Sabre Jet Pilots Set Record As 46 MIGs Blasted From Sky

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — U. S. Sabre jet pilots today blasted four Red MIG-15s out of North Korean skies and raised to a record 46 the number of Communist warplanes destroyed in one month, the U. S. Fifth Air Force said.

The four destruction claims, plus confirmation of a Sept. 4 kill, pushed September's figure past the previous high of 44, set in April. The April figure included 41 MIGs destroyed in air combat and three propeller-driven fighters caught on the ground.

The September Allied pilots also reported three MIGs probably destroyed and 36 damaged.

The fighter-bombers attacked a military boat concentration on Korea's west coast in the Simni Island area near Sinju.

Pilots said one 35-foot boat was destroyed and two damaged, and six smaller boats were destroyed and 22 damaged.

Farther south, other fighter bombers attacked two troop concentrations near Sariwon. The Air Force reported 45 buildings leveled and four others damaged.

Home Buyers Free To Get Loan Without Federal Interference

WASHINGTON (AP) — Starting now you are free to buy a new house on whatever terms you can arrange, without any government supervision or regulation.

The Federal Reserve Board on home buyers and purchasers of commercial property loose yesterday when it suspended Regulation X. That is the government order since, October, 1950, had set official limits on the amount of credit lenders could give in home and commercial property sales.

Regulation X applied only to new buildings.

Simultaneously the Housing and Home Finance Agency (HFA) announced it was loosening its regulations governing credit in home sales where government loans or guarantees are a part of the transaction.

These moves followed notice by the Bureau of Labor Statistics to the Federal Reserve Board and the HFA yesterday that housing construction during June, July and August indicated that not more than 1,200,000 units would be started during the year.

Under amendments to the 1952 Defense Production Act, Regulation X had to be lifted if housing starts during three consecutive months, adjusted on a seasonal basis, pointed to fewer than 1,200,000 new homes or apartments in a year's building.

The Federal Reserve Board suspended Regulation X without comment.

But Housing Administrator Raymond M. Soley made it clear in a statement that he was not happy to open the credit dikes on government-backed housing. He suggested that Regulation X might have to be reimposed later on.

In the amendments which provided for suspension of Regulation X, Congress also provided that if during any three months housing starts went above 1,200,000 on an annual basis the government could put the regulation back into force.

This, however, is not mandatory.

Regulation X, which went out last midnight, required a down payment of at least 5 per cent on houses selling for $7,000 or less.

Local Builders See Little Change For Housing Picture

Members of the Pampa construction and loan business are in favor of the suspension of Regulation X by the Federal Reserve Board. But, by and large, they don't think that too much effect will be felt from it in the area.

Regulation X required that purchasers of new housing put up down payments of not less than five per cent on houses costing $7,000 or less. The required down payment ranged up to 40 per cent on houses valued at $25,000 or more.

The suspension is effective Sept. 16.

Lynn Boyd thought that there would be no particular difference in the extent of new home purchasing as a result of the board's move.

Although it seemed pretty good on the surface, he continued, the big factor—sometimes unrecognized—is the financing involved. A change in the interest rate, he said, would really make a lot of difference.

M. P. Downs thought that there would be some effect, though it would be slow in taking effect, because people just out of houses are selling for $7,000 or less.

Young Couple Found Dead As Friends Prepare Wedding

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — As friends made plans for an elaborate wedding for them, a young couple—apparently honeymooning—were found shot to death yesterday in a lavish penthouse of the swank Flamingo Hotel.

Officers said murder and suicide were indicated, although no notes were found. Investigators were without a clue to the motive for the deaths.

The man was identified as Adrian Lionel Grodnick, 19, son of Emanuel Grodnick, wealthy New York clothing manufacturer, and the girl as Betty M. Baron, 25, pretty brunette daughter of William Baron, Los Angeles apartment house manager.

Friends in Los Angeles said the couple had planned a formal wedding in Beverly Hills, Calif., next Tuesday.

Near collapse upon learning of the tragedy, the girl's mother, Mrs. Baron, said in Los Angeles that more than 50 of Grodnick's relatives and friends and members of the Baron family from the East planned to attend the wedding and reception. Some are already en route to Los Angeles for a funeral instead of a beautiful wedding, Mrs. Baron wept.

The bodies were discovered by hotel employees. Attired in night clothes, they were sprawled on a bed under the covers. There was no indication of a struggle. Detectives said the girl wore a wedding ring. The couple had registered Sept. 10 as newlyweds.

Sheriff's Capt. Ralph Lamb said no marriage certificate had been filed. They were not married here, he told a reporter, "but they may have been married some place on the way here."

Probe Identity . . . Says Kim Not Missing Girl

FORT WORTH (AP) — Deputy Sheriff Hank Davis who found the self-designated Indian girl, Kim, in woods near here last Friday, said today the girl he found "couldn't possibly be the missing Connie Smith."

"That girl is only 10 years old and weighs about 85 pounds," the deputy pointed out. "Kim said she was 18 and looked it. And she weighs closer to 110 or 115 pounds."

Connecticut state police and the father of Connie Smith, who disappeared two months ago from a girls camp in Connecticut, are checking into the possibility that Kim and Connie may be the same. Connie is the granddaughter of Nils H. Smith, a former governor of Wyoming.

Connie is well developed for her age and in other physical respects bears a resemblance to the girl who was found here.

Rites Wednesday For Crash Victim

Funeral services for Anne Owen, 19, who was killed early Monday morning when the car she was driving crashed into a heavily-loaded oil field pulling truck on the Borger Highway, are scheduled for 4 p.m. Wednesday in the First Christian Church in Pampa.

Miss Owen is survived by her mother, Mrs. Tommie Owen, 815 S. Russell; her father, John Owen of El Paso; a brother, John, Pampa; and a grandmother, Mrs. Birdie Day, Shamrock.

She is to be buried in Fairview Cemetery under the direction of Duenkel-Carmichael Funeral Home.

Miss Owen died of severe head injuries received in the crash and was dead on arrival at Highland General Hospital.

She was a 1951 graduate of Pampa High School and had been employed by the Lane Wells Company for the past four months.

Tom Carver, driver of the truck involved in the accident, was not seriously injured and Richard Many driver of a third car involved, was not injured at all. His car was only slightly damaged.

Scouters To Meet In City Hall Today

Boy Scouts, their parents, leaders, and the general public will meet in the Palm Room of the city hall at 7:30 p.m. today for the first round-table in the current annual Boy Scout Round-up program.

A fun program prepared by local Cub Packs, Boy Scout Troops and Explorer Scout Posts for credit toward Scouting awards will follow the program.

Further plans for the year's program in Scouting are to be discussed.

Presidential Aspirants Feed Campaign Fires

Adlai Sets Sights For Progressives

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Gov. Adlai Stevenson stepped up in his drive today for the estimated 15 million independent voters in the nation and set his sights as well on what he calls the "Republican progressives."

There are indications at headquarters today that the Democratic presidential candidate is re-crafting his campaign strategy. The event that appeared to have changed his position was last week's meeting between Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, his GOP opponent, and Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio. Stevenson says Eisenhower's "great crusade has become the great surrender."

That Taft has "taken over" the general's campaign. And he added: "This puts an entirely new aspect on the campaign and on the election."

He has been in long strategy conference with his chief lieutenants the past two days.

Up to this point, he has been pegging away at the claim of "disunity" among the Republicans, arguing that the Taft backers and the Eisenhower supporters cannot have both the "elephant." He found many phrases on that score.

Correspondents asked him, in news conference yesterday, whether he will continue that line now that Taft and Eisenhower have held the long-awaited meeting. He replied: "That remains to be seen."

The atmosphere here now that Stevenson's principal advisers have had time to examine the position in the GOP camp contains mixed reactions.

On the one hand, the strength of Taft's organization is well recognized. The governor's aides—insisting that Taft is in driver's seat—believe he will bring over to Eisenhower a good deal of Republican support the general has been hoping for. They feel that some backers, heretofore lukewarm and half-hearted, will become active now.

But they hope to counter that by appealing to the independent voters and to the "Republican progressives." Stevenson said in news conference.

"From what I've read and the messages I've received, I gather that the Republican progressives who fought so hard for the general at Chicago are wondering what has become of the 'great crusade.' So am I."

FROM LASS TO LADDIE—Dr. Elizabeth Forbes-Semphill, an Alford, Aberdeenshire, Scotland physician, handed British officials a real problem by announcing completion of legal formalities to change her sex from female to male. The doctor, shown in a Highland dress in a recent picture, may be in line for a Scottish baronetcy and property that goes with it if her newly claimed sex status is accepted. She took the name of Dr. Ewan Forbes-Semphill and explained that being a woman was embarrassing and confusing. She said medical treatment has finally established her masculinity. (AP Wirephoto)

GOP Cheers Success Of Ike Invasion

ABOARD EISENHOWER SPECIAL (AP) — General Dwight D. Eisenhower's crowd - packed invasion of the Midwest evoked cheers today from his campaign managers.

The Republican nominee carried into possibly hostile territory in Minnesota his serious-minded bid for the presidency.

Arthur Summerfield, Republican national chairman, told this reporter Eisenhower's backers are "entirely satisfied" with the impression the general made on about a quarter of a million persons who turned out to see and hear him in Illinois and Indiana yesterday.

Summerfield said Eisenhower will continue to deprecate the levity with which his Democratic opponent, Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois, has described Republican reaction to many of the issues of the day.

"Gen. Eisenhower's own sincerity and his recognition of the seriousness of the situation existing today contrasts sharply with his opponent's wisecracks and I believe the fact is impressing the people," Summerfield said.

Eisenhower will desert his campaign train temporarily this afternoon to fly to New York, where he will speak before the American Federation of Labor convention tomorrow. He will pick up his train again tomorrow night in Moline, Ill.

Showdown Seen On Use Of Party Label

By The Associated Press

A court fight between battling Texas political factions and a meeting of "Democrats for Eisenhower" — both in Austin — featured the state's political scene today.

The state agriculture commissioner and a state representative, meanwhile, had whipped a partisan Nueces County crowd to prolonged cheers Monday night with speeches backing the national Democratic ticket.

Two factions of battling Texans — both calling themselves Democrats — battled it out today in Judge Jack Roberts' 126th District Court at Austin.

Judge Roberts was to hear arguments on a suit challenging the use of the Democratic label in a try to get the name of Republican Presidential Nominee Dwight D. Eisenhower on the general election ballot in Texas as a candidate of the "Texas Democratic Party."

Typhoon Hits Wake Island

HONOLULU (AP) — A raging typhoon with winds up to 140 miles an hour lashed tiny Wake Island yesterday, demolished living quarters and communications and sent the sea crashing over the entire island.

Mountainous seas and torrential rains battered the island which is only 15 feet above sea level, all afternoon, subsiding only late at night.

Air-sea rescue planes left Honolulu's Hickam Field and Kwajalein this morning with food, water and medical supplies for the 600 men, women and children marooned on the coral speck 2,300 miles west of here.

The military transport Answorth was diverted from its course about 700 miles southeast of Wake and ordered to evacuate the stricken residents and transients.

An unidentified Civil Aeronautics Authority maintenance man cranked up the radio of a grounded plane and gave the first details of the disaster.

The only injuries reported were comparatively minor: one man with a broken leg, another with fractured ribs.

City Annexation Plan Discussed By Citizens' Group

Approximately one dozen Pampa residents attended the weekly meeting of the City Commission today — but none of them apparently came for the specific purpose of participating in the announced public budget hearing.

Main point of discussion was the problem of whether, and in what manner, the 70-acre plot of land in the southwest part of town would be incorporated within the city limits.

N. L. Nicholl, 1130 S. Hobart, was spokesman for a group of people living in the southwest area, who wanted one semi-commercial alley through the middle of the plot — instead of two alleys, one on each side of the plot.

Opposing him was C. C. Matheny, 1120 S. Hobart, who said, "If we are going to come into the city, let's do it right — the way it's been proposed."

City Director of the summer recreation program, gave a report on the past summer's activities.

Enrolled at the end of the summer in the program, he said, were 522 youngsters. Suggestions for improvements included a wading pool for Carver school children and a shortening of the nine-week program by two weeks — one on each end.

Approved at the meeting were library bills of $156.61 and the Boyd subdivision of Block No. 13 of the Keister Addition.

The budget had not been fully discussed at 11 a.m.

Pampa Girl Hurt In Auto Accident

Miss Donna Conley, who was injured Monday when the car she was driving overturned near Abilene will remain in an Abilene hospital for a few days and return to the State Jack Riggs Hospital for a two-week recuperation period.

Miss Conley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Conley, was accompanied by Jimmy Orr, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Orr, all of Pampa. The couple was en route to Houston where both plan to enroll in Rice Institute.

Young Orr was not injured and continued his trip to Houston. The car overturned about 10 a.m. when it hit loose gravel at the end of a curve.

Miss Conley's father, who was in Colorado at the time of the accident, has gone by plane to Abilene and will accompany her home. The car, a 1952 model, was demolished by the accident.

Miss Conley plans to enroll in the institute after her two-week recuperation.

President Ridicules Foes Of Medical Plan

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — President Truman today described opponents of compulsory medical insurance — they include Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower — as "pullbacks" who want to "go back to the horse and buggy days."

The President declared "it is a job for all of us" to bring medical and health service to the people at a price they can afford to pay.

"I would not such a goal 'socialism,' Truman said. "I would call it a goal of enterprise — American enterprise."

Municipal Airport No Longer Exists

Pampa Municipal Airport no longer exists.

At midnight it legally vanished and Perry LeFors Field took over. Most of the hangars have been moved to the new field. Bruce Parker reports, and fences soon will be straightened out as they were before the county leased the property.

Planes have been landing on the runway at LeFors Field. But the aprons and taxiway asphalt has not been laid. It will be shot off Wednesday or Thursday, according to Weyland Merriman, county engineer. Work is underway now to connect the landing lights.

As soon as gas pumps are installed at the new field, Wesley Lewis, airport manager, plans to move his office there. Lewis figured it would not be until Wednesday.

Civil Aeronautics Authority, Parker said, will not approve the field till everything is ready for full-scale operation. It was hoped, he continued, that it would not be later than Sept. 20.

Employment Here Said Improving

The employment situation in the Pampa area is improving, according to Bill Ragsdale, manager of the local Texas Employment Commission office.

This is particularly true, Ragsdale said, in the matter of full-time jobs and retail sales jobs. As for short-time work and laboring jobs, he continued, it is on pretty much of an even keel.

Ragsdale listed several jobs that the TEC is trying to fill at present. Included are bookkeeper, male and female; salesmen and saleswomen; stenographer, female; carpenter, female; waitress, female; farm workers and ranch workers.

Russ Return Railway; Retain Port

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union announced today that it is handing back control of Manchuria's vital Changchun Railway to the Chinese this year but signed in Moscow on Feb. 14, 1950, the Soviets agreed to the Manchurian naval base of Port Arthur by the end of 1952. In a note published from the Soviet Union, Western observers had suggested that the Manchurian railway was being returned to the Chinese as a gesture of peace and provided in the 1950 agreement of a separate communication said the railway would be returned to the full Chinese administration by the end of this year, without a yen

Russian payment of compensation for its use. A mixed Soviet-Chinese commission will handle details of the hand-over.

There was no reference to the port and rail center of Dairen, 25 miles east of Port Arthur. The 1950 treaty provided that the future of this city and presumably of Russia's rights there would be considered after the signing of a Japanese peace treaty. The lack of any mention of Dairen apparently means the two nations are standing pat on this understanding. The city, meanwhile, has been under Chinese administration.

First Christian Has Homecoming For Three Pastors

Three former pastors of the First Christian Church were present for the regular evening service this past Sunday. Rev. and Mrs. H. H. Tyler and son stopped for a visit en route to California where he reports for duty in the Philippines with the Navy Construction Battalion. They will be in California only for a short while and Mrs. Tyler and son will return to Anadarko, Okla. to their home while he is overseas. Tyler was recalled to active duty recently as a naval chaplain and he resigned his post as pastor of the local church. Another pastor, Rev. Jim Brown, was on his way to Los Angeles, Calif., where he is pastor of the McCarty Memorial Christian Church. He served as the evening speaker. And Thurman Morgan, interim pastor until the new minister arrives, is also a former pastor. None of the three men knew the others were to be present.

High School Has Year's First Rally

Pampa High School's first pep rally for the year was held this morning in the auditorium to give Harvester football team a send-off before they play Austin High in El Paso Thursday. The rally was led by the newly-elected cheer leaders for the year. Sue Stewart, senior, is head cheer leader, and serving with her are Allie Miller and Pat Cargile, seniors; David Fether and Beverly Rodgers, juniors; and Lloyd Brummett and Jo Tooley, sophomores. Mrs. Mabel Torvie is sponsor of the group and the pep squad is made up of the entire student body. The leaders were to appear in uniforms for today's rally. For every ton of iron produced in a blast furnace, about 4-1/2 tons of air are used.

Federal Mediator To Resign Sept. 30

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cyrus S. Ching is resigning as director of the Federal Mediation Service, effective Sept. 30. He will be succeeded by David L. Cole, 50, a Patterson, N. J. lawyer. President Truman announced the change Monday in releasing a "Dear Cy" letter accepting Ching's resignation. Ching, 76, has been director of the mediation and conciliation service since 1947. He told the President "the time has come when I must of necessity give some consideration and attention to my personal affairs." Cole has served on special federal boards dealing with union-management relations on several occasions. He is a former chairman of the New Jersey State Board of Mediation. Truman also announced the appointment of Charles C. Killingsworth of Michigan to be a

Teen-Agers Involved In Accident Here

The 286th city automobile accident of the year has been reported. This is a rate of just under one-a-day. Two 17-year-old boys were involved in a collision about 3:25 p.m. Monday in the 300-block of Cook. Paul Simmons, 438 Yeager, was cited for following another car too closely. Police reported he hung the grill of his vehicle on a trailer hitch of the car in front of him. His grill, fender, hood and headlight were damaged, police say, to the extent of $100.

Gray Criminal Cases Called For Sept. 22

All county criminal cases have been called for Sept. 22, except for one specially set for Sept. 22, according to County Judge Bruce Parker. Defendants or their attorneys, Parker emphasized, must be present at that time. Bonds of defendants not represented in court were forfeited and bench warrants issued for them. A petit jury met in the county courtroom Monday morning to hear two civil cases. But one of them was postponed; and the other was in the process of settlement. At that meeting the criminal docket was sounded.

Mrs. Grace Craven Rites Wednesday

Funeral services for Mrs. Grace Darling Craven, 411 Buckler, will be held in Tulsa Wednesday at 2 p.m. in the Wallace Funeral Home Chapel with Rev. John Westoff, pastor of the Presbyterian Church there, officiating. Mrs. Craven died at her home about 9:45 p.m. Monday. She was the wife of W. M. Craven, at one time city secretary in Pampa. Mrs. Craven moved with her husband to Pampa from Shamrock in 1912 and has made her home here since then. She was born in Carmi, Ill., and was 75 at the time of death. Among the survivors are a foster daughter, Mrs. E. K. Hulsey, Tulsa; a foster grandson, W. K. Hulsey, Tulsa; and three sisters, Mrs. J. B. Winfield, Brownwood, Mrs. M. S. Handy, San Antonio, and Mrs. Robert Wilmans, Dallas. The body will lie in state in the Duenkel-Carmichael Funeral Chapel in Pampa until Wednesday at 9 a.m. when it will be sent to Tulsa.

Both Comm. White and Rep. Maverick spoke in Corpus Christi before a rally of the Nueces County Stevenson Spurner Club. White became the first state official to publicly endorse the national Democratic ticket. He was expected Tuesday to be the first to ask that his name be withdrawn from Republican nomination. Republicans have cross-filed all Democratic state nominees. So far none has asked that his name be withdrawn. Young Maverick told his partisan audience at Corpus Christi that "a whole lot of outright fabrications are being told about the tidal wave situation." He said they were being told, perhaps, "to cover up mistakes and failures of a couple of our public officials who have had the job of trying to defend state ownership—and failed."

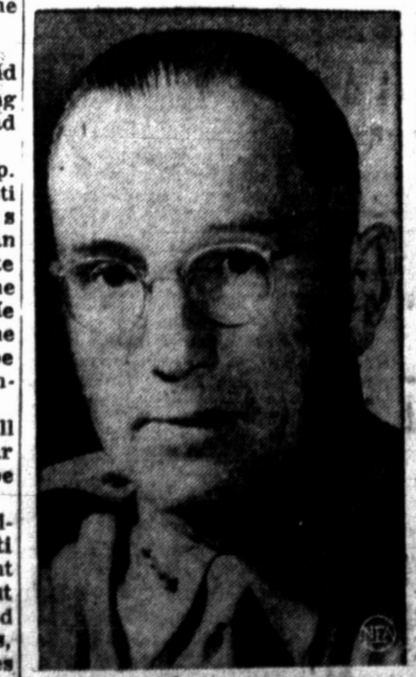

Discredits Accused Maverick said Texas "Discredits do not quote all of Gov. Shivers," son's statement to Gov. Shivers. He said they always omitted Stevenson's statement that he thought a settlement fair to both the states and the federal government could be worked out. Read The News Classified Ads

Combat Pay Forms Available In Pampa

Application forms for $45-a-month pay for combat duty in Korea are now available to veterans at the local post office. Information on qualifications of veterans to receive pay and information on qualifications of addresses where forms should be mailed are found on the blanks. To qualify for combat pay, information on the blanks points out that veterans must have served with a combat unit and actually been exposed to fire or subjected to explosion for not less than six days during the month. Or the serviceman must have been killed, injured, wounded, captured or missing in action while serving with a combat unit. Combat pay continues for not more than three months during hospitalization after the month in which injured or wounded in action and for not more than three months after entering a captured or missing status while that status continues. It also says individuals may not receive for the same month both combat pay and incentive or special pay, such as flying, demolition, parachute, submarine, medical and dental. It is difficult in processing records, officials asked that claimant wait at least six months after mailing the form to make inquiries regarding his claim.

GOP CHEERS

(Continued From Page One) and in the Chicago vicinity of Illinois yesterday. The general capped his day's campaigning with a 125-mile automobile trip, starting from the Southern Illinois town and taking in Joliet, Wheaton, Aurora and Ottawa, Ill. He got triumphantly cheering crowds in this territory, part of which is border-line between Democratic and Republican control, that were larger than in Chicago. He was regarded as any presidential candidate in a comparable area. At Aurora, for instance, Police Sgt. Casper Neiser said the crowd he estimated at 45,000 persons was the largest he ever had seen assembled in the city in 27 years of service in the police department. It was about the same size crowd which had greeted the Republican nominee at South Bend, Ind., where the CIO is strong, at a mid-day meeting in the County Courthouse square. The Republican nominee had his biggest show of the day in South Bend. He charmed an audience of about 2,500 persons at the University of Notre Dame by addressing all of his remarks to incoming freshmen. Then he deputed to shake hands with Frank Leahy, Notre Dame's famed football coach. If Eisenhower was good in these intimate, off-the-cuff contracts with large and small gatherings, he was something less than what some Republicans regarded as adequate in his impromptu speeches at others of the 13 whistle stop appearances. His main mission for the day, according to Summerfield, was to sidestep a serious note that would contrast to Stevenson's quips.

Errol Flynn's Third Marriage Has Lasted Nearly Two Years

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — What's it like to be married to Errol Flynn? Patrice Wymore, the third Mrs. Flynn, says that she and her adventurous husband get along just dandy. This, despite the almost continuous sniping of the gossipers, who have tried to toll a knell for the latest Flynn marriage ever since it began almost two years ago.

"That's right," panted Patrice between strenuous dance rehearsals for "She's Back on Broadway." "It'll be two years next month. I guess a lot of people didn't think it would last that long."

"But we get along fine. We have a lot of laughs when we're together. And we're together a lot more than people think. Although we've both done a lot of traveling, we've never been apart more than a week or so. At least we weren't until the picture that Errol's making in England, 'The Sea Rover.' We'll be separated four months this time, and that's tough to take. But I'll be seeing him soon, either in England or at our other home in Jamaica."

The Kansas-born redhead seems a good match for Flynn. She also is an active individual and appears to have a wanderlust.

"In another year or so, I hope we can co-ordinate our travels," she remarked. "By that time, I should be able to work it so I only have to work half a year, and so will Errol. Then we'd like to spend six months in Jamaica and six months here."

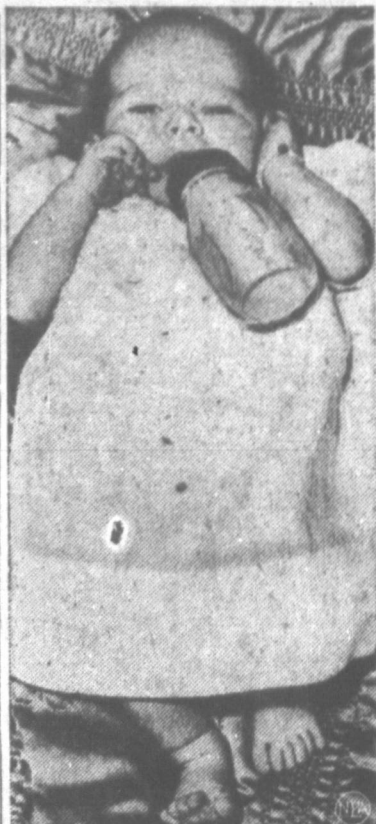

"Whatever happens, I want to keep working. I'm a dancer, and I can't stand to be idle for long. After a few weeks of doing nothing, I feel the need to get my body in shape, again."

Recalling the courtship, she said Flynn had been a fast operator. They had known each other only three months before they were engaged. That was during the location of "Rocky Mountain," and when Flynn was supposedly going to marry Princess Ghika and whatever happened to her?

"He proposed to me on a windswept hill," she remembered. "Very romantic. Then he called my parents in Kansas and said, 'May I have the honor of your daughter's hand in marriage?' My parents thought we were out of our minds."

"They were a little concerned, but after they met Errol they were delighted with him. They've been happy about us ever since."

Patrice admitted that she and Flynn have an occasional spat, but it's never very big or long-lasting.

Woman Will Bear Child Behind Bars

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A woman's wish to give birth to her baby in jail was granted by Federal Judge George Whitehurst. Mrs. Seena Barrientes appeared in court on a charge that she violated a three-year probation given her for unlawfully receiving a soldier's dependency checks. She was returned here from Pierre, S. D., when she failed to make the required periodic reports.

"Did I understand you to say you want to go to jail?" Judge Whitehurst asked.

"Yes," she replied. "I have no money and I want to go somewhere to have the baby."

The judge agreed to give her a six-month term.

"I don't think you deserve that kind of a sentence," he commented. "I'm inclined to feel that you were guilty technically, but not morally, in accepting the checks, and I was prepared to be lenient with you."

"But I'll give you enough time so you can have the baby," Mrs. Barrientes told the court she was married at 16, then got a divorce and married a soldier when she was 17.

"But I found out that my divorce was not legal," she said. "By that time I had received my husband's government checks as his wife. I got the first marriage annulled and remarried the same man, but I didn't return the checks to the government."

"Now I am separated from my husband and expecting a baby some time around Christmas. I want to go to jail and get away from everything."

The depression of 1857 was believed by merchants of that time to have been unusually severe because of the lack of organized agencies to check on the credit status of business houses; the first credit rating agency was established soon after that time.

New Plastic Battle Jacket Proves Life-Saver In Korea

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy's surgeon general credits a new bullet-resistant jacket with reducing deaths and seriousness of wounds among the Marines fighting in Korea.

Rear Adm. Lamont Pugh, who returned recently from an inspection trip around the world which took him to Far East, said at a Pentagon news conference the laminated plastic jacket is now general issue for all combat Marines in the front lines.

The admiral said the jacket, perfected by the Navy and Marines in this country, had been improved by the Leathernecks on the spot in Korea.

The combat area modifications included an extension of the jacket in the rear so as to provide more protection for the region of the kidneys and a lengthening of the front portion so that it now looks something like a baseball catcher's chest protector.

Koreans Bear Battle's Brunt

NEAR CAPITOL HILL, Korea (AP) — South Korean infantrymen are bearing the brunt of Allied fighting for Capital Hill but American artillerymen are backing them up with thunderous barrages around the clock.

And it's not a one-way proposition. Chinese Reds are counter-attacking with some of their heaviest big-gun bombardment of the war.

Two sergeants recalled a narrow escape. James L. Spurlock, Fort Arthur, Tex., and Louis R. Bates, Apison, Tennessee volunteered to take badly-needed small arms ammunition up to South Korean soldiers attacking on Capitol Hill. After delivering their cargo, the two sergeants started down the hill in the midst of an enemy artillery and mortar barrage. Their weapons carrier broke down. The heavy vehicle would not move.

"It couldn't have happened in a more inconvenient place," said Spurlock. "It was right in the middle of the holocaust."

The two soldiers spent the rest of the night dodging Chinese shells. An American half-track from their battery finally broke through and rescued the sergeants.

Farouk Bored With New Life

ISLE OF CAPRI (AP) — A former Farouk, once King of Egypt, appears bored to death with life on this flowered island.

The exiled ex-monarch has nothing to do but play on romantic Capri, where a year ago he spent his honeymoon.

Like a caged lion, he shuffles about, his 285 pounds covered with loose-fitting sport clothes.

He wears trousers and sandals. His hairy chest is sometimes bare, sometimes covered with an open-throated white shirt.

He smokes big cigars one after another. Possessor of an enormous appetite, he easily out-eats all the rest of his family. This includes what he calls a light breakfast. One morning he put away 10 eggs.

Farouk gets up at 7 almost every morning. Usually until noon he can be found with his young ex-Queen Narriman, the baby king, and the two princesses at the pool of Gracie Field's Canzone del Mare beach restaurant.

Narriman wears scantily cut, fashionable bathing suits. The young princesses spend hours in the water.

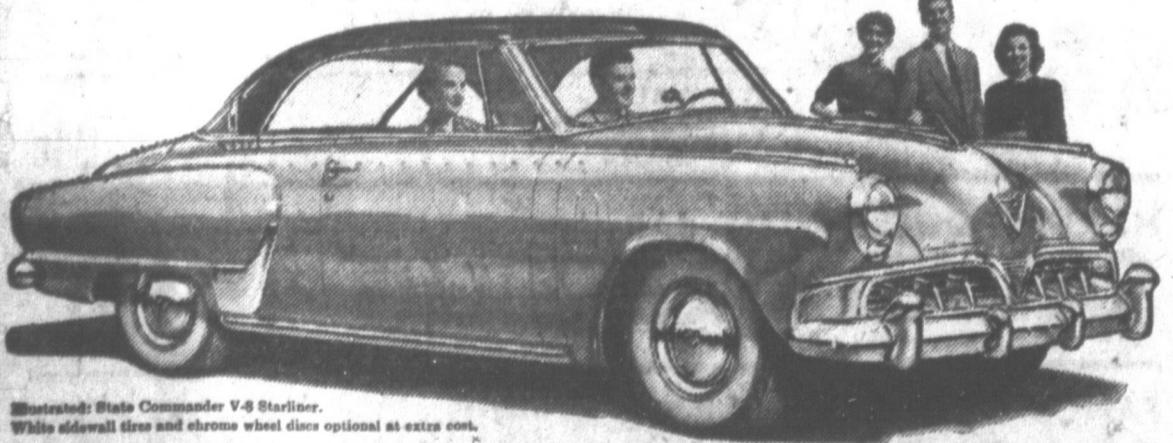

Farouk sits and watches. After lunch the ex-king busies himself for some time with his extensive correspondence. The rest of the time he reads all the newspapers and magazines he can find or sits, silent and alone, gazing over the blue Mediterranean from his hotel balcony.

Evenings he goes with Narriman to one or another of Capri's fashionable restaurant night clubs.

Invariably present are his two swarthy Albanian bodyguards and an Italian plainclothes policeman. Farouk is known to fear possible political enemies. Capri visitors particularly watch for the arrival on the island of other Egyptians.

Brannan Says Farmers Want Price Support

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Agriculture Department survey shows most American farmers want full price support for their products, says Secretary Brannan. He issued a summary of findings in a nationwide survey his department conducted a year ago. Of price supports, Brannan's summary said:

"Specific approval of the price support program constituted the central theme of the wide general approval. A heavy preponderance of opinion favored 100 per cent of parity suggestions for discontinuing price support."

Parity is a standard for measuring farm prices declared by law to be equally fair to farmers and to those who buy their products.

The survey — called the "Family Farm Policy Review" — kicked up controversy in agricultural circles when it was made a year ago. The summary drew immediate fire from the powerful American Farm Bureau Federation.

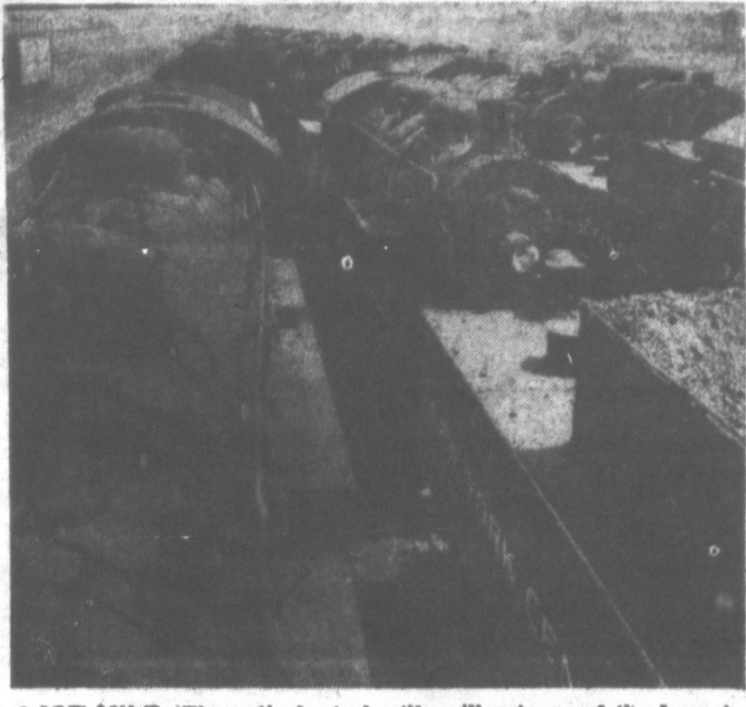

"It is significant to note," said the federation's statement, "that the digest of the review has been help up and released during the height of a political campaign."

The federation called the survey "grounded in politics." It contended the survey "will undoubtedly be used in an attempt to influence farm thinking in the current political campaign."

Brannan's summary was based on meetings held by the department in each of the more than 8,000 agricultural counties of the nation where farmers meet to discuss department programs.

It said most reports gave general approval of present farm aid programs, policies and agencies. Many, it said, recommended extensions in some of these.

The department said more than LAST MILE—The nation's steel mills will get one of the largest scrap contributions in history when these New York Central locomotives and others like them are demolished and fed into scrap-hungry steel furnaces. They will be stripped at the Lackawanna, N. Y., plant of the Bethlehem Steel Corp. The 300 locomotives involved will help produce 50,000 tons of finished steel—enough to make 15,000 light tanks.

Cop Tickets Truck With 6 Violations

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — A city garbage truck has earned the dubious distinction of apparently being the first San Antonio vehicle to be given a ticket under the motor vehicle inspection law.

As a result of the ticket for one truck and a warning for another, the city has pulled into its shops about 50 trucks that have not passed inspection.

The ticket was given by State Highway Patrolman R. Halan. The ticket states that the truck, in addition to having no sticker, also had no stop light, no reflector, no tail light, no turn signals and only one headlight.

Tatt To Give Radio Talk Wednesday

WASHINGTON (AP) — The first of several nationwide broadcasts by Sen. Robert A. Tatt on behalf of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower will be made at 9 p.m. Eastern standard time, Wednesday over NBC.

Arthur M. Summerfield, Republican national chairman, said that Tatt's opening speech for the party's presidential nominee will be entitled "Progress Through Liberty" and will originate at a rally in Springfield, O.

Tatt, replying to a question about his campaign plans during a CBS television show Sunday night, said:

"I expect to be out three or four days every week during the six weeks of the campaign. I suppose we'll cover 15 or 16 states."

Slippery Words Keep Bobbing Up In Presidential Campaign

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP) — Some of the slipperiest words in the language keep bobbing up in discussion of the presidential campaign: left, right, center, conservative, reactionary.

The trouble is getting any two people to agree on their meaning.

To an American whose emphasis is on property right and whose yard for civil liberties is 200,000 persons attended the meeting. There are five million farm operators in this country.

acute, unless his own are in danger, the Communists are on the extreme left because they want government ownership of property.

But to the man who considers freedom for the individual, to inquire and criticize, the most precious possession of mankind, the Communist police state where the individual is nothing — is on the extreme reactionary right.

And Stalin, who would like you to believe him quite progressive, may look upon the Democrats and Republicans as really only one, big ultra-conservative party under two labels.

What time can do to a viewpoint is shown in the attitude toward some of the New Deal legislation, like social security, the wage-hour law, and TVA.

Even in the New Deal heyday some people thought Franklin D. Roosevelt was strictly a highly conservative country squire who was merely trying to bring the country abreast of the time with a few mild remedies against disaster.

But FDR and his whole New Deal were looked upon as national disasters, all by themselves, by those who were allergic to change. They called the New Deal socialism, which is another slippery word.

Now both political parties accept the New Deal legislation as something not in dispute at all in this campaign.

And both Governor Stevenson and General Eisenhower have pictured themselves as pretty conservative fellows, both claim-

Senate And House Flights Important

There are certain important phases of the coming presidential contest that have been obscured by all the whoop-de-doo over choosing the top candidates, and the tremendous amount of attention that has, quite naturally, been centered on the views and personalities and backgrounds of General Eisenhower and Governor Stevenson. One of these phases is the battle for control of the Senate.

At the present time, the Republicans hold 46 of the Senate seats, and the Democrats 50. The catch, from the Republican point of view, is that 20 of their seats are in contest this coming November as against only 15 for the Democrats. It is generally considered that five of these latter seats are too firmly held to offer the GOP a chance. So, if they are to gain a majority, the Republicans must take three of the other nine and hold all the seats they now have. Thus, a great deal of hard work will be done at the state level in an effort to put the whole ticket over. The hope is that the Eisenhower campaign will gather so much momentum, and that personal and political appeal of the General will be so great, that he will be able to carry even relatively weak Senatorial candidates with him. The Democrats, of course, hope exactly the same thing for Governor Stevenson.

It would seem that both parties have done a pretty good job in bridging the rifts that developed at the conventions. It's quite a trick, for instance, to reconcile such divergent figures as Democrats Byrd and Lehman on the one side and Republicans McCarthy and Morse on the other. The Democrats have suffered the most from defections — for the first time in many a moon the Republicans have a chance to break the Solid South and pick up some electoral votes there. However, it is probable that as time rolls on more and more of the holdouts will return to their respective folds. There is nothing a politician likes less than having his party out of power — which means out of patronage — and the vast majority of them will play follow the leader regardless of differences.

It should be remembered that the Senate and House of Representatives still control the purse strings of the government and that no President can wield a great deal of power unless these two bodies provide him with the money to implement that power. As the campaign gets going it appears that there is less and less to choose from between the two Presidential candidates and that the Senate and House races will develop into really important ones so far as the future of the country is concerned.

Get Rid Of The Preference Clause

It is expected that at the next session of Congress a strong effort will be made to repeal or at least materially modify the "preference clause" of the Reclamation Act. This clause provides that public bodies shall have first preference to buy electric power produced at tax-built and tax-exempt government-owned plants, and that other potential users can only have what is left, if anything.

The effect of the "preference clause" is to put the public bodies, whether they are owned by municipalities, states or Federal agencies, in a favored and subsidized position. One class of power users is badly discriminated against in favor of another class.

On top of that, the "preference clause" has been used as a weapon to further socialization of the power industry and our power-producing and distributing resources. As an example in a great many instances the only feasible way to distribute power from government plants is by contracting with business-managed utilities which have the lines and the other necessary facilities. To build duplicating government transmission facilities would be an outrageous waste of money, manpower and materials. But the socialism boosters in Interior and other departments have done and are doing everything possible to force the building of such duplicating systems — regardless of the interest of taxpayers, power consumers or anyone else. And the "preference clause" is part of their kit of tools.

A Farmer's Story

An unusual story appears in the Farm Bureau monthly magazine. It's not only an unusual story, but it's about an unusual farmer.

Kermit Wilson, a Farm Bureau member in Covina, Los Angeles County, Calif., has just returned to the United States Treasury the sum of $119 paid to him in 1945 by the Production and Marketing Administration for putting in a few acres of permanent pasture.

He returned the money because, as he puts it, "The pasture has returned in beef products several times the original cost." He gives another reason in a quotation from Abraham Lincoln: "You cannot help men permanently by doing for them what they could and should do for themselves."

Concerning what the rest of the world thinks of us, Wilson feels that "We cannot shine by example or anything else if we continue riddled by internal conflict toward character degeneration, economic collapse, totalitarian dictatorship or annihilating war."

"Protest is not enough," he comments. "Someone must start the march in the right direction. My hope is that other farmers will return PMA money and help reduce government expense to themselves by approximately $200,000,000 a year. . . help insure liberty by reducing governmental power, and keep their self-respect and personal initiative."

"I feel," says Wilson, "that if I don't stand for something, I will fall for anything."

Can Man Without The Will Or Desire To Learn Really Educate Or Teach?

As children go back to school, it behooves us to consider whether we are giving our children an opportunity to learn or whether we are making it more difficult for them to get an education.

The first essential in an education is the desire or the will to gain understanding of God's or nature's laws. One cannot communicate this desire for understanding unless one has it himself. One cannot stir enthusiasm in or stimulate others without having enthusiasm for understanding oneself.

One of the tests of whether a man has a desire for understanding is whether or not he is willing, and in fact, anxious, to have his ideas checked, tested, explored or examined. If he is willing to stimulate those who have different ideas, he of course does not have the will or the desire to gain understanding. I know of no other method of determining whether or not an individual has the will or desire to gain understanding or to get an education that will enable him to grow and develop as God and nature intended.

Now how do the superintendents of schools measure up with this test as to their ability to stimulate others to have a desire to gain understanding?

Since I have never been able to find any superintendent of schools who would consent to answer questions as he would before a court to determine whether or not his ideas of education are right or wrong were based on the Commandments and the Golden Rule, I cannot help but draw the conclusion that they are not themselves interested in education. I have repeatedly offered to superintendents of the areas in which this column is published $500 if any one would grant such an interview for questions. None has ever accepted the offer. They seem to believe that because some bureaucrat in the state has given them a piece of paper called a certificate to teach that no one ever should think of questioning their ability to stimulate their associates and their pupils to catch this desire for understanding. But the very representatives of the state who gave them these certificates to teach also use the same method to remove their hands down to them their authority to tell who can teach and what to teach.

It seems that these superintendents are not enough interested in education or understanding God's laws to test their beliefs even if they are paid $250 an hour for an opportunity to have their ideas checked and examined. The great philosopher Frederic Bastiat said that he could not explain what he did not understand. And how can a superintendent of schools or his subordinate teachers explain the importance of education and understanding God's laws when they themselves are using some method in checking and having their ideas tested to determine whether they are consistent or inconsistent — whether they are using themselves as a norm of rightness or whiteness or as a standard of justice?

That experience has proved down through the ages is a principle that develops character, good will, friendship and peace. When for education we have been sending our children to be educated by men who are not really interested in education enough to test their ideas themselves, it is no wonder that we have such candidates at the head of our two major political parties that we have. It is no wonder that we have long periods of unemployment. It is no wonder that we have ever increasing debts. It is no wonder that we have a shrinking and shrinking and a shrinking in its value. It is no wonder that we have labor unions that prevent their fellow men from having a chance to work. It is no wonder that we have a discriminatory law after another. It is no wonder that most people believe that a thing that is immoral for an individual to do becomes moral if done by the majority or the state. It is no wonder we have one war after another. It is no wonder that most of our church leaders are advocating a degree of social collectivism which is the ethics of Moses and Jesus Christ.

President Garfield is reported as having said in effect that his idea of education or of a college was to have a pupil sitting on a log in conversation with a teacher, a pupil who would stimulate the youth of the land to realize that there are natural sequences and that he must not contradict himself. But Mark Hopkins was an educator who was always willing to have his ideas checked and tested and examined and analyzed. That is the reason he was a great teacher and a benefactor to mankind.

The late Albert Nock said that education was something like measles — you had to be exposed to it in order to catch the desire for it. But when our children are going to the supported schools where the superintendent believes in for $500 answer a few questions on the subject of education and morals, nor will the principals submit to an interview where they would be obliged to answer questions as to whether or not they are certainly not treating the youth of the land fairly. We are not giving them a rational chance to get an education or even a training. In fact, we are making it infinitely more difficult for them to gain an understanding of God's laws when they come in contact with "educators" who are not themselves interested in a desire to understand the principles that govern human relations.

Fair Enough.... Hutchins On Commission That Proposed Censorship Of Press

By WESTBROOK PEGLER (Copyright, 1952, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Frank Hughes, a first rate, truly professional newspaper reporter, in his book, "Prejudice And The Press," Exposed Henry Luce's bid for abolition of freedom of the press, followed Robert Hutchins, formerly president of the University of Chicago, through many devious turns and reminded us that Hutchins was a trustee of the great Julius Rosenwald Fund for six years. This fund was established to improve relations between our white and Negro citizens, but it fell into the hands of left-wing propagandists and Hughes tells us that its "member" reports reveal at least two "fellows" given to Langston Hughes, an inferior Negro Communist poet noted for his blasphemous "Good-bye Christ." In this jerky doggerel, Hughes orders Jesus to "Beat it and make way for Marx, Communist Lenin, Peasant Stalin and Worker Me."

I have already stuck a pin in the fact that Luce, who also tried to take over General Ike, picked Hutchins to choose a "commission" of 13 double-domes, including Hutchins himself, to "investigate" the American press and slaked them to $200,000 for their pay and expenses. Their report proposed that "the press be brought under responsibility to the state. Thought out to its logical conclusion, this proposal inevitably calls for censorship, a state press and the abolition of the one freedom which is indispensable to all the others. Among the men picked by Hutchins for this "commission" are no finds, surprisingly, Berdysky Ruml, who proposed the income-tax plan that got us all off the hook a few years ago by bringing us up to date. Formerly we were always paying for a dead horse, and many who died owing taxes in terrible condition. Hughes' expose, a treasury of astounding information, tells us that Ruml also is the author of the withholding tax.

Ruml turns up currently as co-author with Theodore Geiger of a book entitled "The Manual of Corporate Giving."

Now the fact that Mr. Ruml, a capitalist and business executive, is author or co-author of a book of this title is unimportant. But your ears prick up when you realize that his co-author, Geiger, was positively and strongly described as a Communist in sworn testimony given to the McCarran Committee. The Tydings Committee, which Sen. Joe McCarthy exposed as a whitewash committee, thus eliminating Tydings from the Senate, had absolutely refused to do anything about Geiger. But later the McCarran Committee brought in a witness named William Martin Canning to tell about a Communist cell at Columbia University and he said he knew this same Geiger from the Senate, had a book City College and Columbia.

Senator Ferguson, examining, asked Canning where Geiger came into the government and Canning said: "Into the Economic Cooperation Administration," which was Paul Hoffman's Marshall Plan squanderbund.

Ferguson asked: "What was his position?" "He was, I believe, deputy administrator to the ECA," said Canning.

Geiger continued at his job with Hoffman some time after Hoffman was put on writing

FOR MORE AND BETTER MEAT (Christian Economics)

Australians seem to be no happier about meat controls than we are. The leading article in an Australian publication contains the following paragraphs: "Intergovernmental trading, with all its political considerations, its interference with economic laws and its controls by civil servants inexperienced in a highly specialized business, is no way to insure a healthy trade in meat that will benefit both producer and consumer."

We do not consider that bulk sale and purchases by governments will ever afford producers the incentive they need to increase quantity and improve quality. Surest way to more and better meat is a return to private trading at the earliest possible moment.

A London comment adds that the new cut in the meat ration lends weight to this argument.

about his deputy, Peter Houghton, young New York lawyer, who had been hanging away at the Roosevelt - Truman Red mance for years, was fired from the ECA for taking the Geiger case to the FBI. Geiger, himself, said a few days ago that he entered the government with the Mission for Economic Affairs in London. With this he spent 1945, 6 and 7 in London. He spent the next three years with Hoffman. He is now research director of the National Planning Association in Washington. Ruml was, with Hutchins, a trustee of the Rosenwald Fund for about five years and was dean of social science at the University of Chicago under Hutchins.

As if we needed clarification, we can now understand beyond doubt why Hoffman warmed up to such fervent eloquence on the stand in his pre-trial examination as a witness for Luce's friend, Sen. William Benton, Socialist - Democrat, of Connecticut, just in time to make a campaign ballyhoo against Joe McCarthy at the public expense. McCarthy is suing Benton, charging libel.

In the examination, Hoffman was given a crude invitation to praise Gen. George Marshall as a wonder - man and, thus, by inference, to praise himself, because his job as administrator of ECA was to throw American money to the winds in the execution of the Marshall Plan.

I give you now the professional opinion of a sitting judge on the competence of Hoffman's sworn smear of Joe McCarthy, a flagrant abuse of legal process for a political purpose. "Workmen stand in a life that has experienced almost every possible kind of newspaper feature from The Yellow Kid to Space Cadet I can truthfully say that only scotch misus two of them: Bill Rogers and Abe Martin—and both were pithy, philosophical and wise, compressing a wealth of wisdom into a few tight, colloquial phrases. . . . It was Abe who provided me, at 14 years old with a concept that I have cherished, that has shaped my thinking and disciplined my awe of other people. . . . 'One's all about the same,' he wrote, 'when we get busy towns. . . . Workmen often thief and hoodlum expressed the same notion in a different way. 'A man I couldn't get within three blocks of in New York,' he told me, 'is like party in Milan or San Francisco or on the Riviera. A remote, austere and rich Manhattanite, unapproachable on his grounds, is a lonely, garulous, simple guy when off the reservation and you can't get to any one. I don't believe in New York.'"

Every now and then in this modern business of seeing things and forecasting their fate you hit the jackpot. . . . It doesn't happen often because human fallibility is a powerful and existing fact. . . . But I take some pride in having forecast that "Do Not Forsake Me," the theme song of a movie called "High Noon," would be a national hit in six weeks (it was—in three weeks). . . . And in saying that Hemingway's "The Old Man and the Sea" would cap his achievements, . . . it does.

National Whirligig... Indictment Of 7 Oil Companies Ironic To Washington Politicos

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON—The most ironic politico-legal act at Washington today consists of the Truman Administration's indictment of seven great oil companies simultaneously with Secretary Acheson's offer of a $10,000,000 "bribe" to obtain more favorable treatment of these same firms from Iranian Premier Mossadegh and other rulers in the turbulent Middle East.

Although our top diplomat cannot afford to speak his mind publicly, it is known that once upon a time, unapologetically to Attorney General McGranery's interference in this dangerous and delicate international minefield.

For it was the State Department which first forced these firms into Middle East operations as a measure of national defense. State has been kept fully informed of the very activities which Justice now declares to be illegal. At Acheson's behest, the American firms named in the indictment have made sacrifices in order to cooperate with Anglo-American diplomatic efforts to keep the Russians out of the area by negotiating a settlement with Mossadegh. They have refused to buy and market Iranian oil.

PROPAGANDA — Thus, while the State Department allies itself with the blowing of the horn, trying to make a satisfactory deal, including the tentative promise of a $10,000,000 loan, a Cabinet member only a few blocks down Pennsylvania Avenue seeks to discredit the companies involved in the international feud.

Even if McGranery's charges of cartel arrangements on production and price - fixing can be proved in court, diplomatic considerations dictate postponement of legal action until the current threat to our political, military and economic stake in the strategic Middle East has disappeared. Meanwhile, the Truman - McGranery thrust provides both Mossadegh and Moscow with anti-western propaganda in China, India, Egypt, Korea. It has been interpreted as evidence of their contention that "imperialistic capitalism" in New York and London always exploit the small and backward nations.

POLITICS — The peculiar background of the Administration's related prosecution of the domestic petroleum firms suggests that it may have been motivated by presidential campaign politics.

It is counted on to show the Administration's solicitude for independent units in the oil industry, and for small business generally. It will also furnish material for another "whistle stop" attack on what Truman calls "reactionary Wall Street" interests.

SUPPRESSED — The investigation of the alleged cartel activities was made by staff experts of the Federal Trade Commission more than a year ago. But its report was suppressed on the ground that publication would "jeopardize foreign relations."

Then, as now, State objected to a broadcast of the revelations. As a matter of fact, only a relative small amount of the verbiage was deleted for security reasons when it was finally released. The deletions concerned British operations in Iran that might handicap current negotiations with Mossadegh.

Incidentally, the report's conclusions and implications have never received the approval of the Federal Trade Commission itself. As finally given out by the White House a few weeks ago, it simply represented the findings of the staff, which has frequently been accused by commission members and on Capitol Hill of anti-business prejudice.

REBUFFED — Several months ago, Sen. Thomas C. Hennings Jr. of Missouri began to make demands for publication of the survey. Although he presented personal pleas at the White House, he was rebuffed sharply. Indiana, he told friends that he had been given a severe lecture. Hennings' interest is attributed to the fact that petroleum and allied cooperatives are politically strong in Missouri and surrounding states, especially among the farmers and small tradespeople. They have always feuded with the larger firms, maintaining that their importations of oil drove down prices.

Yet Truman has persistently refused to boost oil tariffs on the ground that imports keep prices down by increasing competition. He has also insisted that petroleum from the Middle East and South America enables us to conserve our resources of this major military product. Congress shares this viewpoint, repeatedly refusing to lower duties by legislation.

CHAMPION — Administration resistance to publication weakened and vanished when Sen. John W. Sparkman reinforced the demand of the Missouri Senator for more light on the subject of international oil. Sparkman, an oddly enough, did not show unusual interest in this question until after he was nominated as the Democratic vice - presidential candidate at Chicago.

For several years the Senator from Alabama, where farm cops are also making headway, has headed the Senate Committee on Small Business. He has investigated many practices alleged to operate to the detriment of local entrepreneurs. But he never touched oil. He is now campaigning as the champion of the "little man," with the foreign oil report as Exhibit No. 1.

Yank Confidence Puts Them Favorites; NL Rated Tossup

By JOE REICHLER
AP Sports Writer

Can you figure this? The Yankees lead Cleveland by 1 1/2 games while Brooklyn leads the Giants by three. The Yankees must play eight of their remaining 11 games on the road while the Dodgers have eight of their 11 at home.

Yet the experts — those who now baseball best — figure the Yankees a cinch to win the American League pennant and clear the National League race a snap between the Brooks and Mantles. Why?

"The Yankees have the confidence of champions," a veteran baseball man said. "They win the games. They don't scare easily. If it were any team but the Dodgers," the learned baseball man replied, "I'd say I don't know how they could lose with a three-game edge.

"But the trouble with the Dodgers is they cannot forget last year. Especially when this race is following last year's script almost to the letter. Every time the Giants win and they lose, the Dodgers are reminded of last year's debacle. They know it can happen because it already has happened."

"The Dodgers are in trouble even with their big lead. Their pitching staff is in a bad way. If the Giants had the services of Larry Jansen to go along with Sal Maglie and Jim Hearn, they'd be sure to pull off another miracle. As it is, it's going to be another squeaker right down to the finish."

Neither manager — Leo Durocher of the Giants nor Charlie Dresser of the Dodgers — is doing any talking these days. Not even after yesterday's victories that left them still three games apart with 11 to go.

Brooklyn received another shoddy pitching performance — this time from Carl Erskine — but their big bats atoned for the pitcher's lapse. The Brooklyn team won an 11-5 triumph over the Cincinnati Reds. Jackie Robinson and Duke Snider hammered two homers apiece.

Sal Maglie looked like the Maglie of old as he pitched the Giants to a six-hit, 12-1 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals. A nine-run sixth inning — the biggest single inning of the season for the Giants — made it easy for the 35-year-old right-hander.

The Indians and Yankees were tied yesterday. They renew warfare today with the world champions facing the Tigers in Detroit and the Indians taking on the Washington Senators in Cleveland.

The Dodgers play host to Pittsburgh in a night game and the Giants take on the Chicago Cubs in the Polo Grounds.

In yesterday's remaining two games — both in the American League — the Chicago White Sox downed the Boston Red Sox 4-2, and the Detroit Tigers scored a 3-4 victory over the Washington Senators.

Westerners In Action Friday

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Baytown has already shown it deserves its rating, now Lubbock will try it this week in Texas schoolboy football.

Lubbock, the defending state Class AAAA champion, opens the season Friday against Plainview of Class AAA.

Baytown last week proved awesome in facing Texarkana of Class AAA 42-7. Texarkana is supposed to be a strong contender in its division.

Fort Arthur indicated it was to be reckoned with in a 14-10 runperp Baytown's district by locking Odessa of Lubbock's District, 13-7.

There are 24 games in the AAAA division this week end with a fore by an AAA team Temple — featuring the scheduled Temple, heralded championship contender in its class, plays Sunset at Dallas Friday night. Sunset Looks Good Sunset whipped John Reagan, the strong Houston team, 27-12, Saturday night to brand itself as the outfit to beat in AAAA title race. Temple licked Denison, an AAA team that had been rated quite strong, 38-0.

Other feature games of the week in AAAA send Tyler to Dallas to play Forest and Breckenridge, Champion of AAAA, Wichita Falls to tackle the well-ranked Coyotes. Wichita Falls last week opened the season with a 24-6 decision over Vernon.

Tyler beat Palestine, 28-7, while Forest was winning over Jesuit of Dallas, 38-0.

Baytown vs. Lamar

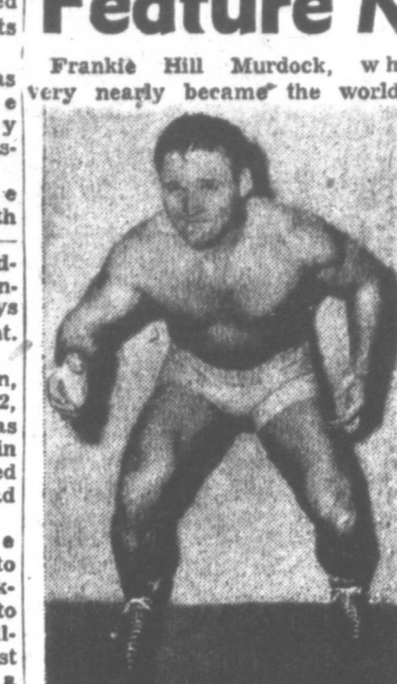

Another headliner in AAAA this week will be Baytown vs. Lamar at Houston Friday. Lamar doesn't appear anywhere near as strong as it has been but should be a good test for Baytown.

The week's schedule by districts:

1. Thursday: Shamrock at Borger; Friday: Capitol Hill (Oklahoma City) at Amarillo, Sweetwater at Odessa, Plainview at Lubbock, Champion of AAAA, San Angelo at Big Spring.
2. Thursday: Pampa at Austin El Paso, Friday: El Paso High at Albuquerque, N. M., Cathedral El Paso vs. Jefferson El Paso.
3. Thursday: Snyder at North Side Fort Worth; Friday: Adkins (Dallas) at Poly (Fort Worth), Paschal (Fort Worth) at Highland Park (Dallas), Fort Worth Tech at Gainesville; Saturday: Sherman at Amador Carter - Riverside.

8. Friday: Austin Houston at Beaumont, Fort Neches at Port Arthur, Milby Houston at Galveston, Galena Park at Pasadena.

Harvesters Set For El Paso Trip; Bob Prigmore Injured

Murdock, Shibuya Feature Mat Card

FRANKIE HILL MURDOCK, who very nearly became the world's champion the last time he appeared in Pampa, comes back again tomorrow night in his usual role of main event. He will battle Jap Kinji Shibuya in the one hour finale to the first indoor wrestling card of the new season.

Promoter Howard Vineyard has leased the Southern Club for a nine-month period with weekly mat shows slated every Wednesday night at 8:15.

On the supporting card with the colorful main event duo will be Aussie Jack O'Reilly against an unnamed opponent.

George Overhuls in a 45-minute semifinal and a pair of youngsters, Gene Delton and Alcx Perez, the former regional golden gloves boxing champion, both of Amarillo.

Reserved seat tickets for the matches may be obtained all day tomorrow at the Sportsman's Store or by telephoning 2088. Tickets will be on sale at the Southern Club at 7 p.m.

The Pampa Harvesters shove off by bus tomorrow morning on the first leg of their two-day trip to El Paso and the season's grid opener Thursday night with the Austin High Panthers. The end of the first leg will see them stopping in Carlsbad tomorrow night for a workout and then proceeding on into the border city Thursday morning.

The game will be the first of the year for both clubs as they open their AAAA seasons. The Harvesters went through a long and hard workout yesterday, after the weekend away from the field.

On the defensive team were James Phippen and Jimmy Martindale at the ends, Buddy Cockrell, Richard Qualls and Jack Traywick in the line, Bill Phippen and Alton Flynn at linebackers and Reggie Mayo, John Darby, David Entice and Ed Dudley in the secondary.

The Green and Gold received one blow over the weekend when a doctor ordered a week's rest for Prigmore out of uniform for at least a week to rest an injured left knee. Then to top it off, Prigmore was involved in a car wreck in central Texas over the weekend that resulted in a sprained right ankle and several stitches being taken in his head, which would have sidelined him otherwise, anyway. The big junior, otherwise the hospital list looked one of the most improved for, up from the most improved player on the field thus far, and was being counted heavily as a first line of replacement strength in the forward wall.

Otherwise the hospital list looked dreary, to the pleasure of the coaches. Buddy Cockrell's bad knee, operated on last spring, appeared sound and solid, and the big horse should be ready to go full time, full speed this season.

final playoffs, the Albuquerque Dukes boast an edge of two games to one thanks to a 6-4 victory over the Borger Gassers. At least two more games will be necessary to decide their best of seven series.

They'll try again tonight at the same stands in Amarillo and Borger.

Red Dial, 27-game winner over the regular season for Clovis, was the goat as Amarillo pulled its decision out of the fire in the last of the ninth. He relieved Mel Kramer with the bases loaded and none out, and proceeded to throw four straight balls to Gold Sox left fielder Bob Byrne and force in the winning run. Two walks off Kramer and Les Mulcahy's single enabled Amarillo to overcome a 4-5 deficit that same inning.

Credit for the victory went to Amarillo's Dario Jimenez, who replaced Herb Damico in the fourth. The only run charged against Jimenez was a bases-empty homer by Clovis' Jim Matthews in the sixth.

Catcher Art Culliti and pitcher Jerry Folkman shared honors as the Dukes forged ahead of Borger. Culliti socked a home run, triple and two doublets off Gassers Manager Lloyd Brown, who was charged with the mound job.

Folkman yielded seven hits and a single walk to keep Borger batters safely in check. The Gassers tagged him for four of their seven hits and three runs in the second frame, but that was the only time they were able to reach base before adding another tally with two away in the ninth.

Bill Hair, who has pitched Clovis to its only playoff decision is scheduled to hup against Howard Waters, Don Tierney or Gus Voelkel for Amarillo tonight.

At Borger, the mound choices are freshmen Frankie De Carolis for the Dukes and veteran Eddie Carnett for the Gassers.

And, if Coach Rohme has his way, the boys are going to play football for Sunset the rest of the year.

The motel operator said beds were broken and sheets and pillow cases ripped to pieces in two rooms and one suite occupied by the Sunset players. Three other rooms, she said, were undamaged.

McAlester Cops Sooner Playoffs

McALESTER, Okla. (AP) — Charles Seymour, the Sooner State League's top hurler, pitched the McAlester Rockets to the league championship last night with a 6-2 win over Pauls Valley.

It is the second straight year the Rockets have come out on top, and it is the first time in the Class D loop's history that the team which finished first during the regular season also won the playoff.

It was an uphill battle for the Rockets. Pauls Valley at one point led in the series three games to one. But the Rockets took the next three straight for the championship.

Odessa Captures Lead On Midland

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Odessa Oilers picked a pretty time to start a win streak and the 10th success in 11 starts in the final Longhorn League playoff round Monday night.

Odessa scored three times in the first inning and coasted by Midland, 4-2.

The Oilers won five straight at the end of the regular season to salvage their threatened pennant, then beat Artesia, 4 to 1, in the first play-off round. They're still going strong.

Using the clutch — pitching of Evelio Ortega, Odessa held Midland to single runs in the sixth and ninth inning despite 10 hits. Odessa pulled out four double plays in support and left eight Indians stranded.

Meantime, two of their six total hits came alongside two walks in the first inning for three runs. Oiler Raul Doppa led off with a double and Bill Connor finished the big frame with a two-run two-bagger.

A hit, an error and a walk provided Odessa's fourth run in the seventh inning.

GHOST CATTLE!

In bygone days, more than 11,000,000 cattle thundered over the dry, dusty Chisholm, Dodge and Western trails of Texas toward northern markets. These trails have long since given away to steel rails and concrete highways, but old timers can still, in their memories, hear once again the roar of hoofs and see the clouds of dust raised by ghostly Longhorns.

Texas has seen two centuries of cattle raising during which time the Longhorn has given away to the Hereford, Brahman, Angus and other fine breeds. Today Texas leads the nation in cattle raising. No one can deny the unmistakable pride that Texas takes in its progress, its achievements, and its ability to take care of its own. This is evidenced by the fact that every year thousands of Texans invest in private enterprise life insurance to protect their families and build security for themselves in old age. A GOOD TEXAN TO TALK TO IS YOUR STATE RESERVE LIFE INSURANCE REPRESENTATIVE. By the way, he represents a 100% Texas company, too.

Graziano-Davey Scrap Set For Chicago Tomorrow Night

CHICAGO (AP) — Roughneck Rocky Graziano and undefeated Chuck Davey, the mercury-footed Michigan State graduate, are cast in boxing's beauty-and-the-beast episode tomorrow night.

The scheduled 10-round scrap in Chicago Stadium will be televised and broadcast nationally. Odds favoring the sledge-fisted mauling Graziano, who rose from New York's slums to gain and lose the middleweight crown in three brutal battles with Tony Zale, have shrunk from 12-5 a week ago to 9-5.

Some ring critics think Rocky has been washed up since those punishing brawls with the former Gary "Man of Steel." But they still respect his toughness and slugging ability. They think Rocky can knock out Davey if he can hit him.

"These little guys are all alike — they run but they can't hide," said Graziano. "I think Joe Louis first said that — but he was sure right."

Davey, one of the finest southpaws in years, realizes he must depend on his speed and cleverness to the limit.

"I don't think Rocky will be able to hit me with any of his wild, roundhouse swings," he said. "I'm in the best shape of my whole life and could go 20 rounds. Rocky will be swinging at the air all night."

Davey, 26, is unbeaten in 38 pro fights and never has been knocked off his feet. Weighing 149, he will sacrifice about 13 pounds at ring to his 30-year-old opponent. Graziano figures to weigh in at noon Wednesday at an official 158, then get enough nourishment to get to 182 by night.

Then, too, Oklahoma City is the top hitting team in the league for the third straight year. Shreveport finished second. The Indians have not won a play-off pennant since 1935 and include the law of average on their side. Shreveport last was triumphant in 1942.

The play-offs promise a stellar match, for between the two clubs, seven of the loop's top 15 batters were either Indians or Sports. Shreveport's Grant Dunlap won the league title with a .333 average and teammates Harry Elliott, and Sam Seikel all hit 300 or over. Danny Grant, Frank Kellert, Joe Frazier and Russ Burns, the RBI-king, all topped .280 for Oklahoma City.

Tuesday night's pitching matches Shreveport's Fred Baczewski 6-4 against Oklahoma City's Eddie Groth 18-12, both seeking their second play-off victory.

Oklahoma City best straight-away champion Dallas in a six-game first round play-off series. Over the season, Shreveport beat Oklahoma City 13 of 22 times.

Indians, Sports Open At Shreveport

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It's Oklahoma City at Shreveport Tuesday night in the first game of the final Texas League play-off round — and the Sooner Staters have the jinx, the batting and the law of average on their side.

Shreveport, the club that finished third in the regular race, has been going great lately, however. The Sports lopped Fort Worth, the runner-up, out of the first round play-off in only four games. A surprising Shreveport pitching staff gave up only 28 hits over the span.

But this duel is one for the sluggers, something new considering it is a league of pitching renown.

And favoring the Indians, they finished fourth over the regular season, a position that has earned the right to enter the Dixie Series four times to two for jinxed third place finishers in 1935.

Kilgore JC Tops Navarro, 21-0

KILGORE (AP) — Kilgore College heralded Tony Montalban today. This young man did everything last night in carrying the Rangers to a 21-0 victory over Navarro in the first Texas Junior College football game of the year.

He carried the ball 16 times for 397 yards, scored one touchdown and set up the other two. His runs made possible the touchdowns by Ward Kuykendall from the two-yard line and by Delbert Rowland from the four. And he got the other score himself with a nine-yard run. Choyse Hall kicked all the extra points.

Players Share In Longhorn Pool

ABILENE (AP) — Longhorn League players now involved in the circuit's Shaughnessy play-offs will share a pot of $73,700 as well as taking in a 25 per cent cut on adult admissions in the first four games of each play-off series.

League President Hal Sayles explained that a special players' fund was set up to place one cent of every adult admission sold during the season into a "kitty." Total adult admissions for this season was $373,105. Of that total, players on the first place Odessa team will draw 40 per cent, Big Spring 30 per cent, Big Spring 30 per cent, Midland 20 per cent and Artesia 10 per cent.

Players on the winning teams in the first round of the play-offs will get 60 per cent of the players' share of the first four games, the losers taking 40 per cent. The same applies for the final round of the play-offs.

PULLING IN THE VOTES—Newchart above shows the popular vote for the two major political parties since 1920. The Democrats were second best until Franklin Roosevelt was elected in 1932. During the 1936 election, the Democrats established an all-time record in vote-getting with more than 27 million votes. The maximum vote for the Republican candidate to date is 22 million votes for Wendell Willkie in 1940. In the past two elections the GOP has narrowed the gap, but not enough to oust the Democrats from the White House.

Michigan Mothers Guests Of Doctor For Real Vacation

TRAVERSE CITY, Mich. (AP)—Because a mother died 40 years ago before one of her 10 children could give her "a real vacation," 25 mothers of big families are enjoying a sumptuous four-day vacation today.

Dr. Earl Baker, a retired doctor of philosophy who turned resort operator, is playing host to them. They have accommodations that would normally cost $20 a day.

Saying, "Just call me a patriarch or say I'm between 60 and 70," Dr. Baker recalled today that he promised his ailing mother 40 years ago that if he couldn't give her "a real vacation," he'd see that when he could afford it, other mothers of big families got vacations.

Twelve years ago Dr. Baker quit teaching at Lawrence College in Appleton, Wis., and bought a resort spot on Grand Traverse Bay, off Lake Michigan. Now the spot is covered with cabins. He calls it "Baker's Acres."

A year ago he and his wife

BUTTERING UP THE QUEEN—Sculptor Ross Butler, of Woodstock, Ont., puts the finishing touches on his unique equestrian statue of Great Britain's Queen Elizabeth II. It's a life-sized representation done in butter, of which he used more than 1500 pounds. On display at the Canadian National Exhibition at Toronto, the statue is kept under glass at a temperature of 40 degrees to prevent melting.

Charlotte decided it was time to pay off. He could afford it. They put out word they were looking for mothers wit' four or more children, and would get preference over mothers with husbands. All chosen must agree to leave all children at home. Hubby, if any, can't come either.

From letters, Dr. Baker picked 25.

"There's never been anything like it," he mused today through misty eyes. "Just to see some of those mothers of 12 or 13 or 14 sit down to a great big steak, which they can't possibly afford with families that size."

Pampan Pitching In Annual Meet

W. R. Harden, Pampa, was scheduled to represent the area gasoline-chemical division of Cities Service Oil Co. (Del.) at the Company's fifth annual horse-shoe pitching tournament in Bartlesville, Okla., Saturday.

A winner in one of the 28 district play-offs at company properties in the United States and Canada, Harden received an expense-paid trip to Bartlesville to enter the tournament and compete for the championship and runner-up trophies. Mrs. Harden was to accompany him.

The Doherty Men's Fraternity, a social group pitchers at a Cities Service employees, was host to the horse-shoe pitchers at a 49ers party Friday. Following the competition Saturday, participant and their wives were guests of honor at a Hillcrest Country Club dinner when the trophies were presented to the winners.

The Art Of Catching Pan Fish

By AL McCLANE
Fishing Editor

There is just a little more art to catching pan fish on the fly rod than most observers allow. For this reason, one fellow will catch eight or ten bluegill while another chap takes 40 or 50 from the same pond at the same time.

Not that numbers of fish are an estimate of sportmanship — you can always put back what you can't eat — but it's natural to want to improve your skill in any sport.

The techniques of fly fishing for pan fish are fairly routine in application. None of the pan species is fast on his fins, and in general it seems best to work the fly slowly.

With the dry fly, for instance, make as long a cast as possible if you're not aiming at a rising fish, and let the lure sit for ten or 15 seconds before retrieving. The retrieve should be made in short, snailing steps, giving the fish plenty of time to get off the bottom and look the feathers over.

The wet fly should be fished in much the same manner, the only difference being that a longer time should be allowed before snailing the retrieve to get the fly down as deep as possible. You can facilitate sinking by using a good leader sink preparation. The natural path of insect food in a lake is from bottom to top — unless you are actually fishing in the surface when bees and pan fish are blowing on the water.

One of my favorite pan fish lakes is heavily wooded, with the exception of the southeast side where the shore is bordered by a large meadow. On days when there's a good wind blowing out of the south, that end of the pond gets a liberal dose of grasshoppers and crickets tossed on the surface.

Both the grasshoppers and crickets move across the water in short jerks, and any small hackle patterns or, preferably, sedge patterns fished in the same way will connect instantly. A small Willowleaf or Idaho blade about the size of your thumbnail, in tandem with a gaudy wet fly is always a good bet.

The lure is fished down and across stream on a long duff and very close to the bottom. Only wingless flies are reliable for this type of fishing.

A "hackle" pattern tied with a fat body is very lifelike and easily manipulated. Trout flies are substitutes, but they are not nearly as satisfactory because of the turned down eye employed on trout hooks and the sparse dressing. Long, flowing hackles and ringed eye hooks to allow freedom of motion between fly and spinner — that's the stuff good spinner flies are made of.

Simple dressings such as yellow chenille body, yellow hackle, and a bright red tail, or an orange chenille body with white hackle and red tail, are far better for pan fish than fancy trout patterns.

SCREENLESS TELEVISION—In order to keep sightless listeners posted on programs their neighbors talk about, TV experts designed the above pictureless set seen entertaining Marie Pellucano and Bernard M. Krebs of the New-York Guild for the Jewish Blind. Experts say using the screenless set overcomes "psychological barriers" which build up between sightless persons and their sighted neighbors.

IT'S YOUR DEAL

Signals In Canasta Will Help

By OSWALD JACOBY and ALFRED SREINWOLD
Written for NEA Services
Towards the end of a hand of gin rummy your best play may depend on the habits of your particular opponent. You may play one way against one person and quite a different way against somebody else.

For example, suppose you get more than halfway through the stock pile and draw the first king that you have seen in that hand. Suppose, moreover, that all the queens have been thrown, so that no king-queen-jack meld is possible. How dangerous a card is that king?

Against some opponents the king is dangerous, against others comparatively safe. The reason is that many of your opponents will not be holding a pair of kings at this late stage.

You're not eager to give your enemy a fourth king if he already has three of them, but that is not as bad as giving him a new meld of kings if he holds only a pair. Some of the people you play against will hold a pair of picture cards for a few plays but will then unload. Only a few hardy types of opponent will hold so high a pair for a long, long time.

Naturally you hold on to that king if you have a safe discard. If you don't have a safe discard, you must make up your mind whether or not to throw the king. Throw it against the average, conserva-divine opponent; save it against the bird who never breaks a pair.

Let's carry this problem a little farther. Suppose you decide to hold the king, and then you draw another king at your next turn. Now you have a pair of kings, and you know that your opponent may have the other pair but he cannot have a meld of kings.

What should you do? Throw a king against the average opponent; for that player probably will not have the other pair of kings at this late date. Save the kings against the reckless opponent; there's a very good chance that the hand will end as a draw, with both players holding a pair of kings.

Q—We played several hours with a pack of 51 cards. When we were ready to stop, we discovered that a card had been left in another room. What should we do?

A—You should be more careful the next time, but just forget about it this time. The score counts, exactly as though you had been playing with a normal deck. It is a general rule of card games that scores already made are not voided when an error of this kind is found.

In 1952 about 11 million people worked on U. S. farms which is estimated to be about 300,000 less than in 1951.

Japs May Take Defense Post

TOKYO (AP)—The Mainichi Shimbun says the United States plans to turn the defense of Japan's northern island, Hokkaido, over to a new Japanese army of 14 divisions within two years.

The Mainichi, one of Japan's largest national dailies, said the plan was contained in a highly classified letter from Lt. Gen. Doyle O. Hickey, Gen. Mark Clark's chief of staff, to Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida. It did not say how it learned of the letter.

U. S. headquarters and the Japanese Foreign Office declined comment.

The newspaper said the letter pointed the way toward the ultimate withdrawal of American defense forces when "Japan can protect herself from the presently overwhelming Soviet force that menace Hokkaido."

The U. S. 1st Cavalry Division is garrisoning Hokkaido and the U. S. 24th Division is in Northern Honshu.

QUEENLY RAIMENT—Margaret du Cane models a dress designed for Queen Juliana of the Netherlands. Called "Coronation Robe," it was designed by Herbert Sidor, Dutch designer in London, and was one of some 45 dresses flown to Holland for a special showing for the Queen. The showing was presented to aid Juliana in her choice of attire for the forthcoming Coronation of Queen Elizabeth II.

Problem: How To Keep Industry Busy

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP) — How to keep the greatly expanded industrial machine busy with jobs for all — is wringing official brows now as well as those in industry.

Commerce Secretary Sawyer tells businessmen that once the rearmament pack is passed, they must put as much thought into the problems of marketing their goods as they have been into producing them.

The problem: industry can turn out more goods once it quite making arms than consumers seem willing to buy, at present prices.

Loss of government money for defense work, therefore, could mean that men and machines would be idle. And the feared slump would be here.

Levelling Off Seen
Robert C. Turner, new member of the president's Council of Economic Advisors, starts some businessmen by warning that the levelling off of defense spending — on which their prosperity is built in large part — may be at hand — much sooner than most of them had expected.

This isn't so frightening as it might seem, Turner says that spending is leveling off at better than four billion dollars a month, or around 49 billion a year. And it is likely to hold at that though next year. Actually the spending on the hard goods of war will continue to expand up to next summer at least. That will be offset, Turner says, by a downturn in spending on soft goods, like uniforms and ready under way, and the leveling off of spending for house-keeping and maintenance of military installations and the armed forces.

Distribution Stressed
In other words, industries like aircraft-making automobile-making electronics, chemicals, and shipbuilding will continue to flourish on government money for months to come.

This is what Acting Defense Mobilizer Steelman meant last week in reporting to President Truman that deliveries of military hard goods would reach their peak in mid-1953.

Sawyer's lecture on the need to improve the methods of distribution at the moment at the other industries who won't be getting military orders in volume. But over the long term, it will apply to all. Sawyer warns that "military production goals are being approached," adding that when "our tremendous industrial machine turns again mainly to producing goods for non-defense purposes we will obviously face many problems."

Markets Studied
Distribution is what happens to goods after they're made. It includes all the expense of transportation, wholesaling, retailing, and advertising — everything involved in finding a final buyer for a product.

The Department of Commerce is surveying the problem of "potential markets for goods and services" to keep the nation's swelling industrial plant operating after defense needs armet. The report is planned for the first of the year.

Sawyer is also reported planning to set up a new office of distribution within the Department of Commerce. In time it might take over much of the work now done by the National Bureau of Economic Research. The job of the new office would be to do for all business what some big manufacturers and trade associations do in furnishing for their members data on market distribution costs.

Savings May Help
In the last 20 years industries have done quite a bit for themselves in shaving distribution costs and improving sales methods.

Sawyer has reassuring words, however, for those who fear a serious slump when defense spending slackens.

He says the civilian economy has a big prop in the large total of private savings which could be turned into buying power. Also, he hopes, if less is spent on defense, taxes could be lowered and thereby increase consumer purchasing power.

Sawyer is right on both counts.

SPORTSMAN'S "HOUSEBOAT" — The young lady above doesn't appear a bit worried about where she'll spend the night because the rubber dinghy in which she sits so carefree can be converted easily into a camping tent. With the aid of a waterproof zipper, the rubber dinghy is divided into two equal halves to form the sidewalls of the tent. A canvas sheet, attached to the two halves, forms the top, back and front of the tent shelter.

Returned Marine Winning His Bout With Hard Luck

WAUSAU, Wis. (AP) — A year ago scores of farmers and carpenters tilled over 200 acres of cutover land in Marathon County to renovate the farm of Frank Flees.

Today the grateful 29-year-old ex-Marine, who came home inviolated from Guam and ran into bad luck, is running a prospering layout.

Flees had had great difficulty winning a living for his wife and two children from the farm's tough unproductive top soil. And then bad luck struck him. A chain snapped while he was sick filling and destroyed one of his eyes.

Dr. P. J. Przedpelski, a county agent working with Polish settlers in several counties, began a campaign to aid the troubled ex-Marine. A modern farm was built in one day.

Businessmen wrote checks to help buy things the farm needed. One day farmers came with tractors and bulldozers to work the fields, clear the slash growth of scrub trees, spread fertilizer and reseed the fields. Foresters planted pine seedlings to give the farm a stand of timber.

Carpenters put up a 20-station barn, a machine shed and a seven-room house to replace the primitive one-room-and-a lean to homestead.

Mr. and Mrs. Flees have a third child, born this summer. Where bulldozers chewed out the stand of scrub trees last year there is a neat field of cucumbers.

The worn-out fields, where neighbors worked with lime and fertilizer a year ago are yielding better than three tons of alfalfa per acre, and the corn is sure to run 85 and perhaps 100 bushels an acre. The baby pines are more than knee high now.

Flees said the other day he went to build a fence "and the postholes had been dug for a year. Never noticed it. The neighbors didn't miss a thing."

Pepe Comes To Rescue ...

Hank Is Invited To Ball And Gets Caught Without A Jacket

By HENRY McLEMORE
MEXICO CITY — 1. Postman brought me engraved invitation to ball at American Embassy.
2. In right hand corner: "White Tie."
3. No black ties in house much less white tie. I travelled light to Mexico. Most fashionable suit well-cut seersucker.
4. Worry. Fret. Want to go to ball. Want to see Ambassador O'Dwyer. Want to see his wife. Ambassadors of foreign countries so can write home and say country boy done did make it.
5. No suit to rent in Cuernavaca. So called Pepe Romero, English language newspaper in Mexico City, The News.

the sixteenth pole to win in a photo.
He is better looking than Valentino ever was, has more charm than a treeful of monkeys, and has a virtue that few of us have — he does nice things for friends and enemies with no thought of a reward for himself. He writes, he paints, he has a lovely wife and a lovely baby.
But he spends most of his time doing things for others. It comes natural.
With nothing to wear to the ball I called Pepe.
He told me he had a dinner jacket and that I was welcome to it.
"But it is green, Henry," he said.
I asked him how green it was.

"Moss green, Henry," Pepe said. "And very old."
I asked him how he thought I would look in this green suit. "Oh, a chap named Thomas Jefferson," I said.
"London fellow?" he asked.
"No, a tallor down Virginia way," I said "Sort of a second-class Eden."
Then Pepe told me the history of the garment I had on. It was cut for his grand uncle, Matias Romero, Mexico's first ambassador to the United States. He wore it many times during the more than one hundred interviews he had with Abraham Lincoln. He had it on when he talked with Secretary of State Seward when he obtained guns for Mexico with which his country repelled the French.
He wore the dinner jacket in many late-hour sessions with a close friend, General Grant. "Did the general and Ambassador Romero ever take a slug together?" I asked Pepe.
"Can't speak for the general," he said, "but Uncle Matias did, that I'm sure."
Ambassador O'Dwyer's ball was a good one. The embassy is in a wooded park, and several times squirrels, mistaking me for a tree, climbed up my leg. And diplomat asked me who mycut an English diplomat asked me who cut my suit.
