Roll Call Chairman Asks All Workers To Report At City Hall Early Tuesday

Chapter Chairman in Review of Huge Program

Tom Aldridge, roll call chairman for the Pampa chapter of the American Red Cross, is urging that all workers report promptly at 9 o'clock Tuesday at the city hall to obtain supplies for the drive. The meeting will be brief. Territory to be assigned to each team of two workers will be small enough that they can complete it in two hours.

A statement of accomplishments of the National Red Cross, made public here today by Alex Schneider, chairman of the local chapter, show that the organization has just closed one of the busiest years in its peace-time history. Development of the chapter's activities have kept pace with the national organization's expansion, the chairman pointed out.

According to the report, the 128 disaster relief operations in the continental United States last year exceeded by 68 per cent the average for the preceding ten years. Last year's relief was given in a total of 180 disasters, including insular and foreign operations.

In frequency of occurrence and variety of type last year's disasters proved the value of the structure and administration of Red Cross disaster relief service. The 128 disasters in the United States were located in 37 of the 48 states and the territory of Alaska; relief was given to 110,000 victims of these disasters, in 306 counties. Catastrophes included dust storms, explosions, fires, floods, epidemics of disease, shipwrecks and all types of storms. This variation called for expert counsel on health and nutrition as well as case work for relief for the victims.

During the year 20 disaster institutes were held at strategic points, following out the disaster preparedness program inaugurated the preceding year, the report reveals. They brought together chairmen and members of disaster committees, community leaders, city and state officials, and representatives of police, fire and health departments. Plans were perfected in these sessions for use in disaster emergencies. In addition, the subject of disaster preparedness and relief was presented at 22 chapter institutes, attended by chapter officers and workers.

Expenditures of the National Red Cross in disaster relief within the continental United States during the year were $464,413. First aid instruction for men employed on federal relief and public works projects, begun the previous year, was continued. First aid certificates were also given to 64,263 men in the Civilian Conservation camps all over the United States. The total number of first aid certificates awarded during the year was 187,255. The total number of certificates issued since the service was established a quarter of a century ago in 1910, is 801.

A new feature of the life saving program was the training given to men in Civilian Conservation Corps camps, by Red Cross personnel under the direction of war department officials in charge of the camps. Fifty-seven schools were organized and 4,569 men enrolled. A total of 74,274 life saving certificates were issued last year. Altogether, 634,247 life saving certificates have been issued in the 21 years of the history of the service.

Home service workers in 1,071 chapters dealt with the problems of 278,915 ex-service men or their families. In hospitals and regional offices of the Veterans administration and in other government hospitals, representatives of the national organization dealt with 59,756 ex-service men or their families. There were 8,069 men now in regular service, or their families, aided by chapters, and 27,379 cases dealt with by Red Cross field directors in army, navy, matine corps and coast guard stations and workers in government hospitals.

The chapter chairman explained that 38,000 nurses are on the active list of the Red Cross Nurses' reserve, ready to answer calls from army or navy and the Red Cross disaster service.

During the twelve month period 1,156,003 nursing visits were made by Red Cross public health nurses to or in behalf of patients; 633,944 children were inspected in schools. At the close of the year 796 public health nurses were employed by 434 chapters, according to the report.

In the home hygiene field 1,593 authorized instructors were active in teaching classes in home hygiene and care of the sick. Out of 68,555 students who received instruction, 52,196 satisfactorily completed the course and were awarded certificates. Since the Red Cross first undertook the teaching of these courses, 784,929 certificates have been issued.

In 52 chapters, classes were conducted and in 37 additional chapters nutrition projects were conducted, under direction of 270 women trained in home economics, giving assistance on food budgets, food demonstration, school lunch projects, planning low-cost menus, etc. A total of 4,573 persons enrolled for Red Cross food and nutrition courses. Altogether, since the Red Cross began these food and nutrition courses 28,900 certificates have been issued.

Special diphtheria immunization projects were put on in 17 chapters, where there is no Red Cross public health nursing service. In these chapters inoculations to prevent diphtheria were given to 40,000 children. In 428 chapters, projects were put on for the prevention and cure of pellagra.

In civilian relief work aid was given during the year by 1,021 chapters in relief for 223,042 families. At the request of the Federal Emergency Relief administration, chapters generally made their services available to assist transient veterans. Chapters also cooperated with the FERA in an adult education program for the unemployed through the use of unemployed teachers. Red Cross classes were organized through this channel in home hygiene and care of the sick, food selection, first aid and life saving.

There were 1,252,333 garments produced by chapter volunteers last year; 320,406 pages of braille were made by hand and 344,811 by the duplicating process; 18,491 Christmas bags were prepared; 71,711 calls were made by the motor corps; 29,825 home service visits were made; 4,123,399 surgical dressings and 22,109 layettes were prepared; 54,780 persons were fed by canteen workers. The number of enrolled volunteers, not including those engaged in disaster relief, totaled 135,098.

The final roll call report showed 3,837,941 memberships enrolled for the year ended June 30, 1935, an increase of 35,557 members over the roll call for the previous year, with 7,752,243 as the maximum membership in the Junior Red Cross during the school year 1934-35, an increase of 401,963. There are 3,711 Red Cross Chapters with a total of 9,112 branches. These chapters and branches expended approximately $5,600,000 during the year in services to their local communities. The national organization expended for its national service program approximately $2,945,000.

MARKET BRIEFS

NEW YORK, Nov. 9 (AP)—Profiting in the utilities, after their sharp surge in the previous session failed to shake the balance of the stock market list today.

The general run of rails and industrials showed mild improvement on balance after irregular early dealings, while most of the power and light shares dipped less than a point.

Trading was fairly active for the short session, aided by evening up of accounts for the holiday on Monday. Turnover in the stock exchange totaled 1,156,554 shares.

The Associated Press average was unchanged at 54.0. A dip of 3 of a point in the 15 utilities was offset by a gain of 4 of a point in the 15 rails and an upward slant of 1 of a point in the 30 industrials.

CHICAGO GRAIN
CHICAGO, Nov. 9 (AP)—Faced by two holidays and two government crop reports impeding, many wheat traders took the side-line today, and prices declined for lack of support.

A black eye at the outset was given to wheat values through failure of the Liverpool market to respond to yesterday's price advances this side of the Atlantic.

Wheat in Chicago closed weak, 1/2-3/4 under yesterday's finish, Dec. 96-98 1/2, corn unchanged to 1/2 lower, Dec. 58 1/2-3/4, oats unchanged to 1/4 higher, and provisions varying from 2 cents decline to an equal advance.

Except Liverpool and Rotterdam, all the leading world's commodity markets will be closed Monday, Armistice day.

Rakish weather over the corn belt gave relative strength to corn and oats.

Provisions reflected hog market firmness.

KANSAS CITY LIVESTOCK
KANSAS CITY, Nov. 9 (AP)—(U. S. D. A.)—Irregular trends in eastern dressed meat, consuming centers failed to provide any stimulus to the trade in fresh livestock receipts around the midwestern market centers. Chicago prime weight steers scored 13.25, long yearlings 12.50, and mixed yearlings 12.25. Good to choice heifers sold at 8.00-9.50, with beef cows 4.25-5.25. Best stock calves at 9.50.

Values in fat lambs ruled 25-50 higher. Native and range lambs realized 10.15. For the week's practical top, bulk of the lambs 9.25-75. Fed clipped lambs brought 8.00-8.65.

With a better demand for fresh pork cuts in the east, the market on hogs strengthened as the week progressed.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON
NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 9 (AP)—Cotton traders favored the buying side today as active futures gained from 5 to 9 points in an active short session.

Speculative purchases for both domestic and foreign account more than offset the light offerings in the market and prices were higher for the two hours of dealings.

Some week-end realizing and evening-up of commitments for the double holiday brought options down from their best prices of the day, but December closed at 11.36, up 9 points while March gained 5 points to 11.21 and May a similar amount to 11.20.

The October, 1936, option crossed the 11-cent level for the first time, touched 11.03 and then sold off to finish at 11.01 bid.

Dr. T. N. Frost returned the first of the week from Oklahoma City, where he completed a post-graduate course at Carver Chiropractic college. Frost Brothers recently opened offices here in the Duncan building.

Because of a change in the state law, all persons over or under the age requiring payment of poll taxes must obtain exemption certificates. These exemptions must be obtained in the poll tax paying period which ends January 31. Few poll taxes have been paid to date. However, because next year is an election period, there will be a keen demand before the deadline.

"What was the war like, Daddy?"

"Daddy tries not to remember - - nothing but the end - - the Armistice - - when peace was proclaimed. War itself is very powerful . . . very terrible, and we pray it will never again be necessary!"

"The Armistice—peace was proclaimed." What memories that recalls—of young boys, the daddies of today, rushing back to the arms of their own dads and mothers. Sweethearts coming back to tenderness and romance, after all that horror out there. The strange feeling of putting on a civilian's clothes again . . . walking through familiar streets . . . meeting old friends . . . back to a job! It all seemed so far away down in those black trenches. No man thought he'd come back to live normally again while shrapnel whizzed by his ear, and his buddies fell in action, one by one around him. "The Armistice—peace was proclaimed." We hoped then it would be an everlasting peace. We still hope so . . . for the families and the homes of today who see every husband and father as great a hero as they'll ever want!

YOUNG STALLION FOR SALE

I have a 2-year-old bay stallion out of Moonlight McDonald No. 9755 which will not make a top show horse but is an excellent prospect for small shows with fine conformation and exceedingly good action front and back. He is registered and if a purchaser did not want to show him he would make a fine horse to head a band of mares and is, I believe, an excellent buy at the price. This stallion is for sale at $150.00 and can be seen at Liano Farm 14 miles west of Amarillo on Highway 66. J. L. NUNN, Amarillo, Texas.

at the sandy-haired chap who is beaming down at her and she says, "How do you do, Mr. Harkins?"

A clerk in an airy Washington office yanks a green drawer out of a ceiling-high filing cabinet, rifles through it with practiced fingers, and draws out a little bit of paper. She smiles at a man in that way unless she wants to be kissed. "You make me sound like a cheap little gold-digger, Bobby," she said. "But would you?" he persisted. "Bobby," she said, "I like you better than any man I know or ever have known. I'd marry you tomorrow, if I'm not ready to marry anybody yet. And then—please don't be hurt, Bobby—I do think that if we did get married, we ought to be better prepared financially."

"Then," pursued Bobby, "I can lay away two thousand dollars, will you marry me?"

She smiled at him with the fondness of a friendship that extended back to childhood, and she reflected that it would take Bobby, the newly launched auto salesman, a very long time to lay away any part of two thousand dollars.

"You do it, and then come and have dinner," she said, laughing. "Then, the music's started again. Let's dance."

Chapter 2

As Bobby pushed the chair back, they realized that two men had come up to their table. One of them was Art Lanning, the proprietor of the Golden Feather night club. He wore a dinner jacket, had dazzlingly sleek black hair brushed back from a pale forehead, and he gave Bobby a little bit too affable and suave to be entirely reliable; but then, Jean told herself, he must be all right, for hadn't her own boss introduced him to her?

Lanning's companion, she realized as she sat down, was the good-looking young man who had been so noticeably watching her from his table on the other side of the room. He was tall, and broad-shouldered, and although he wore the tuxedo as if he were used to it, he seemed to have an outdoor air about him, as if he belonged on the western plains somewhere instead of in this stuffy, overcrowded night club. Perhaps it was his hair that did it; it was sandy, and it refused to lie down in the well-trained manner of Lanning's; instead, a long forelock drooped down over his forehead, making him look like a cowboy who had got used to the city but who, nevertheless, intended to go back to the range some day.

Lanning was smiling his stereotypical smile—the smile of the man who is everybody's friend but who watches all the angles, just the same. He put his hand on the table and leaned his big bulk over them. "You don't mind if I introduce an old friend of mine, do you?" he said. "This is Sandy Harkins—Sandy from the hair and Harkins from the tuxedo as if he were used to it. Your young lady is Miss Jean Dunn, and the lucky man with her is Bobby Wallace."

Bobby got up and stuck out his hand, Harkins extended a large, well-manicured hand and gave him a firm grip and a friendly smile. Then he turned back to Jean, whom he had bowed while Bobby was getting out of his chair, and he said, "We're not putting in, are we?"

They murmured polite denials, with the government. And here he "Well," said Sandy, "you know was again, older and soberer now, ow it is. Here I am, a stranger in with friendly eyes and a firm chin his town, sitting here wishing I and an older-brother air toward could just have one dance before I both of them that somehow made leave, and not knowing a soul to dance with. And then my friend Art comes up, and I see him say hello to you folks as he passes your table, and so I get up my nerve and I think, 'Now maybe if Art takes me over and introduces me to those people, I could get that one dance—just one dance.'"

He grinned disarmingly, as if to say, "Shucks, I'm just a friendly guy from the country, and nobody gets mad at me." Then he turned to Bobby and said, "Would you object if I asked your young lady for just one little dance?"

His voice sounded vaguely southern, or western, or something, Jean thought. It was lazy and pleasant, and it made you like him. Even Bobby seemed to be taken with him. "Not at all," said Bobby, grinning back at him.

Sandy Harkins turned to her again. "Lady, I need a dance awful bad," he said. "I'll bring you back safe and sound to your boy friend as soon as the music stops."

"Then," said Jean, "we'd better start, because this number's going to be over in another minute."

She got up, slipped into his arm, and they glided away as smoothly as possible, considering the crowded state of the dance floor. He was a good dancer, she discovered, moving with the effortless grace of the born athlete; for a moment he was silent, as he maneuvered her through the crowd. Presently, he locked down and grinned. "Where you starting?" he asked. "Were you starting? I didn't, no-her words tactfully—"Bobby, if you were on a regular salary it might be different. But you know yourself that selling auto is awfully irregular. One month we'd be flush and the next one we'd be living on salmon and crackers. The strain's too much..."

"I guess," she finished apologetically.

"No, no," said Bobby hastily. "Then he said, 'You mean—if I suppose if I had a nest egg laid away—say a couple thousand dollars—would you look at things differently?'"

She smiled at him, and Bobby reflected irritably that no girl with long drooping eyelashes ought to smile at a man in that way unless she wants to be kissed. "You make me sound like a cheap little gold-digger, Bobby," she said. "But would you?" he persisted. "Bobby," she said, "I like you better than any man I know or ever have known. I'd marry you tomorrow, if I'm not ready to marry anybody yet. And then—please don't be hurt, Bobby—I do think that if we did get married, we ought to be better prepared financially."

Here I am, a stranger in with friendly eyes and a firm chin his town, sitting here wishing I and an older-brother air toward could just have one dance before I both of them that somehow made them both feel that if they ever got in any kind of trouble they could go at once to Larry Glenn and be got out of it.

"What're you kids doing up here in Dover, anyway?" he was asking. "Kids!" said Bobby indignantly. "That's swell. We've been out of college exactly one year."

"Bobby's selling autos, and I'm a welegant stenographer," said Jean. "She's a bug on earning her own living now, but some day she's going to marry me," said Bobby, ignoring the face she made at him.

Larry Glenn looked from one to the other.

"Well," he said, "I heard a couple of years ago that things were drifting that way—"

"They're not!" said Jean. Then she checked herself and said, "Well—not just now, anyhow."

"They're drifting that way," said Bobby, "but not fast enough."

"There's lots of time," said Larry. He looked at them fondly in silence, then turned to Jean.

"I got a letter from your dad telling me you were up here," he said. "I promised I'd look you up. No—hastily—not to keep an eye on you. Just to say hello, and maybe take you out to dinner once in a great while, if Bobby doesn't object too much."

"I don't object at all to you," said Bobby. "It's handsome strangers like this Harkins guy that get me worried."

"That," sighed Glenn, "seems to indicate that I'm hopelessly unromantic and aged. And who is this Harkins guy, anyway?"

Why Do Your Leading Merchants and Professional Men Support The Pampa Credit Association

BECAUSE:

1. It is a service and protective institution.
2. Its purpose is to help regulate and stimulate an orderly community credit policy.
3. It is a means of extending sound credit to those that are entitled to that privilege.
4. It serves as a clearing house to promote better and uniform business procedure.
5. It saves the merchants many dollars annually by the Secretary acting as an adviser concerning unworthy advertising schemes, promiscuous solicitation of funds, gifts, donations and other rackets, that have no merit.

One Killed in Lubbock Wreck

LUBBOCK, Nov. 9 (AP)—One person was killed almost instantly and another was expected to die as result of an automobile collision early Saturday night midway between Seminole and Seagraves in Gaines county.

Jack King, about 30, farmer of near Seagraves, was dead of a crushed chest when picked up—and Bill Fisher, about 45, of Florey, was expected to die in a sanitarium here. Fisher suffered serious head injuries.

Cecil Fisher, 17, son of the injured man was driving his father's car. He said the two machines met almost head-on and that he did not see the King car until too late to avoid it. He said lights of Kings car were not turned on.

Hundreds Visit Simm's Exhibit

Hundreds of Pampans viewed the art exhibit of Tom Simms at the city club rooms yesterday and Friday. Spectators were present every minute of the two days; a constant stream of visitors were received both days. Spectators appeared to find the paintings, statuary, charcoal sketches of Mr. Simms all done in the modern manner, highly interesting.

Persons from Wheeler, Amarillo, White Deer, Panhandle, Borger, Mobeetie, Canadian, visited the exhibit. Mr. Simms teaches art in Pampa and is a brother of Mrs. Frances Alexander, high school teacher. His pupils helped him conduct the exhibit.

Thousand Poppies Sold on Saturday

One thousand Buddy Poppies were sold in Pampa yesterday morning by members of the Auxiliary of the Veterans of Foreign Wars chapter, and their friends. More could have been sold but the supply of poppies, made by disabled veterans in hospitals, was limited.

Mrs. Hamp Waddell, president of the local auxiliary has asked the NEWS to thank Pampans for their generosity in purchasing the little red flowers. Money derived from the sale goes to the disabled veterans and for local relief work among needy veterans and their families.

An important meeting of the auxiliary will be held in the American Legion hut at 8 o'clock Tuesday night.

Groom Held to 6-6 Tie by Whittenburg

WHITTENBURG, Nov. 9.—The Whittenburg football team gave the surprise of Class B football in this section on Friday night in holding the highly touted Groom Tigers to a 6 to 6 score and winning the game on penetrations, 2 to 1.

Groom had a wide advantage in the first downs, making 7 to 2 for the winning team. Excepting for the thrushes close to pay territory, Whittenburg was held in check by the big Tigers. Whittenburg gave a great exhibition of defensive football.

Harry Schwartz, who has been critically ill of pneumonia at his home, was reported slightly improved yesterday.

A Washington Daybook

By KIRKE SIMPSON
WASHINGTON—General Hugh Johnson's reappearance in print in his role of "friendly" critic of the "new deal" inspired some sensitive "new dealers" to wonder what he might have said if that "friendly" qualification had been omitted. Certainly those who suppose themselves to be included in the general's classification as "starry-eyed" dreamers, to say nothing of his more pungent "hot dog" references, are not to be blamed for feeling that Johnson's friendliness did not lead him to pull any punches. The more thick-skinned "new dealers"—and that covers the political staff accustomed by long experience to jibes and wisecracks and whose duties permit them to talk back—read this most Johnsonesque article with other emotions. They began debating what to do about it, if anything. They also discussed privately, what might be the major Johnson motive.

Always Politics
The answer to that last was easy for them. It always is easy in Washington to ascribe motives for any action of utterance. It always is the same motive—politics. And that unofficial branch of the "new deal," which merges indefinitely with so many and diverse official branches and of which the only concern is 1936 politics, has seen political ambition behind Johnson's "friendly" criticism alone, as well as the unqualified attitude of Lewis Douglas, former "new deal" budget director.

That brings up a curious slant on how some Democratic veterans expect "things to go," not next year, but five years from now. They believe, regardless of next year's election outcome, the party will be shopping for a more or less conservative candidate in 1940. They base that on the notion that whether due to, or in spite of "new deal" efforts, the country by then will be near enough to economic normalcy to put a political premium on a reasonable degree of conservatism.

Tactful Answers
That is the picture into which these dopesters attempt to fit as possible 1940 rivals for the Democratic presidential nomination the blunt and forthright Douglas and the verbally spiky ex-cavalryman, Johnson. That conception promises to have an influence on what is done by way of answering either from inside the "new deal" fortifications.

Unquestionably Johnson strategy, which due to that "friendly" qualification does not seriously jeopardize his party regularly, looks to "new deal" political lieutenants as better politics if personal political ambition does prompt him now. And for that reason inside advice is not to get into a verbal fight with him. What is being suggested is a series of tactfully worded answers to every Johnson criticism of "new deal" measures, distributed among various "new deal" spokesmen and possibly without direct mention of the general or his statements.

It might be a good plan but keeping such fiery "new dealers" as Secretary Ickes under wraps like that is something of an undertaking itself.

The reference was to reports that a British loan of 10,000,000 pounds (about $50,000,000) is impending.

A spokesman for the foreign office also opposed Nanking's plan for nationalization of silver. "The Japanese government deeply regrets that China has suddenly announced a currency reform which should have been formulated only after consultation with Japan, in view of Sino-Japanese relations," he said.

Cyclones Strike Near Muskogee

MUSKOGEE, Okla., Nov. 9 (AP)—Two short-lived tornadoes which ripped through a 25 to 30-mile area north of here late today brought injuries to four persons, two of whom were seriously hurt, and damaged farm homes and other buildings throughout the district.

The most seriously hurt were Monroe H. Garoutte, 51, and his thirteen-year-old daughter, Irene, who were brought to a hospital here suffering severe head injuries.

They were living in an abandoned cotton gin near Porter. They saw the tornado coming and took refuge in a scale pit. The gin was demolished and they were struck by flying timbers.

Methodists Ask For Joint Meet

BROWNWOOD, Nov. 9 (AP)—The central Texas conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, voted this afternoon in favor of the plan for a joint meeting of all five Texas Methodist conferences in 1936.

This was the fourth conference to favor the plan, only the Northwest Texas conference, meeting at Plainview on Nov. 13, being left to vote. The choice of a city has been left up to the Texas Methodist Centennial commission.

More than 2,500 conference officials will assemble in the joint session, if it is held, for the first time in the history of Texas Methodism. The conference voted to ask that Bishop H. A. Boaz preside if the joint meeting is held.

NUMEROUS PARTIES ARE GIVEN THIS WEEK-END IN PAMPA

VARIETY PARTY AT THE WYNNE HOME AMUSES

THREE COUPLES ARE HOSTS TO FORTY FRIENDS

Everything at a party in the J. S. Wynne home Friday evening was different—from everything else. Designated as a variety party, the entertainment consisted of ten tables of games, all different. Mr. and Mrs. Wynne, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Della Vicars were the hosts. As they received guests, Mrs. Wynne wore a winter dress, Mrs. Vicars a summer frock, and Mrs. Thomas an afternoon dress. Favors recalled every holiday of the year, and prize packages were wrapped to symbolize St. Patrick's day, bridal parties, and various other occasions. Contents of the packages were as surprisingly varied. First choice of the six packages was made by the high score winner, and last by those who cut high. Refreshments were as varied as the games. Each plate was different, but all had a salad, sandwich, and pie of some sort and guests chose tea, coffee, milk, or water to drink. Those present at the clever party were Messrs. and Mrs. C. T. Hunkapillar, Charles Thut, Siler Faulkner, A. B. Goldston, Clyde Fatheree, I. B. Hughey, J. M. Saunders, Neil McCullough, Roger McConnell, William Finley, Alex Schneider, Earl O'Keefe, Tom Rose, E. A. Shackleton, Mel B. Davis, Ivy Duncan, Mrs. W. A. Bratton, Mrs. George Walstad, Mrs. T. J. Conscience of Amarillo, and Archer Pullingim.

Two White Deer Churches Report Revivals Lately

WHITE DEER, Nov. 9.—The Missionary Baptist church has just closed a revival conducted by the Rev. Herman Coe, pastor here. Several additions to membership were reported, some by letter and some by baptism.

The Rev. Herman Coe and Mrs. Coe, Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Pickens, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Stovell were in Houston last week attending the state convention of Baptists.

The Methodist church here is in the midst of a 10-day revival that started last Sunday night. The Rev. Kennedy of Fort Worth is preaching assisted by the local pastor, Rev. Stradley.

Ray Brady was taken to a hospital in Pampa Monday for treatment for pneumonia.

W. H. Lee returned from a hospital in Pampa last week. His condition is not much improved.

Editor M. B. Cavanaugh and Mrs. Cavanaugh of Floydada visited Mr. and Mrs. Polet recently.

Mrs. Lena Enoch has assumed management of the Holmes cafe again. She had charge of the cafe for a number of years.

J. N. Osborne is able to be out after being ill of pneumonia the last month.

The young son of Mr. and Mrs. Ely Bernard is reported quite ill of a serious throat trouble.

Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Osborne of Amarillo were here this week looking after their farming interests near here.

Mrs. Stradley returned Monday from a visit with her daughter at El Paso, and a new grand-daughter, the first grandchild of the Rev. and Mrs. Stradley.

Plans of Junior Treble Clef for Holidays Adopted

A Christmas party and special programs for the next few months were planned by Junior Treble Clef club at a business meeting Thursday afternoon in city hall club room.

The annual Christmas party is to be at the home of Miss Mary Parker on Dec. 20. The program committee is making assignments for special programs.

Members voted to meet on first and third Thursdays of each month, instead of every Thursday as has been the custom through the summer and fall. Penalties were set for unexcused absences.

Members present were Misses Mary Parker, Mattie Lee Clay, Virginia Roberts, Clotilde McCallister, Virginia Mason, Ruth Clay, and the club counselor, Mrs. Phillip Wolfe.

Will Be Reception Guest After Concert

Miss Esther Johnson, above, lauded by royalty and peasantry of Europe as the greatest woman pianist of today, will appear in a concert here Thursday evening, Nov. 14 at 8:15 o'clock, and after the concert will be the honored guest at a reception by the two Treble Clef clubs in the city club room. Ticket sales got off to an excellent start yesterday. Boy Scouts who are sponsoring the concert reported. Miss Johnson this fall was scheduled to return to Europe, but when war clouds began to settle over the continent, the tour was cancelled.

Women's Club Council Votes To Revive Recreation Plans

HEADS OF ALL CIVIC GROUPS TO MEET ON CALL

Continuing their interest in a city recreation program, members of the Council of Women's Clubs Thursday authorized Mrs. Raymond Harrah, council president, to call a meeting of heads of various organizations here to discuss plans for a year-round project. Date of the meeting has not been set, but Mrs. Harrah indicated that it would be early next week.

Recreation needs of the city have been of interest to the council for the past year, and members took the lead last spring in launching a summer program that reached scores of children and adults as well.

Several projects at hand in various clubs were presented for council approval. Twentieth Century club will sponsor a community Christmas tree, and asks each member of a club affiliated with the council to purchase and dress a doll for distribution.

A cleanup program is being launched by the Garden club to precede the opening of Texas Centennial year. Each club member is requested to see that her premises are clean, and ask her neighbors to join the cleanup also.

Mrs. F. M. Culberson presented the aims of the newly organized county tuberculosis association, and council members voted to have each club devote some time to discussion of tuberculosis prevention.

Mrs. R. E. Lawrence was elected corresponding secretary of the council as Mrs. Olin E. Hinkle's resignation was presented. Clubs were asked to compile their calendar of meetings for the information of Mrs. R. E. Lawrence, who has charge of the city club room calendar.

Members voted to change the hour of council meetings from 9 a. m. to 9:30 on first Thursdays, and to assess a fine when representatives are late or absent without sending a substitute. This move was made to assure representation at each meeting for every club in the council.

Counting to keep step, two young men and a girl, their arms about each other's shoulders recently marched to the brink of Japan's famous "suicide crater," Mihara, and leaped.

ONE SKELLYTOWN CLUB MEETS IN PAMPA DURING BUSY WEEK

SKELLYTOWN, Nov. 9.—Eleanor Roosevelt Study club was entertained this week in the home of Mrs. C. H. Robinson of Pampa. An interesting program was given on Famous Texans of Today. Current events of the state were mentioned to answer roll call.

Mrs. Campbell acted as leader in the absence of Mrs. Halley. Mrs. Tomlin spoke of J. Frank Dobie, writer and collector of folklore. An interesting paper on the life of Vice-President John Nance Garner was read by Mrs. Sherriff.

Mrs. Johnson sketched the career of Mrs. Percy V. Pennybacker, noted women's club leader. Mrs. Stanley told of the life of Grace Noll Crowell, and also read a letter she had received from the poet's husband, telling of Mrs. Crowell's love for home life and naming her favorite poems.

Mrs. Black read two poems, Morning Highway, and Apple Blossoms. Refreshments were served to Mrs. D. M. Secor of Pampa, a guest, and Mrs. Black, Campbell, Haslam, Hutto, Johnson, Lee, New, Sherriff, Stanley, Tomlin, Miss Yarnell, and the hostess, club members.

Three Aces Club Mrs. Joe Harris entertained the Three Aces bridge club with a pretty party Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Ed Hughes. The Thanksgiving theme was carried out in tallies, score pads, and decorations.

Mrs. C. J. Richter won high score. Mrs. Hughes consolation, and Mrs. Joe Carroll the floating prize. Salad, coffee, and cake were served to Mrs. Wallace Young, Charles Johnson, H. E. Jones, H. Patton, Carroll, Hughes, Richter, and Harris.

District Leader Visits The Women's Missionary society met in the home of Mrs. C. J. Richter last Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Ewing Leech of Pampa, district president, of Baptist Missionary societies, was present and gave an interesting lecture on the standard of excellence.

Refreshments of Osgood pie and coffee were served to Mrs. Leech and Jameson of Pampa, and Allen Black, Joe Carroll, C. V. Jacobs, C. Tiffany, Lawson, I. Delong, A. D. Hasten, A. C. Carroll, George Stanley, Lewis, and Richter.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Tiffany next Thursday. A covered dish luncheon will be served at noon. Mrs. Joe Wilson of Miami will be present to teach the missionary book, The Life of Lottie Moon. Mrs. Wilson is known for her ability to present this book in unusual and interesting manner.

Pleasant Hour Club Mrs. Berry Barnes was hostess to the Pleasant Hour club Friday afternoon at her home in Rosana. The afternoon was spent weaving. At the close, sandwiches, cookies, and cocoa were served.

Present were Mrs. J. C. Jarvis, E. M. Stafford, W. W. Hughes, J. Tomlin, E. R. Hawkins, M. L. Roberts and Cecil Shipley. The next meeting will be with Mrs. E. E. Crawford on Nov. 15.

Personals Dale Probst underwent an operation last week and is reported doing nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Campbell had as their guests Sunday his mother, brother, and two sisters from Canyon.

Mrs. June Heyning and Mrs. Lucy Demoss left Sunday for Barnsdall, Okla., called at the death of their mother.

Friends here of Miss Jo McGill are sorry to hear of her illness in Pawhuska, Okla. Miss McGill spent the summer in Skellytown.

H. E. Jones attended a dinner at the Schneider hotel in Pampa Wednesday evening.

Mrs. W. E. Freeman is reported quite ill this week.

Three persons in Japan were not expected to observe the 1935 census. They are the emperor, the empress and the empress dowager.

AMERICAN EDUCATION WEEK IS TO BE OBSERVED BY SCHOOLS

Would you set your name among them? Write it large upon the hearts of children. They will remember! Have you visions of a finer, happier world?

Tell the children! They will build it for you. Have you a word of hope for poor, blind, stumbling human kind? Then give it not to stupid, blundering men. Give it to the children. In their clear, untroubled minds it will reflect itself a thousand fold. And some day paint itself upon the mountain tops.

These lines, chosen by a school head here as typical of the spirit of American Education Week, were written by Clara Tree Major and published in the Journal of the National Education association.

Observing the week, schools and Parent-Teacher organizations of Pampa will present programs. Woodrow Wilson and Horace Mann schools have announced open house for visitors, and a week of programs for pupils.

The entire week beginning Tuesday will be considered an open house at Horace Mann school. Students will carry on routine work, and will also conduct special classes on the education week theme, The School and Democracy. Friday will be special visiting day at Woodrow Wilson, with regular classes and exhibits.

Miss Josephine Thomas, Principal, announces that the Horace Mann cafeteria will serve lunch to parents at the regular price of 25 cents, when reservations are made a day ahead.

The special feature on Thursday at Horace Mann is the regular Parent-Teacher association meeting. The program subject is The Home and the School—Sources of Citizenship. W. B. Weathered, county school superintendent, will be the speaker.

Entertainment will include a drill, Parade of Wooden Soldiers, by 26 girls directed by Mrs. Eugene Mann with Miss Frances McCue as assistant; and a trombone solo by Lloyd Harmer, band director.

Tuesday will close the annual membership drive of the Parent-Teacher unit. Rooms are being to secure a record membership, and the association will entertain the room enrolling the new members.

Climaxing the week, the supper program Friday afternoon. The principal number will be Skits From American School Life. Sixth grade rooms will depict the Pilgrim school; fifth grades, the Ichabod Crane and Tom Sawyer schools; fourth grades, the school of today. Miss McCue will be in charge.

Cooperating with the National Education Association, the United States Office of Education, and the American Legion, sponsors of American Education week, Horace Mann school is making an effort to bring a record number of visitors to classes and prove the statement of the famous educator for which the school was named, "The common school is the greatest discovery ever made by man," Miss Thomas states.

Visitors will present numerous special programs through the week at Woodrow Wilson school. At 9:30 Tuesday morning, Paul Hill will speak to boys of the fifth and sixth grades and Miss Llewellyn Shelby to girls. At the same hour Mrs. Gaston Foote will tell stories to pupils of the first four grades.

Mrs. R. B. Fisher will be the speaker.

CLEAN CITY BY END OF THE YEAR IS THE AIM

A city-wide cleanup campaign to continue to Dec. 1 was launched by the Garden club at its meeting Friday. Members are to see that their own property is cleaned, then enlist the aid of their neighbors. The Council of Women's clubs has promised cooperation of all its members.

This cleanup campaign will be one phase of city beautification for Centennial year, major Garden club project. The club has asked all residents to help make the city more attractive; owners of filling stations on highways are being helped to beautify their places, and the Santa Fe railway has been petitioned to improve its yards here.

A group of new members was welcomed to the club Friday. Mrs. Charles Hickman, a former member, has re-enrolled, and new members are Mrs. Paul Jensen, S. C. Evans, L. E. Wilson, L. R. Hartell, Earle Schlegel, Lanham and Pagan.

Garden Preparation for Winter was the program subject. Mrs. R. B. Fisher discussed Preparation of Lawns. She named grasses suited for lawns here, mentioning especially a grass that grows well on terraced lawns. All grasses except Bermuda is best planted in the fall, she said. Lawns should be fertilized each spring and fall, mowed regularly during the summer, and watered thoroughly once or twice a week, her talk emphasized.

Mrs. Jim Saunders' topic was The Rose Garden's Winter Coat. Roses can be protected from the cold by heaping mounds of earth six or eight inches high about them, or by using straw, manure, or burlap covering, she said, adding that the covering should be removed in mid-March.

Preparation of Flower Beds, was Mrs. Frank Yale's subject. She advocated spading beds in the fall, mixing manure or fertilizer if the soil is too tight, and watering thoroughly.

Present, in addition to those on program and new members, were Mrs. W. B. Weathered, county school superintendent, Mrs. Mel Davis secretary and pianist, Mildred Martin assistant pianist, George Porter, Mmes. Thya Humphries, Bessie Martin, Ivy Dunce, L. K. Stout, and Emory Noblitt teacher.

Other hosts for the party were Mrs. Hancock, Mrs. Claude Lard, Mrs. John S. Mullen, Mr. and Mrs. C. Clark.

BRIDGE CLUBS ENJOY GAMES WITH GUESTS

Two out-of-town visitors were among the guests when Mrs. Clifford Braly entertained Contract Bridge club at her home Friday. They were the hostess' mother, Mrs. T. J. Conscience of Amarillo, and Mrs. T. F. Smalling's mother, Mrs. G. A. Chilton of Comanche.

Mrs. Tom Rose and Mrs. Alex Schneider were other special guests with Mmes. Smalling, A. B. Zahn, Philip Fausch, Henry Thut, J. M. Lybrand, J. H. Kelley, Siler Faulkner, and Mel B. Davis, members.

Chrysanthemums from her yard decorated Mrs. Braly's home for the party, which ended with a refreshment course. Mrs. Rose made high score and Mrs. Thut second high in the games.

'Kerchief Shower Given Mrs. A. M. Martini, who plans to leave soon to make her home in Wichita Falls, was given a handkerchief shower by other members of the Queen of Clubs Thursday, when Mrs. R. S. Lawrence was hostess at her home.

Rose and yellow chrysanthemums decorated the rooms, and filled bud vases on the bridge tables. The autumn motif was repeated in the menu of turkey salad, rolls, cranberry mold, olive, stuffed dates, and coffee.

Mrs. Dave Finkelstein made high score for guests, and Mrs. Max Mahaffey for club members. Cut prizes went to Mmes. Martini, Howard Buckingham, Raymond Harrah, and Carl Smith.

Special guests for the afternoon were Mmes. Charles Thut, Finkelstein, Bert Curry, J. M. Lybrand, and Miss Fern Hughey. Members playing were Mmes. A. B. Goldston, H. D. Keys, Mahaffey, Smith, C. S. Boston, Mack Graham, I. B. Hughey, L. N. McCullough, Martini, Harrah, Buckingham, Mrs. K. L. Dunn sent a handkerchief for the shower.

Mrs. Isbell Hostess New Deal bridge club was entertained Friday at the home of Mrs. H. Isbell, where three tables were in play. Mrs. Jack Carroll of Amarillo was a special guest.

Mrs. Roy Kilgore made high score, Miss Verna Fox, another guest, low score. Seating plans went to Mrs. W. G. Irving and cut prizes to Mrs. E. W. Hogan, Mrs. J. C. Cox, and Mrs. Paul Caylor.

Refreshments were served to them and to Mmes. George Nix, Carl Dunslop, O. E. Palmer, and Claude Lard.

Kid Party Is Clever A kid party was the amusing entertainment for Eight Hearts bridge club Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Dallas Culwell. Members were in kid costumes, carrying toys, and were seated at tables where balloons were tied to the tallies and sacks of lollipops marked places.

Refreshments were served to Mrs. Mmes. Frank Roach, Jake Bass, Fred Bozeman, and O. M. Prigmore.

Panhandle Club Feted Mrs. O. W. Newsom was hostess to the Queen of Clubs bridge club of Panhandle Friday afternoon at the Schneider hotel. A Thanksgiving motif was carried out in handkerchiefs, score pads, and tallies decorated with pictures of the Mayflower and Thanksgiving turkeys.

After four games of contract, Mrs. Lloyd Waldron received high score award, Mrs. T. N. Gibson Jr., second high, and Mrs. Jim Meecekey high cut.

Guests were invited to the dining room where places were marked with cards hand-painted with figures of John and Priscilla Alden.

Refreshments were served to Mmes. Meecekey, R. L. Grimes, George Crow, George Crossman, Minor Simms, Harold Waite, W. L. Boyles, Waldron, H. N. Munro, Gladys Roberts, Ira Carpenter, W. L. McConnell, Charles Franklin, Frank Sparks, Louis Welker, and Opal Purvins, all of Panhandle.

Mmes. Roy Bourland, Gibson, L. M. Batten, and the hostess, of Pampa.

Marriage Item In Error—"Kidding" Originates Report This newspaper on Thursday gave a news item on the purported marriage of Bill Lamb and Miss Mildred Holliman, by one of their friends.

It has been informed since that time that the report was unfounded, and that no such wedding occurred. The report originated, The News is informed, in a bit of "kidding" which friends and relatives took seriously until enlightened.

THE ROAD TO WANT: He that oppresses the poor to increase his riches, and he that giveth to the rich, shall surely come to want.—Prov. 22:16.

A NEW DEAL IN CULTURE

J. Evetts Haley

For a people grown accustomed to the frequent reversal of natural law by the brain trust, there is nothing at all surprising in Secretary Wallace's new conception of arithmetic. It is merely a part of the new order that is bursting the hame-strings and cruppers of the horse-and-buggy days. With these restrictive implements no longer to cramp our style, the time has surely come for a Cabinet Member on Culture, especially since thought, industry, ideals and are are being cut to suit the patterns of the planners.

Already the technical machinery exists in governments control of "bureaus of public service and information," of armies of "contact men," of well-paid, capable writers attached to every department, of licensed radios, of educational programs, of "extended" remarks in the Congressional Record, and of plausible speakers stumping the country at the tax-payer's expense. Here are all the facilities for grinding out culture with a capital C, and even independent artists are not now calculated to object to culture cut to pattern, since they have been placed on the handsome federal dole. It seems that the only inharmonious note is struck by the poets, who, protesting gross indiscriminate at Mr. Hopkins' failure to include them, demand to know why "the cards are stacked against them." Besides, they ask, incredulously, through the "Poet Laureate League, Incorporated," if it can "be possible that the administration subscribes to the hackneyed and conventional lie that poets must experience privations and hardships in order to produce masterpieces."

Mr. Hopkins should not decline a public answer, for proof of this old falsehood is found in current works induced by the humanitarianism of the New Deal. Even in the unpoetic atmosphere of Austin an unsubsidized "poet" sings out to

Slaughter the sow and slaughter the cow
For the more abundant life;
The public utility, economic stability
With blind fanatical knife.

Destroy the potato and the humble tomato
So justice may prevail;
The diminutive pig and everything "big"
For the cause of our "New Deal."

Even a political critic can tell that such poetry needs attention, and everyone knows that the way to relieve a long-suffering public is for Chief Reliever Harry Hopkins to rectify his initial over-sight and include the poets in the $27,000,000 dollar fund for culture. The omission is not only an affront to a distinguished group; it is a downright hardship upon the reading public.

Before the present generation shook off the shackles of reality that bound it to the past, a number of sinister reactionaries thought that civilization—the existence of culture—meant acceptance of certain standards of taste, of legality, of regulating principle, of ultimate appeal. But happily the new freedom invoked by disregard of courts of final resort, by codes, licenses, and quotas, struck down these old-fashioned concepts of a materialistic world. Then apparently all that was needed to make us free indeed was the subsidization of thought and art, and the revision of a few mathematical laws. Mr. Hopkins is reconstructing the social structure with the country's billions, while Mr. Eccles, Secretary Morgenthau, and Mr. Wallace are inducting us into a new deal in arithmetic, where unbalanced budgets are blessings in disguise, where public indebtedness can be paid off by appropriating the country's gold and issuing the needed paper against it, the where the destruction of food is the obvious short-cut to balanced abundance.

Back in the days of frugal instead of "third economies," some folks naively believed that two minus two left nothing. But now Mr. Wallace assures us that this was wrong, and, while running from irate, feminine picketers of butcher shops on one side, and dodging hot potatoes on the other, advises the public that the destruction of 6,000,000 little pigs two years ago added materially to our present supply of pork. The unphilosophical consumer can look at the current prices of bacon, the import figures on pork and lard, and the inventories of meat in the coolers, and seize this gem of arithmetic for its real intrinsic worth.

Then with "satellite cities" on his mind and his eyes on the stars, out steps the polished Doctor Tugwell to rehabilitate the tenant farmer. With a tentative half billion of capitalist dollars, he rolls up his sleeves and begins to make America over by displacing private with public landlordism, and calling it "rural rehabilitation," though in Europe it unhappily goes by another name. Since he is a real dirt farmer instead of a theorist, as he abundantly testified before the Senate committee on confirmation, he believes in mixing his hogs with culture. So deep from the hog belt, in Iowa, he brings Adrian Dornbush, a well-known painter of ———, not of hogs, to take charge of his "skills divisions" in the hope that while improving the tenant's economic condition, he may "solve their cultural problems as well."

This job of producing culture by plan, of smearing it on from above, may seem a little irregular to some, but the idea of culture as a by-product of federal relief is a little short of genius. Already Doctor Tugwell is planning his picture shows to point the way from "rags to riches," the way of standardization, co-operation, and community projects. This Roosevelt four-year plan smells a little exotic, a little east-European, but then the odors may be part of the culture, and maybe cultured folks won't mind.

Supper Is Given At Polley Home For Store Group

An informal supper was enjoyed by employees of Murree's store Friday evening at the home of the manager, H. L. Polley, and Mrs. Polley. Fresh salmon sent from Oregon by B. S. Via was served as the main dish of the delicious buffet supper.

Bride Is Shower Honoree Friday

Mrs. Otis Brinkman and Mrs. Chester Nicholson were joint hostesses Friday afternoon at the home of the latter, honoring Mrs. Clifford Dickinson with a shower. Before her recent marriage Mrs. Dickinson was Miss Loretta Miller, daughter of Mrs. B. H. Doughty. After the honoree had opened the gifts and displayed them for inspection, refreshments were served.

Guests were Mmes. Dickinson, Daughtry, A. B. Cross, Bob Green, J. R. Pendegraft, Keever Warren, J. E. Homaker, C. T. Nicholson, C. H. Evans, E. B. Ervin, Mayme Clanton, R. A. Stockwell, W. O. Bailey. Gifts were sent by Mmes. Tom Eckerd, Frank Foster, Albert Noland.

TAX ON AUTOS HAS DECREASED 57 PER CENT

GASOLINE LEVIES 500 TIMES FIGURE OF 16 YEARS AGO

Automobile owners in the United States are now being taxed up to 57 per cent, according to a study made by John T. Flynn of Collier's Weekly and published today.

Mr. Flynn urges that "the automobile has taken about as much tax punishment as the traffic will stand" and that "if the trend continues one of the nation's most useful industries will begin to crack."

As an example of the present maximum taxation, Mr. Flynn cites the average car-owner in Decatur, Ala. This average individual owns a car with a current market value of $200.

Mr. Flynn finds that the total amount collected from automobile owners last year in the United States for all assessments for the privilege of operating their cars was $1,200,000,000.

Gasoline taxes have increased more than 500 times since they were first imposed 16 years ago. In the first year of gasoline taxes, several states got for themselves $1,025,000.

Mr. Flynn's summary of his findings is as follows: "The reason for this tax situation is obvious. It is a strange outcome of a perfectly sound principle."

McMahon has been in charge of the Wichita Falls-Panhandle division for the most part of two decades, rejoining the company in that position after a successful career as a producer.

The position to which Barrows is promoted is a new one and is designed to take over matters of operating supervision of the various divisions which have in the past been handled by R. Ogarrio.

Barrows will take his new position Dec. 1. Announcement of the appointment was made simultaneously here by Ogarrio, and at Houston by W. S. Rogers, president of the company.

A hearing on the new Corpus Christi bill in Nueces county is scheduled to open at Corpus Christi tomorrow.

WERE YOU IN RANGER? By Boyce House; Tardy Publishing company, Dallas. $1.50.

Were you in Ranger? Or Cisco, DeLeon, Dublin, Leary, Merriman, Eiland, Pecos, Breckenridge, as the subtitle asks.

If you were you will be intensely interested in this book by a former Ranger newspaper man, who has brought together in one small volume a workmanlike summary of the thousands of stories of that great oil boom which affected not only all Texas but practically all the United States in 1917, and for several years thereafter.

Even if your own particular oil boom happened to be Burnburnett, or if you were only a neighbor, or if you were, if you chanced to live anywhere in Texas during the great boom years of 1918 to 1920, this volume can not fail to be of much interest to you.

The oil booms are not exactly deep antiquities, even yet, being less than two decades away. But so much that happened was of such an incredible nature that even when it happened to you, you were a part of legend or tradition.

Mr. Flynn finds that the total amount collected from automobile owners last year in the United States for all assessments for the privilege of operating their cars was $1,200,000,000.

Gasoline taxes have increased more than 500 times since they were first imposed 16 years ago. In the first year of gasoline taxes, several states got for themselves $1,025,000.

Mr. Flynn's summary of his findings is as follows: "The reason for this tax situation is obvious. It is a strange outcome of a perfectly sound principle."

McMahon has been in charge of the Wichita Falls-Panhandle division for the most part of two decades, rejoining the company in that position after a successful career as a producer.

The position to which Barrows is promoted is a new one and is designed to take over matters of operating supervision of the various divisions which have in the past been handled by R. Ogarrio.

Barrows will take his new position Dec. 1. Announcement of the appointment was made simultaneously here by Ogarrio, and at Houston by W. S. Rogers, president of the company.

EASTMAN TELLS OF TRUCK REGULATIONS

FEDERAL COORDINATOR OF TRANSPORTATION COMING

AUSTIN, Nov. 9.—Joseph B. Eastman, federal coordinator of transportation, will speak on the recently enacted federal truck law and coordination of transportation at Houston on Monday, November 11, to a meeting of shippers and truck operators.

Mr. Eastman, crossing the country, has agreed to stop in Houston en route and address this meeting, according to a telegram from F. G. Dorsey, Houston president of Texas Motor Transportation association, from Washington.

"Shippers and truckers alike throughout the east feel that the instrument for stabilizing the motor transportation industry has been placed in the hands of the Interstate Commerce commission," said Mr. Dorsey.

The Federal Motor Carrier Law, which became effective October 15, places under Interstate Commerce commission control the granting of certificates, fixing of rates, etc., on all trucks operated for hire in interstate commerce.

Arrangements are being made by a committee headed by L. M. Robertson, Gulf Brewing company, Houston, to hold the meeting at the Texas State Hotel at 7 p. m.

ing the provisions of Title 102, Revised Civil Statutes of Texas, 1925, and all amendments thereto, relating to the transportation, purchase, sale and handling of the products, by-products and derivatives of crude petroleum oil and natural gas in the state of Texas, and in conformity to the provisions of House Bill No. 296, passed at the 44th Regular Session of the Legislature of the state of Texas, which provides that:

"On or before the twentieth (20th) day of each calendar month the commission shall hold a hearing after notice has been given as provided by law, for the purpose of determining the aggregate daily capacity to produce of all gas wells in a common reservoir, and as nearly as possible, the daily volume of gas from each common reservoir that will be produced from gas wells during the following month to be utilized as permitted in this article.

Upon such determination, the commission, based upon evidence introduced at such hearing, shall allocate to each gas well producing from such common reservoir a percentage of the daily productive capacity of each well which may be produced daily during the following month from each common reservoir, such percentage of the daily productive capacity of each well shall be regarded as its daily allowable production of such volume required for utilization from such common reservoir."

And at the same time the commission will consider the question of the daily reasonable market for gas from the gas wells in this state, with the view of promoting and regulating the daily gas well production from each common reservoir in the manner and method set out in House Bill No. 296, above referred to.

Pursuant to said hearing the commission will enter such orders as in its judgment may be necessary and lawful in keeping with the testimony submitted.

OIL EMBARGO AGAINST ITALY REGARDED AS VERY UNLIKELY

Uncle Sam Holds Key and He Is Not Expected to Join in Move.

LONDON, Nov. 9. (AP)—The strong position of the United States in the oil industry is looked upon in government aid circles as damaging to the chances for success of an oil embargo against Italy. Italy is reported to be seeking much Texas oil.

The Geneva session for the oil embargo made it conditional on the cooperation of states not enrolled in the League of Nations, and the recent speech by Cordell Hull, American secretary of state, is accepted here as ruling out his nation's participation in the embargo.

The only other way such an embargo could be imposed would be by agreement of private companies. It was learned unofficially the British government has approached neither the United States government nor American oil companies in the matter.

Little credence was given in oil distributing circles to rumors that the big international companies, such as the Anglo-Dutch Royal Dutch Shell, and Standard Oil might consult on shutting off their product to Italy.

Such action would be futile, it was pointed out, since it would simply divert business toward the smaller, unaffiliated American companies. British oil companies are keeping in close touch with the board of trade, but only for exchange of views. It was said, as no isolated action is contemplated in interstate commerce.

Refining Payrolls Show Increase

AUSTIN, Nov. 9.—Reports from nearly 1,500 representative establishments show that a total of 70,507 men and women were employed in Texas for the week ended nearest the middle of October, a decline of 2 per cent from the like month of a year ago, but practically the same as the corresponding week of September, according to the University of Texas bureau of business research.

Total payrolls for these firms, however, were $1,591,000, an increase of 2.6 per cent over October, last year and slightly larger than the previous month.

Cities showing an increase over both comparable periods included Laredo, Port Arthur, San Antonio, Waco, and Wichita Falls.

Industries showing gains over the two periods were: Cement plants, cotton oil mill, electric maintenance and equipment, furniture manufacturing, men's clothing manufacturing, petroleum refining, and wholesale stores.

Nobody seems to know when the mute, which is attached to the bridge of a violin to change its tone, was invented. One of the earliest printed scores to call for its use is that of Lully's "Armide."

STATEWIDE HEARING NOV. 19 WILL STRESS ORDER ON GAS

Gas orders of the Railroad commission, which in recent weeks have been tied up by injunctions, may be made and improved following a statewide gas oil hearing in Austin November 19.

Attempts to get dissolution of the federal court injunctions were abandoned recently. The commission will stand up under House Bill 296, the notice of the hearing follows:

Order giving the public and persons interested notice of hearing pertaining to the proposed amendments to the Texas conservation and prevention of waste of crude petroleum oil and natural gas in the state of Texas, and the proposed amendments to the Texas conservation and prevention of waste of crude petroleum oil and natural gas in the state of Texas, and the proposed amendments to the Texas conservation and prevention of waste of crude petroleum oil and natural gas in the state of Texas.

At said hearing all parties interested shall be entitled to be heard and introduce evidence and to require the attendance of witnesses and production of evidence may be required as provided by law; and the hearing will be held at the state capitol building, Austin, Texas, on November 19, 1935, at 10 o'clock a. m.

AMATEUR NITE PROGRAMS TO START FRIDAY

WEDNESDAY IS TO BE LAST DAY FOR REGISTERING

Wednesday is the last day to register for those wishing to appear in the amateur program on the stage of La Nora theater next Friday night, Nov. 15.

Registration after that date will be booked on the programs that will be presented each Friday for four weeks following. The winner of each week's program will appear on a fifth week at La Nora and then join the winners of five other Panhandle towns for an all expense paid tour of Amarillo, Lubbock, Borger, Plainview, and Wellington, where they will compete for cash awards.

The need for talent for radio, stage and pictures has made amateur programs popular over the entire country, and these shows have proved a very prolific source of worthwhile ability. Many outstanding stars of today owe their start to the type of shows that are to be presented here.

Famed Artist Is Back at Canyon

CANYON, Nov. 9.—America's greatest woman artist, Georgia O'Keefe, visited her old haunts at Canyon this week; it was the first time she had been on the campus of the West Texas State Teachers college since she resigned as head of the art department there in 1919 to test her creative ability in New York.

It was in 1915 that Georgia O'Keefe sent her first sketches of Texas flowers to a girl friend in New York, charging her to show them to no one, to judge them herself and then destroy them. The friend, impressed with the pictures, disobeyed the instructions and showed them to Alfred Steiglitz, critic and friend of unknown artists. He promptly put them in an exhibit, and earned the wrath of the artist, who promptly went to New York to express it to the exhibitor.

She stayed, continuing to paint flowers, mostly those of Texas. In 1920 she had her first big show in New York City, and in a few years later five of her flower pictures were sold for $25,000.

For four years O'Keefe has been spending part of her time in New Mexico, in the region northwest of Taos; she says that each year she stays longer. One critic has rejoiced that "Georgia O'Keefe has added the desert crosses of New Mexico to the sky-scrapers of New York as subjects for her luminous portrayal."

Miss O'Keefe hopes to spend the fall of 1936 in the Panhandle, painting the things which have given so much pleasure to her memories during the years since she lived here.

Picture Will Be Presented Church

This afternoon at the vesper hour, 5 o'clock, at the Presbyterian church there will be presented to the church a beautiful picture in colors of "The Last Supper" by da Vinci. Mrs. Mary L. Hoover is presenting it in memory of her husband, Charles Albert Hoover. The entire service will be in keeping with the spirit of the picture, the sermon being an explanation of the teaching of the picture and its permanent message to those who stay from Sunday to Sunday be privileged to look upon it.

The children, juniors and intermediates will have their vesper services at the same hour in their respective rooms. The junior choir rehearsal will be held at 5:50. Mr. Burr will sing at the morning hour, at the Presbyterian church today.

Hittler's "My Struggle" has been issued in Brazil, as Nazi propagandists want Germany's blind to read Nazi theories and thereby "plant our world outlook" in their memories.

Opinions To Be Read in Sermon

Given an opportunity to tell what they would do if they were president, a number of members of First Methodist church wrote statements which will be read by the Rev. Gaston Poote in his sermon this evening on "What I would Do If I Were President."

The evening service will start at 7:30. At the morning hour, the sermon will be on an Armistice day topic, The God of Mars. A drive for attendance of men will feature the Sunday school period.

Rev. Poote will leave the first of next week for the annual Northwest Texas conference, closing a year of work for the church.

EDUCATION

story teller at 1 o'clock, and Mrs. T. P. Morton at 2 o'clock.

Wednesday will be music day, featuring the school's Kid Band, newly organized Kid Orchestra, Glee Club, and other musical units.

At 9 o'clock Thursday morning Roy Tinsley, violinist, will speak to fourth, fifth, and sixth grades and play solos. At 10 o'clock Thomas K. Simms will speak on art and show some of his paintings. Mrs. Frank Shotwell, president of Woodrow Wilson Parent-Teacher association, will explain the meaning of that work to the school, at 1 p. m.

Miss Lois Stallins, school music teacher, will direct music programs in the lower grades Thursday afternoon, and Supt. R. B. Fisher has been asked to show movies of life in Russia.

The school hopes to have parents of all pupils as visitors Friday. Open house will be held from 1 to 4 o'clock.

Dick Powell, Keeler Are Featured in New Film

The thrill and romance of naval officers in the making, men who in peace or in war, heroically brave death for their country in their line of duty, is colorfully depicted in the new Warner Bros.-Cosmopolitan drama-with-music, "Shipmates Forever," which is scheduled as the feature attraction at La Nora theatre today.

It is an intimate and revealing story of the lives of the midshipmen in their study rooms at Annapolis, on the parade grounds and their cruises at sea. It pictures them at work and at play; their loves and their laughter; their loyalty and their courage "under fire."

Dick Powell and Ruby Keeler head the cast. Dick personifies the raw cadet, somewhat spoiled but with the makings of a man, who is whipped into shape as a gallant officer through the rigor of the Naval Academy training, and Ruby the loyal daughter of the Navy.

Dick sings; fights a bitter battle alone with himself and finally winds up as a hero who dashes through scalding steam and flame to rescue a shipmate. Ruby dances to gay throngs, the while she fights desperately to win the man she loves to the traditions of the Navy.

The film company spent a month at Annapolis, the movie actors enacting their roles with the training school as a background, and with 1,000 cadets taking part.

While the picture is not a musical, several new songs are introduced by Powell in his role as a night club entertainer. All were composed by the famous song writing team of Warren & Dubin. The chief of them is a marching song "Don't Give up the Ship." In addition to these, Dick sings a number of famous old sea ballads, among them "Abdul Abulbul Amir," and "Anchors Aweigh."

There is a talented supporting cast which includes Lewis Stone, Ross Alexander, Eddie Acuff, Richard (Dick) Foran, Robert Light, John Alredge, Joseph Crehan, Mary Treen and Martha Merrill. Frank Borzage directed.

"Little Big Shot" the Warner Bros. production, which marks the American film debut of the 5-year-old genius, Sybil Jason, has been booked for the Rex theater today. It is said to be a powerful drama that contains hilarious comedy, touching pathos and a delightful romance.

The story by Harrison Jacobs was made into a screen play by three ace writers, Jerry Wald, Julius J. Epstein and Robert Andrews.

There is a four star cast headed by Sybil Jason, and including Glenda Farrell, Robert Armstrong and Edward Everett Horton.

Sybil, who is not yet six years of age, plays the part of an orphan who is adopted by two men living by their wits, and eventually brings about their reform, with the air of Glenda Farrell, who has an entirely different role to her usual vamping, gold-digging parts. In this picture she is a checkmate to her own answers, but she longs for a home in the country and love.

Robert Armstrong and Edward Everett Horton have the roles of the two near crooks, who fall in love with little Sybil and risk their necks to get her back from a gang of kidnapers.

Armstrong and Horton are responsible for the hilarious laughter in the piece, and also for many tender scenes. Sybil, besides having a real acting role, in which she wins their hearts, also sings, dances and mimics in this picture.

Additional programs to be presented so forcefully at the local unit meetings that parents will be compelled through mutual understanding of the crucial conditions to cooperate with educators in presenting the instructional procedure of the school. These are some of the highlights to be discussed at this conference.

Participants in the conference will be the four state chairmen: Mrs. J. B. Woolfolk, Pecos, humane education; Mrs. F. L. Jaccard, Fort Worth; Mrs. Dr. David K. Brace, Austin, physical education; Mrs. C. T. Hunkapillar, Pampa, school education.

MANY TICKETS ARE SOLD FOR PIANO CONCERT

SHAMROCK PUBLISHER REPORTS JOHNSON 'CAPTURED' CITY

Esther Johnson, one of the world's greatest pianists, who will be presented in concert here next Thursday evening at the city hall auditorium at 8:15 o'clock, was given a "wonderful ovation at Shamrock, Thursday night, according to Albert Cooper, publisher of the Shamrock News."

In a letter to the sponsors of the concert to be given here, Mr. Cooper wrote:

"I understand Miss Esther Johnson is to appear in a recital in Pampa, and I want to give you my reaction to her appearance in Shamrock, Thursday night, according to Albert Cooper, publisher of the Shamrock News."

"Miss Johnson is a very human and charming lady and I believe my paper received more good will and created more prestige by sponsoring her appearance here than any other single promotion we have done. You cannot play Miss Johnson too strong."

The greatest living interpreter of the music of Mozart has been acclaimed similarly all over Europe by king and peasant alike.

Sale of tickets to the concert were reported good yesterday. Boy Scouts of Troop 80 yesterday sold about 50 tickets in two hours. They expect to sell 300 before the concert Thursday. Tickets are in sale at two places in the business district: at the Boy Scout office in the city hall, phone 384; and Mrs. Wright's office in the First Methodist church, phone 624. Those who want tickets can obtain them by calling either of those two numbers, and Boy Scouts will deliver the pasted boards. The Scouts will apply the proceeds to their building fund.

Scouts called at many houses and business places yesterday with tickets, and will visit more during the week. The sponsors were well-satisfied with the results of the first day of the ticket drive.

Children Especially Invited

Miss Johnson is particularly hopeful that all the children in this community taking music will attend her concert. When she opened her tour of the Panhandle in Amarillo recently, hundreds of young students of piano stood in line for her to write her autograph on their programs. Miss Johnson has played before enthusiastic audiences at Memphis, Childress, Shamrock and will play in Pampa and Hereford this week at Hereford on Tuesday evening. Scores of Pampa people heard her at Amarillo. Her program here will be similar to the one played there, but the concert will not cost as much. Tickets here are 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children.

"This excellent pianist has for the professional world of today one fault—that is that she is as modern as she is gifted," said the Deutsche - Osterreichische Tageszeitung and an account of Miss Johnson's concert and then adds: "The more one hears this American pianist the more one must esteem her. Her playing is soulful, technically perfect and utterly free—reflects a warm understanding and a remarkable earnestness. Rich applause awarded her for her distinguished performance."

Petite, fair and with a winning simplicity, this artist takes issue with those who say: "Oh, I don't go to concerts. I don't understand classical music."

"When music is inspired and well played one does not have to understand it," the artist declares. "One feels it—it speaks to the heart. The only kind of music it is difficult to understand is poor music that goes under the name of serious music."

Canadian Pastor Will Speak Here

Roy S. Davis, young minister of the Christian church at Canadian, will speak at First Christian church here this evening. His sermon subject will be Stephen the Strong Man.

John S. Mullen, local minister, is conducting a revival at Canadian that will continue through next week. He will be here for the morning service today.
