JAPS ANNOUNCE NEW CHINESE NATION

Preview of New Liner "Queen Mary"

Outlined in a blaze of floodlights, her portholes blinking cheerily and the public rooms brightly illuminated, Britain's bid for supremacy among passenger ships, the 1,000-foot Queen Mary, is shown as she will look when she sails on her gala maiden voyage. The big ship is pictured at her dock on the Clyde river in Scotland where she is rapidly being fitted for transcontinental service.

BY OTHER WRITERS
KATHRYN STANTON in Clovis News-Journal—Anyone who can make ends meet these days has to be a contortionist.

CHILDRESS INDEX—For the eighth consecutive year, H. C. Preslar last night entertained the members of the Bobcat football team with a venison steak dinner. It is said to be the only dinner of its kind in the nation. Another feature of the banquet—it is one without an after-dinner speaker.

JOE PICKLE in Big Spring Herald—The World War cost $350,000,000,000 in money. It cost civilization two or three generations of constructive progress.

LITTLE ARGUS in Carlsbad, N. M. Current Argus—The Red Cross is America's greatest agency of help for the unfortunate.

In disaster, it is the one agency looked to for the relief of human suffering. Also in the normal suffering which every community has in its hazards which bring disease and death and unhappiness, the Red Cross takes a part.

In our own community the Red Cross has spent more than half of the money raised in lowering deaths among babies in poor families.

N. O. WAGGONER in Claude News—The present administration has done more for the common people than all three of the former administrations. Yes, Roosevelt has done more for the farmer in one year than the others did in 12 years. In fact they did not try and utterly failed to help the farmer in any way whatever. The heads of these three administrations were like some few Panhandle editors, most of whom said: "The farmer cannot be helped; he must help himself."

DESKIN WELLS in Wellington Leader—Boston University has a course in which women are taught how to buy. Most husbands would prefer having them instructed in how to refrain from buying.

McDonald Trial Is Delayed for Want of Quorum

AUSTIN, Nov. 18 (AP)—The house of representatives met today to receive evidence on charges of official misconduct against J. E. McDonald, commissioner of agriculture.

The proceedings were delayed by absence of a quorum, only 84 members answering the roll call. The house board of managers in a council for McDonald announced resignation. McDonald was represented by W. P. McLean of Fort Worth, Will P. Hancock of Waxahachie and Amos Felts, M. W. Bursh and T. H. McGregor of Austin. A house board of managers was added by Earl Street, assistant attorney general.

Speaker pro tem R. Emmett Moore of Houston overruled a point of order, raised by Rep. W. E. Pope of Corpus Christi that members could not receive pay while sitting as a committee of the whole on the charges. Pope said a state supreme court decision ruled pay of members was illegal.

Rep. Roy Hofheinz of Houston sought to place the house under call and instruct county officers to notify members to attend or face arrest. The motion failed but Speaker Moore said members would be notified and would be arrested if the house voted a call.

"It was reported many members had gone hunting. Several were accused at the morning call because of 'important business.'"

Court Gives Talmadge Right To Challenge Bankhead Act

CATHOLIC PLEA TURNED DOWN BY PRESIDENT

Refuses to Intervene in 'Persecution' in Mexico

NEW YORK, Nov. 18 (AP)—President Roosevelt has denied the appeal of the Knights of Columbus for an investigation of religious "persecution" in Mexico, with the result that the Catholic order planned today to carry its cause to the public.

In a letter to Martin H. Carmody, supreme knight of the order, the president said:

"I decline to permit this government to undertake a policy of interference in the domestic concerns of foreign governments and thereby jeopardize the maintenance of peaceful conditions."

Mr. Roosevelt, reiterating his abhorrence of religious intolerance, made it clear that his refusal was not to be interpreted as an act of indifference.

Carmody, in making public the letter, said that the Catholic order has asked only for "investigation of the rights denied American citizens and of the cruel oppression by that government of its own people, sought by the Borah resolution."

"The president's reply he stated, 'expresses his unalterable opposition' to the Borah resolution, which called for congressional determination of the situation, and 'declares it to be his policy not to undertake any personal determination of the facts.'"

"As citizens and as an organization," Carmody concluded, "we shall continue to use all proper means to bring to the attention of the American people these deplorable conditions, with the hope and confidence that an aroused public sentiment will eventually pronounce a direct ruling."

Governor Will Argue Case in Highest Court

BY JAMES W. DOUBTAT, Associated Press Staff Writer, WASHINGTON, Nov. 18 (AP)—A fresh attack on constitutionality of a new deal act became certain today when the supreme court gave permission to Governor Eugene Talmadge of Georgia, a Roosevelt critic, to file an original suit challenging the Bankhead Cotton act.

In a brief session, at which only one case was formally decided, the court also granted a government motion that arguments be heard December 19 on validity of the Tennessee Valley act. That made it probable that at least three new deal cases would be finally decided in January.

The government was allowed additional time to answer a request by eight Louisiana rice millers to enjoin collection of AAA processing taxes on rice. The court granted until next Thursday, with the requirement that no "jeopardy assessments" should be imposed against the millers for failure to pay the tax until the high court taking on the injunction petitions.

The Talmadge request won out despite protest of government attorneys. Stanley Reed, the solicitor general, had contended there was no basis for the high court taking original jurisdiction before lower tribunals had passed on the controversy.

The government must answer in the Talmadge case by January 20. Before that time, another case involving the Bankhead act will have been argued and possibly decided. It was brought by Lee Moor, a Texas planter, against the Texas & New Orleans railroad, to compel it to ship cotton which had no tags attached to show he had complied with the law.

Some attorneys say the Moor case can be decided without action on the validity of the act itself. Granting the Talmadge petition assured a direct ruling.

ORANGE PREACHER IS CHANGED MAN AS MURDER TRIAL BEGINS

HOUSTON, Nov. 18 (AP)—Both prosecution and defense announced ready today for the murder trial of Rev. Edgar Eskridge, vicar-crusading former pastor of the First Baptist church at Orange—and selection of a jury was started.

Eskridge's attorneys will try to prove through testimony of mental experts and leaders in his congregation that the sharp-shooting minister was insane when he killed Ed J. O'Reilly, Orange police chief, with a single charge from a shotgun last May 29.

J. J. Collins, chief of defense counsel, questioned prospective jurors carefully as to whether they had any prejudice against insanity as a defense. Those who had such prejudice were promptly challenged.

District Judge Langston King excluded the curious from the court room pending completion of the jury. Relatives of the minister and the slain police chief were permitted to listen to the proceedings. Eskridge's wife, dressed in black, and a sister sat inside the rail.

The preacher scarcely seemed to be the same man that he was six months ago. His face was thin and he was about 50 pounds lighter. He said, however, that he was "feeling like a million dollars."

While the attorneys were propounding questions, he scanned the sports page of a newspaper. Occasionally he would look up as a prospective juror replied to some important question.

ATLANTIC GALE BATTERS COAST, INFLECTS RUIN

Storm Leaves Damage of Millions of Dollars

(By The Associated Press.)
The worst nor'easter in many years roared out to sea today after pounding the North Atlantic coast with devastating fury from Cape Cod to Cape Hatteras.

Seaboard states from Maine to North Carolina suffered property damage amounting into several millions of dollars. The brunt of the havoc was borne by the stretch from the Massachusetts cape down to the Virginia cape.

The freighter, Florida, reached safe anchorage in Hampton Roads, accompanied by the coast guard cutter, Sebago. The ship was badly battered by the heavy seas running yesterday and last night.

The cutter then went to the aid of the three-master, Lillian E. Kerr, in trouble off Cape Henry with a shifting cargo. The schooner was anchored two miles offshore. The cutter planned to tow her into port.

The crippled freighter, Hartwell, under convoy of two rescue ships, was proceeding safely toward Delaware breakwater. A sailor was washed to his death from the freighter.

At Keyport, N. J., a dockworker was blown into Raritan bay and drowned.

At least 25 persons were killed in automobile mishaps; five in New Jersey, 17 in Pennsylvania and three in New York.

High tide caused most of the property damage. The Jersey coast, playground of the east, was a dismal stretch of wreckage. Sections of New York City's waterfront were inundated by a tide running five feet above normal.

Early today, the nor'easter swerved out to sea. The center of the storm was whirling out into the Atlantic, south of Nantucket.

Lumber Industry Raises Protest Over Trade Pact

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18 (AP)—The Canadian-American trade treaty's provision for a 50 per cent reduction in duties on Canadian lumber was described by spokesmen for the lumber industry today as "paralyzing to the general economy of important parts of the country."

"It holds a threat of disaster to wage earners in large sections of the United States," added officials of the National Lumber Manufacturers' association.

They declined to be quoted by name or to say whether a test of the reciprocal tariff act, under which the treaty was negotiated, is a possibility.

MIGHTY ARMY TO 'PROTECT' 5 PROVINCES

POPULATION OF NORTH CHINA IS NOW 95,000,000

BY GLENN RABB, Associated Press Foreign Staff, TOKYO, Nov. 18 (AP)—Japanese dispatches from Peiping and Tientsin in unison and unreservedly announced tonight that a new nation, that of North China, will be born this week.

These dispatches, by the Rengo agency among others, state that the new nation, like Manchoukuo, will be created under the protection of Japan's mighty military machine which the Chinese national government at Nanking is powerless to oppose.

It seemed likely that five more provinces of China would follow the fate of the four Manchurian provinces which at present form Japan's protectorate, the Empire of Manchoukuo.

Rengo and the newspaper Asahi confidently predicted that the declaration of independence would come Nov. 20 while the newspaper Nishi Nishi says it will come Nov. 23. It was stated that the new nation will be made up of Hopeh, Shantung, Shansi, Chahar, and Suiyuan provinces.

Big as U. S.
The population of these five provinces totals approximately 95,000,000 persons.

If and when this population becomes a Japanese protected community like Manchoukuo's 32,000,000 inhabitants, it will mean that Japan has been instrumental in wresting from Chinese sovereignty an aggregation of humanity approximately equal to the population of the United States.

The Japanese dispatches said the new state would be called Huapeh Liensheng, Tzu-chih, Chenghuan, which can be translated as "The North China United Provinces Autonomous Regime."

The leaders of the regime, it was reported, are:

Citizens Donate To Will Rogers Memorial Fund

Residents of Pampa and Gray county loved and admired Will Rogers to the extent that they would like to perpetuate his memory in a continuous, living memorial.

That became evident today when contributions began to come in at the bank and The NEWS. The largest donation thus far was for $15. The average is for $1, but any contribution from a nickel on up will be accepted and welcomed.

No solicitations will be made, and no campaign will be staged. Gilmore Nunn, chairman, announced. The contributions must be made voluntarily. This week has been designated in Gray county as Will Rogers Memorial fund week. Clubs, schools, churches, will cooperate in putting Pampa, a stronghold of Will Rogers, over the top.

Edwin Vicars of the First National bank has been named county treasurer of the Rogers funds. Donations may be made at the bank or placed in the jars in various stores in town. Today was business men's day, tomorrow the drive will be stressed at the Jaycee meeting and Wednesday will be school and Rotary day.

LATE NEWS

SHANGHAI, Nov. 18 (AP)—A spokesman for the Japanese embassy said today that foreign powers need have no fear that their interests and privileges in North China are jeopardized by the present developments in that area.

Administrator Of Liquor for Texas Is Named

AUSTIN, Nov. 18 (AP)—The Texas liquor control board today appointed Charles R. Miller, 50, formerly of Electra and Taylor, as its administrator.

Miller and the board immediately started conferences to set up an organization and begin operation of the package sale by licensed private dealers liquor law.

He said the first licenses probably would be issued later today. Meanwhile, no sales of liquor was legal until dealers were granted permits.

Miller has been second secretary on the governor's staff. Governor Alfred said George Clarke of Austin, also on the staff, would be promoted to Miller's former position.

The administrator enters public life in 1931 as chief of law enforcement in the attorney general's department under Alfred. He formerly was a merchant at Taylor and later president of the First National Bank at Electra, where he also was a city councilman.

Eight Students Are Expelled at Lubbock

LUBBOCK, Nov. 18 (AP)—Eight high school students, members of the DeKX club, were suspended temporarily today for organization of a club in violation of school rules.

School authorities said the club was affiliated with other organizations. No fraternities are permitted in the high school. A member said the DeKX at one time was affiliated with the DeKX club in Amarillo.

Principal R. W. Matthews said the cases are subject to reopening "when the boys get right."

STATE JUVENILE LAW BLAMED FOR LYNCHING OF 2 NEGROES

COLUMBUS, Nov. 18 (AP)—Directors of the Columbus chamber of commerce, in a scathing denunciation of certain Texas criminal laws today laid the blame for the mob lynchings of two negroes here last week, squarely upon the Texas legislature.

A statement signed by Herman Braden, president, and H. L. B. Skinner, secretary, said responsibility for the lynchings of the negro youths, who had confessed to officers their criminality and attacked and drowned Miss Geraldine Kollmann, Columbus high school honor graduate, "lies primarily with the thirty-fifth legislature of the state of Texas which enacted the juvenile law of the state in its present form."

The statement also blamed "all subsequent legislatures who have failed to recognize and remedy the most serious defects of the law."

"It is unquestionably the consensus of informed public opinion in this state that the juvenile age limit of 17 years should have no application to serious and brutal felonies such as premeditated murder and rape," read the statement.

"It is too much to expect of the sober elements in any Texas community to always succeed in repressing the administration of adequate punishment for such crimes without the sanction of law, and we here now call upon the governor and legislature of Texas for the correction of the laws of the state so that such adequate punishment may be administered by due course of law."

The two negro youths, who gave ages of 15 and 16 years, were seized from Sheriff Frank Hoegemeyer by a mob of 700, including women, and hanged to a live oak tree.

FRENCH GOODS COLLECTED AT BORDER TOWNS

TROOPS GUARD BRITISH EMBASSY AS MOB SHOUTS

By HENRY W. BAGLEY, Associated Press Foreign Staff, Benito Mussolini's undeclared war in Ethiopia met world opposition today as the League of Nations' economic sanctions were applied against Italy.

At midnight, the program whereby 51 league members agreed to prevent importation of Italian goods and to stop exporting certain raw materials to Italy went into effect. Italy, having already made preparations to combat the penalties for its invasion in East Africa, which the league has termed "aggressive," displayed its "implacable resistance" to the sanctions in a showing of banners throughout the nation.

It had promised to treat other nations as they treated Italy. The fascist grand council, which on Saturday denounced the sanctions, was to meet again tonight to study details of Italy's fight against them and, it was said in informed quarters, to consider peace proposals raised in diplomatic contacts.

Italian troops guarded the British embassy in Rome and the headquarters of other sanctionist countries, as youths began demonstrations denouncing the sanctions.

Some shouted "Don with England!"

Some delay in application of the sanctions by certain countries was expected because of legal difficulties. The exact time of enforcement by France was in doubt.

Great quantities of merchandise destined for Italy were collected at the Franco-Italian frontier, as customs agents tried to move them into Italy before France's deadline on exports to that nation becomes effective tonight.

The French chamber of commerce declared the ban would increase French unemployment, while authorities estimated French railroads would lose $3,300,000 a year. The Italian chamber of commerce in Paris predicted 600 stores selling Italian goods would be forced to close because of sanctions.

The economic sanctions were the last of the measures against Italy approved by the league. Financial sanctions, by which credit is not extended to Italy and business is not done with Italians, and an arms embargo had already been made effective.

While Rome Italy prepared to meet the economic siege, on the war front Italian troops continued their successes, an official communique said.

Black Casualties Claimed
Ras Nasir, governor of Harar province and commander of the Ethiopian armies in the south, was reported to have withdrawn his forces to the region of the city of Harar, important and strategic city toward which the Italians in the south were pointing.

Travelers from Jijiga were reported in press dispatches to Rome as saying many Ethiopian wounded.

See ITALY, Page 8.

THE WAR AT A GLANCE

(By The Associated Press.)
LONDON—Economic sanctions against Italy, approved by 51 League of Nations members, took effect today. Italian goods will be barred from their markets and they will not export certain raw materials to Italy.

ROME—Troops guarded the British and other embassies as students paraded, denouncing sanctions, some shouting "down with England!" The fascist grand council was to meet tonight to consider Italy's resistance to sanctions and perhaps discuss peace plans which came from diplomatic negotiations.

Gen. de Bono reported progress of the Italian troops in the north, with the Ethiopians retreating beyond the Takkaze river, as the Ethiopian southern army was said to be withdrawing to Harar.

ADDIS ABABA—One authority said Haile Selassie would go to the northern front within ten days, after which a major battle could be expected. Another report said he would leave tonight.

The government announced Italian planes had bombed Endera, near Makale, yesterday, killing and injuring civilians. It stated the residents of the area were revolting against Italian domination.

PARIS—Merchandise headed for Italy piled up on the Italo-French frontier, as attempts were made to move it across the border before France's export ban takes effect tonight.

BORED YOUNG ROWDIES TURNED GENTLEMEN

The tough little neighborhood rowdy can be a great pain in the neck to his elders, who usually have not the faintest idea how to handle him. But once in a while some grown-up with a little imagination comes along—and miraculously turns the little toughie into a likable, well-behaved child.

A New York City neighborhood near the Columbia University campus was troubled by a group of youthful hoodlums not long ago. These precious children went about smashing windows, swiping milk bottles, getting into street fights, and raising so much can generally that residents demanded an extra detail of police to squelch them.

It happened that a retired Columbia professor, Dr. Patty Smith Hill, interested herself in the situation. She asked the police to lay off and give her a chance at the kids and the police were very glad to consent. So Dr. Hill got busy.

She was devoting herself to a free nursery school for children of relief clients, and she used this for her base of operations. First of all she called in the leaders of the youthful gang—they were about 12 years old—and asked them what was wrong. They told her: "We have nothing to do and no place to go after school is over."

So Dr. Hill opened a community center for these children in her nursery school building. The youngsters were suspicious, at first.

She assured them that the activities at the center would be of their own choosing; and then they said they'd like to be taught "all about gas," so that they could make tear-gas bombs and throw them at the tough gang in the next block.

Undaunted, Dr. Hill started a class in chemistry—and the children got so interested in it that they forgot all about tear-gas bombs.

She organized classes in music and art, in stenography and dramatics, had the children writing, staging, and costuming their own plays—and before anyone realized quite what was going on, these young rowdies had ceased to be rowdies and had turned into well-behaved, quiet and altogether likable boys and girls.

The moral to this little story couldn't be any more obvious if it were printed in letters a foot high. Children turn into neighborhood rowdies out of boredom, pure and simple. They have to have an outlet for their energies. If none is provided, they'll make one—to the grief of the whole neighborhood, as like as not.

When the adult world is willing to spend just a little time and money providing an outlet, the neighborhood gang simply isn't a gang any longer. Where it exists, it indicates the intelligence of the grown-ups.—B. C.

Briton Ready To Testify in Drake Swindle

CHICAGO, Nov. 18 (AP)—Charles Challen, of London, England, an expert on British estate law, and Inspector Arthur Bishop of Scotland Yard, were here today to testify against 41 defendants on mail fraud charges in the mythical Sir Francis Drake estate swindle.

The prosecution has charged that thousands of American investors have been misled of an estimated $1,350,000,000 since 1922 through the Drake fraud.

The defendants, 37 men and four women from seven states, faced a maximum penalty of five years imprisonment and a $1,000 fine of conviction.

Austin Hall and David H. Neumann, assistant United States district attorneys, said they would call 200 government witnesses and that the trial would last a month. Impounded under federal court subpoena pending the outcome of the trial was $100,000 of "investors' money."

Oscar Hartzell, chief defendant, was brought to Chicago from Leavenworth, Kas., federal penitentiary, where he is serving a 10-year sentence for conviction on similar charges at Des Moines. The Drake swindle is based on the claim that Sir Francis, commissioned by the English crown to raid Spanish treasure ships in the late 1500's, died possessed of an estate which compound interest would have built up to $27,000,000,000.

Malory's translation from the French of "The Quest of the Holy Grail" introduced to English readers that famous talisman of Arthurian romance.

The Chicago Symphony Orchestra, founded in 1891, has had only two conductors in that time. The founder was Theodore Thomas, and his successor Frederick Stock.

THE NEW DEAL IN WASHINGTON

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

NEA Service Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON—Although the news may break Gen. Hugh Johnson's heart, the Frankfurter boys have moved in on the Department of Justice.

After the celebrated Dr. Felix Frankfurter of Harvard Law School refused President Roosevelt's offer of the solicitor-generalship in 1933, hardly one of his numerous pupils entered the service of Attorney General Homer Cummings, though they poured into New Deal ranks nearly everywhere else except NRA.

Solicitor General J. Crawford Biggs and his staff sloshed around through the courts, making a sorry showing on nearly all fronts. The Frankfurter boys (whom General Johnson calls the "Happy Hot Dogs"), some of whom had written laws the inept Biggs was trying to defend, alternately jibed and groaned at the spectacle.

Along came Stanley Reed of RFC to be solicitor general and to renovate the staff. In the last few weeks he has picked some of the brightest of the ex-Frankfurter pupils here to help him defend New Deal legislation in a big winter of test cases.

Their friends and their enemies will be watching them closely. For they're now on the spot and, although their briefs and arguments will be more graceful and to the point, it's a question whether they'll have any better luck before the supreme court.

Among the group of Frankfurter's smart young men now working for Reed at:

Alger Hiss, former secretary to the late Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, former assistant general counsel at AAA and counsel for the Senate munitions committee, drafter of the Bankhead cotton and Kerr tobacco control acts, now preparing the supreme court brief defending the AAA in the Hoosac case.

Paul Freund, former secretary to Justice Brandeis, formerly with RFC, now specializing on TVA and PWA cases.

Charles Horsky, former secretary to Judge Learned Hand of New York, working on defense of the Bankhead act.

Arnold Raum, ex-RFC lawyer, specializing on processing and other tax cases.

One thing about the Frankfurter boys: So many of them have served as secretaries to supreme court and other justices that they ought to have a fairly good picture of the judicial mind.

Few but the innermost insiders realize even yet how badly Roosevelt was worried, up to the time of Huey Long's assassination, for fear that Huey would draw a large vote from him by running as a third party candidate. Point was recently given to this fear by evidence that certain interests were willing to provide Long with a large campaign fund.

Roosevelt, it is whispered by one or two of those he consulted about it, was making a personal survey of the vote Huey would be likely to get. He had given up Louisiana and Georgia (where he figured both Huey and Governor Talmadge would work against him), according to this tale, and was disturbed about Arkansas and South Carolina.

At the time of Long's death, the administration was grooming Senator Bilbo of Mississippi, an outstanding rabble-rouser and vote-getter in southern rural regions, to take the stump against Long in the campaign.

TEXAS LIQUOR DEALERS MUST TOE THE MARK

COMMERCIAL HANDLERS WILL BE ISSUED LICENSES

AUSTIN, Nov. 18. (AP)—Texas liquor dealers must "toe the mark" under the state's new regulatory act or face cancellation of permits and prosecutions.

Furthermore, the liquor traffic will be pretty much a Texas-owned business with large chain groups outlawed.

"The theory of this law," said Ebert Hooper of Austin, counselor to a conference committee in preparing it, "is control of those engaged in the manufacture, transportation and sale of liquor. Cancellation of license is the strongest enforcement weapon."

Every commercial handler of liquor will be licensed. An exception is permission for an individual to import one quart for personal use. The one quart is exempt from state tax.

A package store permit entitles the holder to sell hard liquor in sealed containers. Sale by the drink is not permitted. Beer and wine retailers may sell those types of liquors up to 14 per cent by the drink of permit under local option.

Package stores and beer and wine retailing for consumption on the premises are not allowed on the same location. Licenses for package store may be forfeited if the holder permits consumption of liquor there and of beer and wine retailers if they possess whiskey on the premises.

Hotels are permitted to have a package store segregated from beer and wine dispensaries. Package liquor may be delivered to guests in their rooms, but its consumption in the beer or wine dispensaries is banned.

The penalty for violating the act provides for suspension or cancellation of the license in some instances; a fine of $100 to $1,000 and a jail sentence up to one year. No felony offense is provided and the dean law former state prohibition act, is repealed.

Permits may be denied an applicant who uses alcohol to excess or habit-forming drugs; has been convicted of violating a state liquor law; has been provided with funds or has a financial connection with a liquor manufacturer, wholesaler or dealer, or for any reason the board may deem in public interest.

Individuals seeking license must be residents of Texas for three years. If a corporation, 51 per cent or more of the stock must be owned by Texas citizens who are otherwise qualified to hold a license.

No one person or corporation may hold more than five package store permits. Each licensee must post $1,000 to $25,000 bond as a guaranty of obedience to the act or rules of the board.

Spirited liquors are taxed 80 cents a gallon; wine up to 14 per cent, two cents; from 14 to 24 per cent, five cents; sparkling wine, 24 cents; natural sparkling or artificially carbonated wine, 25 cents; malt liquors over four per cent, 15 cents, and beer or four per cent or less, $1.24 per barrel, a reduction of 26 cents from present levy.

Three-fourths of the tax income goes to old age pensions and the remainder to the school fund. The annual revenue is calculated at upward of $4,000,000.

The state receives one-half, the county one-fourth, and the city one-fourth of the following license fees for permits to deal in liquor containing more than four per cent alcohol.

Brewers, $2,000; distillers, $2,000; wineries, $100; rectifiers, $2,000; wholesalers, $2,500; beer and wine wholesalers, $250; agents, $5; industrial permits, $10; carriers, $5; storage warehouses, $50; medicinal for physicians, $5, and for druggists, $50.

Liquor package stores: Outside of city limits, $100; in cities of 5,000 population or less, $100; 5,000 to 25,000, $250; 25,000 to 75,000, $350; over 75,000, $500.

Wine package stores: Outside of city limits, $20; in towns of 2,000 population or less, $20; 2,000 to 5,000, $30; 5,000 to 10,000, $40, and over 10,000, $50.

County judges will continue to issue licenses for retailing beer and light wine. The fee is $30, except for a reduction to $5 for railway dining, buffet and club cars.

Clark Gable to Let Wife Decide On Divorce Angle

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Nov. 18. (AP)—Clark Gable, brooding film hero, was willing today to let his second wife decide whether their estrangement would be solved by a reconciliation or a divorce.

"There has been no discussion of a divorce or reconciliation as far as I know," said the screen star on his return to the film colony from a South American trip. "Whatever Mrs. Gable says, goes."

Cluckling, the actor touched upon the subject of his "temperament"—given by Mrs. Ria Gable as the cause of their separation.

"Sometimes, I wonder how I even stand myself," he confessed. "During the last year I've worked very hard. And by the time the picture 'Manhattan' was filmed I was irritable—snapping at everyone."

"The fault was entirely mine," Gable explained, "and I don't blame Mrs. Gable for anything."

"I'm no 'great lover' either," he said.

He denied, affably enough, that he was interested in two young actresses who have played opposite him in films, Loretta Young and Elizabeth Allan, or in Mary Taylor, who was in his party with her father, Bertrand Taylor, when he attended a New York hockey match.

Hollywood Sights And Sounds

By ROBBIN COONS
HOLLYWOOD—Older film fans may be startled when they see Alice Moore in pictures soon. Their memories will rush back to earlier film days when Alice Joyce, the patrician star, was a prime favorite.

The resemblance between mother and daughter is that strong. And yet Alice Moore, 19, looks like her father, too. Her mother, Moore—of the brothers Owen, Tom and Matt—and still active in pictures.

Alice Moore is Hollywood's newest bride and contract-winner. The marriage contract is with Felix Knight, the movie one with Metro-Knight, a handsome young concert and radio singer, played the lead in the movie "Babes in Toyland" and in the same picture Alice Moore played the Queen of Hearts. It was a year later that she went to Yuma with Knight and assumed that role in his life.

Five years ago a group of us at Nell Hamilton's beach place met among others, a chubby little girl in short dresses and socks who stayed shyly in the background. Five years make a difference—the little girl grew up to be the famous young duplicate of her famous mother.

"I don't think either mother or father directly influenced me to go into pictures," she says, "although both of them have been very helpful to me. I had wanted to act for quite a few years, but their ideas seemed to be to let me make up my own mind what I wanted to do."

"Mother, when I go to her for suggestions, always gives them generously. My father really started me in pictures, two years ago, when he had them send for me to act in a film he was making. Then he directs—and very good he is, too—little plays at the Uplifters club. He would use me in them, and I had other experience in little theaters and school plays."

"I've had other contracts offered me, but none of them seemed right until this one. I suppose I'll do ingenues—it's really too soon to decide what my ultimate acting ambition shall be. Maybe I won't succeed, anyway!"

Parents Divorced
Miss Joyce and Tom Moore were divorced, but remained among Hollywood's "friendly divorces." After the parting, they teamed in a vaudeville tour.

"It was just a case of getting along better unmarried than married," Alice explains it. Her mother is now married to Clarence Brown, the director, and "very happy," according to Alice, "to be just a wife and through with pictures." She says she had more than she wanted for pictures while she was in them.

Alice is counting on her long acquaintance with Hollywood and its people to keep her head level should she perchance attain stardom.

"I've seen so many stars come and go," she says, "that I personally couldn't change, no matter how fortunate I should be."

Milestones of American Genius

The Miles Standish memorial at Duxbury, Mass.

MILES STANDISH

HISTORY and poetry have combined to make Miles Standish immortal. If in poetry he figures as the man who led out in a battle for Priscilla's heart, history attests his victories in the struggle against hardships in the new land of America.

Captain Miles Standish remains in our national memory as a symbol of the earnest Pilgrims and their arduous lives. The qualities of courage, loyalty, passionate love of liberty rooted in the earliest pioneer days seem woven into the very syllables of his name. There is inspiration in every tablet and statue to his memory, and there are many such throughout the country.

Miles Standish was born in Lancashire, England, of good family, and was educated for a military career. While fighting for Good Queen Bess in The Netherlands he met the Pilgrims who had taken refuge at Leyden and there in his lot with them. He was on the Mayflower when it sailed to settle a new land for the sake of religious freedom.

Although a fighter, his tact succeeded in placating Indian chiefs and his wise dealings with the red men helped the struggling settlement, undermined by sickness and death, to survive. When diplomacy failed, however, it was among those at the head of the colonists in bloody skirmishes.

Whether the doug ty warrior really sought the hand of lovely Priscilla Mullins is for historians to quarrel over. It is true that his wife died in the first bleak winter of the settlement and if Priscilla captured his heart, she did not break it beyond repair, because two years later he married another.

It was after his marriage that Captain Standish built a permanent home not far from Plymouth and called it Duxbury for his ancestral estates in England. Here he lived, sharing the life of the colony, serving as its magistrate and military leader, until his death in 1656.

In 1872 the monument shown in the sketch above was erected on the part of the Duxbury property known as Captain's Hill, by a memorial association of New England patriots. The sturdy stone tower, surmounted with a statue of the Pilgrim military leader, aptly represents the sterling virtues of Miles Standish.

GUFFEY ON COAL

BY CLARENCE W. FACKLER, Ph. D.
While the physical body of the Blue Eagle has long since disintegrated, the spirit of that doleful fowl continues its earthly wanderings, masked somewhat by its new legislative trappings. Very conspicuous, indeed, is its resurrected appearance in the Guffey coal conservation act of 1935. Intended as a prescription for the sick bituminous coal industry, this remedy, if constitutionally approved, can hardly help but intensify the malady, and cause both the disease and the treatment to be spread to all industries.

According to the senatorial diagnosis, the soft coal business is suffering from a chronic instability, the only cure for which is the nationalization of the industry. Bituminous operators are said to have contributed to this ailment by wasting natural resources, disrupting inter-state commerce, and acting generally in ways antagonistic to the public interest. Constant and ample supplies of coal have been lacking at reasonable prices, the industry has over-expanded, and the wages, hours, and conditions of employment have become downright deplorable. So, in order to forestall the inevitable self-destruction of the soft coal industry, which development would naturally cause such unhappiness and many headaches among government officials, congressmen with the aid of organized labor saw fit to make another heroic, last-minute effort to prevent the return of cut-throat competition.

Whenever confronted with an economic problem of such magnitude, even when haste is unnecessary, the congressional mind invariably leaps to the imposition of a tax. In considering the Guffey bill, there was no exception to this rule. Right off, a tax of $15 per $100 of sales was laid on all operators, but $13.50 was made returnable to those operators who would subscribe to the Guffey plan of self-salvation.

Nothing much was said, however, about reducing the price of coal for consumers. Many, of course, will be literally in rags this winter, and will hardly know at times where their next bucketful of fuel is coming from. Probably they are supposed to find great mental satisfaction in the legislative hope that prices will be fixed some how at "just and equitable" levels, and that at the meetings of the National Bituminous Coal commission their interests will be "represented" at least on each of 23 district boards of producers, and the recognition of its rights to bargain collectively, to select check-weighmen, and to trade and live where it pleases. Finally, the act contains the mandatory provision that no coal can be bought directly by the government, or indirectly by any of its contracting agencies, from any producer who has not complied with the code provided. With the government involved in various public works, this

Skellytown, Texas
November 7, 1936
TO THE CITIZENS OF PAMPA AND GRAY COUNTY, TEXAS:
A new proposed highway right-of-way to Borgert through my ranch has been submitted for my approval. I find that the new survey through my ranch will forever ruin my pasture and farm land. About nine years ago I gave to the citizens a 100 foot road free of cost and fenced this at my own expense. The present road now running through my ranch was selected by the citizens and surveyed by Mr. Doucette.

Since then another road was given you, more direct to Skellytown, making two graded highways to the present time through my ranch. Now they are asking for another highway almost in the center of the present two highways, but eliminating Skellytown, Texas, to the north, which is detrimental to all its citizens. I am against the new highway for the reasons as mentioned, and I believe that the majority of your citizenship agree that I have been liberal enough in the past by giving two highways to Borgert, Texas, and will not ask me to sacrifice further.

HIGH TARIFFS ON CANADIAN PRODUCTS CUT

Both Nations Slash Many Duties in New Pact
By The Associated Press
Countries signing: United States and Canada. Effective date: January 1, 1936. Expiration date: December 31, 1938, if either country serves six months advance notice.

The United States agreed: The grant concessions to Canada on 79 major commodities which amount to two thirds of America's imports from Canada in 1929. Chief among these concessions were: Tariff slash on 4-year-old whiskey from $1 to 50 cents per fifth of a gallon.

Reductions in duties on specified quotas of beef cattle (from 3 to 2 cents per pound on animals over 700 pounds); dairy cows (2 1/2 to 1 1/2 cents; cream (56.8 cents to 35 cents per gallon); white or Irish seed potatoes (75 to 45 cents per 100 pounds); Douglas fir and western hemlock (50 per cent). Some of the quotas, which include imports from all countries, are 155,000 beef cattle; 20,000 dairy cows; 1,500,000 gallons of cream; 250,000,000 board feet of fir and hemlock.

Also reduced duties on lumber and timber of other kinds; cheddar cheese, turnips, apples, hay, maple sugar, live poultry, horses, halibut and some other fish; some leathers and ferro-manganese. A pledge to keep on the free list Canadian plywood, newsprint, unmanufactured wood, shingles, lath, lobsters, certain furs, crude asbestos, artificial abrasives and fertilizers.

A promise to maintain the present 10 per cent duty on feedstuffs for animals. Canada agrees to: Make concession on goods accounting for three-fourths of America's dutiable exports to Canada in 1929-30. Duties are cut on 180 commodities, some of the leading concessions being: Reductions on wheat (from 30 to 12 cents a bushel); off-season fresh vegetables (50 per cent); vegetables imported in marketing season (35 per cent); most classes of farm machinery (50 per cent); industrial machinery (35 to 25 per cent); mining and textile machinery; radios (30 to 25 per cent); electric refrigerators; tinplate manufactures; dressed lumber; building materials; motor vehicles, cotton fabrics, furs, chemicals, silk fabrics, cotton manufactures, electrical apparatus.

Also rate cuts on oranges, grapefruit, nuts, iron and steel manufactures. A new rate of half cent a pound replaces an old rate of 1 cent on grapefruit.

An agreement to place magazines and potatoes on the free list. A pledge to grant the United States on 707 articles, the lowest rates paid by any non-British country. A promise to seek legislation to permit Canadians visiting the United States to carry $100 in American goods duty free back to their homes each month.

A pledge to liberalize the system of establishing arbitrary valuations on American products. (United States officials considered these valuations equivalent to higher and unreasonable duties.) A promise to keep raw cotton on the free list and to put tractors on that list.

Scope of American concessions: All reductions in American duties on Canadian products will be extended to all other countries except Germany, which has denounced its most-favored-nation pact with the United States.

In this event, the demand for soft coal will tend to shift to less expensive substitutes. The result will be that the extension of nationalization to the anthracite field, and subsequently to other similar and related groups will become necessary.

One is astounded at the continued enthusiasm of federal administrators—men no wiser or more virtuous than other men—in applying untested, imaginary, or at least falsely conceived economic laws to the industrial activities of labor and capital. Certainly by this time legislators should appreciate that in a land as large as the United States, all conflicting interests can never be harmonized by enforced regimentation. Even so small a body as the soft coal producers cannot be compelled to brush their hair and tie their cravats in cadence.

Recent cases to test the validity of the Guffey act, as well as other acts, indicate an untiring search for a clearer expression of the constitutional limitations within which the government can operate successfully. Too bad it is, indeed, that nobody inquires much about the social and economic boundary lines.

Minnesota Appears Certain To End Season Undefeated

By HERBERT W. BARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK, Nov. 18. (AP)—The mad football campaign draws rapidly to a close with only a "Baker's half dozen" teams still unbeaten and untied.

The crushing defeats suffered last week by North Carolina, Marquette and Syracuse reduced the field of front-rank contenders for the mythical national championship to seven—Princeton, Dartmouth and New York U. in the east; Minnesota in the middle west; Southern Methodist and Texas Christian in the southwest, and California in the far west.

Of these, only Minnesota, aiming at its third successive undefeated campaign, appears certain of winding up with a perfect record. The Gophers close out their season against Wisconsin's Badgers at Minneapolis Saturday. Dartmouth showed under Cornell, 41-6, last week while Princeton's substitutes were whipping Lehigh, 27-0. N. Y. U., third of the section's undefeated and untied eleven, swamped Rutgers 48-0, and now will rest until its objective game with Fordham Thanksgiving day.

From the standpoint of tradition, nothing this week will compare with the clash of Harvard and Yale at Cambridge. Army, tied 6-6 by Notre Dame Saturday, will tune for the Navy game at Philadelphia Nov. 20 in a "breather" Saturday against Vermont. Navy, victor over Columbia, 28-7, will be idle. Temple's Owls who stopped Marquette's winning stream, 26-6, will face Villanova, while Colgate, hitting its stride with a 27-0 route of Syracuse's previously undefeated eleven, takes on Rutgers.

Columbia and Brown, Lehigh and Lafayette, and Bucknell and Penn State are the other leading eastern pairings.

Middle West
Big Ten: The conference campaign will close for the year with a five game schedule that almost certainly will find Minnesota and Ohio State winding up in a tie for the title. Minnesota, victor in 16 successive games and undefeated in 23 will be heavily favored over Wisconsin and Ohio State should be able to handle Michigan and Ohio State last week by Minnesota, 40-0. Northwestern's flashy Wildcats, who trounced Wisconsin, 32-13, will meet Iowa, surprisingly upset by Purdue 12-6. Purdue will play Indiana's Hoosiers who challenged Chicago 24-0. Illinois, nosed out by Ohio State, 6-0, meets Chicago.

Big Six: Nebraska already clinched the crown and plays only one more game—with Oregon State on Nov. 22. Kansas has a chance to clinch at least a tie for second place by beating Iowa State this week. Kansas State, beaten by Oklahoma 3-0, plays Missouri in the only other conference game.

South
Southeastern conference: Louisiana State's 13-0 conquest of Georgia, virtually clinched the championship for the Tigers. They ease against Southeastern of Louisiana this week before closing out against Tulane on Nov. 30. Should Tulane 20-13 victor over Kentucky do the unexpected and halt L. S. U., Vanderbilt, Alabama or Mississippi would have a chance to share in the crown. Alabama crushed Georgia Tech 38-7 last week and will face Vanderbilt, 13-7 winner over Tennessee on Thanksgiving day.

Southern conference: Duke's smashing triumph over North Carolina 27-0, previously undefeated and untied, put the Blue Devils in excellent spot to regain the conference championship. They wind against North Carolina State this week and a Duke victory automatically will give the Durham outfit the title.

Southwest
Texas Christian and Southern Methodist maintained their unbeaten status as the Horned Frogs crushed Texas 28-0 and Southern Methodist first turned back U. C. L. A. 21-0 on Monday and Arkansas 17-6 on Saturday. If Christian defeats Rice and Southern Methodist wins from Baylor this week, the title will hinge upon the battle of the two main rivals at Fort Worth on Nov. 30. A Friday clash between Texas and Arkansas completes this week's program.

Far West
Pacific coast conference: California's Golden Bears, unbeaten and untied, play Stanford's Cardinals, 1934-champions, in the crucial engagement of the week. If the Bears win they will capture the title outright and with it the right to represent the far west in the Rose Bowl New Year's day. If Stanford wins, the race probably will end in a triple tie among California, Stanford and U. C. L. A.

Rocky Mountain Conference
The leader, Colorado university, after dropping a 12-6 decision to Kansas in an inter-sectional duel last week, resumes conference warfare this week against Wyoming and then meets Denver on Thanksgiving day in the game that should settle the championship. Colorado is the only team unbeaten within the conference, but Denver, Utah State and Utah each has been tripped up only once and therefore must be counted in the running.

CO-BOSSY, CO-BOSSY
MACON, Ga. (AP)—W. Grover Anderson went into the woods in search of a missing cow and, since it is hunting season, took his shotgun.

He found the cow and started home leading it by a rope. A partridge flew up. Anderson dropped the rope, fired, hit the bird and retrieved it from a nearby field. Anderson is looking for the cow again.

ROSE BOWL FANS WOULD LIKE TO SEE TEXAS TEAMS CAVORT

Sports Roundup

By EDDIE BRIETZ,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, Nov. 18. (AP)—Some cheering is in order in this corner. You have to give Wallace Wade credit for one of the nicest bits of coaching of the season. Never as a team better prepared for a certain game than Duke was for North Carolina. They told us down there Wade actually got out and played in the line with the boys in practice during the last two weeks. Anyway, it was a perfect job and the result was the biggest upset the South has known since Mississippi topped Alabama.

North Carolina has a real team, right. But it just wasn't in Duke's class Saturday. Next week the week after it might be a different story. Only thing is, the wolf was last week. No files on the, either. It's smart and fast and fast. We'd like to see it against Princeton. The Tigers fight win, but our notion is it would mainly because they've got more nerves.

Well, what about the Rose Bowl? Looks like they may have to look a team from west of the Mississippi if they insist on an upset out fit. It might be a good idea for Southern Methodist and Texas Christian to start their west agents west at once.

North Carolina, Marquette, and Syracuse are out. Dartmouth will have earned a bid if it beats Princeton, but that's something else entirely. If California is the western team it may go right ahead and invite Notre Dame despite that defeat and tie. After all, Notre Dame is the team that makes those turnstile click.

Zeh Still Leads Nation's Scoring

Other teams idle.

With only nine days left to practice before the big Turkey Day battle, the Harvesters of Coaches Odus Mitchell and J. C. Prejean and the Sandies of Coaches Blair Cherry and Howard Lynch were to swing into the final stages of preparation this afternoon behind closed gates.

The Harvesters will start down the home stretch starting from a 25 to 0 loss to the sensational Fort Collins, Colo., Lambskins on Saturday afternoon. The Sandies will remember their easy 49 to 0 victory over Plainview, also on Saturday. Neither team has a game scheduled for this week-end.

Long, hard practices which might include a session on Saturday have been announced for the Harvesters. Blocking will be stressed, coaches announced. The Harvesters pass attack, which functioned so brilliantly early in the season, will be unearthened again it is freely predicted. Another point of concern is expected to be charging.

Pampa defeated Saturday by one of the most brilliant high school football teams ever to roam the turf of Harvesters field. The Harvesters were never able to untrack, something they will have to do against Amarillo. The boys are determined to get the kinks ironed out immediately and Harvesters field will be a place of mystery from on until Thanksgiving day at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

Pampa and Amarillo Sandstorm will work behind the high board fence at Butler field until time for the big game. The Sandstorm looked particularly brilliant against Plainview. The "toe artists" planted balls between the uprights after touchdowns for a perfect average for the day.

SATURDAY'S STARS

(By The Associated Press.)
Monk Meyer, Army—Starred in Army's 6-6 tie with Notre Dame. Threw pass that resulted in his team's score.

John Schmidt, Navy—Scored 3 times against Columbia, twice after runs of 25 and 90 yards.

Parker and Alexander, Duke—Played brilliantly in Duke's starting 25-0 upset of North Carolina.

Andy Uram, Minnesota—Ran 59 and 72 yards for touchdowns as his team routed Michigan 40-0.

McGannon, Purdue—Intercepted Oze Simmon's pass and ran 63 yards for touchdown to give Purdue upset victory over Iowa, 12-6.

Bill Tipton, Southern Methodist—Scored twice after catching passes to give S. M. U. 17-6 victory over the University of Arkansas.

Sammy Baugh, Texas Christian—Seven of his 15 passes were good and three ended in touchdowns as Texas Christian beat the University of Texas 28-0.

EXIT DOMINI

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (AP)—The cleric who smiled at profanity, told that a corpse lay near the western school selected by the conference, alone holds that right.

The const race will decide itself Saturday when California plays Stanford. Should the bears win, the vote of the conference will be a matter of form. If Stanford is victorious, the bid can easily go to Coach Claude (Tiny) Thornhill's team for the third successive year.

California, it was understood, would like to tackle Notre Dame, despite its defeat by Northwestern and a tie with Army. Stanford has played Dartmouth in a past regular season and probably would be glad to invite the big green team should it be successful.

If Texas Christian beats Southern Methodist, along with Rice, it will have a fine chance to sell itself to the northern California teams when it closes the season at San Francisco against Santa Clara.

The flowers and leaves of the ginger plant are borne on separate stems.

Henry Sundermann, brief case by his side, sat in rapt attention at a public discussion on stream pollution.

Suddenly an alarm clock rang. Sundermann dove into the brief case.

"Gotta go," he apologized. "I've got to meet the wife in 15 minutes—and she didn't let me forget."

HORNED FROGS TO BANG INTO RICE SATURDAY

TILT IS LIKELY TO BE GREATEST WEEK-END GAME

BY BILL PARKER,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

Southwest football fans, already jittery from watching the Southern Methodist Mustangs and Texas Christian's Frogs go through nine games with a clear record, prepared for another strenuous week-end as the two Texas teams glowed in the national spotlight.

Togly the Methodists and Christians ranked at the head of seven undefeated and untied major teams in the United States. Both rank as leading Rose Bowl contenders.

Saturday football highways will lead to Fort Worth where the invading Rice Owls, steam-rolling with power and domination, will bring into Texas Christian in what should develop into the country's greatest week-end game. The game is expected to attract 30,000 persons.

Texas Christian turned loose Saturday and smothered the University of Texas, 28 to 0, with an assortment of baffling plunges and aerials for its ninth victory. Rice walloped Texas A. & M., 17-10.

Rice's consistent stars, John McCauley, the conference's best all-around backfield performer, and American Bill Wallace, John Sylvester, field goal kicker and smash-in wing, will be primed for this game.

The combat will bring together two 1934 all-Americans in Wallace and Captain Darrell Lester, Texas Christian's giant center.

Southern Methodist appears to have too much touchdown power for Baylor, but there is one thing about this game that places it in the doubtful column. It is conference history that Baylor has a "jinx" on Southern Methodist. Last year it was a powerful Southern Methodist team that jumped on a weak Baylor team, but it was the Baylor team that won, 13-6.

Southern Methodist, paced by Robert Wilson, all-America half-back candidate, proved its strength last week by beating U. C. L. A. 21-0, and five days later beat the University of Arkansas 17-6.

It was a crippled Mustang team that went to Fayetteville and whiped the Razorbacks on their homecoming. Wetsel, guard, and Sprague, blocking back, who have been crippled, are expected to be ready to re-join the Mustangs against Baylor.

If Texas Christian and Southern Methodist win Saturday, they will meet on Saturday, Nov. 30, with untied and undefeated records and with the 1935 Southwest conference championship in the balance.

Only 12 Names On Undefeated, Untied Roster

NEW YORK, Nov. 18. (AP)—A double dose of grief was handed out to the nation's undefeated football teams last week as armistice day wiped three names off the list and Saturday removed a few more.

As a result there are only 12 left today neither beaten nor tied.

The Southwest conference rivals, Southern Methodist and Texas Christian, share the lead with California's Golden Bears.

The records of the undefeated and untied teams follow:

Winner of seven straight games, Cochran plays Arthur Thurnblad, of Chicago tonight, and, if victorious, meets Willie Hoppe, master of the 181 game for the championship tomorrow.

Hoppe firmly entrenched himself in second place last night, with seven victories and one defeat. He outplayed Johnny Layton, of Sedalia, Mo., defending champion, 50 to 41 in 50 innings.

CANADA TRADE TO BE DOUBLED SAYS PRESIDENT

New Drastic Treaty Completed With Neighbors

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—After making public a reciprocal trade treaty described officially as "a revolution" in commercial relations between Canada and the United States, the new deal watched closely today for the reaction of the country.

First comments showed conflicting views. President Roosevelt, explaining the pact to a large gathering of newspaper men in the oval room of the White House yesterday, said it would double the trade between the neighboring nations in a year or two.

On the other hand Fred Breckman, Washington representative of the National Grange, said at Sacramento that the treaty was "cold comfort to the American farmer."

While Representative Brewster (R., Me.) said a reduction of duty on Canadian seed potatoes, as provided in the pact, would be a flat contradiction of a presidential promise made to the Maine congressional delegation.

Legislators eagerly felt into the treaty to see how it affected their areas. Senator O'Mahoney (D., Wyo.), one of the first to comment, expressed the belief it would benefit especially the Rocky Mountain area.

Snite Manufacturers. James D. Mooney, president of the American Manufacturers association, said at New York there was "not the slightest doubt" that trade would broaden and that "even the people who think they will be hurt will benefit."

The treaty, signed last Friday by Secretary of State Hull and Premier W. L. McKenzie King of Canada, is an almost complete revamping of the tariff structure between the two nations. In all, more than 800 commodities are affected by the concessions.

The United States granted cuts of 79 major articles, including reductions of tariffs on cattle, calves, dairy cows, and cream, subject to quotas described as narrow; on four-year-old aged-in-the-wood whiskey; certain kinds of lumber, some fish, some minerals and vegetables.

Canada granted the United States duty reductions on 180 articles, made other concessions and agreed to give American products the lowest rates accorded to any non-British nation. The Canadian leader also promised to move for liberalization of methods of valuing imports which American officials considered arbitrary and unreasonable.

Under most-favored-nation treaties which the United States has with other countries, all concessions granted Canada will be given to every other country except Germany, which has denounced her

Gifts were sent by Mrs. George R. Clark, Mrs. T. A. Cox, and Miss Loma Groom.

At the bridge party, Mrs. Clifford Jones made high score and Mrs. Cleve Huff second high in the Canadian seed potatoes, as provided in the pact, would be a flat contradiction of a presidential promise made to the Maine congressional delegation.

Legislators eagerly felt into the treaty to see how it affected their areas. Senator O'Mahoney (D., Wyo.), one of the first to comment, expressed the belief it would benefit especially the Rocky Mountain area.

Snite Manufacturers. James D. Mooney, president of the American Manufacturers association, said at New York there was "not the slightest doubt" that trade would broaden and that "even the people who think they will be hurt will benefit."

The treaty, signed last Friday by Secretary of State Hull and Premier W. L. McKenzie King of Canada, is an almost complete revamping of the tariff structure between the two nations. In all, more than 800 commodities are affected by the concessions.

The United States granted cuts of 79 major articles, including reductions of tariffs on cattle, calves, dairy cows, and cream, subject to quotas described as narrow; on four-year-old aged-in-the-wood whiskey; certain kinds of lumber, some fish, some minerals and vegetables.

Canada granted the United States duty reductions on 180 articles, made other concessions and agreed to give American products the lowest rates accorded to any non-British nation. The Canadian leader also promised to move for liberalization of methods of valuing imports which American officials considered arbitrary and unreasonable.

Under most-favored-nation treaties which the United States has with other countries, all concessions granted Canada will be given to every other country except Germany, which has denounced her

Ancient Fad

You'll know at a glance it's Dolores Del Rio! But Hollywood didn't, and was properly amazed when the exotic film star swept into a recent film colony party behind this mask, a replica of those worn by ladies of the medieval royal court. Dolores' stunt now is taking on the proportions of a Hollywood vogue.

Sheriff Threatens To Dig Up Another Skeleton Soon

Slaying Mysteries in East Texas Are Cleared Up

NEWTON, Nov. 18 (AP)—Sheriff T. S. Hughes, who last week dug up the skeleton of a man alleged to have been slain five years ago, said today he planned to dig up another skeleton as soon as he had time, and that he had received information on several other mysteries.

"Today Sheriff Hughes and District Attorney Hollis Kinard of Orange were called to Houston for the trial of the Rev. Edgar Eskridge, former Orange pastor, on a charge of slaying an Orange police chief.

"From all accounts," the sheriff said, "it appears the woods around Scappin' Valley have become a graveyard for men killed by whisky makers. I have received information on several other mysteries."

Hughes said Vernon Wells, 28, a Port Arthur refinery worker, made a written statement naming his father, the late Pete Wells, as the slayer of Richard Ridgeway, 40, the man whose skeleton Hughes dug up last Thursday. Wells was charged with murder, as was his brother-in-law, Albert (Pete) Williams, a farmer. A third man was sought.

Ridgeway, a former foreman of a sawmill, the sheriff said, was working at a whisky still for Pete Wells and threatened to tell officers about it because he had not been paid for two months. The sheriff quoted Vernon Wells as saying he saw his father shoot Ridgeway with a blast from a shotgun. The blast did not kill him, and Vernon said the man was buried alive.

Ridgeway's disappearance was not reported, sheriff Hughes declared, and he did not learn of it until a year ago. He was questioning Pete Wells about the matter a short time ago when Wells climbed a wall of the jail here, where he was held in connection with the theft of some cattle, and fell on his head. He died of his injuries two weeks ago.

About a week ago Sheriff Hughes received a mysterious "tip," he explained, that he would find Ridgeway's grave at a certain spot. He dug there, and exhumed the skeleton. A brother, W. A. Ridgeway, identified it, through X-ray plates of a broken arm.

Sheriff Hughes said he had located the spot where the body of another man, killed eight years ago, was buried, and planned to exhumate the skeleton as soon as he returned from Houston.

The sheriff refused to show newspapermen Vernon Wells' statement, saying it contained some facts he wanted to keep secret for the present, but he permitted newspapermen to interview Wells, who admitted all the sheriff quoted him, as saying in the statement.

"Dad said I would go just like Ridgeway did," Wells explained, when asked why he had not told about the killing previously.

There Jean discovered that she was hungry, so she ate dinner in the restaurant. She sat at a table on a rickety veranda overlooking the water.

By the time they had finished it was nearly dark. Sandy led the way out to the car; and when they had got in he paused, with one hand on the ignition switch, to look up at her and say, "Well, what do you say about a long ride, now, and come home by moonlight?"

She hesitated, then shook her head.

"Please not, Sandy," she said. "I've got to be home tonight."

"To her surprise he did not insist. He started the car and drove her to her apartment with all due dispatch. On the way he had little to say, but when he drove to the curb at her door he grinned at her and said, "Now, there was no harm done, was there, by our having a little date for ourselves?"

She shook her head and smiled.

"Well, then—how about another, some time, soon?"

"Sandy, you're the most insistent person... We'll see."

He laughed boyishly and opened the door for her. To her surprise he did not try to kiss her good night; he simply sat at the wheel and watched her as she crossed the walk and entered the building.

As she came into her apartment the telephone was ringing. She answered, to hear Robby's voice:

"Hey, where you been? I been trying to get you," he said, excitedly.

"Listen, Jean—Mr. Montague's going to buy those bonds—and I'm going to make two thousand dollars on the deal!"

Chapter 9

Jean said, trying to clear her brain of the sleep which the ringing telephone had interrupted. "But, Bobby, what makes you think you can sell anything to Mr. Montague? And how can I introduce you to him, anyhow? After all, I'm only his stenographer, and—"

"You leave all that to me," said Bobby confidently. "Just get me into his office, and I'll do the rest. The worst he can do is say no. And listen, Jean—"

"Yes?"

"I don't know why I'm going to try to do it, don't you?"

"Why?"

"Well... if I can do it, and make a couple of thousand dollars, like Mr. What's-his-name said, Jean, will you marry me then?"

"Bobby, I can't be wakened out of a sound sleep to be proposed to! If you want to see Mr. Montague, call me up tomorrow and I'll see if I can fix it."

"Okay. Goodnight, sweetheart."

"Good night."

"So the next day Bobby did call Jean. Only the fact that Mr. Montague always seemed to take a kindly, rather-fatherly interest in her nerved her to try to make the engagement for him; but after a good deal of fumbling around she managed to persuade him to set an hour when Bobby could try his salesmanship on him.

"I'll come in tomorrow about 2," he said, smiling. "This is sure I don't know just what this is all about, but if he's your boy friend I'll take a chance on him."

She thanked him and, when she got a chance, called Bobby and gave him the news.

"Wish me luck?" asked Bobby.

"Why, of course."

"Thanks. And say, honey, how do you want the living room papered; anyhow? Personally, I always liked a dark plain paper, but if you want some of that light, figured stuff a person sees so much of these days, why—"

"Bobby Wallace, what are you talking about?"

"Why, a new apartment, of course, the one we're going to have after Mr. Montague buys these bonds off me."

"Bobby, listen... I'm not—don't rush me off my feet this way. I don't want to try to marry anybody yet, and—"

"Oh, all right. But if I ever get that money in my hands, the rush is going to be something terrible."

When she hung up she stared at her hand and wondered what had made her say that. Only the day before she had insisted to Sandy that she was "practically engaged" to Bobby; today, when Bobby mentioned the matter, she had reminded him that perhaps the engagement wasn't so very definite after all. Why did she seem to have an impulse to head Bobby off when he spoke of marriage?

"I'm still too young to get married," she told herself doubtfully. Far down somewhere she heard her conscience jeering at her.

The next afternoon Bobby presented himself at the office promptly at 2 Mr. Montague was busy, at the moment, Bobby had to wait some 15 minutes before he could get in; and the door to Mr. Montague's private office had hardly closed behind him before Mr. Montague opened it slightly, she heard, and said, "Oh, by the way, Miss Dunn, I've nothing more for you this afternoon; why don't you go home?"

"Pleased to have most of the afternoon off, she hastened to leave; it was not until she had got down to the lobby that she realized that Bobby would undoubtedly be anxious to see her as soon as she came out.

"I'll just kill a little time in the shop, and then wait for him in the lobby," she thought. So she strolled out to the sidewalk—and found Sandy standing there, a straw hat tipped jauntily over one ear, smoking a cigarette. He dropped the cigarette, removed the hat, and sprang to her side.

"Well, now isn't this nice?" he said. "And me just hoping somebody like you would come wandering out of there."

"Somebody like me? How much like me?"

"Oh—" They were walking slowly along the sidewalk, and Sandy was almost imperceptibly guiding her to the curb. "Just about your height, with cornsilk-yellow hair like yours, and a neat blue suit with a little red star, and a go-to-the-dickens hat tugged down over one eye—"

He grinned, and stopped. She discovered that he had led her to the door of his rooster. "Hop in," he said.

"I can't," she said. "I've—I've got to wait for somebody."

"Oh, we'll just ride around for 10 or 15 minutes and then come back home."

She found herself obeying, and before she could find another word to say the car had moved away

Great North Wind Combated By Pampa Expedition Which Is At Gate Of Santa's Land

By Captain F. E. Kleinschmidt
Special Correspondent of The News and Head of Expedition to Home of Santa Claus (By Wireless)

From station FEK enroute to Santa Land—Banks Land:

"As soon as the moon came up again we pressed our obedient reindeer to the limit to get to the gap in the mountains which old Annok had told us was near the cave of Layluk the northwind. We made splendid progress and many miles over the great snow plains and glistening white blanket of ice, until we reached a canyon with steep, frowning black walls on which not even the snow could rest. The wind it whistles and moans and chills us with its icy breath. I have never encountered such gales and the mercury in the thermometer so low. Sharp particles of ice were whipped into our faces and the snow was swirling in such fury and dense masses around us, we could scarcely see the reindeer in front of us. Layluk's presence was felt by the reindeer, too. The faithful animals worked with a vim and strained at the traces. Despite the furious attacks of Layluk, the deer continued to make headway and from time to time they raised their heads and shook their antlers in defiance of the northwind. They had encountered Layluk before and their heavy fur coats are impervious to his breath, but never was his wrath so furious as on this day. The fact is, all northern animals and especially the reindeer always have to face the wind because the storm and snow glides off their coat of fur like rain from a duck. If they turn their backs to a blizzard it will blow the snow into their fur to the very skin.

Too Severe For Dogs
It was wise not to take dogs, for no dogteam could have faced this blizzard.

Layluk it must be understood, is no friend of Santa Claus, and does not guard his territory out of friendship.

Centuries ago he resented the presence of the good old Saint in Eskimoland and for many years he attempted to drive Santa from his domain.

But Santa Claus being wise continued to let his whiskers grow and laughed and laughed. They only served to make the northwind more angry than before, and then when he tried to blow his Ice Palace and reindeer from the face of North Poleville and couldn't do it, he gave up and retreated into his cave.

Battling with Layluk all day and climbing the pass step by step, the fight finally sapped all our strength and we came to a halt. Our fingers tips were frozen and our feet felt like wood. Mrs. K. had her nose frozen. We were hungry and very, very tired.

It took us two hours to pitch camp and then we had to battle for our lives to keep the snow drifts from piling up on us and burying us and the reindeer. We huddled together and the Eskimos gave us some dried seal meat for we could not even light our alcohol stoves.

What were we to do? We could not stay here any longer without perishing. Were we to turn back and give up the expedition and disappoint all the children. It would have been justified.

We walked until the full moon came up again for the moon dispenses storms and clouds as the sun does fog and mist. Sure enough, there seemed to be a connection between the moon and Layluk. The blizzard let up a little, we rushed out, our deer lifted their heads, Patunuk spoke to them in Eskimo and brushed the icicles from their mouths and nostrils.

We started out again and to our surprise the narrow canyon began sloping down hill. We had stopped just at the dividing line between success and failure, as happens so often in one's life.

We were passed Laluk's save and although he still looked and roared at us his raging fainter and less until we found ourselves on a wide, level plain called a tundra with soft snow and underneath it an abundance of reindeer moss for which we were grateful for our faithful animals needed food and rest as much as we did. They pawed the snow with their sharp little hoofs and shoveled away the snow with their antlers.

A Warm Meal
We gathered some of the moss and built a campfire, and Mrs. K. true to the promise you will remember she made before leaving New York with the assistance of the Eskimos, played cook and got busy preparing a warm meal and a good cup of coffee. It strengthened our bodies and our spirits but we were so tired it took us some time before we fell into a dead sleep.

It seemed we had barely closed our eyes when I woke up and saw Patunuk standing over me and I wanted to ask him why he didn't go to bed, when I heard him say "Ka-blo-ni -Asin-Asin" (White man get up, get up).

We had slept 8 hours. The deer, instead of lying contentedly chewing their cud, were excited and running to the end of their ropes, lifting their heads and tossing their antlers, sniffing and snorting.

Knew What Was Up
I had often driven reindeer and I knew what was up. They had smelled a reindeer herd, and in a strong wind these animals can smell a large herd for 40 miles. The reindeer are gregarious, that is they live in herds so they wanted to be off to join their brothers. If the herd happens to be in the direction you are going you have fine sailing, as they will run at top speed until they reach the herd. But, oh, if the herd is in the opposite direction, look out for you have trouble on your hands.

We quickly broke camp and hitched up. The deer flew across the tundra in great leaps and bounds, as if they had no sleigh or load behind them.

They threw the clods of snow from their hoofs so we had to lie down on the sleighs and cover our faces. You know how hot and perspiring you get when you run! The deer do not perspire through their skin as we do, or as horses do, but they perspire through their mouths which they open wide letting great clouds of steam rush into the freezing air with a hissing sound. The air is so cold up here that the breath freezes immediately and we were soon covered all over with the particles of the frozen moisture until we looked like snowy fuzzy-wuzzy creatures.

The reindeer kept up their terrific pace for six hours straight.

Vast Herd of Reindeer
Just as the big moon sunk behind a low ridge of mountains, we began to see hundreds and then thousands of dark spots scattered in groups all over the great plain. It was a vast herd of reindeer.

A few minutes more and our sleds were right among them and our reindeer stopped, panting from their fast run.

By the gleam of the Northern Lights we pitched camp and built a campfire, with the reindeer all around us, looking at the with great soft brown eyes.

MARK TWAIN PREDICTED UNITED STATES WOULD BE MONARCHY IN 1935; FORESAW TRIP TO CHINA

NEW YORK, Nov. 18 (P)—The United States has one day left to become a monarchy if Mark Twain's prophecy is to come true.

Sixty-one years ago Saturday the humorist, whose legal name was Samuel L. Clemens, wrote a letter to his wife from Boston, detailing the state of the monarchy and stuffed with tidbits of gossip about this marquis and that duke. "You should have seen the guards at the dual palace stare," he wrote. "When I said, 'Announce his grace the archbishop of Dublin and the right honorable the early of Hartford.'"

With typical Twain slyness, he did not boldly announce the existence of the monarchy. He merely inferred it. The Rev. Joseph Twichell, his best friend, he named the archbishop of Dublin. He himself he named the earl of Hartford.

The letter, dated Nov. 18, 1935, foreshadowed considerably but it reflected some amazingly true prophecy. He described a trip by air from the United States to China—and history is about to be made today by the first regular transpacific flight across the Pacific this month. But he was optimistic. His passage, he wrote, was delayed by a collision "and I was nearly an hour on my journey."

He added, "I love to lose time enroute because it brings soothing reminiscences of the creeping railroad days of old, now lost to us forever."

He vented his spleen on telegraphic communication. "When I see one of these modern fools sit absorbed," he told "Lady Hartford," his wife, "holding the end of telegraph wire in his hand and reflect that a thousand miles away there is another fool hitched to the other end of it, it makes me frantic with rage."

He was not optimistic enough on that point. Wireless communication, replacing the telegraph which already was in commercial use in Twain's day, is now a commonplace.

The letter, made public by the Mark Twain Centennial committee here, was signed, "Hartford."

In this Changing World - One Thing as yet Unchanged

The Associated Press is today the only exclusively newspaper press association in America.

A general definition of one that sells news to advertisers, bankers, brokers, government offices, as well as newspapers is "news agency". Europe has such news agencies. They were created to serve at profit others than newspapers. Later they served newspapers too.

In America the reverse is now true. Certain press services operated here for years exclusively for newspapers as The Associated Press still does. Thus they were properly termed "press associations" Having started services directly or indirectly to advertisers, United States government offices, radio stations, etc., those others are now properly defined as news agencies.

The change is regretted. There is something sentimental to an A.P. man about the "smell of printers' ink". There is a glow out of collecting and writing news for whatever use newspapers make of it. It would bring a strange feeling even in this changing world if the A.P. man's duty was to try, among other things, to obtain and deliver a good news story that would satisfy a United States government office client or an advertising client in the same way he wants his news reports to satisfy A.P. newspapers. The A.P. man may be wrong about this but he would have a strange feeling in undertaking it.

The president of The Associated Press, Mr. Noyes, in a message to the recent meeting of managing editors of Associated Press newspapers said:

"I invite you to note that a privately owned news gathering organization has, directly or indirectly, accepted as one customer a very large industrial corporation from which it will (through a broadcasting arrangement) be in receipt of large sums of money.

"I ask you to consider the peril that would confront you if The Associated Press was in relations to larger financial interests of any kind—banking, public utility, oil companies or any other large interests—that involved the receipt by your organization of large sums of money and made it (possibly unjustly) in the view of the general public subservient to these interests."

There are those who have always believed, and still believe, that The Associated Press, with its cooperative form of organization, controlled alone by the newspapers in its membership and financed alone by them, is the greatest bulwark of a free press that exists in America today. If the newspapers in its membership ever would fail in their support of it or if it now suffers to the point of injury by the competition of news agencies heavily financed by the patronage of United States government offices, advertisers and others than newspapers, it would be a sorry day not alone for the future of the newspapers but for all the people of this country.

The employees of The Associated Press serve but one interest—the newspaper, and through its member newspapers they serve the public interest.

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The world's most important news service, the world's largest press association news service and larger than any news agency anywhere.

The only news service in America operated solely to serve newspapers.

ROGERS' BELOVED HUMOR HEARD AGAIN IN FILM OF RACE MEET

The picture that marks the glorious climax of Will Rogers' career, "In Old Kentucky," opened Sunday at La Nora theater to bring America's beloved star to the screen in a thrilling picturization of America's favorite play.

Skillfully modernized by the screenwriters, "In Old Kentucky" is mellow with the humor that brought Will Rogers fame, filled with the romance and the excitement of racing thoroughbreds that made this story the favorite of millions of Americans.

Rogers has the role of Steve Tapley, a trainer of champions and the skillful guide of young love in a land where all the horses are fast and the women beautiful.

Around the romance of Dorothy Wilson and Russell Hardie much of the picture's action centers. Hardie is the trainer for wealthy Charles Richman, a job Rogers lost when he protected Miss Wilson's grandfather, Charles Sellon, from Richman's wrath.

The task of training Miss Wilson's horse for the Ashford stakes takes up only part of Rogers' time, however. He is at the same time engaged in the courtship of a Southern lady, played by Esther Dale. And Bill Robinson, the famous dancer, is his able aid in both these tasks.

Through plot and counterplot, this delightful story weaves its way, bringing us to the spectacular climax in the race. And here Miss Wilson defies all precedent by riding her mount to victory and a happy solution for all concerned.

George Marshall, the director, again displays unusual ability in his spirited handling of the picture, working from a script by Sam Hellman, noted humorist, and Gladys Lehman.

In the supporting cast, Bill Robinson, makes his bid for consideration as a leading character player, and Charles Sellon, Charles Richman, Alan Dinehart and Louise Henry render outstanding performances in important roles.

ITALY

had been deserted in villages of Ogaden province as the black troops fled.

Italian armored cars, said an unconfirmed report from Djibouti, French Somaliland, penetrated even to Harar, with airplanes, but turned back and rejoined the southern columns.

Ethiopia's king of kings, said a high authority at Addis Ababa, probably will go to the northern front within ten days, after which his troops will make their first rigid stand against the invaders.

Dismal Outlook For Young Folks Pictured by Dean

EL PASO, Nov. 18 (AP)—A "dismal" outlook for the young people of the United States "in a world where there are no jobs waiting for them" was painted here today by Mrs. S. M. N. Marrs, dean of Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers officials, here for a four-day convention.

"If the opportunity to earn a living is not given back to our people soon, the morals of our nation will be broken down," Mrs. Marrs said. "Pensions are necessary, I suppose. But I am most concerned for the young people."

Mrs. Marrs emphasized the non-political phase of the P. T. A. "Whenever a local organization gets involved in a school-board election, it loses its identity," she said. "It becomes involved in personal issues to inform the public of the conditions in public education, in measures affecting the home. When the public is informed, it will act."

Mrs. Marrs predicts the growing group of women, numbering nearly two million, will some day be one of the strongest factors in the nation.

Mrs. Marrs said parents today are saner and their judgment is less influenced by their emotions.

JAPS

said, will be Gen. Sung Chueh-Yuan, commander of the Peiping Tientsin garrison, and Governor Han Fu-Chu of Shantung province. Their chief associates are expected to be Gen. Shiang Chen, governor of Hopei province, Hsiao Cheng-Ying, governor of Chahar, Gen. Hsu Yung-Chang, Gen. Fu Tso-Yi, head of the Suiyung provincial government, and the mayors of Peiping and Tientsin.

The Japanese communications, with a unanimity of detail indicating a common and well informed source, recount the alleged intrigues of the Nanking government and the Kuomintang—the Chinese nationalist party—then assert that the declaration of independence will declare four principles:

- 1. The complete autonomy of North China;
2. The severance of all financial and economic ties with the Nanking government;
3. The cooperation of the Japanese army in the prevention of the spread of communism;
4. The promotion of cordial relations among North China, Japan, and Manchoukuo.

THE PANHANDLER in Panhandle Herald—Billy Sunday, America's greatest evangelist, died in Chicago the other day. As a lad of 15, The Panhandler heard him speak several times in Joplin, Mo. The only statement that is remembered after a long lapse of years is: "The place for liquor is not in my belly nor in your belly, but in hell."

Mrs. C. H. Huff of Panhandle was admitted to Pampa-Jarratt hospital for medical attention this morning.

C. E. Mace was admitted to Pampa-Jarratt hospital this morning.

COURT

None of the action today involved final decisions on new deal legislation. It was based on questions of proper procedure.

In the only case decided, the court unanimously upheld Oregon regulations to govern the kind of raspberry and strawberry boxes used in that state. The opinion was read by Justice Brandeis.

Mrs. J. D. Fish was dismissed from Pampa-Jarratt hospital yesterday after a major operation.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Early to Go
The liver should pour out two pounds of bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sick and the world looks pink.

Calomel is only a makeshift. A new bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Cleanse, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c.
