Korea Leading Topic War Is Becoming A 'Great Debate'

The leading figures in the 1952 presidential campaign were all talking about the war in Korea today, and their arguments were beginning to take on the appearance of "the great debate," the nation-wide discussion of foreign policy that followed the recall from Korea of Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Here's what the campaigners are saying: 1. Dwight Eisenhower, the Republican nominee for president...

2. Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic nominee: The decision to defend Korea represented a turning point in our history.

3. President Truman, campaigning for Stevenson: Eisenhower "apparently is suggesting that we pull our troops out of Korea and let the South Koreans do all the fighting."

4. Sen. Robert Taft, campaigning for Eisenhower: Foreign policy mistakes are to blame for the Korean War and whether or not the war was justified.

In a speech prepared for delivery in Washington, Truman accused Eisenhower of having had "an attack of moral blindness, because, the President said, Eisenhower has been willing to accept Nazi practices although he had a leading role in freeing them."

Record Paving Program Ends

Pampa wrote final at 6:30 p.m. Thursday to its 55-block paving program for 1952 when the last yards of asphalt and rock were laid in place.

At the same time work on the 1953 paving program in various stages — was well under way.

Only stabilization of streets to be paved will be done through the remaining months of 1952 and the workable months — spring and summer of 1953.

Director of Public Works Ray Evans said the 55 blocks paved this year vary in lengths from 300 to 1,200-foot blocks.

This made a grand total of 80,990 square yards of newly topped Pampa streets for 1952.

By this morning 4,000 lineal feet of stabilization has been completed in Prairie Village along with quite a bit of curbing and gutter, Evans said.

"We now have a number of petitions for paving that will have to be ordinances this fall, and I have no idea of how many more are due to come in. Those in now are being prepared for ordinance."

He said Pampa should, according to present estimates, add another 80 blocks of varying lengths to its paved streets by the end of the 1953 paving season.

The 1952 paving program has been the largest in Pampa's history, Evans said.

Harrah Methodist Ground-Breaking Scheduled Sunday

Ground-breaking ceremonies for the new Harrah Methodist Church have been scheduled for 3 p.m. Sunday.

In charge of the services will be Bishop William C. Martin of the Northwest Texas Methodist Conference. Assisting him will be Dr. J. Edmond Kirby, district superintendent, and Rev. Raymond T. Dyess, pastor, of the Pampa church.

Commie Keeps U.N. Waiting For Fireworks

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — Russia's Andrei Vishinsky kept the United Nations waiting today for the Red fireworks he is expected to touch off in ranting to U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson's plan for a concerted U.N. effort to end the Korean War.

The Soviet foreign minister was not scheduled to speak today, and he told newsmen he did not know when he would address the General Assembly.

Poland First Today "Maybe never," he added with a wry grin to the journalists.

Poland was the first Iron Curtain country listed for the assembly's general debate today, drawing fourth place in a tentative lineup of five countries to speak.

Polish Foreign Minister Stanislaw Skrzewski was not expected to steal Vishinsky's thunder by replying to the major American foreign policy speech Acheson made to the assembly yesterday.

Diplomats assumed the Pole would stick to a text prepared well in advance but considered the possibility of whether the Communist line on Korea would be conciliatory or antagonistic to the West.

Racial Discrimination Before these speeches, the assembly was to take up the proposal to include on its agenda the Asian-Arab bloc's charge of racial discrimination in South Africa.

South African Ambassador G. P. Joubert was expected to speak for an hour against inclusion of the item, arguing that the matter is his country's own affair and not within the U.N. jurisdiction.

Acheson in his speech yesterday urged "every member of the United Nations . . . to support the common action in Korea" and pledged a fight to the finish against aggression.

Fight as Long as Necessary "We shall fight on as long as is necessary to stop the aggression and to restore peace and security to Korea," Acheson declared.

McLEAN (Special) — Two persons have been killed and a third injured in a flaming automobile-truck collision on U. S. Highway 66, 18 miles west of here, both car and truck were destroyed.

Dead are Salvatore and Lucy Stefanelli, Waterbury, Conn., identified by highway patrolmen from their social security cards. They were in the car and are presumed to have died instantly. Stefanelli was 32.

Injured is Guy Barbee, 31, of Bethany, Okla., who was driving a Lee Way Freight Line truck. Thrown out of the cab, over a fence and into a field, he was taken — suffering from shock and bruises — to the Groom, Tex., hospital and is now under observation.

The accident occurred about 1 p.m. Thursday on an open stretch of road with ranchland on both sides and neither hills nor curves nearby.

On the scene of the accident were Pampa, Clarendon and McLean Fire Department trucks, two highway patrolmen, Luke Henley, McLean constable, and Deputy Sheriff Jimmy Shelton.

Shelton, one of the first to reach the site of the collision, radioed the Pampa Fire Department when fire broke out. Other fire and law officials were notified by telephone. First on the scene was the Pampa truck which used all its water and had to be refilled by a dealer's registration leave for a refill.

The bodies of the Stefanellis were taken to the Funeral Home.

DEATH CAR — Two Connecticut persons were killed in this automobile Thursday afternoon when their car slammed into a truck on U. S. Hwy. 66, 18 miles west of McLean. Dead are Salvatore and Lucy Stefanelli, Waterbury, Conn. Driver of the truck who was injured in the wreck was Guy Barbee, of Bethany, Okla. The car motor, shown in the right foreground, was hurled six to eight feet from the chassis. The car itself was so smashed that identification of its make could not be established at first; later it was identified as a 1952 Buick.

A CANDIDATE GETS BLANKETED — Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois is a well-blanketed presidential candidate. The Democratic nominee is all smiles as he receives the gift from petite and pretty Caroline McFink of Umatilla, Oregon, during a short stop at Pendleton, Oregon, enroute to a major speaking engagement in San Francisco. Drought In Texas Grows More Serious

A promise of beautiful week-end weather for football fans and picnickers was in store for Pampa and the remainder of the state. But there was little hope for the more practical side of life, weather-wise.

High reading of the mercury here Thursday afternoon was 79 degrees. But the mercury descended to a low of 57 at 6:30 a. m. today. At 11 a. m. today the temperature in Pampa was 58 degrees.

There was no rain, not a drop, over the state, and the U. S. Weather Bureau had no signs of any moisture in the foreseeable future. Pampa has had no rainfall in almost four weeks.

Dallas, responsible for supplying nearly a half million persons and vast industry with water, was caught with its reservoirs down and faced water rationing again for the third straight year.

In Fort Worth, the Texas section of the American Society of moderate water conservation measures Thursday night and was expected to ban lawn sprinkling and such so-called "luxury" uses of water Friday.

An emergency session of the Dallas city council was called Thursday to discuss an agency means to make the city's four-month supply of water last until the drought is broken.

Acting City Manager W. S. Many citizens, it appeared, would be glad to learn more about the states water supply. Texans were growing tired of water rationing and the generally short supplies of water.

In Dallas, the city began immediately. The city began immediately. The city began immediately.

McLean, and will be sent to Waterbury tonight.

According to Barbee and investigating officers, the car was being east and the truck west when the mishap occurred. Barbee said he had pulled off the road when he saw that the oncoming car was in trouble.

But, the truck driver told officers, the car hit the truck and turned it over on the opposite (south) side of the highway.

The truck was destroyed by fire and the car was so damaged that its make could not be established immediately. Later it was identified by a dealer's registration card as a 1952 Buick.

The motor of the car was knocked off and was found nearby.

The bodies of the Stefanellis were taken to the Funeral Home.

Stevenson Opens Demo Offensive In Texas Today

Soviets Name New Leader; Stalin Is Tops

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Communist party named its new high command today and kept Joseph Stalin firmly in all the top jobs.

The party's new Central Committee announced election of a Presidium of 25 members and 11 alternates to replace the old Politburo and a 10-man Secretariat to supervise party administration.

Stalin was named head of both key groups. Also elected was a new chairman of the party Control Committee which has charge of party discipline.

Presidium Larger The Presidium is more than twice the size of the old Politburo of 11 members and one alternate. Replacing the Politburo, it will direct the work of the Central Committee between the party's quadrennial full sessions and will also take over the duties of the old Orgburo, the organization bureau which dealt with party organization.

The secretariat also was enlarged. It formerly had only five members.

Rank Emphasized Stalin's top rank in the party was emphasized by the placing of his name out of alphabetical order at the head of the announced listing of both the Presidium and Secretariat. All other names were given in their Russian alphabetical order.

In addition, Stalin is head of the party Central Committee and the Soviet government, chairman of the Council of Ministers—premier of the Soviet Union.

Dr. Emily T. Hicks Named Official In State Cancer Group

A Pampa dentist, Dr. Emily T. Hicks has been elected one of the laymen for District 3 - N of the American Cancer Society's Texas division.

She was named at the annual business and planning session of the district, which encompasses a 20 - county area in the Panhandle. The all - day meeting was held Thursday at the Pampa Country Club.

According to Dr. M. C. Overton Jr., another representative of Gray County at the session, Dr. Leonard M. Gunderson, Amarillo, was elected the other district layman and Dr. H. H. Latson, Amarillo, was named (not elected) lay physician for the county.

Various medical and surgical problems of cancer treatment, Dr. Overton continued, comprised the major portion of the day's program. Also stressed at the session were ways in which local cancer committees could do more effective jobs of public education and service to patients to meet the challenge of the disease.

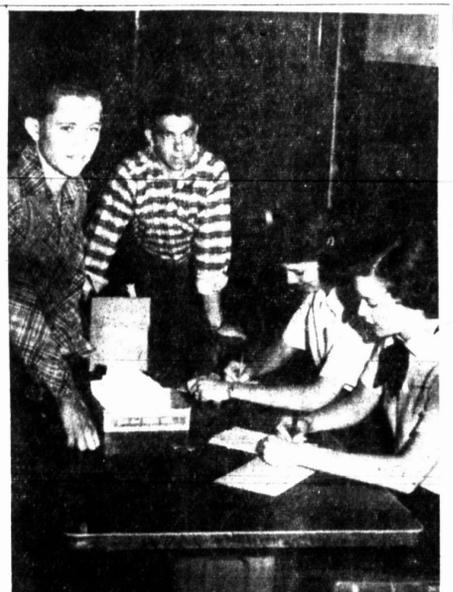

Following dinner at the club Thursday night, a panel of four cancer specialists from Baylor University Medical School, discussed treatment, research and early detection of the disease. Movies and lantern slides were also included in the program.

Absentee Voting Climbs To 12

Absentee voting in the Nov. 4 presidential election climbed to 12 this morning in the county clerk's office as a total of 155 ballots were sent through the mails by 5 p.m. Thursday.

The record number of requests for ballots by mail is expected to continue, County Clerk Charlie Thut said yesterday, adding he estimated it would reach, or pass, the 200 mark.

The first day for absentee voting drew eight votes. Thursday brought in an additional four but none had voted by 10:30 a.m. today.

Adlai, Ike Face Test At Pampa High School

By HENRY S. GORDON Ike and Adlai had better change their whistle stop schedule if either has any hopes of carrying Pampa Senior High School come Oct. 30.

On that day, the student body of the high school will go to its separate precincts (No. 1, seniors; No. 2, juniors; and No. 3, sophomores) to hold a mock election for president and vice-president of the United States, along with state, county, district and precinct officers.

First Of Its Kind This is the first full-scale mock election of its kind to be held in the Pampa school system, it being directed by the Civic Department under Miss Madge Ruski, assisted by teachers and students in both social studies classes — history, civics, government etc.

The election is designed to come as close to the actual election on Nov. 4 as possible. Miss Ruski said.

First, each student must pay his poll tax of one cent before Oct. 1 and Oct. 15 to be eligible to vote.

He must have been in Texas for 12 days (scaled down from the 12 months for adults) and in the county of voting district six days (scaled to the requirement of six months in the county).

The receipts, incidentally, have been repaid from the official poll tax except in towns, except they are non-transferable.

No Political Weathering Elections will be tabulated after school hours and results announced the following morning or afternoon.

School officials said the experiment is not being used as a political weather-vane on the presidential outcome in Pampa, but as being used to teach students a "little more practical citizenship."

However, the outcome could be a political weather-vane. (See HIGH SCHOOL, Page 2)

Stepping Into Cross-Fire Of Raging Battle

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Gov. Adlai Stevenson goes gunning in Texas today for Republicans threatening to bag 24 electors who could decide the presidential race.

He steps into the cross-fire of a Democratic revolt that could splinter Texas away from the Solid South for the second time in its political history.

Stevenson begins his counter-offensive against a thrust earlier this week by Dwight D. Eisenhower. His first speech is at Fort Worth's Will Rogers Coliseum at 4:30 p.m.

Eisenhower's campaign through Texas was blessed by Gov. Allan Shivers and his state organization in close alliance with the state GOP machinery.

Stevenson will be met at Meacham Field at 3:30 p.m. by House Speaker Sam Rayburn and Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson, spearheads of the national Democratic organization's defense of usually impregnable Texas.

Connally Takes Role Sen. Tom Connally will introduce Stevenson at Houston Saturday, but Connally's certain successor, Atty. Gen. Price Daniel, will not be on hand. Daniel, unopposed nominee of both parties in the general election, is on Eisenhower's side.

Eisenhower left Texas with his managers claiming 54 per cent of the vote. The Democrats say it isn't so, but they were doubtful enough of the outcome to put their candidate on the stump here. It's never been considered necessary before to bring a Democratic-presidential candidate in person to Texas.

Stevenson's job here will be to bolster party lines that Eisenhower and his Democratic allies in Texas are trying to erase. He also speaks Friday at Grand Prairie and Dallas. Saturday morning Stevenson goes by train to have breakfast and political chit-chat with John N. Garner, former vice-president. (See STEVENSON, Page 2)

Lefors High School Laying Plans For 2nd Homecoming

LEFORS (Special) — The Lefors School EX-Association is planning its second annual homecoming for all ex-students and ex-teachers members of the school Nov. 8, according to R. N. (Bill) Watson, president.

Registration will be held in the high school building that morning under the direction of Mrs. Helen Little.

A program will be held in the auditorium at 10:30 a.m. At noon there will be a "basket lunch" in the gymnasium, followed by a general "get-together" to talk over old times.

Christmas the homecoming activities will be the Lefors-Wheelwright football game, scheduled to begin at 2:30 p.m.

Tentative plans include the presentation of the Pirate Football Sweetheart before the game.

Honest Abe Would Have Been Proud

"Honest Abe" Lincoln would have been proud of this woman. An unidentified woman in Hutchinson, Kan., has paid a local merchant the price of a blouse that she procured here some time ago. The interesting part was, though, that she tried it on — and walked out without paying.

But now the books of the local concern are correct. This is the text of the letter that she wrote: "Dear Friend: I am sending a money order to you to cover a blouse that I stole from your store some time ago. I am a Christian and I want to repay anything that I've taken in the past. I sincerely hope for your forgiveness. Thank you. Sincerely, Your friend."

Four Children Killed As Blaze Sweeps Through Home

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Four Negro children died shortly before 8 a. m. today when flames swept a frame house here.

Firemen credited action by two neighbors with saving three other children from the blaze, thought to have been started when one of the youngsters attempted to light an oil stove. The dead are: Ronnie Lee Jackson, 2; Betty Jean Williams, 4; Bertha Stevens, 3; Corinne Stevens, 2.

All those who died were grandchildren of Mrs. Elma Stevens, 61, owner of the house. She told firemen she left the place at 7:30 a. m. to talk with neighbors about purchasing an oil stove. There were two oil stoves in her place, Mrs. Stevens said, but neither had been lighted when she left, as she considered them not to be safe.

Neighbors managed to get three other children who were in the house out before the building became an inferno.

Dist. Chief I. C. Dalton said the 4 - room white frame house was gutted by the flames. The bodies of the four children were found inside. Dalton said one of the oil stoves inside had apparently exploded and started the fire when one of the children tried to light it.

Both jobs and men to fill them have been at a premium during this week in the local Texas Employment Commission office.

The week has been characterized by a lower-than-average turn-over of jobs and men, according to Bill Ragsdale, local manager.

About 20 jobs are presently in the office. Ragsdale continued, "Among them are positions for a plant maintenance man, experienced in high pressure turbines; a stenographer and a typist, both well-qualified."

be a pretty good sign on how Pampa and Gray County will go on Nov. 4.

Commenting on the experiment, Miss Rusk told a reporter:

Had Never Seen Ballot

"I can remember the first official ballot I ever saw was the first time I ever voted. I think this will do the boys and girls a lot of good, and the same method in holding official school elections. Student body president elect is being contemplated.

One precinct polling place will be located on each floor, complete with voting booths. Money collected by the poll tax payments will be used to defray the costs of election.

To date 285 students have paid their penny to be eligible to vote, making a grand total of $3.85. Approximately 700 would be the school's voting potential if all pay their poll tax.

Some campaigning will be done by the students during the remaining days of the race, Miss Rusk said.

Allies Hurl Back Chinese

SEUL (AP) Allied soldiers hurled back bloody but waning Chinese Communist attacks on two central Korean hills, last night and today, adding hundreds to record 152 Red casualty tolls.

The Eighth Army said U. S. troops since Tuesday morning had killed or wounded 3,750 Chinese on Triangle Hill, north of Kumwha. Dead Communists littered the frost-whitened battle field.

That is the Allied-held height where A. P. correspondent Milo Parnett said 1,500 Reds launched six futile assaults between 8 p.m. Thursday and dawn today. He said the U. S. defenders killed or wounded 630 Reds.

Hard-fighting South Korean Soldiers, backed by tank and mortar fire, repulsed about 700 Reds who simultaneously attacked Sni-ri Ridge, an Allied-controlled two miles east of Triangle.

Europe from Nazi domination.

The speech was prepared for reading before the national Jewish Welfare Board. I. B. the President attacked the McCarran-Walter Immigration Bill, passed by Congress over his veto.

He said the bill aids up to "the philosophy of racial superiority developed by the Nazis."

Truman then went on to mention Republican senators who helped push the measure through Congress, adding that Eisenhower can not "escape responsibility" because he is now endorsing these same senators.

One of the senators Truman mentioned was Richard Nixon, Eisenhower's running mate.

Eisenhower, virtually ignoring his Democratic opponent, Gov. Adlai Stevenson, continued to lash out at the Truman administration's record of spending, Korea, corruption and what he said was its failure to get "a better peace."

Stevenson, in California, described the GOP policy toward Korea as one of "scuttle and run" and said in a speech prepared for delivery at San Diego that the "best chance of just and peaceful world" hinges on a Democratic victory in the November election.

Fire from the burning truck ignited some of the surrounding pasture land and fire trucks were needed to put it out.

Traffic was tied up for a mile and a half in either direction. Highway patrolmen were afraid that the truck — hauling 18,000 pounds of general freight might be using butane for fuel; so they held back the gathering crowd from the wreck.

This was the second time within recent weeks that Barbee had been involved in a car-truck collision. In Oklahoma City two persons were killed when their car hit his truck at an intersection.

president who said last week he would vote the Democratic ticket from top to bottom.

After a short speech at Uvalde, Stevenson goes to San Antonio for an appearance at the Alamo, then to Houston for his windup speech.

Stevenson hits Texas amidst political gunfire between Daniel and Shivers on one side and Democratic National Committee man Stephen Mitchell on the other.

Mitchell hinted that the rebellious Texans, such as Daniel, may be cut off from political patronage. Daniel fired back that Mitchell can't scare him and that Russia is the only place you need to fear political reprisals.

Democratic Gov. Robert Kennon of Louisiana, another of the southern governors backing Eisenhower, replied to an open fight between Republican and Democratic issues in Texas.

White is the only state office holder to reject Republican campaigning on the general election ballot.

Mitchell Adds More

Mitchell added another word last night in Oklahoma City. He told a newsman:

"Shivers shouldn't be surprised if his act is considered disloyal. Is he a Democrat or not? I believe in party loyalty and I believe the rank and file of Democrats believe in party loyalty."

Democrats for Eisenhower and Democrats for Stevenson continued blasting each other on the eve of Stevenson's arrival.

Agriculture Commissioner John C. White accused Eisenhower's backers of being afraid to run their candidate as a Republican.

"They don't dare taint their candidate with the party label 'Republican' because they know it would kill the majority of expected Texas votes," White said at Austin.

"Thin Coverup"

"The slogan urging 'Vote Texas, Vote Like a Thin Coverup' for the retarded and unrealistic policies which voters turned down in 1936, 1940, 1944 and 1948. There isn't a sign anywhere in Texas that says 'Vote Republican, Vote Like a Thin Coverup.'"

"They veiled campaign tactics prove they are afraid to make it an open fight between Republican and Democratic issues in Texas."

White is the only state office holder to reject Republican campaigning on the general election ballot.

IT'S YOUR DEAL Self-Control Is Canasta Aid

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

I have received a number of questions about Cut-Throat Canasta, the three-handed game in which the player who first takes the discard pile becomes a lone wolf against the other two as partners. Many of the letters ask me to give them the secret of winning at the new game.

That's easy, but advice is not enough. The secret of winning at Cut-Throat Canasta is to resist temptation. This seems to be good advice in many other fields also, but people somehow still manage to fail.

In Cut-Throat Canasta you tend to reach for the discard pile too soon. Unless you can meld out immediately, the chances are that the hand will run on until the stock pile is exhausted. By that time your opponents will score about a thousand or fifteen hundred points.

The lesson is clear: Don't pick up the discard pile unless you can see very good reason to expect a profit of at least a thousand points. Don't let yourself be lured on by a mere mixed canasta.

Even two mixed canastas are no bargain, unless here is a good reason to expect other canastas to develop later on. Likewise, one natural canasta is not enough unless there are good prospects of other canastas.

In most games of Cut-Throat Canasta that I have seen, the winter is the player with the greatest self-control. Mind you, that player doesn't always have the most fun—but we're just talking about winning.

Q—I understand that game is 7500 points in Cut-Throat Canasta, not the usual 5000 points. Do you ever need more than 120 points for our initial meld?

A—No. From 3000 to 7500 the initial meld is only 120 points.

Q—Are you required to ask permission before you can meld out in Cut-Throat Canasta?

A—If you are one of the two before you can meld out, if permission is denied, you need not ask again. If you are the lone wolf, of course, you need not ask permission to meld out. You are responsible only to yourself.

Q—Do the scores run higher in Cut-Throat than in regular Canasta?

A—Yes. They run about twice as high. People who like to play for something usually cut that something in half when they play Cut-Throat Canasta.

Texas Democrats' Main Worry Is Getting Out Vote Nov. 4

By MARTHA COLE

DALLAS (AP) — State campaign headquarters for Adlai Stevenson and John Sparkman is worried mainly about getting out the vote come Nov. 4.

"If we can get the voters out, we'll be successful, because the people of Texas are predominantly Democratic," said Judge James Sewell of Corsicana, state campaign manager for Stevenson.

"Of course, they've been propagandized by the country club set," he added.

Sewell said his main job was trying to get an organization set up to get the vote out.

The Stevenson Democrats set up their state headquarters right after the Sept. 9 State Democratic Convention endorsed the Republican nominee Dwight Eisenhower for President.

Westbrook Aids Rayburn

Sam Rayburn, Speaker of the House and veteran legislator from Bonham, started things off. Col. Lawrence Westbrook, vice-chairman of the Democratic National Committee, came down from Washington to help him.

Rayburn and Westbrook each kept a suite at the Adolphus Hotel in Dallas. Rayburn is here about half the time, popping in and out between speeches and trips back home.

Those two suites are where the conferences — and talk and talk end more talk — go on.

State headquarters itself are three rooms right in front of the elevator on the sixth floor of the Adolphus and three rooms on around the corner.

Down in the lobby nothing but a line along with the Kiwanis Club and the Rotary club and such on the regular announcement board tells the determined Democrats where headquarters is.

Stevenson Face-To-Face

But step off the sixth floor and you greet a huge colored photograph of Stevenson face-to-face. You can pick up a free campaign button in the little reception room.

"Just a steady stream of traffic," said Mrs. Louise Cory, the pretty young receptionist. "People wanting to do something. I worked in Roosevelt headquarters, and it was never like this."

Mrs. Cory answers the phone with a plain "Democratic Headquarters."

Judge Sewell has his office around the corner. He's a young man who came out of World War II blinded, went back to school and got his law degree, made

TO KANSAS CITY ROYAL — Vic Joyner, left, Roberts County farm agent and Doyle Smith of Miami, left this week for Kansas City where Doyle will show his prize calf, Oscar A. Miami Youths To Show Calf In Kansas City Royal Show

MIAMI (Special) — County Agent Vic Joyner and John and Doyle Smith, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Smith, left Miami, this week for Kansas City Royal Stock Show, Kansas City, Mo., with Oscar A., a 17-month-old 4-H club calf, to be exhibited, judged and sold in the show.

Oscar A., purchased from the Gossett herd in Clayton, N.M., was grand champion in the Roberts County baby beef show last Jan. 26. He was also shown in the Top o' Texas calf show, and the Amarillo Fat Stock Show, and placed high in both shows, although, by record, he was six months younger than any calf in the Amarillo show.

Top judges in the Amarillo show, including Governor Dan Thornton of Colorado, advised that the calf be held over and fed for the Royal. The calf is owned by both of the Smith boys, and will be paraded down the business district of Kansas City, and exhibited in the show by Doyle. He will be judged Oct. 18, and sold Oct. 25.

The Smith brothers are in their third year of 4-H club work. They have won 11 ribbons, including grand champion and reserve champion in the Roberts show; two showmanship awards; one prize for nearest pen at the Top o' Texas show; two $25 awards from Producers Grain Corporation for having placed top in their division with calves fed on P.G.C. feeds. They have also won a number of local prizes such as halters and gloves, etc.

All the Smith calves have been fed on P.G.C. feeds, purchased from Miami Feed and Grain.

Key Factor In H-Bomb Opens New Technique In Other Fields

WASHINGTON (AP) — "Heavy" water—a possible key material in the development of the hydrogen bomb—has opened up a new technique in medical, industrial and weather research.

Scientists of the National Bureau of Standards report they are using the stuff in a new and quicker method of determining such things as the water content of the human body, the water absorption powers of certain chemical crystals and the moisture content of the atmosphere.

They said an analysis of any one such thing could be done in less than a half hour with the aid of "heavy" water—as contrasted with much longer periods by analytical methods previously employed.

The technique is based upon the fact that water can exist in two forms — the ordinary kind that comes out of your kitchen faucet and a "heavy" kind which is just the same chemically as ordinary water, but actually weighs more. This is because "heavy" proportions of hydrogen and oxygen as regular water—has a "heavier" form of hydrogen.

The scientists take a mixture of both these kinds of water. They know at the start the ratio of "heavy" hydrogen to light-weight hydrogen in it.

Then, they add to his mixture a sample of something to be tested for water content. It might be a sample of human tissue, some bacterial cells, a sample of air or some kind of inorganic chemical.

Knowing that the tings to be tested contain virtually no "heavy" hydrogen, the scientists figure that any change between the ratio of "heavy" and light-weight hydrogen in the final mixture will be due entirely to the water content of the sample under test.

They analyze for such a change by converting the water in the whole mixture into water vapor, exposing the vapor to light and then studying it with an instrument called a "spectroscope."

The instrument enables them to determine the ratio of "heavy" hydrogen to "light" hydrogen in the solution because each reveals its own characteristic pattern on the spectroscopic under the influence of light.

"Heavy" water has potential use in connection with the projected hydrogen bomb for this reason:

It could be used as a source of deuterium—the fancy name for double-weight hydrogen—which some scientists believe would constitute the principal ingredient of the H-bomb.

FBI Conference In Amarillo Nov. 21

Amarillo is scheduled to be one of the Northern Texas cities in which the Federal Bureau of Investigation will hold conferences during November.

According to J. K. Mumford, special agent in charge of the FBI's Dallas division, conferences of this type have been set on a regional basis throughout the United States in view of the fact that automobile theft has become the nation's biggest crime against property.

The meeting in Amarillo has been slated for Nov. 21. Other cities on the circuit include Tyler, Paris, Ft. Worth, Wichita Falls, Lubbock and Abilene.

Participating will be representatives of local, county and state law enforcement agencies, Mumford said.

Starlet Has Odd Hobby

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Curious hobbies or habits are no novelty in Hollywood, but here's a gal with one so genuine that it sounds like a gimmick but isn't.

Starlet Kathleen Crowley repairs automobiles.

The starlet's unique talent came to light when her car stalled on the 20th Century-Fox lot. She kered with the hood and began tinkering with the engine. This brought taunts of "grease monkey" from nearby males. Marilyn Monroe strolled by and suggested that Kathleen call the maintenance department.

Kathleen did, but before the repair man arrived, she had the motor running. She drove off as the scoffing males stood by in open-mouthed amazement.

The starlet, whose other accomplishments include being Miss New Jersey in the 1943 Miss America contest, explained how she became acquainted with motors.

"I grew up in Green Bank, N.J., a community of about 200 people," she said. "The nearest town was Egg Harbor, 20 miles away. That's where I went to school, and that's where the nearest stores and garage were. If you had trouble with your car in Green Bank, it was a long way to get help. So I learned about motors."

"When I started work as a private secretary, my ambition was to have my own car. I saved my salary and lived on what I could make on week ends by picking berries. When I finally got my car, I was determined not to be just another woman driver. So I learned all I could about how to take care of the car."

But Kathleen, a brown-haired Irish beauty, wasn't destined for a life of typing, berry-picking and cleaning out carburetors. She was picked for the annual Miss America contest. While she didn't nab the top crown, she won a scholarship to the American Academy of Dramatic Arts, spawning ground for such stars as Kirk Douglas and Lauren Bacall.

After appearing in a play at the academy, Kathleen drew an offer for a contract at Universal-International. She started studio boss William Goetz by turning it down. She wanted more seasoning before she tackled the movies.

She got experience at the academy and then in summer stock and on TV. She played the leading role in "A Star is Born" on the Robert Montgomery show. That and other shows led to a film offer from 20th-Fox. This time she accepted. Now she's playing the lead with Rory Calhoun and Dale Robertson in "The Silver Whip."

"UNsinkable" SUIT SUITS HER—Carolyn Keen, 15-month-old water-baby, floats along with utmost confidence. She's wearing an "unsinkable" bathing suit, which is being tested by the Infantile Paralysis Fellowship of London, England. Particularly useful in supporting polio patients undergoing water therapy treatments, the suit may also be worn under street clothing, and is said to be able to support a person indefinitely.

Applications For Navy Aptitude Tests Are Made Available

Applications to take the seventh annual nationwide competitive aptitude tests are available at high schools, colleges, and Navy recruiting stations and offices of naval officer procurement.

The tests are for applicants interested in participating in the naval reserve officer training corps program and are to be given December 13, according to Lt. Comdr. J. E. Reid, USN, officer in charge, Navy recruiting station and office of naval officer procurement, Albuquerque, N.M.

Applications must reach the education testing service, Princeton, N.J., by November 22.

General qualifications are: be an unmarried male high school graduate or with graduate by end of current academic year; be 17 but not 21 years of age by July 1, 1953; and meet the mental and physical requirements; are expected to enter ROTC. Approximately 2,000 students units at 32 colleges and universities when the 1953 fall college term begins.

White Deer Games Begin At 7:30 P.M.

WHITE DEER (Special) — Football games will begin at 7:30 p.m., according to Lawson Shaw, principal of the White Deer High school.

The district executive committee has set the admission at 50 cents for students and $1.00 for adults.

Two members of the team, Douglas Coffee and Eugene Hoskins, were dismissed Thursday morning from Highland General Hospital, Pampa.

But Hoskins, who was injured in last week's game with Price College (Amarillo), is out for the remainder of the season.

Harvesters Seek Fifth Straight Win Tonight At Abilene

Cockrell Likely To Sit Out Game With Leg Injury

By WARREN L. HASSE
Pampa News Sports Editor

ABILENE — For the second straight year the Abilene Eagles will not be at full strength when they face the Pampa Harvesters here tonight. The 1-AAAA game pits a pair of teams unbeaten in district play and is also considered the spotlight game of the district's week-end schedule. In other games Midland is at Borger, San Angelo travels to Lubbock, and Amarillo journeys to Odessa.

The Eagles, who last year suffered through a 46-7 beating without a letter back, Joe Youngblood, who was home suffering with the mumps, have injury troubles again. Coach Pete Stowell has announced that his regular starting left halfback, Glenn Tallant, will be out for the rest of the year with a broken collarbone, suffered in the Borger game last weekend.

Also being limited action will be Jimmy Dan Bourland, who was the number one candidate for the quarterback job when the season started but only returned this week after sitting out some injuries. Another fellow likely to see little action, if any, is Tommy Estes, another halfback who injured a knee early in the year and hasn't seen any action.

When Bourland isn't running the Abilene T formation, it will likely be Jimmy Rose or Don Harber working under. Slated to replace Tallant is sophomore Jimmie Millerman while Tommy Overman and Fred Welch will hold down the other two backfield posts. This foursome will average about 160 pounds while the starting Pampa backfield will weigh in at 156.

In the front line it will be Tommy Seale, 167, and Bill Pierce, 140, at ends; Ray Carson, 190, and Lee Newman, 190, at tackles; Truitt, 170, at guards; and Jerry Carroll Turner, 178, and Marion Turner at center. This gang will weigh in at an average of 172 pounds per man while the Pampa front line on offense will be about the same, depending upon whether or not Buddy Cockrell is able to play. And it is very doubtful that he will be used, after suffering a torn blood vessel in his left leg.

Other than for Cockrell's injury, the Harvesters are in pretty good physical shape. They are sore and bruised, but should have become ready for full-time duty if needed.

The team left Pampa yesterday morning staying in Sweetwater last night. A workout was held yesterday afternoon. They will remain in Sweetwater until shortly before game time, driving in from there just prior to the game and returning to Sweetwater immediately after the game to remain overnight.

Stage Readied For Biggest Tilt — Baytown Vs. Temple

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The stage is set for the biggest schoolboy football game of the year, the clash of the acknowledged powers of the two top divisions.

It's Baytown, rated No. 1 in Class AAA, and Temple, the ranking kingpin of Class AAA. They get together at Temple tonight with the fans hanging from the rafters.

Not only will it establish immediate class supremacy but if Temple should win it might bring a renewal of the cries for a grand playoff at season's end between the champions of the two classes.

Both teams are undefeated and untied and neither has found the opposition extra hefty to date.

In other fixtures Alice and McAllen, both unbeaten and untied, clash at Alice in a game that might well determine the District 3 championship of Class AAA when Temple and Temple are slated to meet at Temple in a District 7 conference game in Class AAA to keep its record clear in championship play.

Diamond Hill was removed from the unbeaten, untied list of Class AA when the Fort Worth team was defeated by a scoreless tie by Garland.

Sunset Dallas opened the conference race in District 4 of Class AAAA by beating Forest Dallas, 32 - 20.

Canine Astronomical Figures Give Major Hoopie Underdogs

By MAJOR AMOS E. HAAPLE
Sage of the Sidelines

Egad! Today I hope my millions of readers are prepared to delve with me into some football calculations based on canine astronomical astrology.

We will come up with some amazing forecasts for the Saturday grid contests.

This study concerns the influence of the dog star, Sirius, on coming sports events. Sirius, which is known as Canis Major (the greater dog), has a companion satellite. This Saturday the heliacal position of Sirius and its companion star suggest great athletic victories for the underdog.

Therefore I have selected a slate of winners in which the underdog will defeat the favorite, such as Iowa beating Wisconsin. If you will pardon the pun, this is what I call a Sirius matter-hell-heh.

I say that Arkansas will nose out Texas, but I cannot desert my dog star dogma. By the way, Sirius is 8.8 light years distant from the solar system, so you see what kind of long range computations I am up against. It's staggering.

Now, if you will just peruse the forecast, you'll be surprised.

Westerners Are Drawing Crowds

LUBBOCK (AP)—College of the Southwest are moaning about the drop in football attendance this season, but they won't get any sympathy from Lubbock High School or its supporters.

The Westerners, defending state Class AAA champions, have already played before some 55,000 persons in three home games.

Largest single home crowd was last week when 20,000 saw Lubbock and Odessa. Nonconference games with Highland Park and Plainview drew 18,000 and 17,000 respectively.

Attendance is likely to drop to a mere 10,000 tonight when the Westerners play wireless San Angelo but another 20,000 sellout is virtually assured when the Lubbock team returns home on Thanksgiving Day to close out the schedule against traditional rival Amarillo.

Revenge Motif To Guide At Least Three SWC Elevens

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Editor

Three teams will be seeking revenge tomorrow when the Southwest Conference football race blooms to maturity.

Last season Texas Christian beat Texas A&M when it wasn't supposed to. Rice stopped a Southern Methodist team that was heavily favored, and Arkansas upset a Texas outfit that was expected to find the Razorbacks just a fair workout.

And now they're meeting again. TCU and A&M clash at College Station and Arkansas meets Texas at Austin tomorrow afternoon while Southern Methodist and Rice play at Houston tomorrow night.

Now it's different. This time, though, the Aggies are the underdogs. Texas and Southern Methodist again are favorites.

It's a "line set-up" for a typical Southwest Conference day and night and what'll you bet the favored teams come through?

It marks the start of full-scale conference play, coming after a disastrous inter-sectional foray that found the league teams taking more beatings than they dealt out. Championship competition is a welcome relief.

While the others are playing for keeps, Baylor will be at Lubbock for a night game with Texas Tech of the Border Conference. It's an ideal setup for an upset here, too. Tech hasn't won a game since its first last week to Arkansas, probably won't be on edge at all. Tech, with its high-gear offense that will score on any body featuring the running of Vanderbeil, Tech, Florida 14, Alabama 20, Tennessee 14, Arkansas 14, Texas 13.

And Tech needs a victory over a Southwest Conference team; it was humiliated by Rice three weeks ago.

The Southern Methodist-Rice game opens the conference race for both teams. It matches a tough defense against running as bonated by Rice against a Southern Methodist outfit that goes in mostly for running. It's something quite new for the erstwhile aerial circus. Rice hasn't been very effective against passing this season and the Methodists might just return to their all-out passing attack. SMU isn't too good against passing either, so Rice might do the same. It ought to be a good game.

Arkansas visits Texas again with hopes riding high. The Razorbacks showed plenty of fire and ability last week in knocking down Baylor, 29-17. Texas was a big hampered thither and yon by mighty Oklahoma. But unless the Longhorns are very flat, it wouldn't appear Arkansas enthusiasm can triumph. The Porkers, who already have lost one conference game — to TCU must Darroutz is tied for fourth right now with Kelton, both having one win and two losses, while Mobeetie and Booker, each with two defeats, share the bottom.

even heroes. They were just using Pepioli.

But it was the defense that licked Wisconsin for Ohio State. It was Penn's defense that held off Princeton and enabled the Quakers to snap the Tigers' 24-game winning streak and it is the defensive platoon that's carrying Southern California.

Well, there's no guarantee that these trends will continue tomorrow when virtually every team in the country moves into action.

The Big Seven race should be decided when two of the top-ranking teams in the weekly Associated Press poll tangle in Lawrence, Kan., Oklahoma, No. 6, meets Kansas, No. 8, and to the winner will go the spoils barring a big upset later in the campaign.

Enos Slaughter

Slaughter Is Comeback Kid

By JOE REICHLER
NEW YORK (AP)—Enos "Country" Slaughter, veteran outfield star of the St. Louis Cardinals, was selected today as the player who made the greatest comeback of the 1952 baseball season.

The slugging country boy from North Carolina, generally regarded as one of the game's fiercest competitors, captured the Associated Press "Comeback-of-the-Year" award handsly, receiving 26 of the 61 votes cast by members of the Baseball Writers Association of America.

Thirteen other candidates were nominated, but none proved any serious threat to the rollicking Redbird. Luke Easter of Cleveland came second with 11 votes.

It's easy to see why the experts voted for Slaughter, the original perpetual motion kid, who never walks when he can run to the nearest exit, or base.

The balding flycatcher was considered all washed up last April, after hitting a lowly .281 in 123 games in 1951. But he astounded the critics by not only participating in 40 contests but hitting at an even .300 clip. That was not all. The husky Cardinal, who will be 37 next April, batted in 101 runs and swatted 40 extra base hits including 11 home runs, 12 triples and 17 doubles.

The Cardinals, off to a poor start, caught fire in mid-season and finished a strong third. They played the best ball in the league in the second half of the season, principally because of Slaughter's hot bat that picked up 37 RBIs and seven home runs over the previous season.

Durable Enos became a Cardinal back in 1938 and has been a star ever since. Oldest regular in the major leagues, Slaughter still is the take charge guy of his club. His spirit, always fierce and flaming has not waned a bit despite his 15 years in the big leagues.

Murdock Out Of Action For Week

Frankie Hill Murdock, Waxahachie wrestler injured in Wednesday night's card at the Southern Club, will be out of action for about a week with a severely sprained ankle.

Murdock was scheduled to appear on the card at Amarillo last night, but was unable because of the injured ankle. He sprained it when Gory Guerrero, smooth Mexican from Mexico City, smoothly defeated him in the best two-out-of-three class.

Collegiate Football Season Is Following Its Usual Pattern

By E. CORRIGAN
NEW YORK (AP)—This 1952 college football season, which has not even reached the halfway point, has shown at least two unusual tendencies: (A) there have been few upsets, and (B) defense has become The Thing.

The teams that were thought to have the power at the start of the season generally have come through. Perhaps the biggest reversal of form to date was Pitt's triumph over Notre Dame last week. But the Irish were not considered any great shakers.

Wisconsin got beaten by Ohio State in another upset but there again the Buckeyes always were tough and not too many observers outside Wisconsin were actually startled.

The others all were strictly minor, a surprising situation in these days of teams facing major opponents without warmup games or even without spring practice.

As for defense, since the two platoon system went into effect, the kids who tried to hold the enemy were the unsung heroes. Some of them, in fact, weren't

The Pampa Daily News

One of Texas' Five Most Consistent Newspapers

We believe that one truth is always consistent with another truth. We endeavor to be consistent with the truths expressed in such great moral guides as the Golden Rule, the Ten Commandments and the Declaration of Independence.

Should we, at any time, be inconsistent with these truths, we would appreciate anyone pointing out to us how we are inconsistent with these moral guides.

The Associated Press is entitled exclusively to the use for republication on all the local news printed in this newspaper as well as all AP news dispatches. Tools And Workers

The average Texas industry worker, who may sometimes wonder just how important he is, can get some idea of his worth by the fact that it takes about $12,000 in tools and equipment to put him on the payroll at the present standard of living.

And if he wants to know how valuable he is in comparison with other workers of the world, he might ponder on the fact that in industrialized nations of Europe only about $4000 is invested in tools to help a man do his job. In Asia the amount drops to less than $2500 per factory employe. (Non-industrial workers are not included.)

The Texas worker as a free man uses these tools well, as is reflected in his unequalled efficiency anywhere in the regimented economies of Europe or Asia. In the United States the average work time required to produce $10 in real income is 8 hours per man, as compared with 19 hours in industrial Europe and 81 hours in Asian factories, where socialism regiments most workers. (Only factory workers are considered — non-industrial workers in Asia earn as little as $50 real wages in an entire year.)

In some specific examples of relative standards of living the comparison is even more marked. For example, the National Association of Home Builders reports that in the United States the average worker puts in 5700 hours of labor to earn enough to buy a $9,000 home; in Socialist England, 23,000 work hours; in France, 30,000 hours; and in Russia, if home ownership were even possible, 40,000 work hours would be required.

Herein lies the true story of America's high standard of living — and not in her natural resources, which are in many instances poorer than those of backward nations living on our loans. As America used her industrial freedom to raise the average tool-equipment from $500 per man in 1850 to about $12,000 now, production has soared from 12 billion dollars of value to 221 billions, although the number of workers increased only from 7 1/2 million to 64 million. In 2000 hours a man now can produce as much as once required (in 1850) 3600 hours.

Another Red Herring

The proposal that Congress be called into special session to tighten up on price controls and crack down on manufacturers and retailers who are allegedly gouging the public savors of a new attempt to drag a red herring across inflation's trail. It just doesn't make sense.

First of all, it is extremely unlikely that Congress would make any significant changes in the present control law. It took all the Administration pressure that could be dredged up to get the law renewed last time even in a modified form. Congress also made heavy cuts in OPS appropriations. Many Senators and Representatives want to get rid of the whole mess as soon as possible.

Second, the claim that producers and distributors are robbing us blind is propaganda of the most misleading sort. In case after case manufacturers' profits have been showing substantial declines, due in large part to today's tremendous taxes. And retail profits, which at best average only a few cents of each consumer dollar spent, have been going down sharply, in many instances to the vanishing point.

In the third place, to argue that price controls are even a partial solution to inflation is to fly in the face of facts known to every economist. The controls deal only with the symptoms of inflation, not the causes. They do not reach down to the disease itself. The long, entwined roots of inflation lie primarily in suicidal government fiscal policies — in the indefensible waste and general financial irresponsibility that has characterized the conduct of government for many years.

Finally, all the political hot air to the contrary, controls cannot help but destroy the free market in the long run. And when that happens the other freedoms start to die.

Judy The Ham

It is a customary thing when the curtain rings down for an actor or actress to hang up the costume as well as the role, although there are a few outstanding hams who carry their roles into private life. We did not think Miss Judy Holliday, a noted portrayor of witless women in the films, was one of those who carried their roles over into private life, but after her testimony in Washington, relative to her supposed Communist activities, we are forced to believe she is as dense in her own right as in the roles she plays.

Miss Holliday told the somewhat astounded Senators that she is a stupid girl; and we can only say, in the somewhat clipped phrasing of Broadway, that Miss Holliday has got it right.

But Miss Holliday's happy clutch at the stupidity label doesn't come from right field in our book. It comes from left field, because it is one thing to say you are stupid in having to confess lending your name to a succession of Communist groups and quite another to be revealed as stupid because you did not or could not once cite a single patriotic group to which you had loaned equal support.

It is an amazing thing about all of these remorseful children of show business that they can cite literally dozens of causes to which they ought not to have given their names but not one cause of clean intention to which they should have tossed name and support.

Better Jobs

By R. C. MOILS

Sins of the Fathers

I want to reproduce an article in Faith and Freedom magazine by Frank Chodorov, associate editor of Human Events. The article has a sub-head in Their Attempt to Abolish Maturity Altogether Do the Fathers Actually Benefit Their Children?

Here is what Mr. Chodorov has to say on the subject: There is no doubt about it, Americans love their children. So do Russians, Germans and Catholics. Overlooking cats, whose parental attachment is of short duration, the measurable difference between American child-love and that of other birds, is in the relative periods of "infancy" the children enjoy.

Pedagogues designate as "infancy" the span of years devoted to making ready for the problems of life, and it is a certainty that the American ideal is to stretch that span-out as long as possible. With most professions, schools elevated to postgraduate status and a doctorate becoming almost obligatory for placement in the nice jobs, the "infancy" period comes "close to covering the first half of normal life expectancy. Yes, we Americans look after our children a long, long time, on the theory that we thus make it easier for them to stand up to the environment confronting their maturity.

ARE YOU A BETTER FATHER? Despite this obvious evidence of parental devotion, there are indications that the American father, the composite, is rather myopic in this devotion. Even as he concentrates on preparing his son to meet a society that is changing fast, he is engaged, as a citizen in making that environment more difficult. From that point of view, one is justified in asking whether the American father is as considerate as he thinks he is. Would he not be a better father if he gave thought to the conditions which, as a member of the community, he is setting up for his son to meet?

To that proposition most American fathers will agree, but not one of them will concede that the social practices which are contributing to, or the implementing legislation, which he is supporting, will make life harder for his offspring. Yet, if we look to the trend of current legislation and the social practices consequent thereto, we are compelled to the conclusion that the American father, either through ignorance or short-sightedness, is laying up a hard time for his children.

Listen My Son There is, to begin with, our national debt, or, rather, the prevailing attitude of a doctor about his heart. Every time he prescribes a drug, he says, "I'm sorry, little one, but you were just born with a debt-load of two thousand dollars. For the rest of your life you shall have to carry it." During your nonproductive years, I'll relieve you of the burden, though, to be sure, in so doing I will not be able to give you as many of the things you need as I'd like to. When you are able to take care of yourself, you will have to assume the obligation.

"I did not create this debt. Some of it I inherited from my father, who in turn had it as a legacy from his father, and so on down to the beginning of the country. Each generation engaged in the unproductive activity of pushing 'Manifest-Destiny' along, or preserving the 'American way of life' — and justified its borrowing from the production of the future with the argument that the future ought to pay for the benefits bestowed on it.

"So you see, I had no say about the debt that was handed down to me, and you, young fellow, will have to bear up under the burden I am strapping onto your back. You'll find out in the future that a debt of honor, incurred in making the world safe for democracy or something, yes, it's an honorable debt, but, honorable or not, it's still a debt.

Even as the infant squawks, the father might continue, in an effort to calm his colic: "Most of this debt was forced on us Americans by foreigners who were invading our shores; we couldn't help getting into the wars. Now, it is true that we had to fight these wars with the ammunition and battleships and food that was produced during the wars; there was no way of fighting them with future production, with what you are going to produce some day.

"Well, since the government did not have enough cash to pay for the war materials, it paid with I. O. U.'s. These pieces of paper carried — the promise to — pay the holders (someone in the future) more than the government had borrowed in the first place. This promise of profit stirred up a great deal of patriotism.

"Where would the government get the money with which to pay the interest — promised? From taxes, of course. These I. O. U.'s were, therefore, claims on future production. Since you and the other babies vocalizing in this nursery constitute part of the future the government had in mind when it issued these interest-bearing I. O. U.'s, all of you will have to assume your share of the interest payments. There's no getting away from it.

"If you're thinking, little one, that these I. O. U.'s will be paid up, so that you can get rid of your share of the load, forget it. It seems that no generation is appreciative enough of the benefits be-

Their Greatest Project

Big For A Smile

The applicant for a job as housemaid was being interviewed by the employment agent and was asked if she had any preference as to the kind of family she would like to work for.

Applicant—No, sir, I worked for a pair of them once—and never again. But I found nothing much amiss. But he did prescribe a bit of lubricating oil for a small pulley on the old gent's suspender.

An old gentleman in the Mid-west consulted a doctor about his heart. The doctor, after a deep breath, said the patient, he could hear his heart squeak.

The doctor went over him carefully, but found nothing much amiss. But he did prescribe a bit of lubricating oil for a small pulley on the old gent's suspender.

He showed up at his considerate father's to liquidate the expenses incurred. My generation did not clear up the debt left us by our fathers. On the other hand, we are in debt to our fathers for the benefit of our offspring.

For his peroration, the dotting father has an apogee of parental devotion. Flourishing some brightly printed papers before the unappreciative eyes of his new-born, he explains: "See, my son, I have a few of these I. O. U.'s that I expect many in this nursery will not be as fortunate as you, their fathers were not as thrifty or as foresighted as yours was. When in time you collect interest on these papers, you will be calling on these brats, your contemporaries, to hand over some of their production to you. Even though you will be paying a lot of taxes to meet this debt obligation, to the extent of these I. O. U.'s, you will be getting something. Am I not the loving father?"

The response of the little one will, at best, be an unintelligible gurgle, which may or may not record his delight at having inherited a slight sedative for the headache of the nation's debt. No matter. The point at issue is the quality of American father-love.

National Whirligig... HST's Request For Breakdown On Food Dollar May Backfire

By RAY TUCKER WASHINGTON — Diplomatic analysis of Stalin's schemes

In short, the records show the farmer deserves as much credit as Uncle Sam for his more favorable position in the economic system.

CONSUMERS DOLLAR — Although an X-ray of the component costs of the market basket would be helpful in many ways especially in the more prompt and fair settlement of farm disputes, President Truman's memo to the FTC suggests that he hoped to make political capital of it, if it satisfied his purpose.

Powerful interests are at work to prevent the consumer that is the farmer who is responsible for the high cost of living. Figures of the Department of Agriculture, however, show that the farmer receives only about half of the value of his production.

Truman obviously has two ideas in mind. The first is to demonstrate that what he calls "reactive" interests are responsible for today's high prices. The second is to hold out the promise of a larger share than 50 per cent, possibly through the two-price Branman plan that was rejected by the Democratic platform makers and by Stevenson.

SLIDESCARE FIGURING — Agriculture's experts have been making piecemeal studies of this kind for many years. They concede that a mathematically correct answer is impossible because of so many conflicting and complex factors as well as seasonal and economic shifts. Their slidescale figuring shows these results:

In the 1925 - 39 period the farmer got about 40 cents of each dollar spent on food by the consumers. In 1945, as a result of food shortages and heavy government expenditures, the figure had climbed to 48 cents. It reached a peak of 50 cents last year, and threatens to decline to about 48 cents for 1952. Farm prices have been falling of late, although they've fully reflected in the retail markets.

Farmers always benefit when money is plentiful, as charts covering a long period of years indicate. Consumers then shift to diets of such profitable products as meats, fruits and vegetables instead of cheaper but filling stuff.

BREAKDOWN IMPOSSIBLE — Had President Truman consulted the findings of several agencies better acquainted with this problem than the FTC, he would have discovered where the remainder of the consumers dollar goes. Although they will not guarantee the accuracy of their conclusions for the reasons listed above, their breakdown is accepted as fairly accurate.

These studies indicate that 30 cents is paid out as the cost of transportation, processing, packaging, insurance, etc. Another 20 cents is accounted for by the costs of local distribution to retail stores and their expense in preparing, stocking and delivering the goods to the customers. Obviously, in view of the different origins and destinations of products, the varied methods of packaging and processing, the contrasts in marketing methods of chain stores, independents and public markets, any average or nationwide breakdown of the food dollar is out of the question. And any analysis made by FTC

Fair Enough... GOP Wants McCarthy to 'Save' Massachusetts' Senator Lodge

By WESTBROOK PEGLER (Copyright, 1952, King Features Syndicate, Inc.) WASHINGTON — The Republican National Committee has been quietly whining to Joe McCarthy to go up to Massachusetts and save Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge, a pro-Democratic Republican, from Congress.

Whether McCarthy goes up there or not, Kennedy is going to knock Lodge into the creek as sure as sun-up on election day. McCarthy is smart enough to realize this. Inasmuch as he can't honestly say anything good for Lodge, all Joe could do, even if he should comply with the plaintive appeals of the national committee, would be to attack Kennedy in a Democratic National administration. That wouldn't do Lodge any good because he wouldn't have the gumption to follow through. Neither would it do Kennedy any harm because he would not hit his old man, Joe, who was our ambassador to Britain and is now one of our loudest pro-Americans, are above suspicion on the question of Communism in the government or anywhere else.

Why should McCarthy inject himself into a situation in which the best he can get personally is the worst of it, to try to carry a man who would run right back to the Democrats and vote against him even if Joe could pull him through? There are a number of these specimens of political degeneration such as Mrs. Smith, of Maine; Ives, of New York; Morse, of Oregon; Truman's man, Warren, of California — and of course, Tom Dewey.

The fact is that Joe McCarthy is one of the most popular Republicans in the country with his own hand wagon capable of cruising far beyond the borders of his own Wisconsin. Other Republicans need his help and have more claim on his time and energy than Joe McCarthy.

Of course, Jack Kennedy, as a strict Democrat, must cope with the fact that the Republican Party is a party which sometimes put a man in a nasty fix, as when Jack thought he had to join the official roster of political mourners at the funeral of the mysterious menace known as David K. Niles not long ago.

I know what Kennedy thought of Niles and that Joe and a lot of other Boston Democrats thought of him, too. Their opinions were the same as mine. I will not go to any funeral as a political demonstration and the attendance of these fellows on this occasion was inexcusable on moral grounds and of no value politically.

The same criticism would apply to a foray into Massachusetts by Joe McCarthy on behalf of Senator Lodge. Every Republican voter there will remember that Senator Lodge was one of the foremost four flushers in the hypocritical Dewey coup at Chicago which sent loud-wagons through the streets accusing Bob Taft of stealing delegates. Why doesn't he yell for Tom Dewey to come up and save him from Kennedy? Or why not Ike? Why does he want a man who uses the wrong "methods" against traitors?

Kennedy wouldn't put on a gas mask or a clothespin, if Joe McCarthy should offer to go up there and save him from Kennedy by his name. Kennedy is anti-Red, though a Democrat, which is possible to a real American, and he will agree with anyone who argues, as Joe McCarthy does, that you can't tangle with a skunk and come out of it smelling like a barber-shop.

Kennedy would be glad to embrace McCarthy on a platform for use before November would be only a political plug.

MIDDLE MAN — The powerful interests, including the remainder of the consumers dollar goes. Although they will not guarantee the accuracy of their conclusions for the reasons listed above, their breakdown is accepted as fairly accurate.

These studies indicate that 30 cents is paid out as the cost of transportation, processing, packaging, insurance, etc. Another 20 cents is accounted for by the costs of local distribution to retail stores and their expense in preparing, stocking and delivering the goods to the customers.

Obviously, in view of the different origins and destinations of products, the varied methods of packaging and processing, the contrasts in marketing methods of chain stores, independents and public markets, any average or nationwide breakdown of the food dollar is out of the question. And any analysis made by FTC

South Boston and the only consideration that prevents that is Joe's party loyalty, not any hypocrisy on Jack's part.

Lodge's trouble is that he lacks the manhood to be a real Republican. To be a Republican, a man must endorse the Constitution and carry the fight to all those who would impair it whether by the unconstitutional fake known as a civil rights, the withholding tax, the labor monopoly and treason known as the labor movement, or the United Nations. That is the most approximate Republican we have and the Republican senators who are under the worst attack and may be in the worst danger are the men who have yielded lead in the clamor of the ignorant mass of voters.

The experience is not unique, but I find it hard to be honest in these political problems and loyal to my political ideals at the same time. Being a Democrat, Kennedy represents everything I detest in the field of union monopoly and doesn't come treason expressed in riots against the several states often under the indulgent patronage of Democratic governors, and many anti-constitutional fixtures of the Democratic program. He belongs in the Democratic Party and doesn't come sneaking and muscling into my party, whereas Lodge has no confidence in his own party and tries to win favor among Democrats who despise him.

Joe McCarthy should go up there for the sole purpose of getting him a hand. Lodge would say that treason was a very bad thing but that McCarthy's methods were not just right. In my part of the country in the dirt-road days, as a rule you could get a ride on the grocery wagon by asking for it. But if we sneaked upon the tail-board the grocery man, in Gene Field's poem, would reach out at us with his whip and lather up his boss.

This is the band wagon. It is the best band wagon in the whole campaign. Anyone who wants a ride ought to be man enough to ask Joe publicly.

The Doctor Says

By EDWIN J. JORDAN, M.D.

A reader has requested a column on nervous tension — a subject which is most difficult to write about, and yet one in which I suppose nearly all of us are interested. There are probably few, if any, human beings who do not go through periods of inner turmoil or nervous tension which sometimes do, but more often do not, appear outwardly.

Since nearly everyone has experiences of this sort, they must be considered normal, and merely something with which human beings have to contend because they are human beings.

But there is a fairly well recognized condition known as anxiety or anxiety neurosis which goes beyond the normal tension of human life, and it is perhaps this to which the correspondent refers.

Certainly there are many persons who are more nervous and more anxious than most of us, and who become excessively disturbed by things which happen to them. They show an inability to overcome the blows of providence which to other people bring only temporary distress.

In the victim of a true anxiety over and beyond that which should be expected, a great number of mental and physical symptoms can be produced. Some fear they are losing their minds when they are not; many are unduly depressed; pounding of the heart; smothering sensations; feelings of tightness of the throat; physical complaints may develop merely because the individual is over-anxious, and cannot overcome the inward tension.

There is believed to be one type of person particularly likely to get into this state. One who has been brought up in a home in which there were unhappy childhood experiences is vulnerable.

Often one hears from an over-anxious patient a history of illness in the father and of a worrying mother during childhood. Many anxious people are always worried about losing their jobs, or have deep-seated feelings of inferiority, usually quite unrelated to their intelligence or real ability.

Undue anxiety is a real and painful experience, but the victim, by his or her own efforts — with the aid of a sympathetic and understanding physician, and often a psychiatrist — may be able to conquer the difficulty to a surprising degree.

Grace Friends

(Readers of The News are invited to send their problems to Grace Friend. Letters not published will be answered personally if stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Writers must sign their names, although they will not be printed without the writer's permission.)

Dear Grace Friend:
I read your column in the paper all the time and I have benefited in many ways from your advice to others. I would like you to explain a little more for me about a will.
You answered an inquiry a short time back about the California laws on writing a will. Once you stated that in California you don't need witnesses for your will and in another you said that many states require three witnesses.

What I want to know is this. My husband and I have property in California where we live and we wish to make a will leaving everything to the other. So if anything should happen to one the other would not have any trouble about the property.

Now, if we draw up our own will should we each draw a separate one leaving the property to the other or should we just draw up one will and both sign it.

Would it be better if we had witnesses sign it? We do have witnesses could they be a brother and his wife? They would not share in any way or have any interest in the property. It would just be a favor for us.

It is very important to know soon because we are going on a trip and as we are getting on in years we realize something might happen to one of us. We want to attend to this before we leave.

I will be very grateful to you for telling us how to write our own wills.

Dear Mrs. M.
In California a holographic will, one written entirely by the testator (person leaving the property) does not need any witnesses. All you would have to do is take a perfectly blank piece of paper with no printing on it whatsoever and date it, write out the will, leave all of your property to your husband in the event of your death.

THOUGHTS

Plain-dealing is a jewel.
—William Wycherly
Come give us your plain dealing fellows who never from honesty shrink.

—Anonymous
Plain-dealing is the best when Be honest, be true to thyself, and true to others; then it follows thou will be strong in God, the eternal good.

—Mary Baker Eddy
These find withal who have such courses run. That generous plainness proves the better way.

—William Alexander
Nothing astonishes men so much as common sense and plain dealing.

Mrs. F. E. Leech, Mrs. Charles Tooker Review New Book

Mrs. F. E. Leech and Mrs. Charles Tooker reviewed "Tangled Threads" by Dr. Ralph Phelps, Jr., at the First Baptist Church W.M.U. meeting this week in the church parlor.

The book presents five problems confronting Southern Baptists and others: the problem of races all over the world, the labor situation, alcoholism, communism, and the "people down and out."

"All these problems," the leaders pointed out, "can be solved by Christianity, but Christianity in ideal must be Christianity in operation in the United States, if the Christian forces are to triumph over communism."

The third Wednesday in November, circles will begin individual study of the new book, "Scattered Abroad" by Dr. E. C. Routh.

Mrs. H. M. Stokes, president, presided at the meeting, and introduced program leaders.

THEY'RE "BUGS" ABOUT HIM — "Walking Sticks" give entomologist R. A. Catholic Hospital In Germany Fights Drugs

WASSENBURG, Germany (AP) — A quiet, small hospital run by Catholic nuns in the remote forests of Northwest Germany is one of the main centers in the fight against drug addiction.

The hospital is the only asylum for women drug and alcohol addicts in Germany. Twelve hundred women and girls have been under treatment here during the last few years.

West German health officials are full of praise for the asylum and its management. "With some 50,000 drug addicts and three times as many alcoholics running loose in West Germany the little oasis of Wassenberg have done everything they could to help us fight the dope wave," one official pointed out.

Alcoholism and drug addiction have increased greatly in West Germany in recent years. A large proportion of all alcohol and drug addicts are youths and women.

PRELUDE HOUSE

He's A Steak Thief . . . Dog Owned By Hank's Friends Brings Home Meat For Dinner

By HENRY McLEMORE

This would happen only to the rich.

It is a story which confirms the old saying that "Them what has gets."

Two of my best friends are a man and wife who are loaded with money. She got it from her grandfather and he got it from his father, thanks to oil, soap, coal, insurance kitchen appliances and an 18-hour day.

They live in a house which can best be described by saying that it has two wall safes, a burglar alarm, and pictures of bearded ancestors on the walls.

Joe and Edna, to use their real names, have a dog, a boxer dog, who weighs about 80 pounds and who likes to roam. He is a smart boxer, and can do all manner of tricks, such as knocking down guests, chewing up cats who cross his path, playing dead when he is called and jumping three feet in the air when he is told to get down.

But his greatest trick — and this is why I said such a thing would happen only to the rich — Firpo likes to bring home food for his master and mistress.

About a month ago Edna found a beautiful crown roast on the floor of the kitchen. It must have weighed eight or nine pounds, and was carefully wrapped. Knowing that she had not ordered a roast, Edna called her butcher and asked why the roast, The butcher said none had been sent to her.

So the next night Edna and Joe, bewildered but hungry, enjoyed the roast at dinner.

Three or four days later Edna found a beautiful sirloin steak on the kitchen floor. It was two inches thick and must have cost a small fortune.

Edna went through the same routine with her butcher, and got the same answer. No; no steak had been sent to her, and no other customer had complained of not receiving what he had ordered.

Edna and Joe were puzzled, but didn't know what to do with the steak except eat it. Joe said it was as fine a piece of beef as he had eaten in ten years.

Not long after the free steak Edna was in the kitchen when Firpo arrived at the back door. In his mouth was a carton of eggs. He was holding them by the string, and not an egg was broken.

That night she told Joe about Firpo and the eggs and they agreed that Firpo must be the one who had brought home the roast and the steak.

"I'll stay home from work tomorrow," Joe said, and follow Firpo. "We can't have a thief in our house."

Joe was right behind Firpo when he took off the next morning. For half an hour Firpo followed the familiar morning routine of dogs, sniffing here, rooting there, and generally playing about. Then as if he knew he were being shadowed, he streaked out at top speed and Joe, not wishing to be unfair

"Would you mind cashing this check for me? The teller says I'm overdrawn!"

Argentina's Peron Promises One Car In Every Garage

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — A new theme of "one car in every garage" is being sounded by President Juan D. Peron. This program sounds particularly attractive in Argentina, where only one person in 70 owns a car.

General Motors, Ford and Chrysler have assembly plants in Buenos Aires, but have not fabricated cars for themselves since early 1948. Peron's government, to save foreign exchange, has refused to grant import licenses to the firms. Some few licenses have been given to persons with contacts in the government.

The result is a market where new Chevrolets are selling for $8,000 plus, Cadillacs, much better by Argentina's new aristocracy, carry $10,000 price tags. That puts car ownership far out of reach of the average Argentine, who earns perhaps $100 a month.

To give these workers some hope, and also to encourage a nationalistic spirit, the government announced last March that it would build motor cars in its Aerotechnical Institute at Cordoba.

The explanation was that it had a lot of expensive machinery there for building planes for the Argentine Air Force, but a shortage of materials was leaving the plant idle, so they'd build automobiles instead.

The car, a lightweight two-cylinder job, is to be produced in three models—a sedan, a station wagon and a pickup truck. It is called "Justicialista" after Peron's political program.

Three prototypes were presented to Peron May 1 and it was announced 5,000 models would be produced within a year. Peron, in a later speech, promised that within five years Argentina would be exporting instead of importing cars.

So far the factory has not announced prices. The impression is that the car will be sold at a price that will be within the reach of the average Argentine.

Peron's plan to build cars in Cordoba is being hailed as a landmark in the country's economic development. It is expected that the new cars will be sold at a price that will be within the reach of the average Argentine.

There Are Dreams Man Can't Outgrow, Explain, Commend

By SAUL PETT
NEW YORK (AP) — There are dreams a man never outgrows. I can't explain mine. I don't even recommend them. But, anyway, I've always wanted:

To jump into a cab and tell the driver, "Follow that cab! There's a five-spot for you if you don't lose him!"

To be paged in the grand salon of the Queen Elizabeth.

To appear inscrutable when the Chase National Bank asks ME for a loan.

To point a table and tell my wife or anyone, "This is the way exists that the factory is still in the planning stage and that it will be some time before cars are being produced in any numbers."

Argentina's automobile dealers are finding the going rough. Their new car business—due to the import ban—is at a virtual standstill. Their parts and service departments are carrying the load for the entire organization.

Some firms have gone into sidelines, selling refrigerators, television sets, washing machines, stoves, bicycles, and X-ray equipment.

To tell the C. O., "If the general exists that the factory is still in the planning stage and that it will be some time before cars are being produced in any numbers."

To pull the emergency cord on the "Flying Scotsman" as it races across the Firth of Forth or the Forth of Firth or wherever it is they have the high bridge Hitchcock uses in his movies.

Generals Even
To order wine as though I know what I was talking about.

To ask for, between tightly drawn lips, "Sutures, scalpel, sponges."

To tell the C. O., "If the general exists that the factory is still in the planning stage and that it will be some time before cars are being produced in any numbers."

To wear an opera cape and ride the Orient Express with Greta Garbo and tell her as gently as possible, "Yes my dear, I'm afraid I have been everywhere and seen too much."

To tell the landlord, "Paint this apartment within 24 hours or I'll move."

To laugh directly in the face of a political candidate who says "I don't care how you vote. The important thing is to vote."

To tell the waiter, "Send this magnifying glass with my compliments to that beautiful, dark, mysterious lady in the corner, who obviously lost her jewels in Sofia, had her heart broken in Cairo and now faces life completely alone in a strange, new world."

To instruct the salesman at Cartier's as he wraps up the Jonker diamond, "Just tell her it came from an admiring friend."

To be waiting on Mars when the first expedition arrives from earth, and to say, "Gentlemen, what kept you?"

White Deer Church Has Layman Day

WHITE DEER (Special) —The Methodist Church of White Deer will observe the state-wide Methodist Layman Day Sunday at the 11 a. m. service.

Officiating will be W. J. Stubbfield. The layman speaker will be J. C. McCullough, Panhandle. The time has been changed from February to this Sunday by the Methodist General Conference.

Sunday night Rev. J. A. Cooley will teach a Bible study, beginning with St. Matthew. The layman will kindly button his lip, I'll explain."

To order dinner without looking at the right side of the menu. To shout into a phone, "Stop the presses! Tear up the front page while I dictate this story . . ."

To ask an irate traffic cop, "Are you speaking to me or looking for an appointment?"

To wear an opera cape and ride the Orient Express with Greta Garbo and tell her as gently as possible, "Yes my dear, I'm afraid I have been everywhere and seen too much."
