Stalin and Truman Meet Before Big Three Conference

NIMITZ DECLARES: IT'S PRE-INVASION!

Explosions Add To Atmosphere Of Mystery

POTSDAM, July 17.—Premier Stalin conferred with President Truman at the little White House today in company with their ranking foreign affairs officials a few hours before the world-shaping Big Three conference was scheduled to start.

The generalissimo, attired as a marshal of the Soviet Union, was accompanied by Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov. They were guests at luncheon of the President and Secretary of State James F. Byrnes. The party talked for an hour.

The atmosphere of secrecy surrounding the delayed start of the conference with Prime Minister Churchill was heightened during the murky, cloudy morning by three mysterious explosions in the Russian capital.

The conference had been delayed a day by the lateness of the Russian leader. Mr. Truman met Churchill informally yesterday and during the wait summoned American shipping experts to Potsdam.

The two Soviet leaders arrived in Potsdam two days ago, it was disclosed. There was no explanation, however, why the opening of the conference had been delayed yesterday.

Mr. Truman wore a brown business suit and sat at the head of the table. The generalissimo's uniform was fawn-colored with silver-edged stars on the epaulets. He sat on the President's right.

Mr. Truman had seen Prime Minister Churchill informally yesterday.

Community Responsible To Veterans

AUSTIN, Texas, July 17.—No matter how many governmental agencies are set up to do the job, at the last analysis the community will have to do the work of helping veterans reestablish themselves, believes Brig Gen J. Watt Page, state director of selective service.

General Page said discharged veterans are returning at the rate of 5,000 a week to Texas and each community must prepare now to receive them not only with open arms but with open jobs.

To date 125,000 have been discharged out of the 750,000 men and women in service from Texas. Acceleration of discharge, said General Page, is shown by the fact there were 10,000 veterans discharged in June as compared with 4,400 in April of this year, and 20,000 expected for July.

He praised the city of Houston for its splendid work in caring for returning veterans.

Houston has, he said, set up a central clearing house with paid director and workers, where a list of all available jobs is kept up to date and tallied with the wants and abilities of returning men.

Lt. Col. Paul Wakefield, chief of the veterans personnel service division, said selective service plans a series of radio programs designed to encourage each community to set up its own veterans employment agency which will revolve around the need for aiding them as the work increases daily.

A tabulation of 2,332 re-employment agencies is being prepared.

SCENE OF BIG THREE MEET

Today's news spotlight is focused on Potsdam palace (above) where former king of the Kaiser, near Berlin. Truman, Churchill and Stalin, in their long-heralded Big Three conference, are today attempting to solve world-shaping problems here.

President Chooses Close Friend To Succeed Vinson

WASHINGTON, July 17.—John W. Snyder, 49-year-old banker from Arkansas and Missouri, will be the new "assistant president" of the vast home front in an era of change.

President Truman reached across an ocean yesterday to nominate his close friend as director of war mobilization and reconversion, succeeding Fred M. Vinson. The senate is expected to approve the nomination promptly, also that of Vinson to be secretary of the treasury.

Snyder is a federal loan administrator. Mr. Truman put him in charge of the war mobilization and reconversion corporation last year and a half months ago. There Snyder succeeded the same Vinson, who was loan administrator only one month.

Under Snyder's leadership, the reconstruction finance corporation was streamlined and reorganized for its role in reconversion. Subsidiary corporations were merged into the RFC.

In his new job, Snyder will give orders to government agencies, issue decrees governing civilian participation in the war, and supervise the whole complicated change-back to peace. For example, as RFC head Snyder had the job of selling surplus plants, equipment and aircraft parked cars at the corner of Foster and Somerville streets, local police reported.

She was taken to Pampa hospital in a Duaneck-Carmichael ambulance where she was treated for minor injuries and discharged this morning.

All three cars were slightly damaged.

Liner Hamonic Destroyed by Fire; No Dead

SARINA, Ont., July 17.—The 360-foot Great Lakes Passenger Liner Hamonic, carrying 255 passengers, was destroyed by fire today with many persons injured and burned, but a clerk at the Canada steamship lines said "as far as we know no lives have been lost."

The clerk, J. H. Altheimer, said it was believed all aboard scrambled to safety after the fire broke out in the 1,000-foot long freight docks at Point Edward spread to the vessel. The docks were leveled.

The Hamonic, one of the largest passenger ships on the Lakes, had left Detroit last night on a cruise and was tied up at Point Edward.

Sarina's general hospital was jammed with burned and injured passengers, many of them lying on "porch" floors awaiting attention.

They told of scenes of panic on the Hamonic's top deck as the flames leaped from the burning sheds and enveloped that deck.

Many of those in the hospital had escaped the flames and thick smoke that filled the ship by sliding down cables into the river.

Among these were 72-year-old Mrs. W. W. Walker of Detroit, who suffered burns on her hands. "Can you imagine a woman of my age coming down a cable?" she asked. "But I did it."

Dr. and Mrs. J. O. Green of Detroit were also injured.

Record Sea-Air Strike Is Scored

By LEONARD MILLIMAN
Associated Press War Editor

Simultaneously with the boldest naval attacks of the war, Adm. Chester W. Nimitz described the intensified air attack and unprecedented naval bombardments as the "pre-invasion stage."

Nimitz announced that 374 Japanese vessels and 129 locomotives were destroyed or damaged in a two-day carrier sweep over Northern Japan last week.

Fifteen hundred American and British carrier planes swept over the Tokyo area for eight hours during the day. A daring task force led by the new battleship Iowa moved in close to shore, barely 80 miles from Tokyo, shortly before midnight (Japan time) and began shelling vital smelters and aircraft plants at Hitachi. The attack continued into Wednesday (Tokyo time).

The same carrier planes returned to the attack today, joining with British sea-borne air units and approximately 500 Superforts to give the enemy's homeland perhaps its heaviest aerial pounding of the war. They were virtually unopposed as in every strike Halsey's forces have made in a week of cruising along the Japanese coastline from Tokyo to Aokkaido island and back again.

Hitachi and its war industries, previously hit by Superforts, lies 80 miles northeast of Tokyo and 200 miles south of Kamashi, was the main target.

Waldman said: "I am happy to announce that we have arrived at a satisfactory solution for settling the newspaper delivery strike against the New York metropolitan newspaper publishers."

He added that he had recommended a meeting that the 1,700 strikers return to work immediately.

Waldman said the settlement was made on the basis of a telegram he received from Robert K. Burns, chairman of the daily newspaper commission of the war labor board, who said that the commission would hold an immediate hearing to consider issues involved in the dispute if the men returned to work.

Anderson gave this picture in a radio talk in which he said his first examination of the situation since entering the cabinet July 1 convinced him that little if any improvement could be obtained before next year's production season.

He assured consumers, however, that his department is taking "positive steps" to increase production.

While waiting for greater production, Anderson said his department will try to obtain better distribution of available supplies by "choking off" black markets and by paring military, other

Congress May Settle Charter Controversy

WASHINGTON, July 17.—Two republican senators predicted today that congress will authorize the President to exercise peace-keeping police powers at his discretion.

This would settle the controversy over authority to be granted the American representative on the proposed world security council of the United Nations.

Senators Vandenberg of Michigan and Millikin of Colorado said in separate interviews they believe the foreign relations committee pointed the way toward solution of this issue in its formal report recommending ratification of the United Nations charter.

Vandenberg helped fashion the charter as a delegate to the San Francisco conference. Millikin led the critical questioning of charter proponents in hearings but later announced he was satisfied and would vote for ratification.

The committee report declared that any attempt to require advance congressional approval in each instance before American troops could be used at the direction of the council would "violate the spirit" of the charter.

Agreeing with the committee view, Vandenberg said he interpreted this to mean the President could instruct the American delegate to vote for including U. S. divisions—where the only question involved was one of a policing nature. He suggested that as an added precaution, the President might be required to report to congress the decision he had made.

Under this system, Vandenberg said congress would retain the sole right to declare war.

WASHINGTON, July 17.—A state department spokesman said today that the U. S. embassy in Buenos Aires will investigate reports that Adolf Hitler and Eva Braun are in Argentina.

In response to a question, the spokesman said that the embassy would look into the story, sent by a Chicago Times correspondent from Montevideo, that the pair had reached a solitary section of the long Argentine coast by submarine and are living on a huge German-owned estate in Patagonia.

CHILDRESS, Texas, July 17.—L. Col. Morris Higley, commanding officer of the 1st battalion of the state guard, said a member of a guard who threw a tear gas bomb in front of a crowd at Childress will be punished.

The incident occurred while the battalion was parading here Saturday night during a maneuver in preparation for the Eighth Service command encampment in Amarillo next month.

BRUSSELS, July 17.—The Catholic party's six cabinet ministers announced today that they were resigning from the Belgian government, which has been in turmoil over the question of whether King Leopold III should return to the throne.

The Catholic party is pro-Leopold. The decision to resign was announced by Minister of Information Edmund Rouse after a meeting of the parliament right wing members.

PARKED
FOCATELLO, Idaho, July 17.—Next time Vernon Van Duyn decides to "park" on a downtown street he'll do more than put a nickel in the meter—he'll bring his car with him.

Yesterday Van Duyn was fined $15 by local Judge Charles A. Brown after arresting officers testified that they found the defendant sitting on a curb shooting motorists away from his parking place. Van Duyn averred that it shouldn't make any difference what you park by a meter—as long as a nickel goes inside.

The charge against him was drunkenness.

Higher Veteran Payments Probed

WASHINGTON, July 17.—Six Democratic senators teamed today to carry out President Truman's request for broadened employment benefits during reconversion, including higher payments to veterans.

Representative Doughton (D-N. C.) told reporters last week he introduced his measure at administration "request" and declined to state his own opinion of it.

The Senate bill—in addition to augmenting state unemployment benefits with federal funds—to bring payments to a maximum of $25 a week and extending the duration of payments to 26 weeks in any year—would amend the so-called G. I. bill of rights to increase veterans' unemployment benefits from a flat $20 a week to $25 for single persons and $30 for those with dependents.

In addition, veterans would have to serve only 90 days instead of the present nine and one-half months to qualify for the maximum of 52 weeks of payments.

Acceptance of the War Manpower commission stabilization plan has been an effective means in reducing a worker turnover in this area, said R. Terry, manager of the local employment agency, said today.

Terry reported that the number of employers contacted want to continue the stabilization plan in this area.

Excellent cooperation of the local appeals panel has provided speedy, equitable handling of individual worker problems, according to Terry.

The local agency records reveal that until June most returning veterans were discharged because they were physically unable to perform military duty.

Woman Only Slightly Injured in Accident

Mrs. J. H. Moore, Dalhart, received minor injuries last night when the car she was driving struck two parked cars at the corner of Foster and Somerville streets, local police reported.

She was taken to Pampa hospital in a Duaneck-Carmichael ambulance where she was treated for minor injuries and discharged this morning.

All three cars were slightly damaged.

27 WACs To Operate Big-3 Switchboard

WASHINGTON, July 17.—When President Truman wants to phone Prime Minister Churchill or Generalissimo Stalin at the Big Three conference, maybe a Wac from Larado, Texas, will handle the call.

The war department said today that 27 Wacs, members of the 3341st Signal Service battalion stationed in Paris, have been chosen to operate the Big Three switchboard.

Those selected include: Pvt. Guadalupe H. Torres, 315 Brumfitt Courts, Laredo, Texas.

Newspaper Strike Is Now Settled

NEW YORK, July 17.—Louis Waldman, counsel for the newspaper and mail delivery union, announced today that the 17-day strike against New York City publishers had been settled and that "trucks will be rolling within an hour."

Waldman said: "I am happy to announce that we have arrived at a satisfactory solution for settling the newspaper delivery strike against the New York metropolitan newspaper publishers."

He added that he had recommended a meeting that the 1,700 strikers return to work immediately.

Food Shortages Will Continue

WASHINGTON, July 17.—Americans can expect food shortages for many months to come, so saying in a "frank report" last night, Secretary of Agriculture Anderson added:

"We are likely to dine on more simple fare, minus the choice roasts, the thick juicy steaks, and much of the sweetening of pre-war years."

Murder Warrant Issued Against Toledo Seaman

MIAMI, Fla., July 17.—Peace Justice Thomas S. Ferguson said he issued a first degree murder warrant today against William Wells Parker, 19-year-old sailor, in the hotel room death of Mrs. Ella Mae Flynn Eames, former Red Cross ambulance driver.

The Toledo, O., seaman has been held a navy prisoner without charge since early yesterday.

Judge Ferguson said he would conduct a hearing into the cause of death of the 42-year-old estranged wife of a former Springfield, Mass., army chaplain tomorrow.

Mrs. Eames' nude body was found in an alley back of a downtown hotel yesterday morning. Police Capt. James O. Baker said the sailor told Lt. Comdr. Richard Griffin, his commanding officer, that he had fatally injured a woman in an exchange of beer bottle blows.

In Boston, Owen W. Eames, 43, said he and his wife had been estranged for four years.

He said there were three children. The youth was held in custody by the navy.

He chanced an acquaintance with Mrs. Eames in a bar Sunday night. After several drinks they went to his room in a downtown hotel. During a quarrel Mrs. Eames hit him with a beer bottle. Then he hit her with a beer bottle.

After that he fell asleep. When he woke he found Mrs. Eames lying on the floor.

Browns Come to Life To Whip Senators in Twin Bill

Fritzie Zivic Is Ready To Retire

NEW ORLEANS, July 17.—(AP)—Former welterweight champion Fritzie Zivic, Pittsburgh, Pa., veteran of 15 years of ring warfare, was ready to retire again today.

His feeble showing in losing a 10-round decision to "wild" Bill McDowell of Dallas, Texas, here last night, caused him to comment:

"This is the end for sure. I whipped that guy easy a few months ago, but look at me now."

Zivic had announced only yesterday that he had "postwar" plans to establish himself again as a world champion.

The crowd started booing after a hitless first round and continued to show their disapproval until the fifth.

Amarillo Goller Is Better at Hunting

AMARILLO, July 17.—(AP)—You've heard of birdies and eagles in golf. Well, here's the "kopber" shot.

Ross Rogers made it on hole No. 3 at the Amarillo country club.

Rogers' drive was a grass scorcher. It should have been shot into the fairway but didn't. It stopped at the edge of the rough.

The foursome—Rogers, Macon Carder, Charley Crowe and Harvey Allen—found a dead kopber, the ball lying against it. The recent had been hit smack between the eyes.

Professional George Aulback promptly paid Rogers a dime. That's the standard bounty for killing a kopber on the course.

Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
 NEW YORK, July 17.—(AP)—John Mooney, Salt Lake City Telegram sports editor and Utah semi-pro baseball commissioner, tells about this incident in the recent state tournament—Mooney, who wins (and quite a sizable wine, too) every time a foul ball goes over the fence, expects that one day the grandstand where a policeman was watching the ball bounced toward a taxicab; the caddy jumped out, grabbed the ball and raced away in his back. The outraged cop took after him in a squad car and after several blocks pursuit, he caught up and made the caddy fork over—then he returned, had commissioner Mooney paged, told him the story and returned the virtually new ball.

Mooney, touched by the tale, asked John Law if he had any kids and when the coper mentioned four, Mooney said: "Here, take the ball. You deserve it."

Washington, who was making menacing motions toward the first place Detroit Tigers were somewhat subdued when the Browns hit on last night and clubbed the Nats twice.

Al Hollingsworth and Tex Shirley, a couple of "has-beens" according to the won and lost records, took turns humbling Ossie Bluege's up-and-coming gang.

Even the Browns in sixth place, 6-1-2 games off the pace, still are factors in the wide open flag scramble that gives every club in the circuit, except the Philadelphia A's, at least a hope and prayer of making the grade.

The Browns really spoiled the evening for a turnout of 26,120 spectators, largest Washington week night crowd of the season, when they lost Johnny Nieseing in the opener, 7-3, and defeated Roger Wolff in the finale, 5-1.

Washington fell three full games behind the leaders because Detroit emerged from its slumber and whacked the Yankees, 9-4.

The man who couldn't win and the fellow who couldn't lose seem to have reversed positions at Philadelphia. Eddy Newman, who lost 12 before entering the win column, earned his second straight decision, 7-1, on a two-hitter against Chicago. In the early game Russ Christopher, the A's bell cow, was belted off the hill and headed his fourth straight beating, 6-2.

Cleveland put the damper on Boston, 3-2, just when the Red Sox were in a position to slide into third place and a virtual tie for second.

Chicago maintained its four-game advantage in the national playoffs, Boston behind in the last of the ninth with two runs and a 4-3 shade over New York's Van Mungo.

St. Louis clung to second by shutting out the Braves, 2-0, behind Harry Brecheen. Sore arm or no, Brecheen tossed his first complete game since May 2 and effectively silenced the Boston jinx.

Tom Seaver, of Brooklyn, another pitcher who hadn't gone the route since May 11, lasted all the way to defeat Pittsburgh, 8-4.

Cubs Win Over Giants 4-3 To Maintain Lead

Time is beginning to run out on the "Cinderella Men" from St. Louis in their quest of a second American league flag but Luke Sewell's St. Louis Browns are determined to make things tough on any would-be successors.

Skellytown Upsets Squadron B; Junior Gage Hurls No-Hit Game

A startling upset and a no-hit, no-run game highlighted the opening of the second half of the city softball league season yesterday.

Junior Gage hurled the perfect game for the Knights of Pythias as he shut out the P.A.P. Medics 8 to 0, striking out nine batters. Only three Medics got on base in the game, two of them on errors and one on a walk.

In a surprising reversal, the underdog Skellytown Odd Fellows, one of the new entries in the league, defeated the Squadron B first-half champions 5 to 2.

Playing without the services of their ace pitcher, Earl Davis, who has left the team to play baseball in Amarillo, the Junior Odders threw a scare into the Kimboys before losing 10 to 6.

Two games, one of them testing another entry in the league, are on the schedule tonight. In the first game at Roadrunner Park, starting at 7 o'clock, the Cargay ten, last place in the first half, will play the Cabot team in an important game.

The second game will pit the Base Communications against the Odd Fellows in another important game. The two, along with the Junior Odders, tied for fifth in the first half.

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
 Associated Press Sports Editor
 DALLAS, July 17.—(AP)—When southwest conference football teams play inter-sectional games next fall there will be no confusion over the mechanics of officiating.

James H. Stewart, acting executive secretary of the conference who attended the meeting of the National association of football commissioners in St. Louis, brought back word that the mechanics had been standardized in all major conferences.

Examples:

When the ball is ready for play, it is decided the referee would walk away from it instead of giving a signal as in some conferences in the past. In other words substitution can be made without penalty until the referee walks away from the ball.

When there is a punt and the safety man fumbles or muffs it, the field judge will decide immediately to whom the ball belongs and so gives the signal. This has been in use in the southwest conference but in some other conferences there hasn't been immediate signals.

From a sports writer who has been in the service and thus has first-hand knowledge comes the information that most athletes will return to school, to complete their eligibility.

C/Sgt. Howard Green, who was a sports writer for the Abilene Reporter-News before entering the air corps, had this to say upon his return home for a furlough before reporting to San Antonio for a new assignment:

"All of the athletes with whom I talked intend to return to school to complete their eligibility. I think a majority will go back, even those who are married."

Sgt. Green served as top turret runner on a Liberator bomber and won the air medal prior to receiving an assignment in public relations.

What Is Wrong When Prayer Fails?

Thirty years ago in Forbidden Tibet, behind the highest mountains in the world, a young Englishman named Edwin J. Dingle found the answer to this question. A great mystic opened his eyes. A great change came over him. He realized the strange Power that Knowledge gives.

That Power, he says, can transform the life of anyone. Questions, whatever they are, can be answered. The problems of health, death, poverty and wrong, can be solved.

In his own case, he was brought back to splendid health. He acquired wealth, too, as well as worldwide professional recognition. Thirty years ago he was sick as a dog and was bought. Years of almost continuous tropical fevers, broken bones, near blindness, privation and danger had made a human wreck of him, physically and mentally.

He was about to be sent back to England to die, when a strange message came—"They are waiting for you in Tibet." He wants to tell the whole world what he learned there, under the guidance of the greatest mystic he ever encountered during his twenty-one years in the Far East. He wants everyone to experience the greater health and the Power, which there came to him.

Within ten years, he was able to retire to this country with a fortune. He had been honored by fellowships in the World's leading geographical societies, for his work as a geographer. And today, 30 years later, he is still so athletic, capable of so much work, so young in appearance, that it is hard to believe he has lived so long.

As a first step in their progress toward the Power that Knowledge gives, Mr. Dingle wants to send to readers of this paper a 9,000-word treatise. He says the time has come for it to be released to the Western World, and offers to send it, free of cost or obligation, to sincere readers of this notice. For your free copy, address The Institute of Mental-Physics, 213 South Hobart Blvd., Dept. S-563, Los Angeles 4, Calif. Readers are urged to write promptly, as only a limited number of the free books have been printed.

Interest Would Form Own Insurance Agency

ADULTS, July 17.—(AP)—Unless insurance companies are willing to underwrite the future risks at the present market rates, butane dealers will form their own casualty insurance company, claims William J. Lawson, executive secretary of the Texas Butane Dealers association.

He said capital stock and preliminary operating expenses, approximately $105,000 will be subscribed by butane dealers themselves since they "have no hesitancy in backing their opinion with necessary funds."

Life Insurance is different from anything else in the world, it must be bought when you don't need it or not at all.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., July 16.—(AP)—Red Furse, night police captain, wishes women either would carry smaller handbags or stay out of jail. His morning report after a busy night contained the following complaint:

"I am having a great deal of trouble trying to find a place to lock up the belonging of the prisoners. These overnight, barrack bag type of purses that the women carry take up more room than the cash drawer will hold."

Paul Revere practiced dexterity along with his other trades.

Vegetables Should Be Picked Young To Get Value From Victory Garden

Tepees for pole beans... a climber planted at each stake has a support on which it twines.

By HENRY L. PREE Written for NEA Service Pick them young; don't wait for your vegetables to grow old. Garden vegetables, to be at their best, must be picked at just the right time. Many crops such as spinach and lettuce, grow bitter with age; radishes become peppery; and over-ripe cabbages tend to split.

String beans should be picked when they snap readily and have soft, pliable tips; shell beans must be left until the pods are well filled, but they must not be allowed to dry on the vines or the vines will stop bearing. If these beans are kept picked the vines will bear until the end of the season. Lima beans should be picked when still green. To determine the exact condition of the pods, press them and, if they feel spongy, the beans are fully grown and ready for use; if it is hard, the pod still contains material to be absorbed by the bean. Yellow pods are past their prime.

Harvest broccoli before the bloom buds open. Cut off the center head with 4-5 inches of stem. This gives the side sprouts a chance to develop into edible heads. Zucchini squash is at its best when six to eight inches long and the skin is still tender. Pick cucumbers when young and your vines will produce more fruit.

Young carrots are best, both in flavor and tenderness, whether they are served raw, creamed, or in soup. The earlier cabbages are ready when three-quarters headed, but Brussels sprouts are best after a frost. Beets are grown to maturity for winter use, but they are at their best for the table when young. Kohlrabi, one of the easiest crops to grow, is often allowed to get too old because it matures very rapidly. It must be eaten before the skin hardens, which means before the bulb gets as big as a tennis ball, or it may be eaten when half as large. Swiss chard is ready for the table when the outside-leaves are a good high, but cut lightly at first so that the plants will keep on growing properly. When near maturity, the

Daily Exercise Develops Charm

You can be the girl you envy who makes an arresting entrance and starts charming a roomful of people in what seems to be one motion. You can, if like the little dynamo described, you have normal physical vigor. But to make it throw off such electrical sparks, vitality needs to be refueled by means of daily exercise, enough sleep, the right kind of food, and lively interests. The livelier the interests, the more alive a person seems to be, as witness any woman you know who throws herself wholeheartedly into whatever she happens to be doing. That woman moves with vigor, talks with animation, and is apt to act with dynamic power. All of this means aliveness, which invariably holds more attractions for an audience than apathy or bored indifference.

Expert Washing Machine Repair Offered at Shop

Recent nation-wide polls have shown that, above all the things the average housewife wants immediately after the war's end, is a new washing machine.

However, prospects for new machines at this time are still very dim, even with the Allied victory in Europe. Increased raids on the Japanese homeland call for more planes, ships, tanks and guns and nearly every one of these requires a small, or large electric motor, the kind that powers your present machine.

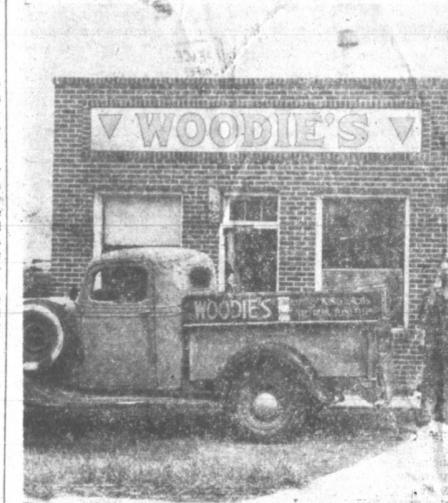

The logical step, then, is to have your present machine repaired and overhauled at the Pampa Washing Machine Company.

J. L. Bordwine, owner of the establishment, located at 307 S. Cuyler, says his shop is equipped to repair nearly any kind of electric motor or generator.

Household appliances repaired include fans, electric irons, refrigeration motors, air conditioning units, and many other items that are used constantly.

A few air conditioning units are also for sale at the company's shop. For quick, expert repair, call 2070, the Pampa Washing Machine Company.

Martin-Turner Insurance Agency Can Help You Avoid Loss by Hail

The Panhandle has had a reputation in the past for having the worst weather south of the North Pole, a reputation that isn't justified but, nevertheless, residents of this part of the state take a certain pride in that reputation.

Common sense tells us that insurance is your best safeguard against weather, especially hail.

"Hail is one of the most damaging elements of weather and every farmer, rancher or stockman should be well-protected by a complete insurance policy to assure himself that he can avoid financial loss."

See Martin-Turner about your hail insurance problems.

J. R. Martin and J. M. Turner, having in mind the welfare of their respective clients, formed the present partnership in 1943 and added many lines of insurance, including a complete fire insurance coverage.

In addition to all forms of life insurance, annuities, hospitalization and others, the agency offers comprehensive policies for the home.

Fried Chicken, Hot Biscuits, Gravy Is Specialty at Six's Pig Stand

During the current beef and pork shortage, more people want fried chicken when they eat out. But, they want chicken that is fried right and fried when they order it, and that's what they will get at Six's Pig Stand.

Mrs. Dee Coe, owner of the establishment is proud of the fact that the chickens she buys are the best that can be obtained. None of them have ever had their feet on the ground when they are purchased for Six's and they are bought and then dressed, none are bought already dressed.

Chicken is not to be had every day, but Mrs. Coe says that she tries to supply the demand even though it requires turning down inferior fowls.

Try some of Six's hot fried chicken and gravy with plenty of hot biscuits and butter — no margarine as ever used at Six's.

If you do care for steaks, sandwiches and other kinds of food, Six's has the best that can be bought. Mrs. Coe turns down steaks that she would not eat herself and she knows her customers would not eat them.

As for other foods, only well-known brands of canned goods are used, the kind that are used in the home every day. For desserts, only Del Monte fruits are used. Vegetables are always of the well-known variety and Heinz and Campbell's soups are used exclusively.

As for the cleanliness of Six's, Mrs. Coe invites you to inspect the entire premises. The establishment is operating under a city and state health permit and all of the waitresses and cooks must have a health certificate before they start to work there.

Six's invites individuals and parties. If you have a large group that plans to meet there, telephone a reservation. Orders for parties are always handled in the most efficient manner possible.

Drive out to Six's, 818 S. Cuyler, and see if you don't find that it is unexcelled for quality of food and efficiency of service. If, at any time, you have any suggestion or complaints, tell them to the management. They will be handled the way the customers want.

New Discharge System Pending

WASHINGTON, July 17—(AP)—The new critical score for army discharge, expected to be announced within the next two weeks, still will be based on points accumulated up to last May 12.

War department officials said Monday a new computation of points to be included those accumulated since last May, probably would be made late this year.

The new critical score will be lower than the 85 points set in the interim score announced this spring, but the reduction probably would not be large.

Actually there have been some instances where soldiers who lacked the required 85 points on May 12 subsequently becoming eligible. This arose out of the combat credit score awards in that category are based on the date of action instead of the date of award, and in some cases the awards postdated May 12 by some time.

OKINAWA, July 3—(Delayed)—Gen. Joseph Stillwell, Tenth Army commander, presented Silver Star medals to 56 96th division officers and men for gallantry in action during the 72-day battle for Okinawa. Those decorated included the following Texans:

S/Sgt. David N. Dovel, 1919 5th St., Lubbock, Texas.

There are more than 3,000 islands in the Netherlands East Indies group.

1. War workers moving from one city to another as production shifts from one type of war goods to another and to civilian goods.

2. Members of the armed forces moving to a new port.

3. Discharged veterans returning home or moving to another city to accept a job.

Some 'A' Motorists May Get New Tires

WASHINGTON, July 17—(AP)—Some passenger car owners, including "A" card holders, are now eligible for new tires for a bona fide change of address that required a special gasoline ration. The rule became effective Monday.

This is the first time since the beginning of the rationing that any "A" card holders have been eligible for new tires.

"This extension of the eligibility is particularly needed now that increasing numbers of persons are moving from one city to another," OPA said in announcing that.

These persons may apply for new tires if they have a tire failure while making a permanent change of residence, regardless of the type of ration they hold:

Gamelin Says Petain Deliberately Let the French Army Weaken

Eyewitness Tells Tragic Story of Ernie Pyle Death

TEMPLE, Texas, July 17.—(AP)—Mortar Gunner Albert J. Hamilton, Jr. of Beaumont, Texas, tells of seeing Ernie Pyle killed.

The same machine gun that killed the famous reporter on Iwo Jima, Rykuyu, on that Wednesday morning in April, nearly three months ago, had Hamilton pinned down.

The Texan, after being wounded three times has arrived at McCloskey general hospital here.

Wounded the third time, the day Pyle met death, Hamilton says he was within 100 yards of the reporter and looking right at him when three machine gun bullets struck him in the temple.

"It was a pretty little island," Private Hamilton said. "It didn't have but one big hill which was held by the Japanese. The rest was open country and there was some heavy fighting there."

"Our company went in there with 68 men and came out with 60. We lost two company commanders."

Hamilton served with E Company, 307th Infantry, 77th Division.

"My outfit had started out across the open field when the Japs opened up on us," he said. "We dived into a ditch."

"Soon a jeep came by and we recognized Ernie Pyle riding with Lt. Col. Joseph Conledge of Arkansas."

"One of the boys in my platoon remarked, 'they've got their nerve driving out through there.'"

"As the machine guns opened fire on the jeep, the reporter and the colonel took cover. A few minutes later Pyle was struck three times in the temple."

"We ran that hill on the three times before we took it," Hamilton said.

"A Texas flag was raised on the hill in honor of the Texans who died on Corregidor. I was there and took a great deal of razzing about being from Texas."

Hamilton was wounded the first time on Iwo and twice on Okinawa. He was awarded the Bronze Star for crawling back under heavy Japanese fire and getting tanks to rescue his men on April 18.

French People Illusioned at 'Hero' Glory

(This is the second of a series of five articles written for the Associated Press by Gen. Maurice-Gustave Gamelin.)

By Gen. Maurice-Gustave Gamelin (Copyright, 1945, by the AP.)

PARIS, July 17.—(AP)—Since Marshal Petain's return, the question frequently is asked of me: "Did Petain interfere with your administration while you were supreme commander?"

My answer at once is simple and complete. It is simple because, if it is a question of direct interference, I can say he never at least openly opposed me. Quite the contrary, he consistently approved of what I did.

He was the last of three commanders in chief of the French army, Joffre and Foch, unfortunately for us, having passed away. Those who, like myself, understood the situation in its entirety, knew that public opinion was under an illusion about him. He belonged to the procession of our glories.

I never thought he would be called to reappear in the domains of action. His authority was very great in the army and throughout the country; there was every reason to use it for the cause I had to defend. I therefore kept him fully informed about my intentions and actions and he always expressed agreement.

To define his mentality, you can turn once again to the opinions of Marshal Foch. From his own mouth, I one day heard the following formula recited: "When there is nothing to do, it is Petain's job."

It is simply that, a "defensive" mentality. Moreover, Petain is what I would call a "negative." He only knows how to take negative decisions. He does not like to shoulder responsibility. When things are going badly, he is always the victim of his subordinates. Since 1940, with some rare exceptions, he has successfully dropped all those who served him. His ideal from 1940 onward, as he himself presented it, would have been for France to do nothing.

As if France could remain neutral, content to wait or just to hope, while the tremendous drama was being played out between fascism and Hitlerism on one side and human liberty on the other! The Germans, quickly demonstrated to him that you can not remain indifferent and, moreover, that as soon as you range yourself beside them it is to become their slaves. He submitted, only too happy to retain power. For his personal ambitions were very great.

Marshal Petain's theories on "the power of the defensive" profoundly influenced the army, despite what my colleagues and I did to counteract them. They appear to agree with our French pacifist policies.

Was it not Petain who, after 1919, allowed our whole industrial war potential to be liquidated, instead of carefully preserving it and modernizing it? And I had to see what appropriation for armament did we get before 1935? Was it not he, who in 1927, agreed to a military service of one year instead of three? And, as it was shown at the front trials, he would not permit us either to instruct men or to form a nucleus of officers. For France, the outpost of civilization, it was necessary to have the army always ready. In fact, while he was commander in chief, did he not let the army fall?

And in the sphere of aviation, with which he particularly concerned himself after he became inspector general of air defenses, did he see the dimensions of modern war when in 1932, he wrote in an official document: "The day when we have for our defense 200 fighters to defend against enemy attacks and 200 bombers, each capable of carrying one or two tons of 1,000 kilometers (621 miles), peace will be assured?"

Oil Increase of 10,000 Barrels Is Asked by PAW

AUSTIN, July 17.—(AP)—Texas is asked to produce 10,000 more barrels daily of West Texas crude oil in August.

The August certification of the petroleum administration for war, received today by the State Railroad commission, asks production of 2,190,000 barrels daily of crude oil, an increase of 10,000 barrels over the amended July certification.

PAW asked that the entire crude increase come from Railroad commission districts 7-C and 9 in West Texas. Total certification for West Texas was 513,000 barrels daily.

The West Texas boost makes a total increase of 30,000 barrels production from that area in two months.

Commenting on this situation Commission Chairman Olin Culberson reiterated that it demonstrates the need for construction of a West Texas-California pipeline. Culberson asserted that railroads currently are unable to move westward present West Texas production and increasingly heavy demands upon the carriers for westward movement of war materials will add to the problem of tank car movement of crude.

He said that West Texas can produce 114,000 barrels more crude oil daily within its maximum efficient rate of production to meet Pacific war needs and that only pipeline movement will ease the situation.

Two years ago PAW denied application for construction of a 986-mile pipeline from West Texas to Los Angeles. Oil transported from West Texas to Houston and then shipped to Los Angeles by water traverses 8,812 miles, Culberson said.

PAW's August certification for production of all petroleum liquids from Texas, including condensates and natural gasoline, was 2,356,000 barrels daily, an increase of 13,000 barrels with that 3,000 was other than crude oil.

Ho-Hum, She's In Again

Once upon a time, in the dim and distant past, a press agent posed a scantily clad cutie (his client, of course) eating ice cream while sitting on a hunk of ice. And it got into the newspapers as a cute "hot-weather" picture. And so ever since, come summer, press agents have been mechanically making the same old ice-cream cheesecake pictures, and probably always will. Well, here's this summer's exhibit—screen actress Barbara Bates. The penguin? We wouldn't know, gum.

New Texas-La. Pipeline Planned

WASHINGTON, July 17.—(AP)—United Gas Pipe Line company was authorized by the federal power commission Monday to construct a $7,261,221, 143-mile pipeline from the Carthage, Texas, gas field to the Monroe, La., field. Some of the gas to be handled will go to the Appalachian area.

The 24-inch line is to connect with the Tennessee Gas and Transmission company's existing, 24-inch line at Monroe, and then with United's existing facilities in the Monroe field.

The commission also authorized construction by United of about four and one-half miles of 18-inch line from its gasoline plant in the Carthage field to connect with the proposed 24-inch line.

United is authorized by the FEPC to operate the facilities, which will have a daily capacity of 310,000,000 cubic feet of gas, and to transport for the Tennessee company a maximum of 114,000,000 cubic feet daily from the Carthage field to Tennessee's Monroe compressor station.

During the war emergency, FEPC authorized United to transport a maximum of 65,000,000 cubic feet daily from the Texas field for service to its present customers.

Gas to be transported to the Tennessee company by the proposed line, the commission said, was termed necessary by the war production board to supply pipelines in the Appalachian area before the beginning of this winter.

New Secretary Of Labor Humbly Breaks Precedent

WASHINGTON, July 17.—(AP)—As plain as an old shoe, the new secretary of labor, Lewis B. Schwellenbach, sat down in a tan windbreaker jacket like soldiers wear and humbly set a precedent.

At least new men who have covered Washington for 30 years never remember a member of the cabinet doing anything like it before.

Schwellenbach called an off-the-record press conference, sat down with the newsmen whose beat is the labor department, and asked them simply: "What do you think I can do to improve the department?"

He's been busy trying to reorganize the department since he took office July 1 when President Truman appointed him. He quit a federal district judgeship in the state of Washington to take the job. He had quit the U. S. senate in 1940 to be a federal judge.

He has to work with the newsmen. They're the men who in the years ahead will praise him, or criticize him for the job he does. Unpretentious, dressed in the windbreaker, wearing horn-rimmed glasses, the 50-year-old secretary asked "the question."

Frankly he was trying to pick the newsmen's brains. He wanted to find out what they thought could be done to improve the department which labor secretary Frances Perkins under him had headed many years ago.

The answers were not very profound. One newsmen thought this might be done. Another thought something else. There didn't seem to be any general agreement on reorganization or policy.

He listened to the suggestions, didn't argue, made mental notes and kept his own ideas to himself, the first results of the reorganization now under way may be announced in August.

There has been a great deal of criticism of the government because of the many government agencies—more than 25—which in one way or another deal with labor problems.

Long ago in this war organized labor has complained, there's no central agency to which labor can take its problems.

Veterans Reported To Be Making Good Grades

AUSTIN, July 17.—Veterans who have re-entered college after discharge from the armed forces are making better-than-average students, a University of Texas veterans counselor asserts.

Hubert B. Jones, associate counselor in the University's Veterans Advisory Service, says that, while detailed records are not yet available, counselors at colleges over the nation report that veterans are making a little better grades than the average students.

"They are purposeful and intent on doing their work," Jones said. "They are older than the average student, and a little more serious about getting the most out of their educational opportunities."

A total of 380 veterans are studying at the university this summer, a gain of 32 over the 348 who were in school during the spring semester, the university auditor's office reports.

WLB Defines Payments To Discharged Workers

DALLAS, July 17.—War labor board approval is not necessary in order to pay accrued vacation payments to production employees on a pro rata basis to employees who are discharged without cause, according to advice received and released by A. Langley Coffey, chairman of the Eighth regional war labor board.

Employers who desire to adopt a different plan, however, are required to obtain WLB approval.

The clarification is intended to facilitate payments to employees who may lose their jobs due to cutbacks or reconversion, Coffey explained.

The text of the statement follows:

"Accrued vacation payments and the payment of accrued annual and similar non-production bonuses to employees discharged for other than cause do not require approval of the war labor board if such payments are made on a pro rata basis. If an employer wishes to adopt a different plan, war labor board approval must be secured."

'Texas Romance Sarcely Begun' --- Boyce House

Scarcely a beginning has been made in setting down on paper the romance of Texas, especially the Panhandle, declared Boyce House of Fort Worth, author of two best sellers Monday night before a meeting sponsored by the Pampa Business and Professional Women's club.

"History is not the exclusive property of the Ph. D.'s, much less of the writer of that most unread and unreadable production of the human brain, the master's thesis," House commented.

"Nor is history solely an account of things of long ago. History is anything important and significant which has happened. It might have been in 1942 or it might have been yesterday."

"And history is not just the doings of generals and politicians."

"Wherever men have planned and played and plowed, wherever they have smiled and sung and splendidly swaggered, wherever men and women have wooed and wed and worked and worshipped, wherever they have dreamed and died, there is history! Texas history, for example, is not something that is past and dead but a living, breathing force projecting itself into the present and profoundly affecting the future."

House declared he was not "one of the Coronado addicts," though conceding that the Spaniard was picturesque in his armor, hunting for non-existent cities of gold.

"But," the speaker said, "there is no need for one to spend a lifetime trying to decide whether Coronado camped for a single night three miles west, or six and a quarter miles east, of the present city of Abilene."

"There is more romance in the weather-beaten countenance of a West Texas rancher, and there is more nobility in the heroic features of a ranch wife and mother—a couple who, with raw courage and bare hands, despite northern sand, wind and sun, or perhaps because of these challenging conditions, wrought in the wilderness a civilization that is richer in dollars, and infinitely richer in human values, than the seven golden cities that Coronado sought, even if they had existed."

Swinging into his own specialty, Texas jokes, the speaker declared that much of the climate, geography, history, politics and philosophy of the State can be found in the jokes that Texans have made up and, selecting from his collection of more than a thousand such stories, he gave a panorama of Texas humor.

SALAD FOR 'BOSSY'

GRANGEVILLE, Idaho, July 17.—(AP)—Farmer Ben Baker has found a way of getting rid of weeds in his pastures, and his cows are happy, too.

Trked when bossy and her bovine colleagues began to lose all appetite for the weeds, Baker hit on the idea of making the "greens" pleasing to a cow's state by the addition to table salt.

Bossy soon grew to like her new "salad" . . . and after a few hee-lings, Baker's pastures were weedless.

RIVERSIDES didn't come on my car I CHOSE THEM

38, 621, 055 TIMES
the choice was RIVERSIDES

Yes, a grand total of more than 38 million Wards Riverside Tires have been sold! And every last one of them was a "replacement" sale! Millions of car-owners have chosen Riversides deliberately in preference to all other well-known makes of tires! Why? For the same reason that makes so many car-owners switch to Riversides today!

More MILES-OF-SAFETY ON RIVERSIDES

Today . . . Riversides are actually stronger than Wards pre-war tires! And here's why—Each individual cord is stronger to begin with, then, chemically-strengthened to stay stronger longer! Cords are next liquid-dipped ("welded" together), then cushioned in rubber! Finally, the plies are cemented together before vulcanizing to provide greater protection against separation and blowouts!

Reporting Under Pacific Dateline

By VERN HAUGHLAND

YELLOW BEACH THREE, Okinawa (7)—There's a Seabee outfit here with more than its share of "characters," including the first mayor of Winfield, N. J., and "Bruno," the Human Pincushion.

"Bruno" is Coxswain James H. Upton, a Wisconsin native and former millwright who has served with Seabee stevedore gangs on Guadalcanal and Okinawa. He was a star attraction in freak shows at the Chicago and New York world fairs.

"When we want to play darts, we just use Bruno," said his friend, Navy Lt. Edward Mackin, 38, of Elmhurst, Long Island, N. Y.

"We paint a mercurochrome target on his back, and then he lets us stand off and toss darts into it. He bleeds a little now and then because he's out of training, but when he's in condition he doesn't bleed a bit.

"He eats double-edges razor blades, chews glass balls, and whistles now and then wins a bottle of whiskey by offering to eat the bottle's neck.

"He also will let us sew buttons onto his skin, anywhere on his body except his eyes.

"Doctors say he does it all by rigid self-hypnosis. Funny thing, though—when he shaves he cuts himself and bleeds as easily as you or I."

When Winfield, N. J., (population 2,100) was incorporated as a town of defense workers in 1941, James "Tommy" Thompson was elected its first mayor.

Upon setting up camp near Okinawa's Yontan airfield, Thompson dug a little bomb shelter and put up a sign, "Winfield community foxhole—through these sandbagged portals die the fastest democrats in the world."

USED FAT LICKS TWO SHORTAGES!

Miss Anna Mae Loftus, Laboratory Assistant at National Oil Products Company, Harrison, N. J., shows how kitchen grease, scraped from skillets, skimmed from soups, melted down from table scraps, helps to make thousands of civilian and war needs—in this case—critically-short paper. Left to right, Miss Loftus pours wax emulsion into a beater containing wood pulp. Stearic acid, one of the by-products of used fat, is necessary in the manufacture of this wax emulsifier. The processed pulp is then pressed into sheet size and when dried, is paper. Here's another reason for saving every drop of used cooking fat, and rushing it to the meat dealer for cash and extra ration points. It's needed now more than ever.

Literal-Minded GI Wonders If One Can Even Touch Germans!

By HOWARD COWAN

GERM ON THE TEGERNSEE Bavaria—The major read Gen Eisenhower's order relaxing the ban on fraternizing.

"Whew," he said softly, "I'm going to be just like Saturday night in Joplin, Mo., with all these GIs and all these frauleins."

But there was no abrupt change. The order, allowing American soldiers to talk to German grown-ups on the streets and in public places is almost 48 hours old now.

Perhaps it is straightforward. Maybe they all feel a little sheepish, but anyway, the American soldier has floundered around these two days and has scarcely mustered up courage to whistle when he sees a German girl.

A sergeant and two privates are a fair example. They had been among those screaming the loudest against the order that kept them from even talking with Germans, saying it was "rueful and inhuman."

Elleited in one of the picturesque little chalets rimming the shores at this lake resort, they had been exposed daily to scores of Bavarian and Austria belles sunbathing.

These three sat in a jeep today parked at the edge of a softball diamond. They were just talking about it.

"It says that 'conversation with adult Germans on the street and in public places' is okay," the sergeant said.

A GI began undulating his legs from the front seat of the jeep.

Surplus War Property Blanks Are Available

when the British leader called to pay his respects.

The menu included creamed spinach, fried liver and bacon, smothered with onions, baked ham, julienne potatoes, string beans, pumpkin-baked bread, jam, sliced fruit, cookies, mint, candies and cigars.

It was the kind of easy-going meeting without frills, which delights the democratic Missourian making his debut in the world's biggest political circle.

For South—who pleasures also have been simple except when the Russian tradition of gorgeous formalities requires herculean fetes—it was an opportunity to size up at leisure the successor of President Roosevelt.

What they talked about remained secret.

Truman directed Vice-Adm. Emory S. Land, chief of the U. S. maritime commission, to proceed to Germany as soon as possible, indicating that post-war world shipping and utilization of the United States' greatest merchant fleet in history would play a part in the discussions.

Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson and Gen. Henry H. Arnold, chief of the U. S. army air forces, are now on the conference scene.

The parley agenda will cover a world-wide range of subjects, including territorial disputes, occupation, rehabilitation and stabilization.

American and British newspapers which reached here predicted that the question of Russian participation in the Pacific war would be a likely question for discussion. They also forecast that the three Allied leaders would take up the problem of administrative control of Germany.

After dinner last night the President and his guests went out on the lawn slipping down to a lake and listened to a 50-piece American band.

A formal communique will be issued at the conclusion of the conferences, which will be conducted in strict secrecy, although it has been reported that President Truman favors earlier communique when progress of the parley warfare.

ing on the bed, apparently dead. The he threw her body into the alley beside the hotel.

Meantime, Police Capt. James O. Barker said, Warren M. Smith, 45, former army civilian employe, living at another hotel, had started a search for Mrs. Eames.

Barker quoted Smith as saying he and Mrs. Eames lived at the hotel and planned to marry as soon as she got her divorce.

Bretton Woods Twin Purpose Is Explained

By JAMES MAILLOW

WASHINGTON, July 17—(AP)—The senate is debating the Bretton Woods agreement to set up an international bank and fund.

Their twin purpose is to prevent postwar cut-throat financial competition and to help nations get on their economic feet.

After the dust of war which will last a few days, the senate is expected to okay the agreements.

This will be the final touch—because the house already has approved—except for the signature of President Truman. He'll sign. He wants to.

After the last war there was little attempt to set world currency systems on an even keel.

Some of the nations did tricks with their currency. This may have helped the tricky nations. It hurt others.

Senator Wagner (D-N. Y.) says: "The decade of the 1930s witnessed the development of economic warfare in its most destructive form."

In May, 1944, President Roosevelt issued invitations to the then 44 United Nations and associated nations to meet in a New Hampshire summer resort, called Bretton Woods, in July, 1944.

A month before that meeting American and British experts and experts from 15 other countries got together in Atlantic City. They worked out the plans, ironing out some kinks.

All went directly from Atlantic City to Bretton Woods. They all worked there most of July.

They came up with a two-fold plan called: The international monetary fund and the international bank for reconstruction and development.

Forty-four nations are involved in this. If the senate approves them this week, the United States will be the first country to give the plans its blessing.

Tomorrow: The fund and how it works.

the third to feel the sting of 16-inch shells within days.

Tokyo worried about a possible new invasion in the Dutch Indies and American commanders pointed out U. S. assault forces could readily land on the Asiatic coast where Chinese troops invaded Indo-China and captured Moscow, not far from the Gulf of Tonkin.

They could just as readily land on the Asiatic mainland another American commander pointed out as Chinese troops invaded Indo-China and captured Moscow.

Revised figures on the U. S. Third fleet's combined air and naval bombardment of northern Japan showed that, in addition to two steel producing cities wrecked by naval guns, carrier aircraft:

- Destroyed 140 Japanese vessels, 84 locomotives, 37 planes and a great variety of ground installations;
- Damaged 204 ships and surface craft, 45 locomotives, 48 aircraft, and military and manufacturing facilities.

Nine small warships were sunk and ten damaged. They ranged from destroyers to picket craft. Twenty-five freighters were sunk, 24 damaged. One oiler was sunk, nine others and a transport damaged. All other ships hit were smaller craft, about all Japan has left, including the 12 train ferries upon which the Nipponese relied to move vital raw materials from Iokkaido island to steel plants on northern Honshu.

These carrier attacks were pressed through extremely adverse weather without the loss of an American ship. Sixteen airmen and 24 planes failed to return.

These same carrier forces were included in the mighty assault which lay perhaps 200 miles off the coast of Japan today while American and British pilots broke through a thick haze for an eight hour attack on the network of airdromes, military installations and industries around Tokyo.

The combined assault which brought together the mightiest units of the American and British naval forces was carried out under command of Adm. William F. (Bull) Halsey, Jr., without any apparent sign of Nipponese retaliation, design of Nipponese Emperor Hirohito to his air forces to do something to protect his throne.

Halsey sent his fighters and bombers roaring in over a 35 stretch of the enemy's coast, approximately 50 miles from the Mikado's palace, shortly after nearly 500 Superforts set fire to four industrial cities. Roaring fires were set in four cities. Three, all on Honshu island south-west of Tokyo, were his for the first time—Guratsuka, arsenal and aircraft center; Numazu, armaments town, and Kuwana, tool center. The fourth target Oita, is a repeatedly attacked naval air depot and rail center on Kyushu, southernmost island on Japan.

In previous strikes, B-29s have lost about one plane a mission—a total of 291 Superforts since last Thanksgiving day.

Japanese fighters which have been notably absent for a month reappeared yesterday over Nagoya and engaged two Jima Mustangs in a spectacular air fight. Forty Japanese planes were knocked out.

Other air strikes accounted for 42 Nipponese ships. A single Liberator sank and damaged 37 of them, all two-masted cargo carriers trapped southeast of Hongkong as they tried to sneak along the China coast.

Texas Today ...

By JACK RUTLEDGE Associated Press Staff

It wasn't called the wild west just for the heck of it.

Oldtimers like Fred White, justice of the peace of Tucumcari, N. M., recall little events that—well, if they happened today they'd probably call out the state guard, whistle for the FBI, wire for a few planes and maybe end up with a congressional investigation.

In those days, even a tenderfoot could handle the situation.

White was born in Young county, Texas, near Graham, and moved to Billy the Kid's old stomping grounds in New Mexico when he was quite young.

He remembers one time when the owner of a Tucumcari saloon hired a Kentucky tenderfoot as a bartender. Standard equipment was a pair of brass knucks and two revolvers. A tough gang blew into town and began shooting up the joint. The tenderfoot grabbed his two guns and partially protected by the bar began shooting with both hands. The affair became public and shooting was pretty general.

The next day eleven corpses were tossed into an empty box car on a passing freight train. A few days later railway officials found the bodies in Kansas and wondered where they had picked up such an unusual cargo.

Then there was the time cut-rate merchandising was introduced. A man was wholesaling whiskey and beer to a saloon, but somehow his customer quit. The salesman was stuck with a carload of beer and booze.

So he put out handbills advertising beer at five cents a glass. Formerly, the price was 25 cents a bottle.

Well, this resulted in a shooting and the saloon keeper was killed. The former salesman was acquitted on a self defense plea, and went into the saloon business himself.

Another incident was the case of the man who was run out of town for stealing money off a dead man's eyes. Two quarters had been placed on the eyes to close the lids. They disappeared. So did two more.

Finally the character was caught red-handed and citizens lined up, kicked him out of town as he was forced to run between the lines.

Ship Destroyed

troit were in the dining room at breakfast with their niece, 10-year-old Susan Green. When others left the dining room they followed and went to the bow of the Harmonite. "Suddenly the top deck burst into flames," Dr. Green said. He wrapped a life preserver around his niece and tossed her to the water, then he and his wife slid down a cable to safety.

The liner, one of the largest of the Great Lakes, burst into flames when a blaze jumped from a freight shed at the dock.

Within five minutes the superstructure of the ship was a mass of fire, sending many of the 255 passengers overboard. Some jumped into scows, others leaped into the water as panic overcame the passengers.
