

'Definite' Federal Action Is Forecast as Telephone Strike Threatens to Spread

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23—(AP)—Possibility that a mushrooming strike of women telephone operators would spread to New York City arose today as a forecast of "definite" government action was heard in Washington.

Henry Mayer, attorney for the federation of long lines telephone workers, said the union is considering calling out its girl operators in New York as a sympathy gesture to Ohio workers, who started the strike over expense bonuses paid to workers imported into Dayton.

It already has spread to Washington and war-busy Detroit. Almost simultaneously Miss Jeanette Reedy, vice president of the striking Ohio federation of telephone workers, was closed to have wired union associates from Washington that prospects for settling the dispute today were good.

A spokesman for Economic Stabilization Director Vinson predicted the action here without hinting what it might be. Vinson, however, usually routes unsolved labor disputes to the White House. Only President Roosevelt can order government seizure.

A settlement, of course, would forestall federal action. A. J. Krug, war production chairman, today was reported closeted with army officials. The army presumably would take over the struck exchanges in the event of a seizure order. Krug's activity in the strike stems from the office of war utilities. A WPB branch which he formerly headed. It is charged with maintenance of war essential utilities.

In Washington, hub of United Nations communication links, company officials said its long distance switchboards were "about two-thirds" covered. A spokesman said "a lot of operators are going through" picket lines which were established early today.

The strike everywhere was orderly. It had little effect on the public generally, because most cities, affected have automatic dial systems. These do not require operators.

The Washington and Detroit strikes began formally at 6 a. m. The war labor board, after wrestling with the Ohio dispute throughout Wednesday, deferred its "or else" action—the possibility of the government taking over—until today. It announced last night it would refer the case to Economic Stabilization Director Fred M. Vinson—an action which normally precedes actual presentation to President Roosevelt.

Letters From a Correspondent's War Notebook

By HAL BOYLE
AN AMERICAN INFANTRY DIVISION HEADQUARTERS, Germany, Nov. 16—(Delayed)—(AP)—Those days of planning were over and at headquarters there was nothing to do now but wait.

Two officers sat in a small, upstairs room of this old stone German farmhouse and played chess—but they were bent over the battered old board in listening attitudes. Their minds were only half on the game.

The younger man—a slim soldier with close-cut hair—straightened up with sudden interest. He quickly moved one of the mellowed ivory-colored little figures near the corner of the checkered board.

"There—I've got you," said Capt. Carl Wozick, of Cleveland, Ohio.

"So you have—you've won again," absently acknowledged Lt. Col. Robert P. Evans, of Davenport, Iowa.

They sat there for a moment. Neither moved. Each man had turned toward one open window through which leaked wintry wind.

That wind bore with it also the faint vibrations of many motors far away.

"Listen!" someone said. "They're coming."

Others came into the room quietly. The rumbling became louder. Minutes passed and then Lt. Col. Donald Curtis, of West Newton, Mass., looked down at his watch. The hands marked 11:15 a. m.

"If our air corps is on time as usual," he said. He never got to finish his sentence. The distant thudding of scores of bombs reechoed among the green and forlorn hills outside—echo piling on echo.

"Right on the dot!" someone exclaimed.

"Well, the attack is on," said Evans. "It is funny—but I can't feel excited now. These operations get so they are almost routine."

The other soldiers nodded.

In foxholes, hundreds of yards ahead, heavily loaded doughboys crouched, waiting for the word that would send them forward again on that step-by-step march to Berlin. In their minds were the two thoughts uppermost with infantrymen in every attack:

"Will this be the one that ends it? Will I make it again myself this time, too?"

Argument Over Wages Involves Every Citizen

(Editor's Note: This is the first of two stories on the government-labor battle on living costs and wage demands.)

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON, Nov. 23 — (AP)—We're all involved in this dispute—and in the outcome.

The government says its figures on living costs are pretty accurate. They're the government's yardstick in controlling wages and prices.

But labor says living costs are far higher than the figures show. So it wants the government to let wages go up.

If wages go up—depending on how widespread the increases are—some or many workers will benefit.

If then living costs—prices—go up further, everyone will be affected. Chances are nothing will happen until after Germany falls.

Tomorrow the arguments on both sides will be examined here. But this is the background of the arguments: the way in which the figures are put together.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics (BLS) is part of the government's department of labor. It gathers various kinds of information on labor. One of its main jobs is compiling the cost-of-living index.

The index is designed to show price changes in living essentials. Notice that these figures are for city families only. Farm families are not included.

The index applies only to "average" families living in large cities. It's a national average.

For you, as an individual, living costs may be higher than the index shows. But the index is dealing with the country as a whole. Not with individuals.

The index covers prices for all important essentials in the family budget: food, clothing, house furnishings, rent, utilities, fuel, telephone rates, prices of newspapers, movie admission prices.

Here's an example of how your living costs may be increased but not be fully reflected in the BLS index:

You pay more now for what seems the same kind of dress you bought in 1939. But it isn't as good. It wears out much faster. So, instead of having to buy only one such dress a year you have to buy two.

Water Bills Run Into Rough Sledding

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23 — (AP)—Plans for quick passage of a billion dollar flood control bill has run into an argument over the St. Lawrence seaway recommended by President Roosevelt.

Instead of acting on the bill in a matter of hours preliminary to taking up a $500,000,000 rivers and harbors authorization, the Senate faced the prospect of a controversy that might run into next week.

The plans were snaggled when Senator Aiken (R-VT) insisted on presenting his amendment authorizing the seaway. Even as the Senate moved toward debate Aiken kept his colleagues in doubt as to whether he would offer his amendment for the flood bill or the rivers and harbors measure.

The house-approved bill call for postwar construction of flood control, hydroelectric facilities, harbor works and related projects throughout the country—a program backed in principle by President Roosevelt to create a shelf of public works and jobs.

Among major projects in the rivers and harbors bill are the $23,000,000 Neches and Sancti river project and the $15,000,000 Trinity river project, both in Texas.

Cattle-Dip Vats Are Being Set Up In Various Parts of the County

Sixth in a series of cattle dip vats in Gray county is being completed this week, County Agent Glenn T. Hackney revealed today. This sixth vat is located five miles south of Laketon on the ranch of Ed Gathings.

The purpose of these vats, Hackney explained, is to control cattle lice and grubs, thereby increasing the edible beef and the quality of the leather produced by the cattle of Gray county, which is in such demand for the armed forces.

"Ranchers of this area had long felt that there was something that they could do about grubs and lice except cuss 'em or pray for aid," Hackney said, "but we are endeavoring to show them that they can certainly do a lot of good for themselves."

"Cattle that are attacked by grubs will not only produce less beef; their leather will have neat round holes in it, which of course degrades the quality of it. You wouldn't want shoe soles made of leather with holes in it. Neither does the army. We are trying to alleviate the situation, and already there have been some 10,000 cattle dipped in our first five vats. We feel that our program is doing quite a bit of good."

These vats, all of which have been constructed since March, cost around $500 apiece, Hackney stated. They

4 Years to Build Siegfried Line, 4 Days to Crack it

By HAL BOYLE
WITH AMERICAN TROOPS IN GERMANY, Nov. 12 (Delayed)—(AP)—Doughboys of the Second Infantry division say it took the Germans four years to build the Siegfried line, and it took the Americans four days to crack it and four hours to build a chapel inside it.

The rude log church is among a number of wooden buildings and winter-resistant structures erected by one battalion whose bivouac area now looks like an American western frontier settlement in pioneer days.

The simple spruce-log chapel stands out with a certain dignity in this ramshackle community. Protestant and Catholic services are held on alternate days, and certain percentages of men from each forward company are permitted to leave their cold, muddy positions in the heavy evergreen woods to attend church.

Construction of the church was first suggested by the battalion commander, Lt. Col. Ollinto M. Barant, former University of Nevada football and boxing star and one of the toughest and best-liked officers on this front.

Col. Roosevelt Named in Brawl

NEW YORK, Nov. 23—(AP)—A civilian's complaint that an army officer be identified as Air Force Col. Elliott Roosevelt intervened in an early morning Broadway brawl over a taxicab and enabled four GIs to leave before arrival of MPs, was under investigation today by military authorities.

Lieut. Col. John McNulty, district provost marshal, said the complaint by Max Huddle, 30, dance hall floor manager, was being investigated by the Second service command.

Huddle declared the four soldiers dragged him from the taxi as he entered it and "started to slug it out" over who should be permitted to ride.

"Another taxi drove up," Huddle said, "and Col. Elliott Roosevelt and a major got out. Col. Roosevelt pushed the soldiers aside and told them to scram. I moved toward the cab to protest, but the major put his hand on my shoulder and said I was under arrest. Then someone yelled 'here come the MPs.'"

"The colonel got into his cab leaving the major with me. When the military police arrived I heard the major say, 'keep this quiet. A son of the President is involved.'"

Speaker Advocates West Point for Each State in the Union

Adj. Gen. Arthur B. Knickerbocker, Austin, gave an illustrated address to 250 Texas State guardsmen Tuesday night in Amarillo, Capt. E. J. Dunigan of the local battalion announced.

Among other interesting information on past deficiencies, Gen. Knickerbocker mentioned that 80 per cent of American youth did not finish high school in 1940, the last full year prior to the war.

John Snyder, 75, famous barbecue chef and host, gave the assembled guardsmen a feast of his specialty, and took the oath of an honorary state guardsman. Col. J. D. Bryant of Austin administered the oath.

Judge E. C. Nelson of Amarillo presented Lt. Col. Roberts with a set of maple leaves and pinned the insignia on him.

Impromptu speeches were made by several service men, veterans of overseas action.

The ceremonies took place in Amarillo high school's armory. Thirty-five members of Co. D, 14th battalion of the Pampa group, attended.

Wheat Production Goal Is Reduced

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23 (AP)—The war food administration is recommending a million-acre reduction in previously-assessed production goals for wheat for harvest in 1945.

It suggests instead that the million acres be planted to flaxseed, a crop of which are said to be needed in greater quantities for the manufacture of paints, varnishes and similar industrial materials.

The Best INSURANCE a Farmer Can Buy

It's a BIG farm year—Buy BIGGER Bonds!

Here are 6 big reasons for buying the most you can—$100, $500, $1,000 in the big 6th War Loan. War Bonds give you:

1. The best and safest investment in the world.
2. At maturity, $4.00 for every $3.00 you loan.
3. The convenience of cash—plus increase in value!
4. Funds to replace and restore worn-out farm equipment, soil fertility, and buildings.
5. Funds for educating your children; a nest-egg for your own security, travel, retirement.
6. The increased purchasing power vitally needed to win the Peace.

THEY still die—will YOU buy?

THE biggest part of the war job is still ahead. The easiest part is lending money, but it is just as essential as fighting.

Without adequate equipment, American fighting men can not win a war 5,000 miles from home. To deliver such equipment is an undertaking so vast and costly that the Japs expect us to quit! They know our men are tough, but they think we're soft at home, and won't sacrifice our easy living to lick them. Well—let's give them the answer, in the 6th War Loan.

Buy bigger War Bonds—to buy more B-29's that will bomb Tokyo. These Superfortresses cost $600,000 each—but they're worth it! Every day the war is shortened saves more than 500 American casualties.

Bigger War Bonds provide you with a reserve that increases in value. They provide funds for building or equipment; a fund for educating the children; a nest-egg for travel or retirement. No one knows what the future holds in store for us. Make your future secure—make your country's future secure—by buying BIGGER Bonds NOW!

The Treasury Department and Gray County War Finance Committee Gratefully Acknowledges These Firms for Their Extra Support of the 6th War Loan!

Old Almanac Has Facts on Early Pampa, Vicinity

By EB SITTON
Pampa had little except "fine prospects" on its first football team 24 years ago, according to the Texas Almanac of 1926, published by A. H. Belo corporation, publishers of the Dallas News. City Manager W. C. deCordova has a copy of that yellow and thumb-worn book in his office. The '26 almanac does not estimate Pampa's '25 population, although it gives such guesses by the census bureau on most other Texas towns. It numbers Pampa's 1926 inhabitants at 987.

But it must have grown in the next five years, for there were 537 enrolled in Pampa schools in '27, 70,000 gallons of water was the daily usage, and there were 300 connections; 500 telephone connections are shown and, amazingly, 1000 light connections. People must have wired their garages and barns—of which there were plenty within the city limits—in those days.

Pampa's valuation was assessed at $10,000 in 1925, or $200,000 above McLean's for the same year, said Hugh McLean had an estimated 1,500 population. This may have been an exaggeration, for McLean's census figure for '20 was only 741.

"Pampa will develop rapidly with future settlement of this territory," the almanac predicted. Gas was already available here, and an oil refinery was projected.

Panhandle was just starting to install gas and a sewage system, in '25, although it, like McLean, claimed 1,500 population. Panhandle's assessed valuation was one and a half millions.

St. Anrock, which had 1,257 people in '20, was claiming 2,500 five years later.

Amarillo wasn't a metropolis in those days. People to the number of 15,494 lived there in '20, but its amateur chamber of commerce was already estimating an additional 10,000 five years later.

Farm employment, income post-war in Amarillo in '25, three of them dailies. The townsmen were very proud of their 35 miles of pavement.

James G. Maddox, also of the bureau, told planners private enterprise must take up the slack in spending that will come when war expenditures stop.
