Fearful Germans Flee As Commies Begin Rearming

IT'LL ALL BE FILLED IN NEXT MONTH — This is the big arena area of the International Amphitheater in Chicago as it looked a month before the first of the 1952 political conventions begins. In the left foreground are the radio and television booths, now being constructed. The speakers' platform will be built directly beneath the radio and a TV booth, jutting out into the arena floor. ### Soyd Bats 1000... Regulation X Eased Monday

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The government has decided to lower down payment requirements on new houses Monday. Informed officials reported Saturday night.

They said the Federal Reserve Board's Regulation X, controlling real estate credit, will be modified on houses in all price brackets.

This action came on the heels of a similar prediction last Tuesday by Lynn Boyd, Pampa lumberman, who had just returned from Washington where he had served on the advisory committee for the National Production Authority.

The housing and home finance agency, which must concur with the reserve board on any changes, has been talking the matter over with reserve officials for weeks.

A final decision was reached this week and will be announced Monday, officials said.

Changes Slight
They said changes will be slight in the lower price brackets, from $15,000 - $12,000 down. But down payment requirements will be reduced substantially on medium and higher priced homes.

Regulation X now requires a sliding scale of down payments starting at $1500 for a conventional loan on an $8000 house and zooming up to 50 percent down on all houses above $24,500.

One informed official said the new scale will call for a down payment of between 33 and 40 percent on houses coming more than $24,500.

From this point downward, the new schedule will install lower and more evenly graduated down payments.

Progress Seen In Filling City Post

Real progress in obtaining a new city manager for Pampa was reported yesterday by Mayor C. A. Huff and Commissioners Crawford Atkinson and W. D. Varnon.

"He have not yet closed the deal," Mayor Huff said, adding, "which, of course, means the field is still wide open."

He reported the commission had investigated and found favorable — B. H. Cruce, Austin, who is now serving as assistant to the city manager there.

Cruce was interviewed yesterday by the commission, but nothing definite was decided.

"There are several things to be cleared up before we come to an agreement," mayor added, "and we won't know about them until later this week."

He strongly hinted that the element involved with Cruce's leaving Austin for Pampa, was a factor in the negotiations.

"Negotiations have not been broken off with Cruce, or with anyone else. The job is still wide open," the mayor emphasized.

Cruce's ability, history and background have been under intensive investigation since his application was first received a few days after former City Manager Dick Pepin left Pampa to become city manager of Odessa.

Half-Million Dollars In One Week... Royalty sales hit an all-time high for the Panhandle field last week with the development of the Haggard wells.

The bulk of the sales — close to a half-million dollars — went through the Duncan Real Estate Office Thursday and Friday, one of them a flat $250,000 transfer.

Wade Duncan said the total volume of transactions coming through his office amounted to $426,875 for the week.

No Reasons Given... State Withdraws Gray Road Funds

The $95,000 allocated Gray county by the State Highway Dept. last year for raising the road grade across Lake McConnell was cancelled by the State Highway Commission.

The commission in its notification of the action to County Judge Bruce Parker, did not say why the funds were removed.

However, the funds had been set aside for more than a year and the required rights-of-way needed for dirt to make the fill were never fully acquired.

During the period several oil companies in the area asked the commissioners court to help provide rights-of-way to drain the lake into White Deer creek.

Never Completed
That program was never completed either since the oil companies involved failed to complete any arrangements with the county commissioners and property owners to drain the lake.

At the same time, the county was notified by the State Highway Department that completion of securing rights-of-way along an 11-mile plus section of U.S. Hwy. 66 west of Abilene, was essential to the road's construction.

Four-Lane
The highway is now a four-lane road over most of Gray County and is in the process of being paved from the Wheeler County line west to a point west of Abilene. The sector referred to by the highway department concerns an additional 11 miles west of Abilene over a section of the road that traverses the extreme southern part of the county.

Judge Parker said county commissioners are now working on obtaining right-of-way along the 11-mile highway which will also be a four-lane highway.

Phil Harvey Rites Monday
Funeral rites for Phillip W. Harvey, civic and church leader of Pampa, will be held tomorrow at 4 p.m. at the First Christian Church with Rev. H.H. Tyler officiating.

Mr. Harvey died at his home at 323 Charles Friday noon of a heart attack. Previous attacks had hospitalized him and he had been gone only a short time.

As district chief clerk for the Humble Oil Company, Mr. Harvey was highly respected.

He was a member of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce, the Pampa Rotary Club, and the Pampa Kiwanis Club.

He was also a member of the Pampa Golf and Country Club, the Pampa Tennis Club, and the Pampa Yacht Club.

He was buried in the Pampa cemetery on Saturday.

Human Misery Streams West From Soviets

BERLIN — (AP) — Thousands of fearful Germans struggled to flee from Soviet-held East Germany today as Communists rushed arming even in schools and factories.

A stream of human misery poured west from the Soviet zone, slipping past Russian sentries and People's Police at the risk of death in the Reds' new frontier security belt.

In groups ranging from a single family to 800 persons, the East Germans arrived steadily in the American and British-occupied states of the Bonn Republic.

Throws off West
Behind them, Communist officials in East Berlin threw off all the wrapps for a vast armament program including the Communist Free German Youth (FDJ) and workers in all key industries.

The aim is an army of 25 divisions with 375,000 men, backed up by millions of East German-organized as Red militia and taught to hate the West.

The Soviet-controlled news agency (ADN) reported high schools are giving courses in firearms, military combats and aerodynamics, and that "armed defense corps" are being set up in major factories.

Under the rearmament program, every East German regardless of age or sex is ordered by the Communists to "do your part in defeating our homeland."

Rearming
"We are rearming to make clear to the warmongers that we will never get what they want," East German Foreign Minister George Dieringer declared in a speech at Leipzig Saturday.

Pampa C-C Wins Honors
Pampa Chamber of Commerce received top honors for the third consecutive year in the Texas Manufacturers Association's Industrial Week competition.

It was announced yesterday.

Sponsored April 17 by the association to promote better understanding of business on the part of the public, the week was highlighted with civic club programs, radio programs, and educational tours in connection with local industries.

Gene Green is chairman of the Pampa Industrial committee of the chamber of commerce.

Pampa shared honors with Amarillo and Coleman, both first in their respective population group. Girls State is a citizenship school held each June under the auspices of the American Legion Auxiliary, Dept. of Texas.

At this school the art of government is taught, ranging from the duties of the lowest elected official appointed official to those of the governor. The girls are given a first-hand look at the detailed workings of government.

Following the election of state officers, the girls are entertained with a reception at the governor's mansion with the governor and first lady as host and hostess.

To win this award, a girl must be a member of the American Legion Auxiliary and a citizen of Texas.

Tokyo Airlift Plane Stolen From Airport

OAKLAND, Calif. — (AP) — A DC-4 Tokyo airlift transport plane was stolen from Oakland airport Saturday morning but Oakland police said they had been informed it landed at Brownsville, Texas, late Saturday and the crew taken into custody.

Edward F. Norman, president of United States Overseas Airlines which owns the plane, said two men were at the controls when it took off Saturday morning about three hours before its scheduled departure.

He said the plane carried some 2,000 gallons of gasoline enough for 11 or 12 hours flight.

A $1,000 reward was offered for the return of the big $500,000 plane.

United States Overseas is a non-schedule airline.

The Aviation Association Authority said it sent out a general alert to all stations. (SEA) here said the alert, sent from Washington, presumably went also to Mexico and Canada.

The plane, license number N60926, had a white fuselage bearing a blue stripe.

The airport control tower said the plane just declared for take-off was given a go ahead, and left the field at 7:18 a.m. It gave no destination and no formal clearance. That is normal procedure in good weather.

Edith, the air control tower and air traffic control said there was nothing out of the ordinary or no reason for suspicion at takeoff.

Norman said the plane had been gone for two hours before the air line discovered it had been stolen.

Anti-Parr Caravan Tours Duval
EUGENE, Ore. — (AP) — A Texas Ranger-escorted caravan of 52 cars ranged the South Texas county of Duval Saturday promoting the Freedom Party's fight against the one-man politician control of George Parr.

At the end of the 3 1/2 hour, 80-mile trip a sweltering crowd of 200 to 400 persons stood in front of the American Legion hall here and heard Freedom Party Leaders denounce Parr.

Twisting Outcome
He said these tactics "have been instrumental in twisting the outcome of district and state elections to such a dangerous degree that the wishes of the voters of the state have been upset by the wishes of one man."

Of course all this has been done by unfair election practices and with the help of corrupt politicians," Serra told the cheering crowd of men, women and children, many of Latin-American descent.

While the rally crowd was not great in comparison with the county's voting potential of some 5000 votes, Serra and others said they were well pleased.

Court Issues Restraint Against Local Cafeman
WALTER T. "Six" Owens was temporarily ordered by the 31st District Court to drop the word "Six" from his cafe that opens today on West Foster.

The order was handed down Friday by Judge Lewis M. Goodrich on a motion by attorneys for D. A. Hunt who operates "Six's Pig Stand" on South Cuyler.

Hunt bought the S. Cuyler establishment from Owens in July, 1949, and operated it until it burned to the ground in December of that year.

Shortly before the fire destroyed the place Owens started to open another cafe in the old White Way Drive Inn on W. Foster — the "Six's Pig Stand" which resulted in the present "Six's Pig Stand" cafe.

Last week he began advertising the opening of "Six's Pig Stand" in the Pampa Daily News. The ad stated that the cafe was to be located in the building that was destroyed by the fire.

Liquid Cooled Brakes Under SAE Scrutiny

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J.—(AP)—Automotive engineers consider numerous components of the modern automobile "inadequate."

They have research under way designed to improve virtually every vital part of the car. A major part of their efforts is being devoted to bettering present-day braking systems.

Some engineers who attended the Society of Automotive Engineers meeting here last week said the steadily increasing speed being built into car engines is bringing a brake heat problem that may require an entirely new approach to the subject.

"Engines developing well over 200 horsepower currently are being road tested for installation in stock cars," one engineer remarked. Asking that he be not identified, he added:

"We may come to the point where it will be necessary to liquid-cool the brakes. It may be that we will have to get away entirely from the friction type of drum-and-shoe brakes."

Studies already have been made, he said, of the practicability of an electro-magnetic braking system. He did not give full details of the proposed system, but said it contemplates doing away entirely with brake band and brake drum. Because there would be no direct contact, he added, there would be no friction and consequently no heat.

ON THE WAY TOWARD COMPLETION — Larry Brummett, 515 N. Yeager, works hard on his racer in preparation for the Pampa Soap Box Derby, which will be run Sunday, July 13. His car is being sponsored by the Sportsman's Store, 115 E. Kingsmill. (News Photo)

Preparations Move Into Final Month For Soap Box Derby

The long-awaited Pampa Soap Box Derby is a scant 35 days away. The day is Sunday, July 13. The exact time and location have not yet been determined.

Co-sponsored by The Pampa Daily News, the Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce and Culberson Chevrolet, Inc., the Derby is expected to attract about 120 entries, about 70 of them from Pampa. Pampa is one of five derby cities throughout the state.

According to Dick Stowers, head of the registration committee, said, "every boy who competes in the process of being constructed has been going on since registrations closed the first week of May. The final official inspections will occur during the second week in July, just prior to the race. The day before the race, Saturday, July 12, the completed racers will be carted out to the track by the G. K. Trucking Co. where they will be guided overnight.

Every car that competes in the Soap Box Derby must have a sponsor; and in Pampa the sponsor pays both for the racer himself (which must cost less than $10.00, except for the wheel set) and for the wheel-and-axle set which costs $13.75. Professional sign-painters paint the sponsors' names on all cars. One note of caution, though—a boy must finish the car he has begun in order to have his sponsor pay for it.

There are prizes for winners in many categories, both for the way they finish and for the quality of construction of the racers. The grand prize is a trip to the All-American Soap Box Derby—all expenses paid. The first-place winner also gets the specially-designed T. H. Keating cup, a championship plaque, named for the general manager of the Chevrolet Motor Division.

To the runner-up and to the third place winner go a fully equipped bicycle. In addition, there are prizes for the boy who completes the most heat; for the best-upholstered car; for the racer with the best workmanship. And there are many more prizes. No boy should feel discouraged while working on his car or while actually participating in the

Output Takes Drop

JAKARTA, Indonesia — (AP) — Java's rich sugar plantations which in prewar days made Indonesia one of the world's leading sugar exporters, today turn out a meager 20,000 tons a year, barely enough to cover domestic needs.

Hit hard by Japanese invasion troops, the national revolution's scorched earth tactics, and more recently by subversive bands and Communist labor unions, many of the sugar mills, all located in East and Central Java, are in ruins or have closed down voluntarily.

The powerful Netherlands Trading Co. recently announced that one of its plantations in East Java will plant no cane this year. Sugar growers pointed out that labor troubles are the main cause for this drastic action, and not the armed bands, which have gradually been purged in East Java.

American Women Growing Taller, Dressmakers Find

By DOROTHY ROE, Associated Press Women's Editor

"Six-foot-two eyes of blue..." The dimensions have changed but the melody is the same and that may be the hit love song of the next generation, say specialists in the dress business who have been studying the increasing proportions of American women.

The race is growing taller, year by year, generation by generation, and there's no telling where it may end.

This was the consensus of a group of experts who met recently to mull over the problem of dress sizes in the modern showroom of a forward-looking manufacturer named Sylvia Rich, high above the teeming canyons of New York's garment center.

In response to growing pressure from buyers, Rich is adding to his fall line a specially proportioned group of dresses for women 5 feet 8 1/2 and over. "Tall" shops and "tall" departments in stores around the country brought him to this decision.

And don't think that production of a "tall" dress is a mere matter of lengthening the hemline. Each detail must be in proportion — longer waistline, longer sleeves, wider belt, deeper yoke, bigger polka dots, buttons or what-have-you. Naturally, the demand must be great before a business man will add all these extra processes to his production line.

An eloquent witness for the "tall" case at the meeting was Barbara Latton, owner of a shop called "Tall and Tailored" in Beverly Hills, Calif. Said Miss Latton:

Growing Taller

"There's no doubt that women are growing taller, especially in California. Maybe it's our sunshine, or our salt air, or maybe the influence of the roadshows. Anyway, I can't seem to find enough 'tall' dresses to satisfy the demand of my customers."

Why, 5 feet 8 1/2 isn't considered tall in our shop. They have to be six feet or over — and you'd be surprised how many of them there are."

When grow tallest in five areas of the country, Miss Latton has deduced from her mail-order business. These are California, the Pacific Northwest (Chicago, Texas and New England). In the case of Texas and California, she attributes this to the climate and the amount of outdoor sports. As to the other areas, she's at a loss to explain. All she knows is that she is getting more and more tall customers, desperately looking for clothes to fit.

Grow To Face Court Martial

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Maj. Gen. Robert W. Grow, whose diary was stolen by Russian agents while he was visiting in Germany, will be tried by court martial, the Army has announced.

Grow was a military attaché at the American Embassy at Moscow.

The announcement said that the Army had completed the investigation of the charges proffered against Grow and that trial by court martial is warranted.

The Russians made propaganda use of the diary, publishing excerpts in which Grow was depicted as advocating war now against Russia.

The trial will be held at Fort Meade, Md., with the sessions closed to the public. The date for the trial was not announced.

On April 28 the Army announced that it was investigating charges against Grow which included:

1. Improperly reporting classified military information in private records.
2. Failing properly to safeguard classified military information.

The long-awaited Pampa Soap Box Derby is a scant 35 days away. The day is Sunday, July 13. The exact time and location have not yet been determined.

Co-sponsored by The Pampa Daily News, the Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce and Culberson Chevrolet, Inc., the Derby is expected to attract about 120 entries, about 70 of them from Pampa. Pampa is one of five derby cities throughout the state.

According to Dick Stowers, head of the registration committee, said, "every boy who competes in the process of being constructed has been going on since registrations closed the first week of May. The final official inspections will occur during the second week in July, just prior to the race. The day before the race, Saturday, July 12, the completed racers will be carted out to the track by the G. K. Trucking Co. where they will be guided overnight.

Every car that competes in the Soap Box Derby must have a sponsor; and in Pampa the sponsor pays both for the racer himself (which must cost less than $10.00, except for the wheel set) and for the wheel-and-axle set which costs $13.75. Professional sign-painters paint the sponsors' names on all cars. One note of caution, though—a boy must finish the car he has begun in order to have his sponsor pay for it.

There are prizes for winners in many categories, both for the way they finish and for the quality of construction of the racers. The grand prize is a trip to the All-American Soap Box Derby—all expenses paid. The first-place winner also gets the specially-designed T. H. Keating cup, a championship plaque, named for the general manager of the Chevrolet Motor Division.

To the runner-up and to the third place winner go a fully equipped bicycle. In addition, there are prizes for the boy who completes the most heat; for the best-upholstered car; for the racer with the best workmanship. And there are many more prizes. No boy should feel discouraged while working on his car or while actually participating in the

Polio Rate For Texas Climbing

AUSTIN — (AP) — Polio has more than doubled in Texas so far this year, the state department of health has reported.

Incidence through May 31 this year was 578. Through June 2 last year it totaled 208 cases.

For the week ended May 31, however, incidence of polio was reported as normal with 33 new cases. There were 33 new cases for the corresponding week a year ago.

The State Health Department report did not show any cases from Lavaca County. County Health Officer C. T. Buffum of Hallettsville has reported an outbreak of 26 cases with two deaths in Lavaca County.

Firearms Controls In Belgrade Cut

BELGRADE — (AP) — With apparent confidence in its domestic security precautions, Yugoslavia has relaxed its safeguard against purchase of firearms, munitions and explosive materials.

Hunting clubs, for example, now will be able to buy ammunition without obtaining a special permit from the ministry of interior.

In announcing the relaxation, the official press said the restrictions went into effect after the war for "general security."

Canada's area is 30 times that of the British Isles. Churches built on English crown land have not been permitted to ring bells since the Reformation.

DANGER OF DIETS CITED IN ARTICLE

For many of this country's overweight adults, reducing diets might be some dominating influence. But the frightful fact is that many of the most popular diets are extremely dangerous, in an article titled, "Which Diets Are Dangerous?" a recent issue of National Geographic, one of the most prevalent reducing plans, and why they can cause serious trouble.

Why not try the Barcinate diet? The original diet was developed by Dr. John Barcinate, M.D., of the University of California. It is a low-calorie diet, low in fat, and high in protein. It is a diet that is safe, healthy, and effective. It is a diet that is easy to follow, and it is a diet that is backed by scientific research.

Shock Troops . . . Moscow Plans Agitations Of French Reds

By WILLIAM L. RYAN AP Foreign News Analyst The riotous demonstration the Communists visited upon France last week are organized by the party high command according to a long standing plan and led by the party's shock troops.

Communist activity in France bears the closest scrutiny because the party is a bellwether for Communists outside the Iron Curtain. It will lay down the pattern for harassment in today's critical situation.

The Politburo has made elaborate plans for almost any contingency, including the possibility that the party one day will have to go underground. It is ready to function smoothly throughout the country under the leadership of vigilance committees, already set up today in factories, farms and towns under the name of "peace committees."

The members of these committees are the special shock troops — the professional revolutionaries of the party to whom is assigned the task of organizing riots, sabotage and any other Soviet Union in an emergency. Highly trained These revolutionaries are skillful and highly trained. They have gone through intensive courses, particularly at their Voinov Training Center. This is a school for Communist warfare which takes its pupils young and tough and molds them into implacable foes of the western world.

At school the shock troops learn Marxist-Leninist doctrine as handed down by Stalin and the Moscow Politburo. They are steered against what the party calls "the poisons of middle class intellectualism" and against any feelings of sentiment. They must be tough enough to rub out their own families should the needs of the party so dictate.

New Fuel Being Tested

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP) — New chemical compounds with tremendous gains in range are being considered as the power source of automobiles of the future.

If the hopes of engineers working with these compounds are realized, miles per gallon of fuel no longer will be one of the motorist's worries. He will get virtually unlimited mileage.

Objective of the research which has been going on for more than five years has been explained informally by one of the engineers attending the summer meetings here of the Society of Automotive Engineers.

Asking that he remain unidentified, he explained that tests now are being made with what is known as a "closed circuit" engine. That is a power plant in which there is no exhaust and in which the heat of the combustion characteristics of steam power are gained.

SIGNS OF TROUBLE—When Harry Kahn put up a sign "Lowest Prices in Town" over his Detroit clothing store, William Broad, his next-door competitor, saw a golden opportunity. Broad put up a sign, in the same red lettering, that read: "At Wm. Broad's." To all practical purposes, that made his and Kahn's advertisements all one big sign—with Broad's getting a big boost at half cost. In the rhubarb that followed, both men wound up in the prosecutor's office. Law officials could find nothing wrong with either half of the sign, but a surveyor's measurements showed that Broad's "A" encroached on Kahn's half of the building. So he will have to shave the "A," but still holds the upper hand as far as the customers are concerned.

Sergeant, 'Wife' Charged In Fraud

DENVER — (AP) — An Air Force sergeant and a man who dressed like a woman and posed as the airman's "wife" have been charged by the FBI with swindling the government out of more than $2000 in dependency allotments.

The strange case came to light after the "wife," George Molino Sanchez, 27, was arrested at Columbus Christi on a morals charge, FBI Agent George C. Burton said. Staff Sgt. Ronald M. Carpenter, 27, accused of being the "husband," was arrested at Travis Air Force Base, Fairfield, Calif., Burton said.

Sanchez collected more than $2000 as "Mrs. Carpenter" and split the proceeds with Carpenter, the FBI said. Two charges were filed against Burton said.

Sanchez posed as "Mrs. Carpenter" and collected at least 18 checks under that name. Burton said it was several months before Sanchez's arrest at Columbus Christi before officers learned he was not a woman from which it comes.

Prizes Offered To Sculpturers

NEW YORK — (AP) — An international ivory sculpture competition will be held by the Carlebach Art Gallery of New York.

Sanchez wearing long, shoulder-length hair and dressing attractively as a woman, met Carpenter in Denver. They obtained a marriage license in August, 1948, but no ceremony was performed.

Carpenter said they lived together for a week before he learned Sanchez was a man. Carpenter authorized the Air Force in November, 1950, to send monthly allotment checks of $127.50 to "Mrs. Eleanor Carpenter," whom he designated as his legal wife.

Sanchez posed as "Mrs. Carpenter" and collected at least 18 checks under that name. Burton said it was several months before Sanchez's arrest at Columbus Christi before officers learned he was not a woman from which it comes.

He had been locked up in a woman's cell.

U. S. Protests Red Jet Action
VIENNA, Austria — (AP) — The U. S. High Commission in Austria has protested to Soviet occupation officials that two Russian jet fighter planes made passes at a transport carrying U. S. Ambassador Walter J. Donnelly. The incident occurred last Wednesday after Donnelly took off here in a C-47 transport plane for Paris, enroute to the United States.
A commission spokesman said reports from Washington where Donnelly is now — indicated the C-47 could see the faces of the Russian pilots.
The ambassador's plane was flying at 5,000 feet in the authorized American air corridor from Vienna over the Soviet zone of Austria. A four-power agreement signed in 1946 permits American planes to fly through the 10-mile-wide corridor without giving the Russians advance notice.
The official said the commission sent a "polite" formal protest to Lt. Gen. V. P. Sviridov, Soviet high commissioner in Austria.
The protest note, the official added, declared the incident was a "serious violation of American rights in the corridor which if continued could imperil travel in the corridor."

Wanger To Serve As Librarian For 3-Month Jail Term

LOS ANGELES—(AP)—Film producer Walter Wanger will work as a librarian during his three-month jail term.

Wanger was taken to the Los Angeles County honor farm Friday to serve a term for shooting his wife's agent, Jennings Lang. Joan Bennett, Wanger's wife, is appearing in a Chicago stage play. Capt. Ambrose Stewart at Los Angeles County Jail said Wanger would be a librarian because, "I understand, he likes books."

"It's been a revelation," Wanger told reporters whom he invited in to talk about jail life. "It's like nothing that I thought it would be. The men in my and interesting group than any I've met at the parties of Mrs. James Mason." Asked if he planned to make a movie of jail life when he is released, Wanger said: "I not only plan to, I think it obligatory. And it will be like no production of prison that I've ever seen. There would certainly be no roles for actors like Ward Bond or Brod Crawford." Manager can be released Sept.

Woman Wants To Sweep Out State

SAN ANTONIO—(AP)—An attractive, brown-haired housewife, who helps her blind husband run his electrical contracting business, is a Democratic candidate for governor of Texas.

Mrs. Allene M. Traylor said she decided to run for office for the first time because she believes "a woman must take over the reins of government and clean out the capitol."

In her campaign, Mrs. Traylor is accusing politicians of responsibility for "inadequate income for the aged, below par salaries for school teachers, poor farm roads, indifference to veterans and utter lack of equal representation for the working man and small businessman."

Graft, Waste—She said all these conditions exist "because of graft, waste and corruption in government caused by heavy pressure of a political office holders who are controlled by special interests corporations and outside monopolies."

"I believe a woman must clean out the state capitol, utilizing basic honesty, respect, business acumen and, above all, the honest desire to represent all citizens equally."

Ralph Yarborough of Austin, another Democratic candidate, doesn't share her opinion that only a woman can sweep out the state administration. And Gov. Allan Shivers, running for re-election, takes a dim view of being swept out by anyone.

But Mrs. Traylor, unmindful by her opposition, has faced adversity before. Four years ago, her husband, O. L. Traylor, lost his eyesight.

She picked up his electricians' tools and went to work for him as an electrician. She wired houses and business buildings.

Her husband now is her campaign manager. The Traylor's have four children: Three daughters and one son, now in the Air Force.

Mrs. Traylor, who is 43, was born and reared in San Antonio, one of six children. Her parents were Mr. and Mrs. K. G. Wickwire, residents of Bexar County for forty years.

Mrs. Traylor's previous political activity has been in campaigning for others. She became a member of the National Democratic Speakers' Bureau in 1936.

She says she is not looking for professional lacking, political or financial. "I want the honest citizens of this state to get behind me 100 percent," she said. "I need their support and their contributions. Fifty cents from an honest voter far outvalues $500 from a politician."

Spot Mat Program Wednesday Features Female Grapplers

This lovely, muscular female pictured here is a Texas lass who has turned wrestling into a profession that replaces cooking and housekeeping. She will be on Wednesday night's "Traveling Card," a spot attraction of Promoter Howard Vineyard during the summer months. Her name is June Byers.

The matches will be held at Oiler Park starting at 8:30. Her opponent will be brunette and barefooted Lily Bitters of Newark, N. J. The two will meet in a 45-minute or two-out of three fall special attraction. In the main event, Ace Freeman, one of the few Jewish stars in the wrestling business, from the Bronx, meets the boy, Tommy Martindale of Milwaukee, in a one hour, or two-out of three fall match. It will be Freeman's first visit to Pampa while Martindale has been a popular grappler here all winter because of his clean tactics and strength. In a 20-minute, one fall opener, Ace Abbott of Abilene tangles with Bob Giegel, powerfully built former of Boys Ranch. Local fans did not get too much of a look at Giegel in his last appearance here, but they liked what they saw of the boy who took over the job with the underprivileged boys that Dory Funk once held.

Reserved seat tickets are now on sale at Lee's Cafe and Malone and Keel Pharmacy and the Sportsman Store. The reserved seats will be in the boxes stretching from dugout to dugout. The box seats in this case will serve as ring side seats. There will be no seats on the diamond, no bleachers will be erected; the stands will be used as they are. As a further special attraction, Martindale will bring his young, 5-year-old daughter, and the two will put on an amusing balancing and muscle control act. Little Linda has been working on the balancing act since she was a baby and her ability is most amazing.

Oilers Organize T-Shirt Club

Ivy Griffin, business manager of the Pampa Oilers, announced Friday that all kids up to 12 years old are being offered a chance to get into the Oiler's home ball games free. Griffin announced the formation of a "T-Shirt Club," the wearing of which permits the kiddo into the park free if accompanied by an adult. The T-shirts will be sold by Friendly Men's Wear in Pampa for $1.25. Right now they are on order and should be ready by the time the club returns from the present road trip. If the kids want to, they can now go down and order their shirt and use a coupon which they will receive as their certificate of membership in the organization. Then, as soon as the shirts arrive, exchange the coupon for the T-shirt. The children will not have to sit in a group while at the games, but may sit anywhere in the stands they desire.

Marciano And Matthews Signed

NEW YORK (AP) — Jim Norris, president of the International Boxing Club, Saturday completed arrangements for a 10-round heavyweight bout July 28 at Yankee Stadium between unbeaten Rocky Marciano of Brockton, Mass., and Harry Matthews, of Seattle, Wash. Each fighter will get 30 percent of all revenue from the bout, including gate receipts, television, radio and movie rights. However, no television deal has yet been completed. Matthews, 29, is undefeated, in his last 70 fights since 1943. Marciano has won 40 consecutive bouts ever since he started boxing professionally in 1948, and jumped into the front rank of heavyweight title contenders with a sensational knockout of former Champion Joe Louis last October.

Gassers Leap Into Second Place Tie

By the Associated Press. The Berger Gassers zoomed into a second-place tie with Lubbock in the West Texas - New Mexico Baseball League Friday night.

The Gassers bunched their nine hits off Amarillo hurler Ray Price to defeat the last place Gold Sox 5-1 on eight hit hurling by Ray Drake.

League leading Clovis helped by knocking off Albuquerque 11-5 at Albuquerque while Lubbock split a twin bill at Pampa, losing the first 4-3 and winning the second 7-4. Lamesa waxed Abilene 10-5 at Lamesa.

Three-run homer by Bill Manning in the third inning gave the high flying Gassers their eighth straight victory in a drive that has carried them up from seventh place. The other two Berger tallies came in the first and the lone Amarillo run was worked across in the fourth.

At Pampa, the visiting Hubbers did better in the second game with a lineup revised by necessity when Manager L. E. Palmer and Out-fielder Bob Pugatch were thumbed from the game by the umpires.

Juan Montero set Lubbock down with six hits in the first game and came back to try it again in the second. But he weakened in the sixth when Lubbock scored six times off Dick Leeder who gave up five hits.

Clovis clubbed Frank DeCarolis and Hal Abbott for 13 hits in winning at Albuquerque. Had the decision been reversed, Albuquerque would have moved into second place alone. But the way it is, the club is in fourth.

Bill Hair was the pitching and batting star of the game, effectively scattering 11 hits in going the distance on the mound and clicking for four hits in five trips to the plate.

A fire-up uprising in the eighth, featuring a triple steal, gave Lamesa its margin at Lamesa. Ted Wyberanec was the winning pitcher, Fred Schmidt the loser.

MONTEIRO SET LUBBOCK DOWN

Juan Montero set Lubbock down with six hits in the first game and came back to try it again in the second. But he weakened in the sixth when Lubbock scored six times off Dick Leeder who gave up five hits.

INDIANS CLOBBER ATHLETICS, 14-0

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The fury of the Cleveland Indians' 14-hit attack, including a bases-loaded homer in a seven-run first inning, enabled the American League leaders to humiliate the Philadelphia Athletics 14-0 at Shibe Park yesterday.

The attack featured the grand slam homer by Luke Easter. Mike Cocchia, who was credited with the win, went out in the seventh. Relief Lou Brissie finished and between them the A's were able to collect only six hits.

Philadelphia's starter, southpaw Alex Kellner, got only one man out in Cleveland's initial frame. He opened the game by fanning Harry Simpson on the three pitches.

Honor Pair Of Athletes Monday

DALLAS (AP) — Two great Texas athletes—one a national champion and the other a war hero who died in World War II—will be formally installed in the Texas Sports Hall of Fame here Monday night. They are Ben Hogan, National Open Golf champion, and the late Joe Routh, Texas A&M all-American guard of 1926-27. The two athletes are the first men elected to the Hall since Tris Speaker was voted in a year ago.

Oilers Divide Pair With Hubs; Montero Misses Iron-Man Try

The Lubbock Hubbers, with a make-shift lineup, rallied for six runs in the sixth inning of the second game here Friday night to gain a split of a doubleheader.

Juan Montero, aged Cuban righthander, hurled the Oilers to a 4-3 victory in the opener and then came back to try the iron man role. But he pitched up Hubbers, using several pitchers after Manager I. B. Palmer and outfielder Bob Pugatch had been thumbed out, struck for the late big inning and a 7-4 win in the nightcap.

Actually, the Oilers lucked out in the first game. The Hubs scored twice in the first inning. Jess Jacinto opening with a walk, going to third on Bob Pugatch's double and scoring while Ed Kenna bounced out. Palmer slashed a single through the box to score Pugatch.

The Oilers scored all their runs in the next inning. With one out, Jake Phillips walked and went to third as Don Moore singled to left. Bob Brown forced Moore at second. Phillips scoring. Teddy Tate walked. Brown moving to second. Then Montero hit a ground ball between the shortstop and third baseman that should have been the third out. But the two players col-

Shakeup Moves Giants By Pirates

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Manager Leo Durocher reshuffled his lineup from top to bottom Saturday and the sagging New York Giants responded to the treatment with a 7-5 victory over the last place Pittsburgh Pirates.

Even pitcher Jim Hearn got into the act with a two-run homer in the second. Dave Williams also homered for the Giants. His two-run clout in the sixth tied up the contest. It was his 6th of the year.

The payoff blow in the Giants' four-run sixth inning was Whitey Lockman's ringing double down the left field foul line that scored Alvin Dark with the winning run. Dark had walked. Lockman scored the insurance run on a long fly by Bob Elliott.

But the horrendous sixth for Oiler fans took all the fight out of the Pampans. Pugatch was run from the game in the fourth inning by Umpire Frank for over-riding from the bench, and when Palmer tried to come to Pugatch's support, he also got the thumb. This necessitated several shifts in the Hubber lineup, which saw Julio Moreno go to right, Jacinto to center, Fox to left, Machado to third, Metzsig to short, Bucz to second, and Schindler catch.

Bucz opened the sixth with a rife shot single to left. Machado doubled to center and Metzsig doubled to short center for the first out. Leeder doubled to the left field fence to score Machado and Metzsig and tie the game. Phillips elected to go along with the tired righthander and Jacinto picked a double to lead to score Leeder with the left and winning run. But the trouble wasn't over for the Oilers.

Schindler skied to Bartkowski in center, who, in his haste to make the throw to third, dropped the ball and all hands were safe. Kenna was thrown out trying the squeeze for the second out. But Moreno singled to right to score Jacinto and send Schindler to third. Then the Hubs put on the double steal and as Woldt returned Tate's throw to the plate, Schindler kicked the ball out of his hand to score the final run.

From there on Leeder was invincible, giving up a single to Moore in the final two frames.

lided and when Jacinto finally threw the ball to first it went past Kenna, Brown scored and the runners took second and third.

Perfect Throw

A single by Norm Auerbach scored Tate with the lead run and Deck Woldt singled Montero home with what proved to be the winning run.

The Hubs got their final tally in the fourth on singles by Dick Schindler, Bill Metzsig and Choo Choo Rejon.

In the fifth they got a big inning started, but a perfect throw from Moore cut Palmer down trying to go to third on a single by Schindler and ended the rally.

Montero felt so good about the first game that the 38-year-old asked to pitch the nightcap, and he was doing all right for himself going into the sixth with an apparently secure 4-1 lead.

The Oilers scored once in the first on a single by Auerbach, an error by Rejon on Woldt's fly ball and an infield out.

The Hubs tied it in the second on an error, a force out and Jacinto's first double.

Then the Oilers hit for two runs on one hit off the fireballing righthander in the fourth. Moore opened with a double to left and Brown walked. Tate sacrificed the runners to second and third. Montero hit a grounder to Bucz, who was playing second when Palmer removed Rejon from the game, and Bucz let it right on through, both runners coming in to score. Auerbach then hit into a double play to end the inning.

Big Sixth Frame

The other Pampa run came in the sixth on a single by Auerbach, Woldt's sacrifice and a single by Bartkowski.

But the horrendous sixth for Oiler fans took all the fight out of the Pampans. Pugatch was run from the game in the fourth inning by Umpire Frank for over-riding from the bench, and when Palmer tried to come to Pugatch's support, he also got the thumb. ### Greens Gossip

By HOGAN O'SNEAD
Mirium Leadders and Jean Duennel did a good job at the state meet at Texarkana. They both qualified with similar scores and were in the second flight. Mirium lost her first two matches, but Jean was still playing yesterday when I wrote this up. Hope she won, and Mirium said she stood a good chance.
We had a good group over at Amarillo for the pro-am Friday. Melvin Watkins was on the third place team and won $10 worth of merchandise. Grover Austin was law amateur with a 69.
The ladies will start their tournament this week with qualifying. They had a golf clinic led by Johnny Austin last Wednesday at their regular meeting. Yesterday the ladies chose partners for the first Scotch foursome play of the season.

SPEED MERCHANT — Dale Imel, speedy distance runner from Skellytown, was named to the tentative team to represent Texas at the National AAU Track and Field meet at Long Beach, California, June 20-21. Imel, sped the 5,000-meter distance in 15:36.4 at the state AAU Meet in San Antonio, May 21. Dale, son of Mr. and Mrs. Art Imel of Skellytown, is now a student at North Texas State College, Denton.

Face Hurls Nine Frame No-Hitter

Speaking of tournaments, the men start their city tournament this week also, with qualifying rounds. Let's get it at, fellows. And on Tuesday of this week we have been invited to the pro-am at Ross Rogers. If you can go, hooty Johnny.

Qualifying Rounds
Ralph McKinnon got his hand called in Amarillo Friday when he grounded his club in a sand trap. His good friends who called it were Mickey Prigmore, Mark Heath and Frank Lawler.
Beth Heiskell is talking about playing in the Women's West Texas meet at Colonial June 15-20. Good luck, Beth.

Johnny says that those fellows who plan to qualify for medalist in the city tournament must notify him before they go out to play their round. That is without exception. And the round may be shot any time through next Saturday. Incidentally, Malcolm Douglass, who played such brilliant golf to win the Phillips invitational last week, probably won't be able to play in the city tournament due to two weeks of training with the Air Force Reserve at Texas A&M.
There will be a tournament committee meeting on Thursday night, at 8:30 at the country club, to complete plans for the city tournament. There are still a few details to be worked out and all committee members are urged to be present.
Ducks on the pond! It's no longer a lie. A group of tame ducks

Eddie Bucz Takes Bat Lead; Oilers Tops In Team Hitting

Eddie Bucz of the Lubbock Hubbers became the third batting leader in as many weeks for the West Texas - New Mexico League according to the latest official averages released today by the league office.
Bucz' average slipped to .395, but last week's leader, Windy Eldridge of Borger, slumped even faster, down to fifth place with .376. Right behind Bucz is Don Stokes of Lamesa with .388 and Frosty Kennedy also of the Lobos, with .380. In fourth place is the Duke's Cully Rikard, with .377.

The Oilers took the team batting leadership with a .304 mark which was one percentage point ahead of the Hubbers.
The individual departmental leaders are:

There is one game to be made up, Foxworth - Galbraith v.s. Skelly, which was postponed on May 26 due to graduation. No makeup date has been selected as yet, league president Larry Fuller stated.

City Women's Meet Getting Underway
The Pampa Women's Golf Association will conclude qualifying for its annual city tournament on Friday night, June 13. All qualifying rounds must be completed by 7 p.m. on that date. The tournament will begin on Wednesday with first match, continue Thursday and finish up on Friday with the championship play. It will be a 36-hole match-play in each round with eight players per flight.
Defending champion is Mrs. Jean Duennel, who participated in the state women's tournament at Texarkana last week. Defending medalist is Mrs. Beth Heiskell. There will be three prizes for each flight—one for champion, runner-up and consolation champion. There will also be a prize for the medalist and a special driving and pitching contest as well as a contest for the fewest putts during qualifying.

Yarborough Opens Campaign With Blast At Shivers

Tidelands Sabotage Is Charged

ATHENS — (P) — Ralph Yarborough opened his campaign for governor this week and charged that Gov. Allan Shivers sabotaged the case for Texas tidelands in 1949.

He said Shivers gave Texas a stab in the back by proposing at that time a deal with the federal government "before our tidelands fight was well begun."

"He waved the white flag and called for a swap-out, and by so doing engaged in downright sabotage of the Texas tidelands case," Yarborough told an audience that packed the Henderson County courthouse lawn Friday night.

The speech to an estimated 5000 persons was the kickoff of a stump speaking campaign by Yarborough.

A sign, "Welcome Home Ralph," hung across the front of the courthouse. Yarborough was introduced by R. T. Craig.

He said his stump speaking tour was rattle what he called "skeletons in the political closet of Gov. Shivers."

Questions

Yarborough also asked some questions. Among them:

"In the 18 long years the present governor has been in public office, what has he done to protect our children from the ravages of dope and drugs? At the present time, the Department of Public Safety has one lone ranger charge with ferreting out these despicable, rotten, slimy, de-spoilers of our children. Why was the narcotics division of the State Department of Public Safety abolished? Why hasn't this two-time governor who wants to be a three-time governor restored that division?"

Another question Yarborough asked came after this statement:

"I pledge the people of Texas that I have never been entertained on a yacht in the Gulf of Mexico owned by a notorious gambling syndicate. I pledge that when I am with any of these accept invitations to go on such yachts and will not consort with leaders of organized vice that make Reno, Nev., and Miami, Fla., blush with shame."

Can and will the present governor make the same pledge?"

Responsibility

Then Yarborough said:

"The Texas Constitution fixes responsibility on the governor to cause the laws to be faithfully executed. The governor is chief law enforcement officer. Yet in the governor's administration, one gambling syndicate in this state brazenly operated to the tune of two million 900 thousand dollars profit in just one year."

Yarborough said Shivers refused to call a special session to pass a presidential primary bill.

Such a measure, he went on, would have prevented what he called the "high-handed lockout" of delegates at Mineral Wells.

Shocked

"The whole nation was shocked by the Mineral Wells convention where two weeks ago the majority of the delegates were locked out by small, selfish, grasping, power-mad men who feared the will of the people," Yarborough said.

"It was not necessary. It was not right. And the governor had it in his power to prevent."

Yarborough charged the Shivers administration with "draining life blood from local government in Texas."

"I charge the governor with responsibility for the state's insidious attempt to grab county road building powers in the last legislature," he said. "Last year you county commissioners, you county judges, you legislators rallied to beat back that grab. But the fight is not over yet."

Duds Kill Germans

FRANKFURT, Germany — (P) — Bombs and shells from the last World War are still killing people in Germany. Rubble left by Allied air raids still hides many dud bombs.

Ten major explosions of wartime bombs or munitions within the last three years have killed 27 and wounded 21 persons. A recent U. S. Army report said its bomb disposal squads had disarmed some 1,400 items of unexploded ammunition during the first three months of last year. In the second half of last year, 122,000 duds were recovered.

FOUR INTO TREE GOES NICE—Three of four tree-dwelling kittens stare at the photographer from their hollow-branch nest in the yard of Earl E. Shappell's Creve Coeur, Mo., home. When a stray cat made the nest in the tree and gave birth to the kittens a month ago, Shappell thought it would be fine—keep startlings and sparrows away. So far, none of the five kittens has shown any interest in catching birds. The kittens have never been on the ground.

France, Texas Get Together

PARIS — (P) — France and Texas will get together next month to show off a mutual flair for fashion.

July 10 to 20 will be Texas Week on the French Riviera, when at least 2,000 Texans, including eight pretty models and possibly the governor, are expected to turn up.

Celebrations will commemorate the liberation of the South of France by the 36th Texas Division in the last war, and French aid to the Republic of Texas. Tourism and fashions will get a push, too.

Texas square dances will mingle with French folk dances, Texas cowboy togs with French peasant costumes, and Texas barbecue with French bouillabaisse.

A Texas wodeo will fly from French city halls, and the French will share their national holiday, July 14th, with their Texas visitors by holding memorial services and masses in honor of the 36th Division that day.

A Texas wodeo will have a special South of France twist — it will be held in the water, with rubber steers and horses and seaweed lassos. The eight Texas mannequins will show off an imported collection of Texas fashions at a "nuit d'elegance," and impartially parade French couture creations at a blue bonnet dinner.

Texas may even get a permanent French resident out of the festivities, for the day, a Texas ranch will be raffled off to buy an iron lung for the South of France.

Sponsored by Texas chambers of commerce, the A. Harris department stores of Dallas and the French tourist office, Texas Week will be joined by most of the cities of the Cole d'Azur — Nice, Cannes, Menton, Monte Carlo, Beaulieu and Juan les Pins, with events ranging from a battle of flowers to a village fair held in a castle.

Junior Should Help Do Dishes

CHICAGO — (P) — Child psychologists overwhelmingly agree that little Johnnie should help with the dishes.

This depressing fact for the younger set comes to light as the result of a nationwide survey by the parent's consultation service of the Book House for Children.

Eighty-eight percent of the 388 psychologists quizzed said little boys should be expected to do simple domestic chores.

The only ray of hope lay in a small number of psychologists who thought more masculine chores should be assigned particularly where there was little sister around to help with the dishes.

Business Highlights

Ft. WORTH — For five consecutive months since the first of the year, Central Airlines monthly cumulative passenger load has continued to increase reaching an all-time high in unduplicated passengers carried in May of 3,867 for the 31 days Keith Kahle, president, said today in Fort Worth.

Central carried 567 more passengers in May than it did in April, a month that saw over a 20 per cent increase in the load factor, Kahle said. One reason for the steadily climbing number of passengers can be attributed to a stepped up schedule that offers more frequent trips between Dallas-Fort Worth and Ada. This segment now has eight daily trips.

Farmers Protest Charge

HARLINGEN — (P) — Rio Grande Valley farm officials have hit back at charges by Rep. Rooney (D-NY) that cheap Mexican farm labor was exploited by valley growers.

Rooney's statements in the House of Representatives were described as a "political blast" against Gov. Allan Shivers and an effort to get more appropriations for the U. S. Immigration Service.

Thursday, Rooney spoke to the House in an effort to block a move to slash $1,390,000 from the immigration appropriation.

He said Shivers had large holdings near the Rio Grande and had "shown a disregard for immigration laws." Rooney said illegal aliens (wetbacks) "have been apprehended on his property weekly."

Shivers replied that the charge was part of a "smear campaign" in Washington and Texas.

Rooney also named a long list of Texans he said were using illegal alien labor.

"I know that every bit of Shivers' cotton in the valley was picked by legal braceros (Mexican workers under contract) last year," said Austin Anson, executive manager of the Texas Citrus and Vegetable Shippers and Growers Association.

"It is most discouraging to our growers who are attempting to live up to a very objectionable bracero contract to find immigration assailing them this way instead of bending every effort to help them get legal labor from Mexico when it is needed."

Cheaper By The Score

PADUCAH, Ky. — (P) — It's even cheaper by the score than by the dozen.

That's the belief of Orville H. Morphew, an instrument-fitter at the Paducah atomic plant, who once is reported to have said it costs no more to feed his 29 children and 10 stepchildren than it does 12.

Morphew, 47, has fathered five sets of twins, three sets of triplets, and 10 other children.

His story is a feature in the current issue of Atomican, a newspaper for atomic plant employees. He won't grant interviews to newspapermen, but the story says that Morphew himself is a twin and one of 31 children.

A Morphew family reunion is a little like a farm bureau picnic. The last one, at Atalla, Ala., cost $1,600. The Atomican reports: Morphew was born in Bozazza, Ark. He first married when he was 13 and his wife was 12. Since then he has been married four other times.

Five of his children live with him here. The others live in Alabama, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Tennessee and Texas or are in the armed forces.

His is not such an unusual story, however, he says. A friend of his, who lives in Texas (city unnamed), is the father of 35 children, he reported.

Runaway Horse Instrumental In Founding Baylor University

INDEPENDENCE, (Washington County), Tex. — (P) — Historically-minded alumni of Baylor University meet here today to recall the college's early days and pay tribute to its founders.

And someone is sure to mention that except for a frightened horse in Kentucky on a Sunday afternoon in the late spring of 1820, Baylor University may have never been founded.

That steed was one of two horses carrying a betrothed couple on a pleasant ride through the woods. Suddenly frightened, it threw its rider, a beautiful young woman, and dragged her to her death. Her fiancé, a brilliant young lawyer and member of the Kentucky legislature, was so disturbed by the tragedy that he left home for new frontiers.

Robert Emmett Biedsoe Baylor, 6 foot 2 inches tall, then 27 years of age, grief-stricken over his lover's tragic death, first stopped in Alabama.

Then, in 1838, he came to Texas.

He established a school at Lagrange. Then he was appointed judge of the Texas Republic's Third Judicial District. He traveled through a wide area of the western territory, holding court on week days and preaching — usually from the bench — on Saturdays and Sundays.

It was six years after his arrival in Texas that his dream for a Baptist college on the frontier took shape. In cooperation with Rev. William Tryon and Rev. James Huggins, he led in founding the school which was to bear his name.

University was chartered by the Republic Congress Feb. 1, 1845. Its male division becoming a co-educational school at Waco and its female college developing into what is now Mary Hardin-Baylor College at Belton. (Judge Baylor died in 1873, still a bachelor.)

Today's program will draw many former students of Baylor University at Waco and Mary Hardin-Baylor College at Belton to Independence. Special invitations have been issued to descendants of the families of the founders and of every president of the Baylor colleges.

Jap Unions Open Strike

TOKYO — (P) — About a half million Japanese industrial workers began their scheduled protest strike Saturday against the anti-subversives act and pending labor legislation in the National Diet.

The powerful General Council of Japan Labor Unions estimated that at least 500,000 laborers would walk out during the course of the day's staggered series of pickets.

On strike were: 70,000 metal miners; 30,000 auto workers; 120,000 electric industry workers; 130,000 seamen; 110,000 steel workers; and 50,000 chemical workers.

In addition, 45,000 municipal traffic workers resorted to "slow-down" tactics and 1,500,000 government and private industry workers held rallies.

There was no direct effect upon the public except for brief curtailment of electricity and a reduction in the numbers of streetcars and buses operating during the day.

Japanese labor is opposing the Anti-Subversives Act which they claim will prohibit demonstrations and the new labor law revision which will handicap unions in striking for higher wages and better working conditions.

Taft Has An Advantage

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON — (P) — Taft has one advantage over Eisenhower: he's had more time to toughen his skin against criticism because he's been in politics longer.

This doesn't mean Taft can't be needed. His opponents already have done one big needed job on him by saying the Republicans can't win with him. It's pushed him into the position of insisting he can win.

Taft Nicks Ike
But, knowing how a man's skin can be made to switch in public, Taft nipped Eisenhower before the general had time to get out of his Army battle jacket and into civilian clothes.

This was while the general was still flying home Sunday. Lamenting the condition of the Air Force, Taft said in a speech that American airpower had begun to deteriorate several years ago while Eisenhower was chief of staff.

It was such a clearly-aimed attack on Eisenhower that couldn't be overlooked by the general or the newsmen who attended his last military news conference before leaving the Army.

The conference was billed as non-political. Asked about Taft's statement, the general explained at length he believes a strong air force is of first importance and had always urged it.

Natural Answer

It was a natural answer and could be considered a military reply to a question about military affairs. But Eisenhower didn't leave it there. He didn't mention Taft but what he then said could be considered aimed at him.

Eisenhower said he'd like anyone who thought a war could be fought without foot soldiers, to tell him how it could be done. Taft, in his Sunday speech, hadn't claimed a war could be fought without soldiers but he scoffed at anyone, without naming names, who put too much reliance on bayonets.

This is just the start. It seems unlikely that these two heavyweights, each trying for a victory over the other so he can get a

Reds Have Secret Army In Europe

By LEON DENNEN
NEA Staff CoCorrespondent

PARIS — (NEA) — The existence in France and Italy of a well-armed secret Red army trained in guerrilla warfare has been revealed by a former "Chief of Security" of the French Communist Party in an exclusive interview with NEA Service.

The Cominform's clandestine commandos in France — many of whom were trained in special military and sabotage schools in Russia and the satellite countries — are believed to total about 15,000 men and women, the ex-Red said.

ANDRE MARTY: His victory indicates a change in Moscow.

Only a small number of them were employed in the riots of May 28 which led to the arrest of Jacques Duclos, acting chief of the French Communist Party and until recently western spokesman of the Cominform.

The southern wing of France's secret Red army is linked with a similar armed Cominform organization operating in northern Italy under the command of a Soviet general, the ex-security chief of the French Communist Party revealed.

My informant was once closely associated with Andre Marty who represents the revolutionary uncompromising wing of French communism.

He was Marty's chief of staff during the civil war in Spain where the French Red acted as Moscow's chief executioner. He was also the liaison between the French Party and Marshal Tito. He quit the Communist party when, several years after the CLANDESTINE COMMANDOS? — Topsy-turvy Comies get an assist from a woman during Red riots which followed arrest of Jacques Duclos, French Red leader, by Paris police. Some of those in the riots were believed members of the secret Cominform army.

Stalin — Tito break, he was suddenly forced to confess to a "Titoist" heresy.

With the definite eclipse of the "moderate" Duclos, who is charged by the French Reds with the "failure of nerve," die-hard Stalinist Marty assumes the top place in the French Party and in the western sections of the Cominform—at least until the arrival from Moscow of Maurice Thorez. This is bound to widen the split among the French Reds first revealed by NEA Service last April.

A former pastry cook, short, portbeiled Duclos was undoubtedly the Kremlin's most trusted man in the West. It was a critical article by Duclos in a French Communist publication that caused the immediate downfall of Earl Browder, former chief of the American Communist Party.

Duclos was once rumored as a successor of Maurice Thorez when the Secretary General of the French Party departed for Russia—ostensibly for a cure. He failed to get the job because of a bitter feud with the aging and ambitious Marty who is also said to have Stalin's ear.

The feud came to a climax last February following the complete failure of the ill-fated political strike, which turned out to be one of the Cominform's most complete fiascos.

The bloody riots in France in May heralded the ascendancy in the Cominform's underworld of Marty and his gang of "direct actionists."

But Russian experts in France view it as more than the personal triumph of one Stalinist politician over another. Marty's victory in the Cominform over the cautious "parliamentarian" Duclos indicates a new change in Moscow's policies.

The Kremlin apparently believes that the non-Communist world is again entering what is known in the Communist lingo as "a period of wars and revolutions." Prior to the last war this was known as the "Third Period."

It is noteworthy French labor did not support the Cominform-sponsored riots in France and remained entirely cool to the Reds' calls for strikes. But with the change in Moscow's policies the Cominform no longer relies on "mass support." It counts on direct action of their secret commandos.

Duclos, like Browder and other Red chieftains before him, is the victim of Moscow's changed line. He went to the scene of the riots, where he was arrested, ostensibly to prove to the Kremlin that he, too, had courage—something a top Red never does. But this will not save his neck because the Party "line has changed again."

Doctors, Nurses Needed At Kerrville

Doctors of medicine and registered nurses are urgently needed by the Veterans Administration Hospital, Kerrville, Texas, Manager Judd H. Kirkham has announced.

Doctors are acceptable from the time they complete their internship through age 34, and the salaries range from $5500 to $11,800. Nurses are acceptable from the time of their graduation through age 33, and the salaries range from $3740 to $5940. Exceptions may be made to the age limits of both doctors and nurses who have unusual and outstanding qualifications.

Applications and inquiries should be addressed to the Manager, Veterans Administration Hospital, Kerrville, Texas.

Boyle's Column ... Graduation For Joe College Has Its Small Compensations

NEW YORK — (AP) — Diary notes by a pavement Plato: Lucky Joe College!

Graduation day means the end of midnight party raids on sorority dormitories for Joe, but this year he has compensations. In the past his sheepskin diploma has just been a dust-catching souvenir. But in 1952 it is the open sesame to financial success.

The world isn't waiting for Joe to build a better mouse trap before beating a path to his door. It is beating his door down in the hope he can build any kind of a mouse trap.

Stand In Line Big business scouts have been standing in line to pick off the cream of the college graduates, offering them $400 a month and up to start.

Usually I write a letter of advice to the June graduate. But not this year. Not after reading of one bright young fellow who is stepping into a $10,000-a-year post.

What most older men would like is a letter of advice from him on how he did it. Ten thousands dollars? Even professional baby sitters don't make that kind of money today.

But many a Joe College is going to have to postpone accepting the golden offers that come his way. There is an earlier bid for his services put in by an elder member of his family — Uncle Sam.

From His Foot Down There is a story going around about an old-fashioned husband who thought his wife was spending too much time watching television. He put his foot down and flatly forbade her to turn the set on during the day.

The following evening he came home and caught her sitting in front of it. He bawled her out. The next evening when he arrived she was dusting the house like crazy. But, suspicious, he touched his palm to the television screen. It was still warm — she has just switched the thing off. Sternly he bawled her out again.

"I came home a little early the next night," he said. "And guess what? There was my wife down on her knees in front of the television set blowing on the screen like mad and trying to cool it off."

Womenfolk Speaking of problems with womenfolk, a friend of mine had one with his very young daughter.

She had joined the Brownies — the knee-high version of the Girl Scouts — but after a while decided she wanted to get out.

"Well, honey, if you really feel sure you don't want to belong any more, just quit," said her father.

"It isn't that easy," said the little girl, dolefully. "They let you keep the blouse and skirt bornly at dawn before massed lines of other little girls as she was stripped of her rank and drummed out of the organization. P. S. She's still a Brownie. Just couldn't stand losing her buttons.

Hot Weather Due To Find More Business Promotions

NEW YORK — (AP) — Hot weather will find a speed-up in business promotions.

Retailers and manufacturers are planning big drives to keep every one of his toes—and to take the cash registers out of the dog-day doldrums.

Men will be reminded sternly: "sockties are essential to proper dress in any season."

"Every woman an interior decorator" is the slogan this summer of the Carpet Institute. Together with the Textile Color Card Association of the United States, the institute is publishing a color manual that can be used by all branches of the home furnishings industry.

Bedding makers aren't resting on their laurels after April's national sleep show. They're trying to think up new styles—for an essentially static product—to perk up their business and to display in the next national exhibit in September, called home fashions time.

The North Carolina State College is graduating its first bachelors of science in furniture manufacturing and management. The college says it is the only four-year course leading to such a degree, although some northern universities offer furniture courses.

Trimmess The International Association of Clothing Designers, meeting in Rochester, N. Y., last week, says that "trimness of line" is to be the new slogan for men's suits. Members debated the merits of the Ivy League style of narrow shoulders and the Hollywood wedge with its wide shoulders and narrow hip-line.

The Wool Bureau, slung by the invasion of synthetic in the summer suit field, and just getting over the effects of the raw wool price gyrations of last year, is plugging hard for wool summer suits.

Silk suits—some costing as much as $150—are being widely promoted. And the silk shirt is back in the stores, priced around $15. The Men's Tie Foundation has a three-month promotion plan to jack up summer tie sales. It says price categories have remained unchanged while other products were inflated and claims the industry is turning out a

Miss Roenfeldt Becomes Bride Of Mr. Redding

MR. AND MRS. MILTON REDDING

Miss Fara Mae Roenfeldt, daughter of Mr. L. O. Roenfeldt, became the bride of Mr. Milton Redding, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Redding, of Houston, in a double-ring ceremony read June 3 in the Central Baptist Church.

Rev. Glenn Roenfeldt, brother of the bride, read the service before an altar decorated with baskets of white gladioli and tapered candelabra.

Miss Joyce Roenfeldt, the bride's sister, accompanied Mrs. Glenn Roenfeldt who sang "Because," "I Love You Truly," and "A Wedding Prayer." Traditional wedding marches were used for the professional and recessional.

Miss Vauccelle Moore and Miss Irene Saylor lighted candles. They wore identical gowns of lime green lace over taffeta. Their gowns were styled with fitted bodices topped with lace capes, and full ballerina-length skirts. They wore halos of white carnations and carried white candles wrapped in blue ribbon.

The maid of honor, Miss Edrie Morrison, wore a baby-blue lace and net dress over taffeta with fitted bodice and a lace stole. The bridesmaid, Mrs. Cecil Roenfeldt, sister-in-law of the bride, wore a light pink gown and a halo of white carnations.

Preston Bennett of Plainview was best man. Ushers included Cecil Roenfeldt, brother of the bride, Pat Louellen, and Bob Bailey.

The bride's father gave her in marriage. She wore a ballerina-length gown of white lace over taffeta. The fitted bodice was topped with a lace jacket featuring a high neckline and long sleeves. Her shoulder-length veil of illusion fell from a white satin Juliet cap trimmed in ice pearls.

She carried a white Bible topped with a gardenia, and carried out the tradition of something old, something new, something borrowed, and something blue.

Following the wedding a reception was held in the church's Fellowship Hall. Wedding cake and punch were served from a lace covered table, centered with a floral arrangement.

Miss Virginia Jones presided at the guest register.

For the wedding trip to Carlsbad, N. M., the bride wore a navy suit with white accessories and a carnation and gardenias corsage.

Mrs. Redding was graduated from Pampa High School and completed her sophomore year at Wayland College this spring. Mrs. Redding was graduated from Wayland this year.

The couple will make its home in Plainview.

Beef Cube Casserole

For a tempting serving, braise or a tempting serving, braise cubes of beef, then serve as a table casserole. For the clever casserole topping, squeeze mashed potatoes through a pastry tube and swirl into rosettes. Place the casserole in your broiler just long enough to lightly brown the potatoes.

You can freeze rolls, coffee cakes or nearly any other baked goods right in the cardboard box in which they are sold.

BETROTHED: The engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Mildred Waters and Mr. Dennis M. Taylor, is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Satterfield of Pampa. The wedding date is June 21. (Qualis' Pampa Studio Photo).

Sound Off

By A Leaguer

Our woman of the week is Mrs. Thomas L. Wade, secretary of the League Women Voters of Pampa. Her duties as recordkeeper of League decisions and action include keeping minutes of board and membership meetings, writing letters, and performing other functions incident to her office.

Mrs. Wade who bears the musical name of Melba was born in Mt. Vernon, Texas, but moved with her parents to Old Moebette at the age of two. After moving to Pampa in 1925 Melba attended Pampa High School and was graduated from Stephens College, Columbia, Missouri.

"My major was chemistry," Melba reveals, "but I have never had occasion to use it. I chose it because I was interested in it." After her return to Pampa Melba took a post-graduate course in secretarial training, then secured her first job in a local law office, working for a young lawyer who was later to become her husband.

Her hobbies include square dancing, gardening, and cleaning house. This last rather strange interest is justified by a natural disinclination to be idle. "I just like to be doing something every minute," Melba explains.

Mr. and Mrs. Wade have two daughters, Jeanne and Francis, who share their parents' devotion to dancing and who can do a creditable job of calling for square dances.

"My hope for the League lies in furthering the purpose of our organization, namely 'to promote political responsibility through informed and active participation of citizens in government.'" Mrs. Wade declares. "We must reach out into the community to develop the responsibility of all citizens."

The League of Women Voters does not support or oppose any political party or candidate. If such policies were developed from the League, this one would remain, for in this strictly non-partisan policy lies the League's greatest strength.

Democracy is the conviction that there are extraordinary possibilities in ordinary people.

Mrs. William T. Glidden, chairman of Public Relations, announces the following appointments to her committee: Mrs. John Bradley, who comes to us from the League of Women Voters of Bradley, Mrs. Paul Taber, Mrs. James Edminister, Mrs. J. B. McCrery, Mrs. Richard Stowers, Miss Mary Bellamy, and Mrs. Raymond Harrah.

Wrath killeth the foolish man, and envy slayeth the silly one.

How can you help a little to insure a safe democracy? Know your laws. Qualify for voting and encourage others to do the same. Write your legislators your opinions on matters of government. Get the facts on issues and candidates for public office.

All activity of the League is confined to the field of government but in the public interest; our idea of an efficient government is a representative, responsible, and responsive government which is stronger than any political group and capable of rendering, with the least waste, services adapted to the needs of all the people.

How can we realize such a government? By working toward the establishment of sound governmental structure at all levels; by nominating and electing or appointing responsible officials; by regarding our participation of government as a privilege and a public trust.

"I have always been amused by those who say that they are not interested in government, but they are not willing to go into politics. My answer, which has now become a bromide with me, is that you can no more divorce government from politics than you can separate sex from creation."

Dressing Table Demands Care

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

Some women have the mistaken idea that a dressing table is the perfect catch-all for everything from empty envelopes to shoe laces.

Actually, if it is to serve a useful and efficient purpose, the table must be kept in perfect condition, and equipped only with beauty preparations. If you are not satisfied with the workings of your dressing table, a systematic cleaning may reveal why.

Try to have a glass top for your table, if it is at all possible. It will be easy to keep clean, and will add an attractive touch to your room. Don't clutter the top with many boxes and bottles, however. If you like, one or two perfume bottles coupled with a hand mirror and/or a comb and brush set should be more than enough.

As for the inside of the dressing table, work out a plan so that you will be able to find any bottle at a moment's notice. Keep one drawer for your make-up preparation. Cardboard partitions will prevent them from slipping around.

In one drawer you will want your cotton and cleansing tissues as well as creams and lotions. Also make place for your eye and nail-care preparations.

Beverly Candler, Robert Troop Wed 'In First Methodist Church'

First Methodist Church chapel was the setting for the marriage June 1 of Miss Beverly Bayne Candler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Candler, and Mr. Robert C. Troop, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Troop of Pampa. The double-ring ceremony was read before an altar banked with kets of white chrysanthemums and greenery flanked by candelabra.

Rev. Douglas Carver, minister of the First Baptist Church, officiated at the ceremony which was read at 4 p.m.

Prior to the exchange of vows, Mr. Bill Hutchinson of Pampa, was accompanied by Mrs. Roy Johnson as he sang "I Love You Truly" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Mrs. Vincent Kersey was the bride's only attendant. She wore a champagne silk shantung dress and carried a nosegay of American Beauty roses. Her accessories were navy.

Mr. Lonnie Williams was best man, and ushers included Mr. Jack Dunham and Mr. Bob Keller. Jack Hood, cousin of the bride lighted candles which marked the pew.

The bride entered the chapel with her father, who gave her in marriage. She wore a French blue organza dress and wore pink accessories. She wore a halo of pink rosebuds and carried a nosegay of pink roses.

A reception in the Methodist parlor followed the ceremony. The refreshment table, attended by Mrs. Joe Luskome of Dalhart and Miss Alberta Radar of Pampa, was covered with a white linen outwork cloth and was centered with an arrangement of chrysanthemums, punch and cake were served.

Miss Avis Kelley presided at the guest bride's book.

Mrs. Troop wore a light green two-piece silk chambrey dress when the couple left for a wedding trip to Lake Murray, Okla. She wore a white hat and gloves and patent accessories.

The bride's mother selected a pink linen dress for her daughter's wedding and wore white gardenias. The bridegroom's mother was attired in navy blue sweater and wore a pink corsage of pink roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Troop are both Pampa High School graduates. She later attended Texas State College for Women at Denton where she was a member of Alpha Lambda Delta. At the time of her marriage she was employed by the Cabot Co. Mr. Troop served 18 months in the Army in 82nd Air Borne and completed pre-med work at Oklahoma City University. He is now attending the University of Oklahoma City, where the couple will live.

Out-of-town guests here for the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Guy Ragland, and Joan, Wichita Falls; Mr. Blake Browning and Donna, Burk Burnett; Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Gibson, Electric; Mrs. Dotie Immanuel and Mrs. Bill Belcamp, Electric; Mr. and Mrs. Alvin A. Cole, Duncan, Okla.; and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hood, Santa Fe, N. M.

WHAT'S COOKIN' IN GRAY COUNTY HD CLUB WORK

By HELEN DUNLAP
County Home Demonstration Agent

Summer is the time for picnics and outside meals. Whether or not it is a number of families meeting together, or just one family eating in the back yard, food is an essential item. For summer meals, the housewife often wants everything prepared before hand so she may enjoy the outing and fun. In that case she does the preparation right in her own kitchen. Let's see what she might serve. Possibly the main dish might be old fashioned Virginia baked ham or roast beef cooked the day before. Almost any cooked vegetable would taste well with either one. How about baked either hot or cold, and they can be baked in the oven with the meat.

A vegetable or fruit salad always goes well on a picnic. Cabbage, carrot, pineapple cheese, or a mixed fruit salad would make good combinations. How about cucumber salad?

- Several raw carrots - 1-2 cup raisins
- 2 eggs
- 1-2 cup sugar
- 1-4 cup vinegar
- 2-4 cup sour cream
- 1-4 teaspoon salt

First make the dressing by beating the egg, add sugar and vinegar and beat. Add cream and salt. Put on the stove and stir until it thickens. Let cool. Put in pare carrots, and put through a food chopper, using the fine knife. Add the raisins and salad dressing to the carrots and mix. Arrange in a bowl with lettuce leaves around it.

But, possibly you want to serve sandwiches with your salad, here are some suggestive fittings. Cheese, and pineapple - Mix 2 parts crushed canned pineapple with one part creamed cheese. Spread between rounds of Boston brown bread. Sprinkle with chopped nuts and moisten with mayonnaise.

Hard cooked eggs, chopped cold meat, salt, pepper, salad dressing. To hard cook eggs, set them in a pan of cold water. Be sure to put on a tight lid. Bring to the boiling point and then set in a warm place for 25 minutes. The egg will not be tough like a boiled egg. Try these:

Cottage cheese, nuts and prunes chopped; Canned salmon or tuna fish, chopped celery, ground pickles; Flaked salmon, cucumber salt, pepper, lettuce leaf, pressed chicken lettuce; ham and pickle ground; Egg and olive.

For a beverage, what can be better than ice tea or a fruit punch?

Egg Foo Yung

Here's a simple meal plan with Egg Foo Yung. Mix one cup of finely cut cooked meat with a 1/2 can of bean sprouts and 1/2 cup of chopped onion. Add the meat mixture to six slightly beaten eggs, then drop by spoonfuls into hot lard. Brown on both sides and serve immediately with gravy.

Have you ever wondered — Why a man sets such store by having his wife notice when he has had a haircut?

Why a man always expects his wife to come to him when he is in one part of the house and she is in another and when he wants to ask where something is?

How a man who answers his wife's query as to "What's new at the office?" with a disinterested "Nothing much" can find so much to talk about if another man stops by and asks the same question?

Why a man will brag about what a holy terror he was as a kid and still expect his own children to have better sense than to get into such scrapes themselves?

Why a man never asks: Ask my wife; she's the boss! except in cases where he doesn't want to say "No" himself?

Why a man wants his wife to go on wearing the same hair style she wore when he first met her, never stopping to figure she was wearing the current style then just as she would like to be wearing the current style now?

Why a man figures that when he and his wife decide to buy something for the house it is a personal indulgence for the wife?

Why a husband who can't find one of his possessions that no one else ever bothers always says: "What did you do with such and such?"

Why a man will maintain that today's kids have more than is good for them and then go right ahead and buy them everything they ask for?

Beauty After Forty Flower Girls

"At 41 I am going to be married for the first time, a simple ceremony. Please suggest an outfit for me. I have brown hair with a few white streaks.—Bride-to-be."

Why not wear an afternoon jacket suit? A stunning Balenciaga original, made by Schlegel Venice in a unique fashion, a short formal dress completed by a jacket. I suggest that you get such a dress in a pale beige shade, Dubonnet blonde, named in honor of the aperitif wine. Wear a brown hat with one Dubonnet blonde rose, long brown gloves and classic pumps. This is an outfit that you can wear on many occasions after the wedding. And "Beauty After Forty" sends you best wishes and congratulations to the Groom-to-be!

"I am quite plain but I do follow your good grooming advice. I would like to wear my hair waved but as I have no glamour I wonder whether plain, straight hair wouldn't be best. I am 48, fairly decent figure.—Della L."

Stop playing up to the "Plain Jane role"! Good grooming does things for your looks and your morale, so go all the way, have waves, all the trimming, new hair-do and a new hat when you get the waves! There are really no Plain Janes unless they want to be. "My problem is a very shiny, high forehead. I wear glasses. Could I also wear bangs?—B.M."

Bangs and eyeglasses are not especially good together, so try out the effect before you decide. Also smooth on pancake make-up in a shade darker than you use on the rest of the face. This will give a mat finish to your forehead, and your forehead will look less prominent. I suggest that you wear a forward-profile hat. Never choose one that is round or flat or sits on the back of your head.

"It was a question of which I disliked the most—having too little time or too little money," says a wife in explaining why she decided to take a job.

That is the real choice that confronts most women when they are trying to decide whether or not to combine marriage and a job.

For it is a hard fact that the woman who takes on a job outside her home is going to find that she has too little time to do all the things she would like to do, too little time even to do all the things she must do as well as she would like.

The hours she spends earning money are hours that must be subtracted from the time she has for herself and her family. So what she must weigh and weigh carefully is time versus money.

If the money is more important for her family's welfare than what she could do for them with the time spent at work, then she takes the job.

If what she can give her family by devoting all of her time to them is more important than the money she could earn by taking a job—then she will decide to be a full-time homemaker.

It is really as simple as that. But the simple fact is often overlooked in our discussions of whether or not wives should work.

We complicate the picture when we don't face the fact that in this day and age a wife must often choose between time for her family or money for her family.

Some few wives work because they are really career-minded and love their jobs. Some few work because they don't like to stay at home.

But most married women work for the simple reason that, for the time being, they feel money is more important than time.

LT. AND MRS. MARVIN J. SPEIER

Miss Barbara Diehl Becomes Bride Of Lt. Marvin Speier In Holy Souls Church

Miss Barbara Diehl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben J. Diehl of Lefors, became the bride of Lieutenant Marvin J. Speier, son of the Pleasant Ridge School in Hays, Kan., in a formal wedding ceremony solemnized in the Holy Souls Catholic Church at 9 a.m., May 29.

Rev. Myles P. Moynihan, C. M., officiated at the ceremony. Miss Alvera Speier of Hays, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor. She wore a blue organza gown with three-quarter length sleeves, and a matching picture hat. She carried a nosegay of blue carnations. Miss Mary Ellen Leininger of Tulsa, Okla., was bridesmaid. Her gown of pink organza and matching hat were fashioned after the maid of honor's. She carried a nosegay of pink carnations.

Karen Leininger, flower girl, was escorted by Phillip Leininger. Both are cousins of the bride. Herbert Gebler of Hays was best man, and Gilbert Brungardt, also of Hays, was usher.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an organza marquisette embroidered gown over a tulle skirt. The fitted bodice featured a sweetheart neckline and three-quarter length sleeves. Her veil was a fingertip-length.

The bride carried out wedding traditions, and her only jewelry was a gold cross, a gift from the bridegroom.

The mother of the bride wore a navy crepe dress with white accessories and a carnation corsage. The bridegroom's mother also wore navy and a pink carnation corsage.

Following the wedding, a breakfast was held in the Schneider dining room. Majestic daises decorated the bride's table. In the afternoon of the same day, reception was held in the home of the bride's parents in Lefors. Wedding cake—served to friends and relatives who called between 2 and 4 p.m.

The bride was graduated from Mt. Carmel Academy in Wichita, Kan., and attended St. Mary's College in Leavenworth, Kan., for two years. The bridegroom was graduated

"DRESSED" IN A PLANE—"I feel like I was wearing her instead of flying her," said Test Pilot Bob Starr after taking up "Sky Baby" the world's smallest plane on its first flight at Palm Springs, Calif. The midget has a wingspread of only seven feet, three inches, is nine feet 10 inches long, weighs 452 pounds and is powered by an 180-pound, 85-h.p. Continental engine that turns a 60-inch wood-and-plastic propeller. Starr, shown in the plane, and Ray Stitt, of Riverside, Calif., built Sky Baby for about $2200.

Paramount Blowing Up Lot For 'War Of The Worlds'

BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — They're blowing up a large part of Los Angeles over at Paramount. The city hall came down in rubble recently. Now they're leveling various other landmarks. All this takes place on a movie set, of course. But when it appears on the screen, it will look like a Martian invasion for sure.

Latest Chapter
This is the latest chapter in the life of a literary work that has a long and chilling history. It is H. G. Wells' "War of the Worlds," which shivered Victorian readers when it was first published in 1898. The book depicted the invasion of London by octopus-like creatures from Mars.

Orson Welles in the days when he was really a wonder boy, put the story on radio, shifting the locale to New York. He did it in documentary style, as though it were actually happening. Some citizens of New Jersey, where the invasion was supposed to have started, were reportedly scared out of their socks.

Land In Desert
Now it's a film version. The producer is George Pal, who has created such fantasia as "Destination Moon" and "When Worlds Collide." He has the Martians landing in the California desert and marching on Los Angeles.

All this calls for some fantastic film-making. Gordon Jennings, who wrecked the temple in "Samson and Delilah," among other things, says he has more special effects in "War of the Worlds" than in any film during his 28 years in the studio.

turn a trump, and dummy won with the ten of clubs.

Declarer now had to get to his own hand to ruff a heart in dummy, so he led the jack of diamonds from dummy. The stage was now set for the great coup. East played the ace of diamonds on dummy's jack. This was a case of clumsiness rather than brilliance, for the queen of diamonds happened to be hidden among East's hearts.

South ruffed the ace of diamonds and noted the fall of the eight of diamonds from the West hand. Obviously, or so South thought, West had the queen of diamonds. And it looked as though it was about to drop.

If the trumps happened to be 2-2, South reasoned, he could lead a trump to dummy, cash the king of diamonds and win the rest of the tricks if the queen of diamonds dropped. He would be giving

Building In Texas Begins Picking Up

AUSTIN — (AP) — After a slow start this year, building in Texas is beginning to pick up.

The University of Texas Bureau of Business Research reported that preliminary estimates of city building permits showed a gain of 11 per cent in April.

ing up the heart ruff by drawing a second round of trumps, but he would have a chance for his contract in exchange.

The result was sad and unexpected. The trumps didn't break, and West ruffed the king of diamonds. So South went down three tricks, for a loss of 800 points, and East nearly joined the immortals who have had coups nam-over March. Building activity is still lagging behind that in the early months of 1951.

Five Texas cities placed among the nation's top 25 in value of building permits during the first four months of 1952. Wichita Falls was twenty-fifth, San Antonio twentieth, Fort Worth nineteenth, Dallas sixth, and Houston fifth.

Before invention of the reaper, two and one-half hours were required to harvest each bushel of wheat, a chore now taking 10 minutes.

ON BRIDGE • JACOBY

Study This Coup: It's A Great One
By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

In bridge, a coup is a special play of some kind, usually designed to gain a trick. For example, there is a coup named after Deschappelles, a great French whist player. Another is named after the English city of Bath. The coup shown in today's hand will be called the Fort Worth club, since it might not be a favor to name it after the player, who executed it.

The bidding of the hand was fairly normal. South's final bid of five clubs was in the nature of a sacrifice. He expected to be set, and he wasn't disappointed. West opened the singleton spade and East continued the suit until South ruffed. West discarded

Predicts An All-Jet Air Force

OKYO — (AP) — James H. Doolittle, the old Tokyo rider and now a top aviation expert, predicts the United States will have an all-jet air force in five years.

Doolittle made the statement just before taking off for the United States following a tour of Air Force centers in Japan and Korea.

The former lieutenant general now is civilian advisor on development matters to the chief of staff of the Air Force. He said in five years the Air Force will use propeller-driven aircraft only for transport and training.

"Fighting and bombing will be done with jets," he said.

Doolittle and Lt. Gen. Earle Partridge, commander of the Air Research and Development Command, flew to the Far East May 29, and visited Korea several days. They will return to the United States via Alaska.

Doolittle is famed for his "Tokyo raid" of April 1942. Sixteen bombers carrying Doolittle and 79 other fliers took off from the aircraft carrier Hornet, steaming about 800 miles from Japan. The raid hit Tokyo and other Japanese centers.

Mitzi Gaynor Seeks Partner

HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — "Poppa, won't you dance with me." That line is mine or less our theme song for today's essay, which concerns Mitzi Gaynor and her search for a man. I don't mean a man to marry, because she has found one already. She's engaged to Atty. Richard Covle and they already live in the same house, along with their two mothers. But that's another story.

This one is about Mitzi's search for a topnotch dance partner. At least I think that's what it is about. With Mitzi, you're never quite sure.

On The Prowl

"I understand you're on the prowl for a male star to dance with," I said, throwing out a line.

"Ah, yes," she squealed. (Mitzi often squeals.) "I'm dancing with tears in my eyes 'cause the man in my arms is a girl. Or something like that."

"I understand that you have been in six pictures and have danced alone in just about all of them," I added, trying to pursue the matter.

"Why, certainly, sugar," she gurgled. (A normal reaction for her.)

"You don't suppose there's something wrong with me," I assured her there wasn't. Any fool can see that. I continued: "How would you like to dance?"

"Well, doll, there are only five name dancers in pictures."

"Such as...?"

"... He's Cool"

"Such as Fred Astaire. Oh, he's cool. He is precision, class. Gene Kelly is the genius; every dance he does is inspired. I love dancing with Dan Dailey; he's so loose and limber. I had one number with him in my first picture, 'My Blue Heaven'."

"And then there's Donald O'Connor. He's solid. What a dancer. People have found out he can do tap dancing as well as comedy stuff. The other fellow is Gene Nelson. Wow! He is just about the greatest. He had a number in 'Tea for Two' that was impossible to do."

"She mentioned that there are other up-and-coming dancers, such as Gower Champion. But so far he has been monopolized by his dancing spouse, Marge."

"Does she prefer dancing with men?"

"Well, I'll tell you honey. It's harder. It sure is. You have to learn two whole parts — your partner's and your own. But I don't mind. I like men."

Store Sales Rise

DALLAS — (AP) — Department store sales in four major Texas cities continued their rise of last year showed: Dallas, sales of 9 per cent. Only El Paso showed a decrease among the five reporting cities last year.

The average increase was slightly lower than that recorded the first few weeks after the install-

Heralds Announce Date Of Coronation

LONDON — (AP) — Scarlet-uniformed heralds read out in the streets of London Saturday a royal proclamation officially fixing June 2, 1953, for the coronation of young Queen Elizabeth II. Thousands lined the sun-drenched streets to listen.

London and the world had known the date for weeks, but tradition compels the ancient Court of Ceremonies to announce the coronation date.

The weekly report of the Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas for the week ending May 31, 1952, compared with the similar week of last year showed: Dallas, sales up 5 per cent; El Paso, down 1 per cent; Fort Worth, up 4 per cent; Houston, up 14 per cent; and San Antonio, up 11 per cent.

Italian Volcano Erupts Violently

STROMBOLI, Italy — (AP) — Stromboli, the volcano on this barren Italian island, erupted violently Saturday.

Smoking lava rolled down its brown-gray sides from three months of the crater. The village of Ginostra, at the base of the volcano, was covered with a thick layer of ashes. There were no reports of casualties.

The eruption, which began early Saturday morning, continued throughout the day.

Stromboli's cone rises 3,640 feet above sea level. The island of Stromboli, five miles in area, is about 50 miles north of Sicily.

The eruption spread the word orally anyway with full pomp and pageantry.

Navy Recruiters Have No Waiting List

The Amarillo Navy recruiting station announced Saturday it has no waiting list. The only delay is the time required to process enlistment papers.

Draft eligible men may still voluntarily enlist in the Navy at any time prior to receiving their actual notice to report for induction, provided they can be enlisted in the month of time.

Curriculum Criticized

TEL AVIV — (AP) — Israel children are being somewhat overfed with music and unimprovised dancing, according to British poet Stephen Spender, who recently visited many Israeli schools.

Rainfall In Texas Less Than Normal

AUSTIN — (AP) — Rainfall in Texas was less than 80 per cent normal in May, the state board of water engineers reports.

The nine major reservoirs gained from 41 per cent of capacity held at the end of April to 45 per cent at the end of May. In May, 1951, they held 53 per cent of capacity.

The only significant increase

Chiropractors Return To Pampa

Two Pampa chiropractors returned this week after attending the 37th annual convention of the Texas State Chiropractic Association in Dallas.

Attending the convention were Dr. A. L. Lane, and Dr. & Mrs. T. S. Wright. Most of the program was devoted to a series of refresher and post-graduate courses and educational lectures in the various phases of chiropractic.

The courses were part of a state-wide program being conducted by the association to keep Texas members abreast of chiropractic developments.

The convention, which was held at the Baker Hotel, lasted three days, from June 5 through 7.

There was a jump from 45 per cent to 61 per cent on Buchanan Reservoir on the Colorado River.

There was considerable isolated flooding and some very heavy rain during the month, but ground water levels continued low.

Clothing Industry To Test Belief That Worst Is Over

NEW YORK — (AP) — Another industry that has been having so its belief that the worst is over.

Buyers are arriving here for the fall dress openings. Garment makers have been saying they expect the ordering for fall to be notably heavier this time. They hope they aren't just whistling in the dark.

The garment makers figure their industry may be in the same position as the shoe industry. Shoe makers showed their fall lines a few weeks back, picked up orders, and put their factories back into full, or nearly full, production again. Their long, private depression was over.

If the dress buyers follow the example of the shoe buyers, the garment district will be humming in the coming weeks. Early arrivals of buyers top the number of last year, and some 10,000 are expected by next week.

Prices are lower this year, since the dress makers have been getting lower-priced fabrics.

The hopeful garment makers base their optimism on much the same things as brought about the revival of shoe business: lower prices to tempt consumers; high income levels, reduced inventories at the stores.

The entire textile industry has been having a rocky time of it for months. Apparel wool consumption dropped 25 percent and cotton consumption fell 15 per cent below year ago levels.

Regains Sight In Accident

BROWNWOOD — (AP) — "I can see," the young wife of a soldier cried Friday after the sight in her right eye was restored.

Mrs. Jessie Defrain, 18, regained the sight in her eye after a car in which she was riding overturned.

She realized sight had been restored while waiting with her husband, Cpl. James A. Defrain, 21, to make out an accident report in the Brown County Court house.

Mrs. Defrain lost her sight June 15, 1951, when lightning struck an iron gate she was leaning on in Hobby, Pa.

An eye specialist told her after the accident in Pennsylvania that a shock such as a blow on the head might restore vision in her eye. Mrs. Defrain said her head either hit a suitcase or the top of the overturning car yesterday.

Mrs. Defrain and her husband were returning from Sandia Weapons Base, near Albuquerque, N. M., when the accident occurred.

Neither Defrain nor Pvt. Roy Hudson, 19, driver of the car, were injured in the accident.

CITIES SERVICE HONORS EMPLOYEES - Seven Cities Service employees were presented awards by the company Saturday at a barbecue held at Lake McClellan...

Cities Service honors Seven

Awards in recognition of long-time service were presented yesterday to seven employees of Cities Service Oil Co. (Del.) in this area. Honored were one with 35 years of continuous service, two with 30 years, one with 25 years, two with 20 years, and one with 15 years of service.

Army Trainee Killed At Dix

FORT DIX, N.J. - A 20-year-old Army Signal Corps officer candidate was killed Friday night by a .30 caliber machine gun bullet while undergoing night infiltration course training, the Army announced Saturday.

Rig Activity Takes Drop

DALLAS - A total of 2985 rigs were active in oil fields of the United States and Canada for the week of June 2, 1952, according to a report to American Association of Oilwell Drilling Contractors by Hughes Tool Company. This total compares with 2994 reported a week ago, 2956 a month ago, and with 2640 in the comparable week of 1951.

Harrowing Trip For Engineer On

KANSAS CITY, Kan. - It was a harrowing trip for the engineer of a fast passenger train on its regular run from Omaha to Kansas City this week end. In succession, police reported, the train narrowly missed an automobile; struck a car, killing two women; then near the end of the run hit a truck, killing the driver.

Slight Increase in Activity For Panhandle Area Is Noted

A slight increase in activity was reported by Panhandle oilmen the past week as compared to the previous seven-day period. New locations remained unchanged at 12; completions climbed from six to nine while total increased oil potential climbed from 295 barrels reported for the week ended May 30 to 323 barrels for the past week.

It Can Be Done

Before you say "it can't be done," listen to the story of North Mankato, Minnesota.
North Mankato is a town of 4,792 in southern Minnesota. There isn't much business in North Mankato or, for that matter, much of anything else but residents, most of whom work across the Minnesota River in Mankato.
According to the national report of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, North Mankato is an "average" community if there is any such thing. Neither rich nor poor, so far as the income of its residents is concerned. North Mankato is just another middle-class suburban.

This is the way the chamber reports tell it:
Thirteen months ago, muddy flood waters of the Minnesota river spilled into the flat streets and yards of North Mankato. The damage to property was estimated at $1.5 million.
Its residents knew that such a flood could happen again — any time. Something had to be done. But the big question was "how should it be done and who should do it?"
One solution — and possibly the easiest way out — would be to ask for help from Washington. Thus, the cost of providing flood protection at North Mankato would be put on everyone who paid federal taxes.
Another way was for the community to pay the cost itself. True, each resident's share of the burden would be greater if no outside help was solicited, but the job could be done quickly.
The latter course was followed.
A $60,000 bond issue was floated.
A 25-foot flood wall was built along the river bank. No federal help. No state help. Only a local bond issue, backed up by the people of North Mankato.
Came the spring thaw and rains of April, 1952. The Minnesota river began to rise again. Across the river at Mankato, where residents were less sure how their own flood control protection should be provided, the muddy water again began to spill into the streets and cellars.
North Mankato residents, on the other hand, kept a close watch on their flood wall. Was it high enough?
There seemed little doubt about the strength, but the river rose more rapidly than it did the year before. Mayor Howard C. Wollam took no chances. He ordered workers to immediately put another foot on top of the 25-foot wall. It was going to cost $40,000, but Mayor Wollam said there was no time to ponder that problem. And he knew how the residents of North Mankato felt.
The river crested at 24.6 feet this year and North Mankato remained dry. But it had a bill for $40,000 on its hands.
Another bond issue? A citizens committee was told that the interest on that would be $9,000 a year. But how else could the money be obtained?
Then the community went into action.
One Monday night last month it was decided that the residents of North Mankato would be tapped for $40,000 the next evening between 7 p. m. and 11 p. m. Everyone was asked to stay at home. Each family's share would be $20.
On the night of the collection, the streets were virtually deserted save for the volunteer solicitors. An estimated 97 per cent of the community's residents remained at home. Collection headquarters were set up and the first contributions were turned in shortly after 7 p. m.
By 8 o'clock several thousand dollars had been received. By 9 o'clock thousands more. And by 9:30 the people who live in North Mankato had chipped in more than $43,000 of their own money.
Persons who owned more than one home contributed $20 for each.
One home owner contributed $150. At least five others gave $100 each. Fifty dollar contributions were numerous.
Only 12 families out of more than 1,700 failed to contribute.
The contributions haven't stopped yet, although the amount has gone well over $47,000.
North Mankato has its flood wall. It is no longer worried about the Minnesota River. Across the river, Mankato residents are a bit sheepish about the sandbagging they had to do last month in a vain effort to prevent damage to their city.
Some of the extra money collected in North Mankato is being used to perfect the flood prevention system with pumps. The flood wall is being surfaced to prevent it from washing away and any funds left over are being applied to the community's 1952 Red Cross quota.
The courage and initiative of North Mankato citizens was applauded by Minnesota Governor C. Elmer Anderson, who said it is heartening to see citizens "who are willing to solve their own problems without turning to higher levels of government."
But the attitude of the town's residents was perhaps best summed up in this statement from Mayor Wollam:
"Too few of us stop to realize that no government can 'give' us anything, that no government can create anything. What is a gift to one section is a tax burden to another. . . . When we begin to expect someone else to pay our bills and someone else to cushion the shocks of adversity, then we begin to lose our independence. . . . If Washington cannot lay plans to handle properly the rivers that are controlled by the federal government, then it is time to turn them back to the people of our nation."

Better Jobs

By R. C. HOILES

A Character Weakening "Must" Textbook

In the last issue I explained how certain books had to be used in certain school grades in every public school in California.
I referred to the textbook "You and Your Government" by Aker and Aker and pointed out that this might well have been written by any New Deal bureaucrat. In fact, it might well have been written by Joseph Stalin's agents, because if he wants to conquer America the best and easiest way to do it is by indoctrinating the youth of the land to believe in statism and collectivism rather than in moral principles and individual responsibility.
Now I want to give a few examples of the nature of this "must" textbook of over 800 pages that the youth of California around 17 years of age are concentrated on studying.
Advocate of Labor Unions
On page 561 under the heading of "The Organization of Workers" this statement is made: "There have been things both good and bad about the unions, but they have helped to better the working conditions of the average workman."
The word "have" is put in italics to emphasize what the author would have the youth of the land believe—that labor unions are good for the working man.
Now, any individual who has read moral and economic law and who has had any experience knows that labor unions are not capable of helping better the working conditions of the average workman. They know that labor unions can temporarily help one laboring group by injuring or lowering the standard of living of other workers more than they help those in the labor monopoly. This is true because labor unions have never in all history created a single nickel's worth of wealth. Instead of creating wealth, which makes it possible for the average wage to be higher, they have prevented billions of dollars of wealth from being created. They have done this by limiting appointments, by "striking" and by keeping the less efficient in jobs that could be done better by the efficient, and thus greatly reducing production. They have done this by "striking" by holding wages so high that employment is reduced, by featherbedding, by non-productive labor organizers, by selling hate and covetousness among the workers. And since they have greatly reduced production, and since what is not produced cannot be distributed in wages or profits, the average worker is a great deal poorer off because of labor unions than he would be if wages and prices were all established on a competitive basis.
But this required textbook only gives the emotional and popular side, it does not explain the end results of labor unions. Look at our government trying to take over the steel mills to keep the unions from reducing production.
Here is another erroneous statement on the labor question. On page 562 this statement is made: "The owners of industry usually fold workers when they are tired and since what is not produced cannot be distributed in wages or profits, the average worker is a great deal poorer off because of labor unions than he would be if wages and prices were all established on a competitive basis."
But this required textbook only gives the emotional and popular side, it does not explain the end results of labor unions. Look at our government trying to take over the steel mills to keep the unions from reducing production.
This is the same realization of this inevitable opposition which prompted Dr. Counts' startling injunction to teachers "deliberately"—to—"reach for power and then make the most of their conquest"—page 30. In the same vein, Dr. Counts warned that:
The power that teachers exercise in the schools can be no greater than the power they wield in society.
For this reason teachers must be prepared to stand on their own feet and win for their ideas the support of the masses of the people.—pages 30-31.
The problem posed by the certainty of powerful opposition is stated even more clearly in the call to the teachers of the Nation:
Thus we are brought face to face with the paradox: The school must participate in the task of social reconstruction, yet until society is reformed, the school can scarcely hope to function effectively. (p. 23).
It was the same realization of this paradox that led to the "call to the teachers of the Nation" by Harold Laski. In describing the conclusion and recommendations of the American Historical Association commission as "an educational program for a Socialist America," Laski offered a powerful warning against the paradox: "The school has the power of a sword program—a program which, of course, he heartily endorsed. He said, with respect to this educational program: It is a direct criticism of the ideals that have shaped capitalist America: the ideals, still stoutly held, to which it says in effect: We want you to agree to the trial of educational practices built upon the assumption that you and all that you are stand in contradiction to the needs of America. Our spirit is—'I of your spirit, where government and form a dictatorship and production goes down and everybody suffers.
Yet we are conscripting the youth of the land to indoctrinate them to believe that labor unions are collective bargaining are social and good and in harmony with the American way of life.
It is indeed hard to think of anything more tyrannical than to conscript innocent, honest youth to devote their time and energy reading this kind of a "must" textbook under teachers who are so ill-informed that they will be instructors with textbooks of this kind.
I will quote further from this character destroying, corrupting, weakening, degrading textbook in another issue.

Not So Simple Arithmetic

Is There A Subversive Movement In Public Schools?

(This is the nineteenth installment of the talk given March 21 by Rep. Paul W. Shaffer of Michigan in the House of Representatives.)

VIII. Folks Aren't Going To Like This
From the very outset advocates of the promotion of a collectivist society through the public schools recognized the inevitability of powerful opposition to their program. The movement was too intelligent, too realistic, and too discerning not to do so.
The emphasis which they placed upon this anticipated opposition, and the pains to which they went to devise and recommend a strategy for overcoming that opposition, is itself a significant indication of the revolutionary character of their basic program.
Realization of the inevitability of this opposition explains Dr. Counts' statement, in his monograph, Dare the School Build a New Social Order?
We know full well that, if the school should endeavor vigorously and consistently to win its pupils to the support of a given social program, unless it were supported by other agencies, it could act only as a mild counterpoise to restrain and challenge the might of less enlightened and more selfish purposes. (p. 24).
It was the same realization of this inevitable opposition which prompted Dr. Counts' startling injunction to teachers "deliberately"—to—"reach for power and then make the most of their conquest"—page 30. In the same vein, Dr. Counts warned that:
The power that teachers exercise in the schools can be no greater than the power they wield in society.
For this reason teachers must be prepared to stand on their own feet and win for their ideas the support of the masses of the people.—pages 30-31.

Fair Enough.... Injustice To A bomber Pilot Corrected After Seven Years

By WESTBROOK PEGLER (Copyright, 1952 King Features)

After more than seven years, a disgraceful injustice to an American bomber pilot inflicted by an American court martial in Moscow has been corrected by an order of Maj. Gen. Reginald C. Harman, judge advocate general of the Air Force.
Deane himself had the sense to perceive that the United States was being betrayed, which was little enough to ask of a staff private, to say nothing of a major general. Nevertheless, Deane actually wrote a reprimand to be entered as a lasting blemish on the record of a young comrade after a trial which was, in the written word of a competent authority, "probably unparalleled in its violations of procedures and the rights of the accused."
Deane was by no means the worst of the lot who were shipped to Moscow by the Lend-Lease Administration. Adm. William H. Standley, our ambassador for a brief, troubled period, has depicted in much of his memoirs the misadventure of the Army aviator Averell Harrison, who now put forth by the America First Party in New York as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for President. Harrison's genius brought forth a general order to all his subordinates that there should be no discussion; indeed, not even a thought, of any recompense from Russia. Deane had the astuteness to realize that he was being looked in the teeth when he was being kicked in the teeth. Harrison was by no means that bright or, so, lacked the patriotism and manhood to revise his orders.
As pilot of an American B-17, Lieutenant King bombed Berlin. His plane was so badly shot up that it put it down on a field at Kullew, Poland, in territory held by Russia, on Feb. 3, 1945, instead of trying to stagger back to England. General Deane had conducted long negotiations with the Russians before the American was to wangle out of them an uncertain and provisional permission for damaged American aircraft to come down in Russian territory after bombing the capital of Russia's mortal enemy.
Two days later, the crew had patched up their ship. A Russian C-47, a gift from the United States, landed nearby. A Russian general, speaking through an interpreter, wearing mixed British and Russian military clothing, ordered the American to follow him. They took King to their quarters when they were up. The interpreter revealed himself as King's ship. King naturally figured that when they landed the man would rejoin the Russians. The Russian said he had an uncle in England and the American called him Jack Smith. King now learned that "Smith" was not a member of the general's party. The planes came down at Szczuczyn but the Russian general said they had disappeared by the time King landed. King now decided that it would be less complicated to take "Smith" or to Poltava next day and turn him over to the American staff there.
But the next day the Russians seized "Jack Smith" and General Antonov, chief of the Soviet general staff, wrote a violent complaint charging that "Smith" was a Polish terrorist and saboteur and charging King with stealing him away with intent to fly him to England. A trial record contains also a statement by Marshal Stalin charging that American aircraft were dropping wireless sets and other supplies for ulterior purposes in Soviet territory and were carrying on subversive activities with the Polish underground.
General Harmon's opinion reversing the court-martial said there was no admissible evidence that King had any intention to fly "Smith" to England; or that "Smith" was a day or two behind a saboteur, or that King had dropped anything in Russian territory or made any effort to communicate with the Polish underground.
General Harmon held that King had good reason to believe "Smith" was a member of the Russian general staff; that King did not know "Smith" was aboard until they were 5,000 feet up and that King was not even accused of lying to conceal "Smith's" identity from the Soviet authorities. Neither was he accused of trying to fly him to England.
General Harmon also held that it was an offense to let "Smith" crawl into an American flying saucer while they were aloft because the temperature was 22 degrees below zero. Nor was it wrong to permit him to associate with the American crew after they came down because there was no attempt to conceal his identity.
All American planes in Russia were immediately grounded after the charges were made against King. King was flown to Moscow for trial.
King said he was told that the Russians shot "Smith."
King was fined $800 and reprimanded. An attorney was retained. His appeal was presented his appeal said King's counsel in the trial was a medical officer.
General Harmon completely exonerates King, revokes the $800 fine and expunges the reprimand.
A gentleman is a man who holds the door open for his wife while she carries in a load of groceries.
Being with a smile is an old ruse, but it's still pretty good. Here are four signs that show you are in a barber's shop—see you head to run my business.
In a diner—Eat here or we both starve.
At a gas station—All's well that's ended well.
In a supermarket—Prices are here—here—they're raised somewhere else.

International Whirligig... Danger Seen In Red Revival Of Revolutionary Operations

By JOHN FISHER

The arrest of truculent Jacques Duclos, top Red of France and a leading light of global Communism, reveals a new toughness in dealing with Stalin's stable of Trojan horses.
Such awareness of danger is an excellent sign because the latest command from the Kremlin to its trouble-makers everywhere is to revive earlier revolutionary operations. The object is a supreme effort to intimidate the free world on German rearmament and European defense.
The foundation for current tension in principles laid down by Stalin in 1921.
He stated: "The tasks of the Party in foreign policy are: (1) To utilize each and every contradiction and conflict among the surrounding capitalist groups and governments for the purpose of disintegrating imperialism; (2) to spare no pains or means to render assistance to the proletarian revolutions."
Vishinsky, in 1948, wrote that the criterion of revolutionary conduct was "the readiness of the workers of any country to subject all their aims to the basic problem of strengthening the USSR."
New Campaign
The principles expressed by Stalin and Vishinsky are evident in current Red tactics. Communists are attempting to disintegrate the solidarity of the United States and Free Europe by employing every conceivable device to aggravate jealousy, self-hate, suspicion, fear and reluctance for sacrifice in the common cause.
They are trying to influence Western news press to make Russia relatively stronger. Ion Curtin Red are aiding in Italy and West Germany. Italy and France in the new campaign of slander against the United States and in the resulting new wave of violence which lies in wait.
They have not yet dared a free attempt at seizure of government — on the Czech model. But they are setting loose rampaging mobs and political strikes in which wrecked property and results on police are distinctive features.
The Reds realize that they cannot gain a legislative majority through free elections in Western Europe or win over a majority of Frenchmen, Italians and Germans. They know, too, that NATO troops would not permit a revolt to succeed.
So they are calling up their hard core of "political storm troopers" to annoy Allied governments with new shows of strength.
A by-product of the street riots and the ambush of non-Communists is the desire to frighten opponents with the prospect of ruthless reprisals should the Communists gain power through revolution or in World War II.
Duclos Instigator
The current turmoil that landed Duclos in jail is the culmination of sporadic disorders heard by the Reds in various localities last year. These Communist staged "manifestations of protest" against the war in Indo-China and the landing of American military supplies.
For example, the Marxist heroine of 1951 was Raymondine Dien, a young woman who stretched out on the tracks to hold up a train loaded with arms for the war in Southeast Asia. Other women took up the craze.
As fast as they were formed, the Reds of the locality arrested jobs that stoned gendarmes or

Unique Raids Carried Out Against Chinese By Ships

(Editor's note: The following The plan called for the Amepooled dispatch by International News Service correspondent Cecil Brownlow was heavily censured for security reasons.)

By CECIL BROWNLOW
ABOARD BRITISH LIGHT AIRCRAFT CARRIER OCEAN — (Delayed) — (Distributed by AP) — The British Frigate Amethyst, which fought out of a Chinese trap on the muddy Yangtze River, turned her small guns on a Korean peninsula today in a daring raid.

The Amethyst knew her job well. For weeks in 1949 she had traded shells with Chinese Communist shore batteries as she sailed up the Yangtze. Finally she maneuvered off the sandbar and ran to freedom. Today, she pumped shell into the peninsula while British Navy Firefly and Sea Fury fighter planes from the Carrier Ocean sent rockets, bombs and 20 mm. cannon fire smashing into Chinese revetments. At dawn the wooden junks, crowded with raiders, began inching toward the beach, almost within ear shot of former Kaesong armistice conference site. Then the wind died, the junks stopped and the Communist shells began to fall.

For an uneasy hour and a half, the little junks remained almost motionless, in the narrow span between a UN-held island and Communist-held mainland.

Reinforcements
 But the raiders were determined to land, overrun Communist hill positions, and round up prisoners.

Only One Sure Way To Lose Weight — Just Brag It Off

By HAL BOYLE
 NEW YORK — (AP) — Do you want to lose weight? — There is only one sure way to do it. Brag it off.

You don't have to go on a prolonged starvation diet. You don't have to gulp appetite-reducing pills or consult a psychiatrist. You don't have to take sweat baths, lift bar-bells, or go on 20 mile hikes. All you have to do is brag. . . brag. . . brag. The pounds will roll off you magically.

I consider this a million-dollar idea in the field of malnutrition. It is my own idea. And I give it free to a calorie-conscious world as a good will gesture to corpulent mankind. There are two kinds of people among the perhaps 25,000,000 dieting Americans:

Silent Type
 1. The strong, silent type who keep their weight-reducing project to themselves. There are lots of these but you never hear about them.

2. The talkative type that insists on discussing diets with anybody and everything, including birds on the bough. . .

The first type gets a scientific diet from his doctor, chews his celery in melancholy solitude, loses a few pounds in lonely silence, and then gets sick of the whole business because "who cares?" Soon he is putting whipped cream on his pork chops again and getting fatter . . . fatter . . . fatter . . .

The second type starts out the same way. But he doesn't lose interest. After losing a few pounds, he starts in to brag.

"I used to be as plump as a railroad roundhouse," he said. "And now already I am beginning to look like the Eiffel Tower."

The more he brags the more he wants to lose; the more he loses the more he wants to brag. As I say, I feel I discovered this myself. I hit the scales at 204 pounds before I decided to do anything about it. I got a diet from my doctor, read all the books on the subject, and hung a picture of the late Mohandas Gandhi in my bedroom. He was my ideal pinup boy.

In the beginning I guess I was the strong, silent type. I would lose a few pounds, become sick of the whole business, and eat the lost pounds back in two days.

One day an acquaintance bored me for two hours talking about his diet. In revenge I talked to him for a full hour about my diet. To my surprise, when I weighed myself going home, I found I had mysteriously lost a pound.

The next day I bragged to another acquaintance for another hour. The result: another pound gone.

Every day since then I have bragged. . . and bragged about my dieting to any one I know or have been introduced to.

This has worked so well that I now tip the scales at 182 — just 22 pounds down, and still losing you to lose your friends as well as your excess weight. But nobody really loves a fat man anyway, they say.

Once you are skinny you can meet new friends.
