Cease-Fire Order Issued In Manchuria

MANCHING—(AP)—Chiang Kai-shek today issued a cease-fire order calling for a 15-day halt in the long, bloody conflict in Manchuria.

The truce, effective tomorrow, is expected to clear the way to permanent settlement of differences between the Chinese government and the communists.

"I am issuing orders to my armies to hold all advances, attacks and pursuits for a period of 15 days from noon Friday, June 7," the generalissimo announced in a message delivered to newspapermen through Minister of Information Peng Hsueh-Pei.

"Doing this gives the communist party an opportunity to demonstrate its good faith and intention of carrying out the agreement previously signed. In taking this action, the government in no way prejudices its right under the Sian-Soviet treaty to recover Manchuria's sovereignty."

The previous agreement was a January political-military truce, since violated by both sides.

Chiang stipulated that the following three matters are to be settled within the 15-day period:

- 1—Detailed arrangements governing the complete termination of hostilities in Manchuria.
- 2—Detailed arrangements and time schedules for the complete restoration of communications in China.
- 3—A definite basis for carrying out, without further delay, the 25 agreement for demobilization, reorganization and integration of China's armed forces.

Congress Expects Tug of War Over Teen Age Draft

WASHINGTON—(AP)—House and senate braced today for a tug of war over resuming the teen age draft. But there were hints of a compromise making 19-year-olds eligible and exempting those of 18.

The senate today opened the question to a showdown when it gave a thumping 69 to 8 majority yesterday to its bill for keeping the main provisions of the wartime draft act in force until May.

Although it differed on a number of points from the house measure voted April 13, the teen age provision promised to be the big stumbling block in the bill which the senate passed along to a senate-house conference committee.

The conference, seven senators and seven representatives, must adjust all the differences and persuade congress to accept their recommendations between now and June 30, when the present law expires. Here is their program:

Length of extension: The senate voted to continue the draft until next May 15; the house until next February 15.

Age of inductions: The senate by a 63 to 28 count voted to continue the draft until 18 and 19-year-olds; the house by a 195 to 96 tally ordered a halt to teen-age inductions. The top draft age in the house bill is 23; in the senate's, 44.

Pay raises: The senate wrote into its bill pay raises for enlisted grades only, ranging from 50 per cent for buck privates to smaller boosts for top sergeants and corresponding ranks in the other services. The house refused to put pay raises into the draft bill but voted in separate legislation for raises ranging from 50 per cent for buck privates to 10 per cent for five-star generals.

Induction "holidays": The house ordered a moratorium on all inductions prior to October 15. The senate turned that proposal down.

The two branches are in virtual agreement on those provisions of their separate bills:

- A ban against induction of fathers, regardless of age.
- A limit of 18 months of service for inducted men.
- A prohibition against any inductions that will give the army more than 1,070,000 men by July 1, 1947.
- Continuation of re-employment benefits specified in the wartime draft act.

Famed Austrian Scientist Dies

LONDON—(AP)—Prof. Ernst Freund, 82, Austrian medical scientist, who spent more than 55 years in the study of cancer and its treatment, died at his home here Sunday. It was announced today. Personal services were held yesterday.

Remember? Yes, Everyone Does!

Remember two years ago today? June 6, 1944. The Allied invasion of Europe had begun. The world had been told—that part of it that was awake—by Col. R. Ernest Dupuy, speaking from Supreme Allied Headquarters in London, that it had begun. There was a spine-tingling 10-second interval between word that there would be Communism No. 1, and the consummation itself.

The news, before day, had gone to the streets with an Extra, headed INVASION IS ON! A few hours later, in a sea of cable dispatches from Europe, the headline read INVADEERS PRESS ISLAND, with the sub-head "11,000 Planes Hovering Over Ground Soldiers."

Omaha Beach, Normandy, France, had been hit by the mightiest amphibious force ever to be assembled up to that time.

L. H. Dillman, Pampa, was winner of The News' guessing contest. He missed the hour of D-Day by 17 hours; and his guess had been filed for days.

Committee Approves Price Control Bill

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The senate banking committee today approved a drastically amended price control extension bill and prepared to send it to the senate floor for action next week.

NOT ENDORSEMENT

Majority Leader Barkley (Ky.) said he will formally report the measure, but he told reporters that his action is not to be construed as an endorsement of numerous amendments or of the bill as a whole.

The bill, perfected late yesterday, was agreed upon today without a record vote.

"And without any enthusiasm, either," observed Senator Millikin (R-Colo.).

MINORITY PROTESTS

Over bitter minority protests, the banking committee drafted a formal recommendation to the chamber that it vote to extend price control one year beyond June 30 but in sharply curtailed form.

The house already has passed an extension bill which administration spokesmen have said would mean the end of price control next month unless the senate took a different tack.

FEATURES OF BILL

Here are some of the major features of the senate bill, condemned as "monstrous" by Stabilization Director Chester Bowles even before its completion:

- Price control over livestock, meat, poultry, eggs and dairy products would end June 30.
- The secretary of agriculture rather than the price administrator would say what other farm products could be kept under price ceilings.
- A decontrol board, independent of the government, would be set up.

Russia Isn't Speaking of Atomic Bombs

By EDDY GILMORE

NEW YORK—(AP)—Russia is devoting a large portion of her national energy to atomic research toward peacetime possibilities, she said in a statement today.

However, with other nations in possession of the bomb's secrets and showing no inclination to share them, it would be extremely unrealistic to assume that Russia is closing her eyes to that side of the laboratory.

BEHIND UNITED STATES

It is, of course, impossible for a new nation in Russia with the limited amount of information he has on hand on this highly secret subject, to say anything with finality about the Soviets and the bomb. However, there is reason to believe that I emphasize the word believe—that Russia must be well behind the United States. There are those in responsible diplomatic and military positions who hold the same opinion.

But, it should be borne in mind that foreign minister Molotov, speaking at the Kremlin last Nov. 6, said that Russia soon would have atomic energy and many other things the news should underestimate the Russians.

SCIENCE EMPHASIZED

Heavy emphasis is being placed on science in Russia today—heavier than on any other single field. All well respected in Russia, scientists now have been raised several notches beyond any position they've never enjoyed. They're on a level with the top brackets.

The government is hard at work building them new laboratories, finding them the equipment they need, giving them the green light if whatever scientists want they can have for the asking, which is quite a little something in the land of the Soviets.

CORE OF SCIENTISTS

Russia has a hard core of scientists to build from, although they are mostly beyond middle age. Less than a month ago an energetic campaign was underway to attract younger people to science.

The Soviet government acknowledged, too, that their scientists are entitled to the best possible material life. They have been awarded extra special food rations, clothes, automobiles, special salaries, new apartments and fine automobiles—many with chauffeurs.

In many parts of the country, new housing is being earmarked for men of science. They will get these modern dwellings as soon as any. One, and this includes marshals, generals and high party functionaries.

Russia's leaders have no illusions about how far her scientists must progress to catch up with the United States and Britain. They are well aware and impressed with the excellence and skill of Americans.

The leaders and the scientists know they must work hard and even then they may lag behind this side of the world. They may have obtained something from Germany, but they are realists enough to know they've got something there they did their allies.

The very fact that the Soviets don't say much about the bomb is revealing. It is the belief of many informed foreigners stationed in the Soviet Union today while the Russians haven't asked for the secret of the bomb, it constitutes a great and ponderous fact in all their thinking and action.

Camp Ki-o-Wah Camping Season To Open Monday

Interest Increasing in Local Soap Box Derby Scheduled for July 20-21

Interest had begun to increase today in the Soap Box Derby races which will be held on the Old Miami highway north of Pampa on July 20-21.

A clinic will be held Friday, beginning at 5, at the Palm room, City hall, for the boys who are already entered in the local races and for those who think they might be interested in joining. Entry blanks will be available at the clinic. Bob Grammer, general chairman of the Pampa News-Lions club event, being held in connection with 110 other races throughout America.

The sponsoring organization, Chevrolet division of General Motors, Detroit, said last week that 111 cities are having the races this year, but that many other cities had sought to enter. The number was limited due to the fact that there is still a shortage of many materials.

It was announced here that the Pampa Daily News will give a banquet for the local boys after the races are held here. Prizes will be awarded at that time, and the winner will be honored by his competitors for his getting the newspaper.

"And I've been lucky the past 13 years since I've worn this badge," he says, "than I was previously."

Warren R. Austin Is President's Choice for U. N.

WASHINGTON—President Truman's choice of Senator Warren R. Austin as American representative on the United Nations security council prompted official hopes today of encouraging a new Soviet attitude in that body.

The subcommittee spokesman said Soviet delegate Andrei A. Gromyko could be expected to argue for severe action against Franco immediately and that the Russian would oppose any attempt to hand the issue over to the general assembly.

Gromyko throughout has contended that Franco is a proven menace and that the Russian would not be delayed. He also has held out against transfer to the general assembly of authority which he maintains should be exercised by the security council.

Britain and the United States have joined in moral condemnation of the Franco regime, but have maintained that Spain does not menace peace and that a break in relations would end the surveillance they are able to keep over the falangist government through various agencies. They advocate a peaceful overthrow of Franco by the Spanish people.

Before the subcommittee inquiry was launched April 29, Poland—which brought the case before the security council—had won the support of Russia, France and Mexico for an immediate effective severance of relations with Madrid as a threat to peace.

The Franco government early today issued a 3,000-word reply to the subcommittee which it accused France and Russia of threatening the peace of Spain and declared Spain would live in "sacred isolation" rather than submit to interference in her internal affairs.

Prisoner 'Saves Federal Money'

CHICAGO—(AP)—Federal Judge Walter J. Labuy thumbed through the record of Clarence L. Cogdell, 40, after he had pleaded guilty yesterday to stealing an automobile in New Orleans and driving it to New York.

"The government will have to support you again," Cogdell protested mildly, "the government won't lose money on me."

He pointed to his suit of clothes and said: "I made it myself while in the tailor shop at Leavenworth prison during my last stretch."

"No, sir, Judge. I'm saving money for the taxpayers."

"Excellent," commented Judge Labuy. "Continue saving it for five more years on the auto theft charge, and 18 months more for violation of your parole."

U. N. Council To Reassemble This Afternoon

NEW YORK—(AP)—Russia and the big western powers in the United Nations security council—all three armed with the veto—will meet today over a subcommittee's appraisal of Franco Spain as a potential menace to peace.

As the council prepared to assemble at 1 p. m. CST after a 15-day layoff, the spokesman for a delegate represented by the subcommittee said he understood one of the Big Three might invoke the veto unless the action is modified, but he expressed hope that the committee's conclusions on Spain would be adopted "without too much cutting or watering down."

The report called for a collective U. N. diplomatic break with Madrid by the general assembly next September if Spain is not rid of Generalissimo Francisco Franco by then.

It was authoritatively reported unacceptable in its present form to Russia, the United States and Britain for divergent reasons.

The subcommittee spokesman said Soviet delegate Andrei A. Gromyko could be expected to argue for severe action against Franco immediately and that the Russian would oppose any attempt to hand the issue over to the general assembly.

Gromyko throughout has contended that Franco is a proven menace and that the Russian would not be delayed. He also has held out against transfer to the general assembly of authority which he maintains should be exercised by the security council.

Congressional Committee To Enter Picture

WASHINGTON—(AP)—AFL Seafarers called a surprise walkout on all coasts today as a congressional committee decided to try to avert a CIO maritime strike scheduled June 15.

Thousands of AFL seafarers at New York, Baltimore and other ports began leaving today as AFL seamen started quitting work to attend simultaneous emergency meetings with U. S. seacoasts.

The surprise AFL walkout was scheduled at 2 p. m. (EST) but men were leaving their ship several hours sooner in some cases.

A union official in New York said he contacted 75 ships in the port and found a "100 per cent stoppage" on those manned by AFL crews. The stoppage was reported underway in Baltimore also. CIO-manned ships were not affected.

Men at Atlantic, Gulf, Pacific and Hawaiian ports made ready to quit their ships and hold simultaneous meetings at 2 p. m. (EST) to discuss "matters of great importance."

The call for the sudden walkout—of uncertain duration—crashed into the already tense maritime labor situation.

SUBCOMMITTEE NAMED

The house labor committee empowered a subcommittee headed by Rep. A. B. Kelley (D-Pa.) to step into the picture in an effort to prevent a shipping strike.

Kelley said he would open hearings "as soon as possible" maybe tomorrow. He said "key figures" in the dispute between employers and CIO seamen and dock workers would be called to testify.

'STOP WORK' MEETINGS

The AFL "stop work" meetings will halt activity aboard ships for as many hours as the discussions continue. Seamen on the Great Lakes are not affected.

In New York, a union official said that starting at noon, the work stoppage on AFL-manned ships brought "a 100 per cent stoppage" in the normally busy port of New York.

SEAFARERS AND SAILORS

Involved in the AFL stop work movement are members of the AFL Seafarers International union and its west coast affiliate, the sailors union of the Pacific.

In Washington, there came a step-up of the Pacific end of the government negotiations on the impending CIO strike.

John B. Bryan, president of the Pacific American Shipowners association and counsel Gregory Harrison talked with representatives of three separate unions. Government conciliators reported afterward the talks had included a series of proposals and counter proposals.

SITUATION SERIOUS

A labor department statement said the discussions between Bryan and Malone "embraced all the major and collateral issues" in their dispute.

The AFL walkout threw a new element into a situation which the government already had viewed as extremely serious.

The purpose apparently was to protest the fact that Pacific ship operators are in Washington for the CIO talks and have not returned to San Francisco to begin negotiations with the sailors union of the Pacific.

But there was evidence that the AFL seafarers, especially at Atlantic and Gulf ports—intended to meet with the CIO.

Officials Investigate Chicago Hotel Blaze

CHICAGO—(AP)—A series of official investigations was begun today in the disastrous La Salle hotel fire, while friends and relatives were completing positive identification of the 58 dead.

Still remaining unidentified were the bodies of two women, a man, and a torso of undetermined sex. A fifth body was tentatively identified, through personal possessions, as Louis Marco, 57, of Chicago.

All phases of the terrifying flash blaze which routed guests from the Loop hotel early yesterday morning were under official scrutiny. As city, county and state officials proceed with their separate inquiries into Chicago's worst hotel disaster in history, the hotel management ordered complete evacuation of the fire swept rooms of the 22-story structure. More than 1,000 transient and permanent guests at the 1,000-room, 37-year-old Loop hotel were affected.

In the wake of the tragic blaze city officials ordered the immediate closing of two legitimate Loop theaters and five night clubs because of alleged failure to comply with fire and building code regulations.

Five nursing homes also were ordered closed but action was delayed pending arrangements for new quarters for the inmates.

Meanwhile a "blue ribbon" inquiry of 11 engineers, safety architectural and hotel management experts probed the conflagration, seeking to determine the cause and

'Amber' Remains Popular in Pampa

Seemingly, "Amber" is the most popular heroine in your public library.

Local library reports still show a large number of requests for Kathleen Winsor's best seller, FOREVER AMBER, and it ranks in popularity with many of the newer books.

Librarians assert that, although FOREVER AMBER is still ranked three of the top ranking books are THE EGG AND I by Betty MacDonnell, THE FARMER TAKES A WIFE by John Gould, and THE RIVER ROAD by Frances P. Keys.

Current motion pictures seem to boost the readership of books. Librarians say. Such is the case of DRAGONWYCK by Anya Seton and CLUNY BROWN by Marjorie Sharp.

Other outstanding novels, according to reader reports, are THE ARCH OF TRIUMPH by Eric Hamyque, THE GAUNTLET by James Street and THE BLACK ROSE by Thomas Costain.

Boyce House books were listed among those which are frequently read are books by George S. Perry, THE TEXAN IN ENGLAND by J. Frank Dobie is also increasing in popularity with Pampa readers.

BIRTH OF MISCHIEF by Rafael Sabatini is high on the list for men readers, who also read frequently from the Southwestern shelf which includes such books as THE CHEROKEE STRIP by James Markes.

These are just a few of the current books in the Pampa Public Library. Almost each time you visit there, new books have been received, filed and ready for you, the reader. Visit the library and even if you cannot find a new heroine to your liking, there is always "AMBER"—now and forever.

Heated Refrigerator Ignites Lint, Burns

Want to know how to keep cool when fighting a fire? Just ask Pampa firemen, who extinguished a blaze caused by a defective refrigerator motor at the residence of L. R. Gise, 910 N. Gray, last night.

Fire Chief Ben White said the refrigerator motor evidently became hot and ignited lint inside the motor box, causing damage to the walls of the room where the ice box was located and also smoke damage throughout the house.

No one was home at the time of the blaze. A neighbor turned in the alarm when she saw the smoke.

The refrigerator, now definitely cool was totally destroyed.

Chief White asked that residents take special care to see that motor boxes of all type are kept free of lint and other inflammable substances.

Mexican Federation Calls Off Strike

MEXICO CITY—(AP)—A country-wide work stoppage, scheduled for Friday in protest against rising costs, has been called off by the Mexican Federation of Labor in response to an appeal by President Avila Camacho.

The union announced that it would send representatives to confer today with the president, who has promised that the government will do all it can to improve conditions.

WALL STREET
NEW YORK—The slide of stock prices from recent high leveled off today's market and an assortment of industrials managed modest advances.

A number of early gains ranging to more than two points were trimmed or erased in later dealings. Several rails stayed on the outside throughout the session.

Profit-taking appeared to have dwindled, brokers said, while optimistic customers were encouraged by the lack of sustained liquidating pressure on recent downturns. Doubts over pending labor-management disputes inspired caution, and bidders were hesitant.

Volume continued light with transfers approximating 1,000,000 shares.

Best performers included American Woolen common and preferred, Western Union "A" (on a rate increase approval), Wyandotte, Wested, the Public Service of N. J., Dow Chemical, Texas Company, Du Pont, Allied Chemical, American Can, Johns-Manville, J. I. Case, Douglas Aircraft and American & Foreign Power. Generally lower were American Announcing...

THE GREATEST BAKING POWDER IMPROVEMENT IN 50 YEARS!

BETTER BAKINGS 3 WAYS!

1. BETTER LOOKING!
THE FOOD CALCIUM in the new KC permits more even distribution of the fine, active ingredients throughout the baking powder. This promotes more uniform appearance everyone enjoys.

2. BETTER TASTING!
FOOD CALCIUM in KC prevents the "overpowering" of the rich natural flavor of other ingredients in your bakings. There's no bitterness or "Soda Taste" when you use the new KC.

3. BETTER FOR YOU, TOO!
KC makes everything you bake with it a valuable source of FOOD CALCIUM—adding 2 to 5 times more FOOD CALCIUM than the fresh milk used in a baking, depending on the recipe. Thus KC joins milk as a fine source of this vital food element.

GET NEW KC TODAY!
The first time you use it you'll learn why it has been called the greatest baking powder improvement in 50 years.

Make This Home Recipe To Take Off Ugly Fat

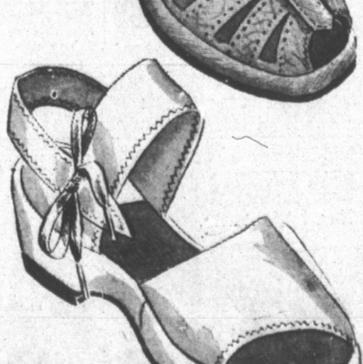

It's simple. It's amazing, how quickly one may lose pounds of bulky, unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this recipe yourself. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. It contains nothing harmful. Just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Barconate (formerly called Barcol Concentrate). Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Then take two tablespoonfuls twice a day. That's all there is to it. If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow the easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloated disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

Player Strike Is Facing Owners of Pittsburgh Team

By ARDEN SKIDMORE
PITTSBURGH—Major league baseball faces the threat of the first union strike in its history here tomorrow night in a scheduled game between the Pittsburgh Pirates and the New York Giants.

Robert Murphy, ruddy-faced labor relations director of the American Baseball Guild, announced last night the Pittsburgh Pirates had voted unanimously not to take the field against the Giants unless Bucs' officials meet their demand for an immediate collective bargaining election.

He said he would telephone President William Benswanger today and ask him for his decision.

Only dramatic eleventh-hour session in the Pirates clubhouse kept the strike from coming off before last night's game with Brooklyn, which the Dodgers won, 5-3.

The rapid-fire developments followed a breakdown on a conference earlier in the day at Benswanger's office, during which the Pirate management suggested the Guild issue be deferred until the baseball season is over.

High Grade Soaps Are Made From Waste Fats

Scarce high grade soaps and soap takes can now be made from household waste fats and other crude grease, as the result of a bleaching process developed by The Matheson Alkali Works.

Before the war, refined tallow was used to make high grade soaps, and the harsher laundry soaps and flakes for kitchen use were made from crude grease. When the shortage of fats and oils made it necessary to convert higher grade tallow to edible grades, it became necessary to find some efficient means of making the crude fats suitable for high grade soaps. This was made possible by bleaching process which uses sodium chlorite.

So the more bacon drippings and other waste fat you turn in to your butcher, the better chance you have soap flakes!

Chicago Comes Up With One of Top Relief Men

Emil Kusch, a local boy from Chicago's North Side, who waited nine long years to make a boyhood dream come true, was rivaling the Boston Red Sox' Earl Johnson as the number one relief pitcher in the major leagues today.

Not since Jack Russell, whose yeoman relief work helped the Chicago Cubs win the 1938 National League pennant, have the Bruins boasted such a brilliant rescue artist.

His work at rescuing other hurlers has been so consistently good since he won his first game the second day of the season, that now Kusch finds it next to impossible to get a starting berth.

Kusch gained his fourth victory without a defeat yesterday—all of them in relief roles—as the Cubs shaded the New York Giants 6-5 to move into third place in the National League pennant race.

His three-inning stint raised his season total to 31 frames in 11 games in which he has allowed but 24 hits. Johnson, also a war veteran, has won up only 14 hits in 30 innings, but has appeared in only eight rescue roles. The Red Sox southpaw also boasts a 4-0 won and lost record.

The Cubs, however, could gain no ground on the pace-setting Brooklyn Dodgers and second place St. Louis Cardinals who won their games.

With few of the '26,026 Forbes Field fans knowing that only an hour before the ar-light contest was scheduled to start, the Pirate players had threatened to strike over a demand for union recognition.

Led again by the power hitting of Third Baseman Tony Range, Pampa's Oilers quashed any fire the Berger Gassers might have had in them last night as they jumped on four Gasser hurlers for 23 hits and a 2-3 victory.

Range got one of each type of hit—a single, double, triple and home run—in his six trips to the plate and batted in four runs, one less than Emmett Fulenwider.

In addition to Range's circuit clout, Jack Riley hit his sixth homer of the season and Fulenwider hit his tenth. Range's four-bagger was his third since joining the Oilers.

Warren Hacker pitched eight-hit ball to register his ninth triumph against no losses and strengthen his position as the league's leading hitter.

Hacker was seldom in trouble. The Gassers bunched two hits only once—in the fourth and the eighth. One of the hits was a home run by Manager Ted Clawitter.

Clawitter, if nothing else, was the most versatile player in the game—playing catcher, third base, second base and pitching.

Bob Decker, Berger third baseman, received a badly cut ankle on a play at third base, and had to be taken out of the game.

Price Control

 OPA would be established with power to overturn the price administrator's refusal to lift controls from any specific commodity.
 4. "Cost absorption" would be out. CPA would be forbidden to interfere with normal markups and discounts of wholesalers and retailers of so-called "reconversion items." These include automobiles, refrigerators, radios, washing machines and similar items whose war-time production was curtailed 25 percent or more by government order.
 5. The $2,000,000,000 in subsidies requested by OPA would be cut to $1,100,000,000, with a provision that no food subsidies could be paid after May 1, 1947. If the decontrol of meat and dairy products stands up in the senate, the food subsidies probably will be cut to about $400,000,000 for the 10 months. The subsidies are paid to growers and processors to make up for higher production costs not passed in to the public in the form of increased cel-ing prices.

 6. OPA's controversial "map" (maximum average price) order, designed to keep the manufacture of low priced clothing going, would be repealed.
 7. OPA could not put any item under control which was not controlled May 1 this year, and could inaugurate no new subsidies.
 8. Items not important to living costs or business costs must be taken out from under price control by the end of this year.
 CPA officials estimated the ban against cost absorption on reconversion items would cost consumers an extra $500,000,000 a year, with the increase for automobiles alone aggregating $400,000,000. But spokesmen for the automobile industry took exception to this. They contended production could not exceed 2,000,000 cars this year and said the average increase would be about $75 a car.

Maritime

 discuss as well their course of action if next week's strike of CIO seamen and dock workers materializes.
 As maritime labor troubles spread rapidly, the news in Washington included:
 1. Eastern ship operators last night rejected the latest undisclosed offer of the CIO National Maritime union. It was believed to call for overtime pay after 44 hours a week at sea, instead of the original union demand of 40 hours. The operators insist on the present 56-hour standard work week at sea.

 2. The house labor committee scheduled a meeting to discuss the whole maritime situation. This was the first official action on Capitol Hill with respect to the threatened strike.
 3. President Truman called on the CIO maritime unions and the employers to "buckle down and settle this matter through collective bargaining."
 He said in a statement late yesterday he thought it could be settled in that way. Declaring that the labor department is handling the dispute, the President added all seeps by other agencies are "purely precautionary."
 Mr. Truman already had said the government will run the ships if necessary.

 4. The CIO unions published full-page advertisements in several newspapers asserting that "the threat of a strike will disappear overnight if the ship operators offer something reasonable" on a shorter work-week aboard ship and higher wages.

 becomes his personal property.
 The first-place national winner, and enviable prize for a boy, even in America, is a 4-year college scholarship to any recognized state college or state university. The second prize will be a Chevrolet 4-door Stylemaster sedan.

 There will be numerous other prizes to be offered at Akron, and other prizes are also planned for the local races.
 Grammer warned all the boys who wish to enter the races that the time is drawing near for the closing date for entries. It will be within a few days, he said.
 All boys are urged to attend the clinic at the Palm room, tomorrow at 5 o'clock.
SHORT AND LONG TERMS

 the reasons why the flames spread so rapidly from the lobby up the stairways.
 The first three floors of the hotel were engulfed in flames a few minutes after the blaze was discovered, trapping scores. Fire damage was confined mostly to the lower six floors. Damage to the upper floors was caused chiefly by smoke and water.
 Of the 58 dead, all but four had been identified, while 22 of approximately 200 injured remained in hospitals. Four reportedly were in serious condition.

Leaves From a Correspondent's Life Notebook

(Editor's Note: Boyle's column today is in the form of a letter to his wife, Frances.)
 By HAL BOYLE
 BASEL, Switzerland—(P)—This is the "golden gate" to Switzerland. They call it the "golden gate" because it is the trade center leading into the heart of the biggest little country in Europe and it plays a steady tune for the Swiss national cash register.
 An American here is more privileged than in his own country. He can eat better and sleep better, if he wants anything from steak to silk stockings it is here for the money. The only hitch is that the American dollar enjoys no extra purchasing value as it does in France and Italy. The Swiss franc is the soundest and most sought after currency in Europe.
 Food is rationed but there is no real lack of anything except coal. Everyone is happy except some of the more militant feminists. They are angry because the world's democracy hasn't seen fit yet to give them voting rights.

 The Swiss are extremely conscious and go in heavily for culture as well as commerce. Base, a town of 170,000 population, has an art museum which would be the boast of any American metropolis 10 times its size.
 It is an incredibly neat and clean town, situated on hills overlooking the Rhine river. There has been a settlement here since Roman times, but Basel first gained business importance in 1225, when Bishop Heinrich Von Thun built a bridge across the river and thus made the town the economic key to the whole area.
 One-third of all trade traffic in and out of Switzerland passes through Basel.
 Silk ribbon manufacture used to be the main industry here, but then you girls started wearing your hair short and Basel had to switch to another industry—chemicals. Large quantities of DDT are now manufactured here, and the city is trying to replace bombed out Leipzig as Europe's leather and fur center.
 You can cream shortening or sugar by working the foods until they become soft and fluffy.

Gracie Reports

Well, I see that an unidentified man in Philadelphia stole a trolley from a car barn, made a trip through the city picking up three passengers and then disappeared. His actions may seem peculiar, but I understand them perfectly.
 Gracious, I suppose the Philadelphia trolley system must be like all other trolley systems, and for years this poor sufferer might have put up with motomen who went blithely past his stop and changed their bell when he had a headache. Also with conductors who gave him the wrong transfer and mumbled "blugh" when they were supposed to announce "Spruce Street."
 If this unknown hero's idea catches on, people who have spent hours in a restaurant watching the waiter sleep will sneak in after the place is closed and serve themselves a meal. And I shudder to think what the people who elected certain senators might do.

From Sept. 1, 1939, to the end of the war, the motor truck industry produced 2,600,000 trucks and military vehicles. Including parts, this represents an output value at $8,600,000,000.

Palmitier and Sons Can Make Your 'Bus' New

Have you been unable to find someone to overhaul your diesel engine? Or perhaps your automobile needs a new overhaul job on the wheezy old engine. Well, there is a place here in Pampa where you can get a complete overhaul job on any kind of engine you might have, whether it be gas, gasoline, or diesel. Where is this place you ask? Why just you drive down to 317 South Cuyler or phone 1785 and you will find that Palmitier and Sons are located there.

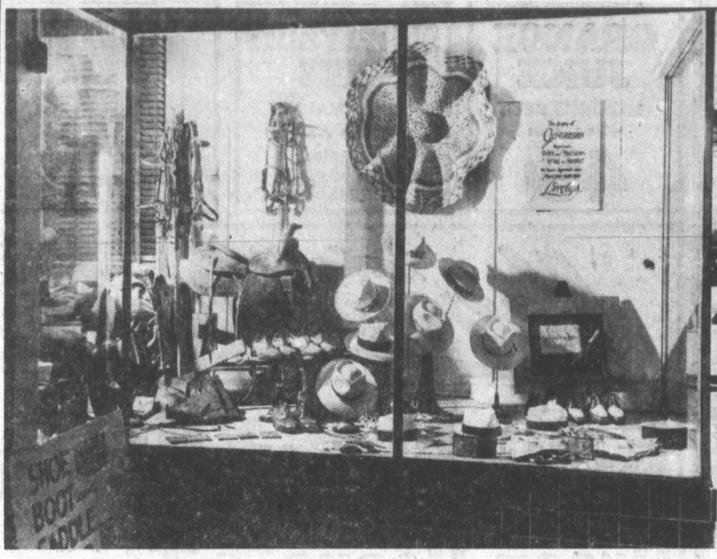

Frank Palmitier is the senior partner, and Dewey Palmitier is his junior partner, of a business which began around January 1, 1945. Their specialty is overhauling oil field pumping engines and automobile engines.

Since they began business in 1945, the Palmitiers have begun a new and very profitable service, which has brought them a great deal of new business. They have installed a new pickup service on pumping engines anywhere and anytime. They pick the engines up at their location, take them to their shop, make the necessary repairs, and return them to their original location.

Dewey has recently returned with an honorable discharge from the armed forces. Before entry into service in 1941, he was employed by Jones Everet Machine Co. as assistant to the shop foreman. Frank and his family have resided in Pampa for the past 13 1/2 years, and during this time he was employed by the Danciger Refinery as mechanic foreman.

This firm solicits your patronage and assures you of excellent service and parts.

Not only do they have clothing for men, they also have bridles and other leather work of finest design and construction. Ohio Professor New Director at A. & M.

COLLEGE STATION—(AP)—Effective September 1, Dr. Robert Donald Lewis of Ohio State university will become director of the Texas Agricultural Experiment station at Texas A. & M. college.

Dr. Lewis has been professor and chairman of the Ohio State university department of agronomy since 1940. He is a recognized seed authority and well known for research in hybrid corn development.

The present system of punctation grew out of a system developed by Aldus Manutius, Italian scholar and printer, who printed Greek classics on his press at Venice in the 15th and 16th centuries.

Gifts that dad will appreciate for their quality and endurance, with plenty of good looks besides. Shop Lively's for that summer or fall suit which you have wanted for so long. And while you are at it, you should buy a pair of Jarman's shoes and a new hat to wear with that suit. You can be sure of satisfaction if you shop at Lively's. S. J. Russell is in charge of the leather shop. He is well-known to the people in the Panhandle, as he has been in that shop for the past twelve years. Customers from every city in the Panhandle have their orders in at Lively's Leather shop.

NLRB Investigates 'Unfair Practices'

SAN ANTONIO—(AP)—Investigation into charges of "unfair labor practices" against the strike-bound Longhorn Portland Cement Co. here has been started by John W. Thomas, field examiner for the national labor relation board office in Fort Worth.

The strike began April 5 when 138 union workmen walked off their jobs in a strike against the company's refusal to negotiate a 15-cent-an-hour wage increase.

PEG'S FLEET OF MODERN CABS SERVES YOU

Pictured above is Peg's Cab, located at 221 North Cuyler, with a line-up of the cabs, and Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Whittle, owners, standing in the center.

Peg's Cab has regular 24 hour service which is always dependable and reliable. They maintain their own repair service, in order to insure good mechanical condition at all times.

As in the past, it is and will be the policy of Peg's Cab to continue to call customers mornings and if they like, they can leave their call at the office, or phone in. It is their desire to maintain quick, safe, and efficient service to all customers.

Peg has been in the cab business in Pampa for 14 years. He has ordered short wave radios for every cab, which will work in the same manner as police radios, which will enable drivers to pick up customers without returning to the stand. These radios will not interfere with others, as they will be on an entirely different wave length. Whittle is a member of the Knights of Pythias, and his cab company sponsors a bowling team, of which he is a member.

Bowl Regularly For Your Health

Need some exercise to work off that middle-aged paunch? Are your evenings spent sitting at home wishing for something to do? You're missing the thrill of a life time, by not going down to the Pampa Bowl, located at 112 North Somerville. Not only can you have lots of fun, but you will probably see people you haven't seen for quite some time, and you are sure to get some very health-giving exercise.

M. M. Rutherford and O. V. Petrie purchased Pampa Bowl July 1, 1945, and since have improved the interior of the building and now boast one of the most modern bowling alleys in the country. Since they bought the business, they have streamlined the entire housing unit, added new seats, built a masking canopy over the pin-setting machines, and replaced two alleys. They now have a total of eight alleys.

Perhaps you think you aren't good enough to play alone, or maybe you just don't want to play alone. If not, why not give a bowling party. They are a lot of fun, and you can work up some mighty good competition among your friends. Also, there are the regular leagues, which run for 35 weeks out of the year. About 100 persons participate in these regular leagues. According to the owners, the bowling population in Pampa compares with the national figures of 20,000,000 in the U. S.

So, go down to Pampa Bowl, after 1 p. m. and spend your whole evening there if you please. They close about midnight, so you can be sure of getting to play as long as you wish.

Story Told of Manila Hotel Homecoming

By JOHN WARD
MANILA—For Joaquin Paalis, it was quite a homecoming, that mid-February day in 1945. He leaped his Tommy gun against the shattered masonry which sheltered him from the rain of machine-gun fire from the Manila Hotel. A Sherman tank thundered down San Luis street toward the hotel, pulled up just short of the Dewey boulevard intersection and—at pointblank range—let the Japanese have it. A machinegun nest on the first floor of the east wing of the building was erased. A bazooka team wiped out another first floor position in the west wing. The boys of the 350th regiment, 37th division, closed in for hand-to-hand combat. Joaquin Paalis, pre-war recreation director at the hotel serving as a captain in the Batag Balani guerrilla company, watched the Yanks retake the building floor-by-floor and room-by-room. It was plain that all the 600 Japanese officers and men had elected

Suicide Rate Up 50 Percent Among Males in America

NEW YORK, N. Y.—Suicide, which showed a downward trend during the war, has increased in frequency since V-E day, according to a survey by the statisticians of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company amongst its millions of policyholders in the United States and Canada. Since May of last year the toll of suicides month by month has been higher than that for the corresponding period of the previous year. For the first quarter of 1946 the suicide rate was 7.8 per 100,000 as compared with 5.7 in the like period of 1945. The rate for March of this year, 7.9 per 100,000, exceeded that for any month in nearly five years. "The increase in suicide has been much more pronounced among men than among women," the statisticians comment, comparing the first quarter of 1946 with the same period of the year before and noting that the 50 percent increase among white males, with an upward trend in all age groups. Among white females the increase was only a shade over ten percent. "Some of the rise in suicides is undoubtedly attributable to the sharp cutback in industrial activity and

Research Program On Polio Started

NEW YORK—An intensive research and education program, aimed at making known still more widely the psychological aspects of infantile paralysis, is being developed by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, Foundation President Basil O'Connor announced today. Dr. Morton A. Seidenfeld, the organization's director of psychological service, will supervise the program. "There is little doubt that infantile paralysis possesses psychic components that must be heeded," Dr. Seidenfeld said. "We cannot merely treat or nurse bones, joints, muscles or nerve tissues as though they existed solely by themselves. The entire individual is affected by polio, and it is the entire individual consequent reduction in employment, while part of the return stems from the difficulties servicemen experience in adjusting themselves to civilian life following their release from the armed forces. Economic and psychological factors always play a large role in determining the level of the suicide rate. This upward trend is a radical departure from the experience following World War I. The end of that conflict came in November 1918 but the suicide rate continued to decline for the next two years. In 1921, however, the rate increased sharply, and after remaining at that level for about five years, resumed its upward trend until the early 1930's. Judging from the experience following World War I, it may be expected that the suicide rate in this country will rise to still higher levels. It's the swanky points, the places where you pay $3 and $4 for a dinner, and the night spots that we're having trouble with—because they feed high government officials, diplomats and foreign news correspondents—the kind of people the press listens to. —Walter F. Since the problem does not represent something isolated and affords no contrast to the balance of medical care problems in general, studies of the psychological effects are coupled with other investigations of the organic phase of medical treatment, it was pointed out. Conferences are scheduled with professional groups throughout the country to acquaint the physician, nurse, and physical therapist with the importance of working as a team in keeping the polio patient apprised of his chance for maximum recovery. At the same time, an education program for parents is being stressed concerning proper psychological attitudes toward the polio patient. Ready for a 'Good Dictator'?

Scores of people—and some are here in our own community—have been heard to say in recent weeks: "What we need for this situation is a good dictator."
By "this situation," of course, was meant the economic and political confusion in which we have found ourselves the past months. Our people have seen large businesses, in many instances those which form the basis of our economic system, seized by the government to curb the control of labor dictators.
What these people have said is drastic, but it is the sort of thinking we must ponder. We must ponder it because the fibre of our constituted democracy in all its ruling devices is being pulled to the breaking point. As James Thrasher of the NEA newspaper syndicate, said the other day: "This is an age of dictators. We and the rest of the world have seen them at their tyrannical, oppressive worst." And yet, he observes, obviously some of our people are getting in that frame of mind which would support a dictator if he would straighten us out in some of this confusion and work stoppage.
The processes of a democratic government are slow. Conversely, the efficiency of a dictatorship is quick to put reforms into practice. It is almost dramatic in its rapidity, so much so that it often "shows up" democracy in all its ruling devices.
But this is the price we must pay for our form of government. Our forefathers knew the system was slow, but they considered—and rightly—that the ultimate good it attained far outweighed those few attributes of dictatorship. Once a decision has been made in a democracy it is more representative of the people than any other form of government.
Hence, in our present crisis with labor leaders, the people as a whole must have a voice. If it is true—and we are certain that it is—that certain labor leaders have too much power when they halt the trains, or keep the men out of the mines, then there should be some changes made.
Under our particular form of government, it is up to the people to see that those changes are made. If they don't see it, then the country is getting ripe for a "good dictator."

Common Ground

By R. C. HOLLES
"I'd Push the Button"
I want to quote for several days from a speech made by a great leader, a man who is directing the greater part of his time trying to get people to regain some of the freedom they have lost and to get more freedom than they have ever had.
The address was made by Leonard E. Read at Detroit before the midwestern conference of the Controllers Institute of America. Mr. Read was formerly manager of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce but resigned to accept the executive vice-presidency of the National Industrial Conference Board in New York.
"If there were a button on this rostrum, the pressing of which would release all wage and price controls instantaneously, I would put my finger on it and push."
"This decision is not dictated by my having something to rent or something to sell on which I hope historical evidence which refutes the conclusions these questions imply."

"If these questions and their suggested answers be realistic, can we not assume that this city of Detroit, the greatest mass production center of all history, will in time become another Athens, different primarily in the type of antiquated art tourists will come to see? Or, as an alternative possibility, may it not liken itself to many European cities a haven for bureaucrats? The reason for the answers I get to these questions is that I do not believe automobiles will or can be produced under controls. They cannot be produced, except for the carry-over energy and machinery of the past, any more than automobiles were produced previously by Germany, France, Italy, Russia or Japan.
"Automobiles and other items of large-scale production cannot be mass produced except in a free market. Of course a market is not a market unless it is free. In the absence of a market there can be nothing but a bureaucratic system in which the subject is change as there is, determined by politics and favoritism. This latter system is what the American people are being asked to accept. They are being asked to embrace the idea for I am told the subject is controversial.
"Why, for instance, hasn't Russia mass produced good automobiles? Is it because the Russian people do not want them? I have noticed, when they come to this point, that their eyes sparkle when they entertain as much as the hope of having one. Is it because Russia is short of natural resources? She has more than we. Is it because the land is so fertile? The Soviets are lacking in fertile soils and friendly climates? She has these in abundance. Is it because she has no mass market? Actually, yes. But the lack of a market is due to the poverty imposed on her millions, not to any shortage of resources. There are more there than here. Is it because the people are indolent, lazy and without potential competence? They do as well in America as persons from any other country.
"It is the same as it is to the question: 'Why has Russia only one-sixth the standard of living of America?' That answer is, Russian citizens live under controls. Individual energies are not released. Decisions for daily, personal living rest with cops and councils. Authority for the discharge of responsibility does not reside in the person burdened with the responsibility. The Russians move as a herd—only as their shepherd directs. They do not act as persons exercising initiative. Self-direction, self-determination, self-reliance are concepts their powerful masters reject.
"Russia has as much as one-sixth of our standard of living because her controls are only five-sixths effective. She has a one-sixth leakage of free human energy—energy that has not been stamped out by cops and councils, and this is why more Russians do not starve."

for higher prices. It is not dictated by any employers of mine. It is dictated by my long-run interest as a fixed income worker, as a consumer, and as one asking opportunity for children and grandchildren.
"Here are my reasons for opposing wage and price controls by government fiat. (By 'controls' I mean decisions concerning the production or transfer of values that are enforced by the direct or delegated coercion of government.) Ask yourself, as I did, the answer to these questions. If we act as citizens of other countries have acted, isn't it likely that we should be burdened by the same economic results? For instance, will not the specialized, mass-production economy, from which so many economic blessings flow, if subjected to controls, run down, wither up, gasp, and actually, literally die? In its stead will we not get a de-generated economy, one of the primitive, self-contained types, one with some carry-over embellishments of the mechanical era, no doubt, but one, nevertheless, quite like those which have plagued most of the nations of this earth for the most of time when controls of one sort or another have prevailed? Is there any

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — This Alvanley Johnston and that Alexander Fell Whitney to whom President Truman gave such a terrible dressing-down in public are also cast as the villains in long-standing warfare that goes on beneath the surface of railroad labor brotherhood tranquility. It is a bitter jurisdictional and membership-raiding dispute with a long history. It was one of the principal reasons for the strike, though it has never come out in the open and has never been the subject of a dispute with railroad management.
In brief, the charges are that Whitney's Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen and Johnston's Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers are putting on big organizing drives raiding the other railroad brotherhoods and trying to gain control, or the dominant position among, all the so-called "operating" railroad men, meaning the people who run the trains.
Under such a setup, Johnston's B. L. E. would get all the men in the engine cabs—the engineers and firemen—while Whitney's B. R. T. would take in the rest of the crew—conductors, brakemen, switchmen, and dining-car stewards.
It is the belief of many railroad labor experts that Johnston and Whitney deliberately pulled their strike to get more for their members and so build themselves up as the real leaders among railroad labor. On that basis, the strike was merely a battle for power in union leadership, and these two men were willing to throw the country into economic chaos to aid their re-organizing drives.

WHITNEY AND JOHNSTON TRAVEL THEIR OWN PATH
Whitney and Johnston are the only two railway labor leaders whose brotherhoods are not represented in the Association of Railway Labor Executives. Leaders of the 12 brotherhoods which are in the association don't like to discuss this fight. They are a peaceful, decent bunch, and they don't think their dirty overalls should be washed in public. They believe that some day soon there will be new heads of the engineers and trainmen, and that then unity can be restored to the ranks of railway labor.
There is much more resentment against Johnston than there is against Whitney. Both men are CRISIS — High Washington officials, who do not know any more about secret Roosevelt-Churchill coups and negotiations than does the average American, have just learned how quick action by the American President probably saved the Allies from a crisis that might have meant an Axis victory or prolongation of the conflict for many years.

The British were standing with their backs to Cairo, the Nile and the Suez canal in 1942. Rommel had driven them across North Africa, and was poised for a campaign designed to conquer that vast and vital territory. Had he succeeded, he would have cut off the Persian gulf supply line to Russia. He might have forced Near East nations into the war on Hitler's side. He might even have joined up with the Japs in the Middle East or India.

WITHDRAWAL — Republican and Democratic senators have told the Truman-Byrnes intermediaries that the senate would not have ratified the United Nations charter if it had not been for our right to disapprove and thwart any decision which would involve us in another conflict.
The U. N. would have suffered the fate of the League of Nations without this protection, according to majority opinion on Capitol Hill. Russia's policy of expansion (or conquest) since V-J day has strengthened and confirmed this attitude. Senators still hope that the U. N. will work, and are willing to give it another try. But they will not agree to change in the charter, which will tend to tie America's hands or force us to agree to any decision inimical to our national interests.
Congress has become quite exasperated with the Kremlin as have the White House and the state department. Should the June 15 conference fail of agreement, and should Secretary Byrnes (threatened) reference of peace treaties to the United Nations assembly produce only innocuous debate and no definite results, a sizable number of congressmen are exercising initiative. Self-direction, self-determination, self-reliance are concepts their powerful masters reject.

UNIFORMITY — Although former Prime Minister Churchill proposed for a formal alliance involving the United States, Britain and Canada brought no direct response from the White House or the state department, the plan is to hold the soldiers of the three nations into an integrated whole.
DEFENSE — The U. S. has also offered to negotiate a hard and fast defense agreement with Ottawa under which this country will provide arms and finance Canadian preparations to resist aggression.
As a matter of fact, Washington furnished a great deal of the equipment for the recent Operation Maple, which charted the wastes of northern Canada from a defense standpoint. The RFC, or private firms underwritten by the government, will develop minerals across the border that have a military value.
Washington, Ottawa and London deny that this dovetailing of their military personnel and establishments is aimed at any other country. But Canada's strategic importance in any conflict on the top of the world has not been lost on the Russians. It is one of the many factors which has bred postwar suspicion and rivalry among the erstwhile Allies.

General Duty Nurse

By LUCY AGNES HANCOCK
Copyright by Lucy Agnes Hancock; Distributed by NEA SERVICE, INC.

CHAPTER II
THE STORY: Sally Maynard, popular nurse at Linton Memorial Hospital, overheard Norma Hobbes accuse her of being an "apple polisher." Evidently, she realizes Norma is angry because Sally has been assigned to replace her on the Hobbes case.
AT chapel next morning Sally sat in her regular place. Margaret Adams was beside her. The two had visited for a moment as they stood before the bulletin board exchanging items of news. Norma Holden hurried from the elevator and paused for a glance at the board then with a bare "Hi!" went on down the hall. Jim Hallock, senior interne, came in from a rear door and Norma greeted him with laughing enthusiasm. Apparently her ardor was not shared by the young man for he passed with a casual nod and dashed into chapel ahead of her.
Margaret said nothing. Sally was sure she wouldn't. Margaret never gossiped and Sally admired her for it as well as for other traits that had made her loved and respected by the entire staff. Now the superintendent approached from the rear, the two girls went on into the shabby chapel with its rows of chairs lately barely half-filled with nurses, doctors, internes and such of the employes as could be spared even for the brief service.
Seventeen stars studded the field of the service flag hanging on the wall behind the reading desk and unconsciously every eye seemed to focus there as the superintendent opened the psalter and read the morning lesson. It was a rather long psalm and Sally found her thoughts wandering.
This morning the chief of staff was present and Sally thought he looked very tired. No doubt he had been up and operating the greater part of the night. The resident and a visiting surgeon were beside him and on the other side of the rostrum were two strange men in Navy blue and wearing the insignia of the medical corps. Sally wondered if they were here to recruit more of the staff.
But if the staff was further depleted how was the hospital to go on? She joined in reciting the twenty-third psalm and at its close the older of the officers stepped forward and made an impassioned plea for recruits. Her eyes traveled around the sparsely filled room and she wondered if anyone there would sign up. They all listened attentively, but every one of those present realized the conditions existing in Linton Memorial—the only hospital within a radius of twenty miles. The hospital still maintained—in theory—its eight hour working schedule. Actually every one was on duty ten and more often twelve hours while the doctors seemed to work straight through the twenty-four. How was it possible to lose even one member of the staff and still run the hospital? Sally didn't know and as she watched Doctor Richards' face she knew he was wondering the same thing.

THE pale rays of early morning sun were filtering through the big stained glass window when Sally left the chapel and hurried along to the elevator which carried her to the third floor and her new assignment. It was barely seven.
"Good morning, Mrs. Hobbes," she greeted her patient. "I'm glad to have even this pale sun after last night's storm." She picked up the chart and saw that the lady had slept well—rousing but once when she demanded a hot water bottle and an alcohol rub. The woman watched her warily.
"I'm honored for an older nurse," she announced truculently. "You young girls have no patience or sympathy for what I am suffering. I'm paying good money for service and care and what do I get? Indifference, even neglect, or else a lot of platitudes fed me in a sugary voice that is simply maddening. I should have gone to Quaker City as my husband suggested, though I have a notion he wouldn't have to visit me so often. Men! She spat out the word as if she hated it. Sally listened with apparent attention but began mapping out her line of attack.
This patient must be handled with firmness—kindly but firmly. She saw that she had been on a very strict diet. Linton tried to satisfy everyone and usually succeeded. But in cases like this there was little to offer.

"I never eat much at breakfast," the woman said sourly. "And before I touch a mouthful I want a glass of hot water with the juice of half a lemon in it and I want it hot. Understand?"
"I understand," Sally said quietly. She brought up a thermos jug of hot water and a glass which contained the juice of half a lemon. She watched the patient sip the mixture with relish, then lowered her bed and helped her turn so that she could lie on her right side as she demanded. "And in half an hour you are to have a slice of toast and a cup of black coffee—no tea too strong. In the meantime I'll leave you to a nap."
"Where are you going?" Mrs. Hobbes snapped.
"Just down to the kitchen to see that your tray is right. Was there something I could do for you before I go?"
"I don't like being left alone. I think."
"I see," Sally said. "Then I'll call the kitchen and have a tray sent up to you. The speaking tube is in the corridor. If you want me just press the button. I won't be a fifty." She wondered why the patient didn't want to think to be alone with her thoughts. For a long moment there was quiet in the room and Sally slipped out to order Mrs. Hobbes' breakfast.
"Call bladder congestion—calculus—" No wonder the woman was bad-tempered and viewed the world through dark glasses. Poor soul! Sally determined to do her best at making Mrs. Hobbes' stay in Linton happier.

MACKENZIE'S Column

By DEWITT MacKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst
Those two better political opponents—England's socialists and the conservative Canadian Tories—found common ground in their feat that, as former Prime Minister Churchill puts it, "the seeds of a new world war are being sown in the areas under Russian influence in eastern Europe."
This general theme was emphasized by both parties in the full-grown debate on foreign policy in common the past two days.
By contrast, the Canadian Staff—the British debate on foreign policy came as France had just finished another general election and it was voting on the question of whether it should retain the monarchy or have a republic. Both these countries are vital strategic theaters in the European set-up, and in both of them the real question at stake has been the extent of the communist strength, which has been developing under an intensive and systematic red drive.
In France the communists sustained a set-back and there was a moderate swing to the right. In Italy the people chose a republic and the king is leaving his native land. The middle-of-the-road Christian democrats can't get well along. The socialists second and the communists close behind.
However, the important point to remember is that communism remains strong in both France and Italy.
Control of France might give Moscow domination of the entire continent. Domination of Italy might make a similar master of the Mediterranean theatre. Thereby severing Britain's life-line to the far east. It must be remembered that Moscow already controls Yugoslavia and Albania, and is leaning Yugoslavia's claim to the vital port of Trieste at the head of the Adriatic.
That is the background—grim background from England's standpoint—for the blunt debate on communism.
