

Sen. Truman Had A Bad, Bad Night

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 8.—(AP)—Senator Harry S. Truman had some mighty bad moments listening to election returns last night, but he went to bed at 11 p. m., the vice president-elect of the United States.

For a time the national result appeared in doubt, but the Senator, listening to returns with his family and a large group of friends in his hotel suite, smilingly told the crowd "everybody around here is nervous but me."

Then came a report that unofficial returns indicated that Missouri might go republican. That was too much. He went to a piano and concentrated on playing the difficult "Minute" by Paderewski. He played without a score, and turned out a perfect performance.

His home state kept him on the griddle for several hours as rural returns piled up an increasing lead for the Dewey-Bricker ticket.

Then the big city tabulations, which had gotten off to a slow start, began to pour in. Soon after midnight the Dewey-Bricker lead was wiped out, and the result never was in doubt after that.

Then came Dewey's concession.

Oklahoma Rolls Into Dem Victory Column

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 8.—(AP)—The Democratic Roosevelt-Truman ticket gathered Oklahoma into its victory column and fellow partisans in senatorial, six congressional and five state races won along with it, incomplete but conclusive returns showed today.

President Roosevelt and Sen. Harry S. Truman, his running mate, carried the state against the Dewey-Bricker team, 553,583 to 284,414, in returns from 3,248 of Oklahoma's 3,972 precincts. This 69,169 margin approached the democratic presidential lead of 71,104 in 1940.

Sen. Elmer Thomas was elected for a fourth six-year term as he turned back William J. Otjen, 1942 republican gubernatorial nominee, 324,923 to 257,842, in returns from 3,145 precincts.

(By The Associated Press) This is how Texas voted in the preceding five presidential elections:

Phillips Man Gets In on Jap Trick

WITH THE 7TH U. S. INFANTRY DIVISION, LEYTE, Philippines.—(AP)—The Japanese have a bag full of lethal tricks, and Sgt. Ralph Reek and his 20-man patrol met up with one of them in Leyte valley.

Reek and his men, enroute for more ammunition for their forward battalion, were following a communication wire toward the rear. Suddenly they spied two enemy heavy machineguns emplaced 50 yards ahead of them.

The Japanese opened fire, killing two Americans. The patrol replied, knocking off 10 or 12 Japanese. But the Yanks had only small arms, so they infiltrated past the machineguns.

In the series of individual fights, Pvt. Henry Smith of Phillips, Texas, picked off a Japanese who was charging Pfc. Nile Reed, Nuttallburg, W. Va., from the rear with a bayonet. The Nipponese was only 10 feet from Reed when Smith dropped him.

STATIONED IN WASHINGTON, D. C. Sgt. and Mrs. H. L. Anderson and son, Timothy, are visiting in the home of Sgt. Anderson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Anderson.

They are enroute from San Francisco, where Sgt. Anderson served in the paymaster's office, to Washington, D. C., where he will serve in the general paymaster's office. Sgt. Anderson graduated from Pampa high in 1940 and left immediately afterward for the Marine corps. He has had 37 1/2 months overseas duty in the Pacific area.

Contract Termination Will Be Discussed

Army and navy contract termination specialists and smaller war plants corporation officials will explain procedures for the speedy settlement of terminated war contracts in a conference at the Herring hotel, Room 202, Amarillo at 1:30 p. m., Wednesday, John K. Boyce, manager of Amarillo chamber of commerce, has announced.

The conference, sponsored jointly by the Amarillo chamber of commerce and SWPC, is designed to help all war contractors, especially smaller subcontractors, through the red tape of changes in war production specifications and in reconversion to civilian output.

"Upon prompt settlement of contractors' claims depends to great extent the economic condition in which we will find ourselves soon after the cessation of hostilities," Boyce said. He pointed out that "the government is ready to accord fair compensation on terminated contracts, but it cannot be expected to do so if the contractor does not know, or is not in a position to know, the facts which constitute the basis for fair compensation."

All war contractors, accountants and bankers of this area have been invited by the smaller war plants corporation and the Amarillo chamber of commerce to attend this conference.

Pampan Receives Medal For Pacific Action

Pfc. Otis W. Gatlin, whose wife lives at 2011 West Craven St., serving with an aviation gasoline storage and pump station in the Southwest Pacific, has been awarded a combat star for his part in the campaign at Bougainville, Northern Solomons. He also was awarded the Good Conduct medal.

High oceans gear handled by his unit at Bougainville was used by the plane which materially helped to knock out Rabaul, the main base of operations in the South Pacific for the Japs.

He was inducted in July, 1943, and has been overseas for seven months and was stationed for a short time on historic Guadalcanal. As a civilian he was employed by the Sun Oil company as a gauger at Gladewater, Texas. His mother, Mrs. Hattie Gatlin, lives in Pampa.

Church Asked To Take Leadership

ATLANTA, Nov. 8.—(AP)—A recommendation that the church assume leadership in hastening the fulfillment of the legitimate aspirations of the Negro people, was made by a recent conference of church and civic leaders in a report issued by the Southern Regional Council.

The conference called to discuss problems of demobilization, declared that "the basic cause of tension between our white and Negro races is the opinion of many white Americans that the Negro must permanently occupy an inferior role in American life."

In view of the democratic, scientific and Christian teachings of the "fundamental equality of all mankind, the Negro is impelled to strive for full status in American life," the report said, and "we recommend that the church assume its rightful place of leadership" in helping them attain this end.

'Newfangled' Gadgets Being Used by Nazis

PARIS, Nov. 8.—(AP)—The Germans are using jet and rocket propelled planes and various other "newfangled" gadgets against Allied night fighters. Lt. Col. Oris B. Johnson, Natchitoches, La., commander of a P-61 Black Widow group, said today.

"In recent nights we've counted 15 to 20 jet planes," Johnson said. "They sometimes fly in formations of four, but more often they fly alone."

Johnson described a new kind of flak which he said might be a phosphorus bomb. "It explodes in a large ball of fire at 10,000 feet and I could see drops of fire dripping around it," he said. "The same ball of fire exploded several times, each time at a lower altitude. The dripping process followed each explosion," he added.

The Germans also have a trick weapon which sends a dummy airplane into the paths of daylight bombers purely for a "psychological" effect.

"It looks like the tail or other part of a plane on fire, but it does no damage," Johnson said. "They merely intend it to get you excited."

Terrorists Kill British Official

CAIRO, Nov. 8.—(AP)—Jewish terrorists assassinated Lord Moyne, British resident minister in the Middle East, Monday, officials said today.

Their motive was not known. Lord Moyne's duties were concerned almost exclusively with relations between Great Britain and Egypt and did not cover other problems in the Middle East.

King Farouk visited the hospital before Lord Moyne died. Funeral arrangements have not been completed but a state funeral probably will be held, Lord Moyne was 64.

Lord Moyne was shot as he alighted from a car at his residence here and died in an army hospital. His chauffeur was killed instantly.

One of the gunmen was shot by an Egyptian constable and the other was captured nearby.

LONDON, Nov. 8.—(AP)—Prime Minister Churchill told Commons that "very searching inquiries" would be made into the assassination of Lord Moyne, British minister-resident, at Cairo.

Parliament and the nation, Churchill said, had suffered a "very heavy loss."

HE GOES HOME TO DIE ELKHART, Ind., Nov. 8.—(AP)—Johnny Phillip, 72, Elkhart native who gave up a motion picture career last summer and announced he was "going home to die," died here Monday.

Phillip went to Hollywood after a career of 15 years on the stage and appeared in a number of pictures, including such recent films as "It Happened Tomorrow," "Summer Storm," "Three is a Family" and "Double Indemnity."

What Makes the Atmosphere Around the Stars Stay Up? That's Just One of Many Questions Probed in W. Texas

McDonald Observatory

AUSTIN, Nov. 8.—What makes the atmosphere around the stars stay up? How much pressure does the light of stars exert on the atmosphere above them? How many miles per second do the stars travel?

Is a star a clean-cut disc like the sun or does it have a diffuse edge? What are the faintest observable stars? What's the distance between the two component stars of so-called double-stars?

These are some of the questions to which astronomers of the Western Hemisphere are trying to find the answer at McDonald observatory at the University of Texas astronomical laboratory at Mount Locke in West Texas.

Dr. Otto Struve, director of McDonald observatory and also of its sister laboratory, the University of Chicago's Yerkes observatory at Williams Bay, Wis., visited the university campus here after spending two weeks in observations at Mount Locke.

While most of the astronomers who work jointly at McDonald and Yerkes have been called away to do research, investigations are continuing at both observatories, Dr. Struve said, and significant contributions continue to be made to astronomical science.

Without exception the staff members and visiting astronomers assert that the 28-inch telescope at McDonald—second largest in the world and renowned as the most perfect astronomical "eye"—is "more than beaming out expectations of its performance," Dr. Struve explained.

Dr. George Van Biesbroeck of McDonald's staff, for example, declares that his visual studies of binaries—double-stars—which have ranged over a 20-year period is being pushed forward much more effectively and rapidly with McDonald's 82-inch telescope than could be done anywhere else; that he is able to collect more data in a few weeks at McDonald than could be gathered at any other observatory in months.

Superiority of McDonald is attributed by Dr. Struve to (a) the weather conditions atop 6,790-foot Mount Locke which affords the 300 clear nights a year; (b) "weather seeing"—the clarity of the atmosphere which permits clean-cut star images; and (c) the near-perfection of the 82-inch telescope mirror, a two-and-one-half ton disc ground to an exactitude of 1-1,000,000th-inch, which is 100,000 times as powerful as the naked eye.

Six major observation projects are currently under way at McDonald, Dr. Struve said.

The largest program is the study of the spectra of stars, in which a number of observers have been working, including Dr. G. P. Kuiper and Dr. Daniel Popper, of McDonald and Yerkes, both now on leave for war research; Dr. Struve, Dr. W. A. Hiltner of the McDonald staff; two Argentinian astronomers, Drs. Carlos U. Cesco and Jorge Saade from the National observatory of La Plata, Argentina; and Dr. Sergei Gaposchin, formerly of Russia and now a member of the staff of Harvard university.

In these spectral investigations, the astronomers attach to the 82-inch telescope a device known as the spectrograph, Dr. Struve explained. This device, a fairly recent development, is now widely used in astronomical study, but the McDonald one is unique.

Its principal unit consists of two prisms of quartz—the largest pieces ever used in any astronomical instrument. "I was lucky enough to get hold of two pieces of Brazilian quartz, when I had expected to use glass," Dr. Struve said.

Dr. Kuiper, noted as the discoverer of the now-famous "white dwarf" stars, very tiny and so extremely heavy that one cubic inch may weigh as much as a ton, or in a few exceptional cases as much as several hundred tons, has made close to 10,000 photographs of the stars to determine their spectral types—as to temperature and size revealed in the spectra.

Dr. Popper has studied the motions of stars, using a principle of physics, the Doppler effect, to determine how many miles per second they travel. He has tested some three or four hundred stars, and discovered the fastest moving star known to science.

This faint, inconspicuous star moves about 600 kilometers per second, Dr. Struve said. The average star moves about 20 kilometers per second.

Sharing in this work has been an astronomer from the Taubaya observatory of the National University of Mexico, Guido Munch Panigagu, who has now gone on to Yerkes observatory as a Guggenheim fellow.

Panigagu was interested in determining the motions of a number of stars designated as "sub-dwarfs," smaller than the dwarf stars yet not as tiny as the "white dwarfs."

The problem of the atmosphere of the stars has been tackled by Dr. Struve himself, the two Argentinian astronomers and Dr. Hiltner. Our most active problem is to discover what the atmosphere is like—whether a star is a well-defined disc, like the sun, or has a diffuse edge," Dr. Struve explained.

"This question is important because it involves the 'support' of the atmosphere. What makes it stay up? We know that the atmosphere of the earth is supported by the weight of molecules, but this pressure is not sufficient in the case of the stars to hold up the atmosphere.

"We know that the answer is related to radiation pressure—that is, light pressure. Light pushes the stars upward or outward. This light pressure—even of cold lights—must be intense in stars.

"The heat pressure we know how to measure. It amounts to some 100,000 degrees C. at the surface, perhaps 40,000,000 degrees at the center of the body. But to get at the full pressure that 'supports' the atmosphere of the stars, we must add the effect of the light pressure to the heat pressure."

are any still smaller stars which may rank in size between the stars and the planets.

Dr. Van Biesbroeck is also continuing at McDonald his investigation of measuring double-stars by visual means. He is the only astronomer anywhere who is engaged in this research.

By using a micrometer made with infinitesimal spider hairs as a measuring guide, he is able to measure the distance between components of a binary, or double-star, system.

McDonald observatory, the gift to the University of Texas of the late W. J. McDonald of Paris, was placed in operation in 1939. It is operated jointly by the University of Texas and the University of Chicago.

First WAC Awarded Legion of Merit

WAC, Nov. 7.—(AP)—The first woman to be awarded the Legion of Merit by the War Relocation Authority was Sgt. Wright of Kalamazoo, Mich., Monday, the first saluted member of the WACs to receive the award.

Sgt. Wright was cited for "exceptional and meritorious conduct" as a telephone operator in North Africa and Italy from Feb. 4, 1943 to Oct. 24, 1944 during which time she was responsible for the switchboard at allied headquarters.

"We've used it for yeahs - But never wid dis effect!"

Sure! Many a new and enthusiastic user of Admiration Coffee faced the same situation in recent months. The brand of coffee she'd been using suddenly, almost overnight, began brewing up a bitter, acid cup. And in its wake inevitable family explosions occurred.

HAS YOUR BLEND "CHANGED"?

What happened is easily explained. Her old standby "changed." Cheap, inferior, bitter-tasting coffees were substituted where better coffees were used before. Why? Well, to "save" on ceiling prices. There's no scarcity of good coffees. It's just a plain case of adulteration.

THE WAR HAS CHANGED SOME COFFEES

But the war hasn't changed all coffees. Admiration is still today, as it was 25 years ago, a unique blend of choice, expensive coffees, roasted to the peak of flavor and freshness. Today, tomorrow, next month, and years from now it will be the same heart-warming, appetite-cheering blend. Thousands throughout the Southwest are as loyal to Admiration as they would be to an old friend. As indeed it is. Buy a pound today and give it a one-week trial. You'll understand with glowing satisfaction, right at the first sip, why this superior blend commands by far the greatest sale of any coffee in the Southwest.

America Warned That Japs Will Seek Revenge for Humiliation in Defeat

(For six months, the Japs held Robert Bellaire prisoner in a Tokyo internment camp. They brought great pressure to bear on him, in the hope that he would serve as their radio voice, directing propaganda against the United States. Bellaire headed United Press bureaus in Shanghai and Tokyo, and is well known as a writer and lecturer. Here he presents his views on the possibilities of permanent peace with Japan.)

war machine, and the liquidation of the so-called militarist clique in Japan, guarantee us lasting peace in the Pacific?

No leader of any of the United Nations has dared to predict that it will, and the reason is quite simple. Our statesmen realize now that the war lords of Japan are not alone to blame for Japan's atrocious record of plunder, slaughter, rape and cruelty.

Our leaders know the responsibility must fall also upon the overwhelming majority of the Japanese people themselves, and that we shall still have tens of millions of these people living in the same world with us after the war.

In recent years Japan has deliberately slaughtered 12,000,000 human beings, and started fully as many additional millions. She has conquered and plundered 10 countries in which she has enslaved al-

Chiang Foresees Better Feeling

Prospects are "now excellent" for close and effective Chinese-American military, political and economic cooperation, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek said in a message to the Associated Press in response to a request for his views on the situation spotlighted by Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell's recall to Washington.

Making his first statement for publication on the Stilwell incident, Chiang said he believed President Roosevelt's explanation of that matter to be "adequate" and that he had nothing further to add.

He referred to the President's statement, made at a White House news conference on Oct. 31, that Stilwell's recall was due to a clash of personalities between the Generalissimo and the Generalissimo and that it had no connection with matters of strategy or policy in China.

Chiang's message from Chungking was addressed to Kent Cooper executive director of the Associated Press, and was received at the New York office of the A. P. yesterday. Its text follows:

"Kent Cooper, 50 Rockefeller Plaza, New York.

"Telegram dated Nov. 1, received Nov. 3. Thank you for expression of interest in this situation. According to press reports received here, President Roosevelt already has given adequate explanation General Stilwell's transfer to which I have nothing to add. Prospects effective and close Chinese American military, political and economic cooperation now excellent."

Mr. Cooper had asked Chiang for his views on the Stilwell case and other elements of the China situation following public discussion of the American general's withdrawal and the publication of stories detailing the background of Chinese-American relations.

most 500,000,000 human beings. She has distributed narcotics among these enslaved peoples on a wholesale basis, and she is guilty of an estimated 3,000,000 cases of rape. Tens of thousands of other authenticated examples of savage atrocities are part of the same record.

WON'T ADMIT WRONG
Anyone who considers the immensity of that infamous record must see at once that it could not have been accomplished by any small handful of so-called war lords. Obviously, those war lords required considerable assistance, and they found it, willing and waiting in millions and millions of average Japanese.

If the average Japanese were the god-man he thinks he is, we might hope that defeat would teach him a lesson. But he is a very human individual, and his reaction to defeat will be equally human, and therefore predictable.

The Japanese will regard their defeat as an unbearable humiliation to be avenged at the earliest possible opportunity. They will have no desire for our friendship, except as it may help prepare them for the day of vengeance. To believe otherwise is to believe that Japan might drive 135,000,000 Americans back into our original 13 colonies, and make us like it, and accept it.

Secondly, the Japanese will never admit that they have done any wrong. The Japanese will always consider this a religious crusade aimed at establishing world peace.

Yes, the Japanese says we will have no more wars as soon as all the world accepts the single political and religious dictatorship of his god-emperor.

Thirdly, the Japanese will never admit that they were defeated by our superior equipment, morale or ability. Neither will Japan's militarists be discredited as a class. A handful of necessary scapegoats will be blamed for failure to capitalize on great victories which would have assured Japan easy and quick victory.

TERRIBLE TEMPTATION
The destruction of the American fleet at Pearl Harbor, the conquest of an empire potentially the most powerful on earth, and the willingness to wage war against the combined forces of the entire world—these will be but a few of the glorious memories the average Japanese will have of the war lords. Also to their credit will be the fact that no single nation, not even America, undertook to defeat them single-handed.

Finally, a terrible temptation will ring in the ears of every Japanese for decades to come. It is the unpleasant fact honestly acknowledged by General Marshall: "The Japanese attacks on the Pacific fleet in Hawaii uncovered the entire west coast of North America."

Obviously, from the Japanese viewpoint, that is the invitation to try again, next time with new war lords possessing sufficient foresight and ability to capitalize on such spectacular victories.

By HAL BOYLE
WITH AMERICAN TROOPS IN GERMANY, Oct. 28 (Delayed)—(AP)—Frontline flashes:

Two dead cows helped Pvt. George Harner of Pennsylvania knock out several enemy pillboxes.

Harner's company was in a defensive position 150 yards from a series of concrete and steel pillboxes. He and a comrade were sent one dark night to check whether the Germans had withdrawn from these strong-points.

To reach the pillboxes we had to cross open terrain, and the only means of cover were two dead cows," said Harner. "They were really fragrant—but they were something to hide behind at least."

The two soldiers crept from one cow to the other until they were within 25 yards of one pillbox and heard low voices speaking in German. They knew the enemy was still there.

Harner and his pal worked their way slowly back from cow to cow until they reached their own lines again. There they directed mortar and artillery fire on the German emplacements.

"I don't know whether I will ever be able to smell anything again," said Harner. "But I guess it was worth it, those Jerries didn't get any sleep that night."

Troops of one battalion unit in Holland found a new use for portions of concentrated K rations they couldn't consume. They fed them to a pet white goat, their company mascot.

The idea had only one drawback. The goat refused to eat one type of biscuits and one brand of cigars which also were highly unpopular with the troops.

After the war major leagues looking for top hurlers profitably might investigate PFC Tony D. Augustine, Mansfield, Ohio.

He fired five shots with his carbine recently at a stray hen. He missed and covered the floor with straw. They feel asleep.

Now rocks have become part of his basic load of ammunition.

WITH AMERICAN TROOPS IN GERMANY, Oct. 29—(Delayed)—(AP)—It was dark and the two soldiers were sleepy.

File. Otto Kaiser of Brooklyn, N. Y., and Pvt. Thomas A. Gill of Turtle Creek, Pa., dug a deep foxhole and covered the floor with straw. They feel asleep.

They awoke a few hours later in four inches of water. Drowsily they baled it out and lay down to sleep again. They awoke once more to find water again in their foxhole, but they were too tired to get up. By dawn they were practically floating around. They found they had dug their foxhole on the site of a spring.

Instead of abandoning it, these resourceful troopers dug a channel to let the water escape, hollowed out a basin in which to wash themselves, built themselves a stove and advertised throughout the division: "The only foxhole with hot and cold running water."

German machine gun bullets whistling past his bulldozer did not bother Pfc Francis Goetz of Green Bay, Wis.

"They won't hit you unless they've got your name on 'em," he called lightly to another soldier.

Whang! A Nazi bullet spanked against the steel crossbar, three inches above his head. Goetz dived into a foxhole a second later, abandoning his battle philosophy.

"No name—just initials," he muttered.

If only Staff Sgt. Oliver Garner could have stopped laughing he would have had two more Nazis.

His armored division tank, "I Don't Wanna," engaged a German 20 mm. ack-ack gun dug in along the roadside, and destroyed it with a direct hit.

Two jerry survivors sprinted for the tall timber. Garner drew a bead on them with his rifle, and then began laughing so hard he couldn't aim.

"No wonder they were running so fast," he said. "The seats of their pants were on fire."

WITH AMERICAN TROOPS EAST OF BRUYERES, France, Oct. 31—(Delayed)—(AP)—For a week 270 American infantrymen of the Seventh Army were trapped behind the German lines in the Vosges foothills. They were rescued today by Japanese-American doughboys who fought through the Nazi encirclement ring.
The Yanks, members of the 141st regiment of the 36th division, were without food for five days, then rations and medical supplies were finally parachuted to them from low-flying Thunderbolts and fired in by artillery shells.

Artillery commanded by Maj. Luther Orriek of Italy, Texas, fired rations to the trapped men. Pilots who dropped supplies included Lt. T. E. Barton, 705 N. Broadnax, McAllen, Texas; Lt. L. C. Focklin, 2205 Grand street, Wichita Falls, Texas; Lt. F. W. Trumlower, 705 Highland avenue, San Antonio, Texas, and Lt. Jack King, 2417 Prescott street, Corpus Christi, Texas.
One 48-man patrol of the battalion came back with only six men after its seven days of isolation.

Tokyo Claims Sub Kills off Coast

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 8—(AP)—Tokyo radio said yesterday Japanese submarines operating off the Pacific coast of the United States have sunk "several oil tankers and transport ships."
The broadcast, recorded by the federal communications commission, quoted a Domei, Japanese news agency, story saying the report came from a Central Pacific base. It gave no time for the asserted sinkings.
There have been no announced sinkings by Japanese submarines along the Pacific coast in more than a year and there was no confirmation of the Japanese report from any American source.
