Half Of States Allow Workers To Take Time Off To Vote

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP) — In half the states you legally can take time off from your job to vote. In many of the others employers have been active in campaigns to get out the vote Nov. 4, and a number of corporations are making sure their employees have a chance to get to the polls. In some cities, plans are being discussed to stagger time-off-for-voting periods for workers so as to keep an early and steady flow to the polls and ease the usual after-work voting rush. The 24 states with time-off-provisions are California, which allows the longest, when and even who can have the privilege, and as to whether the worker gets the time-off with pay.

Restrictions vary. One of the most general laws, the National Foreman's Institute points out, is California's, which enables every eligible voter, without penalty, "to absent himself from any service or employment in which he is then engaged for two consecutive hours between the time of opening and the time of closing the polls." Many other states have more restrictive provisions. A survey by the Commerce Clearing House, a law reporting agency in Chicago, shows that all workers are entitled to pay during this time off in 13 states. Two others specify the particular workers who must be paid.

Pay For Texans
States requiring pay for two hours for voting are listed as: Arizona, California, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska, New York and South Dakota. Three hours are granted by West Virginia; four hours by Kentucky and Missouri. Minnesota specifies the forenoon and Texas places no time limit. Colorado and Utah limit the pay requirement to workers not on an hourly scale of wages. In other states, laws vary widely. But many places where there are no laws on the subject, worker of some corporations will get time off this year and in many cases with pay.

EASTBOURNE, England (AP) — One fish story — about the man who flung a boat anchor into the sea and hooked a two-ton whale — has been cut down to size. First, an expert from the British Museum came along and said the monster Vivian Gell and his friends dragged in wasn't a whale at all. It was a 14-foot haiking shark. Then, before Gell could collect 10 pounds ($28) that an animal dealer offered for the catch, hundreds of sightseers hacked the fish to pieces Sunday and carried it away for dog and cat food.

Top Communists Confident India To Align With Stalin

NEW DELHI (AP) — Top Communist Party leaders here confidently predict with the lively, vernacular language of one country Stalin will win without armed revolution. Red leaders arriving for the six-week Parliament session opening Nov. 5 launched off evidence that Communist strength has been increased since Parliament adjourned in August. Some observers, however, question the importance of anti-Communist arguments in the face of the growing intensity of Communist propaganda drives. The Communists bitterly attacked the recent merger of the Praja, the new national party office (Peoples party) into the new Peoples Socialist party. At the same time, the Communist Party leaders, the new group ruled out any other state of affairs to the Communist. The Communist Praja - Socialist bloc in Parliament will now nominate a new group of 22. This will challenge Communist claims to leadership of the opposition. The new group may search facilities to elaborate its platform. A step ahead with facts and figures. General Secretary A. K. Ghosh said that headquarters will now be in Delhi.

History Of West Texas Told In Novel By J. Evetts Haley

By The Associated Press

Heroic history of West Texas, sweeping out from old Fort Concho — present day San Angelo — to cover the drama and adventures of the vast plains from the Panhandle to the Rio Grande, has been written by J. Evetts Haley of Canyon in a beautiful new book, "Fort Concho and the Texas Frontier."

Covering 50 years of the West's most dramatic era, Haley tells the story not only of a frontier fort, but of the dynamic period of Western American expansion. In his sixth book, the Panhandle cowboy and author leaves behind the rugged individuals, Goodnight, Littlefield, Jeff Milton and Schreiner, about whom he has written volumes to paint the larger panorama of the West. Texas of the Concho country in all its color, toughness and action of Indian fighting days. Dr. Eugene C. Barker, distinguished professor of history at University of Texas, in tribute to Haley's new book, says it embodies his unequalled knowledge.

"It could have been written only by a man familiar by personal acquaintance with the location of every water hole and spring, the exploration of every trail from Coronado's to the Overland Mail, the great cattle drives, the establishment of every military post and the shifting Indian policies of the United States."

"Haley has an intimate knowledge of hundreds of salty characters who played their part in the land from nature to civilization. Haley possesses all this equipment — gained from intensive study, personal experience and thoughtful reflection — for writing a vivid story. It is no less than a history of West Texas in the heroic age."

Behind the new book is a story as fascinating as Evetts Haley's own writing. For many years the San Angelo Standard-Examiner has been gathering material for a history of Tom Green County, which originally covered half West Texas. Stripped of some of its spacious grandeur, twelve counties were cut away. A history of Tom Green County was impossible without telling the story of all the country drained by the Conchos Rivers.

Two attempts to get the material into book form were abandoned as inadequate. Finally, in 1945 Haley, the erudite West Texas cowboy who is himself a native son of the Concho country, accepted the task. Harold Bugbee, the cowboy artist of Clarendon, drew the authentic pen and ink sketches that lift the illustrations to a very high level. The maps are by Jose Cisneros, the El Paso designer, and the art of Carl Hertzog, the El Paso printer, is evident on every page.

In the preface, Haley writes the book "owes its existence completely to the devotion and drive of Houston Harte, publisher of the San Angelo Standard-Examiner, who through a period of many years unstintingly spent his time, money and influence to bring it to completion."

Thus the definitive history of Concho country and a unique example of the bookmaker's art was created entirely in West Texas by printer Carl Hertzog, artist Harold Bugbee, designer Jose Cisneros and author Evetts Haley.

The author carries the story through the last Comanche forays in the summer of 1879. Ten years later, when its military value was past, Fort Concho's flag was pulled down for the last time, and with loaded wagons and its band playing "The Girl I Left Behind Me," the troops pulled out. Fort Concho was abandoned and across the Little River, Saint Angela, now San Angelo, moved into a new era.

Stranahan Still Wins

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Some fireworks were looked for today after favorites advanced without mishap yesterday in the first round of match play in the 27th annual Mexican Amateur Golf Tournament.

Champion Frank Stranahan of Toledo, O., defeated his Mexican opponent, M. Burciaga, 4 and 2. Medalist Marion Hiskey, of the crack North Texas State College team, got by Bo Boos, Mexico, 2-up.

The low score of the day was turned in by Mexican veteran Percy Clifford, a former titleholder. Clifford easily eliminated Robert A. Walker, of South Bend, Ind., 6 and 5, and then went on to finish the 18 with a 66.

The other North Texas State entries came through in good shape over Mexican opponents. Monte Sanders defeated Pedro Suinaga, 5 and 3; Billy Maxwell took Alberto Villegas, 5 and 4, and Buster Reed eliminated Jack Sommers, 3 and 2. Jones Conrad drew a bye.

Chris Gers, Oklahoma City, had tough going against Bob Allen, former New England newspaperman who had settled in Mexico City and was playing his first tournament. Gers was four-up at the turn, but Allen tied the count on the 18th, Gers winning the extra hole.

Today's round pits Sanders against Stranahan; Hiskey against Jack Sellman, Houston, Tex.; Reed against Clifford; Maxwell against veteran Bobby Riegel, Jimmy McGonagill, Shreveport, La., Houston; and Conrad against

Redcoats Do Cut Their Hair . . . Mountie Chief Wants Filmland To Correct Wrong Impressions

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Hollywood, which has made many movies about Royal Canadian Mounted Police, now has a chance to see the Mounties up close.

An expert riding team from the famous law enforcement body is currently playing the Los Angeles Horse Show. Between performances, the Mounties have had a chance to tour the studio and see how movies are made.

I had a chat with the leader of the group, Inspector A. S. McNeil, from the headquarters at Regina, Sask. A tall, friendly man, he told me there is a considerable difference between the Mounties of the movies and those in real life.

"There have been some fine pictures about the service," he began. "But most of them have certain things that any Mountie would know were false. There is one thing that always rankles me. The Mountie in the movies is generally shown with long sideburns and hair that looks like a beaver hat. The fact is that we require regular haircuts, even in the North Country. Most Mounties have a crew cut."

The inspector brought out a disconcerting fact: few Mounties ride horses any more. "You'll find them on horseback in the national parks," he explained. "Also some patrol near the Parliament

Building and other points of interest so the tourist won't be disappointed.

"But otherwise we use the most modern of equipment. We have cars, boats and airplanes with two and three-way radio. We also have the most advanced crime laboratories, since we are the equivalent of the FBI in the United States. Even in the North Country Mounties don't use horses. They have dogsleds."

The typical Hollywood movie about the Mounties shows the intrepid hero tracking the criminal hundreds of miles into the wilds. McNeil commented that there have been such instances in the 75-year history of the force.

"But nowadays we never send one man on a mission," he added. "The men generally go out in pairs. Sometimes three men are sent. But it has been found that does not work as well. Two of the men usually team up against the other on long trips."

Texas Republicans Already Thinking Of '54 Political Trail

DALLAS (AP) — Texas Republicans are already thinking about cashing in on any gains they may make this year by offering slates of local and state candidates in 1954.

Just how strong a bid they will make depends largely on how well they fare in selling Dwight D. Eisenhower to Texans Nov. 4.

Alvin H. Lane, Dallas, chairman of the State Republican Executive Committee, told the Associated Press he was too busy trying to win an election in 1952 to give 1954 much thought, but is "quite likely" campaigns will be made for many offices.

That could include congressional candidates, but Lane wouldn't speculate on the U. S. Senate race.

Johnson Faces Race

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) will be up for re-election in 1954. There has been considerable talk that a strong conservative opponent will be sought to run against him.

Two names often mentioned in that connection are Gov. Allan Shivers and Martin Dies, unopposed candidates for governor and congressman — at large respectively this year. They both appear on the general election ballot as nominees of both the Republican and Democratic parties.

Shivers will end his second full elective term as governor in 1952. It is not considered likely there will be a Congressman-at-large spot open then. The next Legislature is expected to carve out a new district to provide for Texas' 23rd Congressman by then.

Leaders At Odds

Shivers and Johnson are already at odds in the presidential campaign. Shivers is working for Eisenhower and Johnson is one of the top leaders in the National Democratic Party's Adlai Stevenson campaign organization in Texas.

"It is probable that in 1954 the Republican Party will offer full slates for all offices wherever our strength is enough to justify it," Lane said.

The Republican state chairman was certain that enough votes would be cast for Shivers — a Republican — to guarantee the Republican state primary in 1952. The law now provides that a party whose candidate for gubernatorial polls as many as 200,000 votes in a general election must hold a primary in the next election year. The law could be changed by the next Legislature.

The Republican slate of cross-filed Democrats that will appear on the general election ballot were nominated in convention.

Other GOP Primaries

Only twice before have the Republicans held state primaries. That was when the law made it mandatory after a gubernatorial vote of 100,000.

The 294,700 votes cast for George C. Butte against Democrat Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson forced a Republican primary in 1926. Orville Bullington's 317,807 votes against Mrs. Ferguson in 1932 set up a Republican primary in 1934.

Republican candidates for governor nominated in those primaries made weak showings in the general election against their Democratic opponents, Dan Moody in 1926 and James V. Allred in 1934.

Lane said he thought the Texas

Self-Service Needed For Smaller Stores

NEW YORK (AP) — The Eastern division of the National Retail Owned Grocers Co-operative says self-service selling is a "must" for small to medium-sized food stores if they are to meet the election law should be amended to provide for Democratic and Republican primaries held on the same day, and at state or general party expense.

State Should Pay

"I do not think it is right for these elections. In the case of Democratic primaries, the U. S. Supreme Court has held they are elections and open to all voters."

Lane said he thought holding primaries would strengthen the Republican Party and help in development of a firm two-party system in Texas.

Votes cast for Shivers and other cross-filed candidates in the Republican column in the general election will be counted as Republican votes, Secretary of State Jack Ross said at Austin. By the same token, votes for Shivers in the Democratic column will be counted for him as a Democrat.

It is possible that Shivers might get more votes as a Republican than he will get as a Democrat.

John C. White, commissioner of agriculture, is the only Democratic candidate who refused nomination by the Republicans under Texas' new cross-filing law.

Sports Roundup

By GAYLE TALBOT
NEW YORK (AP) — Having given the matter long and serious thought, the only conclusion we have been able to arrive at concerning tonight's heavyweight fight at Madison Square Garden is that Alphonse Weill, the manager of Rocky Marciano, still does a little matchmaking on the side for the International Boxing Club.

There were no changes in the ball-carrying and passing leaders. Dick Ochoa of Texas is first in rushing with 509 yards on 130 carries while teammate Gib Dawson is second with 388 yards on 73.

Jones tops the passers with 51 completions in 99 attempts for 843 yards and six touchdowns. Graves is second with 78 of 134 for 893 yards and four touchdowns.

Bob St. Pierre of Arkansas leads the punters with an average of 39.4 yards on 18 kicks. Roy Dollard of Texas A&M is second with 38.9 on 32.

Joe Boring of Texas A&M has the distinction of leading the conference both in punt returns and in interception of passes — and his record in the latter department is phenomenal. He caught four against Arkansas last week to bring his total for the season to eight in seven games. No other player has intercepted more than three.

Boring has averaged 13.2 yards on nine punt returns. Jerry Coody of Baylor is second with 12.6 on 10. But the player who has gained the most yards with kick returns is Horton Nearsta of Rice, who has carried 28 for 252 yards.

Tom Stoinandske of Texas is in the class by himself in passing. He has averaged 24 for 428 yards and four touchdowns. Lewis Carpenter, Arkansas fullback, is second with 19 for 335 yards.

In 1943 the Cincinnati Reds tried Robert (Buck) Faussett at third base and on the pitching mound. It was his only year in the majors.

Talmadge Lafayette Abernathy lost his only three decisions as a pitcher with the Philadelphia Athletics in 1943.

ACC has now achieved victories over McMurry and A&I, and only has Austin College and Howard Payne remaining. Coach Grayvin Beauchamps Wildcats, who exploded three times in each of the third and fourth periods against A&I, are heavy favorites to regain the conference title they shared three ways in 1951 and won undisputed in 1950.

McMurry hung up his first victory of the season by converting Austin College's fumbles into touchdowns to stack up a 27-6 win at Abilene. The loss shoved Austin into the conference cellar. McMurry roared Austin to four touchdowns in 12 minutes in the third period to salt the game away.

Two conference games are scheduled this week, plus one non-conference game. Face-setters Abilene Christian travels to Sherman to meet the Austin College Kangaroos, with the Wildcats heavy favorites to knock over Ray Morrison's fumbling Hoppers. The other conference game matches Howard Payne at Kingsville. In the lone non-conference game, McMurry treks to Las Cruces, N. M., to meet New Mexico A&M in a day game.

Westerners last week downed Pampa, 20-7, to become the only undefeated team in all the stretches of the state's top bracket.

Wichita Falls, Baytown and Ray of Corpus Christi are expected to furnish the other finalists, and it could be Baytown, which played Lubbock for the title last season. Baytown, loser only to mighty Temple of Class AAA, last week crushed Orange, 57-13, for its second straight district victory.

Last Of Unbeaten
Wichita Falls and Lubbock are the last undefeated, untied teams in Class AAAA. Wichita Falls beat Waco, 14-0, last week in its conference start. Ray is undefeated but has been tied. It didn't play last week.

In Class AAA, the signs point to a return to the finals of Breckenridge and Temple. Breckenridge, which won the title last season, battered Grand Prairie, 34-6, last week and is one of two undefeated teams in the District 2 conference race. Brownwood is the other and is considered the only major threat to Breckenridge in its rush back to the finals.

Temple has breezed along untroubled except in its game with Baytown. Brownwood, Temple, Edison, San Antonio and McAllen are undefeated and untied in Class AAA. Edison plays Harlandale of San Antonio, unbeaten but tied, this week in the showdown game of District 7. McAllen takes on Kingsville, the only team considered with a chance of upsetting McAllen in the District 8 campaign.

Class AA's finalists last year were Arlington and LaVega. Arlington has been crushed by Terrell and beaten by Weatherford this season and while it probably will win its district title, isn't likely to go far in the state race. LaVega is in about the same boat as Arlington.

In Class A, the defending state champion is Giddings. Bu. Giddings already has lost two district conference games and hardly will be back in the state race. The other finalist was New Castle, which isn't expected to cast outside its district this season. Crowell, unbeaten in that district, last week downed Archer City, 13-0, and Archer City played Newcastle to a 12-12 tie.

Austin El Paso plays Bowie El Paso in an important district game. Class AAAA this week it matches the only two teams unbeaten in conference play. In District 7 Austin Houston, unbeaten and untied in conference competition, clashes with Lamar Houston, undefeated but once tied.

The week's schedule by districts in Class AAAA:
1 — No games.
2 — Friday: Austin El Paso vs Bowie El Paso conference, El Paso at Lamesa.

Spring Training Limit To Be Discussed By TIL Heads

AUSTIN (AP) — The advisory council of the Texas Intercollegiate League is due to act on a number of recommendations today, among them the request of the Texas High School Coaches Association for a limit to spring football training to 18 days or total elimination with the regular season to start a week earlier.

The coaches want spring training 18 days all told, not 18 calendar days, which would probably make it longer than now held since under the present rule any days in the 30 calendar days eliminated by bad weather are made up. Also Sundays are eliminated.

The coaches also want two sprint and two mile relay teams from each region instead of one as now specified. Elimination of the divisional championship playoffs in the state basketball tournament and granting the coaches representation on the advisory council.

The council also is considering elimination of the present 10-semester, 19-year age rule and substitution of an 18-year-old limit and a limit of the basketball limit, however, originated by the coaches association.

This is not a popularity contest. It's one of the most serious elections in the history of our country! Listen before you vote!

Arizona 11s To Meet In BC Feature Tilt

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Feature game in the Border Conference battle for football championship this week will be between the two power houses of the eight-school loop, the University of Arizona and Arizona Western downed Midwestern University.

The teams are presently tied for leadership with two wins each and no losses or ties in conference play. The ASC Sun Devils were idle last Saturday, but the Wildcats from Arizona led by Sophomore Quarterback Fred Schuch downed the University of New Mexico at Albuquerque, 13-7.

Both Wildcat touchdowns were the result of the passing combination of Schuch and End Dick Christiansen.

In other contests, New Mexico A&M swamped Arizona State College at Flagstaff, 33-9; Texas Western downed Midwestern University, 13-7; Hardin - Simmons tied Santa Clara of Lodi, Calif., 14-14; and Texas Tech fell before the University of Houston, 20-7 at Lubbock, for the fifth successive defeat.

Hardin-Simmons meets the Texas Western Miners at El Paso Nov. 8 in the only other game which counts in conference standings. West Texas State was idle.

In other games Saturday the New Mexico Aggies will be host to McMurray; ASC Flagstaff plays against New Mexico Western at Silver City, N.M.; the Tech Red Raiders meet North Texas State at Denton, Tex.; and West Texas plays Midwestern U. at Canyon, Tex.

Non-Loop Tilts In Gulf Coast

By The Associated Press
Gulf Coast Conference teams take on toughies from outside the league this week. They turn to interconference action after a week that saw the first game counting in the standings played.

North Texas State slammed Trinity, 34-7, in the opening conference tilt in the three-team league.

Saturday North - Texas State meets Texas Tech of the Border Conference at Denton. Trinity plays Sul Ross of the Lone Star Conference at San Antonio.

Midwestern, third member of the circuit, which took a 13-7 trimming from Texas Western, tries another Border Conference team Saturday. The Indians play West Texas State at Canyon.

Ralph Reynolds of North Texas State leads the conference in scoring with six touchdowns for 36 points.

Lamar Tech's Sammy Carpenter scored twice while dashing off 197 yards in 20 carries to run his season total to 60 and a second place tie with East Texas' Lloyd Corder.

Campanella All-Stars Trip Negro Team, 8-3

HOUSTON (AP) — A big second inning yesterday let Roy Campanella's All-Stars defeat a Negro-American all-star team, 8-3, in an exhibition game before 6,253 fans.

The winners scored six runs in the second, four of them on a grand slam homer by Johnny Cavington of Eclair, Wis.

Joe Black was the winning pitcher.

SWC Race Develops Into 3-Team Race

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF Associated Press Sports Editor
The Southwest Conference football race has progressed to that point where the Cotton Bowl game is looking for prospects.

The picture is clearer than usual for this time of the year. There is a definite championship favorite and only two other teams that have fair possibilities of winning the title.

Texas beat Southern Methodist 31-14, last week to become the undisputed leader with a 3-0 record. Texas Christian was tied by Baylor, 20-20, and dropped a full game back of Texas since it already had one tie on its record.

Southern Methodist is the only team with only one loss. Fighting Chances
Texas A and M and Baylor have outside chances — each has won one, lost one and tied one. Arkansas, loser of three games, and Rice, loser of two, are considered out of the race.

This week the teams left with a chance at the title will submit preferential lists — the teams they would be willing to play in the Cotton Bowl. President Otto Eisenlohr of the Cotton Bowl said each probably would list four teams.

Then the Cotton Bowl can start looking for the visiting school in the Dallas Jan. 1 football classic. The Southwest Conference champion automatically becomes the host team.

Eisenlohr said the Cotton Bowl definitely had not yet contacted any school but he indicated it would this week when the preferential lists are in.

Speculation Starts
Speculation lists Georgia Tech, Penn State, Villanova, Mississippi, Alabama and Tennessee as most likely Cotton Bowl prospects. Georgia Tech, however, appears pretty well committed to the Sugar Bowl. Penn State, which played in the Cotton Bowl in 1948, Saturday beat Penn, 14-7. It has a record of five victories, one loss — to Michigan State — and a tie — with Purdue. Villanova is undefeated but was tied last week by Parris Island. It has beaten Kentucky, Clemson, Detroit, Wake Forest, Boston College and Xavier. Mississippi is undefeated but twice tied. It still has to play mighty Maryland and this week meets University of Houston at Houston. Alabama, also once a Cotton Bowl participant, has won six games and lost one — to Tennessee. It has yet to play both Georgia Tech and Maryland. Tennessee, which appeared in the Cotton Bowl in 1951, has lost only to Duke this season. Its schedule does not indicate it will lose another game.

SOME UNAVAILABLE
The Big Seven, Southern, Big Ten and Pacific Coast Conferences are not available to the Cotton Bowl. The Big Seven and Southern have bowl bans, ruling out Oklahoma, Maryland and Duke. The Big Ten and Pacific Coast Conference send their champions only to the Rose Bowl.

Meanwhile, the Southwest Conference centers attention on Waco where the next big battle in the title race will be staged. Texas plays Baylor Saturday. Baylor could not only climb into the thick of the fight for the championship by beating Texas but could put Texas Christian into a virtual tie with Texas for a lead. TCU does not play a conference game this week. The Horned Frogs meet Wake Forest at Fort Worth in an interconference test — the next to last inter-sectional game of the season. Arkansas still has to play Tulsa. The conference record is seven victories against 13 losses in inter-sectional play.

Southern Methodist plays Texas A and M at Dallas Saturday and the loser will definitely fall out of the conference race. Rice and Arkansas get together at Fayetteville in a battle for the booby prize.

Texans Drop Sixth Straight Pro Tilt

NEW YORK (AP) — Before things to make a complete runaway with the National Conference.

The Detroit Lions pulled a mild upset by defeating the Cleveland Browns, 17-6, as Bobby Layne tossed two touchdowns passes to end Leon Hart.

This game set the American Conference into a two-way tie for first place between Cleveland and the New York Giants.

The Giants moved into the tie by walling the Chicago Cardinals, 28-6.

The Los Angeles Rams broke loose for the first time this season to trounce the Texans, 42-20; Pittsburgh stopped a late Washington rally for a 24-23 victory and Green Bay nipped Philadelphia, 12-10.

Dallas Bids For Coaching School

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — The Texas High School Coaches Association will receive Dallas' bid for the 1953 Texas Coaching School today.

L. W. McCormachie, secretary of the association, comes here to confer with Dallas' Chamber of Commerce officials and hotel men regarding this city's bid for the clinic.

Dallas has been the leading city in the annual poll of the association membership for the past three years but the school has gone to other cities because Dallas made only a token bid.

The 1953 poll will be conducted in December.

In 1943 the Cincinnati Reds tried Robert (Buck) Faussett at third base and on the pitching mound. It was his only year in the majors.

Talmadge Lafayette Abernathy lost his only three decisions as a pitcher with the Philadelphia Athletics in 1943.

ACC has now achieved victories over McMurry and A&I, and only has Austin College and Howard Payne remaining. Coach Grayvin Beauchamps Wildcats, who exploded three times in each of the third and fourth periods against A&I, are heavy favorites to regain the conference title they shared three ways in 1951 and won undisputed in 1950.

The battle for conference scoring honors continues between Reggie West of Texas A&I, a fullback, and Jimmy Hirt, speedy scabbard for Abilene College. Each scored two touchdowns in their battle against each other for supremacy at Abilene Saturday.

America Setting Styles First Time In Fashion

For the first time in fashion's history, the American public is doing the dictating on styles. NOT accepting trends from Paris, Italy and Spain!

A relaxed casualness... a freedom of movement... an adaptability to the American way of life... these are the attributes of good fashion as demanded by Miss and Mrs. America.

This season with pleats definitely in favor, the nation's leading stylists have gone all-out to meet the ever-increasing popularity of pleated sportswear, spectator, after-five and even lingerie design.

Pioneering in the field of permanent, washable pleats is California designer Stephanie Korret, who staunchly believes that pleats are here to stay, both from the point of view of fashion and practically.

"I'm firmly convinced," states the imaginative West Coast designer, "that everyone can wear pleats... every type of figure... for every type of occasion. The secret of the fluid, flattering line in the shaping of the fabric. Fullness starting at the mid-hip tends to minimize the hips and give the illusion of slimmness."

By day, pleated skirts are the ideal complements to tailored blouses. By evening they provide talk with bodices of matching or contrasting fabrics. An effective addition is a waist-whetting cinchbelt of jewel-studded elastic and velveteen or mat jersey.

A young wife whose husband will soon return from Korea and who apparently wants him to come home to a "perfect wife," says in her letter to me: "If my marriage is to be of the happiest kind, selfishness cannot enter into it."

My reply may sound like disillusioning advice to a 22-year-old who yearns to be a perfect wife, but — "Don't try too hard to be a perfect wife. Don't worry too much over your supposed faults. No man marries an angel... or a woman because he loves her faults and all."

And don't fall for the mistaken notion that to be a good wife you have to be completely unselfish. A woman who never thinks of herself, of what she wants out of life, but forever wanders always puts her husband and children first is more likely to become an unappreciated doormat than a perfect wife.

MATURE PARENT

By MURIEL LAWRENCE
Cathy thinks that Sir Laurence Olivier is the world's dreamiest actor. She has seen his production of Hamlet twice with her mother; twice with friends. Her bedroom walls are covered with his photographs.

One afternoon, she comes home from school in a high state of frustration. Indignantly she informs her mother that her co-editors on the student magazine have rejected her idea of a "Gripe" column that she has been working on for six weeks.

"It would have given all the kids a chance to get what they don't like about school off their chests," Cathy says bitterly. "I'm going to resign from the staff. I'm sick of trying to beat some sense into the heads of those jerks."

As her mother pours soap flakes into her dishpan, she remarks, "The time is out of joint; oh, cursed spite that ever I was born to set it right."

There's a little puse. Then her child exclaims, "Why, mother! That's what Sir Laurence Olivier said in Hamlet!"

"It is indeed," agrees her parent placidly. "I have often thought that if that poor young prince had not felt that he had to make everyone do right at the end of the first act, he and his friends might have been alive, instead of dead at the end of the last one."

Then she adds, "It's pretty silly darling, to get so upset because your friends on the Bulletin staff don't see what you see for the 'Gripe' column."

Cathy's mother could have preached for a month on the dangers of too much conscientiousness to her young daughter, and failed to make the point half so well as she did by using Cathy's devotion to her favorite movie star.

CAN TEACH A LESSON
I hear a good many parents complaining these days about amount of time young people spend looking and listening to movies and television programs. But it can be profitable if we get on to an important trick in play construction that can turn mere entertainment into education for children.

Listen to a television or radio drama tonight. You'll see that the conflict that holds your interest is due to some error in judgment made by the hero or heroine. Two friends have turned their youngster's interest in a Sunday night television drama program to fine advantage.

They make a point to watch and listen with them. When the program is over, their father starts the discussion by asking, "Well, what poor decision by whom produced what trouble tonight?"

I have been present at one of those post-mortems and have been amazed at the youngster's eagerness and insight. "The wife shouldn't have lied to her husband about being married before, the 12-year-old son offered. His

The Community Concert Association Presents Ana Maria's Spanish Ballet

By JEANNE M. WILLINGHAM
The house lights dimmed as the velvet curtain went up Saturday evening for the first of the community concerts for this season. The stage was empty of everything but expectation. A figure moves from the wings. The silence is suddenly alive with rhythm.

Ana Maria, a lovely little Spanish lady, her company of 12 Spanish dancers including Rodolfo De Villar and Antonio Ruiz, the leading male dancers, gave a fiery recital of Spanish and Flamenco dancing. They were accompanied by two pianists Alfredo Munar and Daniel Block and Guitarrist Rolando Valdes Blain.

The first half of the program was a recital of solo and group dances. Ana Maria was lovely as La Dolores. She also danced Orgia by Turina, Mallorca by Albeniz. She kept the audience on the edge of their seats as she did the terrifically hard Farrucas and Zapateado do Cadiz accompanied only by Rolando Blain and his guitar. In the rhythm of Ana Maria's movements lies her concept of the character she portrays; how she enters the stage, how she walks, how her rhythm is related to her co-dancers, her pantomime. She is flirtatious, and gay she laughs and cries with the smallest gesture proving that she is a great actress as well as being a great dancer.

The second half of the program was Ana Maria's adaptation of Carmen. Choreographically the work is constructed from a number of the Spanish regional dances in which Ana Maria is a recognized authority. In her ballet a new character has been added. The figure of Fate, the destiny of Carmen. This addition gives a modern touch to the familiar Carmen. The audience being familiar with the music and the story of the little gypsy particularly liked this part of the program.

The music and costumes were exceptionally good and all the Spanish Dance students recognized the Picardos and Zapateados (heel work) and appreciated the long years of systematic training and practice that it took to achieve this skill of being able to dance one rhythm with the feet and play another with the castanets. Ballet students see once more that it is necessary to have a solid foundation of ballet to enter any field of the dance. Ballet students recognized Tours, Assemblies, Brizes, Pirouettes, Pionettes etc. from the classical ballet which are the foundation for the Spanish ballet and any other form of the dance.

Born in Madrid, Ana Maria began studies at the age of eight and within a year had her first professional engagement as a child star at the Liceo Theatre of Barcelona. At ten her appearance in a Spanish motion picture launched her to stardom. Despite the numerous screen successes which followed, she gave up the sound stage to engage in a study of Spanish folk dances in their native habitats.

A year ago Ana Maria took her troupe back to their native Spain for a triumphant tour of the principal cities. Everywhere the dancers were hailed for their brilliant technique and the purity of their style. The company is currently on its third coast-to-coast tour of the U. S.

Interested voting was the theme of the B and PW Club legislative meeting, Tuesday, in the city club room.

Guest speaker, Mrs. H. H. Hahl, stressed the need for better knowledge of the government — both local and national.

The club has adopted Girlstown as the major project for this year. A $40 minimum has been set to be contributed each month. A group of 'B' and 'PW' women recently visited Girlstown and have reported that all types of bedding and quilts are needed. Attending the legislative meeting were Mmes. W. F. Garden, C. M. Breeze, E. E. McNutt, Frank Lard, Virginia McDonald, Ruth Thompson, D. C. Ash, G. E. Timlin, Clara Lee Shewmaker, E. E. Jay, Charlie Neal Young, W. A. York, E. E. How Does General Eisenhower Really Feel About Your Boy In Service?

THE GENERAL URGES LOW DRAFTEE PAY: from the Amarillo Globe-Times Oct. 25, 1952

"A GI back home from the Pacific asks us to print something. It is a clipping he's been carrying in his bill-fold since January, 1951. It was from the Honolulu Advertiser. It reads: EISENHOWER SUGGESTS LITTLE PAY FOR DRAFTEES

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4 —(UP)— Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower said today that men called to military service involuntarily — under the draft for example — should get little if any pay because they are fulfilling an obligation to the state.

He told a news conference that men who undertake a military career should be paid "along professional lines." But the government's only concern for those who are simply discharging their citizenship responsibilities should be to take care of dependents and disabilities, he said.

We're For Ike

It is with some hesitancy and trepidation that this newspaper hereby expresses its preference for Dwight D. Eisenhower.

It cannot, in strict honesty, be called an endorsement. It simply represents a weary conclusion that of the two candidates offered the American voter, Eisenhower is the less destructive of individual liberty, initiative and dignity.

We have tried to read into the campaigns of the two major parties some consistent pattern of philosophy. We have read the speeches, the platforms, the asides, the mutterings, the warnings, the appeals, the accusations, the refutations, the promises, the shouts and the murmurs.

We very nearly have accepted the verdict of Shakespeare: "A tale told by an idiot; full of sound and fury, signifying nothing."

We do not believe any American, having cast his ballot for either candidate on November 4, can sleep soundly in the knowledge that he has accomplished an act of great importance and meaning.

We do, however, believe that the man who votes for Dwight Eisenhower has registered his vague and uneasy doubts about the wisdom of events during the past 20 years.

He is registering, to some degree, his impatience with an administration of unparalleled corruptness.

He is making his disapproval of a government grown so great and ungovernable it is virtually beyond controlling, patrolling, policing and containment.

He is indicating his belief that somehow, somewhere, for some reason he is unhappy, displeased, apprehensive, uncertain, dissatisfied.

That is not a ringing declaration. It is no "mandate." It is a rumbling in the earth. It should not be over-estimated nor discounted. It should be accepted for what it is: The symptom of a disease, the onset of the hang-over.

No newspaper has been more critical of the Socialist-Democratic party than this newspaper. But we are not deceiving ourselves that the majority of American voters are completely disenchanted — yet. The promise is too vast, the hope too fierce, the illusion too perfect. It is a slow and unrelenting process to convince a middle-aged child that there is no Santa Claus.

Very few Americans have taken the time and trouble to realize how far we have come down the road to socialism, the police state, the totalitarian administration. It was done by easy stages; and the loss of liberty is apparent to most people only when it is completely gone. The cancerous myth of "security" hangs on the air like a miasma. There is no voice strong enough to blow it away. There are puffs, little breezes, encouraging gusts. But the cleansing winds, like the soaking rains, are not here.

We are, at this moment, as near subjugation as ever in our history. We are as close to slavery as any nation ever has been without plunging into the abyss. We are worshipping gods as false as those of the Israelites. We have our own golden calves. And we do not see in this election the evidence of a messiah to lead us out of our house of bondage.

Liberty is hard-won and even harder to regain; once lost. It is not a matter of scraps and rags thrown together into a crazy-quilt pattern. It is a basic understanding of men's relationship to each other and to God. It is a hard road and narrow one. There are many cul-de-sacs, side roads and alleys. We are even now exploring them.

While we do not see in Dwight Eisenhower a man of deep convictions and consistency, we have Adlai Stevenson's own word for it that he (Stevenson) is utterly without principles by which he judges all things. Certainly there could be nothing more tragic than to have another such man in the White House.

We believe that Adlai Stevenson is no more than a name fit into a scheme. As we have said before, we believe Mr. Stevenson would be nothing more than a trustee for the New Deal, holding it in escrow until the next figure is selected to replace him.

Much has been made of Eisenhower's lack of understanding of parities, subsidies and pressure-group legislative processes. Perhaps it is not altogether foolish to prefer an innocent to a man well-versed in such affairs. It is not a serious indictment that a candidate is unfamiliar with every method of buying political power.

Twenty years of New Deal — not Democratic — spend & elect has increased the size, cost and scope of government until it is almost beyond the ability of the people to control. It has lowered the prestige of government to the point where, by the admission of the New Dealers themselves, they cannot get a first-class man to accept an appointment in the government.

The corruption is undeniable. The "colossal action" in Korea is not the fault of one man but the inevitable result of an unsound, blundering and unrealistic foreign and domestic policy.

We can see nothing but more & more of the same if Stevenson is elected for, indeed, his whole platform consists of a promise to keep matters as they are. We believe Eisenhower will have available to him sound men. Whether he avails himself of these men is a moot question. But such backers as Shivers, Daniel and Taff are infinitely superior to Rayburns, Connallys, Barkleys and Achesons.

We believe our headlong flight into socialism will be impeded by the election of Dwight Eisenhower.

And we can hope that this flight, once impeded, can be contained and eventually reversed.

Perhaps the return to decent government and morality must be taken step-by-step.

Dwight Eisenhower is our best to attempt the process now.

How To Recognize A Subversive Person

I attended a meeting of a Freedom Club recently where a State Senator was discussing subversive activities. A person in the audience asked the speaker what standard he used to determine whether or not a man was subversive. The speaker did not give an answer, he simply said that they left it to the investigators — but he never said what standard or principle the investigators used to determine who is subversive.

I think the question was a very important one. We cannot tell whether a man is subversive until we know what it is to be subversive. Subversive, of course, means to overthrow, a tendency to overthrow, upset or destroy. Now in America a subversive person would be a different kind of a person than in a dictator country where the dictator is a servant of the state instead of the state being an agent of the citizen. Thus, in America any man who advocates anything that tends to take away from an individual his God-given, inalienable rights is to a degree subversive. The fact of the matter is that most people advocate things that are subversive and do not even know that they are advocating subversive activities.

Willing To Answer Questions Test
It seems to me that the best test to determine whether or not a man is subversive is whether or not he is willing to answer questions about what he is doing or advocating. If a man really believes in what he is doing, he should be willing to explain it and to defend it in season and out of season. If he is only making a soft, easy living by what he is advocating or doing and thinks he would like to back out of it and to maintain his standard of living if he attempted to answer questions, then he will not answer questions. Then he will use the only defense that any subversive person has — he will evade answering questions and call his questioner a crackpot or impractical or fascist or anything else that will divert the attention of the public from the question that would embarrass him and make him uncomfortable.

Most Subversive Person In Every Community

Probably the most subversive person in every community — even if the majority of the people do not recognize it, is not the labor leader or the bootlegger but the superintendent of public schools. The reason for this is that if it were not for the superintendent of schools, the subversive propaganda on the youth of the land, we would not have subversive labor union leaders or the subversive politicians.

I have never been able to find any superintendent of schools in any of the dozens of counties in which Freedom Newspapers circulate who is willing to investigate the subject of whether the subversive propaganda in the schools is in agreement with the American way of life as set down by the Declaration of Independence, the Golden Rule and the Commandments. And if anybody uses another standard, he is wrong and the Commandments and the Golden Rule to determine whether a course of action is right or wrong he is a subversive person. Jesus used this line of reasoning when he said: "Men do not light a candle and put it under a bushel."

If school superintendents were not subversive they would be glad to answer questions as to whether before a court to determine whether they were doing what they profess to be doing — namely educating the youth of the land to believe in American principles.

Remember — Jesus said, which seems to describe our school superintendents: "Men loved darkness rather than light because their deeds were evil. For everyone that doeth evil hateth the light, neither cometh to the light lest his deeds should be reproved. But he that doeth truth cometh to the light, that his deeds may be made manifest that they are wrought in God."

If there is anyone in each community who has done harm by subverting the American people from believing in the American way of life, it is the public school superintendents in each community.

Yes, the best way to determine whether a man is subversive, whether he is or not, is whether he will answer questions about what he is doing and advocating as he would before a court.

LOOKING SIDWAYS

By WHITNEY BOLTON

A young man with a load of talent and ambition died here in New York the other day just when he was about to get the dock kicked open, and I'd go in anybody's store window at high noon and claim out loud that life and death dealt Irving Jacobs a tough blow. He was in his early 40's and had the world by the tail when his heart gave out and he fell to the floor of his apartment with 30 years of dreams in his pocket.

Irving was 10 years old, a Brooklyn kid born with no spoon of any kind in his mouth, when he decided that the theater was for him. He wanted to be a theatrical producer the way most kids of that age want to be G-men, professional athletes or rich cowboys on television. From that time there was nothing else that lasted too good for Irving who was barely out of his teens when I first knew him. He was married to a girl named Barbara Barondess, who had a notion she could do a Broadway column from a female point of view and I helped her get a start with her idea. He came down to see me and said it was a godsend because there wasn't much in the house to eat and he was looking for a spot to tide things over until he could become a producer. Meanwhile, he said, he'd like to show his good will by getting me a suit of clothes, whistles. We never made the deal on the suit of clothes, and Barbara Barondess never stayed with the producer Adlai Stevenson who took a walk now.

International Whirligig... MacArthur And Marshall Hurt Eisenhower By Keeping Mum

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — As this weird presidential campaign approaches its windup, a question frequently raised in political and military circles concerns the failure of Generals George C. Marshall and Douglas MacArthur to extend any reinforcement to their erstwhile friend and long-time Army associate—General Eisenhower. Indeed, it involves their indirect efforts to hurt Ike's candidacy.

While the behavior of the nation's top brass, except for Ike's, will not sway any great mass of voters, the Marshall-MacArthur attitude has perplexed friends and well-wishers of the Republican nominee. Without any partisan display, according to this viewpoint the two could have given public testimony to Eisenhower's ability in other fields than military.

In a Broadway show and not long thereafter was whisked to California warmly wrapped in a movie contract. Irving went along for the ride, but he didn't stay out there long to look at when he was 10 years old and 27 or so years later, by unremitting application to grabbing that dream, he had it.

He looked long and with taste for a play producer. He found a Broadway producer. He had gone a success in the money, but it was a critical and artistic success and established right off that I, Jacobs, man with a dream, was no naniy. He was welcomed into Broadway's production ranks.

A year later he came up with "Clutterbug," which was ribald and funny and ran a long time, almost a whole season, but never made much money. It served as proof to Jacobs that he knew how to pick a play that could go the distance and now his job was to come up with the third one, the clincher.

In Denver he lived in the next house of Mrs. Mary Chase. Mrs. Chase had written a bit of fantasy called "Harvey," and followed that with another wisp of never-never land called "Mrs. McThing." She was working on her third play and Irving, hearing the typewriter work, told her he would like to produce it. She nodded and went back to work. Her third play — and what would have been his — opened in New York the other night — a smash success called "Bernardine." But Irving unless the ghost stories are true, wasn't there to see it and feel the triumph that had waited all those years.

ipped silence could have an adverse effect, and every vote will count tomorrow, Marshall, in particular, has a large and loyal following among civilians and in the military. He is an elderly statesman rather than a retired warrior.

ANTI-EISENHOWER — Unless there should be a last-minute utterance, MacArthur has not commented publicly on campaign, or expressed a kind word for his former aide at Washington and in the Philippines. Nor has he insisted upon the withdrawal of his name as a presidential entry in several states, where he, on the other hand, their stiff might attract enough votes to injure Ike.

Rightly or wrongly, Marshall's flanking brush with the political battle has been regarded as anti-Eisenhower. When he was asked if he would vote in Virginia tomorrow, he replied sharply that he had never cast a ballot, and that he would adhere to that attitude in 1952.

Although seeming to reflect an attitude of neutrality, it also appeared in the light of a slap at the man with whom he once had a father-and-son relationship.

QUESTIONABLE EXPLANATION — A partial but questionable explanation is that MacArthur and Marshall do not believe they should take part in politics. Many Pentagon higher-ups fear lest the campaign review of military and diplomatic decisions, as well as the attacks on Ike, may react against their professional peace and war.

That consideration certainly cannot apply to our former commander in Japan and Korea. He plunged into politics with his own answer to previous puzzle letter to Minority Leader Martin, which brought on his summary recall. He made a spectacular appearance before the GOP Convention, and secretly hoped for the nomination.

It could govern in Marshall's case. However, he accepted the political post of secretary of State under Truman. Many other officers of a high rank have participated in the Stevenson-Eisenhower struggle.

His retirement makes him a private citizen. Thus in view of the intense nationwide get-out-the-vote drive, his abdication of that primary responsibility in such decisive language had an anti-Ike tinge.

Whether he meant it or not, it led many to believe that he planned it in the way it has been interpreted. Marshall is an extremely cautious man in words and actions.

MACARTHUR'S ATTITUDE — There may be personal and professional reasons behind their attitude. The emotional MacArthur frequently showed during World War II that he was not entirely happy over the fact that the more responsible war assignment had been given to his junior officer.

He bombarded the Pentagon with complaints when weapons were directed to North Africa and Europe instead of to his island hopping campaign in the Far Pacific. He thought that he was being slighted. Now, in politics as in war, Ike has topped the man who likes to be known, today and by history, as "America's greatest soldier."

FAR EAST POLICY — Marshall, of course, is soured by no such jealousy. He may have been wounded by Ike's enforced association with the Senators — Jenner and McCarthy — who have tried to discredit him. But as a young Pennsylvania Democrat who could not win an appointment to West Point for that reason, he knows enough of practical politics to understand the need for Party unity.

A more likely reason is Eisenhower's general criticism of plunged into politics with his own

Fair Enough!....

Roosevelt-Truman Philosophy Promoted At Tremendous Cost

By WESTBROOK PEGLER (Copyright, 1952, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Let us continue our study of the secret system of pro-European and, often, pro-Communist, activities and policies of the Roosevelt-Truman dynasty. This program has been promoted at terrible expense to us by a cult of politico-moral fanatics. They say we Americans have a duty, imposed on us by an unidentified moral force called Democracy, to raise the material standards of millions of squalid creatures no more personal to us than so many insects on something dead. Many of them live in horrible filth and give no indication that this is very disagreeable to them.

The proponents of this Democracy acknowledge no deity. It is a religion without an acknowledged God but it does have a demi-God and a holy place at Hyde Park where they perform politico-mystic rites always with photographers present.

Because this belief has no deity we let the teachers in our public school system preach Democracy to the children. These teachers are not really educated but merely trained. Few of them realize that they are actually instilling religion in the children when they tell them that Democracy is something that all good people must believe. People who don't believe in Democracy mean brotherly love, cash relief payments to people who refuse to cross picket lines even though they are not on strike, job preference for paid-up union members and a righteous hatred of all persons who are patriotic to the United States and inhospitable to unrestricted immigration. Hate is an important element of Democracy.

We forbid the teaching of deistic religion in our schools in a mistaken belief that the first article of the Bill of Rights forbids it. However, the school systems belong to the states, which may teach any religion they elect to teach for all that the federal government may rightfully say to the contrary. But the federal government has horned in on the "social security" phase of its new authority. So now Washington claims a vested right in the education system because it takes money away from the people of the states as income taxes and social security taxes and dribbles it back as federal bounty to the school.

Hordes of Americans have gone traipsing over Europe since 1945. It is just tragic for all of us that practically none of them really saw and were impressed by the machine that was building up in those countries through the Economic Cooperation Administration, now called the Mutual Security Administration, first under Paul Hoffman and now under Averell Harriman.

Before Hoffman started his show in the false guise of a hard-headed Republican business man, Sen. Herbert Lehman, of New York, had taken his flight at the squandering of billions. But Hoffman was a real genius in the science of bureaucracy and he created a machine of awesome power. He is a blustering, bulldozing fellow who will put you on the defensive if you just merely question his extravagance and the shocking waste of money in his parties and luxuries for his train of malignant parasites. How dare you ask Hoffman what he did with the billions of your money?

Now he has latched onto the Ford Foundation, with absolute no responsibility to the public, and Averell Harriman has taken over as administrator of the new thing called Mutual Security, which is just a new name for an old racket. Now Hoffman and Anna Rosenberg, our manpower commissar, are planning to "educate" our Armed Forces as a "project" of this Foundation.

You can't really understand yet what a fantastic fool Harriman is. I know, of course, that he is book-smart and played polo. But Harriman is a fool in the sense that Bubblehead Wallace is. It is hard to believe that one generation of mankind could produce two such civic idiots, and fantastic that both should have risen to command of our Department of Commerce. But

Far East, with the alleged failure to support Chiang Kai-shek after the Japanese surrender. Ike has also attributed one of his generation of mankind could produce two such civic idiots, and fantastic that both should have risen to command of our Department of Commerce. But

What Ike may have forgotten is that, as a result of Marshall's report and action after his unsuccessful Chinese mission to reconcile the Nationalists and Communists, his old benefactor was chiefly responsible for that policy. Thus, in attacking the Truman-Acheson administration as responsible for the Korean tragedy, Eisenhower is really assailing Marshall.

Harriman succeeded Wallace as secretary of commerce, having proved his imbecility of a special sort as the American ambassador in Russia and director of Russian lend-lease. Thus he forced billions of our treasure on Russia for post-war industrial development against our country and Western Christendom even when our less crazy generals were warning Roosevelt in Washington to slow down! Notwithstanding all this, Harriman had the mad gall to go to Chicago seeking nomination for President. And one Marquis Childs, a Washington columnist who sounds the propaganda for this kind, wrote pro-Harriman stuff, and many American daily papers, God forgive the Fourth Estate, published it!

It is letting Harriman off easy to write that he is no brighter than the Bubblehead who wrote those gibberish letters to his private guru, but it is a photograph of the people? Yet we turned the mainland areas of Asia that the Japanese had used for expansion over to the Russians and the Chinese. And now the Japanese are increasing at the rate of one million per year and have a population of 100,000,000 in the state of California. If they do not have a market for their manufactured goods and a place for their people to live it will be like sitting on a powder keg. The same thing to a certain extent happened in Germany. We gave half a nation to the Russians, foolishly and carelessly, along with our capital. Among the most efficient people in the world, the Germans in West Germany have now begun to produce manufactured goods at a great rate that must be sold if they are to live. At the same time, while all this is going on, are we maintaining the internal economic strength that we must have to remain a great nation — when we consider the waste and corruption in our government, our continuous deficit financing, our over-powering national debt, our going out of billions in foreign aid?

These are questions that will face our next administration, whoever is elected.

Yet, we still have Harriman shoveling our billions to other nations and concealing a great machine of lazy, unemployable American parasites, including countless professional unequals whose unofficial job is to hike up and up and up the wages which George Spelvin, America's, has to pay out of his taxes to laborers in France, Greece, Germany and Italy to build things or for the defense of their own countries. I told you yesterday of the lawsuit and grand jury investigation which Harriman's MSA had started against Standard Oil of New Jersey, a company owned by Averell Harriman, Greece, Germany and Italy to build things or for the defense of their own countries. I told you yesterday of the lawsuit and grand jury investigation which Harriman's MSA had started against Standard Oil of New Jersey, a company owned by Averell Harriman, Greece, Germany and Italy to build things or for the defense of their own countries.

Harriman says it is a crime not to let this gang of defectives set their own prices when they are buying. In Bubblehead's time as secretary of Commerce, he planted Louis Horch, of New York, an old-time professional money-changer and patron of their guru, in charge of licenses to export stuff to Europe, including Russia through the ports of New York and New Jersey. Horch was the one who steered Wallace into the joss - steered of the cult. He continued on under Bubblehead Harriman after Truman threw out Bubblehead Wallace for making a silly speech about Russia in a peace-loving nation forced to rearm herself because we were threatening her.

Then the Publicity about Horch got too hot and Harriman quietly accepted his resignation. Not content, I demanded that Harriman tell the truth. He wouldn't. He would only say that Horch had quit. By now there is no telling what has happened to the records of the exports that went to Russia through the office of Louis Horch.

Recently, Paul R. Porter, Harriman's head man in the Paris office of MSA, was ordered home to explain some statements that he made to a Senate subcommittee. He is on his way now. And Mary Dublin Keyserling, Truman's principal "economic adviser" and a Harvard Hot Dog, has been suspended from her job as assistant secretary in charge of all exports in the Department of Commerce. And this was the same job that William W. Remington had, the fellow who was turned up by Elizabeth Bentley, now awaiting trial on a perjury charge for telling a grand jury he had never been a Communist.

But don't you indulge in reckless suspicions now! We want no guilt by association in our democracy.

Volunteers Answer Any Calls; What's More, Service Is Free

BOISE (AP) — The fire truck Tate brothers' own property has been in a haystack. But during er icy roads when the fire chains — important winter equip- ment in Idaho — broke. A service-station attendant re- placed them. "As a station Fire Chief" Pete Onederra told him to send the bill to Triangle Dairy. "How many people have you ever billed for fighting a fire," the attendant asked. "None," replied Onederra. "Okay," was the reply. "You'll get no bill from me." That's the way most of the peo- ple around Boise and surrounding towns feel about the Triangle Dairy volunteer fire department. Milking cows takes a back seat to eating smoke when there's a fire nearby. The dairy's employ- ees go to anything from a smok- ing haystack to a blazing lumber mill, and fight the fire for noth- ing.

"Of course we get a lot of good will from it, and sometimes we get a donation which we spend for more fire equipment," says John Tate, co-owner of the dairy with his brother David. The volunteer department has more than five years. The largest fire on the struc- tion from Boise firemen.

Some Of The 11 Bellwether Counties To Lose Face Nov. 4

NEW YORK (AP) — It signs a record this year. Wounds aren't mean anything in those 11 coun- ties which brag a bit about pick- ing all the presidential win- ners since William McKinley and 1896, Republican Dwight D. Eisen- hower looks like the victor this time.

But some of the counties seem sure to have their reputations ruined Nov. 4. Newspaper editors and corre- spondents who took part in a political survey for the Associat- ed Press estimate that seven of the 11 might go Republican, four Democratic.

These are the "bellwether" or "weathervane" counties, scattered through eight states from coast to coast: Crook county, Oregon; Albany and Laramie Counties, Wyoming; Jasper and Palo Alto Counties, Iowa; Vanderburgh County, In- diana; Belmont County, Ohio; Marion County, West Virginia; Fayette County, Pennsylvania; Stafford and Coos Counties, New Hampshire.

Newmen sized them up this way in the AP survey: "Somebody's going to be wrong in Wyoming this year. Albany County has been on the win- ning side since 1892 and editors expect it to back Republican Dwight D. Eisenhower. Laramie County has been with the win- ner since 1896 and editors give Democrat Adlai E. Stevenson a narrow edge there.

New Hampshire's two barom- eter counties are considered likely to give Eisenhower "a very slight edge." Editors see several factors favoring the GOP: The Democratic plurality has been dropping in recent nation- al elections. The vote may set

Nobody's Laughing... Commies Looking To No Avail For Humor Behind Iron Curtain

By RICHARD O'REGAN
VIENNA (AP) — The Communists have suddenly become worried about the lack of laughter be- hind the Iron Curtain. They complain they can't find anyone to amuse them — because the type of laughter they want has to be political. Western diplomats in Commu- nist capitals say nobody has been laughing for years. Faced with the general grimness of life, overwork, shortages of food, peo- ple on the streets of Moscow, Budapest, Prague and Bucharest are rarely seen to crack a smile. On trains and buses, passen- gers sit in virtual silence, starg- ing cheerlessly before them. Young couples rarely laugh and tease in public. Humor in night clubs is impossibly dull. It is never heard on the radio, in- frequently seen in newspapers. "Everybody seems to be afraid to laugh for fear someone will report them to the police," said a diplomat who recently had his first experience of communism. "It seems to me that laughter is considered almost a sin."

"Concern about the lack of mer- riment recently forced the Czech- oslovak newspaper Prace to com- plain there weren't enough new operettas to amuse people. The old ones, it said, couldn't be played any more because they were "bourgeois." "Many Czechoslovak musicians," it said, "would like to write mu- sic for an operetta, but there are no authors to write the text." The newspaper gave one reason why funny writers apparently can't be found. It said that "laughter and satire must be raised to be weapons exposing the traitors of the people and the means of educating people." This means no spontaneous hum- or, nothing funny that hasn't first been censored by the govern- ment. The Moscow Literary Gazette also expressed worry recently about the lack of humor on the stage and in movies. The magazine complained: "No- body wants to write comedies for the movies or for the theater. If one turns to a prominent writer with a request for a com- edy, one is refused quickly and categorically. "This fear of the comedy is due to the fact that several cri- tics, who lack any sense of humor, attack almost every new comedy that is written. They declare everything funny to be au- thentic and estranged from reality . . .
