Taft Calls For Air Strength To Fight Reds

WASHINGTON — (P) — Sen. Robert A. Taft says a strong American foreign policy must be built around air power potent enough to protect this continent from attack and capable of bombing Russia's heartland.

MacArthur Backs Taft . . . Politicos Prepare For New Activity

From the Associated Press. As General Eisenhower prepared for a busy week and Sen. Robert A. Taft called for foreign policy that would combine "security, peace and solvency," politicians in other parts of the nation prepared for three conventions and one primary.

MacArthur's support for Taft was announced by public announcement of his support for Senator Taft. Gen. Douglas MacArthur came out openly for Taft in the hotly-contested South Dakota primary, where 14 Republican delegates will be selected tomorrow.

It was the first time MacArthur had taken sides directly against Eisenhower. The leader of Eisenhower's 14-vote delegate slate, former Gov. George C. Mickelson, told a reporter he doesn't believe MacArthur's last-hour appeal would have any effect on the election results.

Political action over the week-end. New Mexico Republicans, in convention, chose seven Taft delegates, three Eisenhower delegates, and four who were uncommitted.

A Virginia GOP convention in New Market, Va., chose seven Taft delegates, three Eisenhower delegates, and four who were uncommitted.

Truman's Act Held Unconstitutional

WASHINGTON — (P) — The Supreme Court ruled 6-3 today that President Truman's seizure of the steel industry was unconstitutional. Within minutes CIO President Philip Murray called a nationwide strike of his 650,000 steelworkers.

In a historic decision striking down hard Truman's claim to vast inherent power under the Constitution, the high court upheld the ruling of U. S. District Judge David A. Pine that the President acted illegally in seizing the steel mills April 8 to head off a strike.

This meant the government must obey Pine's order to turn the mills back to their owners.

It also meant that the Truman administration could not carry through its promise of a wage increase to the steel workers while the mills were under government ownership.

Today's high court decision was written by Justice Black. Chief Justice Vinson and Justices Reed and Minton dissented.

In issuing his strike call today, Murray at the same time asked the steel companies to resume collective bargaining.

But Murray also made clear that the union still stands on the terms of the Wage Stabilization Board (WSB) recommendations of a 26 cent an hour "package" settlement, plus a union shop arrangement.

"In the absence of a wage agreement our members have no alternative other than to cease work."

Murray authorized local union officers to make "satisfactory arrangements for standby employees to protect the properties of the various companies during the period of stoppage."

Today's decision was of overriding importance in the controversy — as old as the American republic itself — over how great are the powers of the presidency.

Truman has repeatedly claimed he has inherent power under the Constitution to seize a private industry, or take a wide variety of other actions, to safeguard the welfare of the nation in time of national emergency.

The court said firmly, however, that this power belongs to Congress and not the President — either as the civilian head of the government or as commander-in-chief of the armed forces.

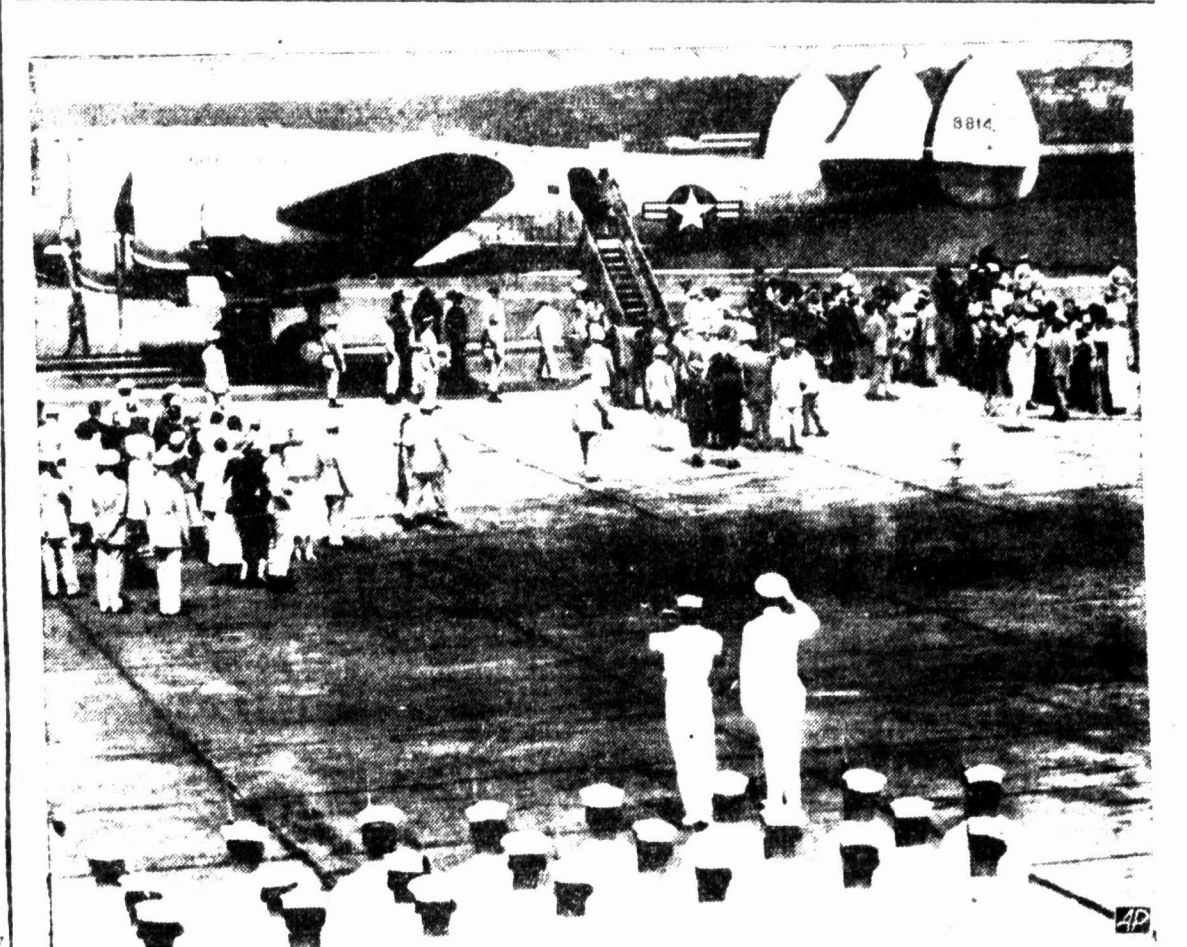

There was no immediate comment from the White House although Truman has said he will abide by the Supreme Court's decision — while saying at the same time neither the Supreme Court nor Congress can take away his power to act in an emergency.

Robert Butler, St. Paul industrialist and former ambassador to Cuba, was in the President's office when the court's ruling was announced.

Butler said Truman "didn't make any comment, at least in front of me."

Secretary of Commerce Sawyer, named by Truman to boss the government — seized mills, declined immediate comment. Aides said he was conferring by telephone with the White House.

The government was expected to file an appeal with the Supreme Court today.

Eisenhower Returns To U. S. To Give Farewell To Arms

WASHINGTON — (P) — Dwight D. Eisenhower, soldier turning politician, was here today to say farewell to arms.

Behind him were 37 years as an Army officer, including two periods as supreme commander of all armies of the West in Europe.

Before him looms one of the roughest and most bitter political campaigns in recent history. And the hard-fought is likely to be within the Republican party, for the presidential nomination which Sen. Robert A. Taft and others are seeking.

Transition. Yesterday the five-star general stood by the plane which brought him from Paris, smiling in the warmth of a summer sun and a military welcome for a great soldier come home. Tomorrow afternoon he will be faced by the cold facts of political life.

That is when he has said he will do his bidding, after his last call at the Pentagon. He makes his first speech in public at Abilene, Kans., Wednesday.

Even as he arrived, Taft's campaign headquarters got out a statement welcoming him back to this country but regretting that "he didn't return sooner."

"Now that he is about to take off his battle jacket we of the Republican Party hope that he will start fighting," said a statement by Rep. R. Carroll Reece of Tennessee, manager of the committee backing the Ohio senator for the GOP nomination.

Expenses. Eisenhower could start by "telling us whether or not the plan to spend half a million dollars in paying the expenses of delegates to come and see him has his approval."

This was a reference to a bid from Eisenhower backers for GOP convention delegates to visit the general at the expense of the local campaign groups, if the delegates do not pay their own travel expenses.

As part of Eisenhower's official welcome, he was hurried to the White House yesterday to report to President Truman. He was there almost two hours. The greater part of the time was devoted to a two-hour talk between the President and the general and a subsequent session with Secretary of Defense Robert Lovett, Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and Secretary of the Army Frank Pace.

Father of Pampan Dies In Oklahoma. W. F. Pirtle, father of Roscoe Pirtle, 212 N. Nelson died early Sunday in his home in Tulsa. He was about 80.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p. m. Tuesday in Tulsa. Mr. and Mrs. Pirtle were in Tulsa when the father died and will remain until after the services. A niece, Norma Ann Pirtle, also lives in Pampa.

Heavy Rain Hits Pampa

A heavy rainfall and widely divergent temperatures came to the Pampa area over the week-end. While the rain was welcomed in some farming areas, it was of little use to the wheat farmers.

The total rainfall for the week-end was .84 inch, more than two-thirds of which fell yesterday. Last night's downpour made it one of Pampa's wettest periods in some time.

According to Foster Whaley, county farm agent, the rain was "a big help" for the growers of spring oats, barley and maize.

Mr. Whaley said, however, that it was a question of "too little, too late" for the wheat farmers.

The week ends temperatures ran the gamut from a high reading of 92 degrees to a low of 47 (both on Saturday). Yesterday's high was 79, which descended to an even 60 degrees last night.

To the south in Plainview, the farmer scanned the clouds to little avail, for there was scarcely a trace of moisture. Their cotton and wheat crops were in need of a slow, easy rain.

By midmorning the thermometer read 74 degrees.

Three Holdup Men Get Diamonds, Furs

KANSAS CITY — (P) — Three holdup men took diamonds and furs valued at $81,400 and $500 cash from the home of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Burnett in an exclusive Kansas City residential section last night.

Mrs. Burnett is the former Miss Marcelina Pendergast, daughter of the late T. J. Pendergast. The home where the holdup occurred was the residence of the Democratic faction leader many years.

Commission To Try Again On Manager

The city commission tomorrow will take another crack at finding a city manager for Pampa during its Tuesday session.

Mayor C. A. Huff said the qualifications of one applicant, who has been under investigation for several days, will be discussed.

But whether any one will be selected finally tomorrow is doubtful, according to the mayor.

Several local men have been mentioned for the post so far including City Engineer Ray Evans, Postmaster W. B. Weathered, R. Edmondson, former owner of the Pampa Oilers, Jim Perkins, and several others.

WTCC To Open Pampa Drive

Membership drive for the newly reorganized West Texas Chamber of Commerce will get underway in Pampa tomorrow with a breakfast at 7:30 a. m. in the Schneider Hotel.

Approximately 20 local businessmen are to be present to hear the WTCC work program explained by Fred H. Husbands, executive vice-president and general manager of WTCC from Abilene.

Also present will be John Couch, director at large of WTCC from Haskell, who will explain the objectives of the chamber; Jimmy Lovell, manager of the Panhandle Plains branch from Plainview; and Ralph Duncan, manager of community services department, Abilene.

The drive is to last two days and is a follow-up of drives in other Panhandle cities.

Local director of the WTCC is G. S. "Pinky" Vineyard and a director at large is Roy Bourland of Pampa.

Newsman Is Held Without Bail In Herring Holdup

A former newspaper man in both Amarillo and Pampa, Robert J. (Bob) Fought, is being held without bail in Potter County jail, Amarillo, on charges of armed robbery. On parole from Michigan State Prison, where he had served 10 years of a 15-year term for robbery, Fought has admitted pulling the $1,600 robbery of the Herring Hotel Saturday.

In Amarillo Fought covered youth activities and boys and girls club news for more than three years. For a brief time in Pampa he handled sports news for a local publication.

Fought told police his motive for the robbery was to get himself out of debt and provide a nice apartment for his daughter when she came to visit him. He has not seen his daughter for 14 years.

Fought had been paroled in the custody of several Amarillo citizens who had become interested in his case after reading some of his written material.

New Buildings Due Board Discussion. Board members of the Pampa Independent School District will meet at 7:30 p. m. today in the business office of the city hall to discuss school construction and canvass the recent public election, according to Knox Kinard, superintendent.

The election approved the construction of a new high school building and a new elementary school and plans for these are to be made with an architect tonight, said Kinard.

The Mature Parent

By MURIEL LAWRENCE
She is tall, quiet child of 14 whose parents were divorced three years ago. When a baby was recently born to her father and his new wife, she was asked to come and see her little half-sister.

"I told Daddy I didn't feel like it yet," she told me. "I love him, but I'd feel kind of queer with one that belonged to Daddy and not to my mother, too. Is that wrong to me?"

"No," I said. "It's hard not to feel strange in strange situations."

"When I grow up and somebody wants to marry me, do you know what I'm going to tell them?" she said. "I'm going to say 'Please let's think about this some more and we'll see.' We're sure things are going to be different when they leave. . . . Well, my mother and father are both divorced. I think divorce is stupid."

I hope she keeps her word. I don't think divorce is too bright herself.

The more I see of it, the more it reminds me of that tiny boy, Roland, the son of the late Mrs. Hove and the Mrs. Hutter, who when they spilled their milk, got the problem by moving their tea plates to the next clean place at the table.

No wonder. After the real test was passed by her charming and irresponsible boss. Although she was too maturely to inquire, how she must have wanted to know. "But what do you do when you have used all the clean places at your table?"

Though it is obvious that we cannot stay married to people to whom we have lost respect, the answer really doesn't seem to be in constantly moving to a fresh deal at the matrimonial table. I wonder if the real answer may not be a more careful selection of the people with whom we first sit down at the table?

If Emmeline was proved to be a giddy sort who had shaken her curls at too many gallants, the hazards of marriage to her were suggested to Edward. If he was discovered to have too often trifled with the truth and his tailor's bills, his disqualifications for the responsibilities of wedlock were put to Emmeline.

Neither Edward nor Emmeline considered that the unwarranted interference in the course of true love they stayed married because they, like their parents believed that marriage should be made, not merely to accommodate the heart throbs of temporary emotion, but to establish an institution called home.

I find it interesting that my young friend of the 20th Century, shocked, hurt and confused by her parents' divorce, should be planning to do for herself exactly what Emmeline and Edward's parents did for them.

Perhaps she is a hopeful person. Perhaps the children who have suffered from the poor judgment of their parents are learning the hard way that marriage is not just a personal affair, but one in which unborn people have investments.

Other officers elected for the club, composed of Pampa and Borger women, included: Mrs. John Usery, vice-president; Mrs. John Pitts, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Sam Williams, finance; Mrs. Usery and Mrs. L. B. Lively, both of Borger, yearbook chairmen; and Mrs. M. P. Downs, reporter. Mrs. Glen James was appointed orthopedic chairman.

The most recent meeting of the organization was held in Borger in the home of Mrs. James. The day was spent in sewing and tea towels, the club project, were completed.

Luncheon was served at noon to Misses Crouch, Emmett Forrester, John Pitts, Williams, all of Pampa, and Mrs. Lively and Mrs. James of Borger.

Do It Now

If you want your home to run smoothly and efficiently, never leave a chore until tomorrow. Tomorrow you will have other tasks, and when they all pile up, you might be discouraged. Especially is this true of dishwashing, a few dishes to be washed will mean only a few minutes of your time perhaps. But left until tomorrow's dishes accumulate, dishwashing can become a real chore.

Elizabeth G. Vining, American Teacher, Tutored Japan's Crown Prince, Akihito

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Woman's Editor
NEW YORK (NEA)—In these modern times, one of the most exciting and extraordinary adventures that could befall an American woman would be that of acting as tutor to the Crown Prince of Japan.

In the mysterious, innermost of the Imperial Court, this woman would see unprecedented history-making changes.

It is an adventure that actually did befall one American woman, a Quaker named Elizabeth Gray Vining. For four years, dating from October, 1946, she guided Prince Akihito's education, both in private lessons and in a classroom.

She saw him grow from a chubby, round-faced boy into a handsome, poised young man. And for him, she opened windows on a new way of life.

In a recent visit to New York, Mrs. Vining talked about her adventure, and her royal pupil, with obvious delight and pride. The delight was for the four years she had spent with the Japanese people; the pride was for the Prince.

"The first question I'm always asked," she said, smiling, "is how I happened to go to Japan. Well, it came about because the Emperor himself wanted a tutor for his son. It was an unprecedented step for him to take, since other people, by and even if you do, you still may want a job."

Tip to the sweet girl graduate who will soon be starting out on her first job: A business man says he has found that married women and widows and divorcees with dependents make better saleswomen than single girls.

He figures that is because the single girl all too often regards her job as just something to be done while she is looking around for a husband, and she does not take it as seriously as does the woman who knows she may be working for years.

So here's the tip: If you want to get ahead in your job, deliberately avoid giving anyone the idea that the job isn't really important to you.

Don't spend every free minute chatting with the other girls about where you went last night and where you're going tonight. Nothing makes a job seem less important than comparing from it every chance you get.

Don't keep giving "I don't know" as an answer. On any new job there will be plenty that you don't know. But let that be a challenge to learn rather than an excuse for not doing a certain thing.

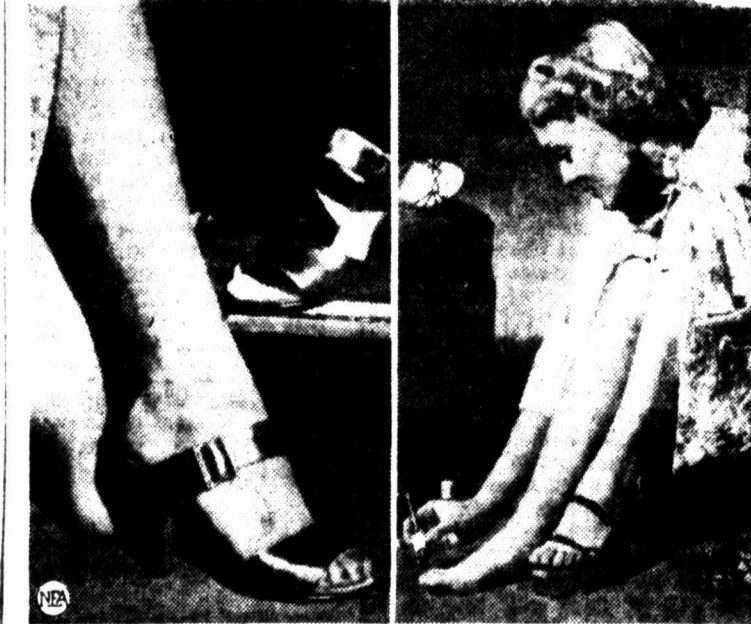

Don't give women a fishy stare and play up to the men. You are going to have to work with women and serve women—it will pay off to treat them with friendly courtesy.

Don't let yourself get a habit of being a few minutes late to work. The person who rushes in late every day starts each day at a disadvantage.

Don't act as though your job is beneath you. Give it dignity by doing it well.

Maybe you are just working until you can find a husband. But you don't need to handicap yourself by giving away that secret. You may not find that husband.

Mrs. J. D. Schroedel, treasurer of the League of Women Voters of Pampa, is the subject of our personality profile this week. She is the guardian of the budget, and custodian of all League funds. She makes regular reports to the Board and to the membership. She is responsible for sending out dues notices and membership cards. She also sends reports to the state and national offices on changes in her League's membership list and on local League income and expenditures.

This is a large assignment, but Mrs. Schroedel needs some help, she can always count on the knowledge and training of her husband, an accountant. Upon being asked if he thought she should accept nomination for the office, Mr. Schroedel assured her that she should do so, and that he would help her in every way. Now that is a man after our own heart.

Mrs. Schroedel was born in Granby, Mo., and attended teachers' colleges in Springfield, Mo., and Pittsburg, Kansas, and Washburn College in Topeka. Her interests include cooking for her family, of which there are three boys: Danny, 16; Tom, 12; and Dick, 11. She reads the Bible attentively and enjoys fiction, biography, and history. She met her husband while she was teaching; his father was professor of Latin in St. John's College, just across the street from the school in which she taught.

Her hope for the League lies in reaching a true cross-section of the community in the study units.

Thomas Jefferson characterized Benjamin Franklin as "the most amiable man in society," and declared that the rule which governed Doctor Franklin's conduct was "never to contradict anybody." If he was urged to announce an opinion, he did it rather by asking questions, as if for information, or by suggesting doubts.

Some men get into trouble by marrying two women; others accomplish the same result by marrying one.

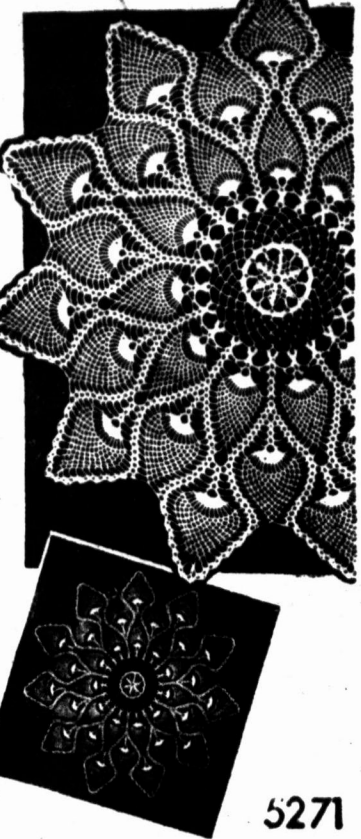

"The fleet is the precision tool of diplomacy," — Dan Kimball, Secretary of the Navy.

Convictions has been defined as the effect of our own dispassionate reading, either in solitude, or weighing within ourselves, dispassionately, whatever we hear from others.

How many of us really read or think dispassionately? Do we not often adopt a phrase or point of view from a favorite commentator or writer, then put it forth as our own considered opinion?

Recipe for objective thinking: read at least two newspapers, one with whose editorial opinion you disagree heartily; listen to at least two reputable commentators, with one of whom you differ strongly; read one, preferably two, news magazines.

WHAT'S COOKIN' IN GRAY COUNTY HD CLUB WORK

By HELEN DUNLAP
Farm and Home Safety was the theme of the District One 4-H Camp, held at the West Texas State College at Canyon this week. Twenty-two counties were represented at the camp with a total attendance of 160. Mr. E. C. Martin, State Agricultural Leader with the Extension Service, College Station, presented movies to show how care and forethought may aid in preventing tractor and other accidents which often happen on the farm. He said that the number of farm accidents head the list of various types of avoidable accidents.

Ways to avoid several types of farm accidents were shown by the observation of the right precautions to take in the use of the tractor, fire, electricity, and fire arms. The Southwestern Public Service representative explained and showed how to use electricity as a servant in doing farm and home jobs. He cautioned care in its use, as it acts strangely at times. "Take the wrong step with electricity, and the loss of life will be the result," he said.

Wednesday afternoon, the camp group visited Palo Duro Canyon, where a demonstration was given in the use of the gun by a representative of the Remington and is fascinating to watch.

Arms Works. He showed the right way to carry a gun and how to get over the fence with it, as well as how to remove it from a car or its storage place. By the use of articles such as potatoes, cabbage, eggs and metal rings, he demonstrated the shooting of them in the air. Sometimes he threw them in the air himself and other times he had boys to throw them. He showed a most unusual act by throwing an egg in the air, then loaded his gun and shot the egg before it struck the ground. All were intensely interested in watching the demonstrator outline a western with a big hat on his head. He did this by shooting the outline with his gun on a plain sheet of white card-board paper. Each gun hole was spaced about two inches apart in amazing regularity.

The Porto Clinic driving test was conducted by a Stanolind Oil Company representative. Each one was given a test for accuracy of vision; color recognition; depth of perception; and time of reaction to the red stop light.

One afternoon was spent on a hazard hunt at the college farm about two miles from Canyon. The group was divided into eight small ones for this hunt. The group listing the most hazards was given recognition at the Wednesday noon program.

Recreation was a most important part of the camp. The boys and girls sang at each general assembly and each night was spent playing games led by various groups. On Wednesday night was given over to a talent show, including readings, singing, and instrumental numbers given by the 4-H delegates.

The girls attending the camp from Gray County were: Billie Mae Osborne, Blue Bell Club; Margaret Sanders, Lefors High; and Joan Robertson, Pampa High. Mr. and Mrs. Foster Whaley and Helen Dunlap representing the County Extension Service accompanied these three girls and three boys on the camp trip.

John Dewey, Philosopher, Dies At 92

NEW YORK — (AP) — Philosopher John Dewey, 92, often described as the father of progressive education, died last night. He was stricken with pneumonia Saturday, just a few days after he was reported recovering from a broken hip. He died at his Fifth Avenue home.

Dewey injured his hip last November when he fell in his apartment while playing with his two adopted children, Adrienne, 12, and John Jr., 9. Few, if any, men had as much influence on educational thinking of his time. Dewey's idea was that emphasis should be placed on the individual child rather than on the subject.

"Learning by doing" was his basic belief. He thought that a pupil should learn through scientific inquiry rather than have his mind stuffed with facts.

His educational methods aroused much controversy, and it took about 80 years for them to gain general acceptance.

A native of Burlington, Vt., Dewey continued his educational writings almost to the end.

He graduated from the University of Vermont in 1879 and took his doctor of philosophy degree from Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, in 1884. He started teaching at once and continued this career until retiring in 1904 after a quarter century at Columbia University.

The philosopher married Alice Chipman in 1886. They had six children, of whom four survive, and an adopted child, Mrs. Dewey died in 1927. He married Mrs. Roberta Lowitz Grant in 1946. She survives.

TAFT CALLS

Truman is an attack on General Eisenhower.

Repeatedly Taft emphasized that in the Republican presidential campaign, "there must be no hesitation about attacking the foreign policy of Mr. Truman and Mr. Acheson."

"We cannot afford to nominate a candidate who will not condemn the utter failure of Mr. Truman's administration," Taft said.

The Ohioan called bipartisanship in present foreign policy a fraud. "When Mr. Truman talks of it," Taft said, "he means that he will make the policy and the Republicans must always go along with it."

Foreign policy is so tied in with domestic policy that it must be a campaign issue, Taft said. He declared it brought the draft of American boys, "a war in Korea which could have been avoided," $5 billion dollars yearly in government spending, the yearly taxes in history and widespread government controls.

Aid to Others

Taft said this country must give economic aid to others but in emergencies, and to arm those who wish to defend themselves against Communist attack. This program, he added, "must be within our economic capacity and hand-outs of money cannot be the key to our foreign policy."

Under the Truman administration, Taft declared, America since 1945 has lost the military supremacy it had over Russia. Now, he said, the Soviets dominate Europe and Asia.

Malcolm Crowder, Wheeler, was being held by city police today for investigation in the forging of an endorsement of a government check.

Chief of Police Jim Conner said the check was a veteran pension check issued to Gene Tucker, Painters Union.

Conner said information given police said the check was taken several days ago.

Worry Said To Affect Teeth

MONTREAL — (AP) — Dr. Albert Laferriere of Montreal says dentists would have less work if people would stop worrying.

He told the closing session of the annual meeting of the American Academy of Dental Medicine that with the world situation so tense and prices sky-rocketing, everyone seems to be "grinding their teeth."

"It may be hard to believe, but the state of the nation has a lot to do with the dental mortality rate," he said.

"People who worry don't sleep and become run down, and this has a direct effect on their general health resulting in teeth disorders and diseases."

COURT

to notify the owners of the steel mills later this afternoon that it is turning the properties back to them.

John W. Davis, the lawyer who argued the steel companies' case before the Supreme Court, arranged to issue a statement later on behalf of the industry.

In addition to the majority concurring opinions were written by Justices Frankfurter, Douglas, Clark, Jackson and Burton.

Black's opinion said Truman's view when an aide gave Truman steel industry "cannot properly be sustained as an exercise of the President's military power as commander in chief of the armed forces."

Black added:

"Nor can the seizure order be sustained because of the several constitutional provisions that grant executive power to the President."

Not A Law Maker

"In the framework of our Constitution," Black said, "the President's power to see that the laws are faithfully executed refutes the idea that he is to be a lawmaker."

Truman told his news conference May 22 he would abide by the court's ruling and would turn the mills back to their owners and then see what happens.

At the same time, however, the President still insisted he has the inherent power to seize private industries in an emergency and that nobody — neither Congress nor the courts — can take that power away from him.

As to what he would do if the high tribunal ruled flatly that the President has no seizure power as it did today — Truman said he would cross that bridge when he came to it.

Vacuum Cleaner Powers Bagpipes

The 36-year-old bulldozer operator got the idea after he used the cleaner to blow his player piano.

He recently was invited to join a pipe band.

"I soon discovered that it was too much for me to read the music and wiggle my fingers and keep the thing blown up—all at the same time. So I hitched up the vacuum cleaner."

"That took the blowing job off my mind and left me free to concentrate on the other two. The result is that I can now play 'The Barren Rock of Aden' by heart and the opening notes of the 'Bonnets of Bonnie Dundee.'"

Bodies Of Couple Found In Park

NEW YORK — (AP) — A stroller in Central Park yesterday came upon the bodies of a man and woman lying four feet apart.

Police found on the bodies two notes written on one sheet of paper. Both were to the same effect:

"Cannot live together and are not going to live apart. I hope we will be buried together as one."

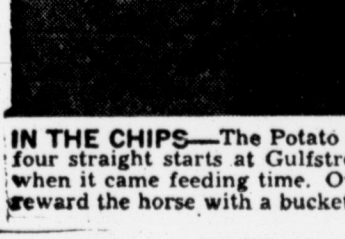

A .45 caliber automatic pistol lay nearby.

Police said it appeared that Louis Rizzary, about 38 and married, had killed Mrs. Juanita Rivera, a divorcee about 30, with two shots and then killed himself with a shot in the mouth.

Priest Would Forgive, Forget Church Theft

NEW YORK — (AP) — Msgr. Angelo R. Cioffi says he would "forgive and forget" if thieves returned two gem-encrusted gold crowns taken from a Roman Catholic shrine in Brooklyn.

Church officials say the crowns, taken from the Regina Pacis Votive Shrine, were insured for $100,000 but their "moral value cannot be replaced."

The disappearance of the crowns was discovered Saturday, just six days after they were installed in the two-million-dollar shrine, built as the result of a vow taken by the congregation of St. Rosalia's Church.

During mass at the shrine yesterday, Cioffi spoke of "the insult to the Blessed Mother and asked for prayers for recovery of the crowns."

St. Rosalia's congregation, in May, 1942, vowed to erect the shrine in honor of the Virgin as the Queen of Peace. Many of the church members contributed family jewels for the crowns, which were personally blessed by the Pope in Rome.

The 1952 bride pays as little or as much as she likes for her bridal gown and is in fashion either way. But just one hundred years ago, fashion decreed a minimum of $500 for a wedding dress and $125 for the veil! The veil, however, could be worn as a scarf later.

Nine Teen-Agers Die In Crash

SYDNEY, Australia — (AP) — Two more persons died today, bringing to nine the death toll in the crash near Melbourne of a train and a bus loaded with teen-agers returning from a church camp.

Twenty other persons were injured when the electric train crashed last night into the bus at an open level crossing at the foot of the Dandenong range, 20 miles from Melbourne.

Two West Hartford girls, Mildred Ann Cohen and Rhoda Marcus, turned down 10 proposals of marriage. The proposals were in six languages, but somehow the girls got the "pitch."

Sometimes it was by signs and gestures—one tried thumping his manly chest.

But after all the flowers, perfumes, tears and hand-kissing they said they preferred the frank American approach "by a magnificent margin."

Boy Off To See General—Again

NEW YORK — (AP) — Almost three weeks ago John Arzoozomanian, 13, ran off to Washington to see a general. "Just any general."

Today John was gone from home again, and his father speculated that this time the boy had a particular general in mind — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, who arrived in Washington yesterday.

John's father, Khosrov Arzoozomanian, a Bronx grocer, said he wished he could afford to send the boy to a military school.

"That's all that's on his mind — army, army, army," the grocer said.

Arzoozomanian, reporting the disappearance of his son yesterday, told police that also missing were a wooden rifle, an Army uniform, a duffel bag and about $40.

The boy was found in a Washington bus station on May 13 after his previous trip.

NEW YORK — (AP) — Two children of taxi drivers are having their way paid to college by their dad's boss.

Daniel G. Arnstein, president of two taxi firms, recently presented his fifth annual scholarship covering all college expenses for both undergraduate and graduate work.

One winner, Miss Gloria Jessie, plans to study medicine while Donald Rosenberg will concentrate on aeronautical engineering. Each is 17 years old.

Big Parachutes Tested By Navy

EL CENTRO, Calif. — (AP) — Six tons of lead and cement floated to the ground yesterday in two of the world's largest parachutes, which had been dropped from a flying boxcar at 2200 feet.

Parachute experts at the El Centro Naval Air Station are testing the big umbrellas' ability to drop heavy military equipment.

Officials theorize, however, that smaller chutes or clusters of them will probably prove more practical than the big one.

The chute is made of three-quarters of an acre of nylon and is 200 feet in diameter. When packed it is tall as a man.

Black Oilers Defeat Amarillo

The Pampa Black Oilers evened their weeks play yesterday afternoon by downing the Amarillo Colts at Oiler Park, 10-8, Friday afternoon. They dropped a 10-9 decision to the Pampa Sports. The game yesterday was played at Oiler Park.

Next Sunday the Black Oilers meet Memphis at Oiler Park and the following Sunday meet Clark here. Both games start at 3 p.m.

Clovis. Game time is 9 p.m. over KPDN. The Oilers got their lone marker in the third when Pedro Santiago opened with a triple down the leftfield line and scored on Cully Rikard's fielder's choice. They threatened in the ninth when Earl Harriman got life on Ed Sudol's error and Bill Haley singled over second. Vines Sarubbi laid down a sacrifice bunt to advance the pair. But Hinchman's bunt grounded when Harriman was trapped off third because Harley was already occupying the sack. Santiago stroled to load the bases, but Hal Abbott grounded into a forecourt.

Teams Doubled
Pampa needed but one safety to get both its tallies in the fourth. Catcher Art Cutti muffed a third strike to put Sudol on Phillips walked. Manuel Tenes then cleared the hassocks with a booming two bagger to the leftfield fence.

The Oilers threatened in the seventh when Montero and Auerbach opened with base hits. But Hinchman settled to get the next three batters on two long flies and a grounder.

Montero struck out two, issued six bases on balls and left 10 Dukes stranded in shading Hinchman's eight - hit pitching of six strikeouts, four walks and eight left. For the young southpaw, it was the third defeat against six

Schoolboys Bid For State Ball Crown Today

AUSTIN — (AP) — Nearly everybody was somebody's favorite today as Texas' eight best schoolboy teams opened their championship baseball tournament. The first game was scheduled for 2 p.m. at Dusch Field, with Waco and Abilene in the opener. Tyler and John Reagan of Houston meet at 4 p.m.

There are two games tonight: Laredo and Bryan at 7 p.m. and Crozier Tech of Dallas meeting Amarillo at 9 p.m.

Semi-finals will be played Tuesday, with the consolation and final games coming Wednesday night.

So impressive are the win-loss records of several teams this year that the experts were having trouble picking a favorite.

South Park of Beaumont, last year's champion, was knocked out of the running in bi-district play with Bryan.

Tyler is the only team returning from last year's tournament, and it reportedly has a fine ball club.

John Reagan, Crozier Tech of Dallas and Amarillo were also right up near the top with good all season win-loss records.

Ransom Attends Fame Banquet

DALLAS — (AP) — Henry Ransom, one of the illustrious golfers bringing fame to Texas, will attend the Texas Hall of Fame dinner here June 9 when Ben Hogan, the golf great, and the late Joe Routt, Texas A&M all-American football player, are enshrined.

Ransom is the eighth noted golfer to accept an invitation to attend the dinner. Previously Jack Burke and Jimmie Demaret of Houston, Harry Todd and Earl Stewart of Dallas, Roberto De Vicenzo of Buenos Aires, Argentina; Skip Alexander of St. Petersburg, Fla., and Cary Middlecott of Memphis, Tenn., accepted invitations.

Ransom, who now lives at Bryn-A-Tex, long has been a star of the PGA tournament trail. His major championship was the world's title at Chicago in 1950.

Also included in the guests at the dinner will be the two daughters of Routt, who was killed in a World War II. They will accept a plaque in behalf of their father.

Qualifying Starts For Women's Meet
TEXARKANA — (AP) — Qualifying rounds began today in the Texas Women's Golf Tournament with Pat Garner, the long-leader from Midland, favored to lead the way.

More than 100 players are due to post scores. Match play begins tomorrow.

Women's par is 77 over the pine-needle-lined Texarkana Country Club course and it is expected that even par will capture the medal.

Polly Riley of Fort Worth, the defending champion, is not here. She is playing in the Curtis Cup matches in England. Miss Garner was a semi-finalist last year.

Wichita Falls In Big State Lead

By The Associated Press
Temple's Eagles are moving rapidly toward the elite of the Big State League. The Eagles couldn't do anything right to start the season and languished down there where Waco has its haunts for a long time.

Temple now has nine straight and moved within a half-game of the first division.

A glittering duel for first has somewhat obscured the redemption of the Eagles but it is time for the big boys to start worrying now.

There was a modicum of joy in Waco today. The Pirates finally had won a game. They went through seven without it, then had to pick out, of all teams, the Austin Pioneers, who were tied for the league lead, as the victims. Waco whipped Austin 5-0 yesterday to knock the Pioneers off the top. At the same time Temple was edging Tyler 7-2 and it left Wichita Falls, which beat Longview 7-6, high and dry in first place.

Billy Queen and Glenn Burns furnished the punch Wichita Falls needed to edge Longview. Queen hit two home runs and Burns one and they accounted for three runs apiece.

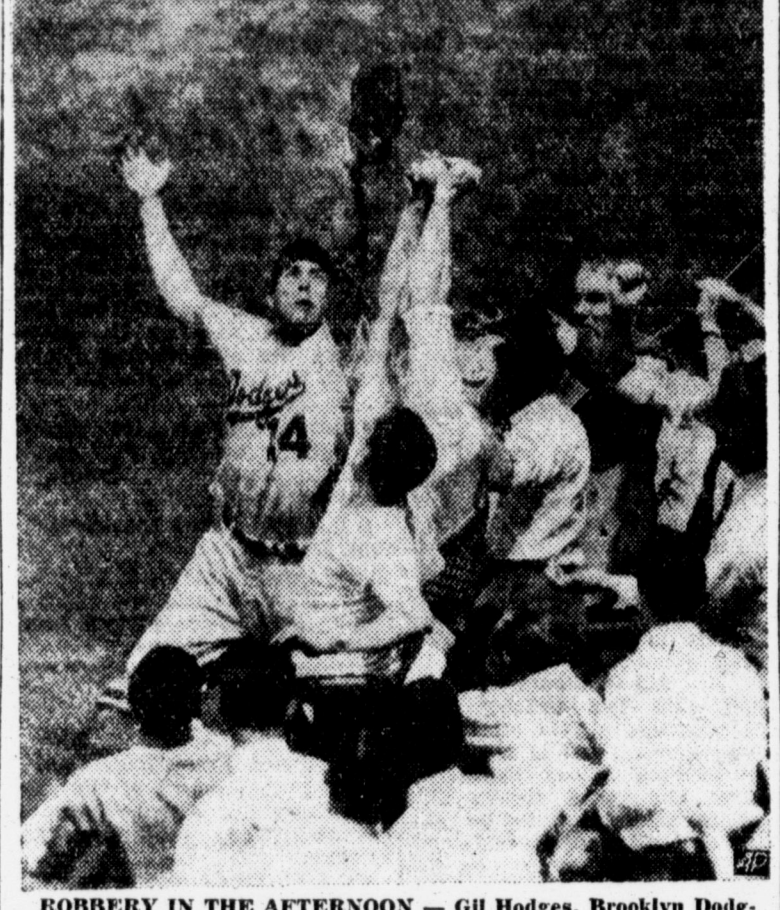

Temple jumped on Tyler Pitcher Ed Beach for 13 hits. Walt Wencelaw scattered seven Tyler hits for seven innings but had to be taken out when struck by a pitched ball. Lefty Dale Myrdland blanked the East Texans the rest of the way.

Jim McGee limited Austin to five hits as Waco got out of the dog-house, although not the cellar. The Pirates pounded nine hits off a trio of Austin pitchers.

Paris beat Texarkana 4-2 as Bob Swanson allowed only four hits and fanned six. The Indians used the home run ball for most of the damage. Round-trippers were slugged by Mario Diaz and Bobby Montelongo.

Kiwanis Softball Underway Tonight

The Pampa Kiwanis Church Softball program is scheduled to get underway tonight in the Hobart Street Park at 8 p.m. It will be the ninth season of play for the program which was originally begun in 1944 and has been opening yearly since by the Kiwanis Club in cooperation with the churches of the city.

Only one game will be played tonight. In that the Central Baptist and First Methodist Senior Boys teams play. The junior boys and junior girls start play tomorrow night. Then on Thursday, providing another team has been obtained by that time, the senior girls will start their season.

The league is run almost entirely by the Kiwanis Club. The Kiwanians provide the equipment, the fields and the umpires and supervisory officials. The churches need only provide the teams and a couple of managers.

Special ceremonies are scheduled prior to tonight's opening game. All Kiwanians are asked to attend the opening game, and all the people of Pampa are invited to see the games under the lights, free, each night.

Williams' Slam Beats Gold Sox

AMARILLO — (AP) — Oscar Williams' jackpot homer over the right field wall with two out in the top of the ninth turned an apparent defeat into an 8-6 victory for Abilene here Sunday after Amarillo had led all the way from the first inning.

Gene Wolf, Amarillo's loser, made it possible with his own error on Sonny Hank's bounce. After that, Jackie Sullivan grounded out and the game should have been over there. Instead, Stan Machinsky and Glen Selbo singled Hancks across and a base on balls to Art Bowland jammed the bases for Williams' big blow, which came on the next pitch.

Brooks Take Lead

Brooklyn swept past the Giants into the No. 1 spot by edging the Chicago Cubs 3-2. The Dodgers scored all their runs in the second inning, two of them coming on Gil Hodges' two-run homer.

The Boston Braves won their first game for new manager Charlie Grimm with an 18-11, 9-4 victory over Cincinnati after veteran southpaw Ken Raffensberger had pitched the Reds to a 1-0 masterpiece in the opener of the twin bill.

Ralph Kiner clouted his seventh homer with two out in the ninth inning of the Philadelphia-Indians game between the Indians and Yankees in New York.

Getting good support from his teammates, righthander George McDuff went the route for the victory and marked up his second victory of the season against three losses. The loser was ace Clovis righthander Jack Gaines, whose record now stands at 6-5.

Gaines walked in the first run of the game in the Hubber half of the second after the visitors had loaded the bases with a single by Jim Schindler, a walk by Bill Metzger and fielder's choice for shortstop Choo-Choo Rabon. Jess Jacinto drew the walk that forced Schindler in with the tally.

Gassers Defeat Lobos Again, 5-1

BORGER — (AP) — Manager Jay Haney gave up four runs in the first inning Sunday and it proved to be all the cushion enemy Ed Flanagan needed as he pitched the Gassers past the Lobos 5-1 to record his sixth win of the season.

The game gave the Gassers a 3-1 margin over the Lobos in their current stand here.

Del Smith relieved Haney in the fourth after the Gassers had scored one run and had the bases loaded. Smith retired the side and limited Borger to two scratch hits the rest of the way in.

Flanagan allowed Lamesa a single tally in the fourth. Don Stokes doubled and scored on Bob Falk's singles.

Question: Who preceded Babe Ruth in right field for the Yankees?
Answer: Sammy Yack.

Q. Who did Connie Mack succeed as a manager?
A. He succeeded Al Buckenberger at Pittsburgh in 1894.

Q. What were the immortal Ty Cobb's big league totals for hits, runs scored and stolen bases?
A. The Georgia Peach went to bat 11,429 times, collected 4191 hits, stole 892 bases, scored 2244 runs, all major league records.

Q. Which club was elected the top athletic team — amateur or pro — in the country last year?
A. The Yankees, followed by the Giants.

Q. How many two-hit games were turned in by the National League pitchers in 1951?
A. Eighteen National League moundsmen also accounted for 23 three-hitters.

Q. How many home runs did Jimmy Mike hit his first dozen years in the majors?
A. Through his first 12 years in both big leagues, the large Yankee pinch-hitter hit 341 homers, the same number of doubles. This included the 1956 campaign.

Douglass Captures Phillips Invitational Meet

Conquers Shields For First Crown

Malcolm Douglass, son of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Douglass of Pampa, kept the Phillips Country Club Invitational Golf Championship in Pampa yesterday as he swept to a 2 and 1 victory over Kenneth Shields of Plainview in the finals.

It was the first tournament championship for the young Texan A&M golfer, number one man on the Aggie squad. He has been tournament medalist numerous times and been in the role of runner-up several times before.

His victory was brought with outstanding golf. He was never behind to Shields, Wayne College student, leading from the second hole on Douglass gained the finals with a morning 3 and 2 victory over Chick Dawson, veteran Amarillo campaigner.

At the conclusion of his championship victory Douglass was one under par, a cold putter keeping him from being three or four more strokes beneath standard. In the morning he was two under as the match ended on the sixteenth hole.

NEW CHAMPION — Malcolm Douglass, young Pampa golfer and No. 1 man on the Texas A&M golf squad, yesterday won his first tournament victory as he replaced C. F. McGinnis as champion of the Phillips Invitational meet with a 2 and 1 victory over Ken Shields of Plainview. (News Photo)

Shields Tops Austin
Douglass closed out the morning match with a beautiful 25-foot putt for a birdie three on the 360-yard sixteenth hole.

Shields advanced to the finals with a 1-up, 19-hole triumph over Grover Austin, Jr., of Pampa. Austin, whose woods were keeping him in trouble, was one up going into the eighteenth green. But the lanky Plainview youngster dropped a birdie on the last hole to even the match and then threw up another one on the nineteenth green to move into the finals as Austin missed his drive and second shot.

Douglass took command of the championship match quickly, winning the second and third holes. A par on the second was good enough as Shields three-putted. On the 192-yard third hole, Douglass' drive was five feet from the pin for a deuce birdie. Shields took the next hole with a birdie three, after making a beautiful recovery from the rough to within five feet of the cup.

Storm Strikes
The next two holes the youngsters traded three-putts to swap the holes but Douglass again hit his shot within five feet of the cup on the 150-yard seventh for another deuce to go two up. Shields, who had been torrid on the long putts all afternoon, slipped down a 35-foot putt on the ninth green to cut Douglass' margin to one-up at the turn.

They halved the tenth but Douglass took the eleventh with a birdie three as Shields again three-putted. Douglass clipped short on the 110-yard thirteenth hole to lose with a bogie but came right back to go two up with a birdie on the next hole as Shields again three-putted. The rest of the way the boys split the holes until Douglass closed it on the seventeenth green. They finished just in time because thunder and lightning followed them the final two greens and then the monsoon like winds and rain hit just as they finished their match.

The tournament's defending champion, C. F. McGinnis, who was eliminated by the new champion in the first round, was one-down to H. L. Bradley of Borger when the rains hit going into the eighteenth green. Both men got their tee shots away, but were unable to finish the round and McGinnis conceded the match to Bradley.

Pampa also had some other champions. Ruhl Samples, president of the Panhandle Men's Golf Association, worked his way through the first flight to the championship. Jimmy Jake Parler of Phillips, 2 and 1, in the finals. In the same flight, Earnest Wilmoth of Spearman downed Dick Kilgore of Pampa for the consolation championship.

In the second flight, Bud Henderson of Quanah downed young Buster Carter of Pampa, 5 and 4, for the championship. In the third flight, J. D. Seiman of Borger defeated L. E. Chisholm of Pampa for the championship, 2 and 1. In the fourth flight consolation, W. T. Fain of Pampa lost to Earl Estep of Borger, 1 down. Al Hickerson of Borger defeated H. B. Bishop of Pampa, 1 up, for the consolation crown of the fifth flight.

Junior Golfers In OC Tourney

Two junior Pampa golfers, Buster Carter and Ronald Mullins, left this morning for Oklahoma City where they will participate in the Oklahoma City Junior Tournament.

The meet opens with qualifying rounds today and runs through Thursday.

The 1951 champion, Jerold Strubland, formerly of Ponca City, will be back to defend his title over the Lincoln Park course.

Two Amarillo Sandie golfers, Rex Baxter, Jr., and John Farquhar, are also entered.

SPORTS AFIELD

By TED KESTING

Some years ago the question from those few who were thinking of an outboard cruiser was "Where can I buy one?" Now the question is "What size and style should I buy or build?" Here are some suggestions from Willard Crandall, well known boating authority, to guide you in your choice.

An inboard cruiser has to be about a 25-footer or larger before it qualifies as a home afloat. Cruisers of about 20 feet should be called camping cruisers. But most outboard cruisers are under 20 feet. The reasons outboard cruisers are found in smaller sizes are many.

The outboard's big advantage is its ability to take shallow and obstructed water; a boat isn't much good to you if it is so big it has to stay put in the main, marked channel. There is more space in outboards. The light weight of the motor helps speed. An outboard motor is portable and can be lifted and hauled separately from the boat. And outboard cruisers, camping size, can be hauled on a trailer behind any automobile.

The kind of waterway you'll cruise on should be the determining factor when you choose what size outboard cruiser to buy. For small rivers, with shifting channels and shallows, a quite small boat is almost a necessity. With a bigger one you'd only get stuck and you can't pole or push such a boat off. For the big lakes and bays, perhaps with some coastal off-shore running, the large outboard cruiser is needed, especially for seaworthiness. And there are all stages of sizes in between.

Matters such as number of regular passengers, how much space you like aboard and overland transportation problems will enter into the choice. But the governing factor must always be the waterways.

Like other outboard boats, the outboard cruiser must be of a design to fit the size motor to be used. Most models today are designed to take the powerful 25 h.p. motors. And, like other outboard boats, the rudder of the cruiser is likely to ride. Almost regardless of design, in the outboard cruiser, the rudder takes the place of beam for safety in waves.

Each club got 11 hits. Sweetwater clubbed Arisias 10-5 by shoving across five runs in the sixth inning. Manager Alex Carrasquel had little trouble keeping Arisias in check except in two innings.

Pro Football Just Pitch-And-Catch Says Ben Friedman

By AL CARWRIGHT

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Benny Friedman snorts at the way today's football professionals are using his old weapon.

"Pro football now is nothing but a game of pitch-and-catch," says the one-time Michigan quarterback and one of the first great passers.

"You see virtually no line play at all.

"I believe the most passes I ever threw was 24.

"Now you get more than that in a half.

"Unless I have a special interest in an individual, I rarely go see the pros, but I will say that I like to watch the Cleveland Browns because in their play I see a great deal of coaching intelligence.

"Paul Brown blends his pass game by running Marion Motley, who reminds me of Bronco Nagurski.

"Brown would be foolish not to utilize Otto Graham as a passer as much as possible because he has two remarkable receivers in Mac Speedie and Dante Lavelli." Friedman has a suggestion for remedying the pass-crazy pro games.

"Bring back the ball we used in the 1920's," he suggests. "It was a great deal better than the modern streamlined one, much harder to grip and control. Then let's see how much they'll pass."

Benny, coaching the first football team in the history of Brandeis University, the new school at Waltham, Mass., admits he and his brethren of Fielding Yost's day may have started football on the road to this "ridiculous" business.

"We were the first to ignore the book when it came to passing," he explains.

"It used to be that you wouldn't think of passing in certain parts of the field or on certain downs.

"We changed that by throwing on early downs and from back in our own territory."

The Michigan offense was predicated on three points, discloses Benny who later played so well professionally.

"One, look over the defense. Two, play for position on the field. Use the plays that work best on the sidelines, for instance. Three, take it for granted that Barnum was right, and look for his disciples—the suckers—in the club's defense."

The record book shows that Friedman was a real All-American in 1926. You recall him for his passing, but he also was one of the fine field-goal kickers.

Thursday's Fight May Be End Of Road For Joe Walcott

By FANK ECK

As the referee counted, Charles slowly pulled himself up but at the count of 10 Charles fell on his back. The time was 55 seconds. Walcott officially became world heavyweight champion.

This was their meeting in Pittsburgh last July. Walcott had a left hook since. You can hardly blame him for he has been fighting on and off for 22 years or since 1930 when he knocked out a chap called Cowboy Wallace in the first round at Vineland, N. J.

Wallace has seen better days, better days fistically but not financially. He is 38 by Nat Fleischer's Ring record book although he looks much older and the fight mob says he is older.

Walcott thought he won the title until 1947 when he almost beat Joe Louis in Madison Square Garden, although Louis got the split decision.

Walcott thought he won the title that night. Louis though he lost. He was cut in several places and one eye was closed. He started to leave the ring but his handlers pushed him back as if to say "wait for the announcement, funny times have happened in boxing before."

Afterwards, Louis agreed to give Walcott another title chance, hoping to wipe out the stigma of the questionable verdict.

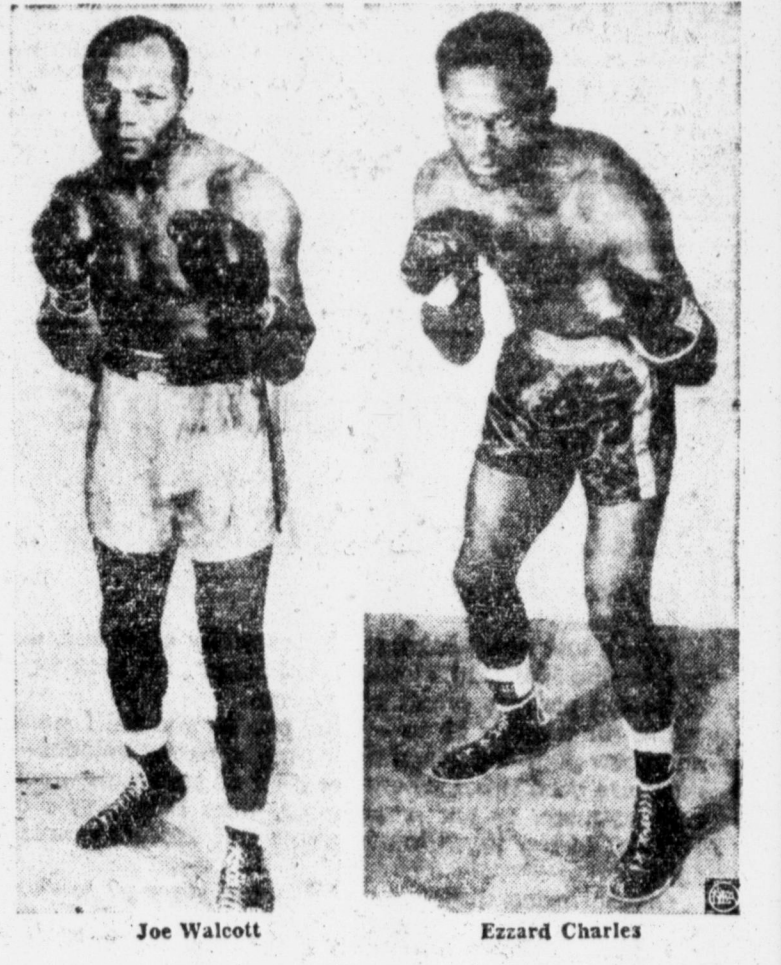

So the following summer they met in Yankee Stadium and Walcott began to clown. He sucked his chin out and Louis hit it not once but a dozen times and Walcott saw his second title shot end in an 11-round knockout.

Then the next year, 1949, Louis announced his retirement. The March of 1951, they put the show on the road and Charles' fight won a decision, this time in Detroit.

There was no reason for a third Charles-Walcott fight other than the fact that Pittsburgh had never seen them. A charity share in the proceeds and further:

He beat Ohio State, 17-16, with a 36-yard placement.

Benny Friedman was very definitely a Golden Era nugget.

Joe Walcott and Ezzard Charles more Charles figured Walcott was an easy touch. He went easy in training, they say.

Walcott surprised Charles and everyone else. The odds were something like 10 to 1 because Charles had never been knocked out and on 99 days out of 100 he could box rings around the veteran from Merchantville, N. J.

Walcott had such a hard road to the title he thought he might keep it a while before putting it on the line. He said something about it being the Lord's wishes that he should barnstorm as champion.

He made a little money on public appearances and now you might say he's getting ready to give the title back to Charles. At 38, he doesn't figure to be the Walcott who almost knocked out Joe Louis. And he doesn't figure to beat Charles again.

Why their 15-round bout on Tuesday (June 3) is being held in Philadelphia's vast Municipal Stadium is a mystery to many people.

The place holds 102,000 for the annual Army-Navy football game and can seat many more for a fight, as it did in 1926 when 120,757 paid $1,895,733 for the first Dempsey-Tunney fight.

But this one, even at $20 tops, may not draw 40,000 fans. Pro-

Hiram College in Hiram, Ohio will be the 1952 training site for the Cleveland Browns of the National Football League. For the past six years the Browns have trained at Bowling Green State University.

Little LEAGUERS

By JOHN McCALLUM
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Little Leagueers are perhaps the world's grandest mimics. They emulate their big league heroes in every way. You see one tug at his cap like Ted Williams, another hitch up his pants in a manner befitting Ralph Kiner.

When Stan Musial's unique batting stance suddenly attracted attention, Little Leagueers everywhere were seen crouching at the plate and looking over their shoulders like a thief running from the cops.

The big league influence has even crept into the midgeut nomenclature. Terms such as "bummer," "tip," "lobster trap" and "punchers" roll off the wee tykes' tongues as easy as you please.

One mid-west LLE manager swears he heard one of his junior players say to another: "Something ought to be done about Joe batting cleanup. He's just carrying a load of lumber up there and the Molly Patches are always giving him the Big K."

"That's kee-rect," his companion agreed, "even the 'B's are snagging blue darts on him. He couldn't buy a Cadillac."

No doubt about it, you have to be hep to keep pace with the kid athletes these days. So it might be a good idea to explain their baseball language to the old pappy guys. Such as:

Lumber-A bat. The term "just carrying a load of lumber" means the player is in a hitting slump.

Molly Patch-A soft arm pitcher. one who throws like a woman.

Big K-Strikeout.

Plink-Plank-Plunk-A three-bounce grounder, easily handled by the infielder.

Blue Dart-A booming low liner, almost impossible to flag as it goes by.

Caddie-A home run. The player gets the same exhilaration trotting around the bases as driving a Caddie.

Chewing Gum Is Still A Nickel

High cost of living? Nonsense!
That's just nasty propaganda spread by old-fashioned people who like food, clothing and homes. For that type of person perhaps prices are higher.
But for the rest of us — the people who sniff snuff and chew gum and spend their time in penny arcades — these are good times. There are a lot of essentials which cost no more, or not much more, than they ever did. The slot in the Iron Claw machine still accepts pennies only.

Official price statistics reveal a sad story of soaring prices, but they don't include the things that really matter. Chewing gum hasn't gone up, neither has chewing tobacco. You can still keep your jaws going inexpensively.

Shoe laces cost about the same as they did in pre-inflation days, too. That's a mighty important factor in our economy. What would this country be without shoe laces? A nation of shufflers!

You can still play the juke box for a nickel. You can still get a package of zinnia seeds for a dime. Aspirin is still cheap — and a good thing!

There are many things that have resisted inflation. Some have gone down in price; others have gone up so little that, balanced against our increased income, they've remained virtually the same.

Looking down the Bureau of Labor Statistics' Index of Retail Prices, there are, for example, 18 items of clothing that have shown little upward trend since September, 1947.

Five of these — girls' slips, diapers, nylon hose, women's night-gowns and men's leather jackets — actually show lower prices than they had four and a half years ago.

The others, which have risen, but not much, are: women's suits and rayon blouses; boys' long-sleeve polo shirts, mackinaws, knit shorts and jeans; girls' dresses, coats, panties and anklets; and the inclusive categories of boys' and girls' apparel.

In house furnishings, there are only three items on the bright side. Cotton curtains and dinette sets have jumped very little since the base month of September, 1947. Television sets have declined noticeably since they came on the market. And what more do you need in a home but a TV set, a dinette set and some nice curtains?

Tincture of iodine and milk of magnesia have gone up only a shade.

The Bureau has a category called "Selected Services and Miscellaneous Goods" which show some selected and miscellaneous steady prices. Razor blades, for one, cost not much more than in 1939, so it doesn't add to the inflationary spiral to slit your throat.

The cost of a chassis lubrication or repairs on the front end suspension of your car are two other items that haven't zoomed. Neither have auto operators' licenses and fees. And since they came on the market in 1950, home permanent wave refills have stayed on an even keel.

Even foods, which as a group have soared to record heights, have some holdouts. There are 11 food items with little or no change. Rice has gone down since 1947, and frozen strawberries, orange juice concentrate and peas have declined since 1950.

Up but a trifle against 1950 prices are layer cake, frankfurters, ice cream, baby foods, cola drinks and grape jelly. The same holds true of canned peas when measured against the 1935-39 base years.

A cautious housewife can make up a delightful, non-inflationary menu from those items: a dinner of frankfurters, canned peas, layer cake with ice cream and a side dish of grape jelly.

Salt is another stable item together with such odds and ends as candy bars, wrist watches and borscht. Utilities, like electricity and gas, have dropped in price.

One last point: Dog licenses in most communities have gone up, but marriage licenses are generally still the same price. Draw your own conclusion.

There A Subversive Movement In Public Schools?

(This is the fourteenth installment of the talk given March 21 by Rep. Paul W. Shafer of Missouri in the House of Representatives.)

VI.—UTOPIA VIA THE SCHOOLHOUSE
In his monograph, "Dare the School Build a New Social Order?" after describing the potential benefits of collectivism, Dr. Counts wrote:

Such a vision of what America might become in the industrial age, I would introduce into our schools as the supreme imposition, but one to which our children are entitled—a priceless legacy which it should be the first concern of our profession to fashion and bequeath. The objection will, of course, be raised that this is asking teachers to assume unprecedented social responsibilities. But we live in difficult and dangerous times when precedents lose their significance (pp. 53-54).

And he repeats the view expressed in his earlier paper:
If the schools are to be really effective, they must become centers for the building, and not merely the contemplation of our civilization. This does not mean that we should endeavor to promote particular reforms through the educational system. We should, however, give to our children a vision of the possibilities which lie ahead and endeavor to instill in their minds an enthusiasm in the realization of the vision. Also, our social institutions and practices, all of them, should be critically examined in the light of such a vision (pp. 36-37).

Then comes this bold counsel, regarding which we will have more to say later:
That the teachers should deliberately reach a power and then make the most of their conquest is my firm conviction. To the extent that they are permitted to fashion the curriculum and procedures of the school they will definitely and positively influence the social attitudes, ideals, and behavior of the coming generation. . . . It is my observation that the men and women who have affected the course of human history are those who have not hesitated to use the power that has come to them (pp. 27-30).

The "call to the teachers" is a call to participate actively in the task of reconstituting the democratic tradition and of thus working positively toward a new society—page 19. "They must work boldly and without ceasing for a better social order."
That what is demanded is a complete revision of the teacher's role both in society and in the school is made crystal clear by the following injunction, one which should do nothing to provoke curiosity as to what's going on in the schools than all of the criticisms of lay groups or individuals:
If the teachers are to play a positive and creative role in building a better social order, indeed if they are to march in the ranks of economic, political, and cultural reaction, they will have to emancipate themselves completely from the domination of the business interests of the Nation, and to march in the ranks of economic, political, and cultural reaction, they will have to emancipate themselves completely from the domination of the business interests of the Nation, and to march in the ranks of economic, political, and cultural reaction, they will have to emancipate themselves completely from the domination of the business interests of the Nation.

The reference to changes in methods of teacher training should particularly be noted. It is a reminder of the basic importance of the teacher training institutions to the entire educational program. And, by the same token, it reinforces a basic premise of this document, namely, that the extent of the permeation of collectivist philosophy into teacher colleges is an important index—the most important index—to the extent of the penetration of the philosophy into the public school classroom.

That what Dr. Counts envisioned is also a complete revision of the philosophy and role of the school in society is made equally clear by the following:

Success Secrets
By ELMER WHEELER
Very often what you do in life is far more important than the way you do it. . . . so long as you are helping someone else.

Take Gary Pepper, for instance. Gary is 19-year-old lad from Memphis, Tenn., who has been an invalid from birth.

Now there are lots and lots of people who—if they were in Gary's shoes—would resign themselves to a life of dependency and self-pity. They would consider their physical handicap as an insurmountable barrier and feel that the world owes them a living.

But not so with Gary Pepper. Gary weighed the possibilities of things he could do to help others, then set about doing it.

Not so long ago Gary Pepper opened his own newspaper service from his home at 783 Eva St., Memphis. He clips pictures, articles and items of interest that might prove of value to people. If these individuals want to send him something for his service, that's fine. If they don't, then that's all right too. . . . because Gary is the type of person who is more interested in helping other people than helping himself.

As Gary explains it, "My desire to help others has kept me from despondency over my misfortune."
How can you help but love a guy like that?

LOOKING SIDWAYS

By WHITNEY BOLTON

As fine an old gentleman as you could have hoped to meet died the other day in as pleasant a way as a gentleman could hope to die; suddenly and cleanly after a long and happy life.

He had ticked away 85 splendid years and, when he died, he left behind the makings of a world mystery. I shall claim it was all coincidence.

The opening wedge for such a program was provided in the conclusions and recommendations of the American Historical Association's Commission on Social Studies.

The point of entry is clearly defined and adroitly chosen. The commission proposed consolidation of the traditional high-school subjects of geography, economics, cultural sociology, political science, civics, and history, in a single educational category to be designated the "social sciences."

It is obvious that this is the most striking of all teaching areas so far as advancement of collectivist philosophy is concerned. Success in enlisting the teachers in this field in the cause of the new social order would have an effect and influence out of all proportion to the relative number of teachers involved.

National Whirligig. Union Leaders Can't Commit Votes To Truman's Candidate

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — President Truman's recent conference with William Green and Philip Murray for discussion of Democratic Presidential candidates was a most disappointing session because the two labor leaders would not commit their millions of members to fall in line behind either of the White House choices—Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois or Mutual Security administrator W. Averell Harriman of New York.

The AFL and CIO presidents expressed great doubt that they could command the support of a majority of their local and state bodies for either man especially Harriman.

They reported that they have found considerable sentiment for Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee and vice President Barkley of Kentucky. Truman will back them only if he must.

The fact is that neither Green nor Murray has any real confidence that he can swing union members in forthcoming election. The 1950 results in many industrial cities, and states, especially in the Taft-Ferguson fight in Ohio, demonstrated that the national labor bosses' influence begins to show signs of wear.

In short, the decisionless parley suggests that Truman has lost control of his party as completely as Messrs. Murray and Green have founded in creating political union among their groups. The trio did not dare to declare in favor of any candidate for fear their lack of authority would be generally known, if the convention chose another aspirant.

'CONFUSED' — It was agreed that demands for repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act and enactment of FEPC legislation have become academic, if not dead issues. The 1952 Truman-Murray-Green strategy for mobilizing the so-called labor vote behind the Democrats will be the precedent set by Truman in insisting on generous wage raises in all key industries.

This is the second pro-Democratic group of potential supporters which, within a week, has been unable to settle upon a favorite in the race. Faced with the same sort of division, the Americans for Democratic Action, which represents the liberal Hyde Park wing, failed to pinpoint for any of the leading contestants. Like the laborites, they are "confused."

FACE SAVING — In a sense, this political convention at the White House was a face-saving operation for all three participants. It was designed to restore the prestige of the President and his union allies with their respective organizations.

Truman's seizure of the steel plants and his avowed championing of the workers has antagonized many elements in Congress and in the party, including political friends. They think he showed a partiality which is untimely. Three tragedies were too much to explain in reasonable terms. He decided he wanted no more responsibility for human lives. These truths you read, what you didn't read is the part that makes the story eerie:

He decided to give the ring to the Burg Theater Museum in Vienna and sent it on its way. The ring reached the museum on a Friday afternoon and was put in a special room.

By Saturday afternoon the room was in ashes.

Better Jobs

By R. C. MOHLEN

"They Preached Liberty"
XI
Here is one more article on "They Preached Liberty," a character building book by Franklin P. Cole. The book refers to preachers during the Revolutionary period.

John Lathrop in 1784 under the heading of "Sacred Regard" had this to say:

I desire to bless God that, in my youth, I was taught to pay a sacred regard to the rights of mankind. The design of civil government, I was taught, is to secure life, personal freedom, liberty of conscience, and that property which men acquire by lawful means.

Jonathan Mayhew in his Election Sermon in 1754 remarked under the heading of "Suckled With Human Blood":

"The interest of true religion has been greatly prejudiced by that notion which has so generally prevailed in Christendom from the days of Constantine. I mean that kings could not be nursing fathers, nor queens nursing mothers to the Church, unless they suckled her with human blood, and fed her with the flesh of the civil and angry Ecclesiastics as pleased to stigmatize with the names of heretic, schismatic, and infidel."

Benjamin Stevens in 1761 uttered some wise remarks under the heading of "Religious Liberty Supposed":

"Religious liberty supposes that there be not only free inquiry, but equal freedom of profession and action, when thereby no disturbance is given to others."

Ebenezer Bridge in 1767 delivered a sermon under the heading of "Our Highly Favored Nation." He said:

"As to religion, and religious liberties and privileges, what people in the whole world are so highly favored as our nation? We have the gospel, the freest use of the fullest enjoyment of it. . . . No menaces from the civil or ecclesiastical men in matters of religion; no impositions from authorized ecclesiastical tyrants; no persecution for religious sentiments or practices."

Simon Howard in 1773 had a sermon under the heading of "Liberty of Private Judgment." Here is a quotation from this sermon:

"There are some natural liberties or rights which no person can divest himself of without transgressing the law of nature. A man cannot, for instance, give up the liberty of private judgment in matters of religion, or convey to others the right to determine what religion he shall be in, or what way he shall worship God. A grant of this nature would destroy the foundation of all religion in the man who made it, and must be a violation of the law of nature."

Ezra Stiles in 1783 had a sermon under the heading of "Depurated From Rust and Corruption." In it he said:

"And while Europe and Asia may seem to flourish, the most liberal principles of law and civil polity are to be found on this side of the Atlantic, they may also find the true religion here depurated from the rust and corruption of ages, and learn from us to reform and restore the church to its primitive purity. It will be long before the ecclesiastical pride of the splendid European hierarchies can submit to learn wisdom from those whom they have been inured to look upon with sovereign contempt. But candid and liberal disquisition will sooner or later have a great effect. Removed from the embarrassments of corrupt systems, and the dignities and blinding opulence connected with them, the unfettered mind can think, the unfettered heart can feel, with an unbounded freedom, go wherever the light of truth directs. Here there will be no bloody tribunals, no cardinal's inquisitors-general, to bend the human mind, forcibly to conform to the understanding, and to put out the light of reason, the candle of the Lord in Man—to force an innocent Galileo to renounce truths demonstrable as the light of day. Religion may here receive its last, most salutary, and impartial examination. Religious liberty is peculiarly friendly to fair and generous disquisition."

Bid For A Smile

Johnson—That's just what's worrying me. She's got ten dollars of my money.

There was a long, shrill whistle followed by a thundering crash as the train struck the auto and flung it to one side. After a bit the man and his wife crawled from the wreckage, bruised and shaken. The woman opened her mouth to speak, but was cut off by her husband. "Not a word," he barked. "I got my end of the car across the tracks all right. You were driving in the back seat, and that's where you got hit."

A woman got on a bus in a western city and immediately started bothering the driver about a certain article.

Woman—Are you sure this bus stops at Palm Drive?

Driver—Yes, ma'am.

A few moments passed.

Woman—You're sure there's no danger that we'll go past Palm Drive?

Driver—No, ma'am.

Woman—But just how will I know when we get to Palm Drive?

Driver—Just watch my face. You'll be able to tell by my smile.

Allen—Oh, Phil, it says, Entire Balmoney twenty-five cents.

Phil—It says, "Entire Balmoney twenty-five cents."

Allen—Let's get it so we can't all alone.

NO MORE ROAD TESTS! NOW ILL HAVE TO REMEMBER THOSE ROAD TESTS!

Let Des Moore Tin Shop Bid On Your Air-Conditioning System At Once

If you would drop around and visit Des Moore he could tell you some adventures he's had in the sheetmetal field. He's usually a pretty busy man, but he'd be glad to have you come down and look around while he explains the finer points of the sheetmetal business. You will find that tin is a business that could hardly be done without, and for those air conditioning units, Des Moore is just the man for you to see.

Des Moore is an expert at gutting, roofing, skylights, air conditioning, furnace repairs, tanks and gin and mill work. Whether it's new construction or repair and remodeling of old structures, Des Moore is the man to call for sheet metal work.

When it becomes necessary to procure the precious metal for the job you have in mind, it makes good sense to have the chosen smith do your metal working for you. You'll profit more in the long run, and Des Moore Tin Shop is equipped to take care of your most exacting specifications. It will be to your advantage to investigate the services Des Moore has to offer.

If you have an intricate job in mind, there is no need to put it off. It would take a long time to find a better man in tin work than Des Moore.

It's a little harder to get sheetmetal supplies now than it has been in the past, so it might take him a little time to get ready for that job of yours.

The earlier you start, the better chances are of getting a good, thorough job of repair in time. If you would drop around to see Des Moore and let him tell you of the intricacies of the tin business, you would see just how important the little business really is. Without it you might find yourself hardpressed to get a complete installation of your air conditioning system. The roof - curb and drain spouts on your house might not be quite so efficient and useful as they are now.

WHAT'S THE MATTER, UNCLE PHIL? SOMETHING GO WRONG AT THE MEETING?

EVERYTHING WENT WRONG!

HOLLIHAN IS GOING AS DELEGATE AND TAKING HIS WIFE--AND, AS IF THAT WASN'T BAD ENOUGH, I'VE GOT TO PAY MY OWN EXPENSES!

WELL, I THINK THE MEMBERS WERE RIGHT, UNCLE PHIL! MR. MINTHORE HAS PAID YOUR EXPENSES FOUR TIMES!

THEY WEREN'T THININ' ABOUT MINTY! THEY'RE JUST ENVIUS OF THE MONEY I'VE MADE OFF MY GOLF BOOK! THAT'S WHY THEY DID IT--AND FOR NO OTHER REASON!

YOU HAVE MADE A LOT OF MONEY FROM THE BOOK, UNCLE PHIL--AND YOU CERTAINLY CAN AFFORD TO PAY YOUR OWN WAY!

YOU BET I CAN! BUT I DON'T THINK I'LL EVEN GO NOW!

Penny

THERE GOES MR. BARTON!

OH REALLY?

HE'S A VERY NICE MAN, ISN'T HE, FATHER?

SURE, I'VE ALWAYS LIKED HIM.

I HEAR HIS WEEKLY INCOME GOES INTO FOUR FIGURES.

THAT'S RIGHT...

HIS WIFE'S AND THREE DAUGHTERS!

Freckles

HELLO, SHADYSIDE BUGLE? I HAVE GOOD NEWS! MY SON FRECKLES AND LARD SMITH ARE BACK HOME--SAFE AND SOUND!

EXCUSE US, FOLKS-- I'D LIKE TO TALK TO JUNE--ALONE!

JUNE...

LET ME DO THE TALKING, FRECKLES. I'M THANKFUL YOU'RE SAFE AND BACK HOME, BUT THERE'S SOMETHING I MUST TELL YOU--THERE IS SOMEONE ELSE!

SON, YOU LOOK MORE LIKE A MAN WHO'S BEEN SHOT, THAN ONE WHO'S JUST BEEN KISSED!

Donald Duck

EGGS FOR BREAKFAST, BOYS...HOW'LL I FIX 'EM?

FRY MINE IN BUTTER, OVER EASY, AND BE SURE THE WHITES COOKED!

POACHED IN MILK, FOR ME, TWO MINUTES THIRTY SECONDS, AND NO SALT!

SHIRRED WITH A TOUCH OF PARSLEY AND PLENTY OF BUTTER!

EAT YOUR OMELET AND SHUT UP!

Decorate And Protect Your Walls With Plywood Panels

MR. FIX
Distributed by NEA Service.
There is nothing particularly difficult about installing plywood panels over old plaster walls. It requires only an elementary wood-working knowledge to achieve pleasing results.

Plywood paneling has much to recommend its use to cover hopelessly cracked walls or merely for the modernistic effect. First, measure the surface to be covered and give the dimensions to your lumberman. He should be able to estimate the number of sheets, kind and thickness of plywood needed to fill the bill for you.

Obtain from him a number of "furring strips" measuring about three-quarter inch by two inches, which you apply to the walls horizontally and about 12 inches apart. Remove baseboards and moldings from the walls first and put double furring strips at the bottom, where the baseboard will be nailed after plywood is installed.

Roof Inspection Can Save Money

Most roof troubles are caused by lack of frequent inspections and proper care. All roofs naturally deteriorate, but periodic check-ups and suitable precautionary measures will insure a long life for any roof.

A roof coating material prevents leaks and preserves felt, composition, metal or concrete roofs. Roof coatings are generally sold in four different classifications.

First, there is the asbestos or fibred roof cement which is available in a trowel consistency. Second, there is the asbestos or fibred roof coating which comes in a brushing consistency. Third, there is liquid roof coating which is also known as a non-fibred roof paint. Asphalt emulsions represent the fourth type.

North, South Honor Confederate Spy In Graveside Rites

WISCONSIN DELLS, Wis. (AP)—The North and South joined in a parade which ended at the grave of Belle Boyd, a spy for the old Confederacy who died here in 1900.

On the grave were red roses planted by residents who sought to break a 32-year tradition that flowers never would grow on the soil covering the South's most glamorous agent.

A procession of uniformed American Legionnaires, school children and customed members of the Winnebago Indian Nation marched to the cemetery hill carrying the Stars and Stripes, the Confederate battle flag and the flag of Virginia.

Mrs. J. W. Phillips headed a delegation of three Richmond, Va., members of the United Daughters of the Confederacy present at the ceremonies.

Miss Boyd died while on a tour as a patriotic lecturer. Recently a summer resident called the attention of Virginia Governor John Battle to the grave and Southern response followed.

Frank P. Culver Names Managers In Race For Judgeship

FORT WORTH (AP)—Frank P. Culver of Fort Worth has announced that Kenneth H. Jones, Fort Worth attorney, will be state campaign manager of his race for the Texas Supreme Court.

Culver is now associate justice of the Second Court of Civil Appeals here. He has three opponents in the Plaza 1 race to succeed John H. Sharp, who is not seeking re-election.

Culver's state campaign headquarters has been opened here. He said his Bexar County campaign will be directed by John R. Lock, San Antonio attorney, and his Harris County campaign by Fred W. Moore, Houston attorney.

The Fort Worth judge is opposed by Glenn R. Lewis, San Angelo attorney; District Judge A. R. Stout of Waxahachie, and Spurgeon Bell, Houston attorney.

Fasting Preacher Holding His Own, Relative Reports

CHERRYVILLE, Mo. (AP)—The wife of the fasting Ozark preacher is beginning to show the strain of her almost constant bedside vigil as her husband continues his fast.

Today is the 42nd day without food, by his own count, for the Rev. J. J. Ivie, Assembly of God minister, who says he will fast unto death unless he gets word from God which he hopes will lead to a spiritual revival against sin and Communism.

The daughter and three of the couple's six sons spent yesterday with the minister. He occasionally slips water, but it causes him to retch, further weakening him. The eldest son, J. F. Ivie, 34, of Cleveland, said his 57-year-old father appears to be holding up well physically, although he is extremely nervous.

Mrs. Ivie, herself a minister in the church, is showing strain, however, he added. No visitors, not even neighbors, are allowed at the Ivie home now.

Japanese Embassy Is Painted

As an important part of the redecoration of the white sandstone Japanese embassy on Massachusetts Avenue, painters have been hard at work, renewing the painted surfaces of the white wood trim and the gleaming green shutters and doors.

While the interior decoration and furnishing have not yet been completed, the Flag of the Rising Sun is again in view, now that the Japanese peace treaty has gone into effect.

Edward E. Hunt, chief of the State Department's Division of Protective Services, turned over the master key of the embassy to Ryuji Takeuchi, charge d'affaires, with this country's "best wishes for the peace and prosperity" of Japan.

Modern priced outdoor furniture, which comes in a wide selection of models, may be attractively arranged for loafing or dining of fresco. (Metal chairs, Lloyd Mig. Co.; mobile dining table and bench, Goshen Mig. Co.)

Bask In The Sun . . . Outdoor Living Is New Vogue

Summer furniture is keeping pace with the recent design advancements made by all other types of furniture.

It is becoming more durable, more comfortable, more decorative, and infinitely more sophisticated.

An outdoor living room, that every member of the family can enjoy, is now an integral part of the American dream. Everybody wants one.

Not so long ago, the outdoor living area was limited to the narrow confines of a porch or a shade tree. Today houses are being built with outdoor areas that are protected from the wind and which may be used late in the fall and early in the spring. Thus the summer season has been immeasurably extended.

Furniture manufacturers have taken this trend toward outdoor living into consideration and a wide array of items for outdoor use are now on the market. New outdoor furniture has been designed especially for garden, porch and terrace—as well as the good old-fashioned backyard.

Do you have unused outdoor space without so much as a chair to sit in and enjoy the summer sun and gentle breezes? Attractive, comfortable, outdoor furniture contributes greatly to the joy of living and enhances the appearance and value of your home.

For those who prefer the sturdy rustic type of furniture such as pine, hickory and redwood, manufacturers have re-styled these designs along clean, modern lines and have added cushions in bright colors and patterns that are weather resistant.

Many new pieces have made their appearance in these styles and one may now assemble complete coordinated groups of chairs, benches, cocktail tables, barbecue tables, nests of tables, chair seat lounges—with or without canopies—card tables, serving carts on wheels and gay umbrellas.

The outdoor furniture of today has acquired the comfort and sophistication of indoor furniture and can be moved inside and used all winter.

Improvements have not been confined to styling. Manufacturers have developed rust proofing and weather proofing processes to the point where years have been added to the life of both metal and wood furniture. The fold-up type of construction has been used considerably.

Gliders and hammocks have also been restyled and made weather-proof. Plastics are widely used in seating units.

Furnish your outdoor living area to suit your own needs whether for reading, leisure in the sun, cooking, dining or entertaining friends. Select summer furniture that will serve your outdoor needs most specifically.

See the summer furniture displays at your favorite store and you will get many new and ingenious ideas to help you take advantage of a long, lovely summer season.

Failure of the 1845 potato crop in Ireland stimulated heavy immigration to the United States from that country.

Here's an attractive new studio bed compartment that's bound to delight the teen-ager in the family by providing a greater sense of privacy and a restful "living room" aspect. Made of Wisconsin gray pine, it is finished in a light wheat tone. It measures 77 inches in length, is 34 1/2 inches high and nine inches deep. Coffee table, which has a cork top, adds a glamorous, adult living-room touch. (Dillingham Manufacturing Co.)

Cream Can Keep That Paint Off

When you are preparing for a painting project, you will find it to your advantage to smooth a protective cream on your hands and arms that is made especially for the purpose.

This type of cream, which is available at your paint dealer's or hardware store, makes it a simple matter to clean off the colorful evidence of your project when you have finished.

Pine Gives Unusual Dining Area

An unusual and inviting living-kitchen has one wall paneled in pine which has, as its center of interest, a brick fireplace that has been painted white. The other three walls have a pine-paneled wainscot.

Upper walls and ceiling are painted a lovely grayed-orchid tone. The breakfast table and chairs, which are placed near the hearth, are also of pine.

Wheelbarrows Readied For Use

With the aid of an efficient conveyor line, a high quality paint job is produced rapidly and economically in a Western factory that produces steel wheelbarrows.

Metal parts to be painted are loaded onto a 410-foot overhead continuous conveyor which carries them through cleaning, rinsing and rust-proofing tanks; then through a drying oven; on through spray booths where they are hand-sprayed and, finally, through another oven where the finish is baked.
