

Former Assistant Chief To Observe His 77th Birthday

UVALDE, Nov. 21.—(P)—John Nance Garner, former vice-president of the United States, will be 77 years old Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 22, and Sunday he and Mrs. Garner will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary.

Garner was born Nov. 22, 1868 in a log cabin near Detroit, Red River county, Texas. He was the son of John and Sara Guest Garner, both of revolutionary descent.

He and Ettie Rheiner were married Nov. 25, 1895, when he was running for county judge. She worked closely with him throughout his political career, acting as his secretary in Washington.

She amazed the country by stating that as wife of the vice-president she spent probably $100 a year on clothes. She usually left Washington before her husband in order to get about the fruit canning and preserving at their fine, old-fashioned home here.

The golden wedding will be observed at the home where, since he retired from public life that cold January 20, 1941, when he administered the vice presidential oath to his successor, Henry A. Wallace, he has lived the life of a prosperous, healthy and happy rancher.

One of his few political contacts since then was with President Harry Truman. Truman stopped in Uvalde while campaigning for vice president. Garner met him at the train.

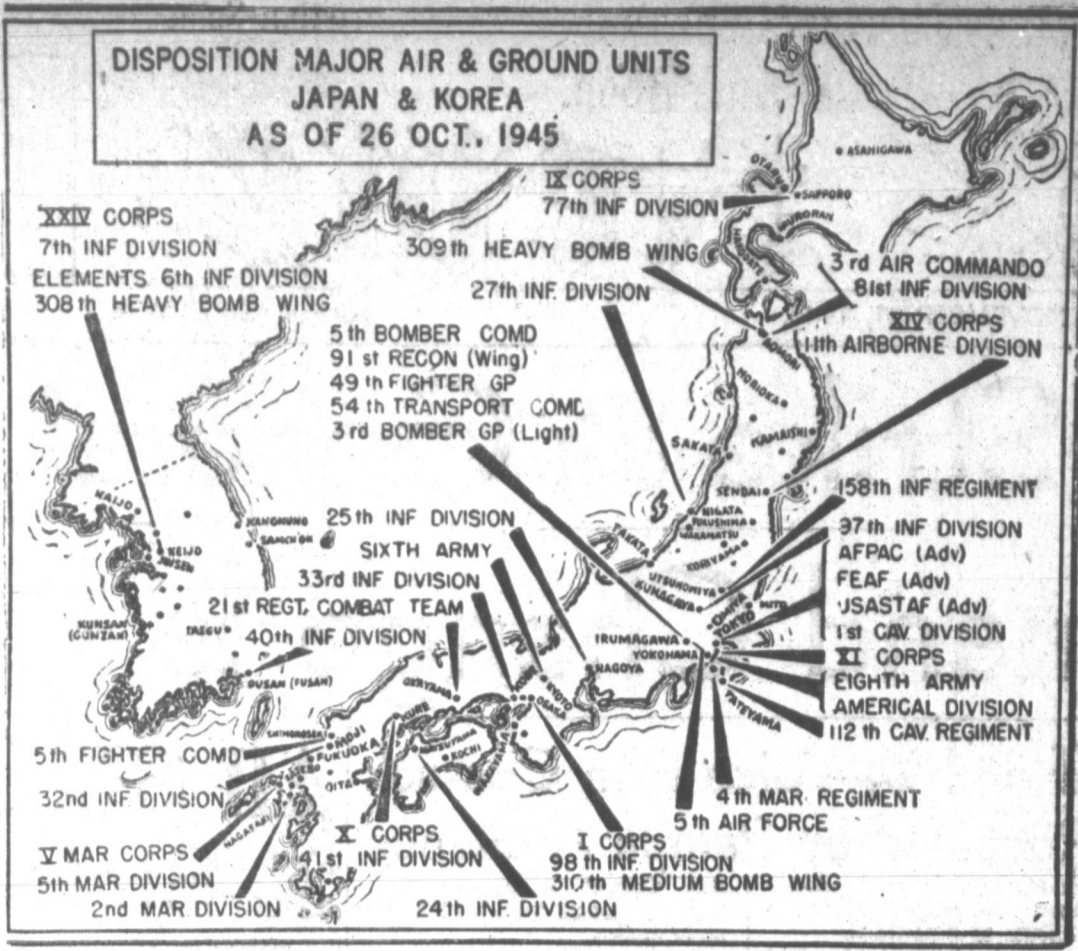

However, his public appearances and utterances have been almost non-existent, and Sunday's gathering of friends and relatives to honor his golden wedding anniversary will be one of the first he has attended since he left Washington for virtual seclusion here. He has consistently refused comments, interviews or pictures.

The golden wedding plans were announced by Tully Garner.

"STEPCHILDREN" OF FRANCE, by Charles Odie (Roy; $2.50). In this book a Paris doctor, an Arjan, describes from firsthand observation German treatment of Jews in France. Thanks to the press, we are already familiar with individual instances of atrocity. Odie takes another side: not the melodramatic slaughter, but the degradation into which Jews in general were forced, the revolting conditions under which they were imprisoned, the bestial filth in the midst of which they lived.

It's a tale to turn your stomach. Odie recounts scenes at the Beaume-la-Rolande, Pithiviers, Royallieu and Velodrome d'Hiver camps. Every sense of human dignity was violated abominably by the brutal nazis. Odie says, and sometimes

You're Never Too Young

They Used To: First bicycle, creation of M. de Siva, with foot-on-ground propulsion and untired wooden wheels, appeared in Paris in 1690. Highwheeler with strap iron tires laboriously nailed or riveted on was of 1865 vintage. Hard rubber tires were introduced in 1888, and riders jolted along until Dunlop's pneumatic was applied in 1888.

Later: Many an adult remembers necessity, after frequent roughening of areas around bicycle tire punctures and applying of vulcanized patches, of discarding the tire completely.

And Here's One For You: Life of worn tires can be lengthened by removing beading from another old tire and after shortening it slightly, inserting for a lining. Much more satisfactory than bumping along as they did from 1690 to 1888. This, says Roger Elliot, the Mystery Man of the MBS "House of Mystery," really works.

Your Mutual Minute of Prayer

O God, our refuge and strength, we thank Thee for the return of peace and the many blessings which Thou hast bestowed upon our country. Thanksgiving To Be Observed At St. Matthew's Thanksgiving Day will be observed with a Thanksgiving Eucharist at 10 o'clock on Thursday morning in St. Matthew's Episcopal church, 707 W. Browning street. It is expected that every communicant of the church will meet at that time to render thanks to God for the deliverance of the nation from the horrors of war and for the return of so many servicemen. A brief sermon will be delivered by the Rev. Edgar W. Henshaw on the subject, "Thanks for What?"

The general public is invited to attend this service, especially those who wish to give thanks to God for loved ones who have been returned to their homes or whose return is expected in the near future. In speaking of this special service, Mr. Henshaw says "I can see no reason why every man and woman who believes in God and acknowledges his goodness to our country should remain away from church on this day. We have set the service at 10 o'clock in the morning, and as it will only last one hour the people will have time to keep any other engagements. But, no engagement should prevent the giving of Thanks to God."

Cod Liver Oil Is New Beauty Aid

Cod liver oil has come out of the nursery and appears in the new role as milady's dressing table. For its first step into the sophisticated world, the oil retains its vitamins A and D, but, sheds the "fishy" odor and becomes an important ingredient in a sweet-smelling foundation liquid now on the market. Developed for use on every type of skin, the pink-tinged translucent liquid goes on smoothly and acts as a blending agent for powder and rouge. The cosmetic effect is on the dewy side, and powder adheres evenly, although yours is a normally oily skin. Four Harvester Regulars, Two Reserves May Be out of Game

Newhouser Is American League's Most Valuable

By JACK HAND
NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—(AP)—Hal Newhouser, 24-year-old pitching ace of the world champion Detroit Tigers, today added a second straight American league most valuable player award to his harvest of laurels.

The slim Detroit native who southpawed Steve O'Neill's Bengals to a pair of series triumphs, including the seventh decisive tilt with the Chicago Cubs, had a runaway in the voting of the baseball writers association.

Coulter, Giant Army Tackle, Named 'Best'

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—(AP)—Army's great line finally landed a hunk of individual recognition this week when Dewitt "Tex" Coulter, mountainous cadet tackle, was chosen by the Associated Press poll of the nation's sports writers as "line man of the week."

The hulking 223-pounder, who has played a whale of a game in each of his seasons, gained the honor in a wild balking spree in which three of his teammates also were nominated as outstanding in the Cadets' 61-0 triumph over Penn at Philadelphia. (Note: Coulter played on the great Massie Home (Fort Worth) team of 1940 that went to the quarterfinals before losing to the Amarillo Sandies. Coulter was named all state and also won high state honors in track and field events.)

Coach George Munger of the Quakers certified the verdict of the writers by singling out Coulter as the lineman who did the most to bash his boys into defeat. His two-word description of Coulter was "just terrific."

Commission Asks State Hunters To Be More Careful

AUSTIN, Nov. 21.—(AP)—Officials of the game, fish and oyster commission today warned Texans to be more careful to avoid further increase in hunting accidents.

Game wardens have reported that many apparent novices are affixed this year. Howard Dodgen, executive secretary of the commission, said that while the department has no means of collecting comparative figures on hunting accidents, apparently they have increased this year. It would seem so from newspaper reports, he said.

Tangled Threads Of World Affairs Shaping Future

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—(AP)—Keep an eye on the tangled threads which are beginning to stretch out into the future if you want to know what's happening, and why, as it happens.

It will help you see where you're going, where we're all going. Since Germany quit events have tumbled over one another. Some of them may not seem tangled, or even related. But they are.

Here are some: The atomic bomb, Russian influence in the Balkans, the United Nations, our trade program.

Remember some of the events in the 20 years before World War II: The armaments conference, the League of Nations, loans to Germany, the London economic conference which failed?

They were separated by time and seemed in a way unrelated. Yet the history books will show how each, by failing to do what it set out to do, led the World War II.

For months now, ever since the atomic bomb hit Hiroshima, we've been listening to a torrent of words on that weapon: We should keep it, we should share it, we should outlaw it.

And while we listened the foreign ministers of this country, Britain, Russia, France and China, met fruitlessly in London, and the United States and Britain continued to plumb Russia's intentions in middle Europe.

Meanwhile this country and others whipped up the United Nations, and now are ready to start it going, all for the purpose of making a better, saner world, prosperous and free from war.

And Russia eyed, and still eyes, our single control over Japan, which is in her backyard. She wonders where we think we're going in the Pacific, what kind of bases we want to set up within short bombing range of Russia.

We have laid down a policy on the bomb. Before there's any sharing of its secret, other nations, and this most definitely includes Russia, must give assurances they won't use it.

We don't trust anyone with the secret. Yet we're asking all others to trust us not to use it against them.

But what will Russia think of this? Would Russia come closer to this country and Britain—perhaps by some change in its interests in middle Europe—if we gave Russia the bomb secret as a mark of confidence in her?

Or will Russia, feeling that the western allies refuse to trust her, plunge more strongly than ever into setting up a string of bomber states in the Balkans, under Russian domination?

The history of the world may revolve around Russia's moves from now on, and Russia's reaction to the bomb decision may be reflected in the United Nations.

Stubbornness or distrust by the western allies on one side and Russia on the other could wreck the United Nations.

Texas Today

By JACK RUTLEDGE, Associated Press Staff

An unexpected postwar development is the almost amazing shortage of men's clothing.

Shirts, underwear, suits — you can't even find them with radar. James V. Lovell, back from the wars and writing again on the Dallas Times-Herald, devoted his first column to it. He said if he hadn't been lucky enough to have some civilian clothes in storage he would have had to stick to khaki with the insignia ripped off.

"The shortage," he says, "is not exactly a surprise for veterans. At separation center, the orientation officer gave us a 30-minute lecture on the pitfalls of civilian life. . . . He described the empty racks and predicted some of us might be forced to continue wearing Uncle Sam's garb. . . . He said nobody would be able to tell us from Texans, anyway."

Even the double threat of a clothing shortage and of looking like Texans failed to discourage the separatists. Practically none, he said, volunteered to join the regular army.

Fat men are lucky. Dallas stores say. Once resigned to long search for suits that fit, they're now finding it easier to shop than men built like Clark Gable.

Average sizes, from 36 to 42, are practically impossible to find, but there are a few off sizes scattered around.

But down in Brownsville, the police stepped in and found clothing for five men. They had to.

Five Mexicans were robbed of $60 and all their clothing in Matamoros across the Rio Grande from Brownsville, and then forced to swim the river to the U. S. side.

Officers hastily gathered new wardrobes for the naked five as they sheepishly established a beachhead in Texas.

The clothing shortage may or may not have had anything to do with it, but Robert N. Beville of Denton has enlisted for the third time. He said he'd tried civilian life twice and prefers the army, where he has spent seven years so far.

NEWS OF OUR MEN AND WOMEN IN UNIFORM

PLAINSMEN DISCHARGED

The naval officers from the Texas Panhandle recently were released to inactive duty in the United States naval reserve and two navy petty officers received their honorable discharges.

The officers are: Lt. Comdr. N. H. W. Ritchie, Paloduro and Lt. Orville W. Matheny, Berger. Both received their orders to inactive duty at the naval separation center at San Francisco.

The petty officers, both discharged at the naval separation center, San Pedro, Calif., are Wilburn Price, MM2-c, Amarillo, and Denney Herbert, CM1-c, New Town tavern, Pampa.

MIAS "LAST SWEAT"

With the Army Forces, Western Pacific, Manila—Pvt. Frank G. Rickert, Jr., who hails from Plainview, Texas, is attached to the 9th Replacement Depot, near here, where he is awaiting transportation to the United States and subsequent discharge from the army.

Pvt. Rickert, the son of F. C. Rickert Sr., of 311-11 St. in Plainview, attended Kinkaid high school and was employed as a member of the police department in Pampa, Texas.

Inducted into the army in Feb. 1943, Rickert, upon completion of his training, sailed overseas from San Francisco. Since that time he has participated in the fighting on Iwo Jima in the Philippine Islands. Mrs. Lucille Rickert, his wife and their three children, Betty, 8, Francis 5, and Elaine 2, reside at 513 South Gillespie street in Pampa.

ON FURLOUGH

Clyde M. Coble, Cox, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Coble, returned home Nov. 12 on a 30-day furlough. He arrived in the States Nov. 8 from the South Pacific where he served for 25 months.

Coble left Saturday for Eldorado, Kansas, to visit relatives, is expected to be back again today. He will report to the Oklahoma City station Dec. 11 for further orders.

IN JAPAN
Claude R. Coble, Rdm2-c, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Coble, who has been overseas since the first of the year, is now stationed in Japan.

Sgt. L. T. Scott, son of Pete Scott, Pampa, on Sasebo, Kyushu Island, Japan, writes his father Pete Scott that according to all the scuttlebutt, and noticing all the changes around the station, he expects to be heading stateside.

"Don't think—that this is any paradise," Scott writes. "Hell, I wouldn't trade a farm in Arkansas for the whole damn island." The odors on the island are terrific, due, Scott writes, to the "funny ideas these people have about sanitation" and the "larger towns (which are) bombed all to hell."

"There isn't enough chow on this rock to feed a Marine regiment for two days. I have watched these people fish all day long for a dozen minnows too small for catfish bait. They eat 'em guts and all. We think the Negroes on the plantations were poverty stricken—they were rich compared to these Nips." Sgt. Scott, 37, is with the Fifth Marine division corps, has been in the service for six years.

Lt. Joseph F. Lewis
Lt. (jg.) Joseph F. Lewis, 24, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe H. Lewis, star route 2, has been put on the inactive list by the navy at the separation center in New Orleans after over three years of service, including eight months overseas duty.

He served as a naval aviator from December, 1943 to September, 1945. Before entering the service Lt. Lewis was engaged in farming to which he plans to return. His wife lives at the above address.

If we could get the people to adopt the safety principles that are demonstrated by racing drivers on the speedway, it would reduce the number of (traffic) accidents more than any single factor I might mention—Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker, chairman, American Automobile association contest board.

Three Nip Cities Escape 'A' Bombings

AUSTIN, Nov. 21. (AP)—Only a radio message prevented the atomic bombing of three additional Japanese cities, Capt. Gene Fleweller of Big Spring, a bomber pilot, told the Austin Kiwanis club.

Capt. Fleweller said a radio message turned back planes which were carrying the deadly missiles intended for three Japanese communities including Isezaki, a suburb of Tokyo. His plane was over Tokyo at the time of the Nagasaki bombing. Hiroshima and Nagasaki were bombed by atomic missiles.

FISH GOES FISHING

PORT ISABEL, Texas, Nov. 21.—(AP)—William Bledsoe, 74, is nursing four broken ribs, the result of an encounter with a six foot tarpon. Bledsoe was sitting in his skiff fishing when something hit him so hard it knocked him out of the boat. When he climbed back he found a 125 pound tarpon flopping around.

Coast guardsmen who saw the incident and went to Bledsoe's assistance verified the fact the fish had not been hooked. It was believed it struck at the reflection in the water of the outboard motor.
