

LUNCHEON IS GIVEN AT ONE OF INTERESTING WMS MEETINGS

DAY IS SPENT STUDYING AND MAKING PLANS

FIRST BAPTIST WMU IS ATTENDED BY 80 WOMEN

A Thanksgiving luncheon was enjoyed by about 80 women of First Baptist Missionary union yesterday, when an all-day meeting at the church combined study, business, and a social period.

In the morning, three classes were formed for mission study. Mrs. Tom Duwall taught the book, Life of Lottie Moon; Mrs. F. E. Leech had the class on Christianity and Japan; and Mrs. C. W. Briscoe was leader of study from the book, Healing, and Missions.

The covered dish lunch was served at noon, then study was finished and examinations were given in each of the three books.

Circle meetings for the seven groups were conducted later. At that time plans were made for giving assistance to the Buckner orphan home at Dallas. A canvass of the church membership will be made next week by women, and every Baptist in the city will be asked to make a gift to the church orphanage.

Mrs. Eason Has Entire Club at Contract Party

All members of Monday Contract club were present for the party yesterday afternoon in the home of Mrs. R. K. Eason. Two tables were arranged for bridge, attractively appointed in blue.

Mrs. John Weeks made high score in the games. Others playing were Mrs. J. L. Cashman, Al Schnauffer, Earle Schleg, H. C. Berry, Robert L. Freney, and H. L. Harkey.

Nuts and candies were served on the tables during the games, and at the close of the afternoon the hostess served a salad course, lemon chiffon pie, and coffee.

Lady Took Cardui Says Pain Stopped

Many women who have taken Cardui have reported just such results as Mrs. Dow Parker (of Farmington, Mo.) describes below. "I was weak and tired and did not feel like doing anything," she writes. "I had cramping spells. At times, I would be very nervous. The pain was mostly in my back and sides. I would just complain and not feel good. I heard several ladies speak of Cardui, and my mother had taken it. I decided to try it. I took several bottles of Cardui. It helped the nervousness and the pain stopped. I felt just fine. I gained in weight and strength.

Of course, if Cardui does not benefit YOU, consult a physician.

LAKETON CLUB TO HOLD OPEN HOUSE HOURS

Public Is Invited For Achievement Day Event

Achievement day will be celebrated in Laketon Home Demonstration club Thursday, with the public invited to both morning and afternoon programs. The main event will be at the home of Mrs. Oad Gatlin at 2 p. m.

Her home is 19 miles east on the Mobeetie highway and half a mile south. Her improved bedroom will be displayed, and cakes made by members for standardization will be scored.

The home of Mrs. Mart Cunningham will be open from 10 to 11 a. m. to show her pantry achievement.

The club will have a lunch at 12 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Gatlin. Several clubs are holding achievement days this week. Hopkins club is inviting visitors to the home of Mrs. S. J. Fleming today; Merten club will hold open house at the home of Mrs. Pete Kelly tomorrow; and Mrs. E. R. Egidien of McLean will display her improved bedroom Friday. The public is invited to visit all these demonstrations.

DRAMAS READ FOR PROGRAM IN ONE CIRCLE

McCULLOUGH-HARRAH GROUPS PLAN FOR JOINT SESSION

Meeting in homes of members, McCullough-Harrah Methodist Missionary circles yesterday studied and planned a joint business session for next Monday at Harrah chapel.

"Mrs. J. C. Dollard was hostess to McCullough circle. A play, Workers' Conference, was presented by Mrs. J. E. Beard, H. C. Boyd, Kit Aubry, C. W. Tule, George Harris, Ben Ward, W. Vandever. Another playlet, City Calls, was read by Mrs. Beard.

Refreshments were served to a guest, Mrs. Coyne Ford, those on program and Mrs. E. N. Franklin, V. N. Osborne, A. McClendon, A. N. Rogers, and C. D. Harris.

A new member, Mrs. E. H. Laughter, was welcomed by Harrah circle, meeting at the home of Mrs. E. G. Hemphill. Opening prayers were given by Mrs. G. D. Buckner and Mrs. E. Campbell, and Mrs. Buckner also conducted the devotional. Mrs. H. L. Wallace was leader of the lesson.

Visitors were the Rev. Lance Webb, Mrs. Webb and Mrs. Canon. Members present were Mrs. W. M. Cox, Wallace, Buckner, Campbell, Hemphill. A chain of prayers closed the program.

Bridge-Shower For Bride-Elect Is Recent Event

Miss Idella Shirkey, who is being entertained at a series of parties preceding her marriage Wednesday to Walter Wilton of Terrell, was honored at a bridge shower Thursday. Mrs. R. P. Weeks, Mrs. James A. Hopkins, and Miss Floy Standaert were hostesses at Miss Standaert's home.

Fall flowers decorated the rooms where the guests gathered. Martha Hopkins and Tommy Riddle in Pilgrim costumes, presented the gifts in a replica of the Mayflower.

A salad course and coffee were served to Mrs. Turner Kirby, P. H. M. Riddler, T. J. Riddle, Alta Standaert, Robert A. Knox, Misses Shirkey, Ruth Brittain; Lorene Nicholson, Grace Hilliard, Beulah Harmonson, Lucille Douglass, Etha Jones, Viola Stratch, and Cleora Standaert.

Gifts were sent by Mrs. Maggie Hopkins, W. B. Wild, Thomas Kirby, Siler Hopkins, Mary Margaret Arnold, Ruth Park; Misses Eula Johns and Oetha Jones of Pampa; Mrs. Thomas Clegg, Ralph Ellis, and Harold Welch of Panhandle.

Mrs. Chuck Prather and Earle Hamilton of Borger, Mrs. W. Willson of Terrell, Mrs. Thomas P. DeLancy of Wichita Falls, Mrs. Max Kates of Dallas, Mrs. Earl Parker, of Los Angeles, Calif., Mrs. Ed Graham of Graham.

Benefit Planned For Ester Club

Tea towels were hemmed by members of the Ester club, to be given to the kitchen at the I. O. O. F. hall, when the club met for a covered dish luncheon at the home of Mrs. Carl Baer yesterday.

Plans were completed for a bridge tournament to be conducted Friday at 8 o'clock in the I. O. O. F. hall, to which the public is invited. The club also voted to sell subscriptions to a magazine to add to its fund.

Mrs. Paul Blankensburg, G. T. Bunch, Anna Brooks, R. S. Walker, Cora Kolb, Ed Zmotomy, John Hall, and O. G. Smith were present. The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Zmotomy on November 26.

M. E. WOMEN STUDY KOREAN MISSION WORK

CIRCLE WILL SEND A THANKSGIVING BASKET

Circles of First Methodist Missionary society continued a study of Korea in meetings yesterday afternoon. Mrs. P. B. Mack was hostess to circle one at her home, with 14 members present.

Mrs. Joe Shelton presented the devotional talk, Continuing on the New Order. Mrs. John Hesse made a short talk on mission work in Korea, and Mrs. M. E. DeTar's topic was Training for Christian Service in Korea. Mrs. Charles Burton was a visitor. The circle planned to send a "good-cheer" basket to a shut-in on Thanksgiving.

Circle four had 10 members present at the church. Mrs. R. K. Elkins discussed the devotional topic, Ways of the New Order. Talks were given by Mrs. Carlton Nance on Health in Korea, and Mrs. S. A. Hurst on Releasing Captive Bodies.

Cowboy Song to Honor Rogers on Chapel Program

Presented in four sections, a program will be given by first grade pupils of Mrs. John Bradley at Sam Houston school tomorrow morning at 8:45, for the assembly hour of the first three grades. Parents and friends of the pupils are invited.

Pre-school children will present the first section of the program. Another group of numbers will observe the Texas Centennial; another will stress book week, and the program will end with a song by the Cowboys' chorus, dedicated to the memory of Will Rogers.

Piano Is Among Gifts to School

Appreciation for a new piano given by Woodrow Wilson Parent-Teacher association was expressed this week by pupils and teachers of that school. The piano, an upright, was purchased last week and is in use for music classes and chapel programs.

Room mothers at Woodrow Wilson school have had bulletin boards placed in all classrooms recently, and are putting new curtains on windows and doors now. Students and teachers are grateful for all these improvements, they say.

THREE STEPS TO RELIEVING CONSTIPATION

A cleansing dose today; a smaller quantity tomorrow; less each time, until bowels need no help at all.

Why do people come home from a hospital with bowels working like a well-regulated watch?

The answer is simple, and it's the answer to all your bowel worries if you will only realize it: many doctors and hospitals use liquid laxatives.

If you knew what a doctor knows, you would use only the liquid form. A liquid can always be taken in gradually reduced doses. Reduced dosage is the secret of any real relief from constipation.

Ask a doctor about this. Ask your druggist how very popular liquid laxatives have become. They give the right kind of help, and right amount of help. The liquid laxative generally used is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It contains senna and cascara — both natural laxatives that can form no habit, even in children. So, try Syrup Pepsin. You just take regulated doses till Nature restores regularity.

Farewell Party Given Recently For Mrs. Aker

Honoring Mrs. Clyde Aker, who is moving to Eldorado, Ark.

Mrs. Aker made high score and Mrs. Albert Brunson second high in bridge. When the prize was presented to Mrs. Aker, it included a gift from each friend present.

Guests were Mrs. Aker, Brunson, Floyd Strickland, Scott Gray, Charlie Zerial, and three friends from Skellytown, Mrs. Joe Miller, Ed Patchett, and Jack Probst.

Autumn leaves and flowers decorated the house, and the same motif appeared in table covers, tallies, and score pads. Small bouquets of fall flowers centered the tables for the refreshment course of chicken salad, cranberries, potato chips, hot rolls, coffee, and pumpkin pie.

SANTA CLAUS EXPEDITION REACHES BORDER OF SANTA'S LAND--DWARF IS ENCOUNTERED

Little Man Cheerfully Greets Pampa Party - Tells How Toys Are Made

By Captain F. E. Kleinschmidt
Station FEK: Eskimoland
After traveling thousands of miles by airplane and reindeer team, battling wolves and the fierce spirit of Layluk, the expedition reaches the border of Santa's Land.

In my wireless message yesterday I told about escaping the clutches of Layluk and pitching camp in the midst of a vast herd of reindeer under the beautiful Northern Lights.

Wonderful Display
You have all heard of the Northern Lights and on rare days or rather extremely cold nights, you have seen streamers of light in the north, but so low on the horizon that they appeared but dim and low bands of flickering light.

Here is the Far North they are right above us, filling the whole vault of heaven, and constitute the most beautiful, wonderful and supernatural display the eye of man has ever beheld. No human being, no matter how callous or engrossed in worldly things, but has to stand in awe and wonder at this marvelous heavenly display.

As we were sitting there completely under the spell of the Northern Lights and Mrs. K. was softly humming a familiar hymn, there all at once appeared before us a little old man not more than three feet high. He appeared so suddenly and silently we had no idea where he came from. He had wrinkled face and white frost-covered whiskers. It was just as if a dwarf had stepped out of the story of "Snow-White." Our Eskimos were astonished and puzzled for it was the queerest little old man they had ever seen.

Mrs. Kleinschmidt was the first to find words, and smiling into the dwarf's face she said:
"Good evening. Won't you come up to the fire and have a cup of tea?"

To our astonishment the little man understood her. He smiled and sat down primly on a heap of skins by the fire and held out his hand for the cup she offered him.
"Thank you, dear lady. I would enjoy it very much" and then he looked at us.

"Why did you people take the trouble to come here, 'way up north. Do you know where you are or have you been lost?"

Then Mrs. Kleinschmidt told him that we had come far from the south over many hard and dangerous miles of travel by air and by sled on an expedition for the Junior Chamber and all the children of Pampa to find the home of Santa Claus.

Now it was the dwarf's turn to look astonished "So you want to see

Captain Kills Walrus for Food

Pictured above is Captain Kleinschmidt, head of the Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce expedition to Santa Clausland, who has just shot a big walrus for food. The expedition is seeking Santa Claus to invite him to the local annual Santa day celebration on December 6.

Santa Claus, deliver letters, find out what he is doing the rest of the year and take motion pictures of him?"

He shook his shaggy whiskers as if that were the most preposterous thing he ever heard of and looked into his teacup as if he could find an answer there. Then he said thoughtfully:
"Well anyone strong enough to pass the caves of Layluk must be traveling with a mighty urge—as yours seem to be indeed. Shall you be welcome?"

"Oh we must see him, we must. How could we return and tell the children we failed—so near our goal?"

"How, indeed," mused the dwarf. "But my friends, has it never occurred to you that Santa may have a pretty good reason for living in an inaccessible land where none can seek him out or might question him?"

We looked at each other in consternation—this idea had never occurred to us. For the first time we felt that really we might have come

"I beg you to forget what I said in my pride," said the dwarf sadly. "I am out here as chief herdsman for the reindeer—I was not always a herdsman, I was boss of—no, I can't tell you any more, and I can't help you at all—you must turn back. I warn you—for Santa will not be annoyed. He sees no newspaper reporters and gives out no messages. He hates a wagging tongue and it was mine that lost me my post in the factory—and here my bragging tongue is getting me into trouble again—Oh, this is terrible. Please, please forget all I have said and turn back."

We tried to calm the little man and allay his fears by telling him we were no head-line or curiosity seekers, but the children all over the world were waiting for our return, and if we failed, thousands, yes millions, would say: "Now we know there is no Santa Claus."

This made the dwarf think twice. "Of course I understand it here not just curiosity brought you here but the love and faith of children and Santa loves children above all else in the world, so we must not think of ourselves, but of them. But goodness knows what I will do if Santa is displeased with me, for there isn't anything in the way of punishment I could bear as easily as being a herdsman. All I need to do is to order your reindeer to go back and nothing you could do would make them return, but I will do what I can for the sake of the children. You had better remain here until you and your reindeer receive orders to go on or turn back.

"Oh, I knew you would help us," cried Mrs. K. as she bent down and gave him a hug and then as she would look at a child and said: "What is your name little man?"

"K X Y Z O M P X O T"
We all laughed.
"I guess we'll call you Jimmy Alde and Jimmy for short. All right Jimmy, whatever you say we will do."
"Wait until you hear from me. Goodbye dear lady."

With these words he vaulted on the back of a beautiful antlered reindeer and vanished from sight.

It was clear Jimmy Alde was talking with Santa, and we wondered if we would ever see the queer little fellow Jimmy Alde again. So here we are once more on the line between success and failure—tomorrow or the next day the momentous question will be decided, but remember even if we fail and are ordered back, we have at least this fact established and Jimmy Alde as a witness of the reality of Santa Claus and that we are near his home.

BORAH-HOOVER DUEL IN 1936 IS PREDICTED

IDAHOAN EXPECTED TO ENTER NAME IN PRIMARIES

BY NATHAN ROBERTSON, WASHINGTON, Nov. 19 (AP)—Word reached the capital today that the possibility of a spectacular duel between Borah and former President Hoover, either over the Republican nomination or the course the party shall take.

Whether Borah and Hoover become avowed candidates for the nomination, this and other recent developments have indicated that they are rapidly moving into the leadership of two opposing factions within the party.

Both are avoiding discussion of candidacies and talking only of issues, but the issues they present are in sharp contrast. Borah has minimized the spending issue, which Hoover has stressed, and advanced instead, the question of monopoly. Furthermore, the Idaho senator has pointedly demanded reorganization of party leadership.

While Borah has refused to commit himself on his 1936 plans, the activity of his friends out in the states virtually assures that the Idahoan's name and views will go before the primary voters and—if he wins—the national convention.

When Borah arrived here last week his reply to inquiries as to whether he would enter the primaries was, "I can't say." According to word reaching here, unless he eliminates himself more positively than that, his name will be entered.

Most of the primary states do not require the consent of a candidate for his name to be entered in the preferential primaries. His friends can do it for him. Ohio is a notable exception to this rule.

There have been no indications yet whether Borah, if his name should be entered, would have any opposition. The Borah entry might force opponents into the races also, particularly if he should run in the home states of other candidates.

Hoover has declined to comment on his plans, and his friends have insisted he was interested only in issues. But Borah has said that there have been reports that the former president has been strongly urged to run by those corresponding with him.

American-Paid Lawyer Ousted In French Trial

AIX-EN-PROVENCE, France, Nov. 19 (AP)—Georges Desbans, engaged by American money to defend three Croix charged with complicity in the assassination of King Alexander of Yugoslavia, today was disbarred by the trial court.

He was escorted from the courtroom by gendarmes after he had attacked the justice's treatment of the prosecutor a liar.

The court announced it would name another lawyer and continue the trial.

STORY CHANGED BY WITNESS IN McDONALD CASE

House Record Shows Tate Gave Different Version

AUSTIN, Nov. 19 (AP)—The house of representatives looked for confirmation today of evidence on charges of official misconduct filed against J. E. McDonald, commissioner of agriculture. Testimony was received yesterday on six of 11 allegations.

McDonald specifically denied all the charges.

Much of the testimony centered around a charge McDonald violated the law prohibiting employment of relatives by using a truck owned by his brother, A. E. McDonald, to transport state jacks and stallions.

The house board of managers sought to impeach testimony of Jim Tate, one of its star witnesses.

Tate testified that he purchased the truck from A. E. McDonald and contracted with the commissioner of agriculture to haul the animals. He said he made several payments on the truck but couldn't remember how many or the total amount paid.

The board of managers read statements purported to have been made by Tate before a special house investigating committee several months ago. At that time Tate, the record showed, testified the truck belonged to A. E. McDonald, that Tate had not bought it and that warrants for its use were turned over to A. E. McDonald.

The truck, evidence showed, was first leased by J. E. McDonald from his brother but was transferred to Tate when it was called to his attention he might be violating the nepotism law. The commissioner told the house several months ago in a voluntary appearance that he believed the transaction was bona fide and that Tate was the real owner of the truck when he contracted with him to haul the animals.

Questioned by McDonald's attorneys Tate said the commissioner knew nothing of the details of the transfer and did not participate in the arrangements in any manner.

C. L. West, assistant state auditor, testified McDonald diverted money from a special jockey fund that should have gone into the general treasury, McDonald, he said, deposited the receipts in a local bank and paid caretakers' salaries and other expenses incidental to care of the jacks and stallions from the fund.

6 JURORS ARE SELECTED TO TRY ESKRIDGE

COURT ADJOURNS FOR FUNERAL OF PROSECUTOR

HOUSTON, Nov. 19 (AP)—Selection of a jury to try the Rev. Edgar Eskridge, swashbuckling preacher, for the slaying of Police Chief Ed J. O'Reilly of Orange, Texas, was delayed today by a funeral.

District Judge Langston King adjourned court until afternoon because of morning rites for Joe Manacosta, assistant district attorney.

Only six men were accepted as jurors out of more than 60 examined yesterday.

The defense will contend the burly pastor was insane when he shot his former friend last May 29. O'Reilly had taken Eskridge's "six-shooters" on the ground Eskridge had no authority to pose as an officer on personal night club raids.

Indications were that introduction of testimony probably would begin tomorrow.

Many veniremen were excused because they had formed opinions as to whether or not Eskridge was guilty of murder when he killed O'Reilly. Some were challenged because they had scruples against the death penalty and others because they were prejudiced against insanity as a defense.

The jurors accepted were George Krafft, 30-year-old welder; J. A. Murray, 37, who said he was acquainted with counsel for both sides; Ernest Langner, 57, pipe line worker; W. R. Morgan, street car operator; M. E. Lewis, packing company employe, and S. G. Lund, stove repairer.

Veniremen were questioned in regard to their church and lodge affiliations and were asked whether the fact the defendant was a minister would influence their verdict. Murray and Morgan are Methodists, Lewis a Baptist, Langner a Lutheran, and Lund and Krafft said they did not belong to a church.

Eskridge, who stands more than six feet tall and claims to be a

Sports Roundup

BY EDDIE BREITZ, Associated Press Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19 (AP)—A scout reports from Dublin that Jimmy Walker told friends there he would not mind being baseball commissioner when and if Judge Landis steps down.

North Carolina will offer Carl Snavey a new five-year contract and hopes he accepts. Snavey's present agreement has a year to run, but North Carolina wants to tear it up, raise the ante and start all over again.

Jock McAvoy, British middleweight champion, makes his American debut Nov. 29 against Al McCoy at New York. Adam Walsh, who starred at Notre Dame during the days of the four horsemen, is Maine's new miracle man. He took a Bowdoin team that didn't win a game in 1934 and coached it into the state championship.

Are the Yanks about to ditch little Joe Sewell? His name isn't on the club's reserve list. Maybe he'll bob up as manager at Newark.

Hot stove league: Al Simmons wants to be $5,000 he'll hit at 300 or better next year. Here's the first holdout: He's Buck Newsome of Washington and he says he doesn't mean maybe.

The Boston Red Sox will move their Charlotte farm unless the city dads bring back Sunday baseball.

Young Bill Bramham, son of the minor league czar, operated Cincinnati's Wilmington farm last year.

Clark Griffith will vote for night baseball in the American league, but won't turn on the lights in Washington. The major league meetings in December may find Bob Quinn transferring from Brooklyn to Boston as general manager of the Braves.

British Arrest German as Spy

LONDON, Nov. 19 (AP)—Dr. Hermann Gortz, a German, was arrested at Harwich, authorities announced today, charged under the official secrets act.

Gortz was remanded, the officials said, and will appear in the courts in the normal way.

Hoover has declined to comment on his plans, and his friends have insisted he was interested only in issues. But Borah has said that there have been reports that the former president has been strongly urged to run by those corresponding with him.

The official secrets act is applied in cases where a leakage of secret information is suspected.

The Daily Sketch called the arrest a sensational development, arising from reports circulating for some time in a number of naval ports and air stations in south and west England.

This newspaper said it was alleged Dr. Gortz was in possession of documents contrary to "the secrets act."

The Sketch said Gortz was a war-time member of the German air force and a frequent visitor to England before and after the war. The newspaper reported he was accompanied on some visits by a beautiful young golden-haired woman understood to be his daughter or niece.

The girl returned to Germany this fall, but when Gortz arrived at Harwich early in November, secret service agents were waiting.

NEW DEAL'S DEFENSE OF LAWS IS 'GENERAL WELFARE CLAUSE'

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19 (AP)—Striving to beat back the attacks of the new deal in the supreme court government lawyers are basing their defense in large part on the famous "general welfare" clause of the constitution.

Again and again they have pointed to the words of the constitution, which says:

"The congress shall have power to lay and collect taxes, duties, imposts and excises, to pay the debts and provide for the common defense and general welfare."

A discussion of this clause occupied more than half of a 380-page brief submitted yesterday in behalf of the processing taxes which the AAA lays on manufacture of farm products to raise money to pay benefits to agriculture.

In defending a section of the home owners loan act, the government lawyers also stressed the clause, and much will be heard of it Dec. 19 when the power program of the Roosevelt administration meets its test in arguments on the Tennessee valley authority.

The clause never has been interpreted by the supreme court in a definitive way, the lawyers say. But they told the court that use of the tax revenues for rental and benefit payments "to bring about increased farm income and a resurgence of business activity was clearly for the general welfare."

MCLEAN AND SHAMROCK WILL BATTLE FOR DISTRICT HONORS FRIDAY NIGHT

BOTH ELEVENS ARE UNBEATEN THIS SEASON

IRISH SLIGHT FAVORITES BECAUSE OF WEIGHT EDGE

McLEAN, Nov. 19. (SP)—The championship of District 3B will be decided Friday night at Tiger field in McLean when the Tigers of Coach Bill Allen meet the Shamrock Irishmen, coached by Garrison Rush, former McLean coach.

The game will be called at 7:30 o'clock with admission 25 cents for students and 50 cents for adults. Grandstand seats will sell for 15 cents extra and a car may be taken inside the field for 25 cents extra. Officials for the game will be Dick Dennard, (Trinity) and Bill Anderson, (WITCO) both of Pampa, and Gilliam, (WITCO) of Carey. Both teams will enter the game undefeated, having swept through conference and non-conference foes like a whirlwind. Dope points to one of the greatest battles of backfields in district history, with lines that charge hard and low and tackle with deadly precision.

The McLean attack will be led by Tolliver, fullback and Cunningham, halfback. Shamrock relies largely on the terrific speed of McIntyre and Davis, halfbacks. Both teams have great blocking and interference game on sweeps. Both can take to the air if power and speed on the ground fall.

Shamrock will have a weight advantage of almost nine pounds to the man. Much of the difference will be in the backfield where Shamrock has two big fellows, one a plunging fullback and the other a blocker. McLean's quarterback is another member of the famous Christian family. He weighs only 142 pounds.

The Irish will also have a slight edge in experience, several of the Shamrock players having two years experience together. Every man but one in the Shamrock starting lineup has had at least one year of football before this season. Six of the Tigers had experience last year. Because of their record, the Irishmen are slight favorites to win the district. McLean, however, has been showing exceptional ability the last few weeks and may upset the dope.

Sam Langford Is Critically Hurt

NEW YORK, Nov. 19. (AP)—Sam Langford, one of the greatest of Negro ring fighters, lay critically injured in a hospital today.

Witnesses said last night that Sam probably didn't notice that the light was red when he shuffled in to the street and was struck by a taxi cab. Benefit fights had provided money for a series of operations on his one eye, the last in April, 1935, but it was said that at best Langford had only 50 per cent vision in that eye. It was in 1917 that the "Boston Tar Baby," fighting Fred Fulton, received a blow in the eye that dimmed that optic permanently. As the years advanced a cataract formed in the other eye. Despite this handicap he won the Mexican heavyweight championship.

Waco And Temple Will Play In Saturday's Attraction

Numerous Teams Are 'In' as District Champions

By BILL PARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The sixteen Class A football districts of the Texas Interscholastic League are nearing the championship finishing line. Thanksgiving will close the various schedules and send the district winners into bi-district competition.

Several teams appear to be "in," including the Amarillo Golden Sandies, 1934 champions. The Sandies have clinched a tie in district one. They have one more district game schedule, one on Thanksgiving at Pampa.

The main attraction this weekend will be the Waco-Temple game at Temple. Temple is pacing the district twelve race with five straight wins, but Waco has four wins against one defeat and by defeating Temple could deadlock this race.

The district standings and schedules of all final games follow:

AIR ATTACK

with chiefs and warriors under his control also was reported in the statement.

Heavy Bombs Dropped.
An Ethiopian force estimated at between 15,000 and 20,000 was concentrated in the narrow valley of Mai Mesic, south of Buia, which in turn is south of Makale, most advanced point of the main Italian forces on the northern front.

The battle lasted from 8:40 a. m. to 10:40 a. m. yesterday with incessant bombing and machine gunning.

The planes swooped down to within 100 feet of the ground, dropping 4 1/2-pound bombs.

Count Claino's plane was obliged to return to Makale. Other planes came down in the mountainous country not far from the scene of action.

Count Claino was brought back to Asmara, in the interior of Italy's East African colony of Eritrea, in another plane.

He told the Associated Press his own ship was struck by three anti-aircraft shells and 36 machine gun and rifle bullets.

Darrow Pleads for Boy Lifer

Hope that he may not have to spend the rest of his life behind bars came to Lyle Messner above, 22, sentenced at 14 to life imprisonment for the alleged murder of a 6-year-old Cedar Rapids Ia girl when Clarence Darrow famed criminal lawyer emerged from retirement and won a promise that the Iowa parole board would consider Messner's case. The lad's mother had begged Darrow to save her son.

Debtors Take A Holiday

By CLARENCE W. FACKLER, Ph. D., Assistant Professor of Economics, New York University

Our nation is now furnishing for the world at large one of the most senseless and stupid exhibitions that man, collectively speaking, has yet made of himself in his effort to get well by cutting his own throat and hitting his own ear. Perhaps it is an observation that just now cannot possibly make front-page "news," but for whatever it may be worth, the citizens of this fair land, excited by the extravagance of government, are again entering the spending race in drives. As before, the goal is to out-do their neighbors, and to out-mooh each other to the last nickel. And, these popular past-times are now being revived on a broad scale, despite the fact that at the finishing tape, the county sheriff, as in the past, will be declared the winner.

The lead is taken from the federal government, which is still busy straining at the gnat and swallowing the camel. Its philanthropic task of squandering money to raise prices and to cheapen the dollar in the hope of making it easier for Smith to pay his debts is being accomplished in plain daylight by incurring more public debts and levying more taxes for Smith to pay. But until the postponed pay-up day arrives, Smith is off on a spending spree himself.

This autumn finds him donating to the million dollar gate receipts at so-called boxing matches, attending packed stadiums to witness the football contests of state and privately-subsidized college teams helping to expand retail sales for nicknacks in department stores, buying securities on a booming three million share day stock exchange, marking his agricultural ballot 6 to 1 to continue paying farmers to quit work, attending national conventions to wheedle $200 or so a month out of the public sack for the aged, and in his free moments stumping for a $2,000,000,000 soldiers' bonus. Truly, all of his activities indicate a certain weariness with frugality, a wide-spread revival of confidence in spending beyond the pocketbook (inflation), and a ravenous craving for the happy, get-something-for-nothing days of the twenties. At last the pump seems to have been primed, and all others with itching palms have begun to pump.

Of course, no person these days wishes to work himself into a lather by shouting continuously into deaf ears about the dangers of inflation lying in the increased private circulation of the $28 billion of government-created bank deposits, and in excess bank reserves of over $3 billion, while industrial production (adjusted for seasonal variations) remains practically unchanged these past six months. But it does seem too bad that our government with all of the "experts" that it commands has made no progress whatever in getting its household to understand the impossibility of drawing more purchasing power from the financial tap than has been put into the cash first off by labor and capital working in the nation's vineyards.

To be sure "we're on our way back" that is, to another period of liquidation and bankruptcy, unless labor and industry have been strengthened sufficiently to produce the needed revenue with which to pay taxes the principal and interest on the increased public debt. So soon after forfeiting his "pas-as-you-rise" car and his "pay-as-you-listen" radio, it is strange, almost unbelievable, that Smith, off on a holiday, has forgotten the old saying: "There is no new way to pay old debts."

Weighty Problem

This photograph from an unusual angle, taken at Seattle, makes it plain that exhibition work is not keeping James J. Braddock's weight down. Note the rolls of fat around the heavyweight champion's middle.

dent John N. Garner; Will H. Hays, movie czar; former president Herbert C. Hoover; Patrick J. Hurley; Jesse H. Jones; Mrs. Roberts Campbell Lawson; Governor E. W. Marland of Oklahoma; Governor Frank F. Merriam of California; Alfred E. Smith, former governor of New York and candidate for the presidency in 1928; Fred Stone; George Young, publisher of the Los Angeles Examiner; Owen D. Young, chairman of the board of the General Electric company, and and other men of prestige and judgment.

Naturally, the judgment must be indicated by the total of the subscriptions. But one thing is certain; the commission will sponsor no cold shaft of marble for this warm, friendly man. Rather, there will be living, continuing memorials projected to honor the charitable, educational and humanitarian traits which were so beloved in Will Rogers, the living man.

Rogers, who was kind-hearted and sympathetic, a man of the people, in life, will be recalled in memory as he lived.

Money, alone is not the goal. Naturally, the total subscribed must be reflected in the ultimate choice of memorials. But the real goal in the eyes of the Committee must rest in the number of friendships registered in the campaign—the total number of people who will come forward to honor the memory of their friend with a material token of that friendship. Millions, it is anticipated, will voice their appreciation of Will Rogers in a contribution—millions who have laughed and cried with Rogers in his expressed understanding of mankind.

The Will Rogers Memorial Commission, composed of responsible, respected men and women—all friends of Will Rogers and his family—selected without regard to politics, race or religion, but banded together by a mutual love of Will Rogers and a desire to properly perpetuate his spirited memory, will handle all funds collected.

Every single penny subscribed will be used for memorials to Will Rogers. In keeping with his love of flying and those interested in aviation, the expenses of gathering the fund are being borne by the aviation industry.

COURT RECORD

Return has been made on an indictment charging C. M. Bullock with wife desertion. Bullock was arrested in Houston and returned to Pampa last night by Sheriff Earl Talley.

Sheriff and Mrs. Talley drove to Austin to visit their son, Buck Talley, student at Texas university, and returned by way of Houston. They attended the Texas-T. C. U. football game Saturday in Austin.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde L. Carruth of the Farrington community are the parents of a son, John Lloyd, born at Pampa-Jarratt hospital. He weighed 7 pounds. Mr. Carruth is assistant county agent.

Children's Colds Should Have This Safe Treatment

Young Mothers Benefit from Two Generations' Proof of This External Treatment For Fighting Colds.

IT AVOIDS CONSTANT "DOSING"

There's nothing like a child's cold to upset a young mother. And mothers of two generations, anxious to help end colds, have depended on Vicks VapoRub. It is effective—external—and safe. It avoids the risks of constant "dosing," so often upsetting to children's delicate digestions. Just rubbed on throat and chest at bedtime, VapoRub acts two ways at once:

1. By stimulation through the skin, like a poultice or plaster.
2. By inhalation of its penetrating medicated vapors, released by body heat and breathed in direct to inflamed air-passages.

Continuing through the night, this combined vapor-poultice action loosens phlegm—soothes irritated membranes—eases difficult breathing—helps break congestion.

A Practical Guide for Mothers

Each year, more and more families are being helped to fewer colds and shorter colds by Vicks Plan for Better Control of Colds. Vicks Plan has been clinically tested by practicing physicians, and further proved in everyday home use by millions. Full details of the Plan in each package of Vicks VapoRub.

'Winter-Proof' Is 'Good Insurance'

DALLAS, Nov. 19. — Profiting from the experience of large fleet operators, automobile owners are rapidly learning that a semi-annual check-up of their cars is the best insurance that they can buy against cold weather damage and expense. Fred M. Lege Jr., vice president said in announcing the annual "Winter-Proof" campaign of the Magnolia Petroleum company.

"Thrifty Americans have learned that it is good business to carry insurance that protects them against damage to their persons and their homes," Mr. Lege said. "They insure their automobiles against fire and theft, and often against damage from accident—and now they realize that it is equally as essential to insure an automobile against the ravages of weather and wear by protecting the engine, the body, the cooling system and other vital parts by means of two semi-annual check-ups—one in the spring and one in the fall.

from a new angle—New York's new Triborough Bridge, which is rapidly being completed. In the foreground: Howard Hougland, McClintic-Marshall engineer, wearing the picturesque engineers' "hard hat," a necessary protection on big jobs. "An engineer's life," he says, "calls for physical fitness and energy. When my pep is at low ebb, there's nothing like a Camel, for a Camel chases away all signs of tiredness. I always get a 'lift' with a Camel. I have preferred Camels for years because of their good taste and mildness. They never irritate my throat. That's one way you can tell Camels are made from more expensive tobaccos."

"I'VE WON A COUPLE of world championships in the rodeo game," says Dick Shelton, all-round cowboy. "After a tough event—or any time I'm tired—I get a 'lift' in energy with a Camel. And a mighty pleasing, cozy smoke it is, too!"

"I AM A STEEL WORKER on the Triborough Bridge," says Ben Parsons, as he enjoys a Camel. "Like so many of the bridge men, I smoke Camels. If I feel tired, I get a 'lift' with a Camel. And Camels have all the full flavor anybody could want."

CANADA TRADE TREATY PRAISED AND CONDEMNED

Grange Objects But Business Cheers Duty Slash

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19. (AP)—Political leaders studied the country's reaction to the new Canadian-American trade treaty today, wondering whether it would become an issue in the 1936 campaign.

It was considered sure to be mentioned in the campaign orations, but leaders were not yet ready to say whether it would be a major issue. They were studying the flood of incoming comments, which continued to conflict.

The national grange, in convention at Sacramento, Cal., last night called on the administration to rescind the pact, under which the two nations grant each other tariff reductions or other concessions on about 800 commodities.

The report of the grange said: "One of the worst features is that while we receive some concessions from one country, Canada, under the most-favored-nation clause, which has been written into trade treaties into which we have entered with all the leading nations of the world, we must give these nations the same concessions that we give Canada, although they make no concessions to us."

In contrast to this stand, shipping, banking and business leaders attending the national foreign trade council convention at Houston, Tex., gave high praise to the pact and expressed hope others would be negotiated soon.

Generally administration chiefs expressed themselves as pleased with their work and made ready to defend it as an instrument capable of greatly increasing trade.

"Till We Meet Again"

(Copyright, 1935, by NEA Service, Inc.) Considerately, the camel searches the sky for war clouds while his rider, an Ethiopian camel-cavalryman, bids his wife good-bye at Harar. It was one of many tearful farewells witnessed by H. V. Drees, NEA Service staff cameraman, as the troops evacuated Harar to go to the front.

The GOLDEN FEATHER

by Robert Bruce © 1935 NEA Service, Inc.

CHAPTER X
Larry Glenn sauntered into the Golden Feather night club, handed his hat to the checkroom girl, and persuaded the head waiter to give him a small table partially screened by the palms at one corner of the little stage on which the orchestra sat. He took his seat, ordered a sandwich and coffee, and took a leisurely survey of the place.

It was getting on toward midnight now, and there were few vacant tables. Almost in his ear, the orchestra was blating and blaring in the fevered manner peculiar to night club orchestras; on the tiny dance floor a dozen couples were gliding and shuffling back and forth. From one table or another there would come, periodically, a burst of sudden laughter, a snatch of conversation, or a gay and inhibited call of greeting to someone nearby.

Larry looked about him, resting his gaze slowly on one face after another. That stout, red-faced man there in the gray suit; obviously a boisterous but basically harmless citizen, of the good-sport-heavy-spender type. The girl with him was just as easy to classify; party girl, neat in appearance, gay in manner, proud of her ability to take care of herself but apt to over-estimate that same ability, once in a blue moon.

Next table . . . two boys and two girls in evening clothes; nice-looking youngsters beginning to get a bit loud and uncertain in speech. . . Now what business, mused Larry, have four decent kids like them coming to a place like this? They can't be out of high school yet. Oh, well, they're not my children.

Next table . . . a woman in black 35 or thereabouts, sitting alone and looking forever toward the entrance; waiting for someone, clearly, with scant patience, and methodically downing old-fashioned as she waited. Whoever it was that was late for his appointment was going to hear something when he did show up.

Next table . . . three men and a girl, the latter seated with her back toward Larry's table, so that all he could see of her was a dark dress and a large, floppy hat. One of the men wore tweeds and talked to her affably; a business man, by the look of him, prepossessing except for a vaguely secretive look about the mouth. One of the other men was a rangy chap in blue serge, who was dreamily looking at the dancers and puffing at a cigarette; the other was a small man, black-haired, almost foppish in a dinner suit, who was slumped down in his chair and seemed to be listening intently to the man in tweeds.

Mixed grill, thought Larry; a queer combination, that party, in some ways. And I can't say I care a whole lot for that little man's looks, either.

Looking up, he saw his friend, short enough. Only his hair ain't red, and his nose is as straight as mine." Larry looked at the detective and grinned. "Straighter," he said. Then the grin vanished.

"You want to remember, though," he said, "that there are such things as hair dyes and beauty doctors." "Hair dyes—sure," said Hagan. "But what do any of these hoods have to do with beauty doctors?" Larry laughed shortly.

"You'd be surprised," he said. "Didn't Dillinger go to one? They know all the tricks, these birds. If one of them has a pan that's known to too many detectives, he doesn't mind going to some unscrupulous face-lifter and having it changed. You can't always tell much by photographs, these days."

"Makes our jobs kind of tough, then, don't it?" asked Hagan. "Yes . . . except that there are other ways," said Larry thoughtfully. He looked about the room meditatively.

"You know any of the staff here?" he asked. "Just to speak to, is about all. This place hasn't been open so very long."

Larry continued to look about him until he caught the eye of a waiter, whom he signaled with a jerk of his head. The waiter came to his table and stood there expectantly. Larry took a bill from his pocket and unobtrusively showed it to him.

"See that little black-haired man at the fourth table over?" he asked quietly, indicating the direction with a nod. The waiter looked. "Him there by the corner, under the light?" he asked. Larry nodded. "I'm a queer guy," said Larry. "I like to collect drinking glasses that have been used by perfect strangers. This bill is yours if you'll bring me that man's glass, when he's through with it."

The waiter looked at Larry to see if he was joking. Then he looked over at the little black-haired man once more. Then he stood motionless for a moment, apparently puzzling over the proposition to see if there might be a catch in it anywhere that would get him into trouble.

"Yes, sir," he said at last. "I'll get it for you. You in a hurry for it?" Larry shook his head. "No rush," he said. "Only be dead sure you get his, and don't touch it with your own hands any more than you have to."

The waiter looked at him blankly, then comprehended. His mouth tightened, and he seemed to be about to refuse the request. Larry let the corner of the bill appear from under his hand once more. "This is a perfectly good bill," he said. "You might as well have it as the next man."

The waiter nodded. "Order a drink," he said suddenly, out of the side of his mouth. Larry's eyes met his again, and Larry gave an order. The waiter sidled away; halfway to the service entrance, he turned and made his way to the table of Larry's quarry.

The glasses there were empty. The waiter calmly put them on his tray, bent for a minute to take a new order, and then left. A minute later he reappeared. He came straight to Larry's table, bearing his tray. In front of Larry he placed a small bottle and two glasses, one full of cracked ice and the other containing a half-melted ice cube and a little pool of watery liquid.

"That's her," said the waiter softly. Larry looked at it carefully. Smudged fingerprints were clearly discernible on its surface.

"Okay," he said, pressing the bill into the waiter's palm. The waiter thanked him and left. Larry gingerly picked the glass up, glanced about him to be sure that no one was looking, emptied the dregs into a palm tub beside him, wrapped the little glass in his handkerchief and put it in his pocket.

"Well," he said, "this ought to tell us whether that gent is Wingly or not."

But out in the kitchen the waiter who had brought it to him was talking quietly with Art Lanning, proprietor of the club. "So," he said in conclusion, "I just picked up a glass off the sink there and gave it to him. Lewis' glass is over there already."

He pointed to a dishpan, in which a weary pearl diver was languidly washing a dozen glasses. "I don't know whose glass it was, and I don't know whose prints was on it," added the waiter. "But it won't do this guy much good, that's a cinch."

THREE KILLED
GOTHENBERG, Neb., Nov. 19. (AP)—Three persons were killed near here last night when an airplane crashed in a corn field. One of the dead was Glen Morlon, 30, of Kearney, Neb. His companions were not immediately identified, although one was believed to be an oil man from Kansas City, Mo., and the other an Iowan. First reports said the plane fell when one of its wings was lost.

William Ged, the Scotchman who invented stereotyping patented his invention in 1725.

THEATER MANAGER PROTESTED ROGERS PAY 20 YEARS AGO—LATER PAID HIM LARGE SUM

Twenty years ago, John R. Elliott, Youngstown, Ohio, theater manager, sought an extra-special vaudeville bill—something with plenty of zip and snap—for the opening bill for his fine new vaudeville theater. And here's the bill he finally lined up and what he paid for it for the week:

Prevost & Brown$125
Will Rogers 175
Blossom Seely 175
Cantor & Lee 350
Billie Gaxton 350
Bernie & Baker 250
Five Columblans 300
Total$2,300

The whole bill was satisfactory to Elliott—that is, all but the one act with the horse.

"This guy Rogers," argued Elliott, with the booking agent, "won't do. The rest of the bill is fine—but Rogers is out. This, you understand, is something special, an opening bill."

But the booking agent finally prevailed upon Elliott to accept the bill, Rogers and his horse, along with the others—Joe Brown and Marie Prevost, movie celebrities now; Blossom Seely who later became a famous stage star; Eddie Cantor, Billie Gaxton, now a famous Broadway star; Ben Bernie, the radio and movie star and Phil Baker of radio fame; and Marilyn Miller, who became a famous Ziegfeld and movie star.

Years later, Elliott sought to book Will Rogers again—this time for a single performance at $3,000; and he didn't get him until he got a bad scare.

Meeting Elliott Rogers launched a lengthy tirade. "You—you—you," he stormed. "You beat me. You, as I figure, owe me $41,825."

Elliott was taken back, under the storm. Rogers went on. "You're willing to give me $3,000 now for one appearance; before you paid me $175 for 14 appearances. I'll still the same man. You owe me $41,825—to say nothing of what you owe my horse."

He broke out laughing at Elliott's discomfiture. They later became fast friends.

Millions now have an opportunity to contribute to the memory of Will Rogers. Famous friends have organized The Will Rogers Memorial commission. It is hoped every one who smiled with Rogers will come forward with a subscription. Take it or send the accompanying coupon to send your subscription to this office. Every cent subscribed will be used for memorials to be selected by Henry Ford, Herbert Hoover, Alfred E. Smith, Will H. Hays, Jesse H. Jones, Owen D. Young, Vice President John N. Garner and other men and women of national prestige and respect.

Contributions in any amount to the Rogers fund may be sent to the Pampa Daily News or the First National bank. Today THE NEWS received 25 cents from "HHMc," 1022 East Frederick. A list of contributors who have sent money to the bank will be published soon.

CAPITOL CHATTER

BY CHARLES E. SIMONS

TAMMANY AGAIN SLIPS IN THE BACK WAY
 When the gent over at the corner table gets too noisy and starts spilling his beer, it is a simple matter to take him by the neck and throw him out. Unfortunately, it often is much more of a job to keep him from sneaking back in again a little later.

All this is brought to mind by a study of the recent city elections in New York. These indicate that Tammany Hall, with its derby tilted down over its left eye in the good old tradition, is on the verge of making a comeback—at the expense, as usual, of the good citizens of the town.

Tammany succeeded in capturing 14 aldermanic seats in this last election. That in itself may not mean so much—Fiorello LaGuardia never did have the solid two-thirds majority that he needed on the board of aldermen—but it needs to indicate that history, with the help of the boys in the back room, is about to repeat itself.

For Tammany, which has been the horrible example for American reformers ever since the days of mustache cups and high-wheeled bicycles, always does come back. The indignant customers have tossed the tiger out of the joint about once every 20 years for generations, and he always has come back for more.

Like the Salvation Army's pet clients, he may be down, but he is never out.

Now all this is a pretty sad commentary on the fate of reform movements in American city politics, but there is nothing in the least mysterious about it. A writer of holy scripture some 20 centuries ago called the turn when he remarked that the sons of this world are frequently wiser than the children of light. This is as true in modern America as it was in ancient Judea.

The secret of the whole thing is that Tammany, or any other political machine, keeps working. Politics is not a sanctified and emotional game, to the machine; it is a job which has to be worked at, day in and day out.

The votes that elect city officials are cast by living flesh-and-blood human beings, and the outfit that corals the most human beings gets the most votes (barring undue shenanigans at the polling places). This is the point that Tammany never forgets.

The man who wants to see his city permanently equipped with an honest and efficient government could profitably remember that point. It isn't enough to get up on the stump once in four years and holler about the misdeeds of the rascals down at city hall. It takes a continuing organization and continuing hard work.

As long as the people who are interested in good government apply their interest only by fits and starts, Tammany and the other self-help machines will continue to enjoy the eternal comeback.

AUSTIN, Nov. 19. (AP)—A question often asked during sessions of the legislature is whether men now in public life are as forceful in speech as those of earlier periods.

Generally the belief is held that present day speakers do not possess the eloquence of their predecessors and have lost the magic touch with which older politicians swayed their listeners. Notwithstanding, the legislature has several members of recognized oratorical merit.

First on the list is the dean of the senate, T. J. Holbrook of Galveston. Holbrook is conceded to be the best "occasion" speaker in the legislature. When the houses hold a joint session for a special ceremony Holbrook invariably is the speaker of the day.

The senator's address at the re-interment in the state cemetery of the man who captured Santa Anna after the battle of San Jacinto was delivered as the best delivered here in years. A few days later, however, he delivered an armistice day address that many of his hearers asserted was superior.

Both were printed in the house journal.

The house lost its most brilliant orator when Speaker of the House Austin retired with the last legislature. McGregor excelled at extemporaneous speaking and could, with equal ease, deliver offhand a scathing denunciation of an opponent or piece of legislation or make a ceremonial address.

Listed in the house membership are several young men who should make their mark in oratorical encounters. They are Reps. Roy Hofheinz of Houston, Herman Jones of Decatur, J. Bryan Bradbury of Abilene, Bullock Hyder of Denton.

The decline in the caliber of speakers is attributed chiefly to belief that speeches count for little in determining legislation. Most of the work on a bill is done and lines drawn before the proposition gets to the floor.

There are many times, however, when a good speaker is essential. This is especially true when one side faces defeat by a narrow margin and needs someone to fill in a gap with a speech while others work behind the scenes to change a few votes. There has been more than one incident in which a proposition, apparently doomed to defeat, has been revived in this manner.

THE NEW DEAL IN WASHINGTON

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—Much of the New Deal's idealism, sincere enough in its time, is wearing off in the face of practical political realities.

Anyone here can feel the federal machine bracing itself for the election campaign. Old-line civil service employes aren't so concerned, but those in the emergency agencies—many of whom never cared a whoop about politics before—are beginning to take active interest as a result of fear for their jobs, for an administration they admire, or both.

Federal employes will be asked, quietly enough, to dig down and contribute to campaign funds. With most wealthy men opposed to the New Deal, the Democratic party will have relatively few "fat cats" this year.

Someone must pay the bills. It's all right to talk about the work-relief billions as a "campaign fund," but you can't divert any of that money to operation of campaign machinery which will take several millions—and there's a heavy party deficit right now. How much coercion will be used to make jobholders kick in remains to be seen.

Many officials with political background are spending most or much of their time and thought on politics, making occasional trips back home and keeping in constant touch through correspondence.

An increasing number of minor employes plan to join the Young Democrats and vote for the first time in their lives.

The high command, meanwhile, will devote itself to "practical" smoothings of factional party rows in various states which threaten the national ticket.

Political groups which the New Deal—and especially its "non-political" cabinet members and administrators—were once unable to stomach will be treated more benignly. Reconciliation with Tammany, for instance, seems fairly sure.

It becomes increasingly uncertain whether Roosevelt can carry New York state next year without Tammany's aid. There are some states, however, where the administration has favored the "cleanest" political element with good political results.

But the big thing you notice here is the number of boys and girls who once considered themselves above and aloof from party politics and who are now willing to forget they were going to be "pure government servants" and jump into politics up to the neck.

That goes for quite a few of the brain-trusters. However, insofar as any public activities go, they are more of a liability than an asset in any campaign. Many voters suspect them and few follow them.

Several brain-trusters have stirred up "bad" political situations by their refusals to play politics and their suspicions of politicians. There isn't much they can do now except keep quiet while the political operators try to repair the damage.

A couple of brain-trusters in administrative jobs recently have tried to play pro-Roosevelt politics in certain states and only succeeded in making matters worse.

"Kansas woman divorces mail-carrier husband for cruelty." He had probably become mean right after she showed him her new Christmas cards.

It may take more trips to bring them over the mountain, but the prediction that the moon will break up into smaller moons seems a break for Kate Smith.

No. 11

YEARBOOK PRICE REDUCED AND DEADLINE SET TO DETERMINE IF ANNUAL WILL BE PUBLISHED

December 6 Is Final Date in Sales Campaign

Price of the school annual has been reduced to $1.50. Mrs. Hol Wagner, faculty adviser of the yearbook staff, announced in a special assembly last Friday. Unless 350 copies are sold by December 6, there will be no annual this year.

The staff originally planned to enlarge and improve the annual this year and so set a higher price. Mrs. Wagner explained, but since only 50 students bought annuals during a four-week drive, the staff decided to make the change.

If 350 copies are sold at $1.50, the staff will attempt to produce a book comparable to last year's. The 350 copies sold last year actually cost $646.10. Only $525 was raised from the sale of books. The remaining $121.10 was raised by means of beauty and popularity contests and the management edition of the Little Harvester.

More Funds Needed

Merchants will not be asked to contribute to the annual through advertising, as no advertising will be included in the book. If merchants will buy a copy either for themselves or to give to some student friend their cooperation will be greatly appreciated.

Last year's books actually cost $1.85 each. Students are being asked to pay only $1.50 for their books. In order to publish an annual as large as last year's, it will be necessary to raise at least an additional 35 cents for each copy.

The staff had hoped by selling the book at $2 this year and aiming at 400 copies to enlarge the annual and to conduct the beauty and popularity contests on a democratic one-vote-per-student basis. With the reduction in price, it will be necessary to conduct the contests again this year on a penny-a-vote basis.

Fabric Covers Expensive

After enough money has been raised to guarantee a good book as last year's—approximately, then, if the students wish, efforts will be made to raise sufficient money to purchase more expensive bindings.

Many students have expressed the desire to have a fabricoid (imitation leather) binding. The staff has investigated and found that even cheap fabricoid covers cannot be secured for less than 50 cents per copy. Since students were unwilling to buy books at $2 per copy, it seems unlikely that they will be willing to pay an even larger price to get a fabricoid cover. At the price of $1.50 nothing better than last year's paper binding will be possible.

"After all, it's the pictures inside that count rather than the heavy binding," Mrs. Wagner declared.

Many Pictures Planned

Last year's book included individual pictures of all seniors; group pictures of juniors, sophomores, and freshmen; and the faculty; four full-page favorites' pictures; a picture of the school building; pictures of all the coaches and of 11 athletic teams; 24 pictures of clubs and extra curricular activities; and seven pages of snapshots. The staff expects to follow a similar plan for this year's book.

Annuals may be purchased from the staff members: Velda Richards, Mildred Tolbert, Tom Rose Jr., Jim Arndt, Alta Marie Terrell, Betty Blythe, and Dewey Palmittier, or they may be purchased at the school bookstore in the basement or from Mrs. Wagner in room 205.

"When you buy an annual wear your green and gold tag to let your classmates know that you are backing this all-school activity," Mrs. Wagner urged.

Abilene Teacher Visits in School

R. G. Cole, who has taught commercial work in Abilene five years, gave demonstrations in both shorthand and typing classes when he visited here last week.

Mr. Cole has entered students from his classes in Abilene in the state contest 2 years, winning both times. His students have also received national awards.

The visitor typed 182 words in one minute, and showed right and wrong ways of typing.

Mr. Cole also talked to the fourth-year shorthand class, discussing the most important things involved in learning the subject. He stressed the point that students should not make hard work out of "play."

Pep Squad Forms Star at Grid Game

After marching out on the field into a star formation, pep-squad girls sang for the Harvesters and Lambkins to the music of the high school band between halves of the game—Saturday.

The band did not join in the marching because of delay in the arrival of their uniforms. It is hoped that the uniforms will be here for the Amarillo-Pampa football game Thanksgiving Day.

FFA Shirts and Jackets Will Be Bought by Club

Members of the local F. F. A. chapter are planning to buy Future Farmer shirts and jackets. J. L. Lester, adviser to the organization, said yesterday the club feels that the uniforms will help the boys in their work, since they wish to work as a unit in attaining objectives set up for the club.

Elizy Vanderburg, president of the Panhandle district of F. F. A. and George Porter, secretary of the local chapter, have been communicating with the various chapters in the district in regard to work on the district objectives set up at Clarendon, October 12.

One of the 12 objectives adopted was the holding of a basketball tournament for F. F. A. teams Dec. 7 at Clarendon. Progress has been made toward securing a trophy for the winning team.

The next district meeting will be held in Pampa Dec. 14. The local chapter is planning to entertain more than 100 guests. A luncheon for the group is being planned.

Hi-Y Meet Brings Out 40 Members

Considerably increased interest in Hi-Y work was shown by the attendance of 40 members at last week's meeting, the club sponsors said yesterday.

The program committee secured musicians and speakers who are not members of the organization to appear on the program.

After the first meeting, the group went to the gymnasium and played basketball. Games of various sorts are being stressed by the organization since it believes that such activities teach the members to associate with and understand one another.

School Calendar In Announced

School officials last week announced the school calendar for the remainder of the year. Holidays scheduled for the year and other important dates are as follows:

March 2—Texas Independence Day.

March—Educational Conference in Canyon.

April 10-13—(Inclusive) Easter vacation.

May 29—School closes.

GORILLAS WIN THRILLING GRID BATTLE FRIDAY

Pampa Team Defeats Magic City 45-13; Graham Stars

Hopes for future winning Harvester teams were heightened somewhat Friday afternoon when the Gorillas defeated Magic City 45-13. Playing smart powerful football, the Pampa team showed real strength with hard blocking and charging and a strong defense.

J. W. Graham, small freshman, played an outstanding game from start to finish, scoring two touchdowns and kicking three goals for points after touchdown. His first touchdown was an accomplished after much sidestepping, the second after he intercepted a Magic City pass and ran 50 yards for the score.

Burton (Topsy) Reynolds showed himself to be a most capable end by catching all passes that came his way and by efficient blocking and tackling.

Woody Clements' performance was the best he has turned in, and Cleve Gorilla showed a similar improvement. In the line, the work of John Nelson was outstanding. Leo Cotham was back in the game after recovering from a hand injury.

The Gorillas will play at least one more game this season. However, Coach Dennard has not yet formulated arrangements for a game Friday.

Impatience Can Be Settled Only By Patience

That the coming tilt of the Harvesters and the Golden Sandstorm on the local gridiron is the subject of thought and anticipation among Amarillo students was made evident Friday by the receipt of a letter by the Little Harvester staff from a group of Amarillo students.

"It seems that rivalry continues. Pampa is always trying to harvest the Sandstorm, but the habit of having a Golden Sandstorm to down the Harvesters is our goal in Amarillo. The Pampa-Amarillo game is all the go for fans for both teams. Amarillo is coming on Turkey Day with all colors flying, and we are looking for Pampa to be green and gold everywhere."

"After becoming acquainted with several Pampa boosters, ex-students, and some of the football players, we find that they have a loyal school spirit and sportsmanship that Amarillo has never excelled. That is what makes a football team go places."

"Of course we'll be rooting for the Sandies, although we hope the Sandies win. Nothing but patience can settle our impatience. Here's to everybody!"

The letter is signed by Mittie Helms, Kittie Helms, Anita Summers, Theda Elliott, Juanita Hill, and Rena Belle Roddy.

Mrs. Runyon, representative of the Singer Sewing Machine company, demonstrated correct use of the sewing machine for the benefit of home economics IB girls last Wednesday.

McMILLEN, SCHOOL BUSINESS MANAGER, WAS ON BOARD OF EDUCATION FOR FOUR YEARS

"The improvement of Harvester football teams was undoubtedly the biggest advancement made in Pampa high school activities during the year," said Roy McMillen, business manager of the Pampa Independent School District, when asked to name a notable improvement in school activities while he was connected with the system as a trustee.

Mr. McMillen served on the board during the period when the greatest Pampa teams were put on the field. He became a member of the board in 1931 and served until April, 1935.

Amarillo was Mr. McMillen's home city until he moved to Pampa in 1926. He received his education in Greenfield, Mo. He moved to New Mexico in 1906, coming from there to Texas.

Mr. McMillen was appointed business manager last April to succeed

Contest Winners Are Introduced To Student Body

Winners of a personal appearance contest sponsored by the home economics department were introduced in assembly Wednesday. Catherine Barrett and Evelyn Jo Edden tied for first place. Mattie Brown ranked second, and Madge Bell won third place.

In a preliminary contest each of three home economics classes selected the five highest ranking girls in their respective groups.

Girls who won in the preliminary contests were: Catherine Barrett, Mattie Brown, Ethel Wilder, Martha Price, Frances Coffee, Margaret Scott, Leona Wray, La Trice Andrews, Joyner Madge Bell, Evelyn Jo Edden, Etta Marie Chote, Ernestine Spargin, Jane Robinson, Norma Woodward, and Mildred Bowman.

In both contests the girls were judged on such points as their teeth, carriage, and other matters essential to good personal appearance.

Judges were Mary K. Martin of the Orchid Beauty Shop, Mrs. Hol Wagner, and Miss Anne Louise Jones.

SCHOOLS JOIN IN OBSERVANCE OF BOOK WEEK

"Reading for Fun" Is Theme Being Stressed

"Reading for Fun" is the theme of the observance this week of Book Week, which has been observed over the nation each year since 1919.

Various activities are being undertaken during the week by Pampa schools in the attempt to introduce to students who have not formed the habit of the joys of reading and to increase the pleasure of those who already have the habit firmly established.

High school students are being asked to make selections of their favorite books in the attempt to compile lists of books in which students may be expected to find pleasure. Other means are being used to stimulate interest in reading for its own sake.

Various means of observing the week have been developed in schools over the nation. Exhibits of new and old books, children's literature, school assembly programs, and a variety of special events in public libraries and bookstores take place each year.

Boys and girls themselves frequently take the lead in planning Book Week projects, with parents, teachers, and librarians aiding them. Uniform purpose of all the activities is the introduction of books to companions who have not yet discovered the pleasure of reading.

Juniors Have First Party of Semester

Juniors had their first entertainment of the year Wednesday evening in the high school gymnasium when they attended an "apron and overall" party.

More than 60 juniors present were divided into groups for the various contests staged. The "Black" group, captained by Albert Ayers, won.

Marks of distinction were awarded to various students during the evening. "Moose" Hartman was recognized as having the largest mouth; Bessie Belle Davis won without serious competition the honor of having the biggest feet; Elmer Watkins was the best potato roller; Junior McKay and Rex Rose were the fastest apron eaters. Refreshments were served after the games ended.

Sponsors present were Mrs. Norman, Miss Latimer, Miss Branom, Miss Strnad, Miss Cox, and Mr. Osborne.

Practice This Week Stresses Blocking And Tackling

Against the hardest competition they have met for the past several seasons, the Harvesters were down Saturday 25-0 by the Fort Collins, Colorado, gridsters.

The Fort Collins team was made up of boys who have played together for three years, ten of them being seniors. Some members of the squad have played together for five years, having played together in junior high school.

Although the big Harvesters tried everything they knew, they were unable to find a defense that could even slow up the swirling little Coloradoans. The big fellows tried every offensive trick they had in their bag, but on every occasion they would be defeated by one or half a dozen hard hitting, fast charging Lambkins in the play and ready to deal trouble.

Saturday's defeat was the second time in eight years that the Harvesters have been behind closed gates, except for a few scrimmages which will be open to visitors. A few new plays will be learned but most work will be on blocking and tackling.

Practice from now until the Thanksgiving class will be behind closed gates, except for a few scrimmages which will be open to visitors. A few new plays will be learned but most work will be on blocking and tackling.

Group Discusses Library Methods

The library club met at noon Thursday, with Hilda Sublett as temporary chairman, Winnie Bond was elected chairman of the group and Juanita Hill assistant chairman. A group discussion on library methods followed. Meetings are to be held at 12:30 on the first and third Thursday of each month.

Members include: Carl Camp, Cleo Benton, Winnie Bond, Jean Hill, Minnie Evelyn Shaw, Juanita Hill, Warren Scott, Vivian Kidd, Hazel Bath, Mary Matthews, Margaret Tignor, Beryl Tignor, Grace Barham, Audrey Bray, Geraldine Mitchell, and Melba Ivey.

H. E. Classes Visit Department Stores

Home Economics girls visited Murfee's and Mitchell's department stores recently after having studied tailored garments. Before starting to make their own tailored dresses they wanted to examine some. At both the department stores they were shown the tailored dresses in all the new fall colors. The girls especially noticed the attractive and unusual buttons on the tailored garments.

Home Ec Girls See Educational Movies

The home economics department has received a new table, which was bought with money made from the sale of ice cream. Students in the department held these sales last spring and have continued them this fall.

The table is of the gate-leg type and is made of maple. It answers the purpose of a double duty table, as it can be used in either living room or dining room.

TO THE CITIZENS OF PAMPA AND GRAY COUNTY, TEXAS:

A new proposed highway right-of-way to Borgers through my ranch has been submitted for my approval.

I find that the new survey through my ranch will forever ruin my pasture and farm land. About nine years ago I gave to the Citizens a 100 foot road free of cost and fenced this at my own expense. The present road now running through my ranch was selected by the citizens and surveyed by Mr. Doucette.

Since then another road was given you, more direct to Skellytown, making two graded highways to the present time through my ranch. Now they are asking for another highway almost in the center of the present two highways, but eliminating Skellytown, Texas, to the north, which is detrimental to all its citizens.

I am against the new highway for the reasons as mentioned, and I believe that the majority of your citizenship agree that I have been liberal enough in the past by giving two highways to Borgers, Texas, and will not ask me to sacrifice further.

In connection with this, your citizens are also vitally interested in the criminal waste of natural sweet gas which is functioning each day in the Panhandle. I am informed that the Cargray Plant is popping approximately 200,000,000 cubic feet of gas every twenty-four hours, wasting approximately one hundred and ten billion cubic feet of gas annually. This practice has been going on approximately three years. They have popped in the air their own gas over two years ago, in that there is only eight to fifteen million cubic feet of gas under each acre of land. They have been taking the gas from adjoining land-owners, who pay taxes and set traps, and have used the gas pressure on gas every acre producing lands to such an extent that new wells now brought in only make 25 to 35 barrels initial production, whereas several years ago wells brought in on my land in this vicinity flowed from 500 to 800 barrels each. The lease owner on my ranch land refuses to drill further on this acreage, which is termed as ruined or depleted. About three more years of gas wasting will ruin the producing oil fields, and in that event new roads will not be needed through my ranch.

Your Pleasure For The Taking

"I never liked to read until I saw lots of interesting books all at once and could try any one I wanted to and then try another if I didn't like that one. It took lots of books to make me like reading but now I enjoy it just as much as I do swimming and dancing."

The speaker was a young high school girl.

"It's fun to read when you don't have to," a small boy confided to his friend.

"I never knew there was so much pleasure in books. I'm sorry that I never discovered it until long after I was grown." Thus a middle-aged man expressed himself in speaking of Book Week, which is being observed over the nation this week.

Few are the people who read many books who ever abandon the habit. Few are the persons who express distaste for reading who have ever given it a fair trial.

Some children are fortunate in living in homes in which books are available and reading is encouraged. With few exceptions those children enjoy reading without becoming bookish. In most cases they take interest in other recreations; in many instances they become interested in new recreations through reading. As a class such children are apt to do superior school work and as a result have increased possibilities of success in later life.

Children who do not form the habit of reading miss much. They may be happy, may do good school work, may be successful in after-school life without having acquired the habit, but it is likely that their progress will be harder and that their fullest possibilities will not be realized.

Carried to an extreme, it might be pointed out, this would mean that the greatest bookworms are the happiest and most successful. Such is not the contention at all. No one is likely to deny that the habit of eating is a desirable one or being willing to give it up; yet one can suffer grievous results from eating too much or from eating the wrong things. It is not desired that we become a nation of book-worms, but it is highly desirable that more of us profit from the pleasure to be found in reading.

Grown people are occasionally heard to boast that they have never read a book. Far too many high school students can do make the same boast, or confession. It is regrettable that any person should miss the delights of reading. It is to these people that the children of America who find pleasure in reading extend an invitation to share their pleasure.

Benefits of reading are many. It gives command of English, enlarged vocabulary, broadened knowledge, increased understanding, sympathy are among those benefits. But an enumeration of benefits is not likely to tempt many people. We object to being pushed into improving pastimes.

Neither pushing nor urging should be needed. Millions of persons enjoy life more because they read. If you are not one of them, they want you to join them simply because pleasure they know you will find in it.

"It's fun to read!"

Many Newspapers Received by Class

School papers of twelve Texas high schools are being received regularly by the journalism class which in return sends a copy of the Little Harvester to each of the schools every week.

Papers are being received from schools in El Paso, Hereford, Panhandle, Borger, Amarillo, Crane, Houston, Perryton, Austin, Farwell, and Slaton.

The class is making a study of leading newspapers of the United States. Most of the important newspapers of the country have been requested to send copies to the journalism group. Some of these have already arrived.

The students hope to secure a number of foreign publications later.

Canadian Students Visit P. H. S. Library

On Friday afternoon, November 15, Mrs. H. H. Marks, librarian at Canadian high school, and her staff of fifteen students visited the library. The group was especially interested in library records and in the preparation of clippings and magazine articles for the vertical file.

Home Room Elects Officers Wednesday

Carl Watts was elected president of B. R. Nuekols' room last Wednesday. Other officers chosen were: C. W. Smith, vice-president; Martha Price, secretary-treasurer; and Etta Marie Chote, reporter.

The room plans to have programs each Friday morning. Doris Cupp, Frances Nash, and Betty Hunter were appointed to the program committee.

Student Body Is Entertained by Radio Comedian

Elmer, well-known radio comedian, entertained the student body at the assembly hour Wednesday. The entertainer appeared in country boy costume and related many incidents concerning himself and his "Uncle" Odus Mitchell. His limitations, ranging from a xylophone solo to the cries of barnyard animals, were the high points of the program.

Ten cents admission was charged the students who attended. Profits realized went to the student loan fund now being built up.

Olin E. Hinkle, editor of the Pampa Daily News and president of the Lions club, announced the decision of the Lions to award a sportsmanship medal to a Harvester each year. He stressed the fact that his organization, in common with most Pampa fans, is interested in the results of Harvester athletic contests but also in the way in which the boys play. Awarding of the medal is designed to stimulate high ideals of sportsmanship on and off the athletic field.

The amateur entertainers' contest will end tomorrow morning when both the all-school program and the finals will be held. Ernest Cabe, program chairman, has announced.

Home Ec Group Buys New Table

Miss Strnad's fourth-hour home economics class visited the Junior high school Wednesday to see an educational moving picture.

Subjects shown were "Food Makes a Difference" and "The Kid Comes Through." Object of the picture was to demonstrate the importance of the establishment of good health habits.

Miss Shelby, school nurse, aided in arranging for the high school girls to see the picture which was related to subjects which the class has recently studied.

Many Newspapers Received by Class

As for the proposed improvements in the book—so much agitated for by students—that cannot be considered until 350 copies are sold in advance to assure a book as large as last year's. Only in that way can the staff know that they can pay the bills.

To correct some false impressions that seem to be current the following items of information are offered:

1. It takes money to pay the many bills incidental to producing an annual. The staff must have that money in advance.

2. The December 6 deadline set for the yearbook sale is definite. Purchases must be made by that time. Students cannot wait until next spring and buy annuals then, for there will be no extra copies.

3. Unless the sales goes over more successfully than it has thus far, money will have to be refunded and the plans for a yearbook abandoned on Dec. 6.

The staff faces a difficult task. It is doing its work for the students and the school. It deserves more than its present discouraging response.

When Support Is Needed—

Without intending to do so, Pampa high school students are doing a regrettable thing.

After all the recent stressing of the importance of whole-hearted support of school activities, students are falling ignobly in giving support in one case in which it is seriously needed.

They are not supporting the annual staff in its work.

If the student body does not want an annual, it is entitled to that attitude. The yearbook is purely a student activity and was instituted by demand of the students. No student is being urged to buy an annual if he cannot afford to do so. All that the staff has asked is that those students who want annuals and who expect to buy them, do so now in order that the staff may start definite work.

The staff has made this request with the idea that a sufficient number of students want the book to make it possible. The staff is probably right in this.

The truth of the matter is that most students have not realized the importance of buying their books now and they do not understand that the staff must make the sale successful before it proceeds to spend money and do a great amount of work on a project that seems likely to fail.

Few students understand that a considerable number of annuals must be sold in advance—350 to be exact—before it is certain that the book can be produced for so low a price as $1.50. Even then it will be necessary to raise around $125 by other means. The expense of producing one annual is not greatly less than the cost of producing 350 copies. The big outlay is for engraving and composition work which does not increase with the number of copies printed. The more copies sold the lower the price may be. In the case of the local yearbook 350 copies—not 349—must be sold before the staff can be sure that it can pay for publishing the book. Since payment of expenses is dependent upon the sale of the book, the books must be bought in advance. The staff cannot afford to pay for printing of extra copies when they have no assurance that they will be bought.

As for the proposed improvements in the book—so much agitated for by students—that cannot be considered until 350 copies are sold in advance to assure a book as large as last year's. Only in that way can the staff know that they can pay the bills.
