David Lloyd George: U. S. Must Act Differently This Time

Ex-Minister Of Great Britain Raps America

By RUSSELL LANDSTROM
 TY NEWYDD LIANYSTRUM-
 DWY, North Wales, Nov. 25.—(AP)—
 David Lloyd George, Britain's prime minister in the last war and Doyen of her elder statesmen in this one, asserted in an interview that the surest way of preventing a third world war would be "by America acting differently this time."
 In one of his rare press interviews—he has not talked thus for more than two years—the white-haired Welshman, by his own expression still keen and vigorous, was asked:
 "What was the Allies' greatest mistake in dealing with Germany after the last war?"
 Rather grimly, and without hesitation, he replied:
 "America. If they had kept to their bargains instead of backing out and leaving the League of Nations, things would have gone differently."
 He suggested American statesmanship and public opinion hold a broad international outlook after peace has been made. He held that United States commitments to potential world community would be perhaps the great stabilizer.
 "And what of his own share in the prosecution of the gigantic war?
 holding that it would be the only reliable means of exercising the military spirit.
 "If I had my part to do over again, I should do precisely the same—on the assumption that America would stand by her word."
 He counseled complete disarmament of Germany after this war,
 holding that it would be the only
 reliable means of exercising the military spirit.
 Concerning post-war problems and probabilities generally, Lloyd George said he did not wish to venture too far into the twilight haze of prophecy. Although agreeing that great changes undoubtedly were in store for most nations, he withheld comment in its policy of maintaining economic reorganizations of the future, except for brief reference to portents in his own land.
 "There will be a big change in the unemployment situation in Great Britain, thanks to the Sir William Beveridge plan for life-long social security," he said.

JAP CONVOY CRUSHED

The map above shows the probable route of the "dozens" of B-29 Superfortresses which bombed Tokyo Thursday. The war department said the planes flew from a base in the Marianas, which was wrested from the Japs at considerable cost. At right above is pictured Brig. Gen. Haywood S. Hansell Jr., of San Antonio, who commands the 214 bomber command, the unit which made the first daylight raid on the city, and the first raid on the city since April 18, 1942.

An Estimated 2,000 Nippon Troops Lost

By RAY CRONIN
 Associated Press War Editor
 Desperate Japanese attempts to land reinforcements on Leyte Island in the Central Philippines resulted in the destruction of a fourth Nippon convoy and loss of an estimated 2,000 troops, Gen. Douglas MacArthur reported today (Sunday).

The general said four troop ships were caught at dusk Saturday, (Philippines time) off the island of Cebu, west of Leyte, by Yank pilots who sank three of them and left the fourth in flames. All troops and cargo aboard the ships were lost.

Reinforcement attempts have cost the Japanese a total of some 17,000 troops, 16 transports aggregating 65,000 tons, and 11 escorting warships.

Meanwhile the U. S. navy reported the sinking of 27 additional Japanese ships by American submarines in the Pacific and Far East waters.

In a Pacific fleet headquarters communique Adm. Chester W. Nimitz disclosed American armies have heavily hit Japan's Bonin Islands on the air route between Saipan and Tokyo—before and after U. S. Superfortresses struck for the first time against industrial targets in the Nippon capital. He also reported raids on Marcus Island, 1,000 miles southeast of Tokyo, and on the Palau and Yap.

Tadito Tokyo claimed that U. S. carrier planes bombed Manila shipping and struck airfields on Luzon island, and that Japanese airmen sank two American transports and damaged a transport and a destroyer on Leyte Gulf. The claims remain unconfirmed.

On Leyte Island hard-hitting American doughboys cleared Japanese from heights east of Ormoc road while Yank fighters blasted enemy garrison positions in battle areas and along the Ormoc corridor. The Japanese lost six more planes as they continued raiding in the Leyte sector.

The U. S. navy's report on latest submarine operations in Japanese-controlled waters showed that of the 27 ships bagged one was a destroyer, one a converted merchant.

WLB Accedes To Slight Increase In Worker Wages

By WILLIAM T. PEACOCK
 WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—(AP)—
 Steelworkers won wage adjustments tonight expected to average about 5 cents an hour, but their main demands for a base pay raise and guaranteed annual pay were checked to the White House.

The war labor board approved several other changes in the compensation and employment conditions of the CIO United Steelworkers which could add materially the amount of cash the workers take home in a year.

Chairman William H. Davis of the WLB said the order did not break the little steel formula—now even bond.

The formula lists general raises an hour, was all outside the little 15 per cent of the rates of Jan. 1, 1941. It makes provision, however.

$1,595 Goes To United War Chest From Gray County

The Pampa community chest Saturday turned over to the United War Chest of Texas 11 checks totaling $1,595.

J. W. Garman, chairman of the Pampa Community chest, said the checks to Wayne D. Towner, general manager of the United War Chest in Texas at Austin, with an explanation that the checks were turned into the Pampa fund but were earmarked for the national war fund.

The Pampa Community chest recently completed a successful drive for $21,000 for local charities. This campaign was separate from the war fund and the money raised for the community chest will be used entirely for local welfare.

The war chest and community fund campaigns conducted jointly last year, were divorced this year when state and local leaders could not agree on the amount to be set for Pampa's quota in a community chest. Each decided to conduct a separate campaign in Pampa.

Community Chest Chairman Garman said Saturday he had received a letter from Towner in which the latter stated the United War Chest campaign will be conducted in Pampa during January.

"Preliminary arrangements will be undertaken very soon," Towner said in his letter to Garman.

Among 11-11 local checks turned over to the United War Chest was

First Norther Hits With Strong Winds

Pampa's first real norther of the season stormed in upon the city last night with winds as high as 52 miles per hour, and the temperature had dropped to the freezing point (32 degrees) by 8 o'clock. The highest temperature of the day was 41 at 6 a. m.

The U. S. weather station at the air port said the precipitation since midnight Friday was .04 of an inch. The wind was directly out of the north.

Motorists scrambled for anti-freeze, as most stations reported a land-side business.

Carl Wilson, owner of the City Drug, reported someone had drained the anti-freeze from his auto Friday night as it sat in front of his home at 608 N. West street.

Intermittent snow fell during Saturday, but it melted as fast as it fell.

Soggy-skied East Texas was waiting for clear weather which weathermen predicted would follow heavy rains of the previous 24 hours. West Texas generally got the rain for which it had been waiting.

A rainstorm at Lukfkin Friday night delayed a football game between Lukfkin and Henderson. The game was more poorly lighted than usual when it finally was played as the storm had put out more than half the lights on the field.

Dallas reported 2.39 inches of rain will benefit oats, winter wheat and cover crops Fort Worth got 2.78 inches. Heavy rains on the watersheds of the upper Trinity river and its tributaries brought warning from the weather bureau to residents of lowlands in the area to move livestock to higher ground should rains continue.

Other rainfall reported included: San Antonio, 1.26; Waco, 1.96; Austin, 1.89; Wichita Falls, .60; El Paso, trace; Amarillo, .24; Lubbock, .03; Abilene, .11; Big Spring, .08; Brady, .44; Del Rio, .26; Corpus Christi, .15; Houston, .23 and Laredo, .16.

Christmas Seal Sale To Begin Tomorrow

German Casualties 100,000 in Week

By EDWARD J. DENNEHY
 Associated Press War Editor
 American Seventh army doughboys pushing along both sides of the Marne-Rhine canal 13 miles northwest of Strasbourg were approximately ten miles from Rhine crossings into German Karlsruhe last (Sat.) night. In Strasbourg itself, the Germans still fought on from their bridgehead positions.

Armored columns swinging south of Strasbourg fought to within eight miles of a junction with other forces battling up from Colmar, an unconfirmed Paris radio report said, which, if true, would close a trap on German 19th army troops.

On the Eastern front, Russian troops captured Hotyan, key to all German defenses east of Budapest, and also cleared most of Miskolc, Hungary's fifth largest city, Berlin said.

The Moscow communique did not confirm the German reports, but did announce capture of five Hungarian villages and ten in Czechoslovakia.

Fight Rages Near Cologne Plain

The battle of the Western front was raging on the edge of the Cologne plain, where the U. S. Ninth army drove to within a mile of the Roer river, last big natural barrier before the Rhine in this sector.

The U. S. First army, on the Ninth's right flank, had fought almost entirely through the dense Hurtgen forest, southeast of Aachen, one of the bloodiest battlegrounds of the war. A German report said Allied troops have made a seven mile advance in this area of heavy cost.

Associated Press Correspondent Wes Gallagher said the Germans have thrown three-fourths of their armored strength into this giant showdown battle west of the Rhine—a struggle which has cost the enemy more than 100,000 fighting men in the past week.

Nine more German tanks destroyed by the Ninth boosted total Nazi losses to 125 in the eight-day battle. Essoite furious counterattacks, the U. S. First and Ninth and the British Second armies have slugged their way into the Rhine and Ruhr valley defenses. Gallagher reported.

The U. S. Third army, hammering ahead two to four miles at a half-dozen points along a 60-mile front, overran ten towns and broke into the Saar basin at a new point.

In Eastern Holland, the British Second army attacked Venlo, German stronghold on the Maas, and reached the Maas at another point 15 miles north of Venlo.

More than 2,000 allied planes dropped 3,000 tons of explosives on the German oil center of Marseburg and hit fuel storage facilities at Blomberg.

Commissioner Landis Succumbs At Age 78

CHICAGO, Nov. 25.—(AP)—Death today claimed 78-year-old Kenesaw Mountain Landis, baseball's "indispensable" man for nearly a quarter of a century.

Unwavering, fearless, and always the champion of the "little guy," the commissioner and former federal jurist died of heart disease in St. Luke's hospital at 8:35 a. m. central was inadequate.

His death left the major leagues without a guiding genius for the first time since 1921 and placed tremendous importance on the National and American league winter meetings set for Dec. 11 and 12 when a successor probably will be named.

Just a week ago when the white-thatched commissioner was fretting over what he protested was an overly-long hospital stay, a joint committee of the two leagues recommended that Landis be re-elected for another seven-year term when his current term expired Jan. 12, 1946.

Ostensibly cheered by that vote of confidence, Landis chided his physician for warnings that his condition was delicate. But he suffered a setback Sunday and last night was placed in an oxygen tent a little more than an hour before he died. He entered the hospital Oct. 2 suffering from a severe cold, but previously had over-taxed his heart working in his victory garden in suburban Glencoe.

Baseball officials to a man mourned his death as not only a great blow to the national pastime, but a keen loss to the nation at large.

Baseballdom, however, will not be able to pay immediate homage to his memory. In compliance with Landis' wishes, there will be no funeral services. A cremation will take place privately and friends have been requested not to send flowers.

Until the major league meetings, at least, the commissioner's office will be conducted by his secretary, Leslie M. O'Connor, who was at Landis' bedside with his family when he died and kept as he read a formal statement announcing the commissioner's death.

William Harbridge, president of the American league, later in the day announced he had over-taxed his heart working in his victory garden in suburban Glencoe.

B-29 TO BE DISPLAYED HERE TUESDAY

Gray county will sponsor the purchase of a B-29 Superfortress, and have its name painted on the side of the big bomber.

This is the ambitious program outlined by Judge S. D. Stennis, county chairman for the 6th war bond drive.

The county already has $76,463 in E bonds sold. A Superfortress costs $600,000, according to the war department. If the county will raise that amount in E bonds in the 6th war bond, "Spirit of Gray County, Texas," will be emblazoned on one of the mighty planes, and a Gray county girl will be given the honor of sponsoring it.

A total of $109,161.50 has been turned in, in all kinds of bonds during the drive. Judge Stennis announced, L. L. Sone, superintendent of Pampa schools, said that $12,000 in E bonds were sold in Friday's school rally.

Judge Stennis also announced that team chairman of the 6th war loan finance committees will meet in the district judge's office of the courthouse Monday afternoon at 4. All chairmen are urged to be present to report on results in their districts.

Meantime, it was revealed yesterday that a B-29 bomber from Five-One Garage, 600 S. Cuyler, Ph. 51.

New Upheaval Is Expected Monday On Conscription

OTTAWA, Nov. 25.—(AP)—Canada's red-hot overseas conscription issue is due to come to a new crisis Monday when the House of Commons debates a motion to "aid the government in its policy of maintaining a vigorous war effort."

The question was not settled by this week's order-in-council permitting employment in foreign service of drafted men, who heretofore have been subject only to duty in Canada.

The newspaper Le Soleil in Quebec, center of resistance to the conscription movement, said today "with few exceptions French-speaking members of the house of commons will vote against the King government. If the prime minister moves his confidence motion."

Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King placed a motion on the house of commons order paper today providing for adjournment of the present emergency session until the 31st as soon as the conscription discussion is ended. He has said the life of the present parliament will end April 17 in any case.

The depth of the dissent over conscription, however, could force an earlier dissolution and a general election.

A Prayer

Across the world the din of shells still resound . . .
 And death still walks among us here . . .
 The enemy is bearing well his arms, and cold
 And pain are yet aloft . . .
 And I go on . . . for I must fight and kill . . .
 And work and sweat . . . and hide and run . . .
 For still the enemy is very much alive . . .

His bullets are made of lead . . .
 Their angry whispers still foretell of sudden death
 For me and others crouched in slime and mud . . .
 The end, we know, is yet to come . . .
 And so we pray to God to give us strength
 To fight and win . . . without the waste of Time . . .
 And with His Will . . . to see our homes again.

Gas Inventory Losses Will Be Restored by OPA

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25—Gasoline distributors and retail dealers will be able to obtain gasoline to restore legitimate inventory losses that have heretofore been denied them, under amendments to existing regulations announced by the OPA Friday to become effective Dec. 4.

The first of two amendments changes procedure for replenishment of gasoline losses by accident or normal handling, or accidental losses of coupons, to enable dealers a second opportunity to take advantage of this procedure if they did not know of the rules in time to make application within the time limit established.

The second amendment provides a method by which dealers who have received counterfeit coupons or other invalid coupons, in spite of having taken all reasonable precautions to safeguard the validity of coupons taken in, may be "balled out" within limitations for debits entered against their inventories as a result of having passed these invalid coupons to their suppliers.

To Halt Losses

Many inventory problems have arisen because of losses from these two causes, and the OPA is hopeful that the two amendments may result in solution of these troublesome problems.

BILOXI, Miss., Nov. 25—Gov. Robert S. Kerr of Oklahoma told southern governors meeting here today that for the first time in history, the citizens of Southern states have ample capital with which to finance their own industrial development.

"Combining debts are lowest and combined liquid assets are the highest proportionately they have ever been," he said in his prepared address. "The South of depression and debt is gone."

Gov. Kerr had a five-point program for post-war planning:

1. Within each state to analyze the needs, problems and opportunities.
2. Create a south-wide industrial and agricultural planning commission, each governor to designate one member.
3. Seek more and greater research laboratories in the south financed by the federal government.
4. Gain larger support for research facilities of agricultural experiment stations.
5. Promote the building and operation by private capital of a great South-wide industrial research institute devoted to the study and development of new uses of Southern products.

Labor, WLB Are Not Agreed on Wage Ceilings

(Editor's Note: This is the second of two stories on flight over wages and the cost of living.)

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON, Nov. 25—(AP)—Are you dizzy from the turmoil over wages, prices and the cost of living? Here's an explanation:

Prices and wages raced upward after Jan. 1, 1941. By the spring of 1943 living costs had risen at least 15 per cent.

The government knew this from its cost-of-living index, published monthly by the bureau of labor statistics.

The government cracked down. OPA was to sit on prices. The war labor board was to sit on wages.

WLB said: Henceforth no wage increase more than 15 per cent above what the hourly rate for a particular job called for on Jan. 1, 1941.

And the rule on wages became known as the little steel formula.

But the point was this: Wages and prices both were supposed to be held to an increase of no more than 15 per cent above Jan. 1, 1941.

But prices kept climbing. Labor murmured that the cost of living was greater than the BLS index showed.

AFL and CIO leaders complained in person to the President that the BLS index was too low to show the rise in living costs.

A few weeks later CIO steelworkers demanded wage increases although they had the limit under WLB rules. This meant breaking the little steel formula. It meant the whole system of wage controls would have to be revised.

One of the chief complaints: The index didn't take sufficient account of "hidden" factors—like deterioration of quality in goods—which boosted living costs.

So in March, 1944, WLB Chairman William H. Davis asked a special committee of outside economists to examine the index and the AFL-CIO attack on it.

He got the economists' report, studied it and last weekend announced: The BLS index was too low but the AFL-CIO report was too high.

He said that as of now living costs have risen 30 per cent, 4.5 per cent higher than the 25.5 per cent shown in the index.

But whatever happened to the CIO steelworkers demands—back in the winter of 1943—for a flat increase of 17 cents an hour?

WLB has turned the CIO case over to the President to decide.

Texan's Group First To Raise Yank Flag

WITH THE 96TH INFANTRY DIVISION ON LEVEE, P. I.—(AP)—The first American flag to be placed on Philippine soil in the invasion of Leyte was put atop Hill 120 by a battalion of this division.

The unit is commanded by Lt. Col. Earl L. Creager, Vernon, Texas, and is part of the army's crack 24th corps which recently won the Medal of Honor for gallantry and efficiency in a message from Gen. MacArthur to Lt. Gen. Robert C. Richardson, Jr., commanding army forces in the Pacific ocean area.

The flag was hung on a shell-splintered, low-hanging coconut tree only 24 minutes after Col. Creager's doughboys hit the beaches.

The hill, nearly 700 yards from the beach, was negotiated by Col. Creager's battalion less than 10 minutes after the invasion. The flag was raised after a bitter fight with 30 entrenched Japs. The Americans had come to stay. The Stars and Stripes whipped proudly in the wind.

A day later, Col. Creager was evacuated from the area, a victim of concussion from mortar barrages and booby trap explosions. Before leaving the battle, the colonel killed a Jap captain with a blast from a sub-machine gun.

Col. Creager, recovering rapidly, was looking forward to rejoining his outfit.

His wife and four children live at 1608 Houston street, Vernon, Texas.

Naval Losses Since 1941 Now Stand 228

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25—(AP)—Announced U. S. naval losses since the beginning of the war stood at 228 today, the navy reported in disclosing the loss of 10 vessels in the Pacific.

The latest casualties were a destroyer, two destroyer escorts, and seven smaller craft. Enemy action or the perils of the sea sent seven to the bottom in the Philippines. The others were lost in the New Guinea area.

A communique said the vessels were not lost in the big battles of Oct. 24-25.

Subsidies Sought For Wool Growers

BOSTON, Nov. 25—(AP)—Speaking as newly-elected president of the Boston Wool Trade Association, Harry A. Tilton has urged subsidies for domestic wool growers in addition to continuance of the present tariff.

Tilton was elected unanimously at the association's annual meeting today. He is a member of the firm of Fallon and Tilton.

"Although the majority of all industry wants to see the government out of business," Tilton said, "I believe during the present abeyance need some protection over the existing 34-cent tariff, due to circumstances over which they have no control."

Tilton noted that subsidy on the 1945 clip "is practically assured" and added:

"I do believe, however, as the general trend today is toward normalcy, that extreme artificial stimulants are of no value in any price structure, and the sooner our domestic stockpile can be woven into cloth, the better for growers, lest their market be entirely lost to foreign wools and synthetic fibres."

They Were Thankful For Just Roof Over Their Tired Heads

By WILLIAM SMITH WHITE
ESCHWEILER, Germany, Nov. 25—(AP)—An American infantry company came out of the line Thursday after seven days of fighting and enjoyed the Thanksgiving day luxury of shoes and a roof overhead. In addition there was a promise of hot food, though the turkey had not arrived as this was written.

The roof, has been hit off and on by mortar shells all day, but nobody has been killed, and it is reasonably dry in the command post. And beyond that, there are lights in here, candles to relieve the gloom that has persisted since morning.

Not all those who were in this company a week ago are here now. Those who still live are filing by one at a time at the desk of the commanding officer, Capt. Raymond A. Carino of Hackensack, N. J., saluting and getting their pay for October.

Every man has had a chance to wash his face and shave for the first time in a week. And there has been no fighting or work of any kind to do, except for normal guard duty. All have come through much night fighting, which has a peculiar strain all of its own.

Everybody is talking of Thanksgiving, of course. Cpl. J. Mikita of Pittsburgh, Pa., says:

"I'm thankful I'm here with this roof over my head."

There is some agreement with this, and then Pfc. Oran Choate of Abbeville, La., interrupts:

"Not me, brother. I'm just thankful to be alive."

With this there is 100 per cent agreement.

Now and again a man looks out at the Duren road just ahead, which fighting is going on, and then glances back at the company's executive officer, Lt. C. W. McLoughlin of 1069 Madison Avenue, New York. But McLoughlin is not moving and the boys know they have a little while longer here.

People Will Learn About Conference

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25—(AP)—Acting Secretary of State Stettinius reported this week that the state department has launched an educational campaign in behalf of the Dumbarton Oaks plan for world security organization.

At his press conference he listed questions together with the answers given them by the state department for distribution to educational and other groups over the country interested in the subject.

The state department's answers to the questions appeared to be drawn entirely from the text of the Dumbarton Oaks plan which was made available upon its completion several weeks ago. There was one point, however, involving the relationship among great and small states which had not been covered in the plan itself.

The question was "why should the United States, Great Britain, the Soviet Union, China and France have permanent seats on the security council?"

"It is necessary," the state department said, "in view of their primary responsibility for maintaining international peace and security should rest upon those states which, by reason of their capacity and resources, are in the best position to exercise that responsibility most effectively."

It was explained, also, that the smaller states would have six non-permanent seats on the security council to give a total membership of 11 nations.

Convicts' Break For Freedom Fails

JOLIET, Ill., Nov. 25—(AP)—A guard was killed and three convicts were shot and wounded Friday as ten prisoners, two of them veterans of the Roger Touhy break in 1942, unsuccessfully attempted to escape over the walls of Stateville penitentiary.

The slain guard was Zoethe Skaggs.

Two of the convicts were William Stewart and Matthew Nelson who with Roger (the Terrible) Touhy and four other desperate criminals shot their way out of the huge prison on Oct. 9, 1942.

GI's Overseas Will Get Cigarets Soon

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25—(AP)—From the Pentagon went this word of cheer yesterday to GIs in London where cigarette sales have been halted at all but air force combat stations.

It's only temporary.

Army officials here did not know how long the ban would be on "but obviously they won't be denied cigarettes indefinitely."

"There are sufficient cigarettes going over," authorities here asserted. "There is no question about that. What happens after they get there is another matter."

Colleges To Talk Of Postwar Plans

DALLAS, Nov. 25—(AP)—Board of regents of seven state teachers colleges will discuss postwar building plans at a meeting in Fort Worth tomorrow, R. L. Thomas of Dallas, chairman of the board, has announced.

Schools affected are North Texas at Denton; Stephen F. Austin at Nacogdoches; East Texas at Commerce; West Texas at Canyon; Sul Ross college at Alpine; Sam Houston at Huntsville and Southwest Texas at San Marcos.

SPEED LIMIT

SEATTLE—(AP)—Patrolman R. A. Schaeffer stopped a motorist and explained that 38 miles an hour is not permitted in a 25-mile zone.

The driver asserted the 25-mile speed limit had been abolished last week at the polls "when the voters overwhelmingly approved the 40-mile law."

A trip to the police station was necessary to convince the man that the voters had approved a 40-mile tax limit, not a 40-mile speed limit.

County Problems On Farm Studied

The Gray county agricultural victory council and the county's veterans advisory committee held joint meeting in the office of the county agent Friday.

The agenda discussed were the major agricultural problems of 1944. These were listed by Glenn Hackney, county agent, as soil conservation, cattlegossies, noxious weeds, adjustment of returning veterans, rural electricity and telephones, rural farm-to-market road improvement, rural gas lines, recommendations for securing pure grain seeds, work of the farm extension people with the Hereford breeders. Also a short discussion of the 1944 program and accomplishments took place, according to Hackney.

Members of the agricultural victory council are: E. A. Shackleton, C. D. Turcotte, Clyde Gray, H. H. Keahey, R. K. McCoy, Judge Sherman White, Mrs. C. E. Vintzen, Millicent Schaub and G. T. Hackney.

Gray county veterans advisory committee is composed of C. W.

Bowers, Jack Stephens and Mrs. W. E. Melton.

Winter-into-Spring Hats

By ESPIE KINARD
NEA Staff Writer
NEW YORK—Spring trend forecast by bright new bonnets—blowing for the hats like out-of-season flowers—indicates that a lot of hat, which put millinery to rest, is being brought into the fall. It is setting down into a headpiece of modified size.

But judging from showings of leading stylists, winter-into-spring hats are not yielding an inch when it comes to spangles, veiling, embroidery, feathers, flowers or veils, and, more often than not, a lot of color daringly mixed for one dainty head. If anything, new bonnets will be more coquettish, extravagant and dressing-up than their fall predecessors.

Because the new head—either kept tidy with a net or a chignon—has caught on, you can expect to see not only more turbans and toques that catch the effect, but fancier headpieces in this type of millinery. At the lower left is a side-draped turban which you are going to see a lot of because it has a silhouette which does not seem to be flattering to most women. The model pictured on the left, embroidered with gold oak leaves outlined with black, is designed to make a girl stepping out on the holidays look as regal as a rajah in her brand new headpiece.

Upper right is a toque gone festive in pale pink satin, a paved top of jeweled stones, and an extravagantly looped visor veil.

Sprouting tulle and posies, embroidery and jewels, these gala holiday hats by Lilly Dache are setting the trends which will carry right on through the Spring.

Red Cross Asks Pampan's To Fill Christmas Boxes for Men at Sea

Gifts for servicemen who will spend Christmas on the high seas are being provided by the Red Cross, according to Mrs. W. R. Campbell, dispersing agent for Eastern Sub-district of North Plains Camp and Hospital council. These gifts will be provided by civilians who wish to prepare boxes.

"We know," said Mrs. Campbell, "that many will welcome this opportunity to make Christmas less dreary for men on shipboard at the season when it is hardest to be headed away from home."

Pampan's quota is 50 boxes. Following is a list of suggested items for each gift package:

Pen and pencil, paper-back novel, handkerchief, cigarettes, soap, camphor.

Substitutes such as a small notebook, snapshot case, miniature games, water-proof oil-skin pouch, wash cloth, inexpensive wallet, pipe tobacco, nail file and other useful small items of a similar nature may be used. Each gift item is to be individually gift-wrapped and placed into a suitable gift box which is also to be gift-wrapped.

Greetings and cards from individuals should not be used. Those wishing to contribute boxes are asked to call Mrs. Carl Wright, telephone 2135, or Mrs. W. R. Campbell, telephone 2370.

Bay State Promotes Saltonstall Who 'Stuck to Job' As Governor--Now Goes to the United States Senate

By W. E. MULLINS
BOSTON, Nov. 25 (AP)—Something new and refreshing will be added to the Senate when Governor Saltonstall of Massachusetts dons his newly won robes of office. A Yankee aristocrat with a Harvard accent, he bucked a robust democratic voting trend to roll up more than 1,000,000 votes.

The best test of a man in politics is how his neighbors voted overwhelmingly for Saltonstall. Inspection of the returns showed that he even swept democratic strongholds, chief among these being Boston, which he carried by more than 70,000 votes.

His career in public service began 25 years ago with his election to the board of aldermen in his native city of Newton. He served briefly as assistant district attorney and 14 years as a legislator. Now in his sixth year as governor, he has been chief executive of the Bay State for a longer period than anyone else in nearly a century.

An internationalist long before Pearl Harbor or even the fall of France, he supported Wendell Willkie in the 1940 convention. Early in 1941 he undertook to lecture his state's Republicans in Congress on their hostility to lend-lease legislation.

GOOD FELLOWSHIP
When Willkie withdrew from the contest for the presidency last spring, a number of Saltonstall's supporters suggested that he seek the nomination, only to draw the Coolidgean observation: "I hired you to do this job (governorship) and I guess I'll stick to it."

The good fellowship of the successful politician and the dignity of a Saltonstall, a family which shares with the Winthrops the right to armorial bearings, are his great assets. The makers of Presidents will find he has every requirement. He is 52 years old and an overseas veteran of the last war. In addition to his outstanding record as governor of one of the great industrial states of the Northeast, he has a recommendation that few Republicans in public life have, and that is the repeated endorsement and commendation of organized labor.

His capacity to hit it off with the man who toils for a living probably was traced to one of his earliest acts as governor. Hardly dry behind the ears in this office, he found the state suddenly threatened with a transportation strike that would have tied up its entire trucking industry. Driving to the hall where the leaders of the strike had assembled, he appealed to them to return at once to their jobs with a promise that he personally would see that they received justice. They did and he did, and never since has labor raised its voice against him. A lawyer, he also could lay claim to being a farmer, but he disclaims any political preferment in this respect. Nevertheless, he owns and, to some extent, personally operates a 90-acre farm in Dover, 15 miles south of Boston. There he pitches hay, sows winter hoes crops, feeds pigs and raises chickens, but these chores are more recreation than toll to him.

In his undergraduate days at Cambridge he was a versatile athlete. He rowed on the crew and was captain of the great Crimson junior varsity eight which won the Grand Challenge Cup at the Henley regatta in 1914. He played varsity hockey and in one memorable game with Princeton he scored the winning goal against the immortal Hobey Baker, America's greatest ice-hockey player to this day.

TOOK THE HARD WAY
Three of the five Saltonstall children have gone to war but one of them, strapping 22-year-old Peter, will not return. A sergeant

Food Locker Is Serving Farmers

McLean's frozen-food locker plant is now providing better storage for consumers, according to the official report of the extension service of the war food administration, Washington, D. C., which credits 86 community and neighborhood leaders with the success of the project.

This 402-locker plant began operation June 1, and has the prospect of at least 380 lockers being added to capacity for the remainder of '44, according to the report. The WFA estimates that 133,000 pounds of fresh fruits, vegetables, and meats will be stored in these lockers by "several hundred" Gray county farm families, which will mean improved storage and better utilization of food as well as greater variety in the diet and more vitamins for mid-winter meals.

The agricultural victory council met at McLean September 17, 1943, and took the lead in obtaining the paid subscriptions needed for priority rating to build the plant. The council obtained 267 locker subscriptions and one year's advance rental payment within eight days after the September meeting, says WFA reports. P. E. Stewart, McLean farmer and businessman, built the locker plant.

Twenty days after the plant began operation June 1, of this year, according to this report, individual locker boxes were installed and subscribers immediately began filling them to their 250-pound limit.

Other community projects which the Gray county agricultural victory council has fostered during the year include a dipping vat, a salvage agreement with the Pampa army air field whereby 7,000 jelly jars and 256 loads of scrap lumber were distributed among the people of Gray county, and building and repair of poultry houses, hog-slot equipment, and corral fences.

Status of War Workers After War Is Studied

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON, Nov. 25 (AP)—What does Rosie the Riveter do when her war job ends? Take a poorer-paying one immediately when it's offered to her? Or hold off for one paying as well as her war job? And—if she does that, can she draw unemployment compensation?

That problem—and the solution—will affect workers in every state when job-changing starts after the war.

Under the social security law every state has an unemployment compensation fund. It's built up by taxes on employers in commerce and industry and, in a few states, by taxes on employes, too.

But a basic requirement for receiving unemployment benefits is that the applicant should be ready, able and willing to take suitable work offered him.

People who had no skills—and made little money—before the war will now think they're entitled to unemployment pay, while seeking jobs like their wartime jobs.

And they may have good reason for thinking that. Some state unemployment officials specifically, New York—have ruled that: "Before a refusal to accept employment may be made the basis for a disqualification it must appear that the employment offer bears some reasonable relation to the claimant's last employment, both as to the type of work and as to the remuneration."

Decisions—on unemployment pay for a worker who refuses a job offer—will vary from state to state.

The problem will be far more acute after the war when finding jobs may not be as easy as now.

When an applicant is turned down on his request for benefits, he can apply to a higher authority in the state's employment compensation system and even up through the state courts.

Pampa Resident Succumbs at 94

Funeral services will be held Monday at 2 at the First Christian church for Mrs. Isabella Jeffrey, 94, who died Friday at the Pampa hospital. Rites will be conducted by the Rev. S. D. McLain, assisted by the Rev. E. H. Atherton of Adams, Okla., and burial will be made at the Fairview cemetery. Dueneke-Garmichael funeral home will be in charge. She had been living at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Ethel Olsen.

Mrs. Jeffrey was born Sept. 6, 1850, in Falls, Scotland, but had spent most of her life in this country. Her husband, Thomas, died Aug. 28, 1914.

Grandchildren will serve as pallbearers.

She is survived by three daughters, Mrs. E. L. Martin, Dallas; Mrs. J. V. Martin, Tynon, Oklahoma; and Mrs. Ethel Olsen, Pampa; two sons, George J. Jeffrey of Arlington, California, and Henry of Fullerton, California; 16 grand-children, and 23 great grandchildren.

Crosby and Fitzgerald Fine In 'Going My Way'

Bing Crosby and Barry Fitzgerald are two priests who will win your heart. Their story is told in "Going My Way." Sunday feature at the LaNora. It also will be shown Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday.

America's most popular male singer does a dramatic performance in a manner that is satisfying to the country's most exacting critics in this warmly human story of the church. And Barry Fitzgerald, versatile Irish stage actor, in his first screen effort becomes a welcome new star. His astute portrayal of the old padre in "Going My Way" has gained him unanimous approval in cities where the picture has already been shown.

Rise Stevens, famous operatic contralto, lends artistic aid in the musical numbers that are included in this picture. Church music as presented by Miss Stevens and Crosby exploits the full beauty of the form. Everybody will experience deep emotional reaction to this fine picture.

Jean Heather, James Brown, Frank McHugh, Fortunio Bonanova, and others turn in splendid performances in support of these principals, to insure a smooth continuity for "Going My Way." Don't miss it.

At the Crown "Up in Mabel's Room" is a refreshing light comedy that keeps the audience laughing steadily for practically the whole of the picture. It shows at the Crown Sun. ay and Monday.

The situations that were thought up for this farce are clever in the hilarious extreme. It is the kind of amusing nonsense to take your mind off your troubles.

Beautiful Marjorie Reynolds is in it, and Gail Patrick, the screwball list is led by Dennis O'Keefe, Mischka Auer, Charlotte Greenwood, Lee Bowman, John Hubbard, Binnie Barnes, and Janet Lambert.

Move Made To Step Up Tire Production

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—(AP)—Attacking supply shortages one by one, the war production board has sent out 32 rubber executives to find means of increasing heavy tire output 25 per cent.

Although the military demand for truck and bus tires "evidently is in excess of the industry's ability to produce," WPB Vice Chairman Edward G. Batchelor said the agency intends to "do everything possible to get the things that General Eisenhower needs."

After a meeting which lasted late last night Batchelor reported a looming deficit of 1,000,000 heavy-duty tires in the first quarter of 1945. The industry reported its capacity as 3,300,000 in those three months, while absolute minimum needs—mostly those of the army—were put at 4,941,000.

Synthetic tires are not lasting as well as expected because of the rough and muddy battle-zone terrain of Europe, the WPB official disclosed. And original military estimates of need have proved insufficient to meet the task of hauling arms and supplies to the advancing armies.

Stimson Discusses Cigarette Shortage

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—(AP)—The overseas cigarette shortage was attributed by War Secretary Stimson today principally to supply and distribution problems connected with the current offensive.

Stimson told his press conference he had been informed the deficiency "will be corrected as soon as possible." Proper line troops are affected less than those in the rear, he said.

"Troops subsisting on the C and K rations receive cigarettes as part of the ration," the secretary explained. "In addition, commanders are making every effort to see that any shortage will be absorbed mainly by troops not actually in combat."

Critically needed military supplies for the offensive are given priority over cigarettes and other materials, Stimson made clear. Cigarette sales in post exchanges in France and England were halted this week to everyone but air forces personnel. This action was termed merely temporary.

Most Veterans Go Back to Old Jobs

AUSTIN, Nov. 25.—(AP)—Under the servicemen's readjustment allowance act, 2,654 veterans have been paid $123,935 in benefits since September of this year.

The state unemployment compensation commission, which now handles these claims, said that a survey shows 50 per cent of the discharged veterans have returned to their old jobs and nearly as many have been placed in new jobs.

Veterans may file claims in any of the 163 offices and itinerant points maintained by the unemployment commission. To qualify for aid a veteran must have been discharged under conditions other than dishonorable, must have served since Sept. 16, 1940, and must have been in the service for 90 days or longer unless discharged because of service-connected disability.

Payments may be made to unemployed veterans for as long as 32 weeks, according to their length of military service, and these payments may be drawn over a period of two years after discharge or after the termination of the war, which ever is the later date.

Processing of veterans' claims is identical with the handling of claims for civilian unemployment benefits except that money for veterans is provided by the veterans administration from funds provided by Congress, whereas unemployment benefits are derived from the state's own trust fund contributed by the employers of Texas.

WMC Assigns Top Priority to Jobs On Merchant Ships

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—(AP)—The war manpower commission has assigned top priority to a number of jobs on merchant ships in another move to relieve a critical shortage of seamen and officers.

The number one referral rating was ordered for certified seamen, including able-bodied seamen, firemen, oilers and water tenders, as well as radio operators.

The action means that men qualified will be referred to these jobs first by the United States employment service. However, under the system of voluntary priority referral, they are not compelled to accept such jobs.

In a companion move yesterday the maritime commission instructed its shippers not to employ experienced seamen applying for shore jobs.

WMC assigned a lesser priority for ordinary seamen and trainees. It said this action, plus liberal consideration by selective service of draft deferments for seamen in the 18-26 age group would enable the maritime service to recruit sufficient men in these categories.

The war shipping administration estimates it will need 1,100 able-bodied seamen a month for new ships and replacements. Requirements for other types of experienced seamen bring the overall total to 5,000 a month.

East Texas Oil Man Succumbs

TEXARKANA, Nov. 25.—(AP)—Merton L. Harris, 57, a former state assistant attorney general, died in a hospital here Thursday. He had been ill since Sunday.

Harris was appointed to the attorney general's office by William McCraw and was in charge of the state's interests in the East Texas oil fields. He also served as attorney for the University of Texas.

He came to Texarkana from Austin in 1937 to practice law. Harris, formerly county judge and county attorney of Comanche county, was also district attorney for the 21st judicial district. He was the author of a novel of the "Devil's Den" oil fields, "The Golden Mirage."

At the time of his death Harris was war fund chairman for Bowie and Miller (Ark.) counties.

Surviving are his widow, the former Hazel Randolph of Austin; two daughters, Mrs. Floyd Bell, Atlanta, Ga., and Mrs. Richard Andrews, Austin; a son, Randolph of Texarkana; his mother, Mrs. F. S. Harris of Comanche; and two sisters, Miss Florence Harris, Comanche, and Mrs. J. B. Cooper, Sidney, Texas.

AUSTIN, Nov. 25.—(AP)—A total of 570 dysentery cases reported in the week end Nov. 18 exceeded by more than 12 times the number on the seven-year median for the same week, the health department reported today.

The department said more control measures are needed because sanitation problems and sanitary conditions in communities contributed much to the gastro-intestinal infections.

Real Air Battle Over Japan May Just Be Starting

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON, Nov. 25—(AP)—There are increasing signs that the real air battle of Japan is now beginning, with America's B-29 strategic bombing force undertaking the destruction of the Japanese air force.

Along with the invasion of the Philippines this means that the strategy for finally crushing the Pacific enemy is going into full development—even though to 18 months more of fighting in the Pacific and Asia.

This strategy has at least four main objectives:

1. To knock out the Japanese fleet. This was largely accomplished during the sea battle of the Philippines last month. But the Japanese will try to repair as many as possible of their ships.
2. To knock out the Japanese air force. The Japanese have suffered enormous losses; the rate of attrition has been running 5 to 1 in favor of United fliers. But the enemy continues to restock his blasted air bases because his plane production capacity has not been even seriously hurt. Its destruction must be the first great purpose of the strategic bombing attacks on Japan.
3. To exploit the invasion of the Philippines by conquering Luzon, from which the Southern half of Japan's empire can be cut off from the Northern half. This will also afford bases for the next seaborne invasions tightening the ring of American held islands around Japan.

4. To invade China, Japan or both and finally defeat the Japanese army wherever it can be found.

The Japanese high command can now see this pattern as clearly as anybody else and has begun to make counter-moves. The first is the ill-fated attempt to destroy the Leyte landing in the Philippines by a fleet action, which precipitated the big battle. Failing in that, the Japanese poured reinforcements into Leyte and obviously into Luzon also. This slows down the Philippines campaign but speeds up destruction of the Japanese army.

The latest counter-move was the enemy's fighter-plane challenge to the B-29 raid on Kyushu island, Japanese homeland, Tuesday. Significantly, a B-29 reconnaissance flight over the main island of Honshu was reported again today by Tokyo. Since it is to be expected that the advances of American forces in the Pacific will bring a steady increase in raids on Japan itself, it is evident that we are witnessing the beginning of the air battle of Germany in which the Nazi air force was whittled down prior to the invasion of Europe.

More Telephones To Go To Farmers

A joint committee of representatives of Bell and independent operating telephone companies "sought out the United States" and been formed to advance the nationwide postwar programs which the various telephone companies have been working on individually to extend and improve farm telephone service, according to L. H. Johnson, Pampa manager of the Southwestern Bell company.

Co-chairman of the committee are John P. Boylan, president of the United States Independent Telephone Association, the national organization of the thousands of independent telephone companies, and Keith S. McHugh, vice president of the American Telephone and Telegraph company, representing the Bell operating companies.

Rural telephone service is more highly developed in this country, under the American system of private enterprise, than in any other country in the world, Boylan and McHugh said in a statement issued by them for the committee. "However, it is by no means as highly developed as we in the industry want to see it, and the industry intends to do everything in its power to provide more service, and better service, at a cost which the farmer can afford."

"Since operating telephone companies throughout the whole country have been working on this problem, a representative joint committee has been formed consisting of a number of their most experienced officials. We believe that the application of new facilities and methods which were under development by the industry before the demands of war interrupted our research and construction program will help to bring telephone service to many new farm customers. As soon as war demands are reduced, we propose to resume and expand our research effort and, along with it, the intensive program for extending farm service which was being carried on before the outbreak of hostilities.

"Over one-half million miles of telephone pole lines serving rural areas have already been built so that more than two-thirds of all rural families in the United States can be served from existing lines. Since 1935 more than 600,000 additional families in rural areas have become telephone subscribers—an increase of 35 per cent. One of the major objectives is to continue this upward trend by making the service over existing lines increasingly valuable and attractive. This the industry intends to do to the limit of its ability.

"A second major objective is to extend service at reasonable cost to families not now reached by existing lines. Telephone industry research in the last several years has successfully developed new construction materials and methods which substantially lower the cost of building wire lines to areas not previously reached."

It's probably just another press agent's stunt, but it is certainly worth making a memo of the fact that eyelet Virginia Mayo, above, Hollywood actress, has been appropriately dubbed "The Girl Most Likely to Be Whistled at in 1945." And it's not too early to start practicing.

Letters From a Correspondent's War Notebook

By HAL BOYLE
WITH THE AEF IN GERMANY, Nov. 15—(AP)—Delayed—Under the American army's strict non-fraternization rule, soldiers are forbidden even to speak to German civilians under penalty of fines ranging up to $40 and 45.

"That is something of a hardship when an occasional civilian, dropping the mask of servility assumed by most Germans, makes a wise-crack at the expense of the troops.

But Pvt. Chris Kacoyanis of Somerville, Mass., was equal to the situation. One day during a week-long stalemate in which the Germans held one end of a town and the Americans the other, a young German girl who spoke English stepped up to him, pointed at his head and said, 'Jerry!'

"You know the German people regard the Americans as gang criminals rather than as an army?"

"She said that because of my short haircut," Kacoyanis said later. "Hitler had circulated a lot of pictures showing American convicts and because most of us soldiers had our hair cut short, she was trying to imply we all were from the jailhouse too."

Kacoyanis didn't answer her taunt directly. He just looked the other way and said in a very loud and dignified voice:

"It keeps my head cool—and I don't have to see the barber very much."

Then he marched on past her.

If the German army intelligence hasn't been up to snuff recently, Hitler can blame the cooks of the First Infantry division headquarters.

Capt. Max Zera, who used to teach physical education in New York City high school was passing through the division kitchen when he saw the cook basking a number of brown birds.

"What are those?" asked Zera, his mouth watering. "Spring chickens?"

"Spring chickens, hell," retorted the cook with pride. "These are German messenger pigeons."

Amused at the German machine gunner who sprayed a village street they were cleaning up, two dough-boys got even by employing an old Indian warfare trick.

As soon as it was dark, T Sgt. Walter G. Dunn of Canastota, N. Y., and S Sgt. William Widener of Logansport, Ind., hung several kettles and tin pans on a wire and strung it across the street.

They tied a cord to the wire and passed it down into their shelter in the basement of a German home. When comfortably settled for the night, they jerked the cord, causing the kettles and tinpans to jangle. The Jerries opened up immediately, firing hundreds of machinegun bullets at the sound.

After the firing died down, the two laughing doughboys waited awhile, then jerked the string again—again nervous Germans began firing.

Taking turns sleeping, the two soldiers alternated at pulling the cord. Each time the enemy responded with fierce firing. In the morning, all concerned were tired and sleepy—but the Germans had spent all night firing down an empty street.

Hunting Was Good in Waters off Japan

SHAMROCK, Nov. 25—(AP)—A press release from headquarters of the 11th AAF in Alaska tells of an interesting bombing raid on a 7,500-ton Japanese ship over Kurabu in which Lieut. Cecil Reavis, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Reavis, participated.

The story follows:

"Somewhere on Paramushiro tonight a Jap soldier is explaining unhappily that he didn't mean to do it—but it's a cliché his alibi and being well received by the surviving members of a blazing bomb-torn enemy cargo ship, settling into the icy waters off Kurabu Zak.

"Late yesterday, two Mitchell bombers roared over Kurabu and sighted the 7,500 ton vessel slipping through the foggy dusk.

"As visibility was too low for bombing, they returned to their base. This morning, they took off before dawn for Kurabu, arriving as day was breaking.

"While the pilots were looking for the ship in the tricky half-light, a Jap ground crewman walked out to the end of the Kurabu airstrip and, obviously thinking he saw Jap planes, began signaling them in with a blinker light.

"The light gave the pilots their bearing and a few minutes later they sighted the vessel and made direct hits with six heavy bombs.

"The ship was one of the largest ever sunk off Paramushiro.

"Among the airmen taking part in the mission was Lieut. Cecil Reavis, Shamrock, Texas."

WITH THE U. S. NINTH ARMY IN GERMANY, Nov. 22 (Delayed)—(AP)—The Germans used explosive-filled robot tanks against the Ninth Army today and an increasing number of V-1 robot bombs and V-2 rockets over the entire western front.

Robot tanks first appeared in Italy on the Anzio beachhead and in Russia. Controlled by wires stretched back to German lines, they were not particularly successful. At one time the Germans described the little tanks as V-4 weapons in Hitler's secret series.
