Weygand Assumes Full Responsibility for Armistice FLEET BLASTS JAP ALUMINUM CITY

Coordinated Resistance No Longer Possible In France

By LOUIS NEVIN
PARIS, July 31.—(AP)—Gen. Maxime Weygand, commander of French forces when the Germans broke through to Paris, assumed full responsibility today for the French armistice.
He was the first defense witness at the trial of Marshal Petain, accused of intelligence with the enemy and plotting against the security of France. He limped into court, bowed low to Petain, and described himself as "a prisoner of Val de Grace."
Weygand is under arrest on charges of undermining the army's will to resist.
"Coordinated resistance no longer was possible," the multi-clad general said when he decided "to ask the government to demand an armistice."
"I considered it my duty as commander in chief to ask for an armistice. I took the decision myself and on purely military grounds. There was no question of collusion with Marshal Petain."
He said, however, that the first suggestion for an armistice came from President Lebrun, one of the first witnesses against the old soldier. This was made at a war committee meeting on May 25, 1940, when Weygand said Lebrun

John Sturgeon, Local Lawyer, Is Dead at 47

John F. Sturgeon, 47, a resident of Pampa and practicing attorney here for the past 15 years, died in Worley hospital yesterday afternoon at 4:45 after a short illness.
A native of Paris, Texas, where he was born April 10, 1898, Sturgeon formerly was 31st district attorney and city attorney here and at the time of his death, was division attorney for the Santa Fe railroad.
The son of the late B. B. Sturgeon, noted Lamar county lawyer, Sturgeon received his schooling at Paris high school and received his law degree at Texas Christian university, Fort Worth, in 1918.
A veteran of the first world war, Sturgeon began practicing in Paris where he served as city and county attorney of Lamar county and later as 6th district attorney at Paris.
Moving to Pampa in 1930, Sturgeon began practicing law here and was joined in 1937 by his brother, Aaron, with whom he was practicing at the time of his death.
Sturgeon was a director of the Citizens Bank and Trust company here, first chairman of the selective service board, a past president of the Lions club, a member of the First Christian church, a Masonic lodge of Paris, and Moslah Shrine temple of Fort Worth, and a member of the Elks and the Knights of Pythias of Paris.
Sturgeon's last criminal case in 31st district court was in connection with the trial of Garland Pearce, charged with the fatal

PLANS ARE MADE FOR PAAF OPEN HOUSE

Into the extensive planning for the open house program at the Pampa army air field tomorrow the officers above have put in a good deal of time and thought. Shown as they were making up the program of events scheduled from noon until 7 p. m. tomorrow are, from left to right: Maj. Gilbert F. Friederichs, assistant director of administration and services; Lt. Col. Wilburn R. Causey, director of administration and services; Col. Lloyd L. Sallor, deputy commander, PAAF; Col. James A. De Marco, commander, PAAF; and Maj. James T. McKinney, director of supply and maintenance. (Official photo—USAAF.)

Gates Open at Noon Tomorrow, Galaxy of Planes Are on Display

The largest number of visitors ever to pass through Pampa army air field gates are expected to attend the greatest army air force day celebration ever held at the local air base Wednesday afternoon, Colonel James A. De Marco, commanding officer, said today.
The commanding officer has extended an invitation to all residents of Pampa and vicinity to attend the "open house" celebration of the 38th anniversary of the founding of the world's largest air force. Gates of the local air base will be thrown open at noon, and ample parking space will be provided. The Liberty Bus Co., will provide half-hour service to and from the field at a reduced price of 25 cents for the round trip.
Plans for the celebration were made by Col. De Marco; Col. Lloyd L. Sallor, deputy commander; Lt. Col. Wilburn R. Causey, director of administration and services; Maj. Gilbert F. Friederichs, assistant director of administration and services; Maj. James T. McKinney, director of supply and maintenance; and Major Herman Ramsey, director of training and operations.
Featured on the afternoon's program, which will begin at 1:15 and end at 7 p. m., are an aerial review of 27 B-25 Mitchell bombers and precision flying by P-38 fighter planes. A B-25 will be parked in front of the post theater and a ramp will be built to enable visitors to inspect the cockpit and bombardier's compartment. Other types of combat airplanes to be exhibited include the B-26, B-24, B-17, A-16, and L-5, "Cub."
Military personnel are scheduled to begin celebration of the day at 8 a. m. with memorial services in the post chapel, to be conducted by Capt. Howard A. Long, post chaplain.
The services will be broadcast over Pampa's radio station KPDN. Mrs. Helen Miller Emerich and Col. James Hayward will sing. Miss Mildred Martin will be at the organ. The air corps hymn, "Lord, Guard and Guide the Men Who Fly," also will be sung.
John G. Appel, wild life department commissioner, said it was revealed by tests that charges of dynamite up to 400 pounds set off under selected oyster beds had failed to affect the oysters.
The department emphasized that it did not expect to permit the use of dynamite anywhere near the 400-pound charge, but that this amount had been used as an extreme test.
The department officials said the tests were made on lakes owned by the state and that the Gulf Oil corporation furnished the services of its dynamite crew and a boat.

Twelve More Cities Marked For Destruction By Army

By LEONARD MILLIMAN
Associated Press War Editor
American warships bombarded Japan for the seventh time today as Allied planes were credited with taking a three-day toll of 267 Nipponese ships and 430 aircraft.
The great Allied fleet which has been preparing Japan for invasion for three weeks was apparently moving back into waters near Tokyo, lending weight to enemy reports of intensified preparations to meet assault waves on the shores of the homeland or China.
Latest bombardment—the second in 24 hours—was carried out this morning by destroyers operating boldly in Suruga Gulf 80 miles southwest of Tokyo. They shelled Shimizu, Nippon's greatest aluminum producing city, only 45 miles northeast of Hamamatsu target of 16-inch battleship guns 24 hours earlier.
Tokyo admitted one Shimizu industrial plant was squarely hit. The enemy radio said the bombardment lasted only five minutes, during which 90 shells were poured into the city.
The shelling came on the heels of a 13-hour carrier plane raid over a 400 mile arc of Japan's main island, reaching from Tokyo bay to the Maizuru naval base on the west coast of the island. Sixty vessels and 128 aircraft were destroyed or damaged and at least 60 airfields bombed-rocked.
Simultaneous strikes by fighters and bombers from Okinawa and two Jima added to more ocean going surface craft to the day's toll.
Twelve Japanese cities were warned by the 20th air force that they were marked for destruction by Superforts. Fear of the 12 were on the first warning list but have yet to be raided. Evacuate these cities immediately," Japanese civilians were told.
Revised figures on last Saturday's Allied carrier sweep over the inland sea and the huge Kure naval base listed 147 vessels and 292 aircraft wrecked, including two aircraft carriers damaged and a cruiser sunk which had not been previously listed.
Twenty more ships and surface craft, destroyed or damaged during

Pierre Laval Surrenders To Conquerors

IN GERMANY, July 31.—(AP)—Pierre Laval has surrendered to American forces in the American occupation zone in Germany. It was disclosed authoritatively today.
FRANKFORT ON THE MAIN, July 31.—(AP)—Pierre Laval, expelled from Spain, flew to Austria and surrendered today to U. S. occupation authorities who arranged to hand him over to France at once.
The swarthy former chief of the Vichy government, who is charged with collaboration with the Germans, arrived with his wife in a Junkers 188 manned by two German pilots.
The plane landed at Horsching airport, Linz, Austria, where United States troops immediately took Laval into protective custody. French army headquarters were notified, and Laval and his party left later in custody of U. S. Maj. Gen. John Copeland for the French occupation zone.
The former Vichy chief of government, sought by France on a charge of collaboration with the Germans, was ordered by Spain to leave the country. He originally planned to depart yesterday. Plane engine trouble delayed his takeoff at Barcelona.
In his flight today, Laval was accompanied by his wife and two German air force officers in full

Premier Stalin Indisposed at Potsdam Meeting

POTSDAM, July 31.—(AP)—Premier Stalin has been slightly indisposed for the past two days, it was disclosed today, but is expected to attend a meeting of the Big Three this afternoon.
The disclosure apparently explained a two-day lull in his talks with President Truman and Prime Minister Attlee.
Soviet Foreign Secretary Vyacheslav Molotov sat in with Truman and Attlee on Sunday, but there was no attempt to continue the talks yesterday pending Stalin's complete recovery.
Stalin's indisposition was believed nothing more than a slight cold, but the 66-year-old premier's physician took every precaution to safeguard his health and ordered him not to leave the house.
His condition was reported improved today and it was stated specifically that a meeting of the Big Three was scheduled for the afternoon.
The Russian leader is fit enough to resume the arduous three-hour discussions which have been typical of the conference to date, it is believed the parley may be completed by Thursday or Friday.
The talks are understood to have reached a point where the heaviest work devolves upon the Big Three themselves. In other words, the talks are believed to have reached the "payoff" stage, to use diplomatic slang.
Although ambiguously worded daily reports that the conference

District OPA Office, Lubbock, To Be Terminated

As a part of a national plan of reorganization, the Lubbock district office of the OPA with its 71-county territory is to be combined Sept. 15 with that of the Fort Worth district. The News was informed today in a special dispatch from Earl E. Kerr, Lubbock office director.
Kerr said that the action was part of a national reorganization plan of the OPA which will result in the abolishment of 31 districts over the nation. Two other offices in Region 5 (Lubbock's region) will be abolished—one at Tulsa, Okla., and at Shreveport, La.
Object of the move, Kerr said, is to "shift staff and resources in the field to the major points of population concentration, and to key production and distribution areas, so as to better serve in the reconstruction period the largest number of businesses and to protect the greatest number of people with effective enforcement."
"So far as we know," he continued, "there will be no duty stations in what is now the Lubbock district, and unless personnel of the Lubbock office desire to be transferred to other points their period of employment will be terminated Sept. 15."
He said the office employs 128 persons.
Kerr explained that there would be no change in the Gray county ration board, nor in any others, except that it will work under the direction of the Fort Worth office after the effective date of change.

William P. Leslie, Chief Justice, Dies

EASTLAND, Texas, July 31.—(AP)—Judge William P. Leslie, chief justice of the Texas 11th district court of civil appeals, died today.
The judge, who was in his late sixties, was stricken at his office shortly after 10 a. m., and died in the Eastland hospital.
He came from Colorado City, Texas, to Eastland in 1927 as associate justice of the court, and moved to the chief justice post in succession to Judge J. Hickman, who now is on the state supreme court's commission of appeals at Austin.
Judge Leslie was a native of Kentucky. He was a graduate of the University of Texas, class of 1907.
Survivors included his wife, two sons, Capt. William A. Leslie of Eastland, recently discharged from the armed services; Lt. Bob Leslie, who is with the navy in the Pacific, and a daughter, Miss Rosalee Leslie, an instructor in the University of Maryland.
The appeals court had adjourned yesterday for the summer.

There Was No Drama in Death of Jap Navy; It Passed Out Bit by Bit

EDITOR'S NOTE: Paul Kern Lee saw eight months of service as a war correspondent with the British Mediterranean fleet, and viewed the surrendered Italian fleet after seeing at a distance its final midnight battle with German aircraft.
By PAUL KERN LEE
SAN FRANCISCO, July 31.—(AP)—The Japanese navy is dead, by the soberly-considered testimony of American naval officers who killed it, yet an event so replete with the possibilities of high historic drama and so lacking in the performance could scarcely be imagined, even

Newspapermen in Corpus Christi Held in Contempt

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas, July 31.—(AP)—The case of three Corpus Christi newspapermen who appeared before Nueces county Judge Joe D. Browning to answer allegations in a citation adjudging them guilty of contempt of court was recessed until tomorrow after the judge overruled two defense exceptions to the "information" filed by the judge in the citation.
Browning's citation had adjudged the trio, publisher Conway Craig, of the Corpus Christi Caller-Times, Managing Editor Bob McCracken, and Reporter Tom Mulvany, guilty of contempt, and sentenced them to three days in jail.
The three appeared before the judge today, and Defense Attorney Maxwell Edwards leveled two exceptions, the effect of which if accepted would have been to quash the case, or to have it amended.
After the judge overruled the exceptions Edwards asked for a recess so that attorneys could agree on as many stipulations of fact as possible.
Formal statements of freedom of the press came on the eve of the trial from Editor Robert M. Jackson and Attorney Jerry D. Unger, who will prosecute the newspapermen.
"We contend that we have every right to report to the people of Nueces county what is happening in their court, without any editorial direction from the bench," Jackson said.
D. Unger asserted that "freedom of the press is not to be confused with abuse of it that resulted in two exceptions, the effect of which if accepted would have been to quash the case, or to have it amended."
After the judge overruled the exceptions Edwards asked for a recess so that attorneys could agree on as many stipulations of fact as possible.

Officials Fight Labor Disputes

DALLAS, July 31.—(AP)—Government and labor officials wrestled today with a series of Texas labor disputes.
At Dallas, Arthur M. Ross, new cases chairman of the N.W.L.B., opens a hearing he believes will establish principles for reclassifying and upgrading of aircraft workers that may be applied in the industry throughout the nation.
Ross expressed this opinion after conferring with company and union officials of North American Aviation, Inc., Grand Prairie, Texas.
A threatened strike at the Hillsboro cotton mills hinged on a secret meeting of representatives of the Textile Workers of America (CIO) in an unnamed south Texas city.
Paul Schuler, union representative from Dallas, said he was leaving at 5 a. m. to confer with the national president, Emil Reeves, who was flying from New York to help determine procedure at the mills.
Schuler said a Washington man was accompanying Reeves, but declined to say whether the man was a labor or government official.
Schuler said that no offer had been made by the Hillsboro management but that contracts affecting 1,000 workers had been signed by Dallas, Waco and McKinney mills.
Workers remained on the job at the Hillsboro mill today. In an election conducted Saturday by the national labor relations board they voted to strike.

Up and Coming Fashions for the Smart School Belle

By ERSIE KINARD
NEA Staff Writer
NEW YORK—Ready to sound the death knell to the Sloppy Joe look on the nation's campuses are junior fashions which combine youthful snap with high-style rating.

Proof are two casual styles showing what is happening to the over-sized sweater. At left is a blouse-styled sweater of candy-striped jersey neatly fitted under one of the season's smart new wrap-around skirts. This three-way affair of suede-finished Hockanum woolenities at front, back or side—is dea new drop-shouldered trend. Worn with it is a dressmaker sweater that is a sportswear staple. For active sports the pedal pusher is still tops. Although easy-going, it is styled to the last stitch, as for example the Giro-designed gray flannel bike suit, shown center. Plus fours are topped by a "night shirt" jacket trimmed with old-silver color buttons. Hanging by two parachute-styled straps is a new Ben Brody-designed bike bag, one of the biggest carry-alls ever invented. This red felt, flap-fastening piggy-back, which will carry anything from school books to a weekend wardrobe, measures 14 inches across.

PRESIDENT PROCLAIMS AIR FORCES DAY

President Harry S. Truman has issued a proclamation, declaring August 1, tomorrow, Army Air Forces Day, and the local base will have open-house to the public, furnishing a show well worth everyone's while. Pictured above are the President and Col. James A. De Marco as they watch B-25's fly over the Lubbock air field. The photo was taken when the colonel was attached to the base at Lubbock and while Mr. Truman was head of the Truman investigating committee several months ago. Col. De Marco is now commanding officer at PAAF.

PAAF'S AIR POWER DE LUXE

The photo above is demonstrative of what sight-seers will have in store for them when they visit the Pampa army air field on Wednesday afternoon. The field has declared open-house, on the day of national observance of the army air corps, so that everyone who is able to be present, may come to the field and see the things which they heretofore have only heard or read about.

THE MITCHELL BOMBER IN SILHOUETTE

The above is a silhouette photograph of the B-25 Mitchell medium bomber, the type which visitors at Pampa army air field will have occasion to see as they converge on the field's open-house tomorrow beginning at noon. This medium bomber, the first to fly over Tokyo (April 18, 1942) has been declared the most heavily armed ship for its size in the world. Planes at the local base, being used only for trainer purposes, are not armed.

MOVIE MARXISM

The promised congressional investigation of alleged communism in the film colony has us in a state of high excitement which none of Hollywood's coming attractions has been able to arouse for years. We await results of the search for a commie in every swimming pool more breathlessly than we did the search for somebody to play Scarlett O'Hara.

A California state legislative committee has offered to help the house of representatives investigators. One state senator has spoken darkly of "great volumes of information" on Marxism (not to be confused with the Marx Brothers). He speaks even more darkly of "programs of individuals and organizations in Hollywood for the destruction of the constitution and the American way of life."

Since Hollywood possesses one of the world's most potent propaganda media, it would seem silly if the allegedly subversive moviemakers didn't use it if they wanted to undermine capitalism and the constitution.

So far as we can see, Hollywood still glorifies the capitalist for a clew to their use as instruments of communist revolutions. But alas, most of them fall into the same old familiar patterns that would make a Marxist's hair curl.

So far as we can see, Hollywood still glorifies the capitalistic way of life. For the most part the movie characters are still happy, well fed and beautifully groomed.

Various embodiments of the Horatio Alger hero are still popular, and overworked. The poor but beautiful young secretary still lands the boss or, better still, the rich young man whose inherited wealth lets him devote his full time to being an utterly charming wolf. The goal of movie existence is still boy gets girl—or vice versa—not social revolution.

Of course all this may be part of a subtle and sinister plot. Perhaps the Marxist producers are trying to goad the proletariat to action by these views of the happy, prosperous people of Never-Never Land. They may be secretly arming a desperate band to seize the Hays office, take over the studios, and shoot down the $1,000-a-week screen writers like dogs.

But our secret suspicion is that the congressional investigation, if it ever comes off, will wind up with Hollywood's deciding to do a remake of "The Birth of a Nation," and with Rep. "Silent John" Rankin of Mississippi in the role of the little Colonel.

System Is Described Interdependence of All Workers in Capitalist

By ROSE WILDER LANE

(Author of "Let the Hurricane Roar," "Give Me Liberty," and "The Discovery of Freedom.")

As I have shown, half a billion Europeans and Americans—you, perhaps?—are alive now, who would not have been or would have died newborn, in the pre-capitalist ages. These lives, now and tomorrow, depend upon the enormous, delicate, sensitive, and unthinkably complex cooperation of myriad persons engaged in producing and distributing goods, which free men have organized since our grandfather's time. For a moment, think of your own situation. Can YOU live, without the constant cooperation of myriad persons whom you don't know, and never will know? What is your job? Could such a job BE, except in the complex new world which the socialists call "the capitalist system?"

Rose Wilder Lane

ging at iron joints with pipe-wrenches, delicately fitting water sprinklers together, building courtyards, and erecting shop-fronts and keeping them clean (and this isn't the half of it)—so that you may eat today a fresh crisp carrot that yesterday the Texas sun was crumming with vitamin A. And what have you done for all these men?

Yet, it is true that you owe them nothing. Whatever honest work you did, to earn the money to buy the carrot, actually has paid every one of them for the work he did for you. If it didn't he wouldn't do a thing for you. He'd quit. You wouldn't get the carrot. Because, in this whole vast, complex co-operative effort, there isn't a person who has any idea of working for anyone but himself.

WELL, WHY DO YOU hunt for a job, and stick to it when you get it, going to work every morning whether you feel like working or not? Isn't it to get the money that pays for your living? For your whole living, yet? church, your home, your family's welfare, your pleasures with your friends; and (you hope) for your constantly better living?

BUTTER SHORTAGE

(Fort Worth Star Telegram)
The Oregonian, popular newspaper of Portland, not satisfied with rumors about a butter shortage, has made a survey of the situation in that city which discloses that on June 23 there were 1,283,228 pounds of butter in warehouses there compared with 482,214 pounds a month earlier. This means that the extra three-quarters of a million pounds of butter available here are doing without due to the lack of those 24 red pounds required by the OPA.

Press of Texas Gets Property in Bay Area

ROCKPORT, Texas, July 31.—(AP)—Two lots on the shores of Copano bay have been presented officially to the press of Texas for use of newswriters and editors. Gov. Coke Stevenson signed a decree on top the cornerstone marked "Press Club" and set the cap in ceremonies here yesterday. W. M. Thornton, chief of the Dallas News bureau at the state capital, accepted the deed to the lots from Floyd G. Huffman, owner of the Copano Village subdivision. Capitol pressmen here for the ceremony elected Jack Blackwell, Rockport publisher, chairman of a committee to work out improvement details.

In the party with Stevenson were Thornton and his assistant Richard Morehead; Dave Cheavens of the Associated Press, Austin; Gordon Shearer, United Press, Austin; Sheldon Hart, sports editor of the Austin American; Hugh Hadlock, International News Service, Austin; Simmons Pierce Stevenson, brother of the governor; Ernest Boyette, private secretary to the governor; Sgt. Angus Jones of the state highway department; Henry Kees, publisher of the Gonzales Inquirer; and Grady Stiles of the Corpus Christi Caller Times.

News Behind the News

The National Whirligig

By RAY TUCKER
REPUBLICANS—Thoughtful republicans on Capitol Hill are deeply concerned over the seemingly irreconcilable split in their ranks over the two most pertinent questions of today and tomorrow—namely, world cooperation and a national defense system for the postwar period. Among themselves they do not conceal their fear that the G. O. P. may go so wrong on these questions that it will lose the 1946 congressional elections and the 1948 presidential contest.

Two prominent members of their party—Senator Robert A. Taft, of Ohio, steering committee chairman, and Representative Joseph W. Martin Jr., of Massachusetts, the minority leader of the house—apparently bucking public sentiment and many influential associates on these problems. The Ohioan led a futile fight against ratification of the Bretton Woods agreements, while the chunky Bay state has asked for the outlawing instead of the adoption of compulsory military training.

Lined up squarely against them are such outstanding G. O. P.-ers as Senators Arthur Vandenberg, of Michigan, Warren R. Austin of Vermont and Charles W. Tobey of New Hampshire. House supporters of the administration's general program in the two fields include such bigwigs as James W. Wadsworth of New York and Charles A. Eaton of New Jersey.

It is true that the Ohio senator and the Massachusetts man tried to make clear that they were speaking for themselves, and not for the party. But they occupy such important posts in the congressional organization that popular wrath, if any, may be visited against all republicans.

ANGER—The G. O. P.-ers' last four presidential nominees have all so been outspoken advocates of all-out international cooperation, and three of them are believed to favor peacetime training of a civilian army. Messrs. Taft and Martin appear to be completely out of step with such main-line republicans as Alf Landon, the late Wendell Willkie, and Thomas E. Dewey. Most G. O. P. governors likewise back these two propositions.

Congressional compromisers have sought to compromise these differences at private conferences, but these seem to be no meeting ground. In fact, angry words have been exchanged at these sessions and on the floor. When Mr. Tobey, a Bretton Woods delegate, prefaced a speech by expressing his esteem for Mr. Taft and hoping that the latter would not resent forthcoming remarks, the Ohioan snapped: "If what you're going to say is that bad, better not say it!"

RESPONSIBILITY—Although it is far too early to foretell the issues that will be highlighted in 1946 and 1948, the democrats intend to capitalize the opposition's historic record on these questions.

Peter Edson's Column:

EMPLOYMENT IS THE BIG KICK-OFF

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON—The unusual spectacle of a senator outling all the objections to one of his own pet projects is presented in the two days of open hearings on Montana Sen. James E. Murray's highly controversial full employment bill. Murray is leaving to others the job of telling what a great thing his national job bill is. He himself is going to review every criticism that has been raised against the idea of trying to maintain a balanced national economy which will provide ever-normal employment.

Conservative businessmen are still pretty well unconvinced on the practicality of what they consider Murray's radical ideas. They look on depression and depression as natural business cycles which nobody can do anything about. They don't think it possible to shape all related government policies on taxation, public works, wages, working conditions, foreign trade, agriculture, industry, development of natural resources and the control of investments, competition, monopolies and trade practices so that they will all make a contribution to maintaining prosperity.

Theo their side of the argument in these preliminary hearings is being given by Murray's three co-sponsors in the senate and by leaders from among the more than 100 co-sponsors in the house.

In Hollywood

Ed's Note: Hollywood notables have volunteered to serve as "guest columnist" with Erskine Johnson on vacation. The column below was written by comedian Bob Hope.

HOLLYWOOD, July 31.—Having sworn to a few fine words on that yo-yo with a physiognomy laughingly referred to as Bing Crosby, I must report that to write feelingly of that Minstrel with the Midget Mind, one cannot dispense with the typewriter keys with fallen arches, and in all the world there's no trip like this, not even to see Catalina on a Clear Day.

So I give you the Knight of the Nags, that Leprechaun in Galgins, that Troubadour with the Galvanized Gargle; namely, the guy who works with me whenever I'm in the mood for flinging favors. Rumor has reached me that he does right well in my latest paramount starring picture, "The Road to Utopia."

As we say in our set, Crosby is quite a riot. The legend of his laziness has been more widely broadcast than the cigarette Men of Distinction love to touch with so round, so smooth, so free-and-easy-on-the-draw finger-tips, rough-dipped in Jergens. He makes a fine thing of that weariness racket. He approaches every chore with a show of reluctance that would make a pooch facing a bath look like Casanova.

Today he's not a single character, but a multiple corporation. His father is the guy who does out the dough; his brother, Everett, is vice president; a second brother, Larry, handles extra-curricular activities; another brother, Bob, has become the Crosby Research Foundation which finances and sponsors inventions having to do with the war effort; controls a racing stable and breeding farm; manages Bing's motion picture and radio activities and supervises a number of ventures ranging from a ranch in the Argentine to income property spread over the Pacific Coast.

Since Pearl Harbor, he has put in appearances at army camps worked on a weekly short-wave radio show beamed overseas and sent entertainers out on a self-sponsored USO tour.

RESENTMENT—No war-time action by the British has provoked such keen resentment on Capitol Hill as their refusal to write off about $11,000,000 in Canal tolls for that of that waterway and naval equipment American troops to the Far East.

Although the controversy has not changed sufficient votes to defeat the United Nations charter, several members admit that they would not have committed themselves in advance for the Bretton Woods bank and monetary pacts if they had known of London's recalcitrancy. Unless settled in our favor, the disputes may block postwar advances of reconstruction funds to England.

Although our ally has a balance of about $3,500,000,000 in gold and securities on deposit in the United States, the senate banking committee has been informed by treasury representatives at executive sessions that Britain will seek at least $5,000,000,000, possibly more, in loans here after the conflict. Private bankers are willing to extend the amount at approximately three percent interest, but they want Uncle Sam to guarantee payment. Naturally, any existing lien on world war I debts would be waived by such an action.

MONEY—Another factor in growing dissatisfaction over financial relationships between Washington and London is the British government's delay in compiling its reverse lend-lease bill. Our military and naval accounts in North Africa, the Middle East and in Europe have been unable, despite persistent prodding, to persuade their opposites to render a statement.

As was true of the other secret agreements negotiated at Yalta and elsewhere between the late President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill, Mr. Truman may discover that London was assured of lenient and generous treatment when the time came to square accounts. But H. S. T., as Winston and Uncle Josef discovered at Potsdam, is a shrewd trader and feels a deep responsibility in handling other people's money, especially the American taxpayers.

RAILROAD EXPENDITURES

ST. LOUIS, July 31.—(AP)—Federal Judge George H. Moore authorized today the expenditure of $24,500 by the Missouri-Pacific railroad to install automobile lead-in devices in 200 new box cars and to replace parts of obsolete loading equipment in 200 other cars.

The court also authorized the expenditure of $647,000 for repairs to trackage damaged by flood waters between St. Louis and Texas points.

U. S. unemployment increased 5,624,000 between 1919 and 1921.

Those psychiatrists who long ago took the position that Hitler and his leaders were paranoid, or had a tendency towards paranoia, would seem to be getting support for this theory from the American internment camp at Montford, Luxembourg, where some of the Fuehrer's chief henchmen are held.

The mad leaders in that camp, and others who have been accounted for elsewhere, have in most cases displayed mental abnormality, though this column doesn't profess to be a type of abnormality. That's highly interesting, for the experts tell us that paranoics flock together. Our gangster gunmen are an example.

One of the characteristics of the paranoic is an exaggerated imagination. He thinks he is a superman; he is persecuted; he's right and everybody is against him. In the final stages of his disease, they tell us, he may become dangerous—a killer. From

Air Force Day

First on the program for visitors will be a military parade and review at 1:15. A group of Pampa residents will be in the reviewing party with Col. De Marco and his staff. It was indicated today that a special presentation will be made by a Pampa representative. A military band from Lubbock army air field will play for the ceremonies.

Final events in an elite men's track and field meet will begin following the review. Honorary referee for the meet will be Col. De Marco. The referee will be Otis Coffey. Pampa high school athletic director, Major Friedrichs will be the starter and Col. Causey head finish judge. Lt. Keith R. Tolliver, director of physical training, will have general charge of the meet.

Events on the field and track meet are: sprint medley relay, high jump, shot-put, 100-yard dash, 440-yard dash, 220-yard dash, 440-yard dash, 880-yard dash, mile run and mile relay.

The aerial review in which B-25 Mitchell medium bombers will be flown is scheduled to get under way at 3:30 p. m. Twenty-seven planes are slated to take part in the sky parade. Six P-38 planes also will give an exhibition of precision flying. They are scheduled to fly over the field at 1:15.

One of the most interesting features of the event scheduled on the flight line is the ground-to-plane communication to be heard by visitors through a loudspeaker system connected with the radio tower. The radio talk between the tower and the pilots will be supplemented by commentary by Capt. George Evers, who will act as master of ceremonies. A description of part of the flying activities will be broadcast over KFDD.

Following the flight line activities, a baseball game between the PAAF Flyers, who have won 11 games out of the last 12, and the Pampa Oilers will be featured on the post diamond. A number of former players have been added to the Oilers lineup, and a fast game is expected.

A feature of the afternoon's activities is a continuous orientation program to be given in the new PAAF war information center, which is housed in the same building with the PAAF hall of fame.

A dance band will play in the post recreation center. Soft drink stands will be placed at convenient spots, as will emergency first aid stations.

Relatives of air force men will have an opportunity to join the National association of air force women. A booth will be placed outside the post theatre, where women may make application for membership in the organization.

emphasized the court's insistence that the verdict be returned in accordance with its instructions.

Mulvany is named as having reported the trial, McCracken and Craig as being the responsible publisher.

"The one in which the sole issue is the freedom of the press," Robert Jackson said in his statement. "We reported the trial, out of which this case grew, in great detail and we contend that we have every right to report to the people of Nueces county what is happening in their court, without any editorial direction from the bench.

"We are not contemptuous of the court. In the only editorial comment we published on the trial in question we stated flatly that we did not know what verdict would have been just as we had no interest whatever in the outcome of the case.

"The publisher, the managing editor and the reporter are not concerned over whatever punishment the judge may seek to mete out to us. What all of us are concerned about is this threat to our freedom as a newspaper and for that reason we are going to fight this case to the highest courts of the land, if necessary."

Named special county attorney to prosecute the prosecution D'Unger in his statement declared: "Perhaps the most important question involved in this case is the one raised by the respondents, Craig, McCracken and Mulvany in the first paragraph of the defensive pleadings filed in the case.

"The respondents allege that the order finding them guilty is void on its face, and that any judgment of contempt based on it would have the effect of depriving them of their freedom of speech and of the press, without the due process of law, guaranteed to them of the Constitution of the United States and of the State of Texas.

"A judgment of contempt in this case would not, however, in any way restrain them from publications already made that the state contends do not fall within the limits of constitutional immunity. Any comment uttered or published, to come within the protective limits of the constitution, must be fair and reasonable and true. If such comment does not have these qualities then the commentator must answer for them under our libel, slander or contempt laws.

"Under the established law of this state a person who utters or publishes comment on a case or publication pending in any court which is calculated to block the administration of justice or to influence the courts ruling is guilty of contempt."

"Freedom of the press, however, is not to be confused with abuse of that freedom or to be interpreted as meaning that reports that are prejudicial, incomplete and inaccurate may be published of any proceeding in any court."

Pierre Laval

Luftwaffe uniform, in the twin-engine Junkers divebomber in which they landed at Barcelona 90 days ago. The Spanish government, in a communique, said Laval had been held in the country as a result of his request to be allowed to surrender to the United Nations, instead of to France.

Ordered out of Spain after a 90-day stay, Pierre Laval flew to Southern Germany today and surrendered to U. S. authorities in the American zone of occupation.

His plane landed before noon, after a flight from Barcelona.

A spokesman for United States forces said, in making the announcement, that no additional details were available. Presumably the aircraft came down in the Frankfurt area. The former chief of the Vichy government had left Barcelona in a German-manned Junkers 188.

It was believed his presence in the American zone would offer a tough problem in French-American relations which could be solved only by prompt delivery of Laval to French authorities.

France already has condemned Laval to death in his absence.

After the United Nations failed to accept Laval's offer, the communique said, Laval was asked to leave because a prolonged stop in Spain "might lead to the opposition" the Spanish government was acting contrary to "its decision to shelter no high political emigre."

(The British foreign office in London disclosed that Britain had made representations to Spain on Laval's action in seeking sanctuary there.)

The Spanish communique said that Laval, after his arrival without prior permission, was kept un-

Services Today for Mrs. Mae Forsyth

Mrs. Mae Forsyth, wife of C. A. "Curly" Forsyth, died last night at eight in her home at 1010 S. Reid. Mrs. Forsyth has been ill for the last three or four months.

She is survived by her husband. There are no children.

der arrest and incommunicado while the United Nations' attitude on his offer was being determined.

Officials said, however, that two suitcases filled with documents and papers which Laval brought from Bolzano were placed aboard the departing plane with official Spanish seals affixed to the clasps.

French planes were reported waiting at the border town of Perpignan to escort Laval to a prearranged destination.

Officially the plane is ordered to return to its point of departure, Bolzano, Italy, but the Spanish government has no control of the craft once it leaves Spain. There was speculation that it might go to some neutral country such as Elze, Portugal or Switzerland, to an American-occupied airport or direct to Paris.

mand which was at that time stationed in North Africa. Boyce was later transferred to the headquarters of the 15th Air Force with the title of S-2 which designates military intelligence.

Boyce says his main job was to brief the operations officers of the squadron with information concerning conditions of German employment as to their vulnerability for bombing targets. He was also a law member of the General Court Martial board of the 15th Air Force. Headquarters of the 15th was located at Earl, Italy.

Boyce came back to the U. S. in February of this year on leave. At the termination of his leave he embarked from New York for the European theater again, arriving back at his base exactly on V-E day. He again arrived back in the U. S. on June 18 of this year.

Judge Boyce makes his residence at 3200 Hayden Street, Amarillo, Texas. He was educated at Virginia Military Institute and the University of Texas, obtaining an LL.B. degree from that institution in 1928. He practiced law for 15 years in Amarillo prior to entering the service.

Petaim Trial

asked if it would not be better to obtain conditions of peace before the armies were destroyed.

"I was not thinking of an armistice at that time," he said. "I was still fighting the battle of the north and I had plans prepared for the battle of the Somme-Aisne to follow it."

He denied a statement previously attributed to Petaim in which Weygand reportedly was instructed to "fight until your armies no longer are in liaison and then I, Petaim, will impose an armistice."

Weygand was preceded by Marcel Paul, a court witness and member of the consultative assembly, who charged the Vichy police with tortures and cruelty and blamed Petaim for their actions. He said the French feared the Vichy police "ten times more than the German gestapo."

Another member of the assembly, Paul Arrighi, testified briefly that the "ordinary Frenchman" was stupefied when the French army stopped fighting. He declared he was even more shocked when Petaim met Hitler at Montoire.

Paul said he was a member of the underground during the occupation. He said the worst blows against the resistance organization were struck by the Vichy police at Petaim's orders.

He said six French generals died in the Buchenwald prison camp in Germany in "the most atrocious circumstances" and that three of them had been arrested on orders from Vichy.

Paul denounced the Vichy police for cruelties and accused them of tearing off the left breast of a woman friend.

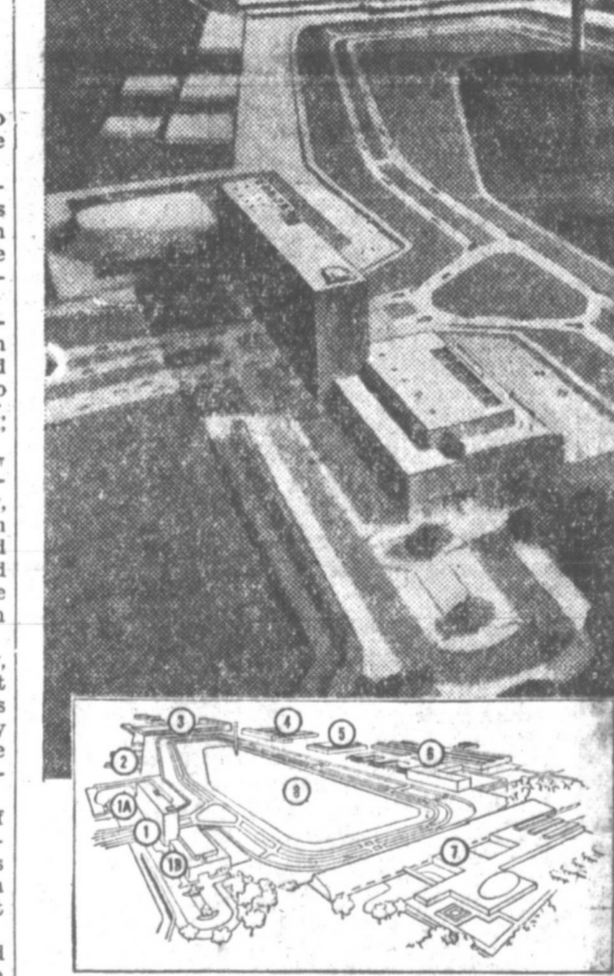

He asserted that, without the help of the Vichy police, the Germans never could have controlled France.

The general who was commander in chief of French armies when Germany crushed the republic was brought to the high court of justice under guard and in civilian dress to testify as to the first defense witness in Petaim's trial on charges of intelligency with the enemy and plotting against the security of France.

Weygand assumed full responsibility for the mistake. He gave one of the first detailed accounts of events leading to and after the surrender of France.

He said Darlan was "completely favorable" to the Germans when Africa was invaded in the fall of 1942.

It was not clear from the general's testimony whether Darlan ever received the telegram, but it was the first time anyone had stated that Petaim had any part in halting French resistance to the Allies.

ANNOUNCING THE GREAT NEW
GENERAL MOTORS TECHNICAL CENTER
Dedicated to the Achievement of
"MORE AND BETTER THINGS FOR MORE PEOPLE"

Unique and Outstanding Facilities for Research and Engineering in the Interests of Improved Products, New and Broader Service to Public Needs and Expanded Opportunities for Employment . . .

Continuing its recognition of the all-important relation of research and engineering to human progress, General Motors has long planned and now takes pleasure in announcing a noteworthy forward step in this direction—a great new Technical Center.

This "City of Science and Art," to be located just outside Detroit, is designed to provide the finest possible facilities—in the most inspiring and advantageous environment—for the research, engineering, styling and design which have long been fundamental in all fields of General Motors' operation.

The activities of the Technical Center will be in addition to the work of like nature performed by the various divisions of General Motors, and by the General Motors Proving Grounds.

The GM Technical Center is being established primarily in the interests of constant improvement of all General Motors products.

But beyond this immediate objective is the broader one of exploring opportunities to serve public needs and human aspirations in new ways and with new things more desirable, more valuable and more satisfying than ever before.

In addition, General Motors has pointedly in mind that the development of such new means of serving will help to provide new and greater opportunities for employment—will naturally create new jobs for more people.

For what we all hope may be but a short time, this important step in postwar progress must wait upon war needs. So long as military interests require, "Victory is Our Business." But as soon as events justify, ground will be broken for this, a significant step in General Motors' postwar program.

The great new GM Technical Center—inspiring evidence of faith in the future to which science and technology can guide us—will stand as a striking symbol of General Motors' goal—"More and Better Things for More People."
