Women Urged To Enter $10,000 Peace Contest

American mothers, wives, and sweethearts—vitaly concerned with the welfare of their loved ones on world battlefronts—may have the solution to the question of how to organize the peace of the world when World War II is over, in the belief of Fannie Hurst, author and novelist who is a member of the judges' committee of the national peace treaty contest.

The contest, which opened March 17, and closes midnight, April 15, offers $10,000 in face value war bonds as prizes for the best peace treaties of 1,000 words or less.

Residents of the United States and its possessions and members of the armed forces are eligible to enter the contest. National Peace Treaty Contest Headquarters are at 350 Fifth Avenue, New York 1, New York.

Statement on the Peace Treaty of World War II by Fannie Hurst: "We are fighting a war for no territorial gain whatsoever, except that American soil shall continue to be under the feet of free men. That is a vast ideal. We as a nation, we average citizens, must demand, in the resounding voice of a unified people, that the peace treaty of World War II, guaranteeing no uncertain terms, man's right to be free."

Mrs. Warren R. Cain, member of the judges' committee, and Catholic clubwoman of Los Angeles, stated: "As a mother with a son in the service, I am happy that the National Peace Treaty contest will not only afford a chance for expression on the kind of peace we should make to the citizens of the nation now within the United States, but will include such opportunity to the men and women of the fighting forces, to whom a just and equitable and everlasting peace is of vital interest."

Exhibitions Are Planned by Clubs

WHEELER, March 22—Mrs. V. J. Zeeman, Wheeler county home demonstration agent, in cooperation with extension work, furnishes the following information in regard to June exhibits in both Wheeler and Shamrock.

She says "Articles From Sacks" will be the educational exhibit arranged by Wheeler county home demonstration club women in June, and "Make-Overs" will be the principal exhibit in September. With the scarcity and high cost of material, these exhibits mean much to housewives of the county. Articles shown will range from children's clothing to window curtains.

The exhibits will be arranged by the exhibit committee of the county home demonstration council composed of Mesdames W. A. Sorenson, T. H. Morgan and Miss Louise Risler. In addition to the two county-wide exhibits, each home demonstration club is planning one exhibit during the year.

EASTER DILEMMA

Troubles double for this year's Easter shopper.

Mrs. U. S. A. trying to find clothes for her family, get her money's worth and keep within her budget, sometimes finds life increasingly complicated.

She finds prices sky-high, she is not too sure about the materials available, and she grows weary and impatient trying to find staple items of children's apparel.

It is to relieve some of the current shortages and make more low-priced garments available that the government has drafted the new fabric order which is now creating general hysteria in the garment and textile industries.

Optimists say that the new order, known as M-388, will ease the present situation and result in increased supplies of utilitarian garments by fall.

Pessimists say that the new rules, forcing fabric manufacturers to channel the bulk of their civilian production into low-priced channels, will wreck America's young fashion industry and will fail to accomplish its goal of making more low-priced goods available.

With all civilian textile supplies shrinking because of vastly increased military demands and manpower shortages, leaders of the industry paint a gloomy picture.

F. Eugene Ackerman, executive director of the American Wool Council, says:

"The WPB and OPA joint order to channel fabrics into low and medium priced items of apparel is a death stroke for the American fashion industry unless it is amended. What this order will do is to regiment the American public in simply styled utility garments. It will stop, during its operation, that proportion of the textile and apparel industry which creates new fashions which are the life blood of the entire industry."

Dr. C. T. Murchison, president of the Cotton Textile Institute, says:

"Cotton supplies available to civilians for the next six months will be the smallest since the Civil War. The new textile order will have little effect on the cotton picture, because cotton goods production already is frozen for the most part, an account of military requirements. One ray of hope is that continued successes in the war may change the picture."

Difference in Civil, Criminal Libel Is Argued

AUSTIN, March 22—(AP)—The question of what constitutes criminal libel as compared with civil libel was argued Wednesday before the court of criminal appeals in the case of the state versus William Prescott Allen, publisher of the Laredo Times.

The case was before the court again upon motion or rehearing both by the state and by Allen. The court recently reversed and remanded Allen's conviction on a criminal libel indictment, holding that some of the language in the article was libelous and other parts were not, and that the trial judge should have limited the jury's consideration to the language of the statement charged in the indictment to be libelous "and which was sufficient to constitute a libel."

The state in its motion for rehearing asked the court to affirm the trial court judgment, and Allen's attorneys asked that it be reversed.

Gordon Gibson of Laredo, arguing for the state, cited cases holding that "if any part of the language is libelous" the entire article must be considered, and the rule is the same in both civil and criminal cases.

Sidney Samuels of Fort Worth, arguing for Allen, contended that the state "fails to make a distinction between civil and criminal libel." He said the court itself in its opinion seemed to be considering civil cases for action, not criminal cases.

Allen's indictment grew out of publication of statements referring to members of the board of directors of Laredo Rotary club and the operation of the club's student loan fund. The court of criminal appeals held that language in the article referring to members of the board as "buntdist, Hitler-minded" and "Hitler's friends" was libelous per se.

"The effect on the mind of the reader is the test," said Gibson. He also declared that the appellant did not request a special charge to the jury.

Attorney Carl Wright Johnson of San Antonio, appearing for Allen, declared the court had not cited one Texas case in support of the charge that the statements made were libel, and that the language of denunciation does not constitute libel.

Samuels said that "at most" a state of mind was attributed in the article complained of, and the only act mentioned was a lawful one.

Gibson declared that "the direct charge" was made in the article in the mention of individuals as "Hitler's friends."

luncheon held in connection with the event.

Attending from Pampa were C. F. Purley, president of the chamber of commerce, E. O. Wedgeworth, secretary-manager of the C. of C. and Judge White. Crawford Atkinson, chairman of the chamber of commerce highway committee, was unable to attend the meeting because of business transactions.

W. Coffee, chairman of the association and former Briscoe county judge, presided at the meeting.

smaller packing plants, all saying they could increase production of cattle "if prices adjusted favorably."

The cattle are available although not at prices the packers can afford to pay under present ceilings.

Winn said, adding that the country now had its greatest supply in history, 80,000,000 head.

Winn urged amendment of the present provision in the price control law requiring that maximum prices on products resulting from processing of agricultural commodities shall allow a "generally fair and equitable margin" for processing.

To this section, he said, should be added a provision that the margin "shall apply to the processing of each type (species) of livestock, such as cattle, hogs, sheep and lambs."

path of the Allied armies would be deathtraps for any civilians remaining there.

The Stockholm newspaper Svenska Dagbladet said that Essen, Dortmund, Gelsenkirchen, Bochum and other cities in the Ruhr region already were "dead" and deserted.

The German people were told by their government last night that they are facing a sharp cut in food rations and that they soon may get no meat at all.

"Our plans have been wrecked because millions of Germans have returned from border areas and have to be fed on shrunken space," declared Joseph Stock, agricultural director of the reich, in a domestic radio broadcast.

"Decreases already have been issued which will cut deeply into everybody's food rations. More measures will follow."

At the same time the Swiss press asserted that Adolf Hitler, apparently resigned to an inevitable junction of the Allied and Russian armies somewhere west of Berlin in the near future, had completed preparations for a last stand in the mountainous Berchtesgaden region in Southern Germany.

There, Swiss papers said, Hitler hopes to wait out the "swiftest period" after the war which he believes will end in a reign of chaos and unrest that will split the Allies asunder and permit a rebirth of national socialist Germany.

Central Philippines where Yanks captured the city if Iloilo, 70 percent of which was destroyed by enemy-set fires and mines.

Hundreds of Japanese were lost at sea when low-flying Mitchell bombers virtually wiped out a six ship convoy off Amoy, China, Australia's 30 minister announced that Aussies flying over the Dutch East Indies sank 29 Japanese ships and damaged 32 others in February. Most of them were small.

There are still, the Tokyo newspaper Yomiuri-Hochi said, 100,000,000 Japanese determined to die in defense of their beloved homeland.

Virtually martial law over bombarded Japan was urged by Premier Gen. Kuniaki Koiso who warned "we must either win a victory or we shall all die." He asked the diet to appropriate the equivalent of $1,000,000,000 to pay "first aid expenses to the victims of air raids and other wartime disasters."

Other disasters included smashing raids by Vice Adm. Marc A. Mitscher's task force 58, whose carrier planes knocked out approximately 30 war and merchant ships Sunday and Monday in their third strike at Japan and dealt perhaps more serious damage to the Emperor's naval and air machines by destroying repair shops, ammunition dumps, oil storage facilities and air assembly shops. Deprived of repair facilities, damaged ships remain crippled and faulty airplane engines keep planes grounded.

saults toward the heart of Stettin, described as the gateway for a sweep across the north German plain west of Berlin, were doubled, and that on the Hungarian front the red army was on the offensive all the way from Lake Balaton to the Danube in reinforced attempts to smash through the Danube gate to Austria. The stronghold of Komarom was endangered, the nazis said.

While an uneasy lull hung over the front east of Berlin, veteran red army storm units cracked into Neisse-gebiet, last major German stronghold in the East Prussian pocket southwest of Koenigsberg. Marshal Alexander Vasilevsky's troops mopped up trapped Germans along the Erpsches Haf as Russian planes made searing attacks at will upon the enemy pocket.

Other Russians wedged deeply into the south and west defenses of Danzig, only six miles from Russian missiles from cutting the Danzig-Gdynia coastal roads, taking Gross Katz, four miles from Gdynia.

WAR IN BRIEF

THE WESTERN FRONT: Americans reduced German hold west of Rhine to mere bridgehead; Ludwighafen entered, Neunkirchen, Ustadi taken; Yanks fought inside Mainz; Rhine-Moselle-Saar offensive may have cost enemy more than 100,000 casualties; Remagen bridgehead broadened with tank support; Germans fled Ruhr as Allied armies massed for push.

THE RUSSIAN FRONT: Lull settled over front east of Berlin; red army wedged six miles from Danzig; East Prussian pocket lashed furiously as battle southwest of Koenigsberg was reported drawing to a close.

TODAY'S VICTORIES ON THE WESTERN FRONT ARE REFLECTIONS FROM YESTERDAY'S HARD WORK:

Allied Supplies Do the 'Impossible' in Reaching Rhine

Transportation, as Well as Fighting, Helps Win

Experts call the "Jerryean," the five-gallon gasoline can we copied from the Germans, our most effective secret weapon. Here are some of the 15,000,000 Jerrycans stocked by services of supplies.

By TOM WOLF
NEA Staff Correspondent

PARIS, March 22—When American First army troops smashed across the Rhine to establish a bridgehead on the eastern bank, news stories laconically reported that thousands of tons of equipment were rapidly assembled to exploit the dent in German defenses.

This Yank success, like other triumphs over the Nazis since D-day, would have been impossible from the start but for the endless, thankless, glamorous work done by men who never hear a shot fired—the officers and GIs in the services of supplies, communications zone, E.T.O.

Combat troops whose brains, brawn and guts are largely responsible, of course, for our military successes, affectionately call the area behind the armies' rear boundaries "Oom Z." They refer to the services of supplies centered in the communications zone as "SOS."

rifle without a firing pin is only a blacklock (100,000 rifle pins a month must be replaced). A stream without a bridge is the Atlantic ocean. A general without a phone is no commanding general. And an infantryman without proper food, clothing, equipment and medical care is only a shadow boxer.

In the first eight months since D-day, Com Z's services of supply have landed well over two and a half million American soldiers on the continent. It has brought along everything that these two and a half million men need to wear, eat, live in, shoot, travel in, fight with and defend themselves with. It has fed, housed, clothed and cared for them in a far better style than the majority were accustomed to in civilian life. No other soldier in the world would in his wildest dreams hope for the standard of living the American soldier has come to expect—and to receive.

haunted as much as 25,000 tons of supplies a day across the two American beaches—Omaha and Utah—to deliver the muscle behind the breakthrough wallop of the First and Third U. S. armies.

The second impossibility turned into a reality was the supplying of an army which moved across France, from the Brittany coast to the Belgian frontier, in 30 days. The commitment for petroleum, oil and lubricants for that drive alone amounted to 600,000 gallons daily, 27 FOUNDS PER MAN.

Moreover, all of this has been done in the face of two basic "impossibilities." To begin with, it is logistically "impossible" to land and supply an army across a beach. That is axiomatic in planning. According to all planning formulae, more supplies are needed to back up any given number of combat soldiers than can be landed on the amount of beach which this number of soldiers can be expected to capture.

climate to the west. We hadn't had much experience in European winter fighting. The Italian experience couldn't be applied for study until nearly June. Orders based on it could not be placed until July. Some shortages were bound to occur. The much-publicized shortage of the largest sizes of overshoes is hard to understand—until you realize that combat troops are now taking shoes a half size bigger than they have up to now. They're wearing extra socks and therefore demanding bigger shoes.

What hasn't been nearly so well publicized is that our frontline soldiers are now wearing almost a brand new winter uniform—one which wasn't ordered until July. It starts with the new shoe packs and ski socks, includes new outer windproof pants, new high-neck sweaters and jackets and ends with a new hood of stock, launders and one had thought would be needed, is a good example of improvising to meet a combat emergency. Because it would have taken months to get goods from the states, the quartermaster took our anti-gas hoods out of stock, launders and the impracticable and issued them. In November alone over 6500 tons of winter clothing was rushed to the front, almost half of it by air.

2 Are Indicted On Kidnap Charge

FORT WORTH, March 22—(AP)—M. E. Thompson, 27, and Elbert Day, 21, were indicted here Tuesday by a federal grand jury in connection with the March 12 kidnaping of Miss Betty Jim Shelton, daughter of an Amarillo rancher, James Shelton.

The two men, fugitives from a E. W. Peoples is no longer connected with the Salary Loan Co. Anyone having business to transact with this company is to do so at the office, otherwise we will not be responsible for any claims.

The indictment carried a second count, charging Day and Thompson with transporting the Shelton automobile across the state line to San Jon, N. M.

Shamrock Tracksters Outpoint Pampa Harvesters 53-51

Pampa Will Not Be Entered in Amarillo Meet

Coch Bob Clark's Shamrock Irish outpointed the Pampa Harvester trackmen in a duel meet yesterday, 53 to 51. The Irish took seven first places out of thirteen events.

Anderson of the Irish was high-point man of the meet with 17 points while Dixon, of Pampa, was second with 10-3/4 points.

Coch O. Coffey of the Harvesters, announced today that, after conferring with the boys out for track, and considering the problem from all angles, he had decided not to enter the invitation track meet at Amarillo Saturday.

Coffey said that he had only two boys that placed in the regional last year and that it would be too hard on his younger boys to enter against boys from the other teams that had a lot of experience.

However, Coffey said, the Harvesters will meet the Panhandle Panthers here next Tuesday and the Shamrock Irish again here the following Tuesday.

Speaker of the annual football banquet to be held at the Brown March Saturday night, Coffey said that, besides the boys and their staff, he is asking school officials to come, members of the coaching staff and all those who were instrumental in bringing about a successful season last year.

Coffey said that he would try to contact them all personally and invite them himself.

Mikan Gets 53 Points in Rout Of Rhode Island

NEW YORK, March 22 (AP)—George Mikan, De Paul's 6 foot 9 inch center towered today as one of the giants of basketball after an amazing scoring exhibition in leading his team into the final of the national invitation tournament at Madison Square Garden.

A crowd of 18,253 saw Mikan pour in 53 points last night to set an all-time garden record as De Paul trounced Rhode Island state, 67 to 53.

Bowling Green, led by deceptive Wyndol Gray and Don Otten, 6' 11", took a 57-44 decision over St. John's of Brooklyn and will meet DePaul Monday. St. John's won the tournament the last two years.

In setting a new garden team scoring record, De Paul broke eight marks, with six being credited to Mikan who hung up the following standards:

Most points in a game, 53; most points in two games, 81; most field goals in one game, 26; most field goals, 34; most points in one half, 32; and most foul shots in one game, 11. The team's 39 field goals topped Toledo's 1942 tournament mark of 36.

The all-time individual scoring record was set by Anderson of Bucknell who tallied 80 points in one game in 1903 against Philadelphia's Philadelphia.

AUSTIN, March 22 (AP)—Under favorable weather conditions, all early commercial truck crops, with the exception of potatoes, made splendid progress during the first two weeks of March, the United States Department of Agriculture reported today.

Scientific Preparedness

Modern war being the technological horror that it is, any program of peacetime military training should be matched by one of scientific preparedness. A realistic step toward the latter has been taken with the formation of the research board for national security.

This board, composed of 20 civilian scientists and 20 from the army and navy, will succeed the wartime office of scientific research and development, and will function until Congress sets up an independent and presumably permanent research agency which has already been recommended.

Some, of course, will argue against any such board. The arguments probably will parallel those against peacetime military training: continuing military activities will make us a militaristic nation and lead us into war; military training has never kept Europe at peace.

And the argument may also be heard that America's famous "know-how" and great industrial development will enable us to keep pace with the scientific parade, or at least catch up to it in plenty of time in an emergency.

Familiar answers will serve for the first two arguments. Modern, adequate defense measures are no more an invitation to war than modern, adequate police protection is an invitation to crime.

Scientific unpreparedness not lack of trained instruments brought about France's defeat and very nearly spelled England's ruin. And, for all our "know-how," scientific unpreparedness has hampered and continues to hamper our fight with Germany, according to competent spokesmen.

Some considerably misleading information on American equipment seems to have come from ad writers or from enthusiastic promoters of military plants or the services. We have some unrivaled instruments and weapons. But reports from European fronts have lately cast doubt on claims that everything available is the best in the world.

These reports cover such things as artillery, tanks and winter boots. They mention flying bombs and jet-propelled fighters. Our related construction of these aerial weapons apparently imitates the German methods now in action.

LOOKING AHEAD

By GEORGE S. BENSON President, University of Oklahoma

WHO MAY THINK? Stopped by a traffic signal while driving in a narrow, busy street a few days ago, my ear caught a familiar, musical note. Just beyond the sidewalk, through a big, open door, a blacksmith was shaping shoes for a farmers heavy team. Horns behind me suggested moving along before I had finished looking, but it was an inspiration to watch this workman, so skillful and energetic.

Moving-picture blacksmiths are elderly gentlemen with drooping mustaches, not this man. He was about 30, clean shaven and active. The tempo of his hammer was lively. The hopeful picture he unwittingly posed of post-war America was some to mind a few, several times. Recently, however, he has been listening to men discuss post-war plans in general terms: lofty, abstract language.

FABRICATING SENTIMENT Various people speak to-day about shaping public opinion, like the young blacksmith shapes and fits iron shoes for horses and mules. Those trying to shape public opinion are not the same men, but the same idea, but all agree that popular sentiment can be changed. No informed person will deny it. Hitler did it. National leaders do it. The time, constantly or unconsciously, for better or for worse.

You have heard the old saying, "Knowledge is Power." It is supposed to be a motto from the pen of Francis Bacon about 300 years ago, but I think Bacon lifted this choice bit of wisdom from the Solomons: Proverbs 24-5. It has stood the test of time. Moulding public sentiment through intelligent dissemination of facts is legitimate and proper. It is the best antidote for false propaganda, whether it is in the form of pure propaganda or in the form of pure propaganda.

And the argument may also be heard that America's famous "know-how" and great industrial development will enable us to keep pace with the scientific parade, or at least catch up to it in plenty of time in an emergency.

Familiar answers will serve for the first two arguments. Modern, adequate defense measures are no more an invitation to war than modern, adequate police protection is an invitation to crime.

Scientific unpreparedness not lack of trained instruments brought about France's defeat and very nearly spelled England's ruin. And, for all our "know-how," scientific unpreparedness has hampered and continues to hamper our fight with Germany, according to competent spokesmen.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS The National Whirligig

By ALBERT LEMAN SHOPPING—New York stores, blossing by spring weather, are mobbed with women buying everything they can lay their hands on for the Easter parade—and to stock up against the coming famine. Cash registers ring up record sales. Expensive items move faster than cheap ones; today's shoppers judge quality by the price tag. But there are yawning gaps on shelves that probably will remain empty for months.

The clean-out will not be felt at the same time everywhere in the country; some concerns still have fairly large inventories. But trade associations warn that shortages are inevitable as many lines are no longer manufactured. As soon as the new OPA low-priced clothing directive hits the retailers—probably by May or June—women will discover to their astonishment that many luxury materials will be off the market. Some firms are now "salting away" costlier pieces of goods and garments that will not be affected by style changes so that regular customers will not be disappointed in the summer and fall.

CLOTHING—At present, women's and children's apparel reserves are about twenty-five percent below those of last year; men's clothing supplies are slightly higher. But husbands should check their smiles—suits and overcoats for them will reach the vanishing point—by autumn—the army-navy is calling for huge numbers of battle jackets and heavy garments which will monopolize the looms, summer wools and light suits will be at least fifty percent under the offerings of 1944.

The WPB program for more children's clothing has struck a snag; there will be less than was estimated, especially underwear. Factory orders are held up in obtaining the required yarns from spinners. Even when these are delivered, manpower dearths slow output. Women will find fewer selections in many shops because managements, fearing loss of customer confidence, are cutting down on their inferior quality stocks of women's linings, rayon's part-wool fabrics, non-stretch elastic and children's overalls and sweaters.

CRITICISM—From the Atlantic to the Pacific there will be howls of protest when the major streams of the types of goods already shipped abroad. New York manufacturers charge that choice cereals, which ought to be made into sheets pillow cases and house dresses for American women has been sent to North Africa and Italy. The shortage in men's underwear is one of the worst. Obviously goods are not being distributed as fast as they are being produced.

Peter Edson's Column: WALLACE STIRS UP HIS ASSISTANTS By PETER EDSON Pampa News Washington Correspondent WASHINGTON, March 22—Henry Wallace's assumption of his new job as secretary of commerce has stirred up that moribund old institution more than anything since the days of Herbert Hoover. There are today more rumors in the air than filling cabinets to hold them, and what comes out is going to be something to watch.

Reorganization of the staff is being held up pending the return to Washington of Undersecretary and Wayne Chaffield Taylor, who has been in Mexico City for the conference of American republics. Taylor was a Jesse Jones appointee and he practically ran the department while Jones spent most of his time running the federal loan agency. Taylor has indicated he would be glad to stay on under Wallace if asked, but he may not be asked. Dr. Ames W. Taylor, head of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, has had a 13 almost constant consultation with Wallace since he took the oath, and would seem to be a fixture. Dallas lawyer Harold Young, who was Wallace's secretary while he was vice president, has moved to commerce as his personal assistant.

OPA Outlines Cutback Plans

WASHINGTON, March 22—(A) The OPA set up rules Tuesday by which it hopes to cut back shopping prices of clothing, textiles, furniture and house furnishings. The agency froze the price mark-up of approximately 300,000 retailers on sales of the affected items. Each store was forbidden to charge a greater margin over its cost than it did March 1943. Thus, forthcoming reductions in manufacturers' prices, which are being restored to the 1942-43 price level, will be passed on to customers.

Each retailer affected—those who do more than $2,500 worth of business a year in the items listed—must prepare promptly a chart showing his own margins over net invoice cost for all goods on sale yesterday. Suitable figures, if they wish, may continue to price their merchandise under old regulations.

Stone as general counsel and member of the executive and finance committees of the Gulf Oil corporation was disclosed Tuesday by Board Chairman W. L. Mellon of the Gulf Oil companies. Soldier Has Nap During Skirmish For His Freedom

By SID FEDER
WITH THE U. S. 10TH MOUNTAIN DIVISION IN ITALY, March 16.—(Delayed)—(AP)—A German raiding party's capture of Pfc. Malford G. Heimer of Frost, Texas, a couple of weeks ago set off an action in which his buddies killed seven Germans, captured 19 and rescued him.

The skirmish marked one phase of the 10th mountain division's successful assault on Monte Belvedere. Heimer said he almost caught up on his sleep during captivity.

The fight started when Heimer, wrapped in a blanket, investigated a noise in a house near his foxhole. The next thing he knew four Germans had him covered.

S/Sgt. Theodore B. Reinero saw one Nazi break for the house from out front and killed him. Two wounded men in the ruins started yelling "Surrender" and a squad moved in.

The Germans barricaded themselves in on the main floor of the house. Other enemy troops were on a ridge above the house grenades, mortars, machineguns and 75-millimeter guns were used upon the house for an hour.

Then we heard Heimer yelling to quit shooting, that they wanted to surrender," Reinero related. "One Kraut was in the doorway and eight more followed him out. I can't figure out why they quit, they had a lot of stuff in there."

The rest of the 19 Germans surrendered with three machineguns.

Straddle Chair

Furniture of the future is a Lum and Abner. The popular Damon and Pythias of the airwaves, Chet Lauck (left) and Norris Goff (right), demonstrate their practical version of the straddle chair, for their pretty argonaut, Sybil Cham. The "backward bench" was designed by Abner (Norris Goff) as a gift to his partner, Lum (Chet Lauck), who has a propensity for straddling straight chairs in reverse position.

Committee Okays Resources Bill

AUSTIN, March 22.—(AP)—In less time than required to read the caption of the proposal, the house state affairs committee Tuesday favorably reported a bill creating a separate state natural resources commission.

A unanimous report was given the bill at a public hearing Monday night when no one appeared in opposition to the bill after the co-authors announced readiness to explain it to committee members.

Proceedings were ended then by Rep. Howard Hartzog's motion to report it favorably.

The measure was by Reps. M. A. Bundy of Wichita Falls, Augustine Celaya of Brownsville and Attilio Vale of Rio Grande city transfers to the proposed three-member commission all oil and gas regulatory powers now exercised by the railroad commission.

The bill declares that the railroad commission is so burdened by its present duties that a separate commission—its members to be appointed by the governor and to receive $10,000 annually—is needed to administer natural resources regulatory authority. The railroad commission is elective.

Japs Getting Set for Battle of Homeland

LONDON, March 22.—(AP)—Japan announced imposition of military control over civilian property and installations today as the first of a series of projected steps designed to prepare the homeland to meet invasion.

"The war situation clearly indicates the Japanese homeland will become a battlefield," War Minister Gen. Sugiyama said in broadcast statement from Tokyo.

Bomber Losses Less Than 2%

WASHINGTON, March 22.—(AP)—American heavy bomber losses to enemy action in Europe during 1944 averaged less than two planes for every 100 sent on combat missions.

In February, when 20,682 bombers were sent out, the loss rate dropped to the lowest in the history of the aerial offensive against Germany—nine-tenths of one plane for every 100, or nine planes out of 1,000.
