Stevenson Fever High As Hour Of Decision Nears

WON'T BE LONG NOW — Robert (Butch) Langford, 12, winner of the 1952 Pampa Soap Box Derby, watches intently as Lee Sigms, puts the finishing touches to the lettering on the body of Butch's racer. In preparation for the All-American Soap Box Derby, held Aug. 10, Butch has sandpapered, repainted and smoothed out the rough spots on his car. Having put in 46 hours on spinning his wheels, he plans to stop at 48. (News Photo)

Illinois Governor Still Mum; Balloting To Begin Tonight

CHICAGO (AP) — The Democratic Convention came to its candidate picking time today with "draft Stevenson" sentiment running high.

As delegations began trooping into this big amphitheater for the climactic day of the party's 31st nominating convention, it was an odds-on bet that the presidential nomination would be thrust upon Adlai Stevenson who says he wants only to run for reelection as Illinois governor.

Democrats Seek Peace, Progress

CHICAGO (AP) — The Democratic party's 1952 platform in brief:

Civil Rights — Favors federal legislation to wipe out racial discriminations. Declares co-operative efforts of state and local governments are required also.

Foreign Policy — Promises to carry on the "practical and successful" policies developed under Roosevelt - Truman administrations. Sets a goal of "peace with honor."

National defense Pledges the party to stand "unequivocally" for "strong, balanced" defense forces for this country — land, sea and air.

Inflation Promises to strengthen controls which it says were weakened by action of Republican members of Congress.

Government spending — Pledges preservation of the financial strength of the government. Says "New Deal" and "Fair Deal" financial policies have given the nation its greatest prosperity in history.

But Sens. Richard Russell of Georgia and Estes Kefauver of Tennessee were still in there pitching. So was Averell Harriman, the mutual security administrator.

Convention managers plan to hold off on the actual balloting until a night session.

A caucus was set aside for the preliminaries of balloting.

The hoopla that sets the stage. As the hour approached, Stevenson still wasn't saying whether he would accept. But nobody doubted that he would.

And there was still no public word from President Truman as to his views — something many delegates had hoped for.

Kansas delegates, who have been on the fence, plumped to Stevenson with their 16 convention votes at a caucus.

Californians, backing Kefauver, heard a plea from Rep. Clinton McKinnon, their chairman, to stand firm.

McKinnon told them: "The bandwagon is rolling in the direction of Stevenson. But if we can hold the line — if we can stop Stevenson on the second ballot, the votes for favorite son candidates and others can be diverted to Kefauver."

Texas Backs Russell

Texas decided in a caucus to put all of its 52 votes behind Russell. Only 22 1/2 of them previously had been committed to him, or the move shored the 195.

Boom Gets Boost

The Stevenson boom got another boost when Gov. Paul A. Dever, Massachusetts announced he would vote for the Illinois governor on the second ballot. He said he had made no recommendation to other delegates as to how they should vote.

The 36 Massachusetts votes were to go to Dever on the first ballot as a favorite son.

The 54-year-old Illinois governor may be tabbed on a short-count ballot with three Southern states — South Carolina, Virginia and Louisiana — sitting it out.

The Dixie — sidown, prompted by a feud over a party loyalty pledge, seemed likely to impel second place on the ticket.

This would be a direct attempt to offset the reputed popularity of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, the GOP presidential nominee, below the Mason and Dixon line.

For this role, delegates were told by Stevenson, (Page 4)

Kerr Is Nominated As Man To Defeat Five-Star Generals

CHICAGO (AP) — Sen. Robert S. Kerr was offered in nomination for the presidency at the Democratic Convention today as a party stalwart who "defeated one five-star general" and "is our best man to defeat another."

Rep. Carl Albert, in a speech placing his fellow Oklahoman's name in nomination, called the 55-year-old Kerr a "fighting progressive Democrat" and "the greatest campaign orator in America."

"Last year, when Gen. Douglas MacArthur refused to play on our great military team, the President was compelled to remove him," Albert said, referring to MacArthur's ouster as Far East commander.

"The Republicans created a mighty uproar for partisan political gain," Albert continued. "The senator from Oklahoma accepted the challenge."

"Almost single-handedly, he carried the fight to the Republican Party and drove its spokesmen from the Senate floor."

Albert said Kerr is the Democratic best qualified to oppose the GOP nominee, Dwight D. Eisenhower, in the fall election.

The congressman said Kerr came to national attention when he "electrified" the 1944 Democratic convention in a keynote speech he delivered when Oklahoma's governor.

Texans Riled About No Chance To Vote

CHICAGO (AP) — Texans were riled about not getting a chance to register their "no" on the Democratic platform at the Convention Hall today.

They shouted, they waved their hats and National Committeeman Wright Morrow shook the state standard aloft.

But their fellow Texan, Speaker Sam Rayburn, declared the platform was adopted by voice and went on to the next order of business without recognizing them.

Some of the delegates huddled after the convention session, talking it over.

No Comment

Gov. Shivers, leader of the Texas delegation, had no comment except that the Texans didn't like rushing through the order of business without recognizing them.

HST Demands End To Strike

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman told the leaders of the warring steel factions in a dramatic face-to-face meeting at the White House today that they must settle quickly the devastating strike of 650,000 steel workers.

Then the President sat the leaders of the two sides down to thrash out the issues which caused the strike that has closed ed down the nation's steel mills 83 days.

Strong Language

A White House spokesman said Truman in talking with Benjamin Fairless, president of U. S. Steel Corp., and Philip Murray, head of the striking CIO union, used very strong language.

The appeal, the spokesman said, amounted to an ultimatum.

Reporters asked Fairless and Murray what they thought of the prospects of a speedy settlement. Both smiled and answered: "No comment."

Today's conference was one of the more dramatic meetings between Truman and chiefs of labor and industry. In order to talk with them, the President put off a planned visit to the Democratic National Convention until tomorrow.

Lammot du Pont Succumbs At 71

NEW LONDON, Conn. (AP) — Lammot du Pont, 71, one of three brothers who led the development of the modern E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co. Inc., from a small black powder factory 50 years ago to one of the great chemical companies of the world, died today at a hospital here.

Dr. Edward Gipstein, heart specialist who attended Du Pont, said the industrialist had been ill "a month or so" at his summer home on Fisher's Island, N. Y., before entering the hospital July 11. Dr. Gipstein declined to say what the nature of Du Pont's illness was.

The youngest of three brothers who built up the mighty industrial domain, he was president of the company for 14 years. He headed it from 1926 to 1940, succeeding his brothers, Pierre and Irene, in that position. From 1940 to 1948, he was chairman of the board. It was during that period the Du Pont company was called upon to use its scientific skills in helping to make A-bombs and Lammot shared in many of the important decisions.

Convention On Fire Because Of Man Said To Be 'Too Old'

CHICAGO (AP) — They said Alben Barkley was "too old." They said he was a fine gentleman and a distinguished public figure, but heavy with years, too many years, to be the Democratic candidate for the presidency.

The Democratic Convention is on fire today because of the man who was "too old."

It is blazing with the new life and spirit he breathed into it last night when he spoke to more than 12,000 people, whipped them into frenzy of excitement, and stirred one of the unforgettable spectacles of a generation.

Consolation Prize

His appearance at the convention was intended as a kind of "consolation prize" for a man deeply hurt.

Three days before, the 74-year-old vice president was a candidate, campaigning actively to be his party's choice for the presidency then, as he put it, "some self-appointed labor leaders" suddenly withdrew the support he had supposed they would give him.

They said he was "too old." Barkley took himself out of the race.

Explosion of Warmth

There was a tremendous explosion of warmth and sympathy and affection when the "Veep" marched down the platform onto the rostrum last night. The organ began to play "My Old Kentucky Home" and rolling billows of music and cheering thundered through the great hall.

Barkley stood looking down at the demonstration, unsmiling, almost impassive. From time to time he waved and bowed, acknowledging a tremendous salute. It went on for 24 minutes, constantly hitting new peaks of sound and excitement.

Finally, they let him speak. He had no manuscript and they (See CONVENTION, Page 4)

George Taylor Heads Area SCS As Reorganization Completed

Completion of the reorganization of the national Soil Conservation Service has reached the area with the announcement that George Taylor is to be at the head of the area of nine counties with headquarters in Amarillo.

To be known officially as area conservationist, Taylor will work with local soil conservationists in the various work units.

Pampa is to remain the central point for the Gray County Work Unit, with James Strawn as conservationist and Al Schneider and Paul Appleton as co-workers.

Other units in the Amarillo area are Donley County, headquarters in Clark; Armstrong as district conservationist.

Real Live Fish Story

Fish to stock 38 area farm ponds are to arrive Friday at the federal fish hatchery office in the court house and farmers are to call at the office for their orders, according to James Strawn, conservationist.

The fish are bass and blue gill from Santa Rosa, N.M. They were ordered recently by farmers from the federal fish hatchery in Santa Rosa through the SCS.

Approximately 60 farmers in the county applied for the fish to stock ponds built for other farm stock. All applicants will receive fish, Strawn said, as soon as ponds have enough water in them to qualify under federal regulations.

Farmers to receive the fish are to be notified to bring cans and water Friday.

Rosary Services For Lee O'Gorman

Rosary services for Leo Dennis O'Gorman, 43, who died of a heart attack last night in a local hospital, will be held at the Duanel-Carmichael Funeral Chapel at 8 p.m. today. Funeral services at Holy Souls Church will be Saturday, the hour to be announced later.

Born July 22, 1909, in Greeley, Neb., Mr. O'Gorman moved to Shamrock from Greeley in 1928 and to Pampa in 1941. At the time of his death he was employed by Phillips Petroleum Company and made his home 16 miles southwest of Pampa. He was a member of the Catholic Church.

Survivors include his wife, Gladys, of Pampa, two daughters, Mary Patricia and Wanda Jane; three sons, Leo Dennis Jr., Paul Winfred, and Roger David; his mother, Mrs. Mary O'Gorman; six sisters, Mrs. Paul Addison, Mrs. K.V. Monk and Mrs. Alton Crowley, all of Borger; Mrs. Hugh Clarkson, Olney; Mrs. Roy Christian, Stinnett; and Mrs. Roger Gonzales, Hawthorne, Calif.

Six brothers, Roger, James and Bernard, all of Stinnett; Michael of Hawthorne; Ambrose of Edna; and Sgt. Richard O'Gorman, San Antonio.

Burial is to be in Shamrock Cemetery with Duanel-Carmichael Funeral Home in charge.

Parking Service For Invalids Due For Rodeo Shows

A new parking service to invalids and crippled people unable to sit in bleachers will be inaugurated this year at the Top of Texas Rodeo in Pampa August 5-9, according to John Pitts, ticket and admission chairman.

Twelve spaces for cars will be reserved on the northeast side of the arena and tickets for use spaces will be sold at rodeo headquarters in the city hall.

Only the special group will be allowed to park in the space, said Pitts, and tickets will be sold on a "first come-first served" basis.

Pitts also announced that only two box seat tickets remain on sale at the headquarters. Former box seat ticket holders have been contacted and offered priority and two out of 42 have not been taken.

The tickets sell for $15 each and are good for all five nights of the rodeo. General admission tickets are bought in addition to the seats. Each box seats six people.

Living Cost Sets Record

WASHINGTON (AP) — The cost of living, as measured by the government, soared to an all-time high in mid-June. In June, figures made public today by the Bureau of Labor Statistics showed that on June 15 the price of food, clothing, rent, entertainment and other daily living costs was 189.6 per cent of the 1935-1939 period.

That was 11.4 per cent higher than two years ago, just before the Korean fighting started.

The cost-of-living index jumped five tenths of a point over previous record high for last January under the pressure of higher costs for food, rent and miscellaneous and miscellaneous goods and services.

Ravaging Drouth Continues To Plague Farmers In Texas

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS heavy local thundershowers in Texas still had its long, ravaging other areas.

The deterioration of late corn and sorghums as well as cotton was halted generally, the department said. But it admitted moisture was needed in the Cross - Timbers area, a number of west central blackland counties and over much of the Edwards Plateau and Southwest Texas.

The ravages of the drouth reported from Austin that cotton, Merrill said, "are holding up as pasture and late-feed prospects expanding. Outsmarts Communists

By SPENCER DAVIS SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A man who outwitted the Japanese in World War II guerrilla leader is outsmarting the Communist Huk in The Philippines.

Military men close to Ramon Magsaysay, Philippines secretary of national defense credit him with keeping the Huk in the run broken in small bands because "he thinks like they do."

So he cast out the former Army policy that "the only good Huk is a dead Huk."

Magsaysay treats his prisoners well. He tries to see every one personally. Relatives of the captured man are brought to him and care is taken that villagers are informed where the family has gone.

Prisoners are asked to help the government defeat its enemies and to lead the way to hideouts. Many raids on Huk hideouts have been directed by former Huk leaders.

Less than 50 per cent of the 9300 Huk who have surrendered since Magsaysay took over 21 months ago have been shot. For one reason the paroled Huk is suspect by the Reds.

A peace fund of $500,000 controlled by businessmen and landowners has helped finance an elaborate reward system which is not by Magsaysay with a mis frankly that for a time it was the most hated man in the Liberal administration party.

Practical hints on many facets of photography have been gathered by J. Winton Lemen, an Eastman Kodak executive, in his constant travels around the country meeting and talking with photographers.

"None of these ideas is completely original," Wint Lemen admitted, "Some you may have tried yourself. Some you may have forgotten. But perhaps some of you may not have heard about before. However, they have all been tested and found practical by some photographers somewhere and may be adapted to your needs."

Here are a few: To keep baby's hands together and occupied, put a little Scotch tape on the fingers. Baby will be absorbed in figuring out what it is.

You have no tripod handy? Put two chairs back to back, slightly apart. The upper edge of the chair backs makes a temporary platform for a camera.

Emery paper now comes in rolls with an adhesive back. Attach a small square on the bottom of the camera or camera case. It will be handy to wipe flash bulb bases to assure good contact.

Small magnets have many magical uses in table-top and still life photography. They keep objects in difficult positions.

For embossing prints, use the handle end of a discarded tooth brush.

Hang your safelight on a wire over your darkroom workbench. The safelight can then slide to wherever you need it.

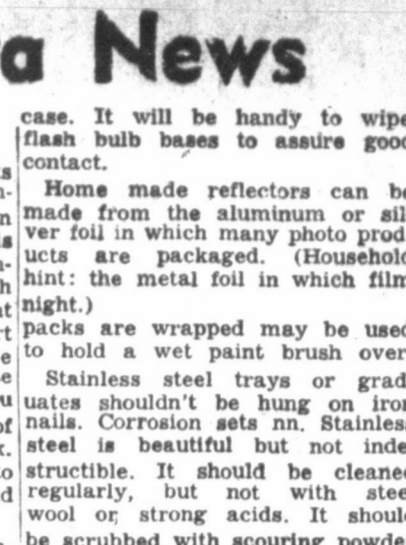

Do you want to turn lights on or off anywhere in the dark room, to the light switch? Run a cord overhead the length of the darkroom, to the light switch. Reach up anywhere. A pull on the cord will make the light respond.

Keep working solutions covered to prevent oxidation. Paraffin wax paper cut to size will do, if you don't have a floating lid. A stop bath between developer and hypo is an economy. Prints rinsed in a 2 per cent Kodalk solution will cut the normal washing time to half, saving water.

Use of two fixing baths is a sure method of fixing prints. An automobile windshield wiper is a good squeegee for negatives and prints.

IT'S YOUR DEAL

Double Discard Rule

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service
"Somebody told us one of your pointers: that low discards are safer than high discards," writes a Cincinnati correspondent. "A few days later somebody else said you advised throwing a high card as the first discard."

"Looks to me as though one of these people misquoted you. Which of these statements was true and which was false?"

Strange as it may seem, both statements are true. The reason is that you don't try to play safe at your first discard.

Suppose your opponent takes the pack immediately after you have made your first discard. What have you lost? Nothing very much. Moreover, it's far better to lose the pack at that time than to lose it later on, when it would contain more cards.

Suppose your opponent doesn't take the pack after you have made your first discard. Then you have gained something. You have gotten rid of an embarrassing card and have thus made room in your hand for something more useful.

In short, no matter what happens you are in no trouble if you make your dangerous discard at your first opportunity.

Now let's see what happens if you keep the dangerous card in your hand and try to play safe. If you're very lucky, you may pick up cards that match the dangerous card; and then it becomes a useful part of your hand.

But more often that dangerous card just stays useless and begins to clutter up your hand. If you discard it eventually, when the pack is good and juicy, you are then running a very grave risk.

If you keep it in your hand, you are under the handicap of playing with one (or more) useless cards in your hand.

Either way, you are unhappy if you fail to get rid of the dangerous cards very early in the hand.

After the first two or three discards, however, the pack becomes worth fighting for. Now you don't dream of making dangerous discards if you have any intention of struggling to win the discard pile. And at this point you want to have a few low cards to throw, provided that there is no special reason to keep them in your hand.

Officials Breathe Easier... No Voting Booths Required In Out-Of-Town Polling Places

County and Democratic party election officials were breathing easier today when they remembered the new election code does not require voting booths outside of the city limits.

They worried the other day about how to get the school building at Pecos, Grandview and Hopkins opened Friday to set up the booths.

So, they need only worry about getting the three Pampa schools used on election days - Baker, Sam Houston and Woodrow Wilson opened tomorrow to set up the booths.

At home candidates were making an effort to put some zip into the few days left to campaign. As he used short radio announcements and newspaper advertising.

Political observers claim the poll indicates attorneys of Pampa, Berger, Amadio, Lubbok, and other Panhandle-South Plains cities and towns believe Moss to be the best qualified of the four men seeking the six-year job.

U. S. Spending Over Income

NEW YORK (AP)—Uncle Sam is spending twice as much as he is taking in these days. In the first two weeks of this month the treasury ran behind by two billion dollars.

The financial district thinks the treasury will soon be borrowing more money — possibly seeking four billion dollars from corporations as a sort of advance payment on next March's income taxes.

Under the impact of defense and other spending the federal debt has hit 263 billion dollars, eight billion higher than a year ago. And the government has then located in the Moody Hotel building.

The Bader brothers operated the store under the name of Bader's Pharmacy. Mr. Bader sold the store in 1945 to Charlie Douglas, the present owner and moved to Albuquerque, N. M.

Mrs. Bader died at Albuquerque about three years ago and Mr. Bader moved to Dallas where he was living at the time of his death.

He is survived by one son, Walter Bader, of Dallas. He was a member of the Methodist Church and Masonic Lodge.

borrowed six billion dollars in "new money" since April, July 4 Bad Month

July is always a bad month for the treasury, of course Tax collections are slow, while government agencies start to spend funds appropriated for the new fiscal year.

But this July's two billion dollar deficit in two weeks compares with a one billion deficit a year ago, when the Korean War was only a year old. This double time into debt shows how defense spending is now really hitting its stride.

The treasury has tried various means of meeting this deficit. The total of 91-day treasury bills had been increased by 1 1/2 billion dollars. A disappointing non-marketable bond issue brought in 218 million. A popular marketable bond issue last month brought in 4 1/4 billion.

Hope In New Bond
The treasury hopes its more liberally termed savings bonds will coax money from the public, which was cashing in more of the old style savings bonds than it was buying.

The treasury may next turn to tax anticipatory bonds, a form it has used before. These are sold to corporations, who have to save money for months to meet their tax bills. By buying the bonds, they get some interest on the cash they are laying aside. And then in March they turn the bonds into the treasury for the taxes due at that time.

Candidate Napier Seeks Return To God And Reason

Editor's Note: The Texas who moves into Tom Connally's U.S. Senate seat will find foreign policy among his major problems. For that reason—and so that the citizens of Texas will know how the candidates stand—the Associated Press has asked each of the three candidates to state their foreign policy views. Tomorrow: Rep. Landley Beckworth's statement.

By E. W. NAPIER
Candidate for U. S. Senate
Written for The Associated Press
Written for The Associated Press

The following is my proposal for a foreign policy for the United States.

I stand for a return to God and reason. This nation came into being with God's blessing and through His guidance and mercy, it has grown strong and prosperous, but our very strength and prosperity has made us forget God.

Our foreign policy is one of sheer madness and one that can only lead to war and bankruptcy.

The Korean War was a tragic blunder in the beginning. I would stop that war now so as to retrieve our prisoner boys, and I would move out of Asia lock, stock, and barrel.

For six months, we have allowed the single remaining issue of exchange of prisoners to hold up the truce agreement. Sixty thousand enemy prisoners who have grown fat and lazy on our good fare, do not wish to go home; so we are deferring to their wishes rather than to the wishes of 3000 American boys who would like very much to come home.

From time immemorial, it has been the rule of warfare that at the cessation of hostilities all prisoners, regardless of numbers and without regard to the wishes of the prisoners, must be repatriated. That rule was crystalized into written law at the Geneva Convention to which we were a party; so, the Chinese are within their legal rights in demanding a full and complete exchange of prisoners.

The politicians and the generals wax eloquent in their defense of the supposed rights of these enemy prisoners but they have no tears for the 8000 American boys who languish in prison in a strange land.

While we quibble, our sons are being killed and our treasury is being drained.

I would debunk the myth of a Russian threat to our security, it is obvious to all who read and think that Russia does not have the strength, military or economic, to engage in a large-scale war with any hope of success. Such a war is deadweight all that they have accomplished in 35 years, and make it impossible to carry out any more of their 5-year development programs.

I would get out of the NATO as quickly as possible. Under the treaty we can be drawn into global war whenever any one of those quarrelsome countries goes into a fuss with its neighbor.

I would stop in its tracks the administration's ambitious scheme to remain one-half of the world against the other. We have already squandered billions in an effort to arm Europe against an imagined or pretended Russian danger. With the exception of the old Nazi crowd and those who are profiting by the scheme, no one in Europe wants our arms. They see no Russian threat and they wish to be left in peace.

Instead of draining our treasury and spreading thin our military might all over the world, I would strengthen our defenses at home with special emphasis upon air and sea superiority; but I would assure the world of our readiness to defend, within our means, the weak against the aggressions of the strong, but this must be upon a voluntary basis and not by compulsion of any treaty obligation.

This issue of war or peace is the biggest issue that has confronted the American people since slavery. We cannot go into another global war and come out of it with our liberties.

This might well be our last free vote.

Who Wins in This Game Anyway?

Thrift stamps, trading stamps, profit-sharing stamps, or stamps by whatever name you want to call them, they're just stamps . . . and for what purpose?

Back in the days of Al Capone, who did a hitch for evasion of income tax, it was called a racket. Merchants in those days paid for "protection." In these modern days it's stamps. One merchant buys the service. Another merchant, to offer a bonus buys another brand, etc. etc. Soon a majority of the merchant has obligated themselves by lining up with some stamp concern. Now who wins? Certainly not the merchant, nor the customer. Of course the customer has books and books of beautiful stamps good for merchandise at a value of possibly 2 cents on the dollar of the customer's purchases, which in turn cost the merchant more than that amount.

In any merchandising, cost of operation plus the cost of the merchandise makes up the basic cost of the merchandise sold with whatever profit there is added to make up the selling price. Cost of these stamps must be added in the cost of operation if the merchant hopes to stay in business, they have to be purchased and are an expense of operation.

Then who does win, anyway? Not the customer whether he knows it or not, he pays for every stamp he gets. Not the merchant—he has to buy the stamps he gives away. The wholesaler who sells to the merchant does not discount his bill because the merchant is giving away stamps. As near as we can tell from here the only winner in the game is the firm who sells the stamps, in the guise of "protection" against the neighboring merchants.

The guy who loses is the fellow who has to lick the stamps to put them in books so he can trade them for something he doesn't want so he can tell all the neighbors, "Look what I got with my stamps, it didn't cost me a cent."

In the days of Al Capone they called it a "racket."

Baptist Deborah Class Has Picnic

The Deborah Class of the First Baptist Church entertained husbands and children at a lawn party and wicker roast this week in the home of Mrs. Roy Chishum, 405 North Russell. Mrs. Chishum served as hostess with LaNeta Criss and Group 1 as co-hostesses.

The yard was decorated with jack-o-lanterns, hurricane lamps, and the pedestals topped with fern and greenery.

Claude Wilson gave the invocation.

Refreshments of hot dogs, potato chips, cookies, and cold drinks were served to the following class members and their families: Messrs. and Mrs. Bob Rose and daughter, Alvin Reeves, Gordon Bayless, Clyde Herridge, and son, Floyd Barrett, Joe Magee, Bill Kuehl, Tommy Phillips and children, "Chuck" Hogan, and Chisum and Mrs. Criss and David Glassman.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Wilson, department officers, and Mrs. Owen Johnson, superintendent of Adult No. 1 department, were special guests.

Cook's Nook

GAYNOR Maddox, NEA food and markets editor, claims that Californians brag almost as much about their salads as about their climate. Caesar Salad is one of their most popular enthusiasms. It is served as a course by itself perfect for summer.

CAESAR SALAD

(Serves 8)
Prepare garlic-flavored oil by cutting 3 or 4 cloves of garlic into 1 cup olive oil. Let stand several hours at room temperature.

Prepare 2 cups crisp croutons (tiny bread cubes toasted in slow oven until browned).

Over 3 quarts salad greens in large bowl pour 1/2 cup each of unseasoned salad oil and grated Parmesan cheese, and 1/4 cup blue cheese. Add 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce, 1/2 teaspoon dry mustard, salt and pepper to taste.

Break 1 raw egg over greens and pour in 1/2 cup fresh lemon juice. Toss very thoroughly so that every leaf is coated with egg, seasonings, and cheese. Dip croutons into garlic-flavored oil. Toss with salad and serve at once while croutons are crunchy.

CHEF'S SALAD BOWL

One head iceberg lettuce, 1 cup diced celery, 1 cup cooked ham, chicken or meat strips, 3 hard-boiled eggs, French dressing to taste, tomatoes for garnish.

Tear the cold, crisp lettuce into a large salad bowl. Toss with remaining ingredients. Serve in individual salad bowls and garnish with the fresh tomato wedges. It.

CFW Plans Sunday Reception For Leonard Brummett

First Christian Women's Fellowship met Wednesday in the church parlor for a business session.

Mrs. H. J. Pickett, president, opened the meeting with prayer. The group made plans for a reception Sunday following church services. The entertainment will honor Mr. Leonard Brummett, who will be ordained Sunday in the church by Rev. Donald West.

Mr. Brummett and his wife will leave here Aug. 16 for the Philippines where he will serve on Luzon. He is a living link to the Highland Heights Christian church in Wichita Falls and the First Christian Church in Madison Lodge, Kan.

The group also filled a box of food to be sent Friday to the Juliet Fowler home.

Mrs. W. R. Harden presented the devotion, "God's Choice for President."

Attending were Mrs. Homer Keys, Morris Emloe, C. H. Darl, O. A. Wagner, Leland Finney, A. A. Tiemann, J. F. Meera, C. H. Wood, Emory Noblitt, Bert Kiser, C. M. Breeze, Mrs. Harden and Mrs. Pickett.

STRIPED TOMATO SALAD

Remove stems from unpeeled tomatoes and make four or five parallel cuts through each almost to the bottom. Put a generous spoonful of well-seasoned cottage cheese or a slice of cheddar cheese and a half strip of crisp bacon into each cut. Serve on thick slices of crisp iceberg lettuce.

Spiritual force is stronger than material; thoughts rule the world. Fully to understand a grand and beautiful thought requires, perhaps, as much time as to conceive with the fresh tomato wedges. It.

Judge Sarah T. Hughes Speaks In Boston At National B&PW Convention

In a speech presented at the national Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs annual convention held in Boston, Judge Sarah T. Hughes, president, stressed that full citizenship alone will suffice in the world today.

"The task that confronts us requires partnership of men and women," she said.

"The effort to obtain full citizenship for women began in this country in the early 19th century. It became an organized force in 1848 and has continued to the present time," Judge Hughes explained.

"Much progress has been made. Women have the right to vote, the right to serve on juries in all but six states and the legal right to hold public office, but even these gains do not yet make us full citizens. Their lack of real influence in government is demonstrated by the few women holding office.

"Let us look then to the future. What must be done if we are to meet the challenge of this new day—how can we make women full citizens?"

1. All existing legal discriminations must be removed. This objective can be accomplished by passage of the Equal Rights Amendment. Its endorsement was included in the platforms of both political parties in 1944 and 1948 and such endorsement by the parties must be obtained again this year. But platforms of political parties are too frequently left to street car platforms, just something to get on and off of.

2. We need political platforms should be what the parties stand on after the election as well as before. That does not mean, however, that we should depend on party promises alone. We must do our share in the adoption of the amendment. Congressional candidates must be interviewed before the election and those elected deluged with so much mail that they will be convinced their entire districts are for the Equal Rights Amendment.

3. Two years ago a constitutional amendment to give women the right to serve on juries was submitted. It was defeated. But if only the women belonging to the women's organizations which had endorsed jury service for women had voted, the result would have been overwhelmingly in favor.

"The Equal Rights Amendment will not be passed by putting it on our legislative program and passing resolutions. Success will come only from hard and strenuous work." Judge Hughes said.

4. It is our number one legislative item let's go home and do something about it," Judge Hughes said.

2. While the removal of legal discriminations is the first step and a most essential one in making women full citizens, it is not enough. Women must be willing to accept responsibility and actively participate.

"Too long women have been willing to stand letters and lick stamps in campaigns rather than press for participation in the planning. Only rarely do they seek appointment to public office or announce as a candidate for election. They have waited too long to be wooed, forgetting that in politics, every woman is a deep-sea diver. Women cannot be shrinking violets in politics. They must get into the arena and fight.

3. For women to be full citizens they must be accepted by men as full partners. Through many centuries it has been difficult for men to see women as other than existing for their comfort and pleasure. The idea of women participating in government is still new in this country and anything new encounters resistance. Just the other day I read this statement in the Dallas News: "The thought of encouraging women to political and civic leadership makes the average man—especially a Texan—gag. To him it is an insult to his manhood, it is usurping his male right to govern the tribe."

A few men actually believe women are inferior—that they are not capable of handling a "Man's job." There are other men who have a better opinion of women's ability, but are still invited when it is suggested that women invade the "smoke-filled room" of politics. Fortunately these men do not speak for all men. Many realize the contribution women can make and want them to take their place in government. Our job, then, it is a big one, is to create public opinion in favor of the contribution women can make and there will be no question of acceptance of women as co-pilots in place of back seat drivers.

4. Full citizenship is not limited to participation in government. It includes daily practice of democratic principles. I am referring to the principles set out in the Declaration of Independence and the Bill of Rights, freedom of speech, of religion and of assembly, the right of trial by jury, equal opportunity. In the emergency which now confronts us

The dictionary says a grandparent is a parent's parent... That's a mighty little definition for such a big thing. Becoming a grandparent seems to bring a special kind of joy... and there is nothing sweeter than the relationship most grandchildren and grandparents enjoy.

The C. P. Puraleys, Tom O'Rourke, L. A. Barbers, M. E. Powers, and A. Kuehls, are just a few of the many grandparents who are having the time of their lives watching grandchildren grow up...

And there was a whole page of three generations on the Sunday picture page. Grandparents, as well as Mom and Dad, are always ready to shout a birth announcement from the tree tops, but when the Grundy Morrises' second grandson arrived last week, Mrs. Morrises simply sat down and wrote a verse about the new boy. She always writes "homespun lines" when any special occasion comes around.

For years she has been writing her Christmas cards and Mrs. Morrises writes special verses for special people and has them printed on cards with appropriate sketches.

But back to her "song of a grandparent". The main import of our news today is that on July fifteen, down Kingsville way, a grandson came to this world to stay.

International Intrigue! Problem Of Smuggling Cats Across The Border Faces Hank

By HENRY McLEMORE
SAN ANTONIO, Texas — You may not believe me, but I swear it's the truth that the San Antonio Public Library, one of the finest in the Southwest, does not have a single book on how to smuggle two tomcats into Mexico.

I visited the library today shortly after leaving the Alamo, and searched the shelves for a book on the subject. There wasn't a pamphlet, much less a book. The librarian asked me what I was looking for and offered to help. "Thanks," I said. I should have come to you in the first place. I'm looking for a book dealing with smuggling cats into foreign countries, especially Mexico. I haven't been able to find one, but, of course, it might be out at the moment.

The librarian said she didn't have such a book but wished that she did, because I was the second man in the past week to ask for one. I wish that the librarian had no told me about that other man because until my dying day I'll wonder who he is and how he happened to be passing through San Antonio with the same problem as mine.

My feline problems are Bidey and Duffy, the former black and grey, the latter black and white. Three of us are headed for Mexico City. In order to reach Mexico City, a motorist must pass through Mexican Customs. This is the first time that smuggling has ever worried me. I've run in diamonds to Amsterdam, carried coals to Newcastle, cigars into Italy and France, thistles into Scotland, Great Danes into Denmark, checkerboards into Czechoslovakia, and Prudential Life insurance salesmen into Gibraltar. But cat smuggling is different. You can't tear a label out of a cat and say it's homemade. You can't roll up a cat and put him in the midst of dirty clothes beyond the probing fingers of customs officers. You can't hide a cat in the hollowed-out heel of a shoe, and you can't put one in your watchpocket, trusting that there will be no personal search. Between now and the time I get to Laredo and the border, I'm going to have to work out a fool proof system of tomcat smuggling. If weren't so warm in these parts right now, I'd seriously consider tying their tails together, hanging them around my neck, and passing them off as a lively stole. But anyone who wears a fur with the thermometer where it now stands would be hustled off to the booby hatch. You might get by with a string of ice cubes around your neck, but a fur piece no.

My solution may turn out to be a hypnotist. He could put them in a trance and make them completely rigid. Then I could glue them to a mahogany board and take them across as small game trophies with a suitable inscription under each cat, reading something like this:

"Bagged on back yard safari in 1948. Shot off picket fence at 200 meters."

And then again, I might become a Spartan boy and carry them across inside my shirt. But the more I think of this idea, the less I like it. If what they have done to curtains and slipcovers is any sample of what they might do to my stomach while crossing the border incognito, so to speak, I want no part of it. What I really think I'll do is teach them how to swim and let them cross the Rio Grande under cover of darkness. If I decide on this, I'm quite sure an early column will be on teaching them how to swim.

German Youth Needs Adjustment Period

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A pretty exchange student from the free University of Berlin and now a doctoral candidate at Carnegie Tech says German youths have not had time to adjust themselves from war to peace and then to re-armament. Blue-eyed Irma V. Reitzenstein thinks some of the confusion in the minds of German youth could be alleviated if the university could afford more cultural programs. This would give the students the spiritual strength needed to re-armament. Many of the students, she says, are refugees from the Soviet zone of Berlin where no Western radio stations are policed. Most refugees and West Germans can't afford to go to school.

India Edwards And Husband Have No Plans On Election

By RUTH COWAN
CHICAGO (AP) — What about the husband of a woman in the race for vice president?

The question was raised at a news conference held by Mrs. India Edwards, Democratic National Committee vice chairman. Mrs. Edwards is one of two women being promoted for the party's vice presidential nomination, and she has said: "I'm not running." "When you get to be vice-presidential, what are your husband's plans?" asked a reporter. "Oh, we haven't gone that far," said Mrs. Edwards, who is married to Herbert T. Edwards, a State Department executive. Mrs. Edwards is not taking her own candidacy too seriously. What she is taking seriously is the idea that women should run for office.

"And so when it was suggested I run," she said, "what could I do but take my own medicine?" A reporter wanted to know if Edwards approved of his wife's entry in the race. Mrs. Edwards replied, "Yes, if he had not, I would not have said I would." Mrs. Edwards conceded she has sort of got herself into an embarrassing position last week when she saw a press dispatch quoting Mrs. Richard Nixon, wife of the Republican vice presidential nominee. Mrs. Nixon said, according to the dispatch, that even though she and her husband campaigned as a team—he has served in the House and Senate—she didn't discuss politics at women's meetings. "Politics is the science of government. Why shouldn't women be informed about it — discuss it?" Mrs. Edwards asked. Since Mrs. Edwards' comment about Mrs. Nixon, wives of four announced Democratic candidates have held news conferences — a step approved by India — and all have said they leave discussion of political issues to their husbands. "That a bit embarrassing," said India. "Maybe some husbands don't want their wives making speeches and maybe some shouldn't." "But I still say it is very peculiar if a candidate's wife doesn't discuss issues and politics."

Sports Play Dukes Tonig

The Pampa Sports will take on the Mobeetie Dukes in a game tonight at Oiler Park which is slated to get underway at 8:15 on the dot.

This is rescheduled game from the last week when it was rained out.

Going to the mound for the Sports will be Chubby Haynes who hurled a no-hit no-run contest in his last outing which was against the Shamrock All-Stars.

Admission prices for the game have been set at 50 cents for adults and 25 for children.

Carter Will Go To Rice

HOUSTON (AP) — Six-foot, five-inch Mack Carter, the basketball All-Star from Borger, will go to Rice Institute.

A Borger source said yesterday that Carter decided to accept a Rice athletic scholarship.

League Leaders Get Their Lumps

By The Associated Press

The three top teams in the West Texas-New Mexico league got their lumps last night.

Runway leader Clovis absorbed a 17-3 whipping at the hands of last-place Borger at Borger. Albuquerque, second at Clovis by 17 games, went down 5-4 before resurgent Amarillo at Amarillo. Third place Lamesa fell 8-1 to Lubbock at Lamesa.

The games opened three-game fashion a neat victory over Pampa on five-hit pitching of young Mike Gazella at Abilene. The games opened three-game series in the various locations.

Borger really hit Clovis in the second at Borger. The rally produced 10 runs on nine hits of starter and loser Red Dial. The lopsided victory ended a seven-game losing streak for Borger. Joe Borrego was the winner. Amarillo's victory over Albuquerque was its seventh straight and 19th in its 22 games. The Amarillo drive has carried the club from last to fifth place. The contest was the sixth straight and Waters was the winner with the loss going to Jesse Price who also appeared in relief.

Dick Leader gave five hits and had the help of six Lamesa errors in hurling Lubbock to victory at Lamesa. The win moved Lubbock into a third place tie with Lamesa. Lubbock jumped into a three-run lead in the first and coasted to a 5-0 victory. Gazella edged lefty Ted Gardner in a tight mound duel at Abilene. Pampa threatened in the first, sixth and ninth innings, without scoring. An error, a single, a wild pitch and a long fly produced the Abilene tally in the sixth.

Fordmen Defeat

Tom Rose Fordmen defeated the Northern Natural Compressors 3 to 2 in the Industrial Softball League held at the Lions Park.

Roy Webb was the winning hurler as he pitched a neat three-hitter to allow the Compressors to score. Jim Bryant, losing pitcher for the Compressors, earned runs. His batter mate was Cowhart. His batter mate was Miller.

More Records Broken In Olympics To Make It 14

HELSINKI (AP) — Two more Olympic records were broken today, making it 14 in all in five days of track and field competition.

But for American athletes there was a comparatively quiet interlude after yesterday's five-ring circus of record-wrecking.

All three American "whales" qualified for the final on the hammer throw after Josef Czermak of Hungary broke the Olympic record on his first toss.

But Henry Laskau of New York, America's best heel-and-toe performer, was disqualified in the trial heat of the 10,000-meter walk in which Bruno Junk of Russia set a new Olympic mark, and S. Price King Jr., Berkeley, Calif., failed to qualify for the final finishing dead last in his heat.

Czermak whirled the 16-pound hammer over 57.20 meters (187 feet, 8.02 inches) to shatter the Olympic record of 185 feet, 4.06 inches established in 1936 by Karl Hein of Germany.

Junk won his heat in the 10,000-meter walk in 45 minutes, 5.8 seconds.

Defending Champ Wins First Day

NEW HAVEN, Conn., July 24 — Tommy Jacobs of Montebello, Calif., the defending champion, won easily yesterday in the opening round of the National Junior Golf championship.

He eliminated Larry Correll of Salina, Kan., 6 and 4.

Texas winning included Marcellino Moreno of Midland, who defeated David Winchester of McAlester, Mo., 4 and 3, and Ray F. Leggett Jr. of Midland who beat Wendell Spragins, Memphis, Texas, 5 and 4.

Longhorn League

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The guy who died a thousand deaths waiting for Texas to beat front-running Odesse this season must be spinning in his grave with joy now. The big event really happened Wednesday night.

Trailing by three runs in their half of the ninth, the tail-enders watched their own Jim Hayes smash a two-run homer to narrow the margin and then John Reimold complete the near-miracle with a three-run fourbagger, making it 7-5 Vernon.

Big Spring took advantage of that turn of events to edge with five and a half games of first.

Blue Sox Nip Oilers 1-0 On Unearned Tally

ABILENE (AP) — Young Mike Gazella pitched five-hit shutout baseball for the Blue Sox Wednesday night and his mates came through with an unearned run against lefty Ted Gardner to defeat a Pampa 1-0 in the series opener here.

The Oilers threatened in the first, sixth and ninth innings, but double plays cut them down in the first two cases and the last two men up in the ninth flied out easily to infield and outfield.

Abilene got its lone marker in the sixth, Jay Haney's grounder toward third was mishandled by Norm Auerbach, although there was some argument as to whether the Blue Sox second baseman could have beaten the throw to first. It went as an error, and Haney took second on Art Bowland's clean single to right center, moved to third on a wild pitch, scored after the catch of Glen Selbo's long fly to Lloyd Stout in center.

Double plays also cut down Abilene threats twice in the game, but there was no denying the effective churning of lefty Gardner. He gave up only six hits, no two in the same inning.

Pampa threatened in the first inning. Lead-off player Auerbach walked, and Deck Woldt was safe when Selbo failed to snag his high pop back of shortstop. Gazella fanned Stout for the first out, but loaded the bases by walking Doug Lewis.

Manager Jake Phillips accommodated by grounding to Haney at second who initiated a double play.

Catcher Don Moore got a single in the second, after two outs, and Ed Sudol, who was safe on Weldon Day's wide throw to first, a two-base error, Sudol moved to third on a passed ball.

Sports Roundup

BY GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP) — There apparently is nothing to a widely circulated report that Leo Durocher has been feuding with his boss, President Horace Stoneham of the New York Giants.

On the word of Garry Schumacher, who is Stoneham's right hand, the dandy little manager never stood stronger with the front office than he has since falling behind the torrid pace set by Brooklyn.

"Everyone in the Giants organization feels that Leo has been going a hell of a job, everything considered," Schumacher said. "During the recent Western trip he and Horace were in touch with each other every day by phone and there was never a disagreement on any point."

"How can anyone blame Durocher for what has happened to us? We lost our two best outfielders, Monte Irvin and Willie Mays. Our best pitcher, Sal Maglie, has won only one game in the last seven weeks. Larry Jensen hasn't been putting those strings of victories together the way he did in other years."

"In our opinion, Leo has done a wonderful job to stay in second place. If it isn't what we've been doing it's what those Dodgers have been doing to our second division clubs. It's pure murder."

"Between now and Aug. 17 those guys against us, nine against the Phillies and four against the St. Louis Cardinals. Let's see how they handle that little chore."

"What I honestly think is that the Dodgers either will win it by 20 games or they won't win it at all. Their manager, Charlie Dressen, has been in position to needle them about what happened to their big lead last year, and that has kept them bearing down."

"But we will want to see how they'll react if they run into some real trouble in the next few weeks."

Gulf Coast League

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

By the Associated Press

St. Louis (AP) — The Gulf Coast League schedulemaker had the mind of a prophet when he set up the loop All-Star game on July 21 and arranged its re-cessing games.

Port Arthur at Harlingen and Galveston at Corpus Christi.

Thursday night the clubs resume play after a two-day lay-off for the mythical clash, this one won 4-2 by the East over the West at Harlingen. Now, back in action, the circuit is at its tensest, four-game span of the top.

When Port Arthur invades Harlingen for a two-game series, the league leap is at stake, for both share first place on 54.5 records. Galveston moves into Laredo with third place awaiting the outcome. These two have almost identical marks, three games behind the front-runners, but Laredo holds third place technically on the strength of one percentage point.

In the other games, Texas City goes to Corpus Christi and Lyle Charles invades Brownsville.

Sports Take Oyer First Place In Texas

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

There may be no denying the pennant hungry Shreveport Sports this year in the Texas League race, a bitter sprint the Louisianians have never coped without benefit of Shaughnessy play-offs.

Wednesday night the Sports, one-time Dallas "cousins", grabbed the big plum in the league lead by continuing their family-reunion raid on the Eagles, 8-1. That fifth straight victory knocked Dallas off the top shelf and put the Sports up ahead by a half game.

Dallas, holder of an 18.5 margin last season, trails the Sports in this series by 11-8.

Port Worth jumped within a half game of Dallas in squeaking by Beaumont, 3-2.

Oklahoma City boosted its position to fourth with a 9-5 decision over San Antonio. Tulsa stopped Houston, 7-6 and made its seventh place hold just six games out.

DENISON, Tex. (AP) — The people of Denison are nervous, politically. The street-corner talk is about the possibility that they might have to choose between two favorite sons next November.

Dwight D. Eisenhower was born in Denison, in a little white house on the wrong side of the tracks. The people of Denison are mighty proud of the general. They gave him a big welcome, last month, long before the Republicans made him their candidate for President.

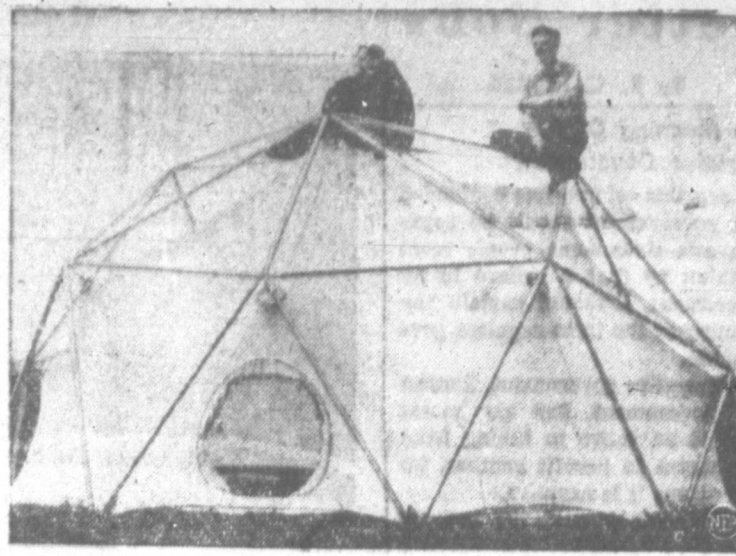

Now come the Democrats in Chicago this week—and talk that Sam Rayburn is what they call a "darkhorse candidate." Sam wasn't born in Denison. In fact, he was born in Tennessee. But he's been farming in neighboring Fannin County as long as most folks here can remember. He's been so busy as speaker of House that he doesn't get to farm much. But when he gets back to Texas he always drops in for a

Bones Of Prehistoric Animals May Prove A Boon In Jordan

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — Bones of prehistoric animals, turned to phosphate over millions of years, may go a long way toward solving the pressing economic problems of this small Arabian desert kingdom.

Most of Jordan now is desert land but some 50 million years ago the whole region was under water—even the plateau around Amman which now rises more than 2,000 feet above sea level.

As the original sea dried up, the bodies of dead marine animals were deposited layer on layer to a depth of 60 feet. Then desert sands covered them. A small museum in the Roseifa phosphate mines near Amman has numerous specimens of fossilized marine life buried beneath the desert 50 to 80 million years ago.

The immensity of the original sea and the great length of time it took to dry up can be seen in the vastness of Jordan's phosphate deposits. The country has never been completely explored for phosphates, but known deposits are far greater than can be exploited at present.

Deposits at the Roseifa mine are estimated at 18 million tons by officials of the Transjordan Phosphate Mines Company and this represents only a small area. Additional mines nearby already are in operation, and in the desert to the south are others.

The Big Dams Can't Do The Job

For a great many years the Army Engineers, the Bureau of Reclamation, and other government agencies have tried to sell Congress and the public on the idea that the way to prevent floods is to build huge multi-purpose dams on the principal rivers, at a cost to the taxpayers which can only be described as staggering.

Many people have become honestly convinced that this is the only solution. In the light of that, it's interesting to hear what non-government experts have to say. Robert O. Beatty, conservation director of the Izaak Walton League, wrote on the subject in a recent issue of Pathfinder magazine. In the case of the Kansas City floods, he said, "if all the dams the Army Engineers had requested had actually been in existence, it would have had no effect whatsoever on the flood crest."

In a recent speech, Leslie A. Miller, former governor of Wyoming and chairman of the Natural Resources Task Force of the Hoover Commission, reviewed the causes and history of the floods. Like Mr. Beatty, he came to the conclusion that the Pick-Sloan Plan would have been ineffective. And then he said these significant words: "The efforts of the Bureau of Reclamation and the Corps of Engineers today are largely directed at providing hydro-electric power. To maintain the maximum steady power output there must be the largest head of water consistently attainable flowing through the works."

The demands of navigation channels also require that steady flows of water through dams be maintained. "Irrigation reservoirs fundamentally must be full when the irrigating season is at hand. On the other hand, flood control structures must be empty, or reasonably so, when the flood comes along, as otherwise there is no control."

In other words, you just can't mix flood control, power production and the rest. It is clear that many of the backers of the big multi-purpose dams are primarily interested in socializing the nation's power resources, and have used flood control as a handy camouflage.

Proven Failures

Some time ago, Marion B. Folsom, chairman of the Committee for Economic Development, said, "If the controls we have had for the past year and a half have had one good result, it is that fewer people now feel that prices and wages should be permanently regulated by the government." Since then, Congress has extended the controls for a ten-month period, though in a somewhat modified form. It is generally believed that at the end of that time, barring some very grave emergency, all or practically all of the controls will be allowed to pass into limbo.

In any event, the consuming public has had an excellent opportunity to see the dislocations and damage political controls cause — to business and agriculture, and to the consumer. Some months ago, for instance, there were severe shortages of various kinds and cuts of meat in many areas — and this was the direct result of OPS policies and regulations that made normal operation of the meat industry, all the way from producer through the packer to the retailer, impossible. The situation cleared only when Congress passed an amendment to the law which forced OPS to moderate its stand. Had that not been done, the shortages would undoubtedly have grown still more severe, and more and more of the available meat supply would have found its way into black markets.

The recent potato shortage is another example of the folly of trying to run the economy by bureaucratic edict. There is no such thing as a good control — some are merely worse than others. We can maintain a dynamic economy only when the regulating is done by the natural law of supply and demand.

Man Of The House

The Queen of England (Lor' bless 'er) is struggling, say London dispatches, with the kind of crisis thousands of housewives have experienced in nightmares — the disaster of having the cook walk out on the very day when a household of dinner guests are expected.

Elizabeth's crisis is on a bigger scale, Buckingham Palace having a servant staff of 250. But the principle is the same. Her servants are hired on a yearly basis — and all are threatening to leave their jobs August 5, the day the year is up.

As if the Queen didn't have enough to fret her, what with months of feverish preparation for next June's Coronation ahead! There are the robes to be fitted, the ceremonies to be rehearsed — details of when to kneel, stand, sit, nod and bow — not to mention the visiting heads of state and other royalty who must be fed, housed and entertained!

The beef? It's played down with true British understatement — but leaks through in one wire story. "There are reports that the Duke of Edinburgh, the Queen's consort, has ideas about reorganizing the palace staff which would change the working conditions and duties of a large number."

So it's the Duke they're sore at! He's the villain of the piece — and rough it is on his wife. Y' let us, in charity, not give her all the sympathy. Ed. urgh, let us remember, is just the guy who always walks a step behind the Queen on parade — who's always in the background of royal pictures, if in them at all.

In all probability the poor Duke isn't trying to start a palace revolution at all. He's just trying to be the man of the house!

The Meaning Of A Negative Government

Since this column has contended that government should be negative, and since some people seem to think by that I believe in no government, I should explain the meaning of the term negative government.

By negative government, I mean the government has no moral right to be active in taking from one person to benefit another. To that extent it is negative.

On the other hand, the government should be positive and active in attempting to protect men's lives and property, not from their own errors, but from the plundering of other individuals or governments.

A negative government does not mean there are no laws, but it means there are only laws intended to stop individuals or groups from initiating force. A negative government has the right to use force only to stop other individuals or other governments from initiating force. It seems to me that this is the idea the Founding Fathers had in the Declaration of Independence. It seems to me this is what is meant by the laissez-faire idea of government.

Some people think laissez-faire means no government. The term laissez-faire arose when France had a lot of unemployment and business was stagnant and a French official asked an industrialist what the government could do to help restore prosperity. The industrialist answered "Laissez-faire," or the expression in full form is "laissez-faire, laissez-passer," which means literally let do, or make, let pass, or go. It does not mean that individuals should not make every effort possible on a voluntary basis to assist their fellow men. It is another way of saying a negative government.

A laissez-faire government is a government that only tries to see that each and every individual has an equal opportunity to develop and grow and use the talents that nature gave him. In other words, a laissez-faire government or a negative government is practically synonymous with the American form of government as set forth in the Declaration of Independence.

We of course have never completely had a negative or laissez-faire government. We have always had some government interference with every person having an equal opportunity — such laws as tariffs, tax supported schools and colleges, progressive taxation, and the like. We have laws, government controlling credit as expressed by the Federal Reserve System, labor union monopolies and the Clayton Amendment to the Sherman Anti-Trust Law. All of these are contradictions to a laissez-faire economy, or a negative government.

It seems that to the degree that nations attempt a laissez-faire economy to that degree they distance all other nations in developing character and material well being.

What we need is a reverse from the present trend away from a laissez-faire economy to an apparatus of a negative government or a laissez-faire economy.

The Nation's Press

THREE MEN AND A CAR (The Wall Street Journal)

Once upon a time, when we and the world were much younger, a man who wanted to carve himself a bigger slice of the automobile market had a fairly simple job.

All he had to do was make a car that a lot of people wanted to buy and make enough of them so that he could sell them at a price a lot of people were willing to pay and the rest of us would beat a highway to his factory.

The elder Henry Ford got to be the king of the auto industry by pleasing our own family and millions like us. We, the customers, were the kingmakers.

And since we allotted the crowns to those who best met our needs, the shape of the auto industry was made by men who could satisfy us with the best cars at the best price. When Mr. Ford failed to satisfy us best, we dethroned him and passed the scepter to others.

Right now, the younger Henry Ford would like to be king again. He would like to have a bigger share of the auto market. But the auto crown is no longer ours to give.

Young Mr. Ford can build the best car on the market and sell it at the cheapest price, he can have customers lined up for blocks at his dealers — but for all that he can make and sell no more than 21 percent of the nation's autos.

Three men have said him nay. Three men on the appeals board of the National Production Authority have decided that Mr. Ford cannot boost his output to 23.42 percent of the total auto production. The granted allocation of 21 percent is based on Ford's relative position in the industry in 1947-49 — and that's all its going to get in 1952.

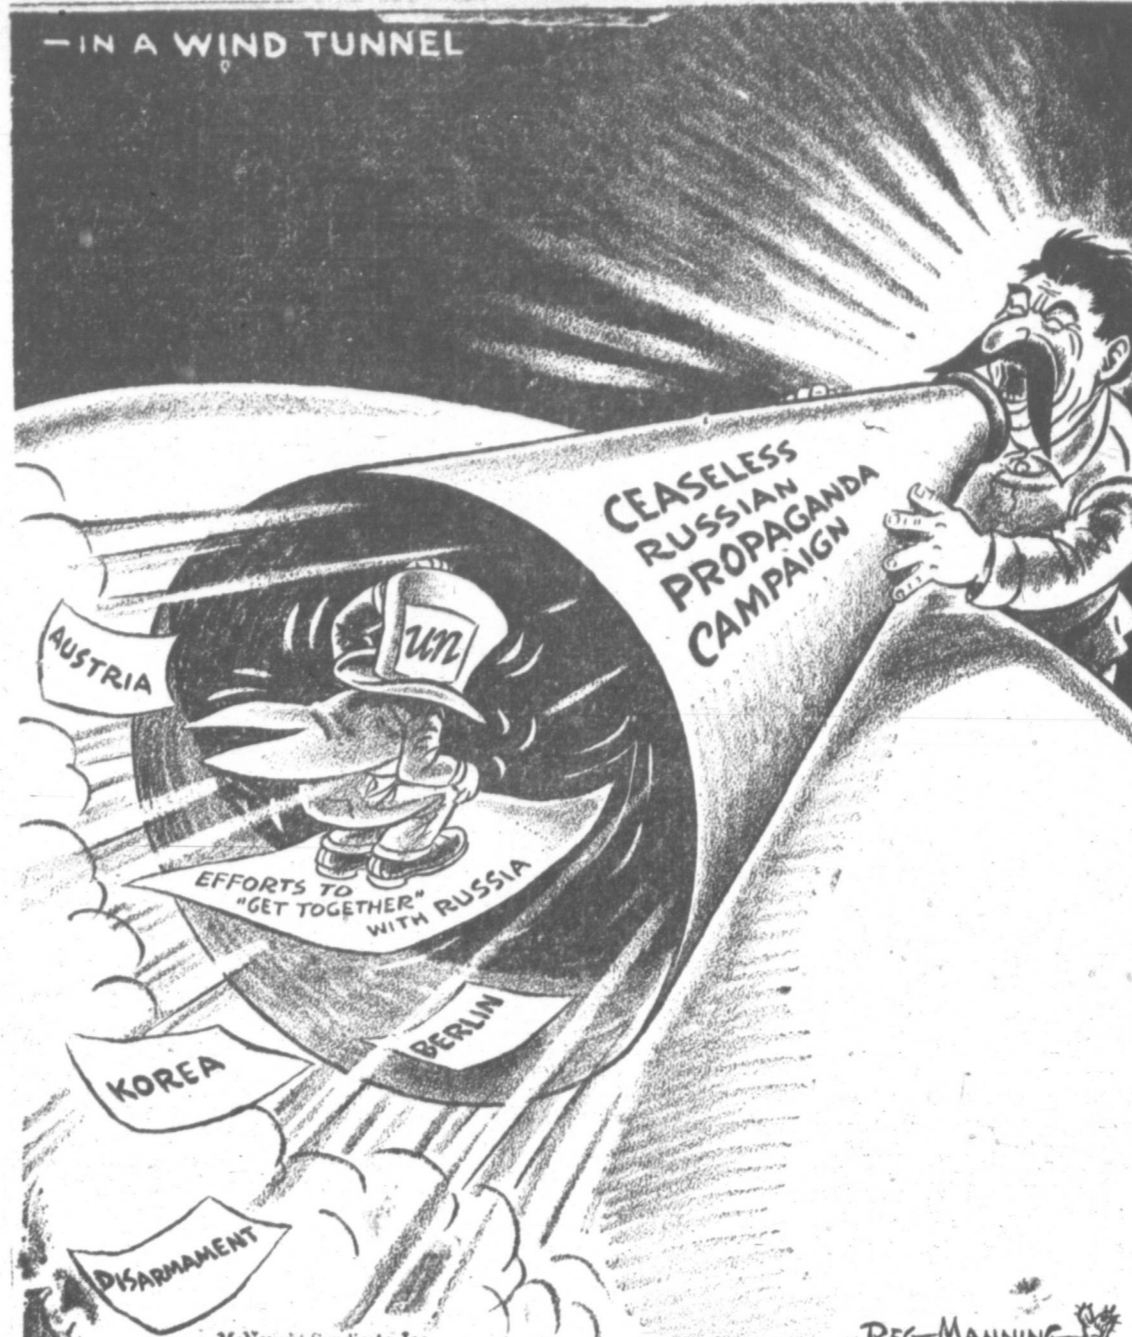

So if exactly 21 percent of us want Fords, everybody can be happy. If more than 21 percent of us want Fords, the extra customers will have to go shopping elsewhere. If fewer than 21 percent of us like Fords this year — well, we'll probably have to take Fords anyway because, of course, an output of the other auto makers is also frozen.

It doesn't make any difference how good a car young Henry Ford makes. He can't sell any more of them than the Government will let him. It doesn't make too much difference either how bad a car he makes; his competitors can't move in with more and better cars and take all his business away from him.

The auto industry is frozen save by the leave of those three men. Now all this is not to criticize these three men. They cannot give us more Fords without taking away Plymouths and Chevrolets, and they obviously cannot know what the millions of customers would decide this year about the relative merits of the new cars. If they tried, they would be lost in a sea of guesses. The only way they can have any anchor to tie to is to use the past.

What is wrong, is that these three should have the power to

Success Secrets

By ELMER WHEELER Each of us has a yardstick of success! Whatever yours may be you'll have to admit that "Uncle Joe" possesses a million dollar secret.... one we'd all like to share. He's found how to get the most out of life.

"Uncle Joe" is a janitor. At Steed College in Tennessee, he quietly recited a young white master who started him on the road to successful living. He taught him how to consult dictionaries and reference books. He schooled him in how to copy the language of more cultured people. Those were the days, too, when "everyone learned everything that had to be done." From learning and doing "Uncle Joe" has reaped his harvest of pleasure.

In post-slavery years "Uncle Joe" worked his way through practically every section of the United States. From his wanderings and many jobs his most important lesson was "learning how to get along with people."

"Uncle Joe" has many hobbies, too. He plays the piano, sings, and collects articles from magazines and newspapers. He enjoys airplanes, but is a little "scared of automobiles."

"Uncle Joe" has enjoyed the first 101 years of life and says he'll "enjoy another 100 if I can have them." His keen sparkling eyes are full of understanding, and a twinkle with fun!

Success includes having fun... enjoying your job... for only then can you give it your best.

dictate the shape of the auto industry. Had we had such a board in Old Henry's day, the NPA would still be slicing up a part of the market — for Franklins, Maxwells, Stanley Steamers and all the others that we, the customers, long ago tried and discarded. So long as we have this kind of planning, Young Henry can work himself to death trying to build us better and cheaper cars. But only 21 percent of us can have them.

To get a bigger share of the auto market, Old Henry simply had to make a better car to win the nod of millions of customers. Young Henry can't just make a better car. He has to also win the nod of three men in Washington.

'Giants' Of '32 Missing From Convention Scene In Chicago

By RAY TUCKER CHICAGO — There were giants in those days. If that nostalgic comment has been expressed once during the long political deliberations here, it has been voiced at least a thousand times by veteran politicians and newspaper observers.

It refers to the relative stature of the 1952 president-makers, as contrasted with the key figures who nominated Franklin D. Roosevelt and Herbert Hoover in this same midwestern capital twenty years ago.

Regardless of the November outcome, the two convention's decisions here mark the end of a political generation in American history with respect to fundamentals as to whether the "giant" mental policies as well as personalities.

There is room for disagreements as to what the "giants" have vanished from the national scene. It is natural to think that the old days and faces are best, although scientific evidence does not support that theory.

But there is no dissent from the fact that the great presidential drama of 1932 will be played and stage-managed by entirely different casts of characters on both sides. Rarely has there been such a rapid and complete turnover of the nation's political help and hierarchy.

GRIM — Every top man in the Roosevelt-Farley blitzkrieg of 1932, which was set in motion in these same stuffy, smoke-filled hotel rooms, is dead, physically or politically, with the exception of former National Chairman and Postmaster General James A. Farley who favored Barkley and Speaker Sam Rayburn. In fact, the Democrats' 1952 difficulties including the convention strife, are that they have nobody with the New Yorker's strategic and organizing ability. And, of course, nobody with his winning smile and personality.

The Dems are grim guys these days, despite their 20 years of political power and prosperity. No candidate has come up with such a stirring tune as the Roosevelt-Farley song that "Happy days are here again."

SURVIVORS — Franklin D. Roosevelt is sleeping beneath the roses at Hyde Park. William R. Hearst and William G. McAdoo who engineered the deal that nominated Roosevelt over the opposition of the Smith-Hauge-Roark forces are gone. So are such pro-Roosevelt operators as "Kingfish" Huey Long, ex-Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi and ex-Mayor Ed Kelly of Chicago.

None of their political only important survivors of that day are peacetime "Jack" Garner, Speaker Rayburn, the discredited Frank Hague of New Jersey and "Ed" Flynn, the Bronx boss. And Flynn, who foisted the malodorous so-called Truman as ambassador to Mexico is absent because of illness.

UNKNOWN — Truman was then an unknown Missouri judge. Vice President Barkley was a mere first-term senator although important and oratorically flamboyant enough to be chosen as the 1932 convention keynoter.

Fair Enough.....

Pegler Looks Over The Crowd At Chicago Demo Convention

By WESTBROOK PEGLER (Copyright, 1952, King Features Syndicate, Inc.) CHICAGO — That faceless, incoherent slob, the American Common Man, went about the performance of his high political mission in a mood of inspired imbecility as the hacks and grafters of the Democratic Party congratulated themselves in quiet triumph over the Republicans but came here to threaten the candidates and try to name their man.

Phil Murray, of the steelworkers, also president of the CIO, went back to Pittsburgh on a mission described as a soulful effort to settle the steel strike which he could call off with a word at will.

As he had cleared out, a manifest of 18 pages, mostly single space, issued from the smoke-filled room where James E. Carey, a malignant parasite with an adamant aversion to useful toil, and Walter Reuther, the president of the auto workers and an old fan of the Soviet paradise, personified the working people of the United States.

They called on the Democratic Party to "get back to the Roosevelt in this debacle, and a far less male called India Edwards, a former reporter, was seriously put forward as a candidate for vice president.

For sheer vulgarity and indifference to the suffering of men shipped off to endless slavery, nothing could have exceeded this carnival. The senseless antics of the Republicans had taught the Democrats no lesson and, while the fierce heat took some of the spring out of them, they were to the extent they emerged as disgracing as any similar mob in history.

The impudence of men who had thrown away the victory in Europe, Averell Harriman on the Democratic side and his accomplice, the Eisenhower, already nominated by the socialist Republicans, evoked not the slightest expression of resentment, to say nothing of popular hatred.

Indeed, at one point as the small circle of men carried on their ghastly minut, bowing his way and that always wary of the ceremonial knife between the shoulder blades, one Adlai Stevenson, governor of Illinois, a man so inconsequential that he humbly admitted use of a mummy, was suddenly moved to challenge the wrath of the nation which his party had betrayed. Emboldened by the deceit of a people too numb to react to insult, Stevenson began to charge his mind and body with intentions of grandeur.

As for the Democratic party, he said, though it had erred in trifles in 20 years, all those peccadillos could be washed away by a little self-criticism within the party and the American people would never get an apology "for our leadership in the great events from Woodrow Wilson to Harry Truman."

Stevenson was introduced to the convention rather impromptu as a state of "sterling integrity" and so patly were the others on the roster of candidates that the brutes came alive in their little corals on the floor and belloved in mad acclaim "for this splendid integrity." His judgment of the party's future, anybody had the decency to climb up on the bridge and clip him on the chin pro bono publico, and his insulting defiance evoked only idiotic rapture.

Oscar Chapman, the secretary of the American Civil Liberties Union, a Colorado man with a lustful eye for every rick and trickle that he may build some desert for the car and cantaloupe economy of the New West, was pounced upon and found bashful.

Mr. Chapman is a Socialist in more or less human form who endeavored himself nevertheless a few years ago by his remark when his late chief, Harold Ickes, resigned, that "there wasn't a wet eye in the office." He also confirmed the fact that this party's anti-war record had secured given himself the use of two luxurious houses owned and maintained by the government for several years. The best of these, a lavish plant at Bar Harbor, where Ickes had congenial neighbor to Marshall Field, Tom Lamont, and other Park Avenue trash, burned down in the big fire and has not been rebuilt.

Chapman said he had neither grandiose ideas nor delegates and while he held out no hope for Sen. Robert S. Kerr, of Oklahoma, he said he had seen Kerr giving the works to a succession of delegates in a suite across the court. They came in relays, stayed ten minutes and seems to be more successful in his new career.

Two other men who helped to seal the nomination for Ike — Governor Fine of Pennsylvania and ex-Governor Stassen of Minnesota — were political nobodies twenty years ago. Fine was a county leader, and even when he became a judge he saw nothing unethical in holding political meetings in his chambers.

Stassen who outsmarted both Fine and Governor Warren of California by insuring Ike's nomination was a novice twenty years ago. His principal honors had been membership on a University of Minnesota rifle team which won three national championships.

got the bum's rush. As to whether they left richer than they came, there was only cynical surmise, the same as permeated the discussion of the general deliberation in Winthrop Aldrich's suite at the Republican show.

Kerr is a millionaire and so of course is Harriman, but no individual who ever invaded our politics, including the Rockefeller, Aldrich and the Ford Foundation, now of the Eisenhower Party, ever had the resources which lie at the touch of the CIO and the AFL. These practical bunds ignored the Republicans but came here to threaten the candidates and try to name their man.

Bid For A Smile

His wife asked him to copy a radio recipe. He did his best, but got two things wrong. And this is what he wrote down:

"Flour on hips, place one cup of flour on your shoulder, raise knees and depress toes; mix thoroughly in one-half cup of milk, repeat six times. Inebriately quirk one teaspoon of baking powder into the legs and mash two hard-boiled eggs in a sieve; exhale breath naturally and sniff in the floor. Attention! Lie flat on the floor and roll in the whites of two eggs backward and forward until it comes to a boil. In ten minutes remove from fire and absorb smartly with a rough towel. Breathe naturally, dress in warm flannels and serve with tomato soup."

At one time in the Civil War, a Union general was besieged at Knoxville, Tennessee, in danger of being starved into surrender. Presently a telegram came to President Lincoln, announcing that firing had been heard in the direction of Knoxville.

Friend—Why should you be glad? Lincoln—Why, you see, it reminds me of Mrs. Sallie Ward, a neighbor of mine. She had a very large family. Occasionally one of her numerous nephews would die smartly with a one-out-of-the-way place, and she would exclaim, "There's one of my children that isn't dead yet."

RANCH FOR SALE
The most wonderful bargain in the United States. Nothing else like it. 165.00 acres well improved, carrying capacity 5,000 head per year. Good grass, winter and summer. Well fenced and cross fenced. Well watered. Approximately 75 miles of pipe line, ranging from one inch to four inch pipe. Seven wells and windmills. A number of springs which flow into various parts of the range. One large cement tank, capacity of 1,250, 600 gallons. Nearly all the watering places have large storage tanks, water troughs, etc. Three small pastures at headquarters, one large holding pasture of three sections, one large pasture of six sections with acre at headquarters, one large holding pasture of three sections, one large pasture of six sections with acre at headquarters, one large holding pasture of three sections, one large pasture of six sections with acre at headquarters, etc. There are three headquarters ranch houses with corrals, barns, etc. Six loading chutes, 1,000 head fine cattle can be bought with this at market price if desired. There are two service stations with small stores located near the center of the range on a main highway. This can be bought with 25 per cent cash. Balance good terms. Total price $25,000. This is a fraction over 50 cents per acre. And if it were cut in 100 section ranches it would be cheap at $5.00 per acre. This is located in the south less than 300 miles of Old Mexico. Some mineral rights.

ON BRIDGE Only One Vacancy For McLean School

Bridge Error May Be Very Costly

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

What should you do third hand, with ace - jack - ten of a suit over dummy's king-x-x? It is usually wise to finesse the ten, but circumstances certainly do alter cases.

In today's hand East made the mistake of finessing the ten of clubs at the first trick. He lived to regret it.

Declarer won with the queen of clubs, drew trumps with the ace and king, and then led his singleton diamond towards dummy.

West made the fine play of a low diamond, and dummy won with the king. South ruffed a diamond high and led a spade towards the dummy. When West played low, dummy ducked also, and East won with the jack. East could cash the ace of spades, but then had to return his last diamond.

Instead of ruffing, South threw his last spade. West had to take the ace of diamonds, and could then do nothing to defeat the contract. When West tried to cash the king of spades, South ruffed and entered dummy with a trump.

Hank Renews Acquaintance With Tire Tools To Fix Flat

WARY TRAVELER, ARKANSAS — I would be completely without envy of the rich, or the near rich with savings accounts, if I didn't have to change tires when they puncture or blow out.

The rich can have their yachts, for, after all, a yacht is only a rowboat with servants. Private railroad cars are pulled by the same engine that hauls the coach passengers. Chicken under bell is no better than pigs' knuckles and sauerkraut. In fact, it's not as good.

But let us not dodge the truth. Those with means have others to change punctured tires for them. They sit right where they are and when they hear that hump-hump, hump-hump cry given off by a flat tire, "James" fixes it.

I don't have any "James" with me, so when I had a flat tire yesterday, it was up to me to change it, or drive on to a garage and ruin the tire getting there. I am not the first man who has been faced with this problem. I did just what most American men do when they have a flat tire.

I sold my soul to a whitewall. For fifty dollars I tempted fate. I risked my high blood pressure against a low-pressure tire. I knew, by newspaper health columns, that what I was doing was foolish. But I changed that tire.

The old world has us Americans dead wrong. The old world thinks

I wish sometime that the whole world could know how much those of us who don't have much, have, day in and day out, uncomplainingly given to those who have less.

But I am drifting from my subject of changing a flat tire. I was going pretty fast when the tire blew out. I tried to remember what such great race drivers as Wilbur Shaw, Billy Arnold, and Bill France had told me to do in an emergency. I didn't do it, so I wound up on the side of the road, thirteen miles from nowhere.

The temperature was higher than a stilt walker's arches, but I stepped manfully out, opened the trunk, and took out the tools. I was glad to see that they hadn't changed one bit. There was the same, familiar, old jack that hoisted tin lizzies years ago. I knew the lug wrench by name.

If the jack had been able to talk, I'm sure it would have said, "I'm just as no good today as I was twenty-five years ago, so you'll have to put rocks under the back wheels of the car to keep it from rolling down on you and me."

McLean Has Winner In FFA Sweetheart

McLEAN (Special) — Last fall the local chapter of the Future Farmers of America very modestly announced that they had chosen Sue Glass as their FFA Sweetheart, evidently not knowing that they had picked a real winner.

In February she was chosen sweetheart of the Top of Texas District over a number of girls from other towns in the district. From here she went to Canyon in May and again emerged the winner over representatives from each of the ten districts making up the area.

This last year entitled her to enter the state contest in Dallas from which she has just returned. This time she didn't quite make the top grade but she came out second in the race competing against girls from all sections of the state.

Sue is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Glass. She will be a junior in McLean High School next year.

Old things we have in this country. England has its old houses, Spain has its old dictators, Egypt has its old pyramids, Italy has its old fountains, Greece has its old restaurants.

America is a new country, but as long as Americans have to change tires the way Americans have to change tires today, we don't have to take a back seat to anybody when it comes to antiquity.

ELECT JAMES D. CROW
of Hemphill County
AS OUR NEXT State Senator

- World War II Veteran.
- 37 Years Old—A Native of the Panhandle.
- Practicing Attorney at Canadian, Texas.
- Has Never Sought Political Office Before — Ows No Obligation to Any Group or Special Interest.
- He Will Be a Fighting Senator, Working for ALL of the people — Securing Recognition for the Great Panhandle Area.

HE FAVORS:
Better Schools — Greater Efficiency and Economy in Government — More and Better Rural Roads — And an End to Corruption and Malfeasance

HE WILL FIGHT THE EFFORTS OF SPECIAL INTERESTS TO LEVY ANY UNFAIR TAXES ON FARMERS AND OTHERS WHO DO NOT USE THE HIGHWAYS.

VIET NAM ENVOY—Tran Van Kha, first ambassador to the United States from Viet Nam, is dressed in a traditional costume of his country as he calls at the White House to present his credentials to President Truman.

man Melton will be high school principal. Other than this Kennedy is not ready to release names and assignments. This will be done sometime in August.

Scholastic enrollment shows an increase of 40 or more over last year due largely to the enlargement of the district by annexation of the Denworth district. The increase in enrollment necessitated the purchase of a new bus to take care of transportation. This makes a total of seven buses which cover parts of four counties to bring the students to school daily.

Kennedy said new uniforms have been ordered for the band and will be ready for use soon after school opens Sept. 1.

But the greatest improvement of all is the new elementary school building which is nearing completion. The new building is located just across the street from the high school and will be adequately large to take care of the larger number of students. Keys to the building are to be turned over to school authorities Aug. 15.

Plastic furniture upholstery now comes with dull, rich surfaces that really resemble textiles, but they're still completely washable with a soapy cloth.

Three Men Fined On Bum Check Charges

Three men have pleaded guilty to charges of passing hot checks and each has been fined $10 and costs by County Judge Bruce Parker.

In addition they had to pay the amounts on the checks they had written.

The men and the check-values are Grant Rose, The Flats, $12.20; Eugene Casey, The Flats, $38.40; and Charles Newsome, Panhandle Rooms, $10.48.
