12-Point Plan For Union Is New Proposal

WASHINGTON — (AP) — President Truman proposed to congress yesterday a 12-point program for unification of the armed services which he said had his "unqualified endorsement" and the support of the army and navy.

In a move to compose army-navy differences, he sent identical letters to the senate and house military and naval committee chairmen proposing:

NATIONAL DEFENSE

Creation of a single department of national defense headed by one secretary of cabinet rank; parity for the air forces under a non-cabinet secretary ranking alongside the civilian heads of the sea and land services; creation of a council of national defense and of a national security resources board along with several other new defense agencies.

CONCESSION TO NAVY

As a concession to navy objections, the new program drops the recommendation that Truman made for a single military chief of staff in his message last December 18.

APRIL RECOMMENDATION

In its major provisions aside from elimination of a single chief of staff, the new proposal coincides with legislation recommended in April by the senate military affairs committee.

The committee has held hearings on it and Chairman Walsh (D-Mass) has announced any amendments which grow out of these will be offered when the measure reaches the floor.

In the house legislation much along the same lines is awaiting action by the expeditures committee, which has indicated it will hold off until the senate moves.

POINTS OF AGREEMENT

Along with the letter to the committee chairmen, the White House made public the report given to the President May 31 by Secretaries Patterson and Forrestal in which they set out their points of agreement, which grow out of these will be offered when they dated yesterday.

He noted that they agreed on creation of a SERVICE MERGE, Page 8

Austria Will Go on Agenda Of Paris Meet

PARIS — (AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov agreed yesterday to add Austria to the foreign ministers conference agenda, then insisted that the Italian political situation be watched to prevent a reversion of fascism into full scale civil war. American and British informants said.

In a sudden and surprising concession, Molotov reversed Soviet policy as expressed throughout sessions last month and consented to study Austria as "a problem."

Molotov objected to confining the Austrian question to the American-sponsored draft treaty which Washington had circulated among the other powers, France, Russia and Britain.

He maintained that recent events in Italy reflected an attempt by monarchists and fascists to overthrow the republic, and cited the declaration of Mussolini in 1943 justifying Allied intervention in Italian affairs to prevent a rebirth of fascism. American informants said.

In 1943 the foreign ministers of Britain, the United States and Russia issued a declaration on Italy saying the fascist must be destroyed and the Italians given an opportunity to have representative government.

The Soviet foreign minister asked the council to add the Italian situation to the agenda as a preliminary to intervention if events justified such course.

U. S. Secretary of State James F. Byrnes replied that the United States had no objection if events really justified such action, but added that official information available to the United States showed that the Italian government now had the situation in hand and was successfully upholding the republic. American sources said.

The suggestion to place Austria on the agenda as a "simple problem" was made by the French, and Molotov concurred.

The ministers met for two and a half hours in their initial session, then adjourned until Monday.

As they began their conference some informants expressed the belief that the United States had prepared a dramatic move which would lead either to a satisfactory compromise or a complete break with the system of major power unanimity.

These sources said that if there was a break in the system of unanimity, which dates back to the Yalta conference, they would be surprised.

Pampan Is Proud Owner of Stately High Top Shoe Nearly 135 Years Old

Shoes were worn long and hard during the war years because of the precious shoe stamp and at the end of a year's wear a shoe had little more than a grimace for its owner.

Age lends curiosity to any object and admittedly this shoe handed down from generation to generation is something to wonder about.

It is six inch high top and one inch heel combine for the unusual, old-fashioned effect. The toe, narrow and round, was scuffed years ago. "Probably by Mrs. Hallman's grandmothers when they cut a rug," for the leather sole, which gives support, is still firm and looks good for many wear.

Certainly the term, "worn out as an old shoe" can't apply to Mrs. Hallman's shoe because it sits down, comfortable in its old age with never a wrinkle of fear or uncertainty on its ageless face.

'Overloaded' Facilities Causing 'Phone Delays

The telephone system in Pampa is being temporarily "overloaded" as one of the expedients by which the Southwestern Bell Telephone company hopes to provide service for more people, with its existing equipment here, it was announced yesterday by L. H. "Jack" Johnson, local manager.

Manager Johnson's statement was made to The News, when it was reported to him rumors were circulating that some persons here were planning a petition or petitions, in protest to slowed-down service.

A number of persons have complained to The News about long waits before they are contacted by the operators when calling numbers.

"Overloading means that more telephones are being connected to the switchboards and other equipment in the central office than are handled in normal times," Johnson explained.

He said that more than 350 persons were waiting for service here. Even with that number waiting, many others have been given telephones, causing an over-taxing of present facilities, which cannot be increased due to a shortage of materials. More people have been put on party lines, permitting more people to be served on existing lines.

These overloads, he explained, while giving more persons access to telephones, have lowered temporarily service standards. He said he could not say how long it would be before more central office facilities could be obtained.

He acknowledged that answers are considerably slower from the operators when the receiver is lifted—

Baruch Atomic Plan Completes Peace Pattern

WASHINGTON — (AP)—The world should learn fairly well in the next three or four weeks how much chance it has for an organized lasting peace.

The United States atomic control plan laid before the United Nations yesterday by Bernard Baruch completes the American master pattern of peace organization.

The foreign ministers conference opening in Paris yesterday is the start of what seems on the face of it a show-down with Russia on European settlements.

Washington diplomats are keeping one eye on the progress of the plan in New York and the other on Paris. They say that if the great powers can work together to harness the atom and draft the peace treaties, they can solve eventually all their other problems. If they fail, no one seems certain that they will be able to solve anything important.

The White House and state department both have sought in recent weeks to discourage renewed talk of a Big Three meeting to try to find a way around the difficulties.

The pattern of peace which the atomic plan completes is constructed on the primary assumption that Russia, Britain and the United States are moved primarily by a desire for security and peace. Main elements in the pattern and their present status are these:

1. Long-time control of Germany and Japan by the victorious powers. So far there is no agreement on how this is to be done.

2. Return to peaceful conditions in all other parts of the world as quickly as possible. The chief immediate problem at Paris is the

Nutt Trial Will Open Tomorrow

The trial of Louis T. Nutt, charged with rape in connection with a criminal attack on a four-year-old girl here last month, is scheduled to open tomorrow in the 31st district court here with District Judge W. R. Ewing on the bench.

Nutt has been held without bond following the attack on the child, Wanda Faye Porter, pictured above soon after the attack, which occurred near a local tavern at midnight, May 3.

A special venire of 150 men has been called, from which a jury will be chosen.

District Attorney Walter Rogers will prosecute the case. Col. E. A. Simpson and E. T. "Dusty" Miller, up his neckers, are attorneys for the defendant, who has entered a "not guilty" plea.

International Conferences Are Planned

WASHINGTON — (AP)—The CIO-supported committee for maritime unity, with one dock strike just averted, announced last night plans for a $2,000,000 "strike-fund" and for world-wide meetings in preparation for new contract negotiations Sept. 30.

The CMU, headed by Harry Bridges and Joseph Curran as co-chairmen, disclosed plans for "joint conferences with the maritime unions of other nations" during the summer preparatory to a new maritime crisis next fall.

This indication of future labor front difficulties came as peace was just returning to the nation's waterfronts. The labor department was viewing the strike outlook, with "peace" making many time dispute settlements as background, as the best in months.

Louis Goddard, CMU secretary, announced that the CMU executive committee had voted on the heels of the settlement—to build a $1,000,000 strike fund.

Backers of Case Labor Bill Call Off Revival Fight

WASHINGTON — (AP)—Backers of the Case labor bill reported yesterday they have called off their fight to revive the controversial measure until probably next year.

They said they will work instead for passage of a modified version of President Truman's emergency strike control legislation, which would give him power to take over essential strike-bound industries.

Added to the presidential proposal, they said, will be only such sections of the Case plan as the chief executive indicates he will support. At present they have no assurance he will agree to any such addition.

Opponents of the far-reaching Case measure held the decision of its sponsors to withhold their fight for a while as a "smashing victory" in congress for Truman in his fight over the body debated bill.

This interpretation of the move, which came from Rep. Biemiller (D-Wis) and others who fought the Case legislation, was promptly disputed by the backers.

"We are not surrendering to the President in any sense," Rep. Case (R-SD) author of the measure, told reporters.

"But there is no sense in the President and congress making faces at one another," he said.

Rep. Cox (D-Ga) asserted that "this does not mean we are giving up only that we will not press the matter for the time being."

Cox added that his colleagues will go along with creation of a joint-union-backers committee as requested by Mr. Truman to handle permanent labor regulation legislation.

Cox said that it thus probably will be next year before a broad new strike control bill will be adopted, unless some new major industrial dispute develops.

Justice Jackson Has 'No Comment' to Make

STOCKHOLM — (AP)—President Truman's statement on the supreme court controversy brought "no comment" yesterday from Justice Robert H. Jackson.

The President, at a Washington news conference Friday, said he had suggested that Jackson hold up his vote on the case until he had a chance to talk to Jackson about the matter, Jackson, asked yesterday if he wished to discuss this, said:

"I desire to make no comment at all."

Jackson, on vacation from the Nuernberg war crimes trial, was here as a guest of the Swedish minister, of justice.

Anderson Thinks Rationing Return 'Not Necessary'

WASHINGTON — (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Anderson declared last night he does not believe a return to consumer rationing will be necessary to save people in other lands from starvation in the year ahead.

He said the United States no longer has the machinery for enforcing rationing and he doubts "congress will wish to set it up again, at this point."

The government is developing, the secretary said, "a simpler form of rationing nearer the source—rationing of wheat and other short supplies to processors and distributors."

As an example, he cited an agriculture department order requiring millers to cut their distribution of flour for domestic consumption 25 per cent from last year's level.

Anderson gave this view in a report prepared for a national broadcasting company program entitled "Can Famines Be Prevented?"

John Boyd Orr, director-general of the United Nations food and agriculture organization, also took part. The secretary said American crop prospects are good, but he forecast short supplies of broad grain, meats and fats for 1947.

Sir John, like Anderson, expressed belief that famines can be prevented during the year ahead if major producing countries will continue wartime controls, use high extraction flour, price grain so as to discourage farmers from feeding it to livestock, and limit the amount of grain used for industrial purposes, including alcoholic beverages.

"The world food situation will remain critical at least until the 1947 harvest," Anderson said. "And it will be years even after that before normal food production is restored."

Anderson said it may be necessary for the United States to continue on a 25 per cent cut in four staples. He previously had said that the reduction will be only 15 per cent beginning July 1.

Termite Scheme Turns on Men

Their "termite extermination" scheme backfiring on them, four men, all of Twitty, are being held in Wheeler county jail on charges of burglary and theft of termite exterminators, according to District Attorney Walter Rogers.

According to Rogers, the men, posing as termite exterminators, contacted business and residences in the county in regard to work on termite extermination. Then, he charged, they returned and burglarized the places.

The four, James and Cody Elrod, Vernon Vandercamp and Earl Brown, are charged in connection with burglaries of the Piggly Wiggly grocery, a service station burglary in Shamrock and the burglary of a lumber firm at Wheeler.

Two more members of the Elrod family are being held in jail at Twitty, Okla., on a burglary charge there.

Rogers said District Judge W. R. Ewing will probably call the Wheeler county grand jury next week in connection with the arrests.

'The Kid' Will Celebrate Happy Father's Day

By CLAYTON HICKERSON AP Staff Writer

His friends all call him "The Kid," but he has a lot of offspring who will be saying "Happy Father's Day" to him today (Sunday).

"The Kid" is 77-year-old Jesse Parrish of Terrell, Texas. He'll enjoy Father's Day, just like he enjoys everything else in life.

But he's happiest when he watches the trains of the Texas and Pacific railroad speed by his large white house on the outskirts of town.

He shudders when fast trains make the windows and doors rattle in his home.

He likes the trains. Back at the turn of the century before, Jess Parrish was helping build railroads into South Texas, into New Mexico and on down south of the border.

Later, as engineer he piloted the first trains into several stations in the last frontiers of Texas.

A son and three sons-in-law have been "railroaders," and "The Kid" admires them all. He liked best perhaps the son-in-law Charles Smith of Marshall, Texas, who died under flaming boxcars after his freight train collided with a fast passenger train between Marshall and Longview.

A grandson, for a while, was a big driver. Jess Parrish, who loved the feel of the steam throttle, wasn't impressed. He said bus schedules were "sissy stuff."

Young Scouts Go To Camp Sullivan

Camp Sullivan, east of Pampa, was host to the Brownie and Tenderfoot Girl Scouts Friday for their last day of day camp, Miss Marie Stedje, local Girl Scout executive said.

Seventy-three scouts and 30 adults attended the outing at Sullivan. The girls left the little scout house at 10:30 a. m. and upon arrival at the camp, they hiked and made a tour of the grounds and buildings which have just been completed.

Lunch was spread for the group under the shade trees and quiet hour followed. In mid-afternoon the girls waded in the creek which runs near the camp.

General assembly was held just before leaving the camp and certificates were presented to the girls who had attended day camp four days or more. Leaders who had participated as instructors of day camp were also introduced. After a group singing, the scouts returned to Pampa, arriving here at 4 o'clock.

Miss Stedje said that her records show a number of 133 scouts having done troop camping at Sullivan this year. The camping periods are divided into two and four days durations. An addition 60 scouts have done camping at Sullivan for one day.

Troop camping will continue through the summer months, according to Miss Stedje, who said the sleeping quarters at Camp Sullivan are excellent and facilities serve their purpose admirably.

Other camping is being done at Celis, which is being held for the first time. It was planned that the camp would continue from June 23 to July 21, but the last week was canceled owing to the low enrollment.

Directors for the Ceta Glen camp are Ica May McClure and Norma Jane Ewing.

Here's How San Antonio Fights Polio Scourge -- Old Army City Mobilizes Her Many Scientists

SAN ANTONIO — (AP)—This colorful, crowded old city of the Southwest has become a vast polio laboratory.

With eight deaths and 60 cases already listed in an early outbreak, San Antonio is in the fight against infantile paralysis on an all-summer basis.

Late in April, the city was jam-packed for its gay, week-long Fiesta. Polio's incubation period is normally 10 days. Early in May, the disease struck with great virulence. Four 16-year-olds died within a few days. Their deaths became four black pins in the northern section of the health department's map of the city.

Later, another black pin was added to the same area and three more were thrust into the southern part of the map. A rash of red pins, new cases, appeared.

San Antonio mobilized to meet the deadly enemy. Evidence was collected, sifted and weighed. Polio, which shows up as black dots under the highest-powered microscopes, is that the war is over to help the returning soldier. ### Operation Honeybee Will Cease June 30

BRITISH RHINE ARMY HQ. GERMANY — (AP)—Operation Honeybee—the exchange of displaced German between Russian and British occupation zones—will cease June 30, it was announced officially yesterday.

The exchange began last October and up to June 6th, 1,636,000 Germans from Soviet territory had entered the British zone while 495,000 had moved into the Soviet zone.

The heavier westward flow had its origin in the wartime evacuation of Ruhr industrial workers to the east to escape Allied bombing raids.

agreed to serve on the committee. Every recommendation of the experts was carried out. They advised clean-up and quarantine to combat the two most strongly suspected methods of transmission—flies and common insects. Schools were closed. Persons under 21 were forbidden to attend public gatherings.

The committee faced some unpleasant facts. Terribly crowded housing conditions, overtaxed sewer and drainage systems; leaky water mains; open garbage dumps; 20,000 open toilets in a city of 95,000 families; a normally high incidence of diarrhoea and dysentery.

"I'll give you the evidence," Colonel Livesay said. He stood in the health department's conference room, a room dominated by a large blackboard on which figures representing totals of polio cases were chalked daily. He pointed to the map that bristled with red and black pins.

"The outbreak started in the north, spread around to the east and then appeared in the south. These areas are good neighborhoods. See POLIO FIGHT, Page 2

Dairymen Name New '46 Officers

Officers and directors of the Top o' Texas Dairy association for the year 1946-47 were elected Friday night when the organization met in the county court room.

Directors for the association were elected first and the directors in turn, elected the officers. The directors were W. F. "Bill" Stubbs, Albrecht, Alvis Burks, Mobeette, John Hughes, Mobeette and C. C. Organ, Pampa.

V. B. Harcastle of Wheeler was elected president, Amos Harris of Kingsmill, vice-president, and Grover C. Heard, local dairyman, was re-elected secretary.

C. Quentin Williams of the soil conservation service, spoke to the association on the importance of pasture to dairy cows. E. A. Miller, agronomist from Texas A. and M. college, talked of production in feed crops for dairy cattle.

Grover Heard pointed out the accomplishment for the year 1945-46, during which time two meetings were held at McLean and two at Wheeler. These, according to Heard, were educational meetings in production of clean milk.

Refreshments were served following the business session and Miss Ernestine Holmes entertained with accordion solos.

Shamrock Newsboy 'Turns the Tables'

SHAMROCK — Enterprise in these United States is not entirely dead.

For instance: Bedford Harrison, insurance agent here, was "tricked down" each day by an industrious newsboy, Rodney Ssages, 10, of 907 W. Wall. The "I-don't-have-the-change" line had not worked on 50 cents a dollar. Young Skaggs always had the change, or got it right quickly.

"I'll probably have a $20 bill tomorrow," Mr. Harrison said one day, trying the boy's mettle.

The next afternoon the youth approached the customer, Pampa News, in one hand, change for a twenty in the other.

Harrison adds, thoughtfully: "The trouble is, I didn't have the twenty!"

Polio Fight

 but every one is so situated as to receive flies, borne by the prevailing sou' west wind, from areas of open toilets or garbage dumps or both. Much evidence points to flies. They thrive in hot weather. So does polio.

C. J. Crampton, stocky, serious, manager of the chamber of commerce, was chosen to spearhead the clean-up campaign. Former psychology professor at the University of Indiana, the University of Texas and Southern Methodist university, he used psychology in getting results.
 "Public opinion did it," he declared. "We refrained from any show of legal authority. Citizens with health hazards on their property felt the weight of public opinion and cleaned up. The cooperation was wonderful. San Antonio right now is just as clean as any city in America."

From the army, Crampton got four engine-operated DDT sprayers. A shibboleth concern in New York contributed a DDT fogger, a vehicle which travels along like a street-sweeper, bleaching DDT mist from both sides. Planes dusted great areas of the city with the insecticide. Bulldozers plowed under standing pools in dry creek beds and DDT sprayers followed behind them. Vacant lots were trimmed and cleaned. Swamps were filled or drained. Garbage service was greatly improved. Citizens, invited to report insanitary conditions, called by the hundreds. Seventeen health department men inspected 400 to 500 open toilets daily, ordered fly proofing and kerosene treatments, then went back later for rechecks. Garbage dumps received special attention.

Crampton found a dump in an abandoned quarry on the west side of the city.

"It was so extensive," he said, "that it looked hopeless. There were millions of flies."
 DDT sprayers attacked the dump, then bulldozers moved in—covering the garbage with dirt. After that, the chamber of commerce chief took reporters out to view the result. They couldn't find a fly.

"That's one garbage dump I'm proud of," Crampton remarked.
 During the first week of the outbreak, only three of the 10 victims were under 11; the second week brought nine cases, none under 11. Put in the third, eight of 14 were under 11; the fourth, four of 10 were in the lower age group and in the fifth, 11 of 12. Ages on the public gathering ban were reduced from 21 to 18 and then to 15. The army ban against soldiers attending public gatherings was lifted. Only one protest against the quarantine was heard. Five ministers said they were afraid children would lose the Sunday school habit if the church schools were not exempted. The experts refused to make the exception.

Few cases came from poor families. Latin-Americans make up one-third of San Antonio's 350,000 civilian population, yet no Latin-American victims were reported and there were no Negro cases.

"The polio has hit the better homes," Colonel Livesay declared. "Better housed, better fed, better clothed—and less immunity."
 Seventy-three percent of persons over 15 have immunizing antibodies against polio in their blood," Dr. Craig explained. "This means they at one time had the disease—perhaps through some light form that no diagnosis was made. Negroes are only half as susceptible as whites."

The physician believes the contact method may be the most common means of transmission.
 "The virus lives for six to eight months in the bodies of those who have had the disease. It is probable that it can be transmitted by coughing or sneezing—hence the tremendous importance of quarantine. It is found in the nasal secretions, and in the mucous membranes of the throat, mouth, tonsils and intestines. It is located less readily in the bloodstream and in fecal material. It has been isolated from the bodies and intestinal contents of flies—a fact which lends credence to the belief that flies carry polio from sewage and open toilets to food."

Early symptoms of polio include colds, headaches, fever, neck stiffness, and digestive upsets. Or the crisis may strike nerve centers quickly. A child may go to bed at night, apparently healthy, and awaken in the morning with a limb paralyzed.

Sixteen acute cases were in isolation at Robert B. Green hospital, three of them in iron lungs.

"Patients first are brought to the observation ward," the head nurse said. "Diagnosis takes one to 24 hours. Then they are transferred to the isolation ward where hot pack treatments are given. Wool packs, heated by steam and covered with rubber sheeting and flannel are renewed each hour, 24 hours a day for two weeks. Muscle reeducation for paralyzed limbs begins.
 "Later, in the recovery ward, victims receive treatment until the greatest extent of recovery is obtained—it may take two weeks or two years."

Two-thirds of diagnosed cases recover completely.
 A sandy-haired boy romped on a bed in the convalescent ward.
 "His seven brothers and sisters didn't get it," the nurse said. "He's doing fine." One little girl spent four days in an iron lung. It saved her life. Two weeks later she walked out of here, absolutely well. The public doesn't seem to know of all the cases that recover. When pictures of a child with crutches, crippled for life."

OLDTIME DEMO FEUD IS STILL DRAWING FIRE

By MAC ROY RASOR
 AP Staff Writer
 The smoldering feud between left-wing and right-wing democrats, touched off anew at the meeting Monday of the state democratic executive committee, is still drawing fire.

Committee member Morris Roberts of Victoria who was manning the guns again today.
 In a letter to committee chairman Harry Seay, Roberts called on the committee to discontinue expenditure of committee funds for radio time to tell Texans how to vote.

"To do otherwise will, I fear, lead to a further decline in the party's position and influence," Roberts declared.

He told Seay that the committee "is not the dictator of the party's policies" nor the "custodian of the consciences of the nearly 2,000,000 democrats in this state."
 The views were identical with those of Gov. Coke Stevenson, Roberts' political ally, who earlier in the week had condemned the same committee policy. The governor said the committee had overstepped its purpose in appealing to the voters to defeat J. E. McDonald for alleged "disloyalty to the party" after had placed his name on the democratic ballot as a candidate for agriculture commissioner.

He said the committee's use of radio time to tell Texans how to vote could "gravitate into a dangerous policy."
 The statement brought a public break between Stevenson and Seay. Seay quickly declared that Gov. Stevenson thought like "a Texas Regular" and other "insidious interests that would sabotage the democratic party in Texas."

Agitation had also been added to the situation by McDonald, who partly remarked: "I'm sure the people of Texas will appreciate the committee telling them how to vote."
 Committee non-action Monday that stirred some comment was the shouting to a committee of three resolutions offered by Roberts. They regarded President Truman's policy in the railroad strike, the fair employment practices committee, and the CIO political action committee.

Roberts reminded Seay in his letter Saturday of the pigeon-holed resolutions.
 "I am certain that thousands of democrats want the committee to act favorably on these resolutions," he declared.

The "big five" candidates for governor were picking up steam and the lesser bids were bidding more strongly for public attention.
 Jerry Sadler was opening his campaign Saturday in Waco and John

Lee Smith in Nacogdoches. Homer Price Rainey was still pounding at certain radio stations for their "monopoly-like" restrictions on political time. Beauford Jester picked up the endorsement and support of Robert W. Calvert of Hillsboro. Grover Sellers was busy on tour after his opening last week-end at Sulphur Springs.

In the bush beating league, Caso March had become the first gubernatorial candidate in history to visit the county seat town of Plains in Yukon county. His itinerary has taken him to 231 county seats.

 Later, he helped drive one of the last cattle herds over the old Chisholm Trail and then rode with one of the first trainloads of steers that went to Kansas City from Texas via rail.

Although his admiration for the big, fast trains that pass him is almost unbounded, he still likes to tell of pushing coal-burners "downgrade at 90 miles an hour," a real-life Casey Jones.

His railroading now consists of "hitchhiking" the passing trains, and most of the trainmen on the Marshall-Fort Worth run of the T&P know him at sight, rarely failing to return his signals.

VFW Will Aid in Repatriation Plans For Fallen Heroes

Gold Star families of this community who wish their war dead brought home as provided in the recently-enacted war dead repatriation bill, are invited to call upon Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 1657 for assistance in making the necessary arrangements. The Post's Commander Q. D. Donahoe has announced.

Commander Donahoe disclosed the appointment of a war dead repatriation committee within the Post, composed of the following: M. F. Roche, Lewis Cox, and Rev. B. A. Neilsen.

This committee will compile lists of war dead from this community, and will confer with next of kin of these heroes to determine if they desired to have them brought home for burial.
Under the bill, according to Commander Donahoe, remains of those who fell and are buried abroad, will be brought home only if their next of kin so desire.
Commander Donahoe said: "The committee will do its utmost to be of service to the bereaved families of these comrades who made the supreme sacrifice. We want these Gold Star families to feel free to call upon the VFW for advice and assistance."

World's Diamond Industry Returns To Historic Home

By ROBERT EUNSON

ANTWERP—(AP)—Half of the world's diamond industry has returned to this historic European trading center since the end of hostilities in Europe.

Control of the world diamond market has been centered in the dim-lighted little offices and shops along Antwerp's ancient Rue Du Pelican for 500 years, but the war scattered the industry to the four corners of the earth. Merchants in Palestine, Brazil, Canada and the United States grasped feverishly for the market during the war years, but it came home to Antwerp again—and quit-ly.

"It is the cutting and polishing that counts," says Albert Rudelshiem, general manager of the Belgian diamond industry syndicate. "The diamond cutters in Palestine or South America may have two or three years experience, but in Belgium it is a closed industry, passed down from father to son. Our diamond cutters profit from 500 years of experience."

"Diamonds have character," says Juda Polak, secretary of the syndicate to which every diamond merchant in Belgium belongs. "It takes a man who understands diamonds to bring out that character."

Diamond cutters and polishers in Belgium make from 2,000 to 4,000 francs a week (about $40 to $80) which is about twice the average wage in the country.

"There has never been a strike in all these 500 years," Polak says. "The industry is controlled by a national commission of workers and merchants. Any differences that might arise are settled amicably by this body."

Before the war 95 percent of the products sold by the Diamond Trading company to Antwerp, but Belgian merchants now are handling only about 45 percent.

Practice Games Set for Senior Softball League

A tentative practice schedule for eight teams in the Industrial softball league was worked out yesterday. A practice schedule will be played the first week, after which a complete season's schedule will be drawn up.

Fourteen teams have indicated that they would enter the league and it may be necessary to split the circuit.

Those teams included on the first week's practice schedule are: Skelly Schaefer plant, Skelly Kingsmill plant, Stanolind Oil, Phillips plant, Baash Ross Tool, Alpacco Construction, Heskell Drilling and McWilliams Motor company.

Others, including Cabot companies, Continental plant, Cargray plant, Leder's Jewelry, Montgomery Ward and Junior chamber of commerce, will be written into the definite schedule.

Managers of the latter teams should contact Scott Rafferty, Daily News sports editor, before Wednesday at 5 p. m. if they wish to be placed on the permanent schedule.

Managers of teams in this week's practice schedule should "get together" and select the site of their game and call the Daily News Monday between 8 and 10 o'clock so all arrangements can be worked out.

The practice schedule Monday—Alpacco vs. Stanolind; Tuesday—Heskell vs. Schaefer; Wednesday—Heskell vs. Kingsmill and Stanolind vs. Alpacco; Thursday—Kingsmill vs. Baash; Thursday—Phillips vs. McWilliams; Friday—Alpacco vs. Stanolind, Phillips vs. McWilliams and Baash Ross vs. Schaefer.

Diamonds located in Pampa are at Magnolia park, which will be open for play any evening, and two diamonds at high school. The latter two are available only on Monday and Wednesday.

Phillips and Skelly Schaefer plants have diamonds on which to play. Night games may be played at these two if the managers of the teams

Sens Fall as Tigers Win Fifth Straight

DETROIT—(AP)—With their 1945 world championship flag floating for the first time in center field at Briggs stadium the Detroit Tigers tightened their hold on third place yesterday by noosing out the Washington Senators 3 to 1 for their fifth straight victory. Hal Newhouser, scoring his eleventh victory, bested Emil (Dutch) Leonard in a tight pitching battle.

Three Tied in National Open

so desire. All games are to be seven innings and the new rules, which sets the number on the actual playing team at nine, instead of ten, are to be observed.

Al Zigelman Is Second Member Of Team To Get Broken Finger

CLOVIS—(Special)—Pampa's injury ridden Oilers, smarting under the loss of a pitcher and a catcher, rapped a 9-4 decision to the Clovis Pioneers Friday night to drop two full games behind the league-leading Amarillo Gold Sox.

Warren Hacker, league-leading pitcher, was lost to the Oilers last Monday as the result of a broken finger and the Oilers suffered another blow Thursday when Catcher Al Zigelman went out with an identical injury.

Earl Harriman, who has been forced to stay out of several games during the last two weeks with a leg injury, returned to the Oiler line-up Friday night. His pinch-hit home run with one man on Thursday enabled the Oilers to win the first game of Clovis.

Manager Grover Seitz left the team at Clovis to hunt for ball players, probably in El Paso, a member of the Border league, which folded up last week.

The Pioneers saw double when they met the Oilers Friday. Al Johnston was on the mound all the way for the Oilers while his twin brother, Bob, was behind the plate. Clovis jumped on Johnston for six runs in the first, and one each in the second, third and seventh. Glenn Blackwood, on the hill for the Pioneers, spaced seven Oiler hits and struck out 11 for his fifth victory of the season.

Jack Riley, hard-hitting Oiler outfielder, cleared the fence in the fifth with R. C. Oley on base. It was Riley's ninth home run of the season and pulled him within three of Emmett Fulenwider, another Oiler outfielder.

Ray Bauer and Chuck Novotney of the Pioneers also hit round-trippers, Bauer with one on in the first and Novotney with none on in the third.

Lefty Bill Garland, regular Oiler pitcher, played in his seventh consecutive game. He was on the mound for the Oilers last Sunday, pitched in left field Monday, pitched in both games of a double header Tuesday and played Wednesday, Thursday and Friday in left field.

The Oilers met the Albuquerque Dukes last night and were scheduled to play them again this afternoon at 2:30 in Albuquerque. The locals will return home tomorrow for a two-day stand against the Lubbock Hubbers.

Amarillo will meet the Oilers in an important two-game series here Wednesday and Thursday.

Clay To Compete In National AAU Track and Field

Randall Clay, Pampa high school's great athlete, added another honor to his already long string of laurels Friday when he qualified as Pampa high's entry in the National AAU track and field championships, to be held at San Antonio, June 28.

Clay, in competition with two former AAU discus-throwing champions and dozens of college athletes, placed sixth with a throw of 130 feet 3 inches at the Texas AAU meet, concluded in San Antonio Friday. Only six places qualified.

Given the choice of entering the junior or senior divisions in the National AAU, Clay chose to enter both, placing him in the same division with George Kaderá, who annexed the state title Friday, and John Donaldson, defending national champion.

To add to the nature of his achievement, the discus used in the AAU meets, sponsored by the national amateur athletic union, weighs 12 ounces more than the one with which Clay won the state schoolboy championship the last two years.

Although he plans to enter the University of Texas this fall, Clay chose to represent Pampa high school. On the university campus last week, Clay heaved the platter 146 feet, to beat all the university hurriers.

Louis, Conn Are All Set To Keep Boxing Date Made 5 Years Ago

NEW YORK—(AP)—Carried along on the greatest gold rush in sports history, a couple of ex-GI's will keep a date Wednesday night that they made five years ago to fight it out for the heavyweight championship of the world.

At 8 p. m. (CST), in a ring set just over second base in Yankee Stadium, ex-Sergeant Joseph Louis Barrow of Detroit—Joe Louis of the car-scrambling set—collides with ex-Corporal William David Conn.

He misses his friend and trainer, the late Jack Blackburn. He still packs the punch of a blockbuster, but in his training he has been a slow-moving target, thumped surprisingly freely—and often—by his sparring partners.

Conn, on the other hand, appears even faster than he was five years ago. He's what Louis, himself, calls a "full-grown" heavyweight now, at over 180 pounds, compared with the 174 he carried the last time. This added avoirdupois, most of it in his shoulders and neck, makes him a better puncher, although he has no intentions of trying for a knockout over Louis. Joe will weigh a solid 210.

The scale slides from $100 down to $10 for the outer rim of the park. Jacobs predicted today that the gate stands a very good chance of hitting the $3,000,000 mark.

If it does, Louis would get close to $1,000,000 as his slice of the net proceeds, plus a "cut" of the radio and motion picture take. Conn's end would be about $500,000, since they receive 40 per cent and 20 per cent shares of the net, respectively.

This will be the 22nd time Joe has put the beak-busting industry's richest bubble on the line since he hammered Cinderella man Jim Braddock into unconsciousness nine years ago next Saturday.

Only two of his challengers went the full 15 rounds with him—Tommy Farr and Arturo Godoy—and he put the Chilean away in eight rounds in a return scramble. He flattened four of them in less than a round—including Max Schmeling, to avenge the only defeat in his entire career. Altogether, he made the birdies sing, for 13 of them in six rounds or less.

Yet old Pop Time and a four-year layoff since he put his gloves in mothballs and went on Uncle Sam's payroll have left their mark on him. He misses his friend and trainer, the late Jack Blackburn. ### Self-Medication With Left-Over Drugs Dangerous

AUSTIN.—There are many persons who naturally hoard anything and everything including old clothes, boxes, and other useless articles, some of which constitute no greater danger than a possible fire hazard, but a very real danger is present when this tendency is applied to hoarding old medicine in any form.

Most medicine finds its way into the home through a doctor's prescribing it for some specific illness. For the sake of safety, left-over medicines should be destroyed immediately when they have fulfilled their purpose and never be stored in the medicine cabinet for future unprescribed use in case of another illness, according to Dr. Geo. W. Cox, state health officer.

"Self-medication with the use of left-over drugs which were of great benefit to some previous illness can sometimes turn a simple ailment into a very serious condition of actual poisoning," Dr. Cox said. "This is particularly true of the indiscriminate use of sulfa drugs which have been prescribed for some previous specific condition.

"It is wise to use medicines as indicated for the illness for which they are prescribed by your doctor, and when they are no longer needed, destroy the remaining medicine immediately," Dr. Cox said. "Even if you expect a return of the same condition at some future date, it would be better to obtain new medicine if the condition recurs than to retain this old medicine in the cabinet and subject the members of your family to the danger of using it unwisely."

I believe that if the poll tax is submitted in any state solely on moral grounds as we submitted it in Georgia, the people will decide to wipe it off their statute books. Gov. Ellis Arnall of Georgia.

Telephones

"This will be more noticeable," he said, "during the busy hours when the greatest volume of calls is being handled."

He explained further: During the busy times of day every position at the switchboards will be filled, but because more telephones have been connected to the boards, the operators are not able to answer the increased number of calls as quickly as during normal times.

Other results of overloading may be more wrong numbers and more frequent cutting off of telephone conversation, John stated. Operators attempting to handle the increased number of calls may not be as accurate as formerly.

"We hope telephone users will continue to be patient when they make calls, even though service is likely not to be up to standard," Johnson said. "It will help a lot if telephone users cooperate. The operators can be helped also if persons making calls will be sure of the number before making a call, and if they speak distinctly in giving the number to the operator."

"The overload will be relieved just as soon as more central office equipment can be obtained and installed," Johnson promised. "The company is working as fast as possible to expand its system so that everyone who wants a telephone may have it, and to improve service as quickly as possible."

He termed their understanding a "significant accomplishment."

The President agreed that a provision for four assistant secretaries in the department of national defense was "unnecessary."

As "twelve basic principles upon which the unification of the services can be based," the President listed: 1. A single department of national defense, headed by a civilian cabinet member. Under him would be secretaries for the army, for the navy and for air, not cabinet members.

2. The army, navy and air force to be on a parity and should be co-ordinate services.

3. The air force to have responsibility for development, procurement, maintenance and operation of all military air resources except for specifically defined functions of the naval air arm.

Maritime

"It looks better now than it has for some time—very much better," said Howard T. Colvin, associate director of the U. S. conciliation service. "There are not over a dozen strikes in the entire country of sufficient national importance to cause any excitement at all."

Yet, the threat of a new avalanche of strikes—and a renewal in September of the just-averted maritime crisis—clouded the labor horizon.

WARN OF NEW RACE Union leaders have warned of a new race for higher wages if price controls are abandoned or if OPA's powers are clipped to the extent that living costs take a sudden upward jump.

Bridges and Curran co-chairmen of the CIO-dominated committee for maritime unity, made known CMO plans for joint efforts next fall to boost wages for Bridges' west coast dock workers.

They said they were disappointed in the 22-cents-an-hour pay boost Bridges' CIO Longshoremen's union won in frantic labor department negotiations which canceled plans for a complete, all-coast maritime walk-out late Friday night.

There wasn't a single strike of any description still going on a nationwide scale. But several of labor's scope still defied settlement. Among them were:

Long-standing strikes at nine midwestern plants of the Allis-Chalmers and J. I. Case farm equipment manufacturing concerns, the 45-day walkout of 1,500 workers at the Columbia Chemical division of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass company at Baberton, Ohio, and the strike of 6,700 CIO auto workers at three New Jersey and Pennsylvania plants of the Mack Truck company.

All told, the latest labor department count showed 311 strikes still in progress and 143,000 people idle—low figures in comparison with those of some of the past turbulent weeks of 1946.

Bridges, called in a nationwide radio ABC broadcast during the afternoon for a two-pronged congressional investigation of American ship operators. He urged:

1. An inquiry already proposed in a resolution introduced by Senator Aiken (R-Vt) into $800,000,000 spent by the government on American shipping during the war.

2. An investigation of sums which Bridges said foreign nations—mentioned specifically Britain, the Netherlands and Spain—"are spending in the United States through American shipping associations to attack labor, smash unions and lobby against U. S. laws."

Pampa Day Held at Canadian Roundup Friday was Pampa Day at the first annual Canadian River rodeo and roundup, which ends in Borger today.

Approximately 35 representatives of the Top o' Texas cowhands' organization attended the rodeo to lead the grand entry. The United Nations flag drill was also presented by the cowhands.

According to P. B. Wright, chairman of the delegation, two truck loads of horses were sent to Borger in addition to several local trailers.

UPTON CLOSE: Resurgence of Christianity Is Good for World

I believe a great resurgence of Christian ideology is in the offing. If it develops it cannot keep from yielding tremendous influence in world politics. It may lead to a war more fanatical than anything yet seen, or it may consolidate Western peoples as to make the champion of the opposing force afraid to provoke war.

The Christian religion and Christian ideology have been largely repressed since the end of the first World War. In this quarter-century the rival ideology—that of regimentation of the human race by force—has reached proportions never dreamed of, even in the days of Alexander and Nero. In the struggle between nazism and communism the latter force—with our help—came out winner in the semi-finals, and now stands challenger to the champion, Christianity.

Anti-Christian elements in this country, in a frenzy to see the world lumped into one political pile which they expected to help control, lit their torch in the fire Lenin, Trotsky and Stalin started in Russia in 1917. A weak Nazi opposition ran through our underground, but the bulwark of opposition to communism in America has lain in the deep foundations of Christian ideology. The totalitarianism wanted, and still want, a world government by force, doing mass thinking for him. The rest of us want a country in which a man can live his own life, a world in which no nation must be constantly threatened with an atomic bomb to keep it from launching a preemptive strike against its neighbor.

Perhaps an impossible ideal, but still an ideal, and one for which wars have been fought and more probably are yet to come.

I am not trying to say that all wars have been ideological, nor that any war ever was fought without commercial and other aspects. I am saying that ideology underlies the present series of world conflicts, and is the key to our immediate future.

No doubt, wars were fought for the same ideology centuries before Christ, but Christianity gradually has organized one of the two world camps. Karl Marx, the expatriated German Jew, did not found the other camp; his philosophy is only a modern ugly variation of the Old World school which under Bismarck said might makes right.

The organized opposition to that school started one day when a man, largely of Jewish ancestry, stood on a hill in Galilee and told a crowd of his own people they must get the notion out of their heads that they were to have political and military dominion over all the world; that they could inherit the earth only if they adopted a live-and-let-live creed. This man was subversive and therefore had to be liquidated, but his ideas got around among people who liked them.

Before VE day it looked as if the nazis might stamp out those ideas in Europe, and after VE day it looked as if the communists might. Recently there have been indications that neither has succeeded. Not till the French elections a few days ago did we have tangible evidence that

DOUGH NUT TOUCH EVANSTON, Ill.—(AP)—The thieves who have been stealing a food shop's doughnuts for the past two weeks escaped a policeman by fleeing with their loot into the nearest trees.

William Rogers, a doughnut maker, called police after a food shop complained someone had been breaking into the cardboard boxes of doughnuts he delivered to its doorway early each morning.

Patrolman William Lanson stood guard, but before he could intervene, four squirrels popped open one of the boxes and one made off with a fat cruller.

Month of June Means Weddings Even in Berlin

By RICHARD KASISCHKE
BERLIN.—The American occupation of the June wedding with its occupation army has brought the trarberlin. And weddings here are followed by honeymoons in European glamor spots that most American kids could only have dreamed about—the Riviera, St. Moritz, Paris and Vienna. For a year now, American boys and girls have been meeting in the occupation forces. Late May calendars of two chaplains at Omega office of military government, U. S.) were crowded with wedding ceremonies. Army travel officers are stamping permits for June marriages and honeymoons. Senior chaplain, Maj. Arthur P. Weaver (protestant), of Washington, Ind., and Executive Chaplain Capt. Maurice E. Powers (Catholic), of Los Angeles, expressed the same view. "It's great to see these kids who back home would be lucky to manage a trip to Niagara Falls, or maybe New York or Chicago, charting honeymoons to places which once were the playgrounds of our wealthy international set—Switzerland, the Riviera, Austria, Rome, Capri, Bavaria, Scotland and others. They're getting gorgeous honeymoons they'll remember all their lives." Under regulations here, each couple first must go through a civil ceremony according to pre-1933 German law, then a religious ceremony performed by an army chaplain. The chapel weddings have all the frills of home-gowns, veils, flowers and receptions. Couples usually fly on their honeymoons by army transport routes but some opt for the more expensive. L. Dutte Smith of Trumbull, Conn., plans to take his bride, Staff Sgt. Geraldine Saunders of (2011 Missouri Avenue) St. Louis, Mo., on a jeep ride through the European theater. "We're going to see Denmark, Paris, the Riviera and as many other places as we can see in two weeks in our surplus army jeep," said Smith, officer in an army post exchange.

'Eligible Men Outnumber Girls

By RUTH MILLETT
Relax, girls. All those gloomy predictions to the effect that there likely to be a shortage of eligible men to go around in the postwar world weren't based on fact. According to Dr. Hope T. Eldridge of the U. S. bureau of census, the war did reduce the ratio of men to women in this country, but there are still plenty of men in the marriage market. There was an excess of 3,700,000 marriageable men in 1940. War reduced the number by 300,000. So marriageable men are still in the surplus commodity class, and not among the country's scarce products. You don't have to grab a husband the first chance you get, without wondering whether or not he is a bargain—the way you buy nylon. You can still shop around, look over the market, and take your time until you have made a real "find." Nor do you have to give the men such a rush you scare them to death, the way many of you did when servicemen first started coming back from overseas. There is no need for such competitive bidding for their attention. GREAT NEWS FOR GIRLS That census figure is the best news for women since the end of the war. Here the girls were scared silly, thinking that if they didn't grab off a man in a hurry they would be old maids for life. Now they can relax. And maybe even let the men resume the once-masculine prerogative of leading the chase. Both men and women ought to like that.

Tips for Teens

By ELINOR WILLIAMS
It doesn't take a fortune-teller to predict that a blind date is coming into your life soon. It's sure to happen if you're not about it and have a friend who has friends—a brother, cousin or roommate. If you like the new boy when you meet him and he seems on the verge of liking you if you say and do the right things, how can you make sure there'll be more fun to come, more dates? Instead of getting all tongue-tied and embarrassed, wondering desperately what to say and what the thinks of you, take it easy. Skip the siren act, the nervous session, the clever quip you heard Van's latest. Boys hate an act, so just be natural and forget the possibility of future dates while you enjoy this first one. The lead in the conversation after meeting him, but don't keep it forever. Girls are usually better at small talk than boys, so start the conversation, if necessary, and steer it toward something he's familiar with or likely to be interested in. Then let him take it from there, if it doesn't matter so much what you say, as long as you prevent a lengthy gruesome silence after the introduction. After that, you'll both feel more at ease. Don't talk about yourself (he'll want to know) let him find out about you. He'll be more interested if he has to find out for himself what you're really like. He should be the one to suggest a second date, so it'll appear to be his idea, not yours. Don't meet him at the soda shop or the theater. Take it for granted that he'll call for you at your house and be sure to introduce him to your Mom or Dad. This gives them a peek at him, so they know what kind of boy you're dating and encourages his respect for you. (For tips on the daily care of oily skin, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Elinor Williams at this paper.)

Here are some hepbits to keep you happy for awhile: First of all there's a good summer hairdo that you can go in the water with and still not look like a drip when you come out. All you do is take your braids and bring 'em up forward in front so they don't get all the little wisps. Tie 'em with plastic ribbons that you can swim in. After your dip you can let your braids down to dry out for your juke party. Did I tell you that Ann's cousin is here from Kansas? He is a very nice boy and all the girls are going about him. Did you ever notice that lots of people from Kansas have high cheek-bones? Well, we had a discussion about it and Tommy said it was because he thought some of 'em had real honest-to-goodness Indian blood in 'em. Then he told us he was one-eighth Osage—and did some war-whoops to prove it. We decided that's why he's such a good liver. Did you know Tommy Tucker has a record shop at Ashby Park, N. J.? Tommy says that it's interesting to note that the Bobby Sox Brigade's Hit Parade has a majority of torch ballads on its list. Tenor Jack Smith, who was president of the Hollywood high school choir 14 years ago, is going to play host on his program to ten members of the high school's choral group singing all the old school songs.

American Life Span at High Point in 1944

NEW YORK, N. Y.—Longevity among the American people in 1944 rose to the highest point on record, and for the first time in the country's history the average length of life exceeded 65 years. The actual figure 65 1/8 years is almost 16 years greater than at the beginning of the century, according to computations by the statisticians of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company. "The average person of 20 now has as many years of life remaining as a new-born child had in 1900," the statisticians state, and add "only three-quarters of the children born during the year would attain age 25, whereas under present conditions, three-quarters can look forward to reaching age 57. "The average length of life for white females according to mortality conditions in 1944 was 68.95 years, an increase of almost 18 years over the figure for 1900. For white males the average length of life was 63.55 years, a gain since 1900 of 15 1/3 years. "The improvement in expectation of life so far this century has not been restricted to the early years of life but has extended into the higher ages as well," the statisticians report. "Thus, at age 40, the figure for the population as a whole in 1944 was 31.63 years—practically 1 3/4 years more than in 1900. Even at age 65 there was a gain of 1 1/4 years, the present expectation of life being 13.09 years.

Make This Home Recipe To Take Off Ugly Fat

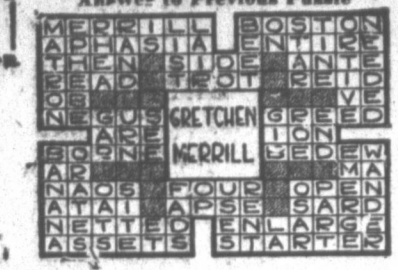

It's simple. It's amazing, how quickly one may lose pounds of bulky, unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this recipe yourself. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. It contains nothing harmful. Just go to your drugist and ask for four ounces of liquid Baneconate (formerly called Bane Concentrate). Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Then take two tablespoonsful twice a day. That's all there is to it. If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow the easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloot disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

"That our country was able to reach a peak in longevity in the midst of war reflects the effectiveness of American medical and public health services and the high standard of life of our people. To have passed the 65 year mark in average length of life at a time when a large part of our medical and nursing personnel was drawn from civilian life to meet the needs of war, is good assurance that the American people will find it possible in peacetime to reach the next goal, 70 years, and within a comparatively short period of time." At the beginning of 1944, there were 62,344,000 hogs on farms of the United States.

Vacationists Are Warned of Proper Swimming Places

AUSAIN.—Some timely advice to vacationists concerning the proper precautions to be used in water sports during summer months was released from the State Health Department today by Dr. Geo. W. Cox, state health officer.

It was pointed out that in view of prevailing travel difficulties, vacation pleasures are apt to be limited to excursions and picnics at nearby lakes, rivers, and ponds of unfamiliar depths and currents, and without the usual lifeguard supervision associated with bathing beaches and commercial swimming pools.

"Swimming and water sports are beneficial to good health provided one's physical condition justifies this type of exercise," Dr. Cox asserted; "nevertheless, they possess dangerous possibilities if the rules of safety, through carelessness or thoughtlessness, are disregarded."

The state health officer outlined the following simple rules for bathing and swimming in safety: when swimming, be alert and careful of unknown depths and currents; at least one hour should elapse after a meal before entering the water; upon the first indication of fatigue, come ashore and call it a day; if you become chilled, leave the water immediately; do not enter the water when overheated; learn to float, this most important; never attempt to rock a boat in a spirit of fun; never swim in water that may be polluted. Swimming close to or even a few miles below sewage outlets is inviting the possibility of acquiring disease.

"Excursions, picnics, and swimming parties contribute much to a healthy, happy, normal life, which is always desirable," Dr. Cox said. "It is by no means advisable to eliminate these excursions from our summer program, but it is important that they prove beneficial and not disastrous."

Sumarians Called Your Comfy Mules 'Mulus' Long Ago

Put on your "mulus" and settle down for a cozy evening at home! "Mulus" is what your comfy mules for wearing round the house were originally called by the ancient Sumarians in Babylon. Eventually, the word became "mules" in English, and so we call our smart house slippers today.

The mule, though it looks so modern and streamlined, has a very ancient history that stems from the days of Babylon. Mules are really a basic type of footwear, though in ancient days only the very wealthy could afford them. That was because they were made of leather and in handcraft times only the very rich could afford leather soles.

Mules became popular for general household wear after the reign of Queen Elizabeth. During this period, leather soles were first combined with high heels in standard footwear. Models in mules today are still composed of vamp, leather sole and heel, and very popular form of footwear it is with the lady who knows the value of relaxing at home. The modern mule is at its best when it combines simplicity of style with good workmanship to make a really charming shoe. Different styles are achieved in the mule by varying the vamp, the shape of the heel or the thickness of the leather sole. It all adds freshness and originality to the basic style that has come down the centuries to help us enjoy comfort at home today.

Texas U. Medical Branch Well-Known

AUSTIN.—The University of Texas medical branch at Galveston is gaining ever wider recognition in research Dean Chauncey D. Leake told university regents at their May meeting here.

The army air forces is now seeking a contract between the medical branch and the AAF technical services at Wright Field, Ohio, for studies in the effects of high altitude on the human body, Dean Leake said.

He also noted that a graduate training program between the medical branch and the main university at Austin is being worked out which he said will be "helpful to all."

Both Dean Leake and Dean Frederick C. Elliott of the University of Texas Dental College at Houston reported that they were faced with an unprecedented number of applicants for admission, and Dean Elliott said dental equipment is still hard to get.

It is increasingly difficult to recruit student nurses, also, Leake said, and the nursing situation throughout the country is bad.

"The nursing profession has lost its glamor," he added, "and we just can't get enough student nurses."

County-District Rally Is Conducted In Heald Community

HEALD.—Political candidates from Wheeler county and 31st district held another of their speakings here Friday night, and afterwards everybody enjoyed home-made grapejuice and cookies in the basement of the Methodist church.

Mrs. George Reneau, president of the Society of Christian Service, was in charge of preparing the refreshments and serving them to those present. Candidates made donations for the refreshments, the proceeds going to the Service.

The next county speaking will be held at Wheeler on Friday night, June 28, it was announced.

AIR-TIGHT ALBI

VIRGINIA, Miss.—(AP)—When Harold Lakosky's friends laughed when he tried to tell about the big one that got away, he went on another fishing trip in Hoodoo lake. And he came back with a better story. He had caught the one that had fooled him the first time, a 20-pound northern pike.

To prove it, he exhibited the fish from whose jaw his original hook, leader and sinker still dangled.

Left Is Right

The French, to whom we are indebted for our political designations of left and right, seem to have scrapped these symbols pretty thoroughly in their recent elections. For the three parties which won the majority of votes are all to the left. Yet the communists, traditionally the leftest of the leftist parties, lost out apparently because of their rightist tendencies.

For if right means restriction as well as reaction, coercion as well as conservatism, then the French communist party is well to the right of the M. R. P., which succeeded it, and the socialists, who ran third. And the bulk of French voters didn't want what the radical right had to offer.

France is the cradle of European liberty. It was a Frenchman who said, "I wholly disapprove of what you say but will defend to the death your right to say it." And it is obvious that Frenchmen, even though weary, hungry and dispirited after a disgracing defeat and four years of bondage, did not forget that heritage.

The sentiment of the French today is clearly for socialism. But with their program of advanced socialism, the communists also offered a program in which democracy and individual liberty played no part. They did not offer this openly. But the stamps of their program were in the communists' hands, ready to be applied to the country in the event of victory.

The time might have seemed ripe for a communist victory in France. The last days of the prewar republic had not been glorious ones. The war's end had brought much bitterness and discouragement. Demands for a new broom might have been expected.

Let even so, the French tradition triumphed. For that tradition is completely opposed to a tradition in which the state is all and the individual a subservient, yes-saying component. Frenchmen had struggled and fought and died for liberty a well as for equality and fraternity. And they did not surrender it even in a time of confusion and discouragement.

That they did not is a heavy blow to European communism. Russian communism has never had to stand the test of free vote by the Russian people. But elsewhere, Russian-model communism has had to submit to competition with other systems of government, and to the choice of free peoples in free elections.

None of these elections has been so important as the test in France. For France, with her size, strength, industry, culture, past glories and promises of future eminence, is still the heart of the European community of nations. Her reputation of the restrictive "democratic dictatorship" of communism cannot fail to have a profound effect on coming events in Europe and the world.

PETTENGILL

"The Gentleman from Indiana"

INSIDE YOUR CONGRESS

COMEDY OF TERRORS!

SCENE I, Chicago, Fortness, Montgomery-Ward.

There is a rumble of drums. An army, dispatched from the capital swings into action, accoutered for war. The soldiers fix bayonets. The Commander-in-Chief, stern of countenance, gives the order: "Charge!" They charge. They swim the moat. They climb the battlements. After a brief skirmish they emerge from the fortress, carrying the limp form of the enemy commander, General Avery. They rush him to a concentration camp. The populace gathers. The Commander-in-Chief speaks, briefly: "I hate war." The populace cheers. "A feast is ordered, minutes later."

SCENE II, Washington, D. C.

The governor sits, surrounded by his senate. Enter: John Llewellyn Lewis. At the governor and senate he hoists his fierce eyebrows, which are like unto Medusa's head of snakes. The officials cower; they cringe; they shrink. They whisper to themselves, "Let us not act hurriedly. This is too important to take up until after November."

Enter: The People led by Shakespeare, a good Bassanio. The People gear up on the Governor and Senate, who busy themselves adjusting their breast-pockets handkerchiefs. The People speak: "Cowards, whose hearts are like unto stairs of sand, you wear upon your chests the beard of Hercules, but have livers white as milk."

SCENE III, Lewis, clad as Conqueror.

The Governor and Senate in chains. In the darkness, of the night, one may dimly see the shades of Washington, Jackson, Cleveland, Coolidge. Lewis tosses a treaty on the floor before the officials. "Sign catfish, sign!" They pick it up and sign. Their hands tremble as they sign. Lewis speaks again, "You, whose valor plucks lions by the beard, what slaves are ye, to hack your swords as ye have done, and then say the swords were hacked in fight by the enemy?"

The officials depart, their courtiers following. The People weep softly. The Flag slips down the staff. The veterans of the Bulge and Iwo Jima gaze in wonderment.

Again, the scene shifts. A coal miner is being brought out of a shaft, badly hurt. He will live but will not work again. Has adequate provision been made for this broken man and his family yet?

Now, plainly, his problem is very real. Human obsolescence is something to be prevented as much as possible and provided against when it happens. But does this problem require that 50,000,000 other human machines must stop working in order to deal with the miner who is hurt? It doesn't make any sense at all.

What is wrong with this picture is that no industry—and no nation—should be in a position to be blacklisted into helplessness by the will of one man.

People talk of "putting Lewis in his place." But he is in his place. His place was provided by the law of the land. Industry-wide bargaining and the closed shop were placed in his hands by the New Deal.

The workers in one industry should not all belong to a single union. The remedy is along Jeffersonian lines—decentralize power. Just where the line should be drawn must vary in different industries and trades. Company-wide bargaining may be proper here, market-wide, there. But surely nation-wide bargaining is "more power than a good man should want, or a bad man should have."

SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL

absolutely sunk. But even I, scarce as I was at the time, knew none of those things parading before me as the mysterious stranger. I hope to heaven I never do see him. There was something sinister about him—slinky and—and—well, sinister."

Sally laughed. "I can see you're not at all intrigued by mysteries," she said. "Well, I am and I hope I find that voice if only to satisfy my curiosity."

"They got it all the look back didn't they?" Margaret asked. "They had plenty of time to get rid of it, seems to me."

"It was too hot or they thought it was," Doctor Willoughby explained as he joined them. "After all, there was merely a lapse of a week from the time of the robbery and abduction to their capture. A ready Dean is beginning to accept the role of hero. You know they took him along because he discovered them in the act? That man actually tried to capture those three ruffians single-handed. Great boy!"

"But how did he get so completely smashed up, Doctor?" Margaret wanted to know. "I've heard just scraps of the story but no one has explained that part to me. They didn't abuse him?"

"That happened on the night he was brought here. He had been kept a prisoner in some sort of shack near Lintoville and managed to escape. They discovered his absence and tracked him down some five miles out the River Turnpike. They swear he was lying in the road when they found him. That's their story and they all agree on it. The two men who brought him here declare they had nothing to do with it. They were merely members of the searching party and didn't even know the other three. I don't know—I can't believe they are entirely innocent. And, what is more, neither does Sergeant Trimble."

"Then the case isn't settled?" Sally asked. "I have been wondering. It didn't seem to me the police could be so gullible."

"Don't worry. They'll ferret it out," the resident assured her with quiet confidence.

WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON (NEA)—If every reform proposed in the LaFollette-Monroey bill to reorganize congress should be approved, the additional cost would be about $12,000,000 a year. If that sounds like a lot, it isn't—not by comparison with other government expenses.

The present cost of the entire legislative branch of the government is about $35,000,000 a year. That is less than the cost of any one of the eight executive departments. It is only 2 1/2 percent of the total cost of the executive departments.

Under the LaFollette-Monroey bill, raising salaries of congressmen and senators from $10,000 to $15,000 a year would cost $2,500,000. The congressional retirement fund would cost the taxpayers $3,000,000 a year. Providing each lawmaker with an $8,000-a-year administrative assistant would cost $4,000,000. Improved staffing of congressional committees, and other administrative changes, would cost another $4,000,000.

Ohio's Sen. Robert A. Taft, who walked out of Senate Education and Labor committee hearings on the compulsory health insurance bill, a turf with Chairman James E. Murray of Montana, has walked back in again. Taft has been invited to testify before the committee on behalf of his own substitute for the Wagner-Murray-Dingell bill, but is holding off.

The committee has another month of hearings scheduled. Action on health insurance by congress will probably be delayed until 1947.

RAIL UNION CHIEFS MADE "ERROR" IN TRUMAN LETTER
In a letter written to President Truman on May 25, Alvanley Johnson of the Brotherhood of Railroad Employees and A. P. Whitney of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen stated: "We rank No. 27 in the matter of wages." The remark was widely quoted to build up an argument that railroad workers were among the poorer-paid craftsmen.

But Ruth Lush and Jimmy Row, who handle publicity for Bill Moore's Chamber of Commerce, said the town is perpetually gay. Even Nick, the Greek, took only two headache tablets after losing $10,000 at the dice table. Anywhere else, he takes four.

The Helderorado whoopee brought thousands of visitors, Ed Gardner's radio show, and a Republic film company to town.

Republic filmed old-time parades, party contests, and rodeos for a Roy Rogers-Dave Evans western titled "Helderorado." The censors eliminated one 'I' over strong protests from the Chamber of Commerce.

One western bank has provided a driveway with tilters so motorists can make deposit without getting out of their cars.

Dependable railway wage statistics from independent sources are hard to get. The Interstate Commerce commission collects figures for all railroad operations. Bureau of labor statistics collects wage figures for all other non-agricultural industries. But they don't keep their books the same way, so comparison is practically impossible.

The ICC reports that average earnings of railway operating personnel averaged $263 a month. For non-operating personnel the figure was $189 a month. February being a convenient month for these two statements.

The second statement shows that the brotherhood statisticians went back 10 years and twisted the meaning to make their figure look as bad as possible.

Ex-Gov. Harold E. Stassen's republican open forums idea is now only two months old, but already it has over 600 group meetings to disprove the "issue of the month" and cast ballots on what should be done about it.

Stassen got the idea for this grass-roots movement while talking to a group of veterans at Indiana University. One of his associates suggested that they stand up and take a vote on a particular point the republican leader had been discussing. Stassen said that here was the way to measure public opinion on current issues and get people interested in politics.

The June topic for discussion is "What Shall Our Price Control Policy Be?" Forums will be asked to argue it one way or the other. They want rigid controls continued, various degrees of easing of controls, or outright repeal.

Tabulations on the forums' second monthly question, "What Shall Our Labor Policy Be?" will be announced soon.

Undersecretary of the Interior Oscar Chapman and Gov. William C. Tuck of Virginia started their careers together as classmates in a one-room schoolhouse deep in Halifax county, Va. A real puzzle for the experts is why an environment is why Chapman turned out to be such a liberal and Tuck such a conservative.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

news behind the news

WASHINGTON
By RAY TUCKER
SORRY—Harold E. Stassen expresses no deep animosity toward President Truman in his political talks with friends because the ousted cabinet member feels sorry for his former boss.

The man he holds responsible for his own discomfiture is Democratic National Chairman Robert E. Hannegan, and he will spare no efforts to pay off old scores against the "Big Boy."

Which means that the "Old Curmudgeon" will do his utmost to prevent if he sees any chance of success.

Although he admits that writing a newspaper column is a greater grind than he had anticipated—he does not toss off his idea easily or fluently, as he admits—he will stick to it because he believes that he can influence people to his way of thinking.

Mr. Tokes will rely on his important role in the independent committee of artists, scientists and professional men in any battle he wages against the President's re-nomination in 1948. Despite its dignified and high-sounding name, this organization aims to mobilize labor and labor factions into a cohesive group.

Two other top leaders in the movement are James Roosevelt and Sidney Hillman, and both have been extremely critical of the occupant of the White House in recent weeks.

Neither, however, has so far shown much enthusiasm for an open break with the administration. Mr. Tokes gives the impression that it will be his self-assumed assignment to needle them into opposition.

As a minor figure in the 1912 Bull Moose revolt, the former cabinet member appreciates that formation of an effective third party is virtually a political impossibility. He knows that the various state election laws are rigged against partisan interlopers.

In view of his expressed belief that Mr. Truman is not a particularly strong personality, his strategy will be to make such a noisy show of resistance on the left that the President may find it advisable to decline re-nomination.

Some Ickes associates in IOASP, however, advocate the nomination of an independent if Mr. Truman runs again. They realize that such a rebellion would probably mean the election of a republican two years hence, but they are willing to take that alternative to get revenge.

Other methods of selling the U. S. abroad—Government magazines, pamphlets, radio programs, etc.—cannot compare with the Hollywood picture, according to the scouts in other lands. Few inhabitants of those countries have access to written propaganda, and only a small minority can read and understand the printed word. There are insufficient radio outlets for

You may grumble about the bread shortage but, strangely, it has helped the customers in the Dallas county jail.

Because of the shortage, they had to get bread daily, instead of bread of day old, as in the past. There's more one-day-old bread on sale.

On the other hand, the men in the prisoners get coffee, two slices of bread and stewed dried fruit. At 11 a. m. they get coffee, two more slices of bread and beans, and may be one other vegetable.

"They aren't supposed to get weight on what we feed them," said Jailer S. W. Haines, explaining the prisoners are rarely kept in the city jail longer than two days.

That makes jail sound sort of inviting, but down in Brownsville a young man of high principles named Axel Franson preferred to go to jail than pay a one dollar parking fine.

Franson said the parking meter was not working correctly, and that he did not deserve the ticket.

Rather than pay what he called an unjust fine, he went to jail for three days.

Brownsville, which just recently installed its parking meters, is having all sorts of confusion with them. For example, there was the incident of a man who protested to the chief that he shouldn't have a ticket. The cops, he said, were blind.

"I put my nickel on the windshield of the car where the officer could see it. When my time ran out, the officer should have inserted it in the meter."

But the citizens of Ennis have more down-to-earth problems. They plan a city election to decide whether back-yard pork raising may continue.

First commercial plywood was produced in the 1880's by Russia. Its general use of that medium.

Our diplomatic and financial negotiators pried open the French market in partial return for the recent $1,400,000,000 loan. Paris will permit foreign films to be shown for seven weeks out of every thirteen—a great gain. In the past the British and Russians had enjoyed some advantage over our films.

Washington and Moscow have clashed again over this question. The Soviets, for obvious reasons, do not want their citizens to see the factory evidence of our great scientific achievement for the fear the contrast with home conditions may arouse domestic unrest. All moves to break through this kind of "iron curtain" have been thwarted by the Kremlin.

America's proposal to the United Nations for international control of atomic energy development, and the scrapping of the atomic bomb as a weapon, may be the lever needed to break the dead-lock in the conference of big four foreign ministers reassembling in Paris today for a "show-down."

There is no doubt that Uncle Sam's possession of the only atomic bombs in existence, plus the secret in Russian minds, and the fears which have done much to widen the breach between Moscow and the western allies. Washington's offer to pool this terrific secret—the greatest discovery of its kind in history—and to pool it in outlawing the bomb in war, is calculated to remove much of this suspicion.

If this gesture by the United States doesn't set the quartet of foreign ministers to harmonizing, then it is difficult to see what will turn the trick.

But the effect of the America proposal will reach far beyond the Paris conference. It may be registered there first and then it inspires us, we may expect it to rebound and strengthen the United Nations from which it sprang.

And the U. N. organization may need the help. There was no assurance as this proposal was made before the United Nations atomic energy commission by Bernard Baruch, United States representative on the commission, that it would encounter wholly smooth sailing. Certainly it provided a knotty problem for solution. Thus favorable re-

Argentina Site of Political Battle In Latin America

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

NEW YORK—Latin America is pushing rapidly into the limelight as a diplomatic battleground. Business Week declares in its International Outlook.

"Washington, foolishly caught on the losing side in the Argentine political showdown, is awkwardly—and so far not very successfully—attempting to regain undisputed control of the Pan-American bloc," the article says.

"Two prerequisites for success—both momentarily out of reach—(1) Solid hemisphere support for defense accord—without including Argentina, at least until President Peron dismisses his naz advisers.

(2) Ability to supply countries surrounding Argentina with U. S. goods so as to break their economic dependence on Buenos Aires."

At the moment, there is little chance of getting such neighbors as Paraguay and Bolivia to such a hemisphere defense pact which excludes Argentina, despite any amount of pressure from Washington, according to the report.

"These two nations, and probably Chile," says the article, "will realistically insist that any such pact be a diplomatic background, is the economic pressure which Buenos Aires already has applied to its neighbors. Washington can overcome this only if it is able to provide the small nations around Argentina with goods. Buenos Aires either cannot or will not deliver."

tion in Paris might be expected to have an equally good effect on U. N. deliberations.

THE THEORY: One stormy night two mysterious strangers bring a badly injured boy into Reception. While waiting for the doctor to try to leave without any explanation but Dr. Willoughby calls the porter. After the suspicious characters have been taken to headquarters, the doctor goes out. Sally and Margaret are alone in the deserted Reception room when they hear a shot. An unknown man enters, tells them to remain where they are if they wish to avoid unpleasant complications, then disappears. There is no trace of him. Sally says she never forgot his voice. Dr. Willoughby admits there probably is a connection between the two incidents.

X
EVEN though the hour was approaching midnight there was nothing especially weird or disturbing about the Receiving Room tonight. Sally Maynard stood before a window that faced the valley in which Lintoville slumbered. It glowed softly beneath a brilliant moon and myriad stars. Cars and trucks passed the hospital, slid silently down the long hill to the city and disappeared far space to be seen later ascending the winding incline on the opposite side. The sight always fascinated Sally. She loved to watch those speeding monsters on their journey into the unknown.

"I don't suppose we shall ever know who that stranger was," Margaret Adams said almost regretfully now that time had subdued her terror of two nights ago. "I wonder who he was and what it's all about."

Sally turned from the window and shook his head. "I still think he's someone local—perhaps the front man of the gang of thieves. Oh well, anyway I'm glad they discovered that boy's family—or those who are acting in his family's place. The police made short work of that affair, didn't they?"

"A refugee," Margaret mused. "No wonder the English have the idea the United States is peopled almost entirely with thugs and Indians. But just the same, Sally, I can't understand why his guardians were so ready to believe him a thief."

"AS I heard the story," Sally said, "Dean was homesick—he had been in the hospital for months. He wanted to go back to England. He was so determined, that his foster father has worried for fear he might even run away, so a week or more ago when he failed to appear at breakfast one morning, they thought he may have started, perhaps, for Canada. Mr. Winston got in touch with the authorities and the border was watched, also all ports of embarkation. He felt that Dean was just the lad to try to stow away in some outgoing ship. It wasn't until several days passed that the robbery was discovered. So, if they did believe Dean guilty, it wasn't for very long. I'm glad he's coming along so nicely. They are taking him home as soon as he can be moved. I went in to see him this afternoon. He's a grand youngster."

"So Willoughby was right," Margaret said thoughtfully, more interested in the perpetrators than the victim. "That was the first time I was ever in a police station and the only time I've ever been questioned. Scared me to death."

"But Sergeant Trimble was very kind, Margaret," Sally pointed out. "And you know I was almost relieved when none of the men who approached me proved to be our midnight visitor. They were such an ugly, uninteresting lot. Our caller was at least thoughtful and polite."

"Thoughtful, my eye!" Margaret scoffed. "Took ten years from my life. I think I was never so
