General Hugh Johnson Criticizes 'Pinkish Fringe Around The New Deal' ITALY MAKES PEACE CONCESSIONS BUT THEY ARE DEEMED UNSATISFACTORY

LEAGUE FIXES DATE TO SLAP ON SANCTIONS

ITALY NOW REQUESTS NEUTRALIZATION OF STRAITS

ROME, Nov. 3. (Sunday) (AP)—Full troop movements in the conquered province of Tigray in northern Ethiopia were reported early today by Italian correspondents, indicating the Italian advance on Makale will extend over the entire northern front.

By The Associated Press.
Italy, facing economic civilization by more than half of the civilized world beginning November 18, made new concessions Saturday to speed the return of peace with Ethiopia.

The nature of the concessions was not made known. They were understood to have been outlined in a paper handed to Premier Laval of France at Geneva Saturday by Mussolini's envoy to the League of Nations.

Diplomats at the league doubted if Italy's concessions would be satisfactory. Their pessimism was based upon Mussolini's previous refusals to accept conditions which Great Britain has insisted are essential.

But whatever Italy's premier may have in mind at Geneva it is not reflected either in Italy, where methods to meet the economic boycotts are being rapidly formulated, or in Ethiopia, where plans are completed to launch a new advance by the northern Italian army today.

Restrictions are already being applied by Mussolini to conserve the products which he knows the applications of sanctions will sharply reduce—coal, meat, oil and other necessities of a nation's life.

Sanctions Date Set
The sanctions committee of the league of Geneva, representing 52 member nations, fixed November 18 as the date for applying the "sell nothing to Italy" sanctions. The action was taken "with great regret," said Sir Samuel Hoare who, as foreign minister, speaks for Great Britain.

"The object of the action," he

Monoplane Will Be Brought Here By Dee Graham

Dee Graham, president of the Panhandle Flying Service, here left yesterday afternoon for Tulsa to fly back a Stinson wright-powered monoplane purchased last week.

The plane, driven by a 225 h. p. Wright motor, will have a cruising speed of 110 miles per hour. It will be a four-place ship, painted a solid red.

The ship will be equipped with heater, navigation and landing lights, air wheels, and other late flying equipment. It will be used for passenger service and instruction work.

The company's other Stinson plane was slightly damaged in a takeoff at Cimarron airport Thursday, Frank Shaw, pilot, and Lem Adams, Panhandle Flying Service mechanic, left yesterday to return the plane to Pampa for repairs.

Shaw was taking the ship from the ground when the accident happened. The airport, being small, has a road running across the field. Shaw lifted the ship over the road and when it settled on the other side, the right wheel struck some obstacle and collapsed. The right wing was slightly damaged and both propeller blades were bent.

With Shaw were Howard Bean of Pampa, Claude Brummet of Amarillo, and Helen Wright, of Cimarron, small daughter of a hotel proprietor who was being taken for a ride.

None of the passengers was jarred from the seats in the ship.

I Heard . . .

That W. M. Castleberry made application to the bank for a loan so that he could go on a deer hunt with Dr. W. Purviance and that he received a letter stating that it would be necessary to have the note signed by several substantial citizens and that further, it was not the policy of the bank to loan money to unemployed persons.

BANDITS SEEK CONSTITUTION AS A SHIELD

Gangsters as Well as GOP Try to Prove New Acts of Congress Are Illegal.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2. (AP)—The justice department disclosed today that gangsters now are trying to hide behind the constitution for protection from the new crime laws.

Hit hard by the new kidnaping and firearms registration laws which have sent the "G" men after them with freshly heven clubs, gangsters are attacking the constitutionality of those acts.

Seven convicted as kidnapers have assailed that law, another sentenced to death for assaulting kidnap officers called that act unconstitutional in an appeal for reprieve. Still a third group indicted for possessing a machine gun challenged the firearms law with the same contention.

With such organized crimes as kidnaping and bank robbing on the wane, the department is now turning to the so-called "business racket" field. In this, they believe millions of dollars in tribute have been collected from helpless tradesmen and citizens by gangsters in exchange for a promise not to molest their business.

The attacks against the constitutionality of the crime laws will present to the supreme court in new form some of the thorny questions that have been asked it before.

The kidnaping and stolen property laws rest upon the power of the government to regulate interstate commerce. It is like NRA in that respect. The firearms registration law, like AAA, is based upon the federal taxing power. Laws against killing federal agents and carrying arms from which a duty upon the general powers of the government.

In their first attacks upon the laws, the gangsters have lost. Government lawyers said every court that had ruled upon the new crime laws had upheld their legality. None of them have yet reached the supreme court.

Postal Receipts For Month High

Pampa's postal receipts for October lacked only $500 of equalling the amount for December last year when a new record was established, it was revealed by postal officials yesterday.

Receipts for last month amounted to $7,206.14, compared with $6,376.86 for the same month last year. All other departments showed nice increases in business.

ESTES GRAVELY ILL

Cotton And Feed Show Held Here

Feed and cotton grown by about 30 boys from various Gray county communities were exhibited here yesterday in a show sponsored by the chamber of commerce and County Agent Ralph Thomas. Boys from the Albrecht locality were winners in most divisions.

Seed for these crops was given by the chamber of commerce last spring, in accordance with an annual custom for providing pure-bred seed to 4-H club boys.

The boys were entertained at lunch by the chamber of commerce, and were guests of the Rex theater for a matinee. They later visited the Gray County creamery.

Winners in the various divisions were as follows:
Kaffir — Burl Glass, Albrecht, first; Leonard Glass, Albrecht, second; Jiggs McDowell, Star Route 3, third.

Cotton — Herbert Castleberry, Albrecht, first.
Maize — Henry Glass, Albrecht, first; Lewis Gilbert, Albrecht, second; Roland Gilbert, Albrecht, third.

Hegira — Jiggs McDowell, first.
White Maize — Roland Gilbert, first.

Local Love Goes To Seed Eleven Times in Month

Maybe it's contagious, or like the foot out of five, or perhaps just the depression. Anyhow, the wedding march of eleven Pampa couples was altered to something very unlike love in bloom during the period Oct. 7-30. Eleven divorce cases in succession were the eleven last cases filed during that period in district court. Marriage licenses issued in the same space of time numbered 16, one less than the number issued in September, and exactly the same number, 16, as the number of divorce cases filed.

Pampa assumed its customary leadership today, this time in an expedition to Santa Claus' kingdom, when it was announced that Capt. F. E. Kleinschmidt will take off in a Pampa plane Tuesday in an effort to locate St. Nicholas.

The announcement followed an exchange of telegrams between Pampa Junior chamber of commerce and Capt. F. E. Kleinschmidt, famous Arctic explorer and aviator. The local organization is making preparations to have the plane delivered to the captain at Mineola, N. Y., Tuesday morning. Pampa merchants are supplying food, gas, oil, radio equipment, camera and sound apparatus, which the plane will carry to Kleinschmidt.

Stine Attends Convention of City Managers

City Manager C. L. Stine has returned from Knoxville, Tenn., where he attended a nation-wide convention of city managers, tax assessors and other city officials. In one of the sessions, Mr. Stine heard speakers make the astounding statement in all seriousness that the next appropriation to relieve the emergency would be ten billion dollars.

Mr. Stine visited Norris dam where the government is laying concrete at the amazingly low cost of $4.84 per cubic yard. However, bacon is 50 cents a pound in Knoxville and eggs 45 cents a dozen.

An almost unanimous opinion at the convention which was attended by 500 city officials including 143 city managers, was that the greatest political battle of the future will be between the federal government and the public utilities for control of electric power.

Mr. Stine brought back numerous ideas and methods of city management which he learned at the convention, and which might be used profitably here.

rather quiet portion of a quiet week. Pampans saw Mel-Roy, the magician, Monday in a benefit program for underprivileged children. The read with much interest that the City of Pampa had purchased the site for a fairground park, paying cash, and that the federal government had issued a WPA warrant to pay for improvements. A work order is expected soon on some units of Pampa's applications. At the same time, announcement was made that $48,000 had been set aside for immediate work on Gray county lateral roads. Dispatches did not state what projects were included. The Albrecht-LeFors road is expected to be one of the first projects launched.

Good will trips continued, with business men invited to several neighborhood communities. Santa Day, a date to which children all over this territory look forward, was set for Friday, December 6.

CLAIMS AIDES ARE NEAR TO LENIN'S IDEAS

ADMITS HE MAY BE A 'SOREHEAD' AT CANYON

CANYON, Nov. 2. (AP)—Gen. Hugh S. Johnson's one-man campaign to return the new deal to what he termed its original "basic principles" was expounded here today by the erstwhile director of NRA.

Speaking at West Texas State Teachers college before a homecoming crowd, the truculent general pictured utterances by the "pinkish fringe around the new deal" as the greatest obstacle between President Roosevelt and reelection.

"I may be a sorehead," he declared, "but it isn't over the refusal of anything I ever asked that bunch. It is because of what might have been done by a liberal democratic administration with all of the popular support we had in 1933, and what a mess had been made of much of it by a few people in and about the administration who are a lot nearer to the ideas of Lenin and Trotsky than those of Thomas Jefferson."

"I am not criticizing this administration to defeat it. I am doing that because I think that is the only

Her statue in the nude will be well hidden if Miss America of 1935, Henrietta Laverne of Meigsport, Pa., shown here with it, has anything to say about the matter—and she's saying it. It must be draped, she declares, and her grandmother echoes this view, despite the anguished protests of Frank Viktor, famed Pittsburgh sculptor, who created the statue.

OLD-TIMERS TO HOLD BANQUET HERE NOV. 13

25-Year Residents to Dine and Talk at Schneider

Oldtimers of the Panhandle will gather at the Schneider hotel at 8 p. m. Wednesday, November 13, for the annual oldtimers banquet. It was announced this week by the secretary of the organization, Ivy E. Duncan.

Tickets will go on sale at the Schneider hotel after November 4, with the deadline for sale set at November 11. The price is $1 per plate.

Defining oldtimers as the men or women who have resided in the Panhandle for 25 years or longer, a "copy" of that time in this vicinity, the organization states that the affair is for both men and women, that husbands may bring their wives and wives their husbands to attend the banquet.

Officers of the organization, which was formed one year ago, are: Billy Bell, president; J. S. Wynne, vice-president; S. S. Thomas, director; and Ivy E. Duncan, secretary. The late J. T. Crawford Sr., was a director in the club.

RELIEF DRIVE LAGS BEHIND LAST YEAR'S

Not as Many Jobs Provided From Four Billions in Campaign of 1934.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2. (AP)—A report on the progress of the $4,000,000,000 program to end the dole revealed today that it has not yet provided as many work relief jobs as the relief administration did last year.

The works progress administration said the new program had transferred 1,543,185 persons from relief rolls to work relief jobs up to October 26, the latest date for which figures were available.

The number of relief cases receiving work program earnings in October last year was 1,998,161.

The October 26 job total announced today showed the relief chiefs were still 1,956,815 jobs away from the 3,500,000 aggregate that was to have been achieved by November 1. It disclosed, too, that WPA had the tremendous task of providing an average of 55,909 jobs a day between October 26 and the latest date-ending deadline of November 30.

The latest statistics showed further that in the week between October 19 and 26 a total of 171,715 transfers were made from the dole to relief jobs. This was an average of 17,388 jobs a day.

More than a third of the jobs now listed by WPA, 582,704 to be exact, are in the civilian conservation corps.

Pampans Attend Laketon's Party

As a part of the goodwill program, members of the B. C. D. and the Junior Chamber of Commerce sponsored a trip to the Laketon school Friday night, where an interesting program was enjoyed by the one hundred persons attending. The crowd included fifteen Pampans and prizes were donated by Pampa merchants.

Side-shows, booths, games, two plays by Laketon school pupils, and refreshments of pie, coffee, and sandwiches were the attractions of the affair.

First Shot Will Be Celebrated at Gonzales Tuesday

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 2. (AP)—Gonzales, where the first gun was fired in the stirring struggle for Texas independence 100 years ago, will lead off Tuesday in opening the initial observance of the Lone Star State's Centennial. It will be followed by a series of celebrations throughout the state that will occupy all of 1936.

Although Gonzales, "the Lexington of Texas," held fitting ceremonies Oct. 2, the 100th anniversary of the opening of hostilities, it reserved its formal celebration until the period Nov. 5 to 10.

Statewide recognition will be given the opening Centennial "gun," and many southwest Texas towns, as well as the larger cities, will have representation in the historical parade and pageant. Gov. James V. Allred and other state notables and representatives from many patriotic organizations will participate.

'Old Ferg' Wins Dollar in Grid Guessing Game

Instead of football fans losing interest in the Pampa Daily NEWS Grid Guessing contest, carried every Sunday in THE NEWS, more interest is being shown each week. The entry list reached a new high last week when guesses were received from as far away as Carlsbad, N. M., where Buster Gunderson guessed correctly the Pampa-Plainview score.

With more upsets featuring, fans had a tough time picking the winning teams. Again this week the unruly will get behind the wrong eleven.

"Old Ferg" of Miami was the winner of the crisp new $1 bill on last week's guesses, nosing out Jimmie McGee of Pampa. He missed only two games outside of the tie scores.

Besides entries from Pampa and surrounding oilfield camps, guesses were received from Carlsbad, N. M., Noelotte, Wheeler, Miami, Canadian, McLean, LeFors, Clovis, N. M., Amarillo, Kingsmill, Laketon, Mobette, Skellytown, Kellerville, and Shamrock.

The October 26 job total announced today showed the relief chiefs were still 1,956,815 jobs away from the 3,500,000 aggregate that was to have been achieved by November 1. It disclosed, too, that WPA had the tremendous task of providing an average of 55,909 jobs a day between October 26 and the latest date-ending deadline of November 30.

U. S. To Put Men At Front

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2. (AP)—The war department arranged today to obtain first-hand information on tactics and strategy employed by Ethiopian and Italian armies in the East African conflict.

Captain John Meade of the field artillery, and Major Norman E. Fiske of the cavalry were given the dangerous task of serving as front-line observers for the general staff.

They will follow the fighting in the most advanced positions possible, going as close to the actual front as conditions of the two armies will permit, and living as active campaigners in every way except that they will be non-combatants.

Captain Meade, whose home is Wilmington, Del., received orders to proceed as soon as possible to Addis Ababa as military attaché of the United States legation.

The department announced that Major Fiske, who went to Rome about a month ago as assistant military attaché of the United States embassy, would report to the Italian army in northern Ethiopia as a military observer beginning November 15 and January 1. His home is in Berkeley, Calif.

Franklin, died in a Knox City hospital from injuries received when his motorcycle collided with an automobile at Knox City. Herman Kuehler died in a Wichita Falls hospital after a head-on collision of two automobiles on the Jacksboro-Wichita Falls highway.

Mrs. Cora Boge and granddaughter, Miss Lorraine Harrison of Tulsa are week-end visitors in the homes of Mr. and Mrs. Louie Behrends and Mrs. Chris Baer. Mrs. Boge is a former Pampa resident.

Ohio's Governor Bans 'Fire Water'

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 2. (AP)—Carl A. Babcock, technical adviser of the Ohio liquor department, ordered shelves of state liquor stores cleared of National Distillers Corp. products today in the midst of a heated controversy between Governor Martin L. Davey and a chain of Ohio (Scripps-Howard) newspapers.

Babcock said he acted upon orders of James W. Miller, state liquor director, in asking the company to remove its stocks from the liquor stores. Miller could not be reached, but Governor Davey's secretary, Mrs. Myrna Smith said Miller told her he knew nothing about the order.

In addition to this development, Governor Davey said he understood that three nationally known distilleries had withdrawn their advertising from Ohio newspapers. He said he understood they were National Distillers, Seagrams Distillers Corp., and Schenley Products Corp.

"I don't know much about it," the governor said. He added that if the companies had withdrawn their advertising, "it was a pretty smart move."

The National Distillers Corp., in a statement issued in New York, asserted it had been asked to cancel its advertising in a group of newspapers in Ohio, and that when it declined this request, it was informed that its brands would be withdrawn from sale in Ohio. The statement said the company then ceased advertising in all papers in the state.

CHARGE PARTY ORGANIZED BY ARMY CHIEFS

INTENDED TO CUT R. R. TO VLADIVOSTOK, SOVIET SAYS

MOSCOW, Nov. 3. (Sunday) (AP)—A raid across the border from Manchoukuo to cut the railroad line to Vladivostok failed when a soviet border patrol fought the raiders, killing two and wounding three, official Russian advices from Kharbarovsk said today.

The official Tass news agency charged that the raid, which occurred October 26, was organized by army officials in Manchoukuo.

It is another in a series of border incidents which have kept Soviet-Japan relations tense.

Delayed soviet announcements said six men, described as "Korean bandits," made up the raiding party which crossed the border at Poltavko, a point on the railroad line. Only one member of the band escaped back to Manchoukuo, eluding hot pursuit.

The raiders abandoned a quantity of anti-soviet literature, Tass reported, and tools with which they planned to pry up rails. Several pistols were found in their possession. One of the wounded prisoners was quoted as having said that army officers organized the raid and that another party of seven or eight men was to make a second raid five days after the return of the first group.

Youth Hangs by Arm for 2 Hours

DALLAS, Nov. 2. (AP)—For two hours today Pat Uner, 18, of Van, hung by three fingers in the ice well of a railroad refrigerator car.

He was going from Wichita Falls to Van, and boarded a Texas & Pacific freight train at Fort Worth. He crawled into the empty ice well to get warm.

Soon the air became stale, and he climbed to the top, held the cover up with one hand and hung from the edge with the other. There was a bump, and the cover slipped from the supporting hand and jammed tightly over the three fingers.

For two hours Uner clawed futilely at the smooth surfaces. The well reached East Dallas yards, and as trainmen switched the car they heard agonized shouts. They lifted the cover, and Uner slumped to the bottom of the well.

At emergency hospital he was advised to keep his arm in hot packs.

Misses Kathleen Milan, Zenobia McFarlan, and Pickens are in Wichita this week-end, attending the Baylor University homecoming.

as, 20 to 0. It was the Mustangs' second 1935 Southwest conference victory and their seventh win this season.

The Mustangs uncovered a defense that completely smothered the Longhorn's offense. At no time was there a serious doubt about the original outcome—it was Bell's game all the way.

The victory will allow Southern Methodist to meet U. C. L. A. on Armistice day at Los Angeles with its record unblemished. An estimated crowd of 20,000 persons saw Robert Wilson, the Mustangs' candidate for all-American honors, lead his mates through a game that gave them an edge in practically every phase of play.

The Texans had hoped to "bottle-up" Wilson but their plans went astray in the second period when the elusive half-back got loose on an end jaunt and galloped nine yards for the Mustangs' second touchdown. It gave him 54 points this season.

Coach Jack Chevigny's determined Longhorns battled with stout determination but never could they advance far enough seriously to endanger the Mustangs' goal except on recovered fumbles.

Wilson Scores
Robert Wilson scored his touchdown in the second period when he got loose on a punt return and raced to the Longhorn's 26 yard line. Texas suffered a 15-yard penalty for roughing that gave Southern Methodist first down on the nine-yard line. On the second down, Wilson circled left end, carefully picked openings and went around standing up. Orr again kicked goal from placement, giving the Mustangs a 14 to 0 lead at the half.

"Way Down East" Is Story of Girl Who Erred

A dramatic story, rich in its sympathies, eloquent in its unusual photography and dealing with the fundamental story of a girl who has erred and her right to love again, "Way Down East" is now at the La Nora theater, with Henry Fonda and Rochelle Hudson co-starring in the leading roles.

Derived from the play whose force and appeal have made it America's greatest melodrama for more than a story of two who fought bigotry and hatred for the right to love.

The locale of "Way Down East" is the New England of the 1890's. Its principals are Russell Simpson, who acts a stern, principled squire; his sensitive dreamy son, Henry Fonda, and the girl, Rochelle Hudson.

Miss Hudson secures work in Simpson's household, but tells nothing of her past. Through the seasons, the barn dances, skating parties and various other festivities of the New England country, love grows up between Miss Hudson and Fonda.

Only one thing menaces that love, mysteriously, and that is the occasional appearance of Edward Trevor, their suave and worldly next-door neighbor.

As the picture approaches its climax, the reason for this becomes apparent. Gossip reveals that Miss Hudson had been the victim of an unfortunate love affair, and that Trevor had wronged her.

Following a stormy scene in the Simpson household, Miss Hudson attempts to flee over the icy river, is caught in the breaking of the ice jam.

In the heroic scenes that follow and that bring the story to its happy close, "Way Down East" reveals one of the most moving and suspenseful climaxes which have ever been brought to the screen.

Winfield Sheehan, producer of "Country Fair" and "The Farmer Takes a Wife," produced this new picture of the rustic scene, which was directed by Henry King.

In the supporting cast of "Way Down East" are Slim Summerville, Andy Devine and Margaret Hamilton.

AIR DRAMA TAKES THREE YEARS TO COMPLETE

"Hell's Angels," the most pretentious picture that has come out of Hollywood, will be featured at traction at the Rex theater, starting today.

This spectacular film drama was produced at a cost of approximately $4,000,000, and was three years in the making. This is the most time and money ever expended on a celluloid production.

Howard Hughes, 25-year-old president of the Caddo company, produced and personally directed this amazing dramatization of the world war in the air.

He is Hollywood's youngest and most picturesque producer. The sensation created by "Hell's Angels" has made him the outstanding figure today in the picture industry.

More than 137 pilots, planes, and mechanics were used in filming the air sequences of "Hell's Angels," and in one scene alone 50 planes are shown in free-for-all combat in what is admitted one of the greatest achievements in the history of film making.

Two years were devoted to the filming of air scenes alone, and Mr. Hughes spared neither time nor expense to make his air drama the most realistic and spectacular entertainment ever put on the screen.

Aside from its unsurpassed thrills in the air, "Hell's Angels" has one of the most unusual love stories ever presented to the public.

The romantic interest revolves around the newest feminine screen sensation, Jean Harlow, a former Chicago society girl, who makes her film debut in this picture.

Playing opposite Miss Harlow in "Hell's Angels" are Ben Lyon and James Hall. A stupendous cast of some 20,000 others contribute to the drama of this record-breaking spectacle.

Elemental Drama of New England

In the Fox picturization of America's mightiest melodrama, "Way Down East," Rochelle Hudson dares destruction for sake of her love in a tingling, nerve-scraping climax. The picture, which was produced by Winfield Sheehan, stars her with Henry Fonda, and is now at La Nora theater.

Esther Johnson To Give Concert Here November 14

Famous Pianist Selects Boys as Sponsors

Miss Esther Johnson, the greatest living interpreter of Mozart, and acclaimed by both royalty and peasantry of Europe as the greatest woman pianist of today, will give a concert at the city auditorium, Thursday evening, Nov. 14 at 8:15 o'clock.

Miss Johnson has been presented in concert under the auspices of many and varied organizations in the U. S. and Europe, but her Pampa sponsors will break all precedent. Boy Scouts of Troop 80 will sponsor the concert of Miss Johnson here. Miss Johnson advocated and urged the arrangements. The boys will place the proceeds of the concert in their building fund. They will conduct a ticket selling campaign and act as ushers at the concert at the auditorium. "I am overjoyed to help these boys," Miss Johnson said. "My first love is music and my next love is children—children are music: fresh, original, beautiful. It's the first time I have ever been presented by children, but I hope it is not the last time!" she declared.

This announcement is of intense interest not only to Pampa society but also to all music-lovers from all over the Panhandle. The concert will be her first in Pampa, although she has visited here often and is well-known to many residents of Pampa, Canadian, Miami, Higgins, Wheeler and other towns of this territory. Miss Johnson is making a concert tour of Panhandle towns, her first since she made a triumphant debut in Paris a few years ago.

Miss Johnson this fall was scheduled to return to Europe where she is known as "the darling of Salzburg" and "Miss Mozart," because of her inspired interpretations of the immortal composer's works, but when the clouds of war began to settle over the continent the tour was canceled.

Unpretentious and modest, the artist decided upon a concert tour of Texas. After hearing Miss Johnson play more than a decade ago, Faderewski remarked: "You can play with distinction anywhere in the world."

And Miss Johnson has played with distinction in practically all of the capitals and important cities of Europe and the near East.

Crowned heads have given her ovations. She has been commanded to play as soloist with the orchestra of Kemal Pasha, dictator of Turkey, and was introduced by the president of Austria during an international broadcast from Vienna.

LAST ROGERS PICTURE WILL BE HERE SOON

Pampa Release Date Far Ahead of Nation

Will Rogers' last unreleased picture, "In Old Kentucky," will be brought to Pampa November 10 by La Nora theater. It was announced yesterday, well ahead of the national release date of December 6. Delighted by his success in obtaining the picture ahead of most cities of the country, Manager Carl Benedict said that he could recommend "In Old Kentucky" as Rogers' greatest screen effort. It is filled with comedy of the common people, stressing the human interest angle for which the comedian was famous. There is a whirlwind climax built around a horse race, which is expected to have the audience "rolling in the aisles with mirth."

Rogers will be supported in this picture by Dorothy Wilson, Russell Hardy, and Bill Robinson, the latter the best black-face "hooper" in the hoofing business.

"In Old Kentucky" is based on a Saturday Evening Post story by Sam Hellman, but with substantial changes to suit the Rogers personality. The film will be here four days.

Guests to Speak In Gospel Temple

Miss Martha Schroommaker, who was born in India and who served as a missionary there, will speak at the 11 o'clock service at Full Gospel Temple this morning.

Children's Home Head Will Speak

The Rev. W. A. Nicholas, superintendent of the West Texas Children's Aid and Welfare association of Abilene, will be the guest speaker at Central Baptist church this morning. He will discuss the association and children's home of which he is the head.

In the evening the Rev. O. H. Gilstrap will preach. The Rev. John O. Scott, minister, is today closing a revival at LeFors.

Close of P-TA Year Marked by Dues Payments

By MRS. J. M. GRAY, Amarillo Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers State Publicity Director
October 31 marked the close of the fiscal year for the Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers, and this year it meant more to the members of local parent-teacher associations than ever before according to Mrs. Will T. Decherd, Austin, state budget chairman for the congress. This is true because of a ruling by the board of managers of the Texas Congress in its meeting last January.

Mrs. Decherd continues: "One of the by-laws of the congress states that 'dues are payable annually in advance before October 31,' and the board ruled that at the twenty-seventh annual convention of the Congress, which will be held in El Paso from November 18 to 21 inclusive, only those delegates who have paid their all-inclusive dues to the local units and whose treasurers have forwarded the names and the 25 cents state and national portion of the dues to Mrs. Noel P. Amstead, state treasurer on or before October 31.

"Since this is election year, all delegates want to be voting delegates and every means has been taken to acquaint the membership with the ruling.

"The close of the fiscal year is always interesting because of the fact that an audit is made of the finances for the Texas Congress as of October 31 and the findings will be made public at El Paso. The small amount of the all-inclusive dues that comes to the state treasurer, twenty-five cents per capita, five cents of which goes to the National congress, is the main source of income for the organization. The sound financial footing of the Texas Congress proves what five and ten cent stores learned long ago, that small amounts, enough of them, total considerable sums."

Junior Teacher Entertains Girls

Girls of Mrs. H. D. Tucker's class in First Methodist junior department were entertained Friday evening in the church basement with a Halloween party. Mrs. Charlie Baldwin assisted the hostess.

Halloween games were played for about two hours, then hot chocolate, cookies, candy, and apples were served. Each girl was presented a Halloween cap as a favor.

The girls present were Erlene Showell, Martha Brummett, Joyce Perrell, Phyllis Atry, Helen Ericson, Marie Brummett, Mildred Austin, LaNore and LaVone Stone, Donna Dodson, Jerry Stinson, Francine, Lucille, and Phyllis Jean Stockton, Martha Frances Pearson, Willa Dean Ellis, Elaine Carlson, Joyce Turner, Mary Elizabeth Tucker, Esther Jetta Mullinax, Sammie June Lanham, Yvonne Jean Westbrook, Betty Ann Culbertson.

desperate way to induce it perhaps to change some courses which if continued may defeat it and lead this country to ruin."

The one time blue eagle chief-tain attacked the AAA and suggested instead a three-point farm program: (1) A direct treasury subsidy up to any deficit in the parity of all crops for domestic consumption; (2) Exclusion of importation of competitive raw products, and (3) Sale of the farm surplus on world markets at prevailing prices.

Johnson said the republican party, so long as it "offers neither a man or a plan," had no chance to defeat the new deal.

LEAGUE

said, "is to shorten the duration of the war."

But it had a red-flag-in-a-bull's-face effect on Italians who are finding it more and more difficult to restrain their rage toward Great Britain. The anti-British sentiment among fascists grows, and causes concern in all Europe.

Sir Samuel, speaking at Geneva, said conversations are continuing in a search for a satisfactory settlement. He added that nothing substantial has been accomplished. He reiterated that there are three parties to the dispute, Italy, Ethiopia and the league; and that any settlement must have triple approval.

Italy Wants Straits It was stated in Paris that Italy wants the Straits of Gibraltar, which are British-controlled, to be neutralized. This has nothing to do with the trouble in Africa, but is a sore spot that the war has aggravated.

Great Britain indicated Saturday that she didn't think Mussolini's posture in withdrawing some troops from Libya went far enough. Italy continues to send more soldiers to the front. Her communications continue to report military success—not so much of battles won as of advances consolidated.

From the northern front came dispatches Saturday stating that Italy's "second major advance" would be started today (Sunday). That can hardly mean other than the anticipated drive upon Makale, some fifty miles south of the Adigrat-Aduwa line.

Italian reconnoitering planes continually report troop concentrations at various places, especially near Makale and on the southern front, near Gorraheh.

There is little doubt that the lifting of the arms embargo which many nations had placed against Ethiopia has resulted in supplying Selassie's army with adequate weapons of war, but the emperor is in immediate need of funds to finance his resistance to the Italians.

Blacks Await Italians He asked the League of Nations Saturday to extend financial aid. His kingdom is a self-sufficient nation, but to fight a modern war he needs more than the simple things that satisfy his ten million subjects in peace time.

The war enters today its second month. The battle lines are little changed in the last fortnight. The Ethiopians are declining to fight this year along any other lines than the ones they regard as best suited to their own strategy. They are not making the borders for battle. They are making Mussolini's men come to them.

FUTURE RUN The fire department made a run to East Fisher street early yesterday afternoon, but discovered that their services were not needed. The call was placed by someone who believed that burning trash and lumber remaining from a remodeling job would get out of control. It was the first call of the month.

CHILDRESS WOMAN KILLED CHILDRESS, Nov. 2. (AP)—Mrs. Carrie Hughes, 36, of Kirkland, was killed and three others injured in an automobile-truck collision nine miles east of here. Odell Grissett, Mrs. Odell Grissett, daughter of the dead woman, and Mrs. Nannie Marie Grissett were injured. The truck driver, L. N. Austin of Childress, escaped injury.

Bishop Lucey to Bless Bell, and Attend Breakfast

Whether the weather is good or bad, the ceremony of blessing the bell to be installed in the belfry of Holy Souls Catholic church, will be held on the church lawn today. Rev. Joseph Wonderly, pastor of the church said last night.

The Rt. Rev. R. E. Lucey, bishop of Amarillo diocese, will bless the bell at 8 o'clock this morning, and following the ceremony, which will last about fifteen minutes, Bishop Lucey will say a high mass. ### DRACULA

Black Widows and other kinds of spiders as rare table delicacies. Proceeds of the famed tale of horror, vampires, live ghosts will be added to the fund which will be used for buying band uniforms. The play is in three acts. Mr. Cull said novel effects had been worked out and that the audience need not be bored or restless during intermissions.

The director believes that the play will be the best ever produced here by high school students, and that, he explained, is taking in a lot of ground.

Members of the cast include Ledrick, Jim Arndt, Howard Zimmerman, John Martin, Maxine Wheatley and Mary Adams. The identity of Dracula is being kept secret, but the cast and all who have heard him believe that he will be a sensation, and do more than justice to the role. ### Arkansas Whips Aggies 14 to 7

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Nov. 2. (AP)—The luckless University of Arkansas Razorbacks crashed the Southwest conference win column for the first time this season today with a 14 to 7 triumph over a fighting Texas A. & M. Aggie machine that outshone the Razorbacks at their own aerial game.

The defeat was the third conference setback for the Aggies and sent them into the standings cellar despite a desperate battle that turned into an aerial circus featuring 88 passes over Traversers field. An estimated 6,000 witnessed the clash.

All touchdowns were through the air with the Razorbacks striking their two decisive blows in the third and fourth and the Farmers putting one over in the fourth when they filled the air with passes in a vain attempt to stave off defeat. Arkansas chalked up 15 first down to Texas' 14.

Arkansas was fighting for more than a conference victory. The Razorbacks dedicated the game to their great center, the late Jack Newby who died last spring from pneumonia. The crowd stood along with students and players in a silent tribute to Newby as the Razorback band played its alma mater before the initial kickoff. Newby played against the Aggies in a 7-7 draw last year.

Texas Negro Saves Iowa From Defeat

IOWA CITY, Iowa, Nov. 2. (AP)—Downtrodden Indiana, three beaten, rose up from the Big Ten football cellar like a post-Halloween ghost today to haunt Iowa's hopes for a conference title by holding the Hawkeyes to a six to six tie before 20,000 rainsoaked spectators.

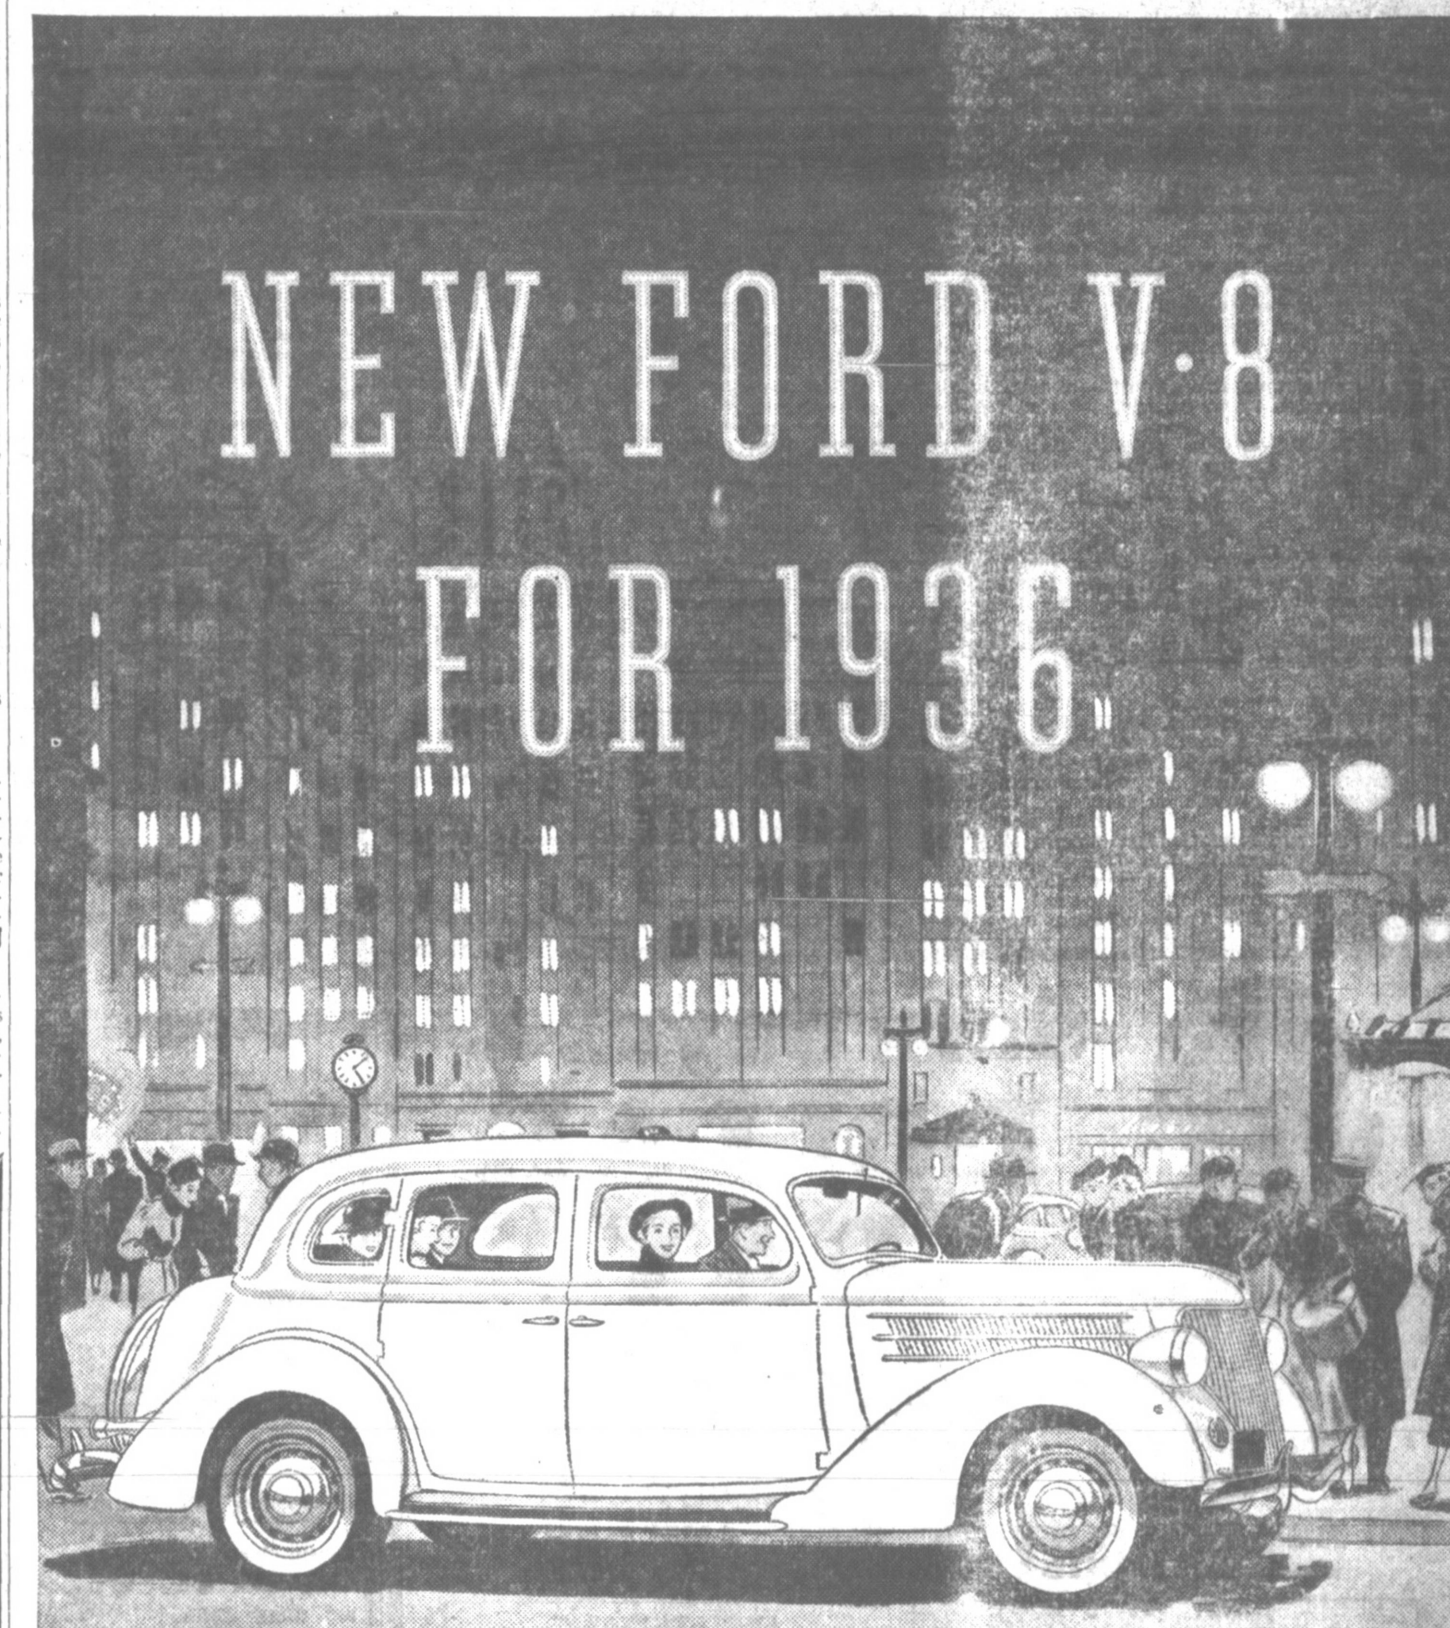

Only One Simmons, the willow-hipped negro fullback, saved the Hawkeyes from defeat. The slippery Texas athlete whirled around his left end behind perfect interference in the third quarter, dashed madly along the east sidelines and whisked his way for a 59-yard touchdown run.

shoulders and wide cuffs. The white velour (right), in the shape of a flower pot, is trimmed with a spray of white violets and a fine black mesh veil. It goes especially well with the loose-fitting coat of gleaming mink with full sleeves and a narrow collar that extends to the hemline at the front.

Texas history murals which he sketched and painted for the Pre-Centennial celebration last spring brought him general recognition. These now hang in halls of the various city schools.

Portraits are also included, in various mediums. "Head of a Negro," "Sleeping Negroes," and "The Slave" are Negro subjects outstanding in the exhibit of statuary.

FIRST OF THE SERIES TO BE IN KINGSMILL

OPEN HOUSE DISPLAYS OF WORK START NEXT WEEK

Home demonstration club women of the county are inviting all their friends and residents of Gray county to their annual achievement day program, scheduled for this month. Dates have been announced for most of these meetings.

"What greater joy or larger prize can one have than for his friends to view his achievement and say, 'It is well done' at the end of the year?" This is the slogan of achievement day.

Events this year center around bedroom improvement, clothing, and home industry. Bedroom work has been in securing adequate linen supplies and convenient arrangement of furniture and accessories.

In home industry, each club woman has as her goal the baking of 12 butter cakes by a standard recipe and having one cake scored at the club's achievement day program. The cakes are to be served to visitors after the scoring.

Children's work this year has featured children's clothes as a part of the family wardrobe demonstration completed this fall.

Kingsmill club will have the first achievement program, on Tuesday at 2 o'clock. The home of Mrs. Lewis Davis, bedroom demonstrator, will be open then. She lives in the Empire camp about 3 miles west of Pampa on the Amarillo highway and across the railroad to the right. THE PEACE OF GOD: The peace of God, which passeth all understanding, shall keep your hearts and minds through Jesus Christ.—Philippians 4:7.

STEPHEN F. AUSTIN'S SACRIFICE

Today is the 142nd anniversary of the birth of Stephen Fuller Austin, "Father of Texas," in Wythe county, Virginia, Nov. 3, 1793, and Texans who honor the deeds of great Texans will not forget it.

Recognizing the greatness of Austin, the Forty-third legislature in the last regular session proclaimed Stephen F. Austin's birthday a state holiday. The heroic simplicity of his life will be dramatized in hundreds of Texas communities during the next fortnight as school children honor him and remember him. The state publicity department for Texas Centennial celebrations was busily engaged last week in fulfilling requests for a commemorative play. A modest pageant described as simple in design but historically accurate throughout, has been created, and copies are being mailed to all sections of the state.

In conjunction with the celebration of the Great Patriot's birth, a radio program will honor Austin at 2:30 p. m. this afternoon, and will be broadcast over WFAA, Dallas; WBAP, Fort Worth; WOAI, San Antonio; and KPRC, Houston.

It is fitting that Texans should, on the eve of the Centennial year, begin to commemorate the deeds of Austin. He has been neglected for a long time, while lesser heroes have had the praise. Texas is not alone in remembering Austin. While citizens of this state plan to erect a memorial at the birthplace of Sam Houston in Rockbridge county, Virginia, in connection with the celebration of the Centennial of the Lone Star state next year, the Old Dominion is arranging to mark the early home of Austin in Wythe county. It is singular that the two founders of Texas were born in Western Virginia. Austin's father, Moses Austin, came to Virginia to work the lead mines in Wythe county, and there his son Stephen was born in 1793. Moses Austin later moved to Tennessee, then to Missouri and finally to Texas. From the settlement which his son Stephen founded evolved the Republic of Texas.

In view of the recognition that is now being rightfully given Austin, Pampa can point with pride to a 1935 Pre-Centennial celebration which was dedicated to Austin and which centered about his great achievements. The 1934 Pre-Centennial pageant and parade also portrayed his sacrifices for Texas 100 years ago. Pampa was the first city in Texas to honor Austin on an extensive scale. It would be not only fitting but disappointing if Pampa schools did not commemorate the achievements of Austin this fall in special exercises.

No other of the forty-eight commonwealths composing the United States—with the possible exception of Utah—owes its position so completely to one man as Texas does to Stephen Fuller Austin. Without Penn and Baltimore the history of Pennsylvania and Maryland would still be the story of Englishmen wresting the territory from nature and the Indians and becoming Americans in the process. The same may be said of Georgia without Oglethorpe. But without Austin there is no reason to believe that Texas would differ today from the Mexican states south of the Rio Grande.

From Aaron Burr to James Long the efforts to open Texas to Americans by force had failed. Undoubtedly Mexico would have adopted an immigration policy sooner or later; but it seems certain that nothing but Austin's unremitting pressure caused the passage of the imperial colonization law. Without that law there would have been no settlement of Texas, no revolution, no annexation, no Mexican war; and the Louisiana purchase, in all probability would still define the western boundary of the United States.

It is now more than a hundred years since Austin began the transformation of the wilderness that Texas then was into an Anglo-American commonwealth. Measured by what he accomplished, he is one of the great figures of American history. He was an unobtrusive, unassuming man, and both inclination and circumstances required him to do his work without the glare of trumpets.

He was a successful leader with none of the tricks of the demagogue. He set the stage through 15 long weary years for the conquest of Texas by Americans, and then the swashbuckling Sam Houston appeared on the scene, won the battle of San Jacinto, the independence of Texas and became Texas' No. 1 hero.

He came to Texas in 1821 to fulfill the colonization dreams of his father, Moses Austin. He intended to pay off a huge indebtedness left by his father. In the beginning his purpose was to make money, but this soon changed to a passion for promoting the happiness of his colonists. Such a feeling is the essence of sacrifice.

He died in 1836 at the age of 43, a young man but the sacrifice had been too great.

He died without a house, not a roof in all Texas he could call his own. He made his home where the business of his country called him. He had no farm, no cotton plantation, no income, no money, no comforts. He had spent the prime of his life and worn out his constitution for Texas, but he was not ashamed of his poverty.

He was a man of warm affections, and loved the idea of home, but he never married. Texas was home and wife and family to him. He died on a pallet on the floor of a two-room clapboard shack, a month and twenty-four days past his forty-third birthday. His work was done, but he was denied the years so hardy earned for the enjoyments of its fruits. There is a certain poetic completeness in this, but the mind rebels. The prosperity of Texas had been the object of his labors, the idol of his existence. It assumed the character of a religion, for the guidance of his thoughts and actions for 15 years. His last conscious thought was for its welfare. He waked from a dream thinking that the United States had recognized its independence and died happy in that belief. His last words were: "Texas recognized... did you see it in the papers?"

Deportation of the "woman in red" teaches that, in America, anything of that color may be waved, but not worn.

POLITICS at random

BY BYRON PRICE.

It is no accident that most of the firing along the national political front comes at this stage from the anti-administration side. Those who are opposed to Mr. Roosevelt need be in no doubt about their target. That he will be the nominee of his party is conceded. That he will campaign on his record as president goes without saying. Those who are in favor of Mr. Roosevelt—first, themselves in a vastly different situation. They do not know who the republican nominee will be, or for what he will stand. They do not know in what direction to shoot.

Furthermore, some of the democratic generals believe the public aspects of the campaign have developed altogether too soon, and that nothing is to be lost by keeping the comparatively quiet for that moment. Among these leaders the conviction is that it would be better to let the opposition exhaust itself, so far as possible, a year before the election; to let the aspirants for the republican nomination weary themselves and possibly wear out their popularity in advance; and to wait and see what casualties develop among the republicans themselves as the various factions battle for party supremacy.

The lack of open democratic effort does not mean, however, that the party's high command is inactive. Underneath, a great deal is happening.

State Activities.

State by state, the national democratic planners are looking into organization problems as they may affect 1936.

In most cases these problems center about a more or less routine effort to put enthusiasm into established state organizations, and prepare them to move forward with maximum efficiency.

There are exceptions, however, and Mr. Roosevelt's home state of New York presents one of them. In spite of Mr. Farley's overtures, speculation continued when Tammany will come to a satisfactory understanding with the strong non-Tammany elements of the party. Negotiations on that point are continuing.

Illinois, Ohio, and Missouri among others, have internal democratic troubles of consequence. Kentucky, just through an intensive gubernatorial primary campaign, is torn by democratic factionalism and is receiving commensurate attention from the party peace-makers.

Further west, California democrats are split between old-liners and Sinclairites, and special reconciliation work is going forward.

Louisiana and Georgia, in the south, have rival democratic factions so far apart that in spite of present peace efforts, two sets of delegates may be sent from each state to the national convention.

Wisconsin, ruled politically by the LaFollette Progressives, and Minnesota, under a Farmer-Labor governor, present still other organization tangles. The endeavor there will be to get the local progressive and farmer-labor organizations to work in harmony with the regular democrats for Roosevelt.

Plans already launched. What is being done in these various directions receives a minimum of advertising.

There are no announcements that the democratic party is reorganizing "from the grass roots," or that intensive preparations for 1936 are "about to be launched."

The statements issued from time to time from the democratic national committee are much in the nature of those which have been appearing regularly for months. Rarely do they refer to the approaching presidential campaign, or to what the party proposes to do about it.

The answer is that at this stage the party managers would rather do in private what they are doing to prepare for 1936. They have no statements to make about plans and projects "about to be launched" because the launching took place weeks ago when no one was looking.

Why I Am a Christian

"If a man suffer as a Christian, let him not be ashamed, but glorify God in that name." As this is an age of whys and wherefores, and men, in all the relations of life are willing to give a reason why, it is nothing more than reasonable that man should give a reason why he is religious, and most specially why he is a Christian.

When the Church of Christ, in its purity, was overrun by sects and parties, each sect and each party claimed to be right, while many important matters were unobserved, and many important principles were forgotten. There are many people who argue that there is nothing in a name; it makes no difference what name you wear so the heart is right. This thought might be true if it were true that man could wear any name he desired, and keep his heart right in the sight of God. But if we find in the Bible that God has ordained that man wear a certain name, who can claim to keep his heart right if he is living in open rebellion in the sight of God?

But before calling attention to the Bible on this proposition, it may be well to present a few thoughts by way of introduction.

(1) Under the head of personal names I would state that every name carries with it a certain line of thought, and stands as a fountain head from which certain ideas flow that would never cross the mind of man if another word was used. The names Adam, Noah, Abraham, each has its own history, tells its own tale.

(2) Official Names: When I speak of a king, you at once think of a ruler and down that channel the mind will flow; but if I speak of a priest the mind starts off in a different direction because that name has altogether a different meaning.

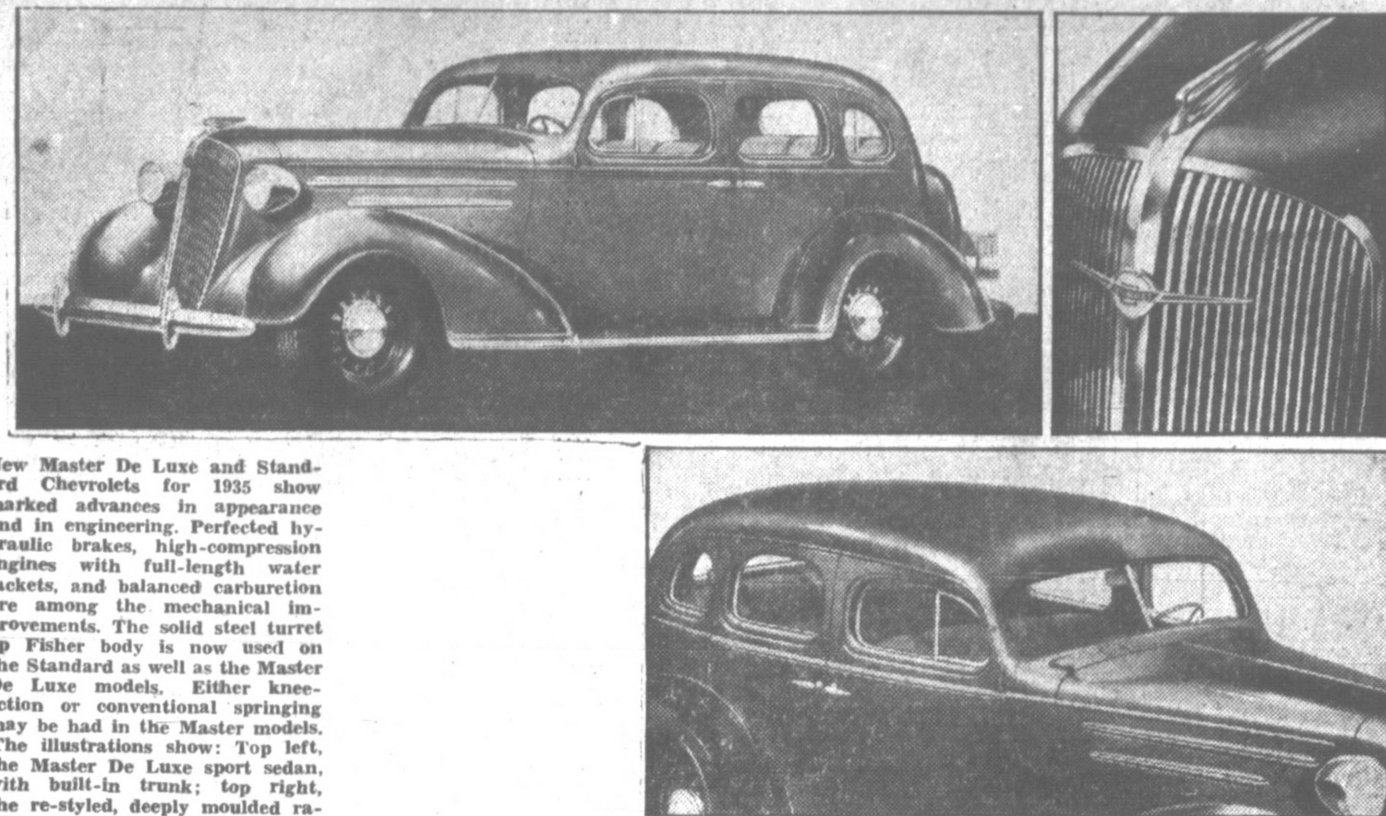

(3) National names carry with them the same thought. When the name, Englishman, German, or American is used we at once assemble ideas from each name suggestive of the nation or country to which they belong.

(4) Denominational names: From a denominational standpoint this is also true. If a man says that he is a Mormon, we at once suppose the name stands as a foundation of Mormonism, and are sure he believes the Book of Mormon, and that Joe Smith was a prophet sent from God.

If a man claims to be a Methodist, no one would suppose that he is a Mormon or that he believes the Book of Mormon, but all would think that he believes the twenty-five articles of religion of the Methodist discipline. You need not ask him if he believes in infant baptism, or pouring and sprinkling, or justification by faith only, for the name he wears implies all these doctrinal points.

If a man claims to be a Baptist, it is not necessary to ask him if he believes the Baptists' eighteen articles of faith, for the word Baptist implies that he believes them all. If I should tell you that he is a Methodist or Mormon, I would do him an injustice and transgress the law of God that teaches I must not bear false witness against my neighbor.

1936 Master De Luxe and Standard Chevrolets Shown Here

New Master De Luxe and Standard Chevrolets for 1935 show marked advances in appearance and in engineering. Perfected hydraulic brakes, high-compression engines with full-length water jackets, and balanced carburetion are among the mechanical improvements. The solid steel turret top Fisher body is now used on the Standard as well as the Master De Luxe models. Either knuckled or conventional springing may be had in the Master models. The illustrations show: Top left, the Master De Luxe sport sedan, with built-in trunk; top right, the re-styled, deeply moulded radiator grille, used on all models; and, lower right, a Standard sedan, on display at Culberson Smalting Chevrolet company.

Likewise, if a man claims to be a Christian, no one should suppose that he is a Methodist, Baptist, or Mormon; neither should they ask him if he believes certain Bible doctrines for the very word of Christian implies that he believes the teaching of the Word of God. Any man would not only misrepresent him, but would bear false witness against him if he should go around telling that the man is a Campbellite.

I now turn to the Bible to show why I am a Christian, rather than wear any denominational name.

Whatever belongs to man God allows him to name; whatever belongs to God, he has named and pronounced a curse upon man when he changes the name thereof. We read that God in the dedication of the tabernacle said, "And they shall put my name upon the children of Israel, and I will bless them." (Num. 6:27). So we find that Israel was a name that God had given to Jacob, prior to this time (Gen. 22:28), and He decided that the descendants of Jacob should wear this name. We notice that God said, "All the people of the earth shall see that thou art called by the name of the Lord, and they shall be afraid of thee." (Deut. 28:10). When they began to wander off God issued a decree saying, "If my people which are called by my name, shall humble themselves, and pray, and seek my face, and turn from their wicked ways, then will I hear from heaven, and will forgive their sins, and will heal their land." (2 Chron. 7:14).

The people of God were the name Israel until after the death of Solomon, then the kingdom was divided, and ten tribes retained the name Israel till they, for their wickedness, were cut off. Still the tribes of Judah and Benjamin remained for about two hundred and thirty-one years, wearing the name Jew, in honor to Judah, instead of wearing the name Israel in honor of God. For this sin we read many prophetic declarations against them. In Isaiah 65:15 he tells them: "And ye shall leave your name for a curse unto my chosen; for the Lord God shall slay thee, and call his servants by another name." In Isaiah 62:1-2, he says that when the Gentiles saw His righteousness, and all kings His glory, then should they be called by a new name, which the mouth of the Lord should name. From here we pass for more than seven hundred years, still we do not find the children of God receiving a new name. We examine the records during Christ's work on earth; and Peter's preaching on Pentecost and no new name is given, because their preaching was to the Jews only, and the Gentiles had not yet seen the righteousness of God. But after the church was scattered from Jerusalem we find Paul selected by the Lord to bear His name to those people (Acts 11:15). In the tenth chapter of Acts of the Apostles we read of the first Gentiles converted, in the eleventh chapter at Antioch, is the first account in the word of God of the Jews and Gentiles accepting the word of God together. The prophet foretold this time and said that God's children should be called by a new name, which the mouth of the Lord should name. But Paul had been selected by God to bear his name to this people. When the news reached Jerusalem of the Jews and Gentiles receiving the Word of God at Antioch, they sent Barnabas down there, and as soon as he found those things were true he went to Tarsus the home of Paul, some eighty miles away, and brought him to Antioch. "And it came to pass, that a whole year they assembled themselves with the church, and taught much people. And the disciples were called Christians first at Antioch" (Acts 11:26).

After this, while Paul was reasoning before King Agrippa we hear Agrippa say, "Almost thou persuadest me to be a Christian" (Acts 26:28). Peter tells us that if we suffer as a Christian, not to be ashamed, but to glorify God in that name (1 Peter 4:16). For this reason my brethren cannot wear any other name save the name given us in God's word. While others dishonor God and cause much trouble, our brethren desire not to be partakers of their sins. "Neither is there salvation in any other, for there is none other name under heaven given among men whereby ye must be saved" (Acts 4:12).

Disabled Vets To Get Auxiliary Aid

Expansion and improvement of the American Legion Auxiliary's work for the disabled World War veterans will be undertaken this year under a program adopted by the national convention in St. Louis, Mrs. H. W. Kiser, rehabilitation chairman of Kerley-Crossman unit of the Auxiliary here, has announced.

The first project of the year will be the Christmas program under which every veteran forced to spend Christmas in a hospital will receive a remembrance from the Auxiliary. The activity will follow the general plan of last year when more than 100,000 hospitalized veterans were given Christmas gifts.

Family contact work by which the Auxiliary investigates conditions and supplies needs of families of veterans in hospitals will be continued. A course of training for Auxiliary women visiting veterans' hospitals will be extended by the national organization to states having the largest numbers of disabled veterans in proportion to their Auxiliary membership. A survey to secure the names and addresses of women veterans of the war will be carried out.

A contribution of 10 cents per member will be collected for a special national rehabilitation fund, from which $25,000 will be donated to the Legion for its claims service work. A survey of agencies providing benefits to veterans, begun last year, will be completed.

NEW BETTER SIGHT LAMP

SLOW PARTY

IT'S AMAZING how much more life one of these new direct-indirect I. E. S. Better Sight Lamps can put into a bridge party. For its generous light keeps people alert... perks up the party.

I. E. S. Better Sight Lamps come in many attractive styles, both table and floor models. All of them are scientifically designed to give better light for seeing, especially for reading, sewing, and other concentrated visual tasks. See the many attractive new models on display... cost little to buy and little to operate.

When measured with the light meter, this I. E. S. Better Sight Lamp gives 20 footcandles of light at 30 inches from the lamp... the minimum amount science prescribes for eye tasks.

Southwestern PUBLIC SERVICE Company

New models of the direct-indirect lamp have a glass reflector especially adapted for a MAZDA Indirect Three-Lite Lamp which gives three levels of illumination from the same bulb. Besides throwing light against the ceiling for general illumination, the glass reflector permits ample, direct, downward light. For more severe visual tasks, add the light from three candles beneath the shade—taking 40 or 50 watt MAZDA lamps.

IMPORTANT—Be sure to look for the authorized certification tag on the lamp you buy. It isn't on I. E. S. Better Sight Lamp if it doesn't have this tag.

OIL STATE GOVERNORS SHOW MUCH INTEREST IN SESSION

The governors of the oil producing states have indicated a special interest in the sixth annual meeting of the Independent Petroleum Association of America, which opens at Dallas on Monday morning.

WHEELER COUNTY: Texas company No. 6 Bush, section 48, block 24, H&GN survey, tested 856 barrels daily. Pay was at 2,415-90, with 22,600,000 subci feet of gas. Total depth was 2,528 feet.

Wirt Franklin Interview to Be On Air Monday

A radio interview between three executive officers of the Independent Petroleum Association of America and the oil editor of the Dallas News will be broadcast over WPA, the Dallas News and the Dallas Journal station with Baker hotel studios, at 3:45 p. m. Monday, the opening day of a two-day convention which will be held in Dallas at the Baker hotel.

The speakers will be Wirt Franklin, president of the IPA; Russell Brown, of Washington, D. C., general counsel, and H. B. Fell, executive vice president. They will be questioned upon problems confronting the oil business in Texas by North Bibeau, oil editor of the Dallas News. The radio broadcast is expected to be of vital interest to all Texans, and the message from these officials is of importance especially to those who are concerned in the future of Texas oil lands and revenues.

Intangible Tax Law Is Attacked By Pipeline Firm

Much under fire is the Texas intangible tax law, which is being headed by many firms pending court tests. A hearing was held last week in Dallas federal court in the Atlantic Pipeline company's attack on the law.

The company is contesting taxes assessed against it in Brown county, where it has more than 20 miles of pipeline.

A report on the Texas tax situation, made by a legislative committee, was introduced in evidence to show that there are 14,000 business concerns in the state that have taxable intangible values that are not so taxed. Only sulphur, gas and a few public service corporations are taxed on their intangible values, the report showed, in spite of the full rendition under the law.

It was shown that only $10,000,000 in money is listed on tax rolls of the state, in spite of sworn statements showing that banks alone had on deposit for customers, on Jan. 1, 1934, more than $500,000,000. Of more than $87,000,000 in banks stocks in Texas, only 28.45 per cent of the value was on the tax rolls in 1934.

An appraisal made of a number of pieces of property in Brownwood showed that only 39.1 per cent of the actual value was represented on the tax rolls, while a telephone company's property was on the books at 44 per cent of its value and a power and light company property at 34 per cent of its value.

Meetings of all conventions committees will be held in Dallas today. General convention headquarters

WEST TEXAS IS FERTILE FIELD PROSPECTING

OIL RESERVES MUST BE FOUND SOON BY FIRMS

With the gasoline market continuing strong and stability in the industry indicated, oil men are showing an optimism which says that the least is hardly expected at this season, when consumption ordinarily is at a low peak.

No new oil sources sufficient to endanger stabilization have appeared, and while there are new pools and better methods sufficient to offset any decline of old pools, the future outlook is one to encourage lively prospecting.

The Panhandle field apparently has absorbed its 6,000-barrel increase in allowable without any revolt among buyers. Storage on the Gulf coast is reported lower than in many months. Sales to other governments for military stores have been reported, particularly Italy. Humble, which kept its stored oil intact a year ago, is said to have drawn heavily upon storage lately.

Sales rather unexpected this season have done much to handle the storage situation. Automobile production statistics point unmistakably to an exceptionally large consumption next year. Oil concerns which have not been acquiring new reserves for several years are now in the scramble for likely acreage. West Texas, already a large producer of crude oil, nevertheless has a huge and very promising area for exploratory operations. In these the Panhandle should share liberally.

Advances in crude prices have come in two areas, bright stock went up another half cent and the refinery market more than half cent own far after the date it ordinarily softens in anticipation of the winter slump.

Crude increases were in Pennsylvania, where all grades went up 15 cents, and in California. In the latter state two large purchasing companies boosted prices on an average of 55 cents a barrel to a level 6 cents higher than was in effect previous to the last cut. This advance was in the fact of another increase in production in California, which was blamed for the price cut Standard Oil had not fallen in line on the coast.

The Pennsylvania hike was credited to the booming market for bright stock, the base for lubricating oil. Bright stock was up another half cent, putting the mid-continent level to 17 a gallon and observers were of the opinion that the new increases in crude prices would hike the Pennsylvania bright stock price soon.

The continued strength of the refinery market was one of the most significant if not the most important phases of the improved situation. Gasoline prices were strong and unchanged, with the jobber level for third grade at Chicago still at 4 1/2 cents a gallon.

In the mid-continent area refineries were estimated to be operating at 73 per cent of capacity, as compared with approximately 60 per cent at the same time last year, and even with the increased production there was no surplus.

Increased consumption, which it has been estimated will be approximately 9 per cent greater for October, 1935, than for October, 1934, gave the market its strength.

ICKES IS ARBITER

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2. (AP)—Secretary Ickes sat as an arbiter today of disagreements within his own staff over the way to enforce "hot oil laws" in East Texas.

Ickes said only that he was investigating the whole government set-up in the Lone Star state's largest black gold pool, but others disclosed differences between the petroleum administrative board and the petroleum agency No. 1.

These two organizations have been charged with the responsibility of preventing interstate movement of illegally-produced crude.

"I haven't anything to say on the East Texas situation until I complete my investigation," Ickes said. "I want to go into the whole matter of the federal tender board in East Texas. Certain adjustments may be necessary."

One of Ickes' key assistants in the oil administration implied that difficulties had arisen over jurisdiction of both the PAB and the agency. Another official, Louis Glavis, head of Ickes' division of investigation, said recently the PAB's tender board was only a judicial body, with the Glavis men conducting investigations which the board formerly had sponsored.

Leaders of the two organizations in the East Texas field came to Washington this week but officials sought to discount the importance of their visits. One was Thomas Killiker, named head of the agency No. 1 a month ago. The other was John Davis, member of the PAB's tender board.

Ickes declined to comment at his press conference on questions concerning the future of the PAB, the exact nature of his investigation, why Killiker was called in from the field or what disposition had been made of undisclosed accusations against two enforcement officers in the East Texas field.

It became known, meanwhile, that Ickes discussed the whole problem several days ago with Charles O. West, undersecretary of the interior, Norman Myers, executive secretary of the PAB, Glavis and several other aides.

OIL RESERVES OF RUSSIA IN BRITISH TERRITORY IN TEXAS WRITER

Vital Product in Which This Country Is Supreme May Be Abundant Elsewhere.

AUSTIN, Nov. 2.—If America would solve the problems of her oil industry, she must look carefully to that industry in other oil-producing countries, particularly in Great Britain and Russia, it is the warning of Elmer H. Johnson, regional economist for the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research. For this reason he has centered his attention in his most recent monthly survey of the petroleum situation upon the status of the industry in certain foreign countries.

Historically speaking, within the short period of less than 75 years petroleum has advanced from an inconsequential position to that of one of the most vital commodities of the modern world. Mr. Johnson pointed out.

Today, national potentials are primarily determined by a nation's possession of or its ready access to vast amounts of the basic raw materials of industry, of which oil occupies a key position. Some of the world's great powers have adequate oil resources, either within their territory or within their spheres of influence. Some, like Germany, have at the most but small quantities, and that a majority of Germany's persistent and successful attempts to produce oil products synthetically, using coal as a source material. Those great powers without oil possessions and also without coal are in a most serious situation, because oil products are necessities.

"Only three nations today occupy dominant positions in the world's oil industry: The United States, Great Britain, and Russia. Because of a combination of factors and conditions, the oil industry has usually been considered as peculiarly an American industry. In the light of current trends and in consideration of the future outlook for the oil industry, greater attention must henceforth be given to the industry elsewhere, and particularly to what Great Britain is doing and what Russia is doing. Britain's interest in oil is obviously due very largely to the unique advantages of oil as a source of fuel for her navy and her merchant marine, a feature that was pointed out vigorously as early as 1870 by Admiral Fisher.

"Russia's oil production is nearly as old as that of the United States; current interest in Russia's oil industry centers about the huge possible oil reserves of that country. Estimates have been made which place the Russian oil reserves at one-third those of the world; those estimates thus place Russia first in the world's reserves—a point generally conceded. Moreover, while the number of fields in Russia, they did not take into consideration possible oil resources in Siberia, portions of the Volga plain, or the Lake Baikal region, the light of the inadequacy of past estimates of oil reserves made in the United States, one wonders what extended exploration and deeper drilling in the future will reveal in the doubt which appears to be a dominant factor in the light of the Russian oil reserves are enormous; to develop these, however, will require large expenditures for drilling operations and pipeline construction. Likewise the Russian oil reserves will require large expenditures to provide up-to-date equipment for modern processes if those refineries are to keep pace with world competition which is based in large part on the southeast corner of the northeast of the United States.

"Oil reserves, like other mineral resources, are geographically distributed very irregularly over the earth's surface, and the control of these reserves is even more concentrated. Because of these conditions, and since oil products are vital necessities, it is apparent that the oil industry is destined in the future to play a far larger part in national policies and in international relations than has been the case in the past. To illustrate, the current situation with reference to supplying Italy with oil comes immediately to mind. Another illustration which appears to be a dominant factor from a longer point of view—has to do with the supply of non-oil-producing nations as a whole. Many countries, particularly European, have in recent years brought about the construction of modern refineries on a considerable scale within their own territories to supply the domestic market; moreover, as a general rule, such nations have attempted to control imports and to store supplies. Such developments and policies, however, do not make these countries independent in oil supplies unless they control their crude production—which most of them do not. For instance, currently world crude production approximately 4,400,000 barrels daily. If from this total the daily production of 2,750,000 barrels of the United States and the 450,000 barrels of Russia be subtracted, 1,200,000 barrels remains, which is produced outside the United States and Russia. This daily production of 1,200,000 barrels is shared by such widely scattered producing countries as Venezuela and other Latin American countries, Rumania, Iran, Iraq, The Netherlands, East Indies, and smaller producers. Nearly 85 per cent of this total of 1,200,000 barrels daily production is controlled, by its interests and purposes, by three or four nations without crude oil in their own territories. Japan, for instance, is said to be eager to maintain in that country a six-month supply of oil product. He comments: "Overproduction in the world's oil industry is in a far different position than it was, say at the beginning of the large expansion of the automobile industry after 1910."

DEMAND STRONG NOW.
Demand for American crude has exceeded supply by 35,013,000 barrels daily over a period of twenty-three months from October, 1933, through August, 1935, it was reported by H. J. Struth, petroleum economist of Houston. The demand exceeded supply by 35,613,000 barrels during this time, Mr. Struth reported.

Prospects for a price raise are seen by the oil writer. He comments: "Overproduction in 1933 and early 1934 is shown here to have been successfully conquered by the major oil producing states. Recognition of sound economic principles established under the oil code, combined with greater than expected demand, effected economic changes of material benefit to the industry. Attainment of economic gasoline inventory limits this year, as a result of current crude output presents a picture, however, that should be a warning to state compact authorities. While demand actually exceeded supply in the period covered by facts cited, it is necessary now to recognize that curtailment of demand with greater than expected demand, effected economic changes of material benefit to the industry. # MORNING STAR

— BY MARIAN SIMS —

Chapter 40 DARK FUTURE

Half an hour later Judith, clad in vivid pajamas and a pair of scarlet mules, was sitting Turkish fashion at the foot of Emily's bed. One of the most refreshing of Judith's traits, Emily remembered, was this disregard for conventional hours; this unwillingness to relinquish one day until another had arrived.

It was a family trait, Emily knew, thinking of the days at Carrollton and the poker game on the living-room floor. She settled herself luxuriously under the down comforter and waited.

"Well, Judith demanded, "what did you think of him?"

"He's attractive," Emily admitted. "And what is much more dangerous, he makes you feel attractive too. But he's not for the likes of me! I've had my share of problems for a while."

Judith nodded, relieved. The cable had gone to David this morning and she was counting minutes until the answer came.

"I know that. He's a graceless devil; but I thought he'd do to play around with. Of course there are a few others, and I want you to meet the countryside, but it's convenient to have someone to fall back on when there's nothing else doing."

Emily twinkled at her. "You sound as if I were spending the winter here."

"You are."

She shook her head regretfully. "You're an angel. But I can't."

"Why not?" Judith went straight to the heart of the matter. "What would you do back in Elston?"

That was a question that had followed her like a shadow since the moment she arrived. What would she do?

"I don't know," she confessed. "I've been trying to decide. I won't stay there and dry up," she said with quiet bitterness. "Elston—all the Elstons in the world—are full of good women, even attractive women, who ought to have married and have never had a chance."

"They spoil their nieces and nephews, and read sappy love stories, and belong to church circles. And occasionally one of them goes quietly mad from repression, or turns the town over by marrying a soda-jerk fifteen years younger than she is."

Judith's eyes were dark with horror. "My God! Is it as bad as that?"

"It's worse," she went on thoughtfully. "There's not a chance of finding a job anywhere now; but I've considered using what money I have to take a business course so that I'll be fitted to do something when things do improve."

Judith shook her head. "You oughtn't to be in business. You ought to be married."

"Most women ought," she admitted with a rueful laugh, "but you can't achieve it successfully in a place like Elston. And you can't very well go to a city and put an ad in the paper, or hang out a sign. You've got to do something in the meantime."

"Well, anyhow," Judith insisted, "there's no hurry. I'm afraid there'll be plenty of time for a business course before the slack in employment is taken up, and in the meantime you need to play. Do you realize, darling, that you've never played in your life?"

"Only too well."

"And do you realize that having you here is the nicest thing that has happened to me since Davey was born? It sounds improbable, but I do get lonesome, and the biggest favor you could do me would be to stay at least three months."

Emily felt her eyes misting. She leaned forward impulsively and kissed Judith's beautiful, impudent mouth. "I hope some day I can do half as much for you."

Judith uncurling herself and rose. "You'll do it just by staying." She patted Emily's cheek. "Now go to sleep and let tomorrow take care of itself. And reconcile yourself gracefully to three months of this life; after that you can think about what to do next."

She opened the bedroom windows, tucked Emily warmly in, and went out, the scarlet mules clicking as she walked.

Dan Raynor's house, Emily discovered two nights later, was not another classic example of Early Colonial; it was merely a house, big and rambling and badly in need of paint.

Except for an occasional fine piece of furniture and the Sully portrait in the hall the interior gave no indication of past glories in the Raynor history.

The living-room suggested the lounge of a man's club rather than a private home. It was almost crudely furnished: deep, cushioned chairs, a stone fireplace holding enormous logs, a fine pair of antlers above the mantel, a collection of old guns on the mantel-shelf.

After the inevitable drinks dinner was served on a small table before the living-room fire.

"That dining-room gets under my skin," Dan explained. "It's so big and gloomy that it takes at least a dozen people to subdue the damn' thing. And with the present price of cotton, Lord knows when I'll be able to have it done over."

Emily glanced at the dinner, which was a typical man's meal: beef filets with mushrooms, soufflé potatoes, Roquefort and coffee.

"I could eat food like this from the kitchen floor."

"Dan always feeds you well," Judith explained with her mouth full. "It's his best trait."

Dan looked injured. "You're an unflattering beast. As if I didn't have a lot of good traits."

Judith considered. "Yes—I suppose you have. You're kind to animals, and loyal to your friends—"

"And I've never welched a bet—"

Emily laughed. "You sound as if you were writing an epitaph!"

"If they don't stop chattering and finish this steak before it gets cold," Aubrey growled, "they will be."

Everyone laughed, and the dinner went gaily on. Over the liqueurs which concluded the meal Judith sighed heavily.

"You'll have to remove the table from around me. I couldn't get up if I had to."

Aubrey grasped the back of her chair and tilted it almost to the floor. With a single bound she was on him, both arms flying.
