Jail-Breakers Recaptured At Shamrock

Three teenage prisoners who escaped from the Wheeler County Jail Saturday night have been caught and returned to jail. Action on a fourth youth who met them after their escape is pending. Deputy Sheriff Lake Black, Shamrock, said that all three were caught last night. Wayne Turner, 18, was picked up by Sheriff Bus Dorman and Hark at his mother's residence, northwest of Twitty, about 7 p.m. Billy Lyden Sealf, 17, and Robert Allen Hicks, 18, both of Willis, Tex., were collared by Black about 10:15 p.m. on Hwy. 66, east of town. The fourth, Bill Dees, 16, is still free although there is a chance that he will be charged with aiding the escapees. The jail-break occurred sometime between 8 and 9 p.m. Saturday. The Wheeler jail is situated on the second floor of a building where the Dorman family lives. The three had hitched a ride with a passing farmer and gone to Shamrock. Turner was being held in jail in lieu of payment of bond on a charge of attempted strong-arm robbery. Dees was out on bond on the same charge. The other two, Sealf and Hicks, were being detained on charges of automobile theft and burglary. There had been a series of auto thefts in the Shamrock area in the past month.

NATION'S FIRST ATOMIC SUBMARINE — President Harry S. Truman, above, initials the keel of the nation's first atomic submarine, now building at Groton, Conn. Mr. Truman revealed that an estimated $100,000,000 submarine is 'almost complete' and declared that the engine for the U.S.S. New Russian Threat Hanging Over Three - Power Parley

WASHINGTON (AP) — Under the threat of a possible new Russian drive to split the West, United States officials start today a series of talks with British and French representatives on problems dividing the three powers. Korea, Indochina and Germany are high on the list. And the talks get added urgency from the week-end disclosure that Moscow is assigning its chief deputy foreign minister, Andrei Gromyko, to be ambassador to London.

This looks to some officials like a major new Russian move in the cold war — and, more than likely, one aimed at disrupting the U.S.-British-French alliance. Against this background, the Big Three powers will discuss, among other things: 1. France's desire for increased American help in carrying on its billion-dollar-a-year war in Indochina. This was expected to be the main theme of conferences to be held by Jean LeTourneau, French minister for relations with the Indochinese States. The Frenchman also is seeking to learn from State and Defense Department officials how much assistance the United States will give in case of a massive Chinese Communist attack on Indochina.

2. The conduct of Korean truce negotiations and the handling of Communist prisoners of war. There has been growing criticism in Britain of the way the Korean sector of the struggle with communism is being run, and the feeling has been voiced that if Britain had had a larger role it might have been run better. 3. How soon and under what conditions the Western Powers should offer to meet with Russia to discuss German issues. These are the key questions to be answered in the preparation here, beginning early this week, of a new move to Moscow on German unification and peace. 4. A review of the whole range of Allied difficulties, undoubtedly including the Korean, Russian-German and Indochinese as well as other problems. Officials here said this placed a Soviet diplomat of more than ordinary prestige and influence in a key Western European capital. They thought it unlikely the Russians would make such a move simply as part of a routine reshuffling.

While it was possible Gromyko was simply being booted out of the Foreign Office, the importance of the assignment and the state of political relationships among the Western Allies at this time made it seem that he was hand-picked for an important task. Edward E. "Buck" Seitz of Pampa, co-owner of Kitchens and Seitz Gulf Service Station wishes to notify the Public he is in no way connected with E. J. "Buck" Seitz of White Deer Texas.

Has Only Three Weeks To Live . . . Hour-Long Program Dedicated To Cancer-Doomed Youngster

By LLOYD WOLFE CHELSEA, Okla. (AP) — A 13-year-old cancer victim who isn't aware that doctors have given him only three weeks to live is waiting warmly to watch an hour-long television program tonight dedicated to him. Bobby Shaw, amazed by all the publicity and he has received, has told his mother continually: "I don't deserve it. I'm not good enough for someone to do all this for me." But Mrs. Earl Shaw says she tells Bobby he's been a good boy who has had a tough time of it, and everyone is trying to help him get well soon. Bobby is expected to slip into a coma in about three weeks and never recover. He has had three operations in a Tulsa hospital but doctors finally have given up hope. Television station KOTV at Tulsa and the Tulsa World joined forces to put on the big show for Bobby at 11:30 p.m. Eastern Standard Time. A large cast of entertainers and store who it comes from. Seek To Start Steel Flowing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government will try this week to start enough steel flowing from the nation's strike-closed steel mills to prevent a crippling halt in the production of weapons. The White House announced that a four-man committee of the CIO United Steelworkers had been directed by Union President Philip Murray to help work out a mutually acceptable plan for meeting defense needs for steel. Both the union and industry agreed when wage negotiations collapsed last Monday to permit sufficient steel production for essential defense items. So far the government has announced no specific plan for this output. The White House said a plan had been worked out to transport steel stored in struck warehouses to weapons manufacturers. Meanwhile, a few individual steel mills signed agreement with the steelworkers and prepared to resume operations immediately. But these were independent of the big steel producers who hold a united front against the union. Already nearly 3 1/2 million tons of steel has been lost since the mills shut down, with 88 per cent of the nation's normal steel output cut off. Production had been running just under 300,000 tons a day.

Austin Man Charged In Car Accident

A two-car accident occurred at 8:25 p.m. Sunday on Hwy. 60, 1.2 miles west of Pampa. A '50 sedan, driven by Samuel B. McGee, 23, of 2807 South St., Austin, was in collision with a car driven by James E. McWilliams, 65, of Wilkie Trailer Courts, Pampa. The two cars were going east toward Pampa when the McGee car started to pass the McWilliams car on the left. McGee was charged with having no operator's license and with failing to pass an overtaken vehicle. He was fined a total of $29 in JP court this morning. Damage to the cars was estimated at a little less than $500. There were no injuries.

Carver Students Sign Up For Program

All children who attended Carver School last year and would like to participate in the summer recreation program can sign up with W. B. Moore at 8:30 and 11:30 a.m. Registration will be at the new school building. The program, for the 8-14 age group, was slated to begin today. Put on each summer by the city of Pampa, it has attracted many youngsters in the past.

Swedes Look For Another Missing Craft

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — Soviet jet fighter planes shot down an unarmed Swedish military search plane off the coast of Estonia today, the government announced. The seven-man crew was picked up later by a German merchant ship. Two of the Swedish crew were reported wounded.

The plane was searching for another Swedish Air Force plane missing with eight men aboard in the same area, where the Russians are reported holding vast air and sea maneuvers. The Swedish government, reflecting the anger of people in the streets, delivered a strong protest to the Russians. Soviet Ambassador Constantine Rodionov was summoned to the foreign office to receive the protest personally from Prime Minister Tage Erlander, who is also foreign minister. Crowds in front of the Soviet embassy jeered Rodionov as he left and spat into the embassy compound.

Sweden demanded an immediate investigation and prompt punishment of "those responsible for the outrage." Erlander also delivered a second request to the Russians that they halt further espionage activity by their diplomats in Sweden. This note referred specifically to the trial which opened here today of seven Swedes charged with selling out this nation's entire vital northern defense system to the Russians. The Swedish military plane, an unarmed Catalina, was searching for a Swedish Air Force transport missing since Friday. It is feared that plane also was shot down by the Russians during their maneuvers. This would be a fate similar to one met by a W. S. Navy privateer aircraft which disappeared in the same area two years ago with 19 men aboard. The Catalina was attacked about 60 miles off the Soviet-held Estonian coast. Swedish planes searching for the missing craft had been instructed to keep 15 miles from the Russian-held coast. The Russians claim 12 miles out as their own special territory. The pilot radioed that his plane was hit "several times" by bursts of 20 millimeter cannon from two Soviet MIG-15 jet fighter planes. The Swedish air force said it had reports that the plane was attacked seven times.

After it was hit the plane tried to make the Swedish coast some 110 miles away. The plane went down apparently around 90 miles off the coast, where the crew was rescued by the German merchant ship.

Reds Crack German Riots

BONN, Germany (AP) — Five thousand German Communist police appeared today to have stamped out a wildfire of revolt in more than a dozen Soviet zone villages, where East Germans protested their exclusion from the Communist frontier security belt. The fights between police and villagers at times reached the proportions of pitched battles — have been going on for five days. Scores have been arrested. More than 30 casualties have been reported. Police riot squads were reported dispatched by the Communists to at least 16 villages along security belt, as desperate civilians resisted being forcibly moved out ruthlessly to make way for the new frontier on a man's hand. The villagers also protested. Communist police hunt for "undesirables" in the border area. The resistance centered in the border state of Thuringia. In Kallendorf, 1,000 villagers tried to free two families of "political unreliable" from the village jail. They clashed with 300 Red police reinforcements. At Stendorf, angry farmers armed themselves with axes and scythes and tried to beat off a police patrol bent on evicting eight families and deporting them to the interior. Three police were wounded before riot squads rushed in and quelled the revolt. In many other incidents, police were reported ambushed or attacked openly. Patrol cars were smashed and burned. In some places, entire villages joined in the resistance. But at present, zone reinforcements appeared to have the situation under temporary control.

Two Hurt In Pursley Fire

Two men were hospitalized with burns and shock following a fire which broke out today in the paint shop of the Pursley Motor Co. The blaze, firemen said, was confined to the area of the paint shop where the two men, Calvin Folks and Albert Wilson, were working at the time the fire broke out. Both men were admitted to Worley Hospital. Firemen said the cause of the blaze was still undetermined, but said they believed it started while workmen were draining gasoline from a car that was in the paint shop. The inside of the paint shop and its ceiling were scorched and one side of the car was damaged by flames and smoke. While there was not much flame except for burning gasoline on the floor, heavy clouds of smoke permeated the entire building. The flames were extinguished in a matter of minutes, firemen reported. No estimate of the damage was given.

Panhandle Judge Killed In 3-Way Auto Collision

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Judge H. H. Cooper, 80, retired Amarillo, Texas, attorney, was killed and his wife and three other persons injured last night in a three-auto collision. Mrs. Cooper, 78, was at San Francisco Hospital with critical head injuries. She and her husband were passengers in a car driven by Thomas Morris, Los Altos, Calif. Morris told police he backed out when he reached the intersection. His car struck another and spun into a third. Morris and his wife, Leslie Cooper, San Francisco, driver of the second car, and Iose Marie Ma'dier, 38, San Francisco, driver of the third auto, escaped with minor injuries.

MYSTERY "JEEP" OF COMPANY 76 — A paratrooper of the U.S. 187th Regimental Combat Team examines a mystery jeep of motorized Company 76, on Kooje Island, before demolition of the compound by UN forces. Reports had been received that the Red POW's had, among other luxuries, a jeep. The vehicle turned out to be a dummy, made of wood and paper.

Hot Fight Develops . . . Texas GOP Fires Counter-Charges

Counter-charges by Republican presidential candidates over Texas' 38 delegates to the GOP national convention held the political stage center today. But there were other fast-moving developments. Veteran Finance Committeeman Marris McLean of San Antonio, a backer of Senator Robert Taft, said the Republicans were carrying out their responsibilities at Mineral Wells when they seated pro-Taft delegates.

BEAUMONT, Texas (AP) — A young Marine who told officers that he shot a motorist who gave him a lift and left the man to die in a ditch was held without bond today. Vincent Paul Pavlik, 19, of Bridgeport, Conn., was charged yesterday with murder in the slaying of S. Mason Jonas, 27, of Leesville, La. Jonas' body was found about midnight in a ditch near Beaumont. Pavlik was arrested in Houston by officers who became suspicious when he showed them Jonas' driver's license for identification. The youth was driving Jonas' car. A statement admitting the slaying was signed by Pavlik, who offered to take the police to the scene of the shooting. Pavlik told Sheriff Buster Kern of Harris County that Jonas stopped the car and got out and walked into a ditch. "He was standing with his back to the car," Pavlik said. "Then I took the pistol and shot him twice."

"Then I got out and shot him again as he lay in the ditch." "Did he say anything to you when you were shooting him?" Kern asked. "No." "Do you mean to tell me that the man said absolutely nothing to you?" "Oh, yeah," Pavlik said "he did beg me not to shoot him again. While he was lying in the ditch just before I shot him the last time." Pavlik said he dropped the gun into his pocket, took Jonas' wallet which contained $37 and drove off. The youth told officers he has been absent without leave from Camp LeJeune, N. C., since March 10.

Three Cars Involved In Collision Here

Three cars were involved in a collision at 9:30 p.m. Sunday at the intersection of Francis and Frost. Mrs. Ethel Brown, 419 1/2 W. Francis, driving a '51 sedan, was charged with running a red light and hitting a '48 sedan driven by Mrs. Lee Thomas, 357 S. Sommer. The Horton car was going through the intersection with the green light. But the Horton car, in turn, was knocked into a car driven by Rudolph Clayton, 49, at 412 E. N. Frost, which was stopped at the red light. Mrs. Brown has been given a summons to appear in Corporation Court on a charge of running a red light. Total damages to the Brown and Horton cars has been estimated at $550.

Today Is Deadline On Expense Reports

Today is the last day for candidates seeking precinct, county, district and state offices, to file their second campaign expense reports with county authorities. Candidates must file a complete report of money received and paid out with the county clerk at intervals of 20 days, beginning 60 days before the election. The second report for the July 28 Democratic primary is due by midnight today, according to the recodified Texas election code.

At Least One Dead As Ammo Dump In Korea Is Exploded

HAEUNDE, Korea (AP) — Mighty explosions in the biggest U. S. Army ammunition dump in Korea today killed a Korean, injured an American officer, and left four U. S. soldiers missing. South Korean police said they suspected sabotage by guerrillas. The first blast — cause unknown — broke windows and knocked down plaster in buildings in Pusan, 13 miles south. Two other huge explosions followed within 15 minutes. There was a fourth blast later, which flames mushroomed in the area.

Heat-Breaking Winds Sweep Over Area

Heat-breaking northerly winds swept over Pampa and other parts of the Panhandle after the temperature here reached a 100-degree peak Sunday.

The mercury soared to the 100-degree mark in Pampa while readings in other parts of the state reached as high as 110.

The cool front which moved in during the wee hours of the morning was expected to turn tail and run the U. S. Weather Bureau said, and no further relief is sighted for the June heat wave.

Soaring hot winds in excess of 20 miles per hour blasted other parts of the Panhandle and South Plains early today. Lubbock, Amarillo and Big Spring bore the brunt of the winds but no dust was reported.

Increased winds, the bureau hinted, would surely send the dust swirling. Elsewhere in the state a 40-year-old Mexican farm laborer, Giovanni Olimos, died Sunday night of a fatal heart attack after collapsing while chopping cotton in the area's 107-degree heat.

The sultry weather sent the mercury sky-rocketing Sunday with Pampa's 110 degrees the state's highest. It was 105 at Wink, 104 at Childress and Dalhart, 103 at Lubbock and Amarillo and 102 at Wichita Falls, Mineral Well, Abilene and Midland had 101 degrees with most other Sunday temperatures in the high 90s.

The heat was off to an early start Monday with El Paso reporting 80 degrees at 4:30 a.m. Other temperatures at that time included 78 at Secluded Salt Flat, 79 at Galveston, 76 at Austin, Dallas, Fort Worth, Del Rio, 75 at San Antonio and Amarillo and 74 at Abilene, Lubbock, Wink and Beaumont. 71 were among the lowest pre-dawn temperatures.

The heat, centered in West Texas Sunday, was due to move eastward with searing winds and few clouds today. Temperatures were expected to 100 degrees were expected in the densely populated Dallas-Fort Worth area.

The only rain reported Sunday was .02 of an inch at Dalhart. None was expected today, weathermen said at dawn, although a late forecast had called for thundershowers in the Panhandle late Monday afternoon and night.

Lost 81-Year-Old Borger Man Found Dead In Canyon

The 81-year-old Borger man, missing from his home for three days, was found yesterday afternoon dead in a canyon a couple of miles outside town. John H. Crawford had been lost since early Thursday when he had left home with $2 in his pocket. Police in nearby cities had been alerted. Two boys, Buford Bullard and Dean Sherman of Phillips came upon the body in mid-afternoon. Mounted horsemen were just about to enter the hills in search of Crawford when the discovery was made. Sheriff Hugh Anderson, Hutchinson, driving a '51 sedan, was charged with running a red light and hitting a '48 sedan driven by Mrs. Lee Thomas, 357 S. Sommer. The Horton car was going through the intersection with the green light. But the Horton car, in turn, was knocked into a car driven by Rudolph Clayton, 49, at 412 E. N. Frost, which was stopped at the red light. Mrs. Brown has been given a summons to appear in Corporation Court on a charge of running a red light. Total damages to the Brown and Horton cars has been estimated at $550.

Wac-Waf Recruiter In Pampa June 19-20

M. Sgt. Irene de Fabio will be in the Pampa recruiting office in the post office June 19-20 representing the Women's Army Corps and the Women's Army Corps. She will answer questions on enlistments and commissions in those two branches and the Army Nurse Corps. Except for those two days, the recruiting office will be closed until June 23 while M. Sgt. Davis A. Brown is on an official trip to El Paso. Sgt. Brown announced today that the Air Force recruiting list is being held to a minimum at the Air Force Recruiting Station in Amarillo. Anyone interested in enlisting in the Air Force or the Army should contact the Amarillo office at 312 E. Fifth.

Real Estate Board Postpones Meeting

The regular Pampa Real Estate Board meeting, originally scheduled for tomorrow, has been postponed until Tuesday, June 24 in Amarillo. Anyone interested in that both the president and the secretary are out of town.

Some 30,000 Residents of Haende — their thatched-roof houses on fire — and nearby villages back off for safer areas.

U. S. soldiers in tanks edged into the still flaming outer reaches of the blast area late in the afternoon to survey the probability of additional explosions. A mid-afternoon wind swung flames away from untouched areas of the dump, giving hope that further destruction could be halted. Gray clouds of phosphorus smoke rose into the sky. Rockets smoked wildly about. Exploding flares touched up the scene with bright colors. Some shells and flares flew two miles. Grass fire raged up in the dry hills ringed the area.

Cloviss Batters Gold Sox, 20-8

AMARILLO — (AP) — The League-leading Clovis Pioneers powdered four Amarillo Gold Sox, 20 to 8, half of them for extra bases. Sunday to make it three straight in a four-game series, 20-8.

Every Clovis player except pitcher Jack Kirk, who received credit for the win in a relief job, hit safely at least once. Francis Rice had two home runs, a double and two singles, and Johnny Jendron's five safeties included three doubles.

The Gold Sox had the difference down to 11-8; but the visitors then pulled away again in the final three innings. The shoddy affair lasted 2 hours and 47 minutes.

Dukes, Gassers In Track Meet

ALBUQUERQUE — (AP) — The Albuquerque Dukes bested the Borger Gassers 26-16 in a game where both pitchers were umpires, infielders were pitchers and outfielders were used in the infield.

A total of seven hurlers labored in 98 degree weather and gave up 45 hits between them. Twenty of the safeties went for extra bases partially due to a powder dry diamond that allowed the ball to take the weirdest sort of hops once they were hit.

Jerry Folkman who assumed mound duties for the Dukes in the fourth frame picked up the win and the loss fell to Joe Borger, who lasted just two-thirds of an inning after giving up six runs.

LAMESA — (AP) — The Lamesa Lobos bounced back after a Saturday night loss Saturday to even the series with the invading Pampa Oilers, winning 8-3 as Lee Gatewood hurled steadily eight-inning ball Sunday afternoon.

Base runners ignored the 102-degree heat and under a blazing West Texas sun stole six bases. Lamesa started the scoring in the first inning on a single by Pat Lorenzo to lead off, a sacrifice and a single by Joe Fortin.

After the Oilers tied it up in Manny Tenes who went to third when the rightfielder tumbled the hit, and a single by Ed Sudol, the Lobos added two in the third. Lorenzo again singled and this time stole second. He went to third on a fielder's choice and scored on a double by Stokes, then came across on Fortin's triple.

The winners added the clincher in the fourth, but could get only one run on five hits and a hit batsman. Glenn Pine led off with a base knock and Ralph Carrier was hit by a pitched ball. Jim Calahan singled, Auerbach followed with a sacrifice and Gatewood followed with a run-producing single.

From then on things happened. On the relay to the infield, Carrier was caught off third and Ed Myatt, 4-3, and Walt Fade defeated Ted Evans, 1 up.

FOURTH FLIGHT
 I. U. Bryant defeated Joe Chism, 1 up; N. S. Hegwer defeated Jerry Boston, Sr., 3-2; W. J. Woodward defeated C. L. Cudney, 4-3; and Vicars defeated Glenn Wilkie, 4-3; Fred Tinsley defeated J. W. Graham, Jr., 2-1.

FIFTH FLIGHT
 A. L. Leonard defeated Sparky Tinsley, 3-2; Joe Langford defeated Jerry Ezzen, Jr., 3-2; John Cooper defeated John Frisby, 3-2; Vernon Graves defeated Bill Russell, 3-1; T. C. Caloway defeated J. C. Schwind, 1 up.

SIXTH FLIGHT
 Dale Culwell defeated Buff Maguire, 2-1; Shorty Lane defeated Otis Nace, 4-3; Ebob Curry defeated D. W. Bellinger, 3-2; Ed LaPorte defeated Ted White, 2-1; and George Clark defeated Larry Fuller, 4-3.

The first round losers move into the consolation round.

Freeman came through with a 2-2 victory over left-handed Mickey Prigmore while last year's runner-up was walloped by smooth-throwing C. F. McGinnis, 6-5. McGinnis and Freeman now tangle in the second round. In other championship round matches played yesterday Grover Austin, Jr. defeated Ruhl Samples, 3-2. Austin fired the best round of the hot, windy afternoon, being three under par on the front nine and two under when the match ended: Dr. J. F. Elder downed Ronnie Samples, young North Texas State golfer, 2-1; John Ramsey took out Harry Wilbur, 1 up; and Max Hickey downed youthful Tommy Cox, junior city champion, 3-2. Medalist Henry Rose did not return from Dallas and the National Open so his match with West Pointer Jimmy Howard will be played sometime this week. The results in other flights:

FIRST FLIGHT
 Buster Carter defeated Les Speer, 1 up; Marvin Harris defeated Ernie Fuller, 1 up on 21; Russell Carver defeated Dr. Ray Laycock, 1 up; Lefty Cox defeated B. T. Atkins, 4-3; Richard Prigmore defeated Ed Ethridge, 3-2; Al Prigmore defeated R. A. Baker, 1 up.

SECOND FLIGHT
 John Friauf defeated Dr. Frank Kelley, 4-3; Johnny Clark defeated Russell Holloway; C. I. E. Mitchell defeated Kyle Hall, 4-3; L. E. Chism defeated Les Hart, 6-4; and Warren Hasse defeated Ralph McKinney, 1 up.

THIRD FLIGHT
 Shorty Heiskell defeated Floyd Watson, 4-3; Shotgun Layne defeated Cliff Whitney, 2-1; Jack Nimmo defeated W. T. Pain, 1 up; George Thompson defeated Ed Myatt, 4-3; and Walt Fade defeated Ted Evans, 1 up.

FOURTH FLIGHT
 I. U. Bryant defeated Joe Chism, 1 up; N. S. Hegwer defeated Jerry Boston, Sr., 3-2; W. J. Woodward defeated C. L. Cudney, 4-3; and Vicars defeated Glenn Wilkie, 4-3; Fred Tinsley defeated J. W. Graham, Jr., 2-1.

FIFTH FLIGHT
 A. L. Leonard defeated Sparky Tinsley, 3-2; Joe Langford defeated Jerry Ezzen, Jr., 3-2; John Cooper defeated John Frisby, 3-2; Vernon Graves defeated Bill Russell, 3-1; T. C. Caloway defeated J. C. Schwind, 1 up.

SIXTH FLIGHT
 Dale Culwell defeated Buff Maguire, 2-1; Shorty Lane defeated Otis Nace, 4-3; Ebob Curry defeated D. W. Bellinger, 3-2; Ed LaPorte defeated Ted White, 2-1; and George Clark defeated Larry Fuller, 4-3.

The first round losers move into the consolation round.

Pine doubled, but was nipped at third when Carrier attempted a sacrifice. Calahan then doubled Carrier home and went to third when Gatewood singled. Both scored on Lorenzo's triple, his fourth hit of the game. Lorenzo scored on a fly out to left by Wilcox.

Ted Wyberance and Bill Bohne, for Pampa, will be the pitchers in the rubber game to night.

 NEW YORK — (AP) — The mystic of Sal Maglie's decline deepened with every game the once invincible New York Giant's right-hander pitched.

Yesterday's devastating 14-12 loss to the St. Louis Cardinals in the opener of a doubleheader, in which Maglie unbelievably blew straight games that Sal the Barber was shelled from the mound. Previously, he ran off nine consecutive triumphs and seemed on the way to his peak year. His record is 9-2.

Manager Leo Durocher is at a loss to explain Sal's sudden slump. Sal thinks he knows the answer but is not certain.

"It's a funny thing," he said sadly after he had taken his unscheduled early shower yesterday. "Apparently I pitch better when I have trouble with my arm."

"My arm is in perfect shape now for the first time this season. In the early part of the spring my elbow hurt me and I kept winning. Now that the pain has completely disappeared, I can't win to save my soul."

The strapping 35-year-old from Niagara Falls, N. Y., then tried to explain what has been wrong with him.

"I can only be one thing," he said. "I am not following through properly. At the end of my pitching motion, I am landing on the heel of my left foot. That is no good. I should land on the front part of the foot."

"The only thing for me to do is to flex my right knee more. I am not bending it enough. You don't spot that too easily. You don't realize what you're doing wrong when you're pitching. It's been pointed out to me."

Maglie refused to alibi for the fifth-inning shelling he took yesterday as the Cards whacked him for seven runs.

GOOD LITTLE MAN—Bobby Shantz faces the batter, winds up and lets fly. Shantz won 18 games for the Athletics last season and an early and protracted winning streak has him well on his way to a better-than-20 campaign this trip. The five-foot seven-inch, 150-pound left-hander does it with a wide assortment—fast ball, curve, knuckler and change of pace. (NEA)

Giants, Maglie Blow 11 Runs; Yankees Wallop Tribe Twice

By Joe Reichler

Imagine a big league baseball team dissipating an 11-0 lead? Sounds incredible, doesn't it? It happened, though. No later than yesterday and by none other than the National League Champion New York Giants.

Sunday produced lots of excitement as the New York Yankees increased their first place lead in the American League with two victories over the Cleveland Indians, the Boston Braves chilled the red hot Chicago Cubs with a double defeat and the Cincinnati Reds won their first game of the season from the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Nothing, however, matched the St. Louis Cardinals' feat of overcoming the Giants' 11-0 lead, to win 14-12.

Maglie's Decline Stumps Pitcher, Manager, Mates

By Joe Reichler

"This was no game to alibi. They (the Cards) hit me pretty good," Maglie was back in his habitshell today.

"Well," he said philosophically, "I'm due to get going again. I'll just have to work more on my delivery. All I need is one good game under my belt and I'll be okay again."

Proud Polo Grounders gained a split by winning the second game, 3-0. But oh, what a first game! Leading 11-0 after four innings with ace Sal Maglie on the mound and losing the game? The Giants still can't believe it.

Nothing, however, matched the St. Louis Cardinals' feat of overcoming the Giants' 11-0 lead, to win 14-12.

Pros Prepare For PGA With Boros Missing

By Harold V. Ratliff

DALLAS — (AP) — Julius Boros, the Connecticut Yankee who ended Ben Hogan's dominance of the nation's golf, was en route to New England today for a reunion with relatives while most of his colleagues along the tournament trail moved into Louisville, Ky., for the National PGA.

Boros took a check for $4,000, the loot gained in winning the national open here Saturday, with him. He shot one-over-par 281 for the 72 holes to snare the title with a four-stroke edge.

Big Jules won't play in the PGA for the simple reason that he isn't eligible—he has been a professional less than three years and you have to be five years to get into that tournament.

Only one of the top four men in the Open will play at Louisville. Hogan, whose 286 for 72 holes placed third and lost him the title for the first time in four tries, won't play any more tournaments this year. Johnny Bulla, who was fourth, with 287, is passing up Louisville.

Detroit Open Next

Ed Oliver, golf's round man who finished second with 285, is due to play in the PGA. Oliver was almost as big a surprise as Boros. But like Julius, Oliver's putting put him across. He sank a 45-foot putt on the eighteenth green in each of Saturday's last two rounds.

Boros next tournament appearance will be the Motor City Open in Detroit July 3-6. He wasn't invited to play in the Toledo Inverness four-ball tournament next week because no one apparently thought of his winning the National Open.

Julius, the 200-pound son of Hungarian immigrants, was capturing his first major tournament and beating out the man who's long been rated among the greatest golfers of all time. He was untroubled by it all. "Look," he said, "I'm no Hogan, no Snead, I'm just a good, young player."

Ed insisted that never once, during his two great rounds of 68-71 in Saturday's pressure-packed finals, did he consciously think of the prize within his grasp. "This was just another tournament," he commented.

Kasboski Dies Of Heart Attack

Alex Kasboski, a real ring ruffian if there ever was one, died Saturday in Los Angeles after a heart attack. Kasboski was a regular performer on the weekly wrestling cards in Pampa last winter. He had been working the lush Amarillo circuit for the past five or six years, though his home was in the California City.

Kasboski formerly lived in Hamilton, Ontario, and always was announced as coming from there. He was married and had two children, a boy and a girl. He was known in wrestling circles as "Bad Russian."

The squat heavyweight was an all-around athlete as a school-boy in Canada, excelling in football. A brother, Babe, is a well-known heavyweight wrestler. Another brother, Larry, is a prominent promoter in Ontario, and will take the body there for burial.

Childress Eyed As Olympic Hopeful

CHICAGO (AP)—A Texan is among six schoolboy athletes who were eyed today as Olympic tract prospects.

He is Joe Childress of Odessa, one of three current highly-regarded prep sprinters. The others are Herb Turner of Alameda, Calif., and Art Pollard of Catesville, Pa.

The trio, by qualifying in the National AAU meet, June 20-21, and Olympic final trials, June 27-28, might taste the international glory that has gone to past prep stars.

Childress and Turner have sped the 100-yard dash in 9.5 seconds. Pollard has done the 220 in 21.6 even and Childress in 21.1.

Curtis has made the 110-meter high hurdles in 14.3, which betters the 11.6 with which George Sealing of the U. S. won the Olympic title in 1932. Robert has the 200-meter low hurdles in 23.2. Campbell ran the 110-meter hurdles in 14.5 in London recently while touring with an AAU squad.

Women Set For Western

CHICAGO (AP)—Young amateurs were conceding a fair chance to give the nation's top women golf professionals a run for the title, if not for the money, in the 32nd annual Women's Western Open.

The tourney, won last year by pros, started today at suburban Skokie Country Club with a field of 125 entered.

Patty Berg, study re-head of Minnesota, was after her fifth Western title. She is the defending 1951 champion and also won the event in 1941, 1943 and 1948.

Miss Berg headed a contingent of 12 women professionals aiming for the $1,000 first prize and $500 runner-up money. The $1,000 total is three times what the pros have been offered previously: $500, winner take all.

With Babe Zaharias convalescing from an operation, Miss Berg was favored over a strong field which today matched strokes in an 18-hole qualifying round for 32 match play berths in the week-long event.

Dallas Resumes Spot Atop Texas League's Hot Race

By The Associated Press
A Texas league fan can look at the standings and it his favorite club isn't on top he can just wait a night and it'll most likely be there.

It's the only race in the history of the storied old circuit that there's a new leader every night. Monday you'll find Dallas up at the hands of Tulsa. Tulsa blasted three Sunday it was Fort Worth. The day before it was Houston. And so on.

Dallas got back into the No. 1 spot Sunday night as the Eagles whipped Shreveport 6-1 behind the six-hit pitching of Jose Santiago, the Puerto Rican. Dallas rapped 11 hits.

Fort Worth fell down to second place by taking a 5-2 trimming from Beaumont. Wayne Bell's double and Joe Crowder's singles produced two runs in the eighth to give the Roughnecks the victory. Jim Greengrass then hit a homer in the ninth to make it quite complete.

Beaumont pushed into a tie with Houston for third place because the latter absorbed a 9-3 defeat at the hands of Tulsa. Tulsa blasted four runs across in the sixth to set up the victory. Joe Damato and Frank Kellert each hit a three-run homer and Vern Kennedy turned in some classy relief work as Oklahoma City beat San Antonio 6-4.

The Pampa Daily News

One of Texas' Five Most Consistent Newspapers

We believe that one truth is always consistent with another truth. We endeavor to be consistent with the truths expressed in such great moral guides as the Golden Rule, the Ten Commandments and the Declaration of Independence.

No Free Stuff

The Federal Trade Commission — four bundles of brain who draw down 10 G's a year enforcing their own peculiar ideas of honesty — has ordered the Book of the Month Club to quit advertising that it'll give you a "free" book if you join the "club."

Now, granting that the club distributes a vast amount of garbage which is better fare for hogs than people, how about this four-man commissariat telling the club to quit advertising free books? How arbitrary can an arbitrary government bureau get?

The answer, kiddies, lies in the purpose of the FTC itself. (And this is one we're not going to blame on the New Deal, Judge.)

The FTC was created out of nothing in 1914. And, since only the good Lord can create something out of nothing, the FTC is today what it was at the time of its birth: Zero. Forty thousand bucks worth of nothing per year.

The original concept of the FTC was to keep everybody pure as Galahad and noble as Dink Stover at Yale. (The old-timers will remember Dink. Ask your Pop.)

The act creating the FTC gave it authority to "prevent and correct unfair methods of competition and unfair or deceptive acts or practices in inter-state commerce."

Now, it is one thing to prevent a manufacturer to label a pair of cotton drawers "100 per cent virgin wool," but it's quite another for a four-man bureau to decide what is "fair" and "unfair" competition, or to set itself up as the final authority on semantics.

The Book of the Month Club is an outfit distributing books to its "members" in wholesale lots. Part of the profits of its "clubs" are used to distribute "bonus" books to the members and to give away books as a come-on to new customers.

The club's contract with members clearly states—and so do the club's ads—that in order to get a "free" book, the members must buy at least four a year. It's the old snake-oil huckster's pitch to the rubes at the county fair: "Buy one bottle, gents, and get another absolutely free!"

Well, it might be good enough for the county fair, but it doesn't come up to the FTC's interpretation of the word "free." The FTC has issued a "cease and desist" order which presumably will apply to all merchants who give away "free" merchandise in consideration of a purchase. (Appliance dealers, for example, who give away "free" boxes of frozen foods to the purchaser of a freezer.)

In defending the FTC's decision, Commission Chairman James M. Mead said: "Cynics may say that all of us should know that we cannot get something for nothing, yet the hope of getting something for free has the habit of springing ever eternal in the human breast."

Which is our Sunday School lesson for the day—courtesy of that great FTC philosopher, Confusion.

We beg to differ with Senator Confusion. It is not the cynic who believes "we cannot get something for nothing." It is the realist.

Emperor Franklin I said we "owed it to ourselves." Huey was going to make every man a king. Doc Townsend promises something for nothing. A couple of years ago there was a "pie in the sky" movement that caught a few fish. The Great I Am, until the law took a dim view of it, promised to take care of God's chillun without cost to anybody, and Father Devine accomplishes daily miracles along these lines.

But most of us know that for nothing we get nothing. The FTC ought to shut off the administration's water on that score. There is the real source of "something for nothing" advertising in inter-state commerce. How about ordering a cease and desist order on all the subsidy, pension, tariff and compulsory-medicine boys, fellow?

You have 'em cold turkey on a million counts. But, getting back to the Book of the Month Club, one member of the FTC noted in his minority report that if the FTC is going to start defining "free," next it will have to define things like "beautiful." Maybe, for example, it will prevent a dress manufacturer from advertising a gown as "chic" because the FTC thinks it looks like a gunny sack with pleats.

Why not? If a government bureau can decide a free book is not free, it can decide a beautiful dress is a dog.

The book club, as a matter of fact, peddles best-selling epics of bosom, Bourbon and platitude with a beautiful dust jacket. The "bonuses" or "free" books generally are the great unread masterpieces of the ages, like Plato's Republic, which will just fill up the space next to the Complete Works of the Minor Bulgarian Poets you got with your last subscription to Literary Digest magazine.

It does not strike us that a federal bureau should determine soggy "classics" and sexy moderns come under an arbitrary definition of "free." Taking the FTC's definition, the word must be dropped from the dictionary. True enough, any "free" merchandise is added to the producer's or distributor's cost of doing business, and the customer eventually absorbs it. The same is true of taxes, but the politicians don't like to talk about that.

The point is, our government has come pretty close to absolute power when it undertakes to define words like "free," dictate the conditions of competition and fit the commercial pattern of the nation into a pattern which appeals to the whim of commissions and courts.

Are we approaching the time when the government will determine if a thing is free, beautiful, interesting, dull or terrific?

Well, why not? the government determines just about everything else. Maybe we can expect a brand new Bureau of Adjectival Definition.

Only Semi-Golden Rule Civic Textbooks Used in Tax Supported Schools

I have just finished reading nine textbooks that are endorsed by the California state board of education. Five of these books I know are endorsed by the Texas state board of education. They total more than 6,500 pages.

I wonder how many members of the boards of education are enough interested in education to read the textbooks they are a party to having used in our schools.

I wonder how many members of the boards of education are enough interested in education to read the textbooks they are a party to having used in our schools. I wonder how many have done that and made notes on things that were semi-Golden Rule and character weakening and un-American. I have made notes of all these books on that basis.

The reason I read all of these books is because I believe there is something more important in relation to others that a newspaper can do than let its readers know what we teach the youth of the land. Another reason for reading these books is that some of the boards of education in contact with would like to find a substitute civics textbook for "The American Government" textbook by Magruder, that is used in 65% of the high schools in the United States. So far I have not been able to find a single civics textbook out of the nine I have just read that like Magruder's, is not semi-Golden Rule and character weakening and un-American. I have made notes of all these books on that basis.

Attempting to use the Golden Rule as a guide in some actions and not in others will not work. It only adds to the confusion, bewilderment and causes chaos. We cannot have a semi-Golden Rule as a guide. It is all or nothing. A rule or a principle is not a rule or a principle if there are any exceptions to it. The Golden Rule is an exception that takes the exception to prove the rule is false. It takes the exception to test the rule. If there is a single exception there is no rule. The Golden Rule is the case in the Golden Rule. It cannot be used occasionally and be a true guide. When always used by an individual it will develop his character. This will bring and make it possible for him to have true friends. It is also the only true guide for government bodies, whether they be city, county, boards of education, state or nation.

It seems to me, after reading these books, the condition we are in today is a natural result of using such civics textbooks in our tax supported schools. Of course, the textbooks on arithmetic and spelling and ordinary reading are not semi-Golden Rule and character weakening. It is only the civics textbooks, that go into governmental and civic problems, that are semi-Golden Rule and character weakening books.

I cannot prove a negative. Of course, I cannot prove that there are no civics textbooks used in public schools that are not semi-Golden Rule or character weakening. I cannot do this because no one can ever prove a negative other than by using the Golden Rule. For example, no individual can prove that he has not murdered someone. If, however, no one is able to name a civics textbook that is not semi-Golden Rule, it is logical to conclude that there is no civics textbook used in state schools that is not semi-Golden Rule.

From a standpoint of logic, however, it is self-evident that men do not do things that are to their unhappiness or unbeneficial and that work to their disadvantage. It is for this reason that those who have the job of selecting these textbooks and of using them will not use a textbook that characterizes the Golden Rule and is a character building book. That is true because tax supported schools are based on no moral principle. The fact that one man is that the end justifies the means and that the might of man determines right. They deny that there are any eternal principles that govern all human relations, and for this reason they use a civics textbook that teaches and advocates and explains that there are moral principles such as the Golden Rule that govern all human relations.

It is no more reasonable to believe that civics textbooks used in tax supported schools can be in harmony with the Golden Rule or advocate a definite limited government or that the state has no moral right to do things that no individual has a moral right to do than it would be to believe that Joseph Stalin was using textbooks that endorse the Golden Rule and a definite limited government in teaching the youth in Russia.

The textbooks that I just finished reading are: "American Government Today" by Fincher, Ferguson and McHenry, "Economics in Everyday Life" by Goodman, "Our Government Today and Tomorrow" by O'Rourke, "The Government of the United States" by Walker, Beach and Jamison, "The Challenge of Democracy" by Blalock and Baumgartner, "Government in Action" by Robert Koehane and McGoldrick, "American Government" by Magruder and "You and Your Government" by Aker and Aker.

With this glibly experimental attitude, it is no surprise that Stuart Chase, writing in the May 1934, NEA Journal, page 147, that one of the changes required by an abundance economy is "the scrapping of outworn political boundaries and of constitutional checks and balances where the issues involved are technical."

Similarly we find the John Dewey Society yearbook, "Teacher and Society," sympathetically proposing regular 10-year conventions for revision of State and Federal constitutions; removal of the power of the Supreme Court to declare acts of Congress unconstitutional; and "a change in our constitutional pattern which would eliminate..."

Boundary Mark Of Freedom

Is There A Subversive Movement In Public Schools?

(This is the twenty-fifth installment of the talk given March 21 by Rep. Paul W. Shafer of Michigan in the House of Representatives.)

X. CHANGING OUR FORM OF GOVERNMENT
Fundamental changes in the philosophy and procedures of American Government are, of course, implicit in the very concept of collectivism and socialization being documented herein.

In addition, the movement here being described has produced numerous by-products and offshoots in the way of subsidiary and auxiliary proposals for changes in the philosophy and procedures of American Government. These proposals and ideas are all grist for the mill for the educators who seek to achieve a new social order through the schools.

Some of these proposals, in brief cataloging of a few of these proposals and ideas. They represent a part of the indoctrination of teachers, and presumably through the teachers, children designed to prepare them for the new day.

One premise, stated early in the history of this movement, is that "democracy should not be identified with the right to elect officials with the Federal Constitution, the popular election of officials, or the practice of universal suffrage." Counts, Dare the school create a new social order, page 40. And Dr. Counts adds: "The most genuine expression of democracy in the United States has little to do with our political institutions; it is a sentiment with respect to the equality of man. It is an aspiration toward a society in which this sentiment will find complete fulfillment."

Dr. Counts later came to attach much greater importance to the political forms and functions of the American Government—Education and the Promise of America, 1945. But in this earlier view he was opening the way for radical advocacy of changes in forms of government, supposed to serve the ends of social reconstruction.

This premise leads, logically, to the proposal that the basic principle of the Great Technology, that we must "build systematically the attitude among the young people of the world that the trend toward representative democracy has produced nothing more than important experiments in Government." Likewise, they must be taught that "every form of Government on earth today must be regarded frankly as an experiment, tentative, and to be changed as new social and economic conditions develop"—page 270.

This encouragement, through the schools, of a light-hearted and casual attitude toward government and the basic principles of government, yields some fantastic by-products.

One, of course, is the glib acceptance of big government, especially at the Federal level. For example, "fear of centralized governmental administration and control" is dismissed as a "bogeyman," not because a trend in that direction does not exist, but because the trend is inevitable and even desirable. Thus Arnold E. Joyal, professor of educational administration at the University of Maryland, and Frontiers of Democracy, February 1941—argues that there is nothing to fear in this "inevitable trend" if people only "realize that the Federal Government is as much our Government as is the State or city or the school district. It is capable of functioning only with our sanction."

Pentagon's Brass Makes The Fastest Retreat Since Bull Run

By RAY TUCKER
WASHINGTON — The military leaders in the Pentagon have quietly staged their swiftest and most ignominious retreat since the Battle of Bull Run in their conflict with Congress over establishment of a simple and economical purchasing system of weapons amounting to more than $30,000,000 annually.

It was only a few weeks ago that "the brass" loaded truck with new, wicked and complicated weapons, hauled them to Capitol Hill and set up a "chamber of horrors" that made a circus collection of freaks look like perfectly normal people.

The show was designed to prove that a single and coordinated procurement program for such surplus monstrosities of death was out of the question.

MIRACULOUS — An armed services subcommittee, headed by Representative F. Edward Hebert of Louisiana, was not frightened with the "chamber of horrors" of weapons which are manufactured and fabricated in accord with the basic theories of our mass production machine.

Although almost miraculous in their battlefield performance, they do not require miracle men to make them and buy them for the defense establishment.

REFORM — The measure that would take some doing to rewrite the Bill of Rights on the basis of such a political and social philosophy.

The extent to which the Bill of Rights is at issue in this whole movement is well illustrated by the series of articles by Dr. Norman Woeffel, professor of education at Ohio State University, on Communications, in the October 1945 and January, February, and May 1946 issues of Progressive Education.

The philosophy underlying these articles is epitomized in his discussion of the newspaper, which he regards as merely a mirror of the regular ideological idiosyncrasies of an owning and ruling class.

Dr. Woeffel offers the startling conclusion that: "Surely we could have nothing to fear from a press controlled to reflect, realize, and glorify such objectives." (Progressive Education, May 1946, p. 266 ff.)

The control proposed by Dr. Woeffel would take the form of "continuing national, regional, and local controlling boards on which the consumer, the journalist, and the educator are represented" (ibid.).

Not content with "capturing" the public schools, Dr. Woeffel and his fellow educators insist that control of the press, radio, and cinema cannot be left to "their owners and their hiring practitioners if we wish social salvation."

A great many Americans are likely to conclude that the price of salvation, as set by Dr. Woeffel, is impossibly high.

West's Troubles In Germany Blamed On WWII Decision

By WESTBROOK PEGLER
(Copyright, 1937, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

In his office at the headquarters of the Allied powers outside Paris one day last winter, General Eisenhower said to me: "I have read one hundred miles from the Elbe River." He said he did this under orders and added that he did not believe in going over the matter that were water over the dam.

In other words, Ike did not want to thrust out the question whether he was guilty of an error which might be the cause of World War III and fatal to countless Americans and Europeans who are on our side against the Russians today. It might be fatal to the United States. This withdrawal was the error which pushed the Soviet Russian frontiers far into Western Europe from Christendom to a line, which today is known, in Winston Churchill's phrase, as pulled back much more than the Iron Curtain. Actually, Ike pulled back much more than a hundred miles in some places.

The Americans in Eastern Germany, the Elbe River, to take Berlin and Prague and the Danube Valley. Instead, they tarried at the line established by a hysterical John G. Winant, Roosevelt's ambassador in London, in a meeting of a trio known as the European Advisory Commission. Winant later killed himself, possibly in remorse. He had been told that he looked like Lincoln, Joe Kingsbury Smith, the European manager of the International News Service, related that once during a conversation in London, Winant bawled and wept.

On my return from Europe last spring I looked up the retreat from the Elbe in Eisenhower's own war memoirs. I found that there he said he had made the decision to withdraw on his own initiative and responsibility.

Some soldiers and some civilians would have had his orders then either had to obey or resign his command at the very hour of victory. Others insist that the least Ike should have done was to make a public protest so that the American people would know what Winant and Roosevelt were doing when they were going to abandon the fruits of the sacrifice of our fighting men and our nation at home and to jeopardize the future of the West. In that case, Ike would have registered a stroke of wisdom which today might commend him for the presidency.

But Eisenhower made absolute, no protest. He did not register the slightest disagreement. He explains that the decision was a political one, not military, and that it is outside the field. The British, the French, encourage their soldiers to keep political situations in mind. It is a phase of their professional duty. And Marshal Montgomery certainly revealed such a line of thought when he kept clanking his troops so that he could get up to the Baltic and seal off Denmark against the Russians, as he did in the nick of time. Still other American generals contend that a commander big enough to be considered seriously as a candidate for president should have made the demarcation which Winant had agreed to in the European Advisory Committee, and pushed ahead until he met the Russians head on and drew a dead-line. This deadline would have been as good as the Berlin blockade.

General Al Wedemeyer, who strongly, but vainly, insisted that we should push the Russian back into his own darkness, has blamed the tragedy in Europe on the criminal or stupid confidence of the Roosevelt administration in the spell of Roosevelt's "charm." Stalin and the Russians would be nice, Wedemeyer said that if we had kept on going with the impetus we had, we could have pushed the frontier as far as Christendom as far as the old Russian Empire, and probably could have saved the Balkans. At any rate, we could have occupied Germany and spared ourselves the malicious barbarisms which the Russians have inflicted on us. And, to measure the odds, we could have established the new Germany. Eisenhower knew Winant well. That being so, he must have known that Winant was an ass and a fool so glibly that it was a terrible betrayal of the interest of the great American people to permit him to make a decision on the post-war borders of the defeated German nation.

It is not easy to come by a clear, honest statement of this ghastly case. General George Marshall's memoirs, done in the form of a memoir, ignore Winant and the European Advisory Committee. It is necessary to comb many memory books and analyze cautious admissions, many of which are left a plea of guilt he reads into them.

Marshall takes responsibility in this book for the extension of the Soviet frontier to a point far west of the furthest Russian ambitions of the old days. But he does take pleasure in recounting, in his arrogant, vindictive dismissal of the great American soldier, Douglas MacArthur, from his command in Japan.

With gusto he reprints his rude order: "You will turn over your commands, effective at once, to Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway. You are authorized to have issued such orders as are necessary to complete desired travel to such place as you select."

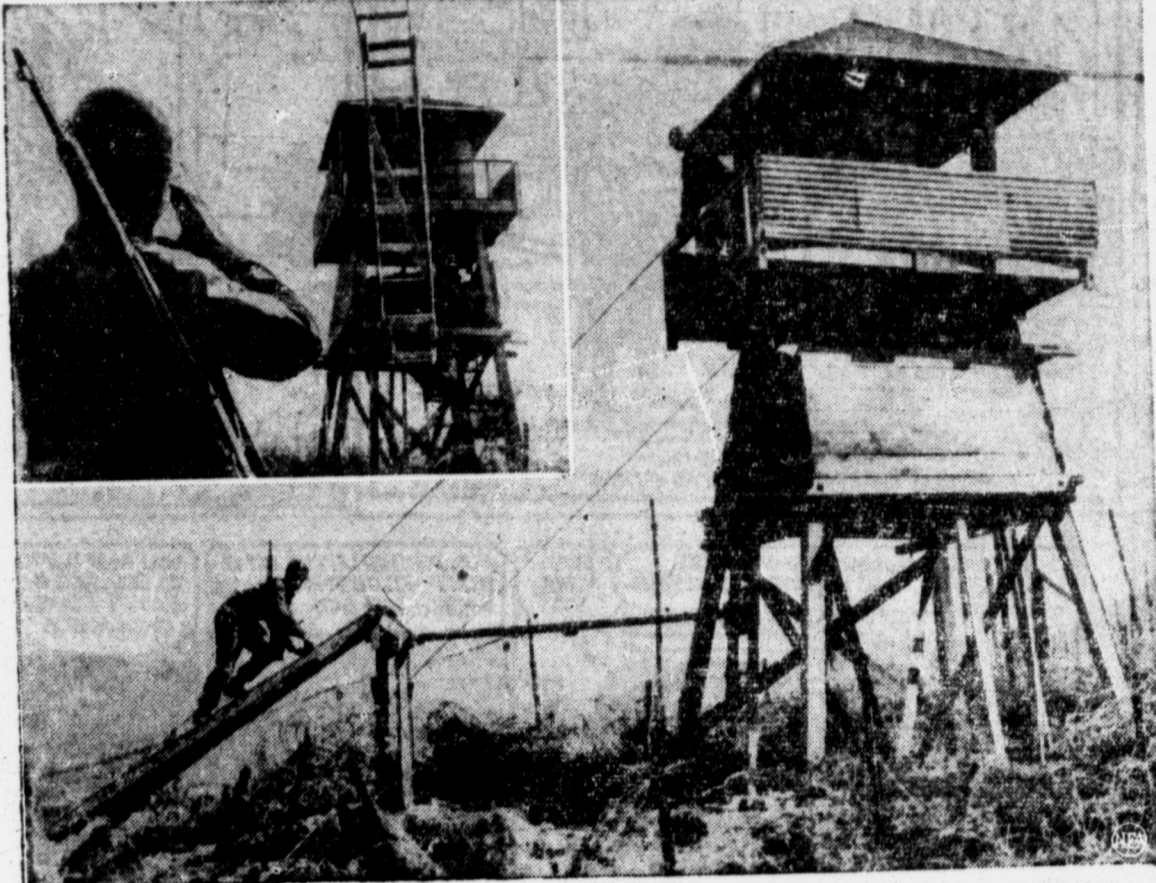

Whereas Eisenhower, closing his mind to political disasters, pulled back and let the Russians absorb a vast area of western civilization, MacArthur, in Japan, firmly kept the same enemy at a distance. MacArthur knew the Russian was our enemy. Eisenhower pretended to have no opinion, and to have no legitimate official concern as to the future attitude of the Soviets. This was his stand in spite of the fact that he clearly knew that Stalin already had refused to exchange military information and had even refused until the last minute to let crippled American planes come down in Russia after they had bombed Berlin, the capital of his mortal enemy. It is not so stated but it stands to reason that some of these disabled bombers with their crews of American youth crashed in hostile country or into the sea.

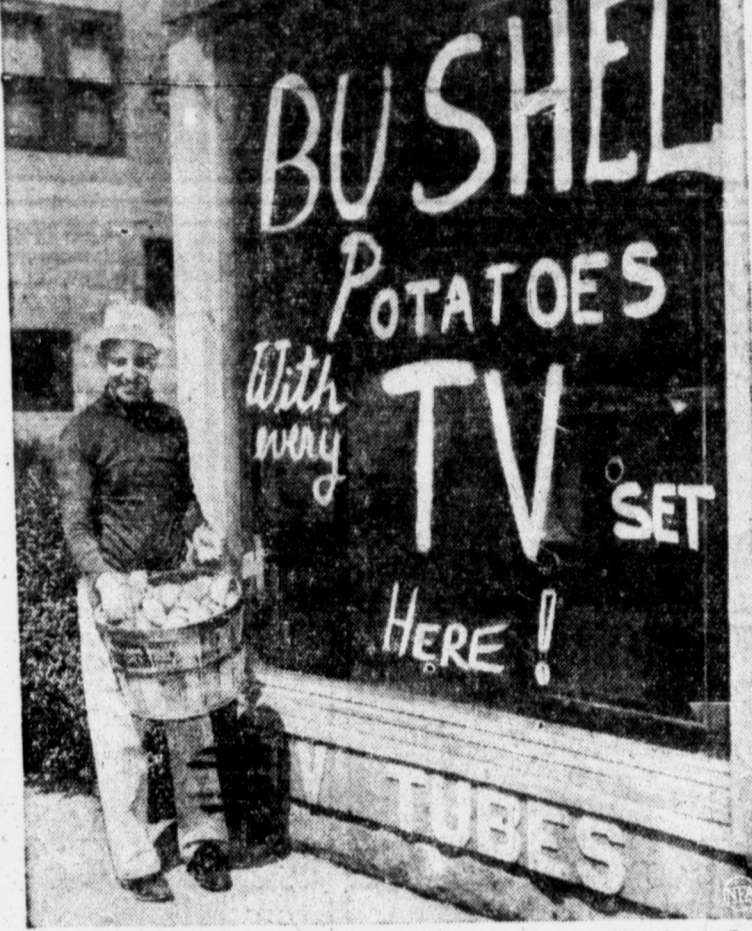

WORLD NEWS IN PICTURES

HE'LL "DOCTOR" A.M.A.—Dr. Louis H. Bauer, above, of Hempstead, N. Y., has been nominated to the presidency of the American Medical Association by members who attended the 101st annual convention of the organization in Chicago. He will succeed Dr. John W. Cline, of San Francisco.

DRAWBRIDGE PROTECTS UN GUARDS ON KOJE—Borrowing a device from medieval days, UN guards on Kojima Island make use of the centuries-old drawbridge for protection. In inset, relief guard advances and is recognized by guard in tower. Drawbridge is then lowered over barbed-wire entanglements, and guards change place. The bridge is insurance against sneak attack by escaped POW's, or against any charge against the tower in force.

SCAN TV, SEE POTATOES—John Lubinsky, of Cleveland, O., shows the 25 pounds of potatoes that go with every television set he sells. Lubinsky says he buys the scarce tubers for $23 a bag. So far, he's had many inquiries.

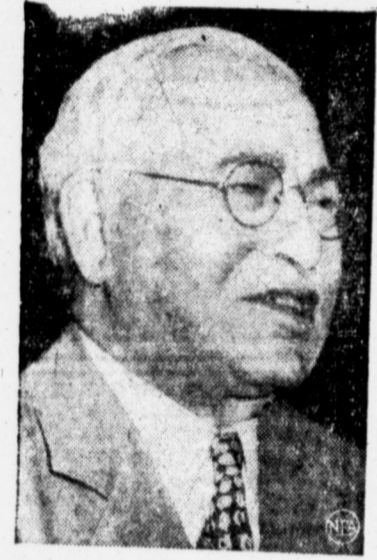

WASTE PAPER LOSES IN ELECTIONS—Waste paper dealers in Rome share the general gloom of those candidates who lost in Rome's administrative elections. The tremendous quantities of once-brave posters are now only scrap, and have driven prices down to a fifth of normal.

SIGN OF FUTILITY—The Parisian above walks unconcerned by the painted demand, "Liberez Duclos," on a bridge in Paris. Such signs are the only tangible evidence remaining of a futile effort by the Communist party in France to call a nationwide strike in protest against the arrest of Communist kingpin Jacques Duclos, during raids by the French government on Communist headquarters throughout France.

GARDENER'S DREAM COME TRUE—This is the way to mow the lawn. Sit in an easy chair, quaff a cooling drink, and let your grassroots Frankenstein do the work. Sterling Stewart, of Sioux City, Ia., a graduate science student at the University of Washington, has created the "Monster" from scrap parts at a cost of $7. It's controlled from the box Stewart holds in his lap.

SENIOR SOLON AILING—Rep. Adolph J. Sabath (D., Ill.), is in "fair" condition at Michael Reese Hospital, Chicago, following a major operation for a liver ailment, according to a hospital spokesman. Sabath has served in the U. S. House of Representatives longer than any other man—48 consecutive years.

WATER WAGON FOR COOLING "RED"—HOT HEADS—Police of Frankfurt, Germany, are well-equipped to cool off Communist demonstrators. This specially-designed 1200-gallon capacity truck mounts two water cannons on its roof, and two more are located in the sides of the vehicle. The cannons, operated from barred cab, fire streams of water which pack sufficient wallop to knock down a man 225 feet away.

MELON KING—Albert Ray, 64, of Fayetteville, N. C., has been juggling melons on his head during 40 years of dancing. Dubbed the "Watermelon King," Ray says he's never dropped his "crown," since he substituted a watermelon for a pumpkin.

DIP OR PLUNGE?—Arabelle, 16-year-old model, fashions a double-duty bathing suit at the Paris Fair. It is designed for wear when taking a cooling dip in the sea, or for the plunge into matrimony.

HE'S ALWAYS HER "DOG OF THE YEAR"—Linda Humble, 2, of Pennsauken, N. J., poses with "Skippy" who has been given the National Dog Welfare Guild's R. P. Lester Dog Hero Award. Skippy, a three-year-old Belgian shepherd, saved the child from a would-be kidnaper.

GAVEL EXPERT—Speaker of the House Joseph Martin, of Massachusetts, does a few setting-up exercises in Washington after learning that he has been named permanent chairman of the Republican National Convention, to be held in Chicago beginning July 7. This is the fourth consecutive time that Martin has held the position.

CONCRETE, NOT ABSTRACT ART—Edward Coffey, of Linville, N. C., puts the finishing touches on his concrete bust of President Truman. Using only ordinary sidewalk cement and a chisel, he has also created likenesses of General MacArthur, left, and General Eisenhower, at right.

TAFT APPROVES OF "PICTURE HAT"—Mrs. Georgiana Buckley, 92, receives a big, booming smile from Sen. Robert A. Taft, as she models her new note in political millinery for him. Mrs. Buckley wore the photo-decorated creation when she attended a $25-a-plate luncheon, held in Cincinnati, Ohio, to raise funds for Taft-for-President supporters.

Buzz Sawyer

IT'LL HAVE TO WAIT, SAWYER, YOU'RE BOARDING A SPECIAL PLANE FOR IRAN.

BUT, CHIEF YOU JUST SAID I COULD HAVE A VACATION.

SUCH IS THE LIFE OF A TROUBLE SHOOTER WITH FRONTIER OIL.

THEY'RE HAVING A LOCUST PLAGUE OVER THERE. FRONTIERS DEVELOPED A POTENT NEW INSECTICIDE. WE'RE SENDING OVER TONS OF IT, ALONG WITH PLANES FOR SPRAYING.

YOU'RE TO HAVE CHARGE OF THE PROJECT. GOOD LUCK.

REMEMBER, DARLING, MY NEXT HUSBAND'S GOING TO BE A QUIET LITTLE HONEYBOY.

Jackson Twins

TONIGHT'S THE NIGHT FOR THE SELECTION. WE'VE FED FIVE PLUS TWO (GAWJILL) TO DO THEIR ACT ON A LOCAL TV AMATEUR SHOW.

YOU AND DADDY ARE COMING OVER TO THE STATION, TOO, AREN'T YOU, MOM?

YES, JUNIOR'S SITTING WITH POSIE - I MEAN POSIE'S SITTING WITH JUNIOR. NOW, HAVE YOU GOT EVERYTHING, JAN - I MEAN JILL?

MOM'S NERVOUSER THAN THE TWINS ARE.

HERE'S THE GROUP WISH US LUCK!

WHAT'S ALL THE TALKING THIS SUMMER? WE'RE ABOUT TEXAS, TWEEENS.

IT'S FABULOUS! OUR UNCLE INVITED US TO HIS RANCH COUNTING ON THE FIRST PRIZE MONEY TO BUY FOR OUR DUDE DUDS!

BETTER START SEWING, GALS! THE COMPETITION TONIGHT IS PRETTY RUGGED!

OHAY! EVERYBODY OUT!

Blondie

DID THEY HAVE AUTOMOBILES WHEN YOU WERE YOUNG, POP?

TELL US ABOUT THE OLDEN DAYS, WILL YOU, DADDY?

YOU LOOK BLUE, DEAR.

WHEN THE CHILDREN TALK LIKE THAT THEY MAKE ME FEEL OLD.

DON'T YOU WORRY ABOUT BEING OLD, DEAR - YOU'RE JUST IN THE PRIME OF LIFE - YOU'RE STILL JUST A YOUNG MAN.

THANKS - THAT MAKES ME FEEL BETTER.

DAGWOOD - YOU'RE GETTING BALD!

Alley Oop

WHY DO YOU SUPPOSE THE TIME MACHINE PICKED YOU UP BUT LEFT ALLEY OOP BACK IN 1849?

HOW THE HECK WOULD I BE KNOWN? 'TAIN'T ME THAT KEEPS THESE GADGETS GOIN'...

BUT I'LL TELL Y'THIS, Y'BEETER ACT FAST OR GIVE OOP UP AS GONE AT LAST.

CAUSE MARRYIN' MARION, TH' MUSCLE-BOUND SISTER, IS DEEMED TO MAKE YOUR MAN HER MISTER!

AWRIGHT, YOU KNOW TH' LAW HERE IN POTSHOT GULCH... WHAT'S IT GONNA BE?

Y'MEAN I GOT SOME KIND OF A CHOICE?

Bo

OUR CAT ISN'T UNDER THERE. I'LL BET YOUR DOG CHASED IT A LOT FARTHER AWAY.

WHAT! YOU BOYS ARE LOOKING FOR YOUR LOST CAT!

THAT'S ODD... MY CAT IS MISSING TOO... AND SO ARE SEVERAL OTHERS IN THIS NEIGHBORHOOD.

IT'S FUNNY SO MANY WOULD SUDDENLY VANISH.

THAT PROVES BO DIDN'T CHASE YOUR CAT. THERE MUST BE SOME OTHER REASON IF SO MANY ARE MISSING.

YEAH, THERE MUST BE...

BACTERIOLOGIST BRANDYWINE IS PUZZLED WHEN A GERM CULTURE IS DEAD AFTER A BATTLE WITH FLYING SAUKERS.

I CAN UNDERSTAND HOW A HOT BEAM WOULD SHORT A RADIO... BUT DAGHABIT, CHRIS, MY MICROBES WERE INSULATED.

FIND OUT WHAT KILLED 'EM, BRANDY. MAYBE YOU CAN CRACK THAT ANCHOXIA EPIDEMIC ON EARTH.

HMM... CAPITAL IDEA, MACK!

BENEATH CALLISTO'S SURFACE, GRAFF RECEIVES A REPORT OF THE ATTACK ON CHRIS WELKIN.

ONE SAUKER WAS DAMAGED, YOUR EXCELLENCY.

Mutt & Jeff

JEFF, WHAT ARE YOU GONNA DO ABOUT THAT LETTER YOU FOUND?

WHAT LETTER?

THIS ONE! IT'S BEEN LAVIN' AROUND HERE SIX MONTHS!

OH, I DON'T KNOW!

WHY DON'T YOU FIND OUT ABOUT IT?

I DON'T KNOW WHO IT'S FOR! IT HAS NO ADDRESS ON IT!

WHY DON'T YOU OPEN IT AND SEE WHO IT'S FROM?

NIX, I DON'T OPEN OTHER PEOPLE'S MAIL!

HMM, WADDYNA KNOW? HE'S GOIN' BACK INSIDE TO GET SOME CHANGE!

START SINGIN', BUGS! I'LL ACCOMPANY YOU ON MY CORNET!

Fricelle's Pop

YOU SHOULDN'T BE BLUE, DEAR! YOU HAD A WONDERFUL FATHER'S DAY!

I KIND OF HOPED FOR AN OUTBOARD MOTOR!

MY GOODNESS! WE GAVE YOU GARDEN TOOLS, A TON OF COAL, AND NEW LINOLEUM FOR THE BATHROOM!

BUT DON'T YOU SEE, HAZEL? ALL THAT MONEY WOULD HAVE PAID FOR HALF THE OUTBOARD MOTOR!

I THOUGHT OF THAT, DEAR.

BUT WHAT GOD IS HALF AN OUTBOARD MOTOR?

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

NO WONDER ALL OUR PILLS TASTED AS BITTER AS GALL! THIS FELLOW HAS BEEN SUCKING ALL TH' SWEET OFF THEM, THEN PUTTING 'EM BACK! COME HERE... OUT WITH IT!

I SEE YOU QUICK-SNEAKED THAT BIG WINDRAG INTO THE HOUSE IN THE DARK! YOU ROUST HIM OUT OF HERE TODAY OR I'M LOWERING THIS MOP ON BOTH OF YOU!

YES, DEAR! YES, DEAR! IT'S AN EMERGENCY! HOLD YOUR FIRE!

EGAD! IS IT POSSIBLE MRS. HINTLEWEN IS HINTING I'M NOT A WELCOME GUEST? - HM! I'M NOT LONG FOR THIS HAVEN!

BORN THIRTY YEARS TOO SOON.

IT DOES SOUND LIKE A GENTLE SUGGESTION.

Vic Flint

DON'T YOU SEE, LIBBY? THEY WERE LOOKING FOR THIS HYPODERMIC NEEDLE.

I CAN'T GET OVER PHIL FINN GOING DOWN BY THE TRAIN, JERRY! HE WASN'T TIGHT WITH HIS MONEY! THAT'S THE REASON FOR IT!

WELL, HE'S JUST TRYIN' TO SHOW THE BOYS AT THE LODGE THAT HE'S GOIN' DOWN BY THE TRAIN, JERRY!

DO YOU THINK HE'LL BE STOPPING AT THE PLUSH HOTEL, TOO?

WHAT DO YOU MEAN - TOO? WE'RE NOT GOING TO BE STOPPING THERE!

WE'RE NOT? ISN'T THAT WHERE THE CONVENTION IS BEING HELD?

SURE! BUT I FIGURED WE'D STAY AT ONE OF THE SMALLER HOTELS, WHERE IT'LL BE QUIET AND -

JERRY HOULIHAN! WE'RE GOING TO STAY AT THE PLUSH HOTEL - AND NOWHERE ELSE!

Careful Workman Can Hang Door Properly Without Trouble
Fitting and hanging an interior door is an exacting job. To do it, and to build and install a frame for the door, requires patience and careful workmanship. But it's not too difficult a job for the home handyman.

Door Painting
It is best to lay doors flat while being painted; otherwise the paint will not "stay put" in the corners where moldings join. It is also easier to work on a horizontal plane surface.

On The House...

From cellar to attic is a far cry when it comes to a finishing job. Good paint may cover a multitude of sins downstairs, if properly applied, but when you get up under the rafters of an unfinished attic you have to provide something to put the paint on.

This is where wallboard comes in. It's economical, easy to install and takes virtually any kind of decoration. Since no wet plaster is involved, this type of construction is called "dry wall."

There are four major types of dry wall material: plywood, fiberboard, hardboard and plasterboard. All are available in large sheets, which makes the enclosing of extra rooms in an attic fast work as soon as framing is in place and suitable insulation installed.

Plywood can be obtained plain or finished. You can get it with beautiful finishes in hardwood veneer—actual sheets of walnut, mahogany and other rare woods permanently bonded to the surface as it is on fine furniture. This can be used for paneling that the door binds against the frame when shut.

Now hang the door on the pins and you've finished, except for putting the latch in place, and you have the hang of hanging a door.

board can be had with a wall-paper facing already applied in wood grain or floral patterns. Or you can get it with a reflective insulating foil backing.

Gypsum wallboard is more easily scored along a dimension line and then snapped off than it is sawed. This method of cutting to fit saves much time. When the board is snapped the surface paper on the underside is cut at the crease and the broken core is sanded smooth.

In handling plasterboard, care should be taken to avoid breaking or damaging the paper surface on the finish side. Face the finish side up when cutting and use care when driving and dimpling nails so as not to break the paper.

Four-penny finishing nails are used in applying these panels. Space the nails 4 inches along panel ends; 6 inches along intermediate studs.

Because of the spreading use of gypsum wallboard and the similarity in handling joints in all wall paneling, the technique of concealing joints is worth some attention. A careful joint can result in complete obliteration of all joints, whether painted over or wallpapered.

The first step is to spread a special adhesive into the channel between panels with a broad putty knife, covering the channel to depth of about a 16th of an inch. Perforated reinforcing tape is then embedded in this cement the full length of the joint and pressed firm under moderate pressure. Excess cement on each side of the tape is then wiped clean with the broad knife.

The embedded tape should be allowed to dry for about 24 hours. Then a very thin third coat is spread 2 to 4 inches wider than the second coat. When dried this is sanded very lightly with fine sandpaper.

All nailhead dimples are spackled with the same special cement, available from dealers in gypsum board, and they are all wall paneling, the technique sanded smooth.
