

York, Higgins Murder Tribe Hurlers, 10-5

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
Pink Higgins and Rudy York, a couple of Detroit has been, are two big reasons why the Boston Red Sox are 10 games out front in the American league and a shoe-in if they can play .500 ball the rest of the way.

Higgins hasn't been around Fenway park very long but in his latest stay he has added over 100 points to his batting average with a sensational 17 for 30 (.567 clip in a Red Sox uniform. His season average to date is an ample 33.

Out loose by the World Champion Tigers when they purchased George Kell from Philadelphia, the 37-year-old veteran third baseman has plugged the gap after Manager

Joe Cronin had experimented with Third Baseman All Spring.
York's average of .308 isn't quite as dazzling as Ted Williams', Dominic DiMaggio's or Johnny Pesky's but it's plenty above his 264 at Detroit last season. His 44 runs batted in gives him third place in the American and boosted his lifetime total to 980.

Higgins and York were in murderous batting moods yesterday as the Red Sox came from behind to trounce Cleveland, 10-5. Higgins knocked in six runs with a homer, triple and two singles and York had a perfect 4 for 4 afternoon, including two doubles and a home run.

Hal Newhouser joined the 10-win circle by hurling Detroit to an 8-3 decision over the New York Yankees.

Doubles by Walt Judnich and John Borland helped Tex Shirley and the St. Louis Browns own Washington, 6-2, beating Sid Hudson. Edgar Smith outfielded Russ Christopher, as Chicago blanked the Athletics, 1-0 in a game marked by a White Sox triple play.

Brooklyn's National league lead slunk to one game when the Dodgers fell before St. Louis, 9-3. Johnny Vander Meer went the route for the first time this season, scattering eight hits to give the Cincinnati Reds a 3-2 edge over New York.

Those amazing Phillies reeled off their 10th victory in their last 14 starts, drubbing the Chicago Cubs, 4-1.

Catcher Hank Camelli's triple with the bases loaded enabled Pittsburgh to top Boston, 5-3 in another night game.

Par-Busters Say 285 Might Take Open Tournament

By HAROLD HARRISON
CLEVELAND—(AP)—The nation's par-busters think it will take par-busters to win the 46th national open golf championship—but not by much.

Consensus among the players was that a 285 would be the winner—and that would be only three under par.

For their final practice round the 133 professional and 39 amateur qualifiers for goldom's No. 1 classic had a soaking wet course over which to whet their blades, due to a heavy overnight downpour.

A driving contest, with AA $100 first prize, was among today's added features, but most of the title aspirants were expected to concentrate on a last-minute polishing of their game instead of the "muscle" event.

Only a small portion of the huge field participated yesterday in a best-ball attraction, which went to Bruce Coltart of Absecon, N. J., and Amateur Howard Everitt of Philadelphia on a combined effort of 31-33-64, eight under par for the 6,826-yard layout.

Board Orders Guild To 'Drop Charges'

PITTSBURGH—(AP)—The newly-formed American baseball Guild reeled under its second major setback today as the national labor relations board ordered charges of unfair labor practices filed against the Pittsburgh Pirates be either withdrawn or dismissed.

There was no immediate comment from Robert Murphy, Guild chief, who was reported staying with friends in New York City.

Murphy's next move to achieve recognition of his union is doubtful, but it is believed he may appeal to the Pennsylvania labor relations board.

Lefors Engaged in Big Clean-Up Drive

LEFORS—(Special)—Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week will be used for the purpose of hauling off rubbish and trash which should be piled in alleys, placed in barrels, or in sacks, according to E. R. Reeves. The Lions club will be responsible for trucks which will do the hauling.

All persons are asked to cut the weeds in his respective portion of the alley, and as soon as possible, a maintainer will drag each alley in order that the firetruck and other vehicles might drive through them.

This is in connection with the nation-wide clean-up campaign which is being carried out, in order to help prevent polio and other diseases. Not only will it prevent diseases, but it will also beautify our cities and make them healthier and more desirable places in which to live.

to get protection for the seamen, and by God we will fight."

Curran was critical of both President Truman and navy officers for statements that the navy would run the ships if the maritime workers refuse to do so, in a strike set to begin Friday midnight.

"The President's position was not helpful" to negotiations, Curran said. He made a similar reference to navy officials.

The labor chief also said the seamen were not helpful of getting any better settlement in the controversy from the government than from the ship operators.

Curran said repeatedly that all the maritime workers want is "the same consideration as any other citizen" in wages and hours matters. He said that at present seamen are exempted from federal wage and provisions.

He also spoke out bitterly against what he called a lack of protection for maritime workers during the war.

He said that such workers who were injured received none of the benefits accorded members of the armed forces.

At this point, Rep. Buck (R-NY) interposed to say that the House Merchant Marine Committee will approve soon a "GI Bill of Rights for maritime workers."

Curran commented that "we have been working for this bill for years and I hope you are right."

More details of the latest government compromise come into the open, and it seemed to be gaining in favor.

For two days the Labor department has been fighting hard for this plan behind the scenes, while keeping mum on its chances, while optimism sprouted little by little. The plan calls for paying extra cash to seamen as a reward for continuing the present 56-hour week at sea.

How well did General Electric meet its objectives last year?

GENERAL ELECTRIC has a three-fold responsibility—to the public, to its employees, and to its owners. The 1945 annual report, just printed, gives some indication of how well we met these objectives last year.

General Electric's growth has come from new and better products for the public, continuously improved.

Out of production efficiency have come higher wages, increased jobs, and the earnings needed to continue these gains.

This year General Electric did not get off to as good a start as in 1945. But the objectives and aims of General Electric are the same and will continue to be the same—to keep wages as high as possible, to keep prices down as far as possible, and to earn a fair profit.

Partners? Sure, Bill and Pat are partners! They've been partners since that very first day at the hospital, when little Pat smiled up from his crib at his big, broad-shouldered dad—and wiggled his baby toes. And Bill has kept that promise. Regardless of the future, Pat will get to go through high school—and college, too. ### Swimming Course Is Being Offered

"Think before you swim," says Jack Skelly, water safety chairman of the Pampa Red Cross chapter. According to an announcement made today by Skelly, Pampa young people are being invited to enroll for a summer swimming program sponsored by the American Red Cross.

Classes will be held at the city pool beginning tomorrow at 10 a.m. Students will be asked to fill out enrollment cards and this will help determine the number and types of classes offered and the number of instructors needed.

Courses to be offered include junior and senior water safety and life saving courses. All students who successfully complete one or more of these courses will be awarded a Red Cross swimming certificate.

Those who complete life saving courses will also receive badges which may be worn on their suits.

There is a total of three qualified instructors in the local chapter.

Water safety instruction is valuable to persons of all ages who plan to visit beaches or pools this summer," Skelly said, "but it is imperative for young people."

Bevin Speech

(Continued From Page 1) you will have two camps in Europe and that will be the road to another struggle."

CLEARANCE OF TROOPS
He called for conclusion of a peace treaty with Austria and urged the clearance of occupation troops from the Danube basin.

Declaring he had been asked whether he would sign a separate peace treaty, Bevin said:

"I don't know what steps we may take to get these treaties, but to say no one nation is going to keep me in a state of war forever with other countries."

On Palestine he said:
"If we put 100,000 Jews in Palestine tomorrow, I would have to put another division of British troops there. I am not prepared to do it."

"The Jews asked, as I understand it, that in Palestine they should have not merely a home but a Palestinian state so that their voices could be heard in the chancelleries of the world."

"That is what I will strive to do, but it is going to take patience and work in order to accomplish it," Bevin declared.

"I must say to the Jews and Arabs: Please put your guns away. Don't blow up the British Tommy who is quite innocent in this business. You are creating another phase of the anti-semitic feeling in the British army."

"I believe that if both sides did disarm, peace and development would be much easier."

Bevin said Palestine "is a terrific problem, really it is a colonial office problem, but I recognize that you cannot any longer leave it as a colonial problem. It is international."

"The agitation in the United States and particularly in New York for 100,000 Jews to be put into Palestine—and I do not want the Americans to misunderstand me—is because they do not want too many of them in New York," Bevin continued.

The foreign secretary said he was "extremely grateful to the United States for taking part in the Palestine commission."

The convention of the labor party, now in control of the British government, had before it a resolution calling for repeal of the 1939 White Paper limiting Jewish immigration to Palestine.

Minister of State Philip Noel-Baker spoke before Bevin and said British foreign policy is dedicated to the belief "that we can make a world without war" and that it must be done "in the next ten years."

Whitcomb Slayer

The Westfield explosion occurred shortly after Police Superintendent Edward W. Fallon had ordered a check of every known "George E. Hardy" in the east in tracing an unsigned contract found on Whitcomb's desk.

The contract set forth that the 73-year-old paper magnate would guarantee the "party of the second part, George E. Hardy," a $25,000 a year lifetime job. Police expressed the belief that the slayer tried to force the paper executive to sign it.

It would take the most incredible folly on the part of any nation or group of nations to dynamite the foundations for a peaceful world that we and our allies have successfully laid—Edward R. Stettinius, U. S. United Nations delegate.

But all efforts by police to locate the flower-eating goat have failed to date. Police are questioning Fischer and Burns in whose custody the goat was. The chief of police, kind and understanding man, has consented to drop the case if the Jaycee club will "handle" Fischer and Burns.

The Jaycees have agreed and will try said two, Fischer and Burns, for kidnaping, property damage and neglect of duty. Tuesday, June 25, The goat was insured at Hughes' Insurance agency and held a policy for property damage and liability.

Some have advised Fischer to plead insanity, but he would not make a statement for fear it would be used against him. Harry Kelley will preside as prosecuting attorney, but attorneys for defense have not yet been named. (Frankly, we don't think anyone will defend Burns and Fischer.)

Someone reported that complaints against Burns and Fischer were not reply to the questionnaire. Neither did agriculture commissioner J. E. McDonald. All the war veteran candidates, who were away on home or foreign fronts during the party row in 1944 were very careful to say they were fighting another kind of battle when the Regulars and Rooseveltites were slugging it out in Texas.

In the meantime, if Millicent shows up in your flower bed, contact Joe Fischer immediately. He has the other half of the rope and if Fischer doesn't find the goat soon, he may end up with the rope around HIS neck!

Lieut. Gov. John Lee Smith did not reply to the questionnaire. Neither did agriculture commissioner J. E. McDonald. All the war veteran candidates, who were away on home or foreign fronts during the party row in 1944 were very careful to say they were fighting another kind of battle when the Regulars and Rooseveltites were slugging it out in Texas.

William V. Brown of Texarkana, candidate for governor, informed the committee he had not only aided and abetted the Regulars, but had encouraged them.

Former Governor Dan Moody appeared personally before the committee to withdraw his name as a candidate for the United States Senate. It had been filed by friends, and he wanted to know if the $100 filing fee they had paid would be refunded. He was told it would not be.

"Guess I'll have to pay it back myself then," Moody laughed.

The committee did not require high court incumbents who are candidates for re-election to say whether or not they worked against the Regulars.

Seay explained this was because they had been called on—in the case of supreme court members—to pass on legal questions involved in the party fight. The supreme court ruled that the presi-

What Incentive Would Be Left?

Lying in the congressional chambers at Washington waiting for the "strategic" moment to be brought to the floor for another vote is the so-called "fair employment" bill, a piece of legislation called Fair Employment Practices, which, in the last analysis, would try to legislate good morals for our people.

This bill, which would place more bureaucratic power in the hands of the executive branch of our federal government, has been backed by some sincere men, but it is the tool of those who would subvert the true principles upon which this republic was founded—the right of self-determination, in business as in personal life.

Richard B. Russell, of Georgia, speaking in the senate a few weeks ago, had entered into the Record a speech which he had made over the radio in opposition to the FEPC, which he titled "A Fair Label on an Unfair Bill."

We quote some interesting and noteworthy remarks from that message, which all Americans should read:

"Free American business, industry, and agriculture, which have made this country the greatest and richest nation on earth, cannot long endure if some super-bureaucracy of the federal government has the power to determine all employment policies. Think of a federal agency (which the bill would create: Ed's Note) having the power to tell a businessman whom he shall promote to a position of trust and responsibility. The bill, by its express powers, will nationalize all jobs in this country, x x x "It is not strange that every communist and every socialist in this country who believes in government ownership of all business and property are supporting this bill, for its passage is sure to eventuate in the destruction of all rights of private property. x x x One of its provisions allows the agents of this commission to examine or copy all the books, records, and private documents of the million and half businesses and the thousands of farmers brought under its jurisdiction. Any resistance on the part of the owner to this invasion of what has long been considered the constitutional right to be free from search or seizure without a warrant is punishable by a fine of not more than $5,000 or a year's jail sentence, or both.

"X X X The bill does not create one single job, except the political jobs of the army of agents, employees, and examiners of the commission, who will be supported by your tax money. Its passage is sure to lessen opportunities for employment. What incentive does a businessman have for creating new jobs and employment opportunities if he has no right to say who will fill them?"

MACKENZIE'S Column

By DEWITT MACKENZIE AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Word that the powerful Grand Mufti of Jerusalem—who is anti-everything that is British or Jewish—has been awarded surveillance in France and again is at large somewhere among the Moslems of the Middle East, isn't calculated to ease the crisis which has arisen in Palestine over the fiery problem of Jewish immigration.

The highly educated Grand Mufti is a dangerous man to those whom he conspires for many years he has been leader of the Arab campaign for an independent Palestine and against the establishment of a Jewish national home as promised by the British.

The fifty-three year old Haj Amin El Hussein—to give him his name—not only is spiritual leader of Palestine's 1,000,000 Moslem Arabs but is political leader as well. His influence extends into Trans-Jordan, Iraq, Arabia, Egypt, Iran and Syria, for he is gifted with leadership, has a strong personality and is crafty. Most of his life, Hussein has made war on the Jews of Palestine. In 1920, when his brother was Grand Mufti, he fled to Trans-Jordan after being sentenced to ten years imprisonment for his part in anti-Jewish riots. Next year the brother died and Haj Amin was granted amnesty, after which the British High Commissioner, Sir Herbert Samuel, appointed him Grand Mufti, it being the custom for this high office to remain in the same family.

In 1937 the British banished the Grand Mufti from Palestine. He took refuge first in Syria, then in Iraq and finally in Italy.

General Duty Nurse

By LUCY AGNES HANCOCK

Copyright by Lucy Agnes Hancock Distributed by NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: Sally Maynard, popular with both patients and staff of Linton Memorial Hospital, is considered a model nurse. She encourages the staff to follow the same Jim Hallock, reminding him that friendship between intern and nurse is a crime against the rules. Dr. Bronson tells Sally any other nurse would willingly break the rules.

VII

ONE o'clock and the hospital seemed unusually quiet. Doctor Willoughby slipped into his laboratory where he was working on an experiment. His own Margaret went down to the diet kitchen to see if she couldn't hurry lunch. Sally stood for a moment looking into the ink black-ness beyond the radius of light thrown by the windows of the Receiving Room. She had been on night duty here for nearly a week with Margaret Adams assisting.

The street was deserted. Rain and sleet fell in wide slanting sheets, striking the windows with vicious metallic jabs. What a night! Suddenly from nowhere there appeared a car close by the entrance to Receiving. Sally hadn't seen it drive in and apparently it bore no lights. Two men got out and lifted a third, a slender young man who was probably sixteen years old. Sally opened the door. They staggered inside and dropped their burden on a wire bench that stood against the wall. Blood and mud matted his hair and covered his torn clothing. One foot was turned grotesquely and an arm hung limp. Without a word, the two strangers turned to leave but Sally had other ideas.

"Wait a minute," she said crisply. "Where are you going? What is this boy and who are you? Doctor Willoughby!" she called and the resident hurried to her side. The newcomers edged toward the door but Sally stood her ground. "Ain't nothin' I do with us."

STRIKE—AT WHOM?

Financial reports make interesting reading to people who know even a little bit about what they mean. To some, they look dark because they are printed mainly in figures; many students never have learned to enjoy studying figures. Just the same, dull old numerals tell the truth in a romantic way to those who love said facts of struggle and adventure.

Late in May it was my good fortune to have with me an annual report of one of America's largest corporations when I had to spend three hours on a day train. In the back of my mind as I rode along, was a lurking fear that I might reach home a day (maybe a week) late because of labor troubles just then in the making. My dread threw a bright light on the figures in hand.

DIVISION OF WEALTH

The company about which I was reading plays an important part in the lives of more than a quarter of a million people; 100,000 employees and 150,000 stockholders. Two out of every five of those people drew wages or salaries more than $2,500 a year. Three out of five received dividends. The average share owner got less than $500 a year. The average employee took home more than $2,500 a year.

Daily newspapers for days had reported threats of strikes in the plants of the firm I was studying, also on the lines of the railroad I was riding, and in many other industries. Questions: If all the employees of all the companies strike for what they want and get it, who will pay the difference? How will they pay it? These questions have answers and they're not secrets.

ENTER APPLE CONDUCTOR

The train stopped for a few minutes under the sheds of a big town station and a railway news boy came through with fresh afternoon papers. On page one, under Washington date-line, a wire story told how OPA would grant higher prices on apples. Nearby was another item about a 10 per cent boost in shoe prices; then I remembered that bread and milk and meat all had gone up recently.

Whether you ride or walk or only eat, the price gains catch you. Wages are inside the cost of every manufactured thing, and every consumer pays. It is too obvious to deserve a proof. Got into an officialdom was sounding off freely about how wages in Detroit could be boosted without charging higher prices for automobiles but it didn't work out that way. Why?

STRIKES ARE WEAPONS

It is because strikes are not tools. The official theory was: Wages can go up without boosting prices but production has to be increased if it happens, and strikes don't increase production. Surden wage increases of 18 to 20 per cent have to come from somewhere, but where? A stockholder drawing $500 a year can't offer much of a boon to a $2,500 wage earner.

Strikes can't take something from the owners don't get. That leaves nobody to pay the higher wages but Mr. Consumer whose family drives the car, wears the shoes and eats the food. A large majority of consumers are themselves workers. In the absence of increased production, a strike is a boomerang. It hits the consumer who is the worker himself.

World's heaviest man was Daniel Lambert, who weighed 738 pounds when he died at the age of 39. He had a 102-inch waistline, despite leading an active, athletic life.

An orderly had arrived with a stretcher and Sally was surprised to see Doctor Hallock enter immediately after.

"Oh hello, Doctor!" the resident greeted him. "This is right down your alley. Suppose you take charge of this case—I'll be along in a minute."

Doctor Hallock laughed. "Willoughby the Sleuth!" he jeered. "Always solving mysteries." He followed the stretcher from the room and Sally and Margaret prepared to clean up.

They had been unable to get any information as to the lad's identity from either of the men who accompanied him, but when Sally lifted the coat that had been cut from his battered body, a small leatherbound book slipped from the ripped lining. Doctor Willoughby pounced upon it.

"This may contain the answer," he said as he opened it. The name on the fly leaf was printed in large letters: "DEAN BAXTER" and below in finer printing the words "Winston Farms." There was no town mentioned nor county nor state. Well, the police should have no difficulty in locating Winston Farms. The book was filled with personal items written in a fair hand—items somewhat in the form of a diary. Either the boy lived at the Farms or had been there recently. The doctor called the police station and had reported his find, printed a flashlight went out to the car parked in the drive and examined it. It was a shabby coupe with bent fenders and a missing headlight. Inside the worn cushions were bloodstained and dirty. The lead report in his hand, printed the doctor removed it and proceeded to lock the machine. He returned to the two girls who were waiting eagerly for what he had to tell.

"Not much to see out there right now," he told them, shaking back his wet hair. "I took the license number and am sure I should know that car anywhere. It isn't a local number—no one around this county. I'm going upstairs for a while. If anything comes up and you need me, give me a ring."

Deputies Prepare For Second Meeting

PARIS (AP)—The four-power deputy foreign ministers agreed last week on the restitution of all property and rights seized by the Italian government from United Nations nationals, an authorized French source said. The deputies are preparing for the second Paris meeting of their chiefs opening next Saturday.

Peter Edson's Column: FIGHT SHAPING UP ON GOVERNMENT SPENDING

WASHINGTON (NEA)—When the LaFollette-Monroe bill to reorganize Congress comes up for consideration sometime soon, there may be a terrific fight over two sections which would tend to make the government balance its budget and economize, whether it wanted to or not.

All the executive departments of the government, plus the congressional group and all the labor organizations that supported the so-called "Full" Employment Act of 1946, will be opposed to any such idea. On the other side, the advocates of economy in Congress, backed by a strong lobby of anti-government spending groups and taxpayers' protective associations, will go all out in support.

The mechanics of this reorganization bill proposal for compulsory budget balancing are a little involved, but take them a step at a time and they're not too tough. In simplified form, the idea is this: At the beginning of every regular session of Congress, four committees dealing with taxes and spending—House and Senate Appropriations Committees, Senate Finance and House Ways and Means Committees—would meet jointly to consider estimates of government receipts and expenditures for the ensuing fiscal year. Within 60 days, or by April 15 at the latest, these four committees would be required to report to the House and Senate on the government's financial outlook for the 12 months beginning on the following July 1.

If these four powerful committees found that government expenses would be higher than government revenue, they would be required to submit to Congress a "concurrent resolution" authorizing an increase in the public debt by so many millions or billions of dollars. Until Congress passed this resolution, neither the Senate nor the House Appropriations Committee would be authorized to receive or consider any general appropriation bill.

PRESIDENTIAL BUDGET-BALANCING ACTION REQUIRED

Action by "concurrent resolution" is specified because such a measure would not have to be signed by the President to be made effective. A further provision in the reorganization bill would, however, make the President do some economizing on his own.

The plan would require that, if on Dec. 31 the President should find that expenditures for the next six months would exceed expected receipts, he must proclaim that all appropriations should be reduced by a uniform percentage sufficient to get the government budget back in balance.

Advocates of bigger and better government spending to expand the national economy and so contribute to greater prosperity don't like this idea even a little. The full-employment economists are already up in arms against it. They claim it is a dirty reactionary maneuver to kill the Employment Act. They claim the reorganization bill plan would give the four congressional committees on taxation and appropriations veto power over the recommendations of the new Joint Congressional Committee on the Economic Report, set up by the Employment Act.

OPPOSITION DENOUNCES PROVISION AS REACTIONARY

Further, it is being charged that the LaFollette-Monroe Committee put this proposal into their bill on the reorganization of Congress without hearings and without consulting the Budget Bureau or any of the other executive departments of the government. In other words, it is contended that this is a "sleeper" provision which was caught just in six years old.

It is to happen that Sen. Robert M. LaFollette of Wisconsin, and Congressman A. S. Mike Monroney of Oklahoma, co-chairmen of the Joint Committee on Reorganization of Congress, both supported the Employment Act, and neither can be accused of being reactionary.

In addition to this, Mike Monroney admits frankly that this idea for checks on government spending is all his. He sold it to the reorganization committee.

Bills to achieve the same and have previously been introduced in Congress. But Monroney says he got the idea directly from the state constitutions of Oklahoma and a few other states, which have had such provisions in effect for some years and have found that they work.

Small Babies Are Refused Passage

WASHINGTON (AP)—The war department has decided not to carry any more babies less than six months old on its ships bringing war brides and children from the European and Mediterranean areas.

It also bans wives more than six months pregnant and will not permit more than 25 per cent loading of any ship with children less than six years old.

'Sanborn's,' Landmark in Mexico, Purchased by Wallgreen Company

MEXICO CITY—(AP)—"Sanborn's," a landmark in Mexico, will be controlled by the Wallgreen company about the middle of July.

Sale of the famous department store and restaurant, housed in "The House of Tiles" here, and a branch of Monterey, was reported two weeks ago.

Francis H. Sanborn, vice-president, said today that the sale would be that of stock in Sanborns Hnos (sons) constituting a large majority interest but that stock is held by others in Argentina, Canada and the United States.

The price, he said would be around 12,500,000 pesos ($2,500,000).

The three Sanborns, Frank A. Sanborn, president, now returning from Chicago where he went for negotiations, and the two vice-presidents, Francis H. and Jack H. Sanborn, probably will remain in charge until Wallgreens place an executive in charge.

Walter D. Sanborn came to Mexico City in 1903 from California and entered the drug business, his brother Frank joining him soon after.

In addition to the pharmacy, the brothers established a soda fountain, perhaps Mexico's first. Out of this grew a restaurant which developed into the center of Mexico's social life.

In 1919 the business moved to the house of tiles and there developed into the crossroads of Mexico for residents and tourists a must for the latter, young and old Mexicans usually outnumbered foreigners in the place.

The building was built in 1596 by Don Rodrigo de Vivero Y Velasco, whose son was an early governor and captain general of the Philippines.

After the fall of the Spanish empire, the house of tiles became the property of the Turbi family and from 1891 to 1914 was the home of the famous jockey club.

When the jockey club died, Sanborn's took over and developed the establishment as it is today, fully preserving it as a colonial monument.

Unemployment Claims Running Heavy Here

According to a statement by Ray C. Langford, claims examiner for the Texas Unemployment Compensation commission, claims from veterans in the Pampa area are running heavy.

Langford will be at the USES office from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. June 20, and will, in addition to taking claims from veterans, conduct the regular business of the TUCC.

As agent for the Veterans administration, the TUCC accepts readjustment allowance applications from unemployed ex-servicemen, as well as from veterans whose earnings from self-employment are less than $100 per month. The $20-a-week allowance may be drawn by the veteran any time up to two years after the official termination of the war, or two years after the individual gets out of the service, whichever is later.

We have something far more deadly than the atomic bomb today—not tomorrow. And furthermore, it's in usable shape.—Rep. Albert Thomas (D) of Texas.

'Phone Workers Okay Framework
GALVESTON—(AP)—Representatives of the 48 member unions of the national federation of telephone workers Saturday had approved in principle a framework for a new constitution which would form one national bargaining unit.

The 12th national assembly adjourned here Saturday after ordering its constitutional committee to draw up a final draft of the constitution for submission to a special constitutional assembly "not later than Dec. 1, 1946."

Details of the constitution were not made public, but a union spokesman said it would provide a "close-knit organization for industry-wide bargaining."

The representatives also voted to support the United Union of Telephone Workers of Lincoln, Neb., which has called a strike next Monday noon against the Lincoln Telephone and Telegraph Co., an independent company.

EXPERT HELP
SALAMANCA, N. Y.—(AP)—Some passing motorists stopped to help a farmer put out a fire in his barn. They did their work so well the barn was saved as well as an adjoining house.

Their efficiency was explained when the farmer found out his helpers were: Assistant Fire Chief Bernard Swanson and former Fire Chief C. J. Beatty of Jamestown, Fire Chief Donald Sales of Lakewood, and George Blackstone of Lakewood, chief of the fire department at Bard college, who were returning from a fire chief's convention.
