FBI Blood Analysis Is Entered in Nutt Case

Nine state witnesses had been heard at noon today in the trial of Louis T. Nutt, charged in connection with attack on a four-year-old girl, Wanda Faye Forter, here last May 3. The state had rested its case at the time and the defense witnesses were expected to be heard this afternoon.

July Proration For Panhandle Field Increased

AUSTIN—(AP)—With four exceptions, all Texas oil fields will be allowed to produce at June's all-time record production rates again next month to meet the unprecedented demand for crude oil.

The railroad commission's July proration order, issued yesterday, is calculated to result in daily production of 2,256,562 barrels of crude. It sets the maximum allowable at 2,386,381 barrels daily, but under production of 5.44 per cent is estimated to cut the flow back to the 2,256,562 figure.

This was 146,562 barrels daily more than the U. S. Bureau of Mines estimate of needed production of crude. Indicated production of 173,348 barrels daily of natural gasoline and distillates would increase the total liquid petroleum production in Texas to 2,429,908 barrels daily.

Last month the commission had opened allowances on all Texas fields to maximum efficiency rates. The four July changes the commission made in the June pattern were reductions in allowances for the Fullerton, Wasson and Yates fields in West Texas and for the big East Texas field.

Fullerton was cut back 7,357 barrels to 26,250 barrels per day to conform with a newly established maximum efficiency rate for the field. Wasson was reduced 8,159 barrels to 66,964 barrels per day in accordance with nominations for crude from that field. Yates was reduced 4,877 barrels to 42,000 barrels per day, effective June 1, because of transportation facilities being limited to that capacity.

The East Texas allowable out of 10,161 barrels per day resulted from permitting only 21 general producing days in that field in the 31-day month of July. There has been 21 days allowed in the 30-day month of June.

Other fields were given 27 general producing days except in the Panhandle, which remained exempt from shut down.

The commission set July 17 as the date for the next statewide hearing when evidence will be heard on which to base the August order.

Soap Box Derby Trophy Arrives

The M. E. Covel trophy, the award which will go to the winner of the Pampa Soap Box Derby races here July 20-21, has arrived at the Pampa Daily News office.

Eighteen inches high, the trophy is in the form of a globe, surmounted by a smith's creation of the Soap Box Derby racer with the driver as a gold-plated, and will be prized highly by the boy who wins it. His name will be placed on it. The trophy will be on display in the downtown area in a day or two. In addition to this beautiful prize, the winner will get a sweep-second prize watch, to be presented to him at Akron, Ohio, in August) and he will also get a chance to compete for the national prize at Akron. The national prize is a four-year college education anywhere in America. Second-place winner will get a new Stymelaster Chevrolet, 1944 model.

Registration for the races will be closed in a few days. There are about 24 entries here so far, and the boys are reported progressing favorably in the construction of their cars. Boys who wish will be assigned a sponsor, who will help him with the cost of his racer. The cost must not exceed $10.

New Regulations Clamped on Red Army and Navy

MOSCOW—(AP)—The army newspaper Red Star said today that Generalissimo Stalin has signed a decree establishing new disciplinary regulations for the Red army and navy, including a requirement that all personnel strictly observe the rules of military politeness and saluting.

The paper commented editorially that the decree would "advance the military might of the Soviet state" by re-defining the relationship of officers and men to each other and their duties and the state.

Military personnel, the editorial said in describing the regulations which supersede the 1940 rules, must fulfill strictly the orders of their superiors and be prepared to suffer hardships and sacrifices, and give their lives if necessary in carrying out their duties.

The regulations require that orders of superiors must be observed exactly and promptly, but that subordinates should not be humiliated or caused to lose personal dignity, Red Star said.

Courts of honor were ordered created for keeping the dignity and honor of the officer rank "to investigate faults of unworthy officers which lower military honor or which are incompatible with the conception of morality."

In addition, "if a man in service discovers plundering or spoiling of military property, illegal spending of money, or misuse in supplying troops he is obliged to report this to the command and may send a written statement to the supreme chief."

DOOLITTLE SETS RECORD

J. C. Junior, Alias Millicent Millfleurs, Still Missing; Joseph Fischer Being Held on Property Damage Charge

By WANDA J. CAMPBELL, 'Ramble' Joseph Fischer, president of the Junior chamber of commerce is still being held in connection with the disappearance of one, Millicent Millfleurs, Jaycee mascot, who has been missing almost two weeks.

Charges of property damage were filed yesterday against Fischer with Ernest Winborne and Louis Allen, local policemen, serving as state witnesses.

The charge against Fischer grew from complaints of various Pampans whose property the Jaycee goat damaged while in Fischer's custody. Soon after the complaints were made, Millicent disappeared and hasn't been seen since.

The jury panel was completed yesterday with the following jurors: Hamilton, George Thompson, Jack Vaughn, Jim Culpepper and Ray Saumon.

Acting judge is Red "Dusty" Weathered. Attorneys for the defense are Red "Dusty" Wedgeworth and Curtis Douglas Morris. Bruce Parker "Zachery" is prosecutor for the state. District Attorney Walter Rogers "Kelly" is also connected with the case in some way.

In the absence of any news reporter, who is handling the Fischer case exclusively for The Pampa News, O. M. Griffith served as court reporter.

"Skinner Rufe" Altman was called to the witness stand for preliminary questions. He asserted that

Officers Seek Six British Said Missing

JERUSALEM—(AP)—Palestine police said today that another British officer was missing, possibly bringing to six the number of Britons kidnaped in a wave of disorder sweeping the country.

SCOURING SETTLEMENT

A large force of troops and police began scouring several Jewish settlements along the Lebanese frontier today. Troops also started a systematic search of the modern Jewish city of Tel Aviv at dawn, combing the Hatikvah and Shapiro quarters and the neighborhood of the Yarkon river for traces of the kidnaped officers.

The Tel Aviv municipal council passed a resolution at an emergency meeting called on the kidnaped officers. Mayor Israel Rokach asserted he did not believe the officers were in the city.

ROAD BLOCKS ERECTED

The British Sixth Airborne division erected road blocks at every street corner in Tel Aviv and established posts to check identities every 200 or 300 yards.

Residents of the Jewish settlements near the area yesterday searched the area yesterday, blocking gates to the town with an iron water tank and releasing a hive of bees, an army spokesman said.

Entering the area after removing the blocks, the soldiers searched the town, questioning and confiscating signaling apparatus.

TELEPHONE LINES CUT

The boarder search, 85 miles from Tel Aviv, was not immediately explained. All roads through the upper Galilee section of Palestine in the north were blocked. Telephone lines were cut to prevent alarms being spread to other settlements.

British engineers threw a Bailey bridge across the Jordan between Palestine and Syria, replacing the dynamited "bridge of the Daughters of Jacob" which raiders destroyed Sunday.

In three days, 18 have been killed and scores injured interrorism. Military authorities "proclaimed all Jewish premises in Palestine out of bounds to British troops until the kidnaped officers are freed.

Court Divided on Due Compensation

AUSTIN—(AP)—The state supreme court today in a sharply-divided 5-4 decision upheld the initial award of compensation to injured workmen, favorable to injured workmen.

Under the board's interpretation of the workmen's compensation law, "If a man in service discovers plundering or spoiling of military property, illegal spending of money, or misuse in supplying troops he is obliged to report this to the command and may send a written statement to the supreme chief."

The case was considered to be of great importance because of past conflicting opinions in the case of computing the amount of payments due injured workmen under the compensation act.

The controlling opinion was written by Associate Justice John H. Sharp, with a concurring opinion by Associate Justice Grahame B. Smedley and dissenting opinions by Associate Justices C. S. Slatton and A. J. Folley, joined by Associate Justices J. E. Hickman and Few Brewster.

Tomorrow Day of Draft Showdown

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Rep. Walter Andrews' dramatic vote radioed from a ship far out in the Pacific appeared today to have broken the senate-house committee deadlock over the teen age draft.

The New York republican's revised proxy—declaring in favor of a conditional moratorium on the induction of 18 year olds—was sent to the USS Panamint, carrying Andrews and other observers to the Bikini atom bomb tests.

Only a small handful are willing to jeopardize that prestige and the nation's economy by throwing price and rent controls overboard now in an attempt to reap quicker and even greater profits.

Any such inflation is as damaging to business, and especially small business, as to other economic groups, adding:

"With prices rising rapidly, millions of small business men x x x will come out second best in the wild scramble for raw materials and finished goods."

The result, he asserted, would be to "encourage monopoly with prices out of the reach of the American people."

Border Question Is On Today's Agenda

PARIS—(AP)—The Big Four foreign ministers, still deadlocked on the touchy problem of Italian reparations, moved on today to less difficult phases of the Italian peace treaty, with several minor economic clauses and the French-Italian border question on the agenda.

Today's session was scheduled for an hour earlier than usual (8 a.m., CST) to permit French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault to attend a session of the Chamber of Deputies at which he might be called upon to form France's new government.

DEPUTY CHIEFS MEET

The deputy foreign ministers were directed to meet before the session of their chiefs to finish their reports on the Bulgarian and Finnish treaties. The deputies report on PARIS—(AP)—Georges Bidault was elected president of France's interim government by the constituent assembly today.

Election tabulators said an unofficial tally showed he received 383 votes. The new president has been serving as foreign minister. Bidault's election had been virtually assured when the socialists pledged their 127 votes to him.

The Italian and Romanian treaties already have been signed by the government. The pessimism which has enveloped the current session of the British, French, Russian and U. S. foreign ministers since they reconvened last Saturday deepened today following yesterday's deadlock on reparations, which saw the same negotiators repeating virtually the same arguments which led them into blind alleys a month ago.

REPARATION CLAIMS

The deadlock was eased only slightly by Russia's offer yesterday See BIG FOUR, Page 6

Wallace Calls for Guards Against Coming Inflation

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Secretary of Commerce Wallace pleaded today against letting down "our guard against inflation" as senate-house OPA conferees met for their first session to chart the future of price control.

Wallace said in a statement that business can enjoy unprecedented prosperity in the years just ahead "if we can avoid rocking the economic boat right now."

But he added that "to weaken or destroy price control would be to ask for the same kind of boom and bust that began just about this time after the last war."

The cabinet officer's statement was issued without explanation, but it coincided with the initial meeting of the Capitol Hill conference committee named to compose differences on OPA extension bills that have drawn sharp criticism from stabilization officials.

Wallace confined his statement to the effects of inflation on business. "As long," he said, "as business cooperates with the whole effort to stabilize our economy, it cannot be accused of profiteering as it was after the last war."

But if price controls are weakened or destroyed, the old charges of profiteering will be echoing around the country again during the next few months. I know that this is a matter of deep concern to every forward-looking business leader.

"During the war years, the vast majority of businessmen through unselfish and willing cooperation in the war effort achieved tremendous new prestige.

"Any small handful are willing to jeopardize that prestige and the nation's economy by throwing price and rent controls overboard now in an attempt to reap quicker and even greater profits."

Oh-No Courts Say They Don't Know

OH-NO, Japan.—(AP)—Oh-No township courts don't know whether to say "yes" or "no" to this one.

Five dagger-necked robbers rapped on the door of Mrs. Ko Nagashima, demanding 100,000 yen. She offered them 2,000 yen—all she had.

"We can't take a paltry sum like that," snorted the robber. "I'll go next door and borrow from my neighbors," quavered the obliging woman.

Three robbers went with her. The neighbor forked over 10,000 more yen.

Now the question is was Mrs. Nagashima the only one robbed? Or were both she and her neighbor robbed? Did the neighbor lend her the money? Or was she an accomplice?

Nobody in Oh-No knows.

Public Airing of Feud Is Called For

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Demands that "hot Roosevelt appointees be swept from the supreme court were coupled today with a proposal that all eight justices tell the full story of the tribunal's feud."

Senator Eastland, D-Miss., announced his intention to push for an open investigation of discord between the justices which he claimed has produced "inexcusable chaos" in the high court.

The suggestion that all present justices be called on for public testimony came as a follow-up to the move by Eastland and Senator Bridges, R-N.H., aimed at virtual dismissal of half the present court.

Eastland told a reporter he will ask the senate judiciary committee to question the justices at hearings he insists be held on the constitutional amendment he and Bridges introduced.

The amendment would force retirement of four of the present justices by limiting to three the number of court members who could hold appointment by any President. The places of those retiring would be filled temporarily by

QUICK RESULTS

GRANITE FALLS, Minn.—(AP)—John Mertz put in a call for a repair man after he detected an odor of gas in his home.

The repair man found the gas leak in a hurry—after the attic had been lighted a match. The resulting fire was extinguished within a few minutes and caused only minor damage, Mertz said.

John Lee Smith told listeners in Diboll, Texas, last night that he believed the CIO advocated the same doctrine as Hitler advocated.

He condemned the closed-shop, and compared it with Hitler's principle of either working for the Nazi party or being confined in a concentration camp.

He proposed labor relations courts to be established to handle disputes between management and labor.

Fire Destroys Home at Lelors

LEFORS.—(Special)—A fire of undetermined origin last night destroyed the home of Boots O'Neal located about 2 miles northeast of here. The fire started just before dark, and soon after darkness had settled, the house was a pile of smoldering ashes.

The O'Neal family had gone to town earlier in the evening and two of the children, Boots Jr., and Wesley had returned home to work on a saddle which needed repairing. On discovering smoke pouring from the windows, and seeing they could not extinguish the blaze alone, Boots, rode horseback to town after the fire truck. By the time it arrived, they were too late to do anything but save the outbuildings from catching fire.

The house was completely destroyed, without one article being saved.

Padres Pull Into Second Place as Rebs Fall Twice

(By The Associated Press)
There's a new face among the top teams of the Texas league.
Last night the San Antonio Missions handed out a 6-5 and 7-2 double-header defeat to Dallas to step up in second place next to the Fort Worth Cats.
The Fort Worth team took a 5-4 defeat from the Oklahoma City Indians in a game held up 25 minutes by a bottle barrage directed at umpire Buster Capps.
The Shreveport Sports won 6-5 over the Oklahoma City Indians. The Tulsa Oilers defeated the Beaumont Exporters, 6-4.
The San Antonio-Dallas opener ran 10 innings although scheduled for only seven by agreement of both teams. Erratic defensive play by the Dallas infield dominated the Missions three unearned runs. In the ninth, San Antonio staged a four-run flurry in the fourth to take the lead. Dallas threatened with two runs in the sixth but stopped there.
The Houston Buffs took a second straight victory over Fort Worth with

Pesky Browns Hand Dave Ferriss Second Consecutive Setback, 1-0

(Associated Press Sports Writer)
By JACK HAND
It took a trip through the west to prove that the Boston Red Sox are only human after all.
Not that Joe Cronin's gang is in any imminent danger of blowing a healthy pennant lead but their Superman uniforms are beginning to fray at the edges.
Bobby Feller started it in Boston when he asked permission to try to stop the runaway Sox. He did the job so well that the Browns haven't been able to untrack themselves since.
A disastrous visit to Chicago opened the joint on the wrong key and St. Louis has been a one headcase after another. Things were so bad last night that Manager Cronin pitched Dave Ferriss with only two days' rest.

Ferriss pitched well enough to win but he met up with a real tough opponent in Bob Munchief, who hurled a brilliant 1-0 shut-out over the Sox as Ferriss lost his second straight after reeling off 10 successive triumphs.
There almost wasn't any game for the start was delayed 59 minutes by rain. Then the Browns played under protest because Umpire Joe Parrella permitted Ferriss to warm up for 12 minutes between halves of the first inning.
Boston lost only a half game of its lead which still measures seven games over the New York Yankees, who were rained out of a night game in Chicago. Bad weather also forced postponement of a Philadelphia-Detroit doubleheader and a single night game between Washington and Cleveland.

Paul Kosh graduated into the ranks of starting pitchers for the A's Nelson allowing 10 hits but only one in the last five innings. The gentle party began when fans disagreed with the umpire over a double play ruling.
The Shreveport hitters scored a 3-0 lead over Indian hurler Led in the second inning. Oklahoma City could never break even.
The Tulsa Oilers got off to a six-run lead in the early innings only to have pitched Felix Penso blow up in the eighth and allow four hits and one run. George Simey stopped the visitors.

Lubbock Wins 2-1 Tilt From Pampa's Oilers

(Associated Press Sports Writer)
Lee Forrest, latest addition to the Lubbock pitching staff, more than proved his worth here last night as he pitched and batted the Hub City team to a 2-1, 10-inning victory over the Pampa Oilers.
Forrest, batted in Lubbock's first run in the second when he doubled to score Ragland, and in the tenth, he clouted a homer over the center-field fence to break a 1-1 tie and win the game.
The Oilers are scheduled to battle the second-place Amarillo Gold Sox here tonight in the first of a two-game series. Amarillo's scheduled game with Borger last night was postponed because of failure of the lights to burn at Huber park.
Game time will be 8:30 tonight. Efforts will be made to relay round-by-round reports of the Louis-Conn Johnson to the public address system at the ball park.
Lefty Bill Garland, in suffering his third loss against eight wins, pitched himself a classy four-hitter last night while the Oilers were getting seven. Garland walked Phil Ragland in the second and Ragland scored on Forrest's double.
Pampa's run came in the fifth inning when Earl Hamman singled. Catcher Whitney Warren, obtained by the Oilers yesterday, was safe on a fielder's choice. Al Johnston walked. Garland was safe on a fielder's choice and Otey singled to score Warren.

Louis To Defend Heavyweight Title for 22nd Time Tonight

(By GAYLE TALBOT)
NEW YORK—(AP)—Joe Louis, a ring-weary veteran of 32, will defend his heavyweight title for the 22nd time tonight at the Yankees' ball park, and he very likely will leave Pally Conn a quivering mass in the ring somewhere about the fourth round.
The indelible impression after watching the big Negro and his slighter but dead-gone 28-year-old opponent from Pittsburgh train for the past 10 days is that Louis still carries too many bazookas for Billy, just as he did on another June night five years ago.
Although he has not fought seriously for four years, Louis will enter the ring tonight a beautifully trained specimen. Veterans of the fight game who doubted that Joe could bridge the chasm of time and whip himself into anything approaching his pre-war form have watched his closing workouts in open-mouthed amazement.
The big man who has held the crown for nine years still has fast and paralyzing left and right hand punches, and he shuffles about on his large feet about as swiftly as ever.
As for Billy Conn, he will carry into the ring no measurably greater weapons than he had that other blazing night when he went down under a hurricane of blows in the 13th round.
Billy still has a fighting heart the size of a pumpkin. He is utterly fearless of Joe Louis, he is fast—and he thinks he can win.
Also possibly on the credit side, Billy has put on a few rugged pounds, which might help him take a punch better and hit a little harder.
Billy and his handlers insist he is ready to step around Louis tonight and box him dizzy. Billy points out he was well ahead on points when Joe tagged him in their only fight, and he has sworn by all the coal in the Pittsburgh district that he will not try to slug with the lightning this time.
Louis' punches don't leave you dead anyway," he said one day recently. "He hits, hard, sure. But don't forget he had to hit me about 20 more times after that first fight to the law before he put me down. He won't get the chance this time." He won't be hitting against Billy's slobber argument is that Louis hasn't looked in recent days much like a man who might be evaded for more than a few split seconds, much less 15 rounds. In his final training sessions he jammed on the speed and fairly overwhelmed his sparring partners.
Louis has made only one promise: "That he will 'go out, throwing punches' tonight. He expects to win in an early round, and all his training has been toward that end. For publication he has predicted that "Billy won't be around for long." Privately, he has picked the third round as the one in which he might catch up with his elusive rival.
"I trained for a knockout," he sums it up. "Conn trained for the newspapers."
With the two gladiators due to weigh in at Madison Square Garden shortly after noon today, the only important question remaining was the choice of a referee. The third man never is named until just before the fighters enter the ring. Eddie Joseph, who worked the last Louis-Conn scrap, and Benny Leonard, the old lightweight champion, have been the most prominently mentioned for the job. Louis is expected to weigh about 208 to Conn's

(By GAYLE TALBOT)
NEW YORK—(AP)—Buddy Garcia, 134 1/2, Galveston, Texas, scored a unanimous decision over Maurice (Lefty) LaChance, 132, Lisbon, Mo., in the eight-round main event of the boxing show at the Park Arena last night for his 20th straight triumph.
Garcia dropped LaChance for a nine count in the first frame with a left hook and sent him down again in the fourth for a count of three with a right-hand shot.

Final Statements Have Fight Fans 'Very Confused'

(By GAYLE TALBOT)
NEW YORK—(AP)—Here are the just-before-the-battle statements of Joe Louis and Billy Conn:
Champion Louis: "I've trained hard for the fight. I'm sure I will knock him out. He got away from me in the second and fifth rounds of our last fight, but he won't get away this time. If, however, the fight does go the limit, I'm sure I will win the decision. I was weak at 199 3/4 pounds for that fight. I'll weigh 210 pounds for this one and will be strong as a bull. I will prove to everyone that I haven't lost my punch."
Challenger Conn: "I'll be there—and I'll be on time. I have worked hard and long for this shot. I feel in great shape and can go 15 rounds at top speed without running out of gas. I'm glad the long training haul is over. The easy part comes now—all I have to do is fight Joe. I'll either win or get killed trying."

Colleen Hatfield Becomes Bride of Carl J. Tipton

In a double ring ceremony at 10:45 p. m. on June 8, Miss Colleen Hatfield, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hatfield of Lefors, became the bride of Pfc. Carl J. Tipton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Tipton of Baltimore, Maryland.

The ceremony was performed in the home of the bride's parents with the Rev. Dan Beltz, pastor of the Lefors First Baptist church officiating.

The bride was attended by her sister, Lena Hatfield, who wore a juggage brown suit with white accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. Pfc. Earl J. Tudor, of Charleston, W. Va., friend of the groom, was best man.

The bride wore a white suit and a picture hat of black lace straw, with matching accessories. For something borrowed, she wore pearl earrings, for something old, she carried a white lace handkerchief belonging to her mother, and for something blue, she wore a pale blue blouse. Her corsage was of red roses.

The bride's mother wore an aqua suit with black accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

Mrs. Tipton graduated from Lefors high school in 1943 and is now employed at the Amarillo army air field. The groom graduated from Baltimore high in 1942 and was attending the University of Maryland before entering the service.

The couple will be at home in Amarillo.

Miss Lawrence presided at the punch bowl and Miss Bertie McDowell presented the corsages.

The hostess and Miss Mary Lou Mazey received the guests. Each person signed the Las Cresas scrap book which was bound in brown leather with the club name in gold letters.

Activities throughout the evening included group singing and various original games.

Local Auxiliary Has

Representatives at

State VFW Meeting

Mrs. Josephine Blalock, Mrs. E. J. Kenney, Mrs. B. S. Via and Mrs. L. H. Sullins represent the local auxiliary at the state Veterans of Foreign Wars auxiliary, which began today.

The local organization met last week in the city club rooms at which time, Mrs. L. B. Haggard reported on the district convention held in Amarillo June 3. A future service organization was also discussed.

Representatives from the Amarillo chapter were guests and presented a service in memory of departed members. A letter of thanks from the Girl Scouts was read for the VFW contribution to the scout building program at Camp Sullivan.

Mrs. E. V. Davis and Mrs. W. A. Spoonsore were elected chairmen of the membership drive which is being held in connection with the one at the Post. According to Dan Donahoe, the drive is proving successful.

The next meeting will be held June 26 in the home of Mrs. Via, 914 N. Somerville.

The co-operation of governments in a common effort to free the world of hunger will do more for an enduring peace than the delineation of political boundaries and the drawing up of political peace treaties, essential though these be.

Tipping Abolition Would Boon Courtesy

By RUTH MILLETT
NEA Staff Writer

"No more tipping in our dining cars," says one railroad—which assures travelers that the company will make up the difference in money to the waiters.

If other railroads, and hotels, restaurants, and night clubs, eventually follow suit, the result should be better manners on the part of the public and those who serve it.

The "big shot" would be big shot, whether man or woman, now feels perfectly justified in treating serving people in an upstage, high-handed manner. After all, he is going to tip plenty. Let the waiter or waitress earn it.

Then there are the tight-fisted people who say they don't believe in tipping, and who are willing to let the person whose wages are calculated on the basis of expected tips suffer for their "principles."

As for the manners of those who serve, an unknown diner in a restaurant can go without service if there is a known heavy tipper to take care of. And all women find it hard to get good service in public places, because women as a group are known as poor tippers.

EQUAL TREATMENT FOR ALL
So if we ever manage to get rid of the tipping custom, we may find that good manners will have a better chance.

The "big shot" won't dare be rude or demanding if he can't make up for his behavior with a large tip. The timid, shabbily dressed diner-out will get as much service as will the woman in mink.

And smiles and courteous expressions of gratitude should replace the tip, with pleasant patrons getting the best service and pleasant workers finding customers equally agreeable and undemanding.

Just Thoughts—Passed On

One of America's old and gloried institutions of entertainment—the boxing match—at the highest level of competition—returns tonight after an absence of years due to the war.

Fabulous prices are being paid to see two men enter the ring in New York City and pit their skill, brawn and prowess against each other. And they will be paid fabulous prices to do so. One will go away the champion of the world, looking for a new challenger—the other, a beaten man whose chances of a "comeback" are always slim.

One man, Mike Jacobs, boxing promoter, has it in his power to stop the fight, or to let it be staged; he set the price of the seats; and he practically dictated the date for this important fight.

There was another time when people came from many lands afar to see the gladiator pit his skill against other men, and, on occasion, against voracious animals. A gladiator was wounded, and his adversary stood above him. If the audience gave "thumbs down," he was killed. It was spot, and they paid highly for it. That great land in time decayed, and is now a very rarely kill in the American ring. But we do charge highly for the seats affording audience.

We—the most of us—are willing and eager to see a "good fight," but we are not eager enough to fight the battles which we should fight as members of a large nation enjoying the relative freedom which our constitution assures us. Power is closing in on us.

These are just thoughts—passed on for what they might be worth at the moment.

Stupid Write Off Warning

Everyone who has a dollar of savings in the banks, in securities, in life insurance, or for that matter in government bonds, has a direct interest in industry. These people, and they are counted in the tens of millions, either own industry or are beneficiaries of its operation. Crusades carried on against industries are really crusades against millions of American citizens. Leaders in industry are trying to awaken the people to the fact that if savings are taxed or "socialized" out of existence by expanding government, the political independence of the individual will disappear.

The president of Socony-Vacuum Oil company says, "The competitive enterprise system is not perfect and can still be improved; but it is present in that it has given more freedom to the American people than any other system has given to any other people on the face of the earth." And the president of the Oklahoma Gas & Electric company says, "I have a deep conviction that unless people in our industry speak plainly and fearlessly we are not going to encourage any help from others, and without that help we are going to be in a sorry state."

Only the stupid will write off warnings from such men as these against the brand of liberalism that constantly attacks the achievements and possessions of private citizens.

In Hollywood

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD. (NEA)—Hollywood's chief tourist attractions are the star caricatures on the walls of the Brown Derby restaurant. Many of them are the work of a bespectacled, mousy little fellow who boldly signs them "ZEL" Meyer is the last name.

After 10 years in Hollywood Zel has crashed the movies. Or, rather, his caricatures have. Albert Basserman draws caricatures in the picture "Bel Ami." Producer Al Lewin gave Zel the job of providing caricatures of George Sanders, Ann Dvorak, Marie Wilson, and other members of the cast.

Zel said that John Carradine was his easiest subject. "He's just a skull with skin." George Sanders was his toughest. "He escaped me."

Zel's business is throwing bricks with a pencil. But George Raft was the only celebrity, Zel said, whose caricature ever made him angry.

"He tore it up and said: 'Zel, why do you do things like this to people?'"

"PICKLED" FENCIBLE
One night Zel was invited to a big Hollywood party to draw caricatures of the guests.

"A waiter kept slipping me drinks," he said, "and I got a little high. I've always wondered what that last caricature looked like, just before they carried me out to the taxi."

Edward G. Robinson was dining with a group of friends at the Derby one night. Zel snapped out a quick caricature—three minutes is his average—and put it on the table.

"Everyone except Robinson sneered," Zel recalled. "Then Robinson smiled and said, 'Very good. Thank everyone else at the table smiled.' Zel came to Hollywood from Montreal, Canada, his home town, via commercial art work in New York. His ambition in life is to be a great painter in oils, and his greatest sorrow is that he can't keep a girl friend.

"I draw a caricature of a girl, and she gets mad and won't speak to me again. I'm still looking for a perfect woman—a woman I don't want to draw."

DRESS DESIGNER
A former architect, Zel discovered designs for Doris Duke, Cronwell, Arleen Whelan, Elizabeth Scott, Jean Arthur, Mrs. William H. Vanderbilt, Hildegard, and Irene Castle McLaughlin.

The fellow's name is Lange, and he was born in Paris, where he worked as an architect, then switched to the courtier business.

Lange—he hesitatingly admitted that his first name is Sam—does so well in his New York salon (prices: $250 to $1250 per dress) that he once turned down a lucrative fee to design some clothes for a hefty film queen.

Declining without thanks, Lange said, haughtily: "I do not make slip covers."

Lange designed the gowns for Luella Malina in the Broadway-bound revival of "Roberta." One of them should be the sensation of the fashion year. He says it was inspired by Salvador Dali's portrait of his wife, Galarina.

Lange never pass the Johnston office. The dress has a French nude marquisette bodice.

At the peak of "Ann Harding's" fame on the screen, Lange designed all of her clothes.

help you all we can, my dear." There were tears in the woman's eyes as she returned the pressure of the nurse's fingers.

DOCTOR WILLOUGHBY moved on down the ward. He wished, he could have Sally in Pediatrics for a while. Three polio cases—just the first stages to be sure; but still needing care and attention. However, the girl had earned a break. She had been in receiving for two hard weeks and was now on K which had the reputation of being easy; but a lot of women eager to get out and most of them too damned talkative for their own good and everyone else's good certainly could be no cinch, to his way of thinking. No doubt she would be shifted to male surgical next although he had a hunch the chief could use her on one of his private cases. Heaven knew some of them were tartars. He sighed and went on, greeting each patient with a word, listening to their troubles with one ear while he examined their charts and checked off those who should be discharged within the next few days. He returned to Sally who still stood beside Miss Bowden.

"Aveduti, Costello and Bardi can get up this afternoon, Maynard," he told her. "Have someone take them to the solarium for a while. The two at the end and Mrs. Blake are about ready to go home. You might notify their people. Heavens! Three vacant beds, Maynard! We're in luck."

"Miss Bowden is the only really seriously ill patient we have in K, Doctor Willoughby," Sally reminded him. "B is overcrowded. Why can't those of those patients be transferred over here? Those three beds are all at one end and could easily be screened if necessary. What I'm trying to say, Doctor, is that I haven't enough to do."

"Wh-ah? Will you say that again? Are you quite all right, Sally?" The resident stared at her in amazement. "Well, my dear, now I have heard everything. Yes, I feel sure we can arrange for that transfer and— Well, well, well—and he turned and hurried away. (To Be Continued.)"

"Nine, this morning is the crucial hour, they tell me," the woman went on, her fingers holding the shining hook moving in and out of the cotton with amazing speed so that the work grew before the nurse's eyes. "Well, I am prepared for any eventuality." She said it solemnly and Sally felt sure she was scared and did what she could to ease the tension.

DORA BRONSON came in with a hypo and the patient laid down her work and relaxed. "This is it," her manner said plainly, as she bared her arm for the needle. In a moment the stretcher arrived and she was wheeled out and Sally saw her lips move and then clenched as if willing herself to relax yet by the very act increasing the tension. Dora went with her to the O.R. and stood by while Doctor Richards performed the operation that was to bring freedom and happiness to a woman who had suffered long.

It was more than an hour before she was returned to the ward and Sally had begun to wonder if anything untoward had developed. A white, haggard-faced woman was put to bed and Sally thoughtfully placed a screen around her to insure a measure of privacy. That she was suffering was evident and there was little anyone could do to ease the discomfort for the next three or four days. The resident came in and assured them the operation had been a complete success and everything would be all right in a few days. Sally saw Miss Bowden try to smile; but the effort was almost too much and she patted her hand.

"We know it is very painful," she told her. "And now all you have to do is to rest and bear the pain as best you can. Soon you will have forgotten all about it in the joy of recovery. We're going to

THE LOW DOWN FROM HICKORY GROVE

If you choose to read Freud or the wispy words of the psychologists, you will maybe conclude that discipline for a sapling is a terrible thing and will stunt and upset for life, a young person. But anybody who has brought up one off-shoot or a flock of same, or has worked with youngsters like the Boy Scouts or the Girl Scouts, they know what happens when you let down the bars—and have no discipline.

Proceed, says Henry, if you think you have anything important to expound. It is now, I says, they been using the Freud system on labor leaders—and look at the mess. The folks we been electing to high places—and even lower places—they been coddling the bossy boys in labor who he been patient with workers around like as if he had a ring in his nose. And now—on every side—the union top squawks are makin' faces at Uncle Sambo and giving him the horse-laugh and tellin' him to go on home—and cross no picket lines. And the folks in Govt. are now as unimportant and ineffective in getting anything done as is a Freud mama telling her 17-year-old to get home before 4 a.m.

Some backbone and gumption in Govt. is what this country could use more of.

Yours with the low down,
JO SERRA.

Admiral Nimitz Being Honored With Parade

CORPUS CHRISTI—(AP)—The biggest parade in the history of Corpus Christi is scheduled today in honor of Fleet Admiral Chester Nimitz.

Admiral Nimitz will review parade units of naval organizations stationed at the Corpus Christi air center here. A flight of 50 naval planes will stage an air show during the parade.

Nimitz spoke last night at a banquet given in his honor by the local Council of the Navy League. He said the Corpus Christi naval air station would be maintained in the years to come as an "important network of experiment and training."

Yesterday afternoon the admiral participated in a parade and review, featured by a demonstration of a jet plane.

Williamson County Has Polio Death

TAYLOR—(AP)—Williamson county's first polio case of 1946 ended in death late Sunday for Linda Carole Rutherford, age three, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Rutherford of Odessa.

Lange—he hesitatingly admitted that his first name is Sam—does so well in his New York salon (prices: $250 to $1250 per dress) that he once turned down a lucrative fee to design some clothes for a hefty film queen.

Declining without thanks, Lange said, haughtily: "I do not make slip covers."

Lange designed the gowns for Luella Malina in the Broadway-bound revival of "Roberta." One of them should be the sensation of the fashion year. He says it was inspired by Salvador Dali's portrait of his wife, Galarina.

Lange never pass the Johnston office. The dress has a French nude marquisette bodice.

At the peak of "Ann Harding's" fame on the screen, Lange designed all of her clothes.

Peter Edson's Column: THE SCANDAL OF THE MARITIME COMMISSION

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Signs are multiplying, with a persistence which is at once a plea and a warning, that some action must be taken speedily to meet the problem of Jewish immigration into Palestine.

The widespread disorder in the Holy Land is the most sensational of these signs. There is even greater gravity, as I see it, in the mounting numbers of Jewish refugees in Europe.

From Frankfurt, in the American occupation zone of Germany, comes word that thousands of Jews and other Eastern Europeans are flowing into that area in such numbers as to cause the high command grave concern. American officers state that the United States army now is caring for 355,000 displaced persons—a total greater than that of all the Americans in the Reich.

The increase is said to be getting out of hand.

And here are only a part of the wanderers I visited some of these Jewish folk at Belzen during my recent visit of Europe. They were living in military barracks, waiting for the wheel of fortune to determine their fate. I talked with a considerable number and asked them where they wanted to go, and almost without exception they said Palestine.

A partial answer to this appeal was given in the recent recommendation by the British-American inquiry committee that the immigration of 100,000 Jews into Palestine be carried out immediately.

Last week, however, British Foreign Minister Bevin stated at the annual labor party conference that he would reject immediate immigration of 100,000 to the Holy Land.

This question came up in the British house of commons again yesterday, and Prime Minister Attlee refused to make what he described as a hasty conclusion regarding the Anglo-American committee recommendation. Decision was deferred.

Meantime in New York the United Nations economic and social council decided yesterday that additional international relief should be extended to German and Austrian Jews and to persons who lived in those two countries as foreigners.

Each soldier is also allowed to bring along $50 spending money. When the project first was broached many Swiss were alarmed at the prospect of hundreds of thousands of foreign soldiers flooding their country.

After nearly a year of association with these American tourists in uniform the Swiss people have voted them to be more gentlemanly than their counterparts in other countries. They have caused little property damage and their "wolfing" has been on a higher plane than during the war years.

"Out of one quarter of a million soldiers we have had only one half dozen cases of misbehavior," said Florian Neiderer, Swiss manager of tour groups. "These were mostly watch and camera thieves. We have seen no cases of crimes against women. We feel this is an exceptional conduct record."

Neiderer said the tours have done more "for mutual understanding between our countries than anything else possibly could."

Jimmy Brugger, veteran guide, who has also escorted almost 8,000 soldiers through Switzerland, says the first thing troops ask where there are the watches. "After that they buy souvenir wood carvings and music boxes."

Brugger says American soldiers generally prefer Swiss cities to Swiss scenery, because of the night life they provide. Jimmy sometimes can't understand why boys should rather "jay cards than look out of 'train windows at mountain scenery."

"The Swiss people like your soldiers because they are more typical of the United States."

WASHINGTON. (NEA)—Vice-Adm. William Ward Smith has stepped from the navy into the chairmanship of the U. S. Maritime Commission and War Shipping Administration just in time to have a three-year-old $8,000,000 boat dropped on his doorstep. It's a demand for congressional investigation of USMC and WSA bookkeeping.

Admiral Smith himself is classed as a political neutral. The demand for the investigation comes from Republican Sen. George D. Aiken of Vermont and Cong. Richard B. Wiggleworth of Massachusetts. But they are backed up by an audit from the general accounting office of Comptroller General Lindsay C. Warren, who is a democrat.

Only the audit for 1943 has been made public so far, but that's where the trouble is.

Before July 1 the general accounting office hopes to have completed its audit of maritime commission and shipping administration books for 1944. It is understood that this report will also show considerable irregularity in the bookkeeping. A preliminary examination of 1945 books indicates that mistakes of the two previous years have been corrected, so the whole thing may blow over.

The final audit of 1945 operations may not be completed for some months, however. Until it is brought out the whole case may have to hang fire.

MARITIME UNIONS HAVEN'T DISOBTAYED THE CHARGES
In the meantime, the GAO audit of 1943 shipbuilding and shipping operations is being given considerable distortion. Senator Aiken's reference to "$8,007,163,990.60 improperly accounted for" has been taken to mean that this sum has been stolen. CIO maritime unions, doing everything they can to promote their strike demands by giving the bosses a black eye, have taken up the cry that "shipowners looted the U. S. treasury of several billion dollars."

Comptroller General Warren's office has made no such charges. While it would be a miracle if all the billions spent in such haste for war shipbuilding and shipping could be accounted for down to the last penny, this is pretty much of a bookkeeper's war.

What the 1943 audit shows is that maritime commission and shipping administration accountants made $8,000,000 worth of mistakes. The general accounting office had to correct them before the books could be brought into balance. Nineteen major errors were found in the maritime commission books, 29 in the shipping administration's. For example, $2,000,000 advanced to Kaiser's Richmond, Calif., yard was charged to shipways instead of being set up as an account receivable. There was failure to record more than $350,000,000 due for transportation of lend-lease cargoes. Vessels worth $63,000,000, lost at sea, were still carried as assets. And so on, in too great detail to be given in full here.

For failing to put into effect recommendations of the general accounting office, the maritime commission did recently dismiss its director of finance, R. E. Anderson. But so far there have been no charges of crookedness.

WARTIME CHAIRMAN LAND FEUDED WITH AIKEN
Vice-Adm. Emory S. Land, chairman of the maritime commission and of the shipping administration throughout this war, has resigned to become head of the Air Transport association. Land dominated the commission, and other members were known to complain that they could not learn what the chairman was doing.

Whatever his salty shortcomings may have been in this respect or as a bookkeeper, he did get ships built faster than the subs could sink them, which was his job.

Behind all this bookkeeping war there is an involved feud between Senator Aiken and Admiral Land. It began over the St. Lawrence seaway project, which is the senator's pet project. Land opposed it, and said so in no uncertain terms. After that, Aiken had no use for him and is reported to have tried to block Land's promotion from rear admiral to vice admiral. Land's promotion to full admiral was blocked, of course, second-ranking minority member of the house appropriations committee and a champion of economy. Since he is a republican, that's his job.

When maritime commission officials recently appeared before the house appropriations committee and asked for $2,000,000 with which to get back over its books and ready to get every rivet and every telegram charged against the proposed yard and hull, the request was turned down. The commission was further ordered not to waste time on such bookkeeping.

Salt and other minerals continually are washed into the sea at an estimated rate of three billion tons a year.

THE STORY: Prunella admits to Sally that her illness is to punish Mia Angela for the way she's been treating John Hutchinson, whom Prunella adores. When Mr. Hutchinson comes to visit, Prunella's illness is cured, she recovers almost immediately.

XIII
THE bed Prunella had occupied for so short a time was made ready for its new occupant. She arrived during the night so that when Sally went on duty next morning she found Miss Bowden—a thyroid case—an ex-school teacher, crocheting like mad while she read her big portions of Scripture. Sally stood and watched her for a moment until the patient closed the Bible and placed it on the stand beside the bed. Then the nurse spoke.

"Don't you have to count and watch while you're doing that?"

"Not this pattern," the patient answered. "I could do it with my eyes shut. Are you the nurse here?"

"Yes," Sally told her. "I'm Sally Maynard, Miss Bowden. How are you feeling this morning?"

"Nervous, of course. I shall be greatly relieved when it is all over and I can breathe freely. Have you any idea how miserable a gouter can make one feel, Miss Maynard? I wish I had listened to the family doctor years ago and had it removed when I was young. At my age there is considerable risk, but I can't go on as I have been doing—strangling, choking, panting, and fighting for every breath I draw. I was disappointed not to get the semi-private room I wanted; but after seeing you, I am rather glad they were all taken. You look kind and efficient, Miss Maynard, and I am sure Doctor Richards is also."

"One of the very best, Miss Bowden," Sally assured her.

"We know it is very painful," she told her. "And now all you have to do is to rest and bear the pain as best you can. Soon you will have forgotten all about it in the joy of recovery. We're going to

Dreams of Group Are Coming True

After more than 10 years of saving and planning the dream of the couples from Canton, Ohio, for an ideal vacation including visits to many of the wonderlands of the nation, is reaching fruition with the group on the Santa Fe Grand Canyon Limited through here today.

The group consisted of Messrs. and Mesdames S. L. Huffman, Clifford, Walter, and William Zagray; Kenneth Julian, and William Kinsey.

In addition to a vacation travel fund of $2000 subscribed by each of the party to 50 cents a week since 1935, a windfall was provided by a New York radio program with an offer of $1000 for appearance of the group. The offer was accepted and the original rail travel plans of the party was changed from a trip direct to California to include the Eastern itinerary. The party left Canton, June 14, and arrived in New York June 15, with a stayover here until the afternoon of June 17, when they left for Chicago, boarding the Santa Fe's Grand Canyon Limited on June 18, for the trip to the Pacific coast. They are traveling through Texas and New Mexico today. The train arrived in Pampa at 2:05, the group had their picture taken, and then boarded the train for Amarillo. Representatives from Radio Station KGNC, Amarillo, rode with the Ohio visitors to that city to record an interview with them.

Newsboys Should Be 'Ambassadors'

COLUMBUS, O.—(AP)—The nation's newsboys should be banded together as "good will ambassadors" in a fight against the alarming rise in juvenile delinquency, the International Circulation Managers' association was told today.

The newspaper men, meeting on the second day of their 47th annual convention, heard an outline of an anti-delinquency program for their 500,000 carriers put forth by J. M. Bauer of the Buffalo Courier Express.

"This plan, he said, could be linked with a physical fitness program set up from border to border by the Amateur Athletic union."

The amendment faces an admittedly hard road. To become effective, it must win two-thirds approval by congress, then ratification by three-fourths of the state legislatures. Most senators doubted it could make the grade.

If it did, however, it would leave on the court justices Hugo L. Black, Stanley F. Reed, Felix Frankfurter and Harold H. Burton, the latter appointed by President Truman. It would remove justices William O. Douglas, Frank Murphy, Robert H. Jackson and Wiley Rutledge, as the final four appointees of the late President.

It would not affect President Truman's appointment of Fred Vinson as chief justice, a nomination expected to receive early senate confirmation.

Nutt Trial

(Continued From Page 1) crying and asking for her mother. In testimony later yesterday, Dr. Frank Kelley, local physician and surgeon, stated that the child had been struck by someone or something about the face, and that she had been disturbed in some fashion in the lower regions. She was slightly torn there, he stated.

Ann Goode, registered nurse and lab technician, testified that she had taken blood specimens from the child, which, it developed this morning, was analyzed in the FBI laboratory at Washington, and compared with blood stains assertedly found on the trousers of the accused man, P. G. Duncan, special agent, testified this morning that he had found the two specimens, that of the child's body and that on the trousers, to be the same type. Traces of semen, Duncan said, were found on the trousers.

Sheriff G. H. Kyle testified yesterday that he had arrested Nutt and had subsequently taken the trousers, and turned them over to the district attorney. He was called back to the stand today to testify in regard to foot prints and other impressions he had found in a lot near the Killarney. The trousers were submitted as State Exhibit No. 2.

Loyese James, the seventh witness, testified this morning that she, as ticket-taker at the concern, had seen Nutt leave the building with the child.

Ernest Winborne, a city policeman, said he was with the sheriff at the time of the arrest and confinement of the accused.

Opal Bearden, a resident of LeFors, stated she had seen Nutt at the Killarney, and had seen him leave the building with the child. Nutt is being defended by Dusty Miller and Col. E. A. Simpson of Amarillo.

Attack Is Made on Communist Quarters

PARIS.—(AP)—Communist headquarters were attacked last night and 68 persons were arrested, Interior Minister Andre Le Troquer told the French cabinet today. A police officer was wounded.

Bands of youths roamed the boulevards yesterday shouting "De Gaulle to Power" and "Thorez to the Stake" during celebrations of the sixth anniversary of Gen. Charles de Gaulle's 1940 resistance broadcast from London.

Other bands cried their support for the communist party Secretary general, Maurice Thorez, who fled to Moscow when France entered the war and escaped the army draft.

(Continued From Page 1) city of Acre said the streets were deserted except for patrolling Tommies. Buildings were shuttered. Only government employes, doctors and nurses were allowed to leave their residences after 5 a.m. when the curfew was clamped on.

(Speakersmen for the Arab office in London said "the latest outbreak of terrorism by Zionist gangs in Palestine is a strange commentary on Jewish claims to turn the country into a Jewish national state. These outbreaks of criminal violence only intensify the justice of the Arab cause.")

Rumors apparently started by underground Jewish organizations meanwhile said the five British officers kidnaped from a club at Tel Aviv yesterday would be released if the death sentences of two members of the Irgun Zvai Leumi, an illegal Jewish organization, were commuted to life imprisonment. The officers were believed held hostage.

While these rumors seemingly answered the question of the motive of the sensational kidnaping, it did not answer the question in the minds of Palestine officialdom as to the cause and aims of the widespread attacks which have thrown the country into a virtual state of virtual siege.

Although the kidnapings were attributed to Irgun Zvai Leumi, the attacks of a military scale on eight frontier bridges connecting the country with all its neighbors and against railway centers were believed the work of the larger Jewish Agnath organization. As yet no official units between operations of the two dissident underground groups has been reported.

Molotov refused to submit Russia's reparations claim to the 21-nation conference, expressing belief that the foreign ministers should settle it.
