Naval Armada Roams Pacific Unchallenged

By RICHARD C. BERGHOLZ
AP War Editor

A mighty American naval force, roaming the South Pacific seas unchallenged by the Japanese navy, has run its string of air victories to 232 enemy planes destroyed in a little more than a week by smashing Japan's stronghold in the Carolines, Truk atoll, with one of the heaviest blows of the Pacific war.

Truk's satellite bases at Satawan and Ponape in the eastern Carolines were bombed, and big guns from Battleships and cruisers added their heavy-weight explosives to the assault.

Not a warship was damaged, and air losses were confined to 36 fliers missing, the navy said. In the southwest Pacific, Allied headquarters issued a special statement.

Costello Says Will Need Few Fathers in '44

WASHINGTON, May 3.—(AP)—Predicting that upwards of half a million men under 26 now holding occupational draft deferments will be inducted this year, representative Costello (D-Calif.) said today selective service should need "few, if any, fathers over 26 this year."

Costello, chairman of a house military subcommittee on draft deferments, said 1,100,000 men under 26 are deferred because of employment on farms or in the industrial industry. In addition, he said, revised selective service figures show that on April 1 there were approximately 750,000 non-fathers in class I-A, available for induction.

"Their own figures show that selective service just won't need fathers over 26 this year unless there are some unexpected setbacks on the fighting fronts," Costello declared in an interview.

Men over 26. Few, if any, will be taken; most of those inducted from this group will be single men, who number 750,000 out of the total of 2,250,000 men of all ages in I-A on April 1.

Men under 26 (regardless of marital status): Almost half of the 1,100,000 holding occupational and agricultural deferments will be inducted this year. Costello said: "It is going to be hard hit, because the armed services need these younger men."

To meet this year's requirements of 1,385,000 men, Costello said these figures: 540,000 becoming 18 this year; 425,000 to 450,000 from the group under 26 now deferred because of occupation; 375,000 to 420,000 non-fathers no.

D-Day Will Be Day Of Prayer

Threat of More Rain Subsides, 8 Dead, 33 Hurt

(By The Associated Press)

A threat of more rain to flood rivers and streams spreading crop-damaging waters over lowlands in east and central Texas eased Wednesday as a high pressure area moved in to predominate drier weather.

The sudden storms and violent rains of three days had left eight dead, 33 injured, and one unidentified man missing as they struck furiously in scattered sections.

Swollen into lowlands to damage crops and threaten livestock, or at near flood, were the Trinity, Brazos, Sabine and Neches rivers, and many secondary streams.

Many highways were blocked, but highway department Wednesday reported reopening of State 98 between Boston and Simms, State 26 south of Dainerfield, and U. S. 271 from Pittsburg to Gilmer, and waited further field reports which may indicate other routes in service.

The Dallas weather bureau reported the Trinity had crested between 35 and 36 feet Tuesday night at Dallas and was falling, but was over lowlands and rising from Dallas southward to Long Lake, and should remain at flood stage several days. At Trinidad the early stage Wednesday was 34.1 feet, six feet above flood.

Thousands of rich acres in cotton and corn were under water in the Long Lake area west of Palestine, where at 45 feet the Trinity was five feet above flood stage. Rain there had almost stopped.

To agricultural damage from flood waters was added rain damage to such crops as tomatoes in the Jacksonville area. Mayor Ray Perry of Jacksonville, estimated 40 per cent of the tomato crop there had been damaged.

The Dallas weather bureau, telling of the high pressure area, said there should be a dry spell of several days.

'THE RAINS CAME'

Bureau Reports Panhandle Wheat Crop In Good Shape

AUSTIN, May 3.—(AP)—Heavy rains in much of the state through May 1 were a mixed blessing for farmers, the United States department of agriculture reported today in its early review.

There was still a lack of surface moisture in many areas, further retarding planting of feed crops and cotton, the survey showed. It did not include reports of rains yesterday.

Wheat was reported in good condition in Panhandle counties, aided by rainfall during the week. Oats were heading in north central counties and in need of the beneficial rains received at the end of the week.

Corn was mostly planted and up to a stand.

The planting of sorghums and cotton made slow progress with many farmers waiting for rain to complete planting. Cotton is up to a stand in southern counties, with cultivation and chopping in progress.

Mid-season crops, particularly early potatoes outside of the Lower Valley, North Texas onions, and East Texas tomatoes continued to be a little late and progress was slow the past week. Much needed rains over the week-end in some localities were excessive and possibly damaging.

Range feeds, pasture and stock water supplies will be improved through a large part of the state by week-end rains. Cattle movement was relatively quiet except from South and West Texas where ranges and pastures had deteriorated.

Movement of lambs was picking up with fair demand reported in some sections.

James M. McKernan Missing in Action

S/Sgt. James M. McKernan, 24, a nephew of Roy E. McKernan, 1305 Charles, Pampa, and son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel McKernan of Olcott, N. Y., has been missing in action since April 5 when he participated in an air mission over Burma.

News of Sergeant McKernan was contained in a newspaper story from a New York newspaper.

The sergeant was formerly of Pampa, residing here one winter three years ago, when he was employed by his uncle, local drilling contractor.

Sergeant McKernan entered active service in India in June, 1943, when he was in the fleet of bombers to India.

A graduate of Lockport High school, the sergeant completed a two-year course in business administration at Chown Business college, Buffalo, N. Y., worked for the Harrison radiator division of General Motors prior to enlisting in the army air corps on April 23, 1942.

He was a member of St. Charles church and St. Charles Holy Name society, Olcott.

Wool Prices To Be Lowered

WASHINGTON, May 3.—(AP)—Commodity credit corporation officials have agreed to lower the price of domestic wool to dispose of the large surplus at a figure equal to or slightly under the price of foreign wool, Representative Granger (D-Utah) disclosed today.

The purpose, Granger explained, is to make imported wool, now priced 18 cents a pound less than the domestic clip, less attractive until the stock is sold.

This procedure, he said, will lose money for the commodity credit corporation, which owns the domestic wool, but the defense supplies corporation, which holds the foreign wool, ultimately will make a profit which will more than offset the loss of the other government agency.

Granger said his agriculture subcommittee, which has been studying the wool situation, would hold no more meetings for the present.

Pork, Veal And Other Meats Set Free Rationing

WASHINGTON, May 3.—(AP)—The office of price administration today made all meats except beef steaks and beef roasts ration free, effective at midnight.

The removal of ration points, announced by OPA Administrator Bowles at a surprise press conference, covers all cuts of pork, veal, lamb and mutton, all beef except the steaks and roasts. All beef hamburger, beef steaks, all kinds of variety meats, sausage, ready-to-eat meats, canned meats and canned fish are ration-free.

The action was taken, Bowles said, because lend-lease pork buying has been halted for the time being; also because of reduced army and navy demand, the crowding of storage space and the hope that the action will bring more meat to market this summer.

Because of the wide variety of meats now becoming available without the spending of red ration points, OPA announced that housewives would have to make their red points last twice as long—stretching over a four week period instead of the present two-week period.

In the past OPA has validated 30 red points every two weeks. Starting next Sunday OPA will validate

Aviation Ahead of Normal Development

COLLEGE STATION, May 3.—(AP)—Arch T. Colwell, former president of the Society of Automotive Engineers, says that war-time necessity has forced aviation ahead of normal development by many decades.

While the wings of tomorrow will not be cheap by any means, the future of aeronautical endeavor is assured, Colwell told delegates to the third wartime aviation conference at Texas A. and M. college.

A military aviation program encompassing 25,000 modern up-to-date planes and a full research program will be forthcoming, said Colwell, adding that the development of the helicopter today is far ahead of that of the Wright brother airplane of 1903.

Colwell said orders for engines for airplanes from France in 1938 acted as a shot in the arm to a stagnant aircraft industry in the United States.

Commercial airlines on a peacetime basis will have their war experiences to fall back upon, said the speaker, adding that with 200 planes today, the airlines are carrying more freight and passengers than they did with 360 planes before the war.

'CRUSADE FOR CHRIST'

Reconstruction Program Is Advocated by Methodists

KANSAS CITY, May 3.—(AP)—Methodists were called upon today to undertake a $25,000,000 post-war reconstruction program to be known as a "crusade for Christ."

Plans for the crusade, which some church leaders said would be the most significant work of this Methodist quadrennial general conference, were disclosed in a report by the committee of 21.

The crusade, as proposed, would have five major objectives, the report stated.

(1) To establish an international organization for permanent peace.

(2) To rebuild church property, and rehabilitate peoples, in war areas.

(3) A church-wide evangelistic campaign.

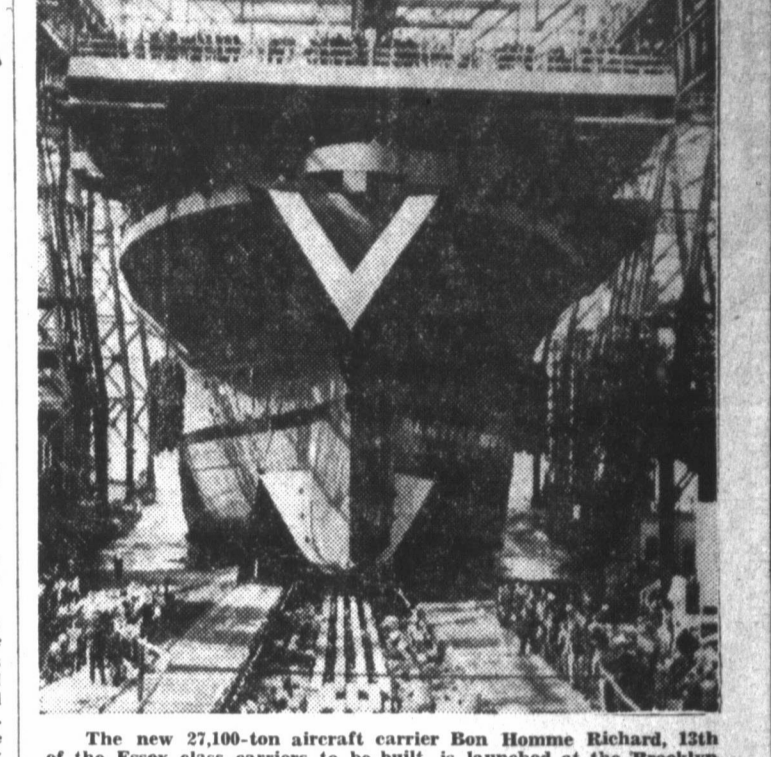

(4) Cultivation of Christian stewardship.

(5) To increase enrollment in Sunday schools and related organizations.

Both Houses Move To Probe Ward Seizure

WASHINGTON, May 3.—(AP)—Separate senate and house investigations of the government's seizure of the Montgomery Ward & Co. Chicago properties took shape rapidly today as demands echoed in congress for legislative restrictions against such confiscations.

One investigating group, a senate judiciary subcommittee headed by Senator McCarran (D-Nev.), arranged an initial meeting today and announced Attorney General Biddle and Ward Chairman Sewell Avery would be among witnesses called for public hearings starting next week.

In the house, leaders cleared the way for a vote tomorrow or Friday on a resolution that would set up a special seven-member committee to conduct a concurrent inquiry.

The tenor of congressional criticism was that legislation should be enacted limiting partial seizures to industries clearly linked with the war program.

At Chicago CIO union leaders at the government controlled company today expressed disapproval of the measure. Roosevelt said the NLRB order calling for the election within seven days was "contrary" to the board's practice of allowing at least 21 days to prepare for the ballot.

Meanwhile, the government-company legal fight over the right of the president to order seizure of the

Kilgore Charges Post-War Bill Forgets Labor

WASHINGTON, May 3.—(AP)—A heavily-backed measure for helping business over the hump between war and non-war production came up in the senate today for expected quick passage, but ran into objections by Senator Kilgore (D-WV) that it overlooks labor.

The bill, introduced by Senator Murray (D-Mont) with the unanimous approval of the military committee, was described in the committee report as having two fundamental principles:

"(1) Businessmen shall be paid promptly the fair compensation which is due them for the termination of their war contracts, and

"(2) The government, when paying out such fair compensation, should be carefully protected against waste and fraud."

While Democratic Leader Barkley of Kentucky said he thought the measure could be passed in one day, Kilgore said he planned to offer some amendments.

These amendments, he told a reporter, would "tend to put under a central agency all the demobilization matters." Specifically, he mentioned plans to provide for unemployment compensation benefits, reemployment aids and transportation of displaced workers to a place of new employment.

The bill up today would create an office of contract settlement, headed by a central agency to set standards for various government agencies to wind up contracts. Advance of partial payments would be permitted within these standards.

Mexicans Look For 'Shelters'

MEXICO CITY, May 3.—(AP)—Irrepressible Mexico City residents had a new game recently—looking for the air raid shelters Rep. Fred Bradley of Michigan indicated were being built here with U. S. money.

Not that they expected to find any, but it was god for a laugh for several days to peer around a corner and explain to curious friends:

"There must be a shelter around here somewhere—that 'disputado estadounidense' (U. S. congressman) said so."

(In a house speech April 27 Rep. Bradley said he could find no justification for "expenditure of American dollars under lend-lease funds for the construction of air raid shelters" in Mexico where, he said, the density of population "is very light indeed.")

Just where to put air raid shelters in Mexico was discussed in the newspapers shortly after Pearl Harbor. Water stands about four feet below the surface under the greater part of the city, so underground shelters were out. Finally engineers told the public it would be safest at home, instead the thick stone walls of most of the city's dwellings, and public attention turned back to bull-fighting.

Music Supplied For Convalescents

AUSTIN, Texas, May 3—(AP)—Music rooms (complete with orchestra instruments, victrola, records and radio) have now been established for convalescing service men at Harmon hospital, Longview, McClosky, Temple, and the convalescent ward at Brooke general hospital in San Antonio, by the Texas Federated Music Clubs, said Mrs. Mark Woodward of Gonzales, chairman of the club's war service committee.
Mrs. Woodward who is here to attend a reception given by the Wednesday music club at the governor's mansion in celebration of music week, said "Since the war began, we have done all we could to help through the avenue of music."
Last year the federated music clubs put on 5,000 camp shows throughout the state and gave away $10,000 worth of free concert tickets to service men.
"But the greatest thing we have been called upon to do, is our present therapeutic work in the convalescent wards of the army, navy and veterans hospitals," said Mrs. Woodward.
The use of music for treatment of war neurosis is very new and much of it still in the experimental stage. But Mrs. Woodward said that after seeing the number of neurotic and dependent boys rehabilitated by it, she is convinced that it is one of the greatest factors in the regaining of mental health.

AP Leased Wire At Mexico City

DALLAS, May 3—(AP)—With John Lloyd, president of La Prensa Asociada, Latin American affiliate of the Associated Press, present for its inauguration, a day leased wire service was opened yesterday at Mexico City.
Lloyd, who flew from New York to Dallas, for the opening of the service, called the event another expansion in the exchange of impartial news between Latin America and the United States, and he said the development was in line with La Prensa Asociada's conviction that closer knowledge of each other's problems, ideas and ways of life is essential to the future welfare and solidarity of the American peoples.
The new report will supplement existing night leased wires in moving news to Mexico, and making more news of Mexico available to Associated Press member newspapers in the United States.

Methodists Expect Preacher Shortage

KANSAS CITY, May 3—(AP)—The number of ministers has dwindled so steadily that the Methodist church probably will have an acute preacher shortage within the next ten years, a report to the general conference discloses.
The report, prepared by Murray H. Leffer, professor of sociology and social ethics at Garrett Biblical Institute, Evanston, Ill., showed that while the Methodist and the nation's population have grown proportionately since 1910, the number of ministers has failed to keep pace. Between 1900 and 1915, the report added, when the church was only half its present size, it ordained almost twice as many preachers each year as it does now.
Leffer insisted that only by influencing more young men to enter the ministry could the church hope to expand and prosper. He recalled that a generation ago "it was part of the parents' prayer" that their sons enter the ministry. "Today laymen often assume that ministers come from somewhere other than the common ranks of man."

West Texas Pipeline Will Be Proposed
DALLAS, May 3—(AP)—L. M. He said the line, starting in the heart of the Permian Basin, could be moving oil within six months after materials are made available.
Glasco said the Permian Basin oil fields in West Texas and southeastern New Mexico have nearly 4,000,000 barrels of oil in reserve.

Series Of Events Held By Sorority

A series of social events including a spring formal dance, Founders' Day tea, and book review was concluded Monday night for members of Upsilon chapter of Beta Sigma Phi sorority when a regular meeting was held in the home of Mrs. E. E. Sheehamer with Miss Ruth Stapleton as co-hostess.

Highlighting the meeting was a review of Betty Smith's "A Tree Grows in Brooklyn" given by Mrs. J. M. Fitzgerald, who was presented by Mrs. Kenneth Carman, program leader.

Following the review, miscellaneous shows were given as farewell courtesies to Mrs. James Wood, who is leaving this week for Columbus, Georgia; and to Mrs. Ray Ellis, who is moving to Wichita, Kansas, to make her home.

In the business session preceding the program, committees for the ensuing year were appointed by Miss Johnnie Davis, president. They are: membership, Miss Katherine Ward; Miss Dorothy Jo Taylor, and Miss Helen Houston; social, Mrs. E. E. Sheehamer; Miss LaNelle Scheibagen; Miss Mary Margaret Gribbon; Miss Elsa Plants; and Mrs. Robert Curry; program, Miss Ruth Stapleton; Mrs. Kenneth Carman; Miss Virginia Vaughn; Mrs. Kermit Lawson; and Mrs. Ray Ellis; James Wood, C. Caskins, C. W. Henry, James Poole, Ray Robbins, C. A. Vought, and Kermit Lawson.

Observing the thirteenth anniversary of this international cultural and social sorority, the Pampa chapter joined with 35,000 Beta Sigma Phi in the United States, Canada, Hawaii, Alaska and Sicily in celebrating the occasion with a formal Founders' Day tea Sunday afternoon in the city club rooms where the ritual of jewels ceremony were conducted for eight pledges.

Forming the receiving line were Mrs. James B. Massa, director; Mrs. Arthur M. Teed and Mrs. Raymond W. Harrah, sponsors; Miss Dorothy Jo Taylor, retiring president, and Miss Davis, incoming president.

Mrs. Massa poured tea at a lace covered table which was decorated with an arrangement of yellow roses in a black bowl. In keeping with the sorority colors, black and yellow, tall black tapers flanked the centerpiece. Individual cakes topped with tiny yellow roses and nuts were served.

During the refreshment hour, piano selections were played by Mrs. Kermit Lawson. After the birthday message from Walter W. Ross, founder of the organization, was read by the incoming president, Mrs. E. E. Sheehamer gave a resume of the war activities of Beta Sigma Phi during the past year and Miss Barbara Heimbaugh sang "The Song of Victory" with Mrs. Lawson as accompanist. Mrs. W. G. Caskins extended a welcome to the pledges and Miss Mary Margaret Gribbon gave the response.

Miss Taylor read the impressive candlelight ceremony and presented ritual of jewel pins to Mrs. James Poole, Mrs. Ray Ellis, Mrs. Michael Bara, Miss LaNelle Scheibagen, Miss Ruth Stapleton, Miss Dona Pursley, Miss Mary Margaret Gribbon, and Miss Barbara Heimbaugh. The remaining pledge, Mrs. Sam Leal, was unable to attend.

Members attending in addition to those already mentioned as assisting with the tea and pledges, were Mrs. James Wood, Mrs. C. W. Henry, Miss Zena Gierhart, Miss Helen Houston, Miss Elsa Plants, Miss Virginia Vaughn, and Miss Katherine Ward.

Beginning this series of social affairs was a spring dance entertaining members and guests of the sorority at the Country club Friday night when music for dancing was played by Pinky Powell's orchestra. Colorful pastel streamers and matching spring flowers decorated the club house.

Arrangements for the dance and the tea were made by the social committee of which Mrs. C. W. Henry is chairman.

The last regular meeting of the chapter for this year will be held on May 15 with Mrs. Kenneth Carman as hostess at the home of Mrs. Alta Starand.

Book Highlights

America in the raw, rough era of the 1820's is the setting for Samuel Hopkins Adams' romantic novel, "Canal Town" (Random House: $2.75).

Adams has built a very interesting historical yarn around the building of the Erie Canal, and his colorful characters, acting out their parts in, and around Palmyra, N. Y., are true to life. Especially interesting is the style of conversation, typical of those early days.

Chief character is a young doctor whose yen for sanitation gets him in, and with the town's big shots, since his campaign to clean up working conditions on the malaria-ridden canal trods on the toes of the bigwigs. They get back at the doc by seeing that his license to practice medicine is revoked. But after some dark hours, right triumphs and the doc becomes one of the honored men of the community.

The novel is a long one, but it is filled with action and true color that only an Adams, veteran novelist, is capable of putting into a "mellerdrummer."

FOR GOD AND ENGLAND

Once in a blue moon you get a novel written around ancient England. Jeffrey Farnol gives you a stirring romance on ninth century, Alston in "The King Liveth" (Doubleday, Doran: $2.50).

Earl Ranulf, thane of King Alfred, is the hero, and the gal in the story is fair Lady Morwenna. But head and shoulders over the other characters in the book is the figure of King Alfred himself. His feat of rallying his people after their near-subjugation by invasion of Danes and Vikings, is stirring. There's plenty of blood and action by reason of frequent use of broadswords, battle axes and spears. And the story comes to a fitting climax when Ranulf takes unto himself Lady Morwenna. You'll like it.

MODESTY DEMANDED

TUCSON, Ariz.—A bathing beauty can't go traipsing around this city in only a few scattered war bonds even if her purpose is to stimulate war bond sales and even if she is only a picture on the side of a city bus.

The mayor and the city ministerial association protested. The bus company painted a modern bathing suit on the figure, but protests continued and the bus company now has her attired in a gay '90's bathing suit.

Turnabout Fair Play, So Help Hubby Buy Hat

If your husband likes to look nicer than the next man in his new spring hat, here's how a little master-minding from you can help him cop the honors.

See that color preserves a contrast with his suit—light, if his suit is dark and vice versa; a light gray hat if his suit is dark gray; a brown hat if his suit is tan. A suit of greenish color looks nice with a hat of contrasting brown. A blue hat, though, should exactly match a blue suit.

Size and shape of a hat are important for making the most of his face and figure, and don't think he's indifferent about that, either. He'll like having his jolly, round face slimmed down with a hat that's fairly tall, has a dent in its crown, and a brim that's as wide as his face and is a bit slanted. Such a hat will give his figure a build-up too.

A too-long face is foreshortened by a hat with a shallow crown, a brim that is a bit wide and straight. If he's too tall, he'll find this kind of hat will help to slice inches off his height.

Tell the Folks Back Home

Senator James M. Mead has written a book, the story of the 45,000-mile tour of American bases which he took with his colleagues, Senators Brewster, Chandler, Lodge and Russell. He calls it "Tell the Folks Back Home." It is a book that the boys would like to see. It is a book that the folks at home would like to see. It is a book that the folks at home would like to see.

Says the senator: "The commonest gripe everywhere is the ads we see in the magazines, with lovely battle scenes where all the soldiers are always shaven clean as a whistle and in perfect spotless and pressed. What the devil do they do with the hair? If they could see what one of those blockbusters does, in real flesh and blood, they would be glad to see the actual smell and stink of a village that's honestly reeking."

This being the case, the front-line battle sketches sent back by a Payne Indian infantryman, Sgt. Brummet Echobawk, and now released for publication, must be the answer to a GI's prayer. For here are soldiers as they really are, seen by a man who sketched them as he fought with them, and who completed his rough drawings in a hospital while convalescing from battle wounds.

Sergeant Echobawk shows us the foot-slogging soldier as he really is—battered, dirty, unshaven, and tired. He shows us the dead and wounded; the new recruits, tense and nervous; the veterans, already wise in war, who have seen weeks or months, who have lost their strength before the next attack.

They aren't pretty pictures, but they portray the fighting GI as he wants to be portrayed. Maybe we ought to take a long look at them, especially those of us who have no sons or husbands or brothers at the front. Maybe it would help us to recapture what Under-Secretary of War Patterson has called "the frame of mind of Dec. 7, 1941," which some of us have shamefully lost in a life of peace-time comfort and safety and fretful wartime complaining.

Maybe it would help us to echo Mr. Patterson's message "to the men lying out on the hills of Italy, in the swamps of the South Pacific, and to those who are waiting in the world, this is our war, and it needs to be shared."

Waiting for the Score
At various times, the Bureau of Labor Statistics, the C. I. O. and the C. P. A. have made exhaustive studies of the cost of living. All have come up with different answers. Yet the findings of each study, with such minor exceptions as, "suits, or butts, that a suspicion arose that they decided first what they wanted to find and then made the findings conform."

To settle the cost-of-living question once and for all, the President has appointed a committee headed by Chairman William H. Davis of the War Labor Board, to make a definitive report on the subject. Now Mr. Davis has appointed an advisory committee to study the conflicting information brought in by the President's committee.

It is to be hoped that from this final report may come a clear and agreeable answer. The country will find it easier to join in a hearty exhortation to "Hold that line" if everyone knows what the score is.

A Way to Help
Most of us know about the paper shortage, and are co-operating in the salvage campaign. The shortage isn't licked yet, but here is a remarkably easy thing that every householder can do to relieve it.

Take home one less average-size paper bag from the grocery whenever you go marketing. It doesn't seem like much. But if each one of America's estimated 85,432 families used one less bag every day, the daily saving would amount to 1634 tons—enough paper to make rings for 272,301 500-pound bombs; or containers for 1,813,385 75-nm shells; or blue-print paper for 65 battleships.

How to do it? Have your grocer put more items in one big bag; bring bags with you to the store and use them again; carry your own merchandise unwrapped; use a string or other non-paper shopping bag. It WILL help.

Additional proof of the fallacy of Walter Lippmann's fantastic thesis that Great Britain has been indispensably helpful in the preservation of our Monroe Doctrine down through the years, was brought out, a few days ago, when State Department papers for 1929 were published, disclosing hitherto-secret memoranda taken down at the historic conference at Rapahannock, Va., between President Herbert Hoover and the late Ramsey MacDonald, then British Prime Minister. At that conference, the official State Department papers now reveal that Hoover proposed that an agreement be reached whereby the United

Montgomery Ward Seizure

Natural Result

People are horrified at the bureaucrats in Washington using the army to take over Montgomery Ward. They should not be surprised at this. It is a natural result of people believing, as they do in the case of public education, that the government should use force to compel people to be magnanimous instead of limiting the use of force to restraining any one group from doing something to another that he does not want done.

In this case there was no such attempt on the part of Montgomery Ward and Co. to do anything to prevent the government from doing something to another that he does not want done. Customers want to buy their goods, the workers want to work, and yet the government takes over the store because the government wants to take Montgomery Ward through the labor unions, whom they should hire.

No one can tell any difference other than degree between this kind of a government and a government of Joe Stalin or Adolf Hitler. It is the labor group using a government of force to compel people to do things the way they want them done. It makes the state via union labor the master of some of the people rather than the servant of all.

But why be surprised at this "closed shop" policy of the federal government? Every local community practices the same tactics. Each community has a closed shop as far as state schools are concerned. It forces A to contribute to a school system even though he may believe it to be more harmful than furnishing free liquor.

Using anybody that free liquor directly injures only those who use it, but so-called free schooling damages the whole community because it teaches by example and by its text books that the individual has no natural rights to use his energies as he sees fit that the bare majority, and a bribed one at that, needs to respect.

That is what is happening in the case of Montgomery Ward. A bribed majority gives its agents the power to take from the stockholders the management of Montgomery Ward and Co. Management is not a natural right, but when the state has a right to manage, the stockholders have really lost their ownership.

When stockholders lose the fruits of their labor, as they will even if they permit the government to follow this policy, there will be little wealth produced. There will be little for people to use.

States would refrain from maintaining military, naval, or air bases in the Far Pacific, in return for a British pledge to refrain from similar activity here in the Western Hemisphere; but Mr. Macdonald rebuffed Mr. Hoover's plan as "unworkable." Mr. Hoover had urged simply that Britain not thereafter establish any bases in her Western Hemisphere possessions, "nor alter any existing stations in such a way as to become a menace to the United States sign a reciprocal agreement to the same effect, with reference to the Eastern Hemisphere. Specifically, we would have built no bases east of the 25th meridian (including Alaska) or west of the 180th meridian (International Date line) in the Pacific. Later memoranda would have fixed these boundaries at the 30th and 170th meridians. But Britain—so highly touted by Lippmann as a great defender of our Monroe Doctrine—flatly refused to refrain from developing Western Hemisphere bases of her own "in such a way as to become a menace to the United States."

Yet, even so, eight years later, under Roosevelt, we cracked down on Japan when Japan began to menace British interests and holdings in the Far East; and we had to trade Britain some American battleships for even lease-rights on Western Hemisphere islands, lying just off our own continental coast. Think it over.

Peter Edson's Column:
SEDITION IS STRICTLY SERIOUS BUSINESS
By PETER EDSON
The Pampa News Washington Correspondent
Trial in Washington of Elizabeth Dilling, William Dudley Peiley, Joe McWilliams, George Sylvester Viereck and 26 other defendants on charges of seditious conspiracy to incite disloyalty in the armed forces is dead serious business, appearances to the contrary. Nothing could be further from the truth than the easy assumption that the trial is a "seditious show" just because defendant Lois de Lafayette Washburn was photographed giving the Hitler salute and thumbing her nose at the cameraman, or because defendant Edward James Smythe had to be brought to trial in a fishing shirt by the FBI, or because the legal antics of some of the 22 clamoring defense attorneys.

To reduce the proceedings to a farce so as to secure a mistrial would no doubt be good tactics for the 30 defendants. But for the public to get the impression that this trial is a farce would be as unfortunate as it would be wrong to assume that the defendants are a bunch of harmless isolationist crackpots whose pre-Pearl Harbor acts and utterances are now of no consequence.

Thinking of that kind is just as loose as the charge, reduced to writing and a printed pamphlet by defendant George E. Deatherage, that this is a "Moscow trial" . . . "an example of the introduction of the Soviet system in the United States under the New Deal" . . . "that the New Deal is Jewish" . . . "that what is known as the fraternal order of Enoch Bright is the secret police arm of the Jewish Kabbalah . . . international in character . . . part and parcel of the political police of the Soviet Union."

ONE STEP SHORT OF TREASON
If the utterances on which these 30 defendants stand charged with conspiracy were no worse than opposition to the New Deal and fourth term for Franklin D. Roosevelt, as is claimed, then there would be real cause for fear that civil liberties were endangered. But sedition is not mere domestic political opposition. Sedition is only one step short of treason. The United States—its government and its people—now face the task of shaping a foreign policy that will represent not just the aims of any one political party, but the hopes of the majority for future peace. This is no new problem. The idea has been long-aborning with both major political parties. The ideal is expressed in the Republican declaration at the Mackinac Island

HAZARDS—The prediction that the monsoon will be the next fortune of General Stilwell in the Mogaung valley and to those of the British and Indians in the Imphal sector, should not be taken as gospel.

The floods will hinder ground troops and increase difficulties in the overland supply lines. But United States aviators, back over Burma engagements believe that our hawks can continue their forays on Japanese bases and communications despite the rain. Last year's deluge failed to prevent the harassment of the Nips by the USAAF and the RAF; this season our air superiority is overwhelming.

Regardless of storms the Tenth Air Force keeps on flying. Operations depend on dead reckoning and a pilot's memory of dead distinguishing features of the country. A large part of the time visibility is so poor that it is impossible to see the ground. From hazy glimpses in brief, clear moments, the navigator estimates his position and judges the way.

Flat terrain stretches behind the present Jap front, but isolated mountains two thousand feet high rise above the plains—menaces in the mist. At the height of a hurricane ice that forms on wings adds to normal hazards.

JUNGLE—The perpetual downpour is not the only handicap. When it stops the heat is so intense that missions have to be carried out and repairs made in the morning. Later in the day the temperature reaches one hundred and sixty degrees and motors and other machinery are too hot to handle.

Receives top raids were aimed not only at cutting off the railroad linking Stilwell's men with Assam, but also at purging the area of roving bands of Chin troops commanded by Allied leaders. The hillmen waylay enemy pack trains. One outfit, provisioned by air, sent back word to ship ammunition instead of food as it was living on rice rations seized from conquered Nips.

In this theater British artillerymen achieved an amazing feat of engineering. They rolled their way through jungle slopes, they dragged cannon to the top of a nine-thousand-foot mountain, the highest gun position in the world, and drove the Japs from the valley.

INVASION—Our men say that the attack on Sumatra by British warships and Ant boats, and the capture of the island, was not the first Allied naval shows. He said, "You can't just go out on the stage and stand there. You gotta go out there and be funny. So I'd go into my Elmer character and the guys would laugh. Now I do an 18-minute Elmer routine."

engagement in the Bay of Bengal, although it was the greatest. A flotilla of the Royal Indian Navy crept down the Burma coast one night to a point one hundred fifty miles behind enemy lines and bombarded the Ramree Islands. The startled Japs thought the RAF was upon them and combed the sky with searchlights.

By the time they realized that they were being hit from the sea, the task force had slipped away to safety. Thirteen of a squadron of pursuing hostile planes were shot down from an Allied sky trap.

A little known circumstance of the survival of the British in the critical first phase of the attempted Japanese invasion of India was that Lieutenant General Wilfred Lindesell, England's greatest supply expert, was sent quietly to the scene to expedite the movement of troops and materiel.

He was the man who kept General Montgomery's Eighth Army in food, water and bullets during its historic advance from Egypt across the desert to Tunisia.

BONDS—United States Treasury experts who have managed the various War Loan Drives are writing a book about their experiences. They will describe differences between the present time and 1917-18 when response was more the result of coercion. The major of a Middle Western city recently proposed the creation of a municipal park of a "War of Dishonor" containing the names of all who failed to buy bonds. Mr. Morgenthau promptly squelched the project and several others of like nature.

The most flagrant case of whipping took place in the last conflict in a central state. A German immigrant had bought a plot of land in 1917 he mortgaged his farm and purchased Liberty Loan securities. When the second campaign for funds started he was approached by a fellow farmer that he no longer had the money.

As he spoke with a decided accent, local hotheads branded him a traitor and actually tarred and feathered the old G. A. R. veteran. He died from the effects. Burns owned by so-called delinquents were frequently painted yellow.

NAPLES, April 29—(Delayed)—Major Michael Mikulak is chief of police over the 1,200,000 burghers of Naples.

About 1936 he was in a football suit doing some fancy thing to the Green Bay Packers line, for this is Mike Mikulak, late of Minneapolis and the Chicago pro Cardinals; before that a whole lot better than a bad back at Oregon, where he was backfield coach until the army made a "cop" of him.

Somehow you knew when you walked into the station that the military police chief of Naples was going to have Chicago connections. It added up like two and two, after all those reports about the quick tricks heretofore like hijacking of military trucks and Ponta Della Maddalene down by the railroad track, bootlegging military supplies and one-way Chicago. About the only thing missing is beer running. There is no beer.

Although Provost Marshal Mike was only a windy city transient, he is doing a big job against the rough stuff. He has organized a big city police department of 2,800 men, complete with precinct station officers, radio patrol cars and the old "Hey you, pull over to the curb, you're doing 50."

And sticking to both the Chicago and football pattern, the ace plain clothesman on the squad is your

THE STORY: Lieut. Link Belt, Army Air Corps radioman in charge of the over-land line of the prison, who invites Link to his home for dinner. He does not know that Pilot Officer Baldwin, presumably a fellow-prisoner, is a Japanese agent.

DINNER GUESTS

"What is the Club?" Baldwin asked.

"A fraternity osteopath belongs to," Azaraski told him. "Lincoln Belt belonged to it."

"You found that out about him?"

"Listen," said Azaraski, "I have found out so much about Link, I know more about him than I know about myself."

Baldwin grinned at him. "Thoroughness is a trait of your people, isn't it?"

Azaraski shrugged.

"I can afford to take a lot of trouble with this," he said, "because it should be worth it."

Baldwin chuckled and said, "My God, I would say it was worth it." But Azaraski was depressed. The conversation, or his thoughts, had taken a turn that was not cheerful. He talked no more of the matter, but gave Baldwin another cigar, and told him he had better go back to the cell. "You will not need to be there much longer," he said.

Joe speaks Italian as if he wrote the book, and is as natural as a gumshoe dressed in the latest civvies and moseying around. Mike credits Joe personally with breaking up one of the bigger black market rings recently.

"It's really been tough here," Mike tells you. "All that Chicago gangster stuff. Some of these people will steal a hot stove. They get our trucks on dark streets, make them stop by digging up some of the cobble stones, and then jump up on board, beat up the driver and grab the load. It's even worse than it was when I was provost marshal in Casablanca and Rabat."

Up to this week there have been 10,715 civilians picked up by Mike's M. P.'s since January 15, most of them for violating curfew. Operation of disorderly houses runs second and black market activities third.

"And," Mike relates, "some of the local folks have been in and tried to put the fix in for pals who'd been picked up. Who do they think they are, Capone?"

Naturally there's a great difference between the orthodox land offensive and the forthcoming invasion which involves land, air and water to an extent that in some respects is outside the experience of man. There will, for instance, probably be a use of paratroopers and other airborne forces on a scale heretofore only a strategist's dream. Indications are that a huge army will be dropped from the skies into areas behind the main enemy lines.

There's one situation we onlookers must be prepared for. Many confusing things are likely to happen after the invasion starts—things which only the Allied command can understand. Indeed some of these mysteries will be deliberately perpetrated by our command to fool the enemy. At a time of great tension, events which aren't understandable are bound to cause worry, but in the forthcoming invasion there's no need to let them get down in the mouth.

Azaraski spoke Japanese to the non-commissioned officer, who saluted, then got in the army car with his men.

Link and Azaraski drove away in the other machine. The soldiers followed.

Link said, "I must have been getting me out of the language classes than I thought."

"Yes?"

"Sure. I understood what you told me. You said I was the American soldier you had permission to entertain. You said they were to watch me."

Azaraski laughed. "Glad you understood that, Link," he said. "Now you can relax."

AZARASKI'S house interested Link. He had never before been in a fine Japanese home and it was the first one he had seen that looked like anything but a weatherbeaten box from the outside. He wandered from room to room. Azaraski explained things, and seemed pleased that Link was impressed by the place. "The style is Chiseki, if that means anything," Azaraski explained.

"It doesn't," said Link. "And on a captain's salary, too. It replaces the Pendergast men built in Kansas City."

Azaraski laughed. "Confidentially," he said, "that has bothered me."

Somehow a modern electric door chime went bang bang. "Our guests," said Azaraski, "seem to have arrived. You might as well meet them now."

"Guests?" said Link. "Oh, a surprise, eh?"

Here'll be a couple or so fannies with spectacles and moon faces, Link thought. Probably here to rope me in on a shenanigan.

However, he saw he was anyway 50 per cent wrong. The guests were two white women.

"Tilda Courtwright," said Azaraski, introducing the older lady, "and Miss Norma Greer."

BUY BONDS Way Around Negro Vote Ruling Sought AUSTIN, May 3—(AP)—Restoration of the convention system of nominating candidates—dropped by Texas Democrats in 1902—is proposed by former Governor Dan Moody as the only certain method of meeting the situation caused by a U. S. supreme court decision opening party primary elections to Negro participation.

Restoration of the convention system would involve repeal by the legislature of statutes regulating primary elections. This could be done only in special session of the legislature to be effective before the summer primaries.

Although Moody with Wright Morrow of Houston prepared rehearing arguments in the Negro vote case Moody said in a formal statement reversal of the decision "is only a hope, and likely a forlorn hope."

Moody and Morrow were requested by the Democratic state executive committee to prepare rehearing arguments which supplement those already filed by the attorney general's department.

Moody pointed out that the high court seldom grants a rehearing, that when it does it usually is at the request of a member of the court and it seemed remote that a rehearing would be granted since eight of nine justices voted for the majority opinion when the court ruled.

Streamline Tax Laws Are Asked

WASHINGTON, May 3—(AP)—Chairman Doughton (D-NC) of the Ways and Means committee today called on the house for unanimous approval of legislation to simplify and streamline income tax laws for 50,000,000 taxpayers.

Both Republicans and Democrats in the House conceded the measure, which goes into two ways of debate today, would pass overwhelmingly on Friday.

"It's too popular with the people for it to have much opposition," Doughton said. Rep. Knutson (R-Minn.), Ways and Means Republican leader, declared "it should pass without a vote against it."

The measure is designed to relieve 30,000,000 taxpayers from the necessity of ever computing another tax return, by adjustment of the withholding levy to take the full tax liability from the wages and salaries of persons earning $5,000 or less a year.

It also would provide simplified procedures for the 20,000,000 who still would have to file returns.

Postman Will Stroll Again, but With Some Reservations

SANTA FE N. M., May 3.—(AP)—John P. Stahl, a retired postoffice department employee who once walked 3,700 miles from the canal zone to Austin, Texas, is going strolling again.

But it won't be anything so ambitious this time. He's 61 now and says his days of big hikes are over. Stahl left here last night by train, en route to El Paso and then to Mexico, where he hopes to take a few hikes and visit such points of interest as Paracutin Volcano. While here he visited Gov. John P. Dempsey, on whose staff he is an honorary colonel.

When people inevitably start to remark about a "postman's holiday," Stahl, whose home is in San Francisco, apparently reads their minds. He shakes his head, as though he's been through it many time before, and explains, cheerfully enough: "I used to be a postal clerk—not a mail carrier, so that doesn't fit my case."

Stahl says he always did like to walk. The idea for the Panama-Texas jaunt struck him when a group of hiking scouts visited Panama. He left the canal zone in late November, 1939, and reached Austin on Aug. 5, 1940—3,700 miles, eight months and three weeks later.

1944 HARVESTER GUARDS

LANE

HUMPHREYS

Here's two of Director Otis Coffey's hopefuls for guard on the 1944 team, Herby Lane, left, No. 20 on last year's squad, 150 pounds, two more seasons to play; and Don Humphreys, right, 165 pounds, also two more years to play. Lane wasn't a regular starter last season but he has plenty of fight, is alert, and fast. Other guard candidates are Charles Demoss, 150 pounds, two more seasons; and Louis Allen, No. 29 last season, Director Coffey's custom of switching players from one position to another makes it difficult to give iron-bound classifications on positions. Allen, for example, is also a tackle, and was so listed in a previous story as a roster last season had him in that division.

Entries Gather In Austin For Track Tournay

AUSTIN, May 3. (AP)—All the Texas high school youngsters who can run further and faster, jump higher, speak, write and figure better, began to gather here today for the 34th annual Interscholastic League meet. Pampa High school has no entries in the curricular events, but does have four stars entered in the athletic competition: Johnny Campbell, one-mile run; Randall Clay, discus; Leonard Tate, pole vault; Gene Robbins, 120-yard high and 200-yard low hurdles and running broad jump. The quartet, accompanied by Otis Coffey, director of athletics, left Pampa yesterday afternoon for Austin.

For the first time in history, a slide rule competition has been added to the long list of events which also includes such attainments as typewriting, tennis, journalistic writing, and performance of pre-act plays. The slide rule and mental arithmetic contests were added as the result of war-time emphasis on mathematical training in high schools. Track and field events, speaking and debate, are all old standbys of competition that have gone on through the years.

The meet starts officially today with registrations, and active competition starts tomorrow. Instead of holding the annual affair on Friday and Saturday, the league change to Thursday and Friday this year to avoid the week-end rush for rooms in the capital. Rooms where the youngsters are housed have been signed over to visiting soldiers from nearby army camps.

Lodgings are furnished free of charge to delegates who wear the league's identifying button.

Fire-Costs Tech $5,500 Worth Of Sports Equipment

LUBBOCK, May 3. (AP)—Texas Tech's football team is going ahead with its fall schedule, despite loss of $5,500 worth of athletic equipment in a fire that damaged the locker and equipment rooms. Sporting goods houses say there will be enough equipment for the Raiders next season, and it here isn't the two army airfields at Lubbock have offered to lend them some.

ROYALTY RATES NO EXTRA ORANGES

LONDON. (AP)—The unformed hotel messenger approached the manager of the only retail fruit store in Covent Garden market. "I—er—would like the King's orange ration," he began. "Which king?" asked the manager. "King George of Greece," the messenger replied, and got one pound of oranges the King was entitled to on his ordinary ration book.

Eye Poppers

By CONNIE MACK, Manager of Athletics

Many a thrill is scattered along the line in 90 days of baseball, but the fifth and final game of the 1929 World Series stands out in my memory. This was the afternoon following a pair scoring 10 runs in the seventh to pull that one out of the fire. The Athletics were leading the Cubs in games, 3-1. If they lost the fifth, a trip back to Chicago would have been necessary, and none of us were too anxious about that.

Connie Mack

It looked gloomy for us, trailing in the ninth, 2-0, and with Pat Malone allowing only two hits. Walter French batted for pitcher Rube Walberg and struck out. Max Bishop lined a single over third base and Mule Haas hit the ball over the right field fence to tie the score. Mickey Cochrane was the second out, but Al Strimmons doubled to the scoreboard. Malone walked Jimmy Fox to get at Bing Miller, who promptly answered the question with a clean single to center which scored the Duke and won the game and series.

We celebrated in Philadelphia that night.

Appeal Is Made For Bridge Operation

WASHINGTON, May 3. (AP)—The treasury appealed today to operators of international bridges at the Canadian and Mexican borders to continue payment of disputed overtime to federal customs inspectors, promising to seek legislation that would shift the burden to the government. Herbert Gaston, assistant secretary, told a senate finance subcommittee that the treasury would favor or making the legislation retroactive to May 1 so that the bridge owners, many of whom served notice they would refuse to make the overtime payments after that date, would be reimbursed by the government.

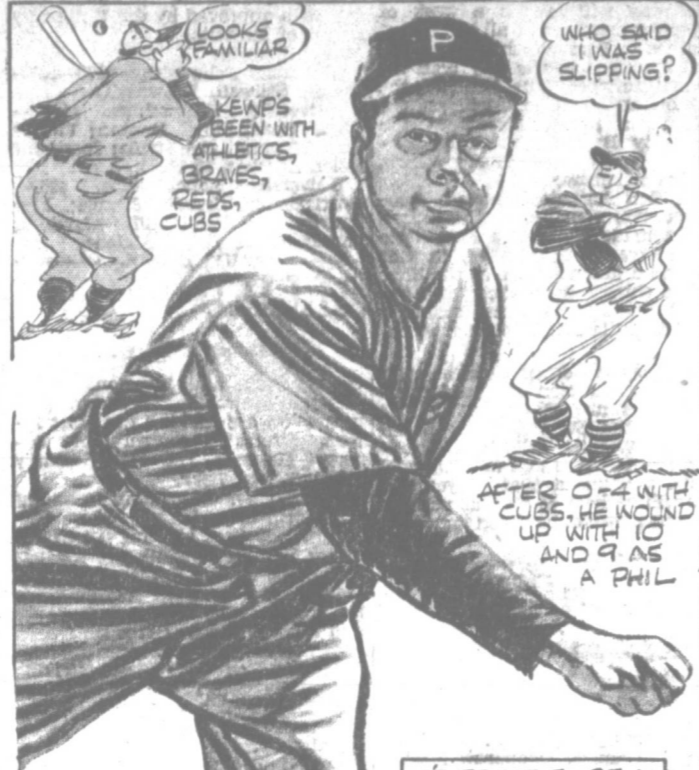

Two bridges on the Canadian border, the Rainbow bridge at Niagara, N. Y., and the Thousand Islands bridge at Alexandria Bay, N. Y., already have been closed in the dispute, and Gaston said owners of ten of the 11 bridges over the Rio Grande had notified the government they were withdrawing effective May 1 their bonds guaranteeing the payments.

"The government will have no alternative but to close the Mexican border bridges next Sunday, unless an agreement can be reached with the operators," Gaston said. "Our hope is that we can reach some understanding based upon our recommendation that legislation shifting the burden to the government be made retroactive."

Senators Vandenberg (R-Mich) and Taft (R-Ohio), members of the subcommittee headed by Senator Gerry (D-R.I.), both voiced the view in the hearing that the customs service was in the public interest and that overtime payments should be borne by the government.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON JR. NEW YORK, May 3. (AP)—One of those G. I. rumors that can't be confirmed says the army is undertaking a general "crackdown" on athletes who have lingered overlong at military posts. That's as it should be, except in such cases where an athlete might be doing more useful work than serving on the firing line, but what makes it interesting is the number of transfers recently noted. Fort Jackson, S. C., cancelled its baseball schedule the other day because a number of good players, including Kirby Higbe, had been shipped out. The air force overtook replacement depot at Kearns, Utah, recently a whole flock of ball players then learned that Johnny (Yankee) Sturt and Jack (Dodger) Graham, wouldn't stay long enough to play on the post team. And Jake Early, Ernie White and Tommy Livingston (among others) have been shifted from Fort Bragg, N. C., to Camp Butler, where they're awaiting reassignment.

TODAY'S GUEST STAR Bill Driscoll, Philadelphia Record: "So far as the record's files show, there has never been a professional shotputter or discus thrower in all history. People seem willing to do these things just for the hell of it."

A ROOKIE DAY Robert (Buck) Fausett, Reds' third baseman. From manager to rookie in one easy lesson... Buck piloted Little Rock to second place in the Southern association last year, didn't miss a game at third and hit .362—which is adding one digit to his age, 36... After a dozen years in organized ball he's getting his second chance in the majors.

COURSE CONTINUED IN HOME NURSING With instruction by Lieuts. Jane Maier and Martha F. Hanlon, nurses stationed at Pampa field, the Pampa chapter of the American Red Cross is continuing its free course in home nursing. The subject is being taught at 115 Junior High School at 2:30 p. m. on Mondays and Fridays. Mrs. W. R. Campbell, Pampa Red Cross home nursing chairman, in explaining the purpose of the course, said that this is the time of year when households especially appreciate the value of a member of a family who has had the Red Cross home nursing course. If father stays home from work and children stay home from school to combat symptoms of illness, their recovery will be hastened and the household move more smoothly if home nursing techniques are utilized, the chairman said.

Hill called his victory a "verdict of the people of Alabama sustaining and upholding the policies and the principles of our great commander-in-chief, Franklin Delano Roosevelt."

Florida: Senator Pepper was making a strong fight to sidestep a run-off on May 23 which would be necessitated if he failed to win more than 50 per cent of the votes in the preference. Cille Edmunds, had 72,750.

Russian bombers hit hard at the old Polish city of Lwow where seven railroads meet, starting large fires. Other Red planes sank five evacuation ships fleeing Sevastopol in the Crimea. The Russians said they destroyed 26 German planes, 20 tanks and several hundred troops.

Although the Germans asserted that the Red army was striking powerfully southwest of Kowel in old Poland, more reliable information indicated the Soviets still were massing, regrouping, strengthening supply lines and consolidating for the decisive battles of the summer.

Rep. Peterson Gets Famed Flag

WASHINGTON, May 3.—(AP)—Rep. Hugh Peterson (D-Ga.) today received from his former office secretary Marine Sgt. William C. Harris of Savannah, Ga., an American flag which Harris said was the first unfurled of Majora Atoll in the Marshall Islands, first Japanese territory conquered in this war.

"This flag is truly a historic emblem and I am proud to have received it," Peterson commented.

Harris, now a Marine combat correspondent, mailed the flag to Peterson and his son, Hugh, Jr., 8, and reported it had been taken ashore on Majora (CQ) Atoll by his "tent buddy," Corp. James L. Miles of (main street) Ladonia, Texas.

"I informed him of its historic importance and Brazzely asked him for it," Harris wrote. "He finally gave it to me to shut me up."

Peterson said he decided, however, to see that the flag is returned to Miles "since I know that is what Bill Harris would really want." Accordingly, Peterson said he planned to give the flag to Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Texas) to present to Miles' mother, Mrs. Peonia Miles, Ladonia, Texas.
