'The Jig Is Up' For Sen. Taft, Ikemen Claim

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS While one of Gen. Dwight Eisenhower's aides said "the jig is up" for Sen. Robert A. Taft, another reported Thursday Eisenhower will go to the Republican convention to direct his campaign for presidential nomination.

DELEGATE OPINIONS — Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., left, opening the Eisenhower convention headquarters in the Conrad Hilton Hotel in Chicago, said "I am happy and proud to open officially the campaign headquarters of the next President of the United States, Dwight Eisenhower." At his press conference in Washington, Sen. Robert Taft displays a collection of 601 four-leaf clovers, one for each vote needed to win the Republican presidential nomination, sent to him by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Norderhouse of Waterbury, Ohio. Taft said if he wins the nomination his campaign would feature all attacks on "past sins and disastrous results" of the Democratic administration's foreign policies. (NEA Wirephoto)

The "jig is up" quote came from Eisenhower's campaign manager, Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., of Massachusetts, who flew to Denver Wednesday for a conference with the retired five-star general. It was quickly attacked by Taft's campaign manager, David Ingalls, who said Thursday: "It just isn't so."

The report that Eisenhower has decided to take on the spot charge of his bid at the July 7 GOP convention came from a source in his headquarters. The source declined to be named and would not say when Eisenhower planned to head for Chicago.

The Associated Press tabulation of pre-convention delegate strength with all 1,206 GOP delegates named, now shows Taft has the support of 483 to Eisenhower's 405.

The Democratic race was being run on many fronts. Two states were electing delegations at conventions today: New Mexico and Mississippi, and the three top contenders were ranging ahead for votes. There was also more talk about two men—Illinois Gov. Adlai Stevenson and Federal Security Administrator Oscar Ewing—who have been widely discussed as targets for possible drafts for nomination.

Tennessee Sen. Estes Kefauver leads the Associated Press scoreboard of Democratic delegate strength with 246. Behind him are Sen. Richard Russell of Georgia with 116 and Mutual Security Administrator Averell Harriman with 95 1-2. It takes 616 to win.

Wants Briton On UN Staff LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill pressed today for quick appointment of a top British military man on the planning and policy staff of the United Nations Command in Korea. This was the aftermath to the row kicked up by the Laborite opposition in the House of Commons over the bombing of the Yalu River power plants. Churchill's conservative government expressed regret that it was not advised in advance of the bombings but it defended them as attacks on a legitimate war objective. The Laborites said the bombings threatened to extend the war in Asia.

House Group Votes Big Cut In Administration Funds

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Appropriations Committee recommended today a 25-percent cut in new funds asked by the administration for the armed forces, foreign aid, atomic energy and a variety of other purposes.

In terms of cash, the purse-holding group's proposed reduction, which comes up for a House action tomorrow and will be considered by the Senate later, was $1,565,150,250.

The committee, headed by Rep. Cannon (D-Mo.) said the agencies involved should get along on $10,282,532,000 instead of the $17,750,688,280 President Truman asked.

Separate The money provided in today's bill is separate from regular budget appropriations already considered by Congress for the Defense Department and the Atomic Energy Commission. Their regular budgets, much larger, have been reduced already.

The new funds supplement appropriations already considered for the coming year or actually made for the recent year, and are primarily for construction programs. No big agencies were spared the committee's cuts. The largest was a $1,706,000,000 reduction in funds for the Atomic Energy Commission. This was 53 percent less than the $3,191,900,900 requested.

Foreign Aid Chopped The foreign aid program was chopped by $250,120,000, from $6,526,060,750 to $6,275,940,750. The Defense Department, which (See HOUSE, Page 2)

Guill Lauds Eisenhower Ex-Congressman Ben Guill threw political caution to the winds today at the weekly meeting of the Pampa Lions Club and spoke frankly on the Eisenhower situation in the Republican party.

Guill, the only Republican elected to Congress from Texas in 25 years, met Ike at a delegates' meeting in Dallas last week end.

The former representative professed his remarks on the Eisenhower meeting by saying that he "had never met a man with more humility, sincerity and character than Ike."

Main reason for Ike's being in Dallas was to protest the irregularities of the delegates' election at Mineral Wells. "We must have moral and spiritual strength," Guill quoted Ike as saying, "in order to gain numerical strength." "We must put the party above ourselves and our country above the party; but the party is the practical means of getting good government."

Pampans Splash As Mercury Hits 102

Two new records have been set in Pampa as the mercury soared to a sweltering 102 degrees and water consumption passed the five million gallons per day mark by midnight.

Pampans drank, bathed, and watered their lawns to the merry tune of 5,574,000 gallons for the 24-hour period. The previous high for daily water consumption was during August, 1951, when sweltering Pampa used 4,730,000 gallons in one day.

As Pampa liberally doused itself, Amarilloans were — and are — faced with a water pinch. An emergency ordinance, enforcing rationing of water is expected to be passed by the Amarillo city commission this week to combat the acute water shortage there.

Old Sol got off to a good start at 6 a.m. with a warming 74; by noon he poured on enough coal to hit 96 and an hour later zoomed up to 101.

Not content with that, he opened the draft to hit an all-time June 26 high of 102 sometime between 2 and 5 p.m., and didn't put on the brakes until 7 p.m. when the thermometer dipped to 93, then slowly skittered to 76 by midnight.

But Pampa really turned on forcing the city to send water through the pipes at the rate of 100,000 gallons per day.

Sometimes heavy rainfalls and until tomorrow, the city's new water well will go into production adding another 2,000,000 gallons of well capacity per day. But even with all the water, pressures all over town will remain low, especially in the eastern part until the new mains are completely laid and tied on to the circuit, which will be 20 or more days from now, City Engineer Ray Evans said.

New Well Turned In The additional 1,300,000 gallons of water per day for Pampa began flowing at 11:35 a.m. today as the city's newest water well went into full production. City Engineer Ray Evans reported.

Continued dry winds and high temperatures are running an wheat harvest in the area and the completion date has been set back about three to four days, according to the local office of the Texas Employment Commission.

Relief to farmers needing to harvest the first maturing wheat is offered by custom harvesters coming into the area. No shortage of equipment or loss of grain is reported. The harvest is practically at an end in the Laketon area and it should be wound up throughout the area by July 4 or 5, the commission reported.

Some 13 Texas points reported temperatures at 100 or over Wednesday with President's highest, Galveston had 78 degrees for the day's low maximum.

No Speeches For Shepperd During Informal Visit Here Pampa voters will be offered a rare experience at 5 p.m. today meeting a candidate for public office without having to sit through a long and windy speech.

The candidate, former Secretary of State John Ben Shepperd, who is seeking the Texas attorney generalship, is slated to arrive here about 5 p.m. to attend an informal public meeting and reception in the Cabot Co. building on the Hughes Building.

Prior to his "bump" visit, Shepperd will participate in today's Will Rogers Highway rededication services at Shamrock. Shepperd has not adopted any formal platform and is lasing his campaign on his record as secretary of state, his administrative experience and legal experience. Among his claims on his past record are practice of economy in office, integrity in public office and backing of impartial law enforcement.

This is Shepperd's first political campaign. He was appointed to the state office about two years ago. A former president of the State Bar Association, he is 36 years old, has taken an active part in numerous bar association and American Legion projects. He is a veteran of World War II.

ONE WAY TO KEEP COOL — These kids weren't bothered with the 102 degree scorchers yesterday. Little David lets his sister Sherie give him the works with the water hose. They are the children of Mr. and Mrs. D. O. Tabbs, 131 Warren. It's a good trick — if you're young enough. (News Photo)

House Would End Controls Monday

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House, on a roll-call vote, nailed into its riddled controls bill today a provision to lift price controls after next Monday on everything not rationed or being allocated. That means virtually all consumer goods.

Looses Blast At Treasury

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Williams (R-Ill.) set loose a new verbal blast at the Treasury Department today. He said it settled a $5 million dollar claim against a New York oil man for about $100,000.

Williams said the $100,000 claim was for oil that was sold to the government during the war.

Atomic Shell Is Developed For Battleships' Big Guns

BY DOUGLAS LARSEN, NEA Staff Correspondent WASHINGTON (AP)—A brand new type of A-bomb is being added to America's fast growing arsenal of nuclear weapons.

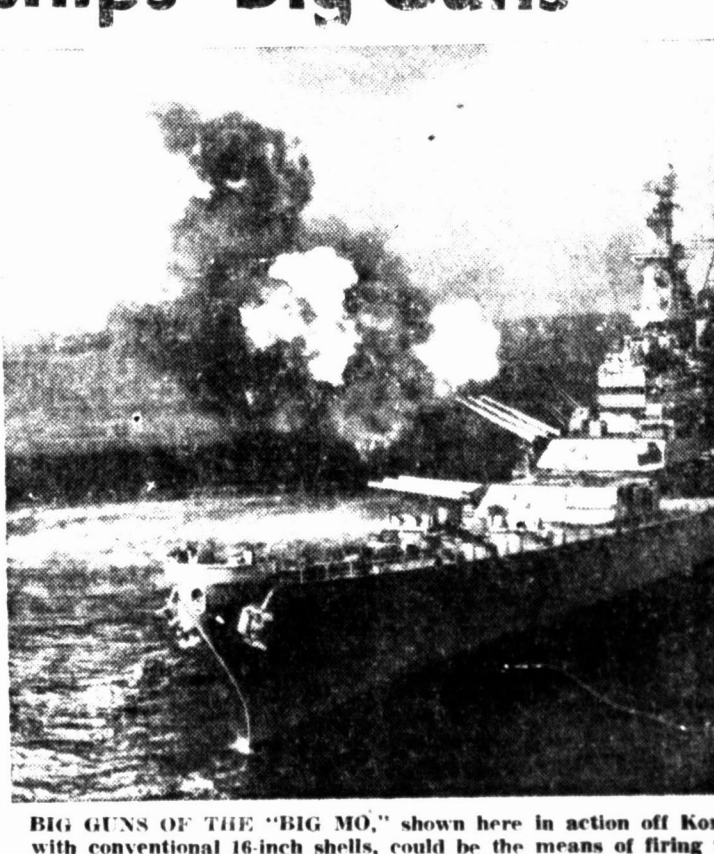

It is an atomic shell which can be fired from the big guns of battleships.

The development brings the coast lines and key port cities of every Communist country in the world into easier range of America's atomic bombs in case of war.

The big advantage of the shell over an A-bomb dropped by airplane is the same as that of the Army's new atomic artillery. It is far more accurate and can be delivered to an enemy in any kind of weather.

The significance of this latest development in nuclear weapons is that it will give U.S. forces a 100 per cent potential in all-weather atomic strikes from air, land and sea.

Details of the battleship atomic shell are top secret, as is progress of its development and testing. However, a Navy spokesman admits that it should be perfectly obvious that with the Army's announced development of an atomic shell for a field piece, the Navy would be working on such a project for its big guns.

BIG GUNS OF THE "BIG MO," shown here in action off Korea with conventional 16 inch shells, could be the means of firing the newest atomic weapon—an A-shell for battleships.

little larger in diameter than 11 A shell much bigger than 11 inches. The big guns of a battleship would have required a canister shell 16 inches in diameter. This actually made the design of an atomic shell for the one the Army ordnance experts had easier than the Army's shell, came up with can be moved at the size of the Army's shell, a speed of 35-miles-per-hour was limited by ordnance factors along ordinary highways.

One of many weapons fashioned by the rebellious prisoners, the spear was used against prisoners who wished to give themselves up, rather than against the UN troops which demolished the compound.

Rogers Raps Two Moves By New Deal Administration

Two phases of new anti-labor legislation, such as one which would limit the right of labor unions to picket, were introduced in the House today by Rep. Walter Rogers, R-Iowa. Rogers, in his speech, introduced a weekly newsletter to the Pampa News, which is published in the Pampa area. The first was an amendment to the National Labor Relations Act which would limit the right of labor unions to picket. Rogers said the amendment was defeated when the House voted 217-197. However, the Pottier amendment, which would limit the right of labor unions to picket, was passed by a vote of 207-187. Rogers said the amendment would sharply curtail such picketing. He also referred to a man's right to sleep without wondering if a company in the neighborhood is turning. Rogers said that a sharp decline in the number of strikes during the administration of the Defense Production Act (wage and price controls) brought the benefits derived by being so. Rogers said that the executive order to ban strikes in certain sections "surplus labor" areas. This means the Pampa area. Rogers said that the executive order would mean that the Pampa area could receive a "handout" from the federal government rather than by competitive bidding. Rogers said that the cost of such a product would be higher than if it were produced in the United States. The purpose of such an amendment is to insure employment in areas where there is a surplus labor market. Rogers said that the effect of the amendment would be to penalize the American taxpayer and the American worker. want of $2,995,868,440 for 1952 construction programs, was allotted $2,187,899,840, a cut of $850,968,600.

A group of defense agencies was trimmed from $661,610,000 to $81,690,000, a reduction of $579,920,000, with $562,500,000 in total cut aimed at the Civil Defense Administration.

The Economic Stabilization Agency (ESA) got nothing, the committee saying it would consider ESA funds when Congress decides what to do about wage, price and rent controls. The agency wanted $103,250,000.

Labor Dept. Trimmed

The Commerce and Interior Departments got what they requested, $718,536 for Commerce and $525,000 for Interior. The extra budget of $132,200 for Congress itself was approved in full.

The Labor Department was cut from $16,870,000 to $9,600,000, most of the cut being in funds for grants to states for unemployment insurance.

The Federal Security Agency placement service administration, employment compensation and employment services got $10,537,750, the committee rejecting among other things the entire $8 million requested for school construction.

The $259,120,000 cut made by the committee in foreign aid funds was considerably less than some had expected. Earlier Congress shaved by 1.2 billions the President's request to authorize a $7,960,000,000 aid program.

Heaviest Cut

The heaviest cut in the defense appropriation was $68 million dollars aimed at the Air Force, which wanted $1,768,000,000. The Army got all but $4 million of the $654,000,000 it sought, while the Navy was given all but $4,287,600 of the $421,197,740 it wanted.

The committee expressly refused to provide funds, other than planning money, in connection with the proposed Strategic Air Command installation at Municipal Airport, Lincoln, Neb.

The committee aided the Army for putting plush features into some of its constructions, and for building expensive living quarters at such places as Santa, N.M.

Dog Worrying Blind Vendor

DALLAS (AP) Eugene Norris, a blind newspaper vendor, is worried about his lady's figure.

Lady is his 10-year-old seeing-eye dog who is now on a reducing diet because she is 15 pounds overweight. Norris claims well-to-do people insist on feeding her too many cookies and candy.

He likes the food gifts of some, like the cans of dog food and milk bone from a department store worker and the executive who brings dog candy, which is non-tartening.

Yugoslavs Assail Pro-Russians

BELGRADE (AP) — Communist Yugoslavia may crack down soon on political refugees — particularly those from Italy — who stir work in this country or spread pro-Russian propaganda.

The Belgrade newspaper Politika, reflecting the views of the government, called attention to the position recently in an angry article denouncing a "minority" of such refugees abusing this country's "fraternal hospitality."

It was directed against both those who have fled the iron-fisted Russian rule of the neighboring Soviet satellites and "essentially" against refugees from Italy opposed to the administration of Prime Minister Alcide De Gasperi.

Mexican Food Is In Demand

CLEVELAND (AP) — Demand for Mexican food here has been turned into a thriving grocery business by Alberto Tenorio Jr. and his wife.

His customers are mostly Spanish-speaking people who have come from Puerto Rico and Mexico. In addition he caters to a "tourist trade" of persons who have vacationed below the border and want to try Mexican food again.

Tenorio sells all the ingredients for such things as tamales, tortillas, tamales and enchiladas. He also stocks Mexican and Puerto Rican newspapers, books, magazines, phonograph records and pottery.

Old Clock Reproduced

COLUMBUS, O. (AP) — Mike Shields used a picture of a 200-year-old clock as a model and made a clock by hand in his high school workshop.

He made a mahogany case and fitted the electric works and face. The clock has been entered in the Ford industrial arts competition at Greenfield Village.

Interior secretary advised the Senate Judiciary Committee last Thursday that he and the President had abandoned the design to use this old law.

Violence Feared In South Africa

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Armed police stood alerted today as hundreds of non-whites prepared to seek jail in a defiance campaign against South Africa's race segregation laws.

Yussif A. Cachalia, campaign secretary, said a trained, disciplined vanguard of volunteers would go into action "like soldiers" in all major cities to flout Jim Crow restrictions. They expect to be jailed.

He stressed, however, that no call had gone out for a general work stoppage. Effective precautions have been taken to conduct the movement peacefully, he added.

Boyle's Column . . . New Mexico Horned Toad In Trans-Continental Tug-Of-War

By HAL BOYLE
SANTA FE, N. M. (AP) — Elmer, New Mexico's most famous horned toad, is caught in trans-continental tug-of-war.
He is being pulled northeastward by a group of Massachusetts school children who earnestly want him as a pet. He is being held firmly in place in his native Southwest by two New Mexico state statutes regarding horned toads.
Under these laws Elmer can't be exported. He is restricted from the broadening influence of travel by a kind of reverse tariff.
The whole question has the state government mildly concerned, as no official in an election year wants to be caught failing to enforce even a statute designed only to keep a voteless horned toad on its home sands.
The issue arose when third grade pupils of the Davis School in West Newton, Mass., wrote and asked for a horned toad.
"What do you feed a horned toad?" they asked. "We will take very good care of it. We will pay the postage if you send it."
The inquiry passed through due channels of government to the Bureau of Business Research at the University of New Mexico. The bureau parried the query by writing back and telling the third graders that horned toads were out-of-season, that is the weather wasn't warm enough for the harmless little lizards to crawl from their desert hideaways.
The determined Massachusetts kids immediately sent a letter saying:
"We would be happy to accept the horned toad. Our school closes June 20 but our teacher will take care of the toad this summer."
That rather put the Bureau of Business Research on its pride. It located a toad named Elmer, a gentle, thoughtful-faced toad steeped in New Mexican tradi-

Showdown Near?

At the time of the Supreme Court decision in the steel seizure case we held the view here that this temporary setback and rebuff of Harry Truman by the court would only mean that another tack would be taken to accomplish the same end.

That tack was taken when Truman asked Congress to enact legislation at once allowing the government to take over the nation's steel mills and operate them until the union-management dispute is settled.

With typical double talk Truman said that government seizure of the mills under Congressional authority would "restore full scale steel production, provide fair treatment for all concerned and maintain incentives for both parties to reach agreement on the disputed issue through collective bargaining."

All of which is nonsense. Should the Congress grant such powers, and it is not likely that it will, it will only provide a springboard for more and more government control through seizure of private property — something that earlier Americans fought a war to be rid of. Such Congressional action cannot provide "fair treatment" for anybody, let alone "all concerned" as Truman says. Whatever agreement is reached, provided the government has seized the mills, will not be on a voluntary basis but on a basis of coercion.

Such action would be about as fair if the policeman on the corner were to capture a thief with your pocketbook and then tell you that it was time that you and the thief got together and split the contents of the wallet and if you could not reach agreement the cop would put the wallet in his pocket.

With the government acting as master, not intermediary, in the dispute the question of right and wrong can conveniently be left out of the settlement. Solved by government, it is the nature of government to determine a course of action on the basis of votes and political power, not on whether the course of action is right or wrong.

To predict what the Congress will do is difficult. But there seems to be good indication that the law-makers will not grant Truman what he wants and in general on the same basis that the Supreme Court ruled against Truman's seizure by fiat.

Truman is certain to meet opposition from some of the more staunch anti-administration Congressmen and on-the-fence administration supporters have a good "out" if voting against such request since they would then be voting for something that has the understood disapproval of the high court. The national hue and cry that was raised against the seizure of private property by Truman is going to make any Congressman concerned with his constituency think a number of times before he is going to place himself in the position of approving of the seizure by an actual vote. It would appear likely, too, that the widespread support of Sen. Estes Kefauver would indicate that some of the power of the Truman machine has been lost and the swing to anti-administration groups will add to the wariness of Congressmen.

The debate in the Congress could mean that there will be a real showdown on the stands of the various legislators in both the House and Senate. We hope that the issues are clarified and that Congressmen won't tremble under Truman's implied threat that the Congress will be responsible for lack of steel production for that is almost certain to be the line taken by the Trumanites.

It would be somewhat surprising if religious groups and peace groups did not object to presentation of material which could constitute a threat to their existence. It would be more objective for socialists to attempt to understand such material rather than to continue to inveigh against it (p. 69).

In the chapter on economics Professor Hobbs offers this interesting summation of his findings: "Although social and economic conditions are frequently interpreted in terms of economic factors . . . few sociology texts make an attempt to describe the economic system which functions in the United States. Most of the texts make no attempt to explain the principles and operational factors which are involved in the functioning of a capitalistic economy in which there has traditionally been a large amount of individual competition, and where private enterprise has played a dominant role. This omission might seem to be a curious oversight, but similar omissions occur in textual discussions of war, education, government, and other major social phenomena, and appears to signify that the authors of the texts are more concerned with presenting a particular point of view toward society than they are with presenting an impartial description of society (p. 75).

Professor Hobbs continues with an observation which I find particularly interesting: "Emphasis in sociology texts is markedly critical of private competitive enterprise and of capitalistic economy. Forty-eight of a total of 83 definite statements about competitive enterprise emphasized defects of this aspect of our economic system. No more than one critical statement is counted from any text, though many texts make numerous such statements. Fifty-eight texts contain definite statements relating to competitive enterprise or capitalistic economy. Nine of these give either a neutral presentation, or balance unfavorable statements with others which are definitely favorable. Only six texts give relatively favorable emphasis to competitive enterprise and capitalism, while the remaining 43 emphasize unfavorable features. As a sidelight which may be of some interest, all of the texts (10) which make statements about advertising are critical of this aspect of the economic system (p. 75).

He adds that trend toward "definite criticism of the economic system in the majority of sociological texts appears in texts published during periods of prosperity as well as in those published during periods of depression," page 75. In his summary of this chapter, Professor Hobbs asserts:

Most texts criticize private competitive enterprise as it functions in a capitalistic economy. Criticisms are in the form of sweeping generalizations regarding harmful effects of the economic system. Being primarily an expression of opinions of the authors rather than specific verifiable conclusions arrived at through scientific studies, such criticisms must be accepted or

EXTENSION OF REMARKS OF HON. PAUL W. SHAFER OF MICHIGAN IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES Thursday, March 27, 1952

Mr. SHAFER. Mr. Speaker, through the courtesy of his author I have recently received an excellent book entitled "The Claims of Sociology: A Critique of Textbooks," by Mr. A. H. Hobbs, assistant professor of sociology at the Wharton School of Finance and Commerce of the University of Pennsylvania. I commend it to the attention of all who are interested in present-day public-school education.

Receipt of this book was one of the gratifying results of my recent speech in this House on the question, "Is There a Subversive Movement in the Public Schools?" In a letter, accompanying the copy of his book, Professor Hobbs graciously wrote that my "attention" was incisive but eminently fair.

Professor Hobbs' book, published in 1951, had not come to my attention prior to my speech, and I am impressed by the independent observations and conclusions offered by Professor Hobbs relevant to the general subject matter which I presented in my March 21 speech.

In his summary of the chapter on Education, Professor Hobbs comments regarding the textbooks analyzed: "General criticism is directed against education in which traditional beliefs are taught about history, family life, the form of government, and the economic system. Traditional teaching methods are criticized because they involve discipline and competition.

As alternatives to traditional educational methods and content, authors advocate progressive techniques and a substantial increase in social-science courses, with purposes of emancipating personalities of the students and training them to think for themselves. Many believe that pupils will thus be better equipped to adjust to the contemporary social system and, somewhat contradictorily, that the primary purpose of the schools should be to promote changes in the social system. Such presentation does not appear to be warranted by available scientific evidence; nor is it particularly conducive to an integrated understanding of the role of education in society (pp. 75-76).

Regarding the "resistance to the type of sociology which is presented in textbooks," Professor observes:

It would be somewhat surprising if religious groups and peace groups did not object to presentation of material which could constitute a threat to their existence. It would be more objective for socialists to attempt to understand such material rather than to continue to inveigh against it (p. 69).

In the chapter on economics Professor Hobbs offers this interesting summation of his findings: "Although social and economic conditions are frequently interpreted in terms of economic factors . . . few sociology texts make an attempt to describe the economic system which functions in the United States. Most of the texts make no attempt to explain the principles and operational factors which are involved in the functioning of a capitalistic economy in which there has traditionally been a large amount of individual competition, and where private enterprise has played a dominant role. Professor Hobbs continues with an observation which I find particularly interesting: "Emphasis in sociology texts is markedly critical of private competitive enterprise and of capitalistic economy. Forty-eight of a total of 83 definite statements about competitive enterprise emphasized defects of this aspect of our economic system. No more than one critical statement is counted from any text, though many texts make numerous such statements. ## Subversive Movement In Public Schools?

rejected on a similar basis of opinion only" (p. 82).

He also reports that "high school texts are at least as critical of the economic system as are the college texts," page 82. Professor Hobbs, in this same chapter, also raises several pertinent and challenging questions regarding the sociological treatment of economic subjects. He asks:

Should our functioning economic system be criticized by contrast to nonexistent ideal systems, or should its merits and defects be evaluated in comparison with alternative functioning economic systems and with conditions of the past? . . . Why is the possible relationship between the economic system and high planes of living minimized or ignored while casual relationships are ascribed to other situations on a basis of no better evidence? . . . Should not criticism of capitalism and individual compensation be balanced by a description of some of the beneficial features of these aspects of the economic system? . . . Is a presentation which criticizes a functioning system by contrasting it with hypothetical remedies which are believed to be attainable in nonexistent alternative systems justified in textbooks which are presented to immature and receptive minds under the authoritarian prestige of science? (pp. 75, 80, 81).

Turning to the chapter on government, we find Professor Hobbs offering this summary of his findings: "While none of the authors specifically advocates abandonment of democratic (republican) government and substitution of some other existing form, definite leaning in the direction of a government-controlled socialized economy, or of a mixture of forms and processes, is either expressed or implied in a majority of the texts (p. 83).

Professor Hobbs calls attention to the same emphasis on the class struggle which I cited in the section of my documentation entitled "Class War in the Classroom." He quotes as specimen statements the assertion of one sociology textbook that the supporters of a marked class system are determined to fight it out with their opponents, and the comment of another that in the struggle to achieve democracy, class consciousness is a weapon. Apropos of these and similar citations, Mr. Hobbs writes:

Statements such as these which describe the relationship between classes in terms of fighting it out as one of the most common types of conflict, reference to a hypothetical proletariat, freshened use of exploitation, and contrasts which indicate that those who are for capitalism are against the Constitution indicate the nature of the presentation which is increasingly found in the treatment of social classes (pp. 88).

Professor Hobbs further finds that in 28 of 25 texts checked on references to the goal of government—

The predominant emphasis places responsibility upon governmental activities which will provide individuals with happiness, developed personalities, economic welfare and security; which will decrease or remove class distinctions, or which will make life a "co-operative" quest toward "rational" ideals. Such emphasis takes the burden of active responsibility away from individuals and places it upon the government (p. 89).

He also reports that "a majority of the authors rely upon extension of education and curtailment of individual enterprise in business as the method of attaining the goals which they posit for government," page 90.

In this chapter also Professor Hobbs raises some challenging questions, including the following: "Should our functioning form of government be presented in contrast to nonexistent (and possibly nonattainable) 'ideal democracy,' or should its merits and defects be evaluated in comparison with other functioning forms of government? . . . Business interests do have some influence on the formulation of some governmental policies, but influence is also exerted by farm blocs, labor groups, prohibitionists, conservationists, educators, racial and religious groups, and many others with special interests. Why is criticism directed against one group, but not against others? . . . Why is the rigidity of class structure increasingly emphasized? . . . Is sufficient evidence available to demonstrate that government can exercise an increasing active role in providing economic and other forms of "security" without decreasing individual, social, and political privileges? . . . Are the weaknesses of bureaucracy, the limitations of knowledge, and the limitations of the "experts" ability to predict, coupled with the possibilities of decreased economic production and of regimentation, so negligible that they need not even be mentioned in descriptions of programs wherein government actively provides for material needs and desires? (pp. 81-92).

Professor Hobbs concludes this section of his book with an observation which is an eloquent rebuke of the specimen of the movement in education which habitually "sells short" the American system of government: "An intriguing anomaly exists in the contrast between criticisms of the Government and objective conditions. This Government was hailed as being democratic to a revolutionary degree

General Patton's Widow Mum On Husband's Regard For Ike

By WESTBROOK PEGLER (Copyright, 1952, King Features, Syndicate, Inc.)

BOSTON—Ever since the political conventions of 1948, rumors have been afloat that Mrs. George S. Patton, the widow of the great American soldier who was busted once for slapping a ranker who he charged with making a wrong turning and busted General Patton in both instances. Persons devoted to General Patton have maintained that he was right in both incidents and in his submission to emotional public opinion.

Freddie Ayer, a nephew of Mrs. Patton, is the Republican candidate for attorney general of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. The possibility suggests itself that this fact might be influential in her attitude toward the candidacy of General Eisenhower on the Republican ticket.

Prominent Republicans in Massachusetts made earnest efforts to obtain from Mrs. Patton letters from her husband for use in the campaign. They were convinced that portions of these letters were derogatory to General Eisenhower.

I said that if that was as far as she would go, it would have to suffice. Mrs. Patton then said she would have to end the conversation and return to the children.

I took the statement that she was a Republican to mean that if General Eisenhower got the Republican nomination, she would do nothing to oppose his election. She did not answer whether or not she possessed letters of the kind mentioned in the political rumormongering. Her answer was the authority who revealed General Patton in both instances. Persons devoted to General Patton have maintained that he was right in both incidents and in his submission to emotional public opinion.

Freddie Ayer, a nephew of Mrs. Patton, is the Republican candidate for attorney general of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. The possibility suggests itself that this fact might be influential in her attitude toward the candidacy of General Eisenhower on the Republican ticket.

Prominent Republicans in Massachusetts made earnest efforts to obtain from Mrs. Patton letters from her husband for use in the campaign. They were convinced that portions of these letters were derogatory to General Eisenhower.

I had nothing to do with the circulation of those rumors," Mrs. Patton said.

I then told her that Kent Hunter, a Washington journalist of renown, had told me as a fact that Mrs. Patton had such documents and that such was her intention. Kent Hunter, a veteran of both World Wars, was General Patton's press relations officer in the Third Army. He regards Patton as a great soldier and a great American patriot, and shares a belief held by other citizens that Patton was treated badly.

Mrs. Patton said: "Oh, yes, he was my husband's P.R.O."

I put in that Mr. Hunter was not the only one from whom I had heard this report. I am not sure he was the first, I believe I heard it around convention hall in Philadelphia when James Roosevelt, an organization Democrat, was throwing down President Truman and plumping for Eisenhower as a Democrat along with many opportunists of Democratic hue including some who are now Eisenhower Republicans.

Mrs. Patton's reply that she had not set these reports into circulation was not as forthright as I had hoped it would be. I tried to clarify matters by telling Mrs. Patton that I did not suppose she had started the rumors but wanted to know whether they were true. I said that if she wanted to give me the answer off the record as information, that would be all right with me. Mrs. Patton did not take me up on that proposition at all. She said she was in the midst of a children's party and that there was a great deal of conversation going on about her. Also, someone was at the door and she left the phone for a moment. When she returned, I tried to press the inquiry by reviewing the remarks which we already had exchanged.

Mrs. Patton listened and then said: "Mr. Pegler, I am a Republican. Does that answer your question?"

Her answer, we gather, was the final mysterious straw.

Pascal's genius for geometry began to appear before he was even twelve years old. In the room where he passed his hours of study, he procured a piece of charcoal and drew diagrams on the floor, trying to make a circle, perfectly round, a triangle with equal sides and angles, a perfect parallelogram and like things. He discovered all this unaided, and then turned his attention to the properties of these figures and their mutual relations and proportions. But as his father had with such great care concealed from him all mathematical works, the poor boy did not even know the names of the figures he drew. Compelled to make his own definitions, he called a circle "a round" and a square "a bar," etc., and with these very primitive definitions proceeded to construct his axioms. Till at last he brought out complete demonstrations!

Step by step he advanced in his studies, one discovery opening the door to another, and so far did he push his researches, that without ever seeing a mathematical work, he got to the thirty-second proposition of the book of Euclid.

NO, COMRADE! NOT THAT! (New York Daily News)

We've been puzzling ever since the news seeped out of Red Romania the other day, about what really did happen to cold-eyed, mule-mouthed Ana Pauker. Foreign Minister—highest ranking she could be in the world. But she got bounced most rudely out of two other important posts, in Romania's Politburo and the Communist Central Committee secretariat. Scarcely official party newspaper, used up a full page of scarce paper to explain why.

We've pored over the Red robbery-gook and dialectics cautiously, and still don't get it. It's obvious that Ana's grim fellow comrades did, somehow, screw up enough courage to accuse their boss Amazon of "a conciliatory attitude and rightist deviations."

They also insisted that La Pauker had pulled off some left detouring. Not only that: the case-hardened girl who once tangled with Tito and is credited with turning her own husband over to Josip Stalin's MVD hatchmen, now stands accused of living on a "love of aristocracy." That slope business, we gather, was the final mysterious straw.

Should New Jersey be dragged into the federal control system, Brannan will undoubtedly reduce the price differential, although not wiping it out altogether. He will also give Empire State producers a large quota of the Jersey market. His authority is broad and caustic. Not to become too technical, the proposed change will profit the New Yorkers at the expense of Jersey competitors.

OUTCOME—At the insistent request of friendly New York dealers, Brannan agreed to hold hearings on the question. When they have been concluded in a month or so, he will issue his order for a rejiggering of the two states' milked prices and distribution system. His aides anticipate a pre-New York fixing.

The Brannan ruling will then be put to a vote of the dairy-men of the two states. But since there are 55,000 New York milkmen and handlers, as against only about 4,900 in Jersey there is great resentment toward Deway, an Eisenhower sponsor, in the farm areas.

DANGEROUS—Brannan's milk maneuvering may help to keep New Jersey in the Republican column. But that state has only 16 electoral votes, and they will probably go to the GOP nominee, anyway. Or so "Baldy" figures.

This factual exposition of how Brannan operates explains why top GOP-ers in Capitol Hill regard him as an extremely smart and dangerous politico, and why they will keep sharp watch on his "shenanigans" between now and November.

More kinds of trees and plants in the state of Washington, are found in North Carolina than in any other state.

Brannan Milk Price Plan May Win New York For Democrats

By RAY TRUCKER WASHINGTON—Farmer Brannan is up to his old tricks again! The bald-headed Denver lawyer, who doubles as the most politically astute secretary of agriculture in history, is reaping rural votes for the Democrats with the same slick schemes that transformed an apparent Republican victory into a Truman triumph in 1948.

Should his stratagem succeed, thousands of normally Republican ruralites in up-State New York may vote for the Brannan candidacy instead of their party's offering, whether it be Ike or Dewey. Their support may insure that New York's important 47 electoral ballots go to the Democratic nominee, in view of the party's strength below the Bronx.

The GOP makes a mistake if it counts the Empire State as a sure thing, even though Eisenhower and Taft have strong backers there. Dewey would have lost it in 1948 save for the nominally Democratic votes cast for Henry A. Wallace to the total of 600,000.

TIMING—The intriguing aspect of the latest Brannan conspiracy, as has been true of so many recent political moves—and abuses of presidential power—is that it has economic instability. It can be and has been advanced as a step toward sound marketing of a major crop, with resultant gains to producers and consumers.

Many other Truman actions in this election year, such as seizure of the steel plants, can be clothed with a character of public need, although they are actually designed to curry favor with special voting interests.

But it seems strange that Brannan delayed any action on the pending problem until only a few months before the November balloting. From a partisan standpoint, his timing has been perfect.

TACTICS—The Denverite's current operations resemble his 1948 tactics so closely that it casts suspicion on all his present actions. Brannan does not try to harvest his political crops until they are ready to bring a high price on the vote market.

In 1948, for instance, Brannan did not advise Truman to veto the Republican measure alleged to have cost the farmers a billion dollars by reducing storage space for crops on loan to the government. He let the President sign it without even a demurrer. Then he taught Truman how to do the tricking a bill through the legislature, so that this issue alone elected the man from Missouri.

More kinds of trees and plants in the state of Washington, are found in North Carolina than in any other state.

Oil Grab A Fraud

An editorial from the Washington Post, reprinted in the Congressional Record, takes the position that the tidelands bill vetoed by President Truman is a fraud because it purports to "confirm and establish the titles of the states to lands beneath navigable waters within state boundaries and to natural resources within such lands and waters."

The Post takes the position that the bill has nothing to do with inland waters and that the states never had title to the coastal waters because the Supreme Court has said so.

How wrong can you get? Anyone who does not think that the tidelands grab was not designed to set a precedent for further incursions of the Federal government has been sleeping for the past several years. The fraud is there all right, but the fraud is against the states. It was planned to extend the authority of the Department of the Interior and to bolster the dictatorial powers of the executive which the President so recently called "inherent."

In the case of the Texas tidelands at least, the Supreme Court handed down the decision which the Post considers so sacred, after refusing to listen to testimony concerning the contract between the United States Congress and the Republic of Texas under which Texas was admitted to the Union.

The paper repeats the oldie about the Federal government's desire to take title to the tidelands in order to conserve the oil for the national defense and also throws in the argument that the revenues could be used for aid to public education.

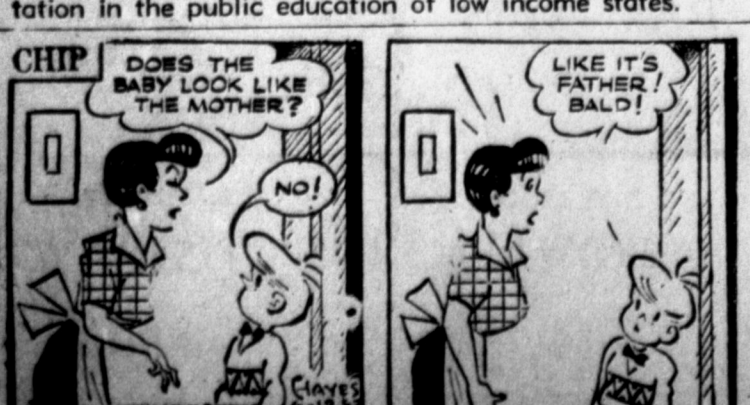

The Department of the Interior, of course, would lease the tidelands to the oil companies for development and so far as the national defense is concerned it is scarcely possible that there would be any difference. The only change would be that the Federal bureaucrats would have the handling of the money instead of the states to which it rightfully belongs.

The aid to education angle was added late in the fight. Ostensibly it was just another scheme to distribute the wealth of the "haves" among the "have nots." Actually it adds tremendously to the danger of further Federal dictation in the public education of low income states.

Nutrition Expert Says More Work Possible If People Reversed Their Usual Eating Habits

By RENNIE TAYLOR
AP Science Reporter
LOS ANGELES (AP) — People might go through their work day more efficiently and with less fatigue if they reversed their eating habits, says Adele Davis, Los Angeles nutritionist.

Also it is likely to be less fattening and it may reduce the desire to smoke, she adds. Here is Miss Davis' explanation of how sweets and starches actually can depress the blood sugar level:

By that she means a high protein intake at breakfast, lunch with a moderate amount of protein and a light evening meal. A high protein diet early in the day keeps the blood streams more evenly supplied with the sugar needed to produce bodily energy. Miss Davis reports in Nutritional Therapy, a trade publication.

German Prisoner Secrets Are Found

MONTEITH, Canada (AP)—Inmates of Montieith Jail Farm found many surprises as they tore down the barracks constructed here for a German prisoner-of-war camp during World War II. So far they have found two home made radios, numerous maps and a box filled with contraband materials hidden in the walls of the buildings. The radios, about 4 inches square, were built from scrap including parts of combs, cigarette papers, nails, wire, flash-bulbs for tubes and small batteries.

The walls of one of the buildings demolished recently were found plugged with earth, obviously removed from a tunnel. Although the barracks buildings sat on posts and the ground under them was floodlighted, several escape tunnels were discovered by guards.

The nutritionist also pointed to tests by Dr. G. W. Thorne at Harvard Medical School with three different breakfasts, all containing equal amounts of calories. One was high in sugar and starch, another high in fat and the third high in protein. People who had high fat or high carbohydrate breakfasts experienced a slight rise in blood sugar, then a drop which kept it below the fasting empty stomach level.

The carbohydrate breakfast kept the blood sugar level depressed for six hours. The protein breakfast kept the blood sugar level well above the fasting rate for six hours. It's protein that gets a day's work done, says Miss Davis.

Dog Catcher May Help

PINCHER CREEK, Canada (AP)—Mayor Ross Zoetman would be the first to favor an official dog catcher for Pincher Creek. A dog got into a barnyard recently and killed 200 three-week-old chicks.

War Debt Settled

SINGAPORE (AP)—The Singapore government has agreed to square a long standing account with Ceylon started when the Ceylon government rendered cash assistance to Malaya who were evacuated there during the Japanese attack on Malaya.

New Mechanical Aircraft Handler

LONDON (AP)—The British aircraft carrier Testus is carrying out first tests on a new mechanical handler for aircraft. The implement, in the form of a small trolley, is operated by one man and designed to replace manual labor in hauling planes on flight decks and into and out of hangars both at sea and on land air bases.

Total Ceylon government assistance to Singapore citizens amounted to $695. Over the past two years, the colony had tried to recover the debts from the individuals concerned, but was able to collect only $51. The colony Legislative Council has therefore agreed to provide the funds to pay off the debt.

The British designers claim it enables one man to raise a heavy plane and maneuver it with ease. The greedy pike is a terror to other fish, eating one-fifth of its weight each day.

"Most-Wanted" of Them All!

It will probably occasion no surprise on your part to be told that the Cadillac car is the most wanted and sought-after automobile on the American highways. But you might be surprised to learn how widespread the desire to own this great motor car has become. Statistics indicate, for instance, that there are more than twenty million motorists in America who would like to call a Cadillac their own. And were the whole of the world's motorists to be taken into consideration, this number would grow well-nigh beyond comprehension. There is reason to believe, in fact, that Cadillac may be wanted by more people than any other product manufactured in America today. It might well be called the great desideratum of the American people. Naturally, a motor car has to offer many wonderful things in order to occupy such a unique position in the hopes and aspirations of so many persons. In order to be so universally accepted as the "car of cars," it has to be instantly recognizable as the "car of cars." And so, it has to offer—great beauty! In order to have created so enduring an impression on so many motorists, it would also have to act like the "car of cars." And that means it must offer—brilliant performance! In order to have become the logical ambition of so many millions, it would have to be practical to own, as well as wonderful to drive. And so, it would have to offer—extraordinary economy! And finally, to be admired so highly by so many, it would have to offer wonderful prestige! On every street and highway in the world, it would have to be a testimonial to the taste and standing of the person at its wheel. If this sounds like the description of the car that you, yourself, would like to own and drive, then come in and see us—soon. Perhaps the time has come for you to join the hundreds of thousands of motorists who have stopped wanting a Cadillac—and started enjoying one! We'd be happy to see you any time.

Tips For Tasks

Many a kitchen has an old coffee percolator standing around unused since the new glass coffee makers appeared. These old percolators are perfect for steaming asparagus as they will stand upright and not "flop." The tips will be steamed thoroughly without breaking.

RUTH MILLETT

Just a few years ago the men were hollering loud and long about the way women were invading their world. They hollered out in resentment because women had moved in and made themselves at home in bars, barber-shops, golf clubs, etc.

All their private masculine worlds were being overrun by women and they didn't like it at all.

But they haven't let out a peep about the way men are now invading women's private domain, her kitchen, where for centuries she has been queen bee.

Now as likely as not, when you're invited to the Joneses for an evening meal, it will be a barbecue with Mr. Jones wearing a chef's cap, presiding over the short ribs and talking knowledgeably about how he mixed this sauce or dreamed up that salad.

When a man fancies himself a cook, his wife is relegated to a back seat in her own kitchen. Her job is to prepare in advance and fetch and carry and wash up and straighten the kitchen, but the glory goes to the man of the house. He takes the bows.

Now one man, at least, has gone too far in usurping his wife's right in her own household. A divorcee recently granted a divorce from her husband on the grounds that he had taken over her role of housewife, insisting on doing all the marketing and cooking himself.

His explanation to the judge, that he felt he was a much more efficient housekeeper than his wife, didn't carry any weight in court.

Said the judge: "By long custom it is the wife's duty and the wife's privilege to run the house."

So with a legal decision on our side, perhaps we women will have better luck in keeping the men from taking over in our private world than they had in keeping us out of theirs.

Faithful Workers Hear Guests Speak

Mrs. Lonnie S. Richardson and Mrs. J. H. Richey were guest speakers at a luncheon meeting of the Faithful Workers Class of the First Baptist Church Tuesday at the church.

An arrangement of delphinium and daisies centered the dining table. Mrs. W. B. Burgess, class social vice-president, and Mrs. John Wheelchel, assistant, directed the serving.

Mrs. Richardson gave the devotional following the luncheon and Mrs. Richey, a class mother, gave a short talk.

Class members attending were Mmes. Homer Duggett, Grant Anderson, Lee Garrison, H. B. Hamilton Jr., Dom Pumphrey, M.E. Powers, James Culpepper, S. E. Waters, John Wheelchel, W. B. Burgess, L. B. Studebaker, W. B. Pippin, Charles Miller.

TALKATIVE SHELLEY — with a 1951 hardbo, is always saying something, right or wrong, but seldom says "this is off the record." She insists there is no rift in her married life.

Shelley Winters Insists She And Hubby Getting Along

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Where do they get all that stuff?" asked Shelly Winters.
She was referring to the rumor mongers who have reported that she and bridegroom Vittorio Gassman were fighting. She continues: "That's a lot of baloney. Vittorio and I get along great. We have differences of opinion, but our basic ideas are the same. Besides, we never fight."
"We discuss," remarked Gassman, a fellow of few and well-chosen words.

"After we went to Mexico, somebody printed that we were breaking up," said non-stop Shelley. "Now now can they do that? Why, we only had one big argument, and that was over Vittorio's driving. He's a very good driver, but European style. He'll drive 80 miles an hour a few feet behind another car. I didn't go for that, and I told him so."
"Our only major difference," said the Italian, "is in philosophy of acting. Shelley, like most American actors, believes in the realistic kind of acting. She took me to Elia Kazan's school in New York, and that was what was being taught. I have been schooled in the classical stage, and I believe in a more stylized kind of acting."
Gassman is playing in his second U.S. film, and I asked him for his impressions of America. "As for Hollywood," he replied. "It is exactly what I expected. "Every fantastic thing I ever

Truman Cites Need Of Woman's Touch

NEW YORK, June 25 (AP)—President Truman sent a message to the International Federation of Business and Professional Women saying that the feminine touch is needed in world affairs.

The message was read to the session yesterday by Judge Sarah Hughes, Dallas, federation president and a possible candidate of the B&PW for the national Democratic vice presidential nomination.

"The influences of women in world affairs, as in the home, is on the side of morality and civilization," the President said. "More than ever before in history, the world needs that influence today."

Judge Hughes has been recommended as the Democratic vice presidential nominee by 20 state federations.

heard about the place is true. I did not like New York very much. The tempo is too fast, and the buildings are ugly. Except at night, New York at night is very beautiful."

Gassman has a unique contract with MGM which permits him to spend six months of each year in his native Italy. "They did not want to give it to me, but I insisted," he explained. "It is not easy to break the ties with your home country. Besides, I think it is important for an actor to return to the stage, which is the primary medium."

The actor, who has done 20 films and 73 plays plans to perform "Hamlet" on the Rome stage next season. Does that mean Shelley will be doing an Italian Ophelia?

"No, her accent would not be good enough to do classics," he said. "Besides, she is not the Ophelia type."

"How about doing Lady Macbeth?" she asked hopefully.

"No," he answered emphatically.

However, she does plan to spend six months in Italy with him, and that is the source of her fight with U-I. "I'm mad at them anyway," she added. "Do you know that all the big executives at MGM sent us congratulations on our wedding, and I didn't hear one word from anybody at U-I?"

Gassman had to leave to perform a bathing scene in his new picture, "Sombbrero." Shelley asked if she could come and watch. He replied she could not.

"Please," she pleaded. "I'll just watch for a few minutes and go."

"No!" he said, and that was that.

This may be the guy who can handle Shelley.

Many old-time trappers of the north have never seen a fisher whose pelt did not contain at least a few porcupine quills.

IT'S your DEAL High-Low Poker Rules Vary

By OSWALD JACOBY and ALFRED SHEINWOLD
"Please explain the way high-low poker is played," requests a New York games fan.

The general practice is to play seven-card stud, with the high hand and the low hand splitting the pot at the end. The exact rules vary a bit in different parts of the country, but the variations are very easily understood.

The dealer gives two cards down and one card up to each player. High player has the right to chip first. After each round of betting another card is dealt to each player who remains in the pot — until each has four cards up (in addition to the original two cards down). Then, after another round of bets, each active player gets one card face down.

By this time, each active player has his full hand of seven cards. There is a final round of betting, followed by a showdown. As a result of the showdown, the highest five-card hand at the table takes half of the pot, and the lowest five-card hand at the table takes the other half.

For example, suppose one player has a pair of sevens, a pair of fives, a four, a three, and a two. His best "high" hand is two pairs, sevens up. His best "low" hand is 7-5-4-3-2. He may compete with the two pairs for the high half of the pot; and with the seven-high hand for the low half of the pot. Conceivably, he may win both halves of the pot.

In some games the active players in the showdown simply show their cards and take whichever half of the pot they win (if any). In other games the players must "declare" which end of the pot they are trying for before any hole cards are turned over.

The declaring may be done in different ways. Sometimes the player who makes the last bet has the right to declare first, with the others declaring in turn to the left. In other games, however, everybody declares at the same time.

The method is for each player to open his hand above the table on a signal. If the hand contains a white chip, the player is going for low; otherwise he is going for high. If a player is going for high and low, he puts both a white and a red chip in his hand.

Or when you play poker with a stripped deck (aces down to the nines, with all other cards removed), is A-9-10-J considered a straight?

A — Yes. The ace is always low as well as high. When cards

Civil Rights Will Emerge

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP) — The civil rights program is in the political shadows at the moment but will emerge at the Chicago conventions, where both parties will have to take a stand on it. It may be vital in the election.

The Republicans were mild on civil rights in their 1948 platform. This undoubtedly cost them plenty among Northern Negro voters and ardent white supporters of a civil rights program. It didn't help the Republicans directly in the South.

If the Republicans don't wreck themselves this year by their own internal quarrels and again are mild on civil rights, it may cost them Northern Negro votes but may do them good this time among Southern whites.

Both Gen. Eisenhower and Sen. Taft have made a strong pitch to win white Southerners away from their traditionally Democratic ticket. Neither has said anything which could inflame white Southerners against them very much.

Among the various civil rights problems, the one getting the most attention in recent years has been the FEPC, a fair employment practices commission. The purpose of a government FEPC would be to prevent employers from discriminating against a man — and is in a job or looking for one — because of his color or religious belief.

A presidential candidate can take one of three positions: against a government FEPC altogether, leaving employment problems to the states; for a federal FEPC which is only advisory, lacking teeth; or for a federal FEPC with full power to compel an employer not to discriminate, meaning he can be punished if he does.

That last one, the compulsory FEPC, is the goal of the most ardent Negro and Northern white advocates of civil rights. It is also the one which is sheer poison to white Southerners.

In his first news conference after coming home Eisenhower turned his back on a federal FEPC at all. He said he'd leave problem to the states. Taft would go along with a federal FEPC, but only the advisory kind.

At the same time only two among the many Democratic hopefuls — Averell Harriman and Sen. Brien McMahon — have come out for a compulsory federal FEPC.

are removed from the deck, the ace ranks just below the lowest spottack in the stripped deck.

Crude Oil Output Shows An Increase

TULSA (AP) — Crude oil and condensate production in the United States showed a daily average increase of 3,025 barrels for the week ended June 21, the Oil and Gas Journal has reported.

Illinois and Colorado contributed most to the net gain. Illinois jumped 7,300 barrels to 173,900 and Colorado added 21,100 barrels to reach 80,400.

Other states with increases included Louisiana, up 256 to 665,300 and New Mexico up 100 to 165,000 barrels.

Kansas was the biggest loser, dropping 3,800 barrels to 308,100. Oklahoma was off 1,400 to 510,700.

Airplane Advertising

SINGAPORE (AP) — The director of civil aviation is sponsoring the application of a Singapore advertising agency that wants to carry out aerial advertising at night.

The agency plans sending up a plane between 6 and 7 o'clock each evening. The plane will tow an illuminated sign deriving power from the plane's generator.

Production was unchanged in Texas at 2,699,500.

Knowland Predicts Warren Will Wait Out Ballots

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Knowland of California predicts Gov. Earl Warren will wait out several Republican convention ballots, watching for a deadlock before deciding on the release of his delegates.

Such a delay could cost Gen. Dwight Eisenhower a critical bloc of presidential nominating votes at a time when his chief rival, Ohio Sen. Robert Taft, was making an all-out bid.

Knowland says he agrees with Warren there is a good chance neither Eisenhower nor Taft will get the nomination at the July 7 convention in Chicago.

"If Eisenhower and Taft deadlock, I believe Gov. Warren is the logical compromise candidate and will be nominated," said Knowland.

His insistence with the California delegation is rated second only to Warren's.

Warren, who has pledged support of the 70 California and six Wisconsin delegates, said at Sacramento, Calif., he hopes to pick up a few more first ballot votes.

"Don't ask me how many," he added quickly at a news conference.

He said he has made no deals with any other nominee - candidates. Should it develop he has no chance to win, he said, "I will do what I believe any honorable man should do under the circumstances, releasing any delegates to act in accordance with their own consciences."

JACOBY On Bridge Experts Show Value Of The Forcing Bid

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

One feature of bidding that is employed by the best Eastern players, but not quite so much in other parts of the country is the use of the fourth suit as a sort of general forcing bid. The principle is illustrated in the hand shown today.

Howard Schenken opened the South hand with one heart, playing at the "expert's table" in New York's famous Cavendish Club. His partner, Alfred Sheinwald, decided to respond with only one spade, noting mentally

Says Tube Steel Output Must Increase

WASHINGTON (AP)—Makers of oil industry have been told they must increase their production by nearly 50 per cent within three years if the nation is to get the petroleum needed for defense efforts.

J. E. Warren, Deputy Administrator of the Petroleum Administration for Defense PAD, made the statement at a closed conference of the manufacturers and distributors of oil field tubular goods.

These include casing, tubing and drill piping used in oil-producing areas.

In a statement issued after the meeting, Warren said PAD estimates it will be necessary for the domestic oil industry to drill 60,000 wells in 1954 at a cost of $1,650,000,000.

No Accurate Way To Measure Sex Behavior in Human Beings

WASHINGTON (AP)—The American Statistical Association says Dr. Alfred C. Kinsey has done no known way of studying sex behavior in human beings.

Pre-1948 Wheels Not Allowed On This Year's Derby Racers

Official Soap Box Derby wheels made before 1948 must not be used on 1952 racing cars. This rule again will be enforced by inspectors.

The rules permit wheels and axles from small vehicles in popular use, such as coaster wagons, tricycles and baby carriages.

Home-made or hand-built wheels, welded or riveted disc wheels that have been taken apart and rebuilt, or wheels salvaged from commercial units cannot be used.

Do NOT repaint the official Soap Box Derby wheels, and do NOT remove the bearings. If official wheels are used, only the originally red painted ones will be permitted. On these wheels are the words "Official Soap Box Derby Tire."

The wheels may be run-in, either by hand or by motor. Many Derby car-builders feel that running-in the wheels is an all-important factor.

Wheels may be balanced by drilling holes in the discs; the balancing holes then may be covered.

West Texas Field Day at Texas Technological College, Lubbock, has been changed to July 11.

A Herdsman Short Course will be held at the college July 9-10. The Field Day was changed to work in with the Short Course.

The college hopes to have a good turnout of Angus breeders at the Short Course and a much larger crowd at the Field Day.

Folks attending the Short Course should bring overalls as a practical schedule has been arranged. Those coming to the Field Day can wear their Sunday best and can pick up some educational information.

Lobos Salvage Finale, 22-5; Oilers At Borger Tonight

The net result was completely different but the methods used were the same at Oiler Park last night as the visiting Lameza Lobos salvaged the final game of a weird three-game series, 22-5.

Tonight the Oilers hit the road to open a six-day journey to Borger and Amarillo. It will be righthander Max Molberg facing the Gassers tonight with the Borger choice unknown. Tomorrow night a make-up doubleheader will likely be scheduled, although it hasn't been confirmed as yet.

Pampa baseball fans are probably glad to get a brief reprieve from the game after the series with the Lobos. The set must have set some sort of zany hitting and scoring record as the clubs blasted out 110 hits for 92 runs in an even nine hours of baseball during the series.

Last night's game started out respectable enough for a while, until the visitors were donated five runs in the third inning on but two hits, some walks and Oiler errors. Morris Shipman was the starting pitcher, and weathered the third inning and got along fine until the seventh. Shipman invited trouble then as he walked the tail end of the batting order, got into deep water, and needed Tommy Thompson to help bail him out. But Thompson was just another pitcher for the Lobos, and they scored six in the seventh, four in the eighth, and completed the rout with a seven-run ninth.

Arthur Superb

While all this bombarding was going on, Oiler bats were nearly silent against strongman Ed Arthur, the tow-headed righthander who burned up the league last year and appears headed toward another great season. Last night's win was his twelfth.

He gave up a bad-hop single to Temes in the first, a solid single to Woldt in the fourth, a first-pitch home run to Shipman in the sixth and a fly ball double to Ed Sudol in the seventh. But in the ninth the Lobos started enjoying the game and their lead and Arthur gave up five more hits for the final four runs.

Pampa Lady Golfers Move Into Second Round Of Meet

The Pampa Women's City Golf Tournament moved into the second round of play this morning at the Pampa Country Club with Medalist Lila Austin running into another member of the family, Aunt Marge Austin.

Lila, 15 years old, won her first match from her sister, Shirley, 43, yesterday. Margie, wife of the golf pro, Johnny Austin, edged past Floy Heath, 1 up.

In other championship flight matches Jean Duenkel, defending champion, defeated Oak Allee Whittle, 3-4, and Maysia De Howell won over Irene Beagle by default.

In the first flight Opal Samples defeated Juanita Tinsley, 5-4; Orpha Mitchell beat Virginia Carver, 5-4. Fern Parker beat Barbara Austin, 3-2; and Lynda Austin drew a bye into the second round.

In the other championship flight match today, Duenkel faces Howell while Heath and Shirley Austin and Whittle and Beagle are to meet in the consolation bracket.

In the consolation Samples meets Mitchell and Parker faces Lynda Austin while Tinsley meets Carver and Barbara Austin drew a bye.

In the driving contest yesterday, held in connection with the tournament, Jean Duenkel won first in the championship flight and Floy Heath second. Lynda Gale Austin, 12 years old, won the first flight and Orpha Mitchell second.

Oak Allee Whittle won the approaching contest in the championship flight and Lila Austin was second. Orpha Mitchell won first in the first flight in the approaching contest and Juanita Tinsley was second.

A luncheon will be held by the Ladies' Golf Association Saturday at 12 noon at which time the prizes will be awarded. All ladies in the Association are invited to attend.

In a putting contest held in connection with the qualifying rounds shot last week, Lila Austin won first with 28 putts, Jean Marge Austin and Maysia De Howell each finished with 32 to Duenkel with second with 29, and tie for third.

In the ladies day meeting held in connection with the first round yesterday, Oak Allee Whittle had a net 24 for first place and Opal Samples and Maysia De Howell each had 25 to tie for second.

Pioneers Overcome Deficit To Win

The Borger Gassers staged an 11-run first inning spurge last night but went scoreless thereafter, Clovis taking a 17-11 West Texas-New Mexico League game.

In the other tilts, Lameza rolled over Pampa, 22-5, and Abilene edged Amarillo, 6-5, and Abilene at Lubbock was postponed by rain.

In the Clovis comeback, three homers did the most. Fran Rice and Winston Havenstrite boomed roundtrippers in the second, and Jim Matthews, with two men ahead, deadlocked the game in the third.

Lameza struck hard in the last three innings to whip Pampa. Two winners got their first five tallies in the third. Then they went scoreless for three innings.

In the seventh, they rang up six, in the eighth they scored four more, and in the ninth they brought in seven, all on 19 hits.

Earl Harriman singled into centerfield scoring Fred Haller from third to earn Albuquerque its 11-inning win over Amarillo. All scores for three innings.

Amariillo's runs were scored on two homers. Johnny Bruzga hit a three-run homer in the second, and Les Mulcahy slugged one for two runs in the seventh.

Davey Scores KO of Vejar

DETROIT (AP) — Chuck Davey, thoughtful scholar of pro boxing, looks forward to bigger things today. Now that he's brushed past Chico Vejar for the second time, the bigger things include a weight title.

Davey, the 147 1/2 pound Michigan State College graduate student, knocked out Vejar, 149 1/4, at 1:58 of the fifth round of their scheduled 10-round televised battle last night before 11,341 fans at Olympia Stadium.

"I kept trying to get up Vejar for my body punch," said undefeated Chuck, who now hopes to meet Carmen Basilio and Billy Graham before going on to a title fight. "It was harder this time than I beat him in Chicago May 7 but I finally got an opening in the fifth."

Davey will fight Basilio July 16 in Chicago, although theater's an outside chance the fight may be held in Detroit.

Chuck floored Vejar four times with body punches in their first fight at this time. Chico, 21-year-old New York University drama student, went down only once. He couldn't get up.

Houston Slips To Fourth Place

BEAUMONT (AP) — The Texas League Wednesday night, Houston was definitely in a slump, this time losing their fifth in the last seven games as Beaumont triumphed 5-1. The Buffaloes tumbled from second place to fourth.

Beaumont moved to the runner-up slot two and a half games out. Meantime, Hal Erickson elbowed up the longest lead a first place club has held in a month as he stopped Fort Worth, 5-1, for Dallas.

Shreveport dropped a doubleheader to San Antonio, 7-4 and 7-6, becoming the first club as far out of the race as nine games. Oklahoma City took over third place, a point up on Houston, by beating Tulsa, 7-5.

Bob Smith To Lions

DETROIT (AP) — Texas A & M Fullback Bob Smith will play for the Detroit Lions, according to an exchange deal made yesterday with the Cleveland Browns.

Heat Melts Sugar; Maxim Wins TKO

By MURRAY ROSE
NEW YORK (AP)—The glorious career of Sugar Ray Robinson may have come to an end in the last furnace heat of Yankee Stadium — just two rounds away from victory over light Heavyweight Champion Joey Maxim and a third jewel for his gleaming crown.

Steaming 103-degree heat melted the taut flesh of the lean mid-deweight king and burned out his resistance after 13 rounds of a valiant, winning effort. He collapsed and the victory went to Maxim.

"Ray was going to call it quits if he won decisively," said Jimmy Clark, a longtime friend of Ray. "Now this could be it too, I guess."

Robinson had been bidding to become the third fighter ever to win three championships and join Ruby Bob Fitzsimmons and Hamman Henry Armstrong in the ultra-elite of the ring.

May Be Last

There was many an expert who felt that he had seen the last of the great Sugar Man.

The bout will go down in the book as the fourth technical knockout for Joey — the bell had sounded to start the 14th — but everyone in the wilted crowd of 47,983, gross gate $421,656, will credit the TKO to the steamboat that was Yankee Stadium last night.

Ray wouldn't and couldn't talk to the press after he was helped to his dressing room. He had just suffered the first knockout—technical though it was, of his 11½ years of pro boxing. It was only his third defeat in 137 bouts, but two of them have come in less than a year. He lost to Randy Turpin last July 10.

"Robinson is mentally as well as physically exhausted," said Dr. Ira McCown, State Athletic Commission physician and one of the first to leave Sugar's dressing room. "He speaks unintelligibly. He appears to be out in left field."

Was Ahead

The middleweight champion, who started out weighing 157½, to Maxim's 172, left the ball park with his bathrobe wrapped around him.

Through the first 11 rounds, Ray, as graceful as a ballet dancer, moved in and out and sideways on his taller foe. He shot jabs to the head and body, rattled him with flashing combinations to the head and body, and staggered him in the seventh and ninth rounds with smashing left hooks.

The best Maxim could do on his darting rival was to dig those shorties to the body in the clinches. He landed occasional left hooks to the head and a rare right without much steam.

In the 12th, two rounds after Referee Ray Goldstein became ill from the oppressive heat and was replaced by Ray Miller, Robinson appeared to wobble as he retreated from Maxim, now the stalker.

Now the heat, the 15½ pounds weight handicap and everything else caught up with the sleek, poised Harlemite near the end of the 13th.

He let fly with a haymaker right that missed by a mile and fell flat of his face from exhaustion. As the round — ending gong sounded, he collapsed against the ropes in a neutral corner.

His handlers quickly dragged him to his stool.

Washington Continues Rapid Pace Aided By Early Trades

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
"We won't finish last."
 That's what Bucky Harris, manager of the Washington Senators, said flatly in February. "We'll win more games than we did last year," Harris said.

Harris, by astute manipulations in the trade marts, has more than kept his word. The Senators are a country mile from last place and are threatening to plunge into the heart of the American League pennant race.

The Senators, victors in only

62 games last year, scored their 32nd triumph Wednesday, outlasting the cooled-off Chicago White Sox, 9-6, in ten innings.

The victory enabled the Senators to take over fourth place from the White Sox by three percentage points and move to within four games of the league-leading New York Yankees who dropped a 10-9 decision to the Browns in St. Louis.

The loss cut the Yanks' lead to 2 1/2 games over the Boston Red Sox who moved into the runner-up slot by trouncing the Detroit Tigers, 10-3, while Cleveland's erstwhile second place Indians bowed to the Philadelphia Athletics, 11-0.

Brooklyn maintained its four game National League advantage over New York, beating the St. Louis Cardinals, 3-1, while the Giants edged the Cincinnati Reds, 3-2.

Big Max Surkont and Sid Gordon teamed up to lead the Boston Braves to a 5-2 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates. The Chicago Cubs snapped their nine-game losing streak by defeating the Philadelphia Phillies, 4-1.

Sports Schedule Pair Of Contests

The Pampa Sports Amateur baseball team, composed of many former top baseballers in the area and West Texas-NEW Mexico League, will play a pair of games at Oiler Park over the week end.

Saturday night, at 8:15, they meet the Amarillo Air Force Base Amjets in a return game. Two weeks ago they dropped a game to the strong arm men. Einar J. White, both ex-Oilers is expected to take the mound.

Sunday afternoon they meet the Wheeler home talent club. Andy Troop is expected to be fireballing at the Wheelers in that game.

Salas Scores KO Over Hudson

NUEVO LAREDO, Mexico (AP)—Luro Salas, world's light-weight champion, last night scored a fifth round knockout win over Eddie Hudson of St. Louis, Mo. Hudson, 132, who was floored in the second and on his knees in the fourth, was counted out at 1:05 seconds into the fifth round.

Salas, 130, from Monterrey, Mexico, won the title from Jimmy Carter last month, had lost to Hudson in Los Angeles last year.

Tommy Cox Advances Into Semifinals Of Junior Meet

One Pampa junior golfer remained in the semifinal round of the first annual Panhandle Junior Open Golf Tournament at the Phillips Country Club, and he had his work cut out for him today.

Tommy Cox, Pampa junior city champion, moved past fellow townsman Ronnie Mullins, 4-3, yesterday morning and then came back with a 2-1 victory in the afternoon over Bill Easley of Oklahoma City. This morning Cox was slated to run into the tournament's favorite, Rex Baxter, Jr., of Amarillo.

Buster Carter, another Pampa championship fighter, fell to John Farquhar of Amarillo, 1-0, but won his consolation round match over Jimmy Johnson of Quannah, 6-5. Mullins was eliminated as he lost his consolation match, 6-5, to James Christopher of Amarillo.

Biggest upset was the defeat of Tommy Hale, brilliant Shamrock golfer, by Jack Brown of Borger, 1 up, in the first round.

Tommie Mullins and Frank Oulther, Jr., both advanced to the semifinals of the second flight as they scored two victories the first day of the tournament.

Benny Parks of Shamrock, another young tournament favorite, was eliminated by lanky Kenneth Shields of Plainview. Shields recently went to the finals of the Phillips Invitational, where he was beaten by Malcolm Douglas of Pampa.

Turnesa Captures Major Win For Famous Golfing Family

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
LOUISVILLE (AP)—For Jim Turnesa, the first victory was the hardest.

That's easy to say today after watching the swarthy, tight-lipped little man fight his way back from what looked like a certain defeat to whip Chick Harbert 1-up on the 36th hole of the Big Springs Course to win the PGA Championship.

It was the first major title ever taken by a professional member of the famous Turnesa golfing clan.

But Jimmy said it himself even before he went out to meet Harbert, a golfer who wades into the tough spots and usually comes out ahead with the big punch.

Comparing his trip to the finals this year to that of 10 years ago, when he whipped Dutch Harrison, Jug McSpaden, Ben Hogan and Byron Nelson in successive matches, only to bow to Sam Snead in the final, Turnesa insisted this one was harder.

"I was ahead of those guys," he said unsmilingly. "This time every match has been tough. Ted Kroil, semifinal loser, never let up on me. Every time I thought I had him, he'd come right back at me."

Olympic Finals Start Tomorrow

LOS ANGELES (AP)—America's finest track and field athletes, 200 strong, launch their final bids for a place on the U.S. Olympic team when the all-important two-day trials start tomorrow.

Past achievements put the athletes into the final trials, but the past means nothing in the determination for berths on America's Finland bound squad.

The first three finishers in each of the Olympic events make the team.

Tomorrow's program gets under way with finals in the shotput, javelin and broad jump at 2:30 p.m. CSE.

The shot put continues the rivalry among the world record holder, Jim Fuchs; Parry O'Brien, Southern California; Darrow Hooper, Texas A&M and Otis Chandler of the Air Force.

Fatheree Scores Hole In One

Warren Fatheree, Pampa golfer, wandered over to Amarillo yesterday and tossed in a hole-in-one on the par 3, 118-yard No. 2 hole at the Amarillo Country Club. It was the first ace for the Pampa golfer.

He was playing as a guest of Jack Osborne.

Fatheree is currently in the semifinals of the third flight consolation of the men's city golf tournament.

Inverness Next For Golf Pros

TOLEDO, O. (AP)—With the National Open and PGA classics out of the way, 12 of the country's top-flight golf professionals headed today on a 90-hole jaunt for an $18,000 pot of gold.

The selected stars were paired in six twosomes for the four-day round-robin best-ball Inverness matches.

The winners get $5000, second $3000, third $2500, fourth $2000, fifth $6000 and sixth $4000 - in addition to the $2500 for the five best rounds.

One of the highlights is the return of Byron Nelson to the golfing wars. The Texan formerly was professional at the Inverness Club. He toured the first nine of his old haunts yesterday in 31 strokes, carding five birdies.

The field has single rounds scheduled today, tomorrow and Saturday, with a double-header windup Sunday.

Today's schedule was: Jim Demaret-Jack Burke vs. Doug Ford-Ed Porky Oliver; Sam Snead-Jim Ferrier vs. Clayton Heafner-Marty Furgol; Lloyd Mangrum-Cary Middlecoff vs. Byron Nelson-Skee Riegel.

Maxwell Pushed To Win First Match
LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP)—National Collegiate Athletic Association officials, who contend their golf tourney is the country's toughest amateur test, and some new talking points going into today's second round.

Billy Maxwell of North Texas State, the 1952 U.S. amateur champion was pushed 18 holes Wednesday to defeat Joe Walsler, Oklahoma A&M, up. Scratch golf wouldn't have beaten Walsler. Maxwell had to shoot a 2-under-par 69 over Purdue's tricky south course.

David Stanley of UCLA; 1951 National Public Links champion, failed to survive the 36-hole qualifications in the NCAA meet.

Maxwell's opponent today was Dick Evans of Michigan's Big Ten championship team, who won a first round victory over Dick Tiddy of Wake Forest, 4 and 3.

The usual end came to the medalist, Eastern Intercollegiate champion Paul Harney of Holy Cross. Don Addington of SMU scorched him with 4-under-par golf for 15 holes, 4 and 3.

Harney had company among the losers, including Don January of North Texas State, and Don Nichols of Oklahoma A&M. Elliott Phillips of Indiana University was 2 under par in beating January, 4 and 3. Burt Weaver of Louisiana State took out Nichols, 2 and 1.

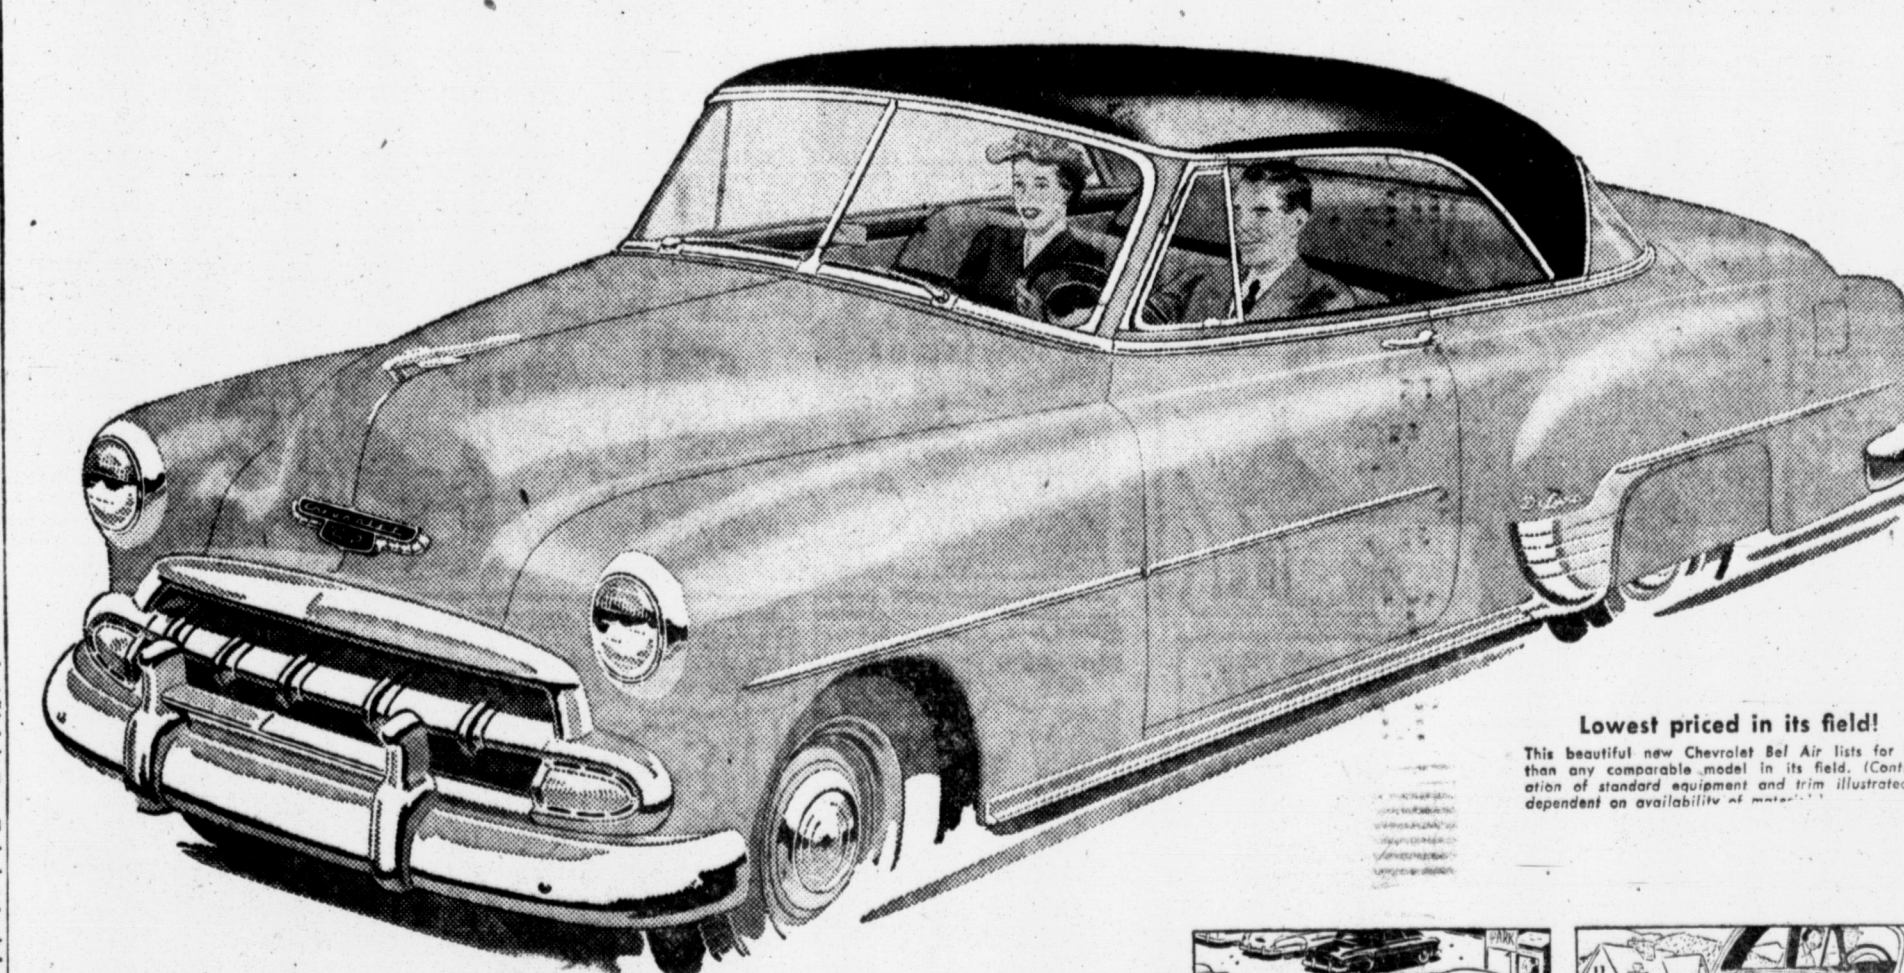

Pairings today included: Addington vs Tommy Morrow, Louisiana State. Billy Key, Rollins, vs Bob Moncrief, Texas. Wesley Ellis, Texas, vs Henry Wheat, St. Lawrence. Weaver vs Curt Jacobs, Wisconsin. Ken Venturi, San Jose State, vs Joe Golden, Texas. Joe Conrad, North Texas State, vs Anthony Novisky, Detroit. Marion Hiskey, North Texas State, vs Fred Brown, Stanford. John Fraser, Michigan, vs Donald Guarglia, Bradley.

Davis, Walker Invited To Play In Greenbelt Classic

Two 1951 Pampa Harvester Footballers, Halfback Billy Davis and Tackle Terry Walker, have been invited to participate in the annual Greenbelt Bowl Football Game at Childress August 22.

The game, in its third year, is sponsored annually by the Childress Quarterback Club, and is played in the city-owned city park.

Davis, an all-district and all-state halfback last year, has also been invited to play in the annual Coaches' Association game to be held at the Coaches School in Fort Worth. He was the leading scorer in District 1-AAAA last year as well as one of the top groundgamers. He is expected to enter Texas University next fall.

Walker, a co-captain of the '51 squad, is one of the roughest and meanest tackles in the state. Troubled with a bad knee the past two seasons.

3 I HAVE FOUND TODAY
I've shut the door on Yesterday, Its sorrows and mistakes, I've locked within its gloomy walls Past failures and heartaches; And now I throw the key away To seek another room, And furnish it with hope and smiles And every spring-time bloom.

No thought shall enter this abode That has a hint of pain, And every malice and distrust Shall never therein reign; I've shut the door on Yesterday, And thrown the key away, Tomorrow holds no doubt for me Since I have found today.

Rail Worker Runs Biggest Checker Game

By EDWARD S. KITCH
C. M. CO. (P)—Dallas R. Culver

is at what he calls the world's biggest checker game. The counters are 6000 sleeping cars. The board covers the United States, Canada and Mexico. The object of the game is to put the cars wherever they are needed, when they are needed—on time. Culver is superintendent of transportation of Pullman Company's giant rolling hotel system. His crews distribute the cars by long distance telephone and teletype. They must provide sleeping cars for regular and special trains of all American railroads.

Along the Pullman-like corridors in the company's headquarters in Chicago's Merchandise Mart are a maze of offices where a beehive of workers and clerks tend to the huge task of making available 125,000 beds for guests each night.

Culver says 50 million persons annually are carried on Pullman cars. The Pullman Company repairs, maintains and cleans the cars. Its fleet of sleeping cars, either owned or leased is furnished to railroads under operating contracts.

The Pullman Company has repair shops in Chicago, St. Louis, Buffalo, N. Y.; Richmond, Calif.; and Richmond, Va.

Culver, 47, joined Pullman in 1920 as junior clerk in Atlanta, Ga., his home town. It was his first job. After a hitch in Washington, D. C., in 1945, for special duties with the military, he came to Chicago in 1946.

Culver's car distribution activities make him the important cog turning the wheels for all convention, holiday and vacation travel.

"I think this end of the business is very enjoyable. When it gets into your blood, it becomes sort of a hobby," he said.

Tito Easing Co-Op Farm Program

BELGRADE (P)—Communist Yugoslavia has eased up its high pressure campaign to persuade the country's peasants to join state-operated farm "co-operatives."

The party's advocacy of the doctrine of common ownership just didn't work when applied to simple farmer folk who judge efficiency by the fullness of their vegetable bins.

In the immediate postwar years, Marshal Josip Broz Tito's government ambitiously started off on a program ultimately designed to bring all of Yugoslavia's fertile fields into state-controlled co-operatives and collectives.

On the surface, the plan had some obvious merits. This was particularly true in a land of limited farm machinery which could be utilized more fully to till and harvest under government control.

But it had its disadvantages, too. Perhaps the basic one is the fact that Yugoslav farmers, like farmers everywhere, are rooted in the soil, like to call it their own, and are in good position to resist economic and political pressure. There are very practical factors which probably influenced Tito's government to tone down its "collectivization" program.

High on the list would be the fact that Tito needs the co-operation of the independent peasant, representing more than half of the population, to resist pressure from the Russian-led Cominform. A sit-down strike by the independent farmers, tilling roughly about 80 per cent of the country's arable land, could wreck his regime.

That's hardly likely, however. The peasants, whether they like or dislike the present administration, still prefer it to the possibility of Russian rule.

Of almost equal importance is the fact that Yugoslavia, as a whole lacks the proper terrain for general application of the communistic principle of collective farms.

In Slovenia, in mountainous Montenegro and Macedonia and parts of Bosnia Herzegovina, centuries of sweating, stone-removing labor have produced checkerboard patches of farm land far from suitable for mass production.
