

Nazis Get "Works" From Pampan, Buddies

Lt. Col. Roy Webb, son of Dr. and Mrs. Roy A. Webb, Sr., of this city, reported to his parents and wife quite coolly that he had "pulled another rabbit out of the bag." What he meant to say was that he had destroyed five more German planes giving him a total of 37 swastikas on his P-51 as shown in the picture of him and his plane above.

In his letter, written June 30, he said:

"Yesterday just after a bunch of bombers bombed an airfield in Germany, I took my flight (4 ships) down to strafe and shoot up the place. Well, we found oodles of planes on the field, and had a wonderful time shooting them up. I got five destroyed and one damaged. Maj. Hopkins (one of his buddies) got four destroyed and two damaged. Lt. Eckfeldt got four destroyed and two damaged, and Lt. Richards got three destroyed and three damaged. We left the field in a mess—I've recommended all of them for the Silver Star medal. Don't know whether they will get it or not. Sure hope so."

In a postscript Col. Webb says: "I'm safe as I would be at home."

In another letter dated July 3, he said he now had 262:25 combat hours, with over 200 sorties—only 37:35 more hours to go. "Should be able to finish up this month," he added, and hoped to be coming home soon.

More than 800 Turn Out to Hear Second In Concert Series

More than 800 persons turned out Friday night at Central Park to hear 30 former professional musicians of the Pampa Army Air Field band give the second of the regularly scheduled Friday night summer concerts under the direction of Warrant Officer Ken Carpenter.

The program, which began at 8 o'clock, included four marches by the great band leader and composer, John Philip Sousa; light classical, modern and religious music.

Opening the concert the band played two marches: "Semper Paratus" and "U. S. Field Artillery March," followed by the light classical Mexican serenade, "Estrallita" by Ponc. "Washington Post" march preceded selections from George Gershwin's light American folk opera, "Porgy and Bess," which included "Summertime," "A Woman is a Sometime Thing," "I Got Plenty of Nuffin," "Bess You Is My Woman," "It Ain't Necessarily So," "Plenic Parade," and "O. Lawd, Ah'm On My Way."

Following a short intermission, the second half of the program was opened with the march, "Thunderer" which was followed by "My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice," from "Samson and Delilah" by Saint-Saens.

One of the features of the evening was the "Trumpeters" by Ledzett, next played by a trumpet quartet composed of First Sgt. Al Fish, S/Sgt. Nick Mutu, Jack Townsend, and Pfc. Val Cammarati.

A hush fell over the crowd for the remaining part of the program, which included "Last Roundup" by Billy Hill, the hymn "Day is Dying in the West," and the National Anthem.

PAAF Show Returns To KPND In Fall

The regular weekly radio show from the local air base will be missing from the air lanes until fall, Col. Charles B. Harvin, Pampa Army Air Field's commanding officer, said yesterday.

Emanating from KPND at 6:30 p. m., each Wednesday, the half-hour show is staged at the local air base theatre, except for the program last week, which was given in the post enlisted men's service club.

A definite date has not been selected when the GI show will be resumed in the fall.

Japanese Hint They Have Put To Death U. S. Fliers

US Bombers Avenge Nips' Crime Deed

By LEONARD MILLIMAN Associated Press War Editor

Fuming rivers of oil were sent gushing down on Japanese in the Boela petroleum center of Ceram Island in a blazing answer by Allied fliers to an enemy broadcast hinting that superfortress airmen had been executed for bombing Japan.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced today attack planes flying over the island of Ceram in the Dutch East Indies and the streams of oil enveloped "the whole target in flames."

MacArthur's bombers came out victoriously in air battles over Yap and Palau, and joined cruisers and destroyers in a series of night operations against Japanese lines on the northern New Guinea coast. A spokesman said the intense bombardment had temporarily halted the enemy attempt to break out of a massive trap.

Imperial armies were in retreat on two other battlefronts and American bombers were ranging undisturbed over 800 miles of Japan's inner defense line when a radio program hinted at new executions of Yank airmen.

Purchasing to Japanese soil after an air raid is buying "a one way ticket to hell," the announcer said.

YANKEE INGENUITY TO THE RESCUE

When Jap anti-aircraft fire shot away controls of brakes and landing flaps of this B-24 Liberator over the Jap island of Yap, Yank ingenuity brought the big craft in to a safe landing at a base in the Southwest Pacific. As seen above, two parachutes were anchored to waist gunnights and ripcords were pulled when plane hit runway, and the heavy plane slid to a smooth stop.

Execution of Airmen Not in Rules of War

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON, July 15.—(AP)—The Japanese hint that more captured American airmen have been or are to be executed emphasizes that the rules of war cannot be enforced.

The so-called rules of warfare consist of written and unwritten codes evolving from treaties, conventions and international discussions and are supposed to be binding upon all "civilized" nations.

The executions of airmen, distinctly members of armed forces, are banned under a section of the Geneva Convention of 1929 as part of the rules of war which prohibits "measures of reprisals" against prisoners of war. But, as in all other instances of violations, there is no way for the United States to compel uncivilized Japanese to observe this prohibition. Likewise, this country was unable to do anything about Japan's utter disregard of international law in the treatment of prisoners captured in the Philippines, as disclosed by a war department report earlier this year.

In some military circles, there is a disposition to regard the Germans as somewhat more observant of the code when it is applied to those the Nazis recognize as members of armed forces. The enemy in his operations in North Africa, Italy and France, says some who have studied the record, has been almost meticulous in observing rules governing military prisoners and purely combat operations.

This, however, does not apply in Nazi dealings with civilian populations where the combination of Nazi political policy and the German army desire to maintain complete control and security in occupied areas has resulted in mass executions and other brutal excesses.

Local Flier Was Aboard Fortress Lost In Maine

Relatives of 2nd Lt. Robert W. Talley of Pampa had no further word Saturday from the War Department concerning the wreck of a B-17 Flying Fortress which Tuesday night crashed on the side of a hill north of the Rangeley lakes in Maine. Talley was a bombardier aboard the ship.

Rescue squads were last reported hawking their way through dense woods toward the wreckage.

Lieut. Talley is a graduate of Pampa high school with the class of 1935. He enlisted in the army in November, 1942, and was called to service with the army air corps in Jan. 1943. Talley received his training at various places, at Santa Ana, and Victorville, Cal., winning his commission at Victorville in April, 1944.

No official word has been received here concerning the accident either through Associated Press releases or by his relatives. Fragments of the bomber were spotted from the air Thursday after an extensive search by 109 army and civil air patrol planes and an undisclosed number of navy and Royal Canadian air craft.

Army officials said the bomber reported in at Syracuse, N. Y. at 10:10 a.m. Tuesday en route for Dow field at Bangor, Maine. It communicated by radio with Greater field at 11:55 a.m. and was not heard from again.

Lieut. Talley's wife, Mrs. Gloriadell Talley and two-year-old daughter, Ann, reside in San Angelo. Relatives in Pampa are Mrs. Robert Talley, mother, 918 N. Somerville; Mrs. Charles Thomas, aunt, north of town; Mrs. Naida Graham, sister, also at 918 Somerville.

Ground-Skimming Flier Gets Life

MARANA FIELD, Ariz., July 15.—(AP)—Confinement for life at hard labor was ordered by a court martial board today for Second Lt. Howard E. Stittsworth, 21-year-old Luke Field flier, for the decapitation of a motorist with the wing tip of his ground-skimming training plane.

Stittsworth, whose home is in Wakefield, Kans., was found guilty on all counts including that of murder. The conviction carried a recommendation of dismissal from the service.

The youthful flier was identified by witnesses as the pilot of a plane that bounced down U. S. Highway 89 near Wittman, Ariz., June 22 and decapitated Earl W. Nepple, Los Angeles hotel man, as he drove with his wife and a friend toward Phoenix.

Second Lt. Dean C. Fundingsland, 23, of Grand Forks, N. D., senior officer in the plane with Stittsworth at the time, was convicted Monday of violating flying regulations. His dismissal was recommended.

City Seeks Junior College Here

Following several weeks of study of the junior college movement, a sub-committee of the Post War Planning committee of the Pampa Board of City Development and Chamber of Commerce made a report and a strong recommendation to the directors that immediate steps be taken to organize and secure a junior college to serve Pampa and the surrounding Top O'Texas area. At a meeting Friday night at the City Hall.

The recommendation was directed to both the Post War Planning committee and to the directors of the Board of City Development and Chamber of Commerce. The Post War Planning committee, many of whom, have been pretty close to the local study of the junior college project from committee meetings, accepted the report of the sub-committee and joined with them in making the recommendations to the board of directors.

After a thorough discussion, at which local school officials participated, a motion was made that the Board of City Development and Chamber of Commerce go on record as in favor of taking steps immediately toward the establishment of a Junior College in Pampa.

Fighting Expected To Flare Up Soon

By GORDON BROWN Associated Press War Editor

Allied forces hammered new wedges into Nazi defense positions and prepared still other onslaughts yesterday all along the three European land fronts which now have lengthened to more than 900 miles.

Hardfighting Americans pushed into the outskirts of Lessay, western Nazi anchor on the Normandy front, and were expected to complete its liberation shortly. To the southeast other U. S. troops advanced four miles to within two miles of Periers. Still further southeast other Americans within 2,000 yards of St. Lo loosed heavy barrage against the resisting Nazis.

At the eastern end of the 75-mile Normandy front British and Canadians massed for a show-down battle around Caen which they captured a week ago. Germans reported that a push by General Montgomery's men was imminent.

Reds Report Many Successes

Russians reported successes all along their north and central fronts but had nothing to say about German broadcasts announcing that the Soviets had launched a new offensive toward Laow, in the south of Old Poland, which would extend the eastern front to more than 700 miles.

In a significant development, the Reds reached the Niemen river line north and south of Alytus, which they captured during the day. This put them within eight miles of the Suwalki triangle, annexed to East Prussia in 1939. It also put them northwest of strategic Grodno, already being outflanked in the southwest.

To the north the Russians took Popchka, 24 miles from Latvia; extended their flanking maneuver against Daugavpils (Dvinsk) by taking Oniksha and Pichany, and also moved to within 19 miles of Kaunas.

On the western end of the 160-mile Italian front U. S. forces advanced to within three and one-half miles of the great port of Livorno (Leghorn). It appeared the battered 14th German army was in full retreat and its position hopeless south of the Arno river guarding Florence and Pisa.

Advances were general elsewhere on the Italian front except in the center where the British were selling the battle back. Olmo pass, leading the way to Arezzo.

In the day's only major air activity a fleet of 750 heavies from Italy blasted hard-hit Nazi oil installations at Elosid.

Wheat Shipments Is Matter of Manpower

Pointing out that the glut of wheat shipments in Fort Worth, said and other cities of the Southwest is not a problem of transportation but one of labor supply, O. C. Castle, Houston, assistant western director of the Department of Railroad Transport of the Office of Defense Transportation, yesterday said all possible co-operation was being given by the ODT in the situation.

He said every available aid was being extended to other government agencies and private business interests which have "the task of solving labor problems."

Wheat cars recently have been rolling into Fort Worth and other cities faster than they could be unloaded.

"Railroads could handle most of the 1944 wheat crop without serious tie-up, if elevators and others had adequate help to unload cars as rapidly as railroads bring them in," said the ODT official.

"Someone has suggested that refrigerator cars be used for wheat shipments. That would not help, as railroads already are providing more cars than can be unloaded."

NEW YORK WALL STREET

NEW YORK, July 15—(AP)—Scattered bulls and industrials made little passes at an advance in today's stock market while many leaders continued to loaf in the listing column.

Dealings were somewhat slack from the start and, near the final hour, fractional price changes predominated.

Numerous potential buyers stood aside for weekend protection. Others still awaited a stable technical correction before reinstating commitments. Mild bidding was based on earnings and dividend prospects, political hopes and the generally favorable war news.

In front of intervals were General Outdoor Advertising, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Sears Roebuck, Goodrich, Westinghouse, Union Carbide and Dow Chemical. Shipping tendencies were shown by U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, American, Goodrich and Montgomery Ward.

Nazi Homefront Picture Is Drab

Interpreting the War News By KIRK L. SIMPSON Associated Press War Analyst

Monitored German broadcasts were sounding a somber note at the mid-July week-end that could be more significant of an impending crisis in the war in Europe than even reports from its roaring triple battle fronts, gloomy as they seemed for Nazi authors of the conflict.

Whether voiced by authorized military commentators from Berlin in realistic appraisal of the unfavorable trends of the war, or emitted in hysterical outbursts by Nazi propaganda dispensers calling for a "maelstrom of destruction" and indiscriminate blood-letting, they had this in common: there was a foreboding note of realization of impending doom to be reached into them. Yet to what extent they also reflect a rising tide of public despair in Germany as the walls of Hitler's Fortress Europe crumble under Russian Allied pressure can only be conjectured.

"The vice presidential question is very much up in the air," observed Senator Carl Hatch of New Mexico. Open-minded on the issue himself, Hatch said he believed the President would let it be known that Wallace is his personal choice, but that the convention should do its own choosing.

Dance, Floor Show To Be On Wednesday

Probably the biggest event of the summer to date for Section F is scheduled for Wednesday night when a combination dance and floor show, "Harlem Cabaret Night" is held in the post recreation hall with the Pampa Army Air Field post orchestra providing the music.

The program will begin at 8:30, with dancing until 10:30, when an hour floor show, under the supervision of Pfc. Henry L. Bannett, will take over the waxed mahogany. Featured in the floor show will be Cpl. Chester W. Robinson, skat and sweet singer of swing.

The recreation hall will be decorated in real Harlem cabaret style, with tables lining the walls to hold floor decorations, caricatures of famous colored entertainers painted by Special Services artist Sgt. George Wilson, favors and refreshments.

COLLEGE

should be interested in the best interests of Pampa from either a commercial or an educational standpoint, to attend the luncheon and carry the information back to their memberships.

Efforts will be made to contact these officials early Monday, but any interested citizen should not wait for an invitation. President Huff points out. Just telephone 383 by noon tomorrow morning for a "reservation."

First thing to be done in getting the junior college project started is to inform the citizenship of Pampa and the surrounding territory of the advantages of a junior college. It was pointed out at the meeting that this work will be started at the Chamber of Commerce membership luncheon meeting at noon Tuesday in the First Methodist Church Fellowship room.

After this educational program has been carried out, petitions will be passed among the qualified voters, petitioning for an election for the creation of a junior college district.

When these petitions are in, the election will be called and a junior college district will be formed.

This procedure will take several months.

It is the recommendation of the Post War Planning committee that this preliminary work be started immediately.

After the junior college district is formed, the ruling officials of the district, could then be in position to make plans for the size of the school plant, and the hundreds of details necessary in the creation of an important educational institution.

Many questions about the project can not be answered now, but will be not be answered until the Post War period.

Emphasis was placed upon taking steps now so that the college can be ready for the Post War period.

The Post War Planning committee recommended that Pampa make immediate organization plans on the junior college so that the college here will be in line for funds and assistance from the proposed area school movement. It was pointed out that the national congress is favorably considering a bill to appropriate $97,500,000.00 annually for the establishment in the various colleges of the nation, vocational education and training for veterans returning from military service, workers demobilized from war production plants, and for other youth and for adults. Since Pampa is located right in the heart of the great Panhandle Oil Field, it is felt that a junior college properly equipped to teach a wide variety of vocational subjects, will fill an outstanding need and that support can be secured from the school funds if congress passes the legislation, members of the Post War Planning committee stated Friday night.

Enforcement Urged On Newspaper Laws

WASHINGTON, July 15—(AP)—The newspaper industry advisory committee has unanimously recommended strict enforcement of newspaper rationing "including criminal prosecution for willful violations." The War Production Board reported Friday.

The report, containing the recommendations, was signed by W. G. Chandler of the Scripps-Howard newspapers; H. M. Bitner, of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph; Frank E. Tripp of the Gazette newspapers; Robert B. Choate of the Boston Herald-Traveler; and Walter M. Dear of the Jersey City Journal.

Enforcement Urged On Newspaper Laws

WASHINGTON, July 15—(AP)—The newspaper industry advisory committee has unanimously recommended strict enforcement of newspaper rationing "including criminal prosecution for willful violations." The War Production Board reported Friday.

"Each case of a willful violation shall be referred to the Department of Justice for criminal prosecution and the offender's non-compliance shall be given full publicity," said the committee of publishers, as quoted in a WPB statement covering actions taken at a meeting here Tuesday and Wednesday.

Arthur B. Treanor, director of the WPB printing and publishing division, who is supervising the compliance would be investigated immediately, and that the printing and publishing division would be consulted by WPB compliance authorities throughout such investigations.

A special subcommittee reported there had been "a few flagrant violations" of the newspaper order, and that these "constituted a serious threat to the successful operation of the limitation order."

The report, containing the recommendations, was signed by W. G. Chandler of the Scripps-Howard newspapers; H. M. Bitner, of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph; Frank E. Tripp of the Gazette newspapers; Robert B. Choate of the Boston Herald-Traveler; and Walter M. Dear of the Jersey City Journal.

WE GET TO THINKING

ABOUT THE FOLKS DOWN ON THE GROUND!

"Once in a while we get a chance to sit back and do a little thinking while we're hidden behind a cloud bank—and there's plenty of times when our thoughts are with the men and women down on the ground back home—the folks who build these pieces of greased lightning we ride in.

"We know that just because it is night our invisible partners are not sleeping—but somewhere in a brilliantly lighted factory thousands of them are continuing to turn out the ships we'll need until we get a tough job done

"Take it from a guy that's done a lot of whistling through the skies... it's mighty nice to think about the folks down on the ground—and to realize we've got that kind of help backing us up."

We of the Southwestern Public Service Co. take immeasurable pride in the realization that we are responsible for a lot of help to our fighting men. It has been our job to furnish the electric power to many war plants turning out the weapons of war.

To our own folks on the ground, the men and women who help us make the power—and to the thousands of others who put that power to such good uses—go our congratulations on a job well done. It's the American idea in us all, we guess—free Americans never have been ticked—and never will be!

Big Part World Output of Carbon Black From Area

The Texas Panhandle alone produced 380,536,000 pounds of carbon black in the entire United States in 1942, according to an article in the May issue of the American Gas Journal, New York. Practically the entire carbon black supply of the world is produced within the borders of the United States and nearly 90 per cent of it is consumed by the rubber industry. Used in the manufacture of carbon black in 1942 was 336 billion feet of natural gas. The article containing these facts is illustrated with a picture of a Berger carbon black plant, with these captions: "Partial view of the Berger Texas carbon black plant under construction. This plant contains 43 miles of steel channels and 600,000 burning tips. It consumes over 40 million cubic feet of natural gas every day in carbon black production."

Marquand Added To Book Club Staff

John F. Marquand, Pulitzer prize-winning novelist and well known magazine and detective story writer, has joined the editorial board of the Book-of-the-Month club, it was announced today by Harry Scherman, president. Mr. Marquand, who has had two of his novels—"H. M. Pulham, Esq." and, more recently, "So Little Time"—chosen by the club, thus forfeits the right to have any of his future novels selected as a book-of-the-month. It has been a rule of the organization since its inception in 1926, that no judge may have one of his own books selected for distribution. The addition of Mr. Marquand to the board brings the total up to its original number of five for the first time since the death of Heywood Brown in 1939. His appointment follows closely that of Clifton Fadiman, in May, replacing the late William Allen White. In addition to Mr. Marquand and Mr. Fadiman, the board includes Dorothy Canfield, Christopher Morley and Henry Seidel Canby. In announcing the appointment of the new judge, Mr. Scherman stated: "John Marquand's straight and unorthodox appraisal of people and life has become well known to the public through his novels. It extends to books. The present members of the board are delighted that henceforth they will have his good sense and judgment supplementing their own views."

Conservation Plans Demonstrated Today

MARSHALL, Texas, July 16—(AP)—Conservation plans, the most complete in the 30-year history of the Texas Forestry Association, was outlined Friday at the Texas Mill Carmona, president of the Texas Mill Managers Association. Some 200 timberland owners, foresters, wool industrialists, farmers and others interested in forestry are expected for the annual convention of the association. Carmona will conduct an open forum on needs of more adequate fire protection. In the afternoon the civil Air Texas Forest Patrol will demonstrate the function of planes in fighting forest fires.

Occupations Course Unlikely Next Year

"Diversified occupations will probably not be offered to the students this school year, because of the low pay schedule set-up by the state," Dr. D. F. Osborne, principal of Pampa High school, stated Wednesday. He said that the students themselves can probably find a job that will pay more in these times than one diversified occupations can offer them. A person cannot draw more money than the schedule says. When times are good, the diversified occupations in high school fades out, just as when times are bad, it flourishes.

Cottonseed Products Is Closing Subject Of Cotton Meeting

DALLAS, July 15—(AP)—The fifth annual cotton research congress closed Friday with a discussion of the economic significance of cottonseed products. G. Hopkins of the Interstate Cotton Oil Refining Co. of Sherman; E. R. Eudaly, dairy husbandman of the Texas A. & M. college extension service; T. H. Hughton of the Collins court oil Co. of McKinney, and A. Cecil Wamble, representing the cotton research committee of Texas, were the final speakers. Their discussions concerned cotton's future as a leading source of essential fat, cotton as a key to livestock feeding, the economic significance of cottonseed to the south-west and nation and what research has done for cottonseed. Dr. Homer P. Rainey, president of the University of Texas, told 250 growers, technicians and processors attending the congress yesterday that the south became the economic problem number one of the nation "because we thought that way."

He declared "we let other parts of the country out-think us." The south, he added, has produced cotton at a loss and has taken out the deficit by destroying the soil. For every bale produced in the past century "we let 130 tons of the world's richest cotton soil go down the river."

Dr. Rainey said he believed the economic problems of Texas and the south could be approached through research—science and technology will be able to make the boundless natural resources of this great area available to the people. Dr. A. B. Conner, director of the Texas agricultural experiment station, in explaining the purpose of the cotton research congress, said that the whole program was designed to crystallize a course of procedures which will be a sound course in preserving and developing the economic values of cotton for the state and nation.

Auto Industry Won't Return to '42 Model

WASHINGTON, July 15—(AP)—When automobiles can be made again the industry will be free to make new models rather than return to the 1942 models. Vice Chairman E. L. Boulware of the War Production Board said today. The industry probably will be allowed to aim at a starting rate of 2,150,000 cars a year, about half of 1941 output, Boulware told reporters following a meeting on reconversion planning with the automobile industry advisory committee.

Texas Timber Has Big Part in War

HOUSTON, July 15—(AP)—Timber grown on small farms in Texas has made a big contribution to the war effort, M. M. Bryan, acting area supervisor of Texas national forests, said today. Twenty per cent of the 1,274,000,000 board feet of lumber produced in 1943 in East Texas was cut on small farms, he stated, and 25 per cent of the 399,000 cords for paper mills also came from small farms. Small East Texas farms contributed at least 90 per cent of the 9,500,000 fence posts cut last year and one-half of the 3,375,000 cross ties produced in 36 counties. Another 1,750,000 cords of wood were cut in East Texas and used as firewood and 80 per cent of this wood came from the smaller farm tracts. Fifty-seven per cent of the area of 36 counties in East Texas is timbered and at least one-fourth of this timber is on small farms, Bryan said.

564 Babies Are Born in a Year

According to the Bureau of Vital Statistics, the estimated number of births in Gray County from June, 1943, to June of this year is 564. Since October, 1943, to June, 1944, 423 births have been recorded, and from January to June the records show the number to be 271.

Of this number, 371, one more girl was born in comparison to the number of boys who totaled 135 to the total number of girls, 135. Last year, a majority of girls were born.

In Gray County, whose population is 23,911, the birth of more boys, this year as compared to last, is becoming more evident all the time.

These figures came from the birth records kept by Mrs. Jewell Shackelford, assistant city collector. The Bureau of Vital Statistics is part of the City Health Department.

From the records of the last census taken (in 1940), there was a total of 2,360,393 births in the United States, of which the majority, 1,211,684, were boys and the minority, 1,148,715, were girls. In Texas, there were 126,687 births recorded.

More Than Two Score Women Give Lives

WASHINGTON, July 15—(AP)—More than two score women members of the nation's armed forces—Nurses, Wacs, WAVes, Marines—have died in line of duty since the start of the war and even more are prisoners.

Six nurses died in the bombing of army field hospitals on the beachhead at Anzio, Italy. Twenty-three others died in accidents while in performance of duty, army records show.

The women's army corps lists one Wac killed in line of duty, a jeep accident in North Africa.

The Marines have lost seven members in accidents while the women were on duty.

Four navy nurses have died in plane crashes while on assignments.

About 60 army nurses and 16 navy nurses are prisoners, all of them captured when the Philippines fell to the Japanese.

Warning Issued On Use of Vehicles

Operators of commercial motor vehicles were warned yesterday by W. F. Nelson, of Amarillo, district manager of the Office of Defense Transportation, that the manner in which they operate and maintain their vehicles in conformity with good maintenance practices may be a factor in determining whether or not they are entitled to new equipment.

There continues to be evidence that many motor trucks and motor truck tires are being abused and prematurely worn out by some truck operators even though the great majority of the operators are doing a very good job in conserving their equipment, Mr. Nelson said.

With the new streamlined procedure for allocating trucks by the ODT district offices, each of which has a maintenance specialist on its staff, the ODT is considering an inspection of the condition of old trucks which are to be replaced with new trucks in order to determine if the past maintenance work has been ample, it was explained. Operators must conserve their present trucks. It was emphasized, and operators who do not do so should not be granted new vehicles.

Many items can be used as criteria in judging the quality of maintenance on an old vehicle. It was pointed out. An operator who has very poor results with tires can be assumed to be a serious offender insofar as over-loads and speeds are concerned. Evidence of insufficient and irregular lubrication can be observed directly on vehicles. The operator's purchases or requests for new parts to replace parts which have been broken or obviously abused may be another indication of poor maintenance and abusive operation.

Texas Hereford Association Was Organized Forty-Five Years Ago

DALLAS, Texas, July 15—Forty-five years ago as the nineteenth century neared its close, a small group of cattle raisers gathered in San Antonio and organized the Texas Hereford Association. Its purpose was the improvement of the livestock industry in Texas.

W. S. Ikard, a Clay County rancher, who had brought the first Herefords to Texas a couple of decades before, was elected president. Those ranchers didn't have any treasury and before the first membership dues were placed on the barrelhead they set about raising $1,000 for premiums to be awarded at shows and fairs for better cattle.

From that November day in 1899 until now this organization worked ceaselessly, not primarily on increasing the number of cattle, but toward better stock that would produce finer beef at a greater profit to the grower.

At the time the ranchers got their movement started there was more scrub stock in Texas than any other kind. A few years later, Texas Herefords were taking awards in every class at the Chicago International Show from grand champion down. They are still winning.

Today the Hereford breed represents more than eighty per cent of the range stock in the state. Texas is the leading livestock producing state in America and last year the industry brought a cash income of $467,499,000 according to the United States Department of Agriculture, almost double that of 3 years ago. There is not a county in Texas where the Whiteface is not raised.

The Texas Hereford Association feels that while the first forty-five years were the hardest, the program undertaken by those ranchers in the last century is really only getting well under way.

Under the presidency of Jack Frost, second generation owner of the White Hat Ranch in Nolan County, who maintains association headquarters in Dallas, a program far more ambitious and extensive than that of any previous years has been launched.

The members believe that the continued development of Texas' oldest industry on a sound, scientific basis through the post-war years will be the best insurance against such dangers as the one-crop cotton disaster, farm tenancy and livestock diversification which previously disturbed the state's economy.

The Association is preaching the gospel that the blending of good cattle into well-blended farm programs will do more to stabilize the prosperity of the state than any other single factor.

Because financial interests of the state are directly affected by the success or failure of the efforts of the Texas Hereford Association, the bankers of Texas have been asked to affiliate themselves with the organization as associate members and to cooperate in the program.

The organization has established a monthly publication called the "Texas Hereford." Through its Dallas office it is supplying information to members and non-members alike on all phases of the Hereford industry. It is publishing a directory for cattlemen. The state has been divided into fifty-six regions with a director of the Association in each area assigned the responsibility of helping the cattlemen in those districts.

As a capital event in the Association's history the Greater Pan-American Hereford Exposition will be staged at Arlington Downs between Dallas and Fort Worth, November 11-18. The exposition is planned as a wartime service for cattlemen where they can buy and sell their stock, exchange experiences and learn of the most modern developments in their business. A rodeo, horse show, including quarter-horse events will be held in connection with the cattle show.

FORESTRY ASSOCIATION APPROVES MONEY BILL

MARSHALL, July 15—(AP)—The Texas Forestry association, in its annual convention here, approved a plan seeking an annual government appropriation of $600,000 and the use of surplus army equipment for protection of Texas forests.

R. H. Eagle, president of the Texas Mill Managers association, who offered the proposal, said the fund would be administered by the Texas forest service. The federal government would be asked to share a fourth of the expense, he added.

W. E. Merron, Houston, was elected president of the association. Other officers named were D. W. Thompson, Lufkin, vice-president; R. M. Cagle, Lufkin, chairman of legislative committee; Jesse Andrews, legislative committee member; and J. P. Martin, Martineville; Richard Blalock, Marshall; A. E. Gullip, Dalhart; George Grogan, Bivins; Carl Hilton, Joseph; George F. Verhalen, Scottsville, and W. S. Martin, Fort Arthur, board members.

The association voted to change the name of state forest No. 2, in Montgomery county, to W. Goodrich Jones state forest. Jones, of Waco, holds the office of present trustee.

Classification Is Job Well Done Here

Getting the square pegs in the square holes is one of the myriad jobs of the local air base classification department, headed by Lt. Max Galambos, classification officer; and the department is doing a commendable job, Colonel Charles B. Harvin, Itampa Army Air Field's commanding officer, said today.

In order to achieve their objective to assign the right men to the right jobs, the classification department is always alert to make certain that every enlisted man is assigned to duties commensurate with the highest level of his or her abilities.

Back in the day, when quite a number of soldiers exchanged "civvies" for GI uniforms, so, diers took a number of examinations and answered a lot of questions on what they did in civilian life. Today, recruits go through the same process. The classification specialists take the grades and other information obtained from these exams, which has been recorded on a large card known as a Form 20, and use it to help fit the right man into the right Army job.

Based on the information that the soldiers gave at their reception centers, this information is most helpful in seeing that each enlisted man gets the correct military occupational specialty, known as the MOS specialty by the soldiers. The occupational specialty is a definite number with a complete job description. Here are some examples: 055 Clerk, non typist; 750 airplane maintenance technician; 747 airplane and engine mechanic.

It is the responsibility of every enlisted man to know and obtain a skilled rating by fulfilling all the requirements of his specialty. The ultimate objective, "success in battle," requires the utilization of personnel in many jobs. Some of these jobs are highly technical and others are menial, but they are all essential in winning the war. Try all, there are 150 job assignments at Pampa Army Air Field, and every one of them plays a vital part in ultimate victory. Colonel Harvin said. "And the soldier who is fitted in the right job, is a happier and better soldier," he added.

SONG OF THE OPEN ROAD
I think that I shall never see
A billboard as lovely as a tree.
Indeed, unless the billboards fall
I'll never see a tree at all.

—Ogden Nash

We can't decide who gets to laugh at who in this particular case, but what matters . . . he who laughs last laughs loudest.
Mr. D. V. Burton received a package from his daughter, who lives in Columbus, Ohio. The package arrived on Father's Day, so he opened it and found a little clip with a dollar bill stuck between the two prongs. He immediately thought what a swell tie clip, but wondered why the dollar bill. Then he remembered that Columbus was a big place and probably his daughter didn't have time to have his initials engraved on the clip and just put in the money.
On Sunday Mr. Burton put on one of his loudest ties so as to show off his new clip to an advantage and went to church, displaying his new present to his friends.
After he had written to his daughter to thank her for the keen present she wrote back and told him that it was just swell that he liked the clip but it was not a "tie clip," but one for money to keep bills together in a pocket . . . and furthermore she had walked all over town to find it.

We don't like to seem ancient—but just wonder where some of this new lingo comes from. The other day while reading the lead of a Panhandle newspaper story we saw: "The Dallam-Hartley counties Fifth War Loan drive went over the top—right on the cat's hop."

Now, what we'd like to know is: just what is, and how far is a cat's hop?

A weekly classified advertising column read:
"Found—Lady's purse left in my car while parked. Owner can have same by describing property and paying for this ad. If owner can't describe satisfactorily to my wife how purse got into car, I will pay for ad myself."

Soon we women will have the opportunity of voting. It is a privilege which we have and which we must use.
There are, however, a great many women who DON'T vote even when they get to the polls. They give their vote away . . . and most generally they give their vote to their husband . . . Not literally, of course, but they may as well hand over their ballot and say, "Here, John, you vote for me . . . whoever you vote for will be all right with me." They may as well sign their name to the ballot and do just that, as to let their husband tell them who to vote for before they get to the polls.
It is not one of the sins for a woman to vote the way her husband does, but it is a crime against all we have fought for in the way of democracy when a woman lets her husband do her voting because she has not taken the time to do a little thinking for herself. And just because her father and his father's father voted a particular ticket is certainly no reason that she should follow suit.
The day is passed that we use another person's mind to do our voting. The time has most certainly gone by that women have no place in their government.

We don't advocate a feud among the family—but if your husband gives you credit for having any sort of a mind, he will then, give you credit for having the ability to do your own voting.
Now that we are down off our soap box—do you know the definition of a bathing beauty? A girl with a wonderful profile all the way down.

Fashion editors say—"Go on, girls, be frivolous. Fall fashions demand it and your serviceman beau insists on it."
Looks like the fashions are going to be elegantly feminine—peplums, tunics, bustles and all sorts of drape shapes. And what's more, shoulders are wider than ever, skirts are narrower (beneath tunics and bustles) and slit skirts appear (to make walking possible, we presume).
Colors are gaily flamboyant, hats are startling creations of flowers, feathers and stuff and even tailored suits are dressed up with a bright blouse or unexpected dressmaker lapel details.

A liar is one who has no partition between his imagination and his information.
About the prettiest little kitten we've seen in a long time is Sgt. and Mrs. Ken Weaver's young 'un, Carla. When she gets in her pink dress and bonnet and flashes her very brown . . . well, we bet she has the sergeant doing an about face.

For those of you who have lots of time and even more forbearance under provocation and haven't the slightest tendency to let the deep end offer this puzzle:
A train is operated by three men—fireman, engineer and brakeman. Their names are Smith, Robinson and Jones, but they are not named in respective order. Three business men of the same names are also on the train—a Mr. Smith, a Mr. Robinson and a Mr. Jones. Considering the following facts, what is the name of the engineer?
1. Mr. Robinson lives in Detroit. 2. The brakeman lives halfway between Chicago and Detroit. 3. Mr. Jones earns exactly $9,000 a year. 4. Smith beat the fireman at billiards. 5. The brakeman's nearest neighbor, one of the passengers, earns exactly three times as much as the brakeman. 6. The passenger whose name is the same as the brakeman's lives in Chicago.

Now—with all that ponder—It will take at least a week to find out who the brakeman is . . . so your guess is as good as ours. If you think you know, then send in the answer with your name. Next week when the Philnews comes out we will give the correct answer.
Meanwhile you can go around measuring shoe strings. Chew up ties and gnaw the toes off any old shoes you can find.
And United States cigarettes command 50 cents a pack.
A soldier's letter conveys the information that a penny packet of American matches sells in Italy for 18 cents, via the black market. And contrary to what you may think, it's because of the black market, the infinitesimal profit margin on lower-priced cigarettes as well as increased packaging costs and the scarcity of labor, a leading tobacco in the cheaper field is simply retiring from business. But nearly all the major cigarette companies are bidding for its tobacco stock and chances are that the half dozen lesser brands it's made famous will be absorbed by competitors . . . so soon as you may see your favorite brand go whizzing right off the market.

Now this is STRICTLY just between us girls—and we wouldn't have the fellows even dream that we ever thought of keeping in step with them . . . but it is something that all of us are thinking of—and that the day when the war is over and the boys come home. Might be a very special man in your life—a husband or a brother—but anyway we are waiting.
We don't really know just what we expect them to be like after they are home again. We know they will be fundamentally the same person . . . but they will change in a great many ways. When life goes on in army and navy camps, men never escape picking up habits and mannerisms demonstrated by those with whom he is surrounded. He gives and takes of thoughts and ideas and habits. He is continually learning and thusly changing.
While they are away, fellows think of home and they remember us, or their idealization of us, and think that they want us to be EXACTLY the same. But they do not. Not after having kicked around for a time—they would be sorely disappointed if we did remain the same.

Where our work comes in is to whip ourselves in line and do a little catching up on the things we've overlooked. Our petty little grievances about not being able to get the things to which we have grown so accustomed, will seem pretty silly and petty to a soldier who has seen Red Cross nurses tugging it out on the battlefield.
All this mounts up to the fact that the experience of war makes a boy grow, gives him a new sense of value for things that didn't seem important before. It is our place to develop along with him. He will think we look pretty cute in our little beribboned aprons—and he will brag on our cherry pies—but when it comes time to hash over the experiences which he has had the last year, he will hike out to the club and leave us sittin' with our knittin'—all because we don't know the diff between Tunisia and Sicily and we haven't the faintest idea about things that really matter.
We have to learn too—if we plan to be very happy. Maybe if we learned everything possible about his particular branch of service he might feel like telling us more about it. All we have to do is throw in a couple of half-way intelligent questions and he is well on his way to tell us more.

Knowing what takes place on the battlefield isn't all we have to know, either. We've got to have an idea or two about post-war world tucked away in the corner. The world is going to be a complicated affair when the war is over and will even grow to be more complicated unless we develop an intelligent understanding about our country and the countries which we will contact. We must learn to be better citizens within our own country and make America a better place in which to live. There will be a lot of discussion of all these problems of war and peace . . . through radio and through the newspapers . . . books and magazines. When the time comes for these more serious discussions, don't swallow your tongue and swoon back in the easy chair.
Still—we don't have to be stuffy or opinionated. If we are—then we are not developing. But don't be afraid to say what you think or ask as many questions as you feel like asking.
The important thing is that while the war is on we can't sit back and waste our minds and our energies simply because we have no particular inspiration at this time. The soldier is changing—so you both will seem exactly the same to each other when he comes home.
In the meantime—keep yourself pretty—happy and up and at 'em.

Plan Permanent Early and Avoid Vacation Rush

Need a permanent? Thinking vaguely of getting one?
Be a woman of decision and call up your beauty shop for a future date. That can be two, four, six weeks in advance. If these well-laid plans go awry, you can always call up and cancel—a thoughtful consideration that will be appreciated these hectic days.
If you don't make such plans early, you may have to get your permanent under conditions that will be trying both to you and to the operator. Pre-vacation rush for permanents and the general business boom have doubled the load that the understaffed beauty shop carries.
When the time comes to get your permanent, fill your appointment promptly. To hold up an operator for just a few minutes may throw a day's schedule out of joint as well as force the operator to rush you through too fast. Being prompt will not assure you a good permanent, but it will permit Mrs. Whoosts to have hers at the appointed time. The chances are she needs one as badly as you do.

Following the business session the club welcomed Mrs. T. L. Sirman as a new member from the Gulf Merten lease.
Mrs. Maderia furnished the group with copies of practical suggestion for preserving cut flowers for longer beauty. She said, "Flowers should be kept in a cool place, preferably in the afternoon and should be placed in a deep pail of cool water in a cool room for two hours. Before arranging the flowers, the stems should be stripped of foliage for four inches or more from the base. Stems of all woody plants should be crushed. Flowers that have been cut may be kept in cold water containing one half cup of vinegar for each quart of water."
Following her discussion she thanked club members who had given flowers to the local USO club and announced that anyone who has flowers to give to the club is asked to call her residence, Mrs. Paul Tabor or Mrs. Doc Schwartz.

Fuss and Feathers for Fall

NEW YORK.—More hat for your head and every chance for your face are the promises of fall millinery which designers—as shown in previewed collections—fulfill by stretching small shapes out to their full limit and massing with lofter and more magnificent trimmings.
For many of the materials used—fine feathers, bejeweled whimsies, gold mesh, metallic threads, embroidery yarn, handsome damasks, brocades, velvets and hand-woven fabrics, designers dig into forgotten boxes and combine with new twists that show triumphant results.
Silhouettes are so varied that you can't name any one as "it," but it's safe to say that if your hat isn't a turban, it will be a beanie bristling with feathers, a cloche, bonnet, towering halo, beret or bumper, any one of which is apt to lose its identity under new tricks with trimming.
Turbans are more than faintly reminiscent of Arab's-burnouses, open-crowned haloes and ancient helmet-type turbans, interpreted by Sally Victor in red jersey, banded with bright-colored yari, jewel embroidery and gold mesh overlay. As shown, it makes one hat, but it should apart to make two more—one a head-fitting cap and the other a tiny bumper—and provides a wardrobe to accommodate any kind of hair-do that catches a girl's fancy.
Feathered hats are news, too—draped or massed with showy plumage plucked from the pheasant, ostrich, coq or vulture—yes, vulture. The all-feathered top is another fall fashion first and you see a popular version at the right in the green and white ostrich-tipped beanie—anchored to the back of head by a new kind of loop gadget—which is a trend setter launched in the John-Fredericks collection.

Colored Film Shown, Suggestions On Cutting Flowers Given at Meeting

Members of the Pampa Garden club held a regular meeting in the City club rooms Friday morning when coffee was served with Mrs. S. T. Beauchamp and Mrs. Fred Lamb as hostesses.
The table motif was a patriotic one, Shasta daisies in white, other dyed blue with a deep border of red verbenas arranged in a low circular row. Tiny flags in candle holders were arranged on either side of the centerpiece to complete the arrangement.
The business session with Mrs. Roy W. Reeder, vice-president, in charge, included committee reports, particularly on Post Exchange.
Each year the club has a civic project. Last year it was flowers. This year's project is cutting flowers, including both annuals and perennials were planted at the Pampa Army Air Field hospital. As a continuation of this project, gardeners checked the results of last year's work and added to the collection of plants for the fall and next spring.

Local Authorities Give Suggestions On Canning Food

"Can all you can—but do the job right," is a one-sentence sum-up of this year's advice to home canners from the Civil County Home Demonstration. The need for food thrift is emphasized. Even stronger is the emphasis on using correct methods for home canning of food.
Right methods of home canning are designed to take care of two situations: They provide heat enough to make bacteria, yeasts, molds, and other organisms harmless, so that food in jars will remain sound and hold garden freshness. They also provide for sealing jars during canning so that spoilage organisms outside can't get into the food stored up for use.
Wrong ways of canning take needless chances. When jars of food break or spoil, at best there is waste of time, effort, and valuable food. At worst, there may be serious accidents or food poisoning. It is worth adding that just because the one cause of accidents that attracted nationwide attention involved oven canning—a wrong method. And the only cases of food poisoning due to spoilage—that were attributed to home canning resulted from heating food insufficiently; that is, again wrong methods.
Department's home canning specialists warn specifically against two methods: oven canning and open-kettle canning.
Oven canning is dangerous in more than one way. Even though an oven goes to 250 degrees F. or higher, food inside glass jars stays at about boiling point, that is, 212 degrees F. For beans, corn, and other vegetables containing lactic acid, this provides too little heating to make bacteria harmless. In addition, oven canning may result in explosions, if jars seal during canning so that steam builds up inside them. In cases in which this has happened, oven doors have blown off, glass flown out, resulting in damage to kitchen and injury to individuals.
Open-kettle canning consists of cooking the food in an ordinary kettle and packing it into jars and sealing. This method is wasteful for fruits and tomatoes.
Yeasts, molds, and bacteria can get into jars from the air or other sources when food is transferred from kettle to jar, and there is no further heating to destroy them. For foods with little acid, and for meats, open kettle canning is dangerous because the food never gets hot enough to destroy bacteria.
Limit the open-kettle, say the specialists, to such preserving jobs as See CANNING, Page 8

Notes RED CROSS VOLUNTEERS

By MRS. H. H. HAIN
Waterproof "beach landing" cartons are now being used for shipping overseas surgical dressings prepared by the Pampa Red Cross chapter volunteers, according to the surgical dressings chairman, Mrs. C. P. Buckler.

Designed to meet landing conditions which frequently make it necessary to float surgical dressings to troops ashore, the new all-weather container will soon be used for all surgical dressings produced for the Army.

"Packed in the new carton, surgical supplies prepared by the women of Pampa, can be dropped off shore by plane or thrown from a ship to be washed ashore by the waves," Mrs. Buckler explains. "This is particularly useful in the Pacific where many islands do not have adequate harbors for supply ships, or where fierce fighting makes the beach dangerous. Often the cartons of supplies must be stored out-of-doors for long periods of time, and the improved container will protect the precious dressings in all kinds of weather."

A feature of the new carton is the inner waterproof bag into which the smaller bundles of dressings are packed. The carton is lined with an additional layer of heavy cardboard, and heavy waterproof adhesive tape is used to seal all open edges after the box has been filled.

The local camp and hospital committee will meet in the City Commission room in City Hall Monday, July 17, at 4:30 p. m. All organizations are expected to send a representative to the meeting; if the regular representative cannot attend, someone else should go in his place. This committee has not met recently, because there were no needs to be met at the nearby camps. However, needs are now anticipated, and the committee will resume its regular meetings. The new Red Cross field director at PAMP, Mr. Francis E. Docken, will be present and will discuss needs that have arisen. Mrs. J. B. Massa, chairman of the camp and hospital committee, states that a secretary is to be elected Monday evening. At a meeting of the North Plains Camp and Hospital Committee in Amarillo July 12, the Pampa chapter was represented by Mrs. Massa. Others going from Pampa were Mrs. F. M. Culbertson, Mrs. Edgar Henshaw and F. E. Docken.

Surgical dressings workers will be pleased to learn that the old quota has been completed, and work has begun on the August and September quotas. This means that only the 4x's are now being made.

The Girl Scout class in surgical dressings that has been meeting on Monday afternoons is doing excellently.

lent work, and other Scouts who think they would like to make dressings are invited to join the group. Surgical dressings workers at Canadian have notified the Pampa chapter that they have completed all work on hand and are ready for more. Mrs. T. Miller, co-chairman of surgical dressings, will go to Canadian Tuesday to leave a supply of dressings to be made. The cooperation of this group is heartily appreciated.

New York Chapter's Home Service telegram department had a call from a woman who wanted a wire sent inquiring about her husband. Ever since his induction into the Army he had written daily, but no letter had come for two days. His address revealed that the soldier was in a maneuver area, so the Home Service worker suggested he might be on maneuvers and hence unable to write.

"No," insisted the wife. "He wouldn't be on maneuvers. He's a corporal!" Local Home Service workers are rarely troubled by such trivial matters. They are busy with a multitude of cases facing servicemen and women. During the month of June the cases served included 203 active service Army personnel, 38 Navy, 39 ex-service, and 7 civilians. The services given ranged from family or personal problems to questions of discharge, furlough, information concerning recent legislation affecting members of the Armed Forces, and filing of claims.

Mrs. Carl Wright, home service chairman, issues a plea for more volunteer workers. With more than a million men already discharged from the Armed Forces, the work of the home service branch of the Red Cross has increased a thousand-fold and more.

Anyone who can give one day a week to this important work is asked to get in touch with Mrs. Wright. The home service committee met last Monday afternoon in regular session. Col. Smith, camp surgeon at PAMP, spoke to the group, and plans were made to help promote closer cooperation between the medical branch of the Army and the Red Cross. J. B. Massa, Mrs. J. G. Keyes, Mrs. M. P. Roche, Mrs. J. B. White and Mrs. Carl Wright attended the meeting.

Mrs. C. N. Ochiltree, sewing chairman reports a good response has been made to the call for women to make comfort kits. About one-third of the kits remain to be made. It is requested that, if possible, the completed kits be returned within the two-week period allotted for the sewing. Articles to be put into the kits, such as games, shaving needs, pocket-size books, are expected to arrive momentarily. "Wouldn't it be splendid," asks Mrs. Ochiltree, "if we could have all the kits made by the time the supplies for filling them arrive?"

The local office of the Red Cross is receiving daily calls for information concerning the recent legislation popularly called the "G. I. Bill of Rights." By this legislation each U. S. veteran of World War II, male and female, will be guaranteed:

- 1. The speedy settlement of all disability claims, free hospital facilities.

This summary of the "G. I. Bill of Rights" was taken from Time magazine, June 26. Details may be obtained by consulting the Red Cross.

CANNING

(Continued from page 7) as making jams, pickles, and other products that have enough sugar or vinegar to help keep them from spoiling. The small quantity of sugar used in canning fruit has practically no preservative effect.

On the positive side, the department recommends these methods for home canning:

For fruits, tomatoes, and pickled vegetables, a boiling water bath is advised. The food is heated first, then packed boiling hot into jars, and lids are adjusted as tight or as loose as the type requires. Then the jars of food are pressed—that is heated in the canner—by allowing boiling water to circulate freely all around, under, and over the jars for the time that the particular food requires.

For beans and other common vegetables, except tomatoes, and for meats, the only method advocated is to use a steam pressure canner. To can these at home with assurance of safety by other methods, it would be necessary to heat them so many hours that they finally done the food would not be very good eating. In a pressure canner, the jars filled with preheated food and with lids correctly adjusted, are set on a rack over boiling water. The heavy lid is clamped down and, under steam pressure, temperatures of 240 degrees F. or higher are produced.

We, the Women

By RUTH MILLETT
The other day Brig. Gen. Frank T. Hines pointed out that though the figures aren't usually included in statistics on war production, women had since 1940 produced 5,000,000 new babies—a production equal to half the armed forces in number.

Women have had to take plenty of criticism because they haven't responded in sufficient numbers to the recruiting drives of the WACS, WAVES, SPARS and Marines, and because they have been slow to fill the jobs vacated by men.

So, in justice to them, maybe it ought to be emphasized that they have made good records at home. There are those 5,000,000 extra babies they have produced.

There are all those extra jars of home-canned foods with which they have filled their cupboard shelves. There are all those added home washings they have taken on. There are the millions of packages they have carried. There are the long extra hours they have put in at the job of housework because maids and cleaning women have gone to war.

CAN BE PROUD
There is all the extra time and energy and thought the war wives have given their children, since they have had to be both mother and father to their young ones.

And with all of course, there are those endless hours they have spent working in Red Cross rooms in hospitals as nurse aides, and in other volunteer activities.

Add up the hours and look at the work turned out by the nation's housewives and you'll have to admit they have a production quota of which they can be mighty proud.

Big Circus To Leave Hartford

HARTFORD, CONN., July 15—(AP)—The fire-scared remnants of the Ringling brothers Barnum and Bailey began preparations today to leave this city, scene of the greatest circus disaster the world has ever known, for its winter quarters in Sarasota, Fla.

The way was opened for the departure of the circus yesterday when Judge John H. King, who earlier in the week had ordered a receivership for the circus, approved a plan for returning the physical assets to the management.

The plan called for the circus management to deposit $380,000 with the court received, assignment to him of all claims to fire insurance from four policies covering the property and estimated at $150,000 and an agreement that proceeds of a $500,000 public liability policy held by the circus with Loyds of London be used exclusively to meet claims arising from the fire.

Sec. Hull Points To German Atrocities

WASHINGTON, July 15—(AP)—In a new denunciation of Nazi atrocities in Europe, Secretary of State Hull declared Friday that the entire Jewish community of 1,000,000 persons in Hungary is threatened with extermination.

At the same time, he declared that the cold-blooded murder of the population of Distomo (Greece) is another shocking example of the reign of terror which the Nazis have instituted in Europe and which becomes more savage as they become more desperate.

Hull issued separate press conference statements on the Hungarian Jews and the Distomo destruction and promised in each one that punishment "will be meted out" to persons responsible for the atrocities.

Gray county led in oil wells tested with five of the eight tests being in this county.

Wells tested in Gray were Clayton-Dwyer, W. E. Hines, 65 barrels; Cree and Hoover's Griffith-Davidson 3, 70; Phillips' Pan-Baer A-7, 157, and same company's Pan-Casberry 3, 49; Stanolind's W. Benedict 2, 42.

Hutchinson had two tests, Herrman Brothers Halle 16, 120; and Huber's Marable 1, 69.

In Carson Texas' J. E. Quinn 2 made 51 barrels on a test.

Explanation Made On Priority Referrals

Explanation of the priorities referral program on hiring men was made today by Otis R. Terry, manager of the U. S. Employment service here.

Over the state a majority of firms, Manager Terry said, are hiring all their male workers through the U. S. E. S.

"The program was designed only to get male workers through the U. S. E. S. offices. None of the workers' rights have been abrogated. He can still pick and chose and refuse any job.

"Employers are not required to hire any person they don't want. No male will be pulled off of his job and no employer will be raided of his employees.

"The only thing we are trying to do," Terry explained, "is to see that every able bodied worker in Texas, who is employed for any reason, is given an opportunity to accept a war job at the top of the war urgency list."

EDGAR E. PAYNE For County Attorney

Do not be misled by any eleventh hour propaganda by any undesirable element that I am not qualified to handle the office of County Attorney. I did close my law office when war was declared because I felt at that time that I could better serve in the war effort to hasten the victory for which every citizen of Gray County is waiting. I have never ceased practicing law even though I have helped in the war effort and do not regret having done so.

I have practiced law for 15 years, serving 6 of those years as a county attorney in West Texas, and, if elected, remember: If you drive, don't drink; don't attempt to take the other man's property either by forgery or otherwise; and, at all times, regard the lives, liberty and property of Gray County citizens as sacred. "He That Hath Ears To Hear, Let Him Hear."

I don't mean by that that I have any desire to be persecutor and especially will not persecute the youth but attempt to counsel him into a useful life; nor will I persecute the hardened criminal but I will prosecute him, or assist the district attorney if requested, with all the power, skill and ability which I possess that justice might be done. If I didn't believe that we have more law-abiding citizens in Gray County than the other kind, then you couldn't give me this office.

My only campaign promise is to try to live right, work hard, and not betray your confidence.

Respectfully yours,
EDGAR E. PAYNE,
For County Attorney.

New Pasternak Film Stars Allyson, Haven

By BROWNWOOD EMERSON

June Allyson and Gloria De Haven are seen in their first leading roles in Metro-Goldwyn Mayer's "Two Girls and a Sailor," opening a four-day run today at the LaNora.

Producer of the film is Joseph Pasternak, the man who made singing stars of Deanna Durbin and Kathryn Grayson. Jimmy Durante, Gracie Allen, Ben Blue and Donald Meek provide the comedy, and the Harry James and Xavier Cugat bands, Lena Horne and Carlos Ramirez help make the music and melody.

Story concerns the Deyo Sisters, troupers from early childhood, who run a private canteen as their contribution to the war effort, with the assistance of Jimmy Durante, also cast as a former vaudevillian.

At the canteen the sisters meet a young millionaire known to them only as a sailor. Role of the tar is played by Van Johnson. A scene from the film is shown below.

June Allyson is one girl, Gloria De Haven the other, in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "Two Girls and a Sailor." Van Johnson is the sailor, and the star-studded cast includes also Jimmy Durante, Gracie Allen, Jose Iturbi, Lena Horne and Harry James and Xavier Cugat and their bands.

It's no new thing that the Japs are aggression-insane Jack London found that out at the turn of the century when he was a war correspondent and was in Japan.

This episode is a part of the romantic, adventurous motion picture based on the life of one of America's most dashing heroes, Jack London. The motion picture bears the title "Jack London" and is released through United Artists.

Michael O'Shea plays the title role, with Susan Hayward as Charman London, his wife.

It's the story of the author's life from his first wild escapades as an oyster pirate on San Francisco bay, through his life at sea, and in the Arctic, to his emergence as one of America's greatest authors.

The picture is showing today, tomorrow, and Tuesday at the Rex.

A convincing portrayal of life aboard a U. S. submarine is Warner's "Destination Tokyo" showing today and tomorrow at the Crown. Starring Cary Grant and John Garfield, the cast constitutes a superb showing of the kind of crew it takes to set out in a sub and wreck havoc on enemy shipping.

Alan Hale, John Ridgely and Dane Clark are among the better known members of the cast.

WASHINGTON, July 15—(AP)—The third south Texan within a period of four months to win the nation's supreme award—the Congressional Medal of Honor—is Sharpshooter Sgt. James M. Logan of Luling.

Sgt. Logan received the medal for helping secure the beachhead at Salerno, Italy—first foothold of American forces on the European mainland.

In ceremonies at San Antonio June 17, the medal was posthumously awarded Staff Sgt. William J. Bordelon, Jr., a Marine killed at Tarawa. The medal was presented to his parents.

Colombian Revolt Is Symblic of General State of Americas

By JOHN LLOYD

Lloyd, president of La Prensa, Asociada, the Associated Press' affiliate in Latin America, has just completed a long tour there.

WASHINGTON, July 15—(AP)—The short-lived Colombian revolt, in which dissident units off the army made President Alfonso Lopez of Colombia a prisoner, is another of a series of fast moves that have brought the Latin American situation sharply to the attention of statesmen here.

Starting in Central America, the revolutionary fever in the Colombia instance extended to a country known for its Democratic tendencies. In this case, the movement has been diametrically the opposite of those that occurred recently in Guatemala and El Salvador.

In those two little Central American countries, dictatorships were upset. In Colombia a completely Democratic president who only last May tried to resign was seized by army officers during military maneuvers and held prisoner. The vice president took over the government and called on loyal soldiers to move against the rebels; last night the revolt was reported quelled.

The Latin American situation, apparently without rhyme or reason, is the outgrowth of clashing ambitions and sharply contrasting theories and ideals which show no sign of immediate solution. Dictatorship may give way to Democracy in one upheaval and exactly the opposite occur or at least be attempted in another, all within the general scheme of the Latin American problem.

Latin American countries are different among themselves and the difficulty that arises in one may have no kinship to that appearing in another. There are diverging schools of thought as to the respective merits of dictatorial and Democratic government and while one may prevail in one country another may exist in its neighbor.

Undoubtedly the most perturbing Latin American situation, from the point of view of general solidarity and post-war unity, is that concerning Argentina, where an impasse has led to recall of United States Ambassador Norman Armour, the British ambassador and most of the ambassadors and ministers of the American nations.

Argentina broke relations with the Axis countries long after the other American nations had done so, but shortly after the break its army general president gave up office and was succeeded by another general. Reports not yet confirmed directly from Argentina are to the effect that the Axis representatives have been sent back home within the last couple of weeks.

All other countries of Latin America, dictatorially governed or not, took an early stand in favor of the United Nations cause. Thus the problem of each country—that is, Democracy as opposed to the dictatorship—did not tie up in an international sense with the general war effort. There was no question as to cooperation in that effort whatever the underlying motive.

The possible exception was in Bolivia, where a revolution last December brought a change not immediately acceptable by all the other American nations. After months of study and alterations in the internal structure of the new government, however, the state of affairs was adjudged sufficiently satisfactory to warrant reestablishment of diplomatic relations.

It is reported they confiscated so much food—in addition to stealing movable property—that the 50,000 inhabitants of this picturesque island are on the verge of starvation.

Into the mounds of earth was stuck a stake to which was wired his identifying "dogtag." And a withered Normandy rose lily there by French peasants who have put a flower over each of 2,000 American graves in the cemetery.

The islands have been inhabited with England for 750 years, although most of the residents are Normans and the official language remains French.

They are noted as the home of the Jersey and Guernsey breeds of milk cows, and supplied England with such cabbage, tomatoes, grapes, apple, melons and pears.

A French woman, who had been hearing regularly from her sister in Jersey, said, however, the plight of the islanders is desperate because the Nazis are disrupting their economic life, forcing reduction in the potato acreage and an increase in the area devoted to corn.

Luck Rides Aboard Herndon As She Raises The Stars and Stripes Over French Waters

"At dawn the flag went up on the Herndon's masthead... the Stars and Stripes were flying over German-occupied territory."

By TOM WOLF
NEA Staff Correspondent
ABOARD THE U. S. S. HERNDON, July 15—No ship was ever more aptly nicknamed than the "Lucky Herndon." Her sister destroyers are convinced she leads a charmed life, ever since the recent tempestuous days when she led an invasion task force to the shores of Normandy—escaping unscathed.

It looks almost easy in retrospect. But it didn't look easy when she sailed for "Bald-headed Row," as Lieut. Douglas Chamberlin, of Seattle, Wash., tartly called her position. It was less than two miles from shore.

Her job was the elimination of five strong points commanding the landing beach. She was to steam ahead of the rest of the task force, so closely behind the minesweepers that she once had to anchor to avoid running over them.

Guns and Guts!
Known enemy weapons commanding the Herndon's position included two batteries of 11-inch guns and nine or more than 150 mm. That was if she reached the position at all. Between her and it were an unknown quantity of E-boats, destroyers, torpedo planes, glider bombs, and mines.

A destroyer's safety is speed. But the Herndon's orders were for very slow speed. Her weapons were simply her guns. Guns—and the guts of her officers and men.

In retrospect, the first days and nights of the invasion remain in the minds of this crew as disjointed images of color and brief flashes of action. The first image was of the side of the operation. All day before D Day the Herndon steamed past convoys of warships, merchant ships and landing craft of all kinds. Sometimes there were so many ships that from the horizon they looked like a giant city.

Magnificent Planning
The next impression was of magnificent planning. When night came the ships slipped silently down the smooth sea highway—its lanes searched only a few moments earlier by minesweepers clearing the Channel ahead.

Then the action started. The first scenes belong to the Air Force—transport carrying paratroops roaring over the horizon at great height. Suddenly the horizon burst into flame. Bombs smashed on the beaches, farring the Herndon though she was still miles away.

At dawn the flag went up on the Herndon's masthead. She was inside the territorial waters of France. The Stars and Stripes were flying over German-occupied territory. Moments later spurts of flame and a gigantic roar broke the tension. The Herndon shuddered as her big guns went into action. The first great danger was passed. Her skipper, Commander Granville A. Moore, Alexandria, Va., had sailed her safely into position. Flashes of angry flame were the prelude to the shore batteries' answering fire. The Herndon's crew was too busy fighting back to notice the splash. Shells fell far and wide. One of the ships nearby was less lucky. She was hit repeatedly, settled at the stern and went under in shallow water.

All through the next days and nights the Herndon's luck held. The nights were tough. Enemy destroyers and E-boats were reported only a few thousand yards away. German planes dived lazily, seemingly unopposed, right over the ship—which held her anti-aircraft fire lest her tracers' glare reveal her position. With the roar of an express train bombs dropped a few yards from the ship and exploded with a harmless splash. The crew stood helpless, anxious, praying for the Herndon's luck to hold. The ship just astern of us was hit.

Shore Batteries Sire!
The Herndon sent a boat for the wounded. The war room became an overcrowded surgery for three hours, until the doctor, Lieut. J. g.

John McPeck, Cortland, N. Y., could patch the wounded sufficiently for transfer to the hospital ship nearby.

The days seemed easier. The planes that endlessly criss-crossed the sky were ours. The danger now was from shore batteries and mines. The Herndon came close to both. Once she had to fire her guns when anchored. Shells from the shore battery less than two miles away straddled her. A mine blew up hardly 100 yards in front of her bow.

Yes, luck rode aboard the Herndon two miles off the coast of France. But men who know the sea know that luck alone is not enough. Skill and courage rode the Herndon, too.

Some of South To Cause Dem Trouble

By ALEXANDER E. GEORGE
AP Features Writer
WASHINGTON—Although Roosevelt supporters voice confidence of a fourth term nomination on the first ballot, Democratic opponents of the administration are preparing to touch off some fireworks at the Chicago convention.

The rumblings of Southern revolt are the loudest since 1928. Then four states—Texas, Florida, North Carolina and Virginia—smashed party precedent by breaking away from the "solid South." They cast a majority of their votes for Republican Herbert Hoover in his race against Alfred E. Smith. The southern "rebels" this year plan a fight on two fronts, the national convention and next fall's election.

Threaten to Bolt
Democratic conventions in Texas, Mississippi and South Carolina have threatened to bolt a fourth-term nomination unless certain demands are met by the convention. They have instructed their delegates to Chicago to insist upon:

- 1. No plank in the Democratic platform calling for any racial or social equality.
- 2. No plank urging federal action to abolish the poll tax.
- 3. Revival of the two-thirds vote requirement for the nomination of presidential and vice-presidential candidates. (This was abolished by the 1936 convention.)
- 4. A plank reaffirming the doctrine of state's rights.

The Texas and Mississippi conventions also informed their candidates for presidential electors that they were free to vote for other Democratic candidates than the Chicago nominees if the Southern demands were not met. South Carolina Democrats will meet August 2 to consider action taken at Chicago.

Some Democrats in Dixie demanded that the party's vice-presidential nominee be from the south or a border state. Among those mentioned as possibilities are: Texas Sam Rayburn, speaker of the house; Gov. Broughton of North Carolina; Sen. Barkley of Kentucky; and Gov. Kerr of Oklahoma, convention keynote.

800 FDR Delegates Voted
A recent report of the delegate lineup showed more than 800 delegates pledged to President Roosevelt or claimed for him. The number of votes needed to nominate is 588. Two Massachusetts votes were reported as pledged to former Gov. Joseph B. Ely of that state and one other vote was claimed for him.

John U. Barr, national chairman of a campaign to draft Sen. Byrd of Virginia for president, says recent developments in the south indicate that not a single one of the 124 electoral votes of the 11 states that comprise the solid south is assured to a New Deal nominee.

Barr, a New Orleans business man, contends that Sen. Byrd as the Democratic nominee would be assured "of every one of the 180 electoral votes from the southern and border states." (Senator Byrd has said he is not a candidate and has no intention of becoming one.)

On the other hand, Gov. Broughton says that President Roosevelt can count on the vote of the southern states if he is nominated.

The American Democratic National Committee, a group opposed to a fourth term, plans to call a convention of "all anti-New Deal organizations" if President Roosevelt is nominated. Among the members of this committee are former Sen. James Reed of Missouri and John J. O'Connor of New York, a former member of Congress who was defeated in the "Roosevelt purge" of 1938.

Oil Policy Meeting To Be Held Soon

WASHINGTON, July 15—(AP)—A full-dress British-American conference is to be held at Washington soon on future world oil policy.

The fate of the Saudi Arabian pipeline advocated some months ago by Interior Secretary Harold L. Ickes may be decided by the delegations, headed by Secretary of State Cordell Hull and Lord Beaverbrook.

The line, to pipe oil products from the Persian Gulf area to the Mediterranean, is no longer being pressed as a government undertaking, although it may be promoted as a private enterprise with government financial assistance.

The joint British-American announcement Wednesday of the conference did not specify dates. It will follow up recent technical discussions by experts of the two countries.

Nazi Reserves Cut To Bolster Frontline

WASHINGTON, July 15—(AP)—Drastic reductions in the strength of supply and combat reserve units have been ordered by the Germans to stretch their dwindling manpower resources for a three-front war, Acting Secretary of War Patterson reported yesterday.

A captured enemy order, he told a news conference, disclosed that several months ago the Nazis in Italy had already found it necessary to reduce their combat rear echelon by 20 per cent and all supply units by 25 per cent while moving all men under 30 into combat units without replacing them in the rear.

The Germans were then preparing to make transfers—but with replacements—of other soldiers under 38.

On all fronts, said Patterson, the German reserves are dwindling. The capture of the month's old order in Italy left no doubt that "the enemy is faced with a manpower shortage."

In addition to making these drastic shifts with Nazi army personnel, Patterson said, the Germans ordered "ruthless exploitation of civilian population for labor service" to keep the roads open behind their lines in Italy.

Suits Against Big Circus Are Mounting

HARTFORD, Conn., July 15—(AP)—With the Ringling Brothers Barnum and Bailey circus placed in the hands of the receiver through an order of Superior Court Judge John H. King, damage suits against the circus corporation mounted steadily toward the million dollar mark today.

Several new actions filed this week totalled $265,000, bringing the total damages asked to date to $893,000 with many more suits still in the process of being filed.

Two deaths Wednesday brought the toll of last week's disastrous fire to 162.

Dr. Alfred L. Burgdorf, city health officer, reported that 63 young children were among the 162 who died as a result of the fire.

The victims, grouped according to sex and classification, follow:

Of the 162 dead, both identified and unidentified, 43 were males, 118 females and one unknown. Children, 14 and under totaled 63. The largest number of dead, 37, were in the 5 to 9 years age group.

ANNONYING
BERKELEY, Calif.—Noise and mosquitoes were annoying to Mrs. Ophelia Landfair. She pulled the covers up to her chin. Suddenly something stung her big toe. She pulled her feet back under the sheet, dozed off. In the morning she found a bullet in the quilt.

"There had been a cop and robbery chase in front of the landfair house, and a patrolman's bullet had crashed through the front door, slipped into the bedroom and stung Mrs. Landfair's big toe.

The skin on the toe had not been scratched.
