth.

Dazzy Sees Baseball
Using 15-Year-Olds

HOMOSASSA SPRINGS, Fla., Feb. 16.—(AP)—If the baseball player shortage gets any worse, the big leagues may have to start grabbing 15 and 16-year-old hopefuls from the sandlots, says Arthur C. (Dazzy) Vance, one-time speed ball king of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

The old dazzer isn't worried about the brand of ball they'll play if it gets down to them.

Dazzy, who will be 51 years old March 4, has been out of the game a long time and hasn't any starry-eyed hopes that the oldsters can pitch in and help out during the emergency.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—(AP)—The Dodgers farm system apparently was what finally soured Jeweler Max Meyer on the idea to purchase 75 per cent of the Brooklyn ball club.

After looking things over Max decided he didn't have the dough to shoulder all the potential expenses appendages that went with the club.

You'd hardly convince Jug McSpaden and Byron Nelson that golf ain't what it used to be.

For 16 tournament rounds so far this season, not counting the Phoenix playoff, McSpaden has averaged 68.75 strokes and Nelson 69.06.

WHOSE HERO?
When Lieut. Benny Leonard, Herb Pennock and Charley Brickley met at a recent War Bond rally in Wilmington, Del., the former lightweight champ's first question: "Which one is Herb Pennock?"

"I've been wanting to meet him for years," Leonard remarked, looking at Benny. "There's the greatest two-handed pitcher I ever saw."

By ELLIOTT CHAZE
NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 16.—(AP)—The form "harts don't mean a thing when eight-year-old Marriage ranks up for a crack at the $25,000-added New Orleans handicap early Saturday.

The former T. S. Furniture store owner said that there is generally long price on Marriage because he day he gets around about as slyly as a gate-legged table and can accurately mimic a champion speedster a week later.

But any handicapper will tell you that Marriage might just haul off and take time.

Nation's Best Three-Year-Olds Named for Derby

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Feb. 16.—(AP)—

Nominations for the seventieth running of the Kentucky Derby closed at midnight yesterday as track speculators forecast a subscription list exceeding last year's when 110 thoroughbreds were named for the classic.

The last of three-year-old nominees, whose requirements are $25 nominating fee and formal registration with the Jockey club, will not be made public for three weeks. Owners have until Derby eve, May 5, to post the $500 entry.

Platter, rated by many savants as the outstanding two-year-old last year and a leading rival to Pukka Girl and Occupy, will be on the list of nominees.

Some doubt had existed that George O. Widener, Philadelphia sportsman, who has the Pinocchio Futurity winner to the downs classic, because of an aversion to early spring racing for his thoroughbreds, but it was announced at his Ederly farm that both Platter and Lucky Draw will be given the opportunity to run in the $75,000 Derby this year.

The names of Occupy, Belmont Futurity winner, and the crack fillies Durazita, Harriet Sue and Miss Keeneland are reported in the hopper.

Hornsby said Tuesday that he had wired acceptance of the offer to manage the Vera Cruz club and would probably arrive in Mexico City Sunday to sign a contract.

The Interested Citizen

(Chicago Tribune)

Mr. Roosevelt was right when he told congress that in sending it a message on the subject of soldier voting he was doing so as an "interested citizen." The loud laughter with which the assertion was greeted testified that the members got the point. It was precisely because congress recognized that Mr. Roosevelt is the most interested citizen in the land in respect to stealing an election for himself—that the senate rejected the bill that would have empowered him to appoint a federal ballot commission, and the house, thru bipartisan action, to draft a substitute measure requiring the war and navy departments to cooperate with the states in conducting the election in a constitutional manner.

The President's unprecedented action in charging congress with fraud because its members penetrated the fraud attempted on his behalf was properly resented as an insult by Sen. Taft and others. It is to be hoped, however, that a resentful congress will take warning from this impudence. Mr. Roosevelt, since congress ceased to be his rubber stamp, has shown himself to be increasingly intolerant of legislative processes. He has used every opportunity to show his contempt for congress and to evade and by-pass its express mandates. Until congress openly recognizes this tendency and takes the measures to curb it that lie available in its constitutional powers, the trend toward dictatorship will continue unabated.

Mr. Roosevelt's message, shouting fraud, affected to see a barrier to soldier voting in the constitutional plan to conduct the election under the states' absentee ballot laws. Under these laws a soldier must communicate with the authorities of his state, on forms provided for that purpose which can easily be distributed by the army and navy, and request a ballot. Illinois and most other states that have revised or are revising their election laws to permit soldier voting are waiting the usual registration requirements. The ballot request will, however, give local election officials some opportunity to satisfy themselves that the soldier, even though not registered, was in fact a legal resident of the state when he went into service, and thus is entitled to vote.

This ballot can be sent to him, under the Illinois law, 45 days before the election. If the army would haul Eleanor Roosevelt all over the Pacific in less time than that, it can certainly get ballots to the soldiers and back to the states in a period of more than six weeks.

Mr. Roosevelt, however, wants an election commission appointed, and thus dominated, by himself, with authority to print ballots, distribute them broadcast, and, after they have been marked, turn them over to the states by the hundreds of thousands, with the admonition: "Here, these are from legal voters in your state; count them." Nothing would prevent the ballot commission sending ballots to the state so shortly before the election that no opportunity would be afforded to verify the residence of the supposed voters. Nor is there any assurance, under the bill, that the ballots would actually have been marked by the men in whose names they are sent to the state. The opportunities for fraud are colossal and congress has very wisely refused to countenance the fraud.

Mr. Roosevelt's message was political in intention, a parallel to his recent proposal of the labor draft. He controls all of the sources of information of soldiers and sailors serving outside continental United States. He is posing as their champion and apparently feels certain that the OWI and the other propaganda agencies of the administration will be successful in keeping the truth from the army and navy in the combat zones.

Administration forces in congress are doing their best to keep the Vursell bill which would provide an honest election and one proof against fraud and content from coming to a vote. Mr. Roosevelt's message was his personal contribution to this cheap strategy. If, as seems probable from his message, he vetoes the Vursell bill, the hope evidently is that the administration propaganda machine will be able to give the army and navy the impression that congress denied their members a vote by failing to follow the President's recommendation.

There is one flaw in this plan of concealment. Nearly every soldier and sailor receives letters from home. Their families will be able to tell them who are the real authors of the fraud.

Price Fixed On Dry Bean Seeds

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 — (AP)—Dry commercial field bean seeds were brought under price control today.

The office of price administration, setting the effective date as Feb. 18, said this was necessary because the seeds have a direct relationship with green bean seeds already under a price regulation. Varieties of dry bean seeds affected are: pea, medium white, great northern, small white, pink, cranberry, light red kidney, western red kidney and cow peas. In other actions, also effective Feb. 18, OPA exempted from price control all state-certified varieties of onion seeds, increased three-fourths of a cent a pound the maximum price which farmer-producers can charge for pea seeds in California, and hiked 10 cents a pound all farmer-producers' maximum prices on loose leaf-lettuce seeds.

Catalina Uninvited Guest as Jap Planes Circle for Landing

By OLEN CLEMENTS

SOMEWHERE IN NEW GUINEA, Feb. 16 — (AP)—Navy Lt. Robert Dillworth, Detroit, Mich., swooped the Catalina flying boat low over the enemy airbase at Wewak, New Guinea, the night of Feb. 11 to investigate some lights on the ground. He saw that the lights came from Japanese planes which were landing.

Almost at the same time, Lt. (jg) George Billings, Chicago, and Ensign Don Donley, Buffalo, N. Y., saw a ring of lights pop on in the air all around the night patrol bomber. They realized at once that the slow-moving Catalina was in the traffic pattern of enemy planes circling the field to land.

There wasn't anything for the "Black Cat" to do but to join the traffic. So "round and round" the field she went in company with the landing enemy aircraft. One by one the Japanese planes landed. When the last one had lit Dillworth's gunners opened up and hit many of the planes on the ground. The Catalina pulled up at 800 feet and headed away over the harbor.

There beneath them they spotted a 3,000-ton Japanese freighter. Bombarrier Chase let go right over the ship and left it listing. Out over the bay, the Catalina's crew looked back and there were two Japanese planes on their tail. The Japanese could have shot the flying boat down, but for some reason they didn't open fire. The "Black Cat" came home safely.
