Rennels, Watson Named Man, Woman Of Year

The 33rd Annual Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture's banquet theme portrayed here Thursday evening was "Moving In the Right Direction." The theme was lent to the event due to the efforts of local citizens and business people, picking themselves up and starting anew in a society which has had some fairly harsh blows in the past year or so. Banquet quest speaker, Grady Jim Robinson told the group, "Make something happen" - paraphrasing the famous Bear Bryant. Robinson told the group, in his down-home neighborly fashion, "We need optimism, we need to move in the right direction." His talk was highly humorous and spiritually motivating and seemingly enjoyed by the over 300 persons who attended the annual event. The Arkansas native performer kept up a fast, steady pace of chatter designed to uplift and make one forget about the woes and worries of the world.

Master of Ceremonies Max King introduced

Mayor Charles Bratcher who in turn, introduced out-of-town guests and other dignitaries along with the MHS Stage Band which provided dinner music for the occasion.

Kerry Moore, recognized outgoing Chamber directors Carson Clayton, Nelda Merriott, Tommy Gunstream and Dave Cavitt and they were presented with plaques in appreciation for the services they have rendered to their Chamber and to the community.

Carl Bamert, who was introduced by Chamber President Robert Montgomery, then made the presentation from Blackwater Valley Soil and Water Conservation District to the Conservation Farmer of the Year. This year's honoree was Steve Bell. Bell was commended for his work in conservation of water and in all his farming operations.

The presentation of Farm Family of the Year for 1982 went to Mr. and Mrs. Tim (Buck) Campbell and their children. The award was presented by Bill Liles, incoming Secretary of the Chamber for 1983.

The next presentation was the second year in a row that such an award has been given. An agriculture scholarship was presented to Kim Farmer 18 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Farmer, in recognition of her achievements in the field of Agriculture. This award is traditionally presented to a young woman, since the Jennyslippers is a women's organization. Kim was cited for her many years of work in the field of agrelated business. Her scholarship was for $200 and she plans to use it to further her career in possibly ag-communications in the future. Thursie Reid of the Jennyslippers made the presentation.

Described as an unassuming, selfless and always giving person, Magann Lamb Rennels, wife of Jack Rennels and daughter of Gill Lamb and The Late Olabelle Lamb was named as Muleshoe's Outstanding Woman of the Year. Maggie affectionately called by many has been a champion of many causes, helping to get the new library underway and going, serving meals to the needy, starting a day care center for children and visiting the elderly and bereaved. She was described as one with so much to give and such a beautiful way of doing it.

Muleshoe's Man of the Year came as no stranger to those who knew him on Thursday night. As Tuffy Dent made the presentation to Howard Watson, the FARM FAMILY OF THE YEAR-Mr. and Mrs. Buck Campbell and children, Kristi and Scott, were the recipients of the Chamber's most prestigious awards Thursday evening as they were named as Muleshoe's "Farm Family of the Year." Coach Talks About MHS Varsity Track Girls

Coach Robert Brandon feels that his Mullette Track team has a good shot at the District 2-3A Championship this year, due to the combination of several things. For one thing, all members of last year's team has returned to the 83 squad with the exception of a discus thrower and; a large number of ninth grade girls are out for track who were on last year's District Championship team in the eighth grade division. Brandon feels that you can't just discount a combination like that.

The head coach states that the strong points for the Mullettes include the distance runners and the triple and long jump candidates. The competition available from Muleshoe in the 400 yard dash is tough, says Brandon. He names Marylyn Lewis as one of the better 400 meter runners in the area and thinks that she will rank high in the triple jump and long jump.

"If we have a weakness," Brandon comments, "it is probably in the sprints. We just do not have a real fast sprinter this year."

Brandon gave the Journal a rundown on his girls track team beginning with junior, Marylyn Lewis. Marylyn runs the 400 meter dash, all relays, does the long jump and the triple jump. She is a junior and a two year letterman. Lewis was a regional qualifier the last two years and has had some of the better performances in the area in the 400 meter and triple jump. If all goes well, she may have a chance to make the state meet if she continues to improve, Brandon stated. Lewis holds the school record in the triple

Judge Speaks To Local Lions Club

The Muleshoe Lion's Club met on Wednesday, March 16 at noon for their weekly meeting with special guest speaker, County Judge Gordon H. Green.

Judge Green gave a discourse on county commissioner's court activities and told of a few things that were in the planning stage as far as Bailey County's welfare is concerned. Of prime importance to Bailey County is the county roads and pavements, according to Judge Green. "We have about 30 miles of roads to maintain in our county, with little being done now or having been done to them in recent years. All of these roads will possibly need sealcoating," the Judge stated. He cited two of three specific locations within the county where roads have become extremely hazardous and are becoming worsened with time.

Green stated that to repair and maintain these roads in the manner that is needed would cost from $5 to $6 thousand dollars per mile, which would bring repairs to around $150-180 thousand dollars. Judge Green implied that the County would eventually do whatever is actually the most affordable for the County when it comes to

Woman Of The Year High School Group Works On Golf Course

The Muleshoe High School Gifted/Talented class has finished "A Miniature Proposal," a videotaped presentation on Muleshoe's miniature golf course. The program is a parody of the old "Mission: Impossible" TV series with the G/T Impossible Missions Force consisting of Kristi Spies, John Isaac, Tracy Tunnell, and Wade King. Dale Highes, a senior at Muleshoe High School, did all of the videotaping with the equipment from cable Channel 6 of Muleshoe, which they so graciously consented to make available to the Gifted/Talented class for their project. Channel 6 showed the video tape throughout the weekend and it will air again today (Sunday) at 10:00 a.m.

The program concerns the four year history of Muleshoe's miniature golf course and what remains to be done to open the facility by the target date of May 1st, 1983. Youth Activities Committee members Wayne and Joyce Holmes and Bob Sanders have helped tremendously with information for the program. Also, R.A. Bradley of the Kiwanis organization

Credit Cards Save Calls On Long Distance

Most credit cards don't save customers money, but the telephone credit card can save money for telephone users who make long-distance calls that could be charged to a Telephone Calling Card, the name for the industry's credit card, according to O.D. Hearn, Brownfield Operations Manager for General Telephone.

"There are service charges placed on special handled interstate and intrastate long-distance calls," Hearn explained. "The smallest service charge applies when operator-assisted calls, such as collect and third number billed, are made, and an even higher service charge applies for person-to-person calls. These service charges are added to the appropriate station-to-station rate applicable for the distance of the call and the time of day."

Hearn said in many cases the collect and third number billed calls could be made by using the Calling Card. "By using a Calling Card, the customer could save money since the Calling Card rate is less than the rate charged for collect and third number billed calls." As an example he said Calling Card users will save up to 50 cents per call on interstate calls if they use a Calling Card rather than third number or collect billing. Similar savings also apply for intrastate calls.

The manager continued by saying there are other advantages for using a Calling Card. "Because of the increasing fraud associated with calls billed to a third number, some telephone companies are requiring verbal acceptance from someone at the third number before completing the call." "Another advantage is the customers making calls with Calling Cards receive an itemized listing of the calls made and the charges for record purposes rather than accounting for calls made from coin phones which are paid for at the time the call is made."

Hearn said a relatively new benefit that is being expanded nationwide, where equipment can be tied into the nationwide automated Calling Card network, lets customers dial their own Calling Card calls direct, including the Calling Card billing information, all without the assistance of an operator.

"In locations where this service is available, the Calling Card is verified electronically through the computerized network in seconds, and the call is completed once the number is validated. In locations where the service is not yet available, the operator will be able to verify the card number by using the same network," Hearn said.

"Calling Card calling can be convenient, less expensive, faster, and with the automated service, more flexible. If customers have occasion to make calls that cannot be dialed direct, the Calling Card is a necessary."

ity," he said. Telephone company Calling Cards are issued at the request of the customer.

There is neither a charge to receive the card nor interest applied to calls made by using the card. Customers interested in obtaining a Calling Card should contact the telephone company business office.

Single Family Mortgage Program Underway

The Single Family Mortgage Purchase program being offered by the South Plains Housing Finance Corporation (SPHFC) is now underway. It is anticipated that the SPHFC will receive a reservation certificate from the Texas Department of Community Affairs in the amount of $36,265,000 on March 21, 1983. The Corporation will then have 45 days from that date to structure, sell, and close a bond issue to provide funds for the purchase of single-family homes by low and moderate income families before the reservation certificate expires. In order to complete the process in the short time permitted, a determination must be made by March 21, 1983, regarding the extent of interest on the part of eligible lenders.

The South Plains Association of Governments, phone (806) 762-8721, for a statement of interest form. While this form is merely an indication of interest and not binding, it clearly will be used by the underwriter and the corporation to determine if enough interest exists in the South Plains Region. The statement of interest form must be returned to the offices of the underwriter by Monday, March 21, 1983.

All residences financed with mortgage loans under the program must be located within the counties of Bailey, Cochran, Crosby, Dickens, Floyd, Garza, Hale, Hockley, King, Lamb, Lubbock, Lynn, Motley, Terry, and Yoakum. The city of Lubbock is excluded from the program because they have an existing housing finance corporation.

For further information contact the South Plains Association of Governments P. O. Box 2787 Lubbock, Texas 79408 Ph: (806) 762-8721.

THE FOOD CHAIN IS A HUMAN CHAIN

Millions of people are involved in the many steps and enterprises required to get food and fiber from our American farms to towns and cities across the nation. It's a chain of linked human cooperation. Each person contributes his or her expertise in the growing, processing, transporting and marketing until the final goal of feeding America is accomplished. To honor this thought that "the food chain is a human chain," March 21 is set aside as Agriculture Day. One special day to recognize the links in this chain. Links that make this vital industry work so well for all of us every day. We invite you to join with us on March 21 as we say "thank you" to the men and women who make American agriculture work so well.

Claudine's Country Club Comments By Claudine Elliot

Things have started to swing, golf swing that is, for the ladies at the Muleshoe Country Club. We can not blame the weather for our poor golf games this month because we have had some beautiful days. Everyone has really enjoyed their golf too. It has been real good having Anita Foster back playing again after her recent foot surgery.

The Ladies Association met for their monthly meeting Wednesday, March 16. Jeannette Precure, our president, presided over the meeting. All business was discussed and all committees made their reports. Dorothy St. Clair reported that the city tournament will be held from April 2 through April 17. This tournament is open to any golfer in our city and area. You do not have to be a member of the Muleshoe Country Club, to enter this tournament. Anyone interested should contact our Pro. Analita Haley, Anita Foster and Helen Templeton met with the Hi Plains Women's Golf Association Directors from Clovis, Tulia, Canyon, Dimmitt, Olton, Farwell and Friona on March 9 here in Muleshoe to work out our plans for this years activities. Fourteen ladies were present and enjoyed a beautiful afternoon of golf after their meeting.

Muleshoe is honored this year to have as President of the Hi Plains Association our own Analita Haley. Assisting Analita is Laverne Winn as secretary, Anita Foster and Helen Templeton are our Directors from Muleshoe. The first Hi Plains playday will be in Dimmitt, April 13.

Our Wednesday meeting ended with awards for the month playdays presided by Anita Foster to the following: Feb. 16, longest drive on No. 17 to Helen Templeton and Claudine Elliott.

Feb. 23: Closest to pin on No. 9 to Helen Templeton. We all nearly fainted with Helen on this hole. Her ball needed one more turn to make her a hole-in-one. It was a beautiful show. Evelyn chipped in on No. 6 for a birdie. Claudine chipped in on No. 7 for a par.

March 2: Low Net today was won by Evelyn Riley, Melzine Elliott, and Ruby Hart.

Evelyn chipped in again for a birdie on No. 11. Melzine chipped in for a birdie on No. 6. Melzine had a beautiful chip, but some credit went to Anita Foster-her second shot hit Melzine's ball in the fairway sending it some 50 yards closer to the hole. Bet Neats couldn't do that again!

March 9: Blind Partners was won by Anita Foster and Claudine Elliott, Jeannette Precure and Ruby Hart and Argilee Millen.

The Ladies of the Club wish to say welcome to our new Pro and his wife, Cliff Goff and Cindy. We are looking forward to having them a part of our club.

See you next month.

Creative Woman

By Sheryl Borden

Topics to be presented on "The Creative Woman" show on March 22 and 26 include appetizers, monogramming on napped fabrics, and ways to make oatmeal appealing to children. The show airs at 12:30 p.m. on Tuesdays and at 2:00 p.m. on Saturdays. Kaye McCown and Ann Silva from Ann Silva's Bernina Sewing Center in Albuquerque will show and tell how to do monogramming on towels or any other type of napped fabric. This method differs slightly from other monogramming techniques demonstrated. Jan Newquist, Home Economist with the Associated Milk Producers, Inc. in Albuquerque will discuss appetizers and will talk about considerations such as color, texture, calories, temperature and will suggest we limit the number of appetizers we serve at social functions and explain why. All children have heard of E.T., Garfield the Cat and Strawberry Shortcake. Nina Swan, Director of Consumer Relations with the National Oats Co., from Cedar Rapids, Iowa will use these three characters to enhance the appeal of oatmeal for breakfast. On March 24, the topics will be sourdough bread making, a book review and a sewing tip from Stretch and Sew, Inc. The show airs at 12:30 p.m. on Thursdays.

Arts And Crafts Show Scheduled April 7 and 8

A Cotton Arts and Crafts Show is scheduled to be held in the Lubbock Civic Center on April 7 and 8. The show is a special feature of the Texas Cotton Ginners Convention. "Cotton farmers really appreciate seeing some Cotton Art in places that they trade so a special invitation is extended to those looking for Art or Crafts with a cotton country theme," says JoAnn Mock. The highlight of the show will be an Original Fabric Style Show taking place at 10:30 a.m. on Thursday, April 7. Unusual garments such as hand-woven, batic, crochet, knit and others will be shown. There will be lots of art in every media, including photography, china and sculpture. The Jolly Quilting Clubs of Slaton will be quilting and showing lots of their work. Craft demonstrations will be in progress all the time such as: spinning, weaving, bread-dough, china painting, stained glass, whittling, calligraphy and several others. Artists and craftsmen who would like to take part in this show are encouraged to call (806)996-5415 for further details.

Sourdough bread has been called "yesterday's mainstay -- today's treat" and its popularity has greatly increased the last few years. Ruth Ashley from Melrose will demonstrate how to make our own sourdough starter and share recipes for two different starters. Ruth is a part-time home economist with the Associated Milk Producers, Inc. Another guest will be Len Walker, Director of Promotion at KENW-TV, and she will present a book review on the best seller "Pathfinders" by Gail Sheehy. Ann Person, President and Founder of Stretch and Sew, Inc. will demonstrate finishing yokes with fusible interfacing. The process is very easy and works well on any garment featuring a yoke. "The Creative Woman" is produced and hosted by Sheryl Borden for KENW-TV. Viewers can request copies of printed materials offered on the show by calling on KENW-TV's toll-free telephone lines. The numbers are: New Mexico: 1-800-432-2361; Out-of-State: 1-800-545-2359 and Portales and Roosevelt County: 562-2112. ****

has answered questions for the G/T team. The Muleshoe Publishing Company has also been very cooperative in letting the class look through their files for old newspaper clippings on the golf course, say GT representatives.

The YAC and the MHS Gifted/Talented class are jointly sponsoring a work day for high school students today (Sunday) March 20th from 2:00 to 4:30. They would like to have a crowd of MHS students show up at the course to help clean up the area, the first major step in getting the golf course open. After the job is finished, the student volunteers will get a card entitling the bearer to a free game of miniature golf.

The video tape of "A Miniature Proposal" along with a notebook documenting the procedure that the Gifted/Talented class has followed in helping with the miniature golf project will be mailed Wednesday, March 23rd to Austin for the Texas Present Problem Solving Contest. MHS Girl Golfers Vie For District Slot

The Muleshoe High School girl's golf team competed in the first of three district golf tournaments last week in Littlefield, coming home with several honors.

Following the first round of district play, Denise Wilson of Muleshoe is in first place in the medalist competition with an 18 hole total of 82. Polly Harrison is in sixth place with an 18 hole total of 92.

Overall, the Muleshoe golfers are in third place with a first round total of 406. The two remaining district tournaments will be held in Abernathy on March 23 and in Tulia on April 7.

Other members of the Muleshoe team include Melissa Wilbanks, Debbie Hicks and Kristi Spies.

apply them to a problem in their community. The MHS G/T class, which is sponsored by Mrs. Pat Black, chose the problem of completing the miniature golf course. They hope to win an invitation to the State Problem Solving Bowl in Austin for having the top senior level project in the state. Of course, some good "after" pictures showing the progress being made on the clean-up of the miniature golf course would certainly help their case, so they urge all high school students to come out Sunday afternoon from 2:00 to 4:30 and earn a free game of miniature golf!

They would also like to invite anyone who would like to make a donation of time or money to the miniature golf course to contact a YAC member or R.A. Bradley.

Lions Hear Judge

redoing the roadways. He did report; however, that Highway 214 north towards Friona is scheduled to be rebuilt sometime within the next year. The Judge also stated that the railroad crossings at the "crossroads" are scheduled to be repaired and completed up to grade as soon as weather permits.

In other County news, Judge Green explained the Salary Grievance Committee to the Lions stating that the Committee was comprised of six elected officials and three citizens, with the County Judge presiding. The judge does not have a vote, but merely presides over the meetings. Any employee who has a complaint about his or her salary may request a hearing before this committee. Three new citizens are required to be appointed each year and these are selected by law through Grand Jury records.

Judge Green also informed the Lions that the County had become a member of the South Plains Community Action Committee, operating out of Levelland due to the advantages offered to various groups in the county. One member of the Commissioner's Court serves on the Board of the SPAC and two out of the county's populace.

He also reported on the condition of the Bailey County Jail or Law Enforcement Building, stating that the jail was in "fair shape." "We recently had a jail inspection and no requests were made to make any changes in our operation; however, Bailey County does have a couple of variances in their standards. The last addition to the jail was the building of an exercise area for prisoners.

Near the end of his talk to the Lions, Judge Green hit upon the problem of medical care for the indigent of the county. "Any number of people come to us (the county) for help with their medical bills and we try to help as many as we possibly can," the Judge explained. However, he also explained the need for a definite set of standards regarding this type of assistance, since a number of counties have been involved in law suits because of the lack of proper established guidelines.

Judge Green had nothing but praise for the Juvenile Court, saying that for the first time in quite some time, all juvenile cases are caught up and none outstanding. Keith Madole is the County Juvenile officer. He stated that Representative Pete Laney had been asked by County officials to introduce a bill which would provide for a Juvenile Board for the 287th District, which would be designed to enable Bailey County to continue to have funding for a juvenile probation officer. "As of September 1, 1983, if we do not have this, our aid for a juvenile officer will be cut off," Green stated.

The Lions have several projects underway at this time, and one special one will happen this week-end March 19, when at 2 p.m. Lions will meet at the Senior Citizens Domino Recreation Hall to paint it. Also on March 23, nomination of 1983-84 officers will be made and this will be the only time that nominations may be made from the floor.

On March 26, 27, the Lions will man the phones at Southwestern Public Service in their annual Easter Seal Telethon. Dave Cavitt is in charge of this activity.

On April 6, election of officers will be held.

Firefighters Report

By Wayne Peterson

Twenty one firemen were present during the last training session which was on salvage and overhaul, instructed by Lee Dunbar. This was a very informative meeting with hands on instructions.

Salvage work in the Fire Service consists of those methods and operating procedures which further reduce fire, water and smoke damage during and after fires. A portion of these damages can be attributed to the necessary operations of applying water, ventilating the building and tracing fires through a structure. These unavoidable procedures cannot be entirely eliminated, but improved techniques in fire extinguishment plus prompt and effective use of good salvage procedures result in a more systematic approach to minimize these losses.

Overhaul operations consist of the search for and extinguishment of hidden or remaining fires; placing the building, its contents and the fire area in a safe condition determining the cause of the fire; and recognizing and preserving any evidence of arson.

So you see, fighting a fire sometimes means more than merely extinguishing a blaze. A first impression of salvage is spreading covers over merchandise, and overhaul a clean up after the fire, this concept is irrefutable, because the techniques used in such operations were developed and validated by the international Fire Service training association. Further information if needed can be obtained by contacting the Fire Department Personnel.

Work Programs Recruiting Now

Sponsors of HECE, DECA, and Ag-Coop are currently recruiting students for their work programs. Any student interested in a coop program needs to see the sponsor of that program. Mrs. Tankley for HECE, Mr. Reynolds or Mr. Wheeler for Ag-Coop, and Mrs. Pylant for DECA. Students must be 16 years old and either a junior or senior to be eligible for a work program. Both grades and attendance are taken into consideration, and students must have permission from both the sponsor and his or her parents before he can enroll in a work program. Students do not have to have a job to enroll and there are training stations open for next year, so interested students should contact a coop teacher as soon as possible.

All District Team Players Names Released

John Isaac, the 16 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Isaac was named to the All-District basketball team. He is a sophomore and plays post for the Mules. He is also active in band, Student Council and FTA. John commented that he really enjoys all sports.

Another young man, Mark Moton, made Honorable Mention for the All-District team. Mark is a 16 year old sophomore and enjoys all types of sports including football, basketball, track, baseball, and tennis. His mother is Opal Moton. Mark plays wing or point for the Mules and he commented, "We have a lot of people and experience returning next year and have a good chance to make it to the play-offs."

Congratulations to John and Mark on this great achievement!

ANNETTE CRABTREE

MHS Senior English Students Complimented

Recently the English IV students traveled to ENMU to use the library facilities for their research papers. Last week Mrs. Wrinkle received the following letter from Mrs. Mary Jo Walker, the special collections librarian.

Several people have commented about how well organized, courteous, and business-like your students were during their visit to Golden Library last Wednesday. I personally enjoyed working with them very much. At any rate, I wanted to pass these compliments along to those who deserve them--you and Mrs. Dillman and your students.

Peggy Tozer (Library Director) suggested that next year we work out a plan whereby each student who wants to do so could borrow a book through interlibrary loan. She suggested that Mrs. Dillman might bring request forms with her, and that these could be processed while the students are here. Each student could expect to check out one book, and when finished could return it to Mrs. Dillman. She could then send it back to us through interlibrary loan channels.

It would help save the students some time and money for photocopying. It isn't the sort of service that we are prepared to encourage with other high schools, but your students have proved themselves to be truly "special."

The Mule's Tale staff would like to recognize the English IV students, Mrs. Wrinkle, and Mrs. Dillman for furthering the reputation of MHS as a fine school with top quality students and teachers!

MHS Freshmen HE Students Give Skit

Representatives of the Freshman Homemaking classes charmed the 8th grade students with a skit Monday afternoon. The skit, written by Teena Sisemore, Betty Lobaugh and Michelle Logsdon centered around a Batman and Robin theme which saved poor students from ignorance in the homemaking subject area.

Zaena Robertson and Karen Wooten portrayed the sloppily dressed students who admired the poise and charm of Courtney Brown and Evagina Rodriguez. Batman (Teena) and Robin (Betty) informed them of the importance of learning techniques and all the areas of clothing and textiles we cover in Homemaking classes. Then off they went to enroll them in Home Economics.

Jayna Harris, and Adena Lindt portrayed friends talking on the phone. Jayna was babysitting a youngster (La Dawn Fowler) who was really getting on her nerves. Batman and Robin again saved the day by informing Jayna that Homemaking classes teach you how to care for children of all ages and also become a better person yourself.

Juanita Garcia, portraying the scatterbrained Homemaking teacher, gave instructions to Becky Acosta, Angie Garza, and Yolanda Garcia on making a Chocolate Fudge cake. After many mistakes, the class finally turned on the teacher and Batman and Robin once again had to save the day. Teena and Betty informed them that in Homemaking classes you not only learn correct cooking, measuring, and preparation procedures, you also learn about good nutrition, diets for gaining and losing weight, meal planning, table service, good manners and lots of other things.

Homemaking also covers Housing, Consumer Education, Family Relations and Self Improvement. The entire cast encouraged the 8th grade to "Put Homemaking in your schedule." Offering assistance with music, props and cue cards were Twila Downing, Mina Guillen, Michelle Logsdon, Casey Wilson, and Lupe Martinez.

Hats off to a job well done. Sully's Question "And what did you do before you were married?" asked the radio announcer of the sour-looking husband. "Anything I wanted to," was the reply.

1983 Earmarks 40th Year Of Tick Eradication

This year marks the 40th anniversary of the year in which the dreaded fever tick was considered to be eradicated from Texas and the nation. During that time, however, there have been various outbreaks of the tick, all of which have been wiped out or are now under control leading to eradication.

"The success of the Texas fever tick program is due to the cooperation primarily of livestock producers in the southern and southwestern part of this state as well as state and federal regulatory personnel during those four decades," John B. Armstrong, Kingsville, chairman, Texas Animal Health Commission, said.

"The fever tick poses a constant threat to the Texas' cowman, and in fact, to the entire livestock industry of this nation. As we celebrate 40 years of virtual freedom from this pest, we need to thank those few cattlemen who daily take it upon themselves to act as vigilantes to keep an eye on and take action needed to protect the rest of this state and nation," Armstrong said.

A special fever tick committee of Texas, made up of livestock producers and landowners in the southern and southwestern part of the state, works hand in hand with state and federal agencies relating to fever tick problems.

A part of the chores of South Texas cattle producers is often "scratching" their cattle, that is, inspecting them for ticks. There are two types of ticks that can transmit tick fever to cattle, Boophilus annulatus and Boophilus microplus. State regulations require one of two actions if the Boophilus variety of ticks are found:

The cattle producer can dip his cattle in an approved chemical until they are tick free and then vacate the infested pasture or pastures for as long as nine months;

Or he can choose to dip 100 percent of his cattle every 14 days for six to nine months.

His neighbor may also be required to do the same.

The choices are expensive, and the producer absorbs most of the cost. Depending on the size and scope of the situation, costs can run into the hundreds of thousands of dollars for individual ranchers.

Perhaps the most serious fever tick outbreak in Texas since 1943 was in 1972 at Alice in South Texas. A Texas Animal Health Commission inspector located a tick on an animal which might be a fever tick. It was sent to a U.S. Department of Agriculture laboratory for identification, and it was verified as a carrier of cattle tick fever.

Further investigations revealed a number of infested cattle, including one sent to California. Livestock producers and federal and state officials went to work immediately to control and then eradicate the outbreak.

"It boggles the mind to think of what could have happened then had not there been the close cooperation and coordination in that effort. We need the continued cooperative attitude today. And though we hear more about brucellosis in regard to animal health programs in Texas than any other problem, believe me, our brucellosis problem would seem like a Sunday School picnic in comparison with a major fever tick outbreak," Armstrong said.

A permanent quarantine zone from Del Rio south-eastward to the Gulf of Mexico for about 700 river miles in length and from a few hundred yards to about 10 miles in width, is the basic protection area in Texas against the fever tick. Most "ticky" animals from Mexico are contained in that area.

However, there is a buffer zone ranging in a line including Val Verde County to just south of San Antonio to just south of Victoria which is also closely monitored for possibly infested animals by inspectors and cattlemen alike. Inspections are also made periodically throughout the state at auction markets for "ticky" animals.

Dr. John W. Holcombe, executive director, Texas Animal Health Commission, urges all livestock producers to check their animals regularly for ticks. "There are a number of ticks that are common to the state such as winter ticks, brown dog ticks, or ear ticks that could be mistaken for cattle fever ticks. "If a producer finds a tick he is not sure about, he should submit a sample to his nearest TAHC office," Dr. Holcombe said.

Comptroller Claims

Bond Use "No Good"

State Comptroller Bob Bullock Wednesday called Governor Mark White's proposed use of bonds for highways "the fast lane to nowhere" and said he would suggest several state finance proposals to the Senate Thursday.

"I believe Texans expect their Governor to present a balanced budget, not a package of service cuts and tax hikes masquerading as 'alternatives' the way Mark White did today," Bullock said. "But if the Governor can't present a balanced budget, it's up to the rest of us in state leadership to take up the slack."

Bullock said he has proposals that could bring an extra $1.5 billion into the State Treasury over the next two years "without leaving the state in a New York-style financial mess."

Bullock will present the proposals during a Committee-of-the-Whole meeting of the State Senate Thursday.

Bullock pointed out that Texas is one of only 12 states that enjoy topflight triple-A bond ratings and the lowest available interest rates on the bonds they issue. Of these 12 states, only six use bonds for highways, and of these six, only New Jersey could be considered a major borrower.

"There are 26 more states that issue highway bonds but pay much higher interest rates. I don't want Texas in that category because losing that lowest interest rate is going to cost millions," Bullock said. "Let's look very carefully at all these bond programs the Governor is proposing before we leap into something we'll regret later. "If we float bonds for highways, somewhere down the line we'll be sacrificing maintenance for debt service--a New York-style financial mess."

No problem of life has ever been solved by dodging facts and running away from the truth.

So far, science has developed no process to make students like to study.

The art of saying something to please both sides is what explains the way people vote.

Mullettes Set New Records

In area track meets this past week, the Muleshoe Mullettes placed a third at the Floydada meet with 75 points, just behind Littlefield with 83 points and Tulia with 78. Coach Robert Brandon attributed the drop in placing to the fact that in the two miler, Muleshoe's runner got knocked off of the track, costing the team several points in the process.

Otherwise, however, the Mullettes came through in fine fashion and put out a lot of hard work. In the 400 meter relay, team members Sherry Ellis, Brenda Ellis, Sherri Stovall and Marylyn Lewis placed fifth with a total of 54.1. In the 800 meter dash, Teena Sisemore placed third with a 2:40.0 and Kristi Campbell picked up fourth with 2:40.4.

In the 100 meter low hurdle event, Vana Pruitt placed fourth with a time of 17.04. Marylyn Lewis placed first in the 400 meter dash with 61.5 setting a new meet record.

The 800 meter relay team placed sixth with a time of 1:58.8. Team members were Sherry Ellis, Brenda Ellis, Meischelle Logsdon, and Vana Pruitt. In the 1600 meter run, Teena Sisemore placed second with a time of 6:07.8. In the 1600 meter relay, Muleshoe's team came in second with a time of 4:30.1 with team members Vana Pruitt, Brenda Ellis, Becky Mardis, Marylyn

Lewis. In the triple jump competition, Marylyn Lewis placed first for the Mullettes with a jump of 34' 7 3/4" and a new school record. In the long jump, Marylyn also placed first with a jump of 15'4" and Brenda Ellis placed sixth with 14'4" awarded a special award for being the "top Point Getter" in the girls division of the meet with 36 points to her credit. The Mullettes next meet will be in Bovina on March 19, Saturday.

Natural Gas Control Claims Customer Benefit

A Texas independent producer today told the U.S. Senate Energy and Natural Resources Committee that, "Natural gas consumers are paying dearly for the market distortions caused by the convoluted system of federal natural gas regulations, but prices will drop if controls are removed."

Independent Rex Fuller, Lubbock, testified on behalf of the 5400-member Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Association in his capacity as chairman of the Association's National Energy Policy Committee.

The Senate Committee, Chairman by Senator James McClure, (R-ID), is considering the Administration's plan for decontrol of natural gas, and a variety of other proposals to remove price controls, freeze or roll back prices, or increase current controls.

Fuller said the present system of controls, enacted in 1978 under the Carter Administration, was "formulated on the false premise that America was running out of natural gas." He blamed the complicated natural gas pricing system for disrupting and reducing the natural gas market and said that "the controls are preventing less expensive gas from reaching consumers."

"It is a situation which has made a shambles of the natural gas market. It has reduced the drilling for new natural gas in Texas," Fuller said, "and has set the stage for another artificial shortage of natural gas."

He explained that at least half of all the natural gas projected for use in 1986 must come from new wells to be drilled between now and 1986.

"But they're not being drilled," he said, pointing out that since the first of the year the number of drilling rigs operating in Texas has been dropping by 25 rigs per week, and that the national count is dropping by 80 rigs per week. He quoted the Texas Employment Commission, which said last week, that for every job lost in the Texas oil fields, five jobs are lost in the rest of the Texas economy. "Our state officials are concerned," Fuller told the Senators, "because this places an additional strain on our already-bankrupt unemployment compensation fund."

The TIPRO executive gave three reasons to explain why natural gas prices are rising even while demand is declining. Government controls which ban the industrial use of natural gas, costs that were once paid largely by industrial users, depletion of reserves of old gas, and importation of foreign gas from Canada, Mexico and Algeria.

Fuller said he agreed with Department of Energy Secretary Hodel who has said no consumer of natural gas should be forced to purchase supplies at high prices when lower priced supplies are available. "There is a lot of inexpensive gas not going to market because Federal controls have distorted pipeline choices of what gas to deliver. The solutions we seek are in the best interest of both producers and consumers," Fuller testified, "and we want comfortable consumers to produce for. If controls are properly lifted, prices will come down."

While he commended the intent of the Administration's deregulation proposal, Fuller said that TIPRO gives it only qualified support because parts of the plan tend to be "re-control" measures.

"The Administration's bill is designed to end controls by January 1, 1986," he said, "and perhaps some complicated new regulation may be needed during the phase-out, but any attempt to extend that date would make the proposal unacceptable to TIPRO members."

Texas Crime Rates Rise Over 4 Percent In 1982

The Texas crime rate rose 4.2 percent in 1982, according to DPS director Jim Adams. The rate was 6,297.5 major crimes for every 100,000 residents compared to 6,042.4 in 1981.

"This is not the most dramatic increase we've seen in recent years," Colonel Adams said. "But it does indicate that there can be no let up in law enforcement efforts to address this problem, especially in light of the serious concern by citizens for their safety and security of their property."

Adams said the total number of major index crimes reported in Texas last year was 962,260, an increase of 7.9 percent compared to 1981.

Robbery led the four violent crime categories, registering a volume increase of 17.8 percent in 1982. Aggravated assault cases were up 11.2 percent, while murders increased by one percent. A slight change was recorded in the number of rape cases.

"The murder rate, homicides keyed to population, actually registered a decline of 1.8 percent," Adams pointed out.

In the property crime categories the number of theft cases was up 10.4 percent, while motor vehicle theft and burglary increased by 4.6 percent and 3.7 percent respectively.

Adams said twenty-three percent of the major crimes were cleared by arrests in 1982. Total arrests for all offenses excluding traffic law violations totaled 908,858, an increase of 9.6 percent.

"Included in the total arrests are 112,407 for DWI, up 25.6 percent compared to 1981," Adams said.

The estimated value of property stolen during the commission of all major crimes in 1982 totaled $927 million with approximately $194.7 million recovered.

Nine Texas police officers were killed in the line of duty by felonious action last year. Eight others died in duty-related accidents. A total of 3,728 officers were assaulted last year.

Arson cases reported to the DPS in 1982 totaled 8,201. Twenty percent of the cases were cleared by arrests.

The crime statistics are compiled by the DPS Uniform Crime Reporting Bureau based on reports from 755 local law enforcement agencies. Statewide Totals 1981-1982

Quality Day-Care Need Greater

"The need for child day-care centers in Texas is greater now than ever," says Delores Stegelin, a family life education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Texas has over 900,000 children from infants through age 14 whose mothers work. Yet in 96 Texas counties, state-regulated day-care centers are available for fewer than 100 children.

"The greatest concern of most parents is how to find a quality day-care center for their children," says Stegelin.

A safe environment and appropriate equipment are obvious necessities for any day-care center. The center should display a sign indicating that it has passed state and local licensing standards, which insure a safe building and equipment.

In addition, Stegelin advises parents to check the amount of space available per child. A quality center will contain 40-50 square feet of indoor space, and 100 square feet of outdoor space for each child.

Day-care facilities should include a cot and a private place to nap for each child, as well as child-sized furniture and bathroom equipment. The center should also provide nourishing lunches and frequent nourishing snacks for the children.

"But the most important sign of a quality day-care center is the staff," states Stegelin. Two or three adults should be available to care for each group of eight to ten children.

According to Stegelin, a philosophy of parent involvement is an important indicator of staff quality. The day care director and teachers should want parents to be a part of the daily routine and learning activities.

Most successful day-care directors will welcome parents into their centers, and will be eager to answer questions and discuss their concerns, says Stegelin.

"Visit several day-care centers to observe the daily routine before making a choice," advises Stegelin. Parents should look for a cheerful atmosphere, where children enjoy their daily routine and smiles are typical.

Parents who place importance on quality day-care may have to pay more

Height-Weight Realistic

New height-weight tables recently released by the insurance industry may encourage people to be more realistic about their weight.

"Too many women look to fashion models as examples of the ideal weight, and this simply contributes to unrealistic weight goals and fad dieting," says Dr. Dymple Cooksey, a foods and nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

The new weight tables show a five to seven percent weight increase in most height categories.

"But people should be less concerned about how much they weigh, and more concerned about how much fat they have," states Cooksey.

According to Cooksey, the problem is one of distinguishing "overweight" from "overfat." Overweight can result from many different factors, such as body frame, musculature, or fluid retention, and is not necessarily bad.

Overfat is purely the accumulation of excess fat, which has been linked to heart disease and other risk factors. It is not always easy to tell the difference, particularly when a person is not too much overweight, says Cooksey.

A height-weight table won't tell people how much fat they have either, she adds. That is why a person should consult with a doctor before beginning a weight loss plan.

The new weight tables are based on insurance records and published by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. of New York. They indicate the weight ranges at which people of various heights and builds will be statistically at less risk of premature death.

Cooksey predicts that the tables will be widely circulated in diet books, publications and commercial diet programs as appropriate weight goals for the general public.

"However, most educational programs such as ours will continue to stress good nutrition as a means of weight control rather than achieving the weights found in these tables," says Cooksey. Extension Service nutrition and weight control programs serve over adults and youth each year.

Central America Vital

A modest U.S. military buildup continues in some central American countries, as guerrillas there step up their terrorism. The battle which will decide the fate of the region, however, is in Washington.

The battle is between sincere idealists in Congress and the Reagan Administration. The liberals, some taken in by idealistic leftwing propaganda, others repulsed by the undemocratic methods of friendly governments and others who just believe their way is the best, continue to hamstring the Defense Department and the administration in its military aid policy.

The answer to this dilemma is really simple--do whatever is necessary to prevent communist-backed forces from gaining control of any central American country. As of now, that means military aid--maybe greatly increased aid in one or two countries.

The terrorists there are backed by Cuba and Communists, and are supplied by Russia and Cuba, often through Nicaragua. (They also have captured stocks of U.S. weapons, which they continually boast about.)

The terrorists are, in many cases, better trained than government forces. They have won control in Nicaragua, seriously threaten El Salvador, and Honduras and Guatemala to a lesser degree.

U.S. interests clearly dictate that this region be kept free of communism. Thus despite sincere objections and idealistic arguments about democracy, quite correct in principle, the number-one, urgent priority should be to beat the terrorists, and to supply whatever aid is necessary to get the job done.

There's little merit in the argument against increased military aid because of a comparison with Vietnam. This is a much smaller region, at our back door so to speak, easily supplied and easily controlled, if there is the will and proper support.

Of course, there are civil rights violations there, and in all Latin countries, have long been and probably always will be. One doesn't condone them in trying to bring about reform with friendly regimes rather than hostile ones. The final danger is to the Panama Canal, and Mexico, and one doesn't have to subscribe to the domino theory to realize this danger.

PWC & TWC

A few years ago concerned parents in Palo Alto, California organized the first "Parents Who Care" chapter and began working with young people to give them an alternative, and encouragement, in shunning the drug-alcohol scene.

There is, of course, often tremendous peer pressure on youngsters today, especially in junior high school, to try drugs and alcohol. Many can't resist the pressure and one goal of PWC was to organize parties for students where drugs and alcohol were not used--to bring together students who didn't wish to follow the trend, reinforcing their philosophy and resolution.

The organization has enjoyed success and has been joined by another, "Teens Who Care." TWC is composed of students, some of whom have kicked the habit; they became a formal part of the PWC movement in 1980.

Today when a presentation is made by PWC, students in TWC join and their testimony is highly impressive, and effective.

PRIDE, an organization based in Atlanta (Parent Resource Institute for Drug Education) often utilizes both PWC and TWC in regional conferences, and many believe the decline in the use of marijuana in the last two years is partly the result of these organizations' work.

Many teens have testified that parties without drugs or alcohol are better parties--since they have no after-effects. Students can remember what happened and get to know other students as they really are. Thus, happily, many teens are now joining in the effort to reduce drug and alcohol abuse in the schools and their efforts are often even more effective than that of parents.

Dr. Yervant Terzian, chairman of astronomy at Cornell University and his associates have accidentally discovered a gigantic cloud of hydrogen gas between distant galaxies, indicating there is some kind of "invisible" matter such as black holes holding the cloud together.

WEAPONS SALE
Senate Democrats accused the Reagan administration of embarking on a "new and possibly dangerous" policy by encouraging Third World countries to buy expensive, complex weapons.

JOBLESSNESS
The nation's unemployment rate remained at a seasonally adjusted 10.4 percent last month, the Labor Department reported recently.

FBI Director William H. Webster has sent a nine-page document to all field offices, instructing agents to inform headquarters of all cases of minor children who have been abducted or are missing under circumstances indicating a possible abduction.

TO HONOR RICKOVER
The Navy has decided to name a nuclear-powered attack submarine for Adm. Hyman G. Rickover, known as the father of the nuclear navy. Rickover would become only the third living person to be honored by having warship named for him.

SUPREME COURT RULE
State and local governments generally cannot force their workers to retire before age 70, the Supreme Court ruled by a 5-4 vote recently.

BETTER THAN EXPECTED
The government's main economic forecasting gauge shot upward 3.6 percent in January, the biggest gain in three decades and an apparent new sign that the nation's recovery from recession may be more robust than many have predicted.

REACTOR PASSES TEST
PLAINSBORO, N.J. -- Princeton University's new magnetic fusion reactor has passed its first test, a milestone in the nation's quest for fusion power, the U.S. Department of Energy said recently. The Tokamak Fusion Test Reactor at the university's James Forrestal campus here produced a plasma--not, ionized gas--when all systems functioned in the first test run of the $314 million reactor.

Senator Bill Sarpalius Reports

1983 BUDGET

AUSTIN -- The Texas Legislature has spent the last few weeks of this session concentrating on our state's budget. During this time, Comptroller Bob Bullock has published new estimates of Texas revenues for the upcoming years, Governor Mark White has spoken to a joint session of the Legislature to submit his budget requests and suggestions, and the Texas Senate has met as a committee to specifically deal with our upcoming budget.

On one hand, Texas has the largest cash surplus in the nation ($804 million), and $3.3 billion more than two years ago when we wrote our last budget (this is a 17.8% increase).

On the other hand, the Comptroller has cut his estimate of Texas revenues twice in the last two months. These cuts have been due mainly to falling world oil prices and sluggish sales tax receipts. The most recent time, Mr. Bullock cut projected income for Texas by $867 million. This means Texas has about a $1.6 billion deficit between the requested budget and the projected revenues.

We are fortunate in Texas to have a Constitution that requires the state to have a balanced budget. This keeps us fiscally sound but this year it will most likely force our Legislature to either reduce some services currently provided and/or raise taxes for all Texans.

Governor White feels that Texas can avoid these two evils by raising taxes on discretionary consumption.

This would mean an increase in taxes for tobacco, mixed drinks, packaged liquor, and amusement machines like pinball and video games. It is projected that such an increase could raise $800 million for state coffers.

Our Governor also suggests the selling of bonds to finance much of our needed highway construction. This would require the taking of three fourths of one cent from the current motor fuels tax to service these bonds.

There are many varying opinions around the Capitol as to what the best method is for Texas to overcome this difficulty. Some do not like the idea of borrowing to make up needed revenue, some would like to see a tax increase on sales, and others are completely opposed to taxes and wish to simply cut services. Whatever the method, they all agree that this is not a short term problem. Texas will be facing such economic troubles as long as our nation and world is in the current economic depression.

In the next few months of the session we promise to closely examine all possible ways of dealing with our budget and will take action for the methods that we feel will be the best for our district and the entire state.

We would like to know what you feel about our budget problems. Please write Senator Bill Sarpalius, P. O. Box 12068, State Capitol, Austin, Texas 78711 or call (512) 475-3222.

SUPPORT?
WASHINGTON, D.C. -- Jeanne J. Kirkpatrick, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, said recently the United States must sustain El Salvador's government at the rate the Soviet bloc supports guerrillas in the country, to avoid a "serious situation."

ON SECTS
SAN FRANCISCO -- Dr. Lowell Streiker, a psychologist, who counseled Peoples Temple survivors and families of survivors, said ultra-fundamentalist sects are growing at an alarming rate in the United States and many of them are developing characteristics "chillingly similar" to the People Temple before the Jamestown tragedy.

State WIFE Members Host State Ag Leaders

Texas WIFE (Women Involved in Farm Economics) hosted a reception for the state executives, state legislators, members of the Texas Department of Agriculture, and all their wives Tuesday, March 15, 5:00 p.m., at the Stephen F. Austin Building.

WIFE was organized in December, 1976, as a non-profit agricultural association of women for the purpose of developing and promoting agriculture in the United States. It is open to all women who are involved in or are interested in agriculture. WIFE--the only women's farm organization in Texas--is not an auxiliary of any organization, but is an entity of its own.

Thirty or more members from Texas WIFE chapters convened in Austin Monday, March 14, 7:00 p.m., in the Capital Ramada Inn for a State Steering Meeting. This was the first state meeting for the four newly organized chapters. June Saylor, National WIFE President, of Muleshoe, Texas, is attending. Guy Finstead, Agriculture Aide for Senator Bill Sarpalus, will discuss upcoming agricultural legislation.

Tuesday morning the women visited with their district senators and representatives and will lobby concerning some pending farm legislation. Early Tuesday afternoon, they visited the Texas Department of Agriculture. Including a tour of the facilities and a slide presentation showing the function of the department. In particular, the department explained its efforts and plans to develop and increase exports of Texas agricultural products.

Further information about the Texas WIFE organization can be obtained by contacting President Elva Reeves, So. Sedan Rt. Box 552, Dalhart, Texas 79022. Ph 806-377-6160.

Recycling Provides Financial Benefits

Aluminum can recycling provides financial benefits, as well as ecological benefits, for the Panhandle area. Individuals and organizations that turn in cans at Budco Recycling Centers are paid for their cans and that puts money back into the Panhandle Community. Last year Budco Recycling in Amarillo paid out over $40,000, and Budco Recycling in Dimmitt paid out over $20,000. Thus, the two centers put over $60,000 back into the Panhandle Community.

For more information about recycling call or visit the Budco Recycling Center nearest you, with addresses listed as follows: Amarillo, Texas 205 S. Philadelphia 373-8517 Barry Pinckert, Recycling Manager. Dimmitt, Texas 301 E. Etter 647-3388 Desi Pesina, Recycling Manager.

The Budco Recycling Centers are operated as community services by Budco, Inc., the local Anheuser-Busch Distributor.

At this time we are living in a world full of tension. Fears of nuclear war are with us every day. In times past, men have made one of two choices... to rely on their own abilities... or to do what they can and place their lives in the hands of the Lord. The Bible tells us how men fared with the choices that they made. The strength of God is sufficient for all our needs, and men who humbled themselves and trusted in God always fared better. Let us judge our future by the past and rely on God for our needs.

EVERYONE IN THE CHURCH
THE CHURCH IN EVERYONE

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Consider Remodeling Carefully

If you're thinking of transforming your kitchen into the one of your dreams through remodeling, here are three words of advice: plan, PLAN, P-L-A-N. Since kitchen remodeling often involves plumbing, electrical wiring, cabinet storage, countertops and numerous appliances, the kitchen can be the most expensive room per square foot to remodel.

Consider Budget
With this in mind, the first step is to establish a realistic budget. Take a good look at not only your kitchen, but your family's lifestyle and needs. There are ways to cut costs and stretch your remodeling dollars.

You can get expert advice from kitchen dealers, home centers and building supply retailers with specialized departments in kitchens and baths. If you're a competent handyman, stretch your budget by doing some of the work yourself, such as painting and wallpapering. Electrical wiring and plumbing, however, should be left in the hands of a professional.

One of the best and most economical ways to achieve a dramatic improvement in kitchen work space for both appearance and efficiency is with new cabinets.

Shop with Care
When shopping for kitchen components and materials be a wise consumer, says the National Kitchen Cabinet Association. Choose quality materials, but shop around for the best buy in appliances, countertops, flooring, light fixtures and cabinets.

To be sure the cabinets you choose are durable and can take years of hard use, look for the NKCA certification seal inside cabinet doors and drawers. Only those cabinets that have met the rigid construction and performance standards of the American National Standards Institute (ANSI) are allowed to display the certification seal.

Illusion Expands Space

There are a number of ways to make a room appear larger. Dark colored walls, for example, tend to close in space. Lighter, more natural colors expand it. A wall of mirrors can make a room seem twice as large by reflecting the room's image. Floor to ceiling windows or sliding doors can also make a room appear larger by extending interior space outdoors. Although these decorating techniques can be used throughout the home from living room to bath, there is one type of space that can't be expanded visually. And that's storage space.

Install Vanity
In most rooms of the house, providing additional storage is an easy matter. It simply requires turning unused space into convenient and useful storage. Even in the bathroom, where unused space is minimal, providing adequate storage may involve little more than installing a new vanity.

Vanities provide ideal storage for today's baths. Available in a variety of styles and sizes, they can easily transform the unused space under the sink into neat and attractive storage. Whether you need additional space for linens, towels, medicines, beauty-care products or bathroom appliances, a new vanity should be able to meet your bathroom storage needs.

Since the vanity you select will be subjected to such common bathroom conditions as spills, drastic changes in temperature and humidity, and hard daily use, choose one that is not only attractive but durable as well.

Look for Seal
When shopping, look for the certification seal of the National Kitchen Cabinet Association. Only those vanities that have passed the rigid construction and performance standards of the American National Standards Institute (ANSI) can display the seal. The small, circular blue-and-white seal found on the inside of a vanity door or drawer is your assurance of tested durability and lasting beauty.
