

Jubilant Ike Forces Predict Early Ballot Victory

CHICAGO (AP) — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's jubilant forces, backed by two smashing new victories over the Taft camp, confidently predicted today their man will win the Republican presidential nomination.

Delighted over success in contests seating pro-Eisenhower delegations from Texas and Georgia in the GOP National Convention, the general's top political aides were counting the big prize as in the bag.

"Now we can go ahead and nominate the next President of the United States—Dwight D. Eisenhower," said the general's campaign manager, Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. of Massachusetts.

Hours before the convention seated the Georgia delegation favorable to him and then the heavily pro-Eisenhower Texas group, the general was quoted as saying, "I think I am going to win the nomination in the hot race he is running against Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio.

Former Sen. John Sherman Cooper, Kentucky Republican, told newsmen Eisenhower made the statement to him, Cooper visited the general at his Black Stone Hotel headquarters last night.

Aides said the general didn't even stay up to get the results on the Texas Georgia seating contests. They said he went to bed about 11:30 p.m. and wasn't awakened when the convention reversed its Credentials Committee in his favor.

Eisenhower forces won the Georgia contest by a vote of 607 to 531.

Then the Taft people let the general's Texas delegation be seated without a roll call.

The Georgia group which had been approved by the credentials unit was made up of 17 Taft delegates. The winning slate is divided 11 for Eisenhower, two for Taft and one undecided.

The Texas victory gives Eisenhower 53 votes to five for Taft. The final tally cleared by the credentials committee was 52 for Taft to 16 for Eisenhower.

This made the new lineup in the Associated Press tabulation of delegates:

Eisenhower 341, Taft 486, others 110, uncommitted 96.

This picture could shift quickly on the first nomination ballot, when the uncommitted must join the ranks of those publicly tabbed for one candidate or another.

But this slow-moving convention seemed unlikely to get around to any such showdown until tomorrow. Delegates faced action today on party platform, followed by the tedious business of nominating candidates.

Gov. John S. Fine of Pennsylvania cut down the uncommitted list sharply by a belated and widely forecast announcement that he is supporting Eisenhower.

The 52 to 18 poll of his delegation in favor of seating the Georgia Eisenhower group seemed to reflect equal support for the general in the nomination battle.

"Although Taft's strategists conceded he had suffered a setback, they promised grimly to continue the fight.

There was no suggestion they might give way for another candidate, although there was growing talk on the fringes about Gen. Douglas MacArthur as a possible runner. Taft himself reiterated, he expects to be nominated "on an early ballot." He said that "a number" of delegates who voted Eisenhower's way on the delegate contests "have assured me they will vote for me on the roll call."

The Eisenhower people haven't been taking about a first-ballot victory in the general's bid for the nomination. Lodge said only that he is looking for victory on an early ballot.

GOP Accuses Truman Of Sickening Corruption

Democracy In Raw Not Mild, GOP Prove

CONVENTION HALL, Chicago (P) — Like nature, democracy in the rough is seldom mild.

The democratic process, as the Republicans unraveled it today, went more than 12,000 people staggering out of Convention Hall, dizzy, reeling and emotionally spent after seven hours of indescribable excitement.

Last night, when the hall filled, it was obvious that an explosion was coming. The climax, as those churning thousands knew, was at hand over the delegate contests in Texas and Georgia.

It was Sen. Everett Dirksen, of Illinois, a heavy-bodied, on chairs. A stocky little man, content and wearing a white shirt, was flailing away with his fists at a brother Republican, who was defending the Taft faction in Georgia.

With a dramatic pause, he looked down from the speaker's platform directly at Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, said he had campaigned for Dewey in 1944 and 1948 and then let go.

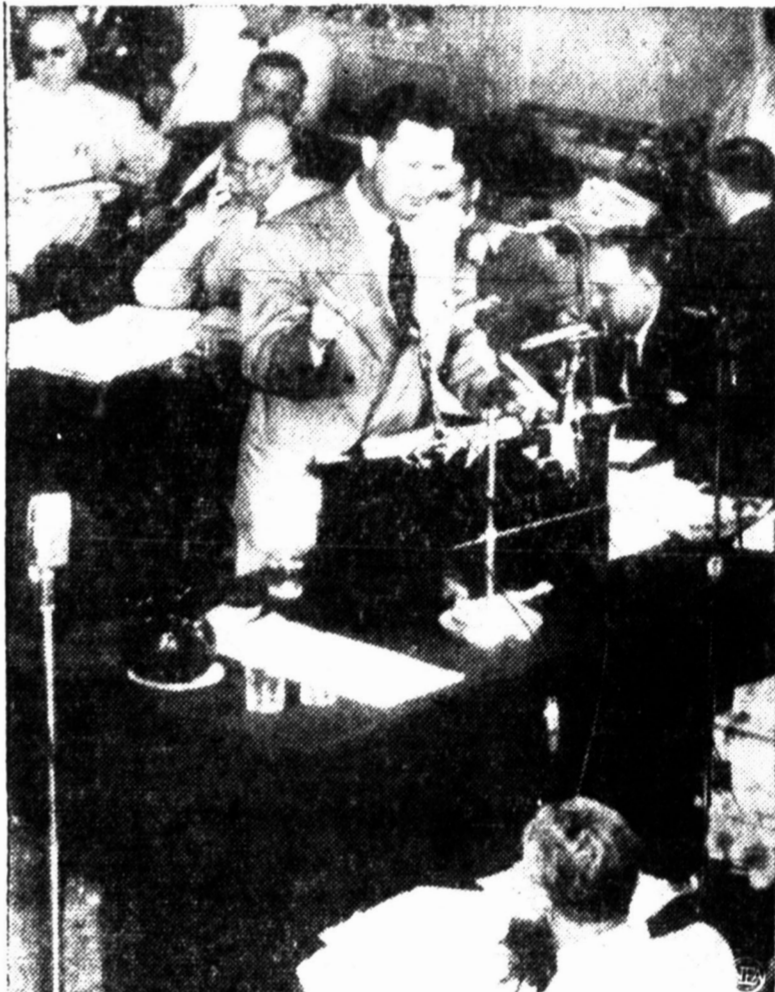

"Twice he led us down the road of defeat."

It brought thousands of people to their feet, yelling, screaming, pop-eyed with excitement, anger or approval. There were uniform gettable pictures then, and Dewey himself provided the best of them.

He sat there, apparently cool, with a fixed smile on his face. He was holding a cigarette in a black holder.

A moment later, things were going on in another ring of the circus.

Over near the Indiana standard, there was a sudden swirl of movement, another explosion of noise, and again people standing

GULL FOR EISENHOWER — Ben Gull, Pampa, who filled an unexpired term in Congress and a member of the Eisenhower delegation to the National GOP Convention, is shown as he made his plea before the credentials committee hearing the case of the disputed Texas delegation. Both Eisenhower and Taft delegations pulled no punches in the hard-fought battle. The committee voted 27 to 24 to seat 22 Taft delegates and 16 Eisenhower backers but was repudiated on the convention floor. (NEA Telephoto)

Republican Plank Blasts Democrats

CHICAGO (AP) — Republicans today accused the Truman administration of sickening corruption and of shielding "traitors to the nation in high places."

This blistering attack came in the long-awaited campaign platform handed to the GOP National Convention for expected approval during the day.

Slashing attacks on the "present administration's sordid record of corruption" overshadowed hard-fought compromises on the foreign policy, national defense and civil rights planks.

Shivers Plans 2 Appearances Here Friday

Gov. Allan Shivers will make two personal appearances in Pampa tomorrow during his campaign for reelection through the Panhandle.

His first will be in the lobby of the Schneider Hotel where he will hold an informal meeting with voters of the city and county. It will be strictly a handshaking with no formal speech scheduled.

Arrive By Plane

The governor is slated to arrive here between 10:30 and 11 a.m. at Pampa Municipal Airport and will be taken directly to the hotel.

The personalized voter conference will be held at about noon when the governor will be taken to the weekly meeting of the Pampa Kiwanis Club. He will make a brief talk and meet those he missed in the hotel lobby.

Second To Visit

Gov. Shivers will be the second prominent state level candidate to tour Pampa this week. Atty. Gen. Price Daniel spent close to two hours here yesterday making a talk in the county court room and being interviewed over Radio Station KPDM.

This will be the second full term for Gov. Shivers who fulfilled the term of the late Gov. Beauford H. Jester who died in office. Gov. Shivers was first elected to the office in 1930 and is now seeking his second two-year term.

Heavy Axe Strikes Federal Employees

WASHINGTON (P) — "You're fired" notices began going out to about half the 17,000 employees of government's anti-inflation agencies today as result of the heavy axe Congress applied to appropriation requests.

Economic Stabilizer Roger L. Putnam said his program will be hurt but he would "do the best we can with what we've got."

He said despite the violation of the consumer "an awful kick in the teeth" in providing the agencies with only 60 million dollars compared with the 103 requested.

A spokesman said 30-day dismissal notices would start going out today.

Declaring that "our power for maintaining the value of the dollar have been weakened seriously," Putnam said:

"More than ever we will need the consumers' help in holding down prices by exercising restraint in purchasing. Prices generally are not down."

He said despite the drastic appropriation cut he wanted to make clear "we are not throwing in the sponge and giving up."

He said economic stabilization is so vital to the defense program "all of us are determined to give our best effort to the job."

HARDEST HIT

Congress cut funds for the State Department, the Defense Department, the Treasury, Commerce, Labor, Interior and Postoffice Departments and scores of agencies.

But none was hit as hard as the stabilization agencies, whose 69-million-dollar appropriation led some officials to hint they would recommend junking price-wage controls entirely because they felt it impossible to work with the fund.

Area Banker Is Indicted

AMARILLO (P) — Travis W. Bain, 45, Amarillo, former executive vice president of the Hereford State Bank at Hereford has been indicted by the federal grand jury here on fraud charges.

Bain and Floyd J. Wilson of Lubbock — now serving a five year sentence for swindling — were named in an indictment charging seven counts of violation of the anti-fraud provisions of the Federal Securities Act and counts of violation of the mail fraud statute.

Bain was arrested here and released on a $5,000 bond yesterday. Officers say Bain is a former federal bank examiner and a former agent of the federal bureau of investigation.

Before moving to Hereford he was associated with a bank at Borger.

Bain, who has been in the used automobile business here for the past several months, has not been associated with the Hereford bank since last April.

Federal officers said Wilson was sent to the Texas State Penitentiary from Big Lake, Tex., after entering a plea of guilty on swindling charges there April 14.

Rites Friday For Shamrock Pilot

SHAMROCK (Special)

Gravestone services for Major Gail Young will be held at the Shamrock Cemetery at 2:30 p.m. Friday. Rev. James O. Todd, pastor of the First Baptist Church, will officiate for the regular service and personnel of the Amarillo Air Force base will conduct military services.

Major Young was killed near Lake Mead Air Base, England, June 24 when his bomber crashed while on routine training flight, killing all 10 occupants of the plane.

Survivors include his wife, Marjorie, and two sons, Arnold, 8, and Gary, 3, of Toala, Kan.; his mother, Mrs. Ina Young, Amarillo, his grandmother Mrs. H.A. White, Wheeler, and aunts and uncles.

Major Young was born in Kelton March 27, 1916. He was graduated from Shamrock High School attended Amarillo Junior College and Texas A&M College. He was attending A&M when he joined the Air Force in March, 1941. He received his major's commission in the Regular Air Force in 1946. Prior to being sent to England in March of this year, he was stationed at Offet Air Base, Omaha, Neb.

Mrs. Young and the two boys had planned to join the Major in England in about two weeks at the time of his death.

The body arrived in Shamrock at the Clay Funeral Home Wednesday.

Cattle Loss Is Reported

Approximately 25 to 30 cattle in the area have died within the last three weeks of a hlot condition, according to Dr. N. L. Nicholl, veterinarian.

A gas formation attacks the cattle and lasts from five to 20 minutes, taking the lives of the cattle in many cases. The veterinary reports the loss of 10 head of cattle within a span of one and a half hours at a nearby farm recently.

The condition, farmers and the veterinarian believe is a weather condition causing harmful weeds to grow. Hot, dry weather with occasional light showers make rapid-growing weeds, Nicholl pointed out.

Department Answers Two Small Fire Calls

The Pampa Fire Department answered two small fire calls this morning, one early and one late.

A man smoking on a divan at the Arthur Rankin apt., 108 N. Board, evidently dropped a cigarette which resulted in a smoking couch. Nobody was hurt, but the divan was partially damaged. The call came through at 9:35 a.m.

Pampa Takes Part In GOP Convention

Pampa took part today in the bid to surround the seating of Texas' Ike backers.

Pampa May Lose Airline; Low Passenger Rate Is Blamed

Central Airlines today told Pampa civic leaders it is "seriously considering" suspension of service in Pampa because of the small amount of business it is receiving here.

The information was disclosed in letter, signed by Keith Kahle, president of the airline, to City Manager B. H. Cruce and the Chamber of Commerce.

The letter was received last afternoon and resulted in a call breakfast meeting of the chamber, city officials, and representatives of the civic clubs in the Schneider Hotel this morning.

In his letter Kahle said he had hoped the line would show a load figure of 150 passengers during June, but that the figure reached only 53.

I would appreciate it if you give this matter serious thought, due to the fact the situation has now reached a point where we are having to give serious consideration to filing an application with the Civil Aeronautics Board to suspend service at Pampa," Kahle's letter said.

But the airline came in for a little criticism itself from the men attending the meeting. Ed Myatt of the aviation committee, Paul Beisenherz, Boy Scout executive, and Frank Culbertson, also of the aviation committee, said Central had fallen down on its own promotion campaign and revised its office schedule to a point where an attendant is on duty only two hours at a time, and those only at flight times—four a day.

Mayor C. A. Huff observed, "we have attempted in the way to cooperate with Central, but we also need some cooperation from them. If a fellow doesn't want to use a plane in traveling from one point to another, we can't make him do it."

Unemployment From Steel Strike May Pass Million Mark

PITTSBURGH (P) — Unemployment resulting from the great steel strike of 1952 will be close to 1,000,000 next week unless there's an unexpected break in the paralyzing nation-wide shutdown throttling the industrial heart of America.

Chrysler Plans Lay-Offs

A big spurt in unemployment will come when Chrysler Corp. closes virtually all of its extensive Michigan operations. The corporation says the shutdown will affect about 48,000 workers although 14,500 will be recalled to take inventory.

The Chrysler shutdown comes as another blow to the big state of Michigan, where auto production has been cut 70 per cent. An estimated 100,000 workers in Michigan have been affected by the steel strike. Ford Motor Com-

'Old Devil' Is Revenged

HASKELL (P) — The ghost of the "Old Devil of Bailey County" may be resting easier today.

That's because a second man was convicted yesterday of the recent murder of 85-year-old Joshua Blocher, who called himself the "Old Devil."

Thomas C. Lee, 36, Amarillo smelter worker, waived a chance to appeal the verdict and was sentenced to life imprisonment. L. D. Stevens, 51, is appealing a death sentence in the case.

The pair said they found only pennies in the home of the bearded recluse.

They overtook $10,000 in $10 and $50 bills which were buried beneath the floor of the shack where he lived.

Officers dug up the money after the old man was found beaten to death in a cotton field near his home at Progress, Tex., last Aug. 15.

Stevens was sentenced to death last December. Livesay's trial was brought to Haskell on a charge of venue.

Inspection For Derby Completed; Party Is Slated

Official inspection for Sunday's Pampa Soap Box Derby went off in great shape yesterday. And now the Derby contestants are looking forward to an ice cream party Friday night, some 40 hours before the big race.

Forty-nine Soap Box racers went before the inspectors who were armed with measuring sticks and weighing scales. All but two passed, and these will be fixed up today. Only five cars remained to be looked over when the inspectors knocked off at 5:15 p.m. These were processed this morning.

This year's batch of racers is a "pretty good one," according to Dick Stowers, Derby registrar. It was a determined group of people — both boys and parents — who wheeled the cars into the gym of the junior high school yesterday and waited patiently their turn. This was strictly business to the youngsters who stood expectantly behind their racers on the gym floor. And their parents were every bit as concerned.

All the vehicles will be kept in the junior high school until they are trucked out to Derby Downs Saturday.

Every youngster entered in the Soap Box Derby is invited to a party Friday at 7:30 p.m. in the Palm Room of City Hall. Every one will be served ice cream, cake and coffee; and the Derby T-shirts will be given out to all contestants. Culbertson, Chevrolet, Inc., is the host.

Less than two days after the party comes the 1952 running of the Pampa Soap Box Derby.

Arson Is Charged In Second Fire At Warner Bros. Studio

BURBANK, Calif (AP) — A second disastrous fire in less than two months raged across the Warner Brothers movie lot yesterday and one officer expressed the belief that arson was involved.

Studio spokesmen roughly estimated damage at 4 1/2 to 6 million dollars.

Spectators who remembered the May 16 blaze had that feeling when they got at the movies. This is where we came in.

The fire swept in a giant arc through 25 studio back — lot acres, destroying nine streets of scenery ranging from Norwegian ruelle tables, horsehair sofas, spears, swords.

It gutted and collapsed a corrugated iron hangar housing an undetermined number of planes used in movie scenes. Then wind-driven embers leaped a street and burned perhaps 200 acres of scrub oak and brush on a nearby mountainside.

of scrub oak and brush on a nearby mountainside.

Shapely Patricia Wynore (Miss Errol Flynn) was a television specialist in the shorts in which she had been rehearsing a hot blues song — and a dance number.

Broderick Crawford and Claire Trevor were seeding a son for their movie when somebody yelled "Fire."

"Oh, yeah — quit kidding, growed the tough guy actor, thinking it was a gag based on the previous blaze.

Eighteen studio workmen suffered minor burns, cuts or bruises fighting the fire. Two had eye attacks. One sound stage was scorched and cannot be used until repaired. The studio said it shed 1,200 feet long and 100 feet high containing movie scenery was razed.

Iranian Student Explains Oil Grab

Iran took over the oil industry when the industry was nationalized. One of the reasons the government stepped in and took over the oil industry was because it wanted more than 14 percent of the income from it. Richard Abadi, Iranian student at Oklahoma A&M, told Rotarians yesterday.

Abadi, whose father is a professor of mathematics in Iran is paying his own way through the school and attending as an exchange student at Palmer.

The nationalization of the oil industry was a result of the British refusal to sell the oil to the British government. He said the British government owned 51 per cent of the stock. Similar about eight per cent and the remainder by stockholders.

Prior to the program Roy and Johnson presented a musical program.

Airmen Flock To AAFB For Model Plane Meet

AMARILLO (Special) — Am-airplane record holders have also signed in for the tournament. A-2c Thomas Baker from Wheeler AFB, Tripoli, holds the international jet speed record and A-2c Gene Styles of Sheppard is holder of the straight line, free-flight record.

Last year's meet at Sheppard established five perpetual trophies with the top Air Force World-Wide trophy awarded to the high-point conference team with each member receiving a plaque. The Air Training Command is the present holder of the trophy.

Vogler, who will act as meet manager, said that from all World-Wide entries, a number of top-point winners will be chosen to represent the Air Force at the 22nd National Model Airplane Championships, Los Alamitos Naval Station, Calif., July 28 through Aug. 5.

McLean Gin Due Move To Memphis

McLEAN (Special) — One of the two cotton gins of Gray County, located at McLean is being moved to Memphis by the owners. L. H. Earthman has been manager of the plant for several years and experts to continue as manager but in another town. The gin is owned by the Anderson-Clayton interests. The removal is prompted by the rising costs of machinery and operation. It is estimated the investment in such a plant is about $150,000 and that at least 2500 bales of cotton must be ginned to underwrite the costs of operation. Last year, the two gins in McLean ginned a little more than that number.

Business Highlights

A savings plan for its more than 34,000 employees in the United States has been put into effect by The Texas Company, it was announced today by J. Sayles Leach, the company's president.

The plan, he said, is a move to help employees to adopt regular savings programs and provide additional security for their retirement.

D. J. Gribbon, Pampa district superintendent, said that the plan is being offered to approximately 135 Texaco employees in this area.

"We feel," said Leach, "that the Texaco Employees Savings Plan is additional proof of the ability of green light for 1952. Vogler has private enterprises to meet its project responsibilities to the men and women who work so loyally and effectively in its behalf. The plan is an important addition to the other benefit programs furthering the health and security of our employees."

Under the plan, the employee decides how much of his salary—the minimum is two per cent, or wages he will save each month—the maximum, five per cent. The company adds 50 cents to every dollar saved by the employee and the employee determines how his savings and the company's contributions are to be invested. He may put the entire amount in U. S. Savings bonds, Texaco capital stock, insurance of certain investment companies, or he may divide it up among the three categories in any proportion he desires.

When an employee retires, he will receive the cash or securities, with dividends or interest, accumulated in his account.

Damage $145 In Auto Accidents

Two automobile accidents have been reported in the Pampa area with a total damage of $145.

Parked at the curb on Rider Tuesday as a '51 trailer-truck operated by Leorne Hamilton, 27, of Nocona, Tex. Mrs. Juna Francis James, 44, of 314 N. Rider, driving a '51 sedan, backed out of a driveway. The two cars were involved in a small collision, but there were no arrests and no injuries.

Wednesday night at 8:20 Matthew John King, 31, of Tyng St. Apt. 1, was driving his '19 sedan west on Atchison when he became involved in a collision with '38 pickup driven by Walter Scott Wooten, 67, of 501 N. Rider, who made a left turn in front of the King car. There were no injuries, but Wooten was arrested on a charge of failure to grant the right of way. Damages to both cars are estimated at $95.

Four Cases On Justice Docket

Four cases are currently on the Justice of the Peace docket.

Preston White, 30, of Dallas St., Amarillo, has been fined $14 on a charge of running a stop sign, a mile west of Pampa. He was picked up by Highway Patrol Wednesday, charged with driving without an operator's license. He must appear by July 14.

A. C. Echan has been charged with reckless driving and must appear no later than July 13.

Lubbock Wants Thornton As Veep

LUBBOCK (AP)—The folks of his home town would like to see Gov. Dan Thornton of Colorado nominated for Republican vice president.

Sixty Lubbock citizens hot together yesterday, formed a club, and sent telegrams to the GOP convention at Chicago suggesting that the Republican governor be named second man.

Thornton is a one-time Lubbock County farm boy and carrier for the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal.

The group called themselves "No Dealers, New Dealers, Share croppers and No-Croppers." The telegrams signed by Club President Bob Fuller and Club Secretary Charles Whitacre said they would support Thornton "for anything from shotgop for the Yankees to permanent secretary of the United Nations." Regarding UN secretary, they added "Heaven forbid."

Thornton's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Thornton, still live in Lubbock County.

He charged up from the floor to the speaker's rostrum like an infuriated buffalo to protest the opening of the vote on Georgia. He was white-faced and he trembled with fury. His high, pink forehead glistered with sweat.

Rev. Carver, Family Celebrate Tenth Anniversary Sunday

Rev. E. Douglas Carver and his family will celebrate Sunday the tenth anniversary of his service as pastor of the First Baptist Church in Pampa.

Preparations are being made to honor the Carver family on this occasion. All members of church are being urged to attend Sunday's services. Guest speaker of the day will be Dr. J. Howard Williams, executive secretary of the Baptist General Convention of Texas, and former pastor of the First Baptist Churches at Amarillo and Oklahoma City. Following the evening services, a reception honoring Carver and his family will be held in the downstairs dining room of the church.

During his ten-year stay in Pampa, Carver has been active in the civic affairs of the community. He is a member of the Pampa Roping Club, member and past president of the Rotary Club, member of the Chamber of Commerce, and a member and former president of the Adobe Walls Council of the Boy Scouts.

Two months ago, the Carvers moved to their new home at 1708 Charles, purchased for them by the church. They have two daughters, Carolyn and Gwen.

Rayburn Will Accept Demo Nomination

BONHAM (AP) — Sam Rayburn let it be known yesterday he'd accept the Democratic presidential nomination.

Home to launch his campaign for re-election from the Fourth District, the veteran congressman told constituents in a radio address he would "take the nod" to be "a good soldier."

"I'm not campaigning for the nomination but I have told my friends that if a deadlock comes I'll be a good soldier and serve my country and my party," Rayburn said.

"I assume that was your little brother"

Foreign Newsmen Amazed By Republican Convention

By MAUTHA COLE
 CHICAGO (AP) — Just like a festival back home is the way a Japanese newspaperman describes the Republican National Convention.

And a newspaperman from the other side of the world, Arne Thoren of the Stockholm Express, said it was hard to believe "that out of this sometimes terrific chaos the best man for the Republican nomination will be chosen."

The two — Thoren and Takehiko Morita, of the newspaper Asahi in Tokyo — are among 20 foreign newsmen covering the convention.

Actually, 47 foreign newspapers and agencies are represented at the convention, but many of their correspondents are based in Washington and New York.

The foreign newsmen stick together in one section of the press tables on the convention floor and in a corner of the general press room in the basement of the convention headquarters hotel. English is the common language.

— East Learning

Ojuka Julius from "Politika" in Belgrade, Yugoslavia, was taking notes in his native language.

"I think I miss the serious business here," he said of the convention floor turmoil.

"You learn fast, brother," a passing American newspaperman assured him.

"It's a wonderful mixture of show, religious meeting, patriotic speeches and political maneuvering," Thoren said. "We think we have a democracy in Sweden. We have, but it hasn't found this way of working — yet."

Thoren arrived last week from Korea, where he had been working for his paper.

MacArthur Tired

Shigetake Morita from Chubu Nippon Shinbun, the central Japan daily at Nagoya, said all of the Japanese newsmen here were especially interested in the speech of Gen. Douglas MacArthur Monday night. The only comment Morita had on MacArthur or his speech was "He looks tired."

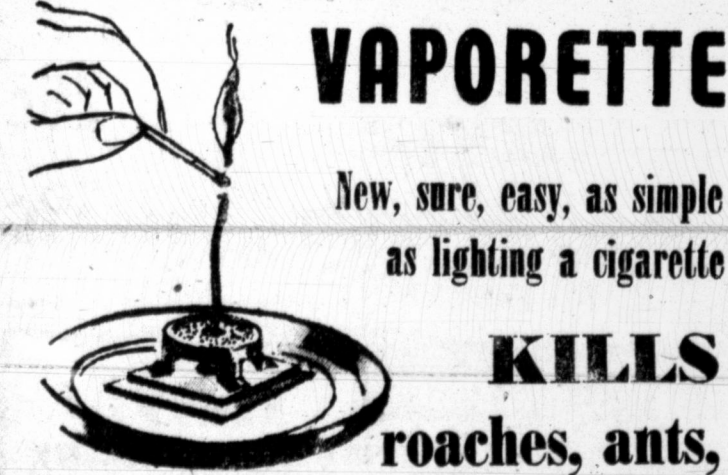

Most of the correspondents for London papers are from Washington bureaus. However, Alistair Forbes of the London Sunday Dispatch Malcolm Muggeridge of the London Daily Telegraph and John Gordon of the London Sunday Express came over from England.

Western Union estimated that 100,000 words were cabled to foreign newspapers in the first two days of the convention. That compares with the total of 145,000 words cabled abroad during the entire 1915 GOP convention.

"You have no idea how proud it makes me to know that someone in the house has the nerve to talk back!"

'The Drunkard' Begins 20th Year Of Hollywood Operation

By JACK QUIGG
 HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "The Drunkard," a revered Hollywood institution whose patrons have guzzled four million beers and munched 70,000 birthday cakes during its record run, has begun its 20th year.
 It will be performance No. 7085 of the local run of the 19th-century temperance melodrama, which has been presented nightly, come floor or earthquake, since July 6, 1833.
 When the play opened, during the depression, its backers hoped it might run four weeks, with luck. Last week the two-millionth customer came to hiss its villain. "The Drunkard" has long since passed the former long-run champion, "Life With Father," 3218 performances.
 Mrs. Mildred Ilse, one of the original backers and now sole owner of the enterprise, reports that as usual, business is booming. The 350-seat house is sold out three weeks ahead and she can foresee no end to the marathon run.
 Film colony celebrities return again and again to the show. Mrs. Ilse says she can't think of a star who hasn't seen "The Inis W. C. Fields attended more than 30 times. James Gleason, Boris Karloff, Mary Astor, Irvin Cobb, Harold Lloyd, Janet Gaynor, Dick Powell and Billie Burke have come 10 times or more. Ed Wynn, a staunch fan, will be guest of honor at the anniversary.
 "Why is the play such a hit?" "There is no simple answer," Mrs. Ilse says. "We try to create an atmosphere of sociability, like in the old English music halls. People don't come just to see a play. They come to have a good time, just as they would go to a nightclub."
 One intangible that delights "Drunkard" fans is the paradox of drinking beer at a temperance play. But there were no refreshments when the play opened. The audience sat in straight-backed chairs — and squirmed. "We put in tables," says Mrs. Ilse, "but a table's no good unless there's something on it. We decided to try beer, the symbol of conviviality."
 Since then the average customer has consumed three bottles of brew during the festivities. There's root beer, for youngsters and teetotalers, pretzels, and coffee and sandwiches between acts. All refreshments are included in the admission price — $2.50 to $3.50.
 Other lures are free cakes for birthday celebrants and flowers for wives on their wedding anniversaries.

The playhouse is a former mansion on a sidewalk on the outskirts of Hollywood. To get to the auditorium, patrons for years had to skirt a sunken, Roman-style bath on one of lower floors. After it was removed, at the insurance company's request, there were several complaints from admirers.
 The show has gone on through an earthquake, in 1933, and a flood which cut off all power one night in the winter of 1938. On that occasion the performance was completed under the rays of flashlights.
 The cast, two of whom have been with the show since it began, enacts "The Drunkard" as the "serious moral lesson" it was intended to be. It gets giffaws because people think the gestures and allocation of a century ago are funny.
 "When the show was young," Mrs. Ilse says, "we were told we were doing everything wrong. We're still in business. Many of our critics aren't."

Candidates To Be Heard By Area Lions

McLEAN (Special) — Candidates for all offices, state and local, will converge on McLean July 12 for a huge "political" gathering sponsored by the McLeans Lions Club.
 This is a regular feature of the Lions each election year and has a two-fold purpose — to let the people see and meet those asking to be elected to public office and to raise funds for activities of the club.
 The fund raising feature is in the form of a pie auction. Cletus Fish of Alameda, Earl Kaiser of Kellerville and Sheriff Pufe Jordan of Pampa have been invited to do the job of selling the pies. All candidates are invited to attend.
 Gov. Shivers, who could not be present, will have a representative present as will several other candidates for state and district offices. Mayor Ed Lander is chairman of the activity and will preside at the microphone introducing the various speakers.
MALES UNNEEDED
 Gallflies, tiny insects that cause the round growths on oak leaves, are all females. Offspring are produced altogether by the female insects.

Wilbur Peeble Finds Chicago Is No Place For A Bystander

Editor's note: Wilbur Peeble, a "good old fashioned" citizen, reports a quickening pace at the Republican convention in the following letter to his wife, Trelis Mae.
 By HAL BOYLE
 CHICAGO (AP) — Well, Honey, this is no longer any place for an innocent bystander. Things are moving fast. I was run over twice this morning on my way to breakfast. First, I was bowled over by a hit-and-run Taft parade. Then, while getting up, I was struck in the head and trampled down again by a fellow carrying a bass drum in an Eisenhower band.
 When I finally did make it to the curb, I found ten campaign buttons sticking in me — three for Taft, three for Ike, and one each for Warren, Stassen and MacArthur.
 The tenth button said, "Harry Will Carry." There must be a Democratic spy loose somewhere among these Republicans.
 It would be hard to find him here as Republicans are acting like Democrats are supposed to delegate from Pennsylvania and naturally from Pennsylvania well taken care of.
 "While I was watching the proceedings on a television screen in the Conrad Hilton Hotel, an old lady came up to me. "I can't tell them apart," she said.
 "Who, I asked, politely. "These fellows Taft, Eisenhower, and Stassen," she said. "My eyes aren't so good, and on television they all look alike now. I guess it's because they are all kind of bald. One thing about Abraham Lincoln or General Grant, if they were alive today a body could tell which was which — even if the television was fuzzy."
 Naturally, Trelis Mae, all work and no play makes a dull delegate. I went to a night club with some delegates to relax, and what was our surprise to find we were in a strip tease palace.
 "If I knew it was this kind of place I would certainly never have come in here," said one delegate, taking off his shoes to rest his feet — and putting on his glasses to rest his eyes.
 Well, dear, after walking that far I had to stay a while, too. There was one girl entertainer who showed her non-partisan ship in a rather cute way. She wore a big Taft button on one side of her bosom and a big Ike button on the other.
 But when her act was over she wasn't wearing either button —

J. C. Claborn Is Installed President Of McLean Lions

McLEAN (Special) — J. C. Claborn was installed as president of the McLean Lions Club Tuesday night at the annual club "Family Night." The affair was attended by more than sixty Lions, their families and visitors. The meal was in the form of a barbecue, being prepared by the wife of the outgoing president, Mrs. J. Lester Dysart and "Lion" Howard Horne.
 At this meeting awards were presented to Immediate Past District Governor Boyd Meador and outgoing president Dysart. The award to Meador was presented by International Councilor C. A. Cryer of Berger. This award was the first of its type earned by any governor of District 2 T 1. It is known as the "100 per cent District Governor's Award" and is an honor bestowed by Lions International for meritorious service during past fiscal year, ending June 30.
 Past President Dysart was elected as the "Lion of the Year" by the members of the local club. This is an annual award and the recipient is determined by secret ballot.
 The closing event of the evening was the installation of the entire slate of officers of the local club for the year beginning July 1.
 Installation was made by the present district governor, Milton Morris of Canyon. Gov. Morris assumed his office on July 1.
 Visiting Lions were Earl Stokes of Phillips, Sam Wohlford of Stratford, and W. W. Cooper of Turkey. All were accompanied by their wives and were guests of the McLean Club.
 Lengthy Task
 One man would be required to work day and night for 91 years, striking 120 bells a minute, to run through all the possible combinations on a set of 22 bells.

Pioneer Fans Backing Club

CLOVIS (AP) — An intensive ticket campaign was launched yesterday by local baseball fans to lift the Clovis Baseball Club out of financial difficulties it plunged into during the first half of the West Texas-New Mexico League race.

The Pioneers are about $10,000 in the red because of low attendance during the first half. They have attracted only about 20,000 fans in this period.

A mass meeting held here Tuesday night will help the club to finish the season. Baseball fans rallied to the cause and began a ticket drive that is meeting with encouraging success.

Books of tickets are being sold at $10 each and approximately $3,000 was realized in less than 24 hours. And the campaign has hardly begun. J. Elmo Tucker, president, said.

Bad weather has been blamed for most of the Clovis attendance slumps. However, with a breeze in the weather and more than a score of appealing promotional stunts planned, the Clovis Baseball Club is mighty hopeful of meeting all obligations during the balance of the season.

More than 90 persons attended Tuesday night's meeting, called by Tucker, and not a single word of relinquishing the franchise was uttered. Fans are determined that professional baseball shall remain in Clovis and they have pledged full cooperation to Pioneers for the rest of the chase.

Manager Grover Selig and his Pioneers are leading the WT-NM derby by 11 1-2 games.

WARREN'S WARMUP

By WARREN HASSE—News Sports Editor

QUESTION: How old was Man O' War when he died?
ANOTHER MIRACLE?

With the major league clubs resuming their activity today after the annual All-Star game layoff it looks like it will take another miracle, similar to last year, to help the riddled New York Giants regain the National League crown. They trail the Brooklyn Dodgers by 4 1/2 games, practically nothing compared to last season's 13 1/2 game deficit they overcame in the final six weeks. But things aren't the same this year.

The Dodgers were burned once, and it is practically the same team back this year that you can bet is never going to let up or look back to see how closely they are being pursued. They are going to keep digging for a further lead.

Last season Durocher was a man who could do no wrong on the ballfield. Every move clicked and to him must go the credit for pulling the right strings at the right time.

But if Durocher has any more miracles up his sleeve he'll have to get busy working on the National League race is going to take on a complexion not even dreamed of by the experts when they made the spring predictions that it would be an exclusive Dodger-Giant battle.

Durocher has suddenly found himself with an outfield, at least one that could be considered a championship class. Monte Irvin was shelved for most of the season with the broken leg in spring training, and the Army saw fit to equip Willie Mays with a khaki uniform. The day that Mays left, the Giants went into a tailspin and haven't recovered yet, which puts a pretty big price on his value to the club.

Durocher has some high class pitching in Sal Maglie, Larry Jansen and Jim Hearn. But chances are that they can't duplicate their feat of last fall when they carried the load of that sensational pennant drive. Maglie, after getting off to a sensational start, has slowed down and has needed relief nearly all of his games lately. But he has retained his mastery of the Brooks.

If the Giants fade it will at least make a couple of other teams in the league happy, as it will provide them with a chance to move into the second

Dallas Extends Lead To 5 Games

Associated Press Staff Writer

Dallas' Eagles led their supremacy over Oklahoma City Wednesday night in a five-game lead in the Texas League. Jose Santiago annexed his seventh triumph, and sixth straight, in picking up the 6-4 triumph, Dallas' fourth of the last six with Oklahoma City.

It set the stage for a big welcome party today when the Eagles move against Houston, the cellarite.

Houston fell again Wednesday night to San Antonio 3-0. The Buffs mustered but two hits off Jose Pracho the winning pitcher. Shreveport, in the cellar when it started the latest Civil War in the South on June 22, won its fifth in the last six games from Beaumont, 5-2. In the other game Fort Worth stopped Tulsa, 4-1.

Today Dallas is at Houston, Fort Worth at San Antonio, Tulsa at Shreveport and Oklahoma City at San Antonio.

Oilers Option Temes To Midland

The Pampa Oilers announced yesterday afternoon that Manny Temes, limited-service infielder-outfielder purchased from Ardmore last winter, was being optioned to the Midland Indians of the Class C Longhorn League. The move was necessary to make room for Doug Lewis on the team's roster.

Temes had been one of the best hitters and run producers on the team. But he hit a serious hitting and fielding slump about two weeks ago. Up until last night, when he got three-for-three, he had gotten but two hits in 19 times at bat.

Temes, who has been a popular player with the Oilers' fans, will remain the property of the Pampans and can be recalled if needed.

Sports Roundup

By TOM WHITNEY

MOSCOW (AP) — In Soviet Russia the athletic trainer or coach is as highly honored as his star pupil.

The Russian trainer or coach generally is a member of the staff at a sports club. It's his job to select and train leading athletes as well as give general advice to club members.

He becomes the chief authority and mentor in the life of stars under him. He accompanies his proteges to important meets and spends full time in developing their talents.

One of the outstanding Russian instructors is Boris Dyachkov, who holds the title "honored master of sports," the highest rank a Soviet coach can receive.

Husband And Trainer

Dyachkov is the trainer of Nina Dumbadze, the famous Russian discus thrower who holds the world record in the event. He is also her husband. Dyachkov is given much of the credit for Nina's success.

Another well-known coach is V. I. Alekseev, instructor at the Zenths Sports Club at Leningrad. He is responsible for developing two of the country's leading women javelin throwers — Natalya Smirnitkaya, the world record holder and Galya Zybina.

Then there's Dmitri Markov, who is as widely hailed throughout Russia as his two pupils who are famous women shot-putters — Anna Andreyeva, world record holder, and Tatyana Sevryukova. Most trainers and coaches are former athletes. They have considerable liberty in selecting pupils. They are encouraged in their efforts to find new and better methods of performance.

The basic sports facilities in Russia are maintained by sports clubs which are the heart of the Soviet program. Membership dues are small. A Soviet citizen, for example, may join one of the large Moscow clubs, Spartak or Dynamo, for the price of a package of cigarettes.

Big Sports Clubs

In return the club member has access to all the sports facilities the club owns — gymnasiums, athletic fields, swimming pools, tennis courts and skating rinks. The advice of trainers is free.

As a result of this, there are about 25 million Russians belonging to sports clubs, and the list is growing daily. Most of these clubs are supported by some particular ministry—the trade union, factory or organization.

All sports clubs maintain teams in all basic sports. Then leagues are formed of teams in the larger cities. Unlike America, the universities limit their sports programs mainly to intramural activities.

The Soviet athletes who go to Helsinki this month will be members of particular clubs. But they won't fly their club colors in the Olympics. They'll fly the colors of the Soviet Union but sports lovers in the Soviet will be "aching" as they say for their particular club favorites.

Yankees Making Baseball's Experts Look Terrible Again

NEW YORK (AP) — Those pesky New York Yankees are making the so-called baseball experts look bad again.

The Yankees are leading the American League, despite the Associated Press's pre-season poll which clearly showed that the Yankees' proper niche was the second place behind the Cleveland Indians. That would be villainy enough, but the New Yorkers are compounding their crime by winning consistently without a star of the Babe Ruth — Joe DiMaggio magnitude. This lack of a great star was the reason cited by many of the writers for consigning the three-time World Champions to spot lower than their accustomed first place.

There actually is a bit of logic to the line of reasoning that the Yankees would fail to win without a top flight, stand-out performer like Ruth or DiMaggio. The records show that the New York American League entry was something less than a menace to first place for the first 20 years of the century.

About that time Babe Ruth came to the Yankees and they won six pennants in eight years from 1921 through 1928. The Babe and his mates were temporarily eclipsed by the Philadelphia Athletics for a time but came on again to win it all in 1932. That was Ruth's last winning effort, however, and the once proud New York team failed to win against until DiMaggio arrived on the scene in 1936.

Sparked by the Jeter, the Yankees ripped off four pennants in a row, missed by a whisker in 1940 and then came for three more in succession. They flourished through the latter part of '50, just five years after he

Pampa Women Golfers Gain Six Strokes On Phillips Gals

BORGER — The Phillips Country Club's defending women's golfer, Mrs. J. W. Ross, Amarillo Country Club, led in the long grass card Wednesday with an 80. Mrs. J. R. Brown, also from the Amarillo Country Club, had the best nine hole gross card with a 39.

But Mrs. Carl Snow, Borger, stole the show with a hole-in-one on 120-yard No. 18.

Miss Jane Farquhar, Ross Rogers Course posted the best net score with 103-46-57. Mrs. L. V. McCarthy, Phillips, was the nine-hole leader with 52-52-27.

Fourth match is set for Aug. 12 at the Ross Rogers Course. Final event will be held Sept. 9 at the Amarillo Country Club.

All Champions On Publix Sidelines

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — With all former champions watching wistfully from the sidelines and a 21-year-old Illinois laborer hogging the spotlight, the rough-and-ready National Public Links Golf Tournament moved today into its fifth exciting round.

The man to watch was rangy Eob Scherer, an unknown workman from Desatur. He came on nowhere in yesterday morning's third round to blast Defending Champion Dave Stanley of Los Angeles from this meeting of the stars of America's municipal golf courses with an astounding 4-1 victory.

Completely unaffected by his sparkling decision over Stanley, the young UCLA student who had been given a good chance to don the public links crown for the second year, Scherer came back in the afternoon fourth round and knocked George Caskey of Dayton, O., out of the running, 4 and 3.

Visitors Win All Contests

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Visiting teams had things all their own way last night, winning all four games in the West Texas-New Mexico League. Most of the victories came on late-inning rallies.

Clovis, however, led all the way in downing Lamesa 8-5 at Lamesa to maintain its pace at the head of the pack.

Albuquerque rallied for five runs in the eighth and two in the ninth to down Lubbock 9-6. Amarillo came from behind with a six-run surge in the ninth to down Pampa 7-6. Borger came from behind with six runs in the fourth and beat Abilene 10-5.

The teams wind up their current stands tonight, and save the victory for starter Henry Overin. The loser was Ray Machado, victim of the eighth inning up-rising.

Amarillo's ninth-inning surge featured a three-run homer by outfielder Stan Machinsky. Releifer Dario Jimenez, who came on in the eighth, was the winner. Tommy Thompson was the loser. The win was the second straight over Pampa for the last place Sox.

Abilene helped Borger score six runs in the fourth, blowing a 5-0 lead at Abilene. Manager Lloyd Brown kept nine hits scattered and was the winner. The loss went to Fred Schmidt. Clovis, 2-0, won 10-11. Lamesa, 2-1, won 10-11. Borger, 3-1, won 10-11. Amarillo, 4-1, won 10-11.

Majors Resume Action Today With Next Two Weeks Important To Cards

By JOE REICHLER
AP Sports Writer

The next two weeks should decide the fate of Eddy Stanky's St. Louis Cardinals. Beginning tonight, the red-hot Redbirds take on Philadelphia, Brooklyn and New York in succession before closing out their home stay with Boston in an 11-game stand against the Eastern cities.

By then, the sizzling Cards may either have blown a fuse or have established themselves as a solid pennant threat on an even footing with the Dodgers and Giants.

Currently the hottest club in the National League, the Cards are riding high on a nine-game winning streak with 18 triumphs in their last 22 games. Wallowing in the second division a month ago, the Redbirds have pushed into third place, 9 1/2 games behind Brooklyn.

Stanky, though well aware of the Dodgers' healthy 13-game edge on the decisive defeat side of the standings, refuses to concede a thing to Brooklyn and New York.

"We've still got an outside chance for the pennant," he said. "We're going good right now. There is no reason why we shouldn't continue. We picked up four games on the Dodgers in a little over a week. And we're going to pick up more ground. This race isn't over by a long shot."

Stanky's optimism was based on the fact that his team has shown it can beat the Dodgers.

The Cardinals' sudden surge has been a team affair with nearly all regulars sharing the credit. But the man most responsible, even more so than Stan The Man Musial, has been Enos Slaughter. The 36-year-old war horse, who refuses to bow to age, is enjoying one of his best seasons.

The fourth leading hitter in the league with 314, old Count try has been using his bat with devastating effect in the past two weeks. He's driven in nearly half of his 49 runs during that time and he has driven in five runs in each of three days.

Musial, of course, has maintained his steady, league-leading 333 pace and Peanuts Lowrey, Red Schoendienst, Solly

Hemus, Del Rice and Dick Sisker have contributed their share to the team's recent success. Al Brazie 6-1, Gerry Staley 11-6, Joe Preisko 5-4, Cloyd Boyer 5-4, Vinegar Bend Mizell 3-5 and Eddie Yuhas 5-2 have sparkled on the mound.

Fox Hunt In American
While the Cards are threatening to make a three-team affair of the National League race, the American continues to resemble a fox hunt with Cleveland, Washington, Boston and Chicago chasing the New York Yankees. The White Sox showed speed of foot during the past week to move into the runner-up spot, three games behind the Yankees. The Indians, Senators and the Red Sox are not far behind.

The Yankees face an opportunity to increase their first-place margin, launching a 14-game home stand tonight with the St. Louis Browns as the first of four Western opponents. The White Sox engage the Senators in Washington, the Indians are the guests of the Athletics in Philadelphia and the Red Sox are hosts to Detroit in Boston.

In the National, Brooklyn inaugurates its 12-game swing in the West with an afternoon clash in Chicago, the Giants tackle Pittsburgh in their road opener and the Cards engage the revived Phillies. The Braves and Reds open a two-game series in Cincinnati.

Senior Golfers Set For Meeting
Many senior Pampa golfers are expected to participate in the 15th annual Tri-State Senior Golf Tournament which is scheduled for July 13-19 at the Amarillo Country Club.

The largest organization in the world for linksters who have reached the age of 50, last year's classic drew 199 golfers and this year's meet is expected to surpass the 200 mark.

Mark Heath of Pampa is a director of the large organization. Every golfer who has become of age may join the association by paying the $1 dues. The tournament fee is $10, and it isn't necessary to belong to a country club or any course in order to participate.

Qualifying rounds will be played Sunday for Amarillo players, practice rounds and a putting tournament on Monday, qualifying rounds for non-Amarillo residents and tri-state team matches on Tuesday, first round on Wednesday and the tournament continues through the following Sunday.

Wrestling Tickets On Sale Tomorrow; Matches At 8:30

Tickets for the Friday night wrestling card at Oiler Park will be on sale all day tomorrow at the Sportsman's Store. Then they will be placed on sale at the park at 7 p.m. tomorrow night.

And the card itself will be one of the best to ever appear in Pampa. Promoter Howard Vinson has matched Dory Funk against Big Train Clements in a return scrap as one half of a double main event. In the other it will be the present Southwestern State heavyweight champion meeting Ed Freeman in a non-title go. Both will be two out of three falls or one hour time limit matches.

As an opening event, handsome Pierre LaBelle, the Canadian golden haired ace, will tangle Johnny James, one half of the James brother combination of Los Angeles, in a 20-minute, one-fall match.

The five Americans still in the running were trailing far back of the leaders and another had day could all but drop them out of contention.

Willsie Coe of Montclair, N.J. was in seventh place with a 7-1 following were Jimmy Hines of Chicago with a 7-3, veteran Gene Sarazen of Germantown, N. Y., and Willie Hunter of Los Angeles with 7-4's and Amateur Frank Stranahan of Toledo with a 7-5.

Eighteen holes were slated for today. Then, the top 50 fight it out tomorrow in the final 36 holes.

Finland Spreading Diplomatic Oil On The Troubled Waters

By TED SMITH

HELSINKI (AP) — Finland, neutral host nation to the biggest and potentially the most controversial of modern Olympic games, spread diplomatic oil on troubled waters today to bring about sports amity between East and West.

The Russians, after starting off with the usual cold isolation of the party line, have become unexpectedly friendly — very probably on orders from high places.

Now Baron Erik von Frenckell, president of the Finnish Olympic Organizing Committee, has called an "important" press conference today. There were advance indications he would make a fervent appeal for peaceful games.

This would be in the tradition of the Olympic Games of ancient times. In those days long before the Christian era heralds went out through Greece to proclaim the games every four years, and called on the city states — many of which were usually in a state of war — to cease hostilities and permit the free passages of athletes to the site of the games. None was ever interfered with.

Friendliness
Premier Urho Kekkonen of Finland has written a magazine article which will be published shortly calling on the nation to maintain a neutral and friendly attitude despite the frictions of its past war with Russia.

Whether all this friendliness will add up to a game of book strategy or to a game of book strategy is not clear. This is the first time Soviet Russia has ever competed, and it marks the return to the world sports arena of Germany and Japan as well. It will take a great deal of forbearance on all sides to avoid incidents.

The United States and Russia have the two biggest teams in the games — approximately 400 athletes each. There are 69 nations competing with about 5,500 individual entries. The rivalry of the two giants of the East and the West is certain to be watched with keen interest throughout the world.

At the outset, the Russians hid behind the usual iron or red type curtain. But opened up yesterday. Reporters were unexpectedly permitted to tour the splendid modern village at Otaniemi, guarded by barbed wire, where the Iron Curtain athletes are housed. Russians wearing the bold white "CCCP" on their blue for a road showing here. Americans who watched the Soviet equestrian team unload were amazed at the splendor of the equipment and the quality of the horses.

There is no question but that Russia is making an all-out effort for a road showing here. Americans who watched the Soviet equestrian team unload were amazed at the splendor of the equipment and the quality of the horses.

He toured 20,000 meters in 59:51.8, polished off each 10,000 meters of that record-breaking race under 30 minutes. By comparison, Curt Stone holds the American 10,000 meters mark with a 30:38.4 clocking. Which means that Zatopek could finish one 10,000 meters race, then start another against our best man and win.

"The only thing we can hope for," grins Fred Will, "is that Zatopek breaks a leg."

In addition to his superb stamina, Zatopek also can call on a large chunk of speed. He runs 1500 meters in 3:32.28, equivalent to a 4:10 mile. He covers 3000 meters in 8:07.8, equivalent to an 8:49 two-mile.

"But I don't care for these distances," he says. "I can't even work up a good sweat."

Zatopek is shooting for new Olympic records in both the 5000 and 10,000 meters in this trip. Genuine prophets think he can do it.

Zatopek stands five-foot-eight, weighs 145. Doctors attest he is normal physically, but opponents are beginning to have their doubts. No human, they argue, could have such super recuperative powers.

As for racing strategy, Zatopek admits he is a poor tactician. "I just get out and run as fast as I can," he confesses. "Which is about as good a formula as any invented."

Summer Job For Fido
By JOE STETSON
Dog Editor

Endy Jones drove up to the curb and shouted, "See you in two weeks."

"I'd forgotten that he had chosen to take his vacation off Nag's Head for some channel base fishing while his wife and youngsters bathed in the sun and sea, but here they were, bag and baggage; that is, all except the setter."

"That's quite a job of packing, but where'd you hide Trigger?" I asked, going to the car to wish them good luck.

"Oh, she's at the new dogel," said Edith, Endy's much more attractive half.

"The what?" I exclaimed, then realized that someone had spilled dog and hotel and come up with dogel.

"And you know," she continued, "they've got the doggedness system. We had to pay what they called an initiation fee and leave Trigger over the weekend before they'd agree to take him for the two weeks."

"Don't get him confused," interrupted Endy. "It's an initiation more than an initiation. You see, they first take the dog's temperature and if he seems to be healthy they give him a bath. Then they examine him carefully for fleas and ticks and any skin trouble. Meanwhile they take a sample of his feces and a blood sample over to Doc Simons. Doc checks to see if he has any kind of worms, including heartworm. He passes all the tests and his temperature — they take that every three hours during the day — stays normal, they accept him. All this time he's kept in isolation."

This was all very interesting to me as I know of several very well regulated boarding kennels that use this system. I was curious though to get their reaction to this sort of thing.

"What did they charge?" I asked.

"Eight dollars for the two days and the examination," said Edith, "and we both think it's worth it. At first we thought it a nuisance and an additional expense. Especially since we keep Trigger healthy, well fed and reasonably clean for an outdoor dog. Then we realized that the dogs already there are being protected by the same caution will help to protect Trigger, too."

"Besides," interjected Endy, "it's a good thing for a dog to get a periodic checkup anyway."

"Can we go now?" piped up little Endy, who had been filigeeing to get going during those dull doings.

"Yes, you can go," I said, stepping back from the car, "and I'll get over and get Trigger for you."

"Not allowed!" called Edith over her shoulder as they pulled away.

"Then I'll send him a bone. They can sterilize it!" I shouted after them.

Science Finds A Reason Why Humans Get Hangovers

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

PRINCETON, N. J. (AP) — Science now knows a chemical reason why humans get hangovers. The reason suggests a cure, too — but the cure would be worse than the hangover.

The horrors of the hangover come from what alcohol does to enzymes. Enzymes are vital chemicals that make the machinery of living cells tick in normal fashion. There are enzymes in all cells of your body.

The enzymes get fuddled by the excess alcohol of too much drinking. The alcohol wedges itself into empty spaces inside the enzyme molecule and the enzyme is blocked or taken out of action. The cell can't carry on its normal chemical reactions, thus leading to the headache, hiccups and despairing effects of the hangover.

Theoretically, the cure would be to squeeze the alcohol out of the enzymes. But that would take tons of pressure. And would be more than a bit lethal.

The hangover explanation comes as a by-product of research by Dr. Frank H. Johnson, physical chemist in Princeton University's department of biology.

Dr. Johnson is studying life in its basic form, the molecules of the living cell. He is learning what effects heat, light and pressure have on chemical reactions of cells, and what drugs do to enzymes. The knowledge may aid in finding differences in enzymes of normal and cancerous cells, or explain some other puzzles of disease and health.

NEW YORK (AP) — For a lethal sweat at flies which have become resistant to DDT, there's a new insecticide developed by Commercial Solvents Corp. This fly-killer, named Dihan, in one treatment controls house flies for five to nine weeks or longer, says Dr. Roger W. Roth, entomologist for the company.

CHICAGO (AP) — Aspirin is prepared as a tasteless powder for children's doses now. The powder dissolves in water, milk or fruit juices, and the youngster doesn't know he's getting medicine. The powdered form is made by the Amcor Laboratories here.

CHICAGO (AP) — Colds and other respiratory infections are fewer in Army barracks or hospitals where floors and blankets are oiled, a study in the Journal of Infectious Diseases reports. The oiling reduces bacteria in the air by as much as 90 per cent during tasks like sweeping and bed making.

CHICAGO (AP) — In one of the most interesting tournaments of the year, held New York, 18 Life Masters paired up with 18 non-experts for a total point duplicate. Some of the "non-experts" were actually first class players, but the tournament was nevertheless labeled a "pro-schmo" event.

Constantine Platiss won the tournament, practically single-handed with the hand shown today. The redoubled slam was cold for down two with a heart opening, but Platiss brought it home to win the tournament in the last round by less than 300 points.

West opened the king-of-clubs and promptly shifted to a trump when he saw dummy's singleton club. South won the trump shift.

WHY STARVE TO TAKE OFF FAT?

Just ask your druggist for four ounces of liquid Barcetrane. Pour into pill bottle. Then take just two tablespoonful twice a day. That's all there is to it. If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple easy way to get rid of the extra pounds, return the empty bottle. Your money back. After one year this amazing product increases in popularity. Over four and a quarter million bottles have been sold in Texas in nine years. No starvation diet with Barcetrane. Right Texas to pass for health. Since taking Barcetrane, I have already lost 16 pounds and do not have those difficult breathing spells and burning in my stomach. I think Barcetrane is wonderful.

16 Pounds Lost

"I am an invalid and was about 40 pounds overweight" reports Mrs. Max Russell, 1000 W. Broadway, Fort Worth, Texas. "After months I was always miser- able with a stuffy feeling; just would have to pass for health. Since taking Barcetrane, I have already lost 16 pounds and do not have those difficult breathing spells and burning in my stomach. I think Barcetrane is wonderful."

Lost 20 Pounds

Mrs. Connie Lee, Box 451, Abilene, Texas, wrote us as follows: "I weighed 178 pounds when I commenced to take Barcetrane. I have already taken 20 pounds and am still taking it. I would not take anything for what Barcetrane has done for me."

Stealing U. S. Atomic Secrets The Biggest Challenge For Communists

STALIN'S SECRET ARMY — It was the biggest challenge in the history of espionage — to steal atomic secrets from the United States. And it succeeded, thanks to the efficiency of Stalin's secret army and the help of dupes in the West. How it did the job is related in this story, second of a series on Russian espionage.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN, Foreign News Analyst
Col. Nikolai Zabotin leaned back in his swivel chair and beamed at the message on the desk before him.

"Well, Vasily," he purred to Lt. Col. Rogov, his aide. "I have nothing to be afraid of now when I go back to Moscow."
Zabotin was military attaché of the Soviet mission in Ottawa. On his desk was a message from "the director," chief of Soviet Russia's military intelligence. Dated late in 1945, it was full of congratulations, and the director had added: "I wish you further success in your honorable work."

It informed Zabotin he had been awarded the Order of the Red Star and the Order of the Red Banner, Moscow's gifts to men who do exceptional organization work.
Zabotin had indeed done an exceptional job. The organization set up and directed by him, under cover of diplomatic status in a nation which even then was fighting on Russia's side in the war, revealed the pattern of a vast international spy ring which may yet be regarded as the most successful espionage operation in history.

Housework Easy Without Nagging Backache

Nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness may be due to slow-down of kidney function. Doctors say good kidney function is very important to good health. When some everyday condition, such as stress and strain, causes this important function to slow down, many folks suffer nagging backache—feel miserable. Minor bladder irritations due to cold or wrong diet may cause getting up nights or frequent passages. Don't neglect your kidneys if these conditions bother you. Try Doan's Pills—a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. It's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief from these discomforts—help the 16 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

The Canadian operation was not isolated. It was closely linked with operations in the United States, in Britain, and even in Sweden, where its activities are still coming to light.

Its discovery — when the Soviet Embassy code clerk, Igor Gouzenko, defected in Ottawa — showed that Stalin's secret army abroad was directed from a building at Znamensky 19 in Moscow, headquarters of the Soviet Army's general intelligence. The 1946 Canadian disclosures provide the thread which can be followed to the operations of atom scientist Klaus Fuchs in Britain, to the ring operating in the United States and even to the one operating in Sweden.

What Gouzenko disclosed sent 10 persons to prison. Among them was Dr. Alan Nunn May, British atom scientist captured in London in 1946 and tried there for his activities in the Canadian ring. He drew 10 years. The activities of Nunn and the others were organized in the special sections of the Soviet Embassy Mission, but the royal commission's investigators said Ambassador Georgi Zarubin was not directly involved. But in 1946, when Canada put the heat on the Soviet spies, Zarubin was withdrawn and assigned to London. Now, as he is leaving London to become Stalin's ambassador in Washington, a new spy story has broken, involving the contacts of a young Foreign Office radio operator with an attaché of the London Soviet Embassy.

It was not until four years after the Canadian ring was broken that British and American authorities uncovered the activities of Dr. Klaus Emil Julius Fuchs, who has been called the deadliest spy in history. Fuchs, a cog in the vast international soviet spy machine, supplies a link between the Canadian ring and those in the United States and Sweden.

Fuchs was a naturalized Briton who had been a member of the Communist party in his native Germany before he left there in 1932.
Britain in 1940 sent him to Canada for safekeeping as an enemy alien. He was released in 1942, returned to London, and got his British citizenship. But authorities believe he had become a Soviet agent in 1939, instructed to work his way up in the British atomic energy program. Fuchs spent 30 fruitful months in the United States, as a trusted member of Britain's official atomic bomb mission, picking up the most secret of information at Los Alamos, N. M., and Oak Ridge, Tenn.

On New York's East Side, in Boston and at other places in the United States, Fuchs made contact with the Soviet agents, to turn over information he had received. It was channeled back through Britain and through the Swedish ring of spy-couriers to Moscow.

One of the errand boys in the United States was Harry Gold, born Goldmitsky of Russian parentage. He was a chemical researcher from Philadelphia and had been in the courier service of the Communists since 1933. Gold was assigned his task by an agent from the Canadian ring, who kept him "in the net" — the Russian expression for the spy service — by repeated threats to expose him.

One day in 1943, Gold was called in by a Soviet-agent and told he had a big job to do. He was to deliver the atom secrets obtained in the United States by Fuchs. Gold delivered six packets, meeting Fuchs at various rendezvous.

After the arrest of Fuchs — now serving 14 years in Britain — Gold was seized in Philadelphia. He confessed and got 30 years.

The trail led to David Greenglass, U.S. Army sergeant stationed at Los Alamos and rated among the top secret Soviet agents in the United States. He turned state's evidence to avoid the death penalty and helped impose it on his own sister, Ethel Rosenberg, and her husband Julius, now in Sing Sing death house. Greenglass got off with 15 years.

Also caught up in the dragnet was Morton Sobell, radar expert, who helped the Rosenbergs recruit atom spies. Turned over by Mexican authorities after he tried to flee the country, Sobell like Gold, drew a 30-year sentence. Many smaller fry also were caught.

Now the scene shifts to Sweden. There, one night, "Shady Fish" got drunk. That one too many caused Johan Fritiof Enbom, 33, to become a bit loozertongued, arousing the suspicions of a young Swedish student, who went to the authorities.

What the police found shocked Sweden.

Enbom, known underground as Fala Fischen or Shady Fish, made his headquarters at Boden, Northern Sweden, not far from an underground fortress the neutral Swedes built against the possibility of Soviet aggression from the direction of Finland. Enbom's ring reported regularly to the Soviet mission in Stockholm, using correspondents of the Soviet news agency Tass as contact men. He headed a group whose tasks included a relay for dispatches sent from London by way of Narvik, Norway. Fuchs' information was channeled by this route. At the same time Enbom, the rest of his group and his girl friend, Lillian Ceder, sold the Russians much information about Sweden's defenses and plans to meet the possibility of a war emergency.

This disclosure a month ago was the second big spy shock for Sweden in a short time. Last autumn Ernst Hilding Anderson, an engineer in the Swedish Army now serving life imprisonment as a spy, confessed to selling secrets of Sweden's armaments and defenses. That information was turned over to N. P. Orlov, an embassy attaché, who subsequently had to leave the country. Anderson, who described himself as a Communist believing in Moscow above all else, had direct contacts with Victor Anissimov, a Tass correspondent who turned out to be a member of Lavrenty Beria's secret police.

The Swedish operation illustrated the meshed gears of the world Soviet spy organization. Sweden's was no isolated case. It was directly connected with the activities of Soviet Embassy sections in London, in Canada and probably also in the United States. It was a relay point on the transmission belt from West to East, carrying life and death information to the Kremlin.

NAMED VITAMIN
The term vitamin first was used in 1912 by Dr. Casimir Funk, who gave this name to the substance obtained by him from rice-polishings in an attempt to isolate the factor whose absence is responsible for beri-beri.

More Eloquent Than Words!

It is true, of course, that a Cadillac owner is proud of everything about his motor car.

But it is also true that he reserves a special place in his heart for the beautiful crest that rides high on the hood.

For here, as only he can fully appreciate, is one of the most wonderful and unique symbols in all the world of manufactured products.

In fact, it seems safe to say that no other mark of identification speaks so clearly or so eloquently of the product that bears it . . . and of the man who owns it.

It tells, for instance, of magnificent engineering and inspired design—and of experienced craftsmanship and painstaking construction.

It promises mile after mile of superlative motoring enjoyment—and it foretells year after year of dependable and enduring performance.

It proclaims, in short, the Cadillac pledge of quality—that here is an automobile built to the highest standards it is practical to enforce in the production of a motor car.

And, oh, the wonderful things it says about the man behind the wheel!

It reveals, more surely than if the words were spoken, that he is a man of position and achievement in his own private world of affairs.

It attests to the high regard he places on the safety and the comfort of his fellow passengers.

And it says, with unmistakable clarity, that he is a person of discernment and good taste.

Little wonder that the man who owns a Cadillac takes special pride in the beautiful crest that identifies it and adorns it.

The Cadillac crest tells its most eloquent story when it adorns the magnificent car illustrated above. For here is the illustrious eight-passenger Cadillac "75"—so luxurious, spacious and distinguished that it alone among the world's motor cars.

Death Of A Business

(Editor's note: The following account of "Death of a Business" is taken in its entirety from the files of the Alliance, Ohio, Review. The writing is that of Ed De Graw, Sebring reporter for The Review. Sebring is a small "pottery" town four miles east of Alliance (Pop. 26,151). We are indebted to Mr. De Graw and to Clarence Steffy, editor of The Review, for the clippings from which the account was compiled.)

SEBRING, Ohio, Feb. 5.—Picket lines of from 15 to 20 employees of the Strong Manufacturing Company were established Tuesday following the called strike of Local Union 29265, Stamping and Enameling Workers, AFL, at midnight Monday.

Negotiations have been in progress since December 4 between union and management, but both said Tuesday that no further meetings had been scheduled.

The company states the disagreement revolves around 13 major differences in the proposed contract, not including a 20 cent an hour wage demand. At capacity the strike affects some 500 workers.

Contract as reported regarding negotiations on paid holidays, Dale Beckett, union president, said Tuesday that the union first asked for two paid holidays and then withdrew the paid holiday request.

SEBRING, Ohio, Feb. 13.—It will be recommended that steps be taken to liquidate the Strong Manufacturing Company if an agreement in the present work dispute is not reached and workers are not back on their jobs by next Monday.

W. C. Miller, executive vice president of the company, said authority to speak came from S. G. Rose, president of Strong Manufacturing.

SEBRING, Ohio, Feb. 26.—Despite action taken at a stockholders meeting in Cleveland Monday to dispose of the Strong Manufacturing Company, hopes were alive in the community Tuesday that the industry will be saved in some fashion.

Speaking for officers of the company, S. G. Rose, president, stated that efforts will be made to sell the plant in its entirety, if possible, so it might be quickly turned into an operating unit.

This statement was made after company stockholders passed a resolution at the Monday afternoon meeting in Cleveland authorizing the officers and directors of the company to sell and dispose of all of the physical assets of the plant, either at public or private sale, for a price that the board of directors will approve.

SEBRING, Ohio, May 27.—With community leaders still attempting to interest a buyer in the Strong Manufacturing Company, the auction of all movable machinery and material began Tuesday at the plant.

SEBRING, Ohio, May 28.—Prospects that the building which once housed the Strong Manufacturing Company being converted to use as a warehouse loomed larger Wednesday following the property "bidding" at 1 p. m. Tuesday.

After 200 lots of items went at prices described as "good," the property sale began, but lasted only a few minutes as only one concrete bid was received. It was from Paul Kulka, of the Kulka Steel and Equipment Company of Alliance.

Spelling Bee

The late William Randolph Hearst liked to tell a story about his father, Senator George Hearst, who once, in a political speech, remarked that he was accused by his opponent of being lacking in book learning. "My opponents," said the senator, "say I spell bird b-u-r-d. If b-u-r-d doesn't spell bird, what in hell does it spell?"

Recently in San Francisco, Oscar R. Ewing, Federal Security Administrator and fervid bellwether of the Fair Deal compulsory health insurance crusade these many years, publicly declared:

"We will not have socialized medicine in this country. President Truman is against it. I am against it. The Democratic Party is against it. But we will have national health insurance."

There is, of course, a vast and rapidly growing program of health insurance in California and over the nation — as many millions of protected individuals and families have long been well aware. But that is in the form of voluntary pre-paid insurance taken out by prudent people precisely as they take out life insurance and fire insurance and auto insurance.

What Mr. Ewing, a typical Fair Deal bureaucrat, is advocating is compulsory health insurance — the compulsion to come by government edict: compulsory regulation of medical and hospital standards and practices, compulsory setting of patient fees to be paid — not to the doctor — but to the tax collector.

Now then, Mr. Ewing, no one could question your right as a citizen to advocate all that. But, Mr. Ewing, if it doesn't spell out s-o-c-i-a-l-i-z-e-d medicine, what does it spell?

"Human Rights And The United Nations"

I have been quoting for several days from "Human Rights and the United Nations" written by Russell J. Clinchy of the Foundation for Economic Education, Inc. In this booklet, Mr. Clinchy points out how the United Nations Covenant on Human Rights, if ratified, will undermine and finally destroy our American way of life.

THE AMERICAN CREED

This sense of innate freedom, ingrained in the very texture of the life of man, removes from any government the possibility or responsibility of making either grants or restriction concerning his right to speak, to assemble with companions, or to worship according to his conscience. If ever it is accepted that man has to seek such rights from the government, the nation of which he is a citizen, he would find himself at the mercy of that government; for then the power to grant or deny such a right would also have been deposited with the state.

The American Constitution and Bill of Rights declare that the government is without power to make any abridgment of these personal expressions of freedom. To this concept, American citizens have pledged allegiance. Congress did not invent the concepts of natural rights and freedom, and Congress did not grant them. In fact Jefferson acknowledged them before there was an American Congress, and others had announced them even before him. They have nothing to do with Congress. That should rid us of the delusion that we need to look to Congress, or to any Parliament, or to the United Nations, for the announcement or validation of any of these rights.

TREATIES AND THE CONSTITUTION

Let us briefly examine the effect that the United Nations Covenant on Human Rights would have on our own body of law if our Senate should ratify it. Article 6 of the Constitution of the United States declares in part: "all Treaties made, or which shall be made, under the Authority of the United States, shall be the supreme Law of the Land; and the Judges in every State shall be bound thereby, any Thing in the Constitution or Laws of any State to the contrary notwithstanding." This is a vital issue which merits thorough airing by the authorities in the field of international jurisprudence. But it is important to note here that if the Covenant on Human Rights should be adopted by the United States Senate as a treaty, its provisions would automatically become the supreme law, not only of the federal government but also of each of our states, cities, counties, towns, and school districts, with all local laws being superseded.

There are certain factors concerning this process which should be recognized. One is that this method could accomplish a change in the laws of the American federal state, and local governments which Congress and the state legislatures and the local units of government have all refused to make. For instance, a program of "socialized medicine" would become "the law of the land" if the Senate should ever adopt this Covenant as a treaty. Surely it cannot be argued logically that the constitutional provision providing for agreement upon international relations should be used for the purpose of internal legislation. But that is exactly what this proposal would do to the American structure of government.

There is another important consideration. The Tenth Amendment to the Constitution reserves to the states all those powers of government not delegated by the Constitution to the federal government. But if this treaty should be adopted — becoming, in effect, a part of the Constitution itself under Article 6 — it would supersede the Tenth Amendment and would thus invalidate the original purpose of the Bill of Rights.

TRIAL BY JURY

Further, the Sixth Amendment to the Constitution states: "... the accused shall enjoy the right to a speedy and public trial, by an impartial jury of the State and district wherein the crime shall have been committed; There is no such provision in the Covenant; if this treaty should become the supreme law of our land, there would be no guarantee to an American accused of any violation of the Covenant by any member of the United Nations that he would have either a trial by jury, or would be tried in the state and district in which the alleged crime was committed. This, of course, would violate traditional American concepts of criminal law.

"The Declaration of Independence, in its listing of the grievances of the people against a sovereign whom they were about to repudiate, included that of 'depriving us in many cases of the benefits of Trial by Jury; For transporting us beyond seas to be tried for pretended offenses.' Are we now to deny the moral philosophy and ideals behind that basic American concept?"

The Covenant states in Article 52 that if one nation considers that the citizens of another nation are not obeying the provisions of the Covenant as adopted in treaty form, then those citizens, or the nation itself, can be brought to international trial before the International Committee on Human Rights. It is important to understand that this Committee on Human Rights will be a supra-national authority of nine persons which will have the powers of final interpretation and decision on all complaints and trials relating to charges of infringements of the code of morals and action described in this Covenant.

Chicago Teems With Delegates Whooping It Up For Ike, Taft

By WESTBROOK PEGLER (Copyright, 1952, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

CHICAGO — That stupendous seizure of mass imbecility by "Left" and "Right" and the "Conrad Hilton Hotel, formerly the Stevens, perhaps the biggest roomery on earth, is a bedlam of highly partisan but, on the whole, amiable idiots trudging the unyielding tiles of the lobbies on whining dogs and bobbing aloft in listless "bum" picketers bearing slogans on the whole banal and sweetly impersonal.

The meanest crack in the great gala for Senator Taft which was hallyooped through the streets with sound trucks playing irrelevant music read: "Alibi Ike Let The Reds in Berlin." This was no more than a man rejoicing in the sanctimonious adjuration of a team of unseen Pharisees in an Eisenhower sound wagon who had dined in the ears of the multitude "Thou Shalt Not Steal."

Further, the Sixth Amendment to the Constitution states: "... the accused shall enjoy the right to a speedy and public trial, by an impartial jury of the State and district wherein the crime shall have been committed; There is no such provision in the Covenant; if this treaty should become the supreme law of our land, there would be no guarantee to an American accused of any violation of the Covenant by any member of the United Nations that he would have either a trial by jury, or would be tried in the state and district in which the alleged crime was committed. Looking Sideways

By WHITNEY BOLTON

The courts have put a patient's confessions to his or her psychiatrist under privilege and it requires no flexing of the imagination to think that many a badgered soul in Hollywood and in Hollywood—no mention Chicago, Detroit, Miami, Atlanta, Kansas City and almost anywhere else—will sigh with enormous relief. The boys and girls in the back of the head as they knelt with their wrists bound behind them. There was no sense of any such bad surveillance, as this gross carnival swung into the traditional mockeries. Nevertheless, those mockeries to a cause lost beyond the faintest hope of victory certainly were present in the thoughts of some of us as their countrymen swarmed in the streets, lobbies and bars and the bosses magnified petty squabbles over routine political strategy into great moral issues. More than a hundred thousand Americans had been shot, burned, blasted and otherwise put to death, wounded or captured in a lottery that left millions of others safe and indifferent back home, and the convention of moral terms in the major parties the first of the two this month, was a Mardi Gras.

One explanation is, of course, that these things are a freak which has evolved out of ignorance, carelessness and habit. The state should appoint electors to elect the presidents and in the beginning the republican principle was so strong that this was done by the several legislatures. Through a process of degeneration which will repay careful inquiry with startling information, the election of the presidents became long ago a travesty on the original, basic system and today is a noisy babble of a rabble who find themselves faintly aroused sometimes by cynical terms such as "smoke-filled room" and "bigotry."

The delegates are always, in the main, greenhorns selected by skulduggery, as in the case of the Vermont and Connecticut groups, which got their orders at machine conventions and came here labeled for Eisenhower. In Vermont, Republicans of impeccable regularity were smothered down when they tried to speak, and in Connecticut, John Lodge, a flippant, ephemeral governor, who served a brief term as a Hollywood pressy, ran the election with unblinking effrontery.

These are typical events in our system and noteworthy only as a comment on the cosmic belly-ache of the same faction because a similar process went against Ike in Texas. The point of importance is that the people have no authority over the selection of the two or, at most, three candidates who have any chance of election. The delegates know little if anything about the issues, they know the candidates only as here labeled for Eisenhower and came as creatures of publicity, and they are traded like brutes in the pen at the stockyards so that one boss may become attorney general and another may reap contracts to build cannon foundries.

It was different and the delegates were held in deeper contempt, if possible, in the Roosevelt regime, but actually the method was no worse. The people could not hate less authority under Roosevelt than they have now that he is gone. After 1932, Roosevelt always chose himself, and the function of the delegates was merely to get drunk, whoop in foolish servility, grovel before his wife, Harry Hopkins and Sidney Hillman and ratify all that he decreed.

Frances Perkins, whose dreadful influence contributed so much to the degradation of American labor, wrote in her memoirs that Roosevelt phoned her in Chicago in 1940 and said: "Yes, I guess it will have to be Wallace." And thus the convention approved for vice president in wartime a wicked, lying conspirator, infatuated with a sinister Russian faker, who, by 1948 was frankly and aggressively the candidate of the Communist treason. The men in the smoke-filled room of the Harding convention had no credentials from the people. Roosevelt dispensed with the smoke-filled room,

National Whirligig... Labor Does An About-Face In Polite Gestures Toward GOP

By RAY TUCKER

CHICAGO — The polite and friendly behavior of organized labor's spokesmen in presenting their political and legislative programs before the Republican party at this convention reflects a striking and possibly significant shift in the attitude and strategy of top union leaders.

Their new approach may prove mutually advantageous to both groups in the campaign, especially if the GOP should win in November.

In the past, AFL, CIO and even some UMW politicians have stormed and stalked through platform subcommittee hearings like second-rate tragedians on and off Broadway. They used these sessions, as it seemed, simply to make propaganda for the Democrats, who were sure to swallow their recommendations. They submitted their demands in a sullen and insulting manner.

At this convention, however, they have presented solid, sensible and logical appeals before platform subcommittees handling labor, welfare, civil rights, foreign policy questions. The proceedings have been as calm and rational and unmelodramatic as conduct of a Supreme Court conference by GOP committee members, agreeably surprised, re-precipitated.

SUFFERED — This give-and-take development is considered unusual, and a hopeful sign by GOP strategists, because the AFL and CIO have come to be regarded as hockwaddlers of the Democratic organization since Franklin D. Roosevelt was first nominated here twenty years ago. They have made no pretense of impartiality or neutrality as between the two major parties during that period. As a result, labor has suffered in a broad-and-butter way on Capitol Hill since the coalition of Republicans and conservative Democrats assumed control of the legislative machinery in defiance of Harry S. Truman. Labor has been unable to fulfill a single one of his "whistle stop" pledges to them. Instead, his friendship has simply served to build up enemies on Capitol Hill.

(1) The unions see a chance for a political upset for the first time in 20 years. Should that occur, they want to be on speaking terms with a new President and Congress.

(2) The unions are disturbed at fairly reliable reports that certain influential Democrats, in order to prevent a threatened party split over civil rights are quietly arranging a Stevenson-Russell combination. They are not too happy over such a "shotgun mating."

(3) The unions have not found their tieup with Truman to be as advantageous as he had promised and they had expected. He has been unable to fulfill a single one of his "whistle stop" pledges to them. Instead, his friendship has simply served to build up enemies on Capitol Hill.

(4) In the industrial Midwest of which Chicago is the capital, a shortage of steel is really hurting in thousands of homes. It has forced the layoff of many thousands of men in every plant dependent on that material — auto, machine tools, tank and plane plants, railroad equipment centers and in the thousands of small, 80-men factories working on national defense subcontracts. Relief rolls throughout the nation's heartland are beginning to bulge in a manner tragically reminiscent of depression days.

SHOPPING — These hardships are creating ill will for Truman and his political pal, Philip Murray, CIO president. Some of the workers adversely affected by the steel shutdown belong to William Green's AFL and John L. Lewis's United Mine Workers.

Polis taken by local newspapers, which were a gain from a most heavily publicized national canvasses, show that 80 per cent of the men and the wives in strike-paralyzed communities favor acceptance of the wage and working condition offers rejected by the Truman-Murray corporation.

Labor is not yet ready to desert the Democrats, but it is shopping around for the first time since 1932. It is also registering its belief that, despite past favors from the Roosevelt-Truman regime, it has more to gain from a preservation of the two-party system.

Some of the younger Hollywood stars are turning thumbs down on the kind of publicity that attempts to make them seem to be shy little homebodies...

They're smart girls. Women who make a full time job of housework and children and husband...

When they see a publicity shot of a Hollywood glamor girl in an organdy apron standing in a dream kitchen...

The phoniness is so obvious it is irritating. And on top of that there is no glamor in such publicity.

When Mrs. America reads about the Hollywood stars she is trying to escape for a few minutes from her own kitchen.

She wants to read about a way of life that is different from her own. Give her a choice of reading about the doings of Rita Hayworth or peeping into the kitchen of a Hollywood star...

She may cluck her disapproval as she reads, but she'll read right on, nevertheless.

So the girls are smart who are starting to shy away from the phony homebody built-up Mrs. America would rather look at them in mink than in aprons...

If you'd welcome a vacation from the tiring task of hot summer cooking, make this quick-to-fix turkey salad stuffing. It is a basis for three cool, nourishing, main course salads.

These salads are economical because you can use this filling to stuff any fruits or vegetables you happen to have in the refrigerator.

TURKEY SALAD STUFFING 1 6-ounce can turkey, diced 3-4 cup cabbage, finely shredded

1-2 cup celery, finely diced Mix ingredients and use this turkey filling to stuff tomatoes, peach halves, or fresh melon rings. Garnish with watercress and mayonnaise. Makes four to six servings.

Complete the meal with this Chocolate Ice Cream Pie that you'll bake in the refrigerator.

CRUST 20 chocolate wafers or 1 1-4 cups crumbs 1-3 cup melted butter or margarine

Crush chocolate wafers. Add melted fat and mix well. Press into greased 8-inch pie pan. Chill in refrigerator until set.

FILLING 1 pint vanilla ice cream 1 pint of chocolate ice cream 1-4 cup chocolate syrup Allow ice cream to soften in refrigerator but not melt. Place vanilla ice cream in a bowl and stir to a creamy, frozen consistency. Spoon this around inside edge of pie shell leaving a large hole in the center. Fill this center with chocolate ice cream melted to a creamy but still frozen consistency. Quickly place pie in refrigerator (or make pie in ice tray and place in ice compartment before the ice cream melts. Pour a stream of chocolate syrup over vanilla ice cream portion of pie before serving.

W. D. Coffman, H. W. Waters, J. P. Crenshaw, Ralph Chisum, Lewis Barnes, H. O. Darby, Robert Burns, C. P. Puraley, Meria Hodge, J. L. Mitchell and Miss Mona Cox.

Also present was Mrs. Holly Horvay of Mount Pleasant, mother and houseguest of Mrs. Houchin.

PANNED CABBAGE Serve panned cabbage sometime instead of the usual cole slaw with baked beans. Season the cabbage with Worcestershire sauce after it has been shredded and a little water.

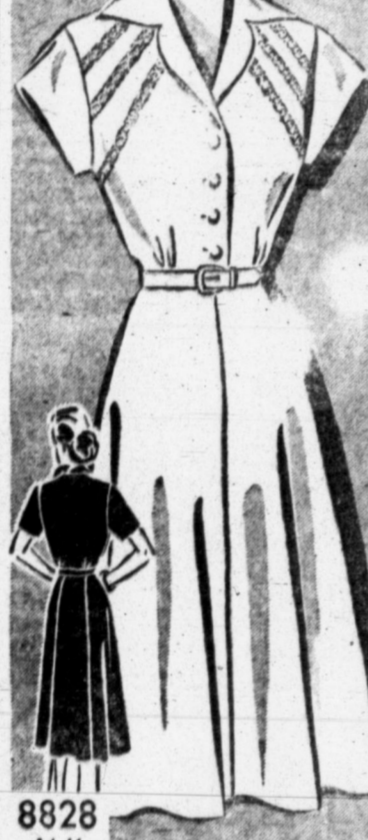

THE TYLER FAMILY

Rev. and Mrs. H. H. Tyler and son, Stephen Dean, glance through a book entitled "Life of the Tylers," presented to them at a farewell luncheon in their honor at the First Christian Church yesterday.

Rev. Tyler, pastor of the church for the past four years, leaves after Sunday, July 20, to report for active duty as a Navy Chaplain. He was recalled into the service recently. The book presented to the family was made by members of the church with pictures of faces of the Tyler family placed on representative magazine pictures. (News Photo)

B&PW Cancels July Social, Plans Picnic

Business and Professional Women's Club voted to cancel the July social meeting previously scheduled and to combine a board meeting and picnic for one meeting in August at its regular business session in the city club room Tuesday evening.

The August meeting is to be at the Russell Street side of the City Club at 6:30 p.m., August 28. Picnic lunches are to be brought by each member and the club is to furnish the drink.

Plans for selling street decorations for the annual "Top of Texas" Rodeo August 5-9 were also outlined at the meeting Tuesday. This is the club's annual project for the rodeo.

Mrs. Virginia McDonald presided at the meeting beginning her service as president of the club. Following the meeting, Mrs. Bea York, past president, represented B&PW at a Red Cross election of directors and discussion of a blood defense program for Pampa.

Mothers Should Give Child Independence

By ALICIA HART NEA Beauty Editor

Are you enjoying your new baby or do you take his activities so seriously that you never have time to relax?

During your first six months together, you should do everything within your power to establish a warm and secure relationship. Your baby wants to feel loved and needed.

This doesn't mean you must lift him up every time you pass his crib, talk to him constantly or help him play. What counts is the time in his life that you spend with him when he is hungry, keep him comfortable and occasionally cuddle him.

Your tone of voice should always be gentle, your touch caressing, and your eyes loving. Such expressions of feeling will not spoil the baby. But they will give him a feeling of real security.

Understand, too, that your baby will become bored staying in the same position or watching the same scene. If possible, bring him into the living room or kitchen with you so that he can be in your company and also see what is going on. Then change his position from back to side to stomach throughout the day.

Baby joys will also help to keep him amused. It is extremely important for you to establish self reliance as soon as possible. You will be surprised to find how easily baby can entertain himself, without any help from you. This is as it should be.

Tips For Tasks

Lime or hard water marks on glassware can be removed satisfactorily if rubbed with a freshly cut slice of potato. Then wash glassware in vinegar rinse in like new.

Chilton Hill Host At Steak Dinner

Employees of the Pampa Motor Freight Line were given a steak dinner by their employer, Clifton (Chilly) Hill in the club room of Owen's Restaurant Tuesday evening.

After the dinner, a $25 defense bond was awarded to Mrs. Ruth Jackson, Amarillo rate clerk. Mrs. Jackson presided over the business session during which problems of serving a fast-growing Pampa more efficiently were discussed.

Employees present from Amarillo were Homer Jackson, manager; Mrs. Jackson, Lucy Peck, Ray Owensby, Joe Bennett and Bill Finley.

Pampa employees present were A. L. Abernathy, J. G. McCrovy, M. D. Crowell, Miss M. C. Taylor, J. R. Rhodes, Jack Broxson and the host.

Pampa District MYF Nominates Officers

Officers for the Methodist Youth Fellowship of the Pampa District were nominated at a sub-district organizational meeting Monday evening at the First Methodist Church. Final election will take place July 25 at a district meeting at the church.

Jack Pfing, Lefors, was nominated president; John Teed, Pampa, vice-president; Linda Adcock, Miami, Secretary; Jimmy Williams, Pampa, treasurer; and Rochelle Smith, Pampa, publicity.

Prospective committee chairmen are Odessa Wilson, Pampa, worship; Shirley Cook, Pampa, community service; Gwen Thurmond, Lefors, recreation; and Pat Carpenter, Lefors, missions. Rev. Edwin L. Hall, pastor of the McCullough Methodist Church, was named adult counselor. The nominees will attend a training course at Palo Duro July 18-20 for special instruction in each job of the MYF.

Glimpses Of Yesteryear

FIVE YEAR AGO Princess Elizabeth and Lt. Philip Mountbatten announced their engagement in England.

An ice cream social was held in the basement of the First Presbyterian Church.

10 YEARS AGO Mrs. Ewing Leech taught the Bible study at the Women's Missionary Society meeting at the First Baptist Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Kay were to leave for Fort Worth where they would attend a floral convention.

15 YEARS AGO Frank Harris and Dr. Calvin Jones were toastmasters at a monthly dinner at the Country Club.

Mrs. E. A. Shackleton was hostess at a miscellaneous dinner honoring Mrs. J. F. Welch Jr.

John Warner To Camp

John Warner of the First Methodist Church in Pampa is attending the Northwest Texas Methodist Conference Youth Camp at Ceta Canyon this week.

Youth from churches throughout the conference are meeting at the camp for recreational and religious activities.

A TRIBUTE TO OUR NEWSBOYS
 The eager-faced lad who stands on the corner in all kinds of weather selling newspapers in every sense of the word, an American business-man. He is a self-starter. He is up bright and early and on the job late at night. Nobody backs him with capital or confidence. He supplies all this himself—and banks solely on his own alertness and salesmanship. Your newsboy may deliver your newspaper to your door. If so, he is even a more astute businessman, for he not only throws his papers at countless front porches, but doubles back regularly to make collections. Yes, the newsboy is an American institution. Keep up the good work, youngster. We're ALL behind you!

Feeling Has Changed On Germans, Japs

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP) — Time and necessity seem to be very powerful medicine for healing old wounds, even war wounds. No so many years ago feeling against Germany was so intense some individuals suggested sterilizing all German males to secure the world future Germans. And there was talk, but not of kind, of reducing Germany to farm land by destroying its big cities to prevent rearming. Feeling against Japan was equally severe. But it's now seven years since Germany and Japan surrendered. And in those seven years the Russians have become the new enemy, making it necessary for the United States to find new allies, even among old enemies. As a step the United States poured billions into Japan and Germany to get them back on their feet.

And only a few months ago the Senate approved a very mild peace treaty with Japan, even letting it rearm. In turn, the Japanese agreed to let U.S. troops remain in Japan. With them there and with a friendly Japan rearming, the United States obtained a priceless outpost in the Pacific against Russia.

And this week the Senate, after only seven hours debate, overwhelmingly approved arrangements for letting Germany pretty much run itself, for letting Germany become part of the Atlantic Pact, and for letting German troops in the European army. This applies only to the government of Western Germany, of course, since the Russians control the Eastern part. There is a similarity between the treaty with Japan and the deal with Germany.

While Japan is now the most Western outpost against Russia, Germany is the Eastern outpost. And in Germany, just as in Japan, the United States will be allowed to keep troops in Germany too.

When the other interested nations give their formal blessing to this setup, as the Senate did, those troops will cease to be called occupation troops. Nevertheless, under the agreement with the present German government, those troops can step in any time and suppress what may appear to them as an attempt to overthrow this present kind of German government.

This, in effect, gives the Western Allies a stick over the Germans which is a little stiffer than the deal made with Japan. At any rate, in the land of its two great wartime enemies, the United States now has troops and some friends as a advance guard against Russia.

Moscow Tells Reds How The American Convention Is Run

WASHINGTON (AP) — Moscow says American presidential candidates will be elected at the Chicago convention by a "small circle of bosses" who hire rooters at $20 a head to cheer for their candidates so the public will believe it has a voice in the selections.

On the basis of Radio Moscow broadcasts to Russian listeners, officials have reported this was the Communist Party line on the way candidates are chosen in the "false American democracy."

To make sure the Russians get the Communist version of what is going on at Chicago, the Moscow radio is running a series of talks by Vladimir Morev, a Soviet journalist who said he attended the Philadelphia convention four years ago. Morev said delegates were plied with gifts and advertising souvenirs.

The conventions, he said, were just a racket "invented... so that naive people should imagine that the votes of candidates are recruited by just these means, and that these candidates are chosen for their personal qualities."

"In actual fact," he added, "the question is decided by a small circle of political bosses."
