WORDS O.E.H. Words are things. Twinkles

The motto of Italy and Japan seems to be: "Keep your powder dry and don't give up the chip."

We read many sets of instructions on how to carve turkeys, but none on how to keep the platter under the bird.

Percy, the office mouse, has temporarily left home. We've had a house-cleaning and re-painted all the front office—a very un-newspaperish thing to do.

The dumbest thing Amarillo could do right now would be to make Pampans mad. If they should, we'd probably go out there and whip the Sandies.

Mrs. Gushaway says that while there are many ideas about art, most of her friends agree that a heavily laden Thanksgiving dinner table should be listed among the masterpieces.

Musing of the moment: "Your Voice Is as Loud as Ours." is printed daily in the "Letters From the People" column of the Dallas Times-Herald. There is a growing belief in the newspaper business that readers with peevish should be challenged to put them in writing and sign their names.

Brevitorials

IT IS AN OLD custom to adopt the Coue method of working up the courage of under-dogs before crucial games. Such a psychology calls for a repetition of such a theme as WE CAN BEAT AMARILLO. Perhaps such a plan is not bad. We doubt, however, that the Harvesters are in a mood to listen to it. If the reports which we get are true the 1935 lads are finally doing some independent thinking—without the aid of curbstone coaches. We like this mood. We are not going to offer them high-powered advice. Pampa has one chance against the Sandies—the chance of any team which, in "deadly earnest, and playing as a unit, resolves to wipe out all doubt of its ability and push the opposition off the field.

And, after all, the severest critic of a football player, and especially one nearing the end of his

3 Eagle Scouts Given Badges At Court Of Honor

A much-interested audience last night attended a Boy Scout court of honor in the court house, at which three boys were elevated to Eagle rank.

Eagle badges provided by the Adobe Walls council were pinned on Chris Martin and Grover Foster of troop 4, Pampa, sponsored by the First Christian church and Bob Durham of Morse, troop 53. Scout mothers received flowers.

An inspirational address was made by Wyatt W. Lipscomb of Fort Worth, FFA field representative, who is a Scout of 15 years experience. He was introduced by J. O. Gilliam, chairman of the court of honor. Other men of the court were Judge C. E. Cary, Earl Talley, and T. W. Sweatman.

Mr. Lipscomb told the necessity of early training of boys to insure their character, courage, and confidence. Scouting, he said, enables boys to practice and maintain high standards of living conducive to good citizenship and a spirit of peace and good will toward all mankind.

Three boys were raised to second class rank, five to first class, one to star, while 8 merit badges were awarded.

Executive C. A. Clark announced that a gold medal for golfing progress had arrived for Eagle Scout Buck Talley, now a student in the University of Texas. It was a second place national award given by Boys Life, the Boy Scout magazine. Last year the Pampa boy took first place and received a beautiful loving cup. He will be given the medal later in an appropriate ceremony.

Hauptmann Investigator Says $700 Of Ransom Turned Up Lately

LADDER WOOD IS DISCOVERED SAYS JOURNAL

HANDWRITING SIMILAR TO NOTES FOUND ARTICLE SAYS

By PAT McGRADY Associated Press Staff Writer NEW YORK, Nov. 26. (AP)—The chief investigator for Bruno Richard Hauptmann declared today that he had learned on "unimpeachable authority" that Lindbergh ransom bills have turned up recently in Boston and Worcester, Mass.

The department of justice in New York said "We have no information on this matter." "I have been informed," the investigator said, "that almost $700 in Lindbergh ransom money has been received by the Boston federal reserve bank since Hauptmann's arrest. It is continuing to show up by authority is unimpeachable, despite the denial of police."

The investigator who requested that his name be withheld, said he had recently found in Zipouse near Ashby, Mass., a letter dated March 10, 1932, ten days after the Lindbergh baby was kidnaped, which read, in part: "Why don't you return that poor little Lindbergh baby? You have had it long enough."

BOSTON, Nov. 26. (AP)—Wood believed identical with that of the Lindbergh kidnap ladder, handwriting similar to the ransom notes, and bills investigators hope may be part of the ransom money, have been discovered in Massachusetts, the Boston Globe says in a copyrighted story.

Asserting that Boston and Ashby, Mass., were focal points in a fresh inquiry carried on by investigators for counsel of Bruno Richard Hauptmann, convicted of the kidnap-murder of the Lindbergh child, the Globe says the wood was found in Ashby, a little town five miles from Fitchburg.

Details of the handwriting, the paper says, will not be disclosed until a later date. The money, the Globe adds, now is in the possession of the Hauptmann attorneys. It is said to have been passed in Boston.

JAYCEES TELL OF PLANS FOR BIG SANTA DAY

Greatest Of Series Will Be Held Dec. 6

Plans for Pampa's annual Santa day December 6 were described in detail to enthusiastic Jaycees this noon, when it was unmistakably shown that the event will be the greatest of the series.

I Heard...

A young lady employee of the Railroad commission did an authentic Prince-of-Wales Sunday morning by keeping on going when her horse decided to stop. She has decided that golf is safer.

B. C. Low suggesting that the football game between the Shamrock Irishmen and McLean Tigers here Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock be designated the Dust Bowl classic, providing the field is not under water.

Funeral Held

Funeral services for Earl Jellioce of Seapa in St. Paul's cathedral were held yesterday. He led the Britain fleet against the Germans in the battle of Jutland in the world war, technically lost the battle, but bottled the enemy fleet in the German harbor, and became a world war hero. A wreath laid on his tomb yesterday bore the initials of Wilhelm Hohenzollern.

PROJECT DELAY REASONS TO BE SOUGHT BY CITY

Approval Of Major Ones Will Be Urged

Pampa's city commission was to go to Amarillo this afternoon to consult WPA officials relative to the local fairground-work project. The city recently purchased a desirable site for the park and hired an architect to draw plans for the proposed buildings, being assured by WPA officials that the application would be approved and work started immediately. Minor details have been approved but the major ones are still held back. The city has been trying for weeks to learn the reason. All departments in Washington except one are known to have approved the application.

Yesterday City Manager Stine attended a conference with W. J. Van London and a Santa Fe engineer relative to the proposed Cuyler street underpass. In this project, the main obstacle at present is getting approved a clearance and grade which will not result in excessive property damage and stock traffic on Tyme and Atchison streets. The grade and clearance must be approved by the federal bureau of roads.

The city commission last night instructed the city manager to post notices and give verbal warnings to all city employees that finding of any employee drinking in a public place, whether on or off duty, would result in instant discharge. It was decided to place a stronger light at the "five points" in South Pampa, and to put a new light at the northeast corner of Crawford and Barnes streets, a block north of the Fort Worth & Denver underpass, where lighting has been lacking. An arrangement will be made to permit more police officers to be on the streets during the noon hour when school children are making their way through heavy traffic. No action was taken last night in filling a vacancy in the police department.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Morris have had as guests recently Mr. and Mrs. Bob Morris of Pond Creek, Okla., and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Rhoads of Guyton, Okla.

DAILY NEWS IS DESIGNATED AS DEPOSITORY IN CAMPAIGN

Pampa's part in the United Jewish Appeal is being carried forward by the fund committee appointed by Dave Rubin of Amarillo, general chairman of a group which has been asked to raise $5,000 in the Panhandle. The Pampa Daily NEWS has been designated as a receiving agent for contributions. Gene Howe ("Tuck") of Amarillo has been made general treasurer. The money is being raised to aid Jewish, Catholic and Protestant refugees from Germany. Suffering among women and children is said to be great. An American committee, paying its own expenses, will go to Europe to distribute the fund now being raised nationally.

LEFORS ROAD INCLUDED IN WPA PROJECTS

JOB PLACED ON LIST AND FORWARDED TO DROUGHT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26. (AP)—Treasury department warrant No. 675 announced today will permit H. P. Drought, Texas works progress administrator, to initiate work on selected projects from a program which totals $3,327,000. It was emphasized that, under funds available, only certain of the projects could be undertaken. Drought, it was stated, will select from the following projects those which are regarded most adaptable to speedy prosecution of his state program:

- Hall county—Esteyne—Improve five miles of farm-to-market road, $6,001. Levelland—Improve road to Hockley-Lubbock county line, $75,007. Lubbock county—Lubbock—Improve 4,900 feet of road and construct 2,200 feet of Posey-Canyon road, $5,700. Ochiltree county—Perryton—Construct culvert and improve 15 miles of lateral road, $21,141. Wilbarger county—Vernon—Improve two miles of road, $4,506. Lipscomb county—Lipscomb—Repair lateral road, $4,549. Childress county—Childress—Improve four miles of lateral road and three miles of clay road, $18,737. Potter county—Amarillo—Reconstruct four miles of road, $22,940. Lubbock county—Lubbock—Construct 500 feet of irrigation lateral ditch, $915. Wilbarger county—Vernon—Improve two miles of road in Bourland community, $6,500. Childress county—Childress—Improve ten miles of road, $20,750. Gray county—LeFors—Improve drainage on four miles of farm-to-market road, $11,628. Archer county—Holiday—Improve farm-to-market road, $8,079. Wilbarger county—Vernon—Improve three miles of road from Phillips camp, $8,001. Wilbarger county—Vernon—Improve six miles of road, $18,601. Wilbarger county—Vernon—Improve road for four miles, $12,800. Wilbarger county—Vernon—Improve four miles of farm-to-market road, $13,600. Childress county—Childress—Improve 18 miles of lateral road, $39,036.

TOTAL OF $155 SUBSCRIBED FOR W. ROGERS FUND

Gray County Figures Are Released in Campaign

Contributions to the Will Rogers Memorial fund last night had reached the total of $155. It was announced by Gilmore N. Nunn, county campaign chairman. Receipts included the following: From miscellaneous jars, $25.05. From jars in theaters, $8.17. From jars at civic clubs, $25.29. From jars in drug stores, $11.35. From city schools, $23.53. From county schools, $7.60. Memorial fund show, $20.40. Individual contributions, $34. Additional contributions are to be made by LaBora theater, women's clubs, and firms, and no reports have been received from LeFors, Alameda, and McLean. The campaign will continue until December 14 in this state. Contributions will be received by The NEWS and the First National bank. Mr. Nunn said that it would be impossible to thank all the persons and firms which had helped in the drive. He especially called attention, however, to the good work of the schools, the theaters, Thompson Hardware in furnishing jars, and the Pampa Daily NEWS in giving posters, cards, and publicity. Hartssock told the jury, "I still believe in the existence of the estate, although I have done nothing to further it since Hartssock was convicted in 1933."

CHICKENS BURN

BEAUMONT, Nov. 26. (AP)—A thousand chickens which probably would have graced Thanksgiving tables were burned today when fire razed the Martin poultry establishment here. Cause of the blaze had not been determined. It broke out inside the building where coops filled with chickens were kept. While flames killed most of the chickens, many were suffocated.

Lava Flows From Mauna Loa In Giant Eruption

HILO, Hawaii, Nov. 26. (AP)—A forest of lava cones from 200 to 500 feet high mushroomed today along the slopes of Mauna Loa, shown above, pushed skyward by the volcano's powerful subterranean forces. The cones are miniature volcanoes, recondensing on a small scale the processes which created the Hawaiian islands. As molten rock spouted from a lava geyser strikes the ground, it cools, gradually piling up a hill around the lava fountain. Eruption of the volcano, which began last Thursday, continued unabated. Hilo remained out of danger.

Inch Of Rain In Panhandle Brings Joy To Inhabitants

GAUDY STORY OF GOLD TOLD BY HARTZELL

Says Drake Estate Owned All Gold In World Except Japan's, China's

CHICAGO, Nov. 28. (AP)—Testimony that all the gold in the world except that in China and Japan belonged to the estate of the piratical Sir Francis Drake was before a federal court jury today in the mail fraud trial of 41 defendants. Arvid C. Anderson, of suburban Evanston, who said he invested $145 in the Drake scheme, testified that Oscar Hartzell, chief defendant who was brought here from Leavenworth penitentiary, told him: "Uncounted treasure in gold and jewels is held in trust in London. All the gold in the world except that in Japan and China belongs to the estate. Properties wherever Sir Francis Drake sailed all over the world are also part of the estate. The redwood forests of California would be among them, for Sir Francis discovered California and claimed it for England under the name of New Albion when he sailed around the world in the Golden Hind in 1580."

Anderson said Hartzell told him that the vast fortune might fall into the laps of the Drake estate claimants "at any time within 24 hours, or it might be next week." He said Hartzell complained: "The election of Roosevelt held up the settlement because he is opposed to it. If Hoover had been elected there would have been nothing to it. Roosevelt's opposition to settlement of the estate because of his policy of going off the gold standard, and declaring a gold embargo. The Drake gold would upset the whole situation if it were released."

Amos Hartssock, Laurens, Iowa, farmer, testified that Hartzell told him the Drake heirs had claims to a large part of the riches of India, Africa and Canada in consequence of Sir Francis' plundering.

Hartssock told the jury, "I still believe in the existence of the estate, although I have done nothing to further it since Hartssock was convicted in 1933."

CHIROPY BURN BEAUMONT, Nov. 26. (AP)—A thousand chickens which probably would have graced Thanksgiving tables were burned today when fire razed the Martin poultry establishment here. Cause of the blaze had not been determined. It broke out inside the building where coops filled with chickens were kept. While flames killed most of the chickens, many were suffocated.

Future Dust Storms Receive Lethal Punch

General, slow-falling rains which drenched most of the Panhandle last night and early today revived hopes that the area would produce in 1936 its first normal wheat crop since 1931. Pampa received 1.1 inches. Soaking rainfall, ranging from one quarter to more than an inch, reduced prospects for spring dust storms by reviving cover crops. Wheat suffering from lack of moisture will be revived, winter pasturing will be assured in many sections, and wheat which had not germinated will be brought up, farm leaders said.

Radio Station Permit Given Daily News

TELEGRAM "Heartiest congratulations—application granted." PAUL M. SEGAL. This telegram, received by Gilmore N. Nunn, general manager of The NEWS, from his attorney at Washington, D. C., this afternoon carried the long-awaited information that the Pampa Daily NEWS radio station permit had been granted. Mr. Nunn had made several trips to Washington and had revised the original application. The permission to start construction of the station is expected immediately. Initially, the station will broadcast on 1310 kilocycles with 100 watts. Efforts will be made to increase its power as rapidly as the Federal Communications commission will permit.

P. O. Parking To Be Restricted

Congested parking about the post-office will be relieved under new regulations of the police department. Fifteen-minute parking will be enforced on the north and east sides of the federal building. West of the north side of the building, along East Foster for half a block opposite the First National bank, the parking limit will be two hours. Similarly, parking will be limited to 2 hours on the north side of East Foster from Cuyler to Ballard streets.

CLAIMS HE HID THREE BODIES AT PIPE LINE

ADMITS SLAYING CIVIC LEADER, FATHER AND SON

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 26. (AP)—A crime investigation that increased its scope to include the disappearances of nine persons focused today on the condition of a gravely wounded gunman-hitch hiker, Chester Comer, 25. He gasped a barely understandable admission of partial guilt before he fell into a coma which officers feared precluded death. "I wouldn't be surprised at anything we may run into in this thing," said Col. Charles Daley, superintendent of the state crime bureau, as he organized several hundred men into a search of proportions unprecedented in Oklahoma for persons he feared may have been victims of Comer. Daley said a motley collection of personal belongings of several missing persons was found in the stolen car from which Comer, locked inside, shot it out yesterday with Oscar Morgan, Blanchard town marshal.

"These discoveries increase our fears for those missing," Daley said. "Comer had a brief case belonging to a man he told me he killed. In addition there were a couple of sweaters which might have belonged to a young boy, face powder, and women's toilet articles and some small baby's hoods."

Had Three Pistols. "He had two pistols besides the one he used in the gun fight yesterday and a large quantity of ammunition."

Peace officers who clustered about Comer's hospital room hoped he might regain consciousness to throw light on these disappearances. Ray Evans, attorney of Shawnee who disappeared at Ada a week ago today, "I shot him," Comer mumbled to Col. Daley, when questioned specifically about Evans. L. A. Simpson, farmer of Piedmont, Okla., and his son, Wayne.

Ticket Sale for Exes' Banquet Is Over 125 Mark

More than 125 tickets have been sold to the Pampa high school ex-students banquet to be held tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock in the high school cafeteria. The dance, which will follow about 10 o'clock in the high school gymnasium, with Claude Higgs and his orchestra furnishing the music, is expected to draw more than 100 couples. Ex-students who have not secured tickets for the dance may purchase them at the door for $1 per person. Many former students will be able to attend the dance although unable to be at the banquet over which President Ray Wilson will preside. Dr. H. H. Hicks will be toastmaster. An interesting but brief program has been arranged, after which officers for the next year will be elected. The orchestra will also play at the banquet.

I Saw...

Rufus Walker, first string Hervester tackle in 1932, the year the touchdown play was called back in Amarillo, and he said he might attend his first football game this season on Thursday here.

REMAKING OF MAPS IS IN PROGRESS

England, Spain, France, and Germany were among the first nations to set up wideflung colonies or extend their borders to take care of future population surpluses. Italian empires had collapsed earlier. Spain began to decline with the rise of modern nations and Germany was stripped of many of her possessions after the world war.

It is hard to suppress a people. Germany is rising and expanding with all the fury and prejudices of an under-dog. Italy, although the victor in war, has long been cramped economically. Her rise under Mussolini is driven by a similar spirit. Japan, menaced by Russia, must entrench on the mainland.

Mussolini is said frankly to admit that he believes Great Britain no longer able to defend her vast empire. The world war was a costly victory. Economic worries caused by the post-war depression give rival powers their opportunity. The next few years may re-make the world's map even more than did the world war. Far from being a "war to end wars," the world conflict was merely preliminary to deeper and more significant expansions.

That Italy will ultimately achieve a mandate over Ethiopia and Germany will start her aggressions within 2 years is the theory of Dr. Thad W. Riker, professor of modern European history at the University of Texas. He recently said, in part:

"The powers would, I think, be willing to do all they could to obtain concessions from Ethiopia for most of the things she wants, while Italy, on the other hand, as a second motive, wants a spectacular military triumph which will accent Mussolini's and Italy's prestige, and will blot out the memory of the Italian defeat at Aduwa," Dr. Riker said. "Italy is unwilling to have a peaceful settlement. Mussolini wants war. He knows the League of Nations—of which, incidentally, Ethiopia is a member, and, ironically enough, by reason of Italy's efforts—would try to be fair. He doesn't want equity."

"Mussolini—and this is of extreme importance—probably thinks he has only about two years in which to make his conquest, because Germany is expected to make war in about two years, and Mussolini wants to beat Hitler!

"There was one way, I believe, in which war might have been averted: Closing the Suez Canal to Mussolini.

"The real reason why France and Great Britain did not present a united and a strong front in the beginning was, I think, due entirely to the fact that Great Britain had signed a naval pact with Germany in August, instead of waiting for her representatives and those of France to work out a scheme of common defense. Previously, Great Britain, France, Germany, and Russia had stood united. France feared this British-German pact, and felt that she could not afford to break definitely and irrevocably with Italy, lest she fail to have any defense against Germany.

"In the last analysis, France really has got to back up the League against Germany. Actually, Italy has been allowed to persist in her war against Ethiopia because there was not sufficient unity of the other forces in the beginning.

"Now what remains is to save the face of the League. That really is about as much as can be done. It must be confessed that France and Great Britain will get out of the present situation as gracefully as they can. But we can expect to hear of a deal between Great Britain and France and Italy giving Italy a mandate over Ethiopia.

"Germany naturally is interested in the outcome of this situation. If the League fails to press Italy into line, Germany will be in a position to ignore the League in her forthcoming aggressions. Already the League has lost much of its dignity in its failure to chastise Japan. Its real power has been challenged in the Italo-Ethiopian conflict, and found wanting, due to England's impulsive step in forming a naval pact with Germany and then France's natural hesitancy to jeopardize her own safety by speaking out too strongly against Italy.

"Italy has considered the League failure to act decisively in the Japanese invasion of Manchuria as a precedent for her aggression in Ethiopia. She has cited the cases of both France and England in historic colonization programs and conquests of smaller countries. What she has failed to note, however, is the fact that the World War was a war to end war, that the world is supposed to have grown more enlightened and to possess more international and interracial understanding. An aggression today, since the World War, is much more a crime against humanity, is much more serious an offense, than it was considered in the days before the Great War. The League was organized to promote peace and to insure international integrity and international safety, and Mussolini's aggression, and Hitler's imminent plans for another war, are not in keeping with the spirit that motivated the "war to end war."

President Roosevelt officially has designated Thursday, Nov. 28, as Thanksgiving. It will be all right now to go ahead and plan for that turkey.

A Washington Daybook

BY KIRKE SIMPSON.

WASHINGTON—"Big Jim" Farley's cheery reception of a legislative defeat at republican hands in his own state of New York apparently rested in part on advance knowledge of what Kentucky was going to do. His scouts had been telling him that the blue-grassers might approach even President Roosevelt's own huge sweep of the state in '37 in electing "Happy" Chandler governor despite the Laffoon bolt.

Believing that, and justifiably so as it turned out, Farley as national chairman well might look upon loss of the New York assembly as a negligible affair. Herebefore all democratic '36 expectations of carrying on another four years with Roosevelt and the "new deal" have been based on a geographical forecast in which democratic retention of such border states as Kentucky was vital.

Double Significance. Privately, the democratic dopsters have been saying right along that New York state's electoral vote was not essential to a democratic victory in '36. They were ready to concede the entire east provided the border stood fast and Illinois could be carried.

Because of that the internal democratic rows in Kentucky, Ohio and elsewhere gave them much more concern than the legislative battle in New York. Now Kentucky has spoken. That election had a double significance in democratic eyes.

So far as it can be construed as a test of border sentiment toward Mr. Roosevelt or the "new deal," the democrats have no reason to mourn. In the pointed rebuke to party botlers it involved, they see a useful party lesson to be exhibited elsewhere, in Ohio for instance.

There is another aspect to all of these elections, however, of which no one has had much to say as yet. It conceivably might alter considerably the relativities of democratic campaign planning in '36.

It is the drive for the farm and labor vote with the accent very much on the farm angle. Mr. Roosevelt, for instance, already is committed to address a great farm gathering. The AAA sweep in the corn-hog referendum served to insure added emphasis on the farm phases of his policy.

14th. Man Shot To Death In Gulf Coast Strike Violence

Negroes Fire On Men In Car In Fight At Houston

HOUSTON, Nov. 26. (AP)—The death toll from strike violence at Gulf ports where the International Longshoremen's association undertook to force union recognition by tying up shipping stood at 14 today.

Sam L. Brandt, about 21, striking dock worker, was shot to death near the Houston waterfront last night and C. W. Swan, also a union workman, was critically wounded.

Three brothers of Swan who were in a car with the two victims said the group was fired on by about seven negroes who fled in an automobile.

W. H. Swan told investigators that the shots which killed Brandt and wounded C. W. Swan were fired after the union workmen had followed the car load of negroes to ask them to stop working on the waterfront.

Confronted with a threat that the strike might spread to the Atlantic and Pacific coasts, attended by widespread disorder and crippled shipping, Secretary of Labor Perkins has appointed a conciliation board to attempt a settlement of the trouble. The first meeting of the new labor board was called for today in Houston.

Since the union walk-out Oct. 1, three men have been killed at Fort Arthur, three at Lake Charles, three at Houston, two at New Orleans, two at Mobile and one at Beaumont.

No one knows how many men have been beaten or suffered gunshot wounds in the persistent outbreaks of disorders but the number is fast mounting to an imposing figure. At Houston alone, the Chronicle waterfront reporter estimated that approximately 100 men had been beaten.

Thousands of dollars have been spent already by shipping companies to guard the strike-breakers rushed in to handle cargoes. Many of these independent longshoremen are quartered and fed on the docks, with heavy forces of guards on hand to protect them.

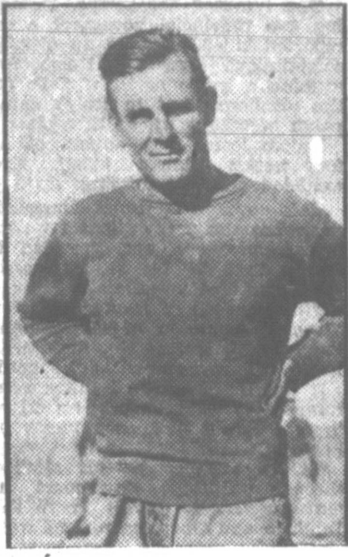

The International Longshoremen's association called the strike as Texas ports because operators would not include Lake Charles, La., in a new labor contract. An effort was being made by the I. L. A. to force recognition of affiliated unions of warehouse men, clerks and checkers, and to bring about general recognition of the I. L. A. as the collective bargaining organization at New Orleans and other east Gulf ports.

Steamship operators at various ports met the situation by entering into contracts with newly-formed independent unions, be they local and similar groups, some of them composed of negroes. This complicated the strike situation in that the new contracting parties are resisting any attempt of the I. L. A. to displace them.

In her appeal for a settlement of the strike, Secretary Perkins urged Joseph P. Ryan, president of the I. L. A., to end the strike pending adjustment of the dispute. Ryan has threatened to call a longshoremen's strike immediately on all coasts in protest against the New Orleans' ship owners' attitude toward union recognition.

Edward F. McGrady, assistant secretary of labor; Dr. George W. Stocking, chairman of the Petroleum Labor Board; and Col. Frank P. Douglas, member of the Textile Labor Relations board, were named members of the board to meet here today and work toward a settlement.

The two men have been working day and night trying to figure out some way to halt the march of the Amarillo Sandies here Thursday afternoon.

HERE'S FOOTBALL AS PLAYED IN 1887 WHEN BOYS YELLED

COLORADO SPRINGS, Nov. 26 (AP)—"Held!" yelled the tackler. "Down!" gasped the ball runner, after struggling another yard or two.

The scene is any American gridiron in 1887. The dialog is quoted from a magazine article written in October of that year by one Alexander Johnson.

The magazine was dug up by a football-minded composing room employee of the Colorado Springs Gazette-Telegraph.

Mr. Johnson pointed out that a tackler was compelled to cry, "held!" as he lay violent hands on the ball-carrier, but that the latter could keep fighting forward until he yelled "down," generally from the bottom of a pile of 21 other players.

"They Dugged Here and There."

"It is not uncommon to see a first rate halfback carry the ball almost or quite the length of the field," writes Mr. Johnson with relish, "dogging one opponent here and another there, thrown headlong again and again, but up and away before the tackle can be completed, and finally score a touchdown."

This sports scribe of 48 years ago, describing a Princeton victory over Yale after a touchdown run in the closing minutes, wrote that "he who cannot understand the popularity of football should have been there to witness the frantic excitement, the cheers, the embragings and the general delirium of the spectators."

Yale, Harvard, and Princeton were football's "Big Three" and with Wesleyan university and Pennsylvania composed the Intercollegiate Football association, founded in 1876.

Lateral Were Popular.

A team had three downs to make five yards, the field was 110 yards long, a touchdown counted four points, the kick after touchdown two and a field goal five.

Mr. Johnson spoke highly of lateral passes for spectacular effects, "each player taking his turn carrying the ball and, when hard pressed, passing it over the head of an opponent to one of his own side, who carries it farther."

Tackles above the shoulders or below the hips were illegal and called for a 5-yard penalty. When the ball hopped out of bounds, a player on the team gaining possession stood on the boundary line as the teams lined up in scrimmage formation and passed it to one of his mates.

Mr. Johnson recognized gambling as an evil associate with football and predicted that if the game became a mere medium for betting, it would be considered a "public nuisance," and be eliminated from college activities.

AAA Loses First Skirmish In Rice Process Tax Case

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26 (AP)—After losing an initial skirmish in the supreme court struggle over AAA the new deal quickly announced today that the flow of benefit checks to farmers will continue regardless of the final outcome of the rice processing tax case.

Despite government demands that processors pay the tax first and litigate later, the supreme court granted a temporary injunction yesterday to eight Louisiana rice millers.

It prevents the treasury from collecting the taxes from these eight processors until the supreme court passes on AAA legislation through which congress sought to forbid injunctions against the levy. The millers argue that this legislation, passed at the last session, is unconstitutional.

Soon after this preliminary decision, M. G. White, solicitor of the agriculture department, declared: "This action will have no effect on the availability of funds to meet contract payments since such funds are advanced by the treasury, out of the general funds of the treasury, to meet the current needs of AAA."

He added that even the ultimate decision of the whole case would not affect "the government's obligations with respect to existing adjustment contracts with the farmer."

Planes Save Man From Mob Hanging

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 26 (AP)—Federal airplanes scattered a lynching mob near Las Carboneras, state of Jalisco, by dropping bombs on them just as they were about to jerk the rope on the victim, telegrams from there reported today to the newspaper, Excelsior.

The reported victim was Manuel Evarado, elder brother of Governor Evarado Topete of Jalisco. The rope was around his neck and slung over the tree, the dispatches stated. He fell unconscious as the mob fled.

The advice to the newspaper said the mob was composed of rebels.

KILLED IN CRASH

DALLAS, Nov. 26. (AP)—George Carney of Garland was killed today when the automobile in which he rode was in a collision with a truck occupied by 18 members of a Missouri family. The Missouri's truck, driven by Bud Thurman of Neelyville, was on route to Tarrant county, where members of the family planned to pick cotton. None of the truck occupants was hurt.

ALLEGED SLAYER HELD

TWIN FALLS, Ida., Nov. 26 (AP)—Douglas Van Vlack, wanted for the slaying of a state highway patrolman near here last night, was arrested and held in the county jail here today.

BORAH CRONIES IN SENATE MAY NOT HELP HIM

Progressives Close To President Roosevelt

BY NATHAN ROBERTSON, Associated Press Staff Writer.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26 (AP)—With Senator Borah apparently considering the idea of running for president, politicians noted today that his republican independent colleagues in the senate probably would be divided on such a candidacy.

Three members of that little band in which Borah has been a leader for years—Senators Norris of Nebraska, La Follette of Wisconsin, and Johnson of California—have become so closely affiliated with President Roosevelt that a break would be unlikely, political leaders contended.

President Roosevelt supported Johnson and La Follette in their last campaigns after they had cooperated with him in 1932. Norris, who fought for Mr. Roosevelt in the last presidential race, already has his support for another term if he chooses to run.

Johnson and Borah patched up a feud of long standing last year and are now warm friends. But it is problematical what part Johnson will play in the next republican convention.

From the other senate independent Borah might expect a little more help.

Senator Cossens of Michigan, a semi-member of the group, once offered to finance a Borah presidential campaign, but has not been considered so friendly in recent years. His support would not be an impossibility, however, politicians believed.

The split between Borah and his colleagues among the independents has not only been political, but in some cases economic. While they supported Roosevelt in 1932, he stayed on the side-line. Since that time, he has often broken with them in voting on new deal measures.

PRESIDENT IS RE-ELECTED FOR FIRST METHODIST W. M. S.

OFFICERS FOR 1936 CHOSEN AS YEAR ENDS

FINAL REPORTS ARE HEARD, CHRISTMAS PLANS MADE

Mrs. John B. Hesse was re-elected president of First Methodist Missionary society yesterday afternoon, when officers for 1936 were chosen in the monthly business meeting at the church.

Mrs. J. M. Turner is to be vice-president, Mrs. John Kiser recording secretary, Mrs. Roger McConnell corresponding secretary, Mrs. Paul Jensen conference treasurer, and Mrs. A. L. Patrick local treasurer.

Leaders of standing committees elected were: Mrs. Frank Shotwell, superintendent of publicity; Mrs. E. A. Hurst, superintendent of Christian social relations; Mrs. C. W. Naylor, superintendent of supplies; Mrs. E. J. Husband, superintendent of children's work; Mrs. W. R. Ewing, superintendent of education; Mrs. Travis Lively, in charge of the baby special; Mrs. J. E. Ward, silver custodian.

Officers' reports were made, showing a general roundup of the year's work. Plans for Christmas welfare work were made, and the group planned to provide literature for children's classes in the colored church.

It was announced that Kagawa, famous Japanese teacher and religious leader, will lecture in Lubbock on Dec. 23, and members planned for representation there.

A letter was read from Mrs. Gaston Foote, former pastor's wife who recently left for Oklahoma City. Mrs. Hesse presided for the business meeting and conducted the devotional. Thirty women were present.

Dinner Honoring Guests Is Given

A progressive dinner Sunday evening honored Miss Gladys Towps and Louis Lahn of Amarillo, guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Lyles, and Ray Weidman of San Pedro, Calif.

The first course was served at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Huckaby, the second at the Lyles home, and the dinner ended at the home of Miss Erma Johnson, where bridge games were enjoyed during the remainder of the evening.

TREBLE CLEF CLUB

Instead of the customary meeting place the city hall club room, Treble Clef club will have its social and study program tomorrow at the home of Mrs. J. W. Garman. Mrs. Walter F. G. Stein and Mrs. Everett Westbrook are other hostesses.

MANY GUESTS VIEW DISPLAY OF H. D. CLUB

Priscilla Members Are Hostesses in Stroepe Home

Attended by a large group of visitors and members, Priscilla club's achievement day program was given at the home of Mrs. J. L. Stroepe yesterday afternoon.

One of the most complete displays of household linens, quilts, and children's clothing seen in the series of home demonstration club achievement programs was on exhibit. Mrs. A. E. Shackleton, wardrobe demonstrator, also displayed all the equipment for her model clothes closet, including shoe racks, hat racks, pattern bag, and other articles.

Eleven cakes were scored by Miss Ruby M. Adams, county agent, for state standardization. Of these, 9 passed the standard requirements. Miss Stroepe, special cake demonstrator for the club, showed model equipment for making cakes and told of approved methods.

Entertainment included contests in which Mrs. R. S. Walker received a home demonstration club book as prize, a vocal solo by Mrs. W. D. Allen, and songs and piano solos by Mrs. H. A. Nelson.

Members and guests registered were: Mrs. Bill Hulse, Jack Gray, V. E. Paherec, Sam McCullough, Clyde King, W. A. Allen, J. M. Daugherty, Wes Davis, Dave Davis, Guy Farrington, R. E. Kennedy, Mae Skaggs, Everett Hodges, Shackleton, A. B. Lockhart, Walker, A. R. Walberg, Paul Cunningham, H. W. Kiser, O. G. Smith, George L. Robertson, B. C. Cude, R. H. Kitchens, John Tate, Ora Davis, C. A. Tignor, Ira Spearman, H. A. Nelson, the hostesses, and Miss Adams.

Achievement day programs over the county will close this week. Bluebonnet club in hostess this afternoon at the home of Mrs. John Clark, and Bell club will hold open house tomorrow afternoon in Mrs. George Kurtz' home. Miss Ruby Masburn, district home demonstration agent, is here and will be a guest at these two programs.

List of Officers Is Completed at Circle Meeting

Missionary society circles of McCullough and Harrah Methodist churches met together at Harrah chapel yesterday afternoon. Members decided to drop the numbers which have designated the circles, and call the groups the Ella Harrah and Isabel McCullough circles.

Mrs. H. L. Wallace read a Psalm as the devotional, then a business session was conducted. Several offices and committee chairmanships were filled to complete organization for the year.

Mrs. C. D. Harris was named conference secretary, Mrs. Ora Cook chairman of the children's church, Mrs. E. C. Burns chairman of Christian social relations, Mrs. B. L. Robertson superintendent of supplies, Mrs. C. W. Tolle director of spiritual life study, Mmes. A. N. Rogers, Cook, and E. L. Campbell a paragon committee.

Refreshments were served to them and to Mmes. A. W. Jordan, W. M. Cox, H. C. Boyd, E. G. Hemphill, B. S. Buckner, D. H. Laughter, Kit Autrey, and W. Vandever.

Sewing Rooms to Given Women Work In N. R. S. Project

AMARILLO, Nov. 26.—Fourteen sewing room projects are to be opened in district 16 of the Works Progress administration, on Wednesday, Nov. 27, and requisition has been issued to the National Re-employment Service office for 274 employable women to be taken from relief rolls. Points at which sewing rooms are to be opened are as follows:

Panhandle, Wellington, Dalhart, Herford, Pampa, McLean, Spearman, Borger, Higgins, Perryton, Wheeler, Shamrock, Canyon and Canadian.

Materials for operation of the sewing rooms at these points is being distributed from the federal commodities warehouse at Amarillo and will be on hand for the opening of the projects.

All women in the localities mentioned who are eligible for assignment to WPA projects are requested to immediately contact their local relief office concerning their assignment. Workers are required to be registered with their nearest NRS office, and the NRS office will assign only those who have been certified to them from the relief rolls.

Another Landon Boom-Romantic

Friends of the Kansas Landons are "wondering" overtimes these days. While some puzzle whether Governor Alf will run for president in 1936, others ponder if there's anything to the rumored engagement of his daughter, Peggy Ann Landon, above, 18, to Leigh Fisher of Amarillo, Tex., law student at Kansas University, where she's a co-ed. Miss Landon says no, but both admit they are "good friends."

New Photo of G. O. P. Contender

Frank Knox, Chicago newspaper publisher, prominent in the race for the Republican nomination for president in 1936, is shown here in a new informal photo study. Knox, who is 61 and a veteran of both the Spanish-American and World Wars, favors paying the bonus out of relief funds, an export bonus for farmers instead of the AAA, and higher tariffs. Active efforts are being made in his behalf in rounding up state delegations.

Xmas Gift Dress—Daughter and Dolly

She'll Be Thrilled Because the Dresses Are Exactly Alike

BY ELLEN WORTH

Here is a cunning little dress. The fulness in skirt, falls from brief French yoke, which allows ample leg space. It has darling puffed sleeves. Or it can be made with the ruffled sleeve, as is small back view.

The cutest idea ever is Dolly's dress—exactly like it—included in the pattern.

Cotton broadcloth prints, percale prints, dimities, cotton challis prints, gingham plaids, linen, velveteen, etc. are nice mediums for ordinary wear. For parties, crepe de chine or taffeta is precious.

SCHOOLS WILL HAVE HOLIDAY CHAPEL HOURS

PROGRAMS ANNOUNCED FOR TOMORROW'S ASSEMBLIES

Thanksgiving holidays in schools here will be preceded by special chapel programs tomorrow, to which parents and friends of the pupils are invited. Several groups have announced their programs.

San Houston school will have its assembly tomorrow morning at 9, opening with band music. The Rev. C. E. Lancaster will be the speaker, on the topic, Why We Are Thankful. Other numbers follow: Reading, The First Thanksgiving, Billy Joe Crowson.

Song, Little Indians Looking On, Mrs. Stout's sixth grade. Play, The Dinner That Ran Away, Mrs. Stout's room.

Play, Ransom of Red Chief, Mr. Peck's room. Instrumental duet, Earl Brown and James Rose. Song, I've Lost My Dog, Neely Joe Ellis. Announcements, Principal A. L. Patrick.

Two Programs Planned. Two chapel hours will mark the day at B. M. Baker school, one for the lower grades at 1:30, and another for upper grades at 3. The first program includes the following numbers: Thanksgiving song, Mrs. Bounds' room.

Our First Thanksgiving, Miss Leah's room. Peter's Thanksgiving, Colleen Moore. Readings, Miss Perkins' room. Acrostic, Miss Fuller's room.

Piano solo, Maxine Jones. Song, Miss Shackelford's room. Play, Miss Jackson's room. Grandmother's Thanksgiving story, Miss Allen's room. A Good Thanksgiving, Arnold Rice.

Minister to Speak. Upper grades will open their program with Thanksgiving songs by the group, and a reading, Thanksgiving Day, by Maxine Cherry. The Rev. C. E. Lancaster will address the assembly on an appropriate subject.

Jessie Elliott and Louene Cox will play a clarinet duet. Billy Potts will give a reading, and the program will close with the singing of America.

Talkie to be Shown. At Horace Mann school, the program will be presented by upper grades beginning at 2:30. Opening songs will be Thanksgiving Day, and Count Your Blessings. The Rev. John O. Scott will conduct a devotional period.

The program feature will be a talking motion picture shown by T. S. Brown of the Gulf company safety department. The fourth, fifth, and sixth grades will each sing a Thanksgiving song to complete the program.

Couple Wed At Clarendon Home

Miss Gertrude Dingler of Clarendon, and Edward M. Culbertson of Pampa, were married by the Rev. J. Perry King, Baptist minister at Clarendon Saturday evening at 6. Their attendants were Miss Dixie and Thomas Sherrin of Pampa.

The bride wore a blue dress and blue accessories. Present for the ceremony were Richard Dingler, brother of the bride; Charles Dingler, her uncle; Mrs. Bessie Ogden, sister of Mr. Culbertson; and Vernon Daniels, a nephew.

Miss Dingler lived at Clarendon all her life. Mr. Culbertson, a resident of Pampa, the past nine years, is an employe of the Cities Service booster station. The couple will be at home here.

Baskets Are Filled At Party by Girls And Boys of Church

Three baskets were filled with food for Thanksgiving dinners by members of First Methodist intermediate department last evening. Contributions were taken to a party at the church.

About 30 girls and boys enjoyed lively games for an hour, then were served apples, lollipops, and stick candy.

Now Is Time to Make Fruit Cake; Here Is Tested Recipe

Christmas fruit cake made now will be properly aged for the holiday dinner, and favorite recipes for the delicacy are in demand by housewives.

Miss Ruby M. Adams, county home demonstration agent, recommends the following recipe, which may be varied as to fruit and nut ingredients to suit the taste of any family:

- Fruit Cake. 1 pound butter, 8 eggs, 2 teaspoons each of mace and cinnamon, 1 teaspoon soda, 2 tablespoons milk, 1/2 pound almonds or other nuts, 1 pound light brown sugar, 1 pound flour, 3 pounds currants (dates, prunes, or any other mixture of the three fruits may be substituted by weight) 2 pounds raisins

1 pound citron. Canned cherries, candied pine apple, candied peel of orange, lemon, or grapefruit, or any mixture of the candied fruits, may be substituted by weight). Cream butter, add sugar gradually, and beat thoroughly. Beat egg yolks until thick and lemon colored, beat whites until stiff and dry, and add to first mixture. Add milk, then nuts, fruit, and the flour sifted with soda and spices. Bake in pans which have been oiled and lined with oiled paper. Bake slowly (250 degrees) for an hour and a half, then increase the temperature 50 degrees until the baking is finished.

Mme. Stavisky Goes to Court

Somberly attired, her intent look showing she realizes the seriousness of the accusations against her, Mme. Arlette Stavisky, widow of the alleged arch-swindler, is shown here as she entered court in Paris, where she is on trial with 19 others. She is charged with guilty knowledge of the activities of her husband, whose operations are said to have involved high French officials.

Mrs. Foote Is Given Welcome

Mrs. Gaston Foote, wife of the new pastor of Epworth Methodist church, shared honors with Mrs. John R. Abernathy, wife of the presiding elder, at a luncheon given by the women's society of the church recently at the home of Mrs. Homer H. Dunlap, says a story in an Oklahoma City paper.

Other guests were wives of pastors of Southern Methodist churches in Oklahoma City. Mrs. Foote left Pampa last week with her husband to reside in Oklahoma City. He had been First Methodist minister here two years, and she was active in women's work of the church and in other women's activities of the city.

Allred Points To Years of Progress

AUSTIN, Nov. 26 (AP)—Governor Allred today proclaimed Thursday as "Thanksgiving day and enjoined citizens to observe it to show appreciation of the bountiful favors granted to us in our 100 years of progress."

The blessings, he said, "of national security and peace, of natural resources and of an unconquerable spirit which has carried our state and nation through the blackness of despair into the light of a new and better day are blessings deserving of our gratitude to the Divine Providence."

Piano Tuner Of White House Dies

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26 (AP)—The official piano tuner for the White House, Benjamin Franklin Parker, is dead at the age of 67.

Parker had been blind since his youth. He lost his sight after being struck by a baseball, but he entered a school for the blind where he learned piano tuning.

Besides being called often to the White House he was a favorite tuner at various embassies.

Duncan Named to State Board of Christian Church

Ivy E. Duncan of Pampa was elected to the state board of the Laymen's League of Christian churches, as representative of Panhandle district laymen, at a district laymen's banquet in Amarillo last evening.

A number of members from First Christian church here attended the banquet, and the all-day session of the annual district convention of Christian churches.

Visitors from Pampa included Mr. and Mrs. John S. Mullen, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Ledrick, Messrs. Ivy Duncan, R. C. Wilson, Paul Hill, C. E. Hutchins, George Porter, Mmes. J. F. Meers, Ora Wagner, Blair Townsend, Don Hurst, W. G. Kinzer.

Baptist Women Make Gifts to Worthy Causes

Charitable enterprises occupied the seven circles of First Baptist Missionary union, which met in the homes of circle leaders yesterday afternoon.

Each group prepared a basket of food to be delivered to a local family on Thanksgiving. Circle five went to a home where several aged shut-ins live here, taking gifts and visiting for a time.

At the close of the separate meetings, all groups went to the church and packed boxes for the Buckner orphanage at Dallas.

Choir to Rehearse For Thanksgiving Worship in Music

The choir which will sing at the union Thanksgiving service Thursday morning at First Christian church will meet for rehearsal this evening at 7:30 at that church.

All members of church choirs in the city are invited to join the group which will sing a Thanksgiving anthem and lead congregation songs. R. L. Allston, music director at First Christian church, will be in charge.

Football Dinner Is Given at Walstad Home Monday

Harvesters were guests of their mothers at a turkey dinner last evening, in the home of Mrs. G. C. Walstad. Turkey with all the "trimmings" was served, and the dinner ended with pumpkin pies holding Harvester pennants.

Places were marked with yellow cards in football shape. Clever favors, figure of Harvester players, were pinned to each boy and his name written on the figure. These were designed and made by Miss Angela Strnad.

Coach Odus Mitchell introduced the boys, then asked Mrs. Walstad to introduce the mothers. A short pep rally for the Amarillo game followed the dinner, then players and coaches were invited to attend the La Norz theater as guests of Manager Carl Benedict.

Present were Coach Mitchell, Mrs. Mitchell, Coach J. C. Prejan, Miss Strnad, Miss Alice Short, Mmes. Goodwin, Showers, Elkins, Reynolds, Hamlett, Lively, Jones, Green, Noblitt, Nix, Maxie, Kitchens and Walstad.

J. R. Green, Fred Hartman, Lena and Ivan Noblitt, Bruce Greba, Stokes Green, George Nix, Red Fanning, Bob Drake, Chubby Stewart, W. J. Brown, Roy Lee Jones, William Gillis, Jack Walstad, Steve Goodwin, Holt Hamlett, Garvin Elkins, Woodie Woodruff, Roy Showers, Leo Fletcher, Kelly Kitchens, Howard Hendrix, Albert Reynolds, Travis Lively, Denzil Sparlin, C. W. Smith, Glenn Maxie.

Mothers of all the boys assisted with the dinner, although some were not present.

THE DOCTORS ARE RIGHT

Women should take only liquid laxatives

Many believe any laxative they might take only makes constipation worse. And that isn't true. Do what doctors do to relieve this condition. Doctors use liquid laxatives.

TO RELIEVING CONSTIPATION

A cleansing dose today; a smaller quantity tomorrow, less each time, until bowels need no help at all.

Laxatives, and keep reducing the dose until the bowels need no help at all.

Reduced dosage is the secret of aiding Nature in restoring regularity. You must use a little less laxative each time, and that's why your laxative should be in liquid form. A liquid dose can be regulated to the drop.

The liquid laxative generally used is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It contains senna and cascara—both natural laxatives that form no habit even with children. Syrup Pepsin is the nicest tasting, most acting laxative you ever tried.

Whereabouts Of Antarctic Flier Remains Mystery

NEW YORK, Nov. 26 (AP)—The whereabouts of Lincoln Ellsworth and his pilot, Herbert Hollick-Kenyon, who left Dundee Island early Saturday to fly across the Antarctic continent, remained a mystery today.

Their last wireless report to their base ship, the Wyatt Earp, was at 10:48 a. m. (EST) Saturday.

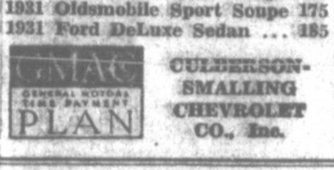

A message from the Wyatt Earp to the New York Times and the North American Newspaper Alliance, said, however, that members of the expedition believed Ellsworth and his pilot were safely encamped at the bay of Whales, former base of Admiral Richard E. Byrd.

Ellsworth was trying to reach the bay of Whales when he started the flight. His last message reported fair weather.

Members of the expedition at the base ship expressed belief the radio set on Ellsworth's plane and failed.

Hangman Dies—He Sprung Trap For 39 Persons

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 26 (AP)—Henry Meyer, 73-year-old hangman kept his fortieth rendezvous with death last night. This time it was his own.

Meyer, who had sprung the trap for 38 men and one woman, died of a heart attack.

Hanging a condemned person was to him just a means of making a living. He often said he had no belief in immortality, but as the end approached he asked for the last sacraments of the Catholic church.

He summed his philosophy up in a single sentence:

"I just think when you're dead, you're blowed up."

For 18 years he served as the Orleans parish executioner.

"This way I feel is that the jury finds them guilty," he once said "the court sentences them, and the judge swears me in as a deputy sheriff to carry out the law."

He was proud of his ability to

Gladewater Is Forced Out Of Tyler District

George Foltz, athletic director at Tyler, said Gladewater withdrew after a conference last night when it was discovered three players on the team were ineligible because they were over the age limit.

The players were named as Jones, end; Holt, tackle, and McKillop, halfback. All were first-string players.

Tyler has lost only one game and that was to Gladewater. A victory over Marshall Thanksgiving day would give Tyler the district title.

NEW METHOD OF COMPUTING WEATHER TOLD

CLEVELAND, Nov. 26 (AP)—A weather observer, returning from a rendezvous with a major storm he forecast months ago, disclosed today a new principle of calculating the weather far in advance.

He is Selby Maxwell, instructor in meteorology who has been doing research work in a laboratory at Northwestern university, Evanston, Ill.

After three years' work, Maxwell said he has evolved a "principle of astronomical computation of the weather" which he calls "forecasting by astronomy." He has invented a "magnetometer" to aid him in his computations.

"You can predict the world's weather for two years in advance with the same ease that you might predict a storm for tomorrow," he asserted in an interview.

Before explaining his new principle, Maxwell spread out a blue print containing 12 weather diagrams.

Last August, he said, he knew there would be a major storm in the northeastern United States in mid-November. In October he made 12 charts of the storm's course, and placed a blue print of the storm in the hands of navy weather men and his friends. It called for a start on Nov. 11, and on that date he began driving eastward from Chicago. It rained hard at first.

At Niagara Falls on Nov. 13 he noted how heavy winds had blown back the water of Lake Erie, drying up the falls. Then he hit an ice storm in upper New York State, went over to the Atlantic coast in New England and drove southward along the coast as heavy gales swept the seaboard last week-end, thus confirming the charted course he had predicted.

It was interesting to note the different manifestations of the same storm at various points," he said.

"The winds on Lake Erie, the ice sheet in New York state and the same source, a cold mass of air from over Greenland."

His new principle is based on the fact that the relative motions of the earth, moon, and sun are irregular, resulting in a slight motion of the earth's whole mass.

"That causes the atmosphere, which is like a fluid, to slosh back and forth over the earth, just as water will slosh out of a pan if the pan is tilted," he said.

Maxwell computed the relative changes of the magnetic fields of the earth, moon, and sun, which form an astronomical triangle of continually variable shape. From this he knows the variation in the earth's motion, and hence the later variations in atmospheric masses, making possible long range forecasting.

Children To Draw For FDR's Parties

WARM SPRINGS, Ga., Nov. 26 (AP)—Budget recommendations drew the attention of President Roosevelt today while child patients of the Warm Springs Foundation excitedly awaited a drawing which will decide his Thanksgiving dinner partners.

Government fiscal experts conferred with the president before a glowing fireplace at the "Little White House" on a pruning of the program to be presented congress in January.

The group was joined by Aubrey Williams, director of the board of the National Youth Administration, who told newspapermen he was seeking the remaining $13,000,000 of the agency's allotment.

Drastic Action Planned On 18-Year Rule Next Friday

DALLAS, Nov. 26 (AP)—The Texas Interscholastic League's 18-year age limit rule, to become effective Sept. 1, 1936, was under discussion again today.

Published reports in Dallas said the rule, which prohibits students whose eighteenth birthdays fall on or before Sept. 1 from participating in league activities, including athletics, the ensuing year, would be attacked at the league's annual breakfast at San Antonio Friday.

The Morning News said it learned from an authoritative source that opponents of the regulation would demand a referendum on the matter and that if it were not granted, a 19-year age limit would be asked along with a proposal to eliminate the eight-semester rule. The story said that if favorable action was not taken on the proposal, a drastic move was planned, with formation of a new league probable.

Jack Frost, Greatest Artist That World Knows, Visited By Old Santa

Motion Pictures Are Made to Show In Pampa

By Captain F. E. Kleinschmidt, Special Correspondent of The NEWS and Head of Expedition to the Home of Santa Claus (By Wireless)

From Santa's studio at the North Pole.

My yesterday's dispatch told you how Santa had promised to take us to call on a very dear friend of his, and Mrs. K's curiosity was aroused of course. Who could it be? But Santa only smiled and said "The Greatest Artist in the World." Santa is full of surprises and it is part of his nature to give happy surprises so he is going to give us one too.

"Come on and get up," Santa's great voice came booming through the ice palace. Mrs. K. looked into a sheet of ice to see if her Parka hood was on straight and took spe-

Scene as Santa Claus Visits Jack Frost, Artist

Above is a photograph wirelessly snapped by Captain Kleinschmidt, head of the Junior Chamber of Commerce expedition to Santa Clausland. Santa Claus will be invited to Pampa's annual Santa day December 6.

Pampa's Junior Chamber of Commerce has announced the following full program for the annual Santa day of December 6:

10 a. m.—Free showing of special films at Captain Kleinschmidt's studio of expedition to Santa Clausland.

11:30 p. m.—Doll and buggy, pet and hobby parade of children.

12 p. m.—Free showing of special films and show window decorations.

1:30 p. m.—All-Pampa hand-drawn parade at La Nora theater, with a radio broadcast over KJNC.

12:15 p. m.—Santa day dance at Pampa auditorium.

cial pains in dressing and fixing himself up to meet this mysterious person. She could hardly believe the longer "Santa" could tell me, she coaxed "who is this great artist. It has kept me awake half the night trying to imagine who it is." "Well, now," said the good Santa, "I'm sorry I didn't mean to keep you awake. Can't you guess? One thing I must tell you, wrap up good and put on your heavy fur so the artist won't get a chance to pinch his name on your face."

"Oh, it's Jack Frost," we exclaimed.

He was bright and cheery when Santa shouted, "Get into your sleighs and bring the motion picture camera along."

We laughed and played with the snow, slipped the reindeer, on sleds and made everybody happy.

Greatest Artist

"You'll admire this great artist," Jack Frost, Santa told Mrs. K. "He is the greatest sculptor and painter in the world. Have you ever seen a snowflake through a microscope, or when you went to school caught it on your slate? It is a wonderful formation of tiny ice crystals in intricate designs of the finest lacework. You have seen pictures on your window pane on a cold morning and mother has said, 'Look, Jack Frost has been here.' But there are wonderful sights in store for you if he invites you into his workshop. He has decorated my palace with spirals and cupolas, but as we have to work with metal and wood and have fires and heat he could not do anything inside for me. You should see the interior of his ice palace. Words cannot describe it. I have often passed by Niagara falls at Christmas, just after Jack had touched the cataract with his magic wand and have seen hundreds of people gaze in admiration at the picture, but wait until see his own palace."

The gnomes hitched up the reindeer and the party climbed into sleighs. Soon we were speeding across the gleaming ice and snow toward the edge of the Polar Sea. We saw great glaciers piled high on mountains and these huge ice packs were in the moonlight.

Met Jack Frost

"Jack Frost has been so already and is coming to meet us," Santa shouted.

Santa pointed to a high jagged iceberg on which we could see a figure. This figure came running toward the edge of the ice which seemed to be a boy about 12 years old.

His face was young and rosy and his eyes were dark and shining with mischief and glaze. Jack Frost was dressed in white fur parka, the Eskimos call it an Ar-ke-ge, and covers the body without being open in the front. On the head of his parka wiggled two ears of the Arctic hare, and his feet looked like the stuffed heads of the Arctic hare with eyes and long wiggling ears. The Arctic hare is the fastest animal in the north, hence Jack wore his parka.

"Welcome, Jack Frost," Santa introduced us. Jack bowed politely and shook hands but we quickly drew our hands away for Jack's fingers were colder than ice. Santa was wise—he kept his gloves on. Jack said "For I am just about to start on my winter tour of beautifying the world with my ice pictures. I have some beautiful new ice designs this year. You will see to their safety and admirably happy."

"That's right, Jack," said Santa. "That's an old fashioned white Christmas this year. I am sure the boys and girls will enjoy the sleighs and stables I am going to bring them."

Jack seemed to have the secret of perpetual youth for although he has been working for his trade for centuries, he is still a boy and even though he has been pinching noses and ears and popping fingers and toes for hundreds of years, he still wears his mischievous youth smile.

"Mrs. K. look quite fancy in him and her heart warmed up to the cold boy.

I had set up my movie camera when we saw Jack and while we were talking I cranked the camera to record our meeting. There will be some interesting pictures shown in Pampa when we get back.

Invitation to Palace

Jack invited us to his ice palace and we started off, but because of the Arctic haze shoes he wears, he is such a swift traveler, he could not go slow enough to keep up with his guests, so he picked up the movie camera and tripod which slowed him down.

Jack Frost's Palace

Jack's palace is surely a wonderful place. It looked like a gigantic cavern in a mountain of ice, crystal clear and shimmering like diamonds and decorations as delicate as the finest lacework. We passed through gardens of ice flowers in the most beautiful forms and varieties, similar to the ones you see on window panes. Wonderfully carved icicles hung down like vines. The shining columns that supported the roof were ornamented with lovely and intricate patterns of ivy and vines. It was of almost impossible and unbelievable and everything shone and sparkled with great radiance.

Pushing aside waving greenish curtains, woven from the same mysterious fabric as the Northern Lights, Jack led us into a huge hall. Here Jack did his coloring work. Paint pots stood everywhere and hung on pegs on the walls; thousands of bright designs in all colors were filed carefully in a big open cabinet. They were all leaves of trees, for Jack paints millions of them in the autumn, and just think of it—no two leaves are colored alike!

Jack was delighted with our exclamations of wonderment as we beheld this marvelous art, and then he led us for a moment. When he returned he carried his magic wand.

"Before you go Jack, show these people how you perform your wonderful work," suggested Santa. "The Captain no doubt would like to take a motion picture of it."

I quickly set up my camera and then secured a marvelous picture. You have often seen a vapor or fog rise from a river on a cold morning and the nearby bushes and trees covered with a hoary frost from the vapor.

Well, Jack stepped to a crevice in the ice from which arose such a vapor from the water underneath. Jack waved his wand in the incense and the particles of moisture were built up into flowers and ferns fit for high.

In a twinkling, a bed of roses, caryophyllums, lilies, dahlias, and carnations of the most beautiful colors and shades rose before our eyes and the lens of the camera.

Off He Went

I was delighted with the marvelous pictures I was taking to show folks at home, when Jack was seized with a sudden impulse and cried: "White, I am off, goodbye." Before we had time to say "Jack Frost!" he was gone and for a few minutes we could see his figure waving his wand, speeding swiftly and gracefully over the ice.

"Jack is a mischievous boy," said Santa. "Boys as a rule need watching, but nobody can watch over this boy."

"You are right Santa," replied Mrs. K. ruefully. "He is mischievous and I did not watch him—even while we were standing here he nipped my fingers and nose."

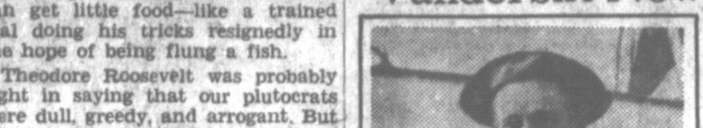

As if it were an answer to her words we heard a silvery mocking laugh floating over the ice from the distant figure.

Tell all the children of Pampa and territory they will see Jack Frost making these wonderful ice crystals just as described, when we get back with the motion pictures.

Although Lacey Pitch Perkins did not go to China to gather material for her "Chinese Twins" (Houghton Mifflin company) she had the assistance of two friends who had lived for years in China in the very region about which she wished to write, and who gave her sufficient information about every detail. "Among other stories," says Mrs. Perkins, "they told me the tale of a young Chinese girl, a mere child, who walked 300 miles through bare, rain-sodden country to go to school. This story fired my imagination, and as they knew every foot of this journey well, it became very vivid to me. Incidentally, in the interest of credibility, I made the distance considerably shorter than the actual fact. "The Chinese Twins" is modern rather than romantic in theme, and stresses the changes that are rapidly taking place in Chinese family life.

Excerpts from "Land of the Free" by Herbert Agar (Houghton Mifflin company).

Up and down the land people are crying out for something to believe in—something that will give them hope and life seem less stupid. And it happens that we have that "something" in our own tradition—and that our hearts still naturally respond to it. On the basis of these affirmations which I have tried to make plausible in the course of my book, I believe that those of us who have confidence in America should take certain steps—and in taking them we must use all the dangerous modern methods of propaganda which, if we do not capture them while there is time, will soon be used to silence America for good.

Until quite recently, the prevailing theory of history showed man inventing, in the course of a few thousand years, from a shocking and brutal looking ancestor with long hair and a club to something quite commendable like Mr. H. G. Wells. It is a comforting view, for it suggests that if man refrains from committing suicide he will grow better and better until the time comes when he will have every reason for self-satisfaction. By such a theory of history Heaven is transplanted out of space, where it was unattainable except by the Grace of God, into Time, when it becomes merely a question of patience like waiting for the next train.

The man on an income is economically unfree, though he owns two cars and has an income weekly that the French farmer does not see in a year. He is not important enough to have been given a number for nobody really cares whether he turns up at work or not. There are thousands like him, who can do the job as well as he. . . . Is this a

TEXAS UNIVERSITY PROFESSOR PREDICTS HITLER WILL BEGIN EUROPEAN WAR WITHIN 2 YEARS

AUSTIN, Nov. 26.—A compromise settlement between Great Britain, France and Italy, giving Italy a mandate over Ethiopia, and another German aggression within two years were predicted by Dr. Thad W. Riker, professor of Modern European history at the University of Texas, in an address before the international relations group of the Austin chapter, American Association of University Women.

Dr. Riker's analysis of the modern European situation is regarded with respect among academicians, since he is recognized in this country and abroad as an authority in this field. Following publication of his book, "The Making of Roumania," a few years ago, he was accorded corresponding membership in the Roumanian Academy, an honor bestowed in acknowledgment of his service to that country. Last summer he was awarded the honorary degree of doctor of letters by Oxford university, likewise for distinguished research in modern European history. His latest publication is a textbook, "A Short History of Modern Europe."

"Italy's motives for starting this Ethiopian conquest, it seems to me, are two-fold," Dr. Riker said. "In the first place Ethiopia is a rich country, with resources that are unknown but certainly valuable. There is a fertile plateau which may be colonizable. Italy needs more room for her over-ful population. As has often been pointed out, Mussolini has visions of another Roman empire. But above all, Italy wants the raw materials she thinks she can find in Ethiopia. She imports practically all the coal and iron she uses, and these commodities are supposed to exist in Ethiopia. She also wants to be economically independent as any great nation naturally would."

"But my own opinion is that the powers would be willing to do all they could to obtain concessions from Ethiopia for most of the things she wants, while Italy on the other hand, as a second motive, wants a spectacular military triumph which will accent Mussolini's and Italy's prestige, and will blot out the memory of the Italian defeat at Adowa and be willing to have a peaceful settlement. Mussolini wants war. He knows the League of Nations—of which, incidentally, Ethiopia is a member and, ironically enough, by reason of Italy's selfish information about every detail. "Among other stories," says Mrs. Perkins, "they told me the tale of a young Chinese girl, a mere child, who walked 300 miles through bare, rain-sodden country to go to school. This story fired my imagination, and as they knew every foot of this journey well, it became very vivid to me. Incidentally, in the interest of credibility, I made the distance considerably shorter than the actual fact. "The Chinese Twins" is modern rather than romantic in theme, and stresses the changes that are rapidly taking place in Chinese family life.

"The United States, too, has not come out of the situation with too much grace. Italy is still able to get most of the commodities she needs from the United States, despite the embargo on contraband."

There are so many subtle Italian uses in making ammunition that are not strictly so labeled—cruel oil, for instance—and these the United States can continue to send her. The real test of the League's sincerity in preserving peace would have been to declare an embargo on all commodities which the League considers contraband.

"Italy has considered the League failure to act decisively in the Japanese invasion of Manchuria as a precedent for her aggression in Ethiopia. She has cited the cases of both France and England in historical colonization programs and requests of smaller countries. What she has failed to note, however, is the fact that the World War was a war to end war, that the world is supposed to have grown more enlightened and to possess more international and interracial understanding. An aggression today, since the World War, is much more a crime against humanity, is much more serious an offense, than it was considered in the days before the great war. The League was organized to promote peace and to insure international integrity and international safety, and Mussolini's aggression, and Hitler's imminent plans for another war, are not in keeping with the spirit that motivated the 'war to end war.'"

PAMPA, GRAY COUNTY, TEXAS, TUESDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 26, 1935.

WHOLE PANHANDLE WILL SEE GRID CLASSIC

Fans Interest Proves Dope Outlawed for Game

PAMPA'S FINE RECORD MEANS DANGER AHEAD

LOCALS DO BEST AS UNDER-DOGS—ALL SCORES CLOSE

In every fall there is a football classic in the Panhandle. This year it will be staged in Pampa with the Harvesters playing host, and at the same time being the gridiron enemy of the Amarillo Golden Sandstorm.

The spectacle, the Panhandle's outstanding athletic event of the year, will be staged at Harvester field north of the city limits beginning at 2:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon, Thanksgiving Day. More than 8,000 reserve seat tickets have already been sold, and hundreds of general admission ducats are available at Pampa Drug No. 1, Fatheree Drug No. 4, and Harvester Drug, for 75 cents.

Two special trains, carrying thousands of Amarillo fans, will steam into Pampa shortly afternoon. Others will come by automobile. Fans from every town and city within a radius of 100 miles will also be in Pampa for the season's major event. Many will come a day in advance to take advantage of specials to be offered by Pampa merchants.

Amarillo Favored
Amarillo, defending high school state champions, will be favorites to defeat the Harvesters and start another march to a state championship. Within the conference, Amarillo defeated Borger by a score of 72 to 0 while the Harvesters won by a 25 to 0 score. The Sandies downed Plainview 49 to 0 compared with a 19 to 6 victory for the Pampa eleven. The Amarillo team beat Lubbock by a 34 to 0 score, while the Harvesters fell, 6 to 0, before the Westerners.

The only non-conference foe of the two teams was the Capitol Hill Indians of Oklahoma City who lost to Amarillo, 37 to 18, and to Pampa, 18 to 0.

Amarillo's offensive has rung up 276 points while holding their opponents to 57 points. Pampa scored 150 points while holding the opposition to 37 points.

Dope Contradicted
Fan interest in the game contradicts the "dope," which points to a Sandie victory by several touchdowns. With more than 11,000 fans expected to see the game, an upset would be in order. Many underdogs have risen to new heights this year and it may be that thousands of fans will jam Harvester field in the hope of seeing an upset.

A win for Amarillo would give the Sandies the district title and the right to represent this district in further competition. An upset would throw the district into a three-way tie with Pampa, Amarillo, and Lubbock having three victories and one defeat.

Since a playoff would be impossible, because of interscholastic league rules, the district committee would have to meet and certify a winner by Saturday night. How the winner would be chosen is a mystery. The last time a three-way tie existed, a playoff was allowed.

Pampa Is Heavier
Pampa will enter the game with a slight weight advantage. The Sandies have "shrunk" considerably since the opening of the season, when the team weight was only three pounds less than that of the Harvesters. Changes in the Sandie lineup dropped the weight many pounds and added speed to the team.

Coaches Odus Mitchell and J. C. Prejean of the Harvesters are expected to send their regular lineup into the game despite the fact that an injury kept W. J. Brown, half-back.

In Other Years

Pampa and Amarillo high school football teams have met five times in District 1 competition. Although the Sandies have defeated the Harvesters four times out of five, the difference in the total scores is only 12 points.

The sixth conference meetings of the two teams will be Thursday at Harvester field.

Records of scores since 1930, when Pampa became a Class A school, follow:

1930—Amarillo 2, Pampa 0.
1931—Amarillo 6, Pampa 13.
1932—Amarillo 7, Pampa 0.
1933—Amarillo 9, Pampa 6.
1934—Amarillo 13, Pampa 6.
Totals—Amarillo 37, Pampa 25.

DRUNKS WILL NOT SEE TILT THANKSGIVING

Hoodlum Wagon Has Been Borrowed For Day

No drunken rowdiness will be permitted at the Pampa-Amarillo football game Thursday.

Earl Talley, sheriff of Gray county, has made arrangements to borrow the hoodlum wagon for the day from the City of Amarillo. Drunks will be taken from the stands on sight and carted away to sober up.

Inasmuch as everyone wishes to see the game, those who become inebriated will be disappointed. Any person who wishes to see the game is advised to remain sober.

Special arrangements also are being made to handle the crowd. Particularly is it desired that there be no drunken driving. This is one of the main factors in leading officers to pick up the drunks during the game.

WHO'S GONNA WIN?
We're thinking about the afternoon when the Harvesters and Sandies play. Somebody's going to their doom. Who's gonna win that game, anyway?

On the Pampa boys we'd all better bet.
Pep up, and don't be so blue!
That game isn't nearly ended yet: The Harvesters are coming through!
—Betty Homer.

AMARILLO HAS AN IMPRESSIVE GRID RECORD

WINS STATE TITLE IN 1934—TO FINALS TWICE

The Amarillo Sandies have an imposing record for the last five years or since the Pampa Harvesters entered Class A competition. They were crowned state champions last year. In 1932, the Sandstorm swept to the finals in the state race, losing a 7 to 6 game to Masonic Home. In 1930, the Sandies also went to the state finals, that year losing a 25 to 13 game to Tyler.

The Amarillo record for the last five years follows:

Station KGNC Makes Arrangement to Broadcast

For those fans who cannot be at Harvester park, the Pampa-Amarillo game on Thanksgiving will be broadcast over station KGNC, it was announced today.

The broadcast is being arranged by DeWitt Landis, sports reporter of the station.

The press box at the local field has been enlarged and a glassed-off partition installed to give a nearly sound-proof booth for the announcers. More room also is provided for the sports writers.

It will be the first game broadcast here this year.

Historian Lectures Here On Texas' Past

Mr. Hodge, former custodian of the Texas history collection at Baylor University at Waco, gave an illustrated lecture on Texas history. Mr. Hodge has been doing extensive research work in the field of Texas history.

At present the lecturer is traveling throughout the state of Texas. These lectures are given as an educational campaign for the Texas Centennial. Mr. Hodge's lecture was illustrated by an electrically lighted map.

TICKET SALES NOW NEARING PARK CAPACITY

TEMPORARY BLEACHERS BEING BROUGHT TO CITY

More than 11,000 football fans, as thrill-hungry as any in the nation, will be in the stands at Harvester field Thursday when the kick-off at 2:30 o'clock opens the sixth conference meeting of the Pampa Harvesters and Amarillo Sandies.

Nearly 11,000 seats will be available, it was announced yesterday by Roy McMillen, business manager of the Pampa independent school district. Of these, more than 3,000 will be unreserved bleachers borrowed from Amarillo and other towns. Gates to the park will be opened at 1 p. m. Thursday. It was indicated that sale of general admission tickets might have to be limited because of the limited amount of standing room.

Pampa's big pep squad is proud of a special seating arrangement just completed for its permanent possession. The seats, about 200 in number, have been erected at the north end of the field, back of the goal posts.

With more than 4,000 tickets already sold there, Amarilloans were still clamoring for general admission tickets yesterday.

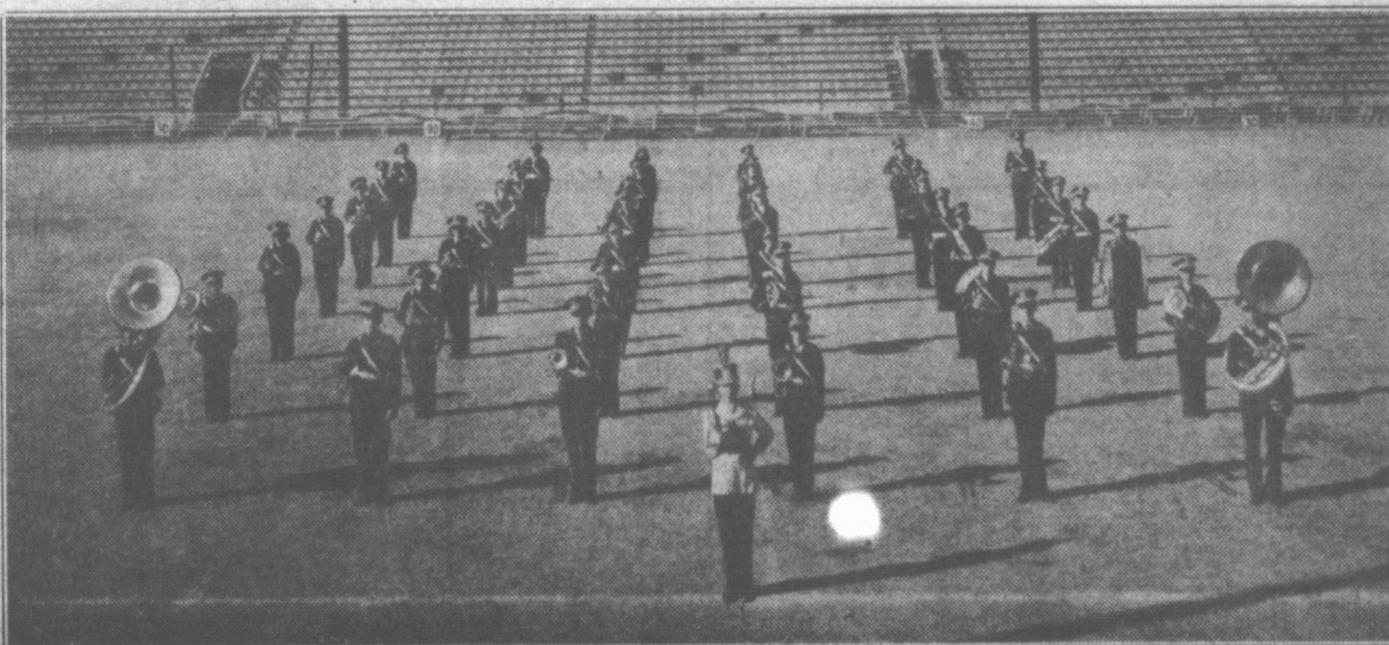

Football fans in towns and cities within a radius of 75 miles of Pampa were not forgotten when ducats for the Pampa-Amarillo football game went on sale.

The Board of City Development and Junior chamber of commerce assisted local school officials in seeing that "others" were thought of in the rush of ticket selling. The two organizations sent 821 tickets to 16 towns and cities. More could have been sold had they been available.

Arrangements are being made to run two special trains from Amarillo. The visitors will march to the high school gymnasium, where buses and cars will transport them to the field. The return down will be in the same manner. A welcome is being arranged.

EX-STUDENTS HAVE BANQUET AND DANCE TOMORROW; GRID GAME WILL CLIMAX REUNION

Evening Program to Include Officer Election

Many ex-students of Pampa high school will participate tomorrow in the activities scheduled for their third annual Homecoming Day.

Chief feature of the day will be a banquet which will be given in the high school cafeteria, starting at 7 o'clock. Ex-students, wives or husbands of ex-students, and former teachers will attend.

The evening will be climaxed by a dance in Harvester gymnasium following the banquet and program. Those who wish to may dance, while others will have the opportunity of renewing school friendships and talking about old times.

Plans for the program include introduction of those present, a burlesque of the old schoolroom days, music by the orchestra, and election officers for the coming year.

Dr. H. H. Hicks will be toastmaster. Mrs. DeLea Vicars is in charge of the school days' stunt, which will probably include a little brushing up of the ex-students on reading, arithmetic, and geography.

Ray Wilson, president of the ex-students' organization, said Friday that the association will mean a great deal more to the present high school students than they now realize, especially after they have been away from the school several years.

The idea for the local organization is credited to Judge Ivy E. Duncan. L. L. Sone, principal of the high school, was interested in the idea and instrumental in forming the association.

Original plans called for several meetings of the organization each year, but because of conflicting dates for events and difficulty in getting all the ex-students together it seems that Homecoming Day is the only practical time for the assembling.

The Homecoming game is decided by the scheduling of the two big games of the football season, those with Amarillo and Lubbock, the choice falling with the game that is to be played at home. Thus, last year Homecoming was on the eve of the Harvester-Westerner game dents depositing their pennies, will be the feature.

Kelton Defeats Gorillas 12-6 in Game Thursday

In a hard-fought game last Thursday, the Gorillas were defeated 12-6 by Kelton. Although they played football equal to that of the previous game with Magic City, the Pampa team was hardly as big or as old as Kelton boys. A large crowd saw Graham, Reynolds, Drake, and Enloe play their positions efficiently.

The Gorilla season will be rounded off this week with a free picture show and a banquet which will be given tonight by the business men of Pampa.

A Buenos Aires commission in Brazil is preparing for the visit of 3,000 Argentine tourists to the Brazilian industrial exposition.

Members of the Gorilla football squad will be banqueted tonight at the McConnell Dining room at 7:30 o'clock. Local fans will be hosts to the future Harvesters and their coaches, E. N. Dennard and Bill Anderson.

The affair will come as a fitting reward after the close of the Gorillas' season last week. Although the season was not marked by many victories, it was a season which saw the development of inexperienced boys into seasoned players who will be valuable Harvesters next year. Faithful training and whole-hearted playing have characterized the squad all season.

back, out of the last two games and Philip Noland recently left the hospital after a severe attack of bronchitis.

The Harvester starting backfield will be Drake, quarter, Brown and Fanning, halves, and Stewart full-back. That quartet will have a weight advantage of only a few pounds over the Amarillo backs, Waggoner, quarter, Denton and White, halves, and Clesson, full. It has not been announced definitely whether Clesson will get the call or whether Rice will be at full-back.

The Amarillo forward wall will consist of Taylor at left end, Ricketts at left tackle, Brunson at left guard, Goodwin at center, Starseth at right guard, Crawford at right tackle, and Cochrane at right end.

The two Pampa ends, Nix and J. R. Green, will co-captain the Harvesters in the game. John Denton, halfback, and R. C. Waggoner, quarterback, will captain the Sandies.

Deception Is Feature

Amarillo's battling Sandies feature a hard charging line and a deceptive backfield which also has plenty of power. A good punter has been uncovered so that points after touchdown have become a habit with the Sandies.

Power plays are expected to feature the Harvester attack, along with some passing.

Both teams have been working behind closed gates for the last two weeks.

Four of the best officials possible have been secured to handle the game. Holton, a former Notre Dame star, will be the referee. Curtis, Texas university, will handle the umpiring duties. Davault, also from Texas, will be headlinesman. The field judge will be Lovorn, T. C. U., not basketball coach at Plainview.

Pampa, the third largest school in the district, has an excellent football record. The team defeated Lubbock its first year in fast competition and lost to Amarillo by a score of 2 to 0 in a game played in a sea of mud. In the following year, the Harvesters defeated Amarillo but lost to Lubbock.

In 1933, the Harvesters won district and bi-district honors, but lost a one-point game to San Angelo in the quarter finals. Amarillo again was the Harvester stumbling block last season. The Sandies won the state title.

Pep Squad to Sit At North End of Field

Pep squad girls will be moved to a new section of the grandstand at Harvester park. It was announced yesterday. The new seats are behind the north goal posts. They are to be boxed in, making it more comfortable for the girls in case of bad weather.

With them in this location, fans will be able to see and hear the pep squad better than they have in the past.

The pep squad will make its first appearance there Thanksgiving Day at the Harvester-Golden Sandstorm battle.

TICKETS

Panhandle towns and cities will arrive here by car. Many plan to come to Pampa Wednesday and shop and stay over for the game. Pampans will be host to fans for the two days and hotels are anticipating overcrowded conditions as reservations arrive this early.

Nearly 8,000 reserve seat tickets have been sold for the big game. Between 3,000 and 4,000 general admission tickets are on sale here and in Amarillo.

The visiting city, Amarillo, was given 3,500 reserve seat tickets. Pampa retained the rest, but sent 821 to nearby towns and cities. The two permanent grandstands at Harvester field will seat 6,112 persons. Temporary seats inside the fence make up the additional reserve seat capacity.

Bleachers are being erected at both ends of the field and an oval may have to be constructed at each corner.

Tickets were sent to the following places: Clarendon, Skellytown, White Deer, Canadian, Perryton, Grandview, Guyton, Okla., Shamrock, Mobetle, Borger, Miami, LeFors, Panhandle, Alanreed, and McLean.

A good pond of water should produce as many pounds of fish per acre as a pasture will produce pounds of beef, says L. A. Whitford of the University of North Carolina botany department.

CAPITOL JIGSAW

By HOWARD C. MARSHALL

AUSTIN, Nov. 26. (AP)—A group was discussing the relative merits of public and private ownership of utilities. The rates of one big privately-owned company were compared with those of a municipal system and complaints against both were heard.

"Well, after all," someone remarked, "the purpose of both is to get as many feathers as possible with as few squawks as possible."

Late one day a flood of routine resolutions was being introduced and Speaker Coke Stevenson systematically was routing them to committees.

"Referred to liquor committee on motion of Mr. Alsop," the speaker intoned. "Referred to state affairs committee on Mr. Alsop's motion," and so on and so on.

"Mr. Alsop"—Rep. Lon E. Alsop of Carthage—was reading some papers all the time and hadn't opened his mouth.

It was a means of complying with parliamentary procedure. Alsop occupies a seat directly in front of the speaker's stand, and is a stickler for parliamentary observances.

If the speaker had sent a resolution to committee without the formality of a motion, Alsop probably would have hopped up and made one.

Gov. Allred has had as much luck as any other governor, maybe more, in holding down the number of local bills at sessions of the legislature this fall.

Even before the legislature convened he was importuned to submit local bills. Some members were almost as interested in their pet projects as in major legislation.

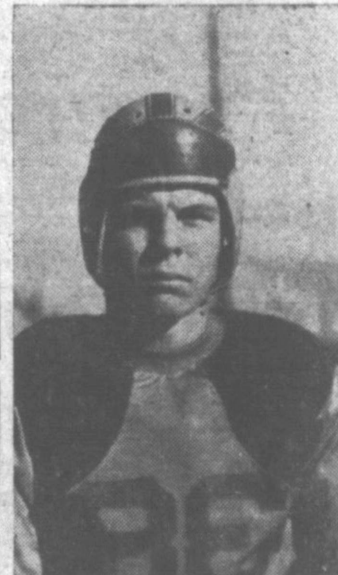

Many had merit, the most dispassionate conceded, but Gov. Allred submitted no more than he could help.

As a matter of fact, local bills take very little legislative time compared with the days and weeks devoted to general subjects. Most are put through at night sessions without objections.

Someone said of Washington: "It's a Harvard administration." Friends of Gerald Mann, former secretary of state, think his Harvard training and contacts have helped him since he became the Texas planning board's representative at the national capital.

After graduating at Southern Methodist university where he starred at football, Mann did post-graduate work at Harvard.

Pampa Harvesters—They Face Hard Opposition Here Next Thursday

Above is presented the Pampa Harvesters football team that will battle against odds in meeting the Amarillo Sandies Thursday afternoon at Harvester field.

need in stressing this matter at this time, but when fans grow enthusiastic in their support their enthusiasm should be manifested only in fitting ways. When opportunity—or apparent occasion—arises for unsportsmanlike words or deeds temptation should be resisted. Football players have a very definite responsibility in this matter, but it is not theirs alone. Rather, it is the duty of every person who plays, officiates, or witnesses the game. Students and fans can help in this matter. Amarillo apparently has a high regard for Pampa sportsmanship. That regard should be encouraged to continue.

When the game ends, the students, citizens, athletes of Pampa should be bound more closely together in common interest and loyalty. Football players must give loyal support free from carping criticism. The tie which binds them all together must be made stronger than ever that they more fully serve the common cause.

Let's be friendly hosts to Amarilloans. Let's be sportsmanlike in our words and actions. Let's be loyal to each other. Let's play football—and win that game!

Cafeteria Will Be Closed Tomorrow

Meals will not be served at the high school cafeteria tomorrow, it was announced yesterday. The cafeteria will be closed until next Monday, when school will be resumed after the holidays.

Closing of the cafeteria tomorrow will be made necessary by the fact that arrangements for the ex-student banquet will require the entire day.

HARVESTERS GOT NAME BACK IN 1920 WHEN WHEAT GROWING WAS PRINCIPAL INDUSTRY HERE

Early Gridsters Had to Overcome Big Handicap

Choice of "Harvesters" as the name of Pampa high school's athletic representatives and of green and gold as the school's colors was made in 1920 when Pampa had its first football team, Ray Wilson, president of the Ex-Students Association, recalled Friday.

Choice of the name was caused by the fact that with the exception of cattle raising the surrounding territory was devoted almost entirely to wheat raising, Mr. Wilson said.

The ex-students' president, a student in the high school from the fall of 1919 until after the end of the football season in 1922 and incidentally one of the first Harvesters, recalled that the early Harvester teams were none too successful.

To begin with, the Harvesters were handicapped by lack of proper equipment. As time passed, their records improved.

The first Harvesters, Mr. Wilson said, went to Miami "stayed on the field while Miami played football, defeating the Harvesters about 100 to 0." In 1920 the team won two games out of the seven or eight played. The following year five or six games were won out of the eight played. In 1922 the Harvesters won all except three games. It was in 1922 that the team tied twice with Amarillo. The score of the first game was 9 to 9. The second game ended with a 3 to 3 score. In a third game Amarillo defeated the Pampa team 20 to 6.

When Mr. Wilson entered high school here in 1919, the red building was the only school building and the faculty consisted of the superintendent, the principal, and two or three other teachers, he said. The central building was built soon afterward, and the east and west wings have been added since 1926. The ward schools, of course, have also been added since that time.

Mr. Wilson recalled that students in his time had their moments in which they ranked with students anywhere in the matter of pranks.

While W. R. Silvey was head of the school in the red building days some boys in a second-floor class of which Mr. Wilson was a member decided to have some April Fool fun at the expense of a new teacher, Charles Dean, who had become a favorite with the boys.

They installed pulleys, a funnel, a bucket of water, and other equipment above the ceiling so that by jerking a concealed rope the bucket would be overturned so as to allow the water to run through some nail holes just above the teacher's desk.

The first trial of the contrivance failed because the student appointed to pull the rope jerked too hard and pulled the apparatus apart. After some futile repairs, the arrangement was successful on the next trial, and water rained down upon the astonished teacher during a class.

After getting his desk to safety, the teacher instituted an inquiry but, as sometimes is the case even yet, the culprits were not found out.

Good Support Is Given to Rogers Fund by Schools

Student help in the campaign here last week in building up the Will Rogers memorial fund was notably successful. Gilmore N. Nunn, county campaign chairman, said at the end of the week.

Mr. Nunn complimented the schools on both their contributions and their programs during the campaign.

Although the county committee at first hesitated to ask school children to contribute, it was decided that children should be given an opportunity to contribute to the memorial fund and enjoy the participation. Results, the chairman said, were surprisingly good.

All contributions were voluntary. Rogers fund jars being placed in the halls of the schools and students depositing therein pennies, nickels, and dimes that they wished to contribute.

Air-mindedness in Brazil was evidenced in a "mushroom crop" of civil aviation clubs at the conclusion recently of "Wings Week."

TURKEY DAY GRID CLIMAX

Amarillo comes to Pampa Thursday.

When the final gun sounds at the end of the clash between the Harvesters and the Golden Sandstorm on the local gridiron, another chapter will have been added to the story of athletic relations between the rival cities.

It is hoped that the new chapter will have a pleasing climax in the form of a Harvester victory. However, much more will be included in that chapter than the score of the game.

The promotion of closer friendship between the towns, the continued development of high standards of sportsmanship on the part of athletes, students, and fans, and closer welding together of students and citizens in loyal support of the school and the town, all are features which it is to be hoped will merit high praise in that chapter.

To bring about this desirable end, each person can and must do his part.

Amarillo visitors must be made to feel welcome. Their stay must be made pleasant. They must go away with pleasing recollections of the day. Students, teachers, citizens can all help in this matter. Ways in which help may be given are obvious. There is no need to enumerate the ways in which friendliness and courtesy may be manifested.

Good sportsmanship must be the rule of the day. There is no special

GOOD TASTE IN BOOKS SHOWN BY STUDENTS

Modern Authors Are Given Preference In Selections

As a Book Week project in high school English classes, students were asked to give the names of favorite books that they had honestly enjoyed. The response was interesting in that many of the titles suggested were widely approved books. Majority opinion favored modern material.

Despite a heavy load of Zane Grey, each of the following books had one or more sponsors:

"Twenty Years at Hull House," Adams; "A Horseman of the Plains," Althsheler; "Quality Street," Barrie; "The Bent Twig," Canfield; "As the Earth Turns," Carroll; "My Antonia," Cather; "Last of the Mohicans," Cooper; "The Lamplighter," Cummins; "Jalna," De la Roche; "Oliver Twist," Dickens; "Coronado's Children" and "A Vaquero of the Brush Country," Dobie; "Cattle Ranch to College," Doubleday; "Count of Monte Cristo," and "Three Musketeers," Dumas; "Show Boat" and "So Big," Ferber; "Smoky," James; "Now in November," Johnson.

"To Have and to Hold," Johnston; "Captains Courageous," Kipling; "Call of the Wild," London; "Moby Dick," Melville; "Haunted Bookshop," Morley; "South of the Sun," Owen; "All Quiet on the Western Front," Remarque; "Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea," Verne; "Ben Hur," Wallace.

"On this list, as on the library shelves," Miss Latimer, librarian said, "there is a preponderance of modern material. No student is made to read Scott and Dickens for recreational reading in English, but many students do so of their own volition.

"A good rule," the librarian said, is to read one older book for each modern one, so that a person will eventually build up a reading background of the older standard works that will enable him to evaluate the modern books.

"Another rule is to read at least fifty pages of an older book before deciding it is uninteresting. Older writers told stories, or at least began them, in much more leisurely fashion than do writers today, but they frequently had a good story to tell. However, the main rule is to read extensively, whatever the subject or the favorite author; the reading habit marks the difference between the dull person and the interested one, between the weak student and the capable one. Read for information—and for fun."

PEP SQUAD GIRLS ARE READY FOR BEST SHOWING OF SEASON AFTER MANY WEEKS PRACTICE

Apple Sale to Continue; $105 Fund Raised

To date $105 has been collected for the student loan fund. It was reported yesterday. Students contributed $27.95 of this amount by paying to hear "Elmer's" assembly program. The remainder has been secured through the sale of apples. This is the result of 14 days effort on the part of those sponsoring the sale.

On Thursday, students will be on the streets selling apples. The motto for the day will be "Every-day buy an apple."

The sale of apples will last as long as the apples continue to be good.

Senior Room Has Highest Grades First Six Weeks

With an average of 84 for the first term's work, senior home room 298 led other high school home rooms whose averages have been reported so far in the contest sponsored by the National Honor Society.

The next highest average, 81.5, was made by senior home room 207. Senior home room 205 was third highest with an average of 81.4.

In the junior division, room 311 had the highest average of 82.

Sophomore home room 314 had an average of 80.5 to lead in the sophomore group.

None of the freshmen home room averages has been reported.

The average grade for Pampa high school students this term, as shown by the eighteen home room averages thus far turned in, is 79.

VISIT SHOP

Two home economic classes visited the Diamond Shop last Thursday and examined its stock.

The girls were shown several sets of silverware, sterling and plated, in beautiful designs. They examined various types, designs, and grades of glassware, and they were shown pieces of silverware that are not always found in sets.

Pampa high school pep squad girls will make their best showing of the year Thanksgiving Day when the Harvesters play the Amarillo Sandies.

The girls, 189 in number, have been practicing for weeks in order to stage such an exhibition as is rarely given by high school pep squads. They have been working on formations and letters to be given in the stands in addition to the usual marching drills.

The present organization of 189 girls makes a decided contrast when compared with the school's first pep squad organized in 1927 and named the "Harvester Peppers." Miss Gladys Carter was the sponsor, and Golda Jameson was president of the group of only 34 girls. They wore uniforms and practiced marches and drills in the same way as the present group. Miss Claudine Pope, a member of the organization then, recalls that they practiced on the lot across the street from the high school, where the court house now stands.

In 1928 L. K. Maxey organized a group called the "Green Jackets" for the same purpose. He was a graduate of the University of Texas, and took the name Green Jackets from the Orange Jackets, a girls' honorary society at the university.

Miss Arlis O'Keefe and Miss Lucille Hill (now Mrs. J. B. Massa) were sponsors of the Green Jackets in 1929. They had from 60 to 75 girls in the group which had as uniforms yellow skirts with two green inserted pleats, and green jerseys with a diamond-shaped emblem across the front bearing the letters P. H. S. The pep squad, besides attending the home games that year, went to Perryton and Memphis where they marched and drilled on the gridirons.

In 1931 Mrs. Derrick and Miss Angela Strnad were sponsors, and the yell leaders were Susie Bell Hickman, Adelle Stone, Virginia Rose, and Susie Campbell.

The squad has continued to increase in size until it now includes nearly 200 girls.

Miss Strnad and Mrs. E. L. Norman are the two present sponsors, and they work with the girls an hour each day. Remarkable skill has been developed in their stunts.

Leaders this year are Flora Deen Finley, Mary Price, Lillian Rice, Mary Adams, De Ann Heiskell, and Pauline Gregory.

There are few colleges in the country which can boast as large and colorful a pep squad of girls as can Pampa high school. Practicing an hour daily, the nearly 200 girls have attained remarkable skill in their field appearances, while their cheering is varied and powerful.

Pampa Band Was First Organized Five Years Ago

Pampans will have their first opportunity Thursday to see the band members in their colorful new uniforms for which the bandsmen have waited so impatiently.

The organization which will appear on Harvester field Thursday represents the climax of five years of band development in the high school.

The Pampa high school band was first organized in 1930, with "Pop"

Fraser as director. About 35 members composed the band at that time. Mr. Fraser continued to be director of the band until 1933.

Roy Wallrabinstein succeeded Pop as director. In the 1933-34 session, Mr. Wallrabinstein had about 32 members in his organization. The band got its first real uniforms while Mr. Wallrabinstein was the director.

The band continued under the same director during the first part of 1934-35, but Mr. Wallrabinstein's place was taken by Winston Savage in the latter part of that year. Mr. Savage had formerly been band director at Woodrow Wilson school.

Mr. Savage continues as director this year. Although he lost most of his bandsmen last year, he has worked diligently and has succeeded in producing an organization of 46 students which ranks favorably with high school bands anywhere.

Kentucky's 1935 Irish potato crop showed an increase of 1,262,000 bushels over the 1934 crop, with this year's crop estimated at 5,742,000 bushels.

HOME COMING MEANS MUCH

Ex-students of the high school, who will have their annual Homecoming Day this week, will be warmly welcomed by students. Some of the exes were here as students last year. Some of them were last students fifteen or twenty years ago. Regardless of the period of time since they attended school here, they unite in retaining their interest in the school and in their affection for it.

There is no sterner test of a school system than the records of its ex-students. The Pampa system has been fortunate in having a large body of graduates who have proved themselves good citizens and who form a living testimonial of the quality of training they received here.

Many of the ex-students have continued to make their home in Pampa. They form no inconsiderable element of the town's population, and their support of the school system has been and will continue to be a definite factor in the advancement and success of Pampa's schools. They have been loyal and thoughtful in their actions which affect the school system. As they reflect credit on the school, so does the school reflect credit on them.

Hundreds of the students now in school will soon join their predecessors. The body of ex-students will continue to grow yearly, and it is to be hoped that future graduates will continue to grow yearly, and it is to be hoped that future graduates will identify themselves with the ex-students' organization and continue in private life and in business life the loyalty and support which they now give the school as students.

An ex-students' association has as its purpose not only the preservation of school friendships and interests but also the intelligent assistance and support of the school in all that it undertakes, regardless of the fact that the members are no longer students. The fact that they are no longer students only gives them more opportunity to help the school. Any school needs friends among the business men and in the various club and social circles of the town. It cannot have too many of them. If many of them are ex-students of the school, then the situation is even better. Ex-students are better acquainted with the system and more able to be of help than are people who have had no intimate contact with the school.

It is to be hoped that the local association will continue to function, to increase in membership, and to deepen its interest in the further advancement of the Pampa school system.

Million Barrels Of Oil Shipped To Italy From Texas

AUSTIN, Nov. 26 (AP) — Reports that 1,000,000 barrels of crude oil had been exported to Italy from Corpus Christi attracted attention in oil circles here today. It was reported an exporting firm at Corpus Christi had a contract to deliver additional oil to the Italian government and also sought a long-term contract.

Railroad commission officers believed the oil exported was Mirando crude which was termed ideal for war purposes as it had a "fuel base."

Sources here said one major company had emptied 750,000 barrels of Mirando crude from Corpus Christi storage, supporting belief the crude exported had been shipped without violating any Texas proration orders.

Three months ago the commission cut the Mirando allowable 6,000 barrels because of lack of demand but subsequently restored it.

Meanwhile, the commission delayed its December oil proration order pending return of commission engineers. Current orders expire Sunday.

BURNS SAYS PEOPLE IN DISTRICT ARE TOO POOR EVEN TO BUY SNUFF

AUSTIN, Nov. 26 (AP) — Senator Gordon Burns of Huntsville says the people in this district are pretty poor.

"They're about bankrupt," he complained one day. "Why, they almost don't have enough money to buy snuff."

Burns was arguing for an amendment to the drivers license law to permit counties to retain fees and bore down heavily on the beauties of local self-government.

Finally he pointed his argument directly at Senator Weaver Moore of Houston, who for several sessions has pleaded for local self-government in liquor regulation.

"I'll trade with you," Moore finally challenged. "I'll vote with you on this local self-government issue if you will vote with me on the other."

Burns was in a hole. "No," he answered; "I can't do any trading publicly."

Oddities frequently turn up in reports to the state registrar of vital statistics, Dr. W. A. Davis.

A justice of the peace in a rural community of Harris county reported recently the death of a negro was caused by:

"Accidental drowning while being baptised."

Speaker Coke Stevenson, who has presided in the house of representatives longer than any other man, sometimes gets tired of maintaining order and settling parliamentary tangles in the turbulent lower chamber.

Occasionally he drifts down from his rostrum, props his feet on the press table in the center aisle and watches the attempts of a member to preside in his stead. Frequently other members try the metal of the substitute speaker, sending up queer resolutions and raising points of order that Solomon couldn't rule upon.

If the temporary speaker is wise he bangs his gavel loud and long, shouts down his questioners and makes up in noise what he lacks in experience.

Stevenson recently was asked whether he would like to serve a third term as speaker. He is the only man who has been twice elected to the office.

"Oh, I don't know," he replied. "I've got too many friends who would like the honor."

TUGWELL WILL PUNISH CRITICS WITH 'SILENCE'

Resettlement Work Is Defended By New Deal

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26 (AP) — Associates of Rexford G. Tugwell said today that he plans to give his foes the silent treatment.

Often assailed by critics of the new deal as a radical, the under-secretary of agriculture recently has been the target of renewed attack. Last week Senator Dickinson (R., Ia.) accused him of preaching revolution. Others have said his resettlement administration with a payroll of 12,000 employees, is topheavy.

Tugwell's associates, who preferred to remain anonymous for the present, pictured him as a "front man" who is able to absorb, in silence, critical punishment which otherwise might be aimed at other officials. This, it was said, is one reason why his services are considered especially valuable. There is little immediate possibility that his connection with the administration will be severed, authoritative sources asserted.

Defending the resettlement agency, high administration officials contended that the average salary is $1,600 a year, lowest of any government unit. They asserted that most of the 12,000 had been employed by other agencies later merged to form the new unit, and that about a dozen drawing $4,000 a year were ordered discharged Saturday.

The administration contention is that "the resettlement unit is moving along smoothly and getting substantial work under way."

A plan for the agriculture department to absorb the resettlement administration within 12 months was disclosed today.

The agency's objectives include the conservation and better utilization of land and the removal of "stranded" families to better soil.

CHAPTER XVI

Sonny Boyd was a slight, nervous little man who seemed to be eternally apprehensive. He gave them a flutty little smile, said, "Hello, Mik," to Hagan, and nodded as Hagan mumbled Larry's name. Then he sat down behind a cluttered desk, and gestured toward a couple of straightbacked, cane-bottomed chairs. As they took their seats he looked at them with mingled suspicion and expectancy.

On the way to his place, Hagan had told Larry, "Sonny Boyd thinks he's a big operator, and maybe he is, but he's a yellow dog underneath. He can't take it and he never could. He'd rat, quick as a wink, if he thought anybody had anything on him."

Larry thought of this now as he looked at the little man on the other side of the desk. He decided that a bluff would do no harm.

"Mr. Boyd," he said pleasantly. "I represent the Division of Investigation of the Department of Justice."

He took a card from his pocket and dropped it in front of the policy king. Boyd picked it up and looked at it, and appeared desperately unhappy. He moistened his lips nervously and said, "Yes?"

"Yes," said Larry. "I suppose you know about Knuckles Welsh dying?"

Boyd's lips curled contemptuously—as if he wouldn't know that! He nodded and said nothing.

"Well," said Larry, "Welsh had a little habit that maybe you didn't know about. He kept a memorandum book."

He looked steadily at Boyd. The latter moistened his lips again and said nothing. A shadow of fear appeared in his eyes.

"There was a lot of information in it," said Larry pleasantly. "Of course, most of it doesn't mean a thing to me. You understand? It's none of my business what happens here in the city of Dover. But there was one thing that did interest me, because it's right down my alley."

He paused again, to note the policy king's steadily growing apprehension.

"Welsh had a little pack of bonds," said Larry. "Fourteen thousand, five hundred dollars' worth of Atlas & Iron River Railroad fives, in $500 denominations."

He kept his eyes fixed on Boyd's face. There was no mistaking the latter's uneasiness. As Larry named the bonds, the little man looked fairly panicky; he took out a cigar, fumbled with the sheaf of matches, lit it, and puffed furiously to conceal his state of nerves. His discomfort was so evident that Larry was emboldened to carry his bluff through.

"He had those bonds," he said, "and his little memorandum book told where he got them. Now, Mr. Boyd—Larry leaned forward—"I'd like to know just where you got them before you gave them to him."

There was a moment's silence. Boyd took the cigar out of his mouth and looked defiantly up at the federal man, but his defiance was poor stuff, and he seemed to realize it. He started to issue a general denial, and the words stuck before he got half of them out; and at last he managed to say, "What—what's the matter with 'em?" Then, recovering himself, he gave a little laugh and said, "But somebody's been kidding you, of course, Mr. Glenn. I never had no bonds like them."

Hagan growled, "You're a lousy liar, Sonny." Boyd jerked his head toward the detective. Government men scared him, but a city detective was only a copper, and no copper could touch Sonny Boyd.

"Listen," he snarled at Hagan "guys have been broke and sent back to pounding the pavement for getting tough with me. Don't you forget it, flatfoot."

Hagan returned his glare. "I've pounded pavements before and I can do it again," he said. "When you get through explaining about these bonds, go ahead and have me busted. Only don't forget . . . these federal raps are awful tough to beat."

Boyd looked at him with thimble-furrowed brows; then the utter truth of the final remark sank home, and he looked furtively at Larry Glenn again.

"You've made a mistake somewhere, mister," he said placatingly. "Honest, I never had nothing to do with them bonds. So help me—"

He raised one hand dramatically, as if to take a solemn oath. Larry cut him short.

"Nuts," he said brutally. "The books say you did, and the books can send you down to Atlanta."

Boyd gaped at him, his hand still raised.

"Atlanta?" he repeated.

"Sure," said Hagan maliciously. "You know, Sonny—that place they got down there with the big walls around it?"

Boyd seemed not to hear him. He kept his eyes on Larry's.

"It's like this," said Larry. "Those bonds came out of the National Bank of Neola. Red Jackson's gang held up that bank seven weeks ago and made it for $40,000 in cash and securities. Robbing a national bank is a federal offense. And so, in case you'd forgotten, is handling the proceeds of such a robbery."

He let this sink in. Then he said: "I'm not interested in you. I'm not especially interested in you in Atlanta. In fact, I'm so little interested in it that you can talk me out of it, if you want to."

Sonny Boyd asked again; then he thought he understood, and he smirked knowingly, and turned suggestively toward the safe behind his desk.

"So?" he said softly, rubbing his hands. "Well, maybe I can talk in a way you'd like, Mr. Government Man."

Larry got the implication, and brought one fist down on the desk with a suddenness that made the little man jump. He looked at Larry with apprehensive eyes; and Larry, checking the anger that was about to explode in hot words, smiled grimly.

"No, that way," he said, with ominous softness, "not that way, Mr. Boyd. You're old enough to be dry behind the ears by this time, and you ought to know you can't square a federal rap that way."

"How, then?" asked Boyd.

"You can tell me where you got them, and why," said Larry. He leaned back and crossed his legs comfortably. Then he added: "Of course, if you don't want to, I'm perfectly willing to take you back down town with me and lock you up."

Hagan, who was enjoying himself immensely, chuckled.

"And don't tell him that somebody just left 'em in your car," he said.

Two years ago, Sonny Boyd had been arrested by an indolent patrolman who had found him with a machine gun concealed in the rear of his car. It had been Sonny's defense, on that occasion, that someone—who, he knew not—had willfully left it there to make things look bad for him; and such was the strength of his influence that this lame story was accepted—officially, at any rate—and he had gone scot free.

He did not bother to reply to the jibe now. Instead he sat with his eyes fixed on Larry Glenn's face, thinking fast but fruitlessly.

"Well, how about it?" said Larry after a long wait. Boyd moistened his lips again.

"Listen, mister," he said, "I do a lot of business here. I got a lot of different deals on, at different times. I bought 'em from somebody, probably. I don't remember. I buy a lot of things. How'd I know they were hot? Why"—he smiled nervously—"I might have bought 'em from most anybody."

Larry got to his feet. "Do you wear a hat?" he asked pleasantly. Boyd looked blank. "If you do, get it," said Larry. "You're going down town with me right now."

"You can't do that," said Boyd shrilly. "I got to see my lawyer. You can't run me in like this. I'll—"

Hagan, still enjoying things, leaned forward toward him with a grin.

"Remember, Sonny, it's like I said," he said. "These federal raps are hard to beat."

Sonny Boyd continued to protest. "You got no warrant," he cried.

Larry stood with his hands on his hips, looking at him amusedly. "Oh, you want me to get a warrant?" he asked. "All right, Mr. Boyd. I'll go get one right now. Only listen: If I get one I'll serve it on you and, if I serve it, it'll stay served. It'll be too late to talk me out of anything then. You'll go down to Atlanta just as sure as God made apples that are little green, and occasionally just a wee mite sour."

Boyd's protests stopped abruptly. "What do you want, mister?" he asked at last. Larry put a hand on his arm.

"Come on down town with me," he said. "We'll have a little talk in my office. If you tell me what I want to know—and tell it straight—you can stay out of the pen. When we get through talking you can come back out here. Otherwise—"

Boyd reached for his hat.

"You win, I guess," he said.

They walked out of the building, got in Larry's car, and went down to the federal building. Then they went up to Larry's office; and there the whole scene was repeated.

An hour passed. Boyd grew haggard, his lank hair dropped down over his pale forehead, he twisted his hands nervously. And at last, his defenses beaten down, he surrendered.

"If I tell you," he said desperately, "you'll let me go?"

Larry nodded.

Boyd's tongue darted out to wet his lips. He looked about him wildly, as if to make sure that he would not be overheard by anyone but Larry and Hagan. Then, looking imploringly at Larry, he said:

"All right, then, I bought 'em. I paid $12,600 for 'em. I bought 'em—"

His voice trailed off reluctantly. "Go on," said Larry relentlessly. "I got 'em—from Dan Montague!"

Former Texas Law School Dean Weds Filipino Widow

MANILA, P. I., Nov. 26 (AP)—Geo. C. Butte, an American justice of the Philippine supreme court and former dean of the University of Texas School of Law, married Angela Papa, Filipino widow of a former member of the Manila municipal board, yesterday.

The ceremony was performed at the papal legation by a Capuchin priest. A double dispensation was required, since Butte is a Protestant and had been divorced.

The first Mrs. Butte and two daughters accompanied Butte to Manila in 1924, when he left his Texas home to become vice governor general of the islands. Mrs. Butte obtained a divorce in Reno two years ago.

Observers noted possible political significance in the marriage, saying it raised the question as to whether Butte would apply for Philippine citizenship and thereby undertake to retain his position on the supreme bench.

LIBRARY GETS FIFTY-VOLUME SET OF BOOKS

Reference Material Is Furnished for Many Classes

Two new sets of material for use in high school work have been received by the high school library. One of these sets is a fifty-volume historical reference work which may also be used for other subjects than history.

Titles in the set range from the earliest American historical period to the present. All deal, directly or indirectly, with American history, life, and literature and are valuable for use in social science and literature classes, and in other subjects as well.

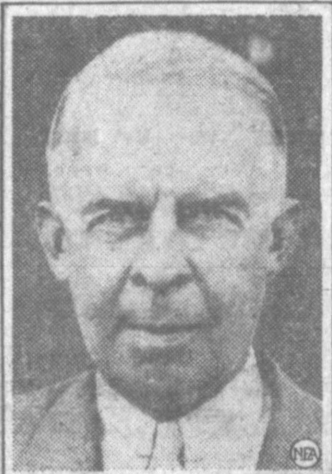

The second set of material is made up of vocational guidance pamphlets. This material, according to Miss Latimer, is unusual because it deals with unusual vocations. Following is a list of the pamphlets:

"My Life's Work," "Air Conditioning," "Auto and Garage Service," "Baking," "Barbecuing," "Beauty Culture," "Chain Store Managership," "Chiroprody," "Catering and Restaurant Management," "Circulating Library Management," "Dressmaking and Alterations," "Jewelry Designing and Engraving," "Mechanic Dentistry, The Mercician, Office Machine Operation, Personnel Management, Pathological Technician, Postal Service, Printing Salesmanship, Photography, Radio and Television, The Retail Meat Dealer, Social Service, Secretaryship, and Watch Making and Watch Repairing.

Library club members voted last Thursday to read at least one book each month from a list of seventy standard books recommended by college professors or else a title from the Newberry prize books. Discussion of these books will form the basis for future meetings.

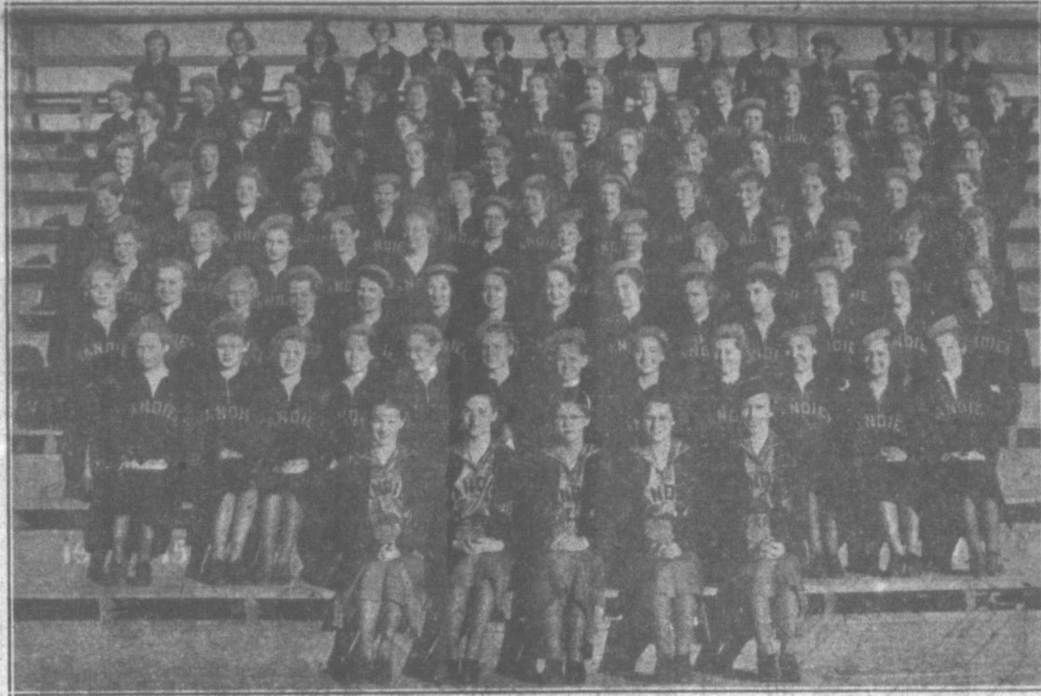

A father, a son and a grandson—all with the same name—Andrew Broaddus I, II, and III—served an unbroken pastorate at Salem church in Sparta, Va., for more than 100 years—1820 to 1926.

TOP TIGERS

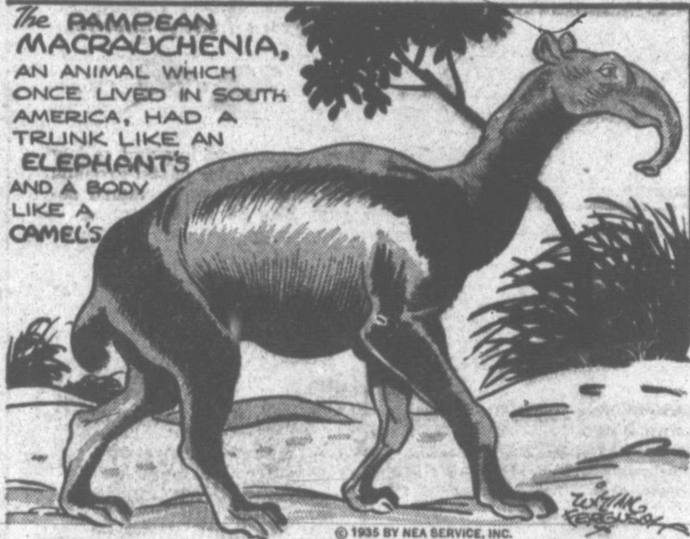

With the death of Frank G. Navin, two new figures are at the helm of the Detroit Tigers. Walter O. Briggs, above, head of the Detroit manufacturing company bearing his name, has announced that he will exercise an option on the late president's holdings, making him the sole owner of the club. Illness forces Briggs to remain at Miami Beach, leaving the active running of the business end of the organization to Charles F. Navin, below, nephew of Frank G. and secretary under the latter's long administration.

NORMAN, OKLA. TEAM PRAISED FOR GENTLEMANLY CONDUCT—IT "SWIPES" NOTHING, IS QUIET

Much has been said about the conduct of high school football teams on trips away from home. Many teams think nothing of tearing up property, keeping everyone awake, and "swiping" things.

There are some teams, however, that are completely under regulations while away from home. A letter from a bus driver to the sports editor of the Daily OKLAHOMAN Sunday is carried here:

On the 17th of October, 1935, I saw my name on the bulletin board to leave at 6:30 a. m. the next morning to go to Norman and report to Coach Dewey Luster at the high school to take him and his boys to Amarillo. Six hundred and twenty miles with a football team and playing the powerful Amarillo Sandies at that, who had beat our Capitol Hill team.

I could see the old rough stuff right there. Light cords out, window shades torn off, windows kicked out, seats kicked and torn to pieces, and could hear the owners or managers of places we would stop at say: "Don't stop here coming back". For I have been making these trips for seven years with high schools and colleges. How I dreaded this trip.

We left Norman at 8 a. m. the next morning. I had never seen Coach Luster or his team until then. We pulled up at Elk City for lunch. Everything was OK, but I was still dreading this trip. We stayed there one hour. I watched the coach and his boys during lunch hour. I began to think I had a nice bunch.

I was the last to leave the cafe. The manager of the cafe said to me: "I hope those boys win their game. The nicest bunch of boys I have ever had in this place."

We arrived in Amarillo about 5 o'clock in front of the Capitol hotel—then I heard Coach Luster make a little talk to them. I was more than surprised then. At 9 p. m. you could not see or hear a player anywhere. I began to like those boys and their coach. The next day we lounged around the hotel lobby and in the rooms. I began to like them better. There was still no rough stuff.

We went to the field that afternoon. I saw them win their game, 26-7. I said to myself, here is where it starts. I mean the rough stuff—but it did not start. We were about 35 minutes getting away from the field after the game. The fans swarmed the bus, praising them for the clean game they played.

Still there was no rough stuff that night or on the trip home the next day. I did not get to make the trip to Guthrie with them but I know what happened there. I made the trip with them to El Reno. There was no rough stuff on the field or on the trip. I can see now why they are going to be the state's best this year, for they deserve being so.

It would be a great pleasure for you to watch those boys play as the team is not built around one or two, they are all good. I would like to praise Coach Jim Lookabaugh on his nice young team for their conduct the night I carried them to Taft stadium when Central gave us that walloping.

Yours truly,
T. A. CHESTER,
Bus driver for the Oklahoma Transportation Co.

BAKER WINNER OF FINALS IN AMATEUR HOUR

Mandolin Player Gets $5 Cash Prize; Is Senior

Wincer Baker, senior, won a $5 prize when he was adjudged the best performer Wednesday in the all-school amateur contest which ended the series of assembly programs in which high school students were given the opportunity to participate. Baker played a group of selections on his mandolin.

Baker was given keen competition by the sophomore girls' quartet which sang "On a Sunday Afternoon." The girls were dressed in attractive costumes which added much to their act. The quartet was composed of Teresa Campbell, Dorothea Roseberry, Martha Price, and Bett Ann McTaggart. The girls were accompanied at the piano by Katherine Barrett.

Other contestants were Elita Marie Choate, junior who played a piano solo, "You're a Heavenly Thing"; Hugh Anderson, freshman, who sang; and Jim Hill, who played the guitar and sang "Fishin'."

Following the contest, talks were made in connection with the Will Rogers memorial fund campaign. Louise Roseberry paid a tribute to the humorist, after which Gilmore N. Nunn, county campaign manager, spoke on the campaign and explained the opportunity which would be given students to participate.

Feature of the Will Rogers program was the tribute paid the cowboy philosopher when the entire student body stood with bowed heads in his honor.

HARVESTERS DETERMINED TO REGAIN EARLY-SEASON FORM AND UPSET STATE CHAMPIONS

Pampa Team Is Out For Victory In Coming Game

Pampa Harvesters will enter their game with the Golden Sandstorm Thursday as underdogs, and they are determined to succeed in their job of upsetting the dope bucket.

According to comparative figures, which may mean much or nothing, the Harvesters are ranked 40 points under the Amarillo team.

During the past five seasons, the Harvesters have defeated the Sandies once, winning by a score of 13 to 6 in 1931.

The Sandies won in the other four seasons, 2-0 in 1930, 7-0 in 1932, 9-6 in 1933, and 13-6 in 1934.

In the coming game, the Sandies have their 1934 state championship to defend. The Harvesters, too, have their task—to prove that they have what it takes to make a winning football team.

Great improvement has been seen in the Harvester camp during the past week. The spirit and fight that will be needed to put the Harvesters where they belong seem to have returned. The Harvesters have resolved to bring home the bacon Thursday in order to prove themselves a topflight squad.

Although it was feared that Brown, stellar half, would not be in the Thanksgiving Day line-up, it now seems certain that Brown will get to play.

Noland, who has been ill, started back to school this week and is expected to see some service Thursday.

So far this season the Harvesters have played eight games, winning six and losing two, one of which was a conference game.

Scores in the season's games follow:

Pampa 19, Lawton, Okla., 0.

Pampa 37, Bowie, El Paso 0.
Pampa 19, Childress 0.
Pampa 18, Capitol Hill, O. C., 0.
Pampa 0, Lubbock 6.
Pampa 19, Plainview 6.
Pampa 27, Borger 0.
Pampa 0, Ft. Collins, Colo., 25.

The Harvesters have tallied 137 points to their opponents' 37. The Harvesters have made 18 attempts for point after touchdown, succeeding in making 7. All their opponents' tries for extra points have been blocked, with the exception of one which was made by Ft. Collins.

Amarillo has played eight games this season, winning seven of them and losing the other to Norman, Okla.

Amarillo's record:
Amarillo 26, Woodrow Wilson 0.
Amarillo 47, Ranger 0.
Amarillo 27, Capitol Hill, O. C., 18.
Amarillo 14, Central, Ft. Worth 13.
Amarillo 7, Norman 26.
Amarillo 27, Borger 0.
Amarillo 34, Lubbock 0.
Amarillo 49, Plainview 0.

The Sandies have made a total of 276 points this season to 57 made by their opponents.

Probable starting lineups for the Turkey Day game are:

Pampa	Pos.	Amarillo
Nix (Co-Capt.)	LE	Taylor
S. Green	LT	Ricketts
L. Noblitt	LG	Brunson
Sparlin	C	Goodwin
Noland	RG	Storseth
Hartman	RT	Crawford
J.R. Green (C-C)	RE	Crocker
Drake	RH	Wagner
Brown	LH	Denton
Fanning	QB	White
Stewart	PB	Rice

Officials for the game will be: Barry Holton, Notre Dame, referee; Ab Curtis, Texas U., umpire; Dave Davault, Texas U., headlinesman; Froggie Lovvorn, T. C. N., field judge.

Game time will be 2:30 o'clock, Thursday, at Harvester Park.

Here Are Signals Used by Gridiron Officials

Meanings of the various signals used by officials are as follows, beginning with the left row, reading from top to bottom:

- 1—Military salute—Unnecessary roughness with a penalty of 15 yards.
- 2—Wrists cross above head—time out.
- 3—Folded arms—Penalty for flying block or tackle. Penalty 5 yards.
- 4—Pushing movement of hands—illegal crawling, pushing or helping runner. Penalty 5 yards.

Middle row, top to bottom:

- 1—Hands extended out from shoulder—interference with forward pass (also pass which touched ineligible player. Penalty, loss of ball).
- 2—Arms extended above head—Touchdown.
- 3—Grasping of one wrist—Holding. Penalty 15 yards.

Right row, top to bottom:

- 1—Horizontal arch of either hand—Player illegally in motion. Penalty 5 yards.
- 2—Hands clasped above head—Safety.
- 3—Waving hand behind back—Illegal forward pass.
- 4—Hands on hips—Offside and violation of kick-off formation.

FARM ANIMALS VISIT 'BEAUTY SHOP' ON WAY TO ANNUAL STOCK SHOW

CHICAGO, Nov. 26 (AP)—There's a trip to the "beauty parlor" facing thousands of America's finest farm animals.

It'll be their first stopping place when they arrive in Chicago for the 36th International Live Stock Exposition in the new stock yards amphitheatre November 30 to December 7.

The "beauty" treatment comes just before the formal opening.

Some breeds of cattle look best with curled coats, accomplished by applying special combs to dampened hair. Horns and hoofs are scraped, sand-papered and polished. Horses' manes and tails are braided and trimmed with rosettes; pigs are washed and oiled, and sheep must be sheared by experts to bring out the blocky forms that shepherds consider ideal.

Many in Competition

B. H. Heide, manager of the show, says great interest in this year's exposition is due to the notable success of recent state fairs, many of which established all-time records for both number of exhibits and visitors. He expects more than 12,000 animals to be competing.

Beef cattle herds are to be entered from such distant points as New England and the Pacific slope states, in addition to the provinces of Alberta, Ontario and Quebec in Canada.

Sheep breeders from 14 states and Ontario have made entries for ten different breeds. Swine exhibits, largely from the corn belt, are 40 per cent in excess of last year's entries.

King of Steerdom

Draft horses, says Heide, are coming from nine states and Canada to stage one of the biggest shows in the history of the exposition. Some of the contenders have recently been imported from Scotland, France and Belgium, the native lands of the Clydesdale, Percheron and Belgian horses.

Interest in the exposition will center in selection of the grand champion steer, scheduled this year for Tuesday afternoon, December 3. The judge will be Walter Biggar who annually makes the trip from his home in Dalbeattie, Scotland, to officiate in this important ceremony.

Next in importance is the sale of the grand champion on the auction block after a two-day reign as the king of steerdom. Last year's champion sold for $3 a pound on the hoof, far under the record price of $8.25 a pound bid for the 1929 champion.

ADMINISTRATIVE STAFF OF HIGH SCHOOL MADE UP OF CAPABLE AND WELL-QUALIFIED PERSONS

Capable and well-educated persons make up Pampa high schools' administrative staff. The system is run on an entirely cooperative basis by the staff composed of Supt. R. B. Fisher, Principal L. L. Sone, and Mrs. Lou Roberts, registrar.

Supt. Fisher, a man who has studied and traveled extensively, capably directs the principals of the city schools. His duties are twofold—to carry out the wishes of the school board and to advise with the board. He stresses a cooperative plan in his work.

Mr. Fisher came to Pampa nine years ago as principal of the high school. Two years later, he took his present position as head of the entire Pampa system.

He acquired much of his education and experience in Oklahoma. After completing grade school work in Mason county, Virginia, he attended high school in Carmen, Oklahoma, and he received his A. B. degree from Oklahoma State Teachers College, at Alva.

Mr. Fisher completed his work for his M. A. degree at Columbia University, in New York City, after three summer seasons there. His early administrative experience included six years at Helena, Okla., as superintendent, and he served as high school principal at Cherokee prior to his acceptance of his position in Pampa.

Last summer Mr. Fisher toured Europe, making a detailed study of educational conditions abroad, particularly in England, Germany, and Russia.

Principal L. L. Sone came to Pampa seven years ago to take his present position in the high school. He is a graduate of W. T. S. T. C., at Canyon, where he was on Buffalo athletic teams. He has done graduate work for two summer sessions in the University of Southern California.

His experience before coming to Pampa included coaching positions at Tahoka, Tex., and Glenrock, Wyoming, and he served for a time as superintendent at Channing.

Mr. Sone is a sympathetic friend to every student in high school. Mrs. Lou Roberts, registrar, is a Southern woman with broad background. She attended Hillman and Blue Mountain colleges, in Mississippi, and graduated from Oklahoma State Teachers College. She has done graduate work in Texas

Technological college, at Lubbock.

Mrs. Roberts has been school teacher, poet, free-lance writer, piano and voice teacher, and children's page editor. She taught in the public school and taught classes in voice and piano at Grandfield, Oklahoma, for a year, and she taught school at Woodward three years.

Mrs. Roberts won first prize in an international poetry contest several years ago. For several years she was children's page editor of the magazine Home Life.

Before coming to Pampa five years ago, she was a free-lance writer, making her home in Amarillo.

Seniors Must Pay for Photographs After Wednesday

With December 6 as the deadline for buying an annual, only 92 books had been reserved late yesterday afternoon, according to Mrs. Hol Wagner, faculty adviser to the year-book staff. If an annual is published this year, 350 copies must be sold.

Recently the sale price of the books was reduced to $1.50, although it will be impossible to publish an annual comparable to last year's for less than $1.85 per copy. The difference will be gained by other means.

A locked box has been placed in the front hall so that students can contribute snapshots for the feature section. The staff has announced its desire to have at least one snapshot of every student in school.

"Groups of kids really doing things are better than posed individual pictures," Mrs. Wagner explains. "Very small pictures can seldom be used, and of course negatives are of no value."

The staff cannot promise to return snapshots, because those used will be sent away for reproduction in zinc engravings.

Seniors have, through tomorrow to get their pictures made without cost to them. Schedules for freshmen, sophomores, and junior pictures will be announced soon after December 6, if enough books are sold to make the publication possible.

If 350 copies are not sold by December 6, there will be no annual this year, and the money will be refunded to those who have reserved books.

Pioneer Woman Plane Builder Dies In Texas

DALLAS, Nov. 26 (AP)—The body of Mrs. Florence Weddington, America's pioneer woman airplane builder, was borne through here today en route to Hugo, Okla., for burial there tomorrow.

She died at Houston Saturday night where her son, Major Harry Weddington, former commander of Hensley Field here, commands a national guard air squadron.

Major Weddington and his wife accompanied by Mrs. Weddington's body as it passed through here.

When flying was young—just a few years after Wilbur Wright's historic flight at Kitty Hawk, young Harry Weddington, an Oklahoma farm boy, decided to take up aviation at Hugo.

Mother Weddington objected, at first, but when she realized that Harry was determined to fly, offered to help him build his first plane.

"I cut the fabric and tacked it on the bamboo wing frame," Mrs. Weddington told a Times-Herald reporter here many years ago. "We painted the cloth and it was a pretty job, even if I do say so."

The plane was an old-style "pusher" biplane with the propeller at the rear. The pilot sat on the front wing.

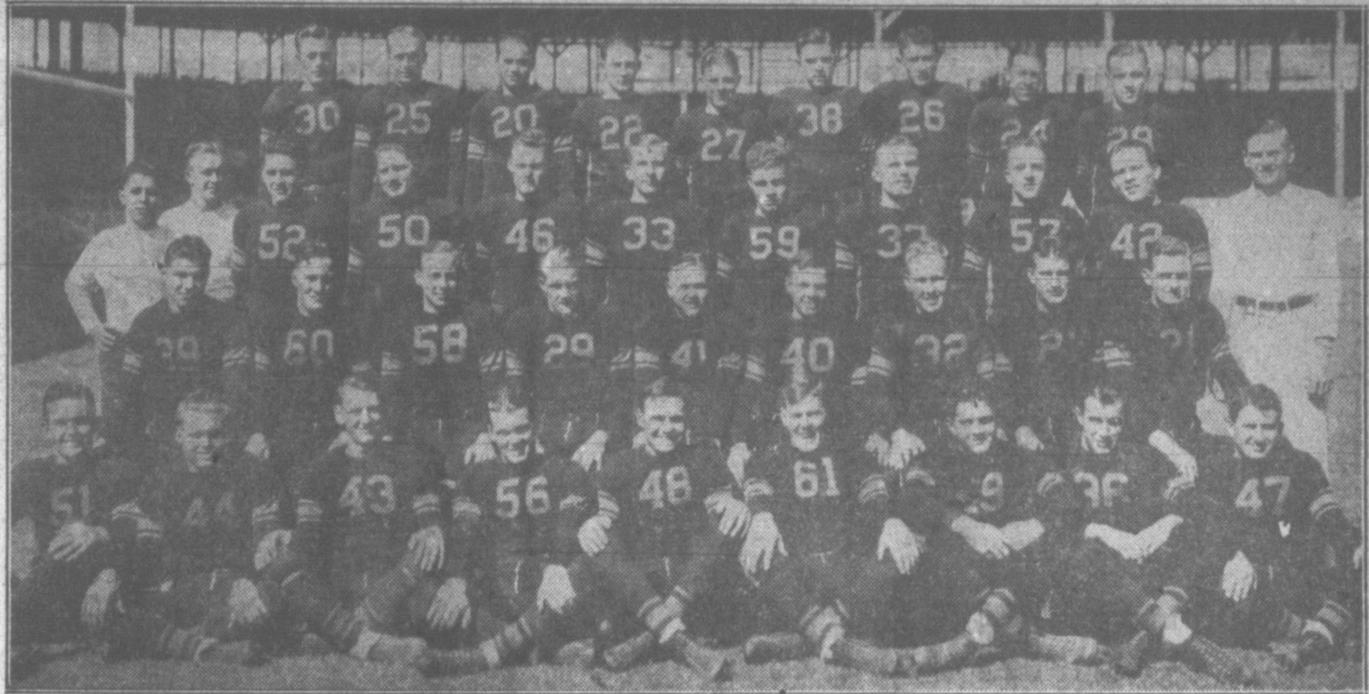

Weddington learned to fly in his first home-made ship. It crashed without injury to him and a second and then a third plane was built with his mother's assistance.

After conquering the air over the Weddington pasture, her son took the plane round the country on a barnstorming tour of country fairs. At the outbreak of the war Weddington signed in the army flying corps and has remained there since.

Weddington Field at Hugo was named in honor of Mrs. Weddington.

WILLIE HESTON'S COACHING SON OPERATES A 'WOLVERINE' FARM

DETROIT, Nov. 26 (AP)—A star halfback on the University of Michigan elevens of a few years ago and son of one of the greatest players ever developed at Ann Arbor has plans for a "farm" which some day will turn out crack gridders for his alma mater.

Heston Club Is 'Tops'

Jack Heston, son of Willie Heston, is coaching the Ford club of the Michigan Amateur Football Association. Jack's father, Willie, is considered by many to have been one of the best ball toters ever to perform anywhere, and Jack himself played some fine football for Michigan. Since then he has been working here and guiding the club now at the top of the amateur association.

Young Heston, if his plan goes through without a hitch, plans to send the entire Ford club starting lineup to Michigan within a year. He has a young team, averaging only 18 years. All are high school graduates and all have signified their intention of going ahead with their schooling.

A Fund For 'Schooling'

The club has started a fund, to which each member contributes $10. When the player wants to go to Michigan he can draw on the fund, pledging himself to repay the money.

Heston plans to corral the best young players of this region, hoping to send the best of the lot on to Michigan to aid the football fortunes of the Maize and Blue.

Eight players now under young Heston's wing were all-city selections of the last two years.

McLEAN AND SHAMROCK TO PLAY HERE FRIDAY

PUBLIC WANTS TEXAS ELEVEN FOR ROSE TILT

ONLY ONE HITCH MARS SELECTION OF TEXANS

PASADENA, Cal., Nov. 26. (AP)—The Rose Bowl's annual football dilemma—selecting a suitable eastern opponent for the 21st inter-sectional game here New Year's day—confronted Stanford today.

While Stanford officials scanned the grid horizon for the team of their choice, a poll of the paying public suggested the western representative take the bull by the horns and name the winner of the Texas Christian-Southern Methodist tussle at Fort Worth Saturday.

Rose Bowl officials said today they expected Al Masters, Stanford's graduate manager, here late this week and advance indications were that the question of the opponent would be answered no later than Saturday night.

There were reports, lacking confirmation, that Stanford would make another attempt to get Princeton. This was in the face of a rebuff from the unbeaten eastern team in 1933 when Columbia was named and insistent undergraduate comment this fall that the Tigers were not interested in the tournament of Roses game which they termed a "commercial classic."

The general opinion prevailed that should New York University defeat Fordham Thanksgiving Day, it would be asked. In event of the Violets joining the ranks of the defeated, Stanford, pursuing its announced plan of attempting to get an undefeated opponent, was expected to turn to the winner of the big game in Texas.

One hitch marred the chances of either T. C. U. or S. M. U. getting the call. That was the fact that each team plays another contest on Dec. 7 and Stanford hardly can hold off that long. Texas Christian plays Santa Clara and Southern Methodist meets Texas A. and M.

A poll conducted by a Southern California newspaper favored the selection of the victorious Texas eleven, with New York U. and Notre Dame, beaten once and tied once, running neck and neck for second place.

Stanford has anything but an impressive Rose Bowl record. The Indians in five appearances here have lost to Notre Dame, Columbia and Alabama. Their one victory was a 7 to 6 win from Pittsburgh and the other contest, with Alabama, resulted in a 7 to 7 tie.

Football Window Gets Attention

One of the neatest and most unique football windows seen here in recent years has been installed at Lee Waggoner's Service station by Homer L. "Heinie" Hindman and the boys at the station.

The window is dedicated to the Harvester football team, and pictures of the players and coaches adorn the window. On the floor of the window had been laid out a miniature football field, stripes, yard chain, down box, and players benches and even goal posts, one decorated with green and gold ribbon and the other with gold and black ribbon.

On the field is a miniature band in the form of the letter "P". A uniformed officer stands at each corner of the playing field.

A grandstand made of cardboard is stretched along the side of the field. At one end is a bleacher section.

The window is receiving much favorable comment, particularly from out-of-town visitors. It took many hours of work to lay out the window after collecting and making the parts.

Mustangs Resolve To Stop Sam Baugh's Super-Passing

Frogs Determine To Keep Wilson Away From Pigskin

(By The Associated Press.)

Sam Baugh, the slinging and kicking Sammy of Texas Christian, and Bobby Wilson, the mighty atom of Southern Methodist, and the things they do on a gridiron were top considerations today as the Southwest's undefeated football teams drilled for their Saturday's battle at Fort Worth.

Said the Texas Christian Horned Frogs: "Baugh's kicks must not fall in the arms of Bobby Wilson."

Said the Southern Methodist Mustangs: "There must be ways and means of breaking up the Frogs' flashy overhead game as engineered by Sam Baugh."

The Frogs' offensive will center on Baugh's bullet passes and their defensive on his punting—out of the reach of Bobby Wilson.

Wilson has done most of his destructive work in returning punts.

An open field runner of the sort that makes all-American rating, Wilson gets his chance when a kick sails down the field. A 66-yard return of a kick last week paved the way to the Mustangs' win over the Baylor Bears.

Coach Matty Bell of the Mustangs said he would concentrate on a defense to break up the Frogs' passes. The hope was expressed too, that some of Baugh's passes might fall in Wilson's arms.

The Frog team, a squad that has been gaining in strength and flash all season, was reported in good condition, while the Mustangs were greatly weakened by injuries. Harry Shuford, fullback, and J. C. (Ironman) Wetsel, star guard, definitely were out of the lineup for the big game which will determine the conference title.

While the Frogs and Mustangs drilled for their big battle, other teams in the conference also were busy.

The Texas Longhorns started work with a stiff scrimmage in which the varsity stressed offensive tactics, both running and overhead, intended to gain ground against the Texas Aggies in their annual Thanksgiving Day clash.

The Aggies paid attention to details of their offensive attack as they began to taper off practice for the big game. The Aggies were idle from competition last week and devoted the time to strenuous drills.

The Baylor Bears prepared for their final game—with Rice at Houston Saturday. The Rice Owls, somewhat bruised by the Texas Christian Frogs, rested yesterday.

Defensive tactics were stressed by the Arkansas Razorbacks as they conditioned for their Thanksgiving Day game with Tulsa University at Tulsa.

Cutten Resumes Grain Trading

CHICAGO, Nov. 26. (AP)—Arthur W. Cutten, Chicago wheat king, was free today to resume his market trading privileges, which actually he never lost, under a ruling of the U. S. circuit court of appeals.

Last March the Grain Futures administration suspended Cutten from trading for two years on charges of violating rules requiring that "long" or "short" positions of 500,00 bushels or more lots in all grain futures are reported.

Cutten appealed to the courts and obtained an order restraining the administration from enforcing the suspension.

The court of appeals yesterday reversed the order, holding that the words "is violating" as used in the grain futures act prevented suspensions for past violations. Cutten's alleged violations were in 1930 and 1931.

FIRST DOWN—AND THEN SOME

BY HARRY GRAYSON

Although the quick kick and spiral punt are almost as old as football, the stratagem of purposefully punting out of bounds to prevent a long return by a safety man has received a wide play in comparatively recent falls, and was devised, not by a coach, but by a shrewd New York attorney who never played the game.

Capt. Lawrence McC. (Biff) Jones, now head man at the University of Oklahoma, remembers seeing great quick-kickers as far back as 1915 when he was performing for Army.

The great Elmer Oliphant quick-kicked skillfully, and the Purdue Pippin was preceded by a number of crack quick-kickers of an earlier era, among them Doc Fenton, Louisiana State '08, and Charley Daly, of Harvard and Army. Punters have been toeing spirals since Walter Camp's day.

The purposeful out-of-bounds punt is much more modern, however.

It was given its chief impetus by LeRoy Mills, a New York lawyer who attended Princeton. In some way Mills developed the odd hobby of kicking a football. Where others spent their spare time playing golf, Mills' idea of how to spend an afternoon off was kicking a football and studying the art from all its angles.

Attorney Mills Introduces Popular Punting Weapon

Mills began working with the high school boys of Mount Vernon, N. Y., where he resides. Among his pupils was Frank Carideo, later the masterful quarterback of Notre Dame, but then a green kid.

Mills taught Carideo to shoot for the corners, drive the ball out of bounds inside the 10-yard stripe to make impossible a long return by a hula-hipped safety man, and put the defensive punter under pressure in his own end zone, when a blocked kick easily might mean a score.

Mills began expounding his theory elsewhere. He visited coaching schools on most of the eastern campuses and preached it to every mentor he met. Impressed, they began to try it. Gradually it became a popular punting weapon, now widely used everywhere.

Old-Time Safety Men

Teck Severe Punishment. Michigan long has been the leader in the use of the punt as an offensive weapon, but Fielding H. Yost emphasized long punts and placing the ball away from the safety, where it would be difficult to handle, rather than kicking it out of bounds.

In the old days the idea was to kick to the safety man and try to get him to fumble by sending both ends down fast to crack him hard. Andy Smith used this system with good results at California from 1919 to 1924, five campaigns which saw the Golden Bears unbeaten.

Because of the absence of expert passing to open up the defense in the period just prior to that, well-matched clubs would soon be butting heads in a hopeless deadlock which could be solved only by the superiority. The result was that safety men of the hoop skirt era took some mean punishment.

But it's different nowadays. Coaches realize, thanks to Mills, that there is no point in punting 60 yards and having a fast, shifty, and clever safety man lug the leather back 40 yards when kickers can make it much more simple and safe by booting the ball 35 yards out of bounds.

Heaviest November Rain in 25 Years Falls At Lubbock

LUBBOCK, Nov. 26. (AP)—The heaviest single rain for November in the last 25 years fell in Lubbock last night and early this morning.

The experiment sub-station, which has been keeping weather records for a quarter-century, reported 1.57 inch of moisture, bringing the November total to 2.01 inches. Average November rainfall here is .62 inch.

The rain, general in the south plains region, was slow. Damage to open cotton was not believed to be excessive, as little or no wind accompanied the precipitation.

Wheat farmers were rejoicing. Minimum temperature this morning was 40 degrees.

TIE MUST BE PLAYED OFF IN BITTER GAME

BETTER SEATING HERE ATTRACTS CLASS B CONTEST

McLean's Tigers and Shamrock's Irishmen will play off their tie game in District 3B here Friday afternoon at 3 p. m. on the turf at Harvester field. An invitation from the Pampa school board was accepted yesterday afternoon when school officials of the two schools met in McLean.

A meeting of the district committee was called yesterday in McLean after the two schools could not agree on the status of the league race. The committee voted the game a tie and ordered it re-played. Pampa was then accepted as the site because of seating facilities.

Coaches Garrison Rush of the Irish and Bill Allen of the Tigers were in Pampa last night to see if it would be possible to hold the officials of the Pampa-Amarillo game over an extra day so that they could officiate in the Friday battle. The officials for the Thanksgiving Day will be Holton, Davault, Curtis, and Lovorn. They will be consulted immediately.

Admission will be 25 cents for students and 50 cents for adults. It was not decided at the meeting whether reserve seats would be sold or just a general admission charge made.

The two teams met last Friday night in McLean and played to a 7 to 7 deadlock. As no arrangements had been made to let penetrations or first downs decide the outcome, the game had to be re-played. McLean led in penetrations, 3 to 1, and in first downs, 9 to 5.

The game was costly to McLean, the Tigers losing Chilton, sensational lineman, with an ankle injury which will keep him out of the game here. Stratton, great fullback, and Kennedy, another stellar lineman, were injured in the game and there is doubt whether they will be in the starting lineup against the Irish.

Shamrock, in holding McLean to the tie score, gained the upper hand on the dope since Leland McIntyre, one of the outstanding backs in the conference, will have sufficiently recovered from an attack of influenza to get in the game. He played only a few minutes of the battle in McLean last week.

Both teams are working behind closed gates. The McLean worry is how to stop the terrific drives of McIntyre and Wells. It was Wells who played the outstanding game in McLean. Shamrock will have to stop the tricky Cunningham and the powerful Stratton if he is able to play.

The two teams play a hard brand of football. Fans who have seen the two elevens in action are enthusiastic over the prospect of seeing them in action here.

Shamrock will present four versatile backs in Wells, McIntyre, Rook and Davis. McIntyre is the leading scorer of the district, with more than 100 points to his credit. Wells played sensational ball against McLean last week. Both Davis and Rook are dangerous.

Stratton and Cunningham are most of the McLean ball carrying, with Laswell and Christian taking turns. Laswell is one of the prettiest passers seen in this section. His heaves are like bullets and he can throw a ball more than 50 yards with ease. Stratton is the ace punter of the district.

McLean will be without Chilton, regular guard, it was definitely announced last night. Roth will replace him in the lineup. Kennedy will probably be able to go. Cook, King, Nicholson, Brawley and McCarty round out the Tiger line. McCarty is a deadly line backer.

Trostle and Usery are a pair of great tacklers who lead the Irish line work. Schoonover, Mills, Fuller, Grady and Brothers make up the rest of the big Shamrock line.

Olympic Boycott Question Not To Be Threshed Out

CHICAGO, Nov. 26. (AP)—Groups opposed to United States participation in the Olympic games at Berlin next August, who expect the boycott question to be threshed out on the floor of the annual meeting of the Amateur Athletic Union at New York Dec. 9, are likely to be disappointed. Fred L. Steers, vice president of the A. A. U., said today.

Steers, a Chicago attorney, said the question has no parliamentary standing and that there is little probability that efforts will be made to force a vote.

What he termed a "noisy minority" has been deluded, he said, into believing that there is a technical chance of forcing a vote on the question of an American boycott of the games, for alleged discrimination by Germany against Jewish athletes. The technical chance, he said, was based on a resolution presented by Gustavus T. Kirby, treasurer of the Olympic committee, and adopted at the A. A. U. convention at Pittsburgh in 1933.

The Kirby resolution asked that the American Olympic committee instruct its delegates, Col. William May Garland, Gen. Charles H. Sherrill and Commodore Ernest Lee Jahneke, Jr., to inform the International Olympic association that the American group would not certify its athletes for participation in the games unless Germany gave assurance that there would be no discrimination against German athletes of Jewish faith.

Steers pointed out that the delegates did inform the international association, and that Germany gave the assurance requested.

Harvester Great Of Other Years Will Be Watching in Stands on Next Thursday

Harvesters famous in other years and well-remembered for their great battles against the Amarillo Sandies will be in the stands Thursday when the 1935 Harvesters make their bid for similarly lasting fame.

Pampa's Class A competition began in 1930, when a gallant Harvester eleven made one of the finest showings yet recorded. Pampans firmly believe that on a dry field the locals would have swamped the Sandies.

'Twas a wet day, indeed, when the Harvesters lost a 2-0 decision to the Amarillo Sandies back on October 12, 1930. The grounds were ankle-deep in mud, through which thousands of fans trudged, and the gridiron was scarcely less muddy, and heavy showers fell during the game at Amarillo.

Powder and Bufkin, two famous backs for the Sandies, pushed the Harvesters back into their own territory in the first quarter. Fowler punted out of bounds on Pampa's 5-yard line. Both teams were off-side on the next play. Then big Don Saulsbury was tackled behind the goal line for a safety, the only points of the game. Later the Harvesters outplayed their opponents and once seemed due for a touchdown, the but slippery ball was fumbled on Amarillo's 5-yard line.

The starting lineups:
Amarillo Pos. Pampa
 Conley LE Moore
 Montgomery LT Renc
 Allen LG Schmidt
 Glass C Poe
 Foster RG Burch
 Estes RT Pafford
 Floyd RE Sartin
 Scanlon LH Chastain
 Bufkin RH Martindale
 Fowler QB Lard
 Hancock FB Saulsbury
 Amarillo made only three first-downs in that game, to Pampa's 6. Pampa gained 119 yards in 55 plays and Amarillo 63 yards in 55 plays.

Pampa Won in 1931
 Pampa was the happiest city in the nation Saturday afternoon, Oct. 17, 1931. The occasion was the 13 to 6 defeat of the Amarillo Sandies by the Pampa Harvesters. It was the first time in history that a Pampa team had won from Amarillo. Several tie games had been played but no victories had come the "Pampa way."

The Harvesters took advantage of the breaks and scored early in the second quarter after recovering the ball in their own territory. After ground plays had failed, Ray Chastain stepped back and passed to "Best" Martindale who took the ball on the dead run and went 40 yards for a touchdown. Chastain added the extra point.

Little Joe Kahl scored the second counter two minutes later when he broke through the line, cut to the sidelines and outraced Sandie tacklers in a 43-yard jaunt. Chastain failed to add the extra point.

Bassett scored Amarillo's lone touchdown late in the game when he went 6 yards for the counter. Pampa had the ball on Amarillo's 2-yard line at the final gun. Amarillo made 15 first downs, Pampa 12.

Score 7-0 in 1932
 The Amarillo Sandies knew they had been through a terrific gridiron battle when they left the turf of Butler field with a 7 to 0 win from the Pampa Harvesters in 1932. The unerring aim of big Miles Marbaugh's passes almost upset the dope but the Harvesters couldn't click with a heave for a touchdown. Amarillo scored half way through the last period when Dunaway passed 21 yards to Sanders for the count. Mann added the extra point from placement.

The Harvesters made only 4 yards less than the Sandies on ground plays and outplayed the Amarillo aerial circus by completing passes for 124 yards, while Amarillo was held to 48 yards through the air. Amarillo had the advantage of first downs, 12 to 8.

GRID TRIUMPHS BY BISHOP'S 3 SONS ARE GIFTS TO MAMA

It was the scrappiest team ever fielded by the Pampa Harvesters. They battled the favored Sandies in every department and nearly won the game on several occasions.

It Was 9-6 in 1933
 Lady Luck, the patron saint of Amarillo football teams, almost failed a badly bogged visiting eleven in 1933 when the Sandies won only 9-6 after being doped to overwhelm their lighter opponents.

Marbaugh's punt in the first quarter was blocked for an Amarillo safety. Early in the third quarter, Peterson grabbed a Pampa fumble in the air and raced down a clear field for a touchdown. Angered, the locals crashed over a touchdown late in that same quarter. The last period was battled near midfield.

The starting lineups:
Amarillo Pos. Pampa

Pampa made 12 first-downs to 13 for Amarillo.

Lost 13-6 Last Year
 A Harvester football team riddled by injuries and sickness gave the Amarillo Butler field tradition of no losses on the home turf a bad 60 minutes in losing 13 to 6 in 1934.

With their best ball carrier just out of bed from an attack of influenza, a halfback and an end injured, the Harvesters were scheduled to be swamped under the great Sandie attack. But the team rose to new heights and was declared the second greatest high school team in the state after Amarillo had romped through to a state championship.

Amarillo scored in the first quarter when a couple of punts by Harvester substitutes had gone haywire. With the ball on the 15-yard line, Stidger faded back as though to pass and then skirted his own right end for a touchdown.

Pampa scored a few minutes later on the prettiest play of the game. Drake, back, started around his right end but faded back and passed 20 yards across the field to Owens who took the ball away from two Sandie tacklers and side-stepped and stiff-armed his way 43 yards for the touchdown, knotting the score.

Amarillo won the game late in the last quarter after two Pampa regulars had been carried from the field. Stidger passed 15 yards to Peterson who ran 20 steps for the touchdown. Stidger added the extra point.

The outstanding work of Carl Smith, Pampa guard, got him a place on the All-State list and J. R. Green received honorable mention.

Wear a Mum to the game. Clayton Floral Co., 510 E. Foster. (Adv.)

EVANSTON, Ill. (P) — Sunday, November 10, was a happy day in the life of Mrs. Ernest Lynn Waldorf, wife of Bishop Waldorf of the Chicago area of the Methodist Episcopal church.

In the first place, it was her birthday, and in the second place, three of her sons gave her what she calls "perfect" remembrances.

Lynn's Boys Beat 'Iris'
 Lynn, head football coach at Northwestern university, returned from South Bend, Ind., with the first Northwestern victory over Notre Dame in 34 years.

Paul, head coach at McKendree college, Lebanon, Ill., led his team to an upset victory over Illinois normal college, 6 to 0.

Robert, 17, the youngest, plays guard on the New Trier high school in nearby Wilmette, and his team defeated Evanston, 21 to 6. Incidentally, Bob blocked a punt for the first New Trier touchdown.

A Football Family.
 And that, says Mrs. Waldorf, is enough to make any mother happy on her birthday.

The Waldorfs have long been a football family. Another son, John, captained the University of Missouri team several years ago, and later was head coach at Nebraska Wesleyan.

Of the three older boys not one has evinced an interest in the ministry despite the hope of their father that one would follow in his footsteps.

So far Bishop Waldorf has had to be satisfied with having his daughter, Ethel, marry into the ministry. She is the wife of the Rev. Albert Wagner at Crystal Lake, Ill.

"We three older boys have never agreed on anything," says Lynn Waldorf. "We all went to different colleges, learned different styles of football, and joined different fraternities."

DEPOSED KING OF ETHIOPIA DIES IN EXILE

LEGEND SAYS HE WAS HELD PRISONER IN GOLDEN CHAINS

BY JAMES A. MILLS
(Copyright, 1935, by The Associated Press)

ADDIS ABABA, Nov. 26. (AP)—Lij Yasu, deposed emperor of Ethiopia long reputed to be a prisoner in golden chains, is dead, it was announced today.

The grandson of former Emperor Menelek, a cousin of the present Emperor Haile Selassie, died in exile in a villa prison specially constructed for him at Tiara Mulata, near Harar, where he had every comfort.

Haile Selassie, who became regent and heir to the throne to share the rule with Queen Zauditu, daughter of Menelek, when Lij Yasu was deposed by the tribal chiefs in 1916, went into mourning for his predecessor.

Lij Yasu, who was about 38 years old, succumbed to a lingering illness.

Lij Yasu ruled Ethiopia for only three years before going into exile and becoming subject of many a strange and fantastic tale.

The favorite legend had the one-time monarch held in golden chains at Haile Selassie's Addis Ababa palace to prevent the Italians, now invading Ethiopia, from kidnaping him.

Other reports had the possibility of an Italian bombing of Harar prompting the emperor to remove Lij Yasu to a secret hiding place far in the hinterlands.

It was generally conceded that at Haile Selassie's orders, the deposed emperor was allowed to live in luxury, even to such comforts and diversions as champagne and playing cards.

Over all the legends prevailed deep mystery ever since the Italians allegedly tried to kidnap Lij Yasu a few years ago by airplane with a view to making him emperor in the event Italy conquered Ethiopia.

He had been reported dead many times, but Ethiopian government officials disclosed last June that he was then alive and confined in the villa not far from Harar.

Joe Kahl.

The smiling ex-Harvester pictured above is Joe Kahl whose playing will never be forgotten by Pampa football fans. Kahl went from Pampa to Tulsa university where he has been a star for three years. Friends here have learned that "Little Joe" may never don a football uniform again. He was so badly injured when Tulsa played George Washington university that his leg, from ankle to hip, has been put in a plaster cast. Ligaments and tendons were torn so badly that the leg may be crippled, it has been learned.

PAMPA'S FIRST FOOTBALL TEAM LOST TO MIAMI '11' 27 YEARS AGO, 20 TO 13

Twenty-seven years ago, the first Pampa football team played Miami on a field located where the Gray county court house now stands—and lost.

Pampa had only twelve boys in uniform. After a hard battle, the score was 20 to 13 for Miami.

Ivy Duncan, now a prominent ex-student, then was captain of the team. Ernest McCarty called signals for Pampa from an end post tion. Frank George was on the other end. Bob Elkins was the Miami captain.

The Pampa team was composed of Ivy Duncan, Ernest "Runt" Fletcher, Bunk Lard, Elbert Talbot, Joe Collins, DeLea Vicars, Lloyd Bennett, Ernest McCarty, Harlan Case, Howard Broadway, C. C. Sloan, and Ross Deydler.

MAKING UP a shopping list

The hall needs a new rug. More towels are needed for the bathroom, and the kitchen floor could certainly stand a coat of paint. The children need shoes. The car will soon need tires. Well, we buy a hundred things every year.

Scattered throughout the United States are manufacturers who make the very things we need. Their products are on sale in certain stores within easy reach. Certain of these products, and certain of these stores, are especially fitted to take care of our special need. But which products and which stores? Which can we afford, and which do we think is best? We must look to advertising for advice.

Advertising is the straight line between supply and demand. It saves time spent in haphazard shopping. It leads you directly to your goal. By reading the advertisements, we can determine in advance where the best values are to be found. With the aid of advertising, shopping becomes a simple and pleasant business, and budget figures bring more smiles than frowns.

From the pages of this paper you can make up a shopping list that will save you money.

Shell Refinery Strike Delayed

HOUSTON, Nov. 26. (AP)—Decision of more than 700 workers at the Shell refinery at Deer Park not to strike at least until tomorrow brought hope today that the threatened walkout might be averted.

The decision climaxed a series of conference between refinery officials and representatives of the workmen's union. Announcement that J. L. Coulter, the International union secretary at Washington, was en route here to take over negotiations gave rise to the hope the labor trouble might be settled.

Members of the union asked for union recognition, plant and department seniority and a 15 per cent increase in wages.

DALLAS TO SPEND 20 MILLIONS AS CENTENNIAL HOST IN 1936

DALLAS, Nov. 26.—In 1936 the State of Texas will celebrate the passage of a century since her pioneer settlers won freedom from Mexican rule and established the Republic of Texas which later became a state.

Throughout the Lone Star State there will be celebrations at places of historic and patriotic interest. The cities and towns which were battle scenes in the Texas revolution, and communities founded during the exploration and colonization preceding the republic, will commemorate progress of the only state that existed as an independent republic, recognized by foreign powers, prior to its entrance to the Union.

Under the six flags that have flown over Texas soil—those of France, Spain, Mexico, Republic of Texas, the Confederacy, and the United States—since 1519, there has been written by men and women, in thought and action, a saga that is truly mighty.

Highlights of the gala and festive celebrations of the Centennial year will be an event that is in its own right an historic one. It is the Texas Centennial exposition to open in Dallas on June 6 and continue until November 29.

The Texas celebration represents an investment of more than $20,000,000. The City of Dallas pledged $8,000,000 in cash and property and the $4,000,000 plant of the State fair of Texas, located within her city limits, will be used as the exposition grounds. Dallas also pledged $5,500,000 in cash for building her share of the enterprise, $3,500,000 of which was raised by a municipal bond issue and $2,000,000 bonds sold by the Texas Centennial Central Exposition Corporation, comprised of Dallas citizens.

The Texas legislature appropriated $3,000,000 and the United States government a like sum.

The Dallas exposition grounds consists of approximately 200 acres. Exposition buildings and their cost follow:

Texas Hall of State, $1,200,000; Hall of Fine Arts, $550,000; Hall of Varied Industries, Electricity and communications, $440,000; Hall of Transportation, $440,000; Hall of Livestock and Animal Husbandry, $300,000; United States Building, $325,000.

Hall of Natural History, $250,000; Rural Boys' and Girls' Dormitory, $250,000; Hall of Foods and Beverages, $230,000; Hall of Aquatic Life, $180,000; Hall of Agriculture, $170,000; Hall of Domestic Arts, $75,000; Hall of Horticulture, $75,000.

Band Shell and Pavilion, $50,000; Hall of Negro Life and Culture, $50,000; Radio, Police, Fire Station, Texas Ranger Headquarters and Hospital, $40,000.

Cost of landscapings and paving is estimated at $675,000. In addition, a half-million dollars worth of utility equipment and $350,000 in electrical equipment will be installed.

A million dollar sports plant will enable the exposition to handle sporting events of all kinds. The grounds already have a $400,000 stadium seating 46,000 people, a horse race track and grandstand costing $300,000, and indoor boxing and wrestling arena costing $100,000 and seating 6,000 persons, a polo field, straightaway and oval running tracks and tracks suitable for automobile or motorcycle races. A standard-sized swimming pool will be constructed for aquatic events.

Main entrance of the exposition grounds will face the Esplanade of State, 30x1,000 feet, leading to the Texas' Hall of State. The esplanade's center will be a reflecting basin 200x700 feet with concealed lighting effects flashing from the pool to adjacent buildings.

The Texas Hall of State, built of native granite, will be 488x258 feet. An 80-foot high center will house the Niche of Heroes, dedicated to illustrious figures of Texas history. The front wings will be devoted to regional rooms, a replica of a Texas mission representing the Hall of 1936. An auditorium in the basement will be used for convention purposes.

Dusting The Covers Of Texas History For
THE TEXAS CENTENNIAL CELEBRATION OF 1936

(Note: This is one of a series of articles taken from the 300 special collections of family archives in the University of Texas library. The collections cover all periods of Texas history, from the earliest days of the Spanish missionaries in the province of Texas, through the colonial era, to the present. This series of articles presents interesting excerpts from a number of these family collections, human interest in portraying personalities, economic conditions and social intercourse.)

AUSTIN, Nov. 26.—A depression, but not one created by the same misfortunes that have fostered the one of the last few years, greeted Stephen F. Austin when he visited the Mexican settlements in Texas on his first trip to that province. For the people of that region were not troubled with over-production and inadequate income. Instead, they had plenty of money, but there were no commodities for which they could spend it.

In his first trip to San Antonio and in his subsequent explorations, Austin traversed the region now covered by twenty-three counties, records in the Austin Papers and in the Bexar Archives, both of which collections are kept in the library of the University of Texas, show. He found that there were only two small villages in this vast region—San Antonio and Goliad—with a total population of 2,516 inhabitants. Nacogdoches, which had been a town of over a thousand population before the filibustering expeditions of 1812, 1817 and 1819, was now a deserted village. The missions near San Antonio and La Bahia were either deserted or poorly managed and in a deplorable state of dilapidation. Because of government restrictions on trade with the United States, and since the sources of supply—Monterrey, Saitillo, Vera Cruz—were so inaccessible, Spanish Texans were living in a most wretched condition. Austin found that they had an abundance of money, but there was nothing for them to buy with it. The ever present Indian menace had increased in proportion to the depopulation of Spaniards. Governor Martinez realized that the province of Texas had to be populated at any cost.

Therefore, when Moses Austin, and later his son, initiated a movement to colonize Texas, Governor Martinez did everything in his power to aid the colonization scheme. He recognized Stephen F. Austin as the legal successor to his father. He gave Austin leave to explore the province and furnished him guides and other help.

On October 12, 1821, Austin wrote a letter from Natchitoches to Governor Martinez, giving an account of his exploration and the boundaries of the proposed colony. This letter is found in the Austin Papers kept in the archives of the University of Texas. A translation of this letter follows:

"To Don Antonio Martinez, governor of the province of Texas:

"I have the honor to report to Your Lordship my arrival here with my companions on the first of this month. I shall now give Your Lordship an account of my trip.

"At La Bahia I hired a guide and three Jaraname Indians for one peso per day. They traveled with me for a week. However, seeing that they were not helping me any because they were not acquainted with the terrain, I paid them for the time they had been with me and sent them home. I explored the Guadalupe River down to its mouth. Then I explored its banks hoping to find the site of the old presidio of La Bahia, but I could not find it. The land which I have selected for the new colony is situated on the Colorado and Brazos rivers and the territory between these two rivers from their mouths in the Gulf to a line six leagues above the upper San Antonio road. The boundaries I request for the colony that I intend to establish in that province are as follows: Beginning at the mouth of La Vaca river, up the river to its source, and continuing along the hills which divide the Guadalupe and Colorado rivers, to a line six leagues above the upper San Antonio road. Thence a line parallel with the aforsaid road running east to the hills dividing the Brazos and San Jacinto rivers; thence a straight line along the hills to the sea. I have not been able to select a site for a town or seaport. In order to do this more accurately, as soon as possible I shall sail from New Orleans and explore the coast to the mouth of the Guadalupe river. From there I shall go by land and report to Your Lordship any observations that I may have made, for your resolution. I have permitted some of the families now living in Nacogdoches — where they were settled by Don Erasmo Seguin — to move to the district I have outlined above. I have given this permission only to those who have furnished affidavits of good character. I have promised them land in accordance with the plan I proposed to Your Lordship, with the only difference that I have not promised to give them town lots; I have decreased the acreage given to unmarried men and have increased the allotment given them for children and slaves. I have given each head of a family one square mile or 640 acres; a woman receives only half this amount, or 320 acres; each child receives one-fourth, or 160 acres; and each slave one-eighth, or 80 acres. The land will be given the settlers in two sections; one of them will be set aside for grazing stock. This manner of distributing land is more acceptable to people of means, and it is more like the system they are accustomed to in the United States. The amount of land given them is almost the same as what I suggested during my visit to San Antonio, but it is divided in a different way. Since farmers could not, at the same time, settle on farms and town lots, the result would be that no towns could be founded. Therefore, I have reserved town lots for mechanics, merchants, and others who may wish to settle in them.

"Over fifty families have asked me for leave to move from Nacogdoches and its surroundings to the interior of the province in the months of November and December. Since I will not be able to go with them yet, I have appointed Don Tomas Novell, of Nacogdoches, to lead them and to see that they are well located and that there are no misunderstandings among them. In order that they may not scatter out too much, I have assigned them the territory between the Colorado and Brazos rivers and between the San Antonio and Bahia roads. The reason for selecting that stretch of territory is that it is beyond the reach of the Carancahuases and Comanche Indians; and, besides, it is located in the territory where buffalo are found, and these will serve for the sustenance of the new colonists. It is much more healthful than the coast; and, since it is between the two highways, immigration to it will be made easier.

"After I select a site for the port I shall establish the colony near it. In the meantime those who are already settled will raise their crops and help the others through until next fall.

"I think it necessary to appoint one of these settlers to serve as justice of the peace. I have appointed (pending your approval) Don Jose Dell to this office, and I have instructed him to give Your Lordship frequent reports of everything he may observe. Dell was my neighbor for a long time in Upper Louisiana, and he has always had the reputation of an honest man. He has a family of his wife, two children, and three negro slaves.

"I hope Your Lordship will approve the steps I have taken.

"I am your most obedient servant,

STEPHEN AUSTIN.
"P. S. I expect to be in San Antonio in January. From there I shall go to the new colony to help settle these families, who will, by that time, have arrived here."

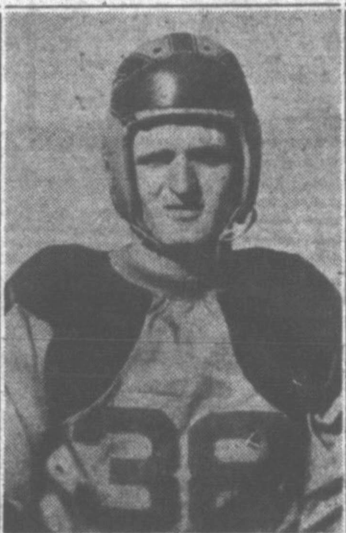

Although Austin's colonization scheme was well under way, many difficulties commenced to appear with the advent of the new govern-

HIGHWAY 66 MAY BE CHANGED TO HONOR WILL ROGERS AT MEETING

AMARILLO, Nov. 26.—A proposal to change the name of U. S. Highway 66 to "Will Rogers U. S. 66 Highway" will be one of the major topics to be discussed by members of the transcontinental highway body at their annual convention in Amarillo, Tex., December 9.

C. M. Bartlett, Miami, Okla., president of the U. S. Highway 66 association, says he has received thousands of requests to re-name the highway in honor of the late Will Rogers. These requests have come in the form of letters and resolutions from various organizations throughout the nation.

It is generally believed that directors of this national highway body will favor this change because a major portion of the country favored by Highway 66 is synonymous with Will Rogers' first love—the cattle industry and the wide-open spaces of the West.

U. S. Highway 66 passes directly through Rogers' old home town, Claremore, Okla., and extends thru the Texas Panhandle where the early-day cow hand rode the open range. It is the one highway in the United States that can be properly named to perpetuate the memory of one whose love for his fellow-men was as unlimited as the space of the West which gave Will Rogers to the world.

Because perfection of a new national program designed to speed completion of Highway 66 will be outlined at the Amarillo party, a record attendance is expected from the various states along this all-year route. Vice-presidents of the national association who are organizing delegations to attend the meeting are John T. Woodruff, Springfield, Mo.; Charles Wells, Baxter Springs, Kan.; Charles H. Tompkins, El Reno, Okla.; J. D. Hanna, Santa Rose, N. M.; G. L. Noel, Holbrook, Ariz., and J. B. Gill, San Bernardino, Calif. M. L. Woodard, Gallup, N. M., is vice president of the national association, and Fred Brawner, Bristow, Okla., is secretary. Julius Dorenfield, Jr., Amarillo, is the vice-president from Texas.

On the same date at the 66 Association convention, Amarillo will be the scene of the interstate highway rally, attracting boosters for U. S. Highway 60 and other routes, who plan to devise programs in line with the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads' policy to do intensive work on federal designated highways.

All business and entertainment sessions will be held in the Crystal ballroom of the Herring Hotel in Amarillo.

STRATEGY

TROP, O., (AP) — Joe Kelly, Union township trustee, used political strategy to win back the office he apparently lost by four votes in the Nov. 5 election. He requested a recount in eight precincts. When it showed him a vote ahead in each of five precincts, he called off the remainder of the recount. Since his opponent had not filed a request for a recount, Kelly automatically won.

Jascha Heifetz, one of the great violinists of all time, has become an enthusiastic sailor. His boat is a yawl, and its home is in California waters.
