WORLD WONDERS: WHERE? WHEN?

The world waits feverishly for the year's biggest news—Invasion. Along over a thousand miles of the English coastline facing continental Europe are shown five possible routes by which the hordes of American, Empire and French troops will storm Hitler's "West Wall." One or more or possibly none of these routes will be taken, but shown above are the most likely ones if the invasion is to be made in three general areas at all. At the top is Norway, with its low waters to the shore, then the Frisian Islands, nearest Germany itself; then, the third arrow points to the Low Countries; then directly across the Channel into France, which is believed well fortified. Finally, shown is the coastline of Brittany, that part of France which juts out into the Atlantic.

Dems Will Challenge Negro Vote Ruling

AUSTIN, May 1.—(AP)—The democratic state executive committee through its attorneys today prepared written arguments in support of a rehearing motion in the U. S. supreme court's decision opening party primary elections to Negro participation.

Attorney Wright Morrow of Houston and Dan Moody of Austin wrote the arguments which basically were based on a contention that the party itself is not the state; that the party is an organization which is not a part of the state and has no authority to restrict membership and the state has nothing to do with the democratic resolution of 1933 which declared by resolution that the party was open to membership of "all white citizens" qualified under the constitution and laws.

Ward Seizure Case Resumed

CHICAGO, May 1.—(AP)—The legal battle over government seizure of the Chicago plants of Montgomery Ward and company was resumed in federal court today when Attorney General Francis Biddle declared it was President Roosevelt's duty to order the properties placed under federal control to prevent a spread of labor trouble during the war.

The attorney general told Judge William H. Holly the president's seizure order was based on the type of goods handled by the huge mail order and merchandising concern but was motivated by a desire to halt the threatened spread of a labor controversy. He added:

"It is the basic duty of the president to prevent a spread of labor trouble during the war. There is nothing in the war labor disputes act to prevent the president from taking such action."

Eddie argued in support of his petition for an injunction to prohibit Ward executives from interfering with federal operation of the facilities. He obtained a temporary restraining order to that effect late Thursday night, and the concern's counsel filed a motion to dissolve it on grounds that the seizure was unconstitutional and without legal authority.

Biddle stated the firm handled hay spreaders, corn and cotton planters and other kinds of farm equipment and added: "All needed for growing food for the army—almost essential to war."

In addition, he continued, the concern had four factories manufacturing pumps, carburetors, carburetors, propellers and gun mounts.

Biddle announced he would submit affidavits from these persons and along these lines:

Marvin Jones, the War Food administrator, who said the firm distributed farm equipment and machinery would injure the war effort.

Chairman William H. Davis of the War Labor Board, who maintained the labor dispute underlying the case presented a "real and immediate danger" and who contended, "unless the dispute is settled quickly, it may spread to other

Dollar Day Attracts Shoppers To Pampa

It was D-Day in Pampa stores today.

The invasion began early and by 9:30 a. m. it was next to impossible to find a parking place in the downtown.

Reason for it was the double attraction of May Day and Dollar Day.

Stores were crowded early by the thousands of shoppers who came in from surrounding areas to take advantage of one of the biggest dollar day attractions this year.

Mighty Mississippi Roaring Southward

(By The Associated Press)

Swollen to its highest levels in 50 years, the raging Mississippi river swept safely past St. Louis but continued spreading destruction to the left as one of its tributaries, the Illinois, continued tearing at earthen levees.

Forecasters of showers throughout the watershed of the two streams ed authorities to call for additional help to battle the rivers, bringing over 11,000 the number fighting along the levees in Illinois and Missouri. The U. S. army district engineer's office at St. Louis reported that Dupou, where a large portion of the freight yards was under water, and Preston, on the Mississippi, and Clear creek and McGree creek levees were in critical danger today.

The coast guard cutter Greenbird was ordered upstream from Cape Girardeau, Mo., to assist in vacation work today at Hanging Dog Island, 10 miles below Grand Fouert. The coast guard previously evacuated all 600 residents of Valmeier, Ill.

The total acreage inundated by the Mississippi and the two tributaries, the Illinois and Missouri, is the latest tabulation by the Red Cross was 1,212,000. Levees were being repaired.

Even if there was no traditions, Paul Blankenship today, one county office blossomed out with a criterion of the day that it is the high-tide of spring.

At the office of County Clerk Charlie Thut, a new marriage license book has been put into use. Departing from the drab colors of similar volumes, used in the past, the new book has a brilliant scarlet and buff binding, and stands out among the drab oyster-color covers like a new tire on a Model T.

Two years ago today, Lt. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell and his beaten Allied troops started their retreat from Burma. Today, Allied headquarters chose the anniversary to announce the first American tank unit to see action on the Asiatic continent has entered the battle against Japan's supply system in northern Burma.

The announcement testified to the growing strength of Stilwell's forces and the expanding success of his campaign to smash the effectiveness of the Mandalay-Mykina railroad and to carve a new land route from Ledo, India, to the old Burma road and thus re-open the overland supply line to China.

Last Rites Held For Secretary Knox Today

WASHINGTON, May 1.—(AP)—Frank Knox, secretary of the navy, was laid to rest on the rolling slopes of Arlington National Cemetery today while U. S. navy men around the world held memorial services for "the boss."

Only exceptions were on the ships that at 1400—navy term for 2 p. m., Eastern War Time—were in actual battle with the enemy or carrying out emergency missions.

In the British and Canadian fleets, as well, all flags flew at half-mast on orders from the admiralty in mourning for the man who sparked the program that gave the United States the mightiest navy in world history.

Erection of New Plant to Begin

Operations will start May 15 at the Valley Vitamins, Inc., dehydration project, a Cabot subsidiary, on the Y road near Hidalgo, south of McAllen.

The new plant will be used to process carotene from alfalfa and to manufacture an alfalfa meal for stock feeds.

Cost of the entire project is more than $200,000, according to H. L. Titus of Boston, Valley Vitamins vice-president. Boston is the head office for Codfrey L. Cabot, of which the Cabot properties here (carbon black plant and shops) and the Rio Grande valley project are subsidiaries.

Cabot shops of Pampa is building the plant near Hidalgo.

Two hundred acres have been planted to alfalfa to service the company's hope to handle from 700 to 1,000 acres of alfalfa when operations get into full swing. Some of the alfalfa planting is company owned, some under contract with Hidalgo county farmers.

The plant will produce 6,000 tons of animal feed per year and one and a half trillion units of carotene (provitamin A). Fish liver oils are another source of this vitamin.

It is estimated that eight to 10 tons of alfalfa meal per acre will be produced each year. There will be 50 persons employed in the various phases of operation, including irrigation, harvesting, drying, and vitamin processing. Other than executives, most of the labor will be local.

About 12 cuttings a year are expected.

Canal Oil Project Ready For Use

WHITEHORSE, Yukon Territory, May 1.—(AP)—A $130,000,000 American-financed oil project known as "Canal" was ready today to deliver fuel for the Allied war machine in northern Canada and Alaska.

The Whitehorse refinery, linked by 585 miles of four-inch, above-ground pipeline to the oil source at Fort Norman, N. W. T., was opened officially yesterday, marking the culmination of 22 months of work.

The refinery will furnish aviation fuel for planes using airfields between Edmonton and Fairbanks, Alaska; gasoline for trucks rolling over the long Alaska highway and Diesel fuel for use in tractors and similar equipment.

The United States will retain ownership of the pipeline until the end of the war, when it will be offered for sale, with the Canadian government having the first right to purchase.

Stalin Tells Balkans To Quit the War

LONDON, May 1.—(AP)—Premier Marshal Joseph Stalin, in a May Day pronouncement, declared today that the Red Army and the Allied armed forces must launch simultaneous onslaughts from east and west to finish off "the wounded German beast x x x in his own den."

"There can be no doubt that only a combined blow such as this will be able finally to crush Hitlerite Germany," Stalin declared in a broadcast order of the day which called on the Allies for their "considerable contribution" to past Russian successes.

Stalin said that "under the blow of the Red Army, the bloc of fascist states is cracking and tumbling down," and exhorted the peoples of Romania, Hungary, Finland and Bulgaria to "take the matter of their liberation from the German yoke into their own hands."

The Red Army's task cannot be limited to throwing the Germans out of Russian soil, he declared, "a wounded beast who has gone into his lair does not cease to be a dangerous one."

Stalin said that American and British troops are holding the front against the Germans in Italy and are diverting a considerable part of their resources to help us. They supply us with very valuable strategic war materials and armaments and subject to systematic bombing military objectives in Germany.

"The military power of the latter," he said.

Noted Stage Manager Dies

NEW YORK, May 1.—(AP)—Sam Forrest, 73, general stage manager for George M. Cohan and Sam H. Harris for more than 30 years, died yesterday.

Cohan started rehearsals of "Get-Rich-Quick Wallingford" in 1910. Forrest compiled with Harris' suggestion he give some help, started an association which continued until Cohan died two years ago.

Among the outstanding Broadway hits which Forrest directed were "The Follies," "Follies to Advertise," "Icebound," and "New York," and "Cradle Snatchers."

Drama critics have estimated that Forrest directed three times as many Broadway productions as any other director.

A native of Richmond, Va., Forrest grew up in Texas. He first became interested in the theater when working as a bellhop in Tyler, he became acquainted with theater people. As a young man he ran a stock company in Chicago, and started his New York career staging "Springtime" by Booth Tarkington and Harry Leon Wilson.

In addition to his production work, Forrest was the author of several plays, among them "A Word of Honour," "The O'Neill Woman," "Dear Old Darling," and "Pullton of Oak Falls."

His widow, Mrs. Mary Ryan Forrest, a former Broadway star, survives.

Camp Wallace Now Belongs to Navy

RAF Loses 1 Ship In Night Run

By RICHARD McMURRAY
Associated Press War Editor

A thousand American planes battered the Germans today in their invasion battlements in northern France extending the ceaseless aerial offensive in its 17th consecutive day. Half the planes were heavy bombers and enemy defense was negligible.

In heavy, concentrated attacks last night the RAF exploded an ammunition dump at Mainton, 37 miles southwest of Paris, and blew up railroads near the French capital of Acheres and at Somain near Lille. Western Germany was hit; waters were mined; the loss was a single British plane.

From the south, Allied Mediterranean air forces bombed the leading Italian port of Genoa for the third straight night. Livorno and Montfalcone near Trieste also were attacked. By daylight, 500 heavy bombers based on Italy struck an aircraft factory at Milan Sunday and numerous other targets in northern Italy. The blows fell on 3,000 other Allied planes, 1,000 of them U. S. heavy bombers, pounded invasion targets in France. At least 30 German fighters were destroyed yesterday along with 11 Allied planes from Britain and Italy.

The cloud-darkening Sunday assaults rumbled out the second month of April in which 100,000 tons of Allied bombs staggered the Germans anxiously awaiting assault in Europe. Lt. Gen. James Doolittle said the U. S. Eighth air force alone destroyed 1,300 Nazi fighters—"substantially more than the entire German aircraft production for the month." The eighth lost 530 bombers and 144 fighters in April.

While Russia's mighty armies were regrouping and waiting for ground to dry for summer campaigns, the American and British air force alone destroyed 1,300 Nazi fighters—"substantially more than the entire German aircraft production for the month." Sen. Brewster Raps Domestic Foreign Policy

NORFOLK, Neb., May 1.—(AP)—Senator Owen Brewster (R-Maine) said today "one of the best informed Democrats in Washington has wisely said, 'the president is one of the greatest political misfits and one of the worst administrators the world has ever seen.'"

In an address prepared for delivery at the Nebraska Republican convention Brewster charged that "the same intermeddling by White House favorites behind the scenes that has bedeviled our domestic difficulties has been even more disastrous in foreign affairs."

"Chaos in domestic affairs at home has been succeeded by chaos in our diplomatic affairs abroad. The diplomatic conduct of our foreign policy has been tragically mishandled. Hull's victory at Moscow was immediately robbed of its fruits by Hull's absence at Teheran. Stalin and Churchill retreated in disgust and in despair from foreign policies counseled by a Harry Hopkins instead of a Hull."

Military conduct of the war, he added, "has been all that could be desired or at least expected."

Most of Plains Country Needs More Rain

(By The Associated Press)

The Trinity and Brazos watersheds, where damaging rains fell yesterday, faced scattered showers again today. Beneficial rains covered a portion of the hill country west of Austin, but most of the plains country was slighted. A local shower, 85, fell around the winter garden's spinach-growing Crystal City, but the Dallas office of the Weather Bureau reported no rain in the Valley, where soil was parched and river water was low.

The Austin Weather Bureau office said rains ranging from 2 to 4 inches occurred in Mills, San Saba, Llano, Mason, Menard and McCulloch counties, resulting in great benefit to crops and ranges and also to the lower Colorado River Authority reservoirs. Austin received 2.2 inch moisture, welcomed by gardeners. The river at Marble Falls was five feet above normal this morning.

Farmers and ranchmen in the Big Spring area were hopeful when rain started there this morning. The area was overcast. A local shower, 85, fell around the winter garden's spinach-growing Crystal City, but the Dallas office of the Weather Bureau reported no rain in the Valley, where soil was parched and river water was low.

Earlier reports from Grapeleaf that a dam at Elkhart Lake had broken were denied by Palestine members of the Elkhart hunting and fishing club. They said that only a footbridge across the spillway had collapsed.

Some upland fields were badly washed in the Palestine area, some crops will require replanting. Houston county's 100-acre Country Club lake dam, damaged, still held despite the area's heaviest rainfall since 1926. No loss of life or property was reported, and the operation of two oil refineries in the section was unhampered.

Rainfall at Palestine was estimated at from two to three inches and was considered beneficial.

At Waco, Buell J. Adgins was partially paralyzed when struck by lightning as he turned on a radio. Passing motorists rescued John Douglas O'Bryant, 10, when he was washed into a storm sewer by water which flooded Waco streets.

McLennan county bridges, roads and culverts were washed out by rains totaling 2.34 inches Saturday and more than 2.50 inches yesterday while Hillsboro, Temple, Childron, Granview and Hassa reported heavy rains.

LISSIE, Texas, May 1.—(AP)—The fast train from California ground to a flag stop here this morning and the family of Seaman-hero Johnnie David Hutchins climbed aboard for a trip to Orange, Texas, where tomorrow his mother will christen a destroyer escort named in his memory.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie M. Hutchins, the parents, and their six children, found a crowd of folk from Lissie, Eagle Lake, Columbus and East Bernard, waiting when they reached the station an hour before the stationmaster, Mrs. Smith, flagged down the train.

MEASURES OF WAR PROFITS

(The Wall Street Journal)

More lives than a cat has the idea that corporations, especially the large ones, are making big and smelly profits out of the war. A few have done very well in dollars. Some of these also have done very well in volume and quality of their war production. On the whole, leading corporations earned about the same percentage return on their net worth in 1943 as in 1942, a little less than in 1941 and a little more than in 1940.

These conclusions may be drawn from the compilation of the national City Bank as published in its monthly circular, issues of April, 1944, and April, 1942. It indicates that in the aggregate more than 2500 corporations earned 8.6 per cent on net worth in 1943, 8.5 per cent in 1942, 9.2 per cent in 1941 and 7.8 per cent in 1940. For manufacturing companies alone, those to whom has gone so large a proportion of direct war contracts, the corresponding figures were 9.9 per cent, 9.9 per cent, 12.4 per cent and 10.3 per cent.

Mobile Hospitals, With World's Best Equipment, 'Ready to Go'

By TOM WOLF
NEA Staff Correspondent

LONDON, May 1—The U. S. Army Medical Corps is ready, when invasion begins, to give the sick and wounded the best medical care in the world. It's easy for a civilian to forget the medical units in the battles start. But the Army doesn't forget this vital service, and battling don't begin until it is ready.

The Medical Corps in the European Theater of Operations began building hospitals for the Second Front just as soon as America entered the war.

Before the hospital program could get into full swing, the medical staff had to know the plans of the pending operation in detail. How many casualties must they prepare for? How many sick and non-battle injured? What types of sicknesses?

The number of hospital beds required depends not only on the number of patients admitted, but on the length of time each stays in the hospital. Injuries from small arms require a shorter period of hospitalization than do wounds from shells. There is a higher percentage of head wounds in trench warfare than in warfare of maneuver.

These are a few of the questions the Medical Corps has had to reckon with in preparing its hospitals for the coming invasion. Hospitals had to be found, or built, to provide tens of thousands of beds. The British provided them—either turned over existing hospitals or built new ones for us—on reverse lease.

Then there was the question of supply. A general hospital in the United Kingdom is the size of the biggest hospitals in the biggest American cities. Its equipment must be the most modern and complete in the world.

BIGGEST TASK AHEAD

But the hospital program in the United Kingdom, gigantic as it has been, is only one aspect of the Medical Corps' problem. There's the even more immense problem of medicine in the field.

Battledfield medicine starts at the battalion aid station—the forward-most medical unit, literally on the edge of the field—where wounded

ON A WORLD STAGE

(The Daily Oklahoman)

The interest of war-seared Britain in our contemporary politics is understandable. Never before did Britain have so large a stake in a presidential election in the United States. Hence, it is nothing extraordinary for the London News-Chronicle to look with some misgivings upon the retirement of Wendell Willkie from the presidential battle and upon the sharp upsurge of the Dewey campaign. According to the News-Chronicle both Willkie and Mr. Roosevelt are internationalists, and that there is therefore no choice between them. But as for Dewey—the News-Chronicle is in the dark concerning his international views.

While the News-Chronicle, inspired by its deep concern for the immediate future of Britain, is economy and government so much waste paper in my eyes.

This is a book that should be in the home of every person who wants to understand principles of human relations. If it is not purchased before the present edition is closed out, undoubtedly it will not be available.

A copy can be obtained as long as the supply lasts by sending in or leaving $1 at the office of the newspaper in which this article is published. The book will be mailed, or, if the supply is exhausted, the money will be returned.

considering the interests of the British people in the American election, Earl Browder, the head and front of American communism, is urging the American people to re-elect Mr. Roosevelt and thereby preserve the commitments of the working spirit of Toheran. The only difference between the comment of the London News-Chronicle and appeal of Browder is that one is interested in the welfare of the British people and the other is interested in securing some agreement that has been approved by Joseph Stalin. Neither is primarily interested in the United States and the American people.

There was a time when alien interference in an American election would have insured the defeat of the selected beneficiary of that interference.

was not forgotten by the Allies. A reminder of the date, distributed in France, was a mourning-bordered sheet showing a Nazi plane bursting into brilliant flames and fragments, with it went the reminder that the Luftwaffe (which, by German admission, is the basis of the Reich's security) is being systematically wiped out.

Special leaflets are not always so gay. When the Germans started confiscating French radios, the French were bombarded with Allied leaflets giving precise instructions for hiding radios, and maintaining them in working condition.

Warning To Germans

Allied propaganda leaflets for continental distribution are prepared in England jointly by American OWI and the Political Intelligence Department of the British Foreign Office, under the tactical supervision of Psychological Warfare Branch, Supreme headquarters, Allied Expeditionary Force.

The news for German consumption emphasizes two main lines: (1) Germany has already lost the war, and (2) Hitler and the Nazis are responsible for this catastrophe; if worse is not to come, get rid of them now. Again and again one point is emphasized: Only Germans can save Germany.

These messages are showered on the Germans in many forms. There is a regular four-page miniature newspaper, "Luftpost." The Nazis are responsible for this catastrophe; if worse is not to come, get rid of them now. Again and again one point is emphasized: Only Germans can save Germany.

From time to time special booklets are sent to enlighten the Germans. "Voik am Abgrund" (A Nation on the Brink) is an example. Its 32 pages make a devastating comparison—largely through pictures—between 1918 and today.

Sometimes special leaflets are dropped to make specific sign points. One such booklet answers commenting on the evident effectiveness of the leaflet; on its contents; and even printing pictures of "Sternenbanner."

The propaganda problem in the occupied countries is primarily one of getting news to news-hungry citizens.

The Allies have been exceedingly obliging on this score. We prepare and distribute, among other things, regular monthly illustrated newspapers for each of the occupied countries. For France, for example, there is "Acord," a seven-inch-by-five-inch four-color booklet printed on lightweight paper.

A typical recent issue shows on its cover French and British seamen fighting side by side. Its 32 pages are crammed with news, pictures and feature articles. News of the January meeting between Churchill and de Gaulle; of French fighting units; the story of the Scharnhorst's end, and of the R. A. F. Mosquito's versatile sting. There are New Year messages to France from King George VI, Eden, President Benes and others. A prominent British journalist pays tribute to the French underground press.

There's an article on the France that was—and will be again. "Acord" ends with the note: "Produced by both Frenchmen and Englishmen... brought to you by your friends of the RAF."

In addition to these monthly magazines, special four-page newspapers (such as "De Vliegende Hollander"—"The Flying Dutchman"—for Holland) being news of the moment. They tell, in words and pictures, of the Russian advances, of the destruction of the Luftwaffe. The implication, even if it isn't specifically stated: Your day of liberation is coming.

Sometimes Allied bombers drop special, single-page leaflets to tell a special story. The Luftwaffe's ninth anniversary, on March 1,

THE SOLDIER VOTE LAW
The soldier vote bill has now become law but without the signature of the President.

With reference to Congressmen and Senators, the issue is somewhat clouded by two different provisions in the Constitution.

For many years a president-electors were chosen by state legislatures themselves rather than by popular election.

Although no one would now urge it, the fact is that any state in the Union could constitutionally change its law and provide for choice of president-electors by the legislature rather than by the people.

THE RETURN OF EXCESS CHARGES IS MADE
Recent efforts of the price panels of war price and rationing boards in two counties in this district have resulted in refunds of over-ceiling prices totaling $421.

SEATTLE, May 1 - (AP) - The Times, quoting from signed statements of boys and girls, taken into custody in the investigations of juvenile delinquency recently rampant in federal housing projects at nearby Renton, today quoted a 20-year-old shipyard welder, member of a group which termed itself "The Wolf Gang" as stating "this war has broken down a lot of moral standards. I don't know why."

Solon Proposes Lower Rates For Larger Families

WASHINGTON, May 1. (AP) - Bargain tax rates for big families picked up some fatherly support in the senate today, along with suggestions that even more should be done to encourage increase in population.

"I say that in view of the high cost of living, the high cost of bringing up children, the deduction should be even more," said Senator Maybank (D-SC). "It never was enough."

Senators Ferguson (R-Mich) and Downey (D-Calif) both expressed doubt there would be much inducement in the measure, as it stands, to increase the birth rate.

Return of Excess Charges Is Made

Recent efforts of the price panels of war price and rationing boards in two counties in this district have resulted in refunds of over-ceiling prices totaling $421.

Overcharges were for used trucks sold by individual owners, and use money refunded through the district will be handed over to the U. S. treasury.

These seven transactions involved overcharges ranging from $25 to $175 and refunds were effected voluntarily through the work of the price panels.

That the administration's fury over this matter a few weeks ago was chiefly a political gesture, has now been made plain, despite the many Pecksniffian statements about "playing politics with the war."

Every human being, including atheists, has a bible—that is, a book that contains for him the best formulation of what he believes to be the why's and wherefores of that belief.

When I was in my teens my political philosophy was rather hazy. I believed in democracy, in the United States and in personal liberty as a matter of course.

"I sat down and began to read those closely-reasoned chapters—the New Formism, 'The Coming Slavery,' 'From Freedom to Bondage,' 'The Sins of Legislators,' 'Over-Legislation' and 'The Great Political Superstition.'

The individual versus the state! Myself as opposed to external authority! There was an instantaneous crystallization of thought in my brain. A tremendous exultation flooded my nerves and blood.

"I had found my bible! I had encountered the fellow-brain I had been looking for. I had stumbled across the greatest book of its kind ever written, a book that made all other books on political economy and government so much waste paper in my eyes."

AN IDLE WHIP (The Fort Wayne News-Sentinel) More than two and half years ago, President Roosevelt and I and Prime Minister Churchill met on a battleship and adopted the so-called Atlantic Charter.

Moreover, in all the major "lend-lease" agreements between the United States and various other nations (including, quite prominently, the Soviet Union) all signatory powers pledge themselves to the Charter's terms.

Obviously, therefore, the United States has been, all along, in a position to resist Russian aggression against her neighbors.

The National Whirligig News Behind The News By RAY TUCKER CALIFORNIA — Herbert Hoover has achieved greater happiness these days than he has enjoyed since he was ousted from the White House in the most devastating defeat of that time.

He has been a champion of Thomas E. Dewey from the start, and the two men's aides frequently meet in California never did like Wendell Wilkie, whose 1940 nomination destroyed any hope that the Army Service Forces are now guarding as keynotes.

Mr. Hoover takes credit for persuading Governor Earl Warren to support the measure at conference at the G.O.P. convention, although many others say they had a finger in that affair.

Should California become the pivotal state in F.D.R.'s downfall, as it was in the Wilson victory over Charles Evans Hughes in 1916, the Palo Alto man's cup of satisfaction would spill over.

By BIRTHDAY — Anthony Paul Demme, efficient assistant of House Press Gallery Superintendent William (Bill) Donaldson, did not celebrate his birthday this month because it falls on the same date as Hitler's.

A LEGITIMATE WORRY A kidnapping-aid, this disposal of government-owned war plants is something to worry about. The figures most frequently kicked around are that the government has invested $15,500,000 in war plants, private industry having invested $4,500,000,000 more, bringing the total to a net of 30 billion dollars, as compared with the 30 billion dollar valuation on all pre-war, privately owned factories.

WAR PLANTS GALORE The list and breakdown by industries on the DPC properties, having a valuation of $7,500,000,000 or about half of the $15,500,000,000 figure mentioned above, gives a slight indication of the staggering job of property disposal that's ahead:

CAPTAIN AZARASKI HE stood as they always seemed to stand, one hand on a holster, searched the prisoners. "Your badges," said the officer loudly. "All your badges, let me see."

They took him upstairs. So he knew he was going to the elaborate private office of Captain Azaraski, commandant of Niji Prison.

The nation cannot now afford to have a break, so to speak, in the most of his defenses in all categories. Probably the only thing he is sure of is that it can come at any time and that he has got to stand at alert from now on.

The Germans have plenty of planes to offer the stiffest kind of opposition when they think the emergency impels their use.

"I have never seen it myself." SO they had the dope on him. OR were they just fishing? Azaraski began to grin.

Azaraski laughed. Then Azaraski came around the desk and reached up and clapped Link on the shoulder.

Now Link was jarred. For the first time, he was really interested in one individual. He looked closely at the man.

His glasses made his eyes look slightly smaller, indicating myopia. He had cicatrix tissue on his left cheek, the result of a considerable wound at some time or other. He was bright, alert and in good health, apparently. His black hair was cut short and stood up like a brush. It had a little gray.

His plane was brought down while bombing Tokyo. He is taken to Pilot Officer Baldwin of the R.A.F., a former military pilot who cell door opens and a Jap officer steps inside.

Florida Farmers Can Stand The Weather But Certainly Not OPA

By JIMMY BURN'S BELLE GLADE, Fla., May 1.—(AP)—Farmers in the fabulously rich Lane Okechobee region of South Florida are winding up a record growing season but many of them find nothing to cheer about, even though fortunes run high. Those in the highly-speculative field whose six-figure fortunes or total bankrupty may turn on a rainy day are convinced that this year they ran up against a stacked deck of freakish weather, manpower problems and price ceilings.

upon the concessionaires to extend their scheduled week's visit to two weeks, and for the 12 working days field operations proceeded at full tilt.

"The carnival man said he made $100,000 while he was here," Lord said, "but we didn't begrudge him that because while he was here we had plenty of workers."

Sam Chastain, big-scale grower and shipper in the Canal Point region, says much of this year's troubles at the door of the Office of Price Administration. He argues that ceiling prices on perishable vegetables are unfair, and that the OPA regulations have been something less than sympathetic to the grower.

"We're used to the weather, but we'll never get used to the OPA," says Chastain. The weather has had this year tripped up the growers in various ways.

"There was too much east wind," declared one planter. "That resulted in a poorer quality bean." Many planters in the Okechobee region by an old saying that an east wind poisons the crops. Whether the wind brings in salt from the sea or what, no one can say definitely.

There were also freak hailstorms, cold snaps and torrential rains, storms that can turn a $10,000 bean crop into a total loss in a couple of hours.

Farming in the lake region is not on a multi-and-play basis. Tracts extend for miles, and as many as 400 pickers may be sent into a single field. Much of the operation depends on the labor of the pickers, and the farmers suffered more acutely than ever this year from the shortage of gas and spare machine parts.

Mounds exhibited a telegram received from an irate farmer who had been trying to get a tractor badly needed in his extensive operations.

"I cannot take no for an answer about that tractor," the farmer wrote. "I've got five automobiles dismantled to keep one running. I am producing 100 tons of vegetables for the navy. If that is not essential war work then I will quit and get into something more essential."

Roll call will be answered by "What children today need most." A timely article on community problems involving children will also be given during the meeting hours.

By RUTH MILLET In Memphis, Tenn., the teen-age center established by the city's high school boys and girls were faced with a problem—whether or not to admit groups of servicemen stationed near the city.

FLIES breed and feed on body discharges of man and animal, and on decaying vegetable matter. The barnyards of farms and the dump piles and uncovered garbage cans cities are their favorite haunts. There they deposit their eggs and, cutting filth, their feet, go on their way to the kitchens and dairies, grocery stores and sick-rooms, wherever they can gain entrance.

That first season is important. No boy still wearing corduroys and a sweater—even if the sweater has high school letter on it—is going to be able to compete for a girl's attention against the glamor of a uniform.

Puerto Ricans 'On Verge' of Revolt

WASHINGTON, May 1.—(AP)—Puerto Ricans are "almost on the verge of revolution," Bolivar Pagan, the island's resident commissioner in congress, declared today in demanding the resignation of Gov. Rexford Guy Tegwell.

"If the American flag had not been waving over Puerto Rico the people would already have gone into open revolt by arms," Pagan said in a statement and interview.

"What the people want right now is the reestablishment and enforcement of the present organic act and the immediate removal of Governor Tegwell, to reestablish in Puerto Rico a government of law and order," he said.

Pagan declared "Tegwell's dictatorial attitude can be matched only by Hitler's and Mussolini's tactics."

The governor, he said, travels with an armed guard, and lives a life of luxury in a 300-year-old Spanish castle "more comfortable than the White House with 30 servants, eight automobiles, and two summer homes."

"We have a most scandalous situation in Puerto Rico," he said. "Puerto Rico is over-excited, almost on the verge of revolution. Sensible persons wonder how the United States can hold the banner as champion of democracy throughout the world while two million American citizens in that American territory continue under a most incapable, corrupt and undemocratic government."
