

Pampans to Elect New Commission at Polls Tomorrow

Gordon Resigns as Attorney for City

Bringing the fast moving election campaign to a climax before voting time, City Attorney R. F. Gordon this morning resigned unexpectedly from that office.

Gordon's letter of resignation stated that he was resigning at the discretion of the City Commission in order that the incoming Commission would be free to choose who they wanted to fill the post. No action on Gordon's resignation was taken by the outgoing Commission, meeting for the last time today.

Late this morning City Manager Garland Franks announced that the Central Fire Station, W. Foster and S. Russell Sts., had been selected as the official polling place for voters of Ward 4.

Amarillo Man To Speak at Chuck Wagon Dinner

Jay Taylor, Amarillo, widely known cattle and oil man, will give the main address at the annual Chuck Wagon Dinner, to be held at Recreation Park tonight at 7:30 in connection with the livestock show and sale.

L. A. Maddox, Miami, president of the Top of Texas Hereford Breeders Association, will preside at the dinner, to be held in the sale barn.

The program will open with an invocation by J. F. Ross, Goodell, Texas, serving as master of ceremonies will be Frank M. Carter, Pampa cattleman.

The speaker, a former Army Colonel, came to Amarillo in 1928 as head of the Haliburton activities in this area. Since then, he has served in various capacities in the oil industry and was director of important oil activities in the middle East during the war.

As a cattleman, Taylor helped write the government's emergency cattle buying program and assisted in directing the program in 1934. He has served as an executive on the National Livestock and Meat Board, in the Panhandle Livestock Association, and the Texas and Southwest Cattle Raisers Association and is president of the Tri-State Fair Association of Amarillo.

In 1923, Taylor was hired as a truck driver for the Haliburton firm and was named vice-president of the firm nine years later.

Grandma Takes Thrilling Jump

DENVER—(AP)—Mrs. Lavada Ann Sneed, a 42-year-old grandmother who packed 3,000 parachutes during the war, put the acid test to her work this week-end—she jumped 4,000 feet from an airplane.

The rented chute, which Mrs. Sneed packed herself, blossomed beautifully and "Grandma" picked herself up out of the mud, she exclaimed.

"I'm as thrilled as a little old country girl at a picnic," she exclaimed.

Mrs. Sneed displayed a calm not usually associated with "first jumpers" as she whirled in the time while Pilot Clyde MacKinder gained altitude, she placidly crocheted.

"When I gave her the nod she took off just like stepping out on a elevator," MacKinder reported.

The young grandmother, who also changed harnesses on 11,000 parachutes during the war, said she regretted it concerned her grandson, Richard Cofer, two, who lives in Dallas, Texas, the son of Mrs. Mildred Cofer.

"I only wish he could have seen me," she said.

Stockman Dies Suddenly Here

Just one day before he was to exhibit stock in the annual livestock show and sale here, Harry P. Mundy, 59-year-old Shamrock cattleman, was stricken with a heart attack and died while talking to Ed Carr, a Pampa cattleman, at the show grounds here yesterday.

Mr. Mundy had been talking to Carr and had walked into the cattle barn with Carr when he was stricken. Several men present applied artificial respiration but Duenkel-Carr, the ambulance attendants said they believed Mr. Mundy died just after he was placed in the ambulance.

Death was believed to have occurred shortly after five p. m.

A charter member of the Top of Texas Hereford Breeders Association, Mr. Mundy held extensive farm and ranch interests in the Shamrock area and was a retail dealer for the Texas Company. He was a stockholder and former director of the First National Bank of Shamrock.

Mr. Mundy is survived by his wife, Mrs. Lola B. Mundy; a daughter, Mrs. Margaret Lettwich, Childress; a son, I. C. Mundy, Shamrock; his mother, Mrs. Harry Mundy, Sr., Colorado Springs; two brothers, Irvy Mundy, Colorado Springs, and H. H. Mundy, Pawhuska, Okla., and three grandchildren, Ann Lettwich, at his side.

Von Papan Is Sentenced to Hard Labor

NUERNBERG—(AP)—Franz Von Papan, aide of Adolf Hitler's diplomatic corps, was sentenced by a German denazification court today to serve eight years at hard labor.

Sentence was imposed by the denazification court after it had found the former Reichschancellor and Ambassador guilty as a "major offender" who helped Hitler to power and stayed with the Nazi regime to the end.

The court also ordered Von Papan's personal fortune confiscated.

Von Papan was acquitted of war crimes charges only last October by the International Military Tribunal which sentenced Hermann Goering and 10 other Nazi leaders to death following a history-making trial here.

The one-time Nazi diplomat now is 68 and has hardening of the arteries. The court's sentence was regarded as tantamount to a life term.

Von Papan's confiscated property includes centuries-old estate in both the French and British zones of Germany. Von Papan was barred from entering both zones after his acquittal at the war-crimes trial and was forced to remain in the U. S. zone.

At the denazification trial, he protested that he had been motivated by a desire not to help Hitler but to help Germany. He insisted that after the Fuehrer came to power, he like all others was helpless to interfere.

Von Papan said that he had opposed the union of Austria with Germany when he was ambassador to Austria and had worked for peace as ambassador to Turkey.

The court however, ruled that his possession of a gold Nazi party badge, however honorary, and lack of evidence of any break with Hitler were enough to justify his conviction.

The judges said that Von Papan would be given credit for time he served as a prisoner of the International Military (War Crimes) Tribunal. This will take one year and one month.

Bell Telephone Names Man to Succeed Johnson

L. H. (Jack) Johnson, manager of the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company for Pampa and six other exchanges in this area for the past 14 years, has been promoted to Fort Worth to become a manager there. A. O. Thomas, district manager of the company at Amarillo, announced today.

G. H. Newberry, special representative at Fort Worth, has been appointed the new manager at Pampa. The change is effective immediately.

Newberry, who succeeds Johnson as manager, began his telephone career in 1935 in the commercial department at Dallas. He later served as district representative, and in 1946 became special representative, his position until the present change.

As manager of the Pampa group of telephone exchanges, Newberry will be in charge of all telephone business matters here and at Borger, Canadian, Shamrock, Stinnett, Letford and Gruver.

Mrs. and Mrs. Newberry and their five-year-old son will move to Pampa as soon as arrangements can be made.

Johnson has been a resident of Pampa for more than nine years, coming here in December, 1937 from Amarillo, where he was commercial representative. He has been with the telephone company for 20 years, having served in the plant department at Amarillo, then as manager at Borger, and later returned to Amarillo to assume other duties in the district office. He was promoted to commercial representative there in 1935, and came to Pampa two years later to assume the management of the exchange here and the other towns in this area.

Johnson is member of the Pampa Lion's Club and has been quite active in community and civic affairs.

Government Lifts Power Ban in British Midlands

LONDON—(AP)—A million workers returned to reopened plants in the Midlands today on the coldest day of the winter, which gave joy to the critical coal shortage still unmet.

Another 4,000,000 remained idle. Plants were reopened in only eight of the 38 counties which the Labor Government had shut down two weeks ago.

A pea soup fog blanketed London and large areas of England delaying coal shipments and putting heavier strains on the short coal and waning supplies.

More-in-the-Marsh in the south-east of England, where temperatures below zero, lowest in the British Isles in 29 years and about 34 degrees below zero, coldest since February 1929. Forecasters said the cold wave would continue several days.

Frozen switches interfered with rail shipments from mines but more lines were cleared of snow. Coal trains were given priority. An official of London gas company, which depends on coal in making the fuel, said "we are very anxious. If the fog spreads in the Thames, it will be serious."

'Ring Club' Not Quite so Funny

To about 40 owners of new Buicks in Pampa—the new Buick dealer himself—the new fad of stealing the ornamental radiator rings off the new cars is definitely not funny.

On the more serious side, authorities have sounded a note of caution to parents and juveniles that offend. They have seriously punished as the outgrowth of the formation of a "club" similar to one recently broken in Amarillo.

The rings, which are welded on the radiators of the new Buicks, are collected by youth who reportedly give them to their girl friends. The girls wear the rings as bracelets and their "popularity" is judged by the number of offerings in the bracelet.

One youth was apprehended by a man shortly after he had removed the ring from the man's car. He was turned over to the sheriff's department. Although no charges were filed, Sheriff G. H. Kyle issued a warning that the youth could have been in serious trouble if the owner had decided to press the case through.

The entire ring and the molding costs about $6.80, according to Buick Dealer Tex Evans. Several orders for replacements have been filed, at about $3.40 each, but none has been received.

As we said, it isn't funny to Evans. He had his stolen 'too.

City Commission Holds Last Meet

Present members of the City Commission met for their last business session today.

Most of the morning was spent securing an election judge and a new polling place for the voters of Ward 4, after Commissioner Wright Trautman the commission that the Assembly of God Church would be unavailable for voting tomorrow.

Fervent attempts on the part of the Commission and the City Manager were made to contact the minister, The Rev. Houie H. City Manager Garland Franks disclosed that in all probability the polling place for Ward 4 would be changed to the Central Fire Station at W. Foster and S. Russell Sts.

Nazi Plot Squelched By Arrests

BERLIN—(AP)—American and British authorities arrested more Germans during the night in squelching a reported Nazi plot to restore German armed might "lead the nations of Europe against Russia."

The Nazi captives, including fugitive tank troop officers, claimed to have a secret bacteriological weapon.

A British announcement said the cleanup was "progressing smoothly," although snow and ice on roads handicapped raiding squads.

American and British intelligence agents were questioning the hundreds arrested, seeking information that would lead to minor plotters in a group arrested or broken before the exit raids of Saturday and Sunday broke the organization dedicated to a new totalitarian Germany.

American officials said headquarters of the subversive group apparently was in the British zone.

"There was very close liaison between the leaders in the British zone and the 30 high Nazis seized in American territory," one U. S. officer commented.

Those seized in the American zone arrested at their homes, were found to possess false documents. Some used false names. The American officer said "we will have to break them down fully before we can think" of trying them. All are liable to the death penalty as plotters.

United States and British soldiers and intelligence men, striking throughout their occupation zones despite a snowstorm and icy roads, yesterday arrested more than 100 officers of the old SS (Elite Guard), SA (Storm Troops), Hitler youth, German intelligence and other similar agencies in the rest of "hundreds" in their respective zones. 'Cosis More to Be Governed Than to Eat'

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.), declared today that if Congress doesn't cut out "shameless duplication, overlapping functions and waste of taxpayers' money" now it will never do it.

In an address prepared for resumption of Senate debate at 11:00 a. m. (CST), on a proposal to pledge a $6,000,000,000 cut in President Truman's $7,500,000,000 budget, the Michigan senator said it now costs the American people more to be governed than it does to eat.

That, Ferguson asserted, is one reason he is supporting the House-approved economy promise instead of the Senate's "hundreds" of billions offered by Senator Millikin (R-Colo.).

Besides Ferguson, Senators Barkley of Kentucky, the Democratic leader, Hatch (R-NM), Langer (R-ND), and others were listed on a long speaking schedule that threatened to postpone a final vote until Wednesday, when the Senate meets again.

Barkley told friends he will support the $4,500,000,000 proposal. Hatch has already given notice that he dislikes the promise to cut $4,500,000,000 but will accept it as "less evil." He has called the $6,000,000,000 slash proposal a "headlong plunge into disaster."

Advocates of the Millikin proposal have contended it would leave the Army and Navy relatively free from reductions in their aggregate $11,200,000,000 allotment. They say indications point to maximum slash of $750,000,000 for the two services and that Congress can hold the line at that point.

From Tokyo, General MacArthur, wrote the War Department that he is confident Congress will not "take any action which would prejudice fulfillment of occupation objectives."

While landing any economies "which our national interest reasonably may permit," MacArthur cautioned that cutting off American relief would make starvation "an easy prey to any ideology however evil," which offered food.

Interscholastic Contest Will Be Conducted Here

About 60 school music teachers and school administrators yesterday agreed on a plan for an interscholastic music contest in Region 1. The meeting was held at the Senior High School.

Region 1 of the Interscholastic League includes all schools from Perryton, on the north, to Lamesa on the south; and from the New River on the west to the Texas Panhandle on the east.

Winston Savage, former principal of the Senior High School here, but now director of the music phase of the Interscholastic League in Texas, delivered the explanation of the rules and details of the contest.

The instrumental phase of the contest will be held at Pampa on April 25, and the vocal phase will follow at Amarillo on May 9. It was announced.

Lee Johnson, superintendent of the Phillips High School, and chairman of the executive committee of the League in Region 1, presided at the meeting. The committee, composed of school administrators, controls and contests, as well as the devising of rules and regulations, it was explained.

The April meeting, it was announced, will bring about 25 bands to Pampa, for an aggregate of from 1,000 to 1,500 students.

2,960 Teachers in Buffalo on Strike

BUFFALO, N. Y.—(AP)—More than two third's of Buffalo's 2,960 public school teachers struck today in the largest teachers walkout in U. S. history after receiving an administration order to "carry on with the dignity that has always been associated with our profession."

School officials, preparing for a teacher-attendance of at least 768, ordered all but 20 of the city's 98 schools closed, leaving about 60,000 of Buffalo's 71,000 school-agers without classes.

VICEROY RECALLED

They indicated yesterday that Wavell was replaced partly because he felt Britain should postpone indefinitely its decision to get out of India altogether.

Senate Committee Approves Bill to Outlaw Nearly All Portal-Pay Claims

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The Senate Judiciary Committee today approved by 9 to 3 vote legislation outlawing nearly all portal to portal pay claims.

Chairman Wiley (R-Wis) told reporters the committee approved "substantially the same bill" which a judicial sub-committee voted for last week.

He listed these major changes:

- The bill now includes a two-year statute of limitation, rather than the three-year limitation voted by the sub-committee. This provision still becomes operative only if the Supreme Court should void provisions outlawing all existing and future portal claims except those covered by contract of custom.
- Under the revised version, suits may be filed either by individual employees, or by a worker acting on behalf of a group of fellow employ-

Rescue Missions Seek to Reach Marooned Fliers

WE, THE WOMEN

Reform Is a Shaky Foundation for Marriage

By RUTH MILLETT
NEA Staff Writer
Failure to reform a husband is no ground for annulling a marriage, a New York State Supreme Court Justice ruled recently.

Explained the Justice: To grant an annulment of such a complaint would be the same as approving a trial marriage. If the wife knew before marriage that her husband was in the habit of wandering off to unknown parts, there was no deception, unless it Ruth Millett was self-deception on the part of the wife who let herself be married.

Now there's a sensible decision. If more judges in divorce proceedings were that tough-minded, we might cut down divorce statistics considerably.

Actually, a great many of the divorce-seekers—particularly the ones who charge incompatibility—just calling their marriages quits because they had no luck in reforming a mate.

A steady, home-loving girl marries a gay young man-about-town and then after a year or two of marriage goes to court complaining that he never stays home nights. "What was he like before you married him?" a judge might well inquire.

On the whole, marriage doesn't change men and women much. Nor do wedding vows guarantee a happy ending.

Love Has Two Faces

By Irene Lonnen Ernhart

HE got out and came around to open the door for her. And they went inside and found a quiet booth. Mike put a nickel in the juke box and ordered Manhattans and sandwiches.

While they sipped their cocktails, he told her all about his western venture, how successful it had been, how much money he had made.

"So you see, baby, if you had just waited and not been so hasty," Mike said.

"What's the matter, baby?" His blue eyes were a baffled look. "Didn't it ring the bell, like it used to?"

"Yes." It had been so long since she'd been kissed with passion. She and Parker hadn't really loved each other in such a long time.

"Well then, what gives?" "I don't know what you mean, Mike."

"Something's missing, and you know it, Cass!" Mike sat quietly, both arms resting on the steering wheel, as he studied her face.

"Well, I know now what it is, Gull. No less. You're still married to the guy—and you still have a guilty feeling of disloyalty—kissing me. You always were such a puritan, Cass!"

"I don't know!" But she was quiet. Something was different in the way she felt about Mike—but somehow it wasn't anything she could name or fathom.

"Wait—don't try to answer, baby. I know now what it is, Gull. No less. You're still married to the guy—and you still have a guilty feeling of disloyalty—kissing me. You always were such a puritan, Cass!"

The chosen flower is a climbing red rose, having large profuse bloom for two or three weeks in early spring.

For the convenience of those who wish to set out plants, at once, good, field-grown, two- or three-year-old shrubs will be on sale on main street next Saturday by members of the Venado Blanco Club.

The club hopes that every resident of White Deer will cooperate in making it the "Paul Scarlet rose town" of the Plains.

If Stomach Gas or Sour Food Taste Robs You of Sleep

Here's How You May Help, Whether You Eat 500 Pounds or 2000 Pounds of Food In a Year

You can't feel cheerful, be happy and sleep well, if your stomach is always upset. As age advances, the "old stomach" needs more help. The reason is this: Everytime food enters the stomach a vital gastric juice must flow normally to break-up certain food particles; else the food may ferment, causing acid indigestion and gas frequently cause a maddening, touchy, fretful, peevish, nervous condition, loss of appetite, underweight, restless sleep, weakness.

To get real relief you must increase the flow of this vital gastric juice. Medical authorities, in independent laboratory tests, in independent tests, have found positive proof that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in increasing this flow when it is too little or scanty due to a non-organic stomach disturbance. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains very special and potent activating ingredients.

STUDY THE CANDIDATES BEFORE YOU CAST BALLOT

It is heartening to see such intensified interest being taken in city politics, not especially from the standpoint of those running for office—although that is welcomed—but from the standpoint of the people. We can imagine there are people who were urged by the Jaycees and other groups, and individuals, to get their poll tax receipts, that are now sorry they did not make the purchases. But the campaign has been clean, denoting a certain unity in the citizenry.

If ever there was a sign of community-mindedness and trend to take on a share of the community responsibility, it is when the people are eager for information as to the plans for their city, what is being done and how it was done. People here show that tendency, and it is, we repeat, a good sign.

People who thought heretofore that this was not an important election must have by this time changed their minds, and seen the situation at a different, and more enlightened, angle. City, county and state affairs are always important, because they form the groundwork for strong national government.

It is with these things in mind that we earnestly urge all eligible voters to go to the polls Tuesday. But before they do that, they should give careful consideration to the men who are seeking the offices. This is not to say that some are honest and others are dishonest, but there is probably a difference in their various abilities and adaptabilities for the posts. One should ask himself if the man he has in mind as his candidate has been successful in his personal affairs. If he has, there are more points in his favor than there would be if he had not succeeded. All the men may have been successful, but there are, without doubt, varying degrees of success.

In passing, we would like to note that both slates have committed themselves on two issues, which, though perhaps not the prime items of merit, represent things that would correct two "eyesores," as well as a hazard.

All candidates have taken cognizance of the fact that we need an underpass at the South Hobart railroad crossing. Aside from the hazardous situation existent there, the crossing often causes a "bottleneck," and it's a long way back to the point where access can be had to the other side. If it was a fire truck, or an ambulance, the same would hold true.

We are glad to see both groups show added interest in street-paving. Many obstacles have lain in the way of the past Commission in this matter. But the time is coming when any materials can be had in any quantities needed. When it rains, the streets can get pretty unsightly; and it does not present a very good picture for local citizens, not to mention outsiders.

These are two points we would mention today, and we hope that those who assume office will keep them in mind, too.

MACKENZIE'S Column

By DEWITT MACKENZIE—AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Last week our column remarked that while the German people are thoroughly beaten physically there are many who aren't beaten mentally and would launch another war if they could; yesterday the truth of this was demonstrated.

American and British forces struck suddenly in their zones against a widespread Nazi underground movement. They arrested some hundreds of plotters, including a number of high ranking officers in the Hitlerian SS (Elite Guard) organization—the Fuehrer's crack blackguards.

British officials said the movement had ramifications in the Soviet and French zones and that its aims included restoration of German militarism and a Nazi dictatorship "in order to lead the nations of Europe against Russia."

This isn't the first time the Allies have encountered the Nazi Frankenstein monster since the occupation, but Sunday's drive was the biggest thus far made against the underground. Indications are that we needn't be unduly concerned over the current situation, especially since the Anglo-American team is on the alert.

However, what we do have to worry about is potentialities—about the fact that militarism still lives in the Reich. As U.S. authorities in Berlin point out, "as long as we are able to maintain our army in Germany, detection and suppression of future subversive movements can be made before they become dangerous."

FEDERAL EDUCATION By Upton Close

A subtly calculated plan to take advantage of universal military training to regiment American youth in the well-known totalitarian fashion has been suspected for some time.

President Truman late in December tipped his hand or should we say tipped the hand of his unseen advisors? When he said, regarding compulsory military training: "I don't like to think of it as a universal military training program, I want it to be a universal training program giving our young people a background in the disciplinary approach of getting along with one another, informing them of their physical make-up and what it means to take care of this Temple which God gave us."

A little later he made his point clearer: "I want our young people to be informed on what this government is, what it stands for—its responsibilities. And I think the best way to do this is through a universal training program."

Educators, parents and school board members across the continent must have pricked up their ears at this challenge of the ancient right of the parent to dictate the content of education for his children.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

WASHINGTON By RAY TUCKER

Common Ground

The inconsistency of Republicans subscribes to a magazine called The Free Trader that is published in London, England. It has some very interesting and thought-provoking articles in it. Here is a sentence that I thought when I read it certainly showed how inconsistent some republicans can be. Here is the sentence:

"Our hope is that if the Republicans, advised of a determined attack internal restraint of trade, many of them will also see the wisdom of joining with the Democrat Administration in attacking external restraints of trade."

Republicans who believed in the Constitution and the Ten Commandments very definitely opposed the Deal or restraints of trade between people in the United States. They would had a right to object to any restrictions in trade between people. Business is nothing but an exchange of labor, and if the nation's labor is good in any community or any county or any state or any nation, it is good the world over.

Enlarging a thing that is good in principle is still the thing good. It doesn't become bad because it is enlarged. So if the Republicans are opposed to New Deal planning as to how people may be made in our own country, they should be opposed to how people should trade with people in other countries. They should be consistent. It is absurd for any individual or any party to be for one kind of restraint of trade and against restraint of trade in other cases.

The universal rule is the Golden Rule. It is the practical way of human relations.

If the New Deal internal restraint of trade, telling people how they can exchange goods and services, is harmful, it keeps the standard of living down then interfering with external trade is harmful and keeps the standard of living down.

The Free Trader ends this article with this statement: "For our part we shall continue strongly to support Mr. Clayton and those who think with him, Democrats and Republicans alike, in his valiant efforts against powerful odds. Unless the fiscal question is resolved in the right way there can neither be prosperity, nor full employment, nor liberty and peace. We are more confident than ever that our policy is right."

Socialists Object to Being Pounded

I borrowed a book the other day from a party who was an admirer of a socialist. The book was written by the author, an individual who loaned me the book said, "You won't pound the author of the book?" I told her that is why I wanted to read it and find out how impractical and impractical the book was.

Then I told the party, "If I am doing something that is out of harmony with natural law, with Christian principles, I want people to pound me and pound me and pound me until I finally awaken and see my errors." If a man doesn't want his fallacies pounded and exposed, it is a pretty sure sign that he is a self-seeker; that he is advocating false doctrines, that he is not really seeking the truth, that his great happiness comes from appearing to be a martyr and a leader of society. There is only one champion for the man who doesn't want to be pounded and pounded and pounded about when his is advocating something that is harmful to the society he is in.

He will be serving false gods most of the time. There is little chance for him to learn.

And the man who is in harmony with God's law, with the Ten Commandments, with the law that all men are equal before the law but not identical, need not fear any amount of pounding. So one can embrace or mutilate or insult or hurt or harm the real Christian in harmony with God's law. He invites criticism; he invites his name to be tried, he is tested in every way.

But the false, the do gooders, the dreamers say it is bad and naughty and wicked and selfish and unchristian to question and to argue and point out errors. They want to be left alone in their comfortable ruts.

The test of whether a man is practical or not is whether he is afraid of intellectual poundings.

chief of the armed forces is his servant.

There are two sides to the question of universal military training; in a republic there is only one side to the question of who dictates the education of the youth.

We have seen a multitude of illustrations of how the eager totalitarians worm their way into army class rooms. For example, the handbook which for some time, late in the war and after, was part of a compulsory indoctrination course and which advocated gradual transition of private property, placing it in the hands of the state.

Advocates of universal military training will be whipped before they start—so we hope—unless they kill off any thought that their program can be abused as a vehicle for federal education of youth.

The fact is, unless the army can conduct a compulsory program of selective useful training without permitting Communists and other breeds of statists to work into the program will defeat itself. Nobody was sicker of a compulsory army than the army itself, during the months required to get soldiers home from the battle fields after the last war. Any old Red would start trouble on any front by merely attacking the principle of compulsion in time of peace.

It would not surprise me to see the army itself, in due time, advocating a volunteer army instead of universal compulsory training. (Copyright, 1947)

POINT OF LAW
SPRINGFIELD, Ill. — (AP) — An argument over who shines the Chicago courthouse cuspidors has reached the Illinois Supreme Court.

A 58-page brief, opposing Republican Sheriff Elmer M. Walsh's suit against the Cook County board and the Circuit Court judges, says the common law doesn't give the sheriff "statutory powers to scrub and mop floors, polish cuspidors, clean washrooms, run elevators and the like."

The big question involved is who handles the hiring and firing of 211 custodial employes.

In Hollywood

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent
(Johnson-KPBN)
Monday thru Friday 3 p. m.

HOLLYWOOD — Bathing suits, we read, will have resurgence this summer.

Ruffles, bustles and peplumes—something that covers the hips—almost missing since the start of the war, will be back.

But men, what you see of Mary on the beach this summer will be mostly mummy. Hurray!

I know. I've been peeking. I've just previewed the 1947 bathing suits on Hollywood's movie cuties.

I still don't know how they did it, but they've got lots of lace in the 1947 bathing suits. Naturally it's not where it will do any harm. As we told you the other day, Virginia Mayo wears an all-lace bathing suit, which Don Loper designed for a new movie. But the censors were a little fussy about that one and insisted on flesh-colored silk underneath.

A California designer has come up with a gold metallic bathing suit. Rain and rustproof, no doubt. Others are made out of rayon, satin, latex, cotton prints and even plastic shower curtain stuff.

There is only one thing that is bothering us.

How in the world do the gals hang the darn things up? Like Goldie, for instance.

SMALL BUT FLIGHTY

We were sitting in Janis Paige's dressing room, waiting for the arrival of her 1947 bathing suits. A gal from the wardrobe department, Leah Rodes, was bringing them over. Janis has quite a revealing part in the Warner movie, "Wallflower," wearing three new models.

And Janis has just enough of everything and so distributed as to make men suffer from overhanging eye balls and women not so fortunate take to strong drink.

"Which," we wondered, "does the most for you in this picture—what you say, or what we see?"

Just then the bathing suits arrived. The lady from the wardrobe department brought all three of them in her one clenched hand. Goldie was the most precocious of the three. Goldie was so tiny she could double for a handkerchief. A small handkerchief.

"You were about to tell me, Janis."

"Oh yes," Janis said. "Well, I've read the script and I think it has some of the cutest conversation and situations in it. I'm wild about the part written for me."

Goldie began squirming at this. "I believe 'Wallflower' will get a lot of laughs," Janis continued.

GOLDFIE NO GOODIE-GOODIE

Goldie wriggled out of the wardrobe lady's hand and fell to the floor with a crash of about 1/1000 of the intensity of a falling pin on a six-inch carpet.

Janis stopped talking.

Goldie lay there quivering in the light floor draft.

"Goldie," the wardrobe lady said, "is angry with Janis."

"Why?" said Janis.

"She is angry," the wardrobe lady said. "Because Janis talks about nothing but the script. Just now Goldie asked me to ask Janis just what she thought she would be in this picture without her."

Good little bathing suits, you see like good little children, should be seen and not heard. But I'm afraid Goldie '47 will never be considered good. She can scarcely be seen when Janis is with her and she'll be heard about plenty when the film is released.

Intoxication Cases

Heard by Local Court

Corporation Court Judge Clifford Braly Sunday morning fined four men on charges of intoxication. Assessments handed down were: One fine of $30, two each for $25 and one $10. One overtime parking charge was fined $1.

This morning the judge excused two intoxication charges, one on the promise that he would leave town.

A 17-year-old boy, arrested for speeding, had his case continued until Wednesday morning. According to police records this was not the first time the youth was brought before the Corporation Court on traffic violation charges.

as first reports show it is it will seriously affect arrival of supplies.

Few of the million workers returning to child factories expected to work full time until the weather breaks and coal stock are restored to normal.

The Ministry of Fuel and Power called for a ten percent reduction in coal consumption by gas companies and warned domestic users of further cuts in service, probably squalling the five-hour restrictions on the use of domestic electricity.

Many factories in the Midlands Industrial Belt unable to resume work today despite the lifting of the power ban in the area. A priority on coal shipments in the last two weeks has been given to power stations, and stocks at many industrial plants were too low to permit operation.

The Austin automobile plant (15,000 workers) and Cadbury's Candy Works (8,000 workers) remained closed for lack of fuel. Others such as the Dunlop Rubber Company (7,000 workers), the Imperial Chemical Industries (6,000 workers) and General Electric (7,000 workers) planned a three or four day week.
