Wedemeyer Gets 'Lie' from Chinese Reds, as Civil War Threat Mounts

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—(AP)—The White House said today "there have been no clashes between Chinese communists and United States marines."

Eben Ayers, assistant press secretary, made this statement to reporters. He did not indicate what occasioned his comment. There were reports, however, from communist headquarters in China that American marines had fired on Chinese communist representatives at Chinwangtao. The Chinese, the dispatch said, "had to reply" to the fire, but withdrew after about an hour of hostilities.

Ayers told a news conference that President Truman had received a message from Lt. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer, commanding general of the United States forces in the Chinese theater.

The general informed the President, Ayers said, that "there have been no clashes between Chinese communists and United States marines."

Threat of War In Java Grows More Imminent

By RALPH MORTON
BATAVIA, Java, Nov. 5.—(AP)—Dutch officials were understood today to be considering a plan to gain firm control of a small part of Western Java and establish that area as a rallying ground from which they could extend their efforts to end the native nationalist uprising in the East Indies.

The Dutch plan to bring in many more troops, although there has been no official announcement of the subject, some unofficial estimates of the size of the reinforcements run as high as 20,000 men before Christmas.

Strife-torn Java was quiet today following the flare up of sporadic fighting in the northern section of Batavia during the night, but it was like the quiet before the storm. The picture as a whole is blacker and more ominous, with tens of thousands of trigger-happy Indonesians armed to the teeth and determined on revolution.

The Dutch are in a dilemma, apparently undecided whether to fight their way through and return the island empire to Dutch control or merely continue to disarm Japanese, rescue internees and defend themselves.

At present the Dutch will not accept American mediation, claiming that the Russians, French and Chinese also may wish to have their thumbs in the pie.

If the Dutch gain control of Western Java they could be expected to try to make it a center where pro-Dutch elements of the population could come and live without fear of being molested by Indonesian extremists.

Extremists and Dutch troops were involved in the night fighting in Batavia, which broke out when grenades were hurled into the Dutch-guarded area around the Hotel des Indes.

An official British announcement said a Seaforth Highlander captain, investigating the disturbance at the hotel, was wounded by an Ambonese soldier in the Dutch forces, who had just undergone a grenade attack by Indonesians.

This action was in line with the justice department's request that the court refuse to consider the case. The department contended that since the army relinquished control of the properties in October there was no longer any basis for a high court ruling.

Wards countered with a petition insisting on a ruling and asserting another seizure of its property was probable.

The U. S. circuit court at Chicago in a 2-1 decision had held the seizure legal.

In dismissing the complaint, the supreme court ordered the judgment of the circuit court vacated and sent the case back to the district court with directions that it dismiss the case as being "moot."

By this the court indicated that it considered the case one in which there was no longer any cause for action.

Court Won't Rule On Ward Seizure

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—(AP)—The supreme court refusal today to rule on the validity of the government's wartime seizure of Montgomery Ward and company properties in seven cities.

This action was in line with the justice department's request that the court refuse to consider the case. The department contended that since the army relinquished control of the properties in October there was no longer any basis for a high court ruling.

GOPsters Begin 'Fire' for '48 President Race

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—(AP)—A House Republican urged today that Senator Robert Taft of Ohio be the party's candidate for President in 1948.

The suggestion came from Rep. Mason (Ill.) in what he termed "the opening gun" of the 1948 GOP presidential campaign.

Mason, in an address prepared for house delivery, said:

1. Proposed a cabinet team he said should be placed before voters along with Taft.

2. Proposed that "Jeffersonian democrats" line up with "Lincoln republicans" against "new dealers" socialists, communists, professional do-gooders and give-aways.

He suggested that former republican Senator Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts be the vice presidential candidate and that Taft be bound to name a cabinet including:

Secretary of state, Senator Arthur Vandenberg (R-Mich.); treasury, former Commerce Secretary Jesse Jones, a democrat; war, Gen. Douglas MacArthur; navy, Rep. James Wadsworth (R-N. Y.); attorney general, Gov. Earl Warren of California; Postmaster general, former GOP National Chairman John D. M. Hamilton; interior, Alf M. Landon, 1936 republican presidential nominee; agriculture, Rep. August Anderson (R-Minn.); commerce, Eric Johnson, president of the United States chamber of commerce; and labor, Rep. Dirksen (R-Ill.).

When American marines first landed at Chinwangtao, the communists sent representatives to contact them, but "they were fired upon and had to reply," the dispatch said, adding the communists withdrew after an hour of hostilities.

After the marines had occupied Chinwangtao and the nearby town of Haiyang, the dispatch said, the communists, who were not informed of the Americans' intentions, and considering China's "territorial rights involved" sent six representatives to negotiate with them.

The Americans arrested the negotiators without explanation and before releasing them, asserted the News, "threatened that the communists would be dealt with by the American fleet and marines."

Official reports reaching Chungking today said 10,000 Chinese communists were attacking nationalists in the suburbs of Kweisui, capital of our troops.

News of Year Ago Is Challenge Today

Just a year ago this afternoon the front page headlines of The Pampa Daily News announced this news of a war that had not been won at that time:

"U. S. FIRST FORCED OUT OF SCHMIDT . . . Allied Aircraft Roar in for Kill . . . Japs Prepare to Make Stand on Leyte . . . Loss of 300 in Ship Sinking of '43 is Divulged . . ."

Well, the First Army, as every American knows, went back and took Schmidt; but that was not until after the deplorable battle of the bulge in December, and not until many more Americans had been wounded—and killed.

The Japs DID make the stand on Leyte, P. I. but our men, giving some lives while taking many more, finally ousted the enemy—for America.

Gray county needs Community Chest-National War Fund contributors and Victory Loan buyers.

The money is needed by the organizations to entertain those still over there; and the government needs money to bring men home, to care for wounded.

For them, the war is not over.

BOOTS, SADDLES BOSTON BOUND: MONTANAN RIDING HARD FOR UNOFFICIAL CROWN

By JACK HAND
NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—(AP)—The yippee-ki-yi boys packed the boot and saddles in Boston-bound trucks today and headed into the stretch of the rodeo campaign with Bill Linderman of Red Lodge, Montana riding hard on the unofficial national all-round cowboy crown.

Although there will be some bronc-busting at Dallas and Los Angeles before the season closes, the competition in the Boston Garden opening Thursday could clinch the title for Linderman, one of seven brothers from Red Lodge.

Bill has won almost $20,000 for the season in recognized rodeos.

Man Is Shot in Back, $3,250 in Cash Taken

WICHITA FALLS, Nov. 5.—(AP)—Otis Morgan, local businessman, is in serious condition today after a masked man shot him in the back last night, then robbed him and Leo Camp of $3,250, police Capt. Frank Burns said.

Morgan and Camp were sitting in Morgan's office, Burns said, when the robbery took place. The police captain said a one-armed man first entered the room, and informed the pair of the holdup.

Morgan was shot by a second man standing outside a window while he reached for a gun.

Burns said the men made away with the cash and checks in Morgan's car.

Motorcycle, Car Collide, Youth Badly Injured

A head-on motorcycle-car crash on North Cavalier street yesterday morning resulted in serious injury to one of two youthful Pampans, police reported today. The other was less seriously hurt.

The injured are Bill Reeves, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jess Reeves, and Frank Bullington, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Bullington.

Attending physicians said Reeves is suffering from a severe concussion and serious bruises. Bullington, who was riding with Reeves on the motorcycle, received a fractured left ankle and body bruises.

Both boys are reported much improved this morning in Worley hospital, where they were taken by a Duenkel-Carmichael ambulance.

Patrolman Dewey Martin and H. F. Fenton, who investigated the accident, said the motorcycle on which Reeves and Bullington was in head-on collision with a car driven by Frank Green, who lives on South Ballard street.

Green told the officers he was going to see ACCIDENT, Page 6

Japanese Learns His Nation Isn't Best in Universe

TOKYO, Nov. 5.—(AP)—One of Japan's leading psychologists, Dr. Sadao of Tokyo Imperial university asserted today that both the surrender to the Allies and the following occupation of his country by American troops would benefit the Japanese people.

"Japan paid a big price in the war, but it learned a good lesson," he added.

For the first time, explained Dr. Takagi, the average Japanese has learned that his nation isn't the only one, nor even the best, in the world.

The war and surrender shattered his illusion of being "a frog in a well."

"At first the people feared the Americans because of stories of their brutality," he said. "But they found out that wasn't true. Now they will attempt to adopt his (American) friendly, efficient way of doing things."

All feelings are undergoing a change as a result of the surrender. Reaction takes time, but I believe there will be fundamental changes in the people."

Indication that one of the changes already may be taking place was noted by the Tokyo newspaper Mainichi, which reported a wave of labor movements, aimed at ultimate formation of a Japanese national federation of labor, was sweeping the country. Workers already have won concessions from management in two instances.

Unemployment, food shortages and items of some employers to slash wages have given impetus to unionization. No major strikes have yet been called under union auspices.

The most important strikes since occupation began — and the first in Japan in 15 years — were the slowdown by Chinese and Korean slave laborers in frigid, coal-rich Hokkaido island.

Tensions between the former slaves and the Japanese on the northernmost of the home islands have been eased however by American insistence on fair treatment by both sides and improvement of the Chinese-Korean position, Sgt. John Cowden reported in a feature article in the army newspapers, Stars and Stripes.

Seven States, Including Texas, Are Affected by Greyhound Bus Driver Strike; Issue Over Wages

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 5.—(AP)—Bus drivers and other employees of Southwestern Greyhound Lines, Inc., left their jobs at midnight last night in seven Southern and Western states, joining striking Greyhound workers in 19 Eastern states. Approximately 300 workers walked out in Texas. Other points affected were in Oklahoma, Missouri, Kansas, New Mexico, Colorado and Arkansas.

Union leaders and company officials said the dispute was over wages.

Texas joined other sections of the nation today in a strike of Greyhound bus line employees.

Approximately 300 Southwestern employees of the company walked out at midnight Sunday, leaving thousands of travelers stranded.

In Houston, military authorities and city police persuaded Greyhound officials to return baggage and parcels of stranded customers, after first refusing to do so. One WAC at Houston, with tears in her eyes, complained that she had spent most of her money on a ticket.

A bus load of soldiers destined for Camp Wolters were told in Fort Worth of the strike. They debated on telephoning the camp to ask for army trucks for transportation, lest they be AWOL. A number of wounded servicemen were stranded by the walkout in Fort Worth.

Veteran Killed in Tractor Accident

CANADIAN, Nov. 4.—Hershel Lemuel Singleton, 27, was killed near here Saturday afternoon when the tractor which he was driving plunged into a ditch, crushing him between the tractor and the attached trailer.

Another tractor had to be put into use before Singleton's body could be taken from between his tractor and the trailer.

Singleton, recently discharged from the army, was taking the tractor to the W. C. Kendall farm 15 miles north of here, when the tractor evidently plunged into the ditch. There were no witnesses to the accident. He was found by Kendall at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Officers were called to the scene from Lipscomb and Canadian. Justice of the Peace H. B. Reed of Canadian pronounced it accidental death.

Singleton is survived by his wife and two children. The body is in charge of the Stickley funeral home.

Pres. Truman Opens Conference

Three's a Crowd

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—(AP)—President Truman told the national labor-management conference today that industrial strife "cannot be allowed" to slow the drive toward high peacetime production.

Appearing before the 36 management and labor delegates at their opening session Mr. Truman said a worried public expected them to find "a broad and permanent foundation for industrial peace and progress," without government control.

White-collar pickets who stationed themselves before the labor department auditorium—to protest the absence of independent unions from the conference—addressed to let the President enter without incident.

John L. Lewis walked through the picket line to reach the conference table, but labor's other two big names—Presidents William Green of AFL and Philip Murray of CIO—went through a side door.

$800 Raised for Bonds, Stamps at Ward School Here

This morning several young students of Sam Houston school were gathered around the illustrated report of their support to the Victory Loan.

"Look, Mrs. Stovall," said one fourth grader, "our room is getting ahead."

Sam Houston school has already raised over $800 in stamps and bonds for the Victory Loan through a unique type of campaigning.

Each of the 14 rooms of the school has a thermometer on the front wall which indicates the amount of bonds purchased by each grade. A small American flag is used to designate the height of bond sales, and is raised by the child himself when he purchases his bond.

Over this display of thermometers is a large American flag and the slogan, "Buy Bonds—Keep Your Flag Flying." There is no doubt by officials of Sam Houston school that each grade will see that their thermometer soars to the top of its $1,000 level bulletin board which illustrates the amount of bonds purchased by each grade. A small American flag is used to designate the height of bond sales, and is raised by the child himself when he purchases his bond.

Names of the individual purchasers of bonds are written on the honor rolls.

Students are organized in the Victory Loan according to grades. This morning the first grade room of Miss Jo Martin led that grade with $150; others were the rooms of Mrs. Wilma Weston and Miss Louise Willis.

The second grade room of Mrs. John Bradley with $25 was followed by that of Mrs. Teresa Humphreys. Third grade high was the room of Mrs. Sam Irwin with $300, followed by those of Miss Bernice Larch and Miss Lillian Mullinax; fourth grade high was the room of Mrs. C. W. Stowell with $250, followed by those of Mrs. Ann Daniels and Miss Mollie Bird Ritchey, and fifth grade high the room of Miss Maxine Carey followed by that of Mrs. Tom Capps.

Readings are but tentative. Each day the temperature gets higher. Through the continued contributions by the students, who in previous drives have purchased a jeep and a bomber among other items for victory.

FDR Files Made Ready for Probe

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—(AP)—The late President Roosevelt's White House files—64 bundles each as big as a bale of hay—have been made available to a senate-house committee inquiring into the Pearl Harbor disaster.

Senator George (D-Ga.) told a reporter today it is his understanding that no restrictions have been placed on the committee's looking over the documents.

Committee members said the files are locked up in a single room under the custody of Miss Grace G. Tully, personal secretary of the late President. Miss Tully alone has the key to the room, they said.

The committee has yet to decide, however, just how far it will try to go into the Roosevelt records, said to cover the period from 1940 to the late President's death.

Cadets, Irish Clash in Top Game of Week

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—(AP)—One of the top gridiron spectacles of the year—the annual clash between army and Notre Dame—matches the first two ranking teams of the country Saturday in a game which may decide the mythical national championship.

A crowd of 75,000 will jam New York's Yankee stadium to see the cadets go gunning for their 16th straight victory over a two-year span while the unbeaten Irish will be striving to avenge the 59-0 licking they took from army last season.

The Irish came up to the big tussle fresh from the eventual 6-6 tie with navy Saturday while the Cadets were polishing off Villanova 54-0. Notre Dame outplayed the Middies throughout the contest.

Navy will need all its good fortune Saturday when it takes on the improved Michigan Wolverines at Baltimore in the No. 2 contest of the day. Fritz Crisler's youngsters staged another impressive last period offensive in overwhelming Minnesota 36-0.

The east has another big tilt scheduled at Philadelphia where the all-conquering Columbia Lions tangle with the powerful, once defeated Penn Quakers for Ivy league honors. Columbia scored its sixth in a row by besting Cornell 34-26 as fleet Gene Rosdies raced for all five of the Lions' touchdowns. Penn's regulars engaged in only a brief work-out as they spilled Princeton 28-0.

Other important games of the weekend pair Tulsa against Oklahoma A. and M.; Indiana vs Minnesota; Iowa State vs Oklahoma; Oregon State vs Washington; California vs Southern California; Utah vs New Mexico; Mississippi State vs Louisiana State and Temple vs Penn State.

Outside of Mississippi State's 14-13 lizicing by Tulane, few upsets occurred over the weekend and here is the way the sectional races stand.

EAST—Ranking behind army, navy, Columbia and Pennsylvania, come Temple, Holy Cross and Penn State Temple and Holy Cross remained unbeaten and untied by beating Lafayette (28-0) and the New London at base (20-6) respectively. Penn State's Nittany Lions, beaten only by navy, walloped Syracuse 26-0. In other games Yale nipped Dartmouth 6-0, Brown trampled the coast guard 33-6 and Rochester whipped New York U. 19-3.

SOUTH—Alabama's Red Elephants were ready for bowl bids after defeating Kentucky 60-19 for their fourth Southeastern conference victory in as many games. Georgia Tech saw its bowl chances disappear after losing 14-6 to Duke and L. S. U. shallicked Mississippi 22-13. North Carolina was beaten 26-6 by Tennessee and Clemson was nosed out by Miami of Florida 7-6. William and Mary subdued Maryland 32-14. Virginia continued its all-winning ways by beating West Virginia 13-7.

MIDWEST—Indiana bowled over Cornell (I.A.) College 46-6 in an outside game and still led the big ten with three wins and no defeats. Ohio State's Buckeyes, who rallied in the last quarter to beat Northwestern 16-14, took over second with 4-1. Purdue thumped Pittsburgh 28-0. Wisconsin racked up its first conference triumph by belting Iowa 27-7.

In the big six, Oklahoma's Sooners are tied for the lead with Missouri at 3-0 while Iowa State, following its 40-13 victory over Kansas State, is a game behind at 2-1. Oklahoma lost an inter-conference tilt with Texas Christian of the Southwest 13-7 and Missouri had its winning streak halted by Michigan State, 14-7.

The undefeated and untied Oklahoma Aggies put their bowt hopes on the line against once-beaten Tulsa in a game that will decide the Missouri valley title. Both teams were idle Saturday.

SOUTHWEST—Texas and Texas A. and M. each came through with Southwestern conference wins to tie T. C. U. for the leadership with two wins and one loss for each. Texas came from behind to edge out Southern Methodist, 12-7, and the Aggies trampled Arkansas, 34-0. In non-title clashes, Rice beat Texas Tech 13-0 and Baylor blanked Southwestern 19-0.

ROCKY MOUNTAIN—Colorado lost 12-6 to unbeaten and untied New Mexico, an independent, but moved in front in the big seven as Utah defeated Denver 33-21. Colorado is first with 2-0.

PACIFIC WEST—St. Mary's boosted their own bowl hopes while blasting Southern California's Pasadenians 26-0 in a game that will decide the west in the Rose Bowl and Washington's Huskies improved their position by beating Oregon 7-0 for a 3-1 conference slate. Southern California and U. C. L. A. are tied for second with 2-1 league records.

Washington State and California tied 7-7 and Oregon State whipped Idaho 34-0.

Pampa Is Included in Circuit; Eighth Club Will Be Selected

By SCOTT RAFFERTY News Sports Editor

Pampa will be a part of the West Texas-New Mexico professional baseball league and a move will be started here immediately to organize the club and begin signing players.

At a meeting in Lubbock yesterday, seven cities were taken into the league and the eighth will be selected within a few days.

Most important change in the old league set-up was the raising of the league's classification from Class D to Class C. This raises the salary limit and puts the league on a much stronger basis than it was before.

Along with Pampa, Amarillo, Borger, Lubbock, Clovis, Lamesa and Abilene paid their entrance fees of $50 each. Milton Price, Dallas who was unanimously elected president, said that as soon as the eighth club is selected, he will send the entrance fees and the league plans into Judge W. G. Branham, minor league czar, for approval.

Bob Seeds, Amarillo, and Sam Rosenthal, Lubbock, were chosen vice-presidents of the league. President Price will select a secretary-treasurer at a later date.

Seeds, along with Harry Faulkner, Lubbock, and John Rallis, Clovis, will make up a committee to look into the prospects for baseball in several cities of the West Texas and New Mexico in order to determine what city shall have the eighth club.

Albuquerque, Clovis, Carlsbad and Roswell, New Mexico, and Odessa, Big Spring, Wichita Falls and El Paso, Texas, are all reported interested in franchises in the league. The session at Lubbock opened at 10 o'clock in the morning and closed at 4:15.

Following a two-hour general session in which every town represented was called upon to make a report on the status of baseball in each city, it was decided to let the representatives of the six clubs that were in the league when it folded up—Pampa, Amarillo, Borger, Lubbock, Clovis and Lamesa—meet in closed executive session and try to decide on the remaining two teams. Representatives of Abilene were called in to explain why they would be able to support a ball club.

Hal Sayles, Abilene Reporter-News sports editor and spokesman for the group, said that Abilene had the money, they were getting the park and that the town was baseball "hungry."

It was then decided to vote Abilene into the league—but to hold off on the selection of the other club until all towns using for it could be given a chance to put in a positive bid.

The following representatives attended the meeting: Amarillo—Bob Seeds, Russell Cri-

Leaders Are Still Undetermined In 11 of 16 State Grid Districts

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF Associated Press Sports Editor

Only five of the sixteen districts of Texas schoolboy football have undisputed leaders as the campaign enters its final month.

Paschal tops the Fort Worth district, Crozier tech is the Dallas pace-setter, Waco leads in District 10, Milby is the No. 1 team at Houston and Galveston is out in front in District 14. The other districts present this picture:

- 1—Amarillo, Plainview and Pampa tied for the lead.
- 2—Wichita Falls and Vernon tied.
- 3—Odessa and Sweetwater.
- 4—Austin (El Paso) and El Paso high.
- 5—Paris and Denison.
- 6—Denton undefeated but Highland Park (Dallas) has not yet played a conference game.
- 7—Brownwood and Breckenridge.
- 8—Marshall and Tyler; Longview undefeated but once tied.
- 9—Jacksonville and Lufkin.
- 10—Austin, Corpus Christi, Jefferson (San Antonio) and Breckenridge (San Antonio) tied for the lead.
- 11—Brownsville and Edinburg tied for the top.

This week brings some of the most crucial games of the conference race.

In District 1 Amarillo meets Plainview, in District 3 Odessa tangles Highland Park, in District 12 Breckenridge clashes with Brownwood, in District 11 Tyler engages Longview and in District 16 Brownsville plays Edinburg.

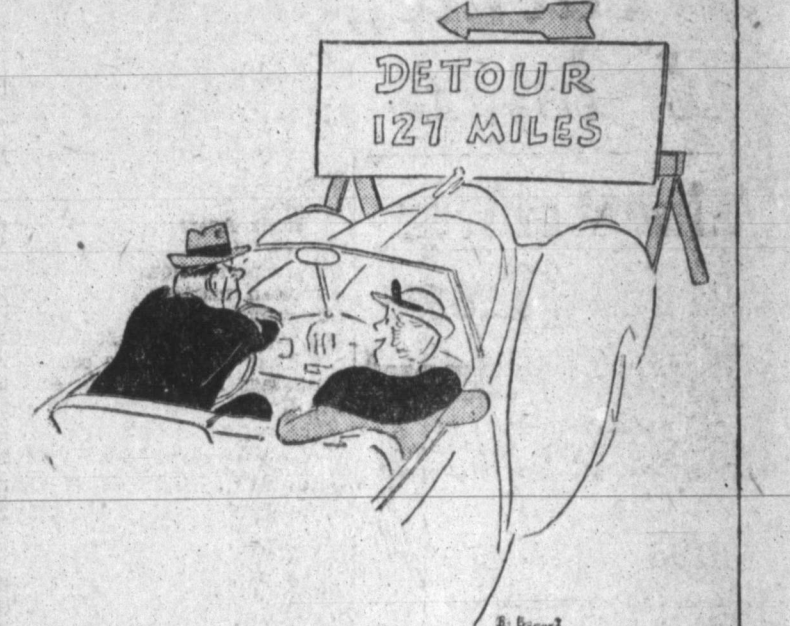

The Odessa-Sweetwater, Paris-Denison, Highland Park-Denton, Breckenridge-Brownwood and Brownsville-Edinburg games are considered as decisive struggles in the district championship battles.

Milby probably will become the first district champion actually crowned. The Buffs have either to beat or tie Austin Friday night to clinch the title.

Just eight teams remained undefeated and untied in the state and more than half of these appear in none too sure about beating Denton of falling this week. The son, Brownwood has a rugged foe schools with perfect records are Pampa, Plainview, Odessa, Paris, Brownwood, Lufkin, Milby and certain against Edinburg, Lufkin Brownsville.

Plainview faces all sorts of trou-should beat Nacogdoches without ble from Amarillo, Odessa may find trouble and Pampa should take Lub-Sweetwater hard to handle, Paris is back.

Paris Does a Style Turnabout

By ROSELLEN CALLAHAN
NEA Staff Correspondent

Paris fashions being readied for the American market present a rear view which is often much more exciting than when the costume is seen head-on. Fluted basques, puckered tiers, puffs of peplums are seen time and again in the new French collections. Skillfully cut and draped they make waists look smaller and give a graceful swish to your walk.

Typifying the new back-swept look are Paris models shown here. Marcel Rochas, who includes several in his collection, calls his flirty-skirted creation, left, "French Can-can." The perfectly plain black crepe bodice is offset by a multi-tiered skirt with pink and black plaid bustles. The plaid is also used to give the effect of a peek-a-boo slip.

More modified is the fluted basque which Jeanne Lanvin uses in his "Troika" coat of soft bric red velour, at right. The same gray astrakhan which makes the high Russian toque and barrel muff, trims its rolled collar, small cuffs and beltline.

But when it comes to formal fashions, designers go all out in back interest. Many dinner dresses have paneled drapery and full-skirted dipped hemlines which are fully as flattering as a small train, but much less cumbersome.

How women and girls may get wanted relief from functional periodic pain

Cardui, many women say, has brought relief from the cramp-like and nervous strain of functional periodic distress. Taken like a tonic, it builds up the appetite, aids digestion, thus help build resistance for the "time" to come. Started early, it may prevent the pain. It should help relieve pain due to purely functional periodic cause. Try it.

Bruner-Barnett Vows Are Read In San Antonio

Mrs. Bertha Willie Atteberry of San Antonio has announced the marriage of her daughter, Claudia Atteberry Bruner, to Harry Edwin Barnett of Pampa. The double ring ceremony was read by the Rev. Floyd Allen Bash, Oct. 18, in his study at the Central Christian church of San Antonio.

Mrs. Adeline Naylor, sister of the bride attended as matron of honor, and A. F. Barnett, brother of the bridegroom, was best man.

Mrs. Margaret Barnett, mother of the bridegroom, also attended the wedding.

The bride was a former resident of Pampa, and the bridegroom has received his discharge from the army after serving 19 months in the European theater of operations, as a first sergeant in the field artillery. He wears the Bronze Star, and four battle stars.

Mr. and Mrs. Barnett will be at home in Pampa.

We're making telephone equipment again..

Telephone factories are getting into the swing of peacetime production.

Thousands of men and women in these factories have turned from making radar and gun directors to the complex job of making telephone equipment once again.

It's a change that pleases everyone. As more and more telephone equipment comes from the factories, it means that telephone people here can make faster and faster progress in caring for the 246,000 waiting for telephone service.

Such a big job takes time. Equipment is complicated. Making switchboards and dial equipment requires thousands of precision parts, thousands of intricate connections. And thousands more are needed to connect them as working parts of the telephone system.

But the good news is that we're on our way. We are working as hard as we can toward the day when anyone who wants a telephone can get it when he wants it.

CONTROLLING THE ATOM-SMASHERS

We suspect that the anonymous scheme for controlling atomic energy, which President Truman and several members of congress have received, may not be as crazy as it sounds. The scheme, you may recall, is briefly this: Create a group of super-race geniuses, the test-tube offspring of carefully selected United Nations geniuses, educate them in the world's best schools as world citizens, then let them run the atomic show for the good of mankind.

The plan doesn't say who will control atomic power until the super-children grow into supermen and women. There is also another bad angle—the plan doesn't get away from human fallibility. Obviously what the world needs is not so much a control of atomic power as control of the people who know the secret. And it seems to us that if scientists are smart enough to harness the energy of the universe they should be smart enough to create a race of mechanical men to develop, produce, parcel out and guard that energy.

These mechanical men would have to be built with better brains than the human ones of their creators. Such things as greed, envy, malice, and the notion that they were better than anyone would have to be carefully excluded from their emotional equipment. The mechanical men would be an ideal group of wise, detached scientists who never heard of war and probably would think it excessively stupid if they did.

Our plan will take some doing. But we think science ought to give it a try. For a lot of people like us aren't really going to feel easy about the survival of the world until one of man's most brilliant discoveries is taken away from man and put into the hands of the robots.

LEADERS AND ROUTINERS
(The Los Angeles Examiner)
(By Dr. Mark Alexander)
Teamwork won the war. Generals, service men, management and a large extent, labor cooperated for victory. But—how could teamwork in peace? It seems to be something else again. Yet never was teamwork more desperately needed. Without it we may yet be crucified on the cross of civil war!

For the threat of national socialism, native style is still present here at home. The state has long since ceased to be the servant of all the people and has degenerated into the servant of some of the people and lost over all. Quarrels and name-calling set citizen against citizen. We have the makings of Nazism at hand. The only remedy against it is immediate return to the teamwork that marked our victory. That is possible only under effective leadership. Effective leadership means responsible leadership and service men alike, for showing responsible leadership in crises. We even gained medals for the meddlers who played at leadership by being busy-as-a-bee and costly-as-a-king, "straightening out" this tangled world.

NATURE CRATES HUMAN DISTRESS
But, who ever heard of giving a medal to a business man for attending to his business? Or a medal to a labor leader for keeping up his end of production? Yet, why shouldn't peace rate its awards for patriotism as well as war? Production is patriotism, an often thankless patriotism, year in and year out. Without production we would have no consumption and no distribution. Even the most wacky one would admit that we can not use up or share what we have not got. Nature, herself, has divided us into leaders and routiners, who can do what they are told to do and do it well. They are the service men in war. They are the bench and desk and machine workmen in industry.

Fortunately, they are plentiful. Unfortunately, leaders are not plentiful. The men who can tell routine men WHAT TO DO are rare. They are the four-star and five-star generals in war. They are the captains of management and the leaders of labor in industry. Like all sane men, they have their price is high and rests on the demand and supply of them.

EFFICIENCY NOT ANTI-SOCIAL
Our demand for them NOW is unprecedented. We begin to recognize individual ability as a social asset. We did not call our military generals "anti-social" because they showed outstanding efficiency. Nor did we ask them to work on a dead level with our service men. We needed both but we do not know it. Or, at least, we do not show it.

If present policies are carried along, leadership throughout industry will become as unattractive and so hazardous that production will suffer. Now that the war is over, the era of the humanitarian with the hatchet should draw to a close at home. And our well advertised policy of goodwill toward mankind should be enlarged to include American leaders on the production front, as well.

WASHINGTON
BY RAY TUCKER

ATTACKS—Sharp and snowballing resentment of labor and liberal groups over President Truman's apparent lack of a definite program and unwillingness to battle for Rooseveltian ideals has forced the chief executive to abandon his easy-going and compromising attitude toward congress.

In recent talks with the so-called "Big Four" on Capitol Hill he has said that he intends to "set tough" even if it forces him to veto several key bills. Headed by Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt and Philip Murray of the congress of industrial organizations, his critics have become bolder in their denunciation of his handling of domestic and foreign questions. Weeklies and dailies representing the leftist viewpoint have indulged in concentrated and concerted attacks on the White House and on conservative democratic legislators who are blocking or mauling his full employment proposals.

These factions had become reconciled to F. D. R.'s failure to press for reform during recent years; they attributed his apparent indifference to his preoccupation with the war. DEFLECTIONS—He had promised that he would resume his old crusades upon the surrender of the axis, and they relied on that pledge. Now that the shooting has stopped, they demand that the chief executive show more zeal and energy on behalf of new deal aims. White House aides ascribe some of the sniping to our unsatisfactory relations with Russia, recognizing that Moscow sympathizers are responsible for its inspiration. They are inclined to discount vituperation in their own country, and they are planning on Mr. Truman's re-nomination, is deeply concerned over defections among politically powerful racial, labor and liberal elements whose support is essential for future democratic victories at the polls.

DRIFT—The leading article in the current issue of "The Progressive"—the La Follette family's political weekly—has created a stir in the presidential household. "Young Bob" and Mr. Truman were close friends when they served together in the senate, and for that reason this critique and similar outbursts in the same number have dismayed the democrats. The provocative piece, which is entitled "America Adrift without a Compass," summarizes the principal charges in the liberals' complaint. It says in part: "After six months of the Truman administration, it is apparent that its policy both at home and abroad,

In Hollywood
By ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD—In the closing days of the Hollywood strike, Universal studio stars were ordered to report for work as early as 5 a.m. to avoid the picket lines, which usually formed around 6. One morning a big-name glamour girl was having a cup of coffee in the studio cafe at 5:15. An electrician came in, sat down beside her and said: "This is wonderful. My wife has always wondered what you looked like at 5 o'clock in the morning. Now I can tell her."

Ida Lupino is helping Louis Hayward finance a new Hollywood cafe. Bud Abbott will play a dual role in the new Abbott and Costello comedy, "On the Carpet." He'll play himself and his cousin. Claire James and Cary Grant have discovered each other. Someone asked Danny Kaye how he liked his 1 1/2 hour flight to Honolulu. "It was fine," said Danny, "except for the last 11 1/2 hours."

LOVE IN HENHOUSE
Oona Munson plays a love scene in a chicken coop for "Dakota." Says she: "I've done screen love making in barns, cellars, on shipboard and in fox-holes, but this is the first time I've ever had to cuddle and coo among the broilers." Of all entertainers, men or women, only Bob Hope and Joe E. Brown chalked up more air miles than Frances Langford in touring the war fronts.

Peter Edson's Column:
PHIL MURRAY'S ARGUMENT ABOUT WAGES
BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON—President Phil Murray of the C. I. O. entertained at lunch on Monday at the Mayflower hotel. This isn't society news, though it was all done in the best of taste and tradition for anyone who ever threw a party in Washington to win friends and influence public opinion for the "good of life country."

Murray's theory is that whatever is done by organized labor, to which he has devoted his life, must be done in the public interest. If it isn't organized labor can't survive. In the public interest therefore the C. I. O. has embarked on a postwar program to build up the purchasing power of the American people as direct contribution to maintaining full employment. What has happened, according to the C. I. O. president, is that there has been a large cut in the take-home pay of U. S. industrial workers. Not being satisfied with the figures on this cut that might be prepared by C. I. O. economists, or feeling that some workers might not believe such statistics, Murray cited some of their figures, government figures.

David Lawrence DAY-BY-DAY COUNT ON WASHINGTON'S ACTIVITIES GIVEN

WASHINGTON—President Truman's address will bear reading and re-reading. It wasn't a sensational speech but it was a constructive contribution. Because it stated simple truths which must be taken to heart by labor and management, it may have sounded trite. Yet precisely this kind of common-sense appeal is needed in solving the nation's labor problem, plus, of course, a willing Lawrence to trust the other fellow, too. Today management thinks labor chiefs are asking for the impossible in wage demands. Labor chiefs think management is out to break up unions and let strikes come on. Neither side is stating its true position, which is that concessions are possible and can be made provided there is sincerity on both sides. One unfortunate thing about the plea for "collective bargaining" is that the very phrase implies concealment of true purpose, shrewd manipulation and tactical maneuvering. It means that each side often thinks the other side is bluffing and will take much less and that it is an error to make the first move lest it be used as a means of getting the country into a bargaining situation to be conducted without sincerity.

The President had a difficult task to perform but his address met the issues squarely. Mr. Truman did not urge a definite figure or a blanket increase in wages. He did not pressure for a ceiling but he maintained that he did allow for exceptional circumstances where when it could be proved that wage increases did raise costs to a danger point. price increases would be allowed.

This was not a promise to break all ceilings but to note that exceptional situations would be dealt with reasonably. Mr. Truman was wise in deciding to hold the line against runaway inflation. For labor has been privately pressing for certain price increases as an easy way out of the dilemma which such of the leaders face, especially those who don't want to see strikes called, because they are costly, and yet must get something of an increase for their members if their own position and prestige in the union's ranks is to be maintained.

The strategy in the President's speech was to notify management that the line on prices would have to be held. This was but another way of notifying labor that wage increases would be considered on the expected profit margin and that if the costs were forced too high, labor would suffer and so would the economy.

LIBERALS—The Hanneganites have only one consolation. The rebellion has not passed beyond the vocal stage, largely because the remnants of the Roosevelt liberals have no alternative save to hope for the best. Commenting on the waning of the honeymoon, another writer says: "The process, of course, has hardly more zeal and energy on behalf of new deal aims."

MEAT—Backstage protests by Canadian officials are responsible for the administration's decision to continue rationing of certain kinds of meat until the spring of 1946, possibly well into the spring of 1946. Price Administrator Chester Bowles had recommended elimination of controls as of October 28, but it was overruled by Secretary Clinton F. Anderson.

CUSTOM—In other ways the United States is giving a helping hand to Canada, although officials here are not publicizing their generosity. In order to provide Canada with American dollars, tourists are permitted to buy and bring $100 worth of goods based on the wholesale rather than the retail price. The internal revenue ruling enables each individual to purchase a return with about $125 worth of stiff instead of the stipulated $100. At some customs inspection points the officials wink at importation of about $125 worth or a thirty-five per cent increase.

RUSSIAN NOBILITY IN EXILE
XXVII
WHEN I arrived in Paris, I was shocked beyond measure to see how ill mother looked and how much she had aged in the past few months. The first thing I did was call in Doctor Gros of the American Hospital in Neuilly, despite her protestations, and when she arrived I had the greatest difficulty persuading her to allow an examination. When it was over, he had a long talk with me and very frankly said that mother was seriously ill, that unless she had complete rest from work, worry and agitation, her illness could take a very dangerous turn. He had found her very hard to handle and had warned her as kindly as possible about her condition.

She was nervous and ill all through Christmas, worrying continually about getting back to work and my brother's needs. I wrote father about her health, begging him to come as soon as possible. When he called that he would be with us in early summer, she immediately decided not to be in Paris at that time, as she had every intention of rejoining the Swedish people.

Bunnie promised to stay with her while I went down to Nice for the New Year's engagement. I had accepted some months previously for the Rhul. The year ever spent, for I had to work the contract and needed the money, but the thought of mother's condition was always with me.

Upon returning to Paris, I signed a contract with Henri Varina for the new revue at the Palace. WE had a mild March, that year of grace 1926, and mother began to improve. She went out a little but was still not herself and often felt very sick. It was hard for me, too. I could not be

For almost a generation now lights of hope from time to time have gleamed through the darkness surrounding the problem of establishing a Jewish national home in Palestine, but always they've proved to be will-o'-the-wisps which danced away as quickly as they came. So one is cautious in approaching what looks to be encouraging signs in connection with this highly dangerous Arab-Jewish imbroglio, still, despite the fresh crisis, with its outbreaks of violence (or perhaps better, because of this crisis) there are new flashes of hope, though only time will tell whether they are real or only more of the delusive phosphorescence which we have chased before.

One good indication is that England seems anxious for aid in carrying out the responsibility for the Palestine mandate. She's fishing for American assistance in solving the problem—and wants more than the advice we have been giving her. The significance of the development, as I see it, is that ultimately the Jewish national home might be dealt with, not solely by Britain or by Britain and America, but by the United Nations security organization. The Jewish national home has become an international issue.

Certainly the time has come when some concrete action must be taken on the affair. If, on the other hand, there will be danger not only of war in Palestine between the Arabs and the Jews, but neighboring Arabs are threatening to take a hand in support of their brothers. What looks like another flash of hope is the statement issued by Musa Bey El Alami, Palestine Arab delegate to the powerful Pan-Arab league. He says the Arab people would agree to additional Jewish immigration into Palestine if an impartial United Nations body decided that the "country's rights could carry the load—aid if all Allied nations also agreed to accept Jewish immigration.

Here again the real significance seems to lie in the suggestion of bringing the United Nations into with her enough and do all the work I had contracted for, and I longed for my father to come over. One day, while driving past the Baroque de Yvanov, and the figure of a tall elegant man dressed in livery, opening the doors of the bank to the callers. There was something about him that caused me to slacken speed, and as I drew alongside the curb, I recognized many as Prince Alexis, the husband of Helena Solitoff, daughter of the Princess I had known as a child. He was so happy to see me again he nearly cried, and told me his wife and sister-in-law Choura were both sewing magic in the Galerie Lafayette (the large department store). I invited them all to dinner, and upon this occasion, mother, for the first time in weeks, perked up. We saw a great deal of her old Russian friends from then on, many of whom we did not even know were in Paris. They were an extraordinary colony, most of them living from hand to mouth, but many, working hard were getting along pretty well. Mother, always happy when she was exhausting herself running about for people she liked, begged all her friends into buying lingerie from Helena and Choura. She also obtained a position for Alexis with the Isola Brothers' offices at the Opera Comique. As in Constantinople, Russians flooded the house, and those who could afford all her friends into buying lingerie from Helena and Choura. One evening Alexis arrived at the Palace, where I was working with another Russian friend, Prince Pauline, to fetch me for a surprise party they were giving for both mother and myself. THE party was a typical Russian evening, held in the Pout-

SHAMROCK, Nov. 3—Shamrock is in receipt of information which explodes the theory, circulated recently in the Shamrock area, that U. S. highway 66 might be rerouted to bypass this city.

One bit of information comes from D. C. Greer, state highway engineer of the Texas highway department. Mr. Greer stated: "There would seem to be no reason for rerouting this (Highway 66) in the vicinity of Shamrock at any time unless it should be made necessary on account of our inability to obtain adequate right-of-way on the present route."

Carrying through with Greer's declaration on that there is no contemplation of rerouting the "Main Street of America," the commissioner of public roads, public roads administration, Washington, D. C. stated:

"I can say that I know of no plan to change the general location of U. S. Route 66."

"The state highway department and public roads are now engaged in a process leading to the eventual designation of the national system of interstate highways provided for in the federal aid highway act of 1944. CONTROLLING THE ATOM-SMASHERS

We suspect that the anonymous scheme for controlling atomic energy, which President Truman and several members of congress have received, may not be as crazy as it sounds.

The scheme, you may recall, is briefly this: Create a group of super-race geniuses, the test-tube offspring of carefully selected United Nations geniuses, educate them in the world's best schools as world citizens, then let them run the atomic show for the good of mankind.

The plan doesn't say who will control atomic power until the super-children grow into supermen and women. There is also another bad angle—the plan doesn't get away from human fallibility.

Obviously what the world needs is not so much a control of atomic power as control of the people who know the secret. And it seems to us that if scientists are smart enough to harness the energy of the universe they should be smart enough to create a race of mechanical men to develop, produce, parcel out and guard that energy.

These mechanical men would have to be built with better brains than the human ones of their creators. Such things as greed, envy, malice, and the notion that they were better than anyone would have to be carefully excluded from their emotional equipment. The mechanical men would be an ideal group of wise, detached scientists who never heard of war and probably would think it excessively stupid if they did.

Our plan will take some doing. But we think science ought to give it a try. For a lot of people like us aren't really going to feel easy about the survival of the world until one of man's most brilliant discoveries is taken away from man and put into the hands of the robots.

LEADERS AND ROUTINERS (By Dr. Ruth Alexander)

Teamwork won the war. Generals, service men, management and, to a large extent, labor cooperated for victory. But—how shall we manage the peace? That seems to be something else again. Yet never was teamwork more desperately needed. Without it we may yet be crucified on the cross of civil war!

For the threat of national socialism, native as well as alien, is still present here at home. The state has long since ceased to be the servant of all the people and has degenerated into the servant of some of the people and lord over all. Gangs and name-calling set citizen against citizen. We have the makings of Nazism at hand.

The only remedy against it is immediate return to the teamwork that marked our war effort. That is possible only under effective leadership. Effective leadership means responsible leadership and service men alike, for showing responsible leadership in crises. We even gave medals to the meddlers who played at leadership by being busy-as-a-bee and costly-as-a-king, "straightening out" this tangled world.

NATURE CREATES HUMAN DIVISION

But, who ever heard of giving a medal to a business man for attending to his business? Or a medal to a labor leader for keeping up his end of production? Yet, why shouldn't peace rate its awards for patriotism as well as war? Production is patriotism, an often thankless patriotism, year in and year out. Without production we would have no consumption and no distribution. Even the most wacky one worlder must admit that we can not use up or share what we have not got.

Nature, herself, has divided us into leaders and routiners, who can do what they are told to do and do it well. They are the bench and desk and machine workmen in industry.

Fortunately, they are plentiful. Unfortunately, leaders are not plentiful. The men who can tell routine men WHAT TO DO are rare. They are the four-star and five-star generals in war. They are the captains of management and the leaders of labor in industry. Like all scarce articles, their price is high and rests on the demand and supply of them.

EFFICIENCY NOT ANTI-SOCIAL

Our demand for them NOW is unprecedented. We must begin to recognize individual ability as a social asset. We did not call our military generals "anti-social" because they showed outstanding efficiency. Nor did we ask them to work on a dead level with our service men. We needed both and we do not know it. Or, at least, we do not show it.

If present policies are carried along leadership throughout industry will become as unattractive and so hazardous that production will suffer. Now that the war is over, the era of the humanitarian with the hatchet should draw a close at home.

And our well advertised policy of goodwill toward mankind should be enlarged to include American leaders on the production front, as well.

Mysterious Shot Is Fired at Air Liner

DALLAS, Nov. 5.—(AP)—Officers are investigating today the cause of a 22 calibre rifle bullet shot yesterday which hit a Delta Air Lines plane, resulting in the slight injury of two persons.

The plane was flying at about 700 feet two miles west of Love Field when the bullet entered the plane, the pilot said. The bullet broke a window, causing a scratch on the finger of stewardess Virginia Caldwell of Denton, and W. D. Alberts, a passenger of Los Angeles.

News Behind the News The National Whirligig

WASHINGTON BY RAY TUCKER

ATTACKS—Sharp and snowballing resentment of labor and liberal groups over President Truman's apparent lack of a definite program and unwillingness to battle for Rooseveltian ideals has forced the chief executive to abandon his easy-going and compromising attitude toward congress.

In recent talks with the so-called "Big Four" on Capitol Hill he has said that he intends to "get tough" even if it forces him to veto several key bills.

Headed by Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt and Phillip Murray of the congress of industrial organizations, his critics have become bolder in their denunciation of his handling of domestic and foreign questions. Weeklies and dailies representing the leftist viewpoint have indulged in concentrated and concerted attacks on the White House and on conservative democratic legislators who are blocking or mauling his full employment proposals.

These factions had become reconciled to F. D. R.'s failure to press for reform during recent years; they attributed his apparent indifference to his preoccupation with the war.

DEFLECTIONS—He had promised that he would resume his old crusades upon the surrender of the axis, and they relied on that pledge. Now that the shooting has stopped, they demand that the chief executive show more zeal and energy on behalf of new deal aims.

White House aides ascribe some of the animosity to our unsatisfactory relations with Russia, recognizing that Moscow sympathizers are responsible for its inspiration. They are inclined to discount vituperation in these quarters.

But the Hanegan faction, already planning on Mr. Truman's re-nomination, is deeply concerned over defections among politically powerful racial, labor and liberal elements whose support is essential for future democratic victories at the polls.

DRIFT—The leading article in the current issue of "The Progressive" by the La Follette family's political weekly has created a stir in the presidential household. "Young Bob" and Mr. Truman were close friends when they served together in the senate, and for that reason this critique and similar outbursts in the same number have dismayed the demagogue.

The provocative piece, which is entitled "America Adrift without a Compass," summarizes the principal burden of the liberals' complaint. It says in part:

"After six months of the Truman administration, it is apparent that its policy both at home and abroad,

some of their figures, government figures, EIGHT MILLION UNEMPLOYED BY SPRING

Here Mr. Murray went off the record to explain that these figures had not yet been announced by the government so he couldn't give them out publicly. All right, Mr. Murray did not disclose those figures for publication. But since these figures were allowed to leak all over Washington and are now common knowledge, it is no secret that nobody's confidences have been violated by repeating here that a staff of government economists under Deputy Director Robert Nathan of the office of war mobilization has made estimates that there will be eight million unemployed by next April and that for the year 1946 the take-home pay of U. S. industrial workers will be 20 billion dollars less than in 1945.

This amounts to a cut of 20 percent. It does not include a 10-billion dollar reduction in pay to the armed forces nor another five-billion dollar reduction in pay to civilian government employees.

But cutting off this total of 35 billion dollars worth of purchasing power, according to the Murray theory, will plunge the country into depression unless American industry is prepared to put more money into the pay envelopes.

At this point, Murray emphasizes that he would like to clear up a mistaken idea. It has been generally supposed, he says, that to meet the pay increase organized labor has demanded, the take-home pay of industrial workers would be cut. He says that is not correct.

PROFITS WOULDN'T BE ENOUGH It might be berved here that the government estimate of 1946 industrial profits, between six and seven and a half billion dollars, wouldn't be enough to make up the 20 billion dollars cut in take-home pay, but that's beside the point.

David Lawrence DAY-BY-DAY COUNT ON WASHINGTON'S ACTIVITIES GIVEN

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—President Truman's address will bear reading and re-reading. It wasn't a sensational speech but it was a constructive contribution. Because it stated simply what must be taken to heart by labor, management and management, it may have sounded trite. Yet precisely this brand of plain common-sense appeal is needed in solving the nation's labor problem, plus, of course, the Lawrence

Lawrence to trust in other fellow too. Today management thinks labor chiefs are asking for the impossible in wage demands. Labor chiefs think management is out to break up unions and let strikes creep over President Truman's program and unwillingness to battle for Rooseveltian ideals has forced the chief executive to abandon his easy-going and compromising attitude toward congress.

One unfortunate thing about the plea for "collective bargaining" is that the very phrase implies control. Neither side is stating its true position, which is that concessions are possible and can be made provided there is sincerity on both sides.

The President had a difficult task to perform but his address met the issues squarely. Mr. Truman did not give a definite figure or a blanket increase in wages. He did not present a formula. He said that price ceilings had to be maintained but he did allow for exceptional circumstances where when it could be proved that wage increases did raise costs to a danger point, price increases would be allowed.

This was not a promise to break all ceilings but to note that exceptional situations would be dealt with reasonably. Mr. Truman was wise in deciding to hold the line against runaway inflation. For labor has been privately pressing for certain price increases as an easy way out of the dilemma which some of the laborers face, especially those who don't want to see strikes called, because they are costly, and yet must get something of an increase for their members if their own position and prestige in the union's ranks is to be maintained.

The strategy in the President's speech was to notify management that the line on prices would have to be held. This was but another way of notifying labor that wage increases would have to come out of the expected profit margin and that if the costs were forced too high, labor would suffer and so would the tem was installed a short while ago to facilitate larger shipments to England and some of the liberated peoples of Europe.

Whereas the Canadians had anticipated more plentiful supplies with the collapse of the Axis, they found that they were expected to pull in their belts even tighter. In some cities there were riots and outbreaks.

Mr. Anderson hurriedly quit the conference and flew to Washington. As the final authority on all questions for food regulation, he insisted on deferment of the termination order.

CUSTOM—In other ways the United States is giving a helping hand to Canada, although officials here are not publicizing their generosity. In order to provide Canada—and England indirectly—with American dollars, tourists are permitted to buy and bring $100 worth of goods based on the wholesale rather than the retail price.

The internal revenue ruling enables each individual to purchase and return with about $125 worth of stuff instead of the stipulated $100. At some customs inspection points the officials wink at importation of about $125 worth or a thirty-five per cent increase.

Internal revenue has never issued any official instructions on the subject. They explain that it is merely a "custom," although privately they admit it is a quiet scheme to enrich our northern neighbors.

AP Foreign Affairs Analyst For almost a generation now nights of hope from time to time have gleamed through the darkness surrounding the problem of establishing a Jewish national home in Palestine, but always they've proved to be will-o'-the-wisps which danced away as quickly as they came.

So one is cautious in approaching what looks to be encouraging signs in connection with this highly dangerous Arab-Jewish imbroglio, still, despite the fresh crisis, with its outbreaks of violence, (or perhaps better, because of this crisis) there are new flashes of hope, though only time will tell whether they are real or only more of the delusive phosphorescence which we have chased before.

One good indication is that England seems anxious to aid in carrying out the responsibility for Palestine mandate. She's fishing for American assistance in solving the problem—and wants more than the advice we have been giving her. The significance of the development as I see it is that ultimately the Jewish national home might be established not solely by Britain or by Britain and America, but by the United Nations security organization. The Jewish national home has become an international issue.

Certainly the time has come when some concrete action must be taken. If the affair drags on, there will be danger not only of war in Palestine between the Arabs and the Jews, but neighboring Arabs are threatening to take a hand in support of their brothers.

What looks like another flash of hope is seen in the statement issued by Musa Bey El Alami, Palestine Arab leader. He says the Arab people would agree to additional Jewish immigration into Palestine if an impartial United Nations body decided that the country's economy could carry the load—and if all Allied nations also agreed to accept Jewish immigration.

Here again the real significance seems to lie in the suggestion of bringing the United Nations into action. The President said significantly: "Labor must—not demand more than an industry or a company can pay under existing prices and conditions. It has a stern responsibility to see that demands for wage increases are reasonable. Excessive demands would deny to industry reasonable profits to which it is entitled, and which are necessary to stimulate an expansion of production. We must not kill the goose which lays the golden egg."

Mr. Truman then stressed the need for "greater efficiency and greater productivity" which is a hint that industry must get from labor something tangible in the way of increased output per man if it is to reduce hours from 48 to 40 and still pay the same total wages or anything approaching a half of that overtime payment. The President emphasized the need for "good work for good wages earned."

Management will echo these thoughts, for it has been saying the same thing. But its pleas do not carry as much conviction as do the words of a President of the United States.

Labor, on the other hand, needs to be sure that management isn't too selfishly crying out against wage increases when it really can afford some of them. So the President makes this point: "Business is in a very favorable profit position today with excellent prospects for the period that lies ahead. Again, that is not true of all companies. Nevertheless, throughout industry, and in every branch of industry, profits have been and still are very good indeed."

What Mr. Truman wants American business to do is to share some of its profits and take a chance on an increasing volume of business. He points out that "labor is the best customer management has, and management is the source of labor's livelihood."

All comes down to a simple proposition. Can labor and management get together voluntarily in a democracy to do what both want to force coercive measures in the settlement of labor-management disputes? The President is patient. His plea is earnest and genuine. He says: "As a free people, we must have the good sense to bargain peaceably and sincerely. We must be determined to reach decisions based upon our long-range interest."

This is a challenge to American industry to have faith in the future and in the coming of an era of prosperity. It means that the President thinks industry can in many instances agree to wage increases provided labor will not insist on the maximum but will accept a reasonable compromise.

Associated Press Staff A handy little gadget to have around the house is the colorimeter. The Dallas airport is installing one. It measures the height of clouds. The cost is $140.00.

Melvin Giese, Jr., son of the mayor of Elgin, might have some use for a colorimeter.

Melvin is only 13, but he's a pilot, probably the youngest in Texas. His dad owns a PT-19, and he took instructions from a man in Edmond. He spends most of his time around an airport, and recently flew a plane from Elgin to Brownsville for an international airport celebration.

Let's Look Out, Boys, How Words Are Being Used

The mutilation of a word which can affect millions of men through...

Therefore, the art of destroying and mutilating the sense of words has reached top importance in the revolutionary technique.

I'm happy to be an object-lesson in this importance of words—the health of no man is as important as the health of a word.

Now, if the honorable secretary was surprised he was very naive indeed. There would not be much sense in booking a lecture to which no one would object.

The honorable secretary of any audience which books a lecture by me or my kind should and does expect opposition from Marxists.

But the true enemies of our American civilization are as opposed to stimulation of thought as they are to stimulation of industry.

So, these enemies do not come into meeting and reason. They stay outside and picket—interfere as much as the policeman allows—

Geologist's Death Is Probed at Houston

HOUSTON, Nov. 5.—(AP)—Officers are investigating today the mysterious death of William Billingsley Milton, 40-year-old Houston geologist who had been missing five days, and whose body was found in shallow waters of Drays bayou here.

Justice of the Peace Tom Maes returned an inquest verdict of suicide by drowning. Maes said a note was found in pocket of the man's body.

District geologist for the Houston Oil company, Milton had been missing since Tuesday morning when he left his office.

with others who would like to come into meeting and reason. Of course, they would get very vicious if any one who disbelieves in their opinions should picket their meetings!

Now, in the art of mutilating words for our immediate postwar epoch the high strategists of Marxism have picked two choice cuts—out of the "death of the Thousand cuts" they would give our English language as they could.

One of these "cuts" is their use of the terms "Semite" and "anti-Semite." "Semite" is a very poor term to use in modern life, for it has a racial meaning very vague indeed, including populations of several chief religions, and all stages of civilization: Desert Arabs, polished Persians, Abyssinians, Jews, and some way, Armenians. Among Semites the Jewish people are in decided minority. So, "Semite" does not mean "Jew."

But the term has been given an illegitimate marriage to the prefix "anti" and in this combination mutilated to mean "one who is against Jews." In what sense, "against," is not defined: whether politically, against, or financially against, or in pure racial prejudice against; or whether against Jews, or certain activities or certain residential areas or certain class distinctions or certain national backgrounds.

Now watch the Marxist word-mutilators use that patched-together term "anti-Semite!" Since it is so vague, it is their meat, and they are compelled to use it immediately have the Hitler or Marxist kind of audience.

The honorable secretary of any audience which books a lecture by me or my kind should and does expect opposition from Marxists. Poster-ites, communists, and all who want to waste the wealth and manpower of my country uselessly around the world.

But the true enemies of our American civilization are as opposed to stimulation of thought as they are to stimulation of industry. It might prevent the people from becoming dumb enough to let a little Marxist clique enslave them!

So, these enemies do not come into meeting and reason. They stay outside and picket—interfere as much as the policeman allows—

Accident (Continued From Page 1) ing south on Cuyler street near Central Park when he saw two motorcycles rounding the curve. Green said he saw that the front motorcycle wasn't going to negotiate the curve and he pulled over and parked before the vehicle crashed into the front of his car.

Chief of Police Louis Allen said it was established that the motorcycle on which Reeves and Bullington were riding was going at least 60 miles per hour.

Two youths on the motorcycle which Reeves and Bullington passed on the curves said they were going at least 50 when Reeves passed them.

The motorcycle on which Reeves and Bullington were riding was completely demolished by the impact, Chief Allen said. The entire front end of Green's car was smashed and one of the tires was blown.

Police have issued several warnings during the past few weeks to teen-age drivers—as well as to adults—to exercise more caution. Police are now keeping a closer watch on traffic throughout the city in an effort to stamp out an epidemic of speeding and reckless driving in cars and on motorcycles.

Boy Scouts Present Men's Chorus Tuesday

At the request of a great number of persons in Pampa the Phillips Men's chorus is presenting a program tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in the Junior high school auditorium under the auspices of the Boy Scouts.

It is probable that this will be the only appearance of the chorus in Pampa, for it is heavily booked for the coming year.

Due to the fact that the show is being held in Pampa, the chorus will give its best efforts in presenting their program.

Tickets are on sale by Boy Scouts, and can be obtained at all grade schools and the chamber of commerce office.

Conference (Continued From Page 1) and women who seek a seat in the proceedings bear a sign: "Undemocratic labor-management conference being held here."

Asserting he was anxious to fasten all wartime controls as fast as it is possible, Mr. Truman said labor and management must find a way of resolving their differences "without stopping production."

"Finding the best way to accomplish that result without government directive to either labor or industry—that is your job."

The president said the country is worried and "has a right to be" about industrial relations.

"You have it in your power to stop that worry," he said. "The time has come for labor and management to handle their own affairs in the traditional, American, democratic way."

"I hope that I can give up the President's wartime powers as soon as possible, so that management and labor can again have the full and undivided responsibility for providing the production that we must have to safeguard our domestic economy and our leadership in international affairs."

The President said the conference presented an opportunity to prove that the two groups "can come to an understanding and agreement without political or governmental pressure."

"The American people, he said, "never expected anything like the amount of strife which has been threatened" since the war. Mr. Truman continued:

"And I know that the American people do not like it—especially after the solemn promise by representatives of both management and labor that they would cooperate with their government through the reconversion period.

"If labor and management in an industry or in a company find that they cannot come to agreement, a way must be found of resolving their differences without stopping production."

At the basis of the problems involved, Mr. Truman said, "is not only the right, but the duty, to bargain collectively."

The President said a substitute must be found for jurisdictional strikes and management must not look upon labor relations "as a stepchild."

"Business simply cannot stop," Mr. Truman declared, "there can be no moral or economic justification for stopping production while rival organizations contend with each other. Labor has a particular interest in this matter—for nothing is so destructive of public confidence in the motives of trade unionism as a jurisdictional strike."

"On the other hand, management too often has looked upon labor relations as a mere tactic of its business, to be disregarded until the controversy has reached a point where real collective bargaining becomes difficult—if not impossible. It happens all too frequently that in the actual process of collective bargaining, delays, delaying tactics are practiced with the result that there is no real bargaining. There can be no justification for such tactics at the present time, or in the future."

Rules on Used Car Sales Given

With new cars soon to go on the market, the OPA has emphasized certain rules on the sale of used cars. Mrs. Nina Spoonmoore, price and information clerk of the local price board, said today:

The latest OPA bulletin on the sale of used cars reads as follows: "Every person, when he sells a used car covered by the maximum price regulation, shall prepare a certificate of transfer in duplicate in accordance with OPA instructions."

"He shall sign both copies of the certificate, and not later than five days from the date of sale, turn in the original copy to his local war price and rationing board and give the other copy to the purchaser."

"For the purpose of this section, a trade-in of a used car is a sale, and the person trading the used car must take the same steps previously mentioned."

This rule applies to passenger cars, commercials, trucks and motorcycles.

High School Band Is First at West Texas

Pampa's huge Harvester band, under the direction of Ray Robbins, placed first out of 13 bands in a contest at West Texas State college Saturday afternoon.

The contest was held in connection with the annual homecoming celebration at West Texas, highlighted by the Buffalo football team's 21-0 win over Dalhart AAF.

The Pampa band was awarded 35 points on playing 25 points on general effect, 10 points on inspection and five points each on discipline, carriage, alignment, required movement and special maneuver.

BIBLE LESSON (SEATTLE—AP)—The Rev. R. A. Ostedal, Lutheran minister, suggested that the person who stole a set of visual education slides here the other day would do well to view them through a projector.

"They concern a man who traveled from Jerusalem to Jericho and fell among thieves," said the pastor. "They were stolen from the car of a young minister who traveled from Stanwood to Seattle and fell among thieves."
