

FOURTH METZ FORT FALLS

Highest One-Day Toll of Nipponese Deaths Reported

Enemy Hints Metz May Be Evacuated

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

American infantry captured the fourth fortress outside besieged Metz today as the U. S. Third army brought all the Fort-Girt city's roads of reinforcements or retreat within artillery range.

The Fifth division captured Fort Orny and drove to within 3 1/2 miles south of Metz in the Hospital woods in the closest Yank approach to the city.

The assault arc from the south now extended nine miles from Fort Orny to the town of Corny on the east bank of the Moselle, due east of Fort Briant. Corny 4 1/2 miles southwest of Metz, fell yesterday.

On the northern flank of the Third army's 70-mile offensive the 90th division expanded its Moselle bridgehead in the Koeningmacker area to 2 1/2 miles of Germany in the Luxembourg corner.

These gains came after a day in which the Third army cracked into the outer Southern defenses of Metz almost without a fight, placing themselves squarely behind Fort Briant, which some weeks ago withstood a frontal assault, and toppling Fort L'Alsne, five miles South of the city, along with two flanking bastions.

The advances posed the riddle whether the strongest fortified city in Western Europe might fall without a fight. A headquarters dispatch said the answer might come within 48 hours.

The Third army, battling in freezing temperatures through snowstorms, was within 15 miles of the German Saar border at a point 16 miles Southeast of Metz, where the Sixth armored division's tanks entered two villages and drove to within four miles of the Nazi base at Falquemont.

South of this front in the area East of Lunville the U. S. Seventh army gained two miles in a snowstorm and against stiff opposition, and broke up a counterattack Southwest of Baccarat, a town guarding the Vosges mountain passes to the Rhine, fell in the drive.

On the U. S. First army front inside Germany, American artillery broke through German defenses, counterattacked in the Schmidt area Southeast of Aachen, and in Holland the allies engaged the Nazis in artillery duels.

The Russians engaged the Nazis in hand-to-hand fighting in the besieged rail city of Jaszbereny, 37 miles East of battered Budapest. Red army units, apparently crossing the Tisza river, apparently made contact with the main force of the Second Ukrainian army and laid siege to Jaszbereny.

The Germans were reported throwing in numerous new tanks and scores of anti-tank weapons in the drive.

640 Bodies Are Counted on Field After Hard Fight

Attacks on growing Japanese concentrations on western Leyte island paid off with the highest one-day toll of Nipponese dead in the Philippines campaign, front-line dispatches reported today as Tokyo radio said 400 U. S. carrier planes had renewed their attack on imperial warships in Manila bay.

On other fronts Chinese troops advanced five miles in north Burma and a Pacific fleet communiqué acknowledged enemy forces had retaken an inlet in the Palau group, east of the Philippines.

Tokyo radio announced waves of American planes struck Monday and Tuesday (Philippines time) at Manila Bay, Cavite navy yard and Clark Field.

"There was some damage to our warships," principal target of the raiders, the broadcast said.

It claimed 34 U. S. planes and five Japanese were shot down in an hour-long "violent air battle." Other U. S. air squadrons, Tokyo added, swept the length of the Philippines.

James Byrnes To Remain at Post 'Til Nazis Quit

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—(AP)—President Roosevelt announced today that James F. Byrnes will continue as director of war mobilization and reconversion until Germany is defeated.

Byrnes has been serving under a temporary appointment, having told the President he did not want the job on a permanent basis.

However, Presidential Secretary Stephen Early called Byrnes to his office shortly after noon today and read them this statement from the President:

"In view of the importance of continuing the winning of the war at top speed, and at the personal request of the President, Mr. Justice Byrnes has consented to continue as the director of the office of war mobilization until the elimination of Germany from the war.

"The President is very gratified by the willingness of Justice Byrnes to do this, and the work of the office will, therefore, continue as at present."

Byrnes left the supreme court to enter the administration's war program and became head of the office of war mobilization—a post which frequently won him the unofficial title of "assistant president."

When the reconversion bill became law, Byrnes accepted a temporary appointment from the President with the understanding a successor would be named when Congress reconvened.

Other items included $13,950,000 for the treasury department; $10,010,000 for the army; $15,000,000 for the federal works agency; $11,036,682 for the interior department; and $7,401,000 for the national advisory committee for aeronautics.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Attorney General Biddle asked Congress to allow immigration officers to arrest without warrants persons suspected of being aliens violating immigration laws.

Chairman Maury Maverick asked that the smaller war plans corporation be continued after the war, and its capital increased from $150,000 to total of $350,000,000.

The Reconstruction Finance corporation informed Congress it had $9,427,912,000 in loans outstanding on June 30, 1944. RFC said it had disbursed $23,341,021,460 since its creation.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Substantial republican support lined up with the administration today behind a revised proposal for the government to take risks with farmers against floods, droughts, storms and grasshoppers.

Rep. Hope (R-Kans.), ranking minority member of the House agriculture committee, told reporters, "I hope to see federal crop insurance legislation passed before Christmas."

Speaker Rayburn (D-Texas) put crop insurance on the schedule for consideration in the session beginning today. Congress refused last year to provide further funds, and ordered liquidation.

WHICH KEY?

$400 Million Asked For Federal Agencies

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—(AP)—President Roosevelt asked Congress today to add approximately $400,000,000 to funds previously appropriated for more than a score of federal agencies.

The total includes $339,112,455 for the navy department, the bulk of which was for the bureau of yards and docks. There was no detail on how the funds would be used.

Other items included $13,950,000 for the treasury department; $10,010,000 for the army; $15,000,000 for the federal works agency; $11,036,682 for the interior department; and $7,401,000 for the national advisory committee for aeronautics.

Pampans, Mail Your Christmas Packages Early, P.O. Requests

Postmaster W. B. Weathered is asking the people of Pampa to continue their record of cooperation with the post office in easing the strain on personnel and transportation facilities by mailing Christmas cards and packages by December 1.

The public office is suggesting that the post take the following steps in order to assure prompt and safe delivery of Christmas mail:

(1) Mail all Christmas packages by December 1.

(2) All first-class Christmas mail including Christmas cards should also be mailed by then, except local mail.

(3) Be sure to address correctly and wrap packages securely.

(4) Do not mail all your packages the same day, but space them over several days to avoid pile-ups.

(5) All Christmas cards should be mailed first class.

Britain, France Reach Agreement

PARIS, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Britain and France were reported in accord today on the desirability of forming a bloc of western European nations to keep Germany in check during the coming years of peace.

Responsible quarters said Belgium and Holland may become original signatories to such a regional pact along with Britain and France and that eventually Norway, Sweden and Denmark may come in.

Summarizing the week-end discussions of Prime Minister Winston Churchill and Gen. Charles de Gaulle, a French news agency expressed the view that "the French and British governments would consider favorably the possibility of concluding such regional accords."

(A dispatch from London said sources in the British capital expressed belief that a similar combine would be formed in the east by Russia, Czechoslovakia and Poland and that at their next conference, Prime Minister Churchill, President Roosevelt and Premier Stalin may consider whether such alliances can operate within the framework of the proposed future world security organization.)

Congress Gets Away Slowly On Last Lap

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Legislators got away to a thumb-widdling start today on the final session of the 78th Congress.

The democratic high command on Capitol Hill had an appointment with President Roosevelt this morning to talk over the legislative picture. Right now it's a little dim, for neither Senate nor House is tackling any weighty legislation this week.

A few odds and ends, such as a federal road bill in the House and rivers and harbors and flood control measures in the Senate, are ready for action. But members aren't.

With the routine of getting things started again out of the way, the Senate planned to recess until Thursday and from then until Monday.

There isn't anything doing in the House this week, either. The talk was that the first thing up would be a measure to extend the second war powers act. The law, with authority for priorities and allocations, expires at the end of the year. Even republicans foresee no controversy about keeping it alive.

Legislators on the whole are looking more to the future than the present. It will be the next Congress, convening January 3, which in all probability will tackle the major programs for a sound post-war economy.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Republicans in Congress voiced support today for the No. 1 goal set by President Roosevelt: to win the war quickly and get the boys back home.

They surveyed the party's 1944 election damage with varying reasons as to cause, but agreed that defeat of the axis overshadowed all immediate objectives.

Senator George D. Aiken, back from his own re-election victory in Vermont, told reporters he thought republican defeats elsewhere emphasized the need for "a more liberal republican congressional policy."

On the other hand, Senator Kenyon C. Sawyer said that the party's 1944 election damage with varying reasons as to cause, but agreed that defeat of the axis overshadowed all immediate objectives.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—(AP)—A legislative inquiry into the University of Texas administrative controversy begins here tomorrow.

Announcing the hearing yesterday, after telephone consultation with other committee members, Chairman Penrose Metcalf of the senate's special education investigating committee declared at San Angelo, "It is evident that the new legislative inquiry (meeting in January) may need a clarified report on the dispute. For the welfare of the university as a whole, without reference to persons or personalities, we plan to make a thorough check of the controversy."

His statement came after Gov. Coke R. Stevenson announced delay in filling three vacancies on the university board of regents because several prospective appointees had declined or were unavailable.

A committee of ex-students reiterated a request that the governor "make a clean sweep" of the board of regents to expedite a solution of the controversy.

The governor revealed that at least four persons have declined board appointments. He said that perhaps he could fill the three vacancies by Wednesday, after which he was going deer hunting.

The vacancies were created by resignations of Chairman John H. Bickett, Jr., of Dallas, H. H. Weinert of Seguin and L. J. Harrison on a climactic board meeting in Houston November 1 when Dr. Homer P. Rainey was discharged as university president.

Three other board members, W. Scott Schreiner of Kerrville, Orville C. ...

Junior Juggling Act

NEW YORK.—The juggling act put across by girls with interchangeable clothes to make a few pieces seem like more outfits, is booked for shopping tours of none-for-the-holidays colleagues.

To show you how the tricks work, take a look at two of the series of interchangeable junior team-mates, shown above. Basic pieces in both pictures are a cherry-colored wool skirt and a rayon blouse in background beige, plaided with cherry and purple. For costume variety, a girl can add a cherry-colored woolen jacket, as is shown at the left, or she can switch to the purple woolen blazer at the right.

From that point, she can go on an infinitum switching to a team-mate waistcoat for another kind of top; to a pair of color-correlated slacks for still another casual costume.

American Women Favor Enforced Training Plan

The latest report of a current magazine, but also including a survey of women's attitudes on national problems shows that an overwhelming number (83 per cent) favor a year of compulsory military training for young men in peace time. The magazine poll question, "Do you believe young men should be required to devote one year to military training in peace time?" was submitted to the magazine's national panel of readers which represents an accurate cross section of more than 3,500,000 American homes. Not only was the response emphatically affirmative, but also indicates the wide variation in opinion whether the answers are broken down by geographical location, income brackets, age and sex of children in the family.

Apparently sentiment for required military training has increased substantially during the last six months. In an earlier poll the magazine asked whether the national conventions—Republican and Democratic—should incorporate a compulsory military training plan in their platforms. The response was 86 per cent in favor, 27 per cent against, 17 per cent undecided. This month's poll not only shows a big increase in the number who favor required military training, but the number who haven't made up their minds has shrunk to 10 per cent of those polled.

The opinion of the majority of the panel on national service for women is markedly different. Asked in this month's poll: "Do you believe young women should be required to devote one year to training for national service, similar to training given the W.A.C.s, W.A.S.P.s and Marines?" the response was 64 per cent against, 34 per cent in favor, 2 per cent undecided. Many of those against required national service for women did recommend that the service should be made available for girls who might want to volunteer.

Two subsidiary questions were also asked in the current poll: "What age do you think the training should be given for young men?" For young women?" A majority of the women favoring required national service agree that training should begin at 18 or later for both men and women, but definitely after high school. The exact split of opinion on the age for young men was: 76 per cent favoring 18 or over; 22 per cent favoring 17 or under; 2 per cent undecided.

The opinion of the majority of the panel on national service for women is markedly different. Asked in this month's poll: "Do you believe young women should be required to devote one year to training for national service, similar to training given the W.A.C.s, W.A.S.P.s and Marines?" the response was 64 per cent against, 34 per cent in favor, 2 per cent undecided. Many of those against required national service for women did recommend that the service should be made available for girls who might want to volunteer.

Two subsidiary questions were also asked in the current poll: "What age do you think the training should be given for young men?" For young women?" A majority of the women favoring required national service agree that training should begin at 18 or later for both men and women, but definitely after high school. The exact split of opinion on the age for young men was: 76 per cent favoring 18 or over; 22 per cent favoring 17 or under; 2 per cent undecided.

Girl Scouts

BACK HOME TO WHAT?
Many of the emergency war jobs for women are vanishing. Air raid wardens and plane spotters are not urgently needed. Women who took paid war jobs as a patriotic service are beginning to come back home. Back home to what? Certainly not to idleness or routine of dusting and bridge. Too many of these women have learned that they can keep a home and still find time for inspiring, much-needed work outside. They have training in all sorts of skills from riveting to first aid. They have experience in working with groups of other people in shops or on volunteer committees. And they are women, which means that they have a deep inner knowledge of the importance of home and children, of sound guidance for young people in these unstable times.

Pampa can use women with this skill and experience. By volunteering a few hours a week to such organizations as the Girl Scouts, these women can continue to do important work for war and peace. They can be the friends and advisers of girls who have been too much neglected in this war emergency. There is a place for the woman who can demonstrate how to change a tire and the woman who will open her kitchen to girls who want to bake cookies for their friends in the army and navy.

The Pampa Girl Scout association requests that more girls than ever before want to have the fun and citizenship training of Scouting. They lack leaders and meeting places. Here's a real opportunity for the woman who wants to keep on with volunteer work that is important. Pampa's Girl Scout office is open regularly from 9 to 5 Monday through Friday and from 9 to 1 on Saturdays to give information about girl scout leadership, a war job with peacetime value.

New Glamorous Fashions Demand Perfect Grooming

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

There is an urgent need ahead—I refer to fashions for fall which have never been within my memory so bejeweled, be-feathered or so glamorous in such an adult way—to tighten up on good grooming. If you meet this challenge in your stride, you'll have to keep your hair on the up and up and clench the clean-cut look. Better start priming.

Nails are going to be shown up for what they are by headlight rings, glittering bracelets and twinkling jewels clipped to glove-like sleeves. Better get out your manureur kist and keep it handy. Clutter is going to look odd in a show-piece handbag, so you'd better get used to tidying up the junk pile.

WICHITA FALLS, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Hulon M. Mauldin, 29-year-old lumberyard bookkeeper, convicted on charges of murder with malice in the fatal slaying of his wife, has been sentenced to 99 years in the state penitentiary.

A 12-man jury returned the verdict in 78th district court Saturday after seven hours' deliberation.

The defense pleaded insanity.

Mrs. Mauldin had filed divorce proceedings 21 days before the shooting August 9 in her downtown office. She died in a hospital four hours later.

More than 40 witnesses testified.

Leyte Invasion Was Rushed by Events

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—(AP)—A last-minute change in plans moved up the Leyte invasion many days.

An army corps was at sea—headed for Yap—when Adm. William E. F. Halsey, with information that the Japanese had suffered heavy fleet and air losses, recommended that the island be bypassed for the vital Philippines target.

This was related at a news conference today by Col. Alfred E. Kastner, army ground forces observer at Nevada City, Calif., first officer to return from Leyte.

The corps embarked at Honolulu September 15, and on the next day the objective was changed. Leyte was hit October 20.

Kastner said positions prepared by the Japanese were almost worthless adding "there is no doubt that they were caught by surprise."

Irrigated Land for Soldiers Is Seen

DENVER, Nov. 14.—(AP)—William E. Warne of Washington, D. C., assistant U. S. commissioner of reclamation, envisions postwar irrigation of land on which "a couple of divisions of soldiers could settle on their return" from fighting fronts.

Warne, here to address the National Reclamation association convention Wednesday through Friday, said in an interview that proposed western reclamation projects would provide multiple benefits.

Big Industry in Germany Must Be Broken After War

(Editor's Note: This is the first of three stories on proposals to destroy—and proposals to save—International Cartels.)

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—(AP)—A Senate committee recommends that the allies break the back of German big industry.

There are two main reasons for this proposal for a hard peace which would ruin any German hope of again being an industrial leader:

1. To prevent Germany from rearming after this war. Without big steel and chemical plants it couldn't.
 2. To destroy Germany's grip on international cartels by which it has boomed into other nations' economic and political life.
- The recommendation came from the subcommittee on war mobilization, headed by Senator Kilgore (D-WVA)—after months' long study of cartels.
- An international cartel is an arrangement between private business groups in two or more countries. Through it they can control industry, trade and prices. It means they can operate independently of their own governments.
- "The German industrial group," says the committee, "has been the mainstay of the international cartel system."
- "The industrial monopolists of Germany have worked long and ardently for pan-Germanism. They have willingly joined in partnership with Hitler and his lieutenants to achieve their ends.
- "For all practical purposes, the social and political philosophies of the partners are indistinguishable."
- The committee proposal doesn't mean that Germany should be reduced to an agricultural state. But it would be far-reaching. It says in part:
- "A real disarmament program (for Germany) requires not only the dismantling of all direct munitions industries but also the dismantling and removal of the devastated areas of Europe of the primary indirect munitions industries, including the Metallurgical (steel) and chemical industries."
- The committee is not aiming only at the destruction of cartels with German interests involved. It wants all international cartels eliminated.
- It says in effect that cartels not only ease economic development free trade and free enterprise but lay the groundwork for war or political control of one country by another.

Industrial Growth Noted in Mexico

George and I have just arrived in Chicago en route to our eastern war bond appearances. I thought at first that Chicago men had become very fresh.

I must have turned around and smiled half a dozen times before I realized it was the wind whistling at me.

We paid a flying visit to the famous p u m p room where I used to gather my inside political information during the political conventions. The talk was all about the re-election of Illinois' handsome Governor Green. That man is to politics what Lana Turner is to sweaters. He has Robert Taylor's eyes, Alan Ladd's smile, Cary Grant's chin and a necktie like my husband's.

In fact, George is a little upset about my feelings for Governor Green. My goodness, I've heard of making husbands green with jealousy, but this is the first time I ever made one jealous with Green.

Filipino General Lauds U. S. Forces

By The Associated Press

"America has never fought a war more just, more necessary, more glorious than this one," Brig. Gen. Carlos P. Romulo, resident commissioner of the Philippine Commonwealth government, told Filipinos Monday in a broadcast over the voice of freedom station on Leyte island in the Philippines.

He told his listeners that "America is fighting this war for us and for millions like us."

He added:

"Our reason for fighting in this war is not so purely sentimental; we are not merely paying with the coin of gratitude the favors that we have received from the United States.

"Stronger than the feeling of sentiment within us is the compulsion of pure self-interest. That is why this war is our war as much as it is America's."

Monetary Policies May Get Approval

RYE, N. Y., Nov. 14.—(AP)—An indication that the international business conference may give some measure of approval to the monetary proposals adopted at Bretton Woods last July was given as delegates resumed their discussions of post war trade problems after a Sunday recess.

It was learned from an authoritative source that the American delegation will put before the conference a recommendation that the Bretton Woods agreements for an international monetary fund and a world reconstruction bank be given "careful consideration" in any discussion of post war currency problems.

Welcome Disenchantment In the last days of the political campaign, when truth and reason were looking decidedly gross, we came upon two advertisements which renewed our hopes for the survival of those estimable virtues.

One ad was put out by an aircraft manufacturer, the other by a maker of shaving cream. And both approached their subject with a candor which copy writers commonly shun, appearing on the assumption that such an approach is too true to be good.

The aircraft concern is talking about the helicopter, which it plans to make after the war. Now the helicopter, as everyone knows, has had a tremendous buildup, as the air flier of the future—one smart New York shop has even had a "helicopter fashion show."

One ad was put out by an aircraft manufacturer, the other by a maker of shaving cream. And both approached their subject with a candor which copy writers commonly shun, appearing on the assumption that such an approach is too true to be good.

The shaving cream people went about selling their wares by stating a painful truth which has too long been avoided. "The word pleasure," they said, "should never be mentioned in the same breath with shaving—the whole business, we say, is at best a nuisance and a bore."

Such talk can scarcely fail to have a healthy effect upon the elector. Think, for instance, of the sadness and confusion that must have resulted already from the unnatural association of shaving and pleasure. Thoughtful voters have already shed the brush and razor with the notion that these symbols of manhood would combine the pleasures of a Turkish bath and massage.

Politics and Art If it isn't raking the cold political ashes, unduly, we should like to revert to another pre-election topic and recall a remark by the eminent violinist Fritz Kreisler. To the question of how he was going to vote, Mr. Kreisler answered, "My political candidate this year is Beethoven and maybe Bach."

World Air Methods Being Recommended CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Establishment of machinery for adopting world standards and procedures for aircraft operation has been recommended to the International Civil Aviation conference so that the technical work begun here can be completed some time after next May 1.

Letters From a Correspondent's War Notebook

By ERSKINE JOHNSON Open letter to Allan J. Tallwood, president of the Leg Fanatics' association of America: Dear Allan: You probably never heard of me and I never heard of you or your association. But being one of those gents who still believe in Santa Claus, I'm going to believe you do exist.

Equally lucky is Staff Sgt. Frank V. Leeper of Washington, Pa., who twice in one day almost lost the other end of his anatomy by being buried in a foxhole by shellbursts.

Mortar shells flushed two German snipers from a factory building and gave Staff Sgt. Courville of Bark River Mich., a chance to demonstrate some fancy long range shooting.

WAR TODAY

By DEWITT MacKENZIE Associated Press War Analyst The mystery of Hitler's whereabouts is rapidly assuming the proportions of one of history's prime thrillers and likely to have a profound influence on the German people and consequently on the trend of the war if it develops that the frugher of the super-race is incapacitated.

French Order Court Arrested

PARIS, Nov. 14.—The French government has ordered the arrest of the Count of Paris, pretender to the non-existent throne of France, reported to have been wounded at Perpignan after crossing the Spanish frontier into Southern France. Thus the government adhered to the old law which prohibits pretenders to the throne from residing on French territory, and created another problem in the aspirations of the 36-year-old Henri de Orlans. A warrant issued by the interior ministry to all department prefects charged him with illegal entry into the country and violation of the law against residence on French soil. Reports from Southern France said the Count was in hiding after having been wounded. He had been in North Africa when Admiral Darlan was assassinated. Some French royalists tried without success to rally support to him for a regal restoration. The Count flew to Spanish Morocco after the arrival of Gen. Charles de Gaulle in Algiers. The Count became chief of the House of Orlans after the death of his friend, the Duke of Guise, in 1940. At that time he announced he had become "the depository of the royal traditions," and took "a solemn oath to continue to serve France with all my forces." Most French royalists support him, but some prefer claimants to Napoleonic lineage.

Students To Ask Regents to Quit

DALLAS, Texas, Nov. 14.—The Dallas University of Texas students association after a two-hour controversy here last night voted 77 to 27 to ask Governor Coke Stevenson to request the resignation of all except one of the university regents. The final decision of a meeting which found settlement sharply divided was to adopt the resolution passed by the executive body of the state ex-students organization. It commended the three regents who resigned and asks Gov. Stevenson to request the resignation of all others except Dr. C. Terrell, Port Worth, who was named after the controversy reached a climax. Dallas doctors and a few lawyers introduced a substitute resolution. It asked for confidence in Gov. Stevenson's ability to judge the acceptance of resignations and appointments of regents in the best interests of the people.

Little Change Seen In Food Supplies

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Little change in civilian food supplies for 1945 is expected by the department of agriculture, even if one European war is ended. Civilian consumption of food this year has been running about 7 per cent above the pre-war years of 1935-39. The department said that civilian requirements will continue to take a "substantial portion" of the total food supplies throughout 1945. Major opposition to the legislation has come from churchmen, educators and other groups who have flooded the military committee with petitions and letters. Endorsements have been received from committee spokesmen said, from the American Legion and other veterans organizations.

BATH, Me., Nov. 14.—For the first time in the history of the U. S. navy a combatant vessel has been named for a woman. The U.S.S. Hibiscus, former superintendent of the Navy Nurse corps, and only woman ever to receive the Navy Cross while still alive.

Hoosgow Hepcats

Deputy Warden O. H. Lindstrom of the Gamboa Penitentiary, Panama Canal Zone, blinked a couple of times and then decided to believe his eyes when he saw four of his prisoners wearing the conventional black-and-white striped prison uniforms—but cut on the grooves of the coat-suit lines. Investigation disclosed that two prison convict-tailors had been doing a thriving business in "sharpening up" standard prison uniforms for the hoosgow hepcats. P. S. They're out of business now.

Aviation Expansion Will Be Patterned OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 14.—A definite pattern for postwar expansion of civilian aviation will be formulated at the four-day semi-national aviation clinic opening here Wednesday. Leaders from every phase of the industry already have sent in their reservations for the clinic which will feature addresses by Gen. H. H. Arnold, chief of the Army Air Force, Mayor Fiorello H. LaGuardia of New York, and other top-ranking aviation leaders. Orrville M. Mosier, vice president of American Air Lines and general chairman of the clinic, said one of the most vital issues to be taken up by the leaders of the industry will be the question of state rights versus federal rights in the control of aviation. Arguing the state side of the question will be Sheldon B. Stearns, director of the Michigan aeronautics board. The case for federal regulation will be discussed by John H. Fredericks, professor of transportation and industry, University of Texas. In order to prepare a state rights plan in advance of the clinic, the national association of state aviation officials opened a two-day convention here today.

Military Training in Peacetime Opposed

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—A mountain of opposition has piled up against plans of congressional leaders to seek early action on legislation to require military training in peacetime. So formidable has it become that backers of the proposal say they would just as soon postpone consideration until sometime next year. Earlier plans had called for action on a bill providing that every youth take a year of military training upon reaching the age of 18. Chairman Reynolds (D-NC) of the Senate military committee said there would be no hearings this year on the legislation before his committee. In the absence of Chairman May (D-KY), members of the House military committee said they do not believe they will tackle the subject for some time.

One reported product of the recent Quebec conference between President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill was virtual agreement on postwar occupation and control of Germany. As shown on the map above, the reported plan is to divide Germany into three parts, each allocated to one of the United Nations' Big Three. The United States would run things in Baden, Wurttemberg, Bavaria and other territories in the south. Everything east of the Lubek-Elbe River line would be under Soviet supervision, while Great Britain would take the northern provinces west of the Lubek-Elbe line to the Netherlands border. Each area would be under a commissioner responsible to his own government, the three forming a German commission to co-ordinate general occupation policy. Under the Allies' Moscow declaration last December, Austria was promised independence, and it is likely that the U. S., Britain and the USSR will have representatives on an administrative Austrian Commission.

Suit Is Filed To Cover Portal Pay

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 14—(AP)—A suit based on the "portal to portal" pay decision in the United Mine Workers case, in which the U. S. Supreme Court held that the miners were entitled to pay for time they spent traveling to and from the mine entrance and the place they were working, has been instituted in U. S. District Court here against the Federal Shipbuilding and Drydock company of Kearney.

The suit was filed by Samuel L. Rothbard, counsel for local 16 of the CIO's industrial union of marine and shipbuilding workers of America, which represents employees of the Kearney and Port Newark yards of Federal. Rothbard is suing for approximately $5,000,000.

Rothbard said the suit sought to cover back pay to approximately 40,000 workers for the period from 1938, when the federal wages and hours law went into effect, to March 1944, during which he charges they were not paid for the time they spent obtaining and returning their tools to the tool crib.

Man Is Sought in Burglary Case

Peace officers of Hutchinson and adjoining counties today were searching for the second of a duo of men who Sunday night looted a liquor store in Stinson.

One of the men, who was apprehended, was in possession of $3,800 in cash, and he told officers that his companion had hidden $70 in change about two miles from the store. He is held in the county jail at Stinson.

A quantity of liquor taken from the store had not been found early today, and officers believe it is in possession of the man still at large.

The liquor store operator told officers at 11 o'clock Sunday night that he had been robbed. When officers approached two strange men in the town, one of them fled. The other was captured.

Men Don't Care Much For Vest to Suit

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 14—(AP)—Men may not be as clothes-conscious as women, but—

Members of the Heart of America Men's Apparel club, now in session, say men are happy as meadowlarks at getting pleats and cuffs back on their pants.

The gents have been pretty sulky about the whole thing, one retailer reports. He expected quite a boom in men's furnishings, because: "Men have been waiting until before buying their suits."

Although the males have been touchy about pleats, which helps to camouflage bay windows, they have been philosophical about vests, still barred with double-breasted suits. (Also ruled out by the war production board: The two-pant suit.)

Says a puzzled salesman of vests and of the men who can't buy them: "They just don't care much."

Planning Group Looks to Postwar

AUSTIN, Nov. 14—(AP)—The state postwar economic planning commission, created by the 48th legislature in March 1943, met here yesterday to make plans for a report to the 49th legislature in January on policies for Texas to follow in a conversion from war to peacetime employment.

Andrew P. Rollins, consulting engineer of Dallas, recently named to succeed Gibb Gilchrist, president of Texas A. and M. college, who resigned as commission chairman, presided over the meeting attended by 14 out of the 31 appointed members.

Rollins said the commission is authorized by the legislature and expressed by several members.

"I was commissioned to do a job and I have done nothing. In fairness to the newly appointed chairman, we should either get busy and make some concrete plans, or resign as a body. We should not expect the chairman to go before the legislature empty handed and take the blame for what we have failed to do in the past 18 months," said H. B. Zachry of San Antonio, member of the Texas good roads association.

Revenue Losses On Gambling Costly

DALLAS, Nov. 14—(AP)—Gambling will cease in Dallas, Deputy Police Chief R. W. Evans said last night, and the Dallas News quoting police records said the city will lose an estimated $130,000 to $140,000 a year in revenue.

The all-out war declared last week on Dallas gamblers by Texas Rangers and Dallas police will continue permanently, Evans said in a statement. Such action, according to the News, would mean a reversal of the city's policy which has permitted gambling enterprises to operate for several years on payment of systematic weekly fines.

A tubercular hospital should be built somewhere along the Rio Grande, possibly at Fort Ringgold or Fort Clark.

State universities and colleges should receive appropriations on the level of 1943-44 with additional contingent appropriations of $1,867,143 and $1,912,703 for each year of the biennium to be used when and if enrollment exceeds that of 1941-43.

Before the end of the next biennium eleemosynary institutions will need more housing facilities. These should be provided by appropriating money for new buildings or by acquiring at least four of the better class army training camps which may be abandoned as war demands decrease.

The board estimated $35,846,415 would be needed for the first year of the biennium and $35,461,302 for the second year of the biennium.

Ngeongsolet, northernmost of the Palau islands to be occupied by Americans, was retaken by the Japanese a week ago. Tokyo radio previously said Peleliu, main U. S. island in the group, was reinvaded at that time.
