British Seize 76 German Industrialists Union Accepts GM's Plan to Produce Parts for Auto Competitors

CIO Workers Relax Rules In GM Strike

DETROIT, Dec. 1—(AP)—Striking CIO United Automobile workers agreed today to relax their strike against General Motors Corp. to permit production of parts for competitors of the giant automotive concern.

A General Motors spokesman said the action might result in partial resumption of work in nearly half the corporation's plants.

'WELCOME SURPRISE'

The unprecedented agreement to permit some of the striking UAW-CIO members to produce car parts needed by GM rivals came from R. J. Thomas, union president in response to a proposal by General Motors President C. E. Wilson.

In a letter Thomas told Wilson the offer was "generous" and came as a "welcome surprise," but he expressed belief there are only one or two items on which GM production is an essential part of the picture for other manufacturers.

TO MAKE SURVEY

Nothing that automobile industry policy is "to have at least two suppliers and preferably more for each part or component." Thomas said he would seek to ascertain the dependence of other manufacturers on GM production, and the size of present stockpiles.

After that, the Thomas letter said, the international union will "lay the facts before" various GM local unions which may be involved.

The UAW-CIO head said he would communicate again with Wilson "as soon as the necessary data has been collected and analyzed."

FABRICATION

Principal General Motors parts plants, a corporation spokesman said, employed more than 40,000 of the 175,000 workers now on strike in more than 70 factories. How many

Queen of Victory Loan Is Crowned At Junior High

In impressive ceremonies against a silver backdrop Phyllis Schleg was crowned Queen of the Junior high school Victory Loan Thursday afternoon, climaxing the stupendous $27,000 issue value bond and stamp campaign led by the Student Commission under the sponsorship of Mrs. Guy Crawford.

Robed in pale orchid evening dress and sparkling white train carried by Linda Steele and Robin Hood, Miss Schleg represented not only the Victory Loan and the work of the students in the drive, but an inexplicable quality that was enhanced by the solemnity of the occasion.

Students wept when the regal crown of an American shield was placed on the eighth grade Queen's head by Jimmy Campbell, president of the Student Commission.

On entrance of the Queen a professional was played by Dorothy Meers and Mary Ellen Coffman. Attendants, sixth and seventh graders, Jacqueline Merchant and Mary Ellen Hawkins, were dressed in white.

Twelve students, representatives of the three grades, also served as attendants.

Miss Schleg was presented a coronation sash, gift of the Student Commission, by Jimmy Howard, vice-president of the Commission.

Students may be highly commended for their all-out efforts in the Victory Loan. Acknowledgement of the support given the Loan by the residents of Pampa and vicinity is extended by Audrey Steele, principal of the Junior high school, for backing the student body in almost tripling their $10,000 campaign.

19 DAYS 'TIL CHRISTMAS: PAMPANS ARE URGED TO MAIL PACKAGES EARLY

Early mailing of Christmas packages going to distant points has been urged by Postmaster W. B. Weathered, in a statement issued yesterday.

Weathered pointed out that packages which must go a great distance may be held over in mail terminals because of shortage of transportation facilities. He said packages held in these mail terminals may be kept as much as a week before they are sent on.

The post office is urging every one to mail the distant packages now and mark them "Do not open until Christmas" to insure against opening if they arrive before Christmas.

In addition, the post office department has reminded those who mail Christmas cards to out-of-town friends that envelopes with only one and one-half cent postage cannot be forwarded and are not subject to directory service if the addressee has moved.

Weathered said that the best way to do so is to go ahead and put a three-cent stamp on your cards going out-of-town and this would insure their reaching the addressee.

TU Regents Plan Reorganization Of News Bureau

AUSTIN, Dec. 1—(P)—Regents of the University of Texas voted today to expand the university's news bureau and co-ordinate under one head at Austin the flow of news from its branches at El Paso, Galveston, and Houston.

They raised this department's budget from $13,570 to $16,870 annually, approved the appointment of William E. Keys of Austin as director of the news and information service, and emphasized that the function would be strictly to furnish news of university activities.

Keys, for nine years prior to his resignation last week was an editor and reporter of the Associated Press staff in Austin and Dallas.

The regents named W. H. Gardner, Jr., formerly of the Houston Post and International News service, as editor of the service. He is a veteran of world war I.

A report from the building committee, presented by Chairman E. B. Tucker, recommended that the university proceed with preliminary plans for the building of five additional dormitories.

These buildings are to be self-liquidating, house approximately 1,000 students, and be of a "character and quality commensurate with the permanent dormitories on the campus."

To alleviate the present housing shortage, acting President T. S. Painter was authorized to make all necessary arrangements to acquire bungalows or other temporary dwellings.

A formal announcement was made by Dr. Painter of the closing of the naval V-12 program at the university on Feb. 28, 1946.

County Enters Final Week of Victory Loan

Final drive for topping the Victory Loan quota in Gray county will be made this week.

Records yesterday showed that the county lacks $149,875 in reaching the $300,000 E-bond quota, Judge S. D. Stennis, chairman of the drive, reported.

Persons are requested to purchase E-bonds without being solicited. Deadline date of the Victory Loan is Dec. 8. Sale of E, F and G bonds will be continued to the first of the year.

Contralto Heard On Concert Series

Opening the program with Hadel's famed "Largo" and closing with a classical arrangement of "Old Mother Hubbard," Miss Jean Watson, Canadian contralto, was presented in concert by the Community Concert association in the Junior High auditorium last night.

A large crowd seemed highly appreciative of Miss Watson's talents and was especially pleased when the young artist announced, midway through the program, that the rest would be sung in English.

Miss Watson, who was asked for an encore after each part of her program, sang several of the best known recital pieces including Schubert's "Ave Maria," his "The Erlking," and Strauss' "Schlagende Herzen."

Milford Snell, brilliant young pianist, accompanied Miss Watson and played Faure's "Impromptu," "Prelude in E Flat" by Rachmaninoff and Saint-Saens' "Etude."

Goering Still Faithful to Nazi Fuehrer

(Editor's note: The Associated Press submitted a list of written questions to Hermann Goering through his attorney, Otto Stahmer, who transmitted them orally to Goering and received oral replies which he copied and turned over to the Associated Press. These questions and answers are included in the following story).

By WES GALLAGHER and LOUIS P. LOCHNER (Copyright 1945 by The Associated Press)

NUERNBERG, Germany, Dec. 1—(P)—Rotund Hermann Goering, on trial for his life before the international military tribunal, said flatly today that he was still a Nazi and that if he had a chance to try again he would "again support the fuehrer" as he knew him in 1933.

"As a representative of the system of government inaugurated by Adolf Hitler I stand ready to be judged," the former reichsmarschall said in reply to written questions presented through his attorney, Atto Stahmer, who also transmitted the reply.

DISCIPLINE AND FOLLOWER

"I consider myself a true paladin of my fuehrer. I was a disciple and a follower."

Stahmer indicated that Goering viewed with disapproval high placed German officials who sought refuge in the claim that they never were really Nazis.

"To the questions—'Did you have any clashes with Hitler? If so, on what matters and when?' Goering replied:

"From 1942 on, radicals represented by Himmler and Bormann got the upper hand more and more and I receded into the background. It was not a question of my having any clash, but of losing the place I used to hold."

"If you could start over again," he was asked, "would you support the fuehrer, the fuehrer principle (leadership principles) and national socialism as postulated in Hitler's 26 points?"

"Naturally, nobody ever stops learning. If I had to do it all over again, naturally, there are some things I would do differently. Fundamentally I would say the leadership principle and national

Two Men Injured In Car Collision Near White Deer

Two men were in a local hospital today as a result of a head-on collision of two automobiles 3 1/2 miles west of White Deer Friday night, it was reported today by highway patrol officers.

J. Wooten, oil company employe, is reported to be in a critical condition, suffering from a fractured right hip, broken left leg, broken right arm and lacerations of the head, according to attending physician.

The driver of the car a 1942 Plymouth, which was going west from White Deer, was Chick Hickman, also an oil company employe. He is suffering from a fractured jaw.

The occupant of the other car, a 1942 Chevrolet pickup, is reported by highway patrolmen to have been taken into custody by Carson county officers, one of whom were pursuing him from Panhandle. He was identified as Truman Franklin, Berger, by patrolmen.

Change of Ownership Of House To Be Filed

Landlords who bought rented homes after the houses were originally registered at the Pampa-Borger rent office and are continuing to rent them must file a change of ownership report, F. S. Brown, area rent director, reminded landlords Saturday.

A report must be filed by the new landlord at the OPA rent office within 30 days after the change in ownership takes place.

This requirement will enable the OPA rent office to keep its ownership records currently accurate, Brown explained.

Many new landlords in this rental area will have to file these forms because of the large number of sales of rental houses in Pampa and Borger recently, he said.

Forms may be obtained by landlords at the OPA rent office, located at 316 Ross building, Pampa.

"ORDINARY" BOBCAT
SPOKANE, Wash., Dec. 1—(AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Earl C. Peterson didn't pay any attention to the cat that sat most of the morning in a tree in their front yard. About noon they took a good look at the feline and called the police.

Motorcycle Patrolman Elmo Springer brought the animal down with four pistol shots. It was a 35-pound bobcat.

DEMINATION - PROTESTANT
FORT LEWIS, Wash., Dec. 1—(AP)—A second lieutenant walked into the Fort Lewis Post finance office and asked to purchase a victory loan bond.

"What denomination?" the cashier, T/3 Edythe M. Jones of Pittsburgh, Pa., asked.

"Why, ah, protestant," the lieutenant stammered.

DOG GONE
Long Beach, Calif., Dec. 1—(AP)—Vicky was back aboard the Iowa today, just another sailor trapped by the lush living of a landlubber.

What happened was told by Mrs. C. J. King, as she turned the trim little terrier over to the shore patrol. She said he invited him to free chow and he just stayed.

There was talk aboard of a court-martial. But that might rob Vicky of his Good Conduct medal. And his record is good, up to now. Vicky has eight battle stars on his campaign ribbons plus a presidential citation, conferred by the late President Roosevelt.

By telephone Sadler arranged to have the 1922 text copied from newspaper files.

 "Anything conclusive" signaled a need for stronger White House leadership to avert a labor crisis. The meeting might have been saved, he said, had President Truman taken a hand when it bogged down instead of sticking to a decision that there should be no government interference.

 He added that the industrial outlook raises a question "whether the government is to retire to a position of minor importance while selfish factions declare open warfare for the control of vital situations."

shouted. Another woman soon afterward commented. "A person can take just so much of this. I'm exhausted," and she temporarily collapsed against the knees in back of her.

But with the sun Pampa's good spirits began set, the stands became cooler. Amarillo in turn was up in arms as the Sandies went over for an eight point lead. Harvesters appeared tired. The second quarter sprint could not last — endurance was at a low.

Going down the field the Pampa team left a man down in several successive plays; hatless and coatless Coach Coffey might have been a spring ready to uncoil down by the benches; an Amarillo player was left on the field during a play; both teams fought hard. Amarillo was up 14 points. Score 24-10.

Toward the close of the game the Pampa goal became closed in by student fans. Efforts to move the crowd were futile, until inner activity took place, causing the crowd to move toward a gate—For a few minutes football spectators lost track of the game. Harvesters on the bench focused on the end zone activity, with students and adults running to the section from the entire end zone.

The day for Pampa ended as bleak as the weather had started. State guard members serving as parking attendants and traffic directors were extremely efficient in emptying the lots.

Industrialists

steel magnates would be charged as war criminals.

ROUSED FROM BED

Most of the industrialists, described by the British spokesman as "a class making for war and the suppression of democratic liberties of the people," already were in bed when the raids started. Here are some of the scenes witnessed by the raiders:

Werner Camp, millionaire director of the Gutfreundmagnette steels combine at Dusseldorf, aroused from his sleep in a silk-sheeted bed in his castle-like mansion, asked: "When am I going to Nurnberg?" (The scene of the historic war crimes trial against top-flight nazis.)

BREAK DOOR DOWN

Otto Meier, director of foreign sales for Mannesmann toolworks, dressed calmly while his nervous, trembling wife forgot herself and undressed before a blushing British sergeant.

Fritz Baun, general manager of the Ruhr gas utility in Essen, was found drinking champagne with his wife and two friends. Another bottle was discovered hidden behind bookshelves.

A bottle of rat poison was taken from Walter Eichorst, another director of August Thyssen. Dr. Karl Lipp, head of the purchasing department of the Hoesch steel works — dressed in a blue and white night-shirt—picked up a violin and started to play. He told a Scottish sergeant: "I am playing for the last time the slumber song by Weber for my little son. Every since he was born I have played it to him every night."

His wife beat her hands against the window and shouted, "this is the gravest injustice that could happen to any man. May God wreak vengeance on you."

Among the Krupp works men arrested were Dr. Erich Muller, designer of the cannon for the Atlantic wall and the gun and turret for Hitler's formidable Tiger tanks; and Karl Eberhardt, chief armament sales director.

Other industrialists in custody included such prominent figures in German heavy industry as Heinz Gehm, chairman of Deutsche Edelstahlwerke; Walter Schwede, director of Reichsvereinigung Stahlwerke; Friedrich von Beulow and Dr. Edward Hudremont, directors of Krupp; Rudolf Siedersleben; managing director of Otto Wolff, K. G.; Arthur Hennecke, director of Mitteldeutsche Stahlwerke and of Friedrich Flick, K. G.; Dr. Guenter Henle, director of Klocknerwerke, A. G.; and Karl Schonrock of the Thyssen works.

of these would be affected by any partial resumption of production, he said, was impossible to estimate at present. Approximately 50 percent of GM plants make parts in varying quantity.

The Wilson-Thomas agreement was the first indication of a break in the shutdown that spread through the nation's GM plants when the UAW-CIO struck Nov. 21 to enforce demands for a 30 percent wage increase within the corporation's present price structure.

Production of parts for competing manufacturers would coincide with the union's strike strategy of keeping other producers going while shutting down GM operations. On the other hand, return of some strikers to jobs might result in individual situations where pickets would watch their fellow-unionists re-entering struck plants.

'FUNERAL' IS A ROARING SUCCESS

BALTIMORE. — (AP) — When a Baltimore ration board received notice to close up, the employees decorated the window of the office with a small satin-lined casket filled with gas and fuel oil rationing stamps.

Beside the casket were sympathy cards, sent by merchants. But nobody wept — everybody just laughed.

The U. S. Fifth fleet burned 630,000,000 gallons of fuel oil in seven weeks during June and July, 1944—more than the amount used by the whole Pacific fleet in 1943.

At 2 o'clock almost all of the 12,000 fans who saw the game were mulling in the stands. End zones and added sideline bleachers were packed. Students at either end appeared as bright printed calico in comparison to the conservative tweedy appearance of the side sections.

Just before the kick-off the Harvester Football Queen, Little Beverly Candler, was crowned by padded and big-shoed Capt. Jimmy Terrel. As they came down the flank formed by the high school band they were escorted by Mildred Overstreet and Charles Beard, all except Terrel carrying huge bouquets of yellow chrysanthemums; the drum section of the band brought up the rear of the coronation party.

With the crowning of the Football Queen the band played the school song, melody of "Let Me Call You Sweetheart."

The teams got organized. Three former Harvester players, two in uniform, ran out to give the Harvesters a send-off.

To the north of the stadium cattle grazed on the flat land of the Panhandle which stretched to the horizon in unbroken brown and peaceful harmony—to the south cars were parked in fields and on streets as far as could be seen—in the stadium.

During the first half both Amarillo and Pampa were up and down — cheers for both teams racked the air. Amarillo appeared to be besting Pampa, scored a touchdown—towns were out for a good time—the annual tension had to find an outlet.

Part of it was released for Pampanians in the second period. Laughing fans showed whole bleachers in motion as they stood up and sat down and stood up again, following each move of their favorite offspring, the Harvesters. Then the Harvesters scored.

Pampan yells of "Ya hooooooooooo" split the warm sunshine, women giving added emphasis with an 8th-octave pitch. The band played, more cowbells rang, talking was useless.

The extra point—more of the same.

A field goal—ditto.
 At the half Pampanians were willing to give most anything to have the game end then and there. "Wish that was the final score"—"Well, we had a good time for awhile"—a sailor came by. "I'd I'd 'a missed this I would 'a shot myself—I would 'a come over the hill for this."

Amarillo and Pampa bands blended in perfect harmony during the half-time period.

While they formed a Christmas tree, one half Pampa gold, the other Amarillo black, xylophones played "Jingle Bells," and "O Come All Ye Faithful."

A large "P" was formed by the Amarillo band, an "A" by the Pampan, each band playing the other school's song while in kneeling position.

The sun flashed on instruments—Amarillo's white shoes were recently polished—the legs of the baton twirlers were a bright pink from the cold—the bands marched off the field and the stadium took a rise in blood pressure, the hypo of the half-period having little effect. Amarillo kicked off, Clay fumbled and recovered. "Boys, don't do that to me," one near-by woman

Junior High Parent-Teacher Hears Speaker

Wes Izard, editor-in-chief and news commentator of the Amarillo News-Globe, was guest speaker when Junior High Parent-Teacher association observed Father's Night with a program in the school auditorium, Thursday.

He stressed the importance of American people keeping informed on international events, and voicing their opinions as to the war in which the government is handling the situation by writing letters to newspapers and congressmen.

Only in this way, Mr. Izard stated, can the government know the wishes of the people.

A period was devoted to questions from the floor at the conclusion of the talk.

Texas Art Exhibit Will Be Displayed In Pampa Library

An exhibit of Texas art assembled by the Texas Fine Arts association at Austin, will be displayed Monday through Saturday in the Pampa library, sponsored by the Upsilon chapter of Beta Sigma Phi. The exhibit may be seen during the regular library hours.

The exhibition is representative of the best painting that is being done in Texas, and is the work of Texas artists, several of whom have won national and international recognition.

The group of pictures to be shown here this week was selected a year ago this month, while on display at the Ellsabet Ney museum in Austin. The judges selected what they considered to be the 20 best, in oils, water color and graphic arts, and this group of paintings has been shown in various cities and towns of the State since that time. From here the exhibit will go to Amarillo.

Local artist who entered two paintings this year, was Miss Florence Jackson.

Miss Zena Gierhart Becomes Bride Of D. V. Biggers in Ring Ceremony

SHAMROCK, Dec. 1—(Special)—A beautiful and impressive double ring ceremony, read Thanksgiving at the home of the bride, united Miss Zena Gierhart and Mr. D. V. Biggers in marriage.

The nuptial vows were spoken before a background of yellow and white mums and lighted candles, with Captain Robert Mathis, who is at home on terminal leave after serving as chaplain in the European theater, officiating.

Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. Howard Weatherby played "Always," "I Love You Truly," "Evening Star," and as the bridal party entered, "The Bridal Chorus" from the opera "Lohengrin," by Wagner.

Mrs. Oscar Hinger of Berger, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a two-piece dress of black crepe, with white trim, and a corsage of pink carnations.

Mrs. Gierhart, mother of the bride, wore black crepe, and a corsage of white carnations.

Mr. Huelyn Laycock, superintendent of schools in Gray county, served the bridegroom as best man.

The bride was attired in a dress of aqua marine blue with black accessories. Her corsage was of white gardenias. For something "borrowed", she wore a gold locket belonging to her sister, Mrs. Carl Bong, of Corpus Christi, and for something "old", she carried an heirloom lace handkerchief which belonged to her mother.

At the reception following the wedding the couple cut the three-tiered cake which was decorated with a yellow and white color motif and topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom. Miss Cora Lummus presided at the coffee service, and Mrs. Oscar Hinger assisted in serving the wedding cake.

Mrs. Glen Gierhart presided at the guest register. Other members of the house party were Mrs. Carl Bong, sister of the bride, and Mrs. B. P. Rinsinger.

All Little Girls Will Have Dolls This Christmas

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Small, unusual heroines of World War II were the thousands of little girls who had to do without a Christmas doll because of war time shortages.

This year things are different. Although there is still a shortage of these toyland darlings, manufacturers have succeeded in turning out a sufficient number this year so that every little girl should have her doll on Christmas morning—provided her parents are bright enough to do their Santa shopping early.

And the dolls that will be on hand to thrill little mothers on December 25 are no wartime makeshifts. These are glamorous, cuddlesome, pre-war style dolls, complete with movable eyes, hair that can be combed and the ability to say "Mama."

For little girls with a flair for fashion, Little Lady is the perfect doll choice. This is the glamor girl of the doll world, a sophisticated young lady with a dazzling wardrobe, and hair specially treated so that it may be combed and finger-waved. There is even a special wave-setting comb that comes with each doll, and a book of suggested hairdos. One of Little Lady's costumes includes an evening gown and matching bag, with a maribou cape.

Sweetie Pie, pre-war favorite of little girls all over the land, is back in new and glorified form, with eyes that not only open and close but roll flirtatiously from side to side. Her wardrobe includes washable play suits as well as party dresses with matching sunbonnets, and this year she has a brother, Mickey, dressed in boyish striped sweater, cap and overalls. Both members of the family have hair that can be brushed and combed.

After there is Babyette, modeled after a real live baby and dressed in the daintiest of lacy clothes. These lifelike baby dolls come singly, or in sets of twins, triplets or even quadruplets.

Individual Lemon Refrigerator Cakes
(Serves 6)

One-third cup lemon juice, 2 teaspoon grated lemon rind, 1 1/2 cups sweetened condensed milk, 24 vanilla or chocolate wafers.

Stir lemon juice and grated lemon rind into sweetened condensed milk. When mixture thickens, spread on wafers. Place on baking sheet or tray covered with waxed paper. For each individual portion, pile four wafers on top of each other. Cover sides of pile of wafers with lemon mixture. Chill one or two hours. Garnish with fruit.

Chocolate Peppermint Refrigerator Cake
(Serves 8)

Two squares unsweetened chocolate, 1 1/2 cups sweetened condensed milk, 1/2 cup water, 3 drops oil of peppermint, 24 vanilla wafers.

Melt chocolate in top of double boiler. Add sweetened condensed milk and stir over boiling water 5 minutes until mixture thickens. Add water and oil of peppermint. Make-Up Should Emphasize Beauty

Nancy Bruff . . . English type.

Nancy Bruff . . . English type

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

Masquerading the natural prettiness of a young skin with too much makeup detracts from its fresh beauty. It is possible to enhance the delicate coloring of the youthful complexion by using an all-purpose cream as a powder foundation.

Nancy Bruff, author of "The Mantel," uses nothing but a light veil of powder over her face, but she accents her dramatic eyebrows with a harmonizing brown pencil, and etches a bold mouth with vivid lipstick. Like most young people, her skin is normal, so she uses cream, an English type complexion cream, is all she uses.

After an exhausting day at her typewriter, she cleanses her face thoroughly, then smooths on another layer of cream and rests for 15 minutes to give it a chance to melt away the day's accumulation of pore-clogging soil. Removing the excess cream, she finishes by patting ice-cold skin tonic briskly over her face and neck. A tiny bit of the same cream, smoothed on before she makes up, protects the skin from the raw, cold winter winds.

Dr. Cox Warns of Tick Infection

AUSTIN, Dec. 1—With the hunting season now open, Dr. Geo. W. Cox, state health officer, is urging that all hunters or other persons spending time in wooded areas use all possible precautions against being bitten by ticks which may infect the victim with relapsing fever. He further advises that when a tick is found, it be removed from the body as soon as possible and that care be taken not to crush the ticks in handling them.

"Tick-bite fever is contracted," Dr. Cox explained, "either from the bite of infected ticks or by absorbing the infectious material through breaks or scratches in the skin." According to Dr. Cox, the disease does not spread from person to person by direct contact but only through the bite of an infected tick or body louse. Prompt removal of the insect is of the utmost importance.

Relapsing fever is characterized by sudden onset, intense headache located in the front part of the head and pains in the back and limbs. The fever lasts from three to five days before slowly declining. The temperature will then remain normal for about a week when the fever repeats itself. There may be three, four, or even more such relapses, which accounts for the name of the disease.

Dr. Cox said that the wearing of suitable clothing so as to prevent ticks getting next to the skin is of importance in the prevention of this disease. The insect may be removed with the fingers but the use of tweezers is recommended since this helps to prevent leaving the head embedded in the skin. After removing or handling a tick, the hands should be washed carefully with soap and warm water.

New York state troopers have made more than 50,000 arrests on more than 80 different charges in a year, and have a record of convictions in 95 percent of these cases.

Drive Against Unproductive Animals Urged

CHICAGO, Dec. 1—A national drive to cull out unproductive farm animals before winter, as a money-saving measure for farmers, was suggested here this week by officials of the American Veterinary Medical association.

"If every farmer would set aside one day next week, to check his herds and flocks for these culs, it would mean millions more profits for livestock producers between now and next spring," Dr. J. G. Hardenbergh, secretary of the association, said.

There are hundreds of thousands of animals which cannot be wintered through at a profit. There are many others suffering from chronic disease which may serve as carriers to spread harmful diseases to healthy animals while confined in winter quarters. Both these types of animals should be culled out and disposed of.

Among the types suggested to be culled are: ewes, chronic mastitis cases, over-age animals, old hens which may harbor tuberculosis, infertile breeding animals, "bull nose" hogs, and others suffering from chronic, incurable conditions.

"In sorting out animals to be disposed of and those to be kept, the local veterinarian can often help to detect individuals which might be carriers of hidden diseases, and also identify animals which can be put back on a paying basis by proper attention," Dr. Hardenbergh reported. "The main thing is to make a checkup of each herd and flock before winter, both for economy and efficiency—and now is a good time to do it."

The names of 50 great Americans were inscribed on panels in the colonnade of the Hall of Fame at the time of its dedication in 1900. The names of 23 more have been added since.

Home Demonstration Club Has Program

SHAMROCK, Nov. 24 (Special)—The China Flat home demonstration club held its annual achievement day program at the home of Mrs. C. D. Evans, recently.

The business session opened with group singing, and the club prayer was repeated in unison.

Mrs. W. L. Morrison gave the report of the official organ, and Mrs. Roy Scribner reported on the council meeting held at Wheeler, and stated that Mrs. C. D. Evans of the China Flat club was elected as vice-chairman of the council.

A display of handmade garments, crochet and various kinds of fancy work was shown, including pillow cases, embroidered tea towels, made of sacks, aprons and dollies made of twine string.

The canned goods display included fruit, vegetables, chicken and other meats, pickles and preserves.

Mrs. E. E. Sheegog, home food supply demonstrator, gave the number of jars and named the varieties of food she had canned during the year.

Eighteen varieties of fresh vegetables were displayed, and Mrs. Sheegog named kohlrabi as her new vegetable this year.

The grist mill, which is owned by the club was on display.

Mrs. C. D. Evans is the clothing demonstrator for the club, and invited the group to inspect a new storage space four feet wide and 12 feet long, which was fitted with two rods for clothing, storage space above, a shoe rack and five shelves for quilts and linens. The closet was also equipped with hat stands and a hose box.

Refreshments were served during the social hour to Mesdames Grover Ballow, of Athens; C. L. Campbell, L. V. Gill and Melissa Sullivan, guests; and members: Mesdames Roy Burcham, Grover Copeland, C. D. Evans, Evelyn Grubb, H. A. Hartman, J. A. Humphrey, T. H. Morgan, W. L. Morrison, John Porter, E. E. Sheegog, and A. B. Sims.

Aviation News Sees More Private Planes

NEW YORK, Dec. 1—Operation of 1,000,000 personal planes in the United States by the end of the first post-war decade is entirely feasible, it is predicted by Victor Perlo, chief of the industry research branch, bureau of program and statistics, war production, Aviation News, McGraw-Hill publication, reports.

"Perlo," according to an article in the current issue, "bases his conclusion on a study which he made for use of the civil aeronautics administration, which indicates that approximately 2,800,000 families or one quarter of the number expected to be in the $5,000-and-over income bracket, will be able to afford airplanes easily within the first post-war decade."

NEW ARMY SHIP IS A SHOCKER

NEW YORK.—(AP)—One of the newest ships in the army's navy is a floating power plant developed after a battleship was hooked up to the power lines of larger city to supply current during an emergency.

The plant is housed in a steel hull having a length of 318 feet, a beam of 50 feet and a maximum draft of 14 feet. It generates electricity at 13,800 volts by means of a 19-stage turbine driven with steam from two gas- or oil-fired boilers.

Units have been operated in the United States at Vicksburg and Jackson, Mississippi, and at Pensacola and Jacksonville, Florida.

'Fallen Angel', Preminger's Sequel 'To Laura', Opens at LaNora Theater

By SCOTT RAFFERTY

Otto Preminger, who is fast moving upon the great Alfred Hitchcock, has come up with another of those suspenseful dramas similar to his famed "Laura."

In the surprise role of the year, Alice Faye deserts musical comedy to turn in a fine performance in "Fallen Angel," showing at the LaNora Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

Sharing the honors in the list of stars in this Preminger masterpiece is Dana Andrews, fast becoming one of the outstanding dramatic actors of the screen and Linda Darnell, who is not only beautiful but also can rank along with the best in acting.

The excellent supporting cast leads off with Charles Bickford, whose performance as the priest in "Song of Bernadette" will not soon be forgotten by this writer.

Anna Revers and Percy Kilbride share in the honors in this story of love and murder. Don't fail to see it.

Roy Rogers is seen in another of his super-westerns, "Utah," showing at the Rex Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. Rogers sings some fine songs in this one and shares the spotlight with his horse, "Trigger," quite a showman, himself.

Dale Evans gets cuter every time she visits the Republic lot and George "Gabby" Hayes is funnier than ever. Boo Nolan and the Sons of the Pioneers furnish some nice music.

"For whom the Bell Tolls" is back again and this time at the Crown Sunday and Monday.

It's still one of the best pictures of its type ever made and won numerous Academy Awards for its cast and production staff. Gary Cooper and Ingrid Bergman star and the supporting cast is one of which any film can be proud to boast.

There's Katina Paxinou as Pilar, Akim Tamiroff as Pablo, Ariadne Cordova as Agustina and Kjkhal

State Independent Retailers Report Gain in October

AUSTIN, Dec. 1.—(AP)—A 13 percent gain in sales by Texas independent retail stores in October compared with October last year was reported today by the bureau of business research.

The bureau also reported that there was only one commercial failure in Texas in October, compared with none last year in October and none in September this year.

Filing stations reported 32 percent increase in sales during October over the same month last year; department stores reported 14 percent gain; drug stores eight percent; food stores, seven percent; general stores six percent; eating and drinking places, four percent; dry good and general merchandise three percent.

In the durable goods trades, lumber-building materials dealers reported a 26 percent sales increase for the month over last year, and motor vehicle dealers gained 24 percent. Furniture stores had 18 percent gains, hardware stores 17 percent; and jewelry stores had a seven percent gain.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—(AP)—Two steps which the late President Roosevelt created for wartime appeared tonight to have support of both the army and navy for continuance in peacetime despite their dispute over a merger.

The chief of staff for the President as commander-in-chief. Senators will learn about wartime operations of both next week when Admiral William D. Leahy, only officer ever to serve as chief of staff for a President, testifies Tuesday before the military committee.

All war department spokesmen have urged speedy action on unification of the armed forces into a single cabinet department with equal land, sea and ground forces. Every navy department witness has opposed such a consolidation with the frank argument that the smaller peacetime navy would be in an unfavorable minority position.

Despite this clash most generals and admirals, as well as civilian secretaries, urged that congress give legal and permanent status to the joint chiefs setup and the special presidential advisor.

Goering

socialism were the only possible solution for Germany at the time. We had to get away from the multi-party system. In America, you have two parties. The British have two major parties. We, however, before 1933 had 20 odd parties. It just wouldn't work."

CHALLENGES AUTHORITY

Goering's present attitude on the tribunal's authority to try him was more mild than when, on the first day of the trial, he attempted to read a statement challenging its authority.

"Do you think the conduct of the trial has been fair thus far?" he was asked. "It is understood that you contested the authority of this court to try you. What kind of court do you think should handle this case and why?"

Goering: "I have the fullest and unreserved confidence in the members of the high tribunal as such. This does not obviate the fact, however, that the court as constituted is one-sided, consisting as it does of members of the victorious nations today. I should have deemed truly international a court on which some neutrals and the loser were represented. It would be more equitable. But now that the court has spoken on this point, I bow to its decision."

In answering another question, Goering claimed he did everything he could to prevent the war. The question was, "Do you intend to summon defense witnesses? If so, whom?"

Goering: "Naturally I intend to request that certain witnesses be called, but it is too early to indicate who they are to be. One thing is certain, however, there are witnesses who can testify that I never desired aggressive warfare and, in fact, did everything possible to prevent the outbreak of this war."

He was asked: "It has been noted that from time to time, as a document is presented, you nod in apparent agreement. Does this mean that you agree as to the accuracy of the documents?"

Goering: "When I nod it means that, of course, I agree, say, to the fact stated in a given document that I approved of or participated in rearmament. Why should I deny it? The cannon, the airplane, the guns were there weren't they? But I don't agree in the sense of the indictment, namely that I prepared for aggressive war."

The last two questions dealt with the showing of horror films on Germany's concentration camps. Goering was asked "What was your reaction to the atrocity film shown in court Thursday?"

He replied: "As every other human being, I was horrified. It is true that I started concentrations. But my purpose was a different one—I wanted to re-educate political recalcitrants and hold them until they became imbued with the concepts of national socialism. From 1934 on, Himmler ran them. He carefully kept all of us away from them. I can truthfully assert that I had no idea such horrible things were happening there."

The last questions was: "Your policy is reference to Jews seems vacillating. You delivered strong anti-semitic speeches, yet you and your wife are credited with having helped individual Jews. Just where do you stand in reference to anti-semitism?"

Goering: "I was never in harmony with the manner and extent to which anti-semitism was put into practice in Germany. I, therefore, helped where I could to prevent the worst injustices."

By using modern electronic tubes to provide a high electric potential difference between the paint spray nozzle and the work, it is now possible to paint all around a pipe at one time.

Lead-lease food shipment to the United Kingdom from March, 1941 to April, 1945 was valued at $3,185,810,000.

Japan Will Have Future Citizens 'Made in America'

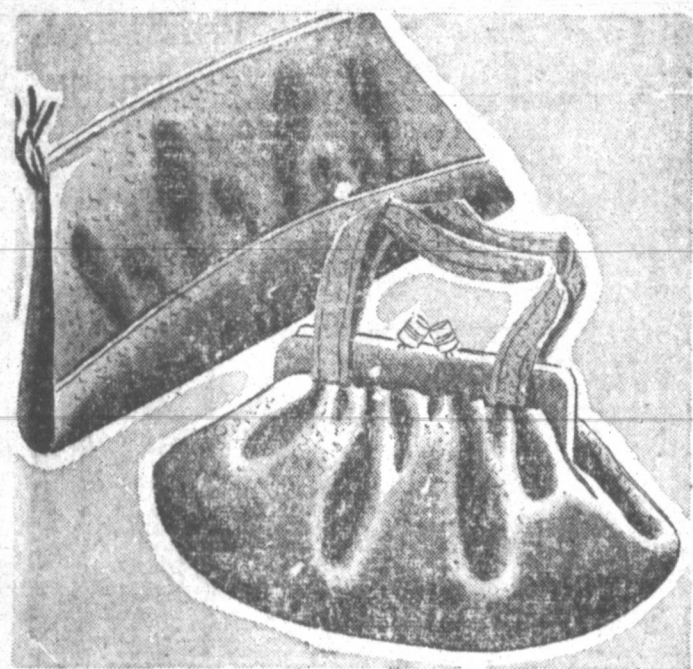

Japan will have several hundred future citizens with a "made in America" knowledge of the workings of United States democracy. They are a select group of Japanese war prisoners at the Huntsville, Texas, war prisoner camp who are to be allowed to study American democracy and are being given their chance.

The experiment in education was disclosed today by the war department, which announced the selected Japanese would remain in this country longer than the rest of their fellow prisoners, who are expected to be returned to Japan within the next six weeks.

Nucleus of the study is a group of 25 to 30 well-educated Japanese who are doing research and planning as to how American institutions and government would work in a Japanese setting. When this phase is completed, their ideas and suggestions will be compiled in articles to be distributed among the other several hundred Japanese at the camp. Their reactions will be noted as part of the conclusions of the research.

The war department said all prisoners in the study have expressed the belief a thorough survey of the possibility of a future, democratic Japan is highly necessary.

DEFENSE FOR 20 GERMAN LEADERS PREPARES FOR FIRST ATTACK ON PROSECUTION'S CASE

NUTNBURG, Dec. 1.—(P)—The international military tribunal ruled today that Rudolf Hess, who confessed he had been faking amnesia, must continue to stand trial with 19 other Nazi leaders accused of war crimes.

Lord Justice Sir Geoffrey Lawrence, presiding, announced that no further mental examinations of Hitler's former deputy were necessary and that he was capable of standing trial.

Hess, who had read novels and paid scant attention to early portions of the trial, created a sensation yesterday when he told the court he had stimulated loss of memory for "fictitious" reasons and announced he would stand responsible for all of his actions.

The black-browed Hess appeared much relieved by his confession and for the first time since the trial began, engaged in lively conversation with other prisoners in the box just before the session opened.

Defense counsel got their first chance at cross-examination when the court recalled Maj. Gen. Erwin Lahousen, leading German army intelligence officer whose testimony yesterday placed the blame for mass murder of Polish and Russian prisoners directly on Hitler and the high command's chief of staff, Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel, one of the score of German leaders on trial.

Asked if he and other confessed anti-Nazi military leaders knew the attitude of Franz von Papen former German diplomat and one of the defendants, told the Nazi war policies, General Lahousen replied: "I recall that Canaris said they were negative." He referred to Admiral Wilhelm Canaris, German spy expert who was described as leader of a secret anti-Nazi military clique until his execution after the unsuccessful 1944 bomb plot against the Fuehrer.

Lahousen, Austrian-born aide to Canaris, said that he had heard indirectly that Von Papen, like Canaris, had secretly opposed Hitler's war policies.

The tall, bald Lahousen gesticulated vigorously as he declared that Field Marshal Keitel demanded both military and political obedience from the army. Asked if the high command's fundamental attitude was military, he answered:

"It should have been according to our opinion, but according to Keitel, Naziism came first. I don't know whether he got orders along that line but certainly he ordered that, above all, our attitude must be national socialist."

Taking over the cross-examination, Dr. Fritz Sauter, counsel for former Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop, told Lahousen that von Ribbentrop "in his capacity of foreign minister went to Keitel and pointed out that he—as protector of international rights—objected to the branding of Russian prisoners."

Recalling Lahousen's testimony that Von Ribbentrop had declared in a conference with Hitler that foreign farms must be burned and "all Jews" killed, Sauter raised a burst of laughter in the crowded courtroom when he asked why such a matter had not been reported to the police.

"Why didn't Hitler make a report?" the Austrian-born general retorted sarcastically.

A dispute between American prosecutors and defense lawyers broke out when counsel for Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering asked if the Nazi leader could question Lahousen personally. Justice Lawrence said that the tribunal would "retire" to determine whether the accused Nazi as well as his lawyer could cross-examine witnesses.

Chief U. S. prosecutor Robert H. Jackson strongly protested, declaring the trial "would be turned into a show" if the defendants themselves conducted the cross-examination.

"The defendants have the right to conduct their own defense but if they avail themselves of counsel, we submit that they are not entitled to be heard in person," Jackson said.

A few minutes later Justice Lawrence denied Goering's petition to cross-examine witnesses but said that the accused Nazis have the right to take the stand in their own defense and also could make statements at the end of the trial.

Hess, the one-time Nazi glamor boy and deputy to Adolf Hitler, who became one of the war's mystery men after he parachuted into Scotland in the early summer of 1941, had hardly left the international tribunal's presence yesterday when he began boasting that he had made psychiatrists of four nations "look ridiculous."

Hess, aide to Hitler in the writing of Mein Kampf and once second only to Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering in the line of succession to the Fuehrer, appeared to love the spotlight which switched suddenly to him after his startling announcement.

Maj. Douglas Kelley, a San Francisco psychiatrist who had examined Hess, gave this interpretation of the gaunt, defendant's announcement: "Hess' action was a return to the typical hysterical personality he has constantly manifested. His amnesia was a deliberate simulation."

Shamrock Boosters Club Will Send Irish Grid Squad to Cotton Bowl

SHAMROCK, Dec. 1 (Special)—Members of the Shamrock Boosters club voted Wednesday to underwrite the promotion of a trip to the annual Cotton Bowl game for the Irish football squad.

The trip for the Irish gridmen will be arranged by Supt. Elmer J. Moore, who presented the proposal to the men's club, and asked their cooperation.

The Boosters also voted to contribute $28.50 to the Vermillion fund. Money is being contributed to the fund by H. V. Vermillion, Jr., who lost his eyesight while fighting overseas, may add to his recently started cattle herd.

Flake George, chairman of a committee appointed by Boss Booster Ely Smith to investigate the possibility of a Teen Age club in Shamrock, reported on clubs in neighboring towns. After a round table discussion, the club voted to table the proposition for the time being.

Squad Dalton was appointed by Boss Booster Smith to serve as chairman of the Victory Clothing Collection which will be conducted next month. B. F. Risinger, who had previously been appointed, declared that it would be impossible for him to serve in that capacity.

If Your Landlord Asks You to Get Out, Check With OPA Rent Director

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—(P)—So the landlord wants you to get out. If he says so, here's the best advice: Check immediately with the OPA rental director in your area.

There are general OPA rules on vacating, applying to the whole country, since each OPA area has its own director and problems, the rules and time limit vary a bit from area to area.

In addition, there are local laws on evictions. They, too, vary. Some say a landlord can't evict within 30 days, some 90, some more.

In a certain case in a certain place, local law may say a landlord can evict in 30 days. But the OPA director may rule in that case—or that kind of case—that he can't evict for six months. His rule sticks.

Remember: Veterans who are landlords get special consideration from OPA and local courts when they want to occupy a house they own. There are two main groups of landlords:

1. Those who owned the property in which you live before OPA regulations went into effect in that area.

2. Those who bought the property after that date.

Take No. 1.—The landlord who owned the property before OPA regulations went into effect.

Whether or not he's a veteran, he can't force you out at all if you have been a good tenant and his only reason for wanting you to vacate is to rent to someone else.

If the landlord (not a veteran) wants to occupy the property himself but has no urgent reason for doing so, in most areas he'll have to wait six months. In some places it will be three months.

He must get from the OPA director a certificate of eviction. The director will send a copy to you. Depending on the area, the director will see that you don't have to move for three or six months.

But suppose the landlord says he wants you out because he urgently needs the place for his own occupancy. In that case he must notify you and file a copy of the notice with OPA.

In such a case the OPA doesn't have anything further to do with the matter.

If you don't believe the landlord's story of urgency and refuse to move, he'll have to go to local court to force you out. There he'll have to prove his urgency. If the court believes him, it will set a date for you to move. This date will depend on local law, not on OPA.

Now take No. 2.—The landlord who bought the property after the OPA regulations in that area became effective.

Suppose he wants you out so he can move in. Veteran or non-veteran, such a landlord must get an OPA eviction certificate. The OPA director will decide how long before you have to get out.

In the case of a non-veteran landlord, it will be three to six months. In the case of a non-veteran landlord, it will be three to six months.

WAS HIS FACE LOST

BALTIMORE.—(P)—A Japanese envoy to the Manila conference handed a GI guard two American $5 bills and demanded some cigarettes, a Baltimore Sunpapers correspondent reports.

The Japanese accepted two cartons of cigarettes, but hesitated in embarrassment before taking his change. Then he pocketed it and stalked off with a complete pocket-face.

The GI had given him Japanese-printed Philippine occupation currency.

Services in Shamrock For Latimer Infant

Army Modifies Discharge Plan For Medical Men

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—(P)—The war department announced yesterday modification of the discharge requirements for doctors and dentists which it said would release an additional 15,000 physicians and 5,000 dentists.

The critical score for doctors and dentists was reduced from 80 to 70, effective immediately. The 70 score for doctors is 3 points below the new score for officers in other branches of the army which becomes effective today.

The army also amended the time factor for computing eligibility. Instead of service prior to Pearl Harbor, medical personnel will now be eligible for release after 42 months of honorable service. Any doctor or dentist who is 48 years of age is eligible for release.

Shamrock Lieutenant Awarded Bronze Star

WITH THE SIXTH ARMY IN JAPAN—For meritorious achievement in connection with military operations against the enemy on Luzon, First Lieutenant Gerald F. Geyer has been awarded the Bronze Star Medal by General Walter Krueger, commanding general of the Sixth army in Japan.

Gerald is the husband of Mrs. Mary Geyer, who lives at 403 South Madden street, Shamrock, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Geyer.

Lieut. Geyer, as litter-bearer Platoon commander and air evacuation officer of the medical collecting company, was charged with the construction, maintenance and operation of air-transport strips. His litter bearer personnel were at one time operating four strips.

In making the award, General Krueger stated, in part: "Lieut. Geyer's untiring efforts, ingenuity and devotion to duty contributed immeasurably to reducing the number of deaths and prolonged suffering of wounded soldiers."

The Shamrock man has been overseas since May 13, 1944, and was stationed in New Guinea before being sent to Luzon and then to Japan. He has been in service since April 13, 1942, when he went in as an enlisted man.

Marines Offered New Enlistment

Enlisted Marines discharged since the surrender of Japan and others who will be discharged may now enter the Volunteer Marine corps reserve for periods of three or four years, the Marine corps announced.

Veterans enlisting under this new plan will be placed in Class III (b) — a division of the Marine corps reserve which in time of peace remains inactive and in a category available for active service in the event of war or national emergency. Reappointment will be made to the rank held at the time of discharge.

In announcing the plan, it was pointed out that veterans may go back to their civilian pursuits and yet retain their affiliation with the Marine corps. Time served on inactive status in the reserve counts as longevity for pay purposes when called to active duty. If the veteran should choose to enter a more active branch of the reserve when such is established, he will be eligible for promotion.

Men enlisting in the volunteer Marine corps reserve must meet the same standards and requirements as men entering the regular Marine corps. Enlistments in the reserve may be effected on the day of discharge, "in order not to delay departure of a man for his home following discharge."

Communists of China Do Not Plan to Quit

By JAMES D. WHITE
AP Staff Writer
SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 1—(AP)—The Chinese communists may see the tide running superficially against them, but they are not giving up.

This much is clear from the first Associated Press dispatch to be filed from the communist capital in something like a year.

The communists have appeared quiet and glum the past few days, particularly since reports got around that the Russians are facilitating the return of central government troops to Manchuria, and after it was announced that Gen. George C. Marshall would go to China as our new ambassador.

Roderick's dispatch quotes an interview with General Yeh Chien-Ying, commander-in-chief of the Chinese communist armies. He said that as a military man he would welcome General Marshall, if he visits Yenan, adding that he admires Marshall as a leader against fascism.

He reiterated communist charges that "United States forces in China, under the pretext of aiding China to accept Japanese surrender, are actually hindering it with planes, war vessels and guns." Yeh claimed the process could be completed in ten days.

The importance of this statement lies partly in its insistence upon the authority which the communists have claimed to accept Japanese surrender. Chungking claims that a communist headquarters order to this effect is insubordination.

Back of this, of course, lies the crucial question of the status of the communist army. Legally it is part of the national armed forces of China under an agreement reached in 1936 at the time of the Sian incident. Actually the communists do just about as they please in their own areas. Chungking talks of the communist forces by charging them with insubordination.

This is the politico-military obstacle which underlies the civil strife in China and which, if it were solved, could do more to open the way to real unity than any other factor.

General Yeh's statement is also important because in extending a welcome to General Marshall he clearly leaves the door open to further negotiations, which presumably will be aided by American mediation if that is desired.

This may dissolve the seeming stalemate which has followed ex-ambassador Hurley's public charge that the communists "are trying to set up a separate government or destroy the present nationalist government," and communist attacks on Hurley as the chief factor behind what they called "American intervention."

Woodward, Jr., of Dallas, the administration recommendation that Dr. Wendell C. Gordon be appointed as an assistant professor of economics.

In 1942, Gordon, then an instructor, was not re-elected by the board along with J. Fagg Foster and W. N. Peach, also instructor, after they had criticized a Dallas mass meeting at which the wage and hour law was discussed. This was one of the incidents alleged by Dr. Raines as being in violation of academic freedom, in his bill of complaints that led to his discharge.

The American association of University Professors called on the regents to reappoint the instructors at the October meeting a year ago. The board passed a resolution declaring that if the instructors should be recommended for appointment subsequently by their department, the recommendations would be considered on their merits and without prejudice.

Gordon's name came up yesterday on recommendation of his department, then by Acting President T. S. Painter. It was submitted among 28 others, and the remaining 27 were approved without question. Regent E. E. Kirkpatrick of Brownwood moved that the Gordon recommendation be referred to Woodward with full power to act and the board concurred unanimously.

The regents also awarded a contract for moving 150 hutments from New Orleans to Austin, to house war veteran students, to the McCann Construction company of Fort Worth, for $160,985.

The only European country with adequate food supplies is Denmark, and its lacks corn for its pigs.

University Will Build Dormitories For Married Vets

AUSTIN, Dec. 1—(AP)—Preliminary plans to build five new dormitories including one for married couples at the University of Texas had been authorized today by the university's board of regents.

The question of housing occupied the board principally on the first day of its monthly session yesterday, but there also was an echo of the controversy between Dr. Homer F. Raines and the board as constituted a year ago, that led to Raines' discharge.

The regents, without comment, referred to Chairman Dudley K.

Lieutenant Governor Will Attend Convention of Young Texas Demos

AUBCTIN, Dec. 1.—(AP)—Lt. Gov. John Lee Smith said today he had notified President C. L. Harris of the Texas young democrats that he would attend the group's convention in Fort Worth next week if possible.
Smith said he had speaking engagements at Mission, McAllen and Raymondville on Dec. 4, 5, and 6, and that it might not be possible for him to reach Fort Worth.
"It is a long drive from the valley to Fort Worth, but I will be there if possible," he said.
Asked if Harris had mentioned the controversy among the young democrats over whether or not to invite him as speaker, Smith said he had.
"I told Harris that I was not interested in becoming involved in a controversy within the organization, and that my understanding of the young democrats was that it was a non-political organization. Harris said it was organized on this basis."
Ben Ramey, member of the executive committee of the Travis county young democrats, said today that C. L. Harris of Lubbock, state president, himself was violating young democrats' constitution by inviting Lieut. Gov. John Lee Smith to attend the Fort Worth convention Dec. 6-7.
"Is he violating the constitution because Smith is not a democrat?" Ramey asked, commenting on the announcement by Harris that the convention's program committee, spurred by members from Austin, had approved a resolution barring the lieutenant governor from appearing at or speaking to the convention.
Harris said that the Austin delegation was attempting to foster the candidacy of Dr. Homer P. Rainey, deposed president of the University of Texas, for governor by putting him on the convention program. To this, Ramey said:
"We have no apologies to make for inviting Rainey. He is on the program because the committee—of which I am not a member—thought his background qualified him to speak on the subject, 'Youth in Politics.'"
"The invitation does not imply an endorsement of his candidacy, if he is a candidate."
Rainey has never flatly said he would run for governor.
Ramey said he understood the program committee's action in respect to Smith was taken on a 4 to 2 vote.

Kraft Employs Set World's Safety Record

DENISON, Dec. 1.—(AP)—Employees of the Kraft Foods company of Denison were informed today that they had set a world's safety record.
The national safety congress reported that the local firm, during approximately three years of operation, had struck up 1,800,000 man-hours without an accident to an employee causing him to lose time from his job.
The congress said this record was unequalled by any other food manufacturing plant.

WITH THE AMERICAN NAVY IN THE PACIFIC.—(AP)—Thumbing through old notebooks of the European campaign:

No one understands French politics any more than anybody really understands the roulette wheel. And on occasion gulfic hospitality is equally difficult for the American mind to grasp. I recall one instance, slightly more than a year ago, in the final days of the battle for France.

The Germans were in the autumn of their power. Their broken, scattered, disorganized units were racing helter-skelter for the Selgrid line.

As they fled, Frenchmen rose up in sudden arms behind and ahead of their route of march to harass their troubled flight. And once the swift, Yank armored columns leaped in from all directions and destroyed them in brief, bloody battles. It was a glorious thing to be alive in these days and riding in a heavily armed tank in pursuit of the beaten enemy, after the long labor of Normandy. Every village was a victory. There were flags flying everywhere and dancing in the streets, and nobody was worrying yet about the lack of winter coal.

Everywhere people were crying freedom.

Nobody said anything then about responsibility.

And one day an American armored column rolled into a French village, escorted by cars full of waving, war-intoxicated resistance fighters.

The American commander and a group of dusty tankmen were led in triumph into the city hall. In the mayor's office champagne and broken French and English flowed.

On one side of the room stood the old mayor and his fellow-officers and on the other side stood a group of resistance fighters. Both sides said how happy they were to see Americans.

The mayor was an elderly man with uneasy eyes, and after he made a short speech and everybody toasted victory until the bottles were empty the Americans climbed into their steel vehicles.

As they roared past the building they heard shots. Some officers jumped out and ran behind the city hall and there stood several French resistance fighters, and on the ground lay the old mayor. Blood flowed from his chest, and ran down from a hole in his head.

One of the Frenchmen said he was sure the old mayor had been a "collaborator," and they all jumped back into their broken-down cars and rode off, waving bottles and rifles, and nobody carried a law-book. The champagne tasted sour then in Americans' mouths and there was nothing to be done and they didn't understand this kind of hospitality anyway, but they knew they wanted to kill young Germans and not just stand there and wonder where warfare ended and murder began.

With world thinking concentrated on the use of atomic energy for war purposes, it would have been much better had the men of science turned their thoughts toward inventing an easier way to dig potatoes.—Ely, Nev., Times.

YOUNG CARTOONIST, PAMPA RESIDENT DRAWS HIS 'DREAM' FOR DAILY NEWS

Since Fred Willis, 321 W. Kingsmill, was 12 years old he has been drawing faces, forms, buildings and what have you. Fred, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Willis of the same address, was a private first class in the marines, and for nine months he had occasion on Midway to draw a daily cartoon for the island tabloid, "Midway Mirror." He did a whole page—usually treating some humorous incident concerning a marine—or any serviceman for that matter.

MANY DRAWINGS

He still wants to be a cartoonist. He brought to the Pampa Daily News editor the other day a number of drawings—luscious blondes, you know, with the curves; glibbers; professional tramps; philosphers; city skylines. He showed them because he is interested in that kind of work—and could we help him get into the work professionally? We said we doubted if we could help him, but, as usual, we were willing to give our advice—for what it is worth.

"PIPE DREAMS"

We wanted to run in the paper some of the drawings, but they were all so good we did not know which one to select. Consequently, we asked him if he would not draw us a composite—that is, a cartoon showing different kinds of characters, forms and so on. The picture accompanying this story is the result. It is entitled "Pipe Dreams of Being a Cartoonist." You be your own judge as to how good it is.

But in doing so, consider these facts: Fred is 21. He quit school at White Deer when he was a junior; he joined the marines. He spent 22 months in the South Pacific, but he kept working at what he hopes some day will be his career. The boys called him "Scribbly," and in the meantime, he went ahead being an anti-aircraft gunner.

BORN IN KANSAS

He was born in Douglas, Kas., and since then—naturally—he has been told by his teachers that if he would spend less time at drawing characters, he would make better grades. But, he explains, I kept drawing them, and he passed them among his schoolmates. "They kept the kids as distracted as I was," he concludes.

When he and his parents lived in Indiana, he drew a series of strips, entitled "Happy Scratch." Although not published, he says he drew 60 or 70 pages of them. He has drawn a number of "strong man" strips, similar to—but not in the likeness of—Superman.

SEVERAL ROLES

The pipe dream cartoon shown here shows a number of character types, when studied closely. The "dreamer" at the bottom is Willis himself—a remarkable likeness. The larger drawings—the man and woman—he has conceived as real characters for a story he is constructing. The others might be cast in as many different roles—philosopher, gambler, hoodlum, con-man, and straight out-and-out villain.

Fred Willis, Pampa, whose work is shown in the picture above drawn especially for the Pampa Daily News, is interested in cartoonist work. He would like to draw a comic strip. Willis, dis-

"THEY LIVE"

He is interested in originating a regular comic strip. "To me," he says of the characters shown here, "they are just as alive as other characters now running in the newspapers. I think I can write just as interesting stories and draw just as strong pictures as some of those in the newspapers of today."

We think so, too, and think he will finally come to realize his highest ambition.

Writer Says Tito Leads Yugoslavia To Communism, Despite His Pledges

Strengthening of communist influence in Yugoslavia, through the dynamic person and iron-fisted policies of Josip Broz-Tito, marshal of Yugoslavia and ex-communist agent, is seen by Temple H. Fielding, in an article in The Reader's Digest for December, condensed from Harper's. Mr. Fielding, recently retired army major, had many contacts with Tito and his Partisans during several months in Yugoslavia with the Independent American Military Mission.

"The economic structure of Yugoslavia is gradually being Russianized," Mr. Fielding states. "On direct orders from Tito, the glories of the U. S. S. R. are pumped to the people morning, noon and night."

The author cites the four democratic points of the platform to which Tito's National Liberation Front has pledged itself unequivocally and examines each in turn. Commenting on the first, which is "the creation of a nationally equal Federal Yugoslavia, where all nationalities will enjoy their national rights," he points out that in the Yugoslav Cabinet Tito, himself, is Premier, Minister of War and Commander in Chief; twenty-one ministers are Tito men, four are mild dissenters. Of six "locally autonomous states, responsible to this Cabinet, five have their controlling ministries in the hands of young Communists. In the sixth, Serbia, comprising 51 percent of the country, Tito has his "bitterest opposition and gravest problem." But one-third of Yugoslavia is "solidly behind him," the author adds, observing that an armed minority, holding power, can maintain itself indefinitely.

The second point, "truly democratic rights and liberties," is seen by Fielding as "truly democratic to about the same extent as Soviet Russia." Commissars and secret police are everywhere, he says. People seen in the wrong company are promptly arrested; criticism of Tito or of the U. S. S. R. is punishable by death.

Of the third plank of the platform, "inviolability of private property," the author says, "I have seen 'requisitioned' homes, factories, stores and personal effects of non-Partisans. No shred is left to those who are not in political alignment with the Liberation Front. Food is distributed on the same basis. If you are a Partisan you eat; if you are not you starve." With Yugoslav civilians dropping in the streets from starvation, Tito refused entry to American relief ships docked in Italy, Fielding charges.

The fourth point is "no revolutionary, economic or social changes." That it conveys no freedom to the Yugoslavs is shown by the instance of a "free election" witnessed by the author in November 1944. Held in a theater jammed with hand-picked voters, with guards at the doors barring undesirables and secret police watching the proceedings, the vote was cast by a show of hands. All Tito's candidates won unanimously.

Tito was born Josip Broz, of illiterate parents, and took the name Tito-Serbo-Croat for the Roman Emperor Titus—after a career marked by desertion from the Austro-Hungarian army to the Russians in 1914, a term in a Siberian concentration camp for refusing to fight for the czar, 3-year enlistment with the Bolsheviks, after they freed him in 1917, and a period of training "in subversion and in sabotage of capitalist governments" at the "supersecret" West School in Moscow.

When Hitler attacked Yugoslavia in April 1941, Tito and the Communist "didn't cock their pistols," the author says. Two months later, the exact day that Germany attacked the U. S. S. R., the Partisans began to fight. Tito called it a "coincidence," saying he was "not proproment."

erly organized" to fight until that Tito's Partisans rose to ascendancy over various Yugoslav factions, chiefly Mihalovitch's Chetniks; Fielding notes, by "aggressive backing" of the U. S. S. R., support of the British who feared friction with their ally, Russia, and finally by America's swing to the Partisans' side.

"The most dynamic man in the Balkans," possessing a "devastating personal charm," Tito is soft in speech, scholarly in manner, and laughs more than he frowns; the author observes, contrary to propaganda photos which show him the "scowling, stern man of affairs."

DOCTOR RATIONING! DO YOU WANT IT IN AMERICA?

COMMUNISM, FASCISM, NAZISM are not mere matters of terms or definitions. They result from the establishment of centralized controls and the operation of mechanisms of administration. Unfortunately, in the development of these mechanisms the insidious step by step procedure may postpone recognition of their real significance.

We are a trusting people. In some respects we are gullible folk. It is essential in these times that we be ruthlessly realistic.

There have been introduced in the United States Congress, Amendments to the Social Security Act. They are known as the

A DRAIN ON PRODUCTION — FEWER JOBS FOR WORKERS

In the beginning the tax provisions would create a central fund of more than Eight Billion Dollars annually. It is not anticipated that this amount would even approximate the total cost. It is to be supplemented from "General Revenue." We have fought and won two wars. Now confronted with a national debt approximating Three Hundred Billion Dollars, there is grave doubt whether our economy could sustain this additional drain of from Ten to Fifteen Billion Dollars each year.

The key principle of our Freedom of Enterprise System is more jobs for more men at maximum wages to provide ever greater markets for the products of a constantly expanding industry. Yet, it should be emphasized, the Wagner-Murray-Dingell proposals are a direct tax on employment. There would be a minimum of Wagner-Murray-Dingell Bills. Most Americans favor the expressed objective of some of the proposals. However, almost hidden in the careful verbiage of the Amendments is the cold steel move to place in the hands of appointees of the Federal Government sole and exclusive responsibility for the distribution of health care for one hundred ten million people. This service would consist of general medical, special medical, general dental, special dental, laboratory care, hospitalization and home nursing service. In no country has machinery been established more sweeping in its provisions to serve the purpose of a Collectivist State.

Eight Billion Dollars yearly less for consumers to spend for the potential output of our mines and factories and farms. This, of necessity, would create a downward spiral of production and fewer and fewer jobs for workmen. These results, within limits, would be inevitable. They might be disastrous but they are not the really important consideration.

The unparalleled progress and incomparable achievements of the American people are the result of self-respect, individual initiative and self-reliance. When formalized Security is substituted for self-reliance we forfeit the essence of the factor that has been our strength. When the incentive for individual effort and thrift is removed progress, as we have known it, will be shifted into reverse.

BEWARE, — IF DOCTOR RATIONING FAILS

It may be possible that a truly wise and honest administration can reasonably ration the food supply of a nation. Save under truly totalitarian concept and control, is it within reason to expect the effective rationing of physician and hospital services for one hundred ten million people? A vital difference should be kept in mind. If the food rationing fails, it may mean only that there are no steaks or pork chops on dining room tables. If the doctor rationing fails, men and women and children die. Human lives are the issue.

The Wagner-Murray-Dingell Health Services proposals should be recognized for what they are. They are in reality State Medicine. They are instrumentalities and mechanisms of the Collectivist State. If we are to preserve our Freedom of Enterprise System we dare not enact these proposals into law.

This Issue Must Be Decided by the People—the Voters of the United States. Make Your Decision Now! Talk or Write to Your Senators and Congressmen

IT IS TIME FOR SOME DISCIPLINE

The abrupt resignation of Maj. Gen. Patrick Hurley Tuesday as ambassador to China did not come as a surprise to those who have followed the events of the past 10 weeks—since the defeat of the Japanese.

But to those who have not followed those events it is rather confusing, and such persons are left "out in the dark."

American management of diplomatic affairs in that country, to say the least, have been deplorable. They seem to be best identified in the words of Arkansas Senator Fullbright, who Tuesday night was interviewed by the Associated Press. He said of the Hurley resignation and state department affairs in general:

"There is a conflict within the state department. There is lack of discipline and they don't follow the leader."

He added the pertinent words: "The President and secretary of state announce a policy, as I read the Hurley statement, and it is not carried out by others. I assume Hurley was instructed to support Chiang Kai-shek, and others in the department are advising the communists in China not to get along with Chiang."

There has been a good deal written and spoken on our policy in China, including our avowed purpose of keeping marines in that land to disarm the Japanese—definitely a closing phase of the war against Japan.

In October, John Vincent Carter, state department director of the Office of Far Eastern affairs, summed up for John Fisher, McClure Syndicate writer, our policy in China. It goes like this:

1. To provide for the security of the United States and the maintenance of international peace.

2. To create conditions conducive to mutually beneficial commercial and cultural exchanges which promote international welfare and understanding.

3. To establish a democratic peace, based on political and social stability deriving from government devoted to the welfare of the people.

In other words: To promote American security and welfare by helping to create a strong, united, democratic, friendly China.

It is a startling thing, indeed, to look back to no less an authority on foreign affairs than Walter Lippman, columnist, and read his words published four weeks ago: "The fact of the matter—to put it bluntly—is that the administration is not in control of its policy. It is allowing policies to be made in the departments, in the bureaus, here and there in isolated fragments, without proper recognition of the fact that our relations with Russia or Great Britain, are the net result of all the decisions which we make that affect them." At another point he says: "It is impossible to determine who is making our China policy and our Japanese policy."

Gen. Hurley may have something. It would seem that our right hand, so to speak, does not know what the left is doing. It is time they got together... it is time our avowed policy were carried out, carried out from the top official down to the bottom. If lower-rung officials are carrying out policies in their own way, then it is time the government cracked down. Then, if the policy is all wrong, it will be the department's fault... Come to think of it, the fault would be the department's anyway. It is assumed it can discipline, as Fullbright said, its own underlings.

"It is for each to utter that which he sincerely believes to be true, and add his unit of influence to all other units of influence, and let the result work themselves out."—Spencer. Consideration is urged to receive these articles in 500 words.

To the Editor:

I read with much enthusiasm the news item, "City Police Plan Staff Enforcement of Parking Rules," and I am very much in accord with their efforts. However, double-parking seems to be their chief concern.

May I suggest that if parking stalls were painted on downtown streets, at least one-third more cars could be properly parked, thus eliminating one-third of their worries.

And what of the time limit on parking? Many cars remain on the downtown streets all day long, simply because no one has been told otherwise. Motorists will cooperate if—

They are told what the rules are and that same are to be strictly enforced.

Why not a little more action along these lines along with enforcement of the one apparent Pampa rule—NO DOUBLE PARKING.

I am quite sure every Pampa resident will add a rousing vote of thanks for the plan to re-stencil the city streets. I have resided here five years and if I can name more than half a dozen city streets I don't know what they are. (Name on file, withheld by request).

Well, my oggyb died, dot? mimmm Well, my oggyb! Yesterday, I decided to do my Christmas shopping early in comfort to avoid the crowds. Believe me, next year I'm going to do my shopping late and avoid the comfort. I've never been so mauled and shoved in my life.

One little old lady said to me, "Isn't this thrilling? Four years ago, I was in the line of war-time waitresses and now at last a Christmas of peace." I never got a chance to answer, because just then a mob descended on the poor old dear and swept her up on the notions counter, where she was very nearly sold for $1.29.

And a little soldier boy was very bitter because he couldn't get to the stocking counter to buy his mother her Christmas present. "How do they expect me to get through those women?" he asked.

LONDON, Dec. 1.—This man and his team of globe-trotting columnists are swallowed so much fog since arrival in England that we've got to get some of it off our aching chests.

Winter in England spells fog—and I mean fog. It is a cold, agrid blanket which grips and grips. It torments your bones, gets in your eyes and throats, and gnaws your stomach ache. And when it really gets on a rampage it stops virtually all outdoor activity. November is a particularly bad month and this year it produced more fog than any November for several seasons.

Now we really aren't raising the subject of fog because of personal discomfort, because we are doing pretty well. But Britain as a whole has been suffering.

Despite the fact that one of the great coal producing countries, there is a terrible shortage because there has meant it impossible to find anything like enough miners.

This means England is facing a grim winter which will produce wide-spread distress. The suffering from lack of coal in Britain, however, will be multiplied on the continent, for in most of the war-torn areas there is little or no fuel at all. Many people, especially old folk and children, will die of cold before spring.

But to return to our muttens, these English fogs are among the marvels of the universe. A real pea soup fog is never to be forgotten. They don't get so many nowadays, because of smoke abatement and better drainage of London areas but here is no indication ordinary fogs are lessening.

When a pea souper comes—for one they still do—it ties this city in a knot. I've seen them so bad the people who would move about without getting lost were blind folk to had learned the art of depending on other senses than sight. One of my colleagues was rescued by a blind man during a pea souper.

All fogs are hell on clothing, as Mrs. Mac has discovered. A lot of wearing apparel is ruined by the soot.

However, please don't overlook the sad point of this column: You can't replace the lives or the health which will be lost in the coming months in Europe.

Looking at the present concentration of ordnance industries and then seeing the great intermountain areas where none exists, I am sure our future safety may depend on dispersing some of them to that naturally-protected area.—Henry J. Kaiser

News Behind the News

The National Whirligig

By RAY TUCKER
DECEPTION—The civil aeronautics board has been asked to review its award of a certificate for round-the-world flying to Transcontinental and Western Air Inc., and to American Airlines Inc. because of their alleged mistreatment of the fliers who risked their lives in dangerous operations while these firms performed wartime duty under a contract with the army transport corps.

Members of congress have been beseeched with requests to investigate the deception which the two corporations are believed to have practiced on CAB in obtaining their licenses and on the postwar traveling public in advertising future plans and prospects. Organizations like the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars are interested in view of the broken promises to ex-servicemen by T. W. A.

ALARMING—The principal complaint on behalf of the army transport aviators is G. Sessono F. Flushing, N. Y., secretary-treasurer of the air line communication employees association. In a letter to Sen. Ralph C. Brewster of Maine, he describes the summary discharge of veteran fliers as a "most alarming situation."

Referring to American Airlines' firing of the military contract personnel and its reliance for peace-time operations on crews equal experience, Mr. Sessono says: "It is my belief that it was the intent of CAB that the qualified and vastly experienced flight personnel of American Airlines Inc., should be used in the North Atlantic commercial operation. I do not believe that the public interests are being served by disassociating this that amount of experience from the North Atlantic commercial operation."

"I believe that the misleading publicity concerning the transatlantic operation is definitely not in the public interest. I believe that a thorough investigation of this situation, the transatlantic operating policies and the actions of management, would be in the public interest."

CAPITALIZED—The hitherto unwritten story begins with CAB's approval of acquisition of control in the American Export Airlines Inc., by American Airlines Inc. The latter organization made an excellent record while flying men, weapons and materials for the army transport corps. Its performance is understood to have influenced the government agency in permitting it to acquire American export and in giving it a certificate for the North Atlantic area.

HOLLYWOOD—William Powell's wife, Diana Lewis, and M-G-M have agreed to disagree. Several studios are bidding for her services.

For a gag scene in "Don't Ever Leave Me," Errol Flynn makes a wisecrack about a girl—in Humphrey Bogart's voice. They dubbed in "Bogart's snarl." Howard Hughes just wrote a check for $1,800 for a series of new glamour photographs of Jane Russell. They will be used in billboards for the "Outlaw." Looks like Fred Astaire's last film dance routine, for "Blue Skies," will top anything he's ever done. You'll see not one, but 10 Fred Astaires all dancing together. It is not done with mirrors, either. He did all the dances separately, then film cutters put them together.

WHISTLE OF EXPERIENCE
Glenn Ford had to whistle at Rita Hayworth for a scene in "Gilda." It was a sensational whistle. "Where did you learn to whistle with that much vol in it?" asked Director Charles Vidor. Replied Glenn: "Have you forgotten? I was in the marines for almost three years."

Maria Jeritza, the opera star widow of Field Marshal, is planning a comeback. She's been getting glamorized at Gloria Bristol's. Jerome Kern's last musical score will be heard in the film, "Centennial Summer." One of the numbers, "Two Hearts Are Better Than One," was finished by Kern just two weeks before his sudden death. Add beauty tips: Jeanne Crain says she massages her face nightly with a light application of castor oil. Speak of inflation, Katina Paxinou recently wired $200 to a niece who lived in Greece throughout the German occupation. The niece's reply, just received, said, "Thanks for the money. It was just enough for one slightly used but excellent pair of shoes."

You'll see an upside down Carey Grant in "Notorious." It's an Alfred Hitchcock touch done with trick angles and mirrors which will have you seeing him from co-star Ingrid Bergman's angle as she lies with her head hanging over the side of a bed.

Psychologists at Warner Bros. are desperately trying to figure out what's wrong with a sergeant at Fort Logan, Colo., who wrote Joan Leslie wanting to know why the studio sent out so many pictures of her in bathing suits!

federal communications commission and other government agencies. Many boys moved families and furniture to the cities where these training centers were located.

REPERCUSSION—But when Uncle Sam cut off T. W. A.'s pay checks, the whole scheme collapsed. Besides breaking its promises to world war II trainees, it started to fire many of the veterans who had won the company a fine reputation while it was under contract to the army transport corps.

Then, like American Airlines, it conveniently changed names. The Intercontinental Division, which flew the military missions and hired ex-servicemen for postwar commercial routes, became the international division.

Washington officials are indignant and concerned over the affair. They fear a repercussion among disillusioned war veterans, especially as they got the rumor from an industry source which entertaing a romantic sympathy and friendship and respect.

UPTON CLOSE:

They'd Rather Crack Down on Aggressor Now

The advocates (twice, now) of the theory that America's participation in wars in Europe and Asia will bring international collaboration and world peace today find themselves in a very bad position before the bar of logic, and also before the millions of truthful Americans who accepted their thesis, and fled and paid for it.

All contingent matters aside, the thesis has failed. Its failure after the wars of 1939 to 1945—that is, now—is far worse than it was after the war of 1914-18, for we now fear a nation several times as large and as powerful, potentially, as Germany—namely, Russia; the nation which is bold enough to take the credit to itself for whipping Germany, and which is setting out to lead in its train the billions of resentful imperial subjects and new nationalists of Asia.

Small good it does now for the international interventionists who again miserably failed to find a world of peace, to cover up their failure by asking: "What would have happened if we had not gone out to fight Hitler?"

Well, I don't know, and they don't know, except that all empires die of intestinal disorders, according to Napoleon, and Hitler's empire was acquiring more disorders—faster—than any before it. Secondly, I know that by going full out against Germany we and the British have put ourselves at the mercy of Soviet Russia not to destroy us and the earth with our own invention.

That's the problem our intervening internationalists now face, but won't look in the face. Chase them with logic and they turn and snarl at you.

They say: "We've got to have a world government." They say: "That world government has got to have a universal spy system and gestapo powers, to outlaw the supreme weapon (which we just made and demonstrated) from being used."

Research Director Compares Former Slavery in U. S. and Closed Shop

By THURMAN SENSING
Director of Research
Southern States Industrial Council
Nashville, Tennessee

The people of the South are familiar with slavery. They suffered a terrible defeat in a war fought some 80 years ago over this question. That slavery was open and above board, it was known for what it was—the ownership by purchase of members of a backward race brought from Africa. It was slavery that was doomed to eventual condemnation by all right-thinking persons and it was tragic that it had to be settled by force.

There are also other forms of slavery. Anything that denies a man his individual freedom, his right to act of his own free will and accord, his right to plan his own career and provide for the welfare, present and future, of himself and his family is a form of slavery. Such slavery is not so readily apparent as outright ownership, but it is nevertheless just as real and even more dangerous. Just such a form of insidious slavery has sprung up in this country—it is known as the closed shop.

When this nation was established some 150 years ago, it was recognized by its founders that every individual in it had certain inalienable rights. No condition was attached to these rights, for when conditions are attached to them, then they no longer exist. These rights are violated by the closed shop. When the individual is forced by labor bosses to pay union dues before he can secure a job with which to make a livelihood for himself and his family, then he no longer has the individual freedom guaranteed to him under the American constitution. He is in effect paying taxes which he had no voice in levying—the very thing for which the colonies fought for their independence from England when this nation was founded.

The closed shop is even more dangerous to the worker than to the employer. It is a form of slavery more insidious but just as real as outright slavery by ownership.

The American people cannot submit to the closed shop and have their country remain America as they have known it.

Freedom in a democratic country means anything, it means that a man has the freedom to join a union if he so desires, but it also means that he cannot be forced to join a union before he can get a job and make a living for himself and his family.

Freedom of contract or freedom of action is a necessary part of the individual freedom upon which this government of ours is based. Ours is a government that belongs to the people and accordingly is supposed to be conducted in accordance with the wishes of the majority of the people. If the majority of the people, therefore, have a chance to voice their opinion and vote for such things as the closed shop rather than the open shop or centralized planning rather than local control or bureaucratic government by decree rather than legislative government by law, then that is the kind of government we would have.

Such things, however, are contrary to all principles of freedom for which man has striven throughout history and certainly they are repugnant to the American people as a whole. It is not to be believed that the majority of the American people would ever vote their approval of such practices. We may be sure the people of the South do not believe in them. Why, then, should small organized minority groups, taking advantage of particular situations, be allowed to force their will on the free individual of America?

The slavery produced by the closed shop in a type to which no man who believes in free democratic government can submit. If the worker can have his rights taken away from him in this manner by labor bosses with the sanction of bureaucratic government, then he had just as well live under a dictatorship or a communistic form of government, neither of which does more than deny him the same rights.

The American people cannot submit to the closed shop and have their country remain America as they have known it.

Report On the War

By General George C. Marshall
Biennial Report of the Chief of Staff of the U. S. Army 1943 to 1945, to the Secretary of War
Published by NEA Service, Inc. in co-operation with the War Department

ORDNANCE PROBLEMS

The following extract from a report by General Eisenhower indicates the severity of the campaign in France and illustrates the tremendous needs of our armies during this campaign, in addition to the routine consumption of huge quantities of gasoline and rations:

"Losses of ordnance equipment have been extremely high. For instance, we must have as replacement items each month 36,000 small arms, 700 mortars, 500 tanks, 2,400 vehicles, 100 field pieces. Consumption of artillery and mortar ammunition in northwestern Europe averaged 8,000,000 rounds a month. Our combat troops use up an average of 66,400 miles of one type of field wire each month. (The AEF during the entire First World War expended less than 10,000,000 rounds of artillery and mortar ammunition.)"

The British 21st Army Group liberated Brussels on 3 September and Antwerp the next day. They crossed the Dutch frontier on 12 September and by the 15th the Channel coast was cleared—remains north Zebrugges with the exception of the isolated enemy forces holding out in key ports.

On 9 September 1944 General Eisenhower reported:

"The hostile occupation in force of the Dutch Islands at the mouth of the Schelde is certain to delay the utilization of Antwerp as a port and thus will vitally influence the full development of our strategy."

Again on 21 September he wrote:

"Right now our prospects are tied up closely with our success in capturing the approaches to Antwerp. All along the line maintenance is in a bad state—remnant of the early days in Tunisia—but if we can only get to using Antwerp it will have the effect of a blood transfusion."

The efforts of the British forces on the north flank were to be devoted for several weeks to clearing the enemy from these islands. After bitter fighting involving heavy losses, featured by river crossings and amphibious landings, the last of the positions was cleared on 9 November. By 21 November the port of Antwerp was in operation but under heavy fire of the vicious German V-weapons which fell at one time at the rate of one every 12 1/2 minutes and caused thousands of Allied civilian and military casualties and cast grave doubt for a time as to the advisability of continuing the operation of the port.

Opening of Port Facilities
The ports of southern France were vital to the U. S. Seventh Army and the French First Army in the Southern Group of Armies. Toulon and Marseille were in operation late in September. Since then 14 divisions were moved through Southern French ports, in addition to an average daily unloading of over 18,000 tons of supplies. Two railways were placed in early operation, including the double-track main line.

BATTLE OF FRANCE, following Allied break-out from the Cotentin peninsula, saw opening of a slashing campaign by the U. S. First and Third Armies that for speed and boldness have few parallels in military history.

through Lyon and Dijon, and thousands of tons of supplies moved daily over these lines and by truck to forward railheads. Port capacities and transportation facilities were sufficient to meet the requirements of the entire Southern Group of Armies and also to assist in the supply of the Central Group... armies until the stubborn defense of the water entrance to Antwerp was reduced.

After the port of Antwerp became operational, it handled on an average of over 25,000 tons of stores daily, despite the V bombs. This tremendous increase in our over-all port capacity made it unnecessary to devote more precious time and manpower to reopen the shattered ports in Brittany, which, although now in our hands, were much more distant from the front lines than Antwerp.

Having overcome the acute shortage of port facilities, the primary bottleneck in the supply line then became transportation from the port supply dumps to the front lines. To improve this situation our Engineers, Transportation Corps, and other supply troops in Lt. Gen. J. C. H. Lee's communications zone performed miracles in repairing and building railways, operating large high-speed truck convoys, and extending fuel pipelines from the ports and terminals of 46 cross-Channel pipelines to the forward areas. At one time 70 miles of pipe were being laid in a single day.

As the Siegfried Line was approached, and the port and enlarged transportation facilities became adequate, General Eisenhower advised the War Department that tactical plans for the final assault of this fortification required greater ammunition resources than those provided, and requested a maximum production effort in the United States.

The Westwall
Field Marshal Montgomery struck through the air at the northern flank of the Siegfried Line on 17 and 18 September. The U. S. 82d and 101st and one British airborne division, elements of Lt. Gen. Lewis H. Brerton's newly formed First Allied Airborne Army, landed in Holland astride the Meuse, Waal, and Lower Rhine rivers in the Eindhoven-Arnhem area. This was the largest airborne operation ever attempted, requiring the employment on the first two days of 2,800 planes and over 1,600 gliders. Several airborne operations had been planned for the period following the break-through in Normandy, but so rapid was the Allied advance that events overtook the plans in each instance. The operation in Holland achieved only partial success. The American 82d and 101st Airborne Divisions, landing near Eindhoven, seized crossings of the Meuse and Waal Rivers. The British Second Army was able to establish contact with these divisions after the second day. The important bridgeheads were held in the face of desperate German counterattacks. The British airborne division, landing in the more remote and exposed Arnhem area north of the Lower Rhine, was subjected to concentrated attacks by superior enemy forces. It was finally forced to withdraw south of the river.

Meanwhile, to the south, our First Army was forcing its way into Germany. Aachen was strongly defended, and a bitter battle ensued before it fell on 21 October. On 3 October the Ninth Army had been brought up from the western coast of France and entered the line between the First and Third Armies. Then on 23 October the Ninth Army was moved to the northern flank of the First Army above Aachen. By the end of November the Third Army, driving toward the Saar, had reduced the formidable Metz area and the defenses along the Moselle and Sella Rivers. A Southern Army Group offensive into Alsace-Lorraine brought the 2d French Armored Division of the U. S. Seventh Army to Strasbourg on the Rhine in late November and the First French Army to the river between Mulhouse and the Swiss border. Reaching the town of Belfort, a sizable portion of the Alsace known as the Colmar pocket. (NEXT: The Siegfried Offensive)

SELLERS' STRIKE IS HARD TO PROVE

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—John D. Small, head of the new civilian production administration which took over from the war production board early this month, would like to see a manufacturer or distributor with withholding his goods from the market in expectation of higher prices next year.

Since shortly after V-J Day, there have been repeated rumors of a "seller's strike." The rumors are easy to start but hard to prove. They are based on four principal beliefs.

First, that manufacturers are withholding production to force OPA to grant price increases.

Second, that excess profits taxes will be repealed Dec. 31, so producers will be able to show greater net earnings.

being unable to buy as much as they want.

OPA FINDS CHARGE UNFOUNDED
Here is a typical example. A manufacturer of electrical goods storming into OPA recently to complain that one of the large manufacturers of small motors was shipping a third of his output abroad to get around OPA ceilings. With every user of fractional horsepower motors now crying for deliveries and with orders for a full two years' production now piled up in the industry, such diversion of production would have been a high crime. Investigation showed that the firm under suspicion had exported less than one per cent of its output since V-J Day.

In another case, it was reported that a manufacturer of washing machines had 4000 units stacked in a warehouse and was refusing to sell a single one. Investigation revealed that this manufacturer had 10,000 prewar sales outlets. He declared his first responsibility now was to his sales organization and that he therefore could not put machines on sale until every one of his dealers had been supplied with a floor model on which to book orders.

United Electrical Workers' union leaders met recently in New York to demand a congressional investigation—which it probably won't get—on the production strikes by management in the electrical goods manufacturing industry. U. E. W. has made a number of general charges of a management sit-down.

Strike by management are every bit as reprehensible as strikes by labor. The symptoms of a labor strike are easier to discover than are symptoms of a seller's strike. Juries for either are unknown today, if management is in some cases on strike against government regulation or against the buying public, management is giving labor some of its own medicine. But management is doing itself no good by such action.

Students Yell 'Beat Amarillo'

"Beat Amarillo!"
The auditorium rocked with that cry in assembly Friday morning.
The "feud" between Pampa and Amarillo was the incentive for spirit-stirring talks and ear-splitting yells.
Coach Otis Coffey set the pace when he stated that although Amarillo's enrollment was larger than that of PHS, only eleven boys could play on the field at one time.
Mr. Coffey also praised the student body as being one of the most united he had ever seen.
Coaches "Jiggs" Whittington and D. V. Biggers commented on how much the game would mean to the former PHS students and praised the spirit which the team has displayed the past week at practice.
The cheer leaders led yells throughout the entire assembly.

Nominations For Favorite Listed

Nominations for All-School Favorite, elected in home room Friday, were Jack Dunham, Jimmy Terrell, Lonnie Williams, Bernie Brown, Randall Clay and Donald Rowe, all six of whom are on the Harvesters.

Jackie Dunham, vice president of student council, has been active in his class all through high school, being president of his home room three years and class president last year. He was elected Junior Rotarian for November and is an active member of the A Cappella choir.
Jimmy Terrell, president of student council and captain of the Harvesters, was elected junior and sophomore favorites. He has been a leader in all his school career and is a member of the A Cappella choir and Quill and Scroll.

Black haired Donald Rowe was '43-'44 All-School Favorite and has been active in his class ever since entering high school. Don is a member of the Harvesters and is vice president of the senior class this year. He is president of Quill and Scroll.

Tall, black-haired "Randy" Clay is co-captain of the Harvesters and has been a leader through all his classes. Randy has won numerous athletic awards in district and state. He has been a member of the band for four years.

Big Lonnie Williams, member of the Harvesters, has long been a favorite in PHS. Lonnie has been very active in his class activities and is a member of Hi-Y and the Little Harvester staff.

Bernie Brown has attended school in Pampa all three years of high school and has been a member of the football, basketball and track teams for the last two years. He has been a member of Ready Writers for '44-'45.
The favorite will be elected next Wednesday in home room.

Delinquents Out of School

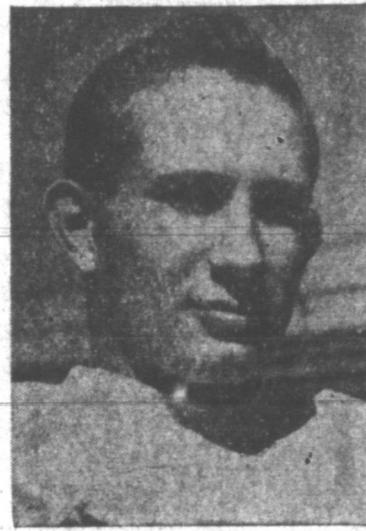

"There is no disputing the obvious fact that the high school and junior high set is out of hand."
The above quotation was taken from an editorial appearing in the Pampa News last week. Mr. Paul Hill, juvenile officer, has reported that boys and girls not in school are the ones picked up as delinquents in Pampa.
Let's keep it this way. —A. M. C.

Choose Real Favorite

Wednesday our all-school favorites will be elected, and the class favorites will be nominated.
In choosing students for these honors, a few attributes should be considered. Our favorites should be known and liked by everyone. Friendliness should be one of their main qualities.
Just because a person is your own "best pal" doesn't mean that he is a friend of the entire school. Let's elect favorites that we will all be proud of. —J. H.

Mrs. Roberts Is Busiest Person

Probably the busiest person in school is Mrs. Lou Roberts, registrar.
All students have come in contact with her at some time, since some of her endless duties are taking care of new enrollees and checking out students.
At the end of each school year she checks seniors' eligibility for graduation, and football boys fall under her auspices when eligibility for games is reported.
One of her more detailed duties is sending in the term reports to the State Department of Education. Making six weeks attendance records, writing letters for principal Winston Savage, and filing permanent record cards and letters are a few of her minor duties.
She also answers endless questions for students, keeps the lost and found helps students plan schedules, gives advice on colleges and answers the telephone—plus sending out transcripts.
When she finishes these few jobs, the rest of her time is entirely her own.

A committee was appointed to make a calendar showing the students which are to represent PHS in other schools with the date students are to leave and the schools which they will attend. Bob Parkinson heads the committee with Jim Wilson, Hansel Kennedy, Norma Pirtle, and Danny Williams assisting him.

Twenty-one students were elected by student council members to visit other schools. Bill Nellis and Frank Green will go to Waco Dec. 10. Others elected for trips are Dick McCune and Hansel Kennedy; Horace Saunders and Bobby McPheron; Jackie Dunham and Margaret McCracken; Jimmie Terrell and Klause Wyatt; Bill Hutchinson and Jim Wilson; Patsy Pierson and Don Thut; Danny Williams and Donna Holden; Max Brown and Pat King; Norma Pirtle, Nelson Gee and Charles Flood. Dates and places which the other students will visit have not yet been decided.

The kick-off was returned 50 yards and two runs netted the Bullpups 35 yards. Another ground play gave them a touchdown but was called back and Plainview was penalized 15 yards for holding. Shortly afterwards a run of 25 yards gave them six points and the conversion was good. The score stood 21-7.

The kick-off, a penalty against Plainview for unnecessary roughness two running plays and a pass from Laffoon to Davis gave the Gorillas another touchdown and Davis kicked the extra point. The half ended with the score 21-14.

The Gorillas kicked off, starting the third quarter. The Bullpups quick kicked and set the Gorillas on their three yard line. Pampa, after several ground plays which netted them a first down, had to kick and the Plainview Bullpups gained the ball on Pampa's 45.

BULLPUPS WIN OVER GORILLAS

A smooth working Plainview Bullpup eleven outfooted a Pampa Gorilla squad 27-14 Thursday at 3:30 p. m. at Harvester Park.

Starting the afternoon grid classic the Bullpup eleven kicked off and received a break when Pampa fumbled on their own 23 yard line. A pass was completed which gave the Plainview squad its first touchdown and they increased their lead to seven points when the try for extra point was good.

Plainview again kicked off and held the Gorillas for three downs, forcing them to kick. The kick was blocked but Charles Laffoon scooped up the ball and ran it far enough for a pass interception in the end zone gave the Bullpups the lead. The Gorillas found them in the shadow of the goal posts when the smoke blew away. Plainview took the ball on the Gorilla's five and pushed over another six points and converted for the extra point. One 40 yard run by Warren Jones of Pampa high-lighted the rest of the quarter with the score 14-0.

The Gorillas drove deep into Plainview territory but were stopped when a pass interception in the end zone gave the Bullpups the ball on their 20. The Bullpups continually gained yardage but a partially blocked pass was intercepted by Jack Oliphant who ran 45 yards for the first Gorilla tally without a man laying a hand on him. Earl Davis' conversion split the cross bars making the score 14-7.

The shop boys have also been making good goals for hockey and speedball and some posts for badminton.
A new student enrolled in machine shop and in school last week was J. A. Miller.

When the quarter ended, the Bullpups were again knocking at the goal line with the ball on the 11.
The fourth quarter began with the Bullpups going to the three and from there plunging the ball over for six more points. The place kick was wide, making the score stand 27-14. Several good gains by Plainview and passes by Pampa in an attempt to score and get back into the ball game marked the rest of the happenings in the rest of the quarter. The game ended with the Bullpups again threatening to score the ball resting on the 14 yard line when the horn blew.

Highland Park publishes a bi-weekly newspaper, "The Bagpipe," an annual, "The Highlander," and publishes yearly a student directory. Because of their climate they engage in swimming, track, golf and baseball. However, like our school, their favorites still remain football and basketball. They are very proud of their ranking in football, but I'm sure the Harvesters could give them a stiff fight any day.

Constitution Read By Basketballers

Regulated recreation is one of the important aims of the girls basketball club recently set forth in its constitution. Other aims are for the development of interest in sports, the development of skills, and the increase of amiable relationship between teammates and opposing teams.

A girl must present a written permit from her parents or doctor in order to become a member of this club.

Fifty demerits will disqualify any girl. Demerits will be given for unexcused absence from practice, unsportsmanlike conduct, neglect of school work, lack of practice in neatness and breaking of training. After being put out of the club on demerits, a girl may be reinstated. For three weeks the girl must be an inactive member and attend practices and work-outs but cannot take part in games or activities.

Twenty-three girls are enrolled in the basketball club. They are Jackie Kelams, Ann McNamara, Mary Rutherford, Doris Shuckford, Wanda Cobb, Joyce Pratt, Libby Sturgeon, Alice Jean Robinson, Edelyne Pryor, John Clauder, Quebell Nelson, Jenie Johns, Dorothy Jones, Patty Rutherford, Ruthie Franks, Drucilla Boyd, Wanda Milam, Billie Chewing, Joan Cooper, June Winburn, Wanda Fish, Mary Kretzmer, and Mary Lou Austin.

The club is under the direction of Miss Nina Owing.

New Gate Completed For Football Field

Seven of W. E. Adam's machine shop students—Sandy Wampler, Roger Simms, Neal Webb, Leon Mason, Arthur Morton, Max Halle, and Dan Elsom—have completed a new gate for the football field.

The shop boys have also been making good goals for hockey and speedball and some posts for badminton.
A new student enrolled in machine shop and in school last week was J. A. Miller.

When the quarter ended, the Bullpups were again knocking at the goal line with the ball on the 11.
The fourth quarter began with the Bullpups going to the three and from there plunging the ball over for six more points. The place kick was wide, making the score stand 27-14. Several good gains by Plainview and passes by Pampa in an attempt to score and get back into the ball game marked the rest of the happenings in the rest of the quarter. Scenes which will be used for the try-outs are posted on the bulletin board outside room 201 and in the library.
Five boys and four girls make up the cast.
Senior sponsors will act as judges Tuesday.

November went by with a rush of home room and club parties and December has already begun to follow suit.
Mrs. John Rankin's room 112 had a skating party in the gym Monday night.

The French club, headed by Miss Virginia Vaughan, had a hamburger supper Thursday evening. The same night Miss Virginia Goode's room 214 held a skating party in the gym.
The senior masquerade party will be Dec. 7, Pearl Harbor Day.
Other skating parties planned in December are: home room 218, headed by Miss Owens, Mr. Gordon's room 109, Mr. Carter's home room 105, and Machine shop boys.

Miss Dorothy Hoyle and Miss Nina Owing have planned a party for all girls to be held in the gym Dec. 13.
High school boys in the Texas State Guard helped park cars at the Amarillo game yesterday and raised the flag at the beginning of the game.

Marjorie Gaylor, ex-student, was visiting in the halls over the holidays. She is now a student of Hills business school in Oklahoma City.

Polly Ward left PHS last week and moved to Canadian.
D. B. Jameson, Carroll Chisum, Gene Siner, Bibby Tidwell, and Ray Ramey visited the class rooms and halls last week. It is really good to see you back, sailors.

Clyde Tidwell, president of the library home room, has resigned and Elmo Hargis has been elected.

Beverly Candier, football queen, was crowned in a colorful ceremony before the Pampa-Amarillo game by Captain Jimmy Terrell.

The Pampa band's cornets and drums played a fanfare while the Harvesters lined up along the 45-yard line, and the band played "Dear Old Pampa High School."

The queen, dressed in a white pleated skirt and blouse with a vest and the traditional cape of green and gold, advanced from the east stands down the 50-yard line.

She was accompanied by her attendants, Mildred Overstreet and June Cummins, who wore white skirts and sweaters and football jackets, and carried chrysanthemums.

Jimmy Terrell, accompanied by co-captains Randall Clay and Charlie Beard, escorted the girls down the center of the field.

Jimmy presented Beverly with a bouquet of chrysanthemums, placed the crown on her head, and escorted her to the throne on the north side of the field.

The Pampa and Amarillo bands played "The Star Spangled Banner."

At the half, the Pampa band—advancing from the north—met the Amarillo band advancing from the south, and played "Washington Post."

The bands formed a Christmas tree in front of the west stands and played "O, Come All Ye Faithful." The Amarillo band formed a "P" and played "Dear Old Pampa High School"—and the Pampa band retaliated with the formation of an "A," and played the Amarillo school song. The bands then marched off the field in single file.

Coaches and Team Dine With Lions Club
The Harvesters and four coaches—Otis Coffey, Jiggs Whittington, D. V. Biggers, and Jack Davis—were guests at the Lion's club luncheon Thursday.

Coach Whittington introduced each of the football boys. Mr. Coffey gave a description of the players making up the Amarillo Sandie eleven.

Mordy's and Jones' Trip To Dallas High Schools Proves Interesting and Educational

By BURKE MORDY
(Ed. Note: This is the story of Burke Mordy's and Warren Jones' trip to Dallas—the first student council representatives to visit other schools in order to bring back new ideas. This is a program inaugurated by the student council this year. Other members have been elected to visit other schools.)
Warren Jones and I arrived at the Union station in Dallas at 10:30 Monday night. After securing accommodations at the Whitmore Hotel, Jones decided to eat and I decided to sleep. Warren and I both "cussed" the noise of Dallas and its street cars that night, but we "stroed" the next morning much wiser men.

We took a street car to Highland Park, the next morning and after groping around blindly through SMU and the Highland Park addition we came on it. The school is very beautiful with shrubbery, flowers and trees all around. It was built in 1896 and has a present enrollment of 1,100.

Their hospitality was wonderful throughout our stay. We were introduced to the president of the student council who took us through the building. Frank, their president, took us to their cafeteria where we ate. It was very nice and somewhat quieter than ours. They have three lunch periods, each a half an hour long.
A great difference between Highland Park and Pampa is their ROTC unit. They have a rifle range, an armory, and are instructed by sergeants from the regular army. The Highlanders have competed in several state meets and boast many trophies for their rifle ability.

The student council meets once every other week and they were sponsoring a band rally at the time of our visit. It gave us much pleasure to tell of Pampa's band record. Their representatives are chosen from first period classes as they have no home rooms.

Highland Park publishes a bi-weekly newspaper, "The Bagpipe," an annual, "The Highlander," and publishes yearly a student directory. Because of their climate they engage in swimming, track, golf and baseball. However, like our school, their favorites still remain football and basketball. They are very proud of their ranking in football, but I'm sure the Harvesters could give them a stiff fight any day.
After returning to our hotel we looked over the town. We debated whether or not to attend a wrestling match but vetoed the idea. Instead we saw "Weekend at the Waldorf" and "The Spanish Main."

We had no trouble finding Sunset the next day. It's a much larger school than Highland Park, having 1,800 students. Both schools, by the way, have only three grades.
Sunset has the claim of the first public address system of any school in the southwest. They have two recording machines with record players for the foreign language and dramatics classes and have two projectors for movies. They can rent films from a library in Dallas and have many entertaining and vocational movies.

They, like Highland Park, have an ROTC, a FTA and a Dad's club. No fraternities or sororities are allowed in either school and the Hi-Y, Hi Lites, Quill and Scroll and other social organizations sponsor many social events. They have annual senior and junior proms. Neither school has All School proms or a Junior Senior Banquet.

Much information concerning function of the student council, their schedules, and other things were obtained.
Both schools were very friendly and with future assistance such as that they gave us, the council's mission is sure to be a success. One major thing we noticed was the students' vote here in Pampa has more power than in these representative Dallas schools.

Texas Can Hold Pivot Position if Gas Is Conserved

SAN ANTONIO, Dec. 1.—(AP)—The State of Texas can become the major industrial center of the nation if its people have the vision to conserve their natural gas resources, former Governor of Louisiana Sam Jones said here yesterday.

"With the proper utilization of Texas' natural gas resources," he declared, "this state can become the industrial center of the western hemisphere—from which great lines of exports and imports will flow to and from the marts of the world."

Speaking at a meeting of the Rotary club, Jones told his audience that "unless Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana save their natural gas resources their hope for industrialization of Texas' natural gas resources." Jones warned that unless the present movement of shipping natural gas out of the state is retarded within the next two years, this state's chances of becoming an industrial empire will be gone.

"The state's natural gas resources will be tied up in long-term contracts consigned to eastern industrial areas if the mad scramble to build pipe lines out of the state in every direction is continued."

"If this brazen, ruthless and fantastic plan is carried out," he said, "we may even see the people of the East burning Texas gas from converted reservoirs, long after Texas gas fields are empty, dry and abandoned."

DRILLING AHEAD

REPRESSURING

Fred Neslage, project engineer of the West Pampa Repressuring Assn. said yesterday that if bottle-necks did not occur in labor, material or weather factors, the project will be underway in February. Field lines are laid, construction of dehydrator and desulphurizing units at the Skelly Kingsmill Gasoline plant is now in progress.

DEEPEST WELL IN FIELD

SHAMROCK, Dec. 1 (Special)—The Sinclair-Prairie No. 1 Henderson in Wheeler county, abandoned at 8,502 feet, is reported as the deepest well to be drilled in the Panhandle field.

Contract depth of the well was 8,500 feet. Drilled by the Oil Well Drilling company, rotary, it was abandoned without reaching its Ordovician objectives.

Deepest well to be drilled in Wheeler county prior to this was bottomed at 7,100 feet.

HUMBLE MAKES CHANGES

Several changes in the supervisory forces of the production department of the Humble Oil and Refining Co. have been announced.

Promoter to district civil engineers were Rupert Carroll, Willamar District, Raymondsville; James E. Ozburn, London district, Overton, and Verne E. Wesley, Scott and Hopper district, Encino.

GEOLOGISTS TO MEET

The 59th annual meeting of the Geological Society of America will be held Dec. 27-29 at Hotel William Penn, Pittsburgh, Pa.

NEW PHILLIPS MANAGER

Ross W. Thomas, Phillips Petroleum Co., has been named manager of research and development at the company's research center and will act as executive assistant to G. G. Oberfell, vice-president of the research department. G. R. Benz succeeds Thomas as manager of the chemical products department.

REINSTATES VETERANS

Capt. F. V. Lowden has been named veterans co-ordinator of Standard Oil Co. (N. J.) and its affiliates. He will be responsible for implementing the company's policy of reinstatement of returned veteran employees. Lowden was a member of the company's legal department since 1920, returns after 42 months in the Coast Guard.

GAS TO GAIN MORE ATTENTION

Deeper drilling and increased gas-condensate discoveries will force oil companies to devote more attention to natural gas. Gas cycling plants and pressure-maintenance operations will be placed under special new departments by some companies, according to "Oil Weekly" forecasts.

BIG-INCH LINES

A bitter fight is brewing between cemented protection string of 7-inch casing at 6035 feet.

Canvas Screens Stop Frigid Gales

In the Northern states, use of a canvas screen to protect the tubing board man is well worth the space it takes on the truck and the extra trouble to put it up. In fact in a gale such as many be encountered in the Texas Panhandle or Western Kansas, the wind will keep it pretty well installed, after it is put up.

In many pulling jobs, the tubing board man must choose between making the trip to the floor or braving the cold blast when minor shutdowns are encountered. With a windbreak on two sides of the derrick, and all the clothes that he can procure wrapped around him, he is usually able to stay on the job for the duration of the pulling job.

Using a rectangular tarpaulin approximately 10x25 feet and stretching it around the windward side of each corner and tying it fast on possible to make the weather about the same as on the derrick floor. The canvas is raised to the tubing board in a roll and one end fastened before being unrolled. Where possible, the tubing board is placed on the side of the rig from which the wind breaker fastened to the outside.

MAY CONTINUE

Although the petroleum industry war council theoretically ceased functioning October 24, a special committee of 23 members has been named to consider continuing a cooperative industry activity. Members seem to feel that the council's activity is worth continuing since it has assisted both large and small companies in many problems. A report is expected December 11.

Federal Interest In Borger Toluene Plant May Be Sold

The Phillips Petroleum Co. may have an opportunity to purchase or lease from the government its toluene project in Borger, according to a recommendation made to congress by Surplus Property Administrator W. Stuart Symington.

The recommendation provides for the sale or lease to present operators, or, where feasible, independent operators of surplus government-owned toluene facilities, with removal of salvage of equipment for which satisfactory sale or lease arrangements cannot be made.

The Borger project is one of three petroleum toluene refineries for which expenditures of more than five million dollars of government funds involved were authorized. It was discontinued after expenditure of less than one million.

Only one was completed, the Baytown, Texas, Ordnance Works, which has been cleared surplus and is leased to Humble Oil and Refining Co., its wartime operator.

Crude Petroleum Stocks Decrease

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—(AP)—The bureau of mines reported today that stocks of domestic and foreign crude petroleum totaled 219,363,000 barrels on Nov. 24, a net decrease of 1,140,000 barrels for the week. Domestic crude decreased 938,000 barrels, foreign crude decreased 202,000.

Daily average production was 4,469,000 barrels, a decrease of 6,000. Runs to stills averaged 4,648,000, a decrease of 45,000.

Stocks, by grade or origin, and change from previous week (in thousands of barrels): East Texas 17,320, decrease 98; West Texas 33,350, inc. 133; Gulf Texas 29,533, Dec. 621; other Texas 25,262, Dec. 522.

Continued expansion in the use of natural gas and its products for fuel and power was forecast by James E. Pew, director of the natural gas and natural gasoline division of the petroleum administration for war.

Giving his views before a special senate oil investigating committee yesterday, Pew also forecast: 1. Continued high discovery rate of natural gas.

2. Greater use of natural gas in the manufacture of synthetic chemicals and plastics.

3. Further conservation and reduction of waste of natural gas in this country.

Price of Crude Oil Believed Inadequate

CORSICANA, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Beauford H. Jester, member of the Texas railroad commission, said here today he believed the price of crude oil is inadequate.

"It was a grave economic injustice to the oil producers that they did not have at least a 25-cent over-all price increase for crude oil during the war," Jester said.

"The producers had to produce oil and sell it at a price for which they could not replace their reserves with new discoveries. We have the oil, but we don't have the price."

"While the producers received no increase in price, actual production costs were raised from 40 to 50 per cent."

Students Attest To Importance Of Bible Course

Two members of one of three classes in Bible at the Senior high school spoke before the Kiwanis club at its regular noon luncheon Friday at the First Methodist church.

The students, Elva Jean Anderson and Bob Parkinson, outlined reasons why they thought the courses were so important as a part of a school curriculum, and gave their personal reasons for taking the elective subject. Two semesters of Bible allows one credit.

Rev. Russell G. West, pastor of the Church of the Brethren here, is teacher for about 85 members in the three classes. He introduced his students.

Rev. West, who also has been active in a Gray county movement to raise wheat for Holland, explained to the Kiwanians that the course, which has been offered here for about five years, does not cost the taxpayers anything, since it is financed by the various churches of the city.

Rev. West said: "We have in this class children out of homes representing all the churches. The main idea of the course, which is being adopted in almost all the states of the union, is to put together all the incidents of the Bible, so that they can be understood in their entirety by the young people. No controversial questions are ever brought into the classroom teaching. When such questions to arise, they are referred to the students' respective ministers."

It is the minister's opinion, he said, that the idea of teaching the non-controversial, non-sectarian portions of the Bible is the basis for the success of the courses here.

The students both said there was real enthusiasm among the members of the class, and that some of the students, going into the course with the idea of making credit, have developed a sincere liking for it.

The Rev. Harrison Frantz, former minister of the Church of the Brethren at Glendale, Calif., was with Rev. West. Rev. Frantz is now traveling for the Church of the Brethren seminary, Chicago.

Rev. Luther Roberts of this city was installed as a member of the Kiwanis.

by some sore or conniving group to annihilate most of humanity.

Well, who is going to be that world government?

They hold meetings and forums and say: "By getting together, all fear becomes unnecessary." But they can't hold those meetings in Russia to get her people together with ours! They can only (1) reason with the Russian authorities, or (2) overpower them, or (3) give in entirely to them.

One of their own pro-Russian Marxist sympathizing writers, Edgar Snow, the long-time protagonist of the Chinese communists, has written in The Post (whose present editorial policy is so influenced by internationalism), stating that the Roosevelt and Hull policy of buying Russian trust with gifts goes down as quite a failure.

As things stand now we are going to keep the bomb while we keep on scaring our people to death over the destruction coming to them as soon as Russia gets it. Our practical military experts are keeping up an immense boycott establishment and are going to advocate spying on Russia; and if we ever learn that she is making the bombs while refusing to enter a world control system, they are going to want us to hit her first. What else can they suggest? Oppositely, our Marxist-infested interventionists and sentimentalists are going to keep suggesting that we trust Russia and give her everything—in other words, put her at the head of world government. Our dyed-in-the-wool anglophiles are going to advocate whatever seems good for Britain—at our and humanity's expense.

Our world peace and order (United Nations) advocates are as usual going to play appeasers toward Russia—while demanding a "world gestapo" able to spy and supervise manufacture in Russia—which means war, I'm afraid. I don't see Russia now or ever permitting our police to spy out her factories. But the interventionist's own logic, it all adds up either to the alternative of giving America away and scrapping this great republic and all it has meant for mankind to appease Russia, or the other alternative of intervening in one more foreign war—the last one for this civilization, called the industrial civilization.

What a choice! What a bankruptcy of the interventionist theory!

This horrible choice is not brought about by those who have believed our interventions abroad—whatever they might do for us—would never bring world peace and order. But the choice which the interventionists have forced on the people who wanted to stay out would now seem to be either to give Russia what she demands—a free hand to succeed the British empire where it is dying—that is in Europe, North Africa and Asia—or to crack down on Russia now.

Right nobly, isolationists prefer for once to leave the other hemisphere to the aggressor rather than make war on Russia. But they would rather crack down on Russia now than repeat the folly of bluffing and appeasing and then suffering all the costs of intervention with no prospect of benefits whatever.

OUR FATHER'S WISDOM
Adam and Eve in the Garden had a pretty hard day naming the animals.

"Eve," said Adam, "let's call this one a hippopotamus."

"Why?"

"Well, it looks like a hippopotamus."

"Well, it looks like a hippopotamus."

Why buy "War" Bonds ...when there isn't any war?

Wait a minute, mister!

Don't be too quick to call it finished!

Sure, the shooting has stopped. But our fighting men still face a long tough battle...the battle to switch from soldier to civilian, from Seaman 1st class to Citizen 1st class.

They're going to need your support in that struggle just as much or more than they did in the actual fighting.

That's why this Victory Drive is the most important of all!

Here's what your Bonds will do!

They'll bring our forces home. To return our Armed Forces will cost hundreds of millions of dollars. How many soldiers will the bonds you buy bring home?

And Bonds will help them start their lives again. Congress has set up to $300.00 as the base mustering-out pay. The "G.I. Bill of Rights" provides for additional aid in rehabilitation. How many soldiers and sailors and marines will be helped by the Bonds you buy?

They'll take care of the wounded. On the average it takes about $150. per month to give one wounded man the care and nursing that he needs. How long will the Bonds you buy take care of a casualty?

You help and you are helped!

When you figure it out you are helping yourself as much as anyone else. Each dollar you lend in a Victory Bond is building your future security. And you get well paid for lending your money...$75 put in E Bonds now, will come back in 10 years as $100.

Help the men who won our victory...help your government...and help yourself! Buy more Bonds in the Victory Drive!

*Following the Victory Loan, the sale of E, F, and G U.S. Savings Bonds will continue through regular authorization agencies and through the Payroll Savings Plan.
