

Autumn Temperature Could Hurt Tires

Chilly autumn temperatures could cause your automobile tires to become seriously and dangerously underinflated, wasting both gasoline and rubber, and subjecting the tire to possible early failure, the Tire Industry Safety Council cautions.

"Cold weather reduces tire inflation pressure approximately one pound for every 10-degree drop in temperature," said Council Chairman Malcolm R. Lovell, Jr. "Tire pressure should be checked frequently during winter months to be sure inflation is at the level recommended by your car owner's manual."

The National Bureau of Standards says a seriously underinflated tire is one that is four or more pounds of air pressure below the amount recommended by the vehicle manufacturer.

Lovell said that properly inflated tires can add up to five percent of gasoline mileage because they roll easier on the road. "The average motorist could save about $30 annually on gasoline simply by keeping the correct amount of air in his tires," he said.

"If you pump 28 pounds per square inch (psi) of air pressure in your tire when the temperature is 80 degrees, it automatically drops to 24 psi when the thermometer hits 40 on a chilly autumn morning. Twenty-four psi would be considered seriously underinflated in this case of a tire which should have twenty-eight."

"The Council says it is just as important that you check your tire pressure every two or three weeks and before long trips in winter as well as in the summer. Check your tires when they are cold—when they have been idle for three or more hours or have been driven less than one mile. In the morning is best," Lovell said.

"It's a good idea to use your own hand pressure gauge because service station air towers are apt to be inaccurate. Underinflated, soft tires can cause erratic steering and excessive tread wear as well as make the engine work harder to overcome rolling resistance," Lovell added. "The more energy your engine needs, the more gas it uses."

The Tire Industry Safety Council offers these other safety and maintenance tips for fall driving:

- Watch out for autumn leaves. Even when it's not raining, leaves have a tendency to retain moisture and create a slippery surface for tires.
- Take it easy on wet roads. Stopping on a wet road can take up to four times the normal distance on a dry road. As water accumulates on the road, tires with shallow tread tend to hydroplane as speed increases, particularly over 40 miles per hour.
- Check the tread and sidewall. Inspect your tires for tread and sidewall cuts and cracks or snags that might expose tire cords. A tire is considered worn out and could allow dangerous skids if it has less than 1/16 inch tread depth between any two or more tread grooves.
- Now is a good time to have your alignment checked, following the traditionally busy summer driving season. Most dealers and stations won't charge you unless alignment is needed.
- For a free, 16-page tire guide, send a stamped, self-addressed, business sized envelope to: Tire Industry Safety Council, Box 1801, Washington, D.C. 20013.

Honey Offers "Sweet Deal" And Nutrition for Consumers

AUSTIN—Because of its high nutrient value and usefulness, one of the "sweetest deals" in Texas supermarkets today is honey, according to Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown.

"The rising per capita consumption of honey in Texas bears out its increasing popularity," says Brown. "Texas beekeepers are experiencing an increasing demand for honey by consumers who are becoming more interested in natural foods."

Brown explained that commercial honey is an unrefined substance composed mainly of two simple sugars which are easily assimilated by the body, and which require little digestion. In addition, he said, honey is rich in Vitamins B and C, dextrins, amino acids, calcium and potassium.

Texas is one of the largest producers of honey in the United States, said Brown, and last year beekeepers harvested some 6,077,000 pounds. Production this year is expected to total 7,420,000 pounds. In addition, Texas beekeepers increased their apiaries by 3,000 colonies in 1977, bringing the total to 106,000.

Air Control Board Monitoring In State

AUSTIN--October 19, 1977--The Texas Air Control Board (TACB) recently completed the final phase of a major project when they placed the twenty-third Continuous Air Monitoring Station (CAMS) on site in Arlington.

The CAMS network, begun in 1971, enables the State's air pollution control agency to continuously measure air pollution in the ambient air in all of Texas' major pollution centers. The 24-foot by 10-foot shelters are designed to TACB specifications, using special construction that helps to maintain stable temperature and humidity conditions inside the stations. The constant climate ensures the accuracy of the air quality measurements which are made with highly sophisticated electronic analyzers. Data collection is carried out at five-minute intervals, 24 hours a day, seven days a week utilizing instruments that measure the record concentrations of air pollutants in various ways. These methods include gas chromatography, flame ionization, flame photometry, and chemiluminescence.

Air enters an intake funnel located 11 feet above the roof of the shelter. The ambient air at the station is tested for sulfur dioxide, hydrogen sulfide, ozone, nitrogen dioxide, carbon monoxide, and every sixth day a 24 hour sample is taken of particulate matter or dust suspended in the air. The CAMS also record the wind direction, wind speed, and ambient temperature at all times. The TACB is currently testing dichotomous samplers that separate micron-sized particles into those that can be inhaled and those that cannot. The use of these samplers may enable the Agency to determine the prevalence of respirable particles in the atmosphere.

Agency spokesmen estimate that each CAMS unit costs approximately $75,000 to fabricate, or a total of $1,750,000 for all twenty-three. To date, the total cost of the CAMS project to Texans has been approximately $6,250,000. This amount encompasses all stages of the program including planning, designing, building, deployment, day-to-day operation, regular calibration, quality assurance, data collection, validation, and reduction, and miscellaneous support and administrative functions.

The CAMS are located in Austin, Waco, Corpus Christi, Odessa, Houston, Aldine, Texas City, Clute, Dallas, Fort Worth, Arlington, San Antonio, Nederland, West Orange, El Paso and Longview. Several of these cities have up to five CAMS operating either in the urban core areas or in suburban residential areas.

The TACB believes that the CAMS are the most cost-effective method available to collect immediate information concerning the build-up of pollutant concentrations in the population centers of the State. In the future, further cost reductions will be available through automatic calibration of the CAMS and telemetry of the data to an Austin based computer using commercial telephone lines. This will enhance the TACB's capability to know the status of air quality in the major population centers of the State at all times.

Individuals' lives reflect how they think and what they believe. Our lives count most, when we attend church regularly and walk in the light of the Lord.

EVERYONE IN THE CHURCH THE CHURCH IN EVERYONE

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Diabetes Gain Title Of 'Silent Killer'

The average American knows next to nothing about diabetes. That's dangerous, because 600,000 average Americans will develop it this year," said Surendra K. Varma speaking to the Greater Lubbock Chapter.

"Everyone seems to know something about cancer and heart disease, the symptoms, preventive measures, and so on. But diabetes is a mystery to most people," he continued. "I'm frustrated, but, more important, I'm deeply concerned."

Dr. Surendra K. Varma, MD, Diabetes Board Member sees dozens of patients with diabetes, both in his practice and through his work with the Greater Lubbock Chapter. His frustration and concern are founded on some rather startling facts which were revealed by the National Congressional Commission on Diabetes.

"The Commissioner determined that diabetes ranks third on our list of killer diseases, when considered together with its complications," he said. "It is our leading cause of blindness. An estimated ten million Americans have it, and as many as four million don't even know it."

"The average person is not only unaware of how many people have diabetes," said Dr. Varma, "but also of how serious a disease it is. Though it can be controlled, it can't be cured. A person with diabetes can live a reasonable normal life, but he or she is more apt to develop blindness, gangrene, heart disease, damage to the blood vessels, and kidney disease. You can never forget to have diabetes, because it affects every part of your life."

Diabetes results when the pancreas produces insufficient insulin, or no insulin at all. Without insulin, glucose, the body's chief energy source, cannot enter most body cells and remains trapped in the bloodstream. Eventually, this sugar is moved to the kidneys and is excreted in the urine. Deprived of glucose, their normal fuel, the cells begin to break down fat instead, releasing acid ketone bodies into the bloodstream. These eventually produce diabetic coma and death.

There are two types of diabetes. The most severe is juvenile-onset diabetes which appears abruptly in childhood, adolescence, or in young adulthood. An estimated 80,000 children under the age of 18 have it. Such children will have to have insulin injections for the rest of their lives.

The most common, and less severe form, maturity-onset diabetes, generally appears after the age of 40. Only 10 to 15 percent of maturity-onset diabetics must use insulin, others must take oral medication, but all must strictly balance diet, exercise, and rest.

Research investigators are working constantly to find a cure for diabetes, but at the moment early detection, prompt treatment, and life-long control are the only ways to save lives. Dr. Varma concluded, "A firm diagnosis of diabetes cannot be made without a glucose tolerance test. But it's only playing it smart to know the symptoms of diabetes, particularly when you're forty or overweight because one's chances of developing the disease double with every decade of life, and doubles with every 20 percent or more of excess weight." If diabetes is detected early and treatment is begun promptly, the chances for a long, full life and better and the risks of serious complications are lower. It's as simple as that. So if you have any of these symptoms, see your doctor right away. And for more information contact Greater Lubbock Chapter.

Tower Blasts Presidents' Energy Plans

WASHINGTON—Reaction to the President's comments at his morning press conference today was immediate from Senator John Tower (R-Tex.).

"When the Administration's own FEA study concludes that oil company profits are not out of line, it is difficult to understand the President's accusation that we face the potential 'for the biggest ripoff' in history. It is also incomprehensible that, when as late as February, the President indicated his support for natural gas deregulation that would now consider those who are its proponents as pawns of the special interest oil lobby," Tower Declared.

The senior Senator from Texas expressed considerable concern that Mr. Carter would use national television to deliver such a blanket indictment of the oil companies, implying that they are engaged in war profiteering at the expense of the American people.

Regarding Senate action on the Carter energy plan, Tower said, "The Carter plan is not foundering in the Senate because of any special interest oil lobbying, or because of even White House lobbying. The plain fact is that the Carter plan was a shambles when it was sent to the Congress, and the Senate will not be stampeded into putting its stamp of approval on an inept energy policy just for the sake of saying that we now have one."

Tower also said that Carter's assumption that the Congress would complete action on his energy package by the end of October is very premature.

"The conference committees have to resolve many very difficult problems, and although some of the bills may get through conference before adjournment, completion of the entire package is highly unlikely," Tower concluded.

"The Carter plan is inconsistent, inadequate, and inequitable, that is not only my view, that is also the conclusion of the General Accounting Office, the Congressional Research Service, and the Congressional Office of Technology Assessment," Tower added.

COWS RETURN NEW DELHI, INDIA -- India's holy cows are back in the streets of New Delhi. The cows, considered sacred by Hindus, had been driven out of town more than two years ago by Prime Minister Indira Gandhi.

Low prices being offered for the huge 1977 cotton crop have prompted farmer-elected Directors of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. to call for a 1978 cotton set-aside requirement equal to that expected for feed grains.

The action came at an October 12 meeting in Lubbock. The Board also instructed its staff and officers to seek a "cottonseed target price" or some other workable means to alleviate depressed cottonseed prices.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture has declared a 20 percent set-aside on wheat in 1978 and talk is that a 10 percent to 15 percent set-aside will be announced for feed grains. All regulations of the 1978 farm program have not been developed but it has been made clear that producers who fail to comply with set-aside requirements in effect on any crop will be ineligible for loans or payments on all program crops.

The set-aside requirement on wheat, for example, means a farmer who plants 100 acres of wheat in 1978 will have to set aside and devote to conserving uses 20 percent of that amount, or 20 acres of his "normal cropland acreage." Otherwise he would be declared out of compliance on all program crops. However if he plants no wheat in 1978 he will have no set-aside requirement.

"If there is a set-aside on feed grains and no set-aside on cotton," commented J.D. Smith of Sudan, a Director and former PCG President, "there will be a danger that some farmers will plant all cotton and no feed grains in order to utilize their total acreage."

This additional acreage in cotton, Smith reasons, could lead to a surplus cotton supply at the end of 1978 as burdensome as the current feed grain surplus.

Should USDA unexpectedly decide against a feed grain set-aside, PCG will not push for a cotton set-aside. The thinking of the PCG Board is that if set-aside requirements are the same for both crops, each will compete for land on factors other than the desire to avoid complying with set-aside regulations.

Producer returns on cottonseed this year aren't enough to cover ginning charges, a situation made even more dismal by lint prices often below production costs.

Government cottonseed price supports, effectuated through loans on cottonseed products, have been tried and found wanting in the past. If instituted now at a level high enough to help producers, most agree that cottonseed meal and oil would be priced out of the market and wind up in government stocks.

PCG therefore will urge USDA to devise a more direct approach to support prices. Discussed were two possibilities, a target price for cottonseed similar to that in effect for cotton lint, or a program that would operate in the same manner as the current price support system for wool.

TVA ON MERGERS KNOXVILLE, TENN. -- The Tennessee Valley Authority said that it wants authority to bring antitrust suits to prevent further mergers of national oil, coal and uranium suppliers. The report details interlocking ownerships of oil, coal and uranium interests in the United States.

WINTER PREDICTIONS LEWISTON, MAINE -- The Farmers' Almanac says the coming winter is going to be a bitter one. The venerable publication was right on target last year when it forecast "a big, bad winter," followed by a "scorchingly hot" summer.

The heat pump

"THE ELECTRIC SAVINGS MACHINE"

A good bargain now that will get even better!

Of course, any machine that works as efficiently as the heat pump has to save you money. And for many people, that's the key appeal of the heat pump. Initial costs may be slightly higher than those for a combination heating and air conditioning system, because the heat pump is in a class all by itself—so unique it can't be compared for quality and comfort. Day-to-day operating expenses are the lowest of any other electric heating/cooling system available on the market today. But the savings don't stop there. With fuel costs expected to rise during the next two decades, the electric heat pump is a smart investment that will reward your financial foresight for years. Then too, unlike other forms of energy, electricity can be generated from a variety of sources. You can count on having plenty to run your heat pump. Always!

made during the second half. Tight Muleshoe defense recovered three Dimmitt fumbles and made three interceptions of Dimmitt passes to keep the Bobcats off balance throughout the game. Muleshoe also turned over the ball three times on mistakes, and recovered a couple of their own mistakes.

A desperation attempt by the Dimmitt field goal kicker in the final 12 seconds of the game failed, and the Mules waltzed away with their seventh straight win for the year.

Just into the fourth quarter, Dean Northcutt was hit hard and was out of the game for the rest of the fourth quarter. In a conversation with him Saturday morning, he reported that he was fine, and that although he remembered nothing of the fourth quarter, a check-up by the doctor showed he had just been hit very hard, and had no concussion or other injury.

He is expected to be right back in the game for the trip to meet the Friona Chieftains next Fri-

Bill Loyd, President
Muleshoe State Bank

It is a fact not often understood that many times when the bank is unable to make a loan, it is because of federal restrictions. Banks are inspected by the government — for your protection — more closely than anything but prime beef and buck privates. One reason for the close regulation is the continuing effort to control recession and inflation.

When banks expand their credit (loans and investments), the money supply is increased. But if the nation's money supply grows too large, inflation is the result. On the other hand, when bank credit contracts, the money supply is reduced. And too much reduction means recession.

To prevent either condition, the federal government views the economy and practices of the nation's banks and has broad regulatory powers.

That's why it sometimes is easier to get a needed bank loan than at other times.

Also heard were three cases for expired motor vehicle inspection stickers; two for over allowed gross weight, and one each for defective stop lamps on trailer, failure to appear, threaten with a gun, over length, expired Texas driver's license, unregistered motor vehicle, no driver's license on person and running a stop sign.

Triangle CB Chooses New Leadership

Members of the Triangle CB Club met recently and named new officers for the next year. Elected were Donald Prather, Muleshoe, president; Carl Burnett, Sudan, vice president; Mrs. Owen Jones, Muleshoe, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Frank McCamish, Muleshoe; Mrs. Larry Webb, Bovina and Mrs. Charles Burnett, Sudan, reporters and directors, Larry Webb, Bovina; Charles Burnett, Sudan and Weldon Moody, Bovina. They announced that Bert Sinclair, Department of Public Safety, educational officer, will speak on how CBers can be of assistance on the highway and in other ways to offer assistance. He will speak at the November 8 meeting.

Actively seeking new members, the Triangle CB Club said they plan multi-projects to help the motoring public. One project is to conduct holiday rest stops. They agreed to have a booth at the Halloween Carnival.

Mrs. Joe Sooter, Bookmobile librarian, and Mrs. Bernis Camp attended a System Advisory Council meeting in Lubbock, Thursday, October 13. Member librarians and delegates elected two new officers for the coming fiscal year. The group also met system employees, Miriam Young, Field consultant, and Serena Bryan, Books by Mail Clerk.

The Hale Center Public Library joined the West Texas Library System. The McNaughton current books program is to be continued for the coming year and the film packets to each library will be increased to 15 this year. Each library has received a filmstrip projector recently and filmstrips will be coming to each library soon.

Mrs. Camp reports that 16mm films are being used in the Muleshoe library and a projector is available for loaning along with a large screen and films. For more information, call the Muleshoe Area Public Library.

A troop of 10 Cub Scouts and their leaders, Mrs. Tom Flowers and Mrs. Kay Swint visited the library last week. They were shown a filmstrip on how to use the Card Catalog in the library and how to find a book on the shelf. They were shown how to obtain a library card and how to use the fire escape.

Mrs. Camp asks that reservations be made for groups who would like to tour or visit the library.

FIRE DEPARTMENT CALLED--Members of the Muleshoe Volunteer Fire Department were at the scene of a major accident east of Muleshoe Tuesday morning to wash down gasoline spilling from one of the wrecked vehicles.

The Texas Department of Health will conduct and coordinate a program of influenza surveillance during the upcoming respiratory disease session in an effort to identify and halt potential local outbreaks of influenza.

Unlike last year, no influenza vaccine will be provided by federal and state governments and no influenza immunizations will be offered in state-operated public health clinics.

"This policy, however, shouldn't detract from the importance of an effective influenza surveillance program, says Dr. Charles Webb, Jr., chief of the Bureau of Communicable Diseases Services of the Texas Department of Health. "Only through such a program can influenza viruses be isolated, characterized and a determination be made of emerging strains."

Dr. Webb said that in order to have enough lead time to produce the right vaccines for the next year, vaccines are produced from strains of the current year.

The three types of influenza virus that have been identified are called types A, B and C. It has been shown that influenza A and B viruses change their genetic make-up slightly each year. These annual changes are known as "drifts." A major shift which occurs at approximately 10-year intervals has been observed only for influenza A.

These genetic changes have posed a special problem for developers of vaccines. As the virus changes or "drifts," immunity created by previous infection or vaccines becomes less effective. When a completely new virus strain appears, there has not been sufficient time to produce the quantities of vaccine needed.

"New" strains of influenza A virus may cause major outbreak about every 10 years. For example, in 1957, it was the Asian flu and in 1968, the Hong Kong. Influenza caused by type B virus may have widespread occurrence, but the disease is generally milder. Type C viruses never have been connected with a larger epidemic.

"Influenza information will be gathered every week from

Use Safety Measures For Chain Saws

Inside Safe chain saw operation Individuals planning to use lightweight chain saws for trimming trees, cutting firewood, or clearing storm damage should recognize a number of hazards associated with their use, says Dr. Gary S. Nelson, a safety engineer with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

First, avoid cutting during windy periods that could cause a tree to fall in the wrong direction, cautions the engineer. During dry weather, leaves and grass, as well as gasoline, become excellent fuel for a fire started by a hot muffler. Nelson advises refueling the chain saw on bare ground and gradually releasing pressure in the fuel tank before removing the cap completely. Also, move at least 10 feet away from fuel sources before starting the saw.

Noise and vibration from extended use of chain saws can cause hearing loss, fatigue and swelling of the hands. The engineer recommends wearing ear protection, taking periodic rest breaks, and selecting a saw with low noise and vibration characteristics to reduce these potentially harmful effects.

Nelson also warns that a chain saw must be properly maintained to be free from unreasonable risk. This includes sharp saw teeth, correct chain tension, proper lubrication and a properly tuned engine.

When starting a chain saw, pull the rope straight up and never allow a second person to help, cautions the engineer.

When cutting trees, the major hazard is "kickback". This occurs when something touches the top of the chain saw blade and causes the saw to jump back. Kickback may also occur when the chain is misfiled or loose, a cut is started too slowly, or the blade nose strikes another object.

Nelson advised operators to stand to the side of the chain saw while cutting wood to avoid being cut by a sudden kickback. He further suggests making sure the bumper at the rear end of the blade is against the tree while sawing, or the chain riding across the tree may jerk the saw out of your hands.

tremely successful. Through a physician in San Antonio, a new strain of influenza was isolated and designated as A/Texas/76."

Even though free influenza shots will not be given this year, the Department does recommend that certain groups be immunized.

selected physicians acting as "sentinel physicians" in the 10 public health regions and in selected metropolitan areas," said Dr. Webb. Last year's surveillance program was ex-ment flu immunizations for adults and children with chronic

"Each year in Texas we have had an excess illness and death from influenza among older persons," says Linda L. Chandler, R.N., director of Surveillance, Control, and Information Activities. "We support the Center for Disease Control recommendation that those over 65 years of age receive influenza immunization. We also recommend conditions such as heart disease, bronchitis or diabetes."

Influenza, or flu, is an acute respiratory illness whose symptoms include fever, cough, sore throat, a "runny" nose, and general aches. Most patients recover completely within a week, although many continue to feel unusually tired for some time. To the aged or chronically ill, however, flu may be a life-threatening illness.

During the last century alone, there have been seven instances of global spread, known as pandemics, and numerous epidemics, when the occurrence of influenza is more or less restricted to one region.

Outbreaks of flu usually occur abruptly. The disease spreads through communities, peaking in about three weeks and subsiding after another three to four weeks. Twenty to 50 percent of susceptible members of the population may be affected, with the highest incidence in children ages five to 14.

The most frequent complication of flu is a secondary bacterial infection in the lower respiratory tract. Usually these bacterial infections can be successfully treated with antibiotics. In recent years, however, drug-resistant pneumonias, especially among hospital patients, have been on the increase.

Developmental research is concerned with determining the best method of giving influenza vaccine. The exact mechanism of spread by the influenza virus is not completely understood, but it is believed that the agent enters the body through the upper respiratory tract. Antibodies produced in that area, therefore should be more protective than those induced in the circulating blood.

Consequently, nose drops and sprays are being compared with the more conventional injections. Vaccines are, of course, only preventive. They are of no value after the disease is underway. Physicians usually advise patients with flu to go to bed, drink plenty of fluids, and to take aspirin to control fever and aches.
