Impeachment Talk Grows Louder

Oil Strike Stretches To Second Day; No Progress

Strikes against the local facilities of the Cities Service and Sinclair companies went into its second day today without pickets and with no outward signs of progress in negotiations.

Supervisory personnel kept a watch on the plants, but there was no production.

Cities Service is burning about 12 million cubic feet of raw gas daily at its natural gas plant here as a result of the walkout.

Cities Service Oil Co. distribution, 314 S. Gray, and the Sinclair distribution, P. K. Oil Co., 420 W. Brown, reported the strike had not affected delivery of gasoline to service stations from refineries.

Don Losher, of Cities Service, said if no settlement was forthcoming, the filing status might be hit in 15 to 20 days.

The Sinclair production department and the Cities Service refining plant reported conditions quiet.

Union employees of the unstruck Skelly Oil Co. will meet tonight in union headquarters on W. Brown to discuss their status.

Arthur Griggs, union secretary, said the executive strike committee and the financial and welfare committees would meet as needed.

Merchants in refinery centers of Texas prepared for a siege of poor business, plant shutdowns continued, and gasoline supplies started falling today as the industry-wide oil strike spread.

Company's plant at Wichita Falls faced a union closing but employees of a Phillips Petroleum Company plant at Borger were expected to approve a new wage contract.

The second 24 hours of the strike that struck a paralyzing blow at the great Texas industry found these other developments:

1. Governor Allan Shivers said two months continuance of the strike could put Texas' general revenue fund, now on the borderline of deficit, in the red.

2. The Governor said if the strike continued he would look closely into the question of calling a special session of the legislature.

3. Bruce Wiggins, publicity chairman for the Texas Service Station Association, said in Beaumont that there will be no shortage of gasoline for motorists in that area although some stations will close immediately. Other reports of the gasoline supply continued.

Some 25,000 of about 30,000 workers in Texas are out on the strike, but more than 12,000 showed up yesterday in the Beaumont - Port Arthur area to help in down Gulf, Texas, Magnolia and Atlantic Company plants.

Nine Texas Gulf Coast refineries probably would be completely shut down by tomorrow night, A. Tenth, Shell, continued negotiations with the CIO, but had received a strike notice.

Gas pipelines showed no immediate effect from the oil strike. A spokesman for one company said, "it would be a long-range problem."

Niel Youngblood, president of the OIUU local at Wichita Falls, said pickets would be posted around the Conoco plant there (See OIL STRIKE Page 2)

Planes Search Brazil Jungle For Airliner

BELEM, Brazil — (AP) — Brazilian and American planes combed a vast stormy area early today for firework signals from possible survivors of a Pan American Stratojet which vanished Tuesday with 50 persons aboard.

Some search flights were called off because of thunder storms. The nine-man crew and 30 passengers of the missing New York-bound plane were Americans.

U. S. Air Force and Navy planes took up the search Tuesday along with aircraft from the Brazilian Air Force and Commercial Airlines. Twenty-seven planes combed the area yesterday.

The searchers scanned a sparsely settled region of 320,000 square miles. It embraced dense jungles, river basins and dry plateaus.

Pan American officials said they believe the plane is lost in the Plateaus, the most intensive search has centered along a 375-mile stretch of tableland between Barreiras and Carolina.

Gas pipelines showed no immediate effect from the oil strike. A spokesman for one company said, "it would be a long-range problem."

Iron Curtain Ban Is Issued

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The State Department today banned all travel to Iron Curtain countries by American citizens unless they have specific permission.

The department said that because of the "risks of travel" in Soviet bloc countries all new passports will be stamped:

"This passport is not valid for travel to Albania, Bulgaria, China, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Poland, Rumania or the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics unless specifically endorsed under authority of the Department of State as being valid for such travel."

Officials said permission will be granted to travel in all these countries except Communist China, Czechoslovakia and Hungary for "legitimate reasons."

Travel to China, Hungary and Czechoslovakia has been flatly forbidden for some time.

Outstanding passports will be subject to the new restrictions and will be endorsed, like the others when turned in by the holders or otherwise submitted to officials.

Court House Closed — The Gray county court house was closed all day today in honor of Judge W. R. Ewing whose funeral is being held at 2 p. m. in the First Methodist church.

Legislators Say T-H Law By-Passed

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Impeachment talk grew louder on Capitol Hill today as Congress considered giving itself power to halt strikes with injunctions.

Some Republicans heretofore lukewarm on impeachment proposals said continued refusal by President Truman to invoke the Taft-Hartley law in the steel dispute might leave Congress no alternative but to impeach him.

The steel companies meanwhile today asked the U. S. Court of Appeals to bar the government from raising wages while holding their seized plants.

The companies took their plea to the same court which last night acted to continue the government seizure temporarily in effect until the Supreme Court says whether it will rule on the question.

As the court battle between the administration and the steel masters seared toward the Supreme Court, there were these other developments:

1. The House Armed Services Committee scheduled hearings starting probably next Tuesday on a new anti-strike bill which could block strikes indefinitely in emergency periods.

2. A technicality prevented the House Judiciary committee from going ahead today with a scheduled vote on impeachment and related proposals.

3. Half a dozen committees busied themselves directly or indirectly with various phases of the steel controversy.

4. Vice President Alben Barkley said in Houston yesterday he believes Congress eventually will define the rights of a President to seize industry in time of emergency. Regarding the current steel controversy, he said he thought the courts will decide the issue.

Strong Sentiment — Out of all the talk and activity it became increasingly apparent that Congress would not give the President specific power to seize strike-threatened plants.

But there is strong sentiment, particularly in the House, for a bill introduced yesterday by Rep. Smith (D-Va.) to broaden the injunctive provisions of the Taft-Hartley act.

Smith proposed that Congress empower itself to institute injunction proceedings to halt strikes, a power reserved at the present time only by the Taft-Hartley act, which would be exercised through a levy act. The congressional power non-vettable concurrent resolution of Senate and House.

As in the Taft-Hartley act, the injunction would hold for 90 days unless disputants sought an agreement.

Roberts County Voters To Hold Conventions

MIAMI, Fla. — (AP) — Roberts county voters were getting set today to hold four Democratic and three Republican precinct conventions at 2:30 p. m. Saturday.

On the Democratic side, County Judge E. H. Hayes, will call the convention of Precinct 1 to order in the court house and follow with the election of a precinct chairman, in addition to the required permanent convention chairman.

Precinct 2 will hold its convention in the David Wilson, Jr. residence. Being without an elected precinct chairman, this precinct will also have to name one to preside until a permanent convention chairman is named.

H. L. Ledrick, chairman of Precinct 3, will call his convention to order in the James Flowers home while Precinct 4 under Chairman Raymond Nelson will convene in the Wayside school.

Roberts Republicans will hold their Precinct 1 convention in the county commission's room room with Horace Smith, ex-chairman, Republicans in Precinct 2 will have to meet with their closest neighbors — no convention will be held there. Mrs. D. V. Payne, chairman of Precinct 3 will call that convention to order in her residence and John Chesher, chairman of Precinct 4 will hold that convention in his residence.

Time of the county conventions will be selected Saturday so Republicans and Democrats will not overlap in holding county conventions Tuesday, May 6.

By the Associated Press Only two voters . . . Until Texas voters set the course of presidential politics in precinct conventions, . . . Know when and where your meeting will be held. Find out in advance how these meetings are conducted. Vote for the delegates you want to go to county convention. These delegates become your agent on the road to presidency.

AP Poll Gives Taft Slight Edge Over Ike

By the Associated Press The presidential panorama today: Some Republicans disputed the meaning of the Massachusetts vote, some Democrats talked of a "draft" and most nomination-seekers got set for a television show.

Conflicting inferences were drawn from Tuesday's Massachusetts election by supporters of the front-running rivals for Republican nomination — Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Complete returns show Eisenhower got 69 percent of the Republican vote in the popular poll, and 27 of the 18 nominating convention delegate posts at stake. Thus, with only votes needed to nominate, the Associated Press's computation of delegate strength based on concessions, pledges, instructions and statements shows Taft 274, Eisenhower 240. Taft receives more than 200.

Republican Stands . . . Panhandle District To Control 18 Votes

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the fifth in a series of pre-convention articles and deals primarily with the position of local Republicans in relation to the remainder of the state.)

Like the internally warring Democrats, the squabbling Republicans of Gray county are tied for second place in state convention voting strength with neighboring Hutchinson county.

Both counties will be allowed five delegates to the May 27 state Republican convention in Mineral Wells.

However, unlike the Democrats, Hutchinson and Gray cannot tie or outvote Potter county. Potter boasts a state delegation of 14 votes. Hutchinson and Gray combined have only 10.

But, the 18th Congressional District, the Panhandle stands fourth in state convention voting power, if the 28 counties can stick together.

And, it is the fervent hope of both the Eisenhower and Taft factions to solidify the vast Panhandle district in one block of 51 votes — almost half of the Dallas with 114 convention votes. At the top of the voting strength list of the 1976 total convention vote stands Houston with 141 convention votes. Harris county comprises the 8th Congressional district.

Broken down by congressional districts in S-C-V-P, State Convention Voting Powers and in order of their strength are: Dist. 8 — 144; Dist. 5 — 119; Dist. 10 — 87 (San Antonio); Dist. 11 — 67; Dist. 12 — 64 (Fort Worth and vicinity); Dist. 9 — 63; Dist. 21 — 59; Dist. 15 — 54; Dist. 18 — 51; The Panhandle — Dist. 10 — 44; Dist. 16 — 42; Dist. 19 — 37; Dist. 2 and 13 — 34 each; Dist. 3 and 11 — 31 each; Dist. 17 — 29; Dist. 7 — 24; Dist. 4 — 22; and Dist. 6 — 21.

The Republicans are in the same boat as the Democrats. They can't agree on a candidate and they are having mechanical troubles too.

One of the sorest spots is the same old issue of the closed city of permanent politicians in Austin.

The 48-year-old attorney said he is the only announced opponent so far of Gov. Allan Shivers. Yarbrough had been mentioned as a possible candidate for Attorney General. His decision to run against Shivers instead of as a surprise in political circles "is time for a change," said in his formal announcement.

"The people of Texas have it their power to end the boss and domination of the closed city of permanent politicians in Austin."

The 48-year-old attorney said he intends "to take this crusade cleaner government in Texas to every corner of this state before the July primaries."

Yarbrough said he decided to run for governor because "Austin traveled over Texas, people asked me to run for governor. I said they would rather see me for that than for Attorney General."

Asked if he had the assurance of support from the so-called "Democratic faction" which has been fighting Gov. Shivers on the loyal pledge, Yarbrough said he had pledged an "instructed nation delegation" as Yarbrough pledged.

"I am running for governor because of my sponsorship, political factions and beliefs asked me to run. I hope everybody's support. I hope their (Loyal Democrats)

Enthusiasm Mounts For Scout Circus

Mothers, watch out for your broomsticks! Boy Scouts, eager to make marks on the gigantic circus May 9 in Recreation park, may cut up your broomstick to fasten the red and white flag.

Of course, they can exercise themselves by saying they are doing two good deeds: preparing for the funfair circus and making dad buy you a new broom.

State Fe district Scout leaders report much enthusiasm for the circus by Cubs, Boy Scouts and Explorers. They are joining together to put on an eight-day circus.

For instance, John Schofield, Explorer Post 14, said his boys will meet tonight in his home to raise an 18-foot signal tower. At the circus, boys will signal from the tower.

Ross Buzzard, Troop 89 Scoutmaster, said his 48 Scouts are looking forward to the circus with much anticipation. The troop has made 30 red and white flags, but Buzzard said another 10 would have to be made. It's up to the boys to get their own poles for the flags, he said.

At the last meeting of the troop, the boys put up tents on the lawn of the First Methodist church. For the circus, six 8-foot by 10-foot tents and two tall tepee-type Canadian tents will be erected in less than 15 minutes.

Other units in the district have been just as active in preparing for the circus. Scout executives said.

Tito Says War Tension Eased

However, "we still must remain alert," he cautioned a delegation of Army reserve officers last night.

He pledged Yugoslavia's defensive strength in any fight against aggression but said his country would steer away from regional defense pacts because World War II experience had shown such agreements were "only pieces of paper."

Two Wheeler Men Hurt In Train Wreck

Two Wheeler men, Frank Mitchell, 24, and Robert Donald Hadden, 24, were seriously injured shortly after 1 a. m. today when a train in which they were riding struck a freight car one mile south of Skellytown.

Mitchell was dragged about 20 yards between the cars after collision jettisoned him under a empty tanker.

Hospital attendants said Mitchell removed his right leg and neck, his left foot. He was on the operating table for more than four hours. Attendants did not describe his condition.

Hadden was tossed under the train to the other side and did not remove his left leg. He was on the operating table for more than four hours. His condition was described as critical, but not critical.

Methodists To Eliminate Leftwing Federation

SAN FRANCISCO — (AP) — The unofficial Methodist federation for social action, charged by opponents with causing a breach in the church by following leftwing policies, will be asked during the Methodist General Conference to vacate offices in the Methodist building, New York.

The Committee on the State of the church adopted a report yesterday linking this request with a demand that the Federation drop the word "Methodist" from its title.

It was the opening gun in a campaign against the Federation led by a group known as the "Circuit Riders." They contend the Federation, originally formed to promote the social creed of the church, now follows policies far beyond the church's most liberal views.

The Committee report declares the church has been "embarrassed by certain pronouncements" of the unofficial Federation. It contends that "Confusion has arisen in the minds of the public regarding the right of the Federation to speak for the Methodist Church" and stressed that it has no connection with the church.

The Federation's president, retired Bishop Francis McConnell of Lucasville, Ohio, told the Committee the Federation "is not a Communist organization."

"Goodness knows," he said, "that the churches ought to have a radical organization occasionally. We have no quarrel with changing our name," he added. "We can change that all right. Only remember that we aren't the only unofficial organization of the Methodist church that makes statements that are criticized."

He did not elaborate. The Committee on the State of the Church also agreed to recommend establishing a Continuing Committee "To the end that racial discrimination shall ultimately be eliminated from our fellowship." The Committee added that it will drop this recommendation if the conference sets up a proposed Commission on social action.

Mr. Wright had been released from the hospital last week after recovering from a serious heart attack. The second attack came Tuesday night.

Born in Wheeler county, March 28, 1892, Mr. Wright had lived in Lipscomb and Hemphill counties since 1894. He was the son of the late John R. and Celia Jones Wright, pioneer Panhandle citizens.

He attended Canadian schools and a Kansas City business college. He was married at Higgins, June 27, 1920, to May Moore, who survives. Other survivors include two sisters, Mrs. Tom Hext, and Mrs. J. B. Beard, both of Canadian.

Police said the boy gasped out the tragic story on the way to a hospital before he became unconscious. The father was identified as Leo A. Schneider Sr., 49, part owner of the cemetery.

The boy shot in the chest as he fled the tool shed, was Leo Jr., 13. The eight-year-old girl was not immediately identified.

Police said the boy told this story: Early last night the father told the children he was driving to the cemetery near Catonsville, a few miles southwest of Baltimore. He said he was going to meet someone and asked if they wanted to come along.

The three "just played around" for a long time, the boy said, and finally went to the tool shed near the entrance gates.

The father paced nervously in the small shed, then told the children "Go to sleep in these chairs."

Leo Jr. became suspicious when his father pulled out a .32 caliber gun and suggested they play detectives. "I've got a .32 caliber gun now with two blanks," the boy quoted his father.

Leo Jr. started for the door, then his father shot him in the chest. The boy broke from the shed and screamed "Then it was all quiet."

On the other hand a Taft supporter winked and said, "just don't you underestimate the number of Taft supporters around here. From there it should be interesting if — the followers of both sides get out to their precinct conventions at 2 p.m. Saturday."

On the other hand a Taft supporter winked and said, "just don't you underestimate the number of Taft supporters around here. From there it should be interesting if — the followers of both sides get out to their precinct conventions at 2 p.m. Saturday."

Couple Charged With Murder Of 4-Year-Old Son

TAMPA, Fla. — (AP) — A bespectacled farmhand and his ex-barmaid wife were held in jail today on first degree murder charges for the hanging of her four-year-old son.

Deputy Sheriff L. J. Swann said John Cliffe, 27, and Mrs. Alice Cliffe, 28, admitted suspending little Wayne Tolham from a rafter by his neck so his feet barely touched the floor for three nights.

"It's the most brutal, vicious piece of work I've ever seen in all my experience as an officer," said Swann.

The deputy said the child's feet and hands were bound and his mouth taped. The body, he added, was a mass of black and blue bruises and his face was cut by a belt buckle with which the child had been whipped.

Swann quoted Mrs. Cliffe as saying she awakened about 3 o'clock yesterday morning and found the child dead.

Swann said the couple admitted having given Wayne nothing but water since Sunday noon and making him stand in one spot all day Tuesday, but they added they only wanted to punish him for failing to obey and had no idea he would die.

Cliffe and his wife came from Portland, Me., last January and lived at Riverview, a small community five miles from Tampa. Mrs. Cliffe, who is pregnant, said Wayne was her illegitimate son and was "hard to handle."

OIL STRIKE

The tentative agreement for a new contract which Phillips Petroleum Company workers were to vote on today at Borger called for a 15-cent hourly wage boost and increased shift differentials.

The Borger local was reported not involved in the nationwide OIWIU strike.

Elsewhere across the state, some smaller plants remained unaffected — at least for the time. About 320 workers at Dumas, in the Panhandle, quit at Phillips' chemical plant. Another 100 quit at Panhandle Eastern's pump station, 20 miles southwest of Dumas.

T-H LAW

Up to Murray It now rests with Philip Murray, President of the CIO United Steelworkers, whether some 500,000 men remain idle or go back to their jobs as employees, technically, of the government.

Murray says he will have no comment until sometime today on the action of the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Washington which restored government control of the steel industry.

The Appellate Court by a 5 to 4 decision stayed until Friday afternoon the effectiveness of an anti-seizure order handed down by Federal District Judge David A. Pine Tuesday.

It was considered at least possible that the government may seek to lure the 624,000 strikers back to their jobs by giving them the pay raise which Murray had tried unsuccessfully to pry out of the unwilling steel firms.

Murray withheld comment, but government attorneys, in getting the federal appeals court here last night to restore President Truman's seizure temporarily, said they may have to seek a back-to-work court injunction against Murray's union.

"It's the responsibility of the government to get the men back to work under federal control," Acting Attorney General Philip B. Perlman told the appeals court. "And we'll exercise that control."

Columbian Sales Drop Five Percent

Columbian Carbon Co.'s sales during the first quarter this year were about five percent under the same period last year, according to a New York dispatch.

The dispatch quoted C. E. Kayser, Columbian president. According to Kayser, sales and non-oxide were products principally responsible for the dip in sales.

He said carbon black sales for the first quarter were about equal to the 1951 period. Columbian currently is negotiating a long-term loan of $20 million, 25 percent of which will be spent in the next 32 months on new manufacturing and processing plants.

Columbian has four carbon black plants in the Pampa area. These are the Chelsea 77, Columbia 65 and Peerless plants near LeFlore and the Kingsmill plant west of Pampa. A plant at Sturley is the other operation in the Panhandle.

HINT TO MOTORISTS It is difficult to stop rattles on an automobile bumper, but has been found to be one method is to insert a piece of old inner tube between the parts, to absorb vibration.

so-called "pledge" of party loyalty. The Eisenhower backers don't like it. The Taft forces, represented by the party's recognized heads, ranking members of the state executive committee, want it. However, they don't call it a pledge, so says Orville Bullington, state GOP chairman.

In a recent letter to newspapers, Bullington stated: "No one is pledged to support the Republican nominee nor does it prohibit them from going in to the Democratic primary or voting as they please in the November election. It (the resolution adopted by the Republican executive committee) asks only that they state they are Republicans and desire to participate in Republican activities in 1952."

But many Ike supporters consider the move a low blow and class the statement of party affiliation as a pledge just the same.

These are only a few of the GOP's internal problems that face convention delegates Saturday.

Locally, Republicans have been active, but quiet. Not too much noise has been heard outside of telephone chatter and coffee cup palaver. Both sides claim to hold enough votes to be reasonably certain of precinct convention control. But one Eisenhower pusher told this writer he believed his faction had cornered enough support to control the larger precincts for the pro-Ike group.

Hope And Crosby Team Again For Another Road Picture

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Bob Hope and Bing Crosby have hit the "Road" again, and it's an operation as complex as building the Alaskan highway.

This time the boys are headed on the "Road To Bali," and the roadbuilder is a patient producer named Harry Tugend. In between script sessions with gag writers, he told me of the nature and demands of the Hope-Crosby epic.

"It's not only a matter of adjusting their schedules. There has been opposition to putting them into another picture together. There is a theory, 'why waste them together in one picture, when they can be making two pictures separately?'"

Tugend remarked that the boys were unusually cooperative in avoiding expensive delays. There is a good reason for this. The proceeds of the film will be split three ways — to Bing Crosby, Inc., Hope enterprises and Paramount pictures. Thus Bing and Bob are active partners in the deal.

This marks the sixth time Bing and Bob have gone along the familiar road to meet up with Dorothy Lamour and other adventures. Previous destinations have been Singapore (1940), Zanzibar (1941), Morocco (1942), Utopia (1943) and Rio (1947). The latter two racked up tremendous grosses of $2 1/2 million apiece in this country alone.

"All 'Road' pictures fit a special pattern," Tugend said. "They generally open with a vaudeville routine. On the second page of the script, Bing says to Bob, 'I've got a great deal lined up for you.' Then Bing starts to get Bob into some kind of trouble. In his other pictures, Hope may play the wisecracker. But he's always the fall guy when he's with Crosby."

"The other remark that shows up in every 'Road' picture is: 'Gee, this is a strange country.' It always has to be an unusual locale, otherwise the crazy things that happen would not seem as believable."

The producer added that Balinese art, costumes and dances will be used in the picture, but Hope and Crosby never quite get to Bali.

"They're always 'On the Road' to Bali, but Bali itself won't be shown," he explained. The reason is that our political relations with Indonesia are too touchy. We don't want the picture to do anything that would make them worse. After Bali, what place can Hope and Crosby go next? "I don't know," replied Tugend. "But we're talking about taking them to Mars or the Moon."

I can see them landing their roadbuilder in a patient producer named Harry Tugend. In between script sessions with gag writers, he told me of the nature and demands of the Hope-Crosby epic.

Incentive Pay To Be Asked By Air Force

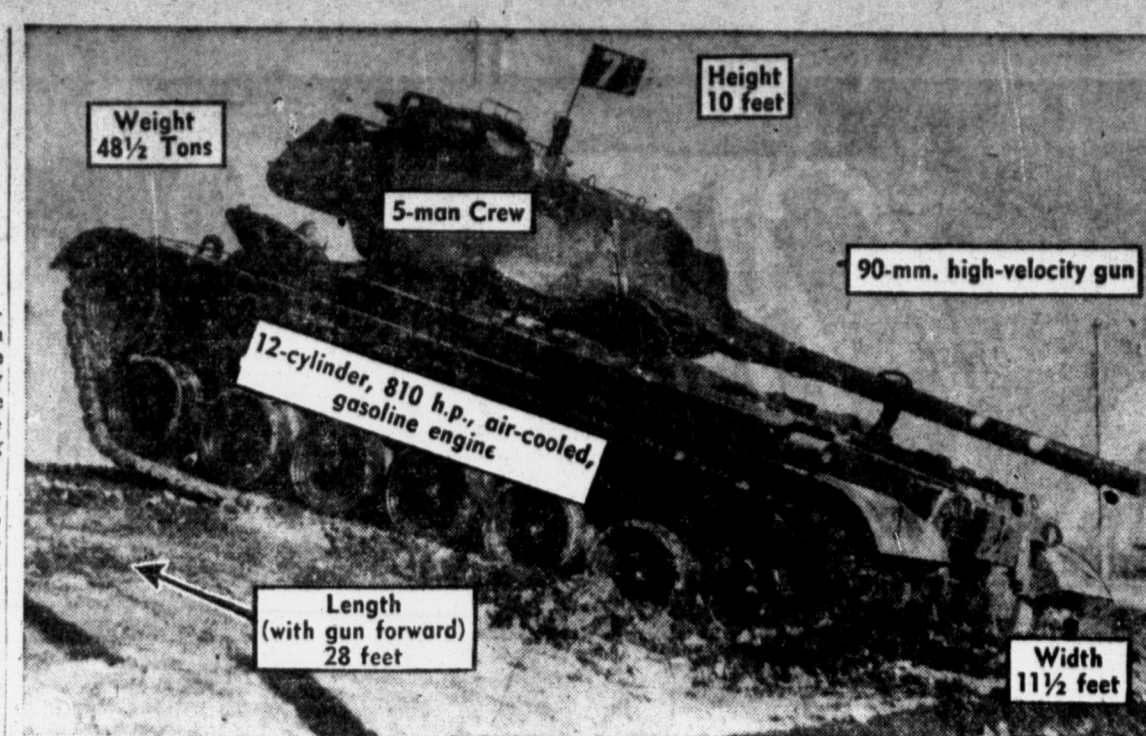

WASHINGTON (AP) — The glamor of combat flying has worn so thin in two wars that some top military people believe a new system of "incentive pay" is the only sure way to attract more youths into America's growing Air Force.

Such a pay-proposal is knocking around the Air Force's top command. It is expected to emerge soon as a specific plan to be laid before Congress. It is certain to run into trouble there.

Sponsors of a proposal to give combat pay to frontline fighters and others actually under enemy fire have been sharply critical of the special hazard and incentive pay that now goes to Air Force and Navy flying crews, submarine crews and Army Parachutists.

The combat pay bill — calling for an extra $45 a month for most Korean War veterans — was snaggled today in a Senate-House conference committee trying to agree on differences in bills passed by the two bodies.

The subject of hazard and incentive pay is under study not only by the Pentagon, but by a special Senate "Task Force" headed by Sen. Hunt (D-Wyo.). The Air Force was the "Glamor Boy" of the armed services in World War Two. But today the Air Force admits the glamor appeal is not enough. There is a serious shortage of pilots, navigators, bombardiers and other qualified flying personnel.

UNVEIL "PATTON'S" SUCCESSOR—Here is the M-47, successor to the famed M-46 "Patton" tank and the first medium tank to be turned out for Army Ordnance since World War II. It's in quantity production at the American Locomotive plant at Schenectady, N. Y. The new tank has many improvements over the old Patton. These include a more lethal and effective gun, with increased probability of a first-round hit, a higher rate of fire, automatic re-aiming after each shot, greatly enlarged field of vision and improved armor. In addition to features listed on photo, the M-47 carries two .50 calibre and one .30 calibre machine guns and has a two-way radio.

At the moment, airmen say, it appears the cadet training class starting in May will be roughly 50 per cent under the estimated needs.

On the other hand, there is a surplus of college-trained men for ground duty.

"The glamor of flying is almost gone now. World War Two and the Korean War have shown that combat flying is hard, tough, dangerous work."

"We are going to have to pay for the incentive to drive those planes—and that will be far cheaper in the long run than anything else we can do."

Parolee Tries Silent Treatment

Young Lovers On Journey To Know Not Where

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Greek freighter Panagiotis Couman-Toros sailed for Tokyo Wednesday carrying a pretty Italian lass and her Spanish lover on another leg of their amazing journey to know not where.

Liborio Sarraoandia, 39, and Rita Cappelloni, 25, told immigration officials yesterday.

They met in Genoa, where Liborio, a veteran of the French Foreign Legion's World War II African campaigns, was working in a shipyard. He and Rita, herself a veteran of the Italian Underground, fell in love.

They traveled to Paris and Newport, looking for work they never found. Finally Liborio, in desperation, signed on as third engineer aboard the freighter. But he could not bear to leave Rita behind.

Thus it was that Liborio perhaps perspired a bit under the weight of his seabag as he climbed the gangplank. When he opened it in his cabin, out crawled Rita. Luckily, she only weighs 110 pounds and is but 4 feet 7 inches tall.

For 49 days, as the ship sailed toward Formosa, Liborio kept his love hidden in his cabin, feeding her on rations from the snip's mess. Then one night the Captain ordered Liborio to cease taking food to his room.

Recognizing the jig was up, he introduced the girl. The baffled skipper could only list her on the ship's manifest and wait for time to solve his problem.

The young lovers would have liked to settle in America. But immigration authorities said no. They couldn't find anything in the book to cover the case.

When the freighter reaches Tokyo, Liborio plans to apply for permission to enter Australia, "or any other free country" where we can start over.

"They're always 'On the Road' to Bali, but Bali itself won't be shown," he explained. The reason is that our political relations with Indonesia are too touchy. We don't want the picture to do any-

Author Of Radio Program Honored

HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — Twenty years ago, when there was a publican president of the White House, the National Broadcasting Co. gave a show-week trial to a fellow with a revolutionary idea for a radio show.

This fellow was Carlton E. Morse, an ex-San Francisco newspaperman. Morse believed that a show dealing with the everyday problems of an ordinary family would go over on the then young medium.

Last night Morse's show celebrated its 20th anniversary on the air. A television version is going strong into its third year.

The name of the show is "One Man's Family."

Five members of the original cast still are playing their original roles: J. Anthony Smythe and Minetta Ellen as father and mother; Barbour, Michael Raffetto as Paul, Bernice Berwin as Hazel and Page Gilman as Jack.

Chicago was the first city with a skyscraper. A 10-story building there, built in 1894, was the first structure to be called a skyscraper.

Foot & Mouth Breaks Out In Canada Again

REGINA, Sask. — (AP) — Foot-and-mouth disease, a highly infectious cattle ailment has broken out at another spot on Saskatchewan's beef and dairy plains.

The only effective treatment is to shoot the sick animals and bury or burn the carcasses. Hundreds of head have been shot to stem the disease, which has infected 28 Saskatchewan farms in two months and led to a complete U. S. embargo on Canadian livestock and meat.

Agriculture Minister James G. Gardiner told the House of Commons in Ottawa last night the source of infection in the new outbreak has not been discovered.

Ten federal veterinarians were sent to the infected area as soon as the disease was discovered yesterday on a farm about 75 miles southeast of Regina. It is 28 miles outside the area quarantined after the original outbreak in February. Another case was discovered last week near Ormiston, about 100 miles southwest of Regina.

Federal veterinarians said the quarantine district will be extended at once. Quarantine halts all transfer of animals in a wide area around the infected farm.

Forty-one beef and dairy animals are in the newly infected herd.

BLUNT REQUEST—"U. S. Go Home" is the grim anti-American sentiment smeared in paint on car owned by a civilian employe of the U. S. Air Force at Chateauroux, France. Similar crudely-scratched remarks have appeared in several places in Europe where American forces are stationed. Nationalist fanatics, or Communist sympathizers are believed responsible for the signs.

Marines Will Have To Wait For This Kid

PHILADELPHIA — (AP) — Thomas Grady studied the U. S. Marine enlistment poster and then helped himself to one of those postals expressing interest in enlistment.

He filled it out and mailed it without telling anyone.

His mother, Mrs. John A. Grady of suburban Abington, was astonished when a Marine recruiting sergeant phoned asking for Tom.

"He's in school, with the other sergeants," his mother told the sergeant.

Body Of Texas Flier Found In Nevada

LAS VEGAS, Nev. — (AP) — The body of a Texas flier, 1st Lt. William Welsh, 30, was found yesterday in the wreckage of his F-86 plane. Welsh, from Nellis Air Force Base, crashed near Overton, Nev., Monday.

A graduate of the University of Texas, Welsh is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Norval J. Welsh of Sunshine ranch, route 2, San Antonio, Texas.

Try Samba For Many Thrills

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

I have before me an accumulation of questions about Samba, the three-pack game in which you are allowed to meld sequences. It's a very good game, and anybody who hasn't tried it is missing a good bet.

The rules for taking the discard pile are not the same as in Canasta. This fact inspires some of the questions that come to me.

Q — The discard pile in a game of Samba is not frozen. I have a meld of 5-5-5 on the table. The player at my right discards a five. May I take the pile and add the five to my meld? The opponents claim that I need a pair of natural fives in my hand.

add the ten and jack of clubs to my sequence?

A — No. You could take an unfrozen pile if your opponent discarded the six or ten of clubs since those cards fit immediately on the sequence that was previously melded. But the jack of clubs does not fit immediately, so you cannot take it.

Q — I drew the last two cards of the stock pile, and one of them was a red three. What is the rule?

A — Put the red three down on the table and proceed as through you had made a normal draw of two cards.

Psychic Thoughts Are Very Valuable

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

When today's hand came along in the recent Eastern Tournament, West was sick and tired of all the smart-aleck opponents who bid suits that they didn't really hold. This was one time that West was going to show up the psychic bid so that East would know what suit to lead.

So West doubled two clubs, never dreaming that the hand would be played there. Naturally North re-doubled to show the Railroad Employee Given 70-Year Pin

CHICAGO — John P. O'Connor, Chicago and North Western Railway agent at Harvard, Ill., today was presented a pin for 70 years of continuous service with the line.

Now 85, O'Connor was a boy of 15 when he went to work April 30, 1882, as a caller at Harvard. His job was to arouse engineers and firemen to notify them to report for duty.

O'Connor, the oldest active member of the Veterans Association of the Northwestern, says he has no plans of retiring.

FLOOD BRINGS TRAGEDY TO ANIMALS—Five dogs huddle miserably on the last dry spot of land to be found on a farm near South Sioux City, Neb. Unable to escape the flood waters, hundreds of domestic animals have perished in territory inundated by the Missouri River.

Equestrians Freed On Charges Of Reckless Driving

NEW YORK — Two young Englishmen charged with reckless horseback riding in Brooklyn's Prospect park were freed men today because of a friendly judge.

Police told magistrate's court yesterday that the two men, Peter Laker, 25, and Clifford Lister, 24, both agents of the Cunard steamship line, were clocked galloping at 25 miles an hour through the park.

Protested Lister: "The beast I was riding was well into his eighth year and if we were doing 30 miles an hour it was a bit of a miracle."

"Case dismissed" ruled Magistrate Matthew F. Fagan, "in the heart and then lead diamonds to South, so he discarded two diamonds on the fourth and fifth hearts.

Declarer now had eight tricks safely home. It was therefore safe to lead his last trump, forcing West into the lead. West had to lead away from his diamonds after all, giving South an extra trick.

South scored 710 points for the re-doubled contract with an over-trick — far more than the value of the game in hearts that was made at most of the other tables.

Cancer Victim Finds Home For Her Sons

DULUTH, Minn. — (AP) — Two boys whose mother faces death from cancer in a few weeks have the new home she wanted for them.

Mrs. Evelyn Paro, attractive 44-year-old brunette, Saturday chose Mr. and Mrs. Warren Moore as the foster parents for her two sons, Gerald, 6, and Gordon, 9.

Moore is a state representative and a civic and business leader in Duluth. The Moores' have four grown children. Gordon and Gerald will take the Moore surname and their mother's maiden name, Englund, for a middle name.

The choice was made from more than 300 offers which poured in after Mrs. Paro appealed to the Duluth Herald and News Tribune for help in finding a new home for the boys. She is divorced and doesn't know where her former husband is.

The boys will stay with their mother as long as possible before joining their foster-parents.

"PUT ON THAT OLD WAR BONNET"—Madamoisele debates the wisdom of buying a choice bit of World War I millinery, a German officer's helmet, from among thousands of items on display at the traditional springtime Paris Scrap Metal Fair. Monsieur, on the other hand, shows by his expression that Amazons, with war bonnets, are not to his liking.

Camera News

By IRVING DESFOR
 Andreas Feininger, eminent photo-journalist, believes there are a vast number of photographers in this country who are potentially ripe for improved, creative, imaginative photography. To them he has dedicated his new book, "Advanced Photography: Methods and Concepts" (Prentice-Hall).

Well printed in large, legible type and profusely illustrated, it combines photo philosophy, practical experience and home construction hints. It is a sequel to "Feininger on Photography," which contained basic information.

The book documents Feininger's many talents. His photos show us he is a thorough craftsman. His home-made telephoto cameras show his inventive, technical and mechanical abilities. His writing shows he is a thoughtful and professional. They all add up to intelligent, imaginative pictures. He thinks most photographers can do as well if their thoughts are turned in the right direction and if they use their minds as well as their cameras.

To get down to cases, let's assume you must photograph a subject. In almost all cases, there is one "obvious" way to shoot it. Undoubtedly it will be adequate, but usually it will not be outstanding. Instead of shooting it the easy way, Feininger advises a systematic questioning of every picture-making factor, along these lines:

"What else can I do? How would my subject look from a different angle... from higher up or lower down? How would it look taken with a telephoto lens from further away or with a wide angle lens from much closer? Could I use different background, different props or accessories, different pose or different light?"

Undoubtedly better pictures will result if photographers look to thinking like this instead of snapping automatically. And anyone who can think that-away is just the guy Feininger had in mind when he wrote this book.

CONTEST NOTE: The "Pets Are Fun" photo contest for youngsters 13 and younger is on the last lap. The deadline for mailing entries is April 26th, with the winner getting a choice of some mighty exciting trips. If a boy wins first prize he can choose a 15,000 mile flight to Africa plus a jungle safari or a two-week, all-expense air trip to New York or Hollywood. In the case of rank discrimination, if a girl wins first prize she has her choice only of New York or Hollywood. No jungle safaris. In either case, first prize provides the same expense-paid adventure for a companion - chaperone selected by the winner. Practically any amusing animal picture is a possibility whether taken at home, in a zoo or on a farm. The contest is sponsored

Jap Business May Boom With Peace

By SAM DAWSON
 NEW YORK (AP)—American businessmen expect Japanese trade competition to mount now that she is free again.

Occupied Japan was already making great strides toward recapturing her old trading position. England, particularly, was feeling the pinch as Japanese textiles and metal products moved into markets the British like to supply.

As Japanese trade grows with India, Pakistan and Indonesia, the depressed British textile industry will have still a harder fight to keep going. Nor will our own textile exporters like it.

Japanese goods have been moving into the United States in increasing quantities as she rebuilt her industries during the occupation. Much of this regrowth of Japan's world trade was fostered by occupation policies aimed at getting her back on her financial feet and less of a fiscal burden to the United States.

But American businessmen have complained at this competition with a lion offered in many lines—metal products, gloves, pottery, toys, and textiles. Complaints have stressed the inability of American manufacturers to compete in price with Japanese goods made by workmen whose pay scales are so much lower. And some American manufacturers have charged that the quality of Japanese goods was inferior to American items, making price competition still more one-sided.

The Japanese appear all set for a new trade drive. Offices of Japanese consulates opened as the peace treaties were put into effect. American exporters and importers were urged to contact the consuls for commercial information.

Tokyo's envoy to London started the ball rolling for a new trade treaty. He said competition for world markets would be sharp between his country and Britain, but promised that the Japanese would keep it fair. The British on several cases since the end of the fighting have charged the Japanese with dumping goods at unfair prices to capture markets from British traders.

Chances are you don't even know what it is. Yet it's so prevalent ... and serious ... that it is a major topic in national magazines.

Ridgway From Field Soldier To Diplomat

TOKYO — (AP) — Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway is a rough soldier turned smooth diplomat.

He will take to his new post of Supreme Commander, Allied Powers in Europe a record of heroism in battle and salesmanship with nations.

Ridgway was tested in combat as the hand grenade-toting, parachuting leader of the 82nd Airborne Division in World War II who stiffened the back of a demoralized and the Commander of the United States Eighth Army in Korea.

The balding, athletic, 57-year-old Supreme Allied Commander won his diplomatic medals by supervising the touchy transition of the Japanese from the status of conquered people to that of "hosts" to the forces he leads.

In the Korean truce talks he has combined firmness with patience. In both his fighting and diplomatic tasks Ridgway displayed a liberal dash of showmanship. Throughout his tour as Commander in Korea he garnished in uniform with a live grenade taped

Boy Gets Royal Reply From Queen

FULLERTON, Calif. — (AP) — Twelve-year-old Mike Johnson really didn't expect an answer when he sent a letter to Britain's royal family offering condolences on King George's death.

In his letter, Mike said he was shocked to hear of the monarch's passing, and added, "I felt as though he was our King too."

Well, Mike got an answer recently which thanked him for his kind letter and added: "Her Majesty was deeply touched by your thought for her in her sorrow. Ours sincerely, (signed) Claretia."

When Ridgway landed in Korea, observers were watching the Eighth Army in shattered retreat and wondering how long it would be before the Reds took over the entire Peninsula. The General had but one comment: "I am to stay."

It sounded like bravado at the time but he made it stick. Ridgway's record in Japan since he took over the reins of Supreme Allied Commander from Gen. Douglas MacArthur on April 11, 1951, is one of close contact with the Japanese people and their problems.

He has circulated among them and won their respect as a friend.

Twins Wait Results Of Skin Operation

SAN ANTONIO — (AP) — Another waiting period will be necessary before burn specialists at Brooke Army Hospital can determine whether the twin skin grafting operation performed there Jan. 21 has been entirely successful.

This was reported this week when the twins celebrated their 24th birthday and dressings were changed on legs of army PFC Leo Kojowski. This showed that there still has not been enough time to be certain of the results. "It may take 30 days more," a hospital spokesman said.

Leo has been at the hospital here since Nov. 25. As a rifleman for the First Cavalry Division had been in action in Korea five months when he was injured. He threw a grenade into an enemy foxhole. It set off an explosion of either a white phosphorus bomb or gasoline and his clothes were set on fire.

Leo's twin, Leonard, was also fighting in Korea, and he was notified and rushed to his brother's bedside.

In an unusual operation 210 square inches of skin were taken from Leonard's chest, abdomen and thighs and grafted onto Leo. At the same time 160 square inches of Leo's own skin was removed from his chest and abdomen. (He was burned mainly from the waist down) and grafted onto the burned areas. Aside from trouble over a kidney infection, Leo says he has been feeling "pretty good."

American Wives Object To Daily Absent-Minded Kiss

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK — (AP) — How to say goodbye to your wife in the morning?

More and more thoughtful Americans believe this is the crucial matrimonial problem of modern times. At least I sometimes get that impression after listening to wives discuss the subject.

All agree that their husbands, thoughtful though they may be on other occasions, have neglected the art of delivering the daily farewell.

"My husband is in a fog from the time he gets up until he goes out the door," one wife complained. "Sometimes I wish he would even beat me—anything to show he realized I was alive."

Another wife objected to the peck on the cheek her mate gave her enroute to his coat and hat.

"There is no greater insult than an absent-minded kiss," she affirmed.

The basic trouble in these situations appears to be that wives feel they are doomed to another lonely day in the home while hubby is off to another gay gallop at the office. The husbands, on the other hand, don't intend to be thoughtless. They simply aren't awake yet. No man ever really comes to his full senses before noon.

The first thing to decide is what kind of a goodbye will really impress your wife. Then practice doing it until it becomes automatic.

Young wives like the robust romantic touch. If you have one of these, simply wipe the egg from your mouth, bend her back, kiss her fervently and murmur—"Till dusk."

Naturally the spinal columns of middle-aged wives might crack under this treatment—or your own might, if you are a middle-aged husband. Perhaps, if you fall in this category, it would be simpler merely to grasp both her hands and say fondly, "Life wouldn't be the same without you, Hon."

Another solution is to sit down and—between gulps of coffee—write her a simple boyish love letter telling her how much she really means to you. A short one will do—four or five pages. If you don't have time to do that in the morning, write it the night before after she falls asleep. Then pin it in her hair curlers so she'll find it as a surprise when she awakes.

There is one other method to cope with the problem of the morning matrimonial parting, and more and more men are finding it highly satisfactory.

"I just stay home now and let my wife go to work," explained one husband. "That gives her the problem of saying goodbye to me. And you know what? Some mornings she acts as if she hardly knows I was there."

Cool Sailor Averts Bomb Explosion

ABOARD USS BOXER OFF KOREA — (AP) — A cool sailor averted possible tragedy on his carrier, recently by sticking his finger in a live bomb to keep it from exploding.

This is the official story: A Panther jet returned from a mission over North Korea with a 250-pound bomb the pilot couldn't release.

The bomb jarred loose and went bouncing and sliding up the deck. It jammed against a parked plane. The arming propeller on the nose spun ominously.

Two flight crewmen grabbed its tail fin and began dragging the bomb to one side, oblivious of the danger.

Ralph V. O'Dell, an aviation ordnance man and an expert on bombs and fuses, rushed up. He jabbed his finger into the space between the striking pin and the fuse body to prevent accidental discharge.

O'Dell held his finger in place until the bomb had been carried to one side.

Then he slipped a piece of wood into the mechanism and calmly removed the fuse.

O'Dell's wife and two children live at Torrey Pines Home in La Jolla, Calif. His parents live on Route one, White Bear Lake, Minn.

Traffic Deaths This Year Show Slight Increase

CHICAGO — (AP) — Traffic deaths in the U. S. showed a slight increase in the first three months of 1952.

The National Safety Council said the toll for the first quarter of this year was 7930, a gain of two per cent over the first quarter of last year.

The number of lives lost in motor vehicle accidents in March, 1952, was virtually the same as in March of 1951.

Gasoline consumption figures, which form the basis for estimating travel by motor vehicle, are not yet available for March.

"However, for the first two months Americans are apparently driving 11 miles this year for every 10 miles driven last year," the council said.

The 10 per cent increase in travel so early in the year, with vacation driving just getting under way, promises the greatest total of travel miles in the history of the country."

Kasaboski Slugs To Win

By KEN HARDIN

Rugged Alex Kasaboski slugged himself to victory over Sesse Oyama in last night's main event at the Southern Club by taking a two out of three fall decision from the Japanese mat man.

Oyama tried several attempts to put Kasaboski out of the event with judo chops to the neck and many nerve and muscle pinches. All were futile for the big Russian's fists landed body punches and head blows that would hurt any human.

Using a body slam and two back-breakers Kasaboski took the first fall in 14 minutes with a body press. Winning the fall alone wasn't enough for Kasaboski as Oyama argued with the referee. This belligerent Oyama became so mad he beat her purse onto the edge of the ring and probably broke every breakable content. Oyama wasn't finished for the night and he proved it by returning a quick sleeper hold in 3 minutes and 15 seconds for the 2nd fall of the event. Referee Billy Weidner had a little trouble getting the slant eyed wrestler to wake his opponent up so he could continue the event for the third fall.

Wakes Him Up

But after a threat by Weidner to disqualify him, Oyama quickly made with the blows to the back of Alex to revive the flow of blood to his head and awaken him. During the next four minutes of wrestling the fans really saw some action as both wrestlers left the ring and continued their fight at the feet of the spectators on the floor. Promoter Howard Vineyard managed to separate the pair and the fight moved back onto the canvas of the ring.

Alex kept hitting Sesse with rights and lefts to the head and when Oyama became dazed he grabbed hold to end the main event. In the opener, Benny Trudell used the crab hold in 12 minutes to defeat powerful Ray Duran from Mexico. Both Trudell and Duran let go with scientific wrestling that the fans enjoyed. Billy Weidner, the referee, led to see several of the foul tactics that Benny pulled which made Ray Duran the fans' favorite and caused one match attender to accuse Billy of being blind.

Gassers Squeak Past Lobos, 9-8

BORGER — (AP) — The Borger Gassers grabbed off a squeaky 9-8 decision here last night to even their initial series with the Lamesa Lobos in an error-studded contest that stretched out over three hours and beat the rains by a matter of minutes.

Jose Garcia, the second of a trio of Gasser pitchers picked up the win and Ed Arthur, who relieved in the eighth frame, was tagged for the loss.

quite awhile to perfect the hold so that he could also use it successfully. It works by reaching around the front of the opponent and grasping a left arm wrist lock, putting the mat man right leg to hold him there and bending him back over his knee until he yells "enough." McFarlin applied this hold in 7 minutes for the second fall and 4 minutes 50 seconds for the third fall.

The first fall was taken by George Lopez with a body press in 14 minutes which was set up by judo chops and a couple of body slams. About 500 fans watched last night's performance.

NOT GOOD-BYE, JUST SO-LONG

EASTON — (AP) — Now that Ted Williams' admirers have had their way — by subjecting him to Boston's outstanding baseball ovation — that strong-willed slugger may confound them by having the final say.

There is a possibility that Williams actually will make his second departure from the Boston Red Sox to the U. S. Marines today in the unostentatious manner he so keenly desired, by playing against the St. Louis Browns.

A roaring crowd of 24,764 well-wishers was convinced it heard Williams' second baseball swan song in 10 years yesterday when he slapped a game-winning two-run homer against the Detroit Tigers' Dizzy Trout on his last turn at bat in the seventh inning.

During the pre-game festivities, a jovial Williams inspired a thunderous ovation with his cap-waving responses to the crowd's cheers. But the stands shook when Williams came through with his clutch hit, the 23rd homer of his Red Sox career.

FORT WORTH — (AP) — Adolph Rupp, the colorful University of Kentucky basketball coach, may not be here to instruct in this sport at the Texas Coaches School Aug. 4-8.

It's because of the basketball scandal that has involved former Kentucky players. When Judge Saul S. Streit in New York, in suspending the sentences of three ex-Kentucky basketball stars for shaving points, cited testimony of the players that Rupp had associated with bookmakers and condoned the association of his players with them, the Texas High School Coaches Association called for a discussion at the meeting of its board of directors.

The meeting will be held at Austin Saturday morning at which time it will be decided whether or not Rupp is to be retained as one of the instructors at the coaching school.

Cagey Eddie Stanky picked the right spot to throw his "intangibles" into his St. Louis Cardinal starting lineup.

Beaten Tuesday night by Brooklyn's Preacher Roe for the eighth straight time and wandering two games under .500, Manager Stanky finally pulled the sheets off Second Baseman Stanky's presence in the lineup against Brooklyn could be seen in the very first inning. "Stanky walked" the play-by-play man. Before the first inning was over it also read: "Stanky doubled down the left field line Westlake and Bilco scoring." The Cards scored six runs in that first inning, knocking out Chris Van Cuyk.

Stanky walked twice more before the night was over while Gerry Staley, his ace, became the first four-time winner in the major leagues this season. It was his ninth straight since last August.

Red Schoendienst, shifted to third base, took to his new position like a duck to water. He handled four chances faultlessly and smacked a bases-loaded home run off Red Postelban in the fifth inning.

Capitals Bow Out

While the debut of Stanky and the Brooks' crushing 14-2 defeat stole the play in the National League, the American was saying his farewells to two fine slug players—Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox and Gerry Coleman of the New York Yankees.

Both Williams and Coleman left their laughing, Williams might even reconsider and play one more game.

Ted entrenched the rookie-laden Red Sox in first place with a two-run homer, his first of the year, to beat Detroit, 5-3. It was the 524th of his brilliant 10-year big league career.

Williams, who reports for flying duty as a Marine Corps captain at Willow Grove, Pa., tomorrow, hit his homer off reliever Dizzy Trout in the seventh inning for rock in 1947. Delock's second hit in the eighth.

Coleman also a Marine Corps captain who reports Friday at Los Alamitos, Calif., Air Base, starred as the Yanks split a doubleheader with the St. Louis Browns. The World War 2 vet, who led the bombing missions hoveed out with two hits in each game to finish with a heavy 405 average.

Despite Coleman's hitting and a homer, double and single by Micky Mantle, the Yanks lost the opener to the Browns, 9-4. Bob Cain received some fine relief help in old Satch Paige to whip the world champs.

Reynolds Wins

Allie Reynolds (joined the Yanks a split with a four-hitter in the second game, 4-1. He struck out eight in defeating Lou Sleater.

Valo, the league's leading hitter at .410, snapped the Philadelphia A's out of a seven-game losing streak with a three-run homer that best Cleveland's Early Wynn, 3-1. Valo's blast over the right field fence followed a walk to Skeeter Kell and a single by Joe Astroth.

Lobby Shantz, who edged the Yanks for the A's only previous win, went the route with a six-hitter. The A's had only three hits off Wynn and Steve Gromek but the big one was Valo's homer.

The Chicago White Sox swept ex-Kentucky basketball stars for shaving points, cited testimony of the players that Rupp had associated with bookmakers and condoned the association of his players with them, the Texas High School Coaches Association called for a discussion at the meeting of its board of directors.

Pioneers Unload On Hubbers, 13-6

CLOVIS — (AP) — The Clovis Pioneers splurged for 10 runs in the sixth inning to storm from behind and batter the Lubbock Hubbers 13-6 for a split of the two game series here last night.

The Pioneers shelled lefty Earl MacDonald, George McDuff and Dick Leader in the first uprising as they straddled the plate. McDuff going under with loss. Doubles by Winston Havenstrite and Virgil Richardson were the big blows of the rally, the latter's coming with the bases jammed.

Right-hander Jack Gaines, who relieved Marvin Holman in the first, baffled the Hubbers the rest of the route and gained credit for the victory.

Davis Invited To Clinic Tilt

Billy Davis, the top scorer in District 1-AAAA this past football season, has been invited to participate in the annual all-star game to be played as part of the Texas Coaches Association early August.

Davis, an all-district offensive choice, performed brilliantly at halfback for the Harvesters this past fall.

The all-star game is accepted as an all-star game of players picked from the member schools of the Interscholastic League by the coaches themselves.

As far as is known, the only other boys from District 1-AAAA selected for the game are Johnny Tatum and Charley Brewer of Lubbock and Walter Cooley of Odessa. This is considered an unusually large group from one district, which testifies to the strength of 1-AAAA.

Last year, tackle Eddie Scheie was invited to play in the all-star contest. He is now enrolled at Southern Methodist University.

Austin Brothers Cop Childress Meet

CHILDRESS — A pair of Pampa golfing brothers, Johnny and Grover Austin, walked off with professional and amateur medals here Wednesday in the annual Childress pro-am.

Professors Johnny who plays out of the Pampa Country Club scored a three-under par 67 as he paced his team to third place in the event. His brilliant round included a ball out of bounds and 11 one-putt greens plus two holes-in-one.

Two other Pampans, Marge Austin and Johnny Forman participated in the tourney. Mrs. Austin scored a 91 while playing with the winning team while Forman toured the 18 in 77 strokes.

Dave Lawson, Lubbock amateur, captured the winning quartet. His team finished with a net 55 score, 15 under par. Other members of his team, in addition to Mrs. Austin, were Claude Harp of Matador and B. Edward of Lubbock.

Jack Earle, Phillips pro-formerly with the Childress County club, captured the second place team. On Austin's third place winning combination were Mrs. A. Johnson of Quanah, Don Slagle of Lubbock and Dalton Sorrells of Childress. They had a 59.

Meet-Your Oilers

DECK WOLDT ... infielder

Right now the leading hitter on the ballclub is the little Roy J. Deck. Woldt, the Decker is a rare case, inasmuch as he plays pro baseball during the summer and college football and basketball during the winter.

Deck is a student at Southern State Teachers College at Weatherford, Okla., where he participates in all sports in addition to coaching the freshman basketball team. He is nearing the completion of his studies in search of a degree in physical education, and even now carries school books around with him. He must take his final examinations in another month.

Deck's baseball career began back in 1939, when he broke in with the Eau Claire Bears of the Northern League. After kicking around for several years and spending some more with the service, he returned to baseball in 1946 with Okemah City and Clovis. 1947 was spent at Jacksonville, Fla., 1948 at Wilkes-Barre, 1949 in semi-pro ball at Elk City, and since then has been a valuable member of the Oilers. Deck was born at Egg Harbor, Wis., on Oct. 22, 1920. He stands 5-9 and weighs 166. He throws right-handed and bats left-handed. He now calls Sturgeon Bay, Wis., his home. Deck spent four years, 10 months and 22 days as a radio-gunner with the U. S. Air Force, serving on a B-25 in the Southwest Pacific in the 13th Air Force.

A valuable man, he can play either infield or outfield very cosily and is a good hustler. His hobbies are golf and coaching.

Rosson Survives Sox' Rally To Win

AMARILLO — (AP) — Eulis Rosson recuperated from an eighth-inning Amarillo rally and pitched league-leading Abilene to an 8-4 victory over the eighth-place Gold Sox here Wednesday night.

It was the sixth defeat in seven starts for the Amarillo club, which was held hitless for the first six and two-thirds innings.

Home runs, two by Stan Mamchinsky and one by Julian Pressley, again accounted for all except two of the Abilene scores.

Molberg, World Lead Oilers To 10-5 Win; Clovis Tonight

ALBUQUERQUE — (AP) — Max Molberg settled down after a shaky start to hurl the Pampa Oilers to an easy 10-5 win over Albuquerque Wednesday night for his second victory of the young West Texas - New Mexico season.

The triumph gave the visitors an even split for the series, Albuquerque taking the opener 10-1 Tuesday.

After yielding four runs on four hits in the first two innings, Molberg steadied to issue but one run in the next six frames. The slim righthander was lifted in the ninth for a pinch-hitter Juan Montero.

Pampa touched starter Steve Lagomarsino for one run on one safety in the first with a walk and wild pitch and added a pair in the second on three singles and a walk.

But the Dukes still held a 4-3 lead after two innings on the strength of a walk and Hal Abbott's triple to right center in the first for two markers.

NCAA To Probe Kentucky School

CHICAGO — (AP) — The National Collegiate Athletic Association has informed the University of Kentucky that it will make an inquiry into the school's athletic policy and practices.

Hugh C. Willett, NCAA president, made the announcement yesterday.

In a statement he said: "The press reports of the indictment by Judge Streit of certain athletic practices alleged to have existed at the University of Kentucky are of sufficient detail and importance to prompt me to request the membership committee of the NCAA to initiate inquiry as to the present status of athletic policy and athletic practices at that institution."

Judge Saul S. Streit, in handing out suspended sentences in New York Tuesday to three former Kentucky basketball stars for shaving points in a game, sharply criticized the school.

He accused the school of making football and basketball "commercialized enterprises" and said there had been "cribbing at examinations" and "illegal recruiting."

The jurist said grand jury testimony revealed that players received bonuses and gifts.

A Conacher on a Bentley has won the scoring championship of the National Hockey League six times in the last 18 years.

Sports Roundup

By GAYLE TALBOT
NEW YORK — (AP) Patty Berg, the now grownup girl golfer, shot a score of 30-34 — 64 over a course measuring better than 6,300 yards out at Richmond, Calif., the other day, and we feel that the feat received some-thing less than the acclaim it deserved because too many persons were reading about a one-hit baseball game at Detroit.

Patty's round will, for our money, rank as the greatest single sports exploit of the year 1952 unless the Browns win the pennant, and we would have to give the matter a lot of thought even then. It is extremely unlikely that the stocky redhead's record ever will be beaten, if equalled.

Speaking as one who has followed the game on many a round and has watched Patty hit them or approximately half her life, we still find it difficult to conceive of anything in skirts shooting a 64 over a regulation golf course. The length of the Richmond layout is incidentally somewhat greater than that of the average links played by the men tans on their annual winter tour.

Hard Luck Gal
 That the pleasant, unaffected girl from Minneapolis should have been the one to crack world record was exclusively nan's scoring domain strikes an especially responsive chord here. Patty has had a hard time of it, one way and another, since she turned pro and began battling against Babe Didrikson Zaharias and occasional glamor pussies who take prettier pictures.

Back in 1941, when she was just reaching her peak, the freckled little scrapper suffered a shattered knee in a car accident in Texas and was encased in a plaster cast for 18 months. She still has wicker scars, and there are arounds when the knee pains and hrobs, but she made a comeback nearly as spectacular as that of Sen. Hogan after his crash, also in Texas.

There were long, dreary periods when Patty must have nearly de-spaired of ever gaining the upper hand on the long-driving Babe and some of the others, such as Louise Suggs. One of them seemed almost to be winning the big ones and hogging the summer. Patty bested the Babe in a gruel-ing 36-hole play-off for the Veathervane championship at the Deepdale course here.

It was reported on strong au-thority that Patty had offered a $50,000 prize, richest women's golf, but that the Babe turned her down. Patty was a red girl that day of the final round, but she was a grim com-petitor, too, and she took it all when the Babe badly missed a 5-foot putt on the green.

Through Chasing Later, cutting up old times with two of them in the club lounge, we developed a strong feeling that the girl from Min-neapolis finally has reached her own level and would not be chasing the Babe many times in the future. Her tremendous victory at Richmond indicates that Patty, still only 32, has it in her to dominate the women's field for years to come. The Babe, by our guess, must be crowding 40.

Patty's terrific burst of golf at Richmond, incidentally, is not the only indication that the fair-ies are reducing the athletic gap between themselves and the men. From the West comes word that Laureen Connolly, the sturdy, Jan. Negro girl who swamped her field in the National Tennis Championships last year, recently split sets with Mike Franks, who is considered the coast's brightest 1st star. Maureen dropped the first set, 7-5, but took second going away, 6-3.

Fort Worth Regains Lead In TL; Beat Beaumont, 8 - 4

By CHARLEY ESKEW
 Associated Press Sports Writer

The Fort Worth Cats' life in the first place in the Texas League if a charmed one they win with the lucky numbers.

Fort Worth last night slapped Beaumont out of the first place tie 8-4, rallying for seven hits and seven runs in the seventh inning to assure the win. The Cats mustered 11 hits in all. Beaumont's loss dropped the Roughnecks into second place with 70 percent points ahead of Houston as the Buffaloes were dividing two with Tulsa. Houston won the second game 3-2 after the Oilers nabbed a 1-0 victory in the first game.

Southern Field Topped By Maxwell

ATHENS, Ga. — (AP) — A massive collection of 132 golfers, including the national amateur champion, a pretty co-ed and three sons of goldfom greats, open the Southern Interscholastic today.

As befits the National amateur champions, Billy Maxwell of North Texas State is the favorite to defend successfully the Southern Interscholastic title he won last spring.

Before he wins the 72-hole medal tournament, however, he must outshoot Ann Twilly, a tiny University of Georgia sophomore, and three golfers named Turnesa, Farrell and Picard.

Ann Twilly is the first girl to play in 15 Southern Interscholastic and one of the few girls to compete against men golfers on as high a scale as this tournament.

She is not expected to place in the low ten since her average game on the Athens Country Club course is in the mid-80's. Far on the 5,800-yard course is 36-36 — 72.

The youngsters with such famed golf names as Joe Turnesa, Jr., another in the long, long line of Turnesa champions; Johnny Farrell, Jr., son of the 1928 National Open winner; and Billy Picard, son of Henry Picard, winner of both the Masters and the PGA.

Young Farrell and Turnesa play for Georgetown University in Washington and Picard plays for The Citadel.

Twenty-three other Dixie colleges have entries in the championship race which ends Saturday after 18 holes today 18 tomorrow and 36 Saturday. The University of Georgia annually is host.

Colonial Loses Amateur Champ

FORT WORTH — (AP) — Billy Maxwell, the National Amateur champion, withdrew from the Colonial National Invitation Golf Tournament today. Maxwell said he was going to pass up the event here May 21-25 in favor of a trip to England to play in the British Amateur.

As Maxwell withdrew, two top Texas amateurs—Joe Conrad and L. M. Crumell, Jr.—were added to the field. Conrad is the defending Texas Amateur champion and Crumell the defending Trans-Mississippi amateur champion.

Blue Sox Sign Second Baseman

AMARILLO — (AP) — The Abilene Blue Sox signed a second baseman in a player deal yesterday.

Signed was Johnny Morris, a veteran second baseman who had been granted his free agency by Artesia of the Longhorn. Morris was with Port Arthur of the Class B Gulf Coast League last season, batting .287.

He played second last night at Amarillo rapping a double and hitting into a double play in three times at bat and handling two chances afield without an error.

The signing of Morris was made necessary by an injury to Morris Card last Saturday night. Card broke his leg in a collision at second base.

Amarillo's Gold Sox also announced the sale of veteran Out-fielder John Gayle to Midland of the Longhorn League.

Derby First In Madness, Second As Sporting Event

By KYLE VANCE
 AP Newsfeatures

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — "Um-m-m," said the psychologist. "You wonder if he is a nut with a cracked shell?"

A reporter pressed his question.

"The subject travels a thousand miles. He is pushed, nudged and elbowed in a crowd of 100,000. He comes away with a big head, maybe a smaller bank-roll and sore feet. And he plans to repeat the punishment again this year."

"The psychologist fidgeted and asked:

"You wonder why any one would travel so far and endure so much just to see a two-manue horse race? The question is a good one, but I can't help you. I went to the 1951 Kentucky Derby by myself, and I plan to go again this year."

So it goes. There seems to be no psychological explanation for the average American's behavior on the 1st Saturday each May.

A Great Holiday

The Kentucky Derby is one of the country's great sporting holidays. But it is madness first and a sporting event second. It is madness for eight hours, or for a whole week, and a sporting event for two minutes and one or two seconds.

Derby Town is getting set for its annual julep and tulp single — its 78th Churchill Downs will be swarming May 3 with an estimated "more than 100,000" carefree funseekers.

They will come from distant communities and from foreign lands. They will pay greatly inflated prices for food and lodging if they eat and sleep in hotels, and they will dig deep for entertainment if they seek it at the night spots.

(Louisville hotels and the better motels charge $25 a day per person and require a three-day reservation on Derby week-end.)

Food and drink prices are marked up only at the places that cater generally to visitors.)

But those who can afford it will never admit they don't get their money's worth of Derby madness.

Derby Day starts at dawn for the lady day set for the first of the few unreserved seats on the first turn, or for choice standing room in the infield. By noon, the place is running over with gaily costumed race-goers and is reeking with a carnival atmosphere.

Visitors will drink Kentucky mint juleps, Kentuckians will drink straight bourbon.

Before the day is over, some gent looking for the mutual win-dows will get caught in a lineup of ladies waiting for space in a powder room.

Petty thievery will be comparatively light for a crowd so large. Last year, nine persons reported picked purses or pockets for a total of $616. And hotel guests reported a total $1,283 taken from the rooms. One grand-stands, built with ladders, barrels, boxes or boards. The in-

Entries Start Flowing In For Saturday's Run For Roses

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — (AP) — The Kentucky Derby entered its stall-walking period today as owners and trainers of 16 three-year-old horses started entering their charges in the $100,000 added turf classic.

The famous mile and one-quarter run for the roses over Churchill Downs' racing strip is not scheduled to start until 3:30 p.m. central standard time Saturday. But racing Secretary Lincoln Plaut began receiving entries today.

The probable field was swelled by one yesterday when Swoop from E. Burke's High Tide Stable left New York for Churchill Downs with the Derby as his objective.

Some wag suggested Swoop's trainer, O. C. Rasch, Jr., heard the weather man predict rain by Saturday and decided to send the horse to Kentucky with the hope of an off track.

But the prospect of any great amount of moisture before Derby day was dispersed somewhat by the weather man who predicted fair and warmer weather through Friday at least.

The unexpected appearance of Swoop Derby had no effect on the odds. The son of Sky Raider is expected to be one of the four horses coupled in the "field" betting at odds of 50 to 1 or longer.

Hill Gail, whose record smashing mile in the Derby Trial changed the Derby outlook considerably, remained—the strong choice. But there were many who figured A. W. Abbott's slow starting but fast closing Blue Man would wear down the Calumet flyer in the long stretch drive.

With Eddie Arcano confident he'll ride his fifth Derby winner, Hill Gail is expected to open at around 8 to 5 with Blue Man the second choice at 3 to 1.

As last, and it was found ten minutes later.

You can spend freely or you can economize at the track. Food and drink prices are no higher than for any other race day. Mint juleps sell for $1.25, but blended whiskey drinks go for 60 cents and bonded whiskey drinks for 75 cents. Coffee will be ten cents and hot dogs—20 cents.

Chicken for Breakfast

On the other hand, your "Derby breakfast" in the dining room will cost $7.50, consists of breast of chicken, filet mignon and Kentucky ham as the main dish.

Besides the Derby, there are eight other races. Last year's handle for nine races totaled $5,675,542. That included $1,294,471 for the Derby.

The infield viewers will see the Derby. Some will leave the Downs without seeing a horse. But ingenuity will serve many who bring home the grandstands, built with ladders, barrels, boxes or boards. The in-

Hot Rod Races Midland Can't For Cancer Fund Win At Home

By the Associated Press

Midland's Indians are in the Longhorn League cellar with Big Spring today and Sweetwater shares the lead with San Angelo, mainly because the Tribe can't make a home field jinx.

Sweetwater belted Midland 9-3 last night as the Indians gave up the deciding run in the ninth after barely missing their first win in four tries at the home park. San Angelo gave up unputed hold on first place when the Colts fell before Lowwell 8-5.

In other games Artesia pounded Odessa 14-9 and Vernon scored all its runs in the last two innings to edge Big Spring 4-3.

Sweetwater gained its decision over Midland when Warren Sliiter singled the winning run home in the ninth off relief Pitcher Eddie Jacome.

Roswell used a 15-hit attack, all singles, and the combined four-hit pitching efforts of Ronald Peterson and Robert Weaver to get by San Angelo.

Battle To Continue OPS Will Be Bitter

Between now and the end of June, one of the bitterest fights of New Deal government history is scheduled to be battled out on the floor of congress. On June 30, the two-year price control act expires and it should not be renewed.

There is no question that the act has proved a tremendously expensive piece of nonsense, accomplishing nothing except to saddle a lot of work on retail business men and adding greatly to the taxpayers' burden. Then why is there any argument about whether or not to continue it?

The answer is simple. The act creates the office of price stabilization, also known as the 'old party servants' or 'old politicians' sanctuary.' The OPS, by price boss Arnold's admission, creates more than 7400 federal jobs through which $55,703,553 in federal salaries were channeled in 1951 alone. The money went to people whose appointment is expected to insure their loyalty to the party and who are expected to provide, with their friends, many thousands of votes.

What these employees do, besides acting as a propaganda machine for the party in power, is to attempt to remove the profits from business. If they succeed, they will also have posed a problem for congress in trying to raise taxes enough to meet the federal budget. The 'deal' administrations, by multiplying the corporate tax rates, have made tax collectors of the United States corporations, besides adding sizable percentages to the consumers' cost of the corporation products. If the OPS workers succeed in eliminating any company's profit they eliminate even more tax receipts from the United States treasury.

What makes renewal of direct controls particularly important this year is the fact that the simple laws of supply and demand already are accomplishing more in restraining inflation than anything the OPS has been able to do.

The price control law was passed to meet an emergency created by the outbreak of war in Korea and the ensuing scare buying of civilian products. The President did not put the law into effect until after the buying panic had subsided and the economic emergency had passed.

Since then production of most products has caught up with demand and so far passed it that few prices go as high as OPS ceilings. As always, free enterprise has proven a better regulator of the American economy than any fictitious planning done in the national capital.

Its reason for being having been removed, the controls system is in line for heavy attack in congress. It is unnecessary now, but the administration still will not relinquish this fat political plum without a struggle.

The Two Ikes Don't Look Alike

For the next few sticks of type we're not going to like Ike, so any of his idolators with thin skins or high blood pressure had better glance across the page and read something else.

We're not going to dislike Ike the military man, the current public hero.

We're going to dislike the straw man Ike who's been carefully built by some of the cleverest—and reddest—brains of the nation. The straw man Ike whose head right now is nodding in the direction of the breeze for an America for Americans, but which in the past had nodded in the other direction too many times.

Just as an example, let's examine the list of persons who want Ike for President. By that we don't mean the local people who have believed the fat reams of publicity and gusts of radio oratory, but behind-the-scenes operators who must have callouses from pulling the strings in Washington.

Norman Thomas, in a talk in New York on Feb. 26, put in a plug for Ike as the Republican presidential candidate. You know Ole Norman, don't you? Long time leader of American Socialists and habitual candidate for President on the Socialist ticket!

Sidney Hillman was the first prominent political figure to pick Gen. Ike as presidential timber. Hillman was the man behind the Eisenhower boom for the Democratic nomination back in '48. Surely you must have heard of Sidney before he shuffled away to wherever Reds go when they die. If you haven't, the "clear everything with Sidney guy," was a Russian-born Communist revolutionary and the backstage manipulator of the Roosevelt administration.

And don't forget Sidney's old pal, Anna Rosenberg, who's now assistant secretary of defense. Anna persuaded Ike to be the featured speaker at the CIO convention in 1946. Sidney, of course, was top dog of the CIO at that time. We don't think there's much need to tell the most rabid Ike fan about Anna and her operations.

Michael Straight is backing Ike for President. Mike owns that pinkish magazine, the New Republic. Also, he's a leading light in the Socialist-front Americans for Democratic Action.

We could go on for pages concerning the pinkies, reds and socialists who're working day and night for Eisenhower for President, and the leftist publications plugging for him. It wouldn't be exactly cricket, perhaps, to drag out the list of Reds allowed to remain at Columbia University while Ike was president of that joint. Or to give in long detail the "honors" heaped upon Ike by the Russians and the Red Poles and their ilk.

We're just telling you of some of the people and organizations doing their darndest, both in the light of day and underground, to make him our next President. It shouldn't be hard for you to figure out why!

A Book Review Of

"Mr. President" by Freda Utley, the author of "The China Story" and "The High Cost of Vengeance." She has lived in Russia and China and is a keen student of history.

Here are quotes from her book review of "Mr. President" as published in the Economic Council Review of Books: "MR. PRESIDENT is both a dull book and a frightening one. Reading it one is, literally, appalled by its revelations concerning the advances and naivete, combined with self-confidence and self-righteousness, of the Little Man in the White House. Composed mainly of extracts from Harry Truman's private papers and reports of the author's conversations with him, Mr. Hillman's widely heralded, lavishly produced and profusely illustrated volume presents a self-portrait of the President which his worst enemy could not have improved upon. Obviously a man so ill-informed, or misinformed, and yet so confident of his own virtue and wisdom, was fated to become the puppet of forces of whose very existence he is unaware. Taking candy from a child must be more difficult than manipluating a President so ignorant, and so ignorant of his own ignorance, that he regards all who oppose him and his trusted advisors as wrongheaded reactionaries or 'economic royalists.' After reading this book one no longer wonders why Mr. Truman liked and trusted Uncle Joe, whom he once said reminded him of Pendergast. This remark is not quoted in this book, but we are told that as late as March 1948 Truman believed that Stalin's word could be trusted. It is clear from his own words that even today Truman has no conception of the causes, methods and aims of Communism. He even states that our problems today are almost parallel with those after the Revolutionary War, and that 'we are faced with the same condition with which the country was faced from 1650 to 1800 only on a world-wide scale.' 'We're not President of the United States,' Harry Truman would be a comic figure, but also an appealing one. His blind optimism, dotting love of his country and devotion to his wife, his loyalty to friends and his failure to see their faults, would be endearing traits had he remained in the village where he was born. Unfortunately he is not shown as possessing any of the qualities which are required of the man who still holds in his hands the destiny of America and of what is left of the free world, menaced by the Soviet Empire as well as by our blunders and those of Franklin Roosevelt, General Marshall and other great Americans.

"Confucius said that he who knows not, and knows not that he knows not, is a fool who can never be taught." The evidence of Mr. Truman's self opinionated ignorance presented in this book is matched only by the proof it affords of his unbounded confidence that he is a good and wise man. For instance, referring to the press attacks on him, Mr. Truman first compares himself to Lincoln, and then remarks that he himself is "probably" holding a conference with Saint Peter when the facts come out.

"Mr. Hillman wants us to believe that Truman is a profound student of history, but his citations of his illustrious subject's observations display abysmal ignorance of world history with anti-Catholic prejudice. Not only does he confuse the Dark Ages with the Middle Ages, he confuses the Dark Ages, because of its corruption and immorality as compared with mankind's 'continuous' progress since the Renaissance. For instance he writes: 'I do not think there is as great a percentage of fundamentally crooked people now as there was in the Middle Ages. I think the most scandalous period ever in the history of the world was the Dark Ages, because the people did not have the education and the background to know what was right from wrong.'"

"Mr. Pendergast's political nominee, of course, knows far better than the priest-ridden Europe of pre-Luther days what is right and what is wrong, and has devoted his life to the pursuit of righteousness, and most of all, honesty, corruption and sin from the world. The really astounding thing is that he should be so certain that a world in which millions of people rot in Communist slave labor camps without hope on earth or in heaven, and in which even the Western democracies slaughter civilians en masse from the air in time of war, is really so much better than the Middle Ages. Nor is it easy to understand how the man responsible for dropping the atom bomb on Japan when she was prepared to surrender provided only that her Emperor would not be deposed and the nation destroyed, should be so certain that he is a merciful and just man."

"Mr. Truman's boy's eye view of ancient and medieval history is matched by his ignorance of the historical record which he himself helped to make. Whether he is referring to China or Europe he does not seem to know what his administration has actually done. For instance, he thinks that it was his policy to keep up a strong anti-government in China, whereas actually it was he who proclaimed in December 1945 that Nationalist China would get no aid unless and until it included the Communists in a coalition government. How is it possible, one asks, that the man who himself fled at Potsdam to the appropriation and expulsion from their ancestral homes of fourteen million people for the sole crime of having German blood in their veins; who sanctioned the use of German prisoners of war as slave laborers by the Communists, and the dismantlement of German industry which deprived uncounted numbers of workers in Western Germany of their livelihood, should imagine himself to be a progressive and enlightened statesman desirous of the welfare of all mankind? Indeed, it is disquieting to think about this book is that it makes plain that Harry Truman is convinced that he is a good and wise man. Maybe he should be forgiven because he knows not what he does. EIGHT REASONS

1. Maybe you think a little more of Comrade Joe than you do of Uncle Sam. Joe licks his chops when you stay away from the polls. In the last presidential election 45 million qualified voters stayed away.
2. You think your time is too valuable to spend in looking after your responsibilities in representative government. You have more "important" things to do.
3. What the heck's the good of "my one little old vote? Let George vote." So a lot of you's and Georges stay away — and lose an election.
4. You forget to pay your poll tax. That's a reason for not voting in one election, but really it won't do to use that excuse a second time.
5. The wife likes one candidate and the husband likes another. It's obvious your votes will cancel out each other, but each helps to increase the total of your favorite candidate.
6. You don't know anything about the issues and the candidates. It's nothing to be proud of, but it doesn't take long to get up to date.
7. You think it's all "decided" anyway, and it certainly will be as long as you and others like you stay at home.
8. Your corn hurts — but a lot of freedom-loving Americans on crutches and in wheel chairs manage to participate in every phase of self-government.

Are any of these reasons good enough to keep YOU from voting? Every "stay-at-home" weakens democracy. Don't be a "stay-at-home" next Saturday, May 3. Study the issues, get information on the candidates, and go to your precinct convention. Democratic precinct conventions will be held at 10 a.m., the Republican at 2 p.m. With four exceptions all precinct conventions will be held in the usual voting places; the four exceptions are in Republican precinct convention places as follows:

- Precinct 7 — residence of C. L. Carruth
- Precinct 10 — county court room
- Precinct 11 — Kingsmill, Cabot Camp clubhouse
- Precinct 18 — Webb School

Sure to delight all tastes is this new and easy creamy pie. The shell for this unusual pie is contrived of flavorful vanilla wafer crumbs, melted butter and sugar. Neatly arrayed within the shell are massively elegant canned peach halves. Double rich evaporated milk, acidified instantly with lemon juice to make it thick and tangy, is spooned over the peach halves. Then a mixture of granulated sugar, brown sugar and flour is sprinkled evenly over the top and the whole dusted generously with pungent nutmeg. As the pie bakes, the creamy filling bubbles and blends and thickens around the luscious peach halves, making this a truly delectable pie treat.

Tele-Technology May Teach Americans Better Manners

By HAL BOYLE
 NEW YORK — (AP) — Do you have "telephone fear?"
 Or does your telephone shudder whenever you reach for it?
 Are you making a real buddy of your telephone, or are you letting it show you up as a bum?
 These questions are being explored by a 29-year-old social pioneer named Barry Garfield, who is trying to correct a mistake made by Dr. Alexander Graham Bell 75 years ago.

"He invented the telephone," remarked Garfield, "but he neglected to teach people how to use it."
 With some 35 million telephones now ringing more or less steadily, Garfield thinks it is high time individuals should realize that the proper use of these little gadgets can help them win or lose social or business success. He also believes corporations fail to appreciate how poor telephone techniques by their employees cost them millions of dollars in terms of lost sales or good will.

Suppose you use the newest toothpaste, smoke a smart cigarette, employ the correct deodorant, wear the right clothes, a void "five o'clock shadow," and keep your mind razor keen by reading only the best books? If you pick up a telephone and bark into it, "Hi, ya, kid?"—well, all is ruined. You've gone to a lot of self-improvement for nothing.
 "The telephone projects your personality, and people judge you by it," Garfield remarked severely. He has founded what he hopes is a new science—tele-technology—to remedy the situation. What is tele-technology? Garfield defines it this way:
 "It is the study of the economic and social aspects of the telephone and its use by individuals and companies as a business and social tool."

How To Hold FALSE TEETH More Firmly In Place
 Do your false teeth annoy and embarrass you when you eat, laugh or talk? Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH on your plates. This alkaline non-acid powder holds false teeth more firmly and more comfortably. No gums, no rosey, nasty taste of feeling. Don't get out. Check "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH today. Get FASTEETH at your drug store.

He got into the field by accident, after obtaining a job selling truck tires by long distance phone. He found little or nothing had been written on the subject, so he did the research himself.
 "I sold more than a million dollars worth of truck tires by phone without ever meeting a single customer," he said. "Most successful businessmen today have become good phone users—but usually by trial and error."
 Garfield is now writing a book on how to use the telephone, trying to get big corporations and business schools to give courses in it.

"Bad telephone practice has been universally accepted across the country," he said. "Yet a company is often judged by that voice that speaks for it on the phone, and what that voice has to say."
 "This study has convinced him that the most common fault in telephoning is what he calls 'Lack of pre-thought'—the failure to think through what you are going to say before you ever pick up the receiver.
 "The average person has no idea how bad his own voice sounds over the phone," he said. "He should listen to it played back a few times—then he'd want to change it."
 "People dress for a face-to-face conversation. Why not do the same thing, in effect, for a phone conversation? Too many people are discourteous, sloppy and lazy in their phone talks. They fail to put over the impression they would like. They don't know how much of their personality a phone gives away."
 Garfield has found the thing that most irritates phone users is "to be kept waiting." He agrees with the phone company itself that the time-wasting "Hello" greeting should be dropped. His substitute: speak your name (and your department, if you are answering for your firm).
 "And always put your best voice forward," he added.
 Has his research paid off personally? Garfield, who is a bachelor, answered triumphantly: "Well, I never in my life have been turned down for a date over the phone."

White House Ad Libbing Public Relations On Steel

By JAMES MARLOW
 WASHINGTON — (AP) — The White House apparently thought a good public relations job was needed when the President seized the steel mills.
 It started with a bang but must have stopped to pick apples. The President laid his case before the people the night of the seizure with a ringing attack on the mill owners.
 That was the White House's highwater mark in public relations in this case. The tide has been running out ever since.
 The next night the steel industry produced Clarence B. Randall, president of Inland Steel Company, on TV. He blistered the President.
 Neither man was exactly impartial. The President told his listeners the industry could raise wages without raising prices because, he said, it was making a profit of $19 a ton.

 He neglected to say this was profit before taxes, an omission Randall denounced him for in the following night in telling industry's side. But Randall didn't stick to arithmetic.
 He tried a few emotional quicks to win friends, such as reminding his TV audience he was a veteran of World War I, a fact which had nothing to do with the dispute and could hardly illuminate it.
 Randall wasn't relying on just one speech in his bid for public opinion. He has a high-grade publicity firm which has been leading down the mailmen with Randall speeches and other things ever since.
 Meanwhile, the Republicans in Congress, for various reasons which may not be altogether unconnected with politics, hopped on the President for the seizure.
 And Truman's Democrats in Congress haven't done much to pull the Republicans off. Mostly they've kept their mouths shut.
 So, after its first shot, things weren't going so well with the White House, in a public relations way. It flubbed its next chance. That was when the industry went to court to get the mills back.
 The government lawyers filed an answer going all the way back to revolutionary days to prove the President had the right

New Paris Fashions May Not Please American Men

By BOB THOMAS
 HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — Good heavens, men, look what those Frenchmen are up to now! They are trying to foist flat-chested cashions on American women.
 This startling news came from Jean Louis, fashion designer for Columbia studios, who adds that the Parisians won't get away with it.

It visited the salon of Louis, a dapper little man who is himself a native of Paris. But he has been in this country long enough to appreciate the American curves. He showed me some magazine pictures of the styles from Paris.
 "Look at them," he said, clucking his tongue. "The waist is either too high or too low. That means that the normal curves of the bust and the hips are camouflaged. It is very bad."
 "I do not blame the Paris designers. They are in the business to create new things and generate excitement. Neither they nor the buyers for the American companies care about the figures of the women in this country."
 "But American men do. And American women care what their men think about them. That's why I think this new flat-chested look does not have a chance with women of this country."
 Louis remarked that the new style was a throwback to the 1920's, when women strapped their chests to hide the curves.
 "But we cannot go back to the '20's," he added. "A whole new generation of women has grown up. Women have become liberated; they take jobs and they indulge in sports. American women have the best figures in the world and they are proud of it. They are not going to hide the beauty of their bodies just because the Parisian designers come up with something new."
 "The era of today is unlike any since early Greek times. That was when men and women were proud of their bodies and dressed to show themselves off to best advantage."
 The designer added that the flat-chested look would make no headway in the movies. "Why, I tried to dress Rita Hayworth in styles like that. I would be out of a job," he said. "Furthermore, it would be impossible."

to take the mills. This answer, called a brief, takes up 69 legal-size pages.
 The timing of this, from the viewpoint of public relations, was horrible. It was made public at 5 p.m., too late for afternoon papers and too complex to be of much good to morning papers.
 Next the President, answering a question at a news conference, gave his opinion on a President's power to seize newspapers. He could have said "no comment" or taken his time. Instead, he bounced out a reply. The reaction was terrible.
 The criticism and needling must have irritated the President more than he's willing to admit for once more at news conference he tried to explain presidential powers. The result was just as bad.
 This time, to illustrate his powers, he said he sent an ultimatum to Stalin. A few hours later his White House aides had to explain he didn't mean an ultimatum but a diplomatic note to the Moscow government.
 Then the President's chief representative in court, Assn. Atty.-Gen. Holmes Baldrige, went so far in insisting the President has unlimited powers that even some Truman supporters in Congress were outraged.
 The White House's public relations in the steel dispute haven't been planned. They've been ad libbed.

Texas To Observe Chiropractor Week

Texas chiropractors will sponsor "Correct Posture week" from May 1 to May 7, according to an announcement from the Chiropractic Assn. of Texas.
 The chiropractors say they want to bring Texans' attention to the "importance of correct posture and its relation to good health."
