Jap Remnants on New Guinea Are Being Cornered

Enemy Being Pursued By Two Forces

By J. B. KRUEGER
Associated Press War Editor
Another isolated Japanese army, twice as large as the 20,000-man force wiped out on Saipan last week, today split up an all-out offensive to break free of the Allied death-trap on New Guinea.

The preliminary attack Monday with an attack against veteran American troops 21 miles southeast of Aitape, one of the jaws of the trap which has squeezed the enemy into the Wak area. A second attack followed Tuesday and Gen. Douglas MacArthur reported skirmishes were continuing. The other jaw is an Australian force pushing up from the south.

A heavy force gathered for the break-through attempt evidently was hoping to clear an escape path for 45,000 troops westward to Dutch New Guinea. This force, the remainder of 80,000 men who made up the Japanese 18th army, had to break out or perish.

This resurgence of Southwest Pacific land action came amidst announcement of record casualty figures growing out of the Saipan victory. Adm. Chester W. Nimitz disclosed 2,359 U. S. troops were killed, 11,481 wounded and 1,213 missing in the 25-day battle which won this strategic island for the Allies.

The Japanese suffered more heavily. They lost 11,948 known dead and perhaps as many as 10,000. More than 1,000 prisoners—a record for a single action in the Pacific—were taken, in addition to 9,000 civilian internees.

Neutralization of island bases flanking Saipan continued. Guam has been bombed and shelled daily and other islands were hit to wipe out Japanese air strength. Typhoon also was hit with 50 tons Monday.

MacArthur joined in this process, sending his bombers against Timor, Ceram, Babo, Palau, Woleai and Raboul.

In China the Japanese moved 25 miles up the Hankow-Canton railroad to reinforce an enemy force still attacking in hopes of cutting Hengyang, key point on the line. The enemy's southern China army was near Yingtak, 190 miles south of Hengyang.

In Burma two Chinese divisions joined forces near Mogaung, effectively guarding a 300-mile cleared section of the Ledo road. The east in Yunnan Province Chinese troops took the last important position outside Tengchung, enemy-held base vital to reopening the Burma-Ledo road.

British troops hunted down disorganized bands of Japanese troops forced to abandon their invasion of India.

Six Allied Destroyers Are Lost In Ist Days of Invasion of Europe

50,000 Planes Now in Service Says Hap Arnold

LONDON, July 12.—(AP)—Six American and British destroyers were lost in landing operations in France, the U. S. Navy Department and the British Admiralty announced tonight.

The former Grace Liner Santa Clara, renamed the Transport Susan B. Anthony, also was lost by American Naval Forces along with the minesweeper Tidd, the destroyer escort Rich and the fleet tug Partidge.

The American destroyers were the Corry and Glennon, built in the 1940-41 program, and the Meredith. President Roosevelt announced soon after the landings that two destroyers had been lost. He did not name them.

Three British destroyers announced lost by the admiralty were the Boadicea, Swift and Svenner. The British also announced the loss of the frigates Mourne, Blackwood and Lawford, the Trawler Lord Austin and the Auxiliary Minister.

Total naval losses announced were 15 vessels, seven American and eight British. Seven thousand ships were involved in the landings.

Justice Douglas Is Mentioned As Demo Aspirant

WASHINGTON, July 12.—(AP)—Support of Henry A. Wallace named Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas today as the vice-president's chief rival for second place on the 1944 Democratic ticket.

They also are keeping an eye on Senate Majority Leader Barkley, Speaker Sam Rayburn, Senator Truman (D-Mo.) and War Mobilization Director James P. Byrnes.

Organized campaigns are not yet in evidence for any of them. None is likely pending an expected word from President Roosevelt that he would not mind having Wallace for a running mate again but that somebody else might do.

Washington heard reports that the chief executives had a list of several eligible candidates for the Democratic national convention, which opens in Chicago next Wednesday, decides to shelve Wallace.

Figuring in some of the speculation are John G. Winant, ambassador to the Netherlands, Sherman Minton of Indiana, Senator Lucas (D-Ill.) and Governor Robert Kerr of Oklahoma.

Thousands of Cars Of Wheat on the Ground

COLLEGE STATION, July 13.—(AP)—Texas has produced its biggest wheat crop of all time and the problem now is movement of the grain.

The Texas A. and M. College Extension service says field reports show a yield estimated at 70,000,000 bushels—2,000,000 bushels over the 1943 record crop—and that by the middle of this month the equivalent of 20,000 carsloads will be on the ground.

There is a glut at important terminal markets and a shortage of labor for unloading boxcars at elevators.

Regarding the movement of the crop, Marvin Jones, War Food Administrator, said at Kansas City that he had sent a telegram to the Office of Defense Transportation in Washington requesting aid for the South.

Jones declared he sent the telegram to the ODT to try to speed help because he is "very anxious about this year's wheat crop."

Monetary Talks Waiting Now On Russian Answer

BRETTON WOODS, N. H., July 13.—(AP)—The world may be to-morrow whether or not the nations on the road to placing before their legislative bodies concrete plans to pool some $18,000,000,000 in the hope of assuring a brighter future.

Actually today's action at the United Nations monetary conference—generally expected to keep the foreign trade positions in balance. The results, however, will smooth the way for similar action on a contemplated $18,000,000,000 world bank intended to stimulate the flow of money to be needed in repairing war devastation and opening new areas of agricultural and industrial development.

Delegates assembling for a conference session waited first for an answer to this question: Has Moscow replied yet to this country's "very strong" request that Russia take a final stand on the proportionate amount of gold she is willing to contribute to the suggested monetary fund?

It was generally expected she would "play ball," thus accepting at face value an American explanation that an acknowledged misunderstanding between the two countries resulted from language difficulties.

As officially explained, the Soviet delegation came to Bretton Woods believing that the United States would support her demand—based on the devastation she has suffered during the war—for a reduced initial gold contribution.

Quickly informed early in the talks here that the Americans had intended no such commitment, the Russians changed the view that they could proceed no further on that point without word from Moscow.

That word, however, failed to come. The Americans determined that the issue must be resolved by the conference is to end on schedule July 20. The demand for an answer followed, although the exhibits that show cotton's cycle from seed to finished product, never has been shown before, feature the exhibits that show cotton's cycle from seed to finished product.

Production For War Is Still Short

WASHINGTON, July 13.—(AP)—The production of army equipment and weapons was $400,000,000 behind schedule in the second quarter of this year, Acting Secretary of War Patterson reported today.

The dollar volume lag represented eight per cent of the schedules set on April 1 for the second quarter, Patterson said, and "those schedules at the time were deemed to be feasible and achievable."

Among the items behind schedule he said, were "the long Tom" 155 mm. field gun, medium tanks, tank destroyers, bulldozers, heavy duty trucks, and field wire.

Patterson made his statement two days after an announcement by War Production Board Chairman Donald M. Nelson of a program preparing for partial resumption of civilian production, Nelson's program, a compromise with war and navy officials, goes into effect Saturday.

Asked to expand his comments by discussing the problem of reconversion to civilian production in labor surplus areas, Patterson retorted: "I think you can draw your own conclusions."

"There is only one manpower pool in the nation," he added. "A great part of this, of course, is now in the armed forces, the remainder is needed to man the war plants, to produce essential civilian supplies, and to carry on the essential services such as laundries and electric power plants."

"The larger the scale of civilian production, the more manpower is absorbed in that, and the more difficult it becomes to meet war requirements."

Soviets Within 30 Miles of E. Prussia

By DWIGHT PITKIN
Associated Press War Editor
American doughboys hurled a left hook around rubbled St. Lo today and threatened to by-pass this German stronghold on the central Normandy front. The city was plainly visible to the Americans, fighting a mile and a half away.

The Russians in a fresh offensive smashed ahead 19 miles to a point within 30 miles of the Suwalki triangle of East Prussia. A broadcast from Sweden said the Russians were within 12 miles of East Prussia.

Apparently moving to cut off St. Lo from behind the Americans stormed to the outskirts of La Barre de Semilly, two and one half miles southeast of the departmental capital. Seven towns were captured in gains along a 48-mile front. In the Coen sector the Germans recaptured Colmelleles from the British.

Germany Terror-Stricken

One of the gravest broadcasts ever to come from Nazi Germany declared tonight that "terror grips the hearts of many of our people" and that "Germany's fight for life and death is on."

The broadcast warned: "Before the peril can reach the heart of our beloved country, we will turn this continent into a maelstrom of destruction where only one cry is heard—the cry for blood."

The utterances from the enemy's military radio said further: "All now is at stake. The Russian flood is surging against our eastern frontier and threatens to spill over our holy German land."

"No wonder terror grips the heart of many of our people. We soldiers know this terror for we have experienced it a thousand nights. But we are determined to keep it from our loved ones at home."

In their third down assault, U. S. doughboys stormed around the ruins of St. Lo on the western front. Countering with strong mortar and machinegun fire, the Germans were attempting to make the fortress city another Cassino. The Americans pushed armored tentacles around Lessay, another key bastion in Normandy.

The Americans also advanced on the Italian front. On the aerial front, the German homeland was heavily bombed. Dispatches from Europe gave this picture: Western front: With overwhelming fire power Americans drove toward and around St. Lo in a semi-circle from the Vire river to the south of the Bayeux-St. Lo road. A front dispatch said advanced American elements pushed within a mile and a half of the communications hub. Other forces were about two miles from the road junction of Lessay. In the past 24 hours Lt. Gen. Omar N. Bradley's forces freed three towns and won the largest ground gains in two weeks.

French Liberal Edouard Herriot Reported Dead

NEW YORK, July 13.—(AP)—The Vichy radio said today in a domestic broadcast recorded by U. S. Government Monitors that an announcement of the death of former premier Edouard Herriot had been broadcast earlier was "erroneous."

"Herriot is in excellent health," said the broadcast. Both the Paris radio and DNB in London said Herriot was still alive.

Herriot, 72, was a French liberal and champion of parliamentary government previously had been reported from time to time to be dead, in sanatoriums or in concentration camps.

A French language broadcast from the British radio recorded by CBS said the German announcement spread in France.

Herriot announced early last September that Herriot was seriously ill and subsequently, on Sept. 6, a Vichy dispatch to a Swiss newspaper said he had been placed in a sanatorium for treatment for a mental disorder.

Turkey Demands by GI To Be Filled First

AUSTIN, July 13.—(AP)—Until total military requirements, both here and overseas, are met for Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year's dinners, 100 per cent of all turkeys marketed in leading producing states will be set aside for G. I. Joe.

This does not mean there will be no turkeys for civilians, said Claude Hodges, acting district representative of the War Foods Administration in Austin.

Military needs are believed to stand around 35,000,000 pounds and a 1944 slaughter of 480,000,000 pounds of turkeys is expected, which will give civilians only about one-fourth a pound per capita less than last year, nevertheless a fairly good supply.

Freer Movement Of World's News Will Be Sought

WASHINGTON, July 13.—(AP)—The United States and Great Britain are planning a conference here this fall on international communications and news exchange. It is regarded as an opening move toward this government's objective of gaining world-wide press freedom after the war.

The conference will be one of a series between the American and British governments on subjects ranging from oil to aviation. The meetings are being held first in the base of communications here. There is more chance of concrete accomplishment based on similar British-American interests and ways of doing business.

In the base of communications here is also that British interests control the means of communication over much of the earth's surface and generally have applied their police of empire trade promotion to fix rates favorable to British services in competition with the non-British.

The broad American objective of promoting international freedom of news and information also is beginning to take shape in other ways. Some diplomatic officials now are talking about seeking an international agreement guaranteeing reporters free and equal access to the news in all countries, unrestricted movement and the right to transmit their information at rates far up to all.

Such an agreement may come up for discussion at the British-American communications conference, at least informally. Should it eventually be worked out with the British, it then could be extended to other nations as they became interested.

Red Cross Will Handle Requests

WASHINGTON, July 13.—(AP)—The War Department has decided to discontinue transmitting to theater commanders requests for soldiers overseas to be returned to this country because of illness in the family or other emergency reason.

This action is necessary, the department announced today, because of the strain imposed on communication facilities by military messages.

Henceforth, those making such a request will be asked to give it to the American Red Cross which, after an investigation, will make a recommendation through its own channels if it believes return of the soldier is necessary.

At the same time, the army also announced discontinuance of the practice of sending overseas requests for information on the condition of specific individuals.

The army said the policy is to report serious illness and subsequent changes to the next of kin as a matter of routine procedure, and in the absence of any such report, it would be assumed that the individual's condition had not changed materially.

Hershey Says Draft Law OK at This Time

NEW YORK, July 13.—(AP)—Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey said yesterday he believes the present draft law "will meet the demands of the future."

"So long as the demands remain at the present stage, the use of the over-30-year-old group would not seem necessary, but the answer rests on the war situation," Maj. Gen. Hershey declared in an address prepared for delivery before the commerce and industry association.

Rep. Disney May Sue For Oklahoma Runoff

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 13.—(AP)—Rep. Wesley E. Disney (R-Okla.) says he may sue to force a second primary in races in which the leading candidate failed to receive a majority vote in Oklahoma's primary election Tuesday.

Voters balloted affirmatively Tuesday on a referendum measure to restore for runoff the primary in Oklahoma, but there was nothing in the measure to indicate whether it should take effect this year. The attorney general has ruled that it would not.

Disney ran second to Senator Elmer Thomas in the race for the Democratic nomination for U. S. Senator. Thomas fell short of a majority vote yesterday that he may make a definite decision today.

B. B. Altman, Jr. Heads Pampa Jaycees

New officers of the Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce will take office for the first time when the organization meets at noon Tuesday.

The officers were elected at the last regular meeting held this week. B. B. Altman, Jr., immediate past vice-president, is the new president, succeeding N. L. Nicholl. Don Eaton is the new vice-president and Cleve Mohr becomes secretary-treasurer, succeeding J. W. C. Tooley.

All directors were re-elected. They are Robert Austin, Dale Pinson, Joe Key, Vernon Hill, D. L. Parker, J. L. Bain, N. P. Woods, Joe Fisher, Tooley and Nicholl.

Most of the shattered company were too weary to talk, but one who seconded what their spokesman had to say included Pfc. Jesse Plummer, Madisonville, Texas.

Cloudiness Prevails Over Wide Area

It's January in July over a part of the nation today as the cloudiness that prevailed over Pampa also extended over wide areas.

For instance, out at Clayton, N. M., today it rained in Pampa this forenoon, but there was only a trace of precipitation. Thunder showers were predicted for the afternoon.

At noon today the temperature was 68 degrees. Wednesday's maximum was 79, minimum 62.

Japanese Scent Hot Time in Old Town
NEW YORK, July 13.—(AP)—The Japanese munitions ministry, headed by Premier Gen. Hideki Tojo, has ordered the production of "air defense fire engines" speeded up ahead of schedule because of "the acute situation that has developed," the Tokyo radio said in a domestic broadcast today.

New Equipment in Cotton Industry Shown at Meet

DALLAS, July 13.—(AP)—The fifth annual Cotton Research Congress opened today with a preview of the newest mechanical devices that are expected to reduce the cost of production, especially in the southwest.

The equipment, some of which never has been shown before, feature the exhibits that show cotton's cycle from seed to finished product.

Cotton farmers, engineers, entomologists, feed experts, researchers and processors from Maine to Texas came here to submit their experiences and recommendation in speeches or papers.

The program is being keyed to the general theme of "how cotton can meet today's challenge."

Another Jap Naval Official Is Dead

LONDON, July 13.—(AP)—Vice Admiral Kiichi Hasegawa of the Japanese navy has been killed in action, the Berlin radio said today in a dispatch from the Japanese naval station of Yokosuka.

Berlin said Admiral Hasegawa had been attached to the technical staff of the fleet air arm headquarters since 1942.

He may have met his death in action around Saipan in the 72-year-old French liberal and champion of parliamentary government previously had been reported from time to time to be dead, in sanatoriums or in concentration camps.

A French language broadcast from the British radio recorded by CBS said the German announcement spread in France.

D. Basil O'Connor Heads Red Cross

WASHINGTON, July 13.—(AP)—President Roosevelt today appointed D. Basil O'Connor, head of the national foundation for infantile paralysis, as chairman of the central committee of the American Red Cross to succeed the late Norman N. Davis.

O'Connor, former New York law partner of Mr. Roosevelt, will serve the remainder of a term expiring December 11 this year.

Davis died several days ago.

Three States Pile Wheat on Ground

KANSAS CITY, July 13—(AP)—More than 22,000,000 bushels of newly harvested wheat are piled on the ground in Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas because of insufficient labor to get it to storage facilities, midwestern grain men were told today, and an army officer told them prospects for use of prisoners of war were slim.

The 200 grain dealers, elevator operators and railroad executives assembled at the suggestion of Senator Clyde Reed, (R-Kans.) in an effort to find a solution to the problem that has caused wheat shipments to be put under a permit system at all winter wheat markets except Salina, Hutchinson and Wichita, all in western Kansas.

The problem is strictly one of finding sufficient labor to unload the cars as they pile into the wheat markets.

Col. J. Monroe Johnson of Washington, director of defense transportation, told the shippers they would get only as many wheat cars as they could show they had facilities for unloading promptly.

"No cars are going to set on sidings, or be used for storage as they were in the last war. Either you unload them and move them out promptly, or they are going to be used for other work."

"We'll furnish all of the cars you can unload."

Frank A. Theis, member of the Kansas City board of trade's permit committee, said this terminal was able to unload only from 800 to 1,000 cars daily compared with 1,500 or more in normal times.

The labor shortage was entirely responsible, he said, adding that there were 22,000,000 bushels of empty storage space in the terminal here alone.

Lt. Col. Loyd H. Shafer, commanding officer of the prisoner of war camp at Fort Riley, Kans., in answer to a question from Senator Reed, said:

"So far as we know there is no prison labor available. We have had so many demands for prisoners of war to harvest crops that no more are to be had. Sometimes we can transfer some around, but I am not authorized to say that any can be moved to this area."

Senator Reed has suggested use of the war prisoners to alleviate the labor problem.

In answer to another question by Theis, Shafer said, even though transfers were authorized, necessary formalities such as providing housing, transportation and guards would make it impossible to get prisoners to work in less than three weeks at best.

J. G. Goodwin, permit agent at Dallas, said prisoners of war had been used for a time at Fort Worth and their services found so unsatisfactory that their contract was terminated.

"Their work wasn't satisfactory, and their presence caused dissension among other workers, so we disposed of them. We had better luck at Amarillo where they still are in use."

3 Meetings Will Be Held Tonight

Three meetings are scheduled for this afternoon and tonight at the city hall by lumber dealers, one by the local War Manpower commission committee, and one by the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States.

The initial meeting will be at 5 p.m. in the BCD committee room when the manpower committee, of which E. J. Hanna is chairman, will meet on a question of classification. Basis of the question is the grading of the city on manpower classification. Cities in Class 2 have workers listed as in vital defense areas, while Class 1 cities are non-vital.

Lumbermen of Pampa and vicinity will meet at the same place at 7:30 p.m. in a session called by Lynn Gov. president of the Texas Lumbermen's Association. Purpose of this session is to acquaint the dealers with new federal restrictions on the sale of lumber.

At 8:30 p.m., a combined meeting of the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars will be held in the city commission room. Legion Gov. president of the Texas Legion and the two groups together will discuss building a club house, a post-war backed project.

No Pushover Lies Ahead for Allied Invasion Armies
 By S. J. WOOLF
 NEA Staff Correspondent
 LONDON, July 13.—"The decks have been cleared for action, you may fire when ready," said unflinching white-haired Admiral Harold G. Stark, commander, United States Naval Forces in Europe, as I entered his office. He was seated at a large desk at one end of a pine-paneled room. At the other end was a table on which were photographs of the president, the prime minister, the king and General Marshall. On the wall mounted were more photographs, among them likenesses of Secretaries Stimson and Hull and the late Secretary Knox. Beside the mantel stood a screen on which hung a wood-sized map of Europe dotted with colored pins.

The admiral is a cordial, jovial man whose clear blue eyes twinkle behind large, rimless spectacles. There is little naval formality in his manner, nor is there any of the gruffness or saltiness so often characteristic of men who have sailed the sea.

Tremendous Task
 There is a sentimental streak in him also, which was evident when he explained how he happened to enter the Navy. "I was born in Wilkes-Barre, Pa., 64 years ago," he told me. "When I was a child my father used to go to a large lake there in the summer. At a large lake there, I rowed and swam, and I made up my mind to become a sailor. There also I met the little girl who became my wife. Those are the two things which have made my life a happy one."

The admiral went on to speak of the Navy and the tremendous job it has done and the task ahead of it. But in praising its work he did not minimize the importance of the Army or the Air Force. "We are all members of one team," he said, "and our job is to put the man with the bayonet on Hun-held territory and keep him there. Planes have been doing a lot to make this possible, but many of them would not be here had not the Navy brought them over safely. The same thing goes for the Army. On D Day the Navy had to see that the Army reached its destination."

No Prejudices
 Although the admiral pointed out the completeness of invasion preparations, he did not think that we had a push-over ahead of us. Nor does he believe that invasion means the ending of the war. Personally he does not see that in sight immediately but he said that it is foolish to predict because as in the last war, internal conditions may bring about a collapse of Germany.

When the last war began, Admiral Stark, who had been graduated from the Naval Academy 14 years previously, was appointed commander of a Torpedo Flotilla with the Asiatic Fleet. He brought this squadron of small destroyers safely into the Mediterranean and then served on the staff of Admiral Sims. Since then he has trod the quarter-deck and directed naval operations, collecting medals on the way.

Although he is looking forward to the time when he can once more see his home in Kingston, Pa., he is enjoying his work here. "No one," he says, "can hope to get on unless he finds fun in his job."

Meeting of War Leaders May Be In Near Future

WASHINGTON, July 13—(AP)—A meeting between President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill may come about before long, the way cleared in part by Mr. Roosevelt's revision of French policy to permit practical cooperation with General Charles de Gaulle.

The President and the Prime Minister have at various times been fairly close together in their desire not to recognize the committee as a provisional government, but Mr. Churchill's position has been complicated first by the fact that his own foreign office has long favored recognition and second by indications that this attitude in recent months has become increasingly widespread throughout the British government.

Had this recognition issue remained in a highly unsettled condition with Allied armies in France, it would undoubtedly have colored all the discussions of Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Churchill in their expected talks.

No time for these talks has been indicated. The President, however, has hinted at two news conferences that he expects to see the Prime Minister this summer or fall and that he would probably make the trip to Britain this time instead of having Mr. Churchill come over.

Water Shortage Hits Parts of West Texas
 AUSTIN, July 13—(AP)—While range feeds and pastures in Texas were still furnishing ample stock feed, depletion of topsoil moisture will soon be felt generally if it is not replenished, the United States Department of Agriculture reported today.

The condition of ranges on July 1 was 84 per cent of normal, which is the 20-year average for the date in Texas, with the usual decline from June 1 conditions.

In the Panhandle conditions were unusually good, and ranges were above normal in some parts of south Texas.

Grass was drying with some burning effect, through much of central and west Texas and stock water shortages were a problem in several rolling plains counties. Progress of spring planted feed crops was varied. Sorghum crops were fairly good on the average, and excellent in many high plains and south Texas counties. Hay crops were generally good but progress of the corn crop was spotted.

Cattle and calves were in generally good condition in most sections on July 1.

The state average condition was reported at 85 per cent, the same as a month earlier, but one point below the 20-year average for July 1.

Total shipments of Texas cattle and calves from January through May were considerably less than during the same period in 1943. Deliveries to Texas markets during May and June, however, were heavy especially in June. Demand for inquiry for stockers or feeders was reported to be very light.

Sheep were 87 per cent of normal on the first of July, a one-point decline from a month earlier, but four points better than on July 1 last year. The 20-year average for July 1 is 87 per cent. The lamb crop was reported good in most sections and the lambs have made generally good progress. Needle grass was beginning to cause trouble in a few counties. Total shipments of Texas sheep and lambs from January through May ran ahead of the number shipped during the same period last year. Incomplete reports on June movement indicates that it might equal or surpass the record volume in May.

NEW CO Takes Over At Ellington Field

HOUSTON, Texas, July 13—(AP)—Col. Rosenham R. Beam, commanding officer at Perrin Field near Sherman and army air forces veteran with a brilliant World War II combat record, becomes commanding officer of Ellington Field today.

He succeeds Col. Ralph C. Rockwood, who has been commanding officer since April 10.

Commander of Perrin Field for the last 10 months, Col. Beam has an army background of more than 30 years active duty. He was a member of the group which planned the North African invasion. He was with American forces in the French, Morocco and Sicily campaigns and is credited with the single-handed capture of the first French airport to fall into American hands in Morocco.

7 Members of Bomber Crew Die in Crash
 SIOUX CITY, Iowa, July 13—(AP)—Names of seven members of a B-17 bomber from Sioux City Army Air Base, who were killed when it collided Wednesday morning with a P-47 plane near Bruning, Neb., army air field were released last night by Lt. Col. Wallace S. Dawson, station commander.

The dead and next of kin included: Tech. Sgt. Charles L. Strickland, father, Walter E. Strickland, Mart, Texas.

Three crew members parachuted to safety.

HEAVEN
In heaven there'll be no parting, no pain to bear;
No farewells, no sighs, no silvery hair;
No death to snatch our loved ones from our side;
No angry waves, no sea, no treacherous tides;
In heaven there'll be no thirst, no cry
for bread;
No soul who knows not where to lay his head;
No one to feel the winter's chilling blast,
For there the piercing storm will all be past;
In heaven there'll be no toll without repair;
No building for a brief ephemeral day;
For all the joys that prophets old have told;
'Twill lack the endless ease to unfold;
In heaven there'll be no weary pilgrim
hand;
No seeker for a better, fairer land;
For all who reach that blissful, happy
shore;
Will never cry nor sigh, nor wish for more.

WE WISH to express our sincere appreciation for the many deeds of kindness, expressions of sympathy and beautiful floral offerings extended us at the time of our sorrow in the loss of our beloved mother and grandmother Mrs.
Hannah W. Barrett. We especially wish to thank the minister and membership of the First Baptist Church who so thoughtfully ministered to us.

'H' X' Marks Spot Sun Missed, Try This Trick for Tanning

TA HAYWORTH: Tans even!

Wearing a pair of white skin strips on your nut-brown shoulders? An "X" that on your back marks the spot where heater straps cross?

If so, there's a short cut to tanning these sheltered skin areas that will do you up brown and in a more uniform tone for a low cut evening dress. Use a white sheet to lie upon—sunlight reflected on white surfaces is intensified—and coating only your pale patches and stripes with a tanning lotion, bare your upper anatomy to the needs of your brown, and turn your body at intervals.

For that "rick, thank glamorous Rita Hayworth," "Tonight and Every Night" star, who says that's how to make neck and shoulders rising from a low cut gown the all-over shade of caramel colored satin.

"You can tan your legs with the same tanning lotion, if they're slow to change color in the sun," says Rita, "and by stretching them out on a white towel while you keep your upper safely under cover of a beach umbrella, do them up brown."

The Plentiful Peach

Editors Note: The following article has been prepared by the Gray County Home Demonstration office and gives complete directions for canning peaches. Food is a weapon of war—and the conservation of food in every possible way is a duty which confronts millions of American house wives. They are our nutrition generals, our domestic chiefs of supply.

The luscious peach which promises abundance this year will be ripe for canning in one part or another of the country from now until October. Take advantage of the good supply—canning specialists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture urge. The amount of peaches canned need not depend on the sugar in the supply—peaches may be canned satisfactorily with little or no sugar.

Choose fresh, firm, ripe fruit. The pink blush on many varieties of peaches tells little about quality, but the background color is important. If the background is green, the peach is not ripe for canning, and when it does ripen will likely have a poor flavor. Choose peaches with yellow or whitish-yellow background color. Never use one with a decayed spot. Even when cut out, bacteria may be left on the peach to spoil the rest.

When canning any food, play safe and have full up-to-date directions, based on scientific research. A free copy of the U. S. Department of Agriculture's leaflet No. B-85, "Home Canning of Fruits and Vegetables" may be had by calling at the office of the Home Demonstration agent, Miss Millicent Schaub.

These are the steps:

First, wash and peel the peaches. Handle fruit gently so as not to bruise, but wash well. Take no more than a canner load at one time. For easy peeling, place a wire basket or cheesecloth, dip in boiling water about a minute or so, then dip quickly in cold water, and skin. Cut peaches in half and pit. To desired slice peaches for packing.

Darkening of peaches is one problem in each canning. To keep them from spotting while being prepared, drop them as soon as skinned and sliced into a solution of 1 gallon water, 2 tablespoons salt, 2 tablespoons vinegar. Drain when ready to pre-cook.

If peaches are not juicy, extra juice may be added in pre-cooking and packing the fruit. For this set aside sound peaches too soft for canning. Crush and heat to boiling then strain.

Next step is to pre-cook the fruit. When canning without sugar, cook fruit in its own juice until heated but not soft. If fruit is not juicy, add just enough water to keep it from sticking to pan.

When canning with sugar, pre-cook

In one of two ways: 1. If fruit is juicy, add sugar—1/2 cup to each quart, each uncooked peaches—and heat to boiling. 2. For less juicy fruit, make a syrup of sugar and either water or juice extracted from extra peaches; boil together five minutes. A thin, moderately thin, or medium syrup may be made, depending on the sugar supply and family tastes. To make a thin syrup, use 2 cups sugar to 3 cups juice or water; for a moderately thin syrup, use 1 cup sugar to 2 of liquid; and for a medium syrup, use a cup each of sugar and liquid. Then pre-cook throughout but not soft.

While peaches are pre-cooking, heat clean jars and jar tops. But do not heat metal lids with sealing compound; instead dip them into boiling water just before putting on jar.

Pack hot peaches evenly into hot jars, leaving 1/2 inch headspace. Cover with boiling liquid, still leaving 1/2 inch at top. It usually takes 3-4 to 1 cup liquid to each jar. Telling care to have a good proportion of solid food and liquid, and leaving right headspace help to keep the peaches from losing during canning. Peaches won't be left high and dry, to turn dark.

Work out any air bubbles by running a knife blade down the jar side, and if necessary, add more liquid. Wipe jar with a clean, damp cloth. One sticky bit can keep jar from sealing air-tight. Put on jar top and adjust according to kind.

Next step is to process the jars of fruit in a boiling-water-bath canner. Have water boiling in canner and put each jar in as soon as filled and ready. When jars are all in canner add more hot water if needed. It must cover jar tops by an inch or two. When the water boils hard, put canner lid on and begin counting time. Process peaches 20 minutes at sea level. At higher altitudes, add 1 minute to the 20 for each 1,000 feet above sea level. Keep heat even under the canner; if fermenting drops, jars may have liquid drawn out. Add more boiling water if needed, to keep jar tops well covered.

When time's up, take out jars. Finish sealing if type of jar requires. Set jars to cool, right side up, and away from drafts.

Northwest Texas Has Excessive Rainfall

AUSTIN, July 13.—(AP)—Runoff from streams in middle and eastern Texas was normal despite subnormal rainfall in June in those areas, the U. S. geological survey and the state board of water engineers reported today.

Surveying surface water conditions over the state, the agencies reported: Rainfall in June was extremely low over the Trinity, Neches, and middle and lower reaches of the Brazos and Colorado river watersheds, while western and northwestern drainage basins had excessive rains.

At the end of June, nine major reservoirs held 3,500,700 acre feet of water, 10,600 less than a year ago. Withdrawals for irrigation, industrial and municipal uses exceeded inflow, but the available surface water supply should suffice for July except in some isolated cases in West Texas.

Galveston Hospital To Be Venereal Clinic

AUSTIN, Texas, July 13.—(AP)—As part of its program to wipe out venereal disease accentuated by concentration of soldiers and defense workers in strategic areas, the United States Public Health Service has leased the Galveston Psychopathic hospital for a venereal clinic.

Weaver Baker, chairman of the state board of control, said that the state board and department of health will be in charge of administration and appoint all personnel, but the United States Health Department will finance the program.

The government plans to make over $45,000 worth of repairs in the building which suffered storm damage in 1942 and has not been in active use since.

Under state law, space in a state building may be allocated to an outside agency, said Baker, who explained that only the "bare building" went to the government. All equipment was moved out to

How TO RUIN DRESSES AND LOSE FRIENDS

IT'S tragic how some girls lose their friends and ruin their dresses because of perspiration odor and stains. And there's no excuse for it. It's easy to save dresses, it's easy to save friends.

Use Arid, the new cream deodorant that helps keep your armpits dry and removes the odor from perspiration. Arid is safe and dependable for these five reasons:

1. Arid does not irritate skin. Does not rot dresses or men's shirts.
2. Prevents under-arm odor. Helps stop perspiration safely.
3. A pure, white, antiseptic, stain-less vanishing cream.
4. No waiting to dry. Can be used right after shaving.
5. Awarded Approval Seal of American Institute of Laundering—harmless to fabric. Use Arid regularly.

Arid is the largest selling deodorant. Sold at all stores selling toilet goods—59c and 59c a jar. (Plus Tax)

German Generals Not Faring Well

By The Associated Press
Allied communiques and German reports showed today that Hitler's German army has lost 33 general officers killed or captured—an average of almost one a day since the invasion of France June 6—on his western and eastern fronts.

Two-thirds of the number have been bagged by the Russians—three killed and 19 captured—in sweeping advances bringing disasters on the Nazis' eastern front.

The Allies in France have killed seven and captured three top commanders, including Rear Admiral Walter Hennecke, taken at Cherbourg.

Killed in an airplane crash, the location not identified, was Col. Gen. Eduard Dietl, commander of seven German divisions in Finland.

The roll of lost Nazi generals may actually have proceeded at the rate of one each day. The first German general to fall was artillery Gen. Eric Marcks, whose death was announced in Berlin June 13, a week after the Allies landed in France. And there have been only 36 days since that landing through yesterday, when the Russians announced capture of a 19th German general since the launching of their big offensive late in June.

Next in Normandy to be killed was Maj. Gen. Fritz Witt. Then the toll rose with Lt. Gen. Hellmuth Lt. Gen. Richter, Maj. Gen. Steewmann, Maj.

Convention Chairman Believed Able To Do The Man-Size Task

By THOMAS W. MADDOX
INDIANAPOLIS, July 13.—(AP)—Sammel Dillon Jackson, who said he "felt like a new bride" when sworn in as U. S. Senator a few months ago, should feel thoroughly at home nevertheless as permanent chairman of the Democratic national convention in Chicago.

The 49-year-old Fort Wayne, Ind. lawyer's oratorical ability has been acclaimed. As to the job of keeping a political convention under control armed with only a gavel and personal finesse, Jackson was initiated in that department as permanent chairman of the Indiana Democratic convention in 1936.

A Judicious Thumper
Hoosier Democrats are wondering if convention history may be repeated. Jackson made judicious use of his gavel at the Indiana 1936 convention which nominated M. Clifford Townsend for governor. He took over as permanent chairman with feeling running high as some delegates clamored for the nomination of Townsend's opponents, Jackson "cooled off" the convention by recessing it for a 20-minute song fest. Result: Townsend's nomination on the first ballot.

Jackson's friends lauded his appointment on the ground that he would bring youth to the national convention. Some Democratic leaders advanced the idea that National Chairman Robert E. Hannegan had looked over the midwest, found the Republican trend there strong and decided Indiana was one state in the area that could be captured by his party—if the proper prestige were extended to Sen. Jackson in his current campaign for governor of Indiana.

A Fourth Term Man
In Jackson the Democrats found a supporter for any fourth term plans of President Roosevelt. The senator, speaking at the recent convention in Indiana, predicted Mr. Roosevelt would run again and would win by almost a large margin of electoral votes as in 1936.

However, when interviewed after his appointment as permanent chairman, he commented only: "I presume President Roosevelt will be our nominee."

Of the convention itself, Jackson reported plans were being made to wind it up in three days. He added: "Any talk of a longer convention presupposes contagion."

Gov. Schricker appointed Jackson to the Senate January 28 to succeed the late Sen. Frederick Van Nuys. (If Schricker and Jackson are elected they are the Indiana Democratic senatorial and gubernatorial nominees, respectively.)

Actively engaged in Democratic politics in Indiana for 28 years, Jackson was born in Allen county (Fort Wayne), Ind., May 28, 1895. He attended Fort Wayne public schools and received an LL.B. degree from Indiana Law School in 1917—in time to enter World War I for two years. He was an infantry captain when discharged in 1919.

A Former Prosecutor
He has been elected to only one public office—a prosecuting attorney of Allen county in 1924. He was re-elected and served through 1927. He was an unsuccessful candidate for the congressional nomination from his district here in 1930.

Former Gov. M. Clifford Townsend, in July, 1940, appointed Jackson to fill the unexpired term of the late Omar Stokes (no relation) as Indiana attorney-general.

Jackson is married to the former Miss Anna Fern Bennett and they have three sons two of whom—Jan W. 26, and Robert I. 20—are Army privates. The third son is Samuel D. Jr., 10.

The senator is the highest ranking Scottish Rite officer of Indiana and the state's deputy in the order's Supreme Council. He also is active in the York Rite of the Shrine. He has been an elder of the First Presbyterian church of Fort Wayne for more than 20 years.

Mexico, U. S. Agree On Economic Problems

WASHINGTON, July 13.—(AP)—Mexican Foreign Minister Ezequiel Padilla was en route home today after reaching an agreement with Secretary of State Hull on transportation and economic problems.

The accord, disclosed in a joint statement last night, involves the furnishing of United States technical assistance, equipment and supplies for the Mexican railway system.

Mexico agreed to "make every effort, on her part, to reduce the strain" on transportation facilities in this country.

Resumption of war-interrupted regular shipping services to relieve railway and highway facilities also was planned.

AUSTIN, July 13.—(AP)—Despite temperatures soaring near the 100-degree mark, six Chilesan federal police officers spent several days in Austin boarded a train for their return trip carrying heavy overcoats and gloves.

The reason: Chile is chilly and they did not know what kind of weather they would encounter in the United States so the overcoats and gloves were brought along.

The South American policemen were guests of Texas police who taught them techniques and methods long used in Texas. Only in Texas, they said, did they receive a complete course of instruction in state police methods. Previously they had visited state police organizations in New York, Michigan and Pennsylvania.

Chilean police serve a year and a half in the army and then attend police academy for two years. They must speak Spanish, English and French.

Sheriff Rip Collins, of Travis county, former big league baseball player, finds time to keep his hand in the game by managing Austin's entry in the Junior American legion statewide baseball tournament.

Texas, lift your hats to the people of Floresville (population 1,800) down in Wilson county. For the second year in succession Floresville schools were in the spotlight of war stamps and bonds—admissions to a series of five monthly concerts, tops for the state. Floresville also had the highest average of 82.12 in war stamps and bonds—admissions to a series of five monthly concerts, tops for the state. Floresville also had the highest average of 82.12 in war stamps and bonds—admissions to a series of five monthly concerts, tops for the state.

Why should a small community purchase so many war securities? Editor Sam Fore, Jr., of the Floresville Chronicle-Journal has the answer.

He wrote the state department of education which sponsors the concerts jointly with the Texas Music Educators' association:

"People of all walks of life, of all races and creeds, took part in the various programs and it was a thrilling manifestation of real patriotism to see fathers and mothers, brothers and sisters, buy war bonds and stamps at the band concerts for a son or brother in service."

"It was no uncommon sight for an aged Latin-American mother to bring her widow's mite to the concert, tied in a handkerchief, and say 'I want to buy a bond for my boy in North Africa.'"

"Tiny school tots would save their nickels and pennies for war stamps."

Wilson county has more than 1,000 men in the Armed Forces. It is a diversified farming area. E. F. Woolsey, Jr., is chairman of its war bond committee.

Maj. Gen. Harry H. Johnson, a Texas and the Allied military government's administrator for Rome once commanded the 56th cavalry brigade with headquarters at Fort McIntosh, Laredo, where he had placed above the door of the guard house a sign reading:

"All who enter here help Hitler."

Italy Veterans Arrive at Temple

TEMPLE, Texas, July 13.—(AP)—Forty-seven veterans of the Mediterranean theatre came to McCloskey General hospital, most of them with one or both legs shot off—but none got close enough to see Rome before being wounded.

They were members of aerial convoys from Starke General hospital at Charleston, S. C., that arrived here yesterday. They took part in the big push that liberated the Eternal City, most of them being wounded less than seven weeks ago.

Capt. Clyde T. Jetton of Salina, Okla., told of the advance that began his out-of-25 miles below the Anzio beachhead.

"I was hit by machine gun fire the first night we shoved off," Captain Jetton said. "We were moving on the Gustav Line, near Minturno. I was on one side of a big ditch. Machine gun fire, from not more than 150 yards, hit me in both legs, throwing me all the way across the ditch into some tangled barbed wire."

About noon the next day he moved a little trying to get untangled when a sniper shot him in both legs again. He was there two days and two nights. "I used my belt as a tourniquet," he related. "Machine gun fire had filled my canteen with holes and I had no water. But I took three sulfa tablets anyway. German tanks passing by kicked up a lot of dust. My wounds got bad. At 2 p. m. the second day, I was picked up, but gangrene had set in, and one of my legs had to be amputated."

First Lieut. Ronald W. Robinson of Evansville, Ind., attached to a field artillery brigade with the Fifth Army, was wounded near Cassino when an artillery shell hit directly in front of him.

"I spent three months in a hospital north of Naples waiting for a boat," he said. His outfit saw action through all the Mediterranean campaigns. "Cassino was the toughest I've seen," he commented. "I got a quart of plasma after I was wounded; plasma is saving many lives."

Max Macon, Boston Braves' first baseman, batted .347 in 26 games for the Montreal Royals last season.

Eight Men, One Woman Oppose Gov. Stevenson For His Office

By the Associated Press

Eight men and one woman oppose Governor Coke R. Stevenson's candidacy for Democratic renomination. Briefly, here is biographical and platform data on the candidates:

Stevenson, 56, is seeking his second elective term as governor, another step in a political career that has advanced through county offices to the legislature to the lieutenant-governorship. A native Texan and lawyer-ranchman, he is largely self-educated. He has the political asset of birth in a log cabin. His ranch home is in Kinbley county where he also has business interests. He does not plan a formal campaign and stands on his record in office, pointing principally to a reduction in the state's general fund debt of approximately $31,000,000 during his administration.

Mrs. Minnie Fisher Cunningham, 62, of New Waverly, Walker county, is no tyro in politics. She was a leader in the equal suffrage movement and ran for the U. S. senate in 1928. For five years she was in charge of the women's division of the agricultural adjustment administration and is a former editor of the Texas A. and M. Extension Service magazine. She owns and operates a Walter county farm. Her civic interests include the Y. W. C. A. and the Parent-Teacher Congress. Her one-plank platform is full support of the war effort.

Gene S. Porter of Waco, 37, merchant and self-styled philosopher, sought Democratic nomination as governor two years ago. A native of Salado, he was in business in Belton before moving to Waco. He says "happiness is the theme of one's life and the greatest key to happiness is kindness to humanity." Addressing a league of women voters rally he asserted the people of Texas have found themselves without a leader because if he had exercised dynamic leadership Governor Stevenson could have prevented the party rift at the May 23 state convention.

W. J. Minton, Sherman editor who listed his age as 65 plus with the Democratic state executive committee, has two main planks in his platform: "I got one hit on her but she went down so fast that form—a $60 monthly pension for all persons aged 65 or older, and state-wide prohibition on whisky, wine and beer. His former book-keeper, clerk and insurance salesman and has published newspapers since 1913.

E. L. (Doc) Carey, 82, Houston real estate agent, former railroad conductor and an accomplished ventriloquist pledges to use his influence, if elected governor, to legalize a national lottery, capitalized at $100,000,000 with headquarters in Houston and branches elsewhere and "pay off the $200,000,000 war bonds in five years."

Alex M. Ferguson, 70, of Howe, a seed breeder, wants a Texas of invisible government which he says takes the form of "millions of dollars spent each campaign year as political slush funds which are controlled by financial wizards of the east."

Martin Jones, 67, Narcocoches farmer, who says he has farmed practically all his life, and that in 1910 he had an unsuccessful race for the governorship of Texas, is for a graduated tax on real estate over and above the homestead; for jury service by women; for a law that all teachers be employed on a 12 months basis at a minimum salary of $100 a month, and for a law placing all alcoholic drinks under the sealed package law.

Herbert E. Mills, 42, Dickinson dentist, who advocates reform in the state eleemosynary and penal systems, is a native of Lincoln, Neb., who has lived in Texas since 1922. He says he is a former resident of Harlingen, Dallas and Houston.

William P. Grimes, 59, of Houston, attorney and ship fitter-boiler maker.

Air Group Five Home for Rest

NEW ORLEANS, July 13.—(AP)—The Navy said here that Air Group Five had returned home for rest and reassignment after destroying or damaging 420 Japanese aircraft and sinking or damaging 69 Japanese ships totaling 292,000 tons in Pacific operations. The group, one of the first to be based aboard one of the Navy's big new class of 27,000-ton aircraft carriers, also was credited by the Navy with causing "incalculable damage" through bombs dropped on shore installations.

Lt. James W. Cooper, 28, of Fort Worth, Texas, tells of a Japanese destroyer sunk at Palau disappearing in 30 seconds. Cooper was one of 18 Texans in the group. "We came in low and put four torpedoes in her. I got one hit on her but she went down so fast that

New Move Taken To Curb Black Market

Putting on the clamps a little tighter in an effort to curb the black market, the county rationing board today made known that on and after tomorrow, on gasoline may be transferred or accepted by a dealer in exchange for inventory coupons. At the close of business today, gasoline sellers who have inventory coupons issued then by the board are to attach these coupons to OPA R-120. No other type of coupons goes on this form. Next, the dealer has to summarize these coupons on R-541. Third step in the process is for the dealer to turn in R-120 and R-541 before July 24, to the county rationing board. Fourth move is for the board to issue to the dealer one or more gasoline deposit certificates in exchange for the coupons turned in. —BACK THE FIFTH—

Majors Enter Second Half

By The Associated Press. With the three-day vacation over, the major league swings back into the second half of the season today...

However, the all-star game last Tuesday night and the interesting highlights emanating from it are still the main topic of discussion among the baseball folk.

Naturally, the National leaguers are happy over their fourth victory in 12 games, but they are looking ahead to the fall with some misgivings...

All four National league victors have come with the Frickmen serving as hosts to the American leaguers. It also marked the first time the American league was the best to score, yet lost the game.

The 7-1 score represented the widest margin between the two teams since the game's inaugural in '33. The previous most lopsided score was the 8-2 American league victory in '37.

Bucky Walters, of the Reds, the biggest winner in the majors this year was hit hardest of the four National league chousers. Tex Hughson and Hal Newhouser, the only 13-game winners in the junior circuit, were the least effective for the losers.

In using five hurlers, the American league set a new high. The previous top figure was four hurlers in '41. It was also the first time the American league required the use of more pitchers in a game than the National.

The National league gained the edge in batting for the first time with an average of .252 to .251 for the American league. The senior circuit also leads in hits, 102 to 99.

For the first time since 1938 and started, not a single home run was hit. It was also the first time the American league entry failed to hit at least once for extra bases.

BACK THE FIFTH Social Welfare Is Termed Inadequate

AUSTIN, Texas, July 13—(AP)—Although Texas ranks second in aid to the aged, it is 42nd in aid to dependent children, and the rules governing that aid are inadequate, members of the Travis county chapter of the Texas Social Welfare Association were told by Harold Braun, head of the local community chest.

Braun said the 49th legislature should consider improvement of aid to dependent children by elevating the maximum age to receive aid from 14 to 18 in order to take advantage of the government's offer to match state funds with federal funds up to the age of 18.

He also stressed the depleting effect of the rule which refuses aid to a mother who earns 30 per cent of her income. "People should be encouraged to help themselves. We don't want to raise a generation dependent upon relief," said Braun.

Braun declared another welfare objective before the 49th legislature should be passage of a law permitting probation for convicted adult offenders.

After the war there will be a crime increase and unless judges have the right to probate criminals they will resort to the suspended sentence and load communities with unsupervised criminals," said Braun.

Social welfare association chapters have been formed in Dallas, Fort Worth, Houston and Austin. State association president is Mrs. George Abbott of Dallas at whose request the Travis county chapter has accepted responsibility for arrangements of the statewide meeting here in December.

BACK THE FIFTH Tarleton College To Resume Sports

STEPHENVILLE, July 13—(AP)—John Tarleton College will return to intercollegiate sports this fall, Dean J. Thomas Davis announces.

The college will organize and train teams in football, basketball and track. Dean Davis said, "and Athletic Director Jimmie Marshall is now contacting other schools and service teams attempting to arrange schedules in all three sports."

Intercollegiate athletics were discontinued in 1942.

Lynch Announces North Grid Squad

AMARILLO, July 13—(AP)—Twenty-three players, including Bobby Layne, who was all-state at Highland Park (Dallas) last fall and now is at the University of Texas, were announced by Howard Lynch, chairman of the committee selecting the North squad for the annual all-star game at the Texas High School coaching school at Wichita Falls in August.

Lynch, coach at Amarillo High school, said he wanted to add another player, preferably a good center, to his squad if he could find one. He said he had scouted for a considerable difficulty in selecting the squad because so many boys are entering the service.

Although Lynch's son was named as a back on the North squad and not a single Pampa was chosen, this did not mean any slight to Pampa. Under the rules only boys graduated from high school and not in the armed forces are eligible to play. A half dozen of Pampa High school's 1943 squad is in the navy, while the rest have not yet graduated.

The North squad meets a similar outfit from the Southern districts of the Texas Interscholastic League football plan in a game Aug. 11 climaxing the coaching school.

BACK THE FIFTH AA Crew Waited Two Years for the Moment

SAIPAN ISLAND, MARIANAS, June 29—(Delayed)—(AP)—The American anti-aircraft battery that shot down the first Japanese planes over Saipan waited more than two years for a crack at the enemy.

The unit, headed by Capt. George E. Champlin, of Brownwood, Texas, and Kansas City, Mo., was activated in April, 1941, at Camp Davis, N. C. It wasn't until last night that the Japs gave these gunners their first chance for action.

The AA crew blasted two Jap planes out of the air in 10 minutes. S/Sgt. Cassy Garels, of Detroit, Mich., said they were the first Japanese planes he had ever seen. He added "It was just like in the movies."

Cpl. Joe Carvajal, of San Diego, Calif., aircraft identification expert of the crew, reported the first enemy plane sighted was a two-engine "Nick." The guns roared and the corporal said, "We must have hit the gas tank the way it burst into flames."

Portland U. Coach To Direct Pro Team

PORTLAND, Ore., July 13—(AP)—Robert L. (Matty) Mathews, one of the Pacific Northwest's veteran football mentors, has signed a one-year contract to coach Portland's entry in the new American Professional (West Coast) Grid league.

The appointment, announced by President Henry J. Sandberg and General Manager Robert P. Rowe, came as a surprise as Lt. Marty Brill of the Camp Pendleton, Calif., Marines had been most prominently mentioned for the job.

Mathews, who resigned recently as head coach at Portland university because the school voted to remain out of football this year, will report to his new post tomorrow.

Mathews came to the Portland school eight years ago from Gonzaga university at Spokane, Wash. He previously was head coach at Idaho, Willamette university, Salem, Ore., and St. Edwards university, Austin, Texas. At one time he coached freshman football at Washington. He played end for Notre Dame in 1911, with Knute Rockne at the other flank.

BACK THE FIFTH Grid Coach Keeps All Players Under Eye During Summer

ROCHELLE, Ill., July 13—(AP)—Lew Stephens, football coach at Urbana High school, is keeping a close watch on 13 of his players this summer.

The gridders, working as a team, are employed at a Pea Vining station on a nearby farm. Stephens' job at the farm is supervisor—and timekeeper.

NBA Ratings Advance Baksi and Williams

WASHINGTON, July 13—(AP)—Joe Baksi of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., and Ike Williams of Trenton, N. J., advanced to the select class among the heavyweights and lightweights, respectively, in new quarterly ratings announced today by the National Boxing association.

Baksi, who recently defeated Lee Savold, now in the maritime service, took over the top position in the "outstanding boxers" listings, ranking behind champion Joe Louis and challengers Billy Conn and Jimmy Bivins.

Williams moved up to the "logical contender" category in the lightweight division, following champion Juan Zurita of Mexico and challengers Bob Montgomery of Philadelphia and Beau Jack of the army in the NBA ratings.

President Abe J. Green of the NBA pointed out that there were few major changes in the quarterly ratings because most of the "name" fighters now are in the armed forces.

BACK THE FIFTH Porker State Back Signed By Tigers

NEW YORK, July 13—(AP)—The Brooklyn Tigers of the National Football league, who open their training camp August 6, announced today receipt of signed contracts from Verne Ulom, University of Cincinnati, and Dale Cormody, Southern California, passing back an Dub McGiboney, Arkansas State Teachers college halfback.

Ulom was one of 30 collegians selected by the Tigers in the spring draft. Twenty of the draftees are now in service, but among those still available are Creighton Miller, Notre Dame All-America, and Ralph Park, last season's Southwest conference scoring leader from the U. of Texas.

U. S. Negro Leads Batting in Mexican

MEXICO CITY, July 13—(AP)—Sagua Hernandez, Cuban outfielder for Puebla, relinquished his batting lead in the Mexican Baseball league this week to Wild Bill Wright, U. S. Negro playing for Mexico City.

Official averages today gave Wright .385, Hernandez .382, and Pedro Formentel, Cuban on the Vera Cruz lineup, .377.

Vidal Lopez, Venezuelan pitcher and outfielder for Monterrey, continues to lead in home runs with 9. Chico Hernandez, who last year caught for the Chicago Cubs and this year is playing for Vera Cruz, is second with 8.

Ramon Bragana, Cuban who succeeded Rogers Hornsby as manager of the leading Vera Cruz team, leads the pitchers with 16 victories and 4 losses. Lazaro Salazar, Cuban manager of Monterrey, is second with 8 wins and 5 losses.

BACK THE FIFTH Villa Withdraws From First Bout

WACO, July 13—(AP)—The double-championship bout that Chuck Hirst and Manuel Villa were to stage tonight won't go on. Instead Hirst, Texas middleweight king, will meet Fritz Zivic, former world's welterweight champion, in an exhibition match.

Villa, the state welterweight titlist, informed promoters of tonight's boxing show—a war bond affair—that he would be unable to appear due to an injured shoulder.

Both Hirst and Villa's titles were to have been on the line in a 15-round bout.

Zivic, now in the armed services, is stationed at San Antonio. Hirst is at Waco army air field.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR. NEW YORK, July 13—(AP)—Overseas sports roundup:

TOUCHDOWN AT SAIPAN Marine Lieut. Joe Sabastanski, who played center for Fordham in the 1942 Sugar Bowl game, got his first combat experience at Saipan when he was called upon to help stem a threatened Japanese counterattack after a week on the beach, supervising the unloading of supplies.

"I'd rather play six 60-minute football games on one day than go through another session of shelling like the one we had," he commented. "In the same vicinity were Corp. Calvin (Frescher) Dorsett, ex-Cleveland Indian pitcher, and Pfc. Jim Bivin, who used to hurl for the Pirates and Phillies. I've got a fox hole you can land a plane on."

Bivin told combat correspondent Hy Hurwitz, former Boston Globe baseball writer, "It's 25 feet deep and, brother, I've needed it where there's more good football pictures than experiences with the Phillies."

INDOLENT INDIA Note from Sgt. John Derr, former Greensboro, N. C., sports editor now in India: "Guess I'm having the most fun ever out here, although this hot weather has put a damper on my golf and tennis. . . . We play after 6 p.m., usually about 14 holes. Last week I turned in my best card, an 80 on the par 74 course. I think that back in Greensboro I never was able to break 90 and cussed many times about shooting 100."

ANOTHER CLIMATE From Lieut. Dave Zinkoff, Iceland: Red Cross opened two bowling alleys, built by the engineers. Major Gen. William S. Key rolled in Alley 1 after dedicating the alleys. Ko'd seven pins with his first roll, then watched Brig. Gen. Early Duncan toss some good for one pin, another for two more. So Key refused to roll his second ball."

BACK TO THE PACIFIC From T/Sgt. Billy Goodrich, ex-Brooklyn Eagle sports writer: "I've discovered that once the boys can get a big enough field to play, they will drop softball and go back to the national pastime. The men like that hard ball stuff. The lads sure went for the 'Iron Major' and the more good football pictures the better."

BACK THE FIFTH WACs to Serve in Service Laboratory

FORT SILL, Okla., July 13—A drive to recruit WACs to serve as medical, surgical, dental, X-ray and laboratory technicians was launched in the Fort Sill WAC Recruiting district this week with the visit of Lt. Sylvia Nearman, whose visiting posts and stations in this area in the interest of the drive.

The Eighth Service Command needs 21 medical technicians and 10 surgical technicians before July 21, when basic training will be started at Fort Oglethorpe, Ga.

Lieutenant Nearman, Public Relations officer of Camp Robinson, Ark., served as an enlisted woman in the old WAAC at Fort Sill until going to Officer Candidate School in April, 1943. Formerly a school teacher, her home is in Waterbury, Conn.

A high school education in addition to a liking and aptitude for the work is required of Wacs enlisting as technicians in these fields. If or a representative certifies them, they definitely will be assigned to the proper school following basic training. The technicians' training is given at the General Hospital, Camp Atterbury, Ind., and lasts for from three to four months.

Some recruits with sufficient actual experience or education in their fields will be assigned as technicians immediately following basic training without the need of attending a special school, according to Lieutenant Nearman.

Further information on the new drive may be obtained at the recruiting district's sub-stations at Oklahoma City, Enid and Lawton, Okla., and Amarillo, Texas.

Frankness Preferred

For most of the ladies and gentlemen of the House of Representatives, and for a third of their colleagues in the Senate, Nov. 7 is D-Day—D standing for decision. On that date American voters will invade the polls.

The decision they'll make is giving these lawmakers an understandable case of pre-invasion jitter, except in the case of Solid South members who, not being bludgeoned on Capitol Hill, are free to move among the invaders.

So congressional leaders have let it be known that although Congress will formally reconvene on Aug. 1, there is little prospect of a quorum till after Labor Day. The intervening time will probably be spent with three-day recesses while the lawmakers maneuver among their constituents.

Well, congressmen have always been a different breed. But it does seem a little disingenuous of some of them to infer that there is nothing of pressing importance that requires their attention until September. They can think of several things that could stand going quickly. And congressmen, pined down in a game of truth or consequences, could probably think of several more.

There's a postwar aviation scandal, for one thing, and the problem of what to do with our big merchant fleet when fighting stops. A lot of preventive medicine for reconversion headaches has yet to be prescribed. Demobilization and the size of the postwar Army and Navy will have to be considered.

All that we know about postwar taxes is Senator Barkley's suggestion that they may be reduced by half. The if and how remain to be determined, and there are the pros and cons of an extensive public works program.

Fortunately—when for Congress candidates—the Allied advance isn't taking time out for a leisurely campaign. It isn't complacency to say that the war is going well for us, nor wishful thinking to suggest the possibility that the war in Europe might end more quickly than is generally expected, leaving a lot of important postwar legislation still undecided.

We can't ask or expect congressmen seeking re-election to forego the usual stump speaking and buttonholing, even though some voters might be more impressed by their earnestness in Washington. But we might ask for a frank statement from them, in this vein: "We know there's a lot to be done. But we'd rather gamble with the possibility of a surprise in Washington than with the possibility of a legislative delay that take the chance of campaigning on our records, and by proxy."

The Nation's Press

FATTENING THE GOOSE (The Wall Street Journal) According to a Washington report in The Wall Street Journal there is discussion in Congress looking to the easing of taxes on capital gains. The reason is that Treasury figures show that receipts from this tax, which was revised and "eased" in 1939, have jumped from $2 million in 1941 to $200 million this year. Obviously, the theory behind the current discussions is that further modification of the tax might be expected to bring in even greater revenues.

One wonders why there should be any surprise at the news that revenues from capital gains in the past two years. In 1942, when modification of the law was under consideration, this newspaper pointed out that the Government has never collected material amounts of taxes on capital gains. And the more dollars there are, the less goods each dollar of them is apt to buy.—Lewis Haney, professor of economics, New York university.

Right You Are, Professor "Perhaps the best thing this nation could do to speed post-war planning that would bring real prosperity would be to get rid of the tax on capital gains. One of these unsound ideas is that real employment can be created by government spending. The other is that the 'national income,' in terms of dollars, is an index of prosperity. It is not. It is an index of dollars. And the more dollars there are, the less goods each dollar of them is apt to buy.—Lewis Haney, professor of economics, New York university.

Common Ground

By R. C. HOILES "I speak the post-war proposal. I give the sign of democracy. By God I will not let anything which all cannot have their counterpart of on the same side." —WALT WHITMAN.

Whether a man is a real leader or a man who can be trusted and followed, or whether he is an opportunist, can largely be determined by whether or not he is frank and willing to permit his statements to be analyzed. If he is simply misgided but sincere he will permit his statements to be questioned. He will not hit and run. If he is only an opportunist he will not permit his proposals to be tested by public discussion. There is nothing that is more needed now than for our leaders to learn to judge the difference between leaders and opportunists. I want to quote a few statements from some great thinkers that might be used as a guide to separate leaders from opportunists and self-seekers.

The Great Teacher said: "Neither do men light a candle, and put it under a bushel, but on a candlestick; and it giveth light unto all that are in the house." Again He said, "Men loved darkness rather than light, because their deeds were evil. For every one that doeth evil hateth the light, neither cometh to the light, lest his deeds should be reproved. But he that doeth truth cometh to the light, that his deeds may be made manifest, that they are wrought in God."

MAYBE IT'S HERE: Leaves From The Editor's Notebook

Of course, they are not to be found in abundance here in the Panhandle, but who is there who cannot recall the beauty of these, pink, white and red? They spill over stone walls and picket fence; they climb porch trellis and carpet vast banks along the highroad. In old and new gardens their perfume now fills the air. In homes, in offices, bouquets of their loveliness brighten restful or workaday corners, accent tables and vases. Out across the United States the hundreds of municipal rose gardens—described by one authority as "the finest and most efficient expression in America of the park spirit"—have begun their lavish, long-season bloom, and will be visited by thousands before the summer is over.

This perhaps most loved of all flowers may be found in every country of the civilized world and is praised in music, in poetry, and in records that reach back to pre-Babylon times. In some form it thrives wild in every state in the United States and is the official flower of four states and the District of Columbia. It is also England's national flower. In its long and distinguished history it has been the insignia of two royal British houses and named a civil war. It has been carved into dome and architrave; it has inspired civic festivals. Famed hybridizers have spent their lives developing the rose aristocrats of our gardens. No flower has been more widely honored.

Sweetest of them all to most flower-lovers is the rose of the roadways. Whether Rosa carolina, prairie rose, or a wild rose of any other name, it is a symbol not of wars and fame but of modesty and grace. Undaunted by rough and rocky roads and rugged boulders, it lifts dainty stems above burdock and bramble to flower into tiny pink buds and wide-eyed smile. Its appeal to man's love of gentleness and of their unstinted gift of fragrance.

Some statements made by Abraham Lincoln might be used as a guide in this case. He said: "The man who will not investigate both sides of a question is dishonest." He also said, "Better to remain silent and be thought a fool than to speak out and remove all doubt."

Another great American expressed an opinion that should put to shame those who make declarations and will not permit them to be questioned. Listen to what Wendell Phillips said: "When you have convinced thinking men that it is right, and humane men that it is just, you will gain your cause. Men will always lose half of what is gained by violence. What is gained by argument, is gained forever."

Justice Louis D. Brandeis said: "Public discussion is a political duty, and this should be a fundamental principle of the American government." So when people will not discuss questions which they want the state to adopt or will not permit their statements to be analyzed there is always a very good reason. They well know that truth never contradicts itself. It never is inconsistent, is never embarrassed.

No person who is a seeker of the truth, no person who is a real leader, needs to fear any questions. No question ever embarrasses a true Christian because real Christianity has no dead ends, no contradictions and no irreconcilable statements because it is harmony, beauty and truth.

Will Anything Shame Unionists? "We are willing to help pay the wage increase from car meat pay that money-hungry strikers are demanding. If they will just continue to produce the implements necessary so that we can end this war. Out here we are close to our 'foreign' enemies and can properly deal with them; our enemies at home we cannot reach. In desperation, we can think of nothing but to offer our money to 'buy' them back to work; this money having been earned honestly and in the belief that our efforts would save the nation and protection of those who are striking against us."—The crew of the U.S.S. Coos Bay, a seaplane tender.

Peter Edson's Column: A ROSE BY ANY OTHER NAME--

By PETER EDSON This being the silly season when it's too hot for even a congressman to run for re-election, go back a few weeks to one of those "lighter" pieces knocked off by your plucky correspondent in a whimsical moment. This piece concerned the lack of inspiration or romance or challenge to adventure in LCPL—for Landing Craft Infantry, Large—and the similar LVT, LST, LSM, LCVL, LCR designations which the Navy persists in hanging on its invasion craft.

As proof of the unamorousness of these names, the point was humorously made that you couldn't write a song or write a poem out of such names, and as an example the challenge was flung at any tunesmith to forge a melody for a couplet such as: My sailor boy ain't got much rank. But he commands a Landing Ship, Tank.

Be it known that the challenge has been accepted—but twice. Mr. Robert Taylor, who writes for Washington, the Pittsburgh Press, spoke up to say that he had a couplet to conclude the stanza, but that somebody else would have to fill in between Taylor's contribution. Hush now, baby, don't you cry, Daddy's coming home on an LCL.

News Behind The News The National Whirligig

By ALBERT LEMAN MURDER—As the result of industrial machine disintegration and the Gestapo's grip on occupied states weakens, the resistance movements are coming into their own. They not only help create disorder but their strength grows as chaos spreads. New York headquarters of the various undergrounds are receiving glowing accounts from abroad. But before some of the latest reports are printed here, misconceptions about clandestine activities should be cleared away.

TERROR—The days of Victor Hugo's "Les Miserables" have come again to France. Patriots hide in the vast caverns and sewers beneath the capital. Tunnels have been turned into arsenals and new ones have been secretly dug by regular subway builders. Denizens of this literal underground creep out at night to wreck Vichy or Berlin property or to stab Gestapo snoots. Neither do local gendarmes or Nazi troops dare invade this shadowland. A few searching parties have tried to catch its surreptitious inhabitants but the prey vanishes into the innumerable passages.

So They Say Should the predatory nations feel that we have not only the equipment required for our defense, but the trained and willing manpower to put it into action, the peace and war will be over. National military training is a part of the picture.—Warren K. Atherton, national commander American Legion.

Around Hollywood

By ERSKINE JOHNSON Hollywood's film stars spend almost as much time in front of still cameras as they do facing the movie cameras. Thousands of portraits, production, publicity and fashion photographs are turned out of the film factories every month. What goes on in the privacy of these still galleries when a star is asked to "Hold it, please" is the least published part of their overly publicized lives.

Most particular about fashion and portrait sittings are Marlene Dietrich, Greer Garson, and Loretta Young. All use full length mirrors beside the camera in which they will look. Posing for still pictures makes Clark Gable hungry. He's been known to consume a dozen sandwiches and a pot of coffee during a two-hour sitting.

BERGEN NEEDS CHARLIE Edgar Bergen lacks his usual personality when photographed without Charlie McCarthy. He needs Charlie as much as some actors need their toupees. Grace Moore radiates only when she's wearing clothes she likes. Sonja Henie sends out for ice cream during a sitting. You'll always find a hairdresser present when Alice Faye is looking at the still gallery.

Walter Pidgeon finds still an ordeal because of holding one frozen pose while lights are being set and camera focused. He saves himself by having his stand-in assume an approximation of the pose while the mechanics are being adjusted. Bob Hope invariably greets the photographer with: "Well, let's get this over with as fast as we can." Then he settles down to work and remains as long as he's needed.

War Today

By DEWITT MACKENZIE With due caution one records that catastrophe is trading on the heels of the Hitlerian armies which are being rolled back with heavy loss of life and material by the Allies. Red offensive which is developing the greatest striking power ever let loose in such an operation.

The German danger is so acute that disaster of the first magnitude might overtake them at any time. They apparently are trying to engineer a wholesale withdrawal of great depth to new defenses, thus straightening their long and unwieldy front, and shortening their communications.

The Nazis will have to be mighty lucky to succeed. We've seen their generalship achieve many masterly withdrawals, and it would be a serious mistake to underestimate German resourcefulness in emergencies. However, Hitler no longer has the manpower or equipment to enable him to manipulate his defenses as he has in the past.

Berlin military spokesmen for several days have been preparing the German public to expect a withdrawal on the eastern front. While not avoiding the seriousness of the situation, they've advertised this as part of a revised strategy.

It's represented that this realignment will permit of the transfer of Nazi forces from the eastern front to the western theater for a major offensive on the Allies in Normandy. The idea is to administer a quick, decisive defeat on the western Allies and then whip back to the Russian front in time to protect the eastern frontiers of the Reich.

Well, as the stage magician would say, it's a good trick if they do it—and it's a good trick if they don't. It's a strategy of desperation, but the Hitlerites are in desperate straits.

WHEN we land hours later on an airfield, the identity of which must be revealed, there is a great deal of commotion. Soldiers are frantic with happiness, and surprise us with the most marvelous news: Americans have landed in three ports in North Africa. Algiers surrendered immediately. Casablanca and Oujda have opened fire but nobody takes their resistance too seriously.

It is the first time since the telegram from the Navy Department hit me in the raw that something like a new joy makes my heart tremble. During dinner in the airport restaurant our conversation revolves only around the war and whether or not we will be lucky enough to be sent to North Africa.

NOT even when we board our new plane, which to my eyes looks exactly like the old one, though the experts tell me it is a different type, is curiosity about our destination satisfied. We form the same passenger team as in the preceding plane, only the crew has changed. We fly at great altitude with a pall of clouds below us. The weather is magnificent and the plane as steady as a seat in the movies. We sleep well all through the night and are hardly aware of our landing at the third airport, where we are welcomed by a Red Cross officer. He is the man of the day. He knows our orders. It is the desired and marvelous word: Algiers.

Overwhelmed with joy, we fill the time till our new plane takes off exchanging addresses with one officer friend who had received different, but secret, orders. "Well meet again," says Captain Peters to Elizabeth; "not before the armistice, at least in Berlin when we march through the Brandenburg." For, I will claim you in time to be my bodyguard." And he ventures to kiss her goodby before he hurries into his plane. Elizabeth's cheeks remain crimson for the rest of the day. (To Be Continued)

Pearly Teeth Embarks on Jap Hate Tirade--Breaks Earrings

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON, July 13—(P)—The boss was out. I knew it as soon as I walked in. The three stenographers in the outer office looked up. The door to his inner office was open.
Through the door I could see the maps on his wall. He's a top government official and some big powers had been held around those maps. But I said anyway: "Is the boss in?"
"No," the first stenographer said. "But we expect him back soon."
She was a tall girl. She had bare legs and a green seersucker suit.
Her hair was all bunched on top of her head as if someone had thrown it there from upstairs.
"What is your name, please?" the second stenographer said.
"Marlow," I told her.
"Mr. Monroe?" she said.
"Yes," I said. "That's right."
"Well, Mr. Monroe," she said, "he'll be back soon."
She had a big smile. It was so steady it looked like it had been pinned back. She had white teeth, big and even, like they had been cut out of bathtub.
"Is it all right, Mr. Monroe?" Pearly Teeth said. "You just sit down."
The third stenographer, who hadn't said anything, went back to reading her newspaper. She was on the fat side. I had seen her walking through the halls often.
Nobody said anything. Fasto turned the pages of the paper. Then Fasto said: "I see where the Japs are using poison gas on the Chinese."
Pearly Teeth swung around. She was fiddling with her silver earring and she said: "I thought we were the ones who had the very latest thing in poisonous gases if anybody started anything."
"That's my understanding," Fasto said. "And there's only one thing we should do."
"For instance?" Pearly Teeth said, pulling at the earring.
"We ought to—" Fasto started. Then she looked at Pearly Teeth and asked: "How do they shoot poison gas? out of cans or something?"
"I'm sure they do," Pearly Teeth said.
"Well, then," Fasto said, staring over the top of her paper, "we ought to line up all the gas cans we got and shot them straight across Pampa and wipe out every Japanese there is."

"Gick, gick," the girl with the hair-do said, making a giddyap sound.
"Oh, this thing," Pearly Teeth said, holding two pieces of silver in her hands. "I broke my earring."

Nurses Will Be Rated Regular Army

WASHINGTON, July 13—(P)—President Roosevelt has ordered all army nurses commissioned as actual army officers in lieu of the relative rank they now hold.
The effect of the executive order will give nurses, female dieticians and physical therapy personnel of the army medical department the full authority of their officer rank. Heretofore nurses have been commissioned by relative rank, somewhat limiting their authority.

Without Painful Backache
When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headache and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passage with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.
Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give heavy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

MILK IS A VICTORY FOOD
Milk is important to the health of the nation—it is needed for normal eyesight and promotes strong teeth and bones. Children should drink a quart of milk a day—adults, a pint. When not served as a beverage milk should be combined with other foods.
