Cairo Government Overthrown

General Carries Out Swift Coup

CAIRO (AP) — Egyptian Gen. Mohammed Naguib took control of Cairo in a military coup today and Premier Ahmed Naguib Milaly Pasha resigned.

Gen. Naguib broadcast that the army was "in full control of the situation" in Cairo 9 1/2 hours after the coup. He proclaimed himself Army commander-in-chief and pledged a drive against political corruption.

At Naguib's orders, officials arrested 12 generals known as followers of Gen. Mohammed Haidar Pasha, from whom Naguib wrested the Army control.

Accepts Resignation
At Alexandria, the chief of the Cabinet, Afifi Pasha, told reporters King Farouk accepted Haidar's resignation and asked Aiy Maher Pasha to form a new cabinet.

Troops with machine guns moved into the heart of Cairo. Tanks and armored cars surrounded main business buildings, government structures and the Abdin Royal Palace as Naguib, whose appointment as war minister was vetoed by Farouk last week, announced he was taking command of the army.

In a broadcast Naguib said Egyptian police were "co-operating" with us against bad elements.

London sources regarded the coup as a direct challenge to King Farouk. Naguib's broadcast, as heard in London, said the nation had been "purged" of persons who took bribes during the Palestine War and of traitors who plotted against the Army after the Palestine War. Naguib, a three-wounded hero of that war, promised safety to foreigners. Shortly after the Naguib announcement the Cairo radio went off the air.

Tanks Converge

The Naguib coup first was announced by the Egyptian State Broadcasting Co. As Gen. Naguib was making his announcement, tanks and armored cars were converging on the Adin Palace and the principal government buildings banks and business houses. Cairo has been in a state of nervous tension since January when disastrous riots engulfed the capital. King Farouk ousted the Wafdist Party government at that time. Many observers considered that the Waf had whipped up anti-British sentiment deliberately to counter rising charges of corruption among Waf Party leaders.

Discord Rips Union Ranks

CHICAGO (AP) — Union labor ranks were ripped apart today by angry and bitter discord over the sudden dumping of Vice President Alben Barkley as a Democratic presidential candidate.

John L. Lewis, the bushy-browed leader of the United Mine Workers, was in a towering rage against CIO and AFL leaders whom he accused of "small-time political intrigue" with some Democratic presidential hopefuls to chop down the Kentucky, a long-time friend of labor.

But this Lewis anger was only part of a story of backstage maneuvering, political coalitions and divisions which have been boiling beneath the surface of this 51st Democratic National Convention.

And it was, in part at least, the story of the struggle between Democratic factions to name the party nominee.

There was some talk the Barkley boom might be revived. But it may be just talk. Barkley will go to the Convention Hall tonight for the first time and address the delegates.

Gray 4-H Members Entertain Families

Boys and girls of Gray County 4-H Clubs will entertain families and other guests at an ice cream social in Central Park in Pampa Thursday at 8 p.m.

Girls are to bring cakes to go with the ice cream to be furnished by members and leaders of the boys' clubs.

Games have been planned to complete the evening. Bill Goldstein, assistant county agent, is in charge of the picnic.

GIVES IT AWAY — Claud H. Foster, 79, (above), of Cleveland, O., gave away nearly four million dollars. Declaring "Many roads lead to God," he distributed it among Protestant, Catholic and Jewish hospitals and orphanages. Foster is going to retire in a four-room cottage on Sandusky Bay. NW Airport Contractor To Move In Construction of aprons, taxiways and seal coating on runway at the county's airfield northwest of town should be in full swing by Monday or Tuesday, Wayland Merriman, consulting engineer on the project, reported this morning.

The contractor, Merriman, was held up on a job at Lamessa and is scheduled to move his equipment today or tomorrow. "He should be in full swing Monday," Merriman said. In the meantime only a pump for the field water well is still in the "to be delivered" stage but is expected within the next two or three days. The septic tank for the airport sewage system along with 300 feet of 4-inch sewer line, 200 feet of 2-inch and 100 feet of 1-inch water line are already laid and ready for use.

Merriman said the contractor working on the runways, taxiways and aprons said he was sure of completion before Sept. 1, opening date of the airport.

Officials of the Cabot Co. also reported progress on the new company hangar is moving "right along."

It is 10 per cent complete, floor pouring and other initial building work finished. When ready for use the hangar will house two planes and will also have provisions for use of use of Central Airlines.

$15,000 Bond Made By Amarillo Woman

Bonnie Ruth Robison, 21, charged with murder with malice in the fatal shooting of Oran Reddoch, 39, is now at home in Turkey, Texas, with her parents, according to her attorney, George McCarthy.

Miss Robison was released from Potter County Jail Tuesday after posting a $15,000 bond, one of the highest in the history of the county. Earlier the district attorney had recommended she be held without bond, but later agreed to her release.

In a statement to Amarillo police Tuesday, Miss Robison admitted pumping six .32 caliber pistol bullets into Reddoch as a result of an earlier argument.

Wreckage Of Missing Plane Believed Found

WINNIPEG, Manitoba (AP) — Wreckage of a plane missing since Monday with seven Manitoba provincial government employees aboard was believed found last night in isolated swamp country 200 miles north of Winnipeg.

Air searchers who sighted the wreckage said it appeared to be that of the missing craft, but heavy fog and darkness prevented positive identification.

Candidates, Election Officials Rushing To Beat Calendar

The last minute rush by candidates and primary election officials is on. While contending candidates are trying to beat each other, Democratic party officials are trying to beat the calendar and get election supplies delivered to the various voting places on time.

The supplies aren't the only headaches this year. This will be the first time the county will be using voting booths. Getting them delivered and set up is one of the chief problems staring County Chairman Aaron Sturgeon in the face this morning.

Because this is the first election Sturgeon is heading up without experienced assistance, he is at a loss as to whom to contact at the various schools to get them opened Friday morning so the booths can be moved in and set up.

Six school buildings in Pampa and the county have to be opened Friday so election officials can get in and set up the booths. The schools are: Baker, Horace Mann and Woodrow Wilson, all in Pampa; Hopkins School, Grandview School, and the Letors High School.

Baker Has Trouble
Party Secretary Bob Baker is having his troubles too. Yesterday afternoon the young court reporter, also working his first Texas primary election (the chore used to be done by Dee Dodson, now secretary to Rep. Walter Rogers in Washington) has three things he feels "must" be done:

1. Prepare tally sheets and other election blanks for each of the precincts, including inserting with pen or pencil the name of each candidate on the ballots (there are approximately 61 names on each of the four ballots) so they will be ready for delivery Thursday.

2. Take testimony in a civil suit today in district court.

3. Listen to the Democratic convention.

While all this is going on, local level and state level candidates were pouring on the coal in a last ditch effort to impress voters, many of whom have already made up their minds.

Gentlemen's Agreement
Friday will be the last day of electioneering around Gray County. It has been an unwritten law — more of a gentlemen's agreement — in years past for candidates to refrain from campaigning on election day.

Late yesterday afternoon Sturgeon said he had wound up obtaining election judges for each precinct and had them ready for their work.

Ma Ferguson Backs Shivers; Blasts At 'Noisy' Loyalists

Former Governor Miriam (Ma) Ferguson today endorsed Gov. Allan Shivers for reelection, at the same time taking a blast at "the small, noisy group trying to sell out Texas."

Her endorsement followed, by a day, a story appearing in the Galveston News defending Shivers on his alleged trip aboard the Balinese, a yacht owned by the late Sam Maceo, Galveston gambler.

Mrs. Ferguson, in a signed letter received by The News today bluntly stated: "I am for Gov. Allan Shivers." Then she blasted at the Loyalist forces.

"If my beloved husband James E. Ferguson were alive, I know that he would never countenance the small but noisy group who would sell out the great state of Texas, its schools and its tide-lands, to the bureaucrats and political highbinders in Washington and the left wing elements."

Ma didn't forget to take a slap at Shivers' opponent, Ralph Yarborough, but didn't mention his name.

"Accordingly, I feel it my duty to ask the great army of old-time Ferguson supporters to support and work for Gov. Shivers to the end that our great state may retain its sovereignty and campaign of slander and vituperation may forever be banished from our state."

A few hours before Ma Ferguson's declaration went into the mails, David C. Leavell, former vice president of the Galveston Chamber of Commerce, said charges made by Yarborough over the governor's trip aboard the Balinese were "without fact."

Burglar Gets Away After Auto Mishap

An unidentified burglar is still loose today after escaping from a four-car automobile accident at a railroad overpass, seven miles east of Shamrock on U.S. 66.

At the time of the accident, the burglar driving a car with Missouri plates, was being chased by Lee Trimble, Texola, whose drive-in had been entered at 4 a.m. Earlier the burglar had stolen some clothes from a tailor shop in Sayre, Okla.

An ambulance from the Richardson Funeral Home, Shamrock, brought Trimble and a Negro woman in to the local hospital; no one was injured.

All four cars were damaged, evidently to such an extent that none of them was able to be driven into town without aid. For the ambulance did not arrive on the scene till about 6 a.m.

Highway Patrol is investigating the wreck.

Job Situation Improves Here

Though the job situation is still tight in the Pampa area, it is better than it was a week ago, the Texas Employment Commission reports.

At 4 p.m. Tuesday there were 29 jobs offered of which 17 had been filled. Exactly one week before, there were but four jobs open. Jobs available Tuesday ranged from yardman to insurance salesman to soda dispenser.

A COUPLE OF STYLISTS COMPARE HATS—If there's anything a woman doesn't like, it's to see a hat that's a duplicate of her own. But this gal, June Earley, 21, of Casa Grande, Ariz., has no complaint. She borrowed her hat from Jimmy Wambach, 6, of Chicago, the little fellow who's standing on the chair and also sporting a hat with a donkey cutout. Democrats Polish Platform Planks

CHICAGO (AP) — Democrats, in a surprising display of harmony, planned to unveil their new platform today.

While there always is a chance for a good fight at any Democratic National Convention, a coalition of moderate Dixie-Yankee leaders appeared to be in control at this session.

The tentative drafts of two key planks, foreign policy and labor, were handed to reporters last night as the platform architects applied final shape and polish to their handiwork.

Taking part were McCormack, Sen. Herbert H. Lehman of New York and Philip B. Perlman who recently resigned as attorney general.

Guard To Receive New Army Vehicles From Fort Worth

Three new enlistments one promotion and the assignment of three new army vehicles were announced today by the Pampa National Guard unit headquarters battery of the 47th Field Artillery and Observation Battalion.

New recruits included Lloyd Britt Altway, Jimmy Wayne Keel and Ronald Cecil and Cpl. Wesley Langham was promoted to sergeant.

The new vehicles to be brought from Fort Worth by a group from the battery this week will be three-quarter ton four by four weapons carrier, W. O. William Leonard, Sgt. Lilburn Howell and Sgt. Langham will go by bus to Fort Worth and drive the trucks back in a convoy with representatives from the other three batteries in the battalion.

The other units include Battery A, Dumas, Battery B, Dalhart and Battery C, Shamrock. Each of these units was assigned one new weapons carrier.

The battalion is getting ready for its annual two-week encampment at Fort Hill, Okla., in August. The units are building up to full strength for the two weeks of active duty and Capt. Charles L. Robison, commanding officer of the headquarters battery, announces that recruits are still being enlisted.

Two Killed, Three Injured In Accident

SEYMOUR (AP) — A car-truck collision near Mabelle, northeast of here, yesterday killed two persons and injured three others.

Don Eldridge, 25, Stanton, and his mother-in-law, Mrs. Maggie Messer, about 70, Mound, Okla., were killed. Eldridge's wife and two children, Belinda, 2, and Glenda, 4, were slightly injured.

The driver of the truck, J. H. D. Thompson, of Vernon, was injured.

Southerner Sought For Stevenson

CONVENTION HALL, Chicago (AP) — The Democratic Convention achieved a new air of harmony today under White House signal calling and party veterans pressed for a Stevenson - Southerner ticket which could seal a North - South union for the November election.

Intervention by President Truman's staff had calmed the once raging North - South battle over a "loyalty pledge."

There were signs, too, that Truman might give his open blessing to Gov. Adlai Stevenson for the presidential nomination before the convention gets around tonight to calling the roll of states for nominees.

Interior Secretary Oscar Chapman, who has been a Truman emissary at the convention, had a breakfast conference with the Illinois governor.

They met in the apartment of Edwards McDougal, a friend of the governor.

It was learned that Chapman proposed the meeting.

It was clear the party wheelbarrows were back in the driver's seat and out to name the ticket.

They were talking first of all of Sen. Richard B. Russell of Georgia as a running mate for Stevenson.

Russell, in bidding for the top post, has said repeatedly he didn't want the vice presidential nomination.

If he stuck by that attitude — and party veterans had their way — the convention proposed Stevenson - Southerner ticket — the second place might go either to Sen. John Sparkman, Alabama, or Sen. William Fulbright, Arkansas.

Backers of Sen. Estes Kefauver, Tennessee, and Averell Harriman, other aspirants for the presidential nomination, were not giving up their fight.

There were reports they were jointly planning strategy but James Roosevelt, a Kefauver supporter, denied to a news conference that the Kefauver and Harriman forces had teamed up in a "stop - Stevenson" movement.

Most of the heat apparently had gone out of the North-South scrap over a "loyalty pledge" as a result of a compromise drafted last night in line with suggestions telephoned by Charles Murphy, personal counsel for President Truman.

Late Contest Entries Coming In

Last-minute entries in The Pampa Daily News sponsored "Name Your Airport Contest" were still coming through the mails this morning as the deadline for entries moved another day closer.

Only three days are left to get your suggestion for the county's new airfield northwest of town into the contest editor. It comes in after midnight Saturday the entry will have to be as late.

Many contestants have been satisfied with sending in only one name. Several others have submitted two or more names. Perhaps you have the right of another name since you sent in your first entry. If so send in another one; send in as many as you like but be sure they are postmarked before midnight July 26.

The winner will receive $25 in cash from The News. County Commissioners have agreed to give the airport the name submitted by the winner of the contest. There will be no split prize or duplicates in case of a tie. The earliest postmark will be the sole determining factor in that case. To date, there have been several names suggested by at least three or four different persons. One name alone has been suggested by seven contestants.

Pampa Clubs Hosts To Square Dancers

Pampans and their guests will be whirling about on the Hobart Park Slab this Saturday at the midsummer jamboree of the Pampa Square Dance Association.

Dancing is slated to begin at 8 p.m. In the afternoon there will be a business meeting of the association at 2:30 and a clinic at 4.

Prize Saddle

This saddle, inspected and admired by Miss Sue Lynn McFall, local cowgirl, is to be presented to the girl with best average in the Sponsored Cowgirl Contest of the Top of Texas Rodeo in Pampa August 5-9. Cowgirls will compete at each main performance of the rodeo for this prize. A similar saddle was presented to Jane Ranson of Perryton as the top cowgirl of last year's rodeo. Made by the Stapleton Boot and Leather Shop of Pampa, the saddle was sold to the rodeo at a reduced price. (News Photo)

Hollywood Plans To Give Shakespeare Another Whirl

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Bill Shakespeare is being given another whirl in Hollywood. It is hoped the old boy won't be whirling in his grave after this try.

The hard has never fared too well at the hands of the Hollywood film makers. But this time MGM is exercising the utmost care to make sure Shakespearians as well as movie fans are satisfied with its version of "Julius Caesar." Witness the facts:

1. John Gielgud, ace Shakespearean actor of England, is being imported to play Cassius.
2. Greer Garson and Deborah Kerr are playing virtuous women.
3. Marlon (Mumbles) Brando will talk plainly as Marc Antony.

Producer John Houseman, who produced Shakespeare with Orson Welles on Broadway, reported that it was easy to persuade Gielgud to play his first U. S. movie. Miss Kerr volunteered for her tiny part, and Miss Garson easily acceded. While the roles of Portia (Kerr) and Calpurnia (Garson) are only about three pages, the scenes are important," Houseman explained.

As for Brando—"This business about his mumbling is silly. He did that to create a character. I have heard him do plays in which he enunciated very clearly."

Completing the cast are James Mason as Brutus and Louis Calhern as Julius Caesar. Houseman explained that he is striving for a happy combination of English and American accents.

The producer said he encountered some opposition to a Shakespearean project, largely due to past mishaps. He explained their errors:

"'Midsummer Night's Dream' (1935) was a mishmash of a play to begin with. 'Romeo and Juliet' (1936) suffered, I believe, because it was largely created by movie people, instead of those connected with the stage. Also, Norma Shearer and Leslie Howard had no Shakespearean experience.

"Orson Welles' 'Mac Beth' (1948) had three strikes against it: a limited budget, the Scotch accent, and Orson was too busy to concentrate on his performance."

Bill Houseman added that Laurence Olivier's "Henry V" and "Hamlet" blazed the trail for Shakespeare on film. "It must be prepared with care and sold to a select audience," he said.

"This ad says we can borrow enough to pay all our debts and have some left—it says that's the good old honest American way!"

Legends That Surround Texas Are Bigger Than State Itself

By HENRY McLEMORE
MARSHALL, TEXAS—Texas never ceases to astound me. I am driving across it now for the umpty-umpty time and my amazement is just as great as it was the first time I crossed the Lone Star State.

The legends that surround Texas are even bigger than the state itself, which makes the legends mighty big. These legends are known around the world. I have traveled in many lands, and I have yet to be in a spot, no matter how far off the beaten path, that the mention of Texas didn't stir the same imaginative picture in the minds of people thousands of miles away from Texas as it does in the minds of Americans.

This is a tremendous tribute to the personalities of Texas, the tongues of Texans, and the pens and typewriters of Texans. Texas is not one of the original thirteen states, but mention Massachusetts in the middle of China and no one would know what you were talking about, while Texas is as familiar to the Chinese as the profile of Confucius.

But to get back to what astounds me about Texas—Texas is no more like the Texas that Texans paint than a chipmunk is like a bunch of grapes. The first time I went through Texas I was astonished to see men wearing ties made of silk. I had been led to believe that they only wore ties of hemp with a sheriff serving as a valet to tie them.

I never expected to see the American flag flying over the post office buildings. I thought the Stars and Stripes was only flown when the state flag was at the laundry getting washed. I was shocked when I went into a restaurant and found that their butter knives were the same as ours and not Colt .45's. I couldn't believe my eyes when I saw babies eating out of high chairs, just like babies do in the rest of the country. I was sure that Texas bimbos would have their pabnum and chili served to them aboard a bucking Shetland pony.

Since I crossed into Texas on a surprise beneath the breast to achieve the same effect as a modern brassier.

"I don't care about the Greeks," said Miss Sider. "All I wanted you to do was to look at my girdleless-girdle and see if you didn't think it fitted your theory that a woman's figure should look natural, and not too tightly bound in."

"It has its points," admitted I determine the true perspective without calipers?"

Where Are Your Calipers? Hot Fight Waged Between Girdle, Anti-Girdle Leaders

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

When is a girdle not a girdle? That question was fought to a draw during a recent meeting between Charles James, the stormy designer who has declared war on standard corsetry, and Frances Sider, who has invented a girdle that she says isn't really a girdle at all.

Miss Sider, who has put on a fashion show of her foundations for the edification of the U.S. Patent Office, faced the opposition squarely by inviting James to drop in and take a look at her new-brain-child in her own air-conditioned showroom. Before the visit was 30 minutes old the air conditioning was working overtime to keep up with the heated words.

Accompanied by his favorite dress form, an assistant and his best Napoleon manner, the redoubtable James strode into the salon, inspected the pretty model wearing a wisp of aqua nylon elastic and demanded of Miss Sider:

"Where are your calipers?"

"Calipers? What are those?"

"Calipers. Calipers: Every student at MIT uses them. Every architect uses them."

"But I am neither a student at MIT nor an architect," pointed out Miss Sider.

"There," exclaimed James triumphantly. "No calipers. That, my dear ladies, is the trouble with the foundation industry."

While his assistant unveiled the James dress form, the great man seized a tape measure and went to work, declaiming:

"I will now illustrate the correct proportions of the current silhouette. The space from bust to waist should be 7 inches. The distance between the point of each bust should form the base of an equilateral triangle with the apex at the base of the throat. The waist-line is never straight, but curved."

"Mr. James," said Miss Sider, exerting iron control, "will you please get that dummy out of here?"

"But my dear lady" expostulated James, "surely you should be interested in the correct proportions of the female figure."

"That's your figure. I fit my girdles on living models," announced Miss Sider. "I don't want to know the proportions of that dress form."

"But you must," said James. "Observe—the Greeks used a cross

WASTED WORDS—Communist Max Reimann (arrow) makes a speech in the West German parliament at Bonn, attacking the West German peace pact. He talked to an almost empty room, because non-Communist deputies walked out on him, leaving one deputy from each party in the hall. All returned after Reimann finished his speech.

and Eastern schoolboys own spurs. Panhandle to the Rio Grande and then there are in all of Texas. I'd also like to bet that I will cross Texas' border into Mexico without seeing one Old Paint being saddled, one ranch hand beating his way through the tumbleweeds to save a sad-eyed, strayed-from-Mama-dog, or an Eastern girl alighting from a stagecoach to be met by a shy cowboy who'll marry her later.

It's my guess that there are more tough hombres in Brooklyn than there are from the Panhandle to the Rio Grande and then there are in all of Texas. back again, and Texans pay more for their clothes than the men and women of, say, Delaware.

Nevertheless, I am taking "git-tar" lessons in case I run into a place in Texas that is like Texas is supposed to be. I don't want to be stranded in an air-conditioned bunkhouse without being able to sing about how both my ole hoss and my ole gal have left me for an oil well man in Dallas, Houston, or Corpus Christi.

GOP Labor Stand Denies Principle

Sen. Richard Nixon, GOP vice presidential nominee who assisted in drafting the Republican party platform, probably struck the keynote of the document when he said:

"It isn't going to make very many people happy but it may not make anybody mad."

Admittedly the framers of the platform were in a tough spot. At that time, the name of the Presidential nominee was still in the future and it was obviously impossible to frame a platform that would fit Gen. Dwight Eisenhower and Sen. Robert A. Taft.

So the framers decided that the platform wouldn't say anything and then the "interpretation" could be left up to which ever camp landed the nomination.

There are equivocations and evasions and double talk running all through the platform on some of the principal issues of the day. Hence it is almost impossible to tell what the platform really stands for.

How do you reconcile, for instance, the stand that workers are to be guaranteed "the right to a job without joining a union" while at the same time the platform offers labor unions "the right to establish 'union shop' contracts with management." The right to a job without joining a union ought to be the only stand of either party if the framers really believed in the American system of government. The right to a job without paying tribute to a bunch of union bosses whose sole interest in unions and the members of unions is the money and political power that the unions afford them, ought to be and in actuality is, as much an inherent right as those of "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness."

The "union shop" is only a subterfuge to get around certain provisions of the Taft-Hartley law and provide the union bosses with a whip that will enable them to beat both management and the workers into submission. This, in the long run can only result in a lower standard of living for all of the workers who will be forced to pay for the non-production tactics of the union bosses.

These facts were well known to the men who wrote the Republican platform. They recognized the inescapable truth in denying the "closed shop" phrase but granted the "union shop" which is exactly the same thing — with a small delaying process. But they failed to have the courage of their convictions sufficiently to flatly say what they knew should have been said — that the GOP platform should have said that the Republican party would stand by the right of everyone to a job without joining a union, period.

Now, apparently, it is up to Eisenhower (we hope he ignores the Dewey-Lodge gang) to determine which stand he will take. Will he stand four-square for what he knows to be right or will he take the politician's way out by declaring for both views and meaning nothing?

Dogs And The Sun

Only "Mad dogs and Englishmen" walk in a mid-day sun, according to a rough recollection of an old tune.

Left to himself a dog will never get sunstroke, having sense enough to know that the hot summer sun has the power to smite and kill him. He'll stay in the shade during the boiling hours.

But a good dog will forsake his own good sense at the command of even a silly master to go for a long walk under a burning sun! So if your dog gets knocked out by the sun, get him home or into the shade and throw cold water over his body, particularly at the base of the neck and give him a half-teaspoon of bromide in 1 1/2 teaspoons of water. Then keep him quiet for several days.

Or better yet, let him use his own wisdom! The critters are smarter than you think.

A Costly Crew

One dollar out of six now paid out in wages and salaries goes to a government worker. All wages and salaries — public and private — total about $168 billion a year. Federal, state and local governments pay their employes $32 billion, more than 17 per cent of the total.

More disturbing than the size of government payrolls, though, is their rapid growth.

Unbelievable as it may seem, official figures show that government payrolls have increased by 50 per cent within less than two years, while private payrolls have gone up only 26 per cent.

The U. S. Department of Commerce puts the total number of federal civilian employes at 2,348,000. The Byrd Economy Committee of the Senate uses a figure of 2,539,000. State and local government civilian employes have now reached a total of 3,620,000, the biggest number in the nation's history.

The Bald Fact

Man has learned to weigh the stars, to release the power of the atom, to send pictures and sound through the ether — but intellectually he remains in the Stone Age, a witless ignoramus, when it comes to doing anything about growing hair on a bald skull. So concludes Dr. Herbert Rattner, Northwestern University professor of dermatology. Bald as a china egg himself, he has given up on himself — and on all bald mankind. He lays it to heredity.

"To avoid baldness," he declared with finality, "a man can only use great care in choosing his ancestors." So if you have to fall back on a toupee wear it as gracefully as you may — and blame grandpa.

Better Jobs

By R. C. HOILES

My Platform

I recently read an article written by James C. Ingrebretsen, vice-president and counsel of Situational Mobilization, as published in the Daily Oklahoman, under the heading of "A Libertarian's Platform."

"Since this article says very clearly what I have been trying to explain in this column as the policy that I believe would best promote better jobs, peace, prosperity, friendship and liberty, I want to quote it. It reads as follows:

"The platform of the libertarian candidate is simple. It has only one plank in it: No special privilege for anyone.

"He concerns himself with only two methods of achieving this worthy objective:

1. The free market.
2. Government limited to the defense of life and property.

"There is no way known to man to determine prices of goods or rates of wages or where man should travel or where he should work or how long he should labor or in what manner he should exchange the fruits of his efforts, except in a market free of coercion or by some measure of authoritarianism. There is no possible way of determining value except by what an unfettered people will in exchange for any product or for any service. By government fiat, authoritarianism can, and does, curtail and destroy this freedom in the market place by granting special privileges to various persons and groups.

"Special privilege cannot be granted, however, except by a government that is out of - bounds. Government, limited to the defense of the life and livelihood of all citizens, has no special privilege within its power to grant. A government cannot grant anything to anyone which it does not take from someone else.

"The libertarian candidate, regardless of how great his competence may be, reasons thus: 'You as a person are better able to control your own life than I am. Your life is your personal affair, for better or for worse, except as in the living of your life you may incur or endanger the life and livelihood of others. No person nor set of persons on this earth has any logical right to interfere with you except as, you may, beyond the defense of your own life and livelihood.

"No person, without an element of authoritarianism, can argue otherwise. Libertarians — non - authoritarians — recognize that they have no logical rights, with respect to other people, beyond the defense of themselves. Nor do they grant to an agency — government in any of its forms — any rights which they themselves do not possess. A libertarian's government has nothing to dispense except equal protection against, or equal penalizing of, fraud, misrepresentation, predatory practices, and violence.

"The variations among men — in their intelligence, their talents, their inheritances — are the handiwork of God, and the libertarian accepts this fact. He refuses to play the role of god-man and to attempt a coercive readjustment of that which God has provided. He stands on the single platform of no special privilege for anyone, insofar as his dispensing of it is concerned.

"The libertarian goes on the political stage more to present his views than to seek office. For special privilege will prevail unless its error is understood at least by those whom others follow. Votes, the concern of those who cast them, are not to be sought at the expense of integrity or by concessions to authoritarianism.

"The libertarian has faith in free men. He is conscious of their natural inclination to co-operate for their own benefit and he knows that only in the release of their energy is good accomplished. He, therefore, does not want power, he wants only freedom from power, the mark of civilization. And he reasons that he cannot correct uncivilized man by becoming uncivilized himself."

The Doctor Says

By EDWIN J. JORLAN, M.D.

Stagnation or slowing of the flow of bile through the gall bladder, is believed to be at least one of the causes of gallstones.

Although no one knows exactly why stagnation should occur, such things as excessive fatness, lack of exercise, wearing of corsets, sagging of the abdominal organs and long-held position of stooping forward may slow the bile flow.

Whatever the cause for the formation of gallstones, they become increasingly common after 30 and are most frequent between 40 and 50. About three-fourths of all cases are in women.

Gallstones can get caught in the duct or passageway leading out of the gall bladder and produce severe pain and blockage to the flow of bile. Unless this happens the symptoms are likely to be rather mild, at least at first.

The most common symptom is "indigestion." Many people merely complain of a sense of fullness in the abdomen and a vague feeling of discomfort. Sometimes nausea and vomiting, with an increase in the amount of intestinal gas, is complained of. At times there is some pain in the region of the gall bladder; and this may be felt also in the back under the right shoulder blade.

Gallstones can almost always be detected by means of X-rays. Some of them can be found by a simple X-ray plate of the gall-bladder region. In most cases, however, a special dye, or coloring matter has to be given to the patient which is eliminated through the gall bladder. An X-ray taken at the proper time after taking this dye shows an outline of any gallstones present.

Mrs. W. asks a double-barreled question about gallstones: "Is surgery the only treatment, and what chance do you think a woman 75 years old stands of coming through a gall bladder operation?"

Now, to the first part of the question, the answer is that there are no medicines which will dissolve stones nor is there any sure way of making them pass down the bile duct into the intestines. Consequently, operation often has to be seriously considered, though it is not always advisable.

A woman 75 years old — or anyone else — must depend on the judgment of the surgeon as to whether the particular symptoms, age, physical condition, and other circumstances do or do not warrant an operation.

National Whirligig... Demo Hopefuls Court Truman For Approving Nod At Chicago

By RAY TUCKER

CHICAGO — Politicians are politicians.

Although neither starting nor original, that observation is provoked by the 17 Democratic presidential candidates' direct bids for the convention in favor of President Truman, scheduled to arrive here today and remain through the final balloting.

It is an amazing spectacle, with certain vulgar aspects. Mr. Truman is one of the most unpopular presidents in many years, personally and politically. Two Democratic Congresses have refused to enact any of his major "reform" proposals.

They have also defied him by cutting down his appropriation request for national defense and foreign aid.

A Supreme Court packed by Roosevelt-Truman appointees recently repudiated his theory of "inherent powers" in the steel seizure. By refusing to run against him he has virtually relinquished his party sovereignty.

And yet, the 17 ambitious gentlemen at Chicago court him like amorous swains on a soft summer evening alongside lonely La Michigan.

"TRUMANCRATS" — Most of the potential nominees, of course, are "Trumancrats," believing in his domestic and foreign programs. His pre-convention warning against abandonment of major tenets of the party's 20-year program is not always advisable.

Whether the particular symptoms, age, physical condition, and other circumstances do or do not warrant an operation.

EXPLANATION — Disillusioned Democrats, 1952 model, offer a slightly cynical explanation which, as friends they hesitate to credit. In their viewpoint Russell entered the race only as a protest candidate, a Georgia Cromwell, with no expectation that he would receive serious consideration. But the general evaluation of him as the "ablest and best qualified of the lot," by Democrats and Republicans, has brightened a January glint into a July gleam. With 300 claimed delegates from the South, "Dick" would lead the field on early balloting, if he could annex several large delegations from northern or midwestern areas by his Taft-Hartley maneuver. He may be hard to stop if he goes over the 400-mark despite the prejudice against nominating a man from the "Deep South."

REPLY — Russell himself has a seemingly logical reply. He voted for the Taft-Hartley Act, he told the writer, because some kind of a labor-management law was sorely needed in the early mercurial

Fair Enough... Reporter Won Pulitzer Prize On Fraud Of Barkley Election

By WESTBROOK PEGLER (Copyright, 1952, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

CHICAGO — As of this writing, Alben Barkley, of Kentucky, a craggy old man, untroubled by the minimum inhibitions of self-respect or conscience, is the leading candidate for the Democratic nomination for President. The figures on the division of delegates are unreliable because the party's future is murky and the bosses are a lot of hair-trigger liars. In the silence of Harry Truman, Barkley looms above, the rest of a wanted crew.

Barkley and Truman both won their respective elections so brazenly crooked that they should have been thrown out and indicted.

On the contrary, however, in Truman's case, the man who exposed the felonies and sent Tom Pennington to prison has pursued the party's interest by Truman's defiant opposition in the Senate. This was Maurice Milligan, an excellent United States attorney. Later, he wrote a book exposing Truman's personal rascality, in which he illustrated again by the mishap of false step in selecting his title. He called it "Missouri Waltz" and was set upon because this was the name of an old song of no consequence. Milligan finally gave up in disgust at the impropriety of the White House. The total would be five.

The theft on Barkley's behalf was engineered by Harry Hopkins, with his hearty cooperation, of course, in the Kentucky Democratic primary of 1936. Hopkins was running W.P.A., the massive federal lunch program which he described again by the mishap of false step in selecting his title. He called it "Missouri Waltz" and was set upon because this was the name of an old song of no consequence. Milligan finally gave up in disgust at the impropriety of the White House. The total would be five.

But at least four of the head-line hopefuls have fought and angered the man in the White House. The total would be five. Senator Kerr of Oklahoma, although rather regular in his legislative behavior has drawn a vicious and denunciatory veto from the White House. Truman described his natural gas bill as a rape of city consumers. The multimillionaire Oklahoma gas-and-oil magnate has equivocated on civil rights to gain southern support. Russell of Georgia stumpled.

Now has Kerr ever convinced an Oklahoma political jury that he supported Al Smith in 1928. Truman did. Still, strange as it may seem, Truman likes Kerr.

AGGRAVATED — Senator Kefauver of Tennessee cannot hope for a Truman nod, though he wants it. His only expectation was that the boss would stay "strictly neutral."

Kefauver's manager, Gael Sullivan has aggravated the hard-boiled polis' prejudice against the coal-shined, crime crusader who is aimed at his hero. And Truman is proud to be labeled a "pol."

Stevenson, almost overnight, has become a part-time states righter, although his stand on civil equality legislation suits neither Truman nor the Dixie bloc. He was the President's first favorite and still has the support of many Administration friends.

DERELICTION — But it is the apparent dereliction of "Dick" Byrnes, Georgia, which amounts for the "politicians are politicians," convention comment.

The tolerant Georgian and Truman have been good friends, which cannot be said of relations between the President and other "unreconstructed rebels" — Byrd of West Virginia, for instance. But Russell has been the South's floor general and strategist in major battles with the White House over civil rights and other questions. Until a few days ago, he had been the visible symbol of the anti-Truman movement within the party and convention.

Now, besides asking publicly for a presidential pat on his candidacy, the extremely able Georgian declares for repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act — he voted for the original measure and to override the Truman veto. He had not wavered in that stand before Chicago.

EXPLANATION — Disillusioned Democrats, 1952 model, offer a slightly cynical explanation which, as friends they hesitate to credit. In their viewpoint Russell entered the race only as a protest candidate, a Georgia Cromwell, with no expectation that he would receive serious consideration. But the general evaluation of him as the "ablest and best qualified of the lot," by Democrats and Republicans, has brightened a January glint into a July gleam.

With 300 claimed delegates from the South, "Dick" would lead the field on early balloting, if he could annex several large delegations from northern or midwestern areas by his Taft-Hartley maneuver. He may be hard to stop if he goes over the 400-mark despite the prejudice against nominating a man from the "Deep South."

REPLY — Russell himself has a seemingly logical reply. He voted for the Taft-Hartley Act, he told the writer, because some kind of a labor-management law was sorely needed in the early mercurial postwar years. Now, with changed conditions, with labor's 6-year growing against the very title of the act and Taft's defeat here a few weeks ago, the Senator from Georgia feels a new reason law should be written upon which union and industrial leaders will agree even before it is submitted to Congress.

If such a mutually satisfactory statute could be enacted, to become known as the "Eisenhower" or "Nixon" law, it might be the solution to the kind of labor warfare which has resulted in the currently disastrous steel strike.

INVITATION — The IT candidates' invitation to Truman to rejoin the Democratic party, especially Russell's welcome, is regarded as extremely significant. (1) It reveals that the Democrats are more scared of the Eisenhower-Nixon ticket than they have been of any Republican, presidential opposition in 20 years. They realize that they must renege somehow to remain in power.

(2) It shows that, despite the fake Hatch Act, convention delegates consist mostly of politicians and office-holders obedient and subservient to Washington. (3) It reflects a general admission that the Taft-Hartley Act needs revision. Oddly, Senator Taft has submitted more than a score of ameliorating amendments, but commencing action on them has been blocked by the White House. (4) It suggests that another Democratic Administration next January, regardless of the identity of Truman's successor, will embody many traces of "Trumanism" for a while and permanently, if it continues to be the formula for victory at the polls.

'Leave Wolf Clothing At Home' Vacationing Girls Are Warned

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

If you haven't been able to catch a husband during the other 51 weeks of the year, don't expect miracles during your two-weeks-with-pay.

This is the advice of Carletto Franzoni, who watches with compassion the perennial husbands-hunt of vacationing girls at his Chequit Inn on historic Shelter Island, N.Y. He adds:

"If a girl catches a husband on vacation, he's probably some other girl's husband on vacation. Wolf clothing is a favorite summer costume for straying husbands. So beware and behave."

Wife Vacationing

The handsome and dashing hotel owner concedes, however, that he met his own wife on vacation. She is Mary Kelley, who directs the tactics of New York's wholesale millinery industry from 9 to 5 then does a quick change to her lady-of-the-manor role finding time also to be a charming hostess, admiring wife and highly efficient mother. Says she:

"I wouldn't recommend this for all girls in search of romance, but I guess I was just lucky. A girl friend and I were touring Europe and Africa, and arrived at Biskra, in the Sahara Desert in French Algeria, looking somewhat like two girl scouts. Carletto was manager of the hotel and was so horrified to see two American girls traveling alone that he decided we needed a keeper. Naturally, he couldn't marry both of us. I won."

Set Of Rules

The Franzonis have worked out a set of rules for vacationing girls, from long observation on how to get the most out of a vacation:

1. Don't travel in droves. One or two girls at a time are all any man can cope with. Single girls are invited to join sailing parties, play bridge and so on—but what bridge game can include another foursome?

2. Don't go away with a prettier, younger sister. The competition is unfair.

3. Don't sit on bar stools; the rear view, broadly speaking, is unflattering. There are always tables.

Don't Overdress

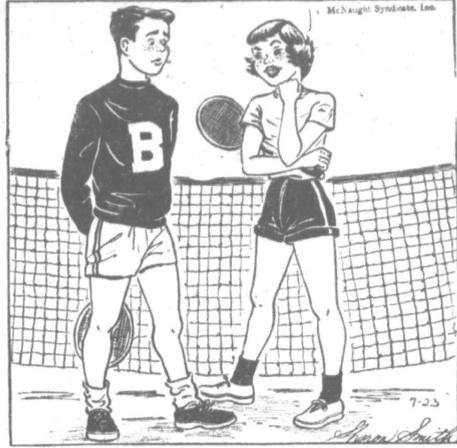

4. Don't overdress. Men like simple, innocent-looking clothes with low necks and fitted waistlines.

The girl who goes on vacation with a hunter's gleam in her eye makes her quest all too obvious, says Franzoni. He advises instead that she forget about the boys and enjoy the resort activities—swimming, sailing, sunning, picnicking or whatever seems to be fun. He urges girls vacationers concentrate on outdoor sports rather than the indoor sports one meets in a bar.

If you don't make a man-hunt the prime purpose of your vacation, your quarry may show up of his own accord. After all, as Ethel Merman has pointed out in song "You Can't Get A Man With A Gun."

Bill Engeln, new umpire in the National League, was once a bat boy for the St. Louis Browns in the days of George Sisler.

Technique For Slowing Heart Is Developed

STOCKHOLM (AP)—Total refrigeration of the body to slow down or stop the heart completely may be tried on human patients to facilitate heart surgery.

A Swedish-French medical research team believes it has managed in animal experiments to develop a technique by which such operations could be performed on humans at very low body temperatures, Dr. Andre Juvenelle of the University of Paris said in an interview here.

Artificial Hibernation

"Most probably a temperature below 20 degrees centigrade (68 degrees Fahrenheit) would be necessary," said the French chest surgeon, adding that the time had "not come as yet when it is possible to torse the actual date of the first such operation except in an emergency."

Some 50 scientists in the world are exploring the problems of "artificial hibernation." What they hope to find is a method to reduce oxygen requirements of the body sufficiently to allow the exclusion of various organs, including the heart, from the blood circulation.

Dr. W. G. Bigelow of Toronto University pointed out three years ago that once a satisfactory method is developed, refrigeration of patients would permit heart surgery under full vision.

Dr. Juvenelle said that the technique devised by himself and his Swedish co-workers, Dr. John Lind, cardiologist, and Dr. Carl Wegelius, X-ray expert, involved the use of cold in combination with artificial heart-lung system.

Stop Heart 3 Hours

Using this method, the team has been able for the first time to stop the hearts of dogs for three hours by freezing their bodies to a temperature of 12 degrees C. (53.6 degrees F.) and obtain subsequent survival.

"One of the objects of such treatment for humans," Dr. Juvenelle said, "would be to facilitate delicate heart surgery in otherwise hopeless cases."

He emphasized that the method would entail "very considerable risks at present."

"The cooling down process," he said, "is no problem. Nor is the surgery. The problem starts with re-warming. We know very little of what happens then, except the stress may be tremendous."

"This thing is far too big to be handled by just a few teams with rather limited resources."

Limited research into possible medical uses of total refrigeration has been conducted for more than a decade in several countries. The most notorious contribution in this field so far being the experiments carried out in Germany during the war, using prisoners as guinea pigs.

Cold research was started by Dr. Juvenelle's team last July at the Pathological Institute of the Stockholm Sahlbatsberg Hospital.

Combination A Novelty

"Nothing in the method we developed is really a novelty," he said, "if you consider each item separately, but the combination is, and so are the results."

"I think we would apply our technique on humans in an emergency," he said.

"After all, we are not collecting butterflies."

This reporter attended one of the experiments of the team at the Pathological Institute. Because of the time required for cooling and re-warming, they are lengthy affairs of 15 to 20 hours. The dogs are given small doses of heparin to prevent blood clotting and a light anesthetic.

The heart continued to beat until 17 degrees C. The lowest temperature at which heart beat has been recorded by the team is 11.5 C. There was no bleeding at all during the hour it took the surgeon to open the chest.

"Until now we could take it easy," doctors said when the chest was closed again. "From now on we will have to fight for his life."

"It is just like a cold motor in the morning," Dr. Juvenelle said. "Sometimes it won't work."

THE RECORD SHOWS HAZLEWOOD IS OUR MAN!

Re-elect GRADY HAZLEWOOD STATE SENATOR

(Paid for by Mr. Shuneman)

'SWEET GAS BILL WOULD BENEFIT BLACK INDUSTRY'

—By J. L. Swindle, Pampa News Editor.

Senate Bill 227, which would permit the use of sweet gas in the production of carbon black, is now on Governor Jester's desk. And on whether he signs it or vetoes it depends a great deal the future industrialization of the Texas Panhandle.

Its veto could drastically change the economic life of Gray County. Its veto could cause the removal of all the carbon black plants from the Texas Panhandle.

The bill, introduced by Sen. GRADY HAZLEWOOD of this district, passed the Senate by a vote of 22 to 5; passed the House by a vote of 85 to 33. The Governor has until June 26 to consider his action on it.

A delegation of interested business people from various pursuits — from Pampa, Amarillo and Borger — has an appointment with the Governor Monday at 11 o'clock. They will present their reasons for urging the signing of the bill.

(June 8, 1947 issue of Pampa News)

Senator Grady Hazlewood's services in the Texas Senate are just as important to us in the future as they have been in the past. He has introduced and co-sponsored legislation providing for decent prices for Panhandle gas. He has procured state aid for our school system when aid was imperative. Gray County should return him to the Texas Senate with an overwhelming vote of confidence.

OUR TOWN
Wanda Campbell

Lilwyn Young is one young Pampa who is aware of the responsibilities of citizenship also. She has just returned from Girls' State and says she is never again going to pick up her newspaper and turn to the funnies. A junior last year in Pampa High School Lilwyn was chosen from her class as Girls' State delegate. Faculty members selected her for outstanding scholarship, leadership and citizenship. She has served as president of the Spanish club, vice-president of Beta Tau and Tri Hi Y, and was elected president of Tri Hi Y for next year. About 200 leaders over Texas attended the meeting in Austin and from that group one was chosen to make the trip to Girls' National where government on a national level is studied. Girls' State is a one-week intensified study of the state government. Delegates meet everyone "from the governor down" and hear lectures by prominent state political leaders. The American Legion Auxiliary sponsors the annual trip and each year they realize more and more what an important undertaking it is. It isn't just a trip from which one girl benefits. Lilwyn has already shared a little of what she learned. She spoke at the Legion Auxiliary upon her return and will likely address other organizations. Lilwyn presents her ideas and quotations well. In her speech the other night she quoted, "The six basic words of democracy are I, You, We, Yes, No, and Why. What can I do? I can be well informed on all political issues. I can know how to vote. I can make others realize their duties as citizens. YOU can be informed on all political issues. YOU can vote and correctly choose the right leader for our country". Lilwyn has already assumed responsibility for at least one of those points: making others realize their duties as citizens. Even her family has benefited by Lilwyn's experience in the state capital. Now her younger sister has one main ambition...to go to Girls' State!

Mrs. Winborne Is Hostess To Auxiliary

Mrs. J. E. Winborne was hostess to the Fireman's Auxiliary when the group met for a business session. An ice cream social to be held at the Fire Station was planned by members. Mrs. A. W. Ferguson was welcomed back into the club. Refreshments were served to Mrs. W. A. Claunch, Roy Albin, Elmer Darnell, Don Hendrix, Vernon Pirkle, Harold Rickley, Elmer Fuller, Ferguson and one visitor Mrs. Carl Summers. Mrs. Albin will be hostess at the next meeting when secret gifts will be exchanged.

Roberta Cox Meeting Held In Home Of Mrs. N. L. Williams

Mrs. N. L. Williams was hostess to the First Baptist Church Roberta Cox circle when the group met this week. Mrs. C. L. Bixler opened the meeting with prayer, after which Mrs. Mike Porter presented the program. Mrs. Gordon Bayless closed the meeting with prayer. Refreshments were served to Mrs. Don Egerton, Floyd Barrett, Paul Barrett, Floyd Crow, Williams Bayless, Bixler, Porter. Six children were present.

Bailey Reunion In Lubbock Attended By Pampa Group

A family reunion held recently in the McKenzie State Park in Lubbock, honored Mrs. J. A. Bailey of Anton on her 80th birthday. She is the mother of Mrs. Bennie Corey of Pampa. Six of Mrs. Bailey's seven children were present for the occasion. Mrs. Corey of Pampa; Celia Brock of Dallas; Lem Bailey of Arch, N.M.; Trudie Aaron of Compton, Calif.; Winnie Young of Anton; and Edna Jacobs of St. Louis, Okla. Also attending were 18 grandchildren, 24 great-grandchildren and four great-grandchildren, and a number of relatives and friends. S. L. Young of Pampa, a grandson of the honoree, made arrangements for the reunion. Following the barbecue, a short meeting was held with Buster West of Pampa presiding. New officers of the group were elected as follows: Hilbert Manning, Lubbock, president; Frank Griffith of Arch, N.M., vice-president; and Sarah Griffith of Arch, secretary.

Tips For Tashes

The tall men in your household who complain the top sheet either binds their feet or slips out so that feet are uncovered, will welcome a new roomy top sheet. Two boxed corners slip over the foot of the mattress and hold the sheet secure. An expansion fold for foot room lies flat when the bed is made, but expands for plenty of kick-room while you sleep. The showing of nail heads through a thin coat of plaster is not caused by an accumulation of dust on the nails, but rather to rust forming on the nailheads. Touching up these spots with shellac will prevent the formation of such rust, and keep the nailheads concealed. To avoid white streaks when washing black or dark blue cotton dress or blouses, use a very thin starch, hang evenly to dry, and iron the garment on the wrong side.

Steel Strike Proving A Boon To Plastic Pipe Manufacturing

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—The steel strike is stretching out the timetable for the long-feared post-defense slump.
 Even a quick truce in Korea with its almost inevitable let-down in zeal for speedy rearmament—probably wouldn't offset this effect on timing by the strike.
 Armament spending was slated to reach its peak late this year. Now the President's Council of Economic Advisers indicates the slackening off in the flow of government funds won't come until late next year.

The program of spending didn't go as fast as first planned, and from now on the strike may slow it down further. Even a Korean truce wouldn't make much difference.
 True so much of the industrial boom is traced to the defense program that a truce and letdown might ultimately take a lot of zip out of the economy.
 Immediate effect of a truce, however, might be slight, because so much of the armament program has already been set and is in the works.
 The steel strike's real drag on the economy will be later this

Democrats Dub Dewey Mr. GOP

CONVENTION HALL, Chicago. (P)—These Democrats aren't sure yet who their own candidate for President is going to be, but at least they know the name of the man he'll run against. They say it's Thomas E. Dewey.

To hear the Republicans tell it, of course, the GOP nominee is Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, but the Democrats, in high glee, are picking up the arguments of Eisenhower's prenomination foe—that Dewey is the power behind the scenes.
 Gov. Paul A. Dever of Massachusetts pointed this up in his keynote speech. Delegates roared, nudged each other and applauded when the plump and perspiring governor said of Eisenhower: "He remains a complete novice year in the civilian field. And its indirect effects seem sure to carry over into next year.

After the strike ends it will take two to four weeks for the steel industry to regain its old pace. Armament and defense-supporting industries will get a first call on the steel.

Civilian goods makers will sit at the second table. Even Washington insists — if the Reds stop stalling in Korea and sign a truce.
 Steel users have had seven weeks now in which to use up their inventories of the metal. Many can see the bottom of the barrel.
 And with shoppers showing more buying interest in things made of metal, gadgets aren't the glut on the market they once were. Steel users, therefore, should be eager to order steel and make more goods.
 And the steel mills—once they start up again—should be assured of selling all they can make for months ahead.

in the field of civil affairs, he whom the Republicans present as a 'new face.' Rather they should admit that 'the voice is the general's voice, but the hands are the hands of Thomas.'

Just in case anybody missed his meaning, Dever referred at one point to Dewey as "the new Mr. Republican."

The Democrats, who booed Dewey in 1944 and 1948, responded by booing him again.

"Dewey is bipartisan," a newspaperman commented. "The Republicans booed him two weeks ago, too."

Other speakers have made use of a teleprompter—a gadget that unrolls the speech in big letters so the orator can read as he orates. Dever used two teleprompters—one on his right, the other on his left.

They didn't stop him from making a bobble, though.

Right at the outset he said he was mighty pleased to be serving as toastmaster—oops!—as key note of this convention.

None of the Democrats was taking chances—except, of course, the various and sundry candidates.

National chairman Frank E. McKinney had every word of his speech-making written down. Even in advance—the result of one of the votes that was taken.

Perfectly deadpan, his script ran:

"All in favor of accepting the secretary's report signify by saying 'aye,' contrary 'no.'"

"The 'ayes' have it and the motion is carried."

You can't expect a lusty town like Chicago to follow a set of mimeographed instructions, of course.

For the convention's opening session, the script read:

"Following adjournment the organist will play a patriotic melody as the Convention Hall is emptied." So what did the organ play? "Chicago Chicago! Dah-dah-dah-de-dum!"

IN RARE FORM—Mae West busted right into a demonstration of a new-type "Mae West" life jacket at the Navy submarine base at Groton, Conn., and declared herself very much pleased with the improved version. The inflatable jacket has a new color, which gives visibility of 16 miles at sea. "That's one thing we both have in common," quipped Mae. "We both can be seen from great distance." She described the new color as "Desirable Scarlet" but the prosaic Navy says it's "orange, just off red." Above, Molder First Class Cater B. East, helps Mae adjust the new jacket.

Boyle's Column . . . Best Parade Is The One At Closing Time

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Everybody loves a parade, but the one I like best to watch is the one out of the office at quitting time each day.

It is then the human parade looks most human. And you can tell something about each inmate by the way he starts the long voyage home.

The average worker will recognize at least some of the following standard office types:

1. The clock watcher — This reluctant beaver has developed a size 18 neck from raising his head to study the clock. When it hits 5:30 he is off like a springing deer. He couldn't get out of the place faster if someone hollered "Fire!"

2. The two hoary philosophers — one gets up and says, "another day, another dollar." And the other climbs to his feet and says, "yeah, a million days — a million dollars."

They have been saying this every day for 37 years, and neither has four bits in the bank.

3. The worried suburbanite — he hauls out a timetable and starts muttering, "if I stop off and have one for the road I can catch the 6:03 train. If I have two, I can snag the 6:21. If I can have three, lemme see now, I can —"

4. The fiddle-faddler — he has been trying to look busy all day without doing anything. Finally he quickly shoves a mass of papers in a drawer and announces loudly, "Boy, what a workout this has been: Finally got my desk clean, though." But the only guy he's got fooled is the janitor.

5. The heat — the gun ar — at 5:20 he gets up as if to go to the water cooler. Then he swiftly sidles out the door and runs down the fire exit so no one will see him catching the elevator.

6. The day dreamer — he sits there with glazed eyes until someone kindly shakes him and says, "Wake up, Homer, the order is over."

7. The femme fatale stenographer — she has a heavy date and since 2:30 she's been in the ladies room primping and putting on her cocktail party dress. When she emerges, a cloud of scent trails her, and for the next three days the filing cabinets smell like a catalog of French perfumes.

8. Wolf Into Action — The office wolf he sees the stenographer, arises like a mesmerized puppy, and follows her out, hoping to ambush her in the elevator.

9. The boss — he comes out of his sanctum at 5:38 looks up at the clock in smug virtue, then shakes his head tiredly with an air of executive sacrifice.

10. The ambitious vassal — he closes his desk drawer with a loud bang, then races out in time to say breathlessly, "Gee, Boss you're working late — again." What he means by this of course, is, "Look at me, Boss I worked late too. You can count on good old loyal me everytime, Boss."

Well, there they are — the office pilgrims. Just getting out of the office each night takes more real acting ability and energy than John Barrymore ever put into "Hamlet."

No wonder the tired businessman arrives home so worn out.

WP-FILLERS
MEAT IS ADDED
 Here's a variation in devilled eggs to feature at your next picnic. Put ready-to-serve meat through your food grinder, then add it to the hard-cooked egg yolks and mayonnaise.

SAUSAGE BALLS
 Add these gay little appetizers to your tray. Surround stuffed olives with liver sausage, forming little balls. Roll each in minced parsley and stick with wooden picks.

WAFFLE SANDWICH
 Use your waffle baker for this quick hot sandwich. Cut a canned luncheon loaf into individual serving slices and make into sandwiches. Place them in your baker and heat until a golden brown.

HAM, CARROT ROLLS
 Cut carrots into long, thin strips and cook, then roll in "boiled" ham sauce. Fasten with wooden picks and thoroughly heat in a moderate oven.
 Here's a quick supper dish: Brown thin slices of ham your frying-pan, then top with a corn bread batter. Bake about 30 minutes in a 400 oven. Serve with a tomato cheese sauce.

Football Returns On August 8th

PORT WORTH Wide-open football comes to Texas Aug. 8. It's the potent Split-T formation, coached by Maryland's Tatum, who is the ever-repeating spread formation of the '50's Dutch Meyer.

And the masters of the two formations will be at the helm directing two all-star high school squads in the annual all-star game of the Texas High School Coaches Association Annual School, Aug. 4-8.

The game first time ever scheduled for Fort Worth is the climax of the annual school sponsored by the coaches association. It will be played at 8 p.m. Friday at the plush carpet of CU's Amon Carter Stadium.

Careful screening by two committees have aligned all stars on Class A to Class 4-AAAA teams into two squads—the South and North All-Stars.

Looming as a new high in sports, the annual game will be the Meyer spread being used for the first time although Meyer coached the all-stars before the 1951 season was the first time for Meyer to use the spread through an entire game and through a Southwest Conference championship.

Meyer will coach the South All-Stars with the aid of his chief assistant, Otho (Abe) May, the Frog backfield and offense coach.

Tatum, to be assisted in coaching the North All-Stars by Jack Nemmer, his assistant at University of Maryland, brings the intricate Split-T to the all-star game for a fourth time. Although it is Tatum's first time as an instructor at the school and as coach of one of the all-star teams, he Split-T in three previous at-

Baseball fans looked back to last night's thrill-packed action and cracked, "What, no no-hitter?"

That's about the only thing that didn't occur in the major leagues. And that, too, came within one pitch of being accomplished.

The star, or is it victim? of that pitching feat was Virgil Trucks, already the author of the American League's sole no-hitter in the 1952 season. The Detroit Tiger righthander gave up just one hit, a single by Eddie Yost, in hurling the Tigers to a 1-0 victory over the Washington Senators.

Yost's hit came on Trucks' first pitch of the game.

Other highlights included: The New York Yankees swept a doubleheader from the vanishing Indians in Cleveland, 7-3 and 8-1, to increase their first-place margin over Boston's Red Sox to five games. The Yanks got 30 hits in the two games.

Bobby Shantz continued on his way to his 20-victory goal, pitching the Philadelphia Athletics to a 3-2 win over the St. Louis Browns. Shantz yielded eight runs for his 27th run in p.p.i. against three losses. Billy Hitchcock drove in the winning run in the ninth.

Dave Koslo registered his fifth straight success over the St. Louis Cardinals this season, his 12th in a row over them in three years as the New York Giants earned a 2-1 triumph on Hank Thompson's two-run homer in the sixth.

Brooklyn's Dodgers met a four-run 10th inning by Cincinnati with a five-run outburst of their own to nip the Reds, 7-6, and retain their 1-2 game edge over the Giants in the National League race. Ken Rafensberger, third-circuit pitcher of the inning, hit Babe Walker with a pitched ball to force over the winning run.

Vera Bakford and the Boston Braves spotted the Chicago Cubs a 4-0 lead on Don Foy's grand slam homer and roared back to win, 6-4.

Cats Defeat Miami, 8-7

CANADIAN (Special) — The Canadian Cats Sunday defeated Miami 8-7, to retain second place standing in the Canadian Valley League. Winner in the league will be decided next Sunday when the Cats play Allison George Austin led off the scoring for the Cats as the lead-off man in the first inning when he scored a home run. Walker singled, Dee Henry flew out to first baseman, and Joe Morgan singled going to second on the left-fielder's error. A Walker scored the Cats' second run. Hobby and Frances flew out to first and third respectively to end the inning. Miami failed to score in the first or second inning but scored two runs in the third to tie up the count as DeWayne Wells singled, then stole second. Myers received a base on balls, and Frank Craig hit a long single scoring both Wells and Myers.

Canadian retaliated in the bottom half of the third as they scored three runs to go ahead again.

Neither team scored in fourth inning, but Miami scored two unearned runs in the fifth, on no hits and two errors. Miami's score failed to score in the fifth inning, and set Miami down in order in the top of the sixth.

The Cats scored one more tally in the sixth to make the score 6-4 in favor of Canadian.

In the seventh, Miami tied up the score as two runs crossed the plate, and the Cats failed to score in the seventh. Miami went ahead in the eighth with two out as Stanora was safe on the pitcher's error. T. Wells singled, and DeWayne Wells singled scoring Stanora, to make the score 7-6 in favor of Miami.

Canadian scored their last two rallies in the bottom of the eighth, as Walker was given a pass on balls, Dee Henry was safe at first on an error, Joe Morgan was hit by the pitcher to load the bases. Fielder hit into a double play forcing out Walker at the plate and Fielder at first, and Frances singled driving in Dee Henry and Morgan for two scores as the Cats regained the lead, 8-7.

The Miami team went scoreless in the 4th as Craig singled, then was caught out trying to steal second. Mitchell grounded out, second to first. Gene Hodges walked, and Watson struck out to end the ball game.

Gene Hodges was losing pitcher, going all the way for Miami, gave up 11 hits and had 8 strikeouts to his credit.

Father Matthewwen pitched the first five innings for the Cats giving up only three hits and having 10 strikeouts.

Glen Muir was winning pitcher, having pitched the last four innings for the Cats, gave up 5 hits and had 5 strikeouts.

The Cats will play Shattuck, Oklahoma, at Shattuck, Tuesday night, and the Pampa Black Oilers at Pampa, on Wednesday night.

Big State League

By The Associated Press

It's a tough course, especially for the last place Waco Pirates and leading Wichita Falls, but the Big State League seems to have a par of 100 hits and 60 runs for each night's work.

The loop stayed even for a second straight time with the 60-run par, but fell off the 100-hit night with 21 aetaries against Wichita Falls and won 1-0 a game, 11-7.

Waco's hitters are also getting in the act but the Pirates' 28 hits in two nights hasn't kept them from under the axe.

On 11 hits Wednesday night, Waco lost its ninth straight verdict, this one to Texarkana, 17-4. The two results brought the Texarkana club within a half game of the leaders.

Seven Texas Horses Win Last Weekend

RATON, N.M. — Seven Texan owned horses galloped into the winner's circle at La Mesa park here last Saturday and Sunday as huge crowds continued to flock to the park and sent betting marks toward new records.

A total of $142,903 went thru the windows last Sunday to hike the 1952 total for seven days to $536,128 which is more than $300,000 more than the same number of days a year ago.

Texas horses who won last week include Fair Reaper, the fine four-year-old filly owned by W.C. Martin of Stratford who won her third straight victory of the season in taking Sunday's featured race at a mile and seventy yards.

Another Texas horse, Trace Play, was second at five furlongs.

In addition to owners with winners, several others had horses in the money, including Woodrow Warren of Fort Worth, J.F. Dillard of Big Spring; C. E. Sarvis of Pampa; H. T. Deahl of Panhandle; L. E. Shisler of Monahans; Tom Sanders of Hereford; W.D. Lumpkin of Miles; and J.R. Mitchell of Memphis.

Racing continues at La Mesa park each Saturday and Sunday through September 7 with first post each day at 1:15 p.m.

Gold Sox Lead Second Division

By the Associated Press

Will, look who's topping the second division in the West Texas - New Mexico League.

It's none other than the Amarillo Gold Sox, loop doormats throughout the first half of the season.

The Gold Sox showed off their new-found power again last night by trimming the Borger Gasaraz for the sixth straight time. The score of the game at Borger was 9-7.

In other activity, league-leading Clovis drubbed second-place Abilene 14-6 at Clovis, Lamesa downed Abilene 3-1 on some nice two-hit pitching at Abilene and Lubbock trimmed Pampa 8-1 at Lubbock.

The teams switch around tonight with Abilene moving into Amarillo to test the Gold Sox, Clovis invading Borger, Pampa going to Abilene and Lubbock to Lamesa.

Amarillo used an 11-hit attack that included four homers to Hal Abbott of Albuquerque tonight. Winning pitcher was the unnamed Miller, Melvin Miller, who relieved starter Ed Flanagan in the eighth, was charged with the loss. The winner was Bob Miller, who took over from starter Howard Waters in the third.

The Clovis victory gave the league leaders a sweep of the series with the Dukes. It was a drawn-out, stormy battle that saw manager Buck Fausett' catcher Art Cuitti and third baseman Hal Abbott of Albuquerque banished for arguing with the umpires. Winning pitcher was Bill Hair who went all the way. Clovis hammered 15 hits off three Abilene hurlers.

Lefty John Kirk tossed the two-hitter at Abilene, weakening only in the fifth when the Abilene run scored. La Vere Herrmann, Abilene righthander, gave only seven hits and two earned runs in losing. Three Abilene errors hurt his cause.

At Lubbock, Ray Machado scattered hits to post the victory, outthuring loser Morris Shipman and reliever Tommy Thompson. A three-run first inning was all Lubbock needed to post the win and sweep the three-game series from Pampa. Machado lost a shutout in sixth when a single and triple produced the Pampa tally.

Oilers Drop Third In A Row To Lubbock Hubbers

LUBBOCK (AP) — Ray Machado scattered hits to post his 12th victory of the season here last night outthuring loser Morris Shipman and Tommy Thompson as the Lubbock Hubbers swept a three-game series from the Pampa Oilers with an 8-1 victory.

A three-run first inning was all the Hubbers needed behind Machado's effective pitching. He lost his shutout in the sixth when Deck Wolft singled and scored on Doug Lewis' hop triple.

The game was over to the Oilers and purrers, after Lubbock's first inning when three hits scored a trio of runs. With one out and Ed Kenna was hit, Chick Howard tripled to the right-field corner, I. B. Palmer doubled and Eddie Buiz singled.

Machado and Shipman duelled along without any further scoring until the fifth when the Hubbers scored four more, sending 10 men to the plate. Howard struck out to start it and grounded out to end it.

All the trouble started with two out and only one run was earned. Wolft booting a tired side with only a single tally. The Hubbers used that error, along with four singles and

Texas League

By CHARLEY ENKOW Associated Press Sports Writer

Shreveport's drive toward the top of the Texas League is leaving the frustrated front-runners, Dallas, fit to be tied — or rather, on the verge of falling off the top of the ladder.

The Eagles threw their ace, Hal Ericson, at the sports Tuesday night. The ace threw a two-hitter, and Umpire Bob Smith threw out the argument Shreveport manager, Jickey Livingston. But the leaders suffered through their fifth straight setback at the Sportsman's hands, 2-0.

Shreveport could win against Dallas tonight and take the lead. Fort Worth added its ninth victory in 12 games when Pete Wojey pined a three-hit, 3-2, defeat on Beaumont.

Oklahoma City won, 4-2, pulling alongside its victim, San Antonio, in fifth place.

"50,000 Miles No Wear" Service!

Thousands of other car owners are discovering what this smart motorist knows: the way to help your engine perform better, last longer, use less gasoline and oil is to get Conoco's great new "50,000 Miles—No Wear" Service!

It's exactly the same service that kept test cars new in Conoco's spectacular "50,000 Miles—No Wear" road test!

In that famous 50,000-mile test, with 1,000-mile drains and proper filter service, test car engines showed no wear of any consequence; in fact, an average of less than one-thousandth inch on cylinders and crankshafts. Gasoline mileage for the last 5,000 miles was actually 99.77% as good as for the first 5,000.

Now you can get this same 1-2-3 "50,000 Miles—No Wear" Service, at your Conoco Mileage Merchant's, today!

Here's the Famous "50,000 Miles—No Wear" Service!

- 1 Your Conoco Mileage Merchant Will Drain Out Grit and Sludge, preferably while engine is hot!
- 2 He'll Recondition Air and Oil Filters! He'll clean filter elements, replace dirty cartridges, record mileage. Every time hood is lifted, he'll check mileage to be sure filters have been serviced at proper intervals.
- 3 He'll refill with great Conoco Super Motor Oil! Conoco Super is fortified with additives that curb dangerous accumulation of dirt and contamination — protect metal surfaces from corrosive combustion acids — fight rust — OIL-PLATE against wear.

TOPS IN PAY LOAD!

IF YOU use gasoline-powered tractors in the 45,000 GCW class, here's big news. This new GMC Series 470 will haul more pay load than any other vehicle of its rating with comparable standard equipment—up to more than a half-ton than some!

That's because GMC has found new ways to take dead weight out of truck design by advanced engineering.

One example is GMC's sensational new "302" valve-in-head engine that delivers 145 h.p. at 3200 r.p.m. It weighs less than other engines of equal power by as much as 500 lbs. Yet it's the highest-compression gasoline truck engine ever built—gives you extra mileage from regular fuel!

Come in. Compare them—in power, in pay load, in rugged long-life construction—against all the rest!

Then check the price and you'll agree: nowhere else will you little buy so much in a 3- to 4 1/2-ton truck!

Another Olympic Record Falls During Third Day Of Action

HELSINKI (AP)—Another Olympic record fell today as the fourth day of track and field competition began in the big Olympic Stadium with qualifying trials in three events.

The women's broad jump mark of 5.69 meters (18 feet, 8.02 inches) was subjected to a mass assault and was smashed by four girls, one an American, within a short time after competition started.

Yvette Williams of New Zealand got off the best jump of the early trials, clearing 6.16 meters (20 feet, 2.52 inches), nearly two feet beyond the old Olympic standard established in 1948 by Olga Gyarmati of Hungary.

Right behind Miss Williams in the qualifying for this afternoon's final came Malai Lande of Chicago with a jump of 19 feet 3.90 inches. Two Russian girls, Aleksandra Chudina and Nina Djerkina, also exceeded the former record.

American men, who have been setting the pace in this unprejudiced record-breaking carnival contented themselves with ordinary performances as they had to attain only comparatively easy qualifying distances.

All three American entries qualified for the javelin throw final without removing their sweat suits, which served as protection against raw, cold weather.

Franklin Bud Held of Lake-side, Calif., former Stanford athlete, got off the best American toss, 225 feet 1.63 inches. Cy Young of Modesto, Calif., did 223 feet 8.03 inches on his second try after missing on his first and Bill Miller of Phoenix, Ariz., threw 212 feet, 7.62 inches. The minimum qualifying distance was 209 feet, 11.74 inches.

Walter Anderson, Cornell University athlete from East Liver-pool, O., and Jim Gerhardt of San Antonio, Tex., qualified for the final of the hop, step and jump in the first half of the field.

Bill Keralake of Euclid, O., American heavyweight wrestler, was eliminated right at the start of the final day of mat competition. Keralake, stating with three demerits, lost decision to Bertil Anderson of Sweden.

The defending light heavyweight champion, Henry Wittenberg of New York, was given one demerit when he defeated August Engle of Russia but failed to score a fall. Neither was eliminated, but Wittenberg now has four demerits. Five mean elimination.

More than 20,000 spectators turned out for the morning session despite rainy weather and for the first time since the opening ceremonies the 70,000-seat stadium was sold out for the afternoon events.

The big drawing card was the javelin throw. This strenuous and often dangerous exercise, which has been banned from many U. S. high school track meets, is national sport of this small country.

Tovio Hyytiainen is the Finnish champion. He and his team mates, Soini Nikkimen and Eino Lep-panen, all threw the spear more than 70 meters about 230 feet in the Olympic trials.

Today's track finals also include the 200-meter dash, which should be another American triumph, and the hop, step and jump with Brazilian Abnermar F. da Silva favored.

Russia is leading the unofficial Olympic scoring parade with the United States in second place after three days of competition.

Due to strength in the gymnastic competition the Soviet's athletes have piled up 138.5 points. The United States with eight firsts in track and field has scored 115.

Records have been broken so often in the first three days of track and field—eight out of the first 12 events—that the crowds have come to regard anything less than a record as a pretty poor show.

Three more new marks went into the books yesterday. Sim Iness of Los Angeles pulled a real surprise by out-throwing Defend-ing Champion Adolfo Consolini in the discus with a record 55.03 meters (180 feet, 5.85 inches). Con-solini, who finished second, also bettered the previous record which he set a London four years ago.

Bob Richards of Laverne, Calif., raised the pole vault record to within a fraction of 15 feet when he cleared 4.55 meters.

And Herbert Schade, an effort-less runner from West Germany, chopped three full seconds off the 8,000-meter record when he won his hat in 14:16.4.

Olympic records were equaled in the other two track and field finals yesterday. Mal Whitfield of Columbus, O., repeated his 1948 success in the 800 meters and duplicated his time of 1:45.2.

Majorie Jackson of Australia won the 100-meter dash for women in 11.5 seconds, the same as Fanny Blankers-Koen posted four years ago. The Dutch housewife scratched yesterday because of illness.

For the first time since the games started last Saturday, track and field will have a serious rival for the fans' interest. The seven finals in rowing will be run off at 30-minute intervals this afternoon.

The British dominate the field with entries in five of the finals. The French are involved in four finals and the United States, Russia and Finland in three.

The big race should come in the eights where the United States has its strongest representative—the unbeaten heavyweight crew from the U. S. Naval Academy.

Other events yesterday went this way: Fencing—France defeated Italy to win the team competition in foil.

Wrestling—Five of the eight American entries stayed in the running for today's finals. Defend-ing light heavyweight champion Henry Wittenberg of New York was beaten for the first time, but remained in competition on the point system.

Soccer—Yugoslavia defeated Russia, 3-1, in a replay of their first-round match. Second-round matches begin tonight.

Gymnastics—Russian women were leading in all divisions except parallel bars after the compulsory exercises. The events continue today.

Sophomore Bobby Hill won the University of Alabama's first championship, this year with a two over par 290 for 72 holes.

Kyle Rote, backfield star for the New York football Giants, works as a building contractor in Corpus Christi, Tex. during the off-season.

Gordon McRae Qualifies For Invitational Meet

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—A 17-year-old Wichita, Kan., schoolboy and a Hollywood singer were among 32 qualifiers who today begin championship match play in the annual Broadmoor Invitational Golf Tournament.

The medalist is Bobby Vickers. His one-under-par 69 was the best round shot in the two days of qualifying play and five strokes better than his older brother Jim, National Collegiate champion.

The singer is Gordon McRae. He was one of seven players to just barely qualify with 75 on the Hillside course.

Young Vickers meets Gene Zuspunn, Goodland, Kan., one of five who shot 73. McRae plays another 73 shooter Paul Ransom, Springs: Buster Reed, Denton, Tex.; Dick Spangler, Lincoln, Neb.; Loy Martin, Tulsa, and Keith Fowler, Ardmore, Okla. Creel plays Dick Jennings, Lubbock, Tex.; Reed meets John Winters, Tulsa, 74; Spangler plays Jim Vickers; Martin takes on Dan Walker, Denver, 74; and Fowler goes against Dick Braun, Denver, 73.

Michigan State wrestling coach Fendley Collins was undefeated throughout his undergraduate wrestling career at Oklahoma A. & M.

Five men qualified with even par 70's: Howard Creel, Colorado

Colorado Springs High School star. Defending champion Bob Gold-water of Phoenix, Ariz., didn't have to qualify. He meets Bill Carey of Denver, who also had

Harry Matthews Puzzles Fight Mob

By JACK HAND
NEW YORK (AP)—Harry Matthews has the fight mob puzzled.

The boys ride the subway down to 11th Street and climb two flights to watch him work every afternoon. They wait and wait. Nothing happens.

Jack Hurley's protegee glides through a couple of rounds with husky Keene Simmons of Bayonne, N. J., and calls it a day. They have been waiting for him to cut loose. So far he hasn't. But he'll be ready for Rocky Marciano Monday at Yankee Stadium.

"He's ready right now," said Manager Hurley. "He was ready when he came east from Seattle."

Simmons, a technical knockout cut eye victim of Rocky Marciano's, senses a gradual improvement in Matthews.

"He hits a little better every day," said Simmons. "He hit me a pretty good right hand yesterday. No, not much in the stomach. He's taking it easy on me."

Matthews' best move is to slide away to his right and then throw a quick counter right. He does it once or twice a day with Simmons. In his shadow boxing later, he digs those hard rights to the body.

"Don't take this boy too light," said Johnny Attell, the promoter. "Do you think Marciano would have taken a match with Bob Murphy a year ago? Murphy was the hottest guy around until Matthews cooled him off. If Marciano is another Dempsey, Matthews is a new Tunney. He's a smart fighter who knows all the moves. I think Matthews is a cinch."

Over in a corner, two veteran trainers sat side by side. They had been daily visitors at the C. Y. O. Gym where Matthews works.

"Who do you like?" somebody asked.

HAUL WITH A DODGE AND CUT YOUR COSTS!

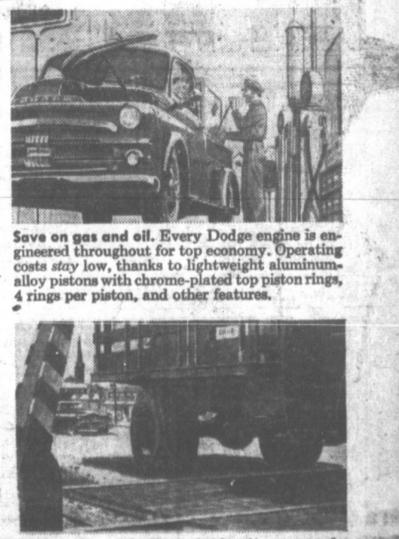

"Our Dodge trucks give us exceptional over-all economy,"

"Economy is one of the many things we like about our Dodges. They're real low on all costs—especially on oil and upkeep. These trucks are on the go for 5 1/2 days every week, carrying extra-heavy payloads. They always keep running and have never had any major mechanical trouble. "The drivers tell us the new Dodge has real comfort and drive like an automobile."

LEO MEUDT,
Mould & Back Distributing Co.,
Madison, Wis.

- ▶ You can cut hauling costs with a Dodge truck that's "Job-Rated" to fit your job—from 1/2-ton to 4-ton.
- ▶ Power-with-economy is yours with a Dodge truck engine—thanks to L-head design and high-efficiency carburetion.
- ▶ Low upkeep is engineered into every Dodge truck with features such as floating oil intake and others.
- ▶ gýrol Fluid Drive—available on 1/2-, 3/4-, 1-ton, and Route-Van models—saves wear and tear.
- ▶ Come in today for a demonstration—and a good deal!

Save on maintenance. Dodge "Job-Rated" trucks keep you on the road—out of the repair shop. You get such features as exhaust valve seat inserts, positive-pressure lubrication system, and others that help prevent costly breakdowns.

Save on long life. Deep, husky frames, sturdy axles and high-capacity springs provide extra strength and stamina, lengthen truck life. Furthermore, because a Dodge "Job-Rated" truck lasts longer, it will have a high trade-in value!

ON BRIDGE • JACOBY Wasted Time Will Ruin Bridge Hand

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

I'm sometimes astonished to see the amount of wasted motion that goes on in a game of bridge. Even a good player sometimes fiddles about with useless plays and gets himself into the wrong hand. Today's hand furnishes a horrible example of this type of misplay.

West opened the three of spades, East put up the king and South won with the ace. Declarer entered the dummy with the king of clubs in order to return a low trump, and the appearance of East's queen should have clarified the trump situation.

South covered with the king of trumps and West won with the ace. West returned a club, and

South covered with the king of trumps and West won with the ace. West returned a club, and

At this point declarer should have led a diamond towards dummy. This play would have to be made sooner or later, and there was no reason to postpone it.

Instead, however, South led a trump to dummy's jack. This told him nothing that he didn't already know and served only to put him in the dummy when he wanted to be in his own hand.

South now had to get back to his own hand with the queen of spades, in order to lead a diamond. West ducked and dummy won with the king.

South still had a chance to make his contract by cashing dummy's top club, but he muffed this play also. Instead he returned to his hand with the ten of hearts.

Now he couldn't afford to cash the jack of spades, since West would get in with the ace of diamonds and could then draw the last trump and take a spade trick. South therefore had to lead another diamond towards the dummy.

West stepped up with the ace of diamonds, cashed his high trump, and put dummy in with a club. This left dummy with a losing diamond, which was enough to defeat the contract, and South's good luck of spades went to sleep.

"Guess I need a new pair of jassers," South admitted sheepishly, after this pitiful exhibition.

"You need more than that," his partner grimly replied. "Why don't you try radar?"

SHELL GAME—Susan Reuper, 8, of Minneapolis, Minn., makes sure that "Myrtle," the turtle, won't forget her number when she's entered in a neighborhood turtle race. If Myrtle wins, she'll go on to the Aquatennial finale, which is the racing classic for Minneapolis turtles. Myrtle wants to win. A laser could end up in the soup.

BERRY NICE—Wearing a blueberry necklace, Rhonda Shewberry samples some early Michigan blueberries. She'll reign over the annual Grand Haven Harvest Fiesta sponsored by Michigan blueberry growers.

IKE OUT, KEFAUVER UP—Lennie Dennis removes a portrait of Dwight D. Eisenhower, Republican nominee for President and puts in its place a picture of Sen. Estes Kefauver, leading contender for the Democratic nomination. It's part of the switching around at the Conrad Hilton Hotel in Chicago as Dems take over.

WELCOME RELAXATION—After a hectic week banging the gavel at the Republican National Convention, Rep. Joseph W. Martin, who was permanent chairman, finds welcome relaxation in company on the bench with his dog. He's resting up at his summer home in Massachusetts.

Domestic Crude Production Climbs

TULSA (AP) — Domestic crude oil and condensate production showed a 1,100-barrel daily average increase to a total of 6,082,450 barrels during the week ended July 19, The Oil and Gas Journal has reported.

Oklahoma accounted for more than twice the net gain, adding 2,600 barrels to 521,000 barrels.

Other substantial increases were recorded in Indiana up 1,700 barrels to 33,200; Kansas 1,300 barrels to 326,300; Kentucky, 1,100 to 34,300; and Michigan 1,200 to 37,600.

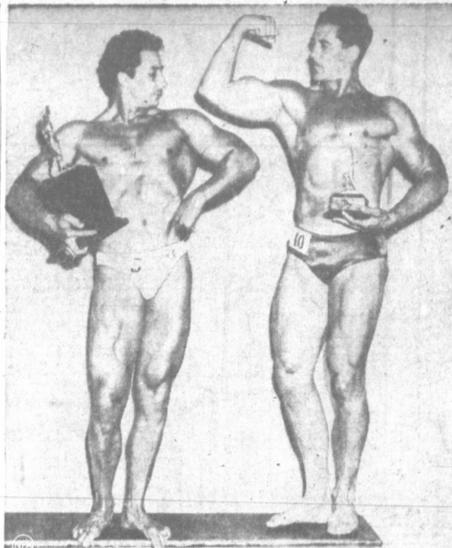

Wyoming and Illinois were the biggest losers the former dropping 3,000 barrels to 185,000 and the latter slumping 1,400 to 162,700.

These were the other declines: Mississippi down 950 barrel to 96,300; California, off 800 to 987,100; Colorado 400 to 483,800; Utah 300 to 4,200; Arkansas and Louisiana each 200 to 80,900 and 670,750 respectively; and Montana 100 to 27,000. Texas was unchanged.

Twenty new traps were installed at Northwood for the U. S. Open championship. Yardage on the par 70 course is 6,779.

forces to battle without the will to win.

On all fronts of the war against Communism—in Europe, in Asia, and at home—our policies and our leaders must exemplify the traditional American faith and courage. We have in the past two years suffered more humiliation, paid more blackmail, taken more insults from second-rate Russian satellites than ever before in our history.

Too many of our decisions are based upon fear of Russia — not as they should be, upon faith and confidence in our own strength. Much of the responsibility for this must be placed upon men such as the present Secretary of State Dean Acheson, whose public statements and action have aroused widespread lack of faith in his leadership. Because I believe public confidence is vitally important to the success of any foreign policy, I believe Mr. Acheson should resign or be removed.

Daniel Says U. S. Should Stay Strong In Europe; Arm In Asia

By PRICE DANIEL
Candidate for U. S. Senate (Editor's Note: With the eyes of the world on American foreign policy, The Associated Press asked the three candidates for U. S. Senator from Texas to state their views for Saturday's Democratic primary. The following was written by Price Daniel, Viewpoints of Lindley Beckworth and E. W. Napier will appear later this week. Winner of the seat will succeed veteran Tom Connally who is retiring after 24 years in the Senate.)

As U. S. Senator from Texas

I will work for a positive and understandable foreign policy—A foreign policy which will not yield to or compromise with Communism anywhere.

It is high time that we develop a truly bi-partisan foreign policy which will remove decisions affecting our security from the narrow realm of party politics and unite—rather than divide—our people.

Communism is the common foe. The talents and energies of all Americans should be directed against the common enemy, not wasted in quarrels among ourselves.

Basically, I believe our policy should be to stay strong in Europe and get strong in Asia.

The North Atlantic military security program will have my full support. I will work for a responsible and respected United Nations, as an instrument of peace and a foe of aggression. I believe we must continue to cooperate with those countries which stand united with us against the threat of Communist aggression, but we must quit bearing a disproportionate part of the load.

In the Pacific area, our foreign policy since World War II has not been worthy of our American heritage. The policy which allowed China to fall to the Chinese Communists will be recorded in history as our greatest foreign policy blunder.

This blunder, coupled with Mr. Dean Acheson's later drawing of the American line of defense east of Formosa and Korea, led us down the road to the stalemate Korean War in which our forces are now engaged.

To regain the ground lost in Asia since 1945, I believe the first step is to end the Korean War immediately. If honorable peace cannot be concluded, until the hands of our fighting men and support them with what it takes to defeat the enemy, or get out of Korea. The cause of peace is not served when we commit our
