By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON, Nov. 16—(AP)—Russia holds the key today to success or failure of the Anglo-American atomic control program. American officials say the next move is up to Moscow.

French Unable To Reach Agreement; De Gaulle To Quit

PARIS, Nov. 16—(AP)—Gen. de Gaulle's office announced today that the general had decided to resign as interim president of France because of his inability to compromise differences with the communist party and form a coalition government.

De Gaulle's decision grew out of a demand of the communist party for most important single political group in the newly elected constituent assembly, for key cabinet posts in the proposed three-party coalition government.

Texas Masons May Build New Temple

Increase in membership of the Masonic lodge in Texas has reached an all-time record since 1944, Grand Master Bascom Giles told Masons of Pampa and vicinity Wednesday night while on an official visit to the Pampa chapter.

Total membership is now 145,000, with a 15,000 increase of members during the past year in the 900 Masonic lodges under the jurisdiction of Giles.

Recommendations for a new million dollar temple to be built at Waco to serve as the annual meeting place and to house the offices of the grand lodge officers were made by Grand Master Giles.

He suggested that a memorial hall be included in the plans to preserve the military records of over 25,000 master Masons who fought in world war I and II. Giles said that almost unanimous approval has been given to the recommendation of building a new temple.

It will be discussed at a Grand Lodge meeting within the next few months said Giles, adding, "I know that public sentiment is such as will approve the plan."

Principal work of the Masonic lodges during the past two years has been with the 15,000 servicemen who are Masons in Texas.

A barbecue was held in honor of Giles, prior to the meeting. From Pampa the grand master and state land commissioner, was scheduled to visit lodges of Amarillo, Lubbock, and Colorado City, and to return to Austin Sunday.

Industry Leaders Will Reveal Stand On Issues Today

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16—(AP)—Industry delegates to President Truman's labor-management conference promised to make known today their stand on the collective bargaining issue.

Indications were it might take the form of a counter proposal or amendment to a request by CIO President Philip Murray that the conference approve bargaining within the framework of the administration's broad wage-price policy; raise wages generally without increasing prices.

Ira Mosher, president of the National Association of Manufacturers, told newsmen management's "100 percent" view would be presented to the conference executive committee at its closed meeting today.

Presidents William Green of the AFL and John L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers have objected to the CIO resolution if it can be construed as holding collective bargaining within the boundaries of the administration wage-price policy.

Green told reporters no labor representative could object to the idea of endorsing collective bargaining on wages as a principle.

Many management delegates also seemed willing to concur on a general statement of that sort.

The executive committee decided yesterday to speed up the conference by insisting on final reports by Saturday night from the six working committees.

Firemen Extinguish Blaze on Somerville

Firemen extinguished a blaze at the rear of the residence of Bob Robinson, 311 N. Somerville, at 12:30 today.

The fire was apparently caused by a spark from a burning trash barrel at the rear of the Worley hospital. Main danger of the blaze was several barrels of turpentine in the back yard of the Robinson home. These, however, did not explode.

A few bottles of turpentine and oil were burned.

BIG BEND MEETING

DALLAS, Nov. 16—(AP)—Texas and Mexican delegates gather here today for the Big Bend Trail association meeting.

The group plans to elect officers and develop a concrete program.

Reds Fire on Train Loaded With Yanks

SHANGHAI, Nov. 16—(AP)—The U. S. China theater headquarters reported today that a train bearing Maj. Gen. Dewitt Peck, First marine division commander, was under fire from a communist-occupied North China village yesterday.

General Peck, uninjured, requested that U. S. planes strafe the village if the firing continued, headquarters disclosed.

WANGING ISSUED: Lt. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer, commanding U. S. forces in China, in a careful reply authorized "appropriate military action," but only after "considerable" warning to the village and adequate precautions to avoid endangering innocent persons.

Headquarters was unable to confirm Tientsin reports that marines aboard the train returned the fire.

The report of the attack was received by Wedemeyer from Maj. Gen. Keller Rockey, commander of the Third amphibious corps. Rockey's message said the train was en route from Tangshaw to the coal port of Chingwangiao, and that a village 600 yards north of Wlanhsien.

Rockey instructed Peck to send an emissary to the village to inform the communist leader that "if firing continues I will order an air strafing mission against the village."

RAILWAY MINED: Rockey's message also reported that 300 yards of track and roadbed of the railway had been destroyed by mines, causing several casualties among Chinese workers. No American casualties were reported.

Associated Press Correspondent Owen Clements, at Tientsin, said travelers reported the marines aboard the train returned the fire, but marine headquarters remained silent.

MARINES STILL ARMED: Wedemeyer told a news conference today that the task for which

British Control German Property

LUENEBURG, Germany, Nov. 16—(AP)—The British military government took over possession and control today of all property owned by the German armaments and steel producing firm of Friedrich Krupp of Essen, its subsidiary and affiliated undertakings.

The military government has appointed a controller with headquarters in the head Krupp office at Essen. He was placed in immediate control of all assets of the Friedrich Krupp plants which are in the control occupation zone.

The present management will be dissolved. Persons holding managerial positions will be required to place themselves at the disposal of the controller and carry on their duties until further notice.

Only yesterday, the provincial government of Saxony in the Russian occupation zone announced the expropriations of the properties in Saxony of the German industrial magnate, Friedrich Flick.

Ernst Krupp von Bohlen und Halbach, guiding head of the great arms and steel works during Hitler's early years, is under indictment as a war criminal but the international military tribunal at Nuernberg postponed his trial indefinitely yesterday because the industrialist has "senile softening of the brain."

A United States motion to substitute Alfred Krupp, present head of the firm, as a defendant, still is pending.

KPDN To Broadcast Pampa-Borger Game

Radio station KPDN will broadcast a play-by-play, description of the Pampa-Borger football game direct from Bulldog stadium at Borger tonight. John Michel, station executive, announced today.

Bob "Pappy" Watson will handle the play-by-play, with the broadcast starting at 7:45. Kickoff time is scheduled for 8 o'clock.

Pearl Harbor Group Hears Admiral Inglis

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16—(AP)—The navy ordered the conveying of merchant shipping in the Pacific 13 days before the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor, a senate-house inquiry committee learned today.

Admiral T. B. Inglis put into the record of the disaster investigation a copy of an order issued Nov. 25, 1941, by Admiral Harold E. Stark, then chief of naval operations.

ESORT PROVIDED: Stark instructed naval officials at San Francisco to route all merchant shipping on a southern route and to "provide necessary escort."

Inglis testified copies of the order went to Admiral Husband E. Kimmel, commander in chief of the fleet at Pearl Harbor, and others.

NO GERMAN SUBS: In a series of rapid-fire questions, Stark testified that the order went to Admiral Husband E. Kimmel, commander in chief of the fleet at Pearl Harbor, and others.

Van Mook made his statement at a press conference at a time when Indonesian resistance was officially reported to be slackening at battered Soerabaja before the assault of tanks, guns and planes of the slowly advancing British Indian troops.

The acting governor general expressed disappointment that the Indonesians had been unable to attend a meeting last night under the chairmanship of Lt. Gen. Sir Philip Christison, Allied commander in the NEI, and said it was imperative in the interests of Indonesia as a whole that both sides cooperate to keep order and prevent the economic ruin of Java.

An official British summary today said there was "nothing to report" on the situation at Soerabaja. A summary of yesterday's fighting said the resistance of the 15,000 Indonesians in Soerabaja "decreased" as the Indian troops expanded the area under their control. Indonesian sniping and sporadic mortar fire continued.

The Hilversum radio quoted a dispatch of the Dutch News Agency Aneta as saying 3,000 British-Indian troops landed on Sumatra without Indonesian opposition and began rounding up Japanese at Padang and Palembang. The dispatch said "it is hoped a second Java will be prevented."

Kramer Is Convicted By Military Court

LUENEBURG, Germany, Nov. 16—(AP)—Josef Kramer, commandant of the Belzen and Oswiecim prison camps, and the two other main defendants were convicted by a British military court today of committing atrocities and brutalities.

The other two also convicted were Dr. Fritz Klein, 22-year-old blonde Irma Grese, chief among 44 SS guards tried in the nine-week trial.

The court is expected to sentence the three tomorrow. Sentences may range from fines and imprisonment to death by hanging or shooting.

Mook Calls Meet Of New Indonesian Cabinet Members

BATAVIA, Nov. 16—(AP)—Hubertus J. Van Mook, acting governor general of the Netherlands East Indies, called upon the new Indonesian national cabinet tonight to meet him in an informal discussion at the earliest possible moment, in an effort to save Indonesia from further bloodshed and threatened famine.

Van Mook made his statement at a press conference at a time when Indonesian resistance was officially reported to be slackening at battered Soerabaja before the assault of tanks, guns and planes of the slowly advancing British Indian troops.

The acting governor general expressed disappointment that the Indonesians had been unable to attend a meeting last night under the chairmanship of Lt. Gen. ### Japanese Waiting For Return To 'Homeland'

FUSAN, KOREA—(AP)—Long lines of hungry Japanese men, women and children wait steadily here for ships to carry them back to Japan, the "homeland" which many have never seen.

Koreans scream at them spitefully. "You are trying to carry our country away on your backs!"

Returning ships from Japan unload thousands of Koreans in the greatest two-way mass migration in modern Asiatic history, ending 35 years of Japanese control over Korea.

More than 247,000 impressed Korean laborers have been brought back from Japan. Some 257,000 Japanese, including 90,000 troops and 158,000 civilians—have been ferried to Japan.

"We still have about three thousand Japanese soldiers and anywhere from a hundred thousand to five hundred thousand more Jap civilians to get out of this country," said Maj. John M. Wilson, operations officer for the 40th division.

Committee To Hear Nimitz Tomorrow

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16—(AP)—General Eisenhower said today that unless the armed service are placed under a unified command "we may enter another emergency, in a time to come, as we did at Pearl Harbor."

The European theater commander told the senate military committee in prepared testimony that "this nation must preserve a balanced, adequate measure of our land, sea and air power lest we lose the peace we have so dearly bought."

In World War II, he said, the United States had to achieve the change from joint to unified command "the hard way." He added:

NO JOINT COMMAND: "I know that our efforts would have met with failure without unity of direction. No system of joint command could possibly have brought victory to our cause."

Shortly before Eisenhower testified, Senator Hill (D-Ala.) said Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, Pacific navy commander who flew to Washington for a naval conference, would appear before the committee Saturday (9 a. m.).

NIMITZ TO APPEAR: Nimitz is expected to attempt to refute Eisenhower's statements since the navy bitterly opposes any merger of the armed forces.

Eisenhower said unity of land, sea and air forces under his command "was not easily achieved." He added that he thought the "difficulties" grew directly from the traditional separation of the army and navy which is the inevitable outcome of the present organization of our military departments.

"Separation at the top necessarily fosters separation all along the line."

UNIFIED DIRECTION: He said, "one of the major consequences of the present organization is that the navy bitterly opposes any merger of the armed forces."

He said, "one of the major consequences of the present organization is that the navy bitterly opposes any merger of the armed forces."

British Take New Precautions on Palestine Front

JERUSALEM, Nov. 16—(AP)—British authorities took new precautions to halt illegal immigration into Palestine today as Zionist leaders deplored a two-day reign of violence in Tel Aviv estimated to have caused more than 100 casualties and $800,000 property damage.

With quiet at last reported restored to the troubled city, Isaac Ben-Zvi, chairman of the Jewish national council, issued a statement attributing the riots to "irresponsible youths" and declaring they were "highly detrimental to the Jewish cause."

At the same time the pro-Zionist Palestine First declared editorially that all responsible Jews strongly disapproved the outbreaks in Tel Aviv. Describing the rioting as "a shoddy episode," the Post said:

"There is no Jew worthy of the name but will dissociate himself from fascist terrorism which swoops and strikes where the victims are few and defenseless."

New emergency regulations, published last night in the official Gazette, put new teeth in the British campaign to halt illegal immigration. The regulations empower any British soldier, Palestine police officer or village headman to arrest any person they reasonably suspected of being an illegal immigrant and gave police officers power to board and inspect ships or planes suspected of carrying smuggled immigrants.

King Declares Navy Unfit for Major Battle

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16—(AP)—The navy's chief of operations told a congressional committee today that the United States navy is not now prepared to fight a major battle if it were necessary to do so.

The statement was made by Fleet Admiral Ernest J. King in response to questions by house military committee members after he had endorsed universal military training legislation.

King had commented that the rate of demobilization of the navy had resulted in disintegration of units. Asked by Rep. Leroy Johnson (R-Calif.) if the disorganization was such as to render the navy unable to fight a major battle "immediately if necessary," King replied: "I don't want to have to say 'yes' to that question."

"The navy, the admiral said, is not 'the going concern' it had expected to be because of speedy demobilization and "it is more or less disintegrated."

"I don't want to be taken too literally on that," he cautioned, "but I don't know any other way to express it."

KEY MEN DEMOBILIZED: Many key men in units have been demobilized, the admiral explained, and heavy training legislation, while fighting units may be up to their usual complement in actual numbers of men, he pointed out, these complements do not constitute what the navy knows as "ships companies."

Earlier King told the committee the atomic bomb in its present form "cannot prevent fleets from operating."

Testifying in support of President Truman's request for "universal military training legislation, the five-star admiral said he believed it is essential that "our fleet be capable of prompt expansion from peace strength to war strength."

Admiral King said he doubted that the atomic bomb as it now exists can destroy a fleet properly disposed at sea. At Hiroshima in Japan where the first atom bomb was dropped, he said "the destruction radius was about a mile and a half."

The navy, he said, can readily arrange fleet formations "to insure that not more than one or two ships would likely be lost through attack with an atomic bomb," and that a result would not put the attacker in the view of great cost of these bombs and the small amount of material available in the world for making them."

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON
Scripture: Acts 11:19-30; 12:24-13:4; Ephesians 4:11-16
By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.
"Outreach" is a good word for the Christian church. It began in outreach; it spread to the ends of the then-known ancient world; and in every age when the life of the church has been active and true to the spirit of the early church and its founder, outreach, missionary enthusiasm and activity has been its deepest characteristic.

Sunday Study Topic
"Mortals and Immortals" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, Nov. 18. The Golden Text is: "Flesh and blood cannot inherit the kingdom of God; neither doth corruption inherit incorruption—For this corruptible must put on incorruption, and this mortal must put on immortality." (I Corinthians 15:50-53). Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "For they that are after the flesh do mind the things of the flesh; but they that are after the Spirit the things of the Spirit." (Romans 8:5). The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Mortality man is the antipode of immortal man in origin, in existence, and in his relation to God" (page 215).

Holy Communion To Be Celebrated at Zion Lutheran Church

Now! Clean your lamp bulbs and fixtures for BETTER LIGHT
Summer time is outdoor time. Little lighting is needed during these long pleasant evenings. But even now the days are growing shorter, and before long you'll be moving indoors to the fireside, with bright-eyed youngsters home from school and evening studies.
Time now to look over your lighting fixtures and lamps—time to dust off the dust. A few strokes with a damp cloth will easily remove the film of dust that absorbs a lot of the light you should be getting... light you're paying for.
Soap and water may be necessary to clean kitchen or porch ceiling fixtures which cannot be dusted frequently. (Always be sure to disconnect lamps or cut off the current before cleaning lamps and fixtures.)
To get MORE of the LIGHT you are paying for:
Rub a damp cloth over lamp bulbs and reflector bowls for more light to help you see better. Dust can hold back as much as 25% of the light from a bulb.
Use white-lined shades; brush silk shades; reline parchment shades, using good white paper and scotch tape. Some shades may be painted inside with flat white paint. Be sure shades are right size.
Be sure that lamps have proper size bulbs. Eyesight is just as important as ever, so protect it.
Arrange your lamps and furniture so each lamp can, if necessary, serve two people with equally good light. Sitting closer to a properly shaded lamp gives you more light.

Vase Can Be Turned Into Lamp

To drill hole in vase, oil spot in exact center and rotate point of file slowly between palms and hands.

By JACK B. CRAMER Author "Handy Household Manual"

Drilling a hole in the bottom of a china vase to make a lamp out of it is tough going for an amateur, but it can be done.

Before tackling, consider the easier trick by using an ordinary picture and running the cord down the back of the vase, anchoring it at the bottom with scotch tape.

Do you still want to drill? Well, arm yourself with a little turpentine, a small three-sided file and a huge supply of patience. Turn the vase bottom-side up, rest it on a soft surface, oil it with a few drops of turpentine. Then, stick the pointed end of the file on the spot and rotate the file slowly between the palms of your hands. This should get you somewhere, but not fast. Add more turpentine at intervals, and proceed for hours with extreme caution.

Pre-Nuptial Tea and Shower Given To Compliment Miss Zena Gierhart

Miss Zena Gierhart was complimented with a pre-nuptial tea and bridal shower which was given Sunday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Cleo Whiteside, 214 N. Starkweather, with Mrs. Whiteside and Miss Dona Purley as co-hostesses.

Miss Gierhart is the bride-elect of D. V. Biggers, and the wedding ceremony is to be performed Nov. 22, in Shamrock. Announcement of the engagement and approaching marriage was made recently at a meeting of the Upsilon chapter of Beta Sigma Phi, when the bride-elect passed the box of candy in the traditional custom of the sorority.

In the receiving line were Mrs. Whiteside, Miss Gierhart and Mrs. Oscar Hinger of Borger, sister of the honoree.

The bride-elect was presented a corsage of white chrysanthemums, and others in the house party received corsages of yellow chrysanthemums.

Miss Evelyn Thoma entertained with violin selections.

The entertaining rooms were decorated in blue and white, with arrangements of white 'mums and blue candles.

'Party Line' Is Reviewed When Arts Club Meets

Mrs. N. S. Daniel reviewed "Party Line" by Louise Baker for the Lefors Fine Arts club and guests in the homelike laboratory on Tuesday evening. Misses Geraldine Pratt and Ferne Holland were hostesses.

Mrs. R. F. Calvert gave a review of the author, a native Californian who has been a reporter, a teacher, and staff member of the Samuel S. Pels Research Institute at Antioch college.

Mrs. Daniel said, "In listening to 'Party Line,' a symbol for the social intrigues of a small town one gets a candid portrayal of a period in American history. This is a heart-warming story of the 'ethics' of a village telephone operator, Miss Elmira, a warm-hearted tyrant, who has served for 43 years."

Rose and white chrysanthemum formed the centerpiece for the lace covered serving table. Mrs. Calvert and Miss Zona May presided at the tea service.

Guests were Mrs. J. A. Williamson and Miss Doris Williamson of Long Beach, California, Mesdames R. J. Bright, L. O. Horn, L. H. Berryman, Maurice Armstrong, L. R. Don Cossacks Will Sing New War Songs Which Originated in Russia

It takes a chorus such as the famous General Platoff Don Cossacks to give full flavor to the various war songs that have recently come out of Russia, such as Lev Knipper's "Meadowland," Bogoslovsky's "Beloved City" and "Borodino," a Russian cavalry song, all new Soviet soldier songs that only the true soldier knows how to sing.

Thus, these doughty one-time cavalry officers, seasoned fighters of the Steppes, inject an excitement into their singing that is difficult to describe. With their massive virile tone, they strike fire in the hearts of their hearers. Only the decorum of the concert hall keeps the audience from joining in. But rousing cheers are the aftermath.

Clad in their shiny regimentals of black and red, their blouses of red, blue, white, interchangeable for the different sections of the program, their black riding-boots glistening with polish, their caps at a saucy angle, they make a bright spot of color on the concert stage.

Small wonder that the chorus receives such a rousing welcome from our men in the armed forces.

Since the lifting of the ban on marriage for its members, the organization now counts eight happy Benedicts. All but one married American-born girls. Just why the marriage-ban existed in the first place is a bit of mystery. One explanation had it that it was bad for the morale of the men to pine for home and children when they went on their world tours—and it is impossible to take the women folk along.

The eight now married have taken out their American naturalization papers, intending to make this country their home.

This band of magnificent vocalists certainly has roamed the world. They have sung in 63 different countries and on every continent of the globe. Before the war in the Pacific, the members met General Douglas MacArthur in the Philippines, and were photographed with him and the former Philippine Commissioner Paul McNutt.

"General MacArthur came to hear us four times—he is a fine man," said the leader, Nicholas Kostrukoff.

When the chorus was in Japan in 1938 the Cossacks learned that half the proceeds from their concert was to be used in the war on China, they, to a man, refused to sing a note.

The General Platoff Don Cossacks first came to the United States in 1899 and made their triumphant debut at the San Francisco Exhibition. Since then they have traveled annually from coast to coast. This fine organization will be in Pampa next Tuesday.

Admission to the concert is by membership card. Anyone desiring any information regarding this admission may contact the secretary, Mrs. Carl J. Wright, whose telephone is 2135.

ANTICLIMAX TO VICTORY

Enough evidence has accumulated since V-E Day to permit the reluctant opinion that the American military government in Germany has missed doing the job that it set out to do and that was expected of it.

Perhaps it is foolhardy to venture a black-and-white opinion on a complicated situation from a distance of several thousand miles. But events of the last seven months tell a story of something considerably short of success.

There was, for instance, General Patton's amazing press conference which preceded his dismissal as Third Army commander. Later developments have indicated that his unconcern with the denazification program was not unique. Light-hearted toleration of Nazi thought and Nazi party members apparently has been the chief factor in the unhappy difference between American policy and practice in Germany.

Then there was General Eisenhower's report of growing unrest in the American zone, which he admitted might develop into organized revolt. There were stories of "fraternizing" GIs and American officers with German mistresses, absorbing Nazi viewpoints from companions still saturated with Hitler philosophy and Hitler worship.

Now one American correspondent in Germany writes that the army is eager to wash its hands of the whole matter and act mainly as a police force while a civilian staff takes over the job of governing. Another correspondent reports that, having accomplished virtually nothing toward re-educating German youth, we have turned that important task back to the Germans.

The explanations for this apparent failure reach from the brass hats in Washington to the doughface in Frankfurt. It seems that there are disagreements between top figures in the army and in various government departments. It also appears that General Eisenhower is having trouble in putting his policies into practice.

It is not beyond comprehension, either, that the same staff of officers who carried out a brilliant strategic program to complete victory might lack the understanding, training and inclination to carry out a program of military government with intelligence and efficiency.

Then there is the anxiety of the forces in Germany to come home, and the government's effort to bring them home as quickly as possible. This seems to have cost the American command abroad some experienced officers, and to have left it with a good many restless, discontented enlisted men.

All this is disquieting news to anyone who believes that to allow the German national mentality to remain in arrogant, contemptuous, unpurged and unchastened is to threaten world peace. Before Germany's defeat almost all Americans, military and civilian alike, believed that. There were great plans to insure that "it would never happen again." Now those fears and plans seem to be pushed aside for more immediate matters.

It is clearly time that a civilian government took over for us in Germany. We can only hope that it will do a more thorough job of denazifying and re-educating, and that it isn't tacking the job too late.

AMERICA IS TAKING THE INITIAL STEP IN SOCIALISM-DIVIDING OF LAND COMING

The Harrodsburg (Ky.) Herald

As a country turns toward socialistic practices, the ultimate goal is always socialization of land. We saw this in Russia, and now in staid old England, which in its last election voted definitely for socialization of banking, mining and railroads. It is rumored that plans are under way for a beginning in the dividing up of land.

Here in the United States, while we have felt secure in the private ownership of property we have fostered gigantic plans for the Federal socialization of electric power and many other activities. There is now "political" pressure for Federal housing, Federal financing of every kind, and even Federal feeding of many persons. All this will supplant private enterprise and state and local governmental authority in looking after the needs of local citizens.

Now comes the inevitable—suggestions for government ownership of land in the United States. Of course, it is just a small cloud on the horizon at present, but so was government in other lines of business a few short years ago. With so many other nations definitely committed to socialization, and with strong political pressures in our own country, landowners who have smugly sponsored socialization of other activities, can well begin to consider to what extent they will be permitted to enjoy the private ownership of land in the years ahead.

When a nation starts socializing its natural resources for building power dams, land is the king-pin of them all. So don't be over-complacent with your belief that it can't happen here—it is happening here, right under your nose, and coming closer to your hearthstone every day by building dams.

NEW JUSTICE FOR THE GERMANS
(New York Sun)

Few of the actions taken by the Allied Control Council since it assumed power over Germany are likely to have a more lasting effect than the basic reform of the German judicial system embodied in its Proclamation No. 3. It not only sets up a strong judicial system predicated on the equality of all persons before the law but would take Germany away from the position of the codes of Napoleon on presumption of guilt or innocence to the Anglo-Saxon premise that a man is innocent until he is proved guilty. It is a tribute to the basic justice of the Anglo-Saxon system that Russia and France, although they, like many European countries, follow the Napoleonic code, concurred in the council's decision to base the new German system on the other concept. By scrapping the Nazi system of courts, outlawing decisions based on "analogy" or "sound popular instinct," and guaranteeing democratic rights to speedy, public trial, with proper counsel and the assurance that none may be deprived of life, liberty or property without due process of law, Germany can build a new legal structure on a sound, democratic base.

HOLLYWOOD—Producer Arnold Pressburger wanted four young ladies to disport themselves clad only in filmy slips in the waters of a sylvan pool for a scene in "A Scandal in Paris." Four young Indies—Barbara Bates, Cindy Carter, Dawn Kennedy, and Maureen O'Connell—were auditioned and were made in quite an intimate manner by the studio's casting director, Florence Tannen. Each was asked to state frankly if she thought she could play the scene with a slip as her sole article of wardrobe on the upper body, nothing else. The choice four assured Miss Tannen that they could. On a file card for each young lady, Miss Tannen made a simple notation: "Measured up. Can swim too."

WASHINGTON BY RAY TUCKER

RETIREMENT—Henry A. Wallace's friends have slipped word to democratic wheel horses on Capitol Hill that he may resign from the cabinet soon after the first of the year or early in the spring. The very suggestion of his voluntary retirement, coming in the wake of his own recent demonstration of their ballot-box strength, has caused consternation among the Trumanites.

The secretary of commerce is obviously unhappy in his present post. As only one of two top-flight Roosevelt hangers, he regards himself as an unappreciated orphan in the presidential family. Fellow cabinet officers do not talk his language or dream his dreams. He cannot forget that he might have been President had it not been for the opposition of men around the White House and the machine politicians he despises.

He can be more effective and outspoken critic of the administration from the outside. He can, if the opportunity and Mr. Truman's future policies give him encouragement, angle for the 1948 presidential nomination with the same sort of radical backing he had in Chicago in 1944.

STRIPPED—Mr. Wallace entertained bright hopes of transforming the department of commerce into a dynamic agency, as F. D. R. had promised that he would be permitted to do. But the unit is even more moribund than ever before in its innocuous history and that includes the soporific reign of the late Daniel C. Roper.

He has been stripped of power and jurisdiction in both the domestic and foreign fields. He has lost control over small business and the disposition of surplus consumers' goods. Congress has cut his appropriations and even democratic committee members have berated him during recent appearances on Capitol Hill. The world trade he had expected to nurse along will be supervised by other agencies with more conservative viewpoints.

SHIFT—His vice presidential rival at Chicago, James F. Byrnes, intends to retain a firm hand on exports because of their effect on the diplomatic situation. Mr. Wallace has not been asked to sit in on financial negotiations with England or Russia, although these decisions will affect his department.

His "Good Neighbor" policy in China and South America has blown up in the flames of civil war, revolution and Argentinian recalcitrance. Some responsibility for the disturbed conditions has been attached to his do-good philosophy.

Nevertheless, his quitting in a huff frights the Hanneganites lest it confirm liberals' suspicions that Harry Truman is not another Franklin D. Roosevelt. Tentative plans contemplate shifting him to some honorific post in the United Nations organization or a proposed world food administration.

Peter Edson's Column: ABOUT THESE KIDS OF ATOMIC SCIENCE

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Temporary head of the new federation of atomic scientists is Dr. Lyle B. Borst, a 32-year-old Ph. D. from the University of Chicago. During the war he worked on the atomic bomb project at the Clinton Engineer Works, Oak Ridge, Tenn.

Borst is a pleasant but undistinctly looking young man. He is slender, almost flat chested, of medium height, wears gold rimmed spectacles and combs his black hair straight back over his high forehead.

"My name is anonymous—you never heard of me," he told a small group of congressmen gathered in the house caucus room to hear what scientists thought of the administration's May-Johnson bill for the future control of atomic energy. The long and short of it is that they don't like this idea of having the military forces dictate what shall be done. They don't like the idea even a little bit, and they say so in no uncertain terms.

Young Dr. Borst was backed in this position by three other and more experienced scientists: Berlin-born Dr. Leo Szilard, one of the pioneers in atomic energy development who worked on the project at both Columbia and Chicago universities; Dr. Harold C. Urey, Nobel prize winner of Chicago; Dr. J. C. Stearns, dean of the science faculty at Washington university, St. Louis.

DAY-BY-DAY COUNT ON WASHINGTON'S ACTIVITIES GIVEN

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON.—It has taken a committee of the house of representatives, republicans and democrats, to inject some sober truth into the story of the plight of the German people.

Writing a report that is unanimously signed by all 18 members, the house committee of which Representative William M. Collins, Democrat, of Mississippi, is chairman, tells the world that the cruelty being inflicted upon the German people is something that should weigh heavily on the conscience of the American people and their allies.

"If a 'hard peace,'" says the committee report, "requires the elimination of 8 or 10 million of Germans, it would be much more humane to eliminate them at once. The antipathy to theories of racism includes an antipathy to the theory of racial guilt. Those Germans who will suffer will in the main be the very old who generally opposed Hitler and the very young who were hardly responsible for him."

"It would not be feasible to make Germany pay for the war without reconstituting its industries beyond the point needed for the support of the population at a minimum level. The committee warns that the prospect of a catastrophe in middle Europe will impose a further heavy burden on the taxpayers of the United States and upon our occupying armies, if the present contradictory directives stress reparations and the elimination of all industry that can even indirectly support a war as against the necessity for a minimum standard of living for the German people."

"The committee cannot refrain from asking the simple question: 'What incentive under this plan exists for Germany to turn to democratic ways?' The committee would like to recall the origins of the Nazi movement in the disintegration of Germany during the period of inflation after the last war. The plight of German cities will certainly be worse this winter unless fuel and food are provided on a scale beyond that presently planned."

The foregoing is no surprise to those who followed minutely the events after World War I when the plight of the allies directly aggravated the German people to accept the domination of the military group in a desperate attempt to restore their economic equilibrium.

After Yalta, the same warning was issued in these dispatches and likewise after the Potsdam conference. It is remarkable that an official committee of the American congress should so soon after the war proclaim to the world such a frank criticism of allied policy which, if it follows the pattern after World War I, may sow the seeds of World War III and again cause the American people to make sacrifices of blood and treasure.

The committee points out, in effect, that the American people will be held responsible, for we have allowed the Russians to partition Germany and strip the country of food, which is but another way of saying the American taxpayer must pay for the looting done by the red army of the food needed to keep the German from starving.

The committee points out that to strip Germany of her transportation equipment and the machinery of her factories beyond the point recommended by General Clay's advisory committee of experts, can mean "only one of two things: (a) that a considerable part of the German population must be liquidated through disease, malnutrition, and slow starvation for a period of years to come, with the resultant dangers to the rest of Europe from pestilence and the spread of plagues that know no boundaries; or (b) the continuation both of large occupying forces shared parts of the secret for over three years. They have had time to ponder these problems and they feel now that they must inform the public and lead the public.

THEY SOUGHT ACTION LAST WINTER

Some of the leaders among these young scientists to their military authorities last winter. Their idea was that plans should be made then for the control of atomic energy after the war was over. They were told not to concern themselves, that the subject was in good hands. So the young scientists went back to their job.

When first drafts of the May-Johnson bill for the control of atomic energy were made public early in October, reaction among the young scientists was spontaneous. At the four atomic research centers in Los Alamos, N. Mex., Oak Ridge, Tenn.; University of Chicago, and the Manhattan Engineer district of Columbia, Yale and Princeton, local organizations were formed to work for a better national understanding of the issues involved.

"We are babes in the woods," Dr. Borst confesses frankly. As proof that the mere pretense of communication with Washington is unusual, Government employees are not supposed to lobby on legislation affecting their own work.

World Today

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

The atomic energy proposal of the United States, Britain and Canada is the most striking peace offer of history.

Had Hitler, even after defeat was treading on his heels, acquired this knowledge and been able to produce atomic bombs, he still could have conquered the world. And yet the United States, England and Canada, being first in possession of this terrific weapon, are asking other nations to join with them in rendering it innocuous.

Will this offer be accepted? How much suspicion or heart-burning has been developed abroad since the first atomic bomb was used in war has dropped on Hiroshima. That's only three months ago, but doubts are like mushrooms—they grow fast.

Of course the proposal is directed mainly towards Russia. It's the old question of Big Three solidarity again. If Moscow agrees, then we can feel assured that the world is rolling along the broad highway of lasting peace. For as the all-powerful Big Three go, so will go the rest of mankind as things now stand.

This is so because, as so often said, the Big Three have the physical strength to enforce peace against all odds. There is no essence we have the real defense against the atomic giant—the prevention of war.

This obviously is a critical moment. Peace is walking the tight-rope. But you know, I believe she will make it. She will unless some fool starts to joggle the rope.

I like General Eisenhower's attitude on this question. Testifying yesterday before the house military committee in Washington he declared that if he thought another war was inevitable he wouldn't be there.

"I would have jumped right out of my plane over the Atlantic," he said.

to hold down "unrest" and the affording of relief mainly drawn from the United States to "prevent actual starvation."

Very soon if the American news photographers do an honest job, as there is every reason to believe they will, the American people will see movies of starving German men, women and children which will rival in their horror the pictures of the Buchenwald concentration camps where Germans tortured German-Jews. But these will be pictures of torture inflicted by reason of an allied policy of indifference or misguided revenge or plain blundering.

New Treatment Of Pneumonia Has Cut Death Rate

NEW YORK, N. Y.—The modern treatment of pneumonia has reduced the death rate from the disease by more than two-thirds in the past eight years, report the statisticians of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company. Termining this reduction in mortality "one of the phenomenal achievements of modern medicine" the statisticians note that in the decade of the 1930's death rates from this disease hovered around an average of 75 per 100,000 among the company's industrial policyholders; in the first nine months of the current year the death rate was down to the record low figure of 20 per 100,000.

The decrease follows the improvement in methods of treating pneumonia—specific serum therapy, which began to come into general use in the early 1930's, and was almost altogether supplanted in the late years of that decade by the sulfa drugs and even more recently by penicillin. The statisticians give credit to the part played by serum in helping reduce this mortality, pointing out that "as increased quantities of the serum were manufactured and distributed, as the efficacy of the treatment was demonstrated, as increased facilities for pneumococcus typing became available, and as physicians learned the technique of administering the serum, increased control was gained over pneumonia."

While the death rate from pneumonia for the greater part of the 1930's averaged around 54 per 100,000 a drop from an average of 75 which prevailed during the previous decade, the statisticians hold "as particularly noteworthy the sharp drop in mortality from 56.1 per 100,000 in 1937 to 40.8 per 100,000 in 1938, before the sulfa drugs were used to any appreciable extent. After the introduction of the sulfa drugs toward the close of the decade, and after the discovery of penicillin more recently, chemotherapy has been used very widely with splendid results."

Officially the army dental corps is 44 years old but its officers were not granted equal rank with those of the medical corps until 1917.

Report On the War
 By George C. Marshall
 General
 Biennial Report of the Chief of Staff of the U. S. Army 1943 to 1945, to the Secretary of War
 Published by NEA Service, Inc. in co-operation with the War Department

This is the fifth of 42 installments of material selected from General Marshall's report on the winning of World War II.

ence that our resources would be concentrated first to defeat Germany, the greater and closer enemy, and then Japan.

First Plans for Invasion

In April 1942, President Roosevelt directed me to proceed to London, accompanied by Mr. Harry Hopkins, for a conference with the Prime Minister, the War Cabinet, and the British Chiefs of Staff, regarding the tentative plan for the invasion of the continent in a cross-Channel operation. There a general agreement was reached that the final blow must be done to reduce the English Channel and eastward through the plains of western Europe. At that time the Red Army was slowly falling back under the full fury of the German assault, and it was accepted at the London Conference that everything practicable must be done to reduce the pressure on the Soviet lest she collapse and the door be opened wide for a complete conquest of Europe and a probable juncture with the Japanese in the Indian Ocean.

In the discussions at this conference, a tentative target date for the cross-Channel operations, designated by the code name ROUNDUP, was set for the summer of 1943. However, the immediate necessity for an emergency plan was recognized. It was given the code name SLEDGEHAMMER and was to provide for a diversionary assault on the French coast at a much earlier date if such a desperate measure became necessary.

In June, the Prime Minister and General Sir Alan F. Brooke, Chief of the Imperial General Staff, returned to Washington for a further discussion of SLEDGEHAMMER and a possible operation in the Mediterranean. During these discussions, the Allied situation in North Africa took a more serious turn, culminating in the loss of Tobruk. The discussions thereafter were devoted almost exclusively to the measures to be taken to meet the threat facing Cairo, Rommel's forces having been checked with difficulty on the El Alamein line. Further advances by his Afrika Korps, with its Italian reinforcements, and German successes along the southeastern portion of the Soviet front threatened a complete collapse in the Middle East, the loss of the Suez Canal and the vital oil supply in the vicinity of Abadan. It was a very black hour.

In July, Admiral King and I went to London for further meetings with the British Chiefs of Staff, to determine if there were not something that could be done

Report On the War

By George C. Marshall

Immediately to lessen the pressure on the Soviet, whose armies were facing a crisis. Poverty of equipment, especially in landing craft, and the short period remaining when the weather would permit cross-Channel movement of small craft, ruled out the diversionary operation SLEDGEHAMMER for 1942.

African Landings Decided On

After prolonged discussions, it became evident that the only operation that could be undertaken with a fair prospect of success that year was TORCH, the assault on North Africa. Landings there would be a long way from Germany, but should serve to divert at least some German pressure from the Red Army, and would materially improve the critical situation in the Middle East. It was therefore decided, with the approval of the President and the Prime Minister, to mount the North Africa assault at the earliest possible moment, accepting the fact that this would mean not only the abandonment of the possibility for any operation in Western Europe that year, but that the necessary buildup for the cross-Channel assault could not be completed in 1943.

General Eisenhower, who was then established with his headquarters in London, directing the planning and assembling of American resources, was with the generous acceptance of the British Government, appointed Commander in Chief of the British and American Forces which were to carry out the landings in North Africa. On 13 August he received the formal directive to proceed with the operation. The target date was fixed for early November.

We have since learned that the German plan at that time was to attempt the defeat of Britain by aerial bombardment and by destruction of her army and resources in the Middle East. Colonel General Jodl, Chief of the German Armed Forces Operations Staff, has disclosed that it was Hitler's plan to break through Stalingrad and Egypt, and join these two salients in the Middle East.

The heroic defense of Stalingrad and General Montgomery's crushing defeat of Rommel at El Alamein disclosed these gigantic pincers. The further development of the operations in North Africa from the east and the west, and the Soviet offensive from the Volga proved to be the turning point at which the Axis was forged on the strategic defensive. ### Leaves From a Correspondent's War Notebook

By HAL BOYLE

WITH AMERICAN FORCES IN JAPAN—(P) — More new stories from old notebooks:

The American Fifth Army was stalemated before Cassino. It was January, 1944. The Italian landscape was sodden with cold rains. Troops even then were beginning to suspect that Italy had more hills than a snake's spine. And Germans were on every hill. The "soft underbelly of the Axis" was a myth.

In a miry meadow some miles behind the front, a tank outfit was bivouacked awaiting its call to action. With time on their hands to improvise shelter the boys had made themselves as comfortable as you can get in Italy in the winter.

Italian peasants noted with considerable interest the group of seven doughboys who had set up housekeeping in a cave. A land short of fuel they had managed to find both coal and wood ration boxes, and fire flamed brightly all day. They were warm, dry and happy. But they seemed to have a distaste for the Italian farmers, motioning them away brusquely whenever they approached the cave.

One day an Italian peasant while chatting with the tank commander asked why there was fortism in the American army. The surprised commander asked his meaning.

"Well," said the peasant, "most of your men have to stay in the muddy field and work on their tanks, but on the other side of that hill"—he pointed—"there are seven soldiers who do nothing all day but sit in warm cave."

The commander decided to pay a visit to these fortunate individuals. As he neared the cave he called out to a soldier in the doorway wearing an infantryman's uniform:

"What outfit are you with, son?" The soldier gazed unintelligently and pointed vaguely over the hill. He began to back away. Out came the commander's gun. As the soldier turned and shouted a warning to his comrades in guttural tones, the commander stepped to the entrance and covered the group.

The seven men were Germans. They had deserted their army and donned American uniforms, probably obtained by stripping battlefield dead. They had holed up in the cave and watched the American army sweep on past them. They were afraid of returning to their own lines for fear of being shot—or so they said—and afraid of going deeper into the American lines for fear of being captured. So they were just sweating the war out in their cave bungalow.

There is also the famous story of the Russian interpreter. For three years he had been polishing up his English for the happy day when the Russian and American armies joined up on the Western Front. He lived only for that shining hour when he would be in the spotlight—the official voice between two great friendly armies.

Came the great day. A group of wandering correspondents met up first with this Soviet outfit, and word was flashed back to Ivan, the Red English wizard. He came full speed. He saw the Americans. He paused entranced. Then Ivan delivered his historic greeting:

"Take it easy, Greasy, it's a long slide home"

And Ivan began to sing "Lay That Pistol Down, Babe, Lay That Pistol Down."

UPTON CLOSE: 2-Party System Operating Like Leper With TB

Our country's "two"-party system is operating about as healthily as a leper with tuberculosis. The recent elections—as has been all too tragically common since the Roosevelt-Willkie fiasco of 1940—proved just exactly nothing.

There wasn't an issue in a carload—espoused or argued along anything resembling clear-cut party lines.

The Detroit mayoralty fight came closest to proving something, but inconclusively even there. In the most dense of all CIO population centers, Mayor Jeffries beat Richard T. Frankenstein, UAW-CIO vice-president, more soundly than he defeated another CIO-backed opponent two years ago. Those most encouraged by this failure of Marxism to penetrate big municipal government as openly as it has penetrated federal government pointed to the fact that Jeffries garnered 56 per cent of the heaviest vote in Detroit history, although the New Deal-CIO coalition has long boasted its love of heavy votes.

Others noted, however, that even the rather handsome Jeffries margin may have been due to his organized AFL support, due in turn to AFL-CIO jurisdictional disputes. The same cautious observers may have noted that one of three UAW-CIO candidates was elected to Detroit's city council. Most disturbing aspect of the contest is that voters in one of the nation's largest cities should be reduced to choosing their chief executive solely on the basis of their like or dislike of the policies of one of the nation's largest labor organizations—apart from relevantly municipal issues, and without even the suggestion of a traditional party label on either side.

In New York, where Tom Dewey continues to indicate that he can't bat or field a whole lot better on the home lot than on the road, William O'Dwyer, comparatively clean-cut as Tammany men go, won the mayor's desk as expected. Although supported, of course, by the communist-dominated American labor party, O'Dwyer's margin was decisive this time without counting ALP votes. That's about the only "credit" Dewey can claim in the whole affair. It happened that way because so few could get excited over Dewey's comparatively obscure man, Judge Jonah J. Goldstein, life-republican and liberal (right wing of the American labor party). It was neither the first time that Dewey has supported a life-long democrat, nor the first time that one has flopped as a republican candidate.

One writer reported that "one theory was that the GOP calculated it has little chance to defeat Mr. O'Dwyer in any case, but by running Judge Goldstein, there might be a swing of Jewish votes to the republican banner which would help Mr. Dewey next year." In any event, it didn't help Mr. Dewey this year. The democrats and the communists nabbed 57 per cent of the vote for O'Dwyer; Newbold Morris, rather accurately dubbed "no deal" candidate, collected 21 per cent from the followers of dirty-mouthed retiring LaGuardia, and Dewey's man Goldstein counted on his fingers the 22 per cent he received from republicans and the right wing of the American labor party. Fine choice to palm off on intelligence New York voters!

Equally insignificant were other results. In Connecticut's two largest cities, New Haven republicans broke a 14-year democratic hold on the mayor's office, and the Hartford GOP repeated its 1943 victory. Yet, only a year ago, the same state picked Brien McMahon, native 42-year-old internationalist, to succeed John Danaher, one of the decade's ablest senators. Bridgeport elected a socialist mayor, but it was the seventh straight time.

Only opposition to Jim Curley and the new deal's Boston machine were five other registered democrats. Democratic machines retained control of Cleveland and Pittsburgh, too.

Sixty per cent of a light vote kept Akron republican, Buffalo elects its first republican mayor in 12 years, but GOP victory there and in Syracuse was off-set by democratic gains elsewhere in traditionally republican upstate New York.

On the heels of Kentucky's recent election of republican Governor Willis came the neck-and-neck Louisville race. But the GOP candidate was fresh out of service, and the democrat refused to say "booh" on the hottest issue in Louisville city purchase of the gas and electric utilities. Furthermore, Willis wasn't even permitted in Louisville to speak for his party. He's frowned on for keeping democrats in office, and even accused of making deals with them to facilitate his own election.

A republican congressman was elected in the Illinois 24th, where no democrat even chose to run. Same result in the New Jersey 4th, which went republican even in 1932. No significance there—nor in Virginia, which named a democratic governor. A two-party system is worthless without two parties. An honest choice on major issues means bread, butter, blood and liberty. The Whigs learned in 1860 that

Information on United Nations

Q. Why has the United Nations preparatory commission voted to set up a temporary trusteeship council for dependent peoples instead of a permanent council as provided under the Charter?

A. The executive committee of the preparatory commission voted this recommendation for two reasons. Under the Charter the trusteeship council is to be composed of those states administering trust territories and an equal number of states which have none, with the United States, Great Britain, China, and Russia represented on this council. As yet, no decisions have been made on which territories are to become trust areas, and therefore there are no states administering trust areas. Until such decisions are made, a permanent council cannot be set up. Q. What are the senate recommendations concerning our role on the security council? A. The senate foreign relations committee unanimously reported out for vote legislation which provides that (1) our delegate on the security council have ambassadorial rank; (2) approval of our agreement with the security council, specifying the strength and types of armed forces and facilities placed at its disposal, be given by congressional action. In other words, that this agreement will not come before the senate as a treaty. (3) In voting for the use of American armed forces by the security council, the President will not be required to obtain congressional authorization.

Q. Under the Charter, who is responsible for disarmament?

A. The security council, with the assistance of military staff committee, is responsible for working out plans for the regulation of armaments. The general assembly has power to suggest the principles which should govern this disarmament and make such recommendations to the security council.

Q. If the United Nations is located in the United States will we have to grant any special privileges to the headquarters? A. Yes, in order to give the United Nations the necessary liberty to carry out its functions. We will probably have to recognize the headquarters zone as international territory with a special status, comparable to an international District of Columbia. We will be called upon to permit ample facilities for unrestricted and uncensored telephone, telegraph, radio and postal communications by the United Nations and the press, and give special visas and immigration exemptions to the press accredited to the United Nations.

Q. Under the Charter, who is responsible for disarmament? A. The security council, with the assistance of military staff committee, is responsible for working out plans for the regulation of armaments. The general assembly has power to suggest the principles which should govern this disarmament and make such recommendations to the security council.

Science has so far outdistanced statecraft and the dimensions of war have so outreached politics it might be a good idea to supply every office holder with a child's chemistry set for Christmas just to let him get the feel of something elemental.—Salsbury, N. C., Post.

Paris Wins 5AA Football Crown

Paris clinched the district 5 championship last night—the second team to qualify for the state play-offs in Texas interscholastic league football.

The unbeaten, untied Wildcats defeated Bonham 39-6 to advance to the bi-district round and will meet the winner of the district 6 title, expected to be Highland Park (Dallas), the first week in December.

Previously Milby (Houston) had won the district 13 championship, the Buffs also being undefeated and untied.

In other games last night Poly (Fort Worth) trimmed Fort Worth Tech 6-0, Sunset (Dallas) downed Forest (Dallas) 21-7 and Austin (Houston) won over Sam Houston (Houston), all conference games but none determining district championships.

Headline game of the week-end is the clash of Longview and Marshall at Marshall with the district 11 title riding on the result. Should favored Marshall win, it would need to beat Tyler to clinch the title. Longview, by winning, would be considered "in" with the pennant. Longview has already defeated Tyler.

Sports Round-up

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—(AP)—How far major league baseball has gone or will go with Commissioner Happy Chandler's plan to spend $50,000 a year for kid baseball remains to be seen, but Ray Dumont, who has spent more than a half million dollars in the last five years on sandlot ball has a few pertinent suggestions to offer.

Of course, many of Ray's "sandlot" teams would shudder at the sight of sand on their smooth, green diamonds and a lot of that dough served to boost the National semi-pro tournament, but the profits each year have gone right back where they help baseball.

In round numbers here's what Dumont put out last year: Printing and distribution of circulars featuring mail guides, $25,000; free rule books, $5,000; publicity and advertising, $10,000; payments to teams in national tournament, $30,000.

VOICE OF EXPERIENCE

Dumont's theory is that field men, preferably former diamond stars, are needed to do the job. "If they simply print up circulars and start lecture tours, that isn't enough. The men should be out the entire year. In the fall they should be doing organization work, contacting factories' executives and schools explaining why and how they should have teams. Later they should assist in organizing leagues and in the summer they would conduct district and state-wide schools."

Two Important Games on Stage In SWC Battle

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF, Associated Press Sports Editor

The Southwest Conference football championship may be decided two weeks hence—and it may end up in a tie.

Tomorrow's games will show which is most likely to happen.

Texas plays Texas Christian at Austin; Rice battles Texas A. and M. at Houston. There are several things possible from that line-up. But about the only way two teams could end up in a deadlock for the title would be for Texas to beat Texas Christian and Rice to down the Aggies.

In such an event, Texas would need to defeat A. and M. on Nov. 29 and Rice would have to wade through Texas Christian and Baylor.

But should Texas Christian and Rice win, these two teams might decide the championship when they meet.

The grand climax would be for Texas A. and M. to emerge victorious tomorrow, leaving the whole issue up to their meeting at College Station Nov. 29.

Anyway, all those possibilities are due to bring out more than 50,000 fans for the two games—close to 30,000 at Houston and 25,000 at Austin.

Southern Methodist and Arkansas also play a conference game but it means little. Arkansas already is out of the race. S. M. U. is on the ropes and retains only an outside chance.

Baylor, the other conference member, goes to Tulsa to meet the Golden Hurricane in an inter-sectional game.

We hit three out of four last week (Texas Tech ruined the average by beating T. C. U.) and probably won't do any better this week but here goes (anticipated attendance in parentheses):

Rice vs. Texas A. & M. at Houston, 2:30 p. m. (30,000)—Others are taking A. & M., we'll pick Rice in a close one.

Texas vs. Texas Christian at Austin, 2:30 p. m. (25,000)—It's about time Texas got over this hump. It's going to be tough but we'll pick the Longhorns by a shade.

Southern Methodist vs. Arkansas at Dallas, 2:30 p. m. (6,000)—A scoring battle with the Methodists winning by a couple of touchdowns.

Baylor vs. Tulsa at Tulsa, 2:30 (17,000)—Tulsa will know it's been in a ball game but the Hurricane should level Baylor by say about a touchdown.

JAP BASEBALL RESUMED

TOKYO, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Professional baseball will be resumed Nov. 22, giving Tokyo its first pro game in a year. Picked teams from Tokyo and Osaka will play a two game series.

Pampa Favored To Take Third Straight Conference Victory

Seeking their eighth consecutive football victory, the Pampa Harvesters battle Borger's tough Bulldogs at Bulldog stadium in Borger tonight at 8 o'clock.

Only one team has stopped the powerful Pampa eleven this year. Lubbock held the locals to a scoreless tie but lost the game on penetrations.

A capacity crowd is expected to jam Bulldog stadium when the two teams take the field tonight.

Pampa rules a heavy favorite to take their third straight District 1 AA game but the surprising Bulldogs, under Coach T. E. "Trickey" Ward have improved rapidly after dropping their first two games of the season.

The same starting line-up that has carried the Harvesters through an undefeated season will probably take the field against the Bulldogs tonight.

At left end will be Lonnie Williams, 165-pound senior, who has taken over the duties of starting left end replacing injured Charlie Beard.

Capt. Jim Terrell will be at his regular post of left tackle, where he has shown himself to be one of the best "men in the district. Terrell weighs 187.

Virgil Fish, 193-pounder, will be at his regular left guard post tonight. Fish has proved outstanding all season.

Maurice Lockhart will have his 165 pounds at his regular center position. Lockhart's aggressiveness on offense shows up more each week.

Jack Hood is slated to start at right guard tonight. Hood, who weighs 165, is an expert downfield blocker and a good team man.

At right tackle will be Stanley Simpson, heaviest man in the starting eleven. At 195, Simpson has more than proved his worth this year.

Jerry Dunham, outstanding all-around lineman, will be at right end tonight. Dunham, who has played every position in the line, excels as a line-backer and has shown up well catching passes. He weighs 175.

At left halfback will be 155-pound Russell Neef, the "man in motion" in the Pampa "T" formation. Neef's offensive and defensive play has been one of the highlights of the Pampa season, although he seldom carries the ball.

Randall Clay will start at his regular right half position. Clay is the team's leading scorer and ball-carrier. He has racked up 12 touchdowns and seven extra points this year. Clay weighs 170.

George Johnson is slated to start at the quarterback position. Johnson has done 99 percent of the team's kicking and passing this year. His 29 punts have averaged 43.2 yards and he has completed nearly half of all his passes.

At fullback tonight will be Bill Washington, whose offensive play shone in the Lubbock contest. Washington was a back on the 1943 team that won the district championship but he did not play last year.

Jerry Dockery is to start at left end and Rex Orman will start at right end for Borger tonight. Both weigh 145.

Tackles for the Bulldogs will be Gene Ware, 260, at right tackle,

Claassen Picks Army To Beat Quakers by Three Touchdowns

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Crawling out on the football limb for another batch of predictions: Army-Penn: Army Coach Red Blak fears Penn but he is the only one at West Point who does. The Cadets' confidence may be their undoing but this corner sees them winning by a comfortable three touchdown margin. Army.

Louisiana State-Georgia Tech: Tech's lack of a first-rate passer will prove costly but it should be the day's thriller in the Southeast conference. Louisiana State.

St. Mary's-USLA: East started the season with an outstanding back—Herman Wedemeyer at St. Mary's and Carl Rossi at UCLA. Wedemeyer still is with the Gaels but the navy transferred Rossi to Harvard. St. Mary's.

Purdue-Michigan: The Wolverines bow only to previously unbeaten teams and Purdue was spilt by Northwestern. Michigan.

Wisconsin-Navy: The revamped Middle backfield which last week romped over Michigan, is set for another carnival. Navy.

Texas A. & M.—Rice: Jess Neeley's teams invariably are at their toughest in November but the Aggies shape up as just a little more than the Owls can handle. Texas A. & M.

Temple-Holy Cross: Temple's bowl chances went glimmering last Saturday in its loss to Penn State and the club is out for revenge against another bowl candidate.

But no luck—Holy Cross. Oklahoma-Missouri: The home field gives the Tigers what edge there is in the Big Six title play. Missouri.

Notre Dame-Northwestern: The Irish return to teams of their own class and are favored despite the rapid improvement of the young wildcats. Notre Dame.

Auburn-Georgia: Charlie Trippi to get moving in this one. Georgia.

Columbia-Princeton: Princeton's Navy-indeed club gets stronger each week but Columbia has been strong all year. Columbia.

Indiana-Pittsburgh: Pitt has collected but two touchdowns since early October and won't break the famine to any great extent at this time. Indiana.

Wake Forest-North Carolina: Wake Forest has been tempered against stronger rivals. Wake Forest.

Finishing the rest in a hurry: Far West—Colorado college over West Texas State; California over Oregon; Washington over Idaho; Washington State over Oregon State. Arizona over San Diego State.

Midwest: Nebraska over South

Only one side to our railroad tracks

Folks who are better off in our town live on the west side of the railroad tracks. We've got a lake there, and the local park, and some real nice land.

There used to be a phrase "from the wrong side of the tracks." It meant what you think... but you don't hear it any more. Not since Charlie Jenkins came home with the Purple Heart, and Willie Wells got the Silver Star. There isn't any "wrong side" of the railroad tracks now!

And that change is going on all over America... where our heroes have come from obscure homes... and greatness has overshadowed wealth and shallow social definitions.

From where I sit, it all comes down to tolerance... tolerance for what a man is and does... tolerance for his freedom and opinions, whether he's rich or poor, likes beer or cider, Shakespeare or the comic section. It's a great thing—tolerance!

Service Merger

tributing factors of the Nazi defeat was the utter lack of unified direction over the Luftwaffe and the Wehrmacht.

Eisenhower summarized his arguments for unification in nine points:

1. "It is essential in order that there may be a well-rounded military program which insures for us the maximum protection for each dollar appropriated."

2. "It is not feasible to arrive at the size or composition of each arm without simultaneously considering the others."

3. "The national security is safeguarded only if the security establishments are fashioned, trained and administered under single direction."

4. "The era of atomic weapons, pilotless missiles makes unity of concept, indoctrination and training more necessary than ever."

5. "XXX only through single department can coordinated development of new weapons be assured."

6. "There is the absolute need for economy in administration if we are, as a nation, to afford an adequate security establishment."

7. "If we do not integrate the executive management of the three members of our fighting team, our postwar security establishment will become the patchwork improvisation that is inevitable where independent departments, at different times, compete before separate congressional committees."

8. "One of the most important and least understood factors in modern war is that it is essentially a matter of perfected teamwork."

9. "Finally, there is no such thing as a separate land, sea or air war; therefore we must now recognize this fact of establishing a single department of the armed forces."

Gracie Reports

By GRACIE ALLEN

Well, now that the war is over, men on both sides are discarding their uniforms and stepping out in new clothes. Ex-privates are wearing pin stripes; ex-sergeants are wearing tweeds, and emperor Hirohito is wearing a robe embroidered with crystalline motifs which even an ex-second lieutenant wouldn't be caught in.

According to reports, the emperor is going to have this nifty little outfit when he reports the end of the war to the sun goddess, who apparently doesn't read the newspapers. And he'll be tactful enough to leave his sword home, where he should have left it in December, 1941.

If the goddess knows her business she'll advise him to stop playing soldier and to keep on wearing flowing robes as he lives. Goodness knows, as things turned out, enough of his people got flowers when it was too late to appreciate them.

Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.) established that at least two convoys were on the Pacific in the week before the Japanese attack. He asked Ingalls if any German submarines or surface vessels were in those waters and the admiral said he thought not.

Ingalls testified that the heavy cruiser Pensacola was conveying eight ships west bound. He did not mention the makeup of the other convoy.

Ferguson questioned Ingalls about the preparation of his statement before the committee yesterday. Ingalls gave then what he described as a factual account of the actual Japanese draft of the testimony had been deleted by Ingalls at the suggestion of the navy judge advocate general's office and after consultation with counsel for the investigating committee.

Ingalls testified that as a result of these suggestions he had cut out a paragraph when he said suggested "that the nation as a whole was not unified before Pearl Harbor." He said he thought this had contributed to lack of preparedness on the part of the army and navy.

"Do you think the people were to blame for Pearl Harbor?" Ferguson demanded, noting that President Truman had made a somewhat similar statement in releasing army and navy reports on their investigations of the disaster.

"My opinion is that that did contribute somewhat to Pearl Harbor," the witness replied.

Turning to Bernard Thielen, who gave what he termed a "narrative statement" for the army yesterday, Ferguson asked whether Thielen had submitted his statement to William D. Mitchell, the committee counsel, prior to its presentation.

Thielen replied he had not shown the statement to Mitchell or any member of the committee. He went on to say, however, that he had discussed it with Mitchell on last Monday and had read him excerpts from it.

Referring to the arrival of a B-17 American plane from the mainland during the Japanese attack, Ferguson asked:

"Do you know whether the B-17s were equipped with radar? Do you know whether they had radios?"

Thielen said he did not know, but presumed they had radios but not radar.

"Do you know whether a radio station played Hawaiian music all night so that the B-17s could home on it and that the Jap planes homed on it and that the Jap planes homed on it?"

"No, sir, I do not know that," Thielen replied.

Veterans of 36th To Hold Reunion

AUSTIN, Nov. 16—(P)—A reunion of veterans of the 36th (Texas) division will be held at a predetermined location in the state following a single anniversary of the battle of the Rapido river, a costly battle for the division.

Ainsworth said further a committee will be named to welcome the division when it lands in New York early in December. The division is now in Geislingen, Germany.

The job for the United Nations presumably will be proposed formally by the United States as soon as the security council is organized.

BIG-FIVE COUNCIL While no details have been disclosed officially, it is expected by officials here that the proposed atomic commission will be set up under the security council and that it will include as members America, Britain, Russia, France and China.

These are the five permanent members of the council. The commission's job will be to make recommendations for a step-by-step exchange of scientific information, including atomic energy data, and for creation of controls for atomic energy uses.

board jammed boats. They wait patiently with few complaints.

"If they haven't food, we give them enough from Jap army supply dumps to carry them across the straits," said Col. R. G. Stanton.

"Our soldiers aren't rough with them but we don't mix with them in any way."

A Japanese doctor delivered babies on four successive nights to women on the dock.

"All they ask for is a drink of coffee," an American officer said.

"The stolic faces of the people on the pier show little of the disaster mirrored in the countenances of European refugees. They suffer their fate calmly."

Each Japanese gets to take with him 1,000 yen in cash—$66—and all the household possessions he can carry. The bundles are gigantic.

Behind them they leave farms, livestock, furniture, homes and investments. These are earmarked in their name and stored if possible—but few feel they will ever get them back.

Asked why the remaining one-third still carried arms, he said it was due partly to the fact that central government forces were "insufficient" in certain remote areas, and also to the fact that some Japanese had been purposely allowed to retain arms "to preclude disorders."
